Huntingdon, Wed., Dec., 31st, 1941

To most men experience is like the sternlights of a ship, which illumine only the track it has passed.

Broad Government

THE Financial Post, Toronto, has attempted to take a telegraph poll from newspaper editors and business executives across Canada, as to what was thought of our Government or what might best be done now to improve matters.

Naturally the answers are varied. Some business leaders look to 1942 as being a very difficult year for industry, due to the fact that essential supplies for manufacture will not likely be available in quantities or at the time when desired. Others feel that the necessities for war supplies will see some lines of business overtaxed.

As to the political arena at Ottawa the newspaper publishers, selected at random, gave varied expressions. The recognized Tory publishers who started harping on Union Government at the time of the 1940 election are still supporting that attitude, perhaps to save their faces as much as anything else. Then we find newspapers that were always regarded as Liberal-minded, but who were swinging toward Unionism, recognize today that Premier King is the man to carry Canada through this war; as Churchill will do for Great Britain. Editor W. R. Legge, Granby Leader-Mail and President of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, has been regarded as conducting a newspaper with Conservative leanings, yet here is what Mr. Legge has to say on the question:—

"I feel that changes at the present time in the directorate of our war effort should be kept to a minimum and should only be made when gross incompetence is shown. I am convinced that the present government is making a sincere effort and it is doubtful if a change could result in any improvement. If all political parties were to be included, considerable confusion would certainly result."

H. A. Graybiel, Border Cities Star, Windsor, Ont., one of Canada's greatest daily newspapers, is highly regarded for his writings and wisdom in political judgments, and here is what the editor of that paper has to say in The Financial Post:—

"Canada's war effort should undoubtedly not be restricted by party limitations, but there is, in my opinion, little basis today for the charge that the government is making this a "One Party" war. While the Cabinet is predominantly Liberal, the most recent appointment demonstrates the Prime Minister's sincere desire to obtain representation of all classes, irrespective of party affiliation. Appointments to senior positions in the various boards directing economy and production also display a lack of regard for politics.

I would hesitate to give support to any move for "National" government in any such vague or general terms. Too often such coalitions are formed with the one aim of giving a certain proportion of representation to each party, and are thus essentially political in character. Wouldn't it be a good idea for all Canadians to forget politics and get on with the war?"

Many newspapers expressed almost opposite opinions as to the two here reproduced. If, as an individual, you would go about this town, or any town you wish, and ask individuals if they are in favour of supporting Premier King and the Liberal Government, you would be surprised how many Conservatives as well as Liberals would say yes, and also that they are satisfied with the progress Canada has made in the war effort. We make this last statement not based upon idle guess work, but upon actual contacts made during the past two months when we asked folks just such questions.

The Gleaner contends that Canada needs party government in order to maintain a constructive opposition. Our survey findings prove to us that the rural public in general feel the Liberal government under the leadership of Premier King is keeping abreast of the times and is making what changes in its Ministers of the Crown that are essential and at the psychological time. Premier King's deferred trip to England demonstrated his political astuteness. A united working Canada, to win the war might well pin its faith in the Liberal Government without wasting time and effort through creating a new Government at this hour. The British Government is standing firm behind Premier Churchill; let us not break faith with the party Canada elected to office so recently as March 1940. Let's not change horses when in the midst of battle, or because the Conservative party has selected a new leader in the Hon. Arthur Meighen. The Conservative party under the excellent leadership of the Hon. Arthur Meighen can certainly perform a real war benefit work through offering constructive criticism rather than being united in a Union government.

As to Union Government here is what Mr. Hugh Templin, Fergus, Ont., has to report in Financial Post:—

"I have recently returned from months spent in Britain and feel Canadians must do more and will do so, if they are awakened to the need. I remember the last union government and don't want another."

Producing Cash Crops

IN 1942 farmers will want cash and more cash than in past years. Dairying is admittedly not as lucrative as it ought to be; consequently, many of our dairy farms are not stocking as large herds as their farms can support. Our farmers are loyal citizens to the Crown and it is but natural they should want to do all that is within their power to aid in this war against the Nazis. Producing cash crops that will aid to feed the people of Britain and the armed forces is therefore going to be part of the chore for our farmers to perform. Labor problems face our farmers and as dairying is a form of agriculture that requires efficient help many of our farms will just have to devote fields to producing crops that can be marketed to advantage.

