THE NEW RECTORY AT THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Above is the new rectory for St. Joseph's Catholic Church, which was recently completed and is now fully occupied by Canon David and his staff. At the right is the entrance to the public offices and the connection with the church. An article describing the inside of the building appears in this issue.

New Catholic Rectory Makes Comfortable And Convenient Home

We have just been privileged to view the inside of the new Rectory at St. Joseph's Church, Huntingdon, and found it a pleasant and comfortable home. Canon J. A. David and his assistants make their home here. The rooms are all well lighted and airy, being plainly decorated, but in bright and cheerful colors.

The building is a two-storey one with full basement, the size being about 62 feet long by 40 feet in depth. It contains twelve rooms and a large kitchen which runs almost the full width on the west side. Canon David's suite is in a compact unit on the ground floor with his office and leading from that his bedroom and bathroom. Two other suites of similar type are situated on the first floor, one of which is occupied by Father A. Bergiven, his assistant. The other is waiting to be occupied when the Bishop makes another appointment. Also on this upper floor are two suites for the use of guests. As in the case of the ground floor, the passageway runs the entire length of the building through the centre, with the rooms leading off from both sides.

On the ground floor, the passage continues on and provides an entrance to the church, without the necessity of going outside. This is a great convenience in the winter time and on wet days in the summer. Off this passageway are the offices for the public and a separate entrance to these offices. It is thus all very compact

In the basement are a workshop, a washroom and a hall for meetings of organizations of the church and other such purposes. In connection with this there is also a kitchen where refreshments can be prepared for those attending the meetings when desired. The basement is fully finished and supplies a useful component for the church activities.

All rooms have tiled floors of various designs and in different colors. The walls are painted in suitable matching colors and the doors are in a light lime finish. All rooms are well lighted, naturally by adequate windows and artificially by electric light. The dining room and sitting room are suitably furnished and a little larger than other rooms.

In charge of the kitchen and the care of the rectory are Miss Mary Ann Thibault, who has been with Canon David for the past 36 years. Miss Doritca Porrier has only recently commenced duties.

The rectory is heated from the church by a new heating unit put in at the time the new building was erected and other renovations made in the church. The old rectory has been demolished and the area is covered, now forms the grounds in front of the new one. These remain to be developed and are in the process of being levelled.

Renovations were made in the church and the floor was levelled where it had sagged. The walls of the church were all thoroughly washed and restored to an almost new appearance. The Altars were decorated. While working under the church to repair the floor, the grave of the second pastor of the church was discovered. He was the late Father Wood, who served the church for 18½ years. It was the custom for the bodies of the pastors to be buried under the church in those days.

The old rectory was 115 years old and had served its purpose, as was discovered when in the process of being demolished. Some sections of it were in a badly decomposed state. It was first intended to use this as an old people's home, but due to the fact that extensive repairs were needed, this plan was abandoned.

Canon David has been in charge of St. Joseph's Parish for the past six and a half years and followed the late Canon A. Pigeon.

Three garages are attached to the new rectory and entrance can be gained to these from the kitchen and thus there is no need to go outside when leaving or returning. As Canon David remarked, the automobile has become a necessary part of modern life, whereas the old horse and buggy used to be the means of transportation.

Soldiers Killed At Level Crossing In Valleyfield

A railway crossing accident took the lives of two soldiers in Valleyfield, on Saturday evening.

The two men were returning to Picton, Ont., from a leave in Halifax, N.S., when the car in which they were driving was struck by a C.N.R. locomotive at a level crossing on Dufferin Road at about 9 p.m. They were Kenneth McGilvray, Glace Bay, N.S., 22 and Edward Ritcey, Halifax, N.S., 21. Ritcey was killed instantly, while McGilvray was critically injured and died during the night at Hotel Dieu in Valleyfield, to where he was taken.

Military officials took charge of the bodies for burial. Provincial and Valleyfield City police investigated.

A coroner's inquest is to be held on September 13th, by Dr. G. Gauthier.

Athelstan Presbyterian W.M.S. Observe 75th Anniversary Of Organization

On Wednesday evening, August 31st., upwards of 125 people gathered in the church in honor of the 75th Anniversary of the organization of the Women's Missionary Society, for it was on that date in 1885 that Mrs. Andrew Rowat called a meeting of the ladies of the congregation and formed a W.M.S.

Mrs. W. A. Jamieson, President, was chairman of the evening programme which opened by the singing of Hymn 74 "O God Our Help in Ages Past". Mrs. W. C. Tully read from Romans 10 verses 1-15 and Mrs. J. M. Anderson led in the prayer of thanksgiving and intercession.

Mr. Anderson gave the words of welcome to the friends who had joined with us from the surrounding churches. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson sang a very lovely duet "Have I Done My Best For Jesus?"

Mrs. Jamieson welcomed Dr. and Mrs. Nimmo as guest speakers of the evening. Mrs. Nimmo showed slides of their recent trip to the Far East and narrated on them.

Dr. Nimmo then spoke for a few minutes telling of some of the mission work being carried in, especially in Formosa. He told of some of the hardships the missionaries have to face in the way of transportation, etc, to bring the glad news of Christ's Gospel to the people, in comparison to the way in which the Gospel message is given to us in Canada.

He told us of the advances in the work there and said that all the Formosan people asked for was the prayers of the people of the Mother Church.

Miss Kimball, in a few well chosen words thanked Dr. and Mrs. Nimmo for their message.

The hymn "Arm of the Lord, Awake, Awake" was sung.

The candle-lighting service was held with Mrs. David Watson, Miss Sarah Tully, Miss Doris Blais, Mrs. George McIntyre, Mrs. W. E. Bernhardt, Mrs. Donald Grant, Miss Bessie Graham and Mrs. D. F. Grant taking part. Miss Tully lighted the first candle in loving memory of Mrs. Andrew Rowat who kindled the flame 75 years ago and had been the means of our Society being organized.

The Doxology was sung and Dr. Nimmo gave the Benediction.

The congregation were invited to the basement where a buffet lunch was served from a table decorated with flowers, candelabra and an anniversary cake.

During the social hour, old acquaintances were renewed and new ones made and everyone was pleased to see Dr. Nimmo able to take part in the programme after his recent illness. We, of the W.M.S. felt honored to have him as a past minister of the congregation also Past Moderator of the General Assembly.

The W.M.S. were plased to have Miss Doris Blais, President of the Montreal Presbyterial and Miss Margaret McNaughton, Corr. Sec., with them, their transportation being made available by Miss Anna Rutherford and her friend from Montreal.

Ormstown Resident In Auto Accident

A car driven by Joe Viscusi, of Ormstown, went out of control and crashed into a tree on number 4 highway about three miles southwest of Ormstown, about 1.30 P.M. Wednesday, August 31. The car, a 1953 Willis Overland, was damaged to the extent of $300. Neither Mr. Viscusi nor a passenger in the car, Mr. Victor Groslot was injured. Only the tree kept the automobile and its occupants from rolling down a 20 feet embankment into the Chateauguay River.

Mr. S. Tessier Hired As Band Instructor

MR. SYLVIO TESSIER

The executive committee of the Huntingdon Citizens' Band held a meeting last Wednesday, when it was decided to hire Mr. Sylvio Tessier for a trial period of three months, or in other words until the end of the year. Mr. Tessier made a request for a Drum Major for the band and this request was granted. This man will have to be qualified to fill the position and he will need some military training, as he will give the commands when on parade. His other duties will be to get the bandsmen out to practices and on time and to see that all are properly dressed. He will also look after the discipline in the ranks. The gentleman's name will be announced later. Mr. Tessier also wished to see the drum section increased. executive thought this a good plan and this will be done shortly.

Citizens of the Town will probably be able to witness the changes within a few weeks, as the band plans to hold a parade very soon.

Mr. Sylvio Tessier was born in Valleyfield and educated in the school there. He is married and has two sons. He started to play with the guard of Valleyfield in 1938, and then transferred to the Valleyfield band under the direction of Senor Agostini and the late Raymond Denhez. At this time he was a solo trumpet. In 1948, he founded his own orchestra. From February 1960, Mr. Tessier was promoted to the direction of the Champlain Guards of Valleyfield.

The band is making a special appeal to the young ladies of this town. If you wish to become a majorette in the spring of 1961, give your name to Miss Jeannine Lazure of Huntingdon. You will be taught by an experienced instructor. The regular practices will commence on Wednesday, September 14th, at 8 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

Every bandsman is asked to give their support to Mr. Tessier and old members are asked to attend these practices.

FIRE CALLS

CHARLOTTETOWN, (CP) Fire department calls in this Prince Edward Island capital were down by 30 per cent in the first six months of 1960, compared with the same period last year.

