World News In Brief

Nairobi, Kenya, Oct. 30 — (Reuters) — British troops, scouring the jungles skirting the Aberdare mountains, have rooted out more than 500 "underground" Africans suspected of aiding the anti-white Mau Mau society, the government announced today.

The drive concentrated in the thick bamboo jungle where thousands of young Kikuyu tribesmen fled last week-end.

Another swoop on the Nyeri and Naivasha areas put another 150 Africans under arrest for questioning, the spokesman added. It was in this district that an English farmer and two servants were killed earlier this week.

London, Oct. 30—(Reuters) Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden hopes to visit Canada during his forthcoming visit to the United States to attend the current session of the United Nations General Assembly.

A foreign office spokesman said today details of the visit to Canada have not yet been arranged.

Eden will fly to New York Nov. 7 and will stay about two weeks.

Eden will probably make a speech in Ottawa during his visit there. He will also see his son, Nicholas, aide-de-camp to Governor - General Vincent Massey.

Chicago, Oct. 30 — (AP) — Seven gunmen invaded a west side charity card party last night and terrorized 150 persons while robbing them of cash, jewelry, furs and clothing. Police said the total loss might reach $75,000.

The gunmen gained entrance to the Austin Jewish community centre and captured Barney Juvik, 57, a janitor who was guarding the cloak-room. They used Juvik as a shield as they marched into the auditorium where the 150 persons were playing cards.

The seven spent half an hour systematically collecting purses, jewelry and furs. They stripped rings and other jewelry from some women.

Pusan, Korea, Oct. 30. — (AP) — Four Koreans were killed and three were wounded today when 114 former guerrillas attempted a mass prison escape at Kwangju, 80 miles west of here.

Guards quelled the riot after 45 minutes by firing into a group of prisoners who were attempting to break into a weapons storehouse.

International Commission To Seek Peace In Korea Is Proposed By Vishinsky

United States Considers Soviet Proposal To Be "The Same Old Stuff".

United Nations, N.Y., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky asked the United Nations Assembly last night to form an international commission to seek peace in Korea and unification of that war-torn country. United States at the U.N. generally viewed the proposal as the same old Soviet stuff.

On the commission proposed by Vishinsky would be "the parties directly concerned and other states, including states not participating in the war in Korea."

Vishinsky's resolution would open the door for the Soviet Union to become directly involved. The Russians so far have abstained from a direct, public role in the Korean conflict.

The new Soviet proposal came at the end of a fiery speech in which Vishinsky, for three hours and 39 minutes, lashed back at the U.S. stand outlined last Friday by State Secretary Dean Acheson.

New Libel Act Given UK Approval

London, Oct. 30—(Reuters)—A new act revising Britain's 60-year-old libel and slander laws to protect authors and publishers won a race against the clock in parliament yesterday.

The act, introduced last January by Labor member Harold Lever, was passed by the House of Lords just in time to receive the Queen's assent today — last day of the present parliamentary session.

Any delay would have meant indefinite postponement of the bill, passed by the House of Commons last June.

Hardest hit under the new act will be persons who find an easy way to make money by seeing themselves as the fictitious villain in a novel and suing the author and publisher for libel.

Under existing laws, anyone who could get witnesses to support this claim had a case. Some even made a precarious living out of this kind of action.

Newspapers now will be able to avoid costly court actions by publishing an apology for alleged defamation. If the apology is not accepted by the injured party, the newspaper will be able to plead it made the offer immediately after the complaint.

Previously, an offer to publish an apology was no defence and a newspaper had to prove that publication was not defamatory, was justified or was privileged.

Lever's act also protects publishers who defame accidentally through circumstances unknown to them. An example of this occurred when a newspaper published a photograph of a man with a woman identified as his fiancee. The man turned out to be married and his wife successfully claimed substantial damages.

Under the new bill, defence of fair comment would succeed in court even if some words were proved untrue. Thus a newspaper publishing a reader's letter proved to be malicious could plead fair comment.

The bill makes broadcast defamatory statements actionable as libel instead of slander. The law of slander is more lax than the law of libel, because the spoken word has a narrower circulation than the written.

But the development of broadcasting means, in the words of one expert, "mud can be flung round the world with the speed of light."

Women Seek Opportunity In Politics

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—(CP)—A demand for more opportunities in politics public service was made yesterday at the biennial meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women.

More than 200 delegates at the convention passed resolutions calling for a larger political role for women, following discussions on problems of organization needed to win elections.

One resolution said that when women are prepared to run as Liberal candidates in federal or provincial elections, they receive "official party support." It did not elaborate.

Other resolutions asked that more women be appointed to government boards and commissions, and that some women be named when 16 vacancies in the 102-seat Senate are filled.

Two women, Mrs. Iva Fallis and Mrs. Cairine Wilson, are among the 83 present Senate members.

Provincial Liberal women leaders described the need for strong organization for the impending general election as "vital" and "urgent."

Among those reporting for provincial groups the Prince Edward Island President, Mrs. George S. Inman of Montague, said Canadian women now "mean business" in politics. They had been lackadaisical in the past but from now on would be "right in there."

British Columbia President Mrs. G. W. Kissick said that B.C.'s June provincial election, which put a Social Credit government in power, may not have reflected the wishes of the peolpe.

"We feel that the people protested louder than they thought—that many of those registering disapproval were shocked by the accumulated results," said Mrs. Kissick, referring to the Liberal government's defeat. ". . . We must see that we regain our rightful place as the true party of the people."

Transport Minister Chevrier told delegates at luncheon he was confident of the outcome of the next general election.

"Considering the accomplishments and records of the party for the preceding 14 years," he said, "we can face the future undaunted, and whenever the call goes out from the Prime Minister for a general election, we shall respond with boldness and assurance."

Selwyn Lloyd of Britain was the first western big-power spokesman scheduled to reply to Vishinsky in the Assembly's political committee this afternoon.

But Acheson commented last night to reporters that the Soviet foreign minister said "nothing we have not heard a thousand times before, at Panmunjom and here."

Acheson earlier had reiterated the west's determination not to bow to communist demand for forced repatriation of prisoners. He told reporters Vishinsky "still argued that we must send prisoners home at the point of a bayonet, which, of course, we have no intention of doing."

Vishinsky yesterday repeated the Soviet charges that U.S. capitalists touched off the Korean war to save a wavering economy.

He scorned the resolution Acheson introduced asking the General Assembly to approve the U. N. command's stand against forcibly repatriating prisoners of war and to urge communist acceptance of a truce on those terms.

He endorsed as the "only way to achieve peace in Korea" a Polish omnibus resolution which includes a call for immediate cessation of hostilities, repatriation of all prisoners whether they want to go home or not, and withdrawal of all foreign troops two to three months after the end of the fighting.

Vishinsky's own resolution asked the Assembly to "establish a commission for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question with participation of the parties directly concerned and of other states, including states not participating in the war in Korea."

This would permit the Soviet Union to take part in a peace settlement along with possibly such neutral countries as India.

Vishinsky accused the South Korean president, Syngman Rhee, of collaborating with the Japanese years ago, and painted his regime as one of "repression in the sheepskin of democracy."

Accusing Acheson of "distorting" the Russian position and that of the communists at Panmunjom on the prisoner-of-war issue, Vishinsky argued that international law — as interpreted by British, French and Russian legal experts — called for the immediate repatriation of all prisoners of war.

According to The Hague and Geneva conventions, he said, prisoners are not entitled to choose whether they shall be returned home.

Clubbed Rifles And Cold Steel Used By Allies To Regain Korean Hill

Seoul, Oct. 30—(AP)—Allied infantry won back Pinpoint hill with clubbed rifles and cold steel today. Earlier 2,000 Chinese communists, bursting out of the mouth of a long, uphill tunnel, had gained control of the vital central Korean front peak.

Heavy artillery fire from both sides churned the rocky summit during the savage fighting and was continuing without let-up. An Eighth Army staff officer said it probably would rate as the most intense shelling of the war.

The allied troops were dug in 50 yards down the slope from the summit of Pinpoint, taking cover from the hail of shells which blistered the crest.

They drove the Chinese off that highest peak of Sniper ridge at mid-afternoon.

Then they split into three assault forces and tried to smash the Chinese all the way back to the Yoke, a maze of caves and tunnels guarding the northern end of 1½-mile-long Sniper ridge.

But intense communist shelling and small-arms fire turned back the assault forces.

The United States Eighth Army said its troops had inflicted 5,789 casualties on the Reds in the week ended Tuesday, bringing the total for the first four weeks of October to 32,885 — the heaviest month of the year. Comparative allied figures were not released.

In 17 days of fighting, allied soldiers have had to claw their way up Pinpoint hill's shell-pocked slopes nine times.

Earlier Thursday, the Chinese burst out of a long tunnel which opened near the summit and forced the allied defenders off the peak. The shell-proof tunnel protected the Reds from allied artillery. Allied infantry had blasted shut the tunnel during their earlier reigns atop Pinpoint but failed to seal it permanently.

Allied fighter-bombers pounded the north end of Sniper ridge Thursday but heavy communist anti-aircraft fire hampered them. At U. S. Eighth Army headquarters a briefing officer commented:

"It's virtually impossible to stop their reinforcements because of that tunnel."

Elsewhere along the front small-scale fighting was reported. Clashes were fought at Bunker hill, near Panmunjom in the west; south of Pyongyang, near the apex of the Iron Triangle on the central front; and north of the Punchbowl in the east.

U.K.-Egypt Near Terms On Sudan

Cairo, October 30.—(Reuters)—Egypt today officially revealed that she is agreeable to self-government for the Sudan by the end of this year as a first step towards the Sudanese deciding their own future within three years.

The plan is embodied in an agreement with Sudanese leaders signed last night and published today.

The move brings Egypt into virtual accord with Britain on the Sudan, a problem which not long ago loomed as a major rift between the two countries.

A year ago the then-King Farouk scrapped the treaty by which the Sudan had been ruled jointly by Egypt and Britain for more than 50 years and proclaimed himself King of the rich territory sprawling across Egypt's southern frontier. The annexation stand was modified after Gen. Mohammed Naguib ousted Farouk. The new regime has maintained close contact with Britain in working out a solution for the Sudan.