Mr. G. E. Govier of Howick, who is general manager of the G. E. Govier & Co. Reg'd., along with the secretary-treasurer, Miss C. A. Newman, and their Agricultural Representative, J. R. L. Marshall, were in Huntingdon recently and are laying plans for the contracting of acreage with local farmers with a view to produce pea seed on our farms. The seed will in due turn be shipped to Great Britain where it will be planted to produce food for our staunch Britishers and the army. Britain must have its pea seed so here is one way our farmers can produce a cash crop and still perform a war service at the same time.

1941 was not a very good season for producing field crops and the returns for pea seed were not as commendable as might naturally have been expected. Ordinarily this district has plenty of moisture and lean crops are rare; if 1942 is average in this respect our farmers who contract to plant a seed pea crop with the G. E. Govier & Co. Reg'd. they ought to reap commendable returns for their effort.

From what we have been able to learn from Mr. Govier, their company supplies the necessary seed whilst the farmer supplies the land, and cultivates the crop according to the instructions given by their agricultural representative, Mr. Marshall. In 1941 approximately 400 acres of seed pea seed was grown in the Beauharnois district for this company. Most of the seed was planted on heavy clay land and it is felt that if it were planted on the lighter soil, such as we have in the upper part of the Chateauguay Valley, the returns would be greater. In 1941, it was a dry season. Two growers received financial returns that made nearly $60. per acre; three growers received nearly $50. per acre and seven growers between $30. and $40. per acre; 50% of the local growers received approximately $20. per acre. This latter figure was not as high as would have been the returns if the season had been more normal as to moisture. Farmers who are interested in learning more about producing a seed pea crop would do well to get in touch with Mr. J. R. L. Marshall at Howick.

A Happy and Victorious New Year

NEXT to the wish "A Merry Christmas," there is no greeting as sincere and universal as "A Happy New Year." This year we must add to this greeting "Victorious" for without victory to the cause we are now fighting to obtain we cannot hope to be overjoyed or truly happy at all times. The Christmas spirit of friendliness, goodwill and good humor carries through to the New Year, and the hope is honest and strong in the hearts of all that success and happiness shall be the lot of each and all during the new year. Even in these times of war there is sincerity and faith in the wish. To the many who faced a joyless Christmas the season has been one of deep pleasure because of the kindness of others and the conviction that they are remembered and cared for.

A year ago we all felt there was a strong probability that Hitler would attempt to raid Great Britain as he so accomplished raids in European countries and also attempted upon Russia. Though the tempo of war increased during 1941 no attempt has been made to land troops in Britain, consequently, the toll of death amongst our soldiers has been greatly curtailed; for that we are certainly truly thankful and for which we might well be happy.

In Canada our responsibility is growing every day, if we can only clear away that mist of unimportant things, in order to see it more clearly. We in Canada have never been used to thinking about any serious international situation that might change our fortunes in the world, before. It is a new thing to this nation, but we should, in this new year of 1942, make an effort to see clearly what this war really means. We shall have to see that the war is not just bombs killing people, or torpedoes sinking ships, or the armies taking prisoners, but of an attempt by a fanatical group, backed by a sheep-minded people, to destroy our religion, our government, our mode of life, and every institution that we in the British Empire hold dear. The more we think of this factor, the quicker we shall understand many things. One of our main responsibilities is to think deeply and quickly, and then act decisively!

The new year also brings with it a further and also a very important responsibility. It calls upon all Canadian citizens to work, encourage, save and fight for the cause more than ever before. We are faced with the responsibility of aiding the war effort with all our might; of putting all the physical, mental, moral and persuasive strength into the war that we possibly can.

True there are other things that will engage our attention in the new year, but the winning of the war is the main one, for unless the war is won, what will religion, social position, possessions, culture and accomplishment mean to any of us? The new year of 1942 brings with it a challenge to us all to see this war through, until 1952 if need be, but certainly to see it through with sacrifice, heroism and true British courage and efficiency. That is our outlook for 1942. Can we measure up to this great responsibility?

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The question of having more suitable bridges built on Chaussee St., Valleyfield, is a matter that has occupied considerable attention of the Valleyfield City Council, The Montreal Cottons Limited and Mr. Maxime Raymond, K.C., M.P., for Beauharnois County. Correspondence has been brought before the City of Valleyfield Council on many occasions dealing with this matter. Reports of meetings and letters have been published and the following is one that has been sent to the Gleaner for publication. The letter is from The Montreal Cottons Limited addressed to Maxime Raymond, K.C., M.P., and although such has not been brought before a public meeting, it is a letter that explains the bridge question as The Montreal Cottons Limited views the situation.