Protestant School Financial Statement Proves Satisfactory

A regular meeting of the Huntingdon Protestant School Commissioners was held at Huntingdon High School, on Thursday evening, with all members present except Commissioner Hamilton.

After the reading of the minutes of a special meeting, it was noted therein that the tender for the black-topping of 250 square yards of the school grounds, by J. R. Caza & Frere, had been accepted. The price quoted was $1,900.

Mr. Lindsay Cullen of Ormstown appeared before the Board with regard to the instruction of the school band. Mr. Don Moore had previously given this instruction, but as is known, he has now left Huntingdon. After hearing Mr. Cullen's plan, it was decided to engage his services for two periods each week and such other public appearances as may be required. He will commence his duties at once with a check into the number of instruments and music available and arranging for the fees, etc.

The bills were read and passed and some correspondence was read and passed. Among the correspondence it was noted that there will be a meeting of the High School Boards, at Huntingdon High School, on September 14, in the evening.

An application for the children of Mr. and Mrs. Manessis of Port Lewis, formerly of Glenelm, to attend Huntingdon High School, was made through Messrs. Lawrence Brown and D. E. McNair of Laguerre School. It was decided the children would be accepted on the condition that the fees would be double, due to being outside the school district.

The Financial Statement was studied by members of the Board and it was found to be quite satisfactory and to show a surplus.

A budget statement prepared by the secretary for the ensuing year was read and showed that the expenses for the 1960-61 school year would remain at about the same level. There was some discussion as to the setting of a rate of taxation, but this was left for a further meeting when more particulars would be available. While the prepared budget was based on the same mill rate as the previous year, it was felt that after all matters had been taken into consideration, that this may be reduced by a few mills when the new rate is decided upon. The budget was approved meantime, but will be given further study.

The Financial Statement will appear in the next issue.

Petition Asks More Measures To Control Traffic In Town

Huntingdon Town Council met in the County Building, on Tuesday evening with all members present and a number of people in the public gallery.

Mr. Varin asked permission to keep old cars and other iron scrap at the Town dump until he takes it into Montreal. The council was of the opinion that this permission could not be granted and it would be up to Mr. Varin to find some other place for this purpose.

A request for a lowered assessment valuation on a property was left for revision of valuations before the tax roll was homologated.

A question was asked why Poirier Street was not opened. The matter was left to be studied.

Mr. R. Tinker gave the council prices he obtained for a water reservoir, which he said would help his mill with its water problem. This was left for further consideration at a later date.

A party made a request to bring a building into town and place it on Giroard Street and make a foundation for it at a later date as he lacks the finances at the present time. Council felt that this could not be permitted, but if he undertakes to place the foundation first and to provide water and sewer facilities, the building may be moved. It was pointed out that the law must be lived up to.

Mr. J. Klassen asked the council to take more precautions when setting fires at the town dump and to prevent a reoccurrence of the recent fire in the tea fields. Such fires could present a serious loss. He maintained that when burning over the dump, this should be watched at all times. The Mayor asked Mr. Klassen to send his complaints in writing so that they be given further study.

A petition was read from taxpayers protesting the traffic situation in Huntingdon and especially at this time when school is re-opening. It was pointed out that there was far too much speeding, ignoring stop signs and so forth. The petition asked whoever was responsible to see that the police patrol crossings in town especially near the schools to see that children get across these safely. The council passed a resolution asking the cooperation of town and Provincial police in seeing that the traffic laws in town are obeyed. It is expected that speed limit signs of 20 miles per hour will be posted in town.

During the reading of the bills, Alderman Picard asked that the bills for the trucks be kept separate from the bills for the police and fire vehicles.

A claim for damage on the W. Peasey property at Garden City was received. It stated that the sewer overflowed into the basement causing damage to the extent of $300. The matter is to be placed in the hands of the insurance company.

A letter was read from the Health Dept. at Ste. Martine complaining of the unsanitary state of a house on Lake Street. It asked that the council take the necessary steps to clear up the situation immediately.

A letter from Ostiguys, Valleyfield, asked for a licence to do advertising in Huntingdon by loudspeaker. The matter was not decided.

Several charity cards were read.

The Valuation Roll was then taken into consideration and read. Several requests were received for changes and these were attended to. Most of them were from mills asking a lower valuation for assessment. These were granted to some extent. The roll was then homologated with the amendments as suggested. A special meeting is to be called for September 12th for the purpose of setting the tax rate.

Complaints were made about incinerators in various parts of town and the secretary was instructed to write to the parties using these.

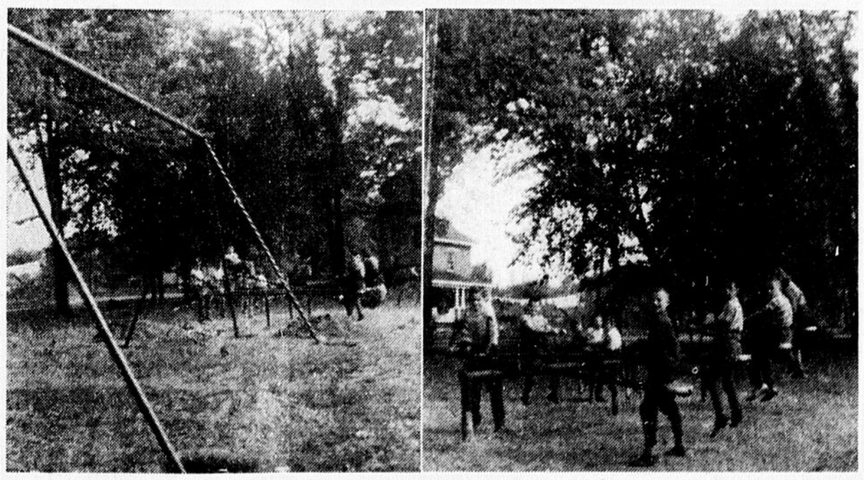

The rate for firemen was set at $2 for the first hour and $1 per hour for each hour after. A $2 flat rate was set for drills.

Two extra men are to be sworn in as policemen, who will be used in case of emergency.

The playground in Prince Arthur Square was discussed and it was decided to leave it as it is for the time being. No further work will be done now.

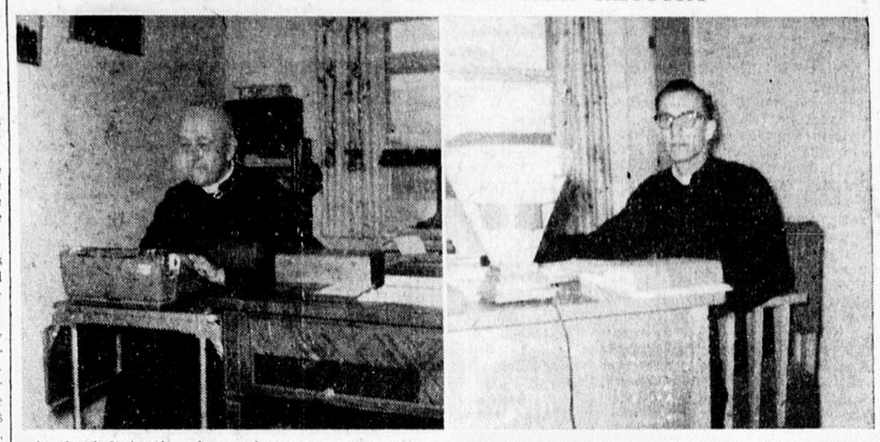

The meeting adjourned until Monday, September 12th, when this adjourned meeting will follow the special meeting to be held on that date.

COMPLAINTS REGISTERED AGAINST PLAYGROUND SITE

Recently the long promised playground equipment was set up in Prince Arthur Square, on the Wellington Street side. The pictures above show some of the equipment set up with some already in use by the boys and girls. Unfortuantely, this work has been held up by complaints of residents in the area against the noise of the children playing. The see-saws shown in use have already been set into cement for permanent setting. What will be the swings have not been so fixed only the holes have been dug and the framework set in. The matter is to be aired at a Town Council meeting, before any further work can be proceeded with. The site is a logical place, being a public park and this was one which was announced when the playgrounds were first spoken of at least two years ago. Another spot listed for playgrounds is the old skating rink site on King Street. The Town Council has purchased the land for this purpose and had it levelled in readiness.

On the left is Father Albert Bergevin at his desk in his office which is situated on the first floor. It also forms part of his own private suite.

Hit And Run Suspect Held

A car belonging to Albert Cousineau, Valleyfield, was hit by a hit and run vehicle on September 4th, at about 1.30 a.m. at the corner of St. Barbe Road and Plank Road, causing about $350 damage. Provincial police are holding a man as a suspect.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Neil are Mrs. Neil's mother and sister, Mrs. Bell and Jessie Bell.