Though the Egyptian plan closely follows the British plan, there are still several differences between them.

As a prelude to self-determination by the Sudanese the agreement calls for evacuation of both British and Egyptian forces from the 1,000,000-square-mile territory and complete "Sudanization" of the administration — the assumption by Sudanese of all posts now held by Britons.

It also lays down that the choice of the Sudanese when it comes to determining their future status shall lie between union with Egypt and complete independence.

Rebellion At Prison Loses Fire

Chester, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Acting-governor Sherwood Dixon expressed strong hope today that 322 mutinous but hungry convicts would end their rebellion at Menard State Prison and release their seven hostages.

The feeling among state and prison authorities that prospects for a paceful settlement of the four-day deadlock were favorable grew swiftly last night as hunger began to show its effect.

The haggard inmates have been without food since seizing the east cell block of this southern Illinois prison late Monday. Their hostages — a prison lieutenant and six guards — have been without food since noon Monday.

Three hostages already have been freed. That move came yesterday when 38 psychiatric inmates surrendered and gave up the hostages unharmed on Dixon's promise to hear their grievances.

After that break in tension, Dixon told the remaining convict holdouts:

"As soon as you restore order and release the seven guards I will sit down with you and hear every grievance."

Late last night two prison chaplains entered the cell block at the inmates' request. They returned with word that the seven hostages were apparently in good health.

Prison officials would not reveal all of the demands but Dixon summarized the prisoners' wants.

"They ask increased medical service and a better food supply. And of course, they all want to get out."

Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale Dies At 66

Montreal, Oct. 30—(CP)—Associate Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale of the Quebec Superior Court and former Chancellor of McGill University, died last night. He was 66.

He died in Montreal Neurological Institute from a cerebral haemorrhage. He suffered an attack about a month ago and appeared to be recovering but re-entered the hospital more than a week ago.

He retired from the Chancellorship of McGill last May after serving five years. He was succeeded by B. C. Gardner, president of the Royal Bank of Canada.

He was the first graduate of McGill to become its Chancellor and also the first Chancellor who had ever been a member of the McGill faculty prior to his election.

Orville Sievwright Tyndale was born in Montreal June 4, 1887, and was educated in this city, later graduating from the Sorbonne in Paris.

He entered McGill as a student in the Arts faculty in 1940 and was awarded his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1908 and a Master of Arts degree the following year.

He showed an early facility in use of the French language, a facility he later polished to a high degree of brilliancy. While studying for his M.A. he served as special lecturer in French in the faculty of arts and sciences.

In 1909, he was awarded a special scholarship which took him to Paris.

He returned to Canada in 1911 and taught for six months in the French department of the McGill College in Vancouver, which was soon to become the University of British Columbia.

In 1912 he returned to McGill at Montreal as a student in the faculty of law. He graduated in 1915 and was admitted to the Quebec Bar that summer.

He started law practice and became a lecturer at McGill in the faculty of law in 1919.

In 1923, he joined the law firm of Brown, Montgomery and McMichael, with which he was associated until his elevation to the bench in 1942. He was named Associate Chief Justice in 1942, succeeding the late Mr. Justice W. L. Bond.

Despite heavy demands of the bar and bench, he continued his interest in teaching at McGill and became professor of civil procedure in the faculty of law in 1929. He retained this post until a few

New York Seeks Authority To Join In Power Scheme

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey and the New York State Power Authority looked hopefully to the Federal Power Commission today for its permission to join Ontario in construction of the St. Lawrence River power project.

Dewey'se office said the Governor was pleased at the green light given yesterday in Montreal by the International Joint Commission to the project, now estimated to cost $450,000,000.

John E. Burton, chairman of the State Power Authority, said in Ithaca that he is "hopeful that the F. P. C. will now . . . designate the authority as the agency" to join Canada in the 2,200,000,-horsepower development on the International Rapids section of the river.

Canada has named the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission as its agent in the project, which engfineers estimate will yield more than 13,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy a year

A $50,000,000 jump in the estimated cost of the project was revealed in Montreal yesterday by the Canadian Transport Minister, Lionel Chevrier. He said the boost was necessitated by estimated cost increases since the $400,000,000 figure was given more than a year ago.

Both Chevrier and Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders said they hope ground can be broken for the development in the spring.

Montreal, Oct. 30.—(CP)—Canada and the United States got an official go-ahead yesterday to develop 2,200,000 horse-power of needed electric energy in the international section of the St. Lawrence River.

The project is part and parcel of Canada's proposal to construct the St. Lawrence seaway, which also moves a step toward fruition with the power scheme.

The authority came from the International Joint Commission, which announced its approval of a joint Canada-U.S. application for permission for designated agencies to build $450,000,000 worth of power installations in the St. Lawrence near Cornwall, Ont.

The commission, a Canada-U.S. body which regulates boundary waters, noted in its announcement only the naming of an agency by the United States government now prevents a start on construction of the power works.

Canada has named the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission as its agency and a Washington dispatch said the New York State Power Authority has already applied for a licence to construct the works on the American side of the river.

The two agencies will split the cost of the project and the power to be developed.

Canada already had undertaken to build the $500,000,000 seaway, to open the Great Lakes system to ocean-going ships, if the commission approved the power scheme. The United States Congress persistently has rebuffed proposals that Canada and the U. S. build the seaway together.

At Ottawa, Transport Minister Chevrier expressed hope before a luncheon of the National Federation of Liberal Women that construction of the seaway will start next year and estimated that the over-all cost of the project will be $750,000,000.

This is $50,000,000 more than previously estimated. Mr. Chevrier later told reporters the power development will cost $450,000,000 and the seaway $300,000,000. Original estimate for the power plan was $400,000,000.

The commission's announcement followed two days of closed executive meetings here at which it studied the application and the results of a series of public hearings both in Canada and the United States.

"With this approval by the International Joint Commission, the commencement of construction of the power works in the international section of the St. Lawrence River by both applicants for which Canada has already named the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, as its 'entity', requires only the naming of an 'entity' by the United States."

The commission, with only the power application before it, did not refer directly to the seaway.

However, it noted that it had before it a reference from the two governments dealing with the amelioration of the levels of Lake Ontario in the interest of property-owners on the Canadian and American shores.

It said "immediate" steps have been taken to remove Gut dam, in Game Officials Active In E.T.

Quebec, Oct. 30.— (CP) —Quebec Fish and Game Department has cracked down on poachers in the Eastern Townships who have been reported killing deer for sale.

The department announced today a squad of wardens led by Chief Inspector Georges Bonin and Assistant-Inspector W. P. Lang, of West Shefford, swooped down on several men at La Patrie, Chartierville and Stoke, and seized jacklighting equipment and guns.

The announcement did not say how many men were arrested. The raids on poachers were conducted during the week of Oct. 12th.

Boston, Oct. 30 — (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower plans to go to Korea 10 days after the election, if he is the winner, the Christian Science Monitor says.

In a copyrighted article by Roscoe Drummond, chief of its Washington bureau, the Monitor says today that Gen. Eisenhower had planned to say so in his Detroit speech last week, but deleted the date because as president-elect he would have to be assured of the co-operation of the joint chiefs of staff and of officials of the administration.

North Atlantic Gale Takes Heavy Toll Of Shipping

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 30. — (CP) —Ships were tossed like matchwood yesterday as sudden North Atlantic gales raked the Canadian seaboard with fury.

No casualties were reported but the seamanship of an unidentified trawler captain probably saved the lives of 10 fishermen some 300 miles off Newfoundland's storm-whipped coast.

In the gulf of St. Lawrence, a disabled freighter and her tug escort barely held their own against the angry seas off the dangerous Magdalen Islands. And fishermen lost their boats.

Newfoundland took the brunt of the gales, worst of the season.

The Boston-based trawler Newton was left a floating derelict when her pumps couldn't keep ahead of a leak. First attempts by 10 crew members to abandon her were foiled when a lifeboat was smashed to splinters.

Then the St. Nicholas, another of the American trawler fleet manoeuvred to leeward. A risky dash to the side of the pitching, 130-foot craft was successful The crew clambered aboard. None was injured.

The Newton sent an S O S in the afternoon but the crew didn't abandon her until nightfall. Her captain, Pete Doucette, of Gloucester, Mass., reported that he left his running lights on so he could tell if his pumps were working.

His ship was still afloat at 12.30 a.m. today.

"I hope that ship—as deserted as she is—can weather the storm," he was heard to say while radioing an unidentified freighter that his ship was in the area.

Argentia, Nfld., air base reported that either the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Bareteria or U. S. Atlantic coast patrol boat Half Moon would pick up the survivors from the Nicholas.

Aboard the Newton were Capt. Doucette, engineer Thomas Strickland, North Sydney, N.S.; Jovie Doucette, Jack Meade, Jack Sheaves, Joseph Young, Russell Arsenault, Manly T. Gray, Milland Campbell, all of Gloucester. The tenth person was not identified.

The liner Washington, en route to New York from Bremerhaven, Germany, was diverted to the scene but later resumed course when they were rescued.

Near the Magdalen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the Canadian Pacific Steamships freighter Beaverbrae and tug Foundation Vera received the gale's full fury.

The tug reported she was "holding her own" against the white-capped seas at the height of the storm.

The 9,034-ton freighter lost her rudder Monday while en route to the United Kingdom with a load of grain. Another tug, the Foundation Josephine II, was slated to put a line aboard her today, to assist towing her to Halifax.

She is expected to arrive there Saturday.

Several fishing boats were damaged in the Cape de Verde district of Newfoundland's east coast. In Nova Scotia, a fisherman lost his boat while having it towed from one community ao another. And reports of other losses were expected.

Man Is Slain In Montreal

Montreal, Oct. 30.— (CP) —A man was shot to death and his wife wounded in the leg early today in their home at 10,010 St. Firmin Street, in the Sault aux Recollets district in the north end of the city. Police are holding two sons —both juveniles—of the victims.

Police identified the couple as Mr. and Mrs. Philippe Bedard. The man was shot three times through the chest. Mrs. Bedard was taken to St. Luke Hospital, where officials said she is suffering a leg wound, but her condition is "not serious."

There was no reason given for the shooting. Police said it occurred at 4:35 a.m. and Bedard was dead when they arrived.