A "round-table conference" with a number of the essential interests represented might bring about an amicable solution toward improving the bridge situation, but correspondence and public meeting utterances being issued as of recent date are not likely to bring about any commendable solution to the desired new bridges on Chaussee Street.

THE EDITOR
23rd December, 1941

Mr. Maxime Raymond, M.P.,
House of Commons,
59 St. James Street West,
Montreal, Que.

Dear Sir:

Yours of the 15th inst. to hand.

You either do not understand, or do not want to understand the situation with regard to the bridges on Chaussee Street.

We, therefore, will try to enlighten you thereon.

The Agreement as signed on the 8th January, 1895, states that the Cotton Company shall construct and maintain a certain roadway bridge leading from the lower dam to Grande Isle over the headrace and approaches thereto, and shall at all times leave same free and unobstructed and open to the public; and during the construction, repair, or reconstruction of the said works, the Cotton Company shall not intercept any portion of the said bridge or roadway without first providing a suitable passage or roadway to Grande Isle.

The bridge referred to in this paragraph has been constructed and maintained.

There has never been any question about the maintenance of the existing bridge, but where we do disclaim any responsibility is in the building of a new bridge, or bridges, designed to accommodate the demand of today's traffic, and this was the meaning we wished to convey in the first paragraph of our letter to you, dated the 6th December. There is nothing in the Agreement which would oblige the Cotton Company to reconstruct the present bridge (and which was built for the horse and buggy days) to accommodate the requirements of present day traffic.

In the first copy of the proposed three-party Agreement, it is stated that at the expiration of the sub-lease Nos. 27877A and 27879A, the Beauharnois Light, Heat & Power Co., and/or The Montreal Cottons Limited shall amongst other obligations, replace the fill or fills so removed, by a bridge or bridges which shall be as good and of equal capacity as the bridge or bridges now existing, was or were when first constructed, and thereafter shall at all times maintain the said bridge or bridges to the satisfaction of the General Superintendent.

From the above it is quite evident in the opinion of the Federal Government that our only obligation is in respect to the maintenance of the present bridge.

While it may be only playing on words to call this a three or four party agreement, a reference to letter from the Department of Transport, dated Ottawa, the 11th February, 1941, enclosing the draft of the first agreement submitted to us, clearly refers to "proposed three-party agreement."

The last copy of the draft of the three-party agreement did not in our opinion, nor in the opinion of our attorneys, remove the obligation to which the Cotton Company objected in the first draft of the agreement submitted to them by the Department of Transport, Ottawa.

The remarks contained in the last paragraph of your letter are so silly and childish for a man of your age and position in life to have made, that we will disregard same entirely.

Yours very truly,
The Montreal Cottons Limited

Without a Humble Invitation of the Divine Author of Our Religion We Can Never Hope To be a Happy Nation

The sentiments brought me by a calendar from a friend now over 80 years young, Mr. Wm. Orr, of Hamilton, Ont., seem particularly apropos of men's thoughts in this warring world at the New Year. Here are some of them:

Go forth to meet him bravely,
The New Year all untried;
The things the Old Year left with us,
Faith, Hope ,and Love abide.

But alas! many have lost their faith in God and man because things seem hopeless, while the inverse is true also, for the pessimism so prevalent is due in large measure to the wrecking of faith brought about by modernistic criticism of Bible truths.

We are but little candles in a windblown flame,
Against a bitter night,
O God of light and hope and love,
Help us to keep alight.

No one is really beaten unless he is discouraged. Churchill's recent address to Congress bore out Edwin Markham's saying,—There is a destiny that makes us brothers.

This for the dressy ones: Of all the things you wear your expression is most important.

Washington, the Father of his Country, and war leader, said: Without a humble invitation of the Divine Author of our religion we can never hope to be a happy nation.

A Chinese proverb says: He who strikes the first blow confesses he has run out of ideas.

Lagore says:—Death is not extinguishing the light; it is putting out the lamp because dawn has come.

Quoted by the King at Christmas, 1940: I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year, "Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown," and he replied, "Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than a light, and safer than a known way."

Not only are men exposed to perils of battle at the hands of the enemy. At this festive season of the year there is danger of losing self-control followed by losing control of one's car, and there are bottlenecks in bar-rooms as well as bottlenecks on highways and byways.