Mrs. Neil received a long letter from one of our former neighbours, Mrs. Malcolm MacLean who recently moved to Vancouver. They had a wonderful trip by car from here to Vancouver, although as yet, are not settled, but still looking around for a suitable house to buy. Apparently someone sent Mrs. MacLean a copy of the Gleaner but omitted their name so they have no idea of who the thoughtful person is but send their thanks to whoever it is. It's nice to hear from our old friends. All join in sending the MacLean's their best wishes and good luck in their search for a suitable house.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Leblanc had a party Saturday night with quite a number of friends and neighbours attending. Also Mrs. Leblanc's mother, sisters and family from St. Johns, Que. attending. They stopped for a short visit only Friday en route to their home in Cornwall, Ontario.

Bicycle

Steven Watson had the back wheel of his bicycle damaged outside Leclair's store last week. It was propped up against the tree between the tool shack when a car making a turn smashed into it. The driver looked out to see the damage he had done, then drove off. It is regretful that no one knew who it was or got the licence number of the car. Now Steven is left with the expense of a new wheel for his bike, and as Steven is an early morning paper boy, has to make his paper deliveries on foot until he is able to have his bike fixed.

Announcement

The Prudential and Parkview communities wish to announce that they are holding a Fall Fair to be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 8, 9 and 10th at Parkview Baseball Diamond. Mr. and Mrs. Clement Levesque and family had Clement's sister and children visiting them for the past week from Balmoral, New Brunswick. Mrs. Theriault's visit was spoiled a little by a slight accident over the weekend when she fell and hurt her back.

Also visiting the Levesques were friends, Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Bernard also Gaby's sister and her boy friend, Miss Betty Laporte and Harold Heirs, also Gaby's sister-in-law, Mrs. Aimé Laporte and children. They all seemed to enjoy themselves and had a nice time visiting.

Tombola

The Tombola has been great success so far with a good attendance every night. A good number of the park residents have worked tirelessly every night to help make the Tombola a success and a vote of thanks should go out to these people. A lucky winner of the mink stole Sunday night at the Bingo was André Clermont, owner of the Flower Nursery in Chateauguay Village. More next week about the success of the Tombola.

Storm Damage

The Storm Last Monday, Aug. 29th, did considerable damage to the Tombola from the high wind accompanying the rain and blew most of the stalls down. The men had a very busy time erecting them again.

Also "The Good Lords" had their antenna blown down during the storm.

Record Album Winner

Miss Barbara was the proud winner of a Ricky Nelson record album "More Songs from Ricky" from Radio Station CKGM album of the week.

Roads Damage

After waiting so long to have good roads, it's a shame to see them being destroyed by the heavy trucks of the Prudential Construction Company going in and out of the construction site at the back of Sunset St. Surely Prudential could find another entrance instead of destroying the road in the Park. Will the Prudential Construction Company repair the damage they have done? This we would like to know.

Our Apologies

In the report of the Huntingdon Fair Parade, for some unaccountable reason a grave error was made. The second prize float in the parade was that of the 4-H Club and that of the Rotary Club 3rd prize. The 4-H float carried two of the members standing beside Holstein and Ayrshire animals which the boys owned. It was a fine float for the 4-H Club, the error is regrettable.

Dundee

DUNDEE — Mrs. E. J. Fleming and her son Mr. Ronald Fleming arrived home in Dundee, on August 31st., after enjoying a two months overseas tour of the British Isles and the Continent.

In company with their cousins, Miss Agnes Alguire and her brother Mr. Mack Alguire of Cornwall, Ont., they left Montreal on June 24 on the liner Saxonia of the Cunard Line. This was a guided tour sponsored by a Mr. George Portier of Cranston, Rhode Island. He was ably assisted by Mrs. Portier. There were 34 Americans in the party who crossed the Atlantic by another shipping line and all met in Le Havre, France.

For the first three weeks the group travelled entirely by bus though France, by way of Paris, Switzerland and then on to Venice in Italy. Afterward all travelling was by train. They visited Germany, Austria, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Lichenstein also Monte Carlo in the kingdom of Monaco.

Prince Rainier and his wife the former Miss Grace Kelly from the U.S.A. were on a summer tour, but the Lavish Castle of the Prince and his family was able to be viewed.

While in Germany they saw the presentation of the Passion Play at Oberammagau. Given entirely in German, the play lasted for seven hours. To help foreigners not able to speak German, English books were distributed which helped to overcome the language barrier.

The Parsion Play portraying Biblical Characters and the Crucifixion Scene is a super tourist attraction each ten years that the play is presented. After the European tour was finished the party crossed the English Channel from Holland to Harwich, England. On arrival in England Mr. Mack Alguire was found dead in his cabin. As his sister wished to continue with the tour, his remains were cremated in England and a funeral service will be held in Cornwall, possibly this week. Mr. Alguire was 70 years of age and appearently had been in good health prior to his death.

In England Mrs. Fleming met Miss Mary Ashton, who taught in Dundee for 4 years about 1933 and boarded at Mrs. Fleming's home. Miss Ashton who lives 80 miles from London knowing they were coming met the Flemings at Piccadilly Circus in London and they spent four days with her. They toured other parts of England, Ireland, Scotland, and finally returned to Le Havre from where they embarked on the Cunarder Ivernia bound for Montreal and home again. Apart from the untimely and sudden death of Mr. Alguire which marred the trip somewhat the travellers report that they enjoyed themselves very much, but at the same time they agreed that they had seen enough new scenes and just about everything and would not want to continue any longer. So many changes of food, water and weather conditions are a bit wearing and tend to fall on even the toughest of individuals.

Mr. Ronald Fleming goes back to register at McGill University on September 26, where he will enroll for his second year leading to a Bachelor of Commerce Degree. He was recently awarded the "Isaac Bruck Memorial Scholarship" for General Proficiency in his last years work. The Scholarship is worth $250. to be applied on University Fees.

Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Marston and family of Greenfield Park, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson.

We, at the Bank of Montreal, congratulate these exceptional young people. We are happy to assist them in their pursuit of a higher education in fields where they will have the opportunity — through scientific research and pursuits in the public service — to contribute in some notable way to the common good of the nation in the years ahead.

2 BANK OF MONTREAL CANADA CENTENNIAL AWARDS OF $5,000

In 1967, to culminate this seven-year plan, the two top students—one in Arts and one in Science—will be chosen, from all 50 original participants in the plan, to receive the Bank of Montreal Canada Centennial Awards of $5,000 each for a further year of study anywhere in Canada or abroad.

Thus, to each of these two winners — if they have been participants throughout the plan — the Bank will have provided financial assistance amounting to $19,250.

Scholarship Students are chosen on merit alone — academic standing and character — by independent selection committees of faculty members of Canadian Universities. THE B of M HAS NO PART WHATEVER IN THE DECISIONS OF THE COMMITTEES.

French Bombshell Hits Crossroads at Moira N. Y. ! !

THE SENSATION OF PARIS ! !

The female Maurice Chevalier in person ! !

DENISE LUMIERE

appearing nightly in the fabulous Circus Lounge ! !

Writes well known columnist Wendall French in the Cleveland Press "As excitingly French as an April in Paris is singer Denise Lumiere. With her jet black hair, flashing eyes, animated Gallic gestures and speech, she can insinuate more naughtiness and joy of living than most American singers ever dream about. And with her low cut red velvet gown she is truly a chic daughter of the "City of Light".

Drive out to the wonderful Crossroads tonight or this week-end for a Gourmet Dinner prepared by our Chef (formerly at London's Hotel Strand) and see in person, the sensational Denise Lumiere.

Mrs. Albert Raymond is sentimental. Each time she visits her bank Safety Deposit Box she scolds herself for not having her old fashioned family jewelry re-set . . . but somehow she hasn't the heart to change it. So it stays with her papers and securities, safe in the bank vault.

Ellen Ramsay doesn't own a diamond yet . . . but she'll have one soon in an engagement ring. Like most girls she has plans for marriage and her growing Savings Account in The Canadian Bank of Commerce is earmarked for wedding expenses and purchases for her first home.

Precious jewels from the past . . . happy plans for the future . . . The Canadian Bank of Commerce helps protect both. Whatever banking services you need you can be sure they are readily available at any branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Chateauguay Gleanings

BY SANDY DAVIDSON

One of our correspondents ran into a bit of bad luck over the last week or so with accidents. Mrs. George Lord, of 32 Sunset first had a run-in with the branch of an apple tree (she's been warned about stealing from the neighbours tree) and the branch hit back after she had shoved it aside. Then this week, Mrs. Lord was hanging clothes and fell off a step-tool, spraining her wrist badly and suffering bruises to her leg. Fortunately, it was her left wrist which was sprained and the news came through on time.