Police said an argument apparently preceded the shooting. Bedard, 54, was a post office employee.

Police said the sons, aged 16 and 14, fled with their mother's purse containing $48 and said the pair attempted to get away in a car but could not get it started.

A radio police car found them crouched behind a car parked a block away. Police said the 14-year-old had a big kitchen knife, and the older brother said: "I have the gun."

Torrent Of Words Continues As US Campaign Nears End

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Oct. 30.—(CP)—Weary veterans of the campaign trail sought desperately today for something new to say, some new issue, to sway the last wavereres among the United States electorate.

The lines were drawn, the decision probably made, but still the torrent of words poured out as one of the most bitter campaigns in years drove in a roaring finish.

Five days before the vote the Korean war was still the dominant issue. It seemed that nothing new could be said about it.

Seeking the Presidency are Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republicans and Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democrats. President Truman is campaigning so vigorously for Stevenson that he's almost a candidate too.

The brick-bats about Korea,—who is responsible for the war there and what should be done about it—flew freely last night as the campaigners moved about the country in their final pre-election tours.

Eisenhower has said that more South Korea troops than now are used should be trained and thrown against the communists, with United Nations troops pulled back to defensive positions.

The General who led the allied forces to victory in Europe in the Second World War blames the administration for starting something it can't finish. He said in New York that "American boys" are fighting again for freedom and he asked: "Did they have to do it?"

Stevenson, campaigning through Pennsylvania, claimed that his opponent had made "soft promises about bringing our troops home from Korea soon — promises that he knows as well as you and I that he could not keep."

Truman in Chicago accused Eisenhower in effect of posing as a superman—of promising quick solutions to Korean and other problems that actually are too big for him.

Over and over Eisenhower reiterated his pledge that, if elected, he will go personally to Korea to seek a settlement of the war.

And so it went, with the candidates nearing the point of exhaustion after two months of the kind of electioneering that only a U.S. election can produce.

Another tempest blew up over the financial affairs of California's Senator Richard Nixon, the Republican vice-Presidential candidate. Nixon branded as a "lie" a Democratic statement that he and his relatives own real estate valued at $250,000.

He has said that when he got out of the navy in 1946, he was "too poor to buy stamps for political campaigning."

The Democrats demanded, too, that Nixon produce his income tax returns for public inspection. Stephen A. Mitchell, national Democratic chairman, said Nixon was the only candidate who is "keeping secret his income by years and the source thereof, and his tax payments."

The charges recalled the recent disclosure of an $18,000 expense fund contributed to Nixon by California businessmen. Nixon gave a financial accounting and an explanation of the fund.

Indicative of the level of this campaign was a full-page advertisement today in New York newspapers, published by the New York citizens' committee which works for Eisenhower's election, of a picture of a good-looking boy of perhaps 12 or 14. The caption says:

"Is your boy America's only answer to Korea?"

ACTING, NOT SINGING, IS AIM OF 'CRY CROONER' JOHNNY RAY

Hollywood—Behind the Screen If Johnnie Ray has his way, he won't sing in his first Hollywood movie scheduled for next April when he returns from a European tour.

Or in his second, third or fourth flickers for that matter.

The nation's crying-does-pay sensation told me between shows at Ciro's:

"I don't particularly care to sing in pictures and the studios that are interested in me know it. My background is acting—I did so much summer stock—and it makes me more valuable as a straight actor than a singer to Hollywood."

It turns out that Johnny was spurred to fame as a singer because a bit part he played in "A Place in the Sun" landed on the cutting-room floor.

"Hollywood plain told me to get lost," Johnnie wailed. 'They didn't like me because I wore a hearing aid. I was told to regain my hearing or forget about a movie career. The public wouldn't accept a physically handicapped kid, they said.

"I told 'em to go to hades. I proved that the public would accept me."

Taking The Plunge

Heavens to Betsy, if Denise Darcel isn't giving up those plunging necklines, midnight revelry in the glitter spots and the ooh-la-la antics!

It's a new Denise—down from the 155 pounds she weighed in "Battleground" to a trim 120 pounds for her role of a French channel swimmer in MGM's "Dangerous When Wet"—and she's out to be as ladylike as Irene Dunne.

"Now I 'ave more experience," Miss D. D. confided. "I'm no more decollete. I lohve make sexee peectures, but not wiz my gown open in front. Now I am wear 'igh turtle necks. Eees more modest.

"Any'ow, I 'ave better back than front. Wonderful shouldaires from sweeming. W'en I wear dress very low in back, people say, 'Ooh, Denise, you have beautiful back.' Ees true, To me, I 'ave ze nicest back I ever saw. So I ask een 'Ollywood that zey photograph my back. Zey say, 'No, we must 'ave your front.'"

Mannie Schwartz did it the hard way. Schwartz has been a tailor —and a good one—for 30 years. For the past couple of years, since leaving New York, he's tried to latch onto a job in the film business. No luck.

The other day he hit Joe Caplan of Paramount's wardrobe department for a job. Joe knew of an opening at the Western Costume Co. and Mannie goes to work there next week. As Mannie left the office, thanking Joe, he asked if he'd ever met his son.

Joe explained he hadn't and inquired his name.

"He's on the lot right now," Mannie explained. "He's making a movie, 'Houdini.' He's Bernie Schwartz, but out here they call him Tony Curtis."

At his dad's express wish, Tony refused to intervene to get him work.

Cinerama Predictions

It may not happen this year or next, but Ray Bolger's all primed to star in the first Hollywood color musical to be made in the three-dimensional process.

Headlining the show at a Las Vegas night spot, Ray looked across the vast room (as big as a Hollywood sound stage) and admitted that he's been talking to several producers about the "Depthies."

"Cinerama can be used for a full musical and will be," Ray predicted. "The audience will be dancing with the dancers. The eye wil move through space with the dancers, and when the girl leaps into your arms, everybody in the audience will want to put up his arms to catch her. It would be sensational."

It's Don Porter's line about the two ghosts talking about a third ghost who once lived in Hollywood :"He's the black sheet of the family.'

"A year in television helped me get the cement out of my acting."

Blonde Lola Albright, who recently wed Jack Carson, is spilling the beans about her reason for leaving Hollywood. Now Lola's back, with roles in "Arctic Flight" and "Silver Whip," and saying:

"It hought I was on the way to something after 'Champion,' but I couldn't get a job for six months. I felt I had to learn something about acting in the quickest way possible, so I did 24 TV shows in New York.

"Nobody in Hollywood saw them. When I came back to Hollywood, they wanted to know what had happened to me."

Watches Presented To Quarter Century Club Of Dominion Textile At Magog

Magog, Oct. 30 — The annual dinner given by the Dominion Textile Company Limited, Magog, to members of the Quarter Century Club was held in the plant cafeteria on Saturday, when a turkey dinner was served to upwards of 145 guests.

Seated at the head table were: H. LeDuc, manager Magog division; J. Boardman, superintendent cotton mill; W. J. Pilton, superintendent print works; J. Critchley, plant engineer; divisional superintendents, J. Cook, G. Smiley, J. Roberts, F. Reed and D. Hart; president of the Quarter Century Club, George Hulme, and vice-president, A. Turcotte.

Mr. LeDuc gave a short address in English and French in which he welcomed the members and said the company was glad to honor those receiving watches and those who had already received them.

On behalf of the Quarter Century Club George Hulme thanked the company for the splendid reception.

At the close of the dinner watches were presented to the thirty-five people who in the past year had attained twenty-five years' service with the company, the presentations being made as follows:

Three Artists At Trinity Church Recital

MAUREEN FORRESTER

Maureen Forrester, leading Montreal contralto soloist, Phyllis Armstrong Halpenny, well-known local pianist, and Wesley Dalton, tenor of the New York City Opera, will be presented in recital at Trinity United Church on November 12.

Miss Forrester is fondly remembered in Sherbrooke for her excellent performance in the oratorio "Elijah," which was held at Trinity Church two years ago. She possesses a voice of unusual quality and, at 22 years of age, is assured of an excellent future in her field of music.

Miss Forrester has performed in numerous oratorios, operas and operettas in Montreal and district and she has achieved a reputation in radio. Last year she was a scholarship winner on the program "Opportunity Knocks."

She is a protege of Mrs. C. B. Howard, of this city, and as she will appear on the same program with Mr. Dalton, it has been arranged for the repertoire of that evening to include a duet for contralto and tenor—an aria from a familiar opera.

Mrs. Halpenny, third artist on the program, is a piano pupil of Mrs. Mildred Largie Sampson, of this city. Tickets are on sale at H. C. Wilson and Sons, Ltd.

New Military College Work Is Described

Granby, Oct. 30—(C)—Col. Marcellin Lahaie, commandant of the new military college at St. Johns, Que., told the Granby Richelieu club Tuesday the college aims at provincial first-class French-Canadian military leaders.

There now is only one French-Canadian general in the national defence department, he said, in apparent reference to Maj.-Gen. J. P. E. Bernatchez, officer commanding, Quebec command.

Col. Lahaie told in detail of the work of cadets at the college. Science and studies and languages —French and English—make up about 95 per cent of the classroom work. On some days only French is spoken; on other, English.

Including their military work, the cadets put in a 16-hour day, with lights out at 10.30 p.m. sports, with modern equipment, have their part in the program.

Cadets are divided into groups, which have cadets as leaders. A cadet court deals with those who disobey regulations and the decision or sentence goes to the commandant for approval.

Fifty teen-age girls, with their leaders, from many parts of the Eastern Townships met at a Girls Auxiliary Rally in the Church of the Advent Hall on Saturday.

Following registration a Council meeting was held. Miss Joann Murphy, president of the Council, received reports of the year's work from each branch representative. Compulsory Military Training Program Is Urged By Col. Jenckes

The need for a compulsory military training program of at least 1½ to two years was emphasized by Col. K. B. Jenckes of Johnville, who was the guest speaker at the annual reunion and dinner of the 35th Battery Association, R.C.A., held recently in Montreal.

Col. Jenckes spoke of the tremendous strides Canada has made in the last five or six years "in any field we wish to turn," but asked the question, "When will Canada grow up to meet her responsibilities?"