The poet has said:
The night has a thousand eyes,
The day has one .....

Now somebody remarks that the neighbors have 1001.

In Germany it is said that they are planning to improve the economic system by killing off not only insane and incurable, but also those who are too old and decrepit to be of any value to the state. Here in Canada Hitler is hastening the death of old men on farms whose sons have left production to fight him, while their fathers struggle with the production problem.

When the Japs struck they stopped the Americans and Canadians from striking. Only one strike was ever known to have been organized on Covey Hill. Two sheep-shearers formed a union and refused to work unless their wages were raised from 5c. a head to 6c. A shearer could do 50 sheep in a day. That was the era of home-made goods before the time of cheap factory mass production. Everybody owned sheep and blankets, cloth, shawls, and yarn carpets were made in rural districts. Tuques and scarves were worn instead of furs. The use of barbed wire for fences instead of stones and rails made it harder to confine sheep, and, besides, the price of wool fell.

In both manner and matter the sermons of the recent Christmas season compare well with other addresses heard. One thing in some church services seems to me unnatural and uncalled for, i.e. the intoning or chanting of the Lord's Prayer. It is a prayer, not a chant.

Fawcett & Grant's New Building

The modern building on Lake and Wellington Streets built by Mr. D. J. O'Connor for Fawcett and Grant Limited, is now completed. This new building is located on property purchased from Mrs. W. D. McCormick.

This modern, one-story building affords 9,000 square feet of floor space and was constructed entirely by local labor. The building is modern in every respect and the machinery will be the same late type machinery used in the plant on Chateauguay Street. The looms will be installed on the south-west side of the building and the mending and warping machines on the north-east side.

The building will be steam-heated and fluorescent lighting equipment has been installed throughout. This building, one of the best in Huntingdon, measures 60 by 125 feet. The fact that it is only one-story high will eliminate much heavy lifting. The building is made of concrete blocks. It is set well back off the street and there is available space if the building ever has to be enlarged. The large frontage of the building will be landscaped with a lawn and shrubbery.

Mr. Fawcett stated that additional machinery will not be installed, but floor space has been arranged for should the need arise. The machinery in this building will be automatic. It will be moved as soon as possible and it is expected that work will begin at the new premises next week.

Leach Textiles Prepare To Move Into New Home

In August a contract for a new building was let by the Leach Textiles Limited to be erected facing the Athelstan Road. On Monday the first loom installed in this building was in operation.

Due to the difficulty of obtaining large timbers from British Columbia, the building was not completed as soon as it would otherwise have been. Mr. Donald McNair, contractor for the new building, did excellent work and he states that if the materials had arrived on time the building would have been completed well ahead of schedule.

The building is a modern, one story structure made of cement blocks. It is up-to-date in every respect, and affords approximately 20,000 square feet of floor space. The structure measures 220x90 feet and boasts much window space. The building will be heated by the largest cast iron furnace of its type in Canada. In summer the same machinery may be used to blow cool air into the building.

The fact that the building is of the one story type will eliminate much inconvenience. It has also been constructed on the straight line basis. This means that the elementary work on the material will start at one end of the building and by the time it has been relayed to the opposite end, it will be finished. The building is completely equipped with built-in ramps in the floor. These ramps are covered when not in use.

Adequate window space will eliminate the use of artificial lighting to a large degree. The building is also equipped with the modern fluorescent lighting fixtures.

The building is divided into two parts. The rear part, opening on Sheriff Ave., will measure 90 feet by 120 feet and will be used for warping, winding, drawing-in and storage. The next section will measure 90 feet by 100 feet and will provide space for warping and office space. The boiler as well as the power rooms will be separate from the machine-room.

Under the direction of Arthur Spivey, Ernest Shackleton, Douglas Fortune, Thos. Vine and Clarence McConville the machinery is being rapidly transferred into the new building. This work, started on Friday, is well ahead of schedule due to careful pre-calculation and excellent work on the part of the directors. The mill employees handle the heavy machinery alone, while Wallace Warden hauls it to the new building with a truck. The machinery inside the buildings is moved with the aid of a tractor.

While work was started in this huge new building on Monday, it has been officially reported that the new building will not be in full operation until January 2nd, 1942. The new building faces the Athelstan Road and the employees entrance is from there. A lawn will beautify the building in summer.

A high-speed warping machine and an automatic weft-winder will be installed at an early date.