The enthusiasm of the fans at the Rambler games must be encouraging to team officials. They do a bang up job of handling the side-line jobs, such as parking, programs, and keeping fans informed as to who is doing what on the field. The co-operation given to this Chateauguay Gleaner representative, who covered the Valleyfield game, was top notch and greatly appreciated. The Majorettes were most pleasing to watch and it is expected that they will improve even more as the season progresses, so fans can look forward to a lot of entertainment this fall.

A note of interest to older Chateauguay residents: Doug Daigneault, of Ottawa Rough Riders, playing his first year in the Big Four, was born in Chateauguay, P.Q., but lived most of his life in Malone, N.Y. He graduated from Clemson U. last year and is classed as a Canadian according to football regulations.

The parking lot in front of the post office and town hall at the Station, was paved recently. Landscaping for the rest of the property is expected to begin soon. The reason for paving was given that Chief Rousseau's car was too heavy and was in danger of sinking away after rain turned the lot into a mud-bath.

It certainly looked like Labour Day around the developments on Monday. All the men were enjoying this day of rest by performing such light tasks as removing boulders from lawns and driveways, raking and cleaning front ditches, and many other chores conducive to sore backs.

All this Labour Day idea began with six Englishmen who, a long time ago, tried to form a farm labour union and were jailed for their efforts. Many a weary husband, after toiling all Monday, will wish they'd hung the lot of 'em.

The word from the football camp of the Ramblers is that Granby was just too big. The coaches will probably come up with different offence for the teams next meeting. Granby is a more experienced team as well having played in previous years. A 36-6 score against such a team is nothing to lose heart over. They meet again October 2nd here in Chateauguay, and with what the coaches know now, and the Ramblers having played three more games in between we might see quite a different story.

The Police are looking into the possibilities of using a motorcycle to cut down on speeders. It's almost impossible to keep children off the roads; and with no sidewalks, they must walk on the pavement. And yet, even if you do slow down to a crawl, you never know what a child is going to do as you pass him or her.

Valleyfield Welfare Council

C. E. Zeagman

The Valleyfield Welfare Council which comprises the counties of Beauharnois, Chateauguay, Huntingdon, Vaudreuil and Soulanges, and affiliated with the Canadian Welfare Council came into being last year in order to give special attention to the requirements of the poor, the ailing and the needy in our own localities.

This year an English speaking section of the Council is being organized to assist in the drive for funds and to help and advise the Administrators of the Fund, and to see that the needs of the less fortunate members of the community receive the best possible services according to their special requirements.

Mr. Charles E. Zeagman, of Asten Hill Ltd. and former President of the St. Ignatius Guild of Valleyfield, has accepted the Presidency of this English speaking section and is presently engaged in organizing the several Committees throughout the five Counties.

A most important function of the Welfare Council is to find the money necessary to carry on the various activities of the many charitable organizations which are partly sponsored by the Welfare Council.

As everyone knows these funds are usually the result of a general subscription in which public, private and civic Associations as well as Business Establishments, Industries, and private individuals are all invited to subscribe.

The Council will again be making an appeal to your generosity and your charity. The drive for funds will be started in the very near future and its is expected that the drive will be concluded by November 5th.

In the weeks to come we will try to give you further information and other Personnel of the several Committees. Also we will explain more fully the Aims & Objects of the Welfare Council, its hopes and aspirations as well as information regarding the various charitable services available and an accounting of how your charitable gifts are usefully employed in the service of suffering humanity.

Council Meeting Town of Chateauguay

A meeting of the Town Council of Chateauguay was held Tuesday August 30th.

The By-law for paving of various streets in the town was given first reading. Many questions were asked concerning a part of the bill which states that the paving will be done on a frontage charge basis rather than charging the public at large. A further meeting to be held on the 12th of September will decide this matter.

Tenders from four parties were received for the removal of garbage for the remainder of the year. The contract was granted to Mr. Leo Guy Sambeault for the sum of $800. per month.

Various resolutions were put through on instructions from city solicitors concerning tenders for sale of debentures which must be in on September 6.

Council granted the issue of $326,000. at 6% over 20 years for various by-laws such as paving, sewage, and other local improvements.

Council has instructed the treasurer to invite an engineer from the department of roads to discuss approaches to the new bridge and various problems which will arise, having to do with the bridge.

Parkview Cubs Win Luger Trophy Defeat Chateauguay Heights 5-2

Led by Keith McDonald's 3 run triple in the sixth inning, Parkview Cubs came from behind to down Chateauguay Heights, 5-2 in the final game of the play-offs to win the Luger Trophy. The Luger trophy goes to the team winning the play-offs in Chateauguay Bantam Softball League. The Cubs also won the O'Connor Trophy as the team finishing first in the league standings.

Hipkiss was the winning pitcher for the Cubs, while George took the loss. Both pitched fine games with George keeping the Cubs completely in check until the fatal sixth inning when he tired, walked five consecutive batters for one run and gave up a triple to McDonald which brought in three more runs.

McDonald had brought in the Cubs only other run in the second inning with another triple which drove in Bissell.

Chateaugay's runs came in the bottom of the second when Sanders drove in Bremener with a single and scored from third on a wild throw, putting the Heights ahead 2-1 until the sixth.

Both teams fielded exceptionally well, which along with the fine pitching made for a very fast and pleasing game to watch.

After the game, League president, Norm Palmer presented both the Luger Trophy and the O'Connor Trophy to the Parkview Cub's captain.

Football

The Chateauguay Ramblers were defeated this weekend by a big, fired up, hard hitting Granby Thunderbirds by the score of 36-6.

Thunderbirds rolled up 18 points in the first half and the same in the second half.

The Ramblers were held scoreless until the last 3 minutes of the game, when Billy Betts scored on a run from the fifteen yard line to finish off a 60 yard downfield march which was spearheaded by the cool thinking of quarterback Bobby Moore and hard running fullback, Bill Butler.

This defeat has knocked the Ramblers down from the clouds after defeating Valleyfield 37-0.

They will be found practising every night this week to sharpen up both offence and defence in preparation for their encounter with St. Johns this Sunday at home.

Don't forget the game Sunday, September 11th at the football grounds, behind Bon Prince starting at 2.00 p.m.

Historical Notes Gleaned From "Sellar's" History

Next morning they were tackled to it afresh, and the kettle was placed on the line between Stewart and myself, for we were partners. That kettle was the saving of the fourth concession, for it brought to us the only money we could get for several years wherewith to buy provisions and pay our rent. Each settler could make two barrels, sometimes three, in a year, and as it was worth from $30 to $40 a barrel, the amount was of great consequence. We let neighbors have the use of the kettle and other apparatus for $2 a barrel, and, at least, 120 barrels were made in it. My potatoes turned out a remarkable crop, but the corn, from being planted late, did not ripen. Before winter set in, there were several lots taken up, and we could now have bees to log. The wetness of the land was the great drawback. James Dryden and James Hunter placed their shanties back on the bank of the creek to have a dry place, and a sort of a road began to be formed along it out to the St. Louis. James Benning, an excellent farmer, who took my old lot, had to make a sort of a raft to get at his work in the spring. Several came and, after a short trial, left. There was Herring, a first-rate farmer, who was fairly starved out. He went and took up land near Ottawa, and became properous. George Steel boarded with me while trying to clear the lot he had taken up. One hot day, he came in from where he had been brushing, up to the ankles in water and with the mosquitoes very bad, and, putting on his coat, said he would not take it off again. He left all and, after several changes in life, died a wealthy banker in Chicago. The land was fairly drowned and we kept dinging at Brown to open discharges. He resisted, thinking he could force us into doing the work alone, but we set the right way about it, and the seignior was compelled to assist in making sufficient discharges. It would be the second fall, I think, when I sowed by first wheat. I went across the brulé to the Ormstown concession, and bought from Hood half a bushel of fall wheat, which I carried home on my back. I was afraid it would be too late for sowing if I waited until my potatoes (which were in hills) were ready to dig, so I pulled up the shaws and raked the ground, sowing the wheat. When I dug the potatoes, I hoed back the soil with the seed wheat in it, as well as I could, and the next season I had a wonderful crop. I was a poor thresher, having had no experience, yet I had 16 bushels to take to Beauharnois mill; and had the straw been right threshed would have had 20. That was the first wheat grown on the fourth concession, and all my neighbors had to get a pickle of the flour. Some of us had got cows and sheep, but none were able to buy a yoke of oxen, and for want of them we suffered much. The French Canadian carters charged us $1.50 a barrel to haul our potash from where Bougie is about a mile east of the church, to Beauharnois, and a dollar more if they came up to the kettle for it, and often could not get them even at these prices. On an occasion when there were 13 barrels ready, I determined we should haul it ourselves. None of the others being willing to run the risk of going in debt for a yoke, I started out to the river, calling first on Williamson, who had no money on hand. I walked to Captain Ogilvie's, where I got the loan, and bought the oxen. They did all the hauling, I charging half a dollar to take a barrel to the mouth of the creek, or a day's work, which was generally given in preference. It would be about that time we got our first teacher, an elderly man who had been in a good way in Scotland, named Graves. I gave a spare building for a schoolhouse, and as there were only nine scholars to go to it, the fees had to be high, and were fixed at 4s 6d (90 cents) a month. It was well spent money, though hard for us to get, for he brought on the children wonderfully. He was an odd man, and would often, instead of rising in the morning, have the children stand round his bed, while he would hear them with his head on the pillow, and on fine days would leave the schoolhouse and take them out for a walk and teach them as they went along. Our food was coarse, chiefly potatoes, and often difficult to get, but there never was anything like want. We shared with one another, and if a family ran short, they borrowed until they got a fresh supply. Everything had to be carried on the back from Beauharnois or the Chateaugay. One neighbor who was going to have a bee, started to get a supply. The day was very hot and he trudged along wearily with his bag on his shoulder. On reaching home, he told his wife what he had been able to get, a quantity of peas and 2 pounds of butter. She opened the bag, but there was no butter, simply a greasy paper. We had great joking as we supped the peas, that the butter was in them though we could not see it, for it had soaked into them.