"We have a country that is probably the richest one in the world today, and yet we have no trained men to defend it, outside of a few 1,000 and they are widely scattered," he said.

Col. Jenckes referred to what other countries are doing about defence and remarked that Canada is the only country in the United Nations that has not organized methods of training the younger generation.

"We alone stick to the voluntary system and there are still people who seem to be proud of it, and are willing in an emergency to see our allies take the first blow while we go through a period of a year or more in trying to make an army.

"But suppose this time we got the first blow. It is not impossible in these days of speed.

"I say this system has failed us twice in the last 40 years. Here we are in what is known as a 'cold war' which could get pretty hot overnight, and I doubt if we could put a trained fighting division in the field under one year . . .

"I believe it is high time and past that our government did something besides talking about it and beg men to join, but until such time as the people generally realize that we cannot always rely on John Bull and Uncle Sam to do our job, nothing much will be done. We will see, as before, men joining the forces who should not, and others who should, find a way out. This is not only very unfair but does not always give the best results and a lot of time is wasted on training men who are not suitable to start with.

"I am convinced we should have a similar system to most other countries where every young man should give at least 1½ to two years in training himself to be able to defend his country. This is far from wasted time as he would learn at least one trade, gain confidence in himself and make friends who are worth while. Then after a few years we would be in a position where we could do something to defend ourselves on short notice."

Col. Jenckes said there will be criticism that "this will cause trouble with our French Canadian friends."

"I am convinced," he said, "if properly led there is no more loyal Canadian ready to defend Canada. We have as Prime Minister today a good example of this. Further, in 1944, when the situation demanded it, he was favorable towards conscripting men for overseas.

"Was there trouble in Quebec as expected? Certainly not. Nor would there be trouble about conscripting men for training."

Col. Jenckes was elected honorary president of the Association at the meeting.

Other officers are:

President, W. Robinson; vice-president, D. McCrindle; secretary-treasurer, W. Grundie; past president, W. Boyd; Montreal committee, J. Hardie, H. Cutler; Sherbrooke committee, A. G. Olney, V. W. Brownlow; Ontario committee, O. MacLachlan, A. B. Cottrell.

$1,000 Fines Imposed For Cig Smuggling

Three persons were fined, another chose a preliminary hearing and the trial of another got underway in Magistrate's Court here today as the result of a series of seizures of some 1,015,000 American cigarets by R.C.M.P. in the Sherbrooke and surrounding area.

Aurelius Gagnon, 30, of Sherbrooke, was fined $400 and costs by Judge Joseph Marier here today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of having in his possession 104,000 American cigarets on which duty had not been paid. The seizure was made at St. Malo on October 17 by the Coaticook detachment of the R.C.M.P., under the direction of Cpl. Girard Lecavalier. Constables A. Martin and R. Cardinal assisted. Gagnon lost possession of his 1947 Ford panel trunk, which also contained a smuggled portable radio. Should he not pay the fine and costs he will be sent to jail for one year.

Louis Piquette, 40, also of Sherbrooke, was fined $300 and costs or in default of payment three months in jail. He pleaded guilty to a charge of having in his possession 50,000 U.S. cigarets on which duty had not been paid. The seizure was made at St. Edwidge by the R.C.M.P. Coaticook detachment. He lost possession of a 1947 Mercury.

J. P. A. Belley, of East Angus, was fined $300 and costs or in default of payment three months in jail. He pleaded guilty to having in his possession 60,000 U. S. cigarets on which duty had not been paid. He was arrested at East Angus by the Sherbrooke detachment under the direction of Cpl. J. L. P. Laliberte and constable Raymond Seguin. His 1952 Mercury was seized.

The preliminary hearing of R. Guilbert, of Sherbrooke, got underway this morning before Judge Joseph Marier. Guilbert is charged with having in his possession 594,000 U. S. cigarets on which duty had not been paid. The seizure was made in Sherbrooke on King Street sometime ago.

Guilbert is being represented by lawyer Guy Blanchette.

Benoit Turmel, local lawyer, handled all the cases for the crown.

Gaston Lafond, of Joliette, was arrested on October 24 by the Coaticook detachment in the local area and the Mounties seized 127,000 U. S. cigarets. Lafond chose a preliminary hearing and the date was fixed for November 6. The R.C.M.P. seized a 1940 Plymouth in connection with the case.

Kiwanians Hear Reports On O.Q.M. Convention

Reports on the O.Q.M. Kiwanis Convention held in the Chateau Frontenac Hotel, Quebec City, October 12-13-14-15, highlighted the regular weekly dinner meeting of the local Kiwanis club held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night.

President Les Memory and Ronnie Jobel, chairman of the underprivileged children's committee, represented the local club at the convention and both gave good reports last night.

Bill Hammond reported that an inter-club meeting would be held with Magog in the New Magog Hotel on Tuesday evening, November 4. It is hoped that a large number will attend.

Harry Grundy, Q.C., reported that nominations for the new executive will close at the next meeting. Nominations must be written and carry the signatures of five other members.

A directors meeting was held at the close of the regular meeting.

Head table guests in addition to the president were: Dr. Tom Cadman, Rev. Bim Hobbs, of Pembroke, Ont., a former local resident who was a guest; Ross Sturrock, George Loveland and Norman Chartier.

The members were invited to attend a reception at the Mitchell School tendered by the Sher-Lenn Choir last night.

Income Tax Office Entered

Thieves broke into the local income tax offices on Dufferin Street last night and although they searched the inside, nothing was reported missing this morning.

Municipal police are working on the case. The break-in was noticed last night by Constable Raymond Thiberge, who was on patrol. The cellar door and windows were broken and it is believed that the would-be thieves broke in through the cellar window on the south side.

Opera Carmen Is Postponed

The opera Carmen, which was to have been staged at the Granada Theatre next Tuesday evening, has been postponed.

Richard Comeau, manager of the theatre, yesterday was advised by telegram that the London Opera Company, which was bringing the popular opera here, would be unable to be in Sherbrooke on the scheduled date.

The telegram advised Mr. Comeau that the company's tour has been temporarily discontinued because of a serious bus accident in which several persons were injured.

It is hoped that a new date can be arranged later in the season.

Fourth Annual Recital Of Sororities Will Present Talented Local Persons

The fourth annual Young Artists' Recital, sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi sororities of this city, will be held November 18 at Plymouth Church.

Artists to appear on the program are Claudette Lacharite, pianist, Luce Triganne, soprano, and Pierre Boux, violinist.

Miss Lacharite has received her musical degree at the Ecole Superiere in Montreal and won the Grand Prize at the music festival held here last Spring. She has also gained the Willis Scholarship in piano execution as well as other scholarships while at school. She is a pupil of Jean Leduc, Montreal.

Miss Triganne is a native of Thetford Mines and received her academic training at Sillery College, where she also commenced her study of music. She continued her musical studies at the Julliard School of Music in New York City and is a pupil of Mrs. C. B. Howard, in Sherbrooke.

Miss Triganne, who has appeared often in public concerts here with Jeudi Musical, of which club she is a former president, and at recitals of the Schubert Club, specializes in lieder-type songs but has a wide repertoire of operatic arias. She is a lyric-dramatic soprano.

Pierre Boux, violinist and the third artist on the program, at 11 years of age is one of the most promising of local young musicians. He comes by his talent both from heredity and environment for he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Boux, of this city, his father being concert-master of the local Symphony orchestra and a noted pianist as well.

Master Boux was first-place winner in the strings' class at the Youth Festival last Spring and drew high praise from the Canadians and British adjudicator who were here for the Festival. Under the guidance of a noted violinist, his father, right at home, young Pierre has a lot of music in his life but finds time to engage in hobbies such as wood carving and reading.

La Providence Hospital In Magog Affiliates With Red Cross Service

La Providence Hospital in Magog has become the 73rd hospital in the Province of Quebec to affiliate with the Red Cross Blood Donor service, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Cecil Harris, Provincial Medical Director for the Red Cross Blood Transfusion service.

Dr. Harris, who stopped over in Sherbrooke briefly en route to Asbestos to complete like arrangements with Canadian Johns-Manville Hospital and St. Luc's Hospital in the mining center, said that the first Red Cross blood shipments to Magog will commence Monday.

"As far as citizens of Magog are concerned," Dr. Harris stated, "they will now be covered for free transfusion service wherever they may be."

He added that the first blood clinic will be conducted in Magog in late winter or early spring. He praised the efforts of Dr. R. Beaudry, of Magog, in facilitating local negotiations.

Dr. Harris reported also that Granby held a banner blood clinic last week, under the chairmanship of Philippe de Chazal and John Carstairs, when 830 bottles of blood were realized in the Princess City of the Eastern Townships.

The target for this year, he said, in the western part of Quebec (from Cap de la Madeleine to the Ontario border) is 60,000 bottles. For the first nine months of the year, the Red Cross has received 44,000 bottles of blood from voluntary donors, only 1,000 bottles under the three-quarter mark of the quota. The doctor considers this a fine achievement.

"But we need all we can get," Dr. Harris emphasized. Last year in this Province, our volunteers donated 47,000 bottles and all of that was used, either as fresh blood or plasma. This year, the hospitals are using 1,000 bottles a week plus 200 bottles of plasma each month."

It takes 600 bottles of blood to make 200 bottles of plasma, he explained.

Dr. Harris estimates that the western Quebec community will save pretty close to $1,000,000 in medical fees this year because of the Red Cross Transfusion service, which receives free blood from donors who, in turn, receive free blood when they require it as do others at hospitals serviced by the Red Cross in this manner.

"At hospitals which do not have Red Cross ties (and if you do not yourself) you are required to pay $25 per bottle of blood given you or you are required to bring up two persons to replace the one bottle given you with two bottles. (This is how the hospital blood banks make their money).

"It costs the Red Cross only $7 to process each bottle and this sum includes salaries of the nurses and other personnel. This, compared with $25 per bottle, marks a saving of $18 on each bottle. Multiply $18 by over 50,000, the number of persons who will receive blood free this year, and you have already over $900,000 saved.

"With plasma being used at the rate of 200 bottles each month, the Red Cross will be giving some 2,400 bottles of plasma this year. The cost to process this by the Red Cross is negligible while if produced commercially it would cost at least $40 a bottle. Multiply $40 by $2,400 and you have another $96,000 saved."

Dr. Harris emphasized that all Red Cross donors are "backed up" even while in non-Red Cross hospitals for blood transfusions, by merely applying to the Red Cross. He said that the organization's objective is complete coverage of Canada and felt this would be achieved in three years. It started in 1947 and has expanded to cover from the west coast to Ft. William, Ont., Hamilton, Niagara peninsula, western Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and P.E.I.

"When our objective is realized," he said, "Canadians may move freely from coast to coast and feel secure in being covered for blood transfusions should the need arise. There is the basis for civil defence."

On a recent visit to the United States, Dr. Harris found a "very confused" picture of the blood transfusion system, no uniformity and a great deal of variance from place to place. In the U.S., each hospital generally runs its own blood bank, usually with the help of a panel of professional doctors. In addition, American hospitals also receive blood from the Red Cross, which runs a blood program for the troops in Korea.

"I met with frank disbelief that we in Canada were accomplishing so much on a community and voluntary basis," Dr. Harris concluded, but I was able to say: 'We are doing it!'"

Y's Men's Camp Is Assured Of Infirmary

When the Y's Men's camp for boys opens next summer at Shore Acres, it will have, for the first time, a permanent camp hospital, it seemed apparent last night at the Y's Men's weekly meeting, held in the Magog Hotel.

Camp committee chairman Edward Bryant read a series of letters from former Mayor A. C. Skinner offering to donate an infirmary to the camp, in memory of the late Mrs. A. C. Skinner.

The club soundly applauded the generosity of Mr. Skinner, who left it to the Y's Men's camp committee to decide on the location, size and appearance of the camp hospital. One of the few requests made by the donor is that room be set aside for a plaque in memory of Mrs. Skinner.

Construction of the infirmary will begin probably in the spring.

President Jeff Wilson was in the chair for the meeting and seated at the head table with him were Angus MacLean, Mac Bradshaw and Mr. Bryant.

Mr. Bryant, who is district governor, asked the members to consider holding next year's regional conclave of the Y's Men's Northeastern Region in this Province, with Quebec City hosts to the twenty other clubs and the Sherbrooke members, who form the only other Canadian unit in the region, in charge of the program.

Jim Strickland announced that the turkey raffle tickets would be ready for next meeting and Mr. Bradshaw requested that all Community Chest cards be returned by Saturday.

President Wilson welcomed new member Jimmy Atto and two guests were introduced, Ron Nugent and Robin Stewart by Gerry Mercier and John Mathias, respectively.

Firms Thanked At Lennoxville By Home, School

The Lennoxville and Ascot Home and School Association, through its president, Mrs. H. J. Moffatt, publicly thanks the Southern Canada Power Company, Lennoxville branch, and Moffat's Limited for the unqualified success of the cooking school which was held Thursday, October 16.

More than 400 tickets were sold for the cooking school and well over 300 persons attended this great event, in the Gertrude Scott Hall. All proceeds were in aid of Home and School Funds. Southern Canada Power paid for all expenses, including tickets, advertising and door prizes.

Moffat's Limited, whose products SCP retails, supplied the services of the home economist demonstrator, Giselle Fortier, who was assisted by Miss M. Drennan, student at Lennoxville High, and paid fifty per cent of the cost of the Moffat floor polisher, one of the many door prizes.

Prizes (winners were announced previously in these columns), besides the floor polisher, were: Presto steam iron, three dozen lamp bulbs, dishes cooked during the demonstration, and twenty bags of groceries.

Russell Leslie and W. Geddings, of Southern Canada and Moffat's, respectively, brought greetings from their companies.

EAGER BEAVERS

Even the Americans must find themselves wishing from time to time that the publicity men in the service of their armed forces were a little less eager. Two recent incidents probably have done nothing to diminish this popular desire.

Some weeks ago it was announced with considerable fanfare that a new weapon had been used in the Korean war — to wit, a devastating guided missile. This sounded good. But a few days later the story lost its bloom when it was revealed that the guided missile in question was actually an obsolete drone plane that had been loaded with bombs, directed by radio control and crashed against a selected target.

There was certainly nothing new about drone planes or the bombs used in the stunt. That is all the affair seems to have been — a stunt.

More recently at the Aberdeen proving ground in Maryland the army wheeled out two 85-ton mobile 11-inch guns. For the benefit of spectators these guns fired ordinary shells at a target ten or twelve miles away. But more than that, spectators were told that the guns could shoot atomic shells and were therefore the first atomic artillery.

Later it was disclosed that the guns had actually been designed in 1944 — before there was an atomic bomb. If these guns could be adapted to fire atomic shells, then almost any heavy calibre guns could be made to fire such shells — when atomic shells are produced.

Actually the chief improvement on the model shown at the proving ground was the fact that it was highly mobile and that it took only 20 minutes to remove it from its tractor and get it into position for firing. These characteristics are said by military men to give the weapon much greater flexibility and usefulness than its predecessors.

But the atomic part of the story seems to have been nothing more than a glad thought on the part of some army publicity man.

WHEN IS A SHORTAGE?

A close analogy between the price and demand for bread and for home buildings is drawn by the Toronto Globe and Mail which comments that bread is plentiful in Canada. Costing in the vicinity of fifteen cents a loaf, people are able to buy all they need. But, it continues, if bread cost $1.50 a loaf, it would be a different story. The bakers might turn out millions of loaves; the stores might be crammed with them. But since people would not or could not pay the price, behind the apparent plenty there would be an actual shortage of bread — a shortage at the only level which counts, the consumer level.

It is in the light of this simple truth that we must consider the recent statement of Resources Minister Winters that there is no shortage of building materials in Canada, with the possible exception of cement. In one sense, Mr. Winters is right. At the warehouse and factory level, building materials are plentiful. But in another, and much more important sense, he is completely wrong. At the consumer level, building materials are scarce. They cost so much that people can no longer afford to buy them.

Actual proof of this shortage may be found in the Canadian Government's own figures on residential construction. In 1950, approximately 89,000 new houses were finished. But last year, the total fell to 81,000, and this year it may be even lower. During the first four months of 1952, only 18,391 new houses were finished, against 25,209 in the first four months of 1951. These figures do not tell a story of plenty; they tell one of scarcity.

Why the plenty at one end, the scarcity at the other? Here again, the answer is to be found in Ottawa's own statistics. Wages and salaries in Canada today are slightly more than twice what they were before the war. But residential building materials cost almost three times as much as they did before the war; and lumber more than four times as much. No wonder Canadian workers cannot afford to build.

Just as the price of building materials has run away from the ordinary Canadian, so has the price of building labor. In 1939, there was only a trifling difference between the average weekly earnings of industrial workers ($23.44) and the average weekly earnings of building workers ($24.29). Today, the difference is substantial. As of last May, the average industrial workers was making $54.30 a week; the average building worker $60.09.

And whereas the productivity of industrial workers has gone up during the last twelve years, the productivity of building workers has gone down. Thus, the increase in the price of building labor, as against other labor, is far greater than the figures suggest. Here again, whatever Mr. Winters may say, we have a shortage — a shortage of people who can afford to hire the expensive labor needed to assemble the expensive materials.

CANDIDATES ARE SEEN AT ODDS ON METHODS IN FOREIGN POLICY

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — In spite of the fact that both Republican and Democratic presidential candidates say they are for a bi-partisan foreign policy, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson are really at loggerheads on this issue.

These matters have been unnecessarily loused up for the voters by the Republicans and Democrats blaming each other for mistakes of the past, instead of saying clearly what they were going to do in the future. The sideline observations of President Truman, John Foster Dulles and some of the Republican senators have not helped to clarify these issues, either.

General Eisenhower starts from his line of support for the late Michigan Sen. Arthur Vandenberg's policies. In his speech at Flint, Oct. 1, Eisenhower said:

"The Republican Party is dedicated to the principle of national unity in foreign policy. As President, it will be my purpose to co-operate with the leaders of the Democratic Party and make them real partners in formulating our basic foreign policies."

Matching this, Governor Stevenson said at Oklahoma City on Oct. 10, "I would remind you that our present foreign policy — the policy of collective strength — began as a bipartisan foreign policy. . . . If we stick with this policy, I deeply believe, we shall avert a third war."

Both Want Collective Security

Both candidates emphasize the importance of these collective security arrangements with other free nations.

"I think we must join other nations in building military, economic and political strength which can gradually but surely lessen the power of the Soviet Union on world events," said Governor Stevenson in his Labor Day speech at Grand Rapids.

"Basic to everything else," said General Eisenhower at Los Angeles on Oct. 9, "we must develop a security program among the free nations. To do that we must first bring about a position of strength that will persuade the Kremlin that further military aggression anywhere would be useless."

Both candidates have spoken strong on the need for liberating the people now enslaved by communism.

Said Eisenhower before the American Legion Convention on Sept. 25: "The conscience of America can never know peace until the millions in Communist-controlled areas of Europe and Asia are restored to the society of free men."

Said Stevenson in Milwaukee, Oct. 8, "The party for which I speak works today and will keep on working towards the single objective of returning these victims of cruel oppression again to living freedom. . . . It will be then that Germany can be reunited, that Poland and Czechoslovakia and other countries now in bondage will again live in freedom."

Thus, while the two presidential candidates seem to be pretty much in agreement on objectives, it is on methods of arriving at these objectives that they seem to come apart.

Ike Urges Return Of Soldiers

On the most immediate problem in Korea, General Eisenhower in Kansas City, Kan., Aug. 21, urged that we "get our soldiers clear of these battle lines." At Columbia, S.C., on Sept. 30, he said that with a clear program, "we can bring the war in Korea to a speedier end." At Champaign-Decatur, Ill., on Oct. 2, he said that the Korean people must be "prepared to defend their own front lines. . . . Americans should be used as reserves."

To this Governor Stevenson replied in his Milwaukee speech, Oct. 8, "We are in Korea because our own security is at stake. The general's proposal that the South Koreans be trained to take over the defense job is interesting if not helpful. We have been training them for a long time and they have been fighting for a long time. I assume he does not mean to promise an early return of our forces from Korea, regardless of consequences."

Both candidates devoted whole speeches to this Korean question. But all speeches were discussions of past policies and mistakes, trying to fix the blame, without helping the voter see his way out.