The settling of the 3rd concession followed on that of the 4th, Robert Sinton and Archibald McEwen going into it in 1830, when lots were first given out, and James Howden finding a home on the 2nd the same year. In 1831 David Tait, an intelligent and worthy man, who lived to the patriarchal age of 90, arrived from his native parish of Cockpen, and joined them. Like the 4th concession, the 3rd was a mere frog-pond during the early part of the season and to find dry spots for their shanties the settlers had to go to the rear of their lots, which brought them close to the 2nd. The saving feature in the land was the splendid bush that covered it, more especially on the 2nd concession, and which, turned into potash, maintained the settlers until discharges were opened and crops could be raised. How thick the bush was, melancholy proof was supplied by a painful incident. Two daughters of Neil Conley, both girls in years, went out to gather sap, for it was sugar-time. They could not find their way back to their father's shanty. In their wanderings they separated. The youngest was discovered by the searching parties that were speedily at work, but the older not a trace could be found. There were all manner of surmises to account for her disappearance; the most favored that she had been kidnapped by Indians. Years rolled by, the land became cleared, and on 23, 2nd con., the fragile skeleton of the little maid was found. So dense was the forest, that the searchers had failed to see her, although within hail, almost, of the home she sought in vain to find. I could fill a page or two with the experiences of the settlers on these concessions, but they would be but a repetition of those given in Mr. Symons' narrative. They, in time, reaped a rich reward, for the soil was of the best. In 1837 the settlers of the two concessions joined in raising a school, of which the first master was Thomas Cross. The lots on the 1st concession were passed by the Old Countrymen, who judged, from the timber on them, that the soil was light. In this they were mistaken, for the hemlock that abounded on this occasion was second-growth, and the land equal to any in the district. The few Scotch families now on it, went in after 1840.

The "New Lands," as the concessions in the neighborhood of the St. Louis were called came to have a great name among those seeking homes, and were taken up as quickly as surveyed. At the lower end of the 5th range Ormstown, about 1835, a settlement of Old Countrymen was formed, including four brothers of the name of Selkirk and Charles Robertson. Some years afterwards they were joined by a few others. They had much difficulty in sending their potash to market, having to float the barrels down a great discharge that had been dug out to Bryson's creek, and thence to the Chateaugay, until the 4th concession road was opened, which was not for many years, for a great swamp stretched between lots 4 and 10, dividing the concession and rendering communication between the two ends, except on foot, impracticable. When it became probable the tenure would be changed, the seignior stopped conceding lots, which checked the settling of New Lands for several years. When deeds of free and common soccage could be given, the concessions were speedily filled; the 5th range mainly by habitants from Ste. Martine and the Basin, who paid $4. an acre.

TOO MANY DISOBEY

The Provincial Highway Safety Committee, (Prudentia), says that cyclists can never be warned too often that they must obey all traffic regulations.

It is not a rare thing to see a cyclist sidle across an intersection without bothering to make the obligatory stop required. How can such a cyclist hope to be safe from accident. Laws are established and must be respected, even by cyclists.

A report from the American Medical Association says Heart attacks are as common among women as men beyond the age of 50. However, among those under 50 heart attacks were more prevalent in men than women by a two-to-one ratio. The report was published following an autopsy study at three medical centres in widely separated geographical areas of the United States.

Lake St. Louis Anglers' News

Fishing and Hunting Report:

With cool weather making its appearance this week-end, it might be appropriate to mention the closing date for local fishing. As far as Lake St. Louis is concerned the closing date for large and small mouth bass is Oct. 15. Muskies can be caught up until the same time, and with the water cooling off fishing for these lunkers will improve noticeably. Most species of trout can be caught up North until Oct. 30th. Sturgeon and pike can be taken without restrictions for the balance of the year. Local anglers then still have a good months fishing ahead of them and with a break in the weather, some good catches should be reported, such as the 35 lbs Muskie brought in by O. Savard of Lachine.

It is noticeable around the club this past week that many of our duck hunters are making preparations for the duck shooting season. Some have had their boats repainted a drab colour, others are busy preparing blinds, while others are putting finishing touches to their decoys, sinkboxes, etc. For local duck hunters, the opening and closing dates for the South District is Sept. 24 to Dec. 11. The daily limit is 6 (six) ducks in the aggregate with possession limit 12 duck in the aggregate.

For the benefit of all duck hunters a new ruling specifies that decoys be placed not closer than 100 yds. away from the next hunter's decoys, also a new rule permits the use of a power-boat to retrieve killed or wounded ducks provided birds be not more than 200 yds. from a fixed blind from which they have been shot. For those who have no regard for the rules of sportsmanship there will be a Game Warden on hand to enforce the law.

When more than one person hunt from the same blind they should sit side by side and close together, to avoid shooting each other's head off. Remember too that alcohol and hunting do not mix.

Another survey will be taken shortly and it is hoped that the results will be a little more encouraging. If there isn't a little more co-operation on the part of the residents, guess the door to door mail delivery will have to be postponed till a future date. Then there'll be some grumbling and probably from the very ones who just couldn't be bothered to put their mailbox up.

West End seem to be busy building once again. No more can I look out into wooded ground behind our house — its been all cleared to make space for three homes. The School bell has sounded once again and all the kiddies are back at school, most under protest, as the children have had a nice summer, with the boys having the time of their life in the ball park, and the playground has given others their share of fun. Mothers can once again get back into routine which just doesn't seem to work out right in the summer with meals going on all day long. Looking back, it was a nice summer, not too hot with August taking top honors as the better of the two months for holiday fare. Best luck to those attending school for the first time. Among them are Ricky Jones, Warren Walker, Peter Didkowsky, David Zemel, Johnny Mckey. Can't think of any young lady starting off this year.

Editorial Notes

Back To School Again

TODAY all throughout the territory covered by this newspaper, boys and girls made the treck back to school for another year. Some of the very young boys and girls were going to school for the first time and it is for them a brand new experience. Those who attended kindergarten class for only a few hours each day last year, will be entering school for a longer period and will have to become adjusted to this. The older children will be well acquainted with school life, but will be entering new grades and different courses of study.

Education is a costly business, but it is very necessary to our way of life and to the lives of the individuals. There was a time when schooling was treated quite lightly and in many cases never attempted, but today it is a highly prized requisite and no one can afford to ignore it. In fact it is compulsory for children to attend school up to a certain age. After this time they can choose for themselves or according to their circumstances whether they will continue along further study lines.

Elementary schooling is provided practically free to children up to and including high school grades. Further advanced studies in colleges and universities can only be obtained at considerable cost to the student, or his or her parents. Some scholarships, or bursaries can be obtained for those who can qualify and prove themselves worthy of such assistance. In most cases, however, these do not entirely carry the student through the years required for the study of various classifications. It is therefore that many who may be promising students and could carry on, are unable to do so because the finances will not permit. It is thus also that we lose much promising material.

According to the platform laid down by the newly elected Liberal Provincial Government, this situation is to be looked after by providing free education in our universities and higher places of learning. This newspaper has often advocated that this should be done and especially so in the face of the need for persons of higher learning. Science is particularly a study which should be followed in this day. It is entering more and more into our daily lives and with the advance that has been made in the past few years, it will be needed still more. We therefore suggest that those who are going on to higher centres of learning, that they place a study of the sciences in their programme of learning. Such will always secure a high place, whether they use it now or not, or whether it actually fits into their particular theme. So much is based upon science today that anyone who has completed a course and obtained a degree in it, is assured of the good paying position in almost any line of business. Graduates with a B.Sc. degree are sought after and many more scholarships and bursaries are offered to students who are taking this form of study.