General Eisenhower likes to present his policies in broad outline. On Russian policy, which he analyzed in the Alfred E. Smith memorial dinner speech in New York, Oct. 17, Eisenhower prescribed "faith" and "unity" for combatting communism.

Governor Stevenson at New Orleans on Oct. 9, dealt with Stalin's policy as an effort to "wait it out" until Germany and Japan were forced to trade with the Soviet bloc. The governor's prescription was a sound international trade policy to keep Germany and Japan in the orbit of western nations.

PRESS COMMENTS

WEAKENING INCENTIVE

Toronto Globe-Mail

The recent appointment of a Cabinet Minister to an ambassadorship and the prospect of the appointment of a well-known businessman as a Canadian consul-general raise a question of some importance. Both these posts would in the ordinary course of events be regarded as goals of ambition by any of the permanent diplomatic staff of the Department of External Affairs. It has, indeed, been the policy of the Department to rotate its staff so as to give the career men a many-sided experience, to fit them for the varied posts at its disposal. It must be very discouraging therefore, to see two such important appointments made outside the service.

As a general practice, it is a sign of good management, as well as of wise human relations, for an institution to develop its own executives. Knowing that the highest posts are available to employees of initiative and experience builds morale and loyalty which could rarely be obtained any other way. What is good policy in private business is surely good policy in the Government as well. If the Government hopes to induce young men of spirit and ability to enter public service and to stay in it, it will have to make sure that ambitions have some chance of being realized. This aim can scarcely be kept clear if diplomatic posts are to be regarded as political plums.

We will concede that there are exceptional instances, which justify a special appointment for a particular purpose. Neither of the cases concerned appears to come within that category.

"'TWAS EVER THUS"

Inventory Boosts Softwood Supply In Saskatchewan

Regina. — Saskatchewan's dream of a pulpwood industry in its northern forests is a step closer to realization.

A forestry inventory has shown wood suitable for pulp production is in much greater volume than expected.

Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank says the inventory, now 60 per cent complete and covering 75 per cent of timber volumes in the mixed wood belt, shows there are 16,000,000 cords of black and white spruce available. Earlier estimates of these woods, the most desirable for pulp and paper manufacture, placed readily available supplies at only 2,500,000 cords.

In addition, the survey indicates resources of softwoods available for pulpwood reach a total of 24,000,000 cords.

Mr. Brockelbank says that inventory work has been done only in areas within economic distance of railway shipping points. One all-weather highway and a number of access roads now reach into pulpwood areas.

"A number of possible sites with adequate water supply for mills exits on the railways adjacent to the forest. These sites are already served by organized urban communities," Mr. Brockelbank says.

The province also has adequate potential water power and other power sources including bunker fuels, cheap coal and the possibility of natural gas in the near future. Another incentive is the Saskatchewan timber board's standing offer to deliver wood to mill sites at agreed prices.

"Our pulpwood situation is such that we have one of the last remaining undeveloped pulpwood areas in Canada. We have all kinds of material ready for immediate use and much in the province in young stands which will be ready before the mature material is cut," Mr. Brockelbank said.

The resources minister says the forest industry in Canada appears to have reached a point where it is prepared for another stage in development. The great forests of the eastern provinces and the west coast had made Canada one of the greatest wood producing countries of the world, but it now appeared that they had almost reached the limit of sustained production. But the demand for forest products continued to grow.

"Fortunately we still have an ace in the hole, the large reserves of timber in the so-called "Prairie provinces," he said.

Alert, Wounded Canadian N.C.O. Thwarts Ambush By Chinese

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With the Canadians in Korea, Oct. 30.—(CP)—Quick-thinking Sgt. Tom R. Scoular of Petawawa, Ont., got high marks when a Chinese communist ambush of a Canadian patrol was frustrated recently.

A company of the 1st Battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, was out on patrol under Major Ed Cohen of Pembroke, Ont., and Ottawa on the night of 12-13.

Platoons under Lieuts. Russ Gardiner of Carleton Place, Ont., Sam MacDonald of Glace Bay, N.S., and John Clark of Beebe, Que., were involved. Gardiner was to screen off the operation, MacDonald to provide the "firm base," and Clark to assault.

MacDonald's two scouts—L. Cpl. John Fairman of Hastings, Ont., and Pte. Edward J. Kilpatrick of Montreal—were leading when suddenly the Chinese opened up on the Canadians. The shooting came from the front and both sides.

Scoular, wounded deeply in the shoulder, had the platoon mortars brought up and directed their fire onto the area.

Then he forced his way along a narrow communication trench, hurled his own grenades at the Chinese, and had other soldiers pass along theirs so that he could throw them.

Scoular kept the communists busy until MacDonald formed his plan.

Though almost his whole platoon had been caught in the ambush, MacDonald — using mortar, grenades and machine-gun fire—was able to get all his men out except the two snipers.

Pulling back 100 yards he let the assault platoon go in under Clark.

Clark's men swept the area calling out the missing men's names, but couldn't find them.

Kilpatrick is believed killed. Fairman is believed a prisoner. Of the 11 men wounded seven were evacuated.

Scoular walked back to the medical men and then allowed himself to be put on a stretcher.

Elsewhere the same night a fluke cluster of four mortar bombs caught an entire R.C.R. standing patrol of eight men. Under L. Cpl. Bernard Rice of Ottawa, the patrol's job was to police a certain part of the front two or three times an hour.

Enemy mortar had just been touching it up slightly, 30 bombs having landed during the preceding 24 hours. Had this cluster fallen seconds earlier or later the men would have been missed. As it was, three were killed outright and the remaining five wounded.

Killed were Rice and Ptes. Mervyn Latham of R.R. 1, Severn Bridge, Ont., and Charles L. Stowe of Miniota, Man.

Use Match Test To Judge Cloth

London. — Tips on how to judge fabrics are contained in a book just published here. It seems all you need is a box of matches.

Burn the raw edge of a pure woollen fabric and both warp and weft threads should smoulder slowly into a brown "blob" with a strong smell, says Lynn Hillson in her book, "Practical Home Dressmaking Illustrated."

Apply the same treatment to silk and it should turn filmy and transparent. If it doesn't, it's not pure silk.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

OPEN WITH SUIT BID IS ONLY SOLUTION

In today's hand South must open the bidding in a suit even though he has balanced distribution and stoppers in each of the four suits.

With 20 points, South is too strong for an opening bid of one-no-trump (showing 16 to 18 points) but too weak for an opening bid of two no-trump (showing 22 to 24 points). The solution is to open with a suit bid and make a jump rebid in no-trump.

North has a very poor hand but realize that South's bidding shows a very strong hand. North has 7 points in high cards and knows that South has at least 19 points in high cards. Hence North is not afraid to go on to game.

South wins the first trick with the queen of spades and counts his values. He can be sure of only one spade, one club, and three hearts. He therefore needs four diamond tricks in order to make his contract.

The diamond must be developed in such a way as to shut East out. At the second trick, therefore, declarer leads a low diamond to dummy's king and returns a diamond towards his own hand. When East follows suit with a low diamond, South must finesse the nine.

The finesse happens to succeed, and South therefore runs the entire diamond suit, making 10 tricks. Even if the finesse had happened to lose (with the cards differently divided, of course) South would still be sure of four diamond tricks and his contract.

It is important to note that South would be defeated at his game contract if he played the diamonds in the "normal" manner. Suppose, for example, that South wins the ace of diamonds and then tries to run the diamonds.

East can win the fourth round of diamonds with his jack and return a spade. West then takes enough spade tricks to defeat the contract.

You, South, hold: Spades A-J-5, Hearts Q-J-8, Diamonds Q-10, Clubs A-J-5-3-2. What do you do?

A—Bid four no-trump. You have a count of 15 points and a five-card suit for good measure. If North has a maximum of 18 points, he will accept your slam invitation, and there will be a good play for slam with 33 points and a five-card suit in the combined hands. If North has less than a maximum he will pass, and four no-trump will be easily made.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 7-5-4, Hearts Q-J-8, Diamonds Q-J-5-3-2, Clubs 10-8. What do you do?

The Record Short Story

THE CAPITALISTS

By CHRISTOPHER KING

"You made a mistake," Joan told me. "Teaching the children the value of money is one thing, but the way you went at it, they're liable to rob someone. You made money sound too important."

"It is important."

"Not to boys ranging from three to seven."

"It certainly is," I said. "They've got to start learning now, get the jump on other children so that when they get old enough to work they won't make the same mistakes I did. I didn't realize how important money was, listened to a whole lot of talk about interesting work, security, easy hours, the prestige of the job, all a pile of trash. The money is the important item. I want them to understand that."

"You're confused," Joan said. "You've spent seven years teaching them to be good, honest, generous. Now, you start talking about money, and you teach them the reverse. You don't believe the very things you told them today about money, you're not like that yourself."

"That's the trouble. I spent too much time learning all the virtues, not enough time learning to be practical."

"You may have learned all the virtues, but you've picked up a few of the vices yourself," she laughed. "But, can't you understand what I'm trying to tell you?"

"What?"

"That you went too far. You've tried to make the earning of money glamorous in itself."

"You're wrong," I said. "You came in late, didn't hear the beginning. Bill and Dick wanted two-wheeler bikes. I told them I couldn't afford to buy them bikes now. I tried to explain about money, how we used some to buy food, some to pay for the house, some for toys. I got them to understand that first."

"You're sure they understood?"

"Naturally," I boasted. "I told them the story, and then asked them for examples so I could determine if they knew what I meant. They told me about Jimmy and his family. Jimmy doesn't have a bike at all, but lives in the best looking house on the block, and his father drives a Cadillac. Jimmy has to borrow our kids' three-wheelers."

"I know Jimmy," Joan interrupted.

"Well, I explained that his parents had to use more money for their house and car than we did, so there was less left over for toys. Then they told me about Patsy and Janet who both have two-wheelers, and I showed them that they've got a house that's already paid for, and have more money left. That got the boys interested in making money, and that's when you came in."

"Yes, that's when I came in, and heard you trying to tell them that money was so important. You'll have those boys looking for jobs in the morning," she warned.

At work the next day, I forgot all about our discussion until Joan phoned at noon. "You'd better hurry home," she said.