Those students who are approaching the time when they will be graduating from High School, should give this matter some thought in preparation for the time when they must decide if they will continue in higher institutes of learning. Their course of studies now will help them when the time comes for a specified course in university. Meanwhile, it is back to school for another year.

Who Wants 40% Tax Increase?

WHO wants a 40 per cent increase in Canada's tax burden? That is the question people should be asking themselves in the light of demands made on the Government of Canada by the provinces at the recent Dominion-Provincial conference. During Parliament's last week in session, Finance Minister Fleming tabled figures that show that the total of provincial demands comes to well over 2 billion. Of this, $1.6 billion would be needed to give the provinces 50 per cent of personal and corporate income tax and of succession duties revenues. These taxes are now on a 13-9-50 distribution ratio as between Ottawa and the provinces. $175 million is asked as the Federal Government's share of a national medical insurance plan. $100 million is asked for the inclusion of mental and TB hospital in the hospital insurance scheme and for hospital construction grants. $75 million is for highways. $50 million is to provide interest-free loans for municipalities, $30 million is asked to exempt municipalities from payment of sales and excise taxes.

Government at Ottawa could meet these demands in only two ways. Either taxes — Federal taxes of all kinds — would have to be raised on an average of 40 per cent. Or the Government at Ottawa would have to scrap in toto either its Budget commitments for defence, or for social security, plus seeking to pare its other outlays to the bone.

Provincial Premiers who make such demands on the Federal Government should remember, as their electors remember, that those demands, when all is said and done, will come right out of the pockets of the people in every province in the country.

Business, industry, individuals and government itself can be made bankrupt by excessive taxation. As pointed out by Canadian economist J. R. Petrie, total Federal, provincial and municipal taxes in 1958 represented 27.2 per cent of personal income and net corporation profits before taxes. Federal Government now has 85,000 more on the taxpayers' payroll than at end of World War II. Between 1939 and 1958 total taxes in Canada increased 689 per cent, while income was up only 458 per cent. Says Dr. Petrie, "The role of government in Canada has assumed a size and scope that is prejudicial to a free enterprise system in its true sense ... Economic power has been vested in centralized government authority to a point of endangering our freedom."

Professor Northcote Parkinson, speaking of Federal spending ways, says: "If nothing is done we shall spend ourselves to destruction. When you hit a point where 35 per cent of the National Income is absorbed by a government you are over the precipice and in very

Should Know Better

NEWSWEEK recently told its readers that in the period when Number 10 Downing Street is under repair, Prime Minister Macmillan and his staff "will run the Commonwealth from Admiralty House." This misinformation is in the American, meaning the U.S., tradition. There is hardly a Canadian who has not been asked by friendly United Statians when Canada was going to throw off "the yoke of England." And it is highly probable that there still are politicians in the United States, particularly if they are of Irish extraction, who find, or think they find, it advantageous to twist the lion's tail in election campaigns. The real difficulty is not that subservience to England is so, but that they believe it to be.

Another question that Canadians sometimes are asked is when we are going to stop paying taxes to Britain. If Canada ever did pay taxes to Britain, it is not recorded in any history books used in the Canadian public schools. On the other hand, it is a fact that the British taxpayer paid for a good deal of the defensive works on the two coasts and there are many people now living who remember when the last of the British garrisons left Halifax and Quebec. The Esquimalt naval base was also a British base until quite recent years.

It is possible that the man Thompson, the mayor of Chicago who hated King George V so much, would have argued that the British garrisons in Halifax and Quebec and Esquimalt were there to keep the native Canadians from rising in revolt. Actually these defensive works were designed to defend Canada from invasions from the United States. There were invasions during the American Revolution and the War of 1812; the latest, the Fenian Raid, was unofficial. The forts at Levis, opposite Quebec, are not Wolfe's, but were built after the Civil War, in case Grant should come up the St. Lawrence. Nearly a century has passed without an invasion. This is a better record than any other first-class power can easily produce to show in what a kindly way it gets along with its smaller neighbors.

Visitors to the Citadel at Quebec sometimes gaze with awe at the enormous cannon that were put there in the regime of the first Duke of Wellington, also at the cost of the British taxpayer. These big guns were never fired because it was said the repercussions would have cracked every pane of glass for miles around on both sides of the broad river. The cost is said to have been several millions of pounds sterling when a pound sterling was a pound sterling.

There needs to be a great deal more of "Know Canada" propaganda in the United States. The United States people as a whole love us as neighbors. And we are in fact good neighbors. But Canadian advertising and other propaganda in the United States are mainly for the purpose of advertising for tourists. There are other phases of Canada and Canadianism that the United States people should know better.

A Factual Fish Story

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

This is a true fish story about "One that got away." I can swear to it upon my oath — in fact I did swear a mild kind of oath when it happened; but I can bring reliable witnesses to prove it.

The other evening I was casting with a worm on a june-bug spinner at the locks at Bobcaygeon. The sun was setting in the west, as usual, and I was alone beside those still waters quite unhopeful of catching anything. In the calm solitude I fell into musing and the stillness reminded me of a sonnet by the Portuguese poet Camoens on "The Fisher Ionio calling on the waves to restore to him his drowned love."

"All hushed the heaven and earth, the wind the same,
While sleep doth in the sea the fish enchain,
Nocturnal silence brooding like a dream."

Meditating thus, I had little hope of even a nibble when, suddenly, I felt a ferocious strike! Apparently, I had disturbed the slumber of a finny monster of the deep. In a flash he leapt out of the water, shook my wormbait like a dog worrying a rat, eyed me with a vicious glare and dived back into the depth, where he continued to protest vigorously against my breaking in on his siesta. He actually tried to escape and I let him run on a tight line, keeping the hook in his jaw. I had him, and began to reel in slowly but firmly until I'd got him against the lock wall. In the twilight I could discern his long green back beneath the water. He was quiet now, evidently tired out. I lifted his nose above the surface and — no, you are wrong! He didn't get away at that point. This is a true fish story, not a fictitious one, and the suspense at this point is quite factual.

As I was saying before I was interrupted, I lifted his nose above the surface and proceeded to haul him ashore where he kicked feebly for a while. He may have appeared bigger under the water than he did lying there on the wharf, but he was a muskie all right and seemed big enough to me. My judgment was confirmed by a stranger who happened along at that triumphant moment. "Sure, that's big enough," he said. I didn't quite like the way he said it. But I took his word for it and picked up my quarry by the gills and bore it off to the lodge, where I was greeted with cheers by ladies on the lawn. (Suspense).

Attracted by the ovation, the landlord appeared at the door. He eyed my catch suspiciously and, as if by sleight-of-hand, he produced a steel tape-measure and laid it along the fish from tip to tip.

"Twenty-seven inches," he said. "One inch too short. The game warden ..."

"But it's dead," I insisted.

"We'll see," he said, and made off with the corpse indoors.

I hate to pile on the agony; but my heart was in my boots as I watched the landlord trying to revive the thing in a shallow bath of water. He was gently massaging it about the gills when a bubble appeared at its mouth, at which he himself emitted a bubble of what I felt was jealous glee. Whereat I emitted a sarcastic remark that he should have been a fish-doctor. I suggested that he might start a local clinic for the resuscitation of drowned fish. To which he made no reply. But after putting the thing back alive in the lake, he said he had only done his duty as a law-abiding citizen. But he assured me that my lost fish would be the right size for me to catch when I returned to his lodge next year. Which struck me as a sordid and mercenary observation.

The Week In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — While a major forest fire roared relentlessly in Gaspe South County this week, Premier Jean Lesage announced the province planned to remodel its forest protection service.

Mr. Lesage said the province plans to build up gradually a fleet of aircraft capable of carrying large amounts of liquid for bombing planes.

Access roads and landing strips would be cut in forest areas and a radio network established around the province.

The neighboring provinces of Ontario and New Brunswick were approached by Lands and Forests Minister Bona Arsenault, he said, about forming a pool of firefighting aircraft among the three provinces.

The Premier said Mr. Arsenault has been authorized to sign an agreement with the Federal Government under which Ottawa would pay half the cost of buying firefighting equipment. This would be done under the Canada Forestry Act.

The disclosure of the vast protection plan came while Mr. Lesage announced hurried Provincial Government help to stricken Gaspe South communities. The fire burning there, one of the worst in Gaspe Peninsula history, had been raging unchecked for over a week.

Premier Lesage also announced the appointment of two additional members to the Economic Guidance Council being established to advise the government on economic affairs.

The appointments raised the Council's membership to five.

Named this week were Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal of Montreal's McGill University and Jean Marchand, General Secretary of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor. Dr James will represent the English segment of the population on the Council.

Already named to the Council were Rene Pare, President of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce; Jean-Baptiste Lemoyne, President of the Catholic Farmers Union and Rene Tremblay, newly-appointed Deputy Minister of Commerce. Mr. Pare is chairman.

The Council was first created by the Liberal Government of Adelard Godbout in 1943, but abandoned by the Union Nationale Party when it took power the following year. It was revised by Mr. Lesage's new Liberal administration recently.

It is to be a consulting body which will advise the government on everything that could touch the economic development of the province.

—o—

Former Premier Antonio Barrette held his first press conference in the capacity of Opposition Leader this week and immediately hinted reforms are likely within the Union Nationale Party.

He announced J. D. Begin had wished to retire as chief organizer of the party. Then he indicated he would take over the post himself.

"I believe that in opposition the chief of the party should also hold the post of chief organizer", he said.

Mr. Begin, who was also Colonization Minister in the former Union National Government, was asked to remain in his post for a few more days, Mr. Barrette said.

Mr. Barrette also indicated he favors decentralization as regards to party funds.

Funds should not be in the hands of one man but rather split into several areas where two or three men would form a committee or trust to administer these funds.

The Week At Ottawa

Canada may need less foreign capital this year to balance her international trading books.

An upsurge in exports continued during July for the second monthly trade surplus so far this year.

Exports jumped 8.3 per cent over the July, 1959, levels and this, coupled with a surprising 10.7-per-cent drop in import buying, produced a $38,300,000 surplus.

The bureau of statistics reports this left Canada with a commodity trade deficit — excess of imports over exports — of $168,200,000 for the first seven months of the year.

Big Drop

This was a big drop of some 60 per cent from the trade deficit of $401,200,000 in the similar period last year.

If the trend continues for the rest of the year, Canada will enjoy a sizeable reduction in its customary deficit on international transactions.

The deficit last year totalled $1,460,000,000 — about one-quarter of it due to a commodity trade deficit and the rest to non-merchandise "invisibles," such as payments on foreign investments in Canada, travel and freight costs.

Further improvements in the trade picture will likely come from the marathon international talks now being held in Geneva.

A Canadian team, headed by Hector B. McKinnon, is negotiating at the fifth post-war negotiations of the General Agreement on Tariffs and trade.

Canada will be out to preserve — and improve — access for Canadian goods to the six-nation European Common Market in the face of a pending tariff shuffle by the six to form a customs union.

The six nations are France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Italy. They buy around $500,000,000 worth of Canadian goods annually, especially key exports such as metals, wood pulp, chemicals and wheat.

Wheat Exports

A not-too-bright picture for wheat exports was painted by a Japanese trade mission visiting Ottawa.

Seiichi Yaji, leader of the mission, said that Japan will likely maintain the present level of its imports of hard, milling-type Canadian wheat and expand purchases of feed wheat.

But he added that Canadian wheat exports can look to increasing competition from the United States, Australia and possibly the Soviet Union.

Surplus Piling

The bureau of statistics forecasts Canada will have a wheat crop of 472,513,000 bushels — up 14 per cent from last year's 413,520,000 bushels.

Business as Usual

Prime Minister Diefenbaker — yet to take a holiday — spent the week carrying on business as usual in Ottawa.

Uppermost in his mind was the Congo situation.

Hurrying into a Cabinet meeting, he told reporters he has as yet received no reply from Premier Patrice Lumumba of his protest over the manhandling of Canadian troops in the Congo.

He noted, however, that the Congo government had apologized through UN Undersecretary Ralph Bunche.

Fall Session

Mr. Diefenbaker declined to say whether the government is planning a fall session of Parliament when he was asked about reports that earlier announced plans for such a session had been discarded.

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson described talk of a fall session of Parliament as "bluff." He plans to travel extensively in Canada during the next few months making speeches at Liberal party fund-raising banquets, local fall fairs, and other meetings.

Coal Report

The government has received a report into Canada's coal industry prepared by a one-man Royal Commission. Hon. Ivan C. Rand, Dean of the law school at the University of Western Ontario, was appointed last Oct. 6 to make the inquiry. His findings are expected to be made public toward the end of September.

A Camping Holiday

By Sidney Smith

Resuming the story where we left off last issue, we arrived in Fort William on Thursday evening and after making enquiries found out where son Laurence and family lived. With not too much difficulty we reached the house and were met by Mrs. Laurence Smith, who was very pleased to see us. Laurence had not yet arrived home from his work, but did so shortly. By that time, all had made the acquaintance of the baby and he seemed as pleased as anyone else to be meeting his kin folk, greeting everyone with a broad smile and chuckle. The unanimous vote was that he was a real fine boy and a likable fellow.

Laurence arrived and was pleased to meet the folks and then supper was served. Naturally there was much conversation about what all had been doing, for it was two years since we had seen this part of the family. The talk continued on until about 3 a.m. and due to the fact that Laurence had to be at work in the morning, the gathering reluctantly broke up and all went to bed for a few hours sleep.

No, you are wrong, we did not sleep late next morning, we were all up early and ready to go for the next venture. True we did not do much between breakfast and lunch except talk. It was decided that we would go out to lunch and then see some of the city. Delores, Laurence's wife, was our guide and Bruce took over the job of driving once again.

I might mention here that on entering Fort William there is a large archway resembling a fort of olden times and a large sign bids welcome to all visitors. It is quite impressive and makes one feel that they are truly welcome. I might also say that none of us had ever been in Fort William before, so everything there was new and interesting. We found not a large city, nor a particularly bustling one, but busy nevertheless. As most people are aware, they are actually twin cities for Port Arthur is so close that one passes from one to the other without realizing it.

Thus on our tour of the city during the afternoon of Friday we were taken to important parts of both Fort William and Port Arthur. These cities are at the head of the lakes and their greatest industry is the shipping. It is here that the wheat and other grains from Western Canada arrive by rail and are transferred to lake steamers and since the opening of the seaway, also to ocean going steamers. It is here that the various grain companies have their storage terminals and along the shores of Lake Superior at this point are many grain elevators and flour storage buildings. We visited parks and playgrounds and a lookout point where a very splendid view of both cities is obtained and which gives some idea of the expanse of both, that is not possible in any other way. These two cities appear to lie in a huge valley, for on approaching them from the south, one travels up and down and winds around, but never catches a glimpse of them until the entrance archway is almost reached. From this lookout point however, one gets a complete view of the whole. Such attractions as these two cities have, would be played up greatly if they formed part of the United States, but who hears much of these north-western cities of Ontario. They are off the beaten track as far as most people are concerned.

In our jaunt around the city it was pointed out to us where a large pulpwood fire had occurred a few weeks previously and which had been given much publicity in the daily newspapers of Montreal. Also one of the elevators had suddenly collapsed and a huge part had subsided into the water. No reason was given for this, it just happened and there was a loud explosion when it occurred. Pulpwood is another thriving industry and there are some iron or steel works. The parks are all well equipped with wading pools and all sorts of swings and such for the children. There is plenty of space in which to play, or just roam around, and just on the outskirts of the city within easy reach for anyone. All are a mecca for the young children and very few children are seen playing on the streets. At most of them there is supervisor so that parents can feel that their children are as safe as possible while there. After visiting many such spots in Fort William and Port Arthur, the group returned home to prepare supper and wait the arrival of Laurence from work. The evening proved much the same as the one before, except that all retired much earlier in preparation for the next day's sight-seeing under the guidance of Laurence.

It might perhaps be mentioned that while staying in Fort William, our camping holiday was interrupted for we slept on comfortable beds in the house and of course partook of our meals in the house. Saturday was spent in a visit to the branch of the Bank of Montreal where Laurence is in charge of the Savings Dept. It is very nice building and well kept as most branches of the bank are. The staff has specially equipped rooms in the basement for dining room and lounging rooms, cloak rooms, etc. and these are made great use of at the appropriate times. In the afternoon we visited the same park as on the previous day but saw more of it. We also saw the golf course where Laurence has succumbed to the game and puts in a number of week-ends— this particular one was called off due to our visit. That the course is popular was evidenced by the number out on the greens.