"What's the matter."

"Money."

"You need some?"

"No. You and your talk about money. I told you it would have the wrong effect on the boys."

"What happened."

"Wait until you see. Bobby started it all this morning, asking if he could have a lemonade stand. I thought that was nice, so I made the lemonade, and he started selling it in front of the house."

"What's wrong with that?"

"Nothing was wrong until Dicky decided he should be a partner. Congratulate yourself on how well you impressed Dicky. He added water to the drink, and raised the price from a nickel to a dime. The mothers have been over complaining."

I laughed. It wasn't the serious problem Joan imagined.

"Don't laugh," she said. "That was just the beginning. Little Philip, the poor little baby was out begging."

"Begging?"

"Yes, he went from door to door asking for money. I didn't know a thing about it until Jimmy's mother called."

"He went there?" I asked. That was a real mistake. Jimmy's parents lorded it over the whole neighborhood with their new car and big house, but Jimmy had to come over to our house to borrow a bike.

"Naturally. You told them making money was important, more important than pride."

"I'm sorry," I said. "I guess you had to apologize."

"We've still only touched the surface," Joan said. "Your oldest son is a real capitalist. He spent the entire day roaming the alleys. By noon he had filled both the back yard and the front yard with junk, empty bottles, scrap iron, rags, old furniture. It will take you three hours to clean it up."

I groaned, but had another idea. "I'll take care of the junk," I said. "The outfit that buys our waste at the factory owes me a favor. I'll call them up, and ask them to haul it away."

Joan calmed down, and I told her I would be home at the usual time. I phoned the junk company, and they promised to pick up Bill's collection. I drove home, anxious to hear the boys' story of their money making.

Bill met me on the front porch. "Daddy, I made $2.70." he shouted "Mommy won't let me make any more money," he complained.

"How did your brothers do?"

"Dick and Bob made just as much as me, except this much less," he held up 10 fingers. "Philip made almost $2."

I was about to ask him what they wanted to do with the money, but he ran out. I walked back to the kitchen, kissed Joan, and learned that the junk man had paid Bill for the things he had collected.

The front door bell rang, and I hurried to answer it. It was Jimmy's father, and it was lucky that I saw the expression on his face before I stepped out on the porch.

He didn't say a word, but threw a long right uppercut at my chin. I jumped back, and grabbed his left arm when he tried using that. "What's the idea?" I yelled. "Simmer down or I'll break your wrist."

"I don't need any of your charity," he said when he cooled off and realized he was giving away forty pounds. "Your kids don't have to give Jimmy six dollars so he can buy a bike. I'll get him the most expensive bike in the city." He threw a collection of bills and change on the porch and ran down the stairs.

Joan had followed me to the door, and when we looked at each other, neither of us could speak. It takes time to appreciate the generosity of children.

Parliament Is Closed In Britain

London, Oct. 30.—(Reuters)—The Queen's speech closing parliament today said she had watched with hope and confidence the measures taken by the Atlantic treaty countries to secure themselves against the threat of armed aggression.

The royal speech ,traditional method of winding up a session of parliament, was read for the Queen in the House of Lords by a commission of Peers headed by the Lord Chancellor, Baron Simonds. As usual, it was mainly a recital of the government's achievements in home and foreign affairs during the session.

The address closed parliament for a week's recess. It will reassemble Nov. 4.

The address stressed the United States leadership of N.A.T.O., paying tribute to "the notable contribution made to the strengthening of the organization and of its member countries by the people of the United States of America who are bearing so large a share of the heavy cost of mutual defence."

On Britain's fight for economic recovery the address noted: "My government, with the help of other Commonwealth governments and of the sterling area as a whole, have taken effective steps to redress the balance of payments and to maintain the strength of sterling as an international currency."

The address, written by the cabinet, began with a reference to the late King: "My beloved father whose death was so deeply mourned throughout the Commonwealth and beyond."

It added: "The countless expressions of devotion to him have moved me deeply and encouraged me in my resolute determination to prove worthy of a sacred trust."

On Korea, the speech said Britain had "worked ceaselessly to achieve an armistice agreement in conformity with the principles for which the United Nations stand."

On the war in Malaya: "My forces and the civil administration are carrying out a difficult task with patience and determination. In spite of great loss and suffering all communities are playing an ever more-active part in the defence of their freedom."

"My ministers have supported the inclusion of the German federal republic in the European community and by ratifying the Boon conventions have formed a new relationship between the United Kingdom and Germany," the speech continued.

"I regret, however, that prolonged exchanges between my government and the Soviet government have not yet ended in agreement upon the unification of Germany."

There were more advances than declines in better trading on the stock market yesterday. Among active leaders, Winnipeg Electric advanced ⅛ to 40⅜, Brazilian Traction ½ to 10, and IAC ¼ to 28¼.

The International Joint Commission yesterday authorized Canada and the U.S. to proceed with the power development of the St. Lawrence Seaway. Provided there is no delay in the designation of the U.S. Agency that will join with the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission in the development project, construction of the St. Lawrence seaway could start next year.

The U.S. Defense Production Administration has concluded a new arrangement with the U.K. and with the Aluminium Company of Canada which will add 77,000,000 pounds of Aluminum to U.S. supplies, from December 1952 to June 1953. The Aluminium Co. of Canada will replace this Aluminum for the British market before the end of 1955.

The offer made by the Manitoba Government to shareholders of Winnipeg Electric Co. is contingent on the formation of a new transit company and a new gas company. The Manitoba Government is interested only in the Hydro Electric assets and offers for each share $36.50 in cash and certificates of interest in the new transit and gas companies valued at some $6 per share.

The Doctor Says:

BED REST IS THE ONLY COLD "CURE" TO STAND THE TEST OF TIME

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Nothing would make this column more popular than to announce that the writer had the answer to the common cold, and that by following some simple directions, or taking some easy remedy, readers could count on avoiding this annoying affliction in the future.

Perhaps the time to make such a happy statement will come, but at present I shall have to remain in the doghouse.

Scarcely a year goes by without the announcement of at least one new "wonder" cure for colds. Naturally, we are all so eager to find some way of getting rid of this miserable disorder that we are eager to believe the claims made for practically anything.

In spite of the enormous number of "cold cures" on the market, the statement that "no substance or combination of substances available at the present can be relied on to prevent or cure the common cold" still holds true.

In the fact of this "scientific" view, nose drops, inhalants, liquid and solid medicines, gargles, special diets, lemon cures, and a thousand and one other treatments will be used all winter.

Perhaps something really good will be found at any time. Anyone, however, who has lived through the past few years will be somewhat skeptical about any new "discovery" until it has been tried and tried again.

The supply of moisture to the nose and throat by means of steam inhalations is probably of some help during the early—and I mean early—stage of a cold.

Alcohol (taken internally) remains a favorite with some, but there is considerable doubt as to whether it really helps the cold or merely makes it easier to forget.

Cathartics or laxatives are hardly desirable unless needed for other reasons, and if used to extremes these may cause too much loss of fluids from the body.

Vaccines Come Up Again

In the last year or so vaccines for colds—given either by injection or by mouth—have been suggested again. But the fact remains that careful studies of such methods of cold prevention have been far from convincing.

The only thing which has really stood the test of time so far is rest in bed. In all probability if every one went to bed at the first sign of a cold and used steam inhalations, their colds would not last so long. Such action would also cease to expose others to their colds and therefore cut down on the numbers of them going around.

This is easy to say, but few people try it.

FOR PILES

There is just nothing like the Pyltone internal treatment. We don't care what you have used or how severely or long you have suffered, we say the very first bottle of liquid Pyltone gives you the results you expect, or we return the money. Pyltone results will last because it goes to the real inner cause. All druggists have Pyltone.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Claire: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.
— Mrs. A. W.

A. — A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smoothes on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Liquid Skin Sachet. Available in 3 famous fragrances: Chantilly, Quelques Fleurs, Le Parfum Ideal. Only $2.

Yes, HEINZ CONDENSED SOUPS are "made-to-order" for soup-loving youngsters. And what a blessing they are to mothers! So easy to prepare! So mother—why not stock up on Heinz Soups for your growing and grown-up family? Dad will love them! And, of course, soup is a natural food for children . . . easily assimilated, nourishing, and full of appeal for young appetites. So give them lots of soup—the quick-to-make, nourishing, delicious Heinz way!

Your Young Daughter will love to help you cook on your new GURNEY Gas Range. Even a "beginner" can't go wrong with this wonderful stove . . . it has so many cooking helps. First of all, there's the famous Gurney "Even-Heat" oven that keeps the temperature exactly right—automatically—on the sides, the top, on the bottom . . . and even in the corners. Then there's the automatic clock control for easy, automatic cooking. And I particularly like the glass oven-door panel so you can check up on your cooking without opening the oven door. But I'd suggest you take a look at the new Gurney features yourself. See your Gurney dealer tomorrow. He'll be glad to show you how carefree cooking can be with the new Gurney Gas Range.

Washing Dishes isn't nearly the chore it used to be now that those wonderful new chemical soaps do the job in a jiffy. So dish-washing doesn't bother me now —and the chemical soaps don't bother my hands any more, either. The secret? I just keep JERGENS LOTION handy—use it after every watery job. Because Jergens is liquid, it quickly supplies the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Truly, for lovely, petal-smooth hands—all you need do is use Jergens faithfully. It costs very little—just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15. Why not take my tip and try it. Keep your hands lovely the Jergens way.

Because There's Nothing To Equal the zestful excitement of fresh lemons in cooking, there are usually lemons on my shopping list . . . "S.L.", for short. That means SUNKIST LEMONS, the kind I always buy because they're always delicious—always wonderfully fine and juicy. I make a point of insisting on them for cake, pie and cookie-making. And I love them for flavouring salads, vegetable juices and fish dishes. Try them and I know you'll agree with me that there's nothing better than the honest-to-goodness flavour of plump, juicy Sunkist Lemons. Get all you want for your cooking next time you go to your grocer's.