On Sunday it was decided that we should have a real day of sightseeing and have a picnic. Thus on that day we almost returned to our camping holiday by visiting a lake on a peninsula, high on top of a mountain known as the Sleeping Giant. Barbara of course was thrilled by this and especially at the mention of a sleeping giant. We had caught glimpses of this peculiar formation of nature while making the rounds the previous day. The top of the mountain forms the outline of what appears to be a huge man lying down on his back with his arms folded across his chest. An Indian legend has it that a certain man of an Indian tribe ventured into this territory which was forbidden according to their beliefs and he was turned to stone and forms the sleeping giant as a further warning against others trespassing in forbidden territory. The trees and other growth on the mountain form the contour of the body of the giant and it shows very clearly against the background of the sky. It is very easy to follow the lines of the body which give the outline of the giant.

It was to this peninsula to which we journeyed on Sunday morning, first on a good highway and then onto winding roads that went up and down until we reached a large lake called Marie Louise. Here were all the facilities for a picnic. Tables and benches, fireplaces, trees, a large sandy beach and plenty of water. Dressing rooms and toilet facilities were also provided and by the time we arrived the tables had almost all been taken. A lifeguard was present and a special safe place marked off for small children to play in the water. Boating, fishing, surfboarding and other kinds of water sports were in evidence.

We had packed our trusty camp stove and had a supply of hot dogs, hamburgers, pickles, bread buns, cakes and fruit and were set for the day. While the elder Smiths prepared the lunch, the younger fry took to the water and enjoyed themselves. Needless to say that when this was over, they descended upon the lunch and cleared it in short order. After a rest and posing for pictures, more water sport and then supper. It was a beautiful day and very hot, but being by the water, the heat was not noticed too much. It was decided before we returned home to visit Silver Isle. This is another historical point on the peninsula with a legend also. We went to a point opposite a very small island and about eight miles from where we had been. The story is that a few prospectors found this island and discovered it contained huge quantities of silver. They went to work to mine the silver, but it was necessary to continually pump the water from the mines in order to keep them operating. As winter came on, coal had to be brought to the island to keep the steam up for the pumps. One winter that was very severe and earlier than usual, the boats which brought up the coal were delayed and then could not reach the island due to being locked in the ice. All the buildings were torn down and put into the boilers in an effort to keep the pumps operating. When this had all been used up the job had to be abandoned as there was no hope of the coal arriving. The consequence was the mines became flooded and it would have been too costly to open them up and the price of silver had slumped in the meantime, so the mines were abandoned. During this time however, millions of dollars worth of silver had been taken from the mines and it was still believed that many more remained there. A plaque is erected at the site explaining this. Incidentally, as also for ourselves, Laurence and his wife visited the spot for the first time.

Returning home late in the evening, we were given a few more glimpses of points of special interest by night. At one point, a high look-out in the city, we were shown a view of both cities as they appear at night with all the many lights burning. It was a glorious view and numbers of people parked their cars along the specially built wall to look at this wonder. Over the wall was a sheer drop of several hundred feet, testifying to the height from which we were looking.

We say again, that if we only look around our own country, we can find as many wonderful things as can be found in the country to the south of us. The only thing is we Canadians prefer to say nothing about them, we have not yet acquired the art of boastfulness of our own attractions.

Monday morning was set for the return trip to Huntingdon, but more of this in the next episode.

If this is ever enacted it would resemble the Liberal Party organization. Mr. Barrette thinks the system is a good idea.

The former Premier also said the 1960-61 provincial deficit forecast by Premier Lesage could not be attributed to a poor administration by the former government.

"Mr. Lesage holds the finance portfolio and if he desires a surplus rather than his predicted deficit he has only one thing to do; that is to hold tight to the budget voted by the Union Nationale Government during the last Session of the Legislature", he said.

Mr. Lesage has forecast that the current fiscal year deficit will probably exceed some $78,000,000.

The Union National, meanwhile, had budgeted for a small surplus.

LAWNS

Ottawa. — The annual warning to home gardeners not to throw good lawn seed after bad comes this year from J. H. Boyce of the Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa. He emphasizes the value of starting with the right kind of seed and sowing it on well-prepared fertile soil.

Among the thousands of known species of grasses less than 20 are useful for most lawn purposes in Canada. Chief among the 20 are Kentucky blue grass, rough-stalked blue grass, creeping red fescue, Chewings fescue and some of the bent grasses, notably colonial and red top.

Some undesirable grasses germinate quickly and surpass the recommended species in early growth and appearance but lawns seeded to them quickly deteriorate and become weedy, requiring costly renovation. Lawn makers should particularly avoid those seed packages that are labelled, often in very small type, No. 1 Pasture Mixture. They contain mostly the cheap, coarse and poor turf-forming grasses.

Timothy and alsike clover are useful only as a temporary cover for lawn areas.

Mr. Earl Gould, Calgary, Alberta was a recent visitor of Arnold McNaughton. Mr. Gould hiked from Calgary in four days arriving August 22nd and left for New York City, August 30.

ernors assured the CBC's continued entry into all private TV areas in Canada.

Dr. Andrew Stewart, board chairman, told a public hearing in no area — city or town — will the BBG allow the CBC to be displaced by a private television network.

His statement means that privately-owned TV stations now affiliated with the CBC English- and French-language networks will not be allowed to drop their link with the CBC in favor of a private hook-up, as long as they remain the only station in the area they serve.

Best Seller

Canada's Bill of Rights, passed at the last parliamentary session, promises to become a best-seller.

The government printing bureau reports that it has orders for 5,000 copies and anticipates a growing demand. Interest in the United States is indicated by one American order for 300 copies.

Withdraw Appeals

Three Cuban exiles, bitter opponents of Premier Castro's government, have withdrawn appeals against deportation orders of the Canadian immigration department. They were twice foiled in attempts to enter the U.S. from Canada to organize an anti-Castro movement.

Living Costs

A seasonal boost in grocery expendiaures nudged living costs in Canada upwards by 0.3 per cent during July. The consumer price index — the cost of living yardstick — advanced to 127.9 on Aug. 1 from 127.5 July 1. The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, was 1.2 per cent above the level a year earlier.

Obituary

The Late
Mrs. Robert McClenaghan

The community of Ormstown was saddened by the death of Mrs. Robert McClenaghan (nee Eliza Bennie Cameron) who passed away on Monday, Aug. 22nd. Born on June 17, 1888, the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cameron, Aubrey, Que., she had resided in Riverfield until the past few years when they moved to Ormstown.

Mrs. McClenaghan had been in poor health for some time, but was always cheerful and of a kindly disposition. She made many friends and her home was always an "open house".

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, one son and daughter-in-law, one grandson and two granddaughters, five sisters, two brothers and three sisters-in-law and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral was held from McGerrigle's Funeral Home on Thursday, August 25th, at 2.30 P.M. in the Riverfield Presbyterian Church.

Rev. W. M. Brown the officiating minister, spoke comforting words to the bereaved relatives and friends.

The music by the choir and the solo by Rev. Brown was beautifully rendered.

The pall-bearers were E. Bergevin, W. Brown, W. Craig, C. Goundrey, A. McFarlane and A. McKell.

The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous, which showed the love and respect her many friends felt for her.

Interment was in Riverfield Cemetery.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. Leslie Cameron and family of St. John Blvd., The Station, brother of the deceased.

Bank Of Montreal Announces Scholarship Winners For Quebec

MONTREAL — Names of nine boys and four girls who have won first-year Bank of Montreal Canada Centennial Scholarships for the Province of Quebec have been announced by the bank.

The 13 Quebec winners are among 50 boys and girls across Canada who are to receive $750 for first-year university study, either in arts or sciences.

They are: Claude Abraham, 17, Montreal; Gilles Beaudry, 18, Three Rivers; Elaine Carducci, 15, Montreal; Rejean Daigneault, 18, Montreal; Thomas H. Golberg, 16, Montreal; Serge Laplante, 16, Montreal; Garv Luxton, 17, Montreal; Sandra J. MacLean, 16, Strathmore; Mark S. Mandelcorn, 16, Montreal; Dorothy J. 657 APPLICANTS

The winning Quebec students were among 657 boys and girls in this province who applied — all of them top-ranking 1960 graduates of their respective high schools.

Across Canada, 2,208 students applied, and each application had to be accompanied by the recommendation of the student's principal, so that there was considerable "pre-selection" in the schools.

Winners were decided upon within the last week by provincial selection committees composed of leading educationalists in the provinces concerned.

The 50 awards of $750 now announced are the first step in a seven-year plan announced by the B of M last May to provide bank-aided university study

CULMINATES IN 1967

The program will culminate in 1967, the year of the centennial of Canadian Confederation and the bank's 150th anniversary, when two final Canada Centennial awards will be made. One award will be in arts and one in science — each in the amount of $5,000 for study anywhere in the world.

The scheme provides for a total of 124 awards in the years 1960-67, ranging from $750 to $5,000. When the plan was announced, G. Arnold Hart, president of the B of M, said the bank hoped the scholarships would provide "a tangible and worthwhile observance of the national centennial to the future national advantage."