Like Colour In Your Home? Then let me tell you about DOMOLITE . . . that wonderful new vinylite fabric. It's a dream to sew —no hemming necessary! You can make kitchen and bathroom curtains and drapes, food covers, garment bags, bibs, aprons and dressing-table skirts with it. And Domolite is so easy to clean . . . just wipe with a damp cloth—no ironing. See the beautiful colours and patterns at your favourite department or variety store. Domolite, made by Dominion Oilcloth and Linoleum Company, wears and wears . . . repels moisture, oil and dirt—and is amazingly inexpensive. Write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—for free, illustrated literature on what you can do with this brand new budget-wise fabric.

Getting Ready For A Gala Party Season this winter? You'll want a new formal for yourself . . . and your daughter will love a new formal. Let her help with the sewing . . . it's easy to fit a dress to perfection when you use LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENERS. Lightning Style 702 is best for gala-occasion dresses. It's so fine, so flexible—yet so strong. And of course it has that famous Lightning automatic lock that locks where it stops—no "gaposis". But before you and your daughter begin your sewing—write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—for your copy of the FREE LEAFLET—"Facts About Today's Slide Fasteners". Stanstead South Church, Rock Island, Observes 136th Anniversary With Rev. R. P. Stafford Guest Speaker

Rock Island, October 30.—Stanstead South Church, Rock Island, observed the one hundred and thirty sixth anniversary of its congregation on Sunday, October 26.

Rev. Roy P. Stafford was the guest speaker and based his inspiring address on three points, Congregational Heritage, International Ties, and Evangelical tasks.

To the children he told a story of the Coronation of Queen Victoria and the girl from Philadelphia, Pa., who one hundred and fourteen years ago made history, when she was seated in the Coronation chair, wearing the Coronation regalia and the crown of England on her head so that Victoria, who was about to be crowned Queen of England and the British Isles, could get an idea of how she would look on the great day. The crown that the American girl wore is the same crown that will be placed on the head of our present Queen Elizabeth this coming June.

The choir led the singing of appropriate hymns and rendered an anthem. The lovely basket of flowers was placed on the Communion table by the three ladies' societies of the church.

Attending the service were two members who have been affiliated with the church for some seventy-five years, Miss Mirabel Robinson, who was for years organist and has played an active part in the history of the church, and Mr. Arthur C. Cowles, who for over a half century has been choir leader and Sunday school teacher. Another of the older members of the congregation, Mrs. Lucy Waples, passed away this past summer. Her grandfather, the late Selah Pomeroy, was a deacon in the first years of the church and in 1875 when the church was built in Stanstead it was Mr. Pomeroy who donated the land. Until Mrs. Waples' health failed a few years before her death, she was a very active person in the work of the church.

The history of the congregation actually goes back to the year 1796. The pioneers came and settled in Stanstead in 1796. There they built their homes, later a school and in 1796 worship meetings were held in the "Log Barn of Israel Wood."

The Stanstead South church is now situated in the village of Rock Island, about 150 yards from the International line, and it maintains a decidedly International character. At least, half of the members are Americans who worship and work together for the good of the church which plays an important part in the community of the Boundary villages. The pastors have come from Canada, United States and Great Britain.

The Congregation of Stanstead South Church goes down in history as one of the first of its kind in Eastern Canada. During the conflict between the United States and Canada, known as the "War of 1812," cannons roared and bayonets flashed along many boundary lines but the service of the Stanstead South went on all undisturbed by the dread alarms of war. The services were attended then, as now by Americans and Canadians. The minister at that time was an American from Vermont.

Worship service was held in the Old School House in Stanstead Plain from 1810 to 1917, then at the Union Meeting House from 1817 to 1829. History shows that in the year 1829 a brick church was ready for worship service; Rev. A. J. Parker and Rev. Andrew Rankin both served during the year as pastor.

Dr. C. W. Cowles came to the boundary villages in 1840 and went into partnership with the late Dr. Moses Colby. In 1858 Dr. Cowles, who was the father of A. C. Cowles of Derby Line, was made one of the Deacons of the church and during his life he remained an active worker of the church. This work has since been carried on by his son, A. C. Cowles, grandson George A. Cowles, and great-grandson Gardner Cowles.

In Stanstead during the latter part of the eighteenth century was an Inn operated by Joe Stoudert. In those days was the stage coach route, and a stop was at Stanstead, then a boom town. One day the Inn caught fire and burnt, also the convent next to it. The wind changed direction and the fire crossed the street, catching onto the church, which was also destroyed by fire. Mr. Cowles recalls going up to the other end of Stanstead to view the ashes of the three destroyed buildings and remembers a man there picking up "square nails" that had been used in the buildings, but which had not been harmed by the fire.

In the Fall of 1875 ground was taken and the foundation of the present church edifice was laid. The canvass for funds, which resulted in the amount of $3,000 being raised, provided a chapter of mingled hope and fear, courage and quailing, generosity and grace. Stephen Foster gave $1,600 for an organ. Today there is in the church what is known as the "Stephen Foster Fund," which is used for the choir and Sunday school needs. The new church was opened for service in January, 1876, with Rev. John Fraser as the pastor.

During the past seventy-six years of the present church, thirteen ministers have served the people, the present pastor is Rev. T. W. Tyson. The minister with the longest service in the parish was Rev. H. A. Carson, who was pastor for twenty-six years. All have served well and faithfully and the people of the church are justly proud of the history of "Stanstead South."

Before the uniting of the Presbyterian-Methodist and Congregationalist churches into the United Church of Canada, Stanstead South was Congregational.

F. Ryland Daniels, centre, president, Paton manufacturing Company Limited, congratulates Eleuthere Boucher, left, and Hubert Dubois, both of Sherbrooke, on the occasion of their graduation from St. Hyacinthe Textile School. Boucher led his class of 14 — the fourth graduating class — and was awarded the Lieutenant-Governors Medal and the CIBA Medal. Both youths were sponsored in the school by Patons.

Provincial Government Co-Operation With Textile Industry Is Stressed

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Oct. 30. — The advantages which have resulted for the youth of Quebec from co-operation between the provincial government and the primary textile industry were stressed here by speakers at the fourth annual graduation ceremonies of the St. Hyacinthe Textile School.

Fifteen graduates of the school, which gives a four-year, college-level course in the theory and practice of textile processing, received diplomas. Platform guests included representatives of Quebec's Department of Youth and Social Welfare, under the direction of which the school is operated; the primary textile industry which has donated much of the machinery and equipment and provides bursaries for about half the students, and religious and civic authorities of St. Hyacinthe.

S. F. Toupin, director of the school, said that a new addition to the institution made possible by a grant of $708,000 from the provincial government, was now well under way. The new addition, plus continued assistance from individuals and firms in the textile industry would, he said, enable the seven-year-old school to greatly increase the value of its work and to double enrolment.

Clement Tremblay, secretary-treasurer and director of Ayers Limited, spoke on behalf of the primary textile industry. He said that the St. Hyacinthe School provided a unique opportunity for many young people from Quebec to carve out careers in a valuable Canadian industry.

"Without the contribution of those in government and industry who made this school possible," he said, "it is possible that many of the young men who have graduated since the school was founded in 1945 would have been forced to remain hewers of wood and drawers of water; occupations which are by no means dishonorable but which do not hold great promise for the youth of this province today."

Gustave Poisson, deputy minister for Youth and Social Welfare, said the government was glad to do its part to help assure the young people of Quebec of an opportunity to obtain the technical training that would enable them to become key figures in the vast industrial expansion which many people saw for the province.

He acknowledged the "generous contribution" made by the textile industry to the success of the training school and predicted that such co-operation would lead to even further expansion in technical training with further benefits to the industry, the province and the entire nation.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Arthur Douville, Archbishop of St. Hyacinthe, also stressed the value to young people of the technical training such as that provided by the textile school He said that the industry has always been intimately associated with the development of Quebec and has provided a happy example of what can be accomplished by goodwill and co-operation between private industry and lay and church authorities

Other speakers included E J. Chartier, M.L.A., for St. Hyacinthe and E. O. Picard, Mayor of St. Hyacinthe.

Eleuthere Boucher, of Sherbrooke, headed the graduting class, taking the Lieutenant-Governor's medal for top honors and the Ciba medal for highest marks in chemistry and dyeing. Other graduates were Gerard Jacob, St. Denis sur Richelieu; Yvon St. Louis, Montreal; Rodrigue Smith, Yamaska; J.-Claude Andre, Valleyfield; Andre Deveault, Louiseville; Georges Louette, Montreal; Jean-Rene Blanchard, Drummondville; John Nettel, Montreal; Jean-Marie Bordeleau, Grand'mere; Guy Kirouac, Warwick; Bernard Dermine, Montreal; Bruno Fortin, St. Hyacinthe; Hubert Dubois, Sherbrooke; J. P. Turgeon, St. Hyacinthe.

In addition to the speakers, guests of honor included: G. Blair Gordon, president, Dominion Textile Company Limited; F. Ryland Daniels, president, Paton Manufacturing Company Limited; Brinley Taylor, vice-president, Courtaulds (Canada) Limited; John Yaxley, general manager, Drummondville Cotton Company Limited; Rev. LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Maurice (Rocket) Richard, who scored two goals Wednesday night to tie the National Hockey League's all-time, high-goal-scoring record of 324 set by Nels (Ole Poison) Stewart although Montreal Canadiens lost a 7-5 decision to Toronto Maple Leafs.

Chicago's Jim McFadden, who scored the winning goal as the Black Hawks defeated the tail-end New York Rangers 3-1.

Canadiens' Fiery Right-Winger Steals Spotlight At Toronto; Gets Two To Equal Stewart's Mark

Toronto, Oct. 30.—(CP)—The incomparable Maurice Richard, The Rocket with the straight black hair and blazing stick, tied professional hockey's all-time scoring record last night. And the time is not far off for him to take over from Nels (Old Poison) Stewart himself.

The great 31-year-old rightwinger did it with two quick goals in the first period as his Montreal Canadiens dropped a 7-5 National Hockey League decision to Toronto Maple Leafs.

The partisan Toronto crowd of 14,069 whooped it up every time the fiery Rocket gathered in the puck and nearly brought the roof down when he fired the goals to equal the mark of 324 goals set by Old Poison 11 years ago.

But it was just another night for Joseph Henri Maurice Richard, even when they pressed telegrams and notes of congratulation into his sweaty palms.

His only comment:

"I have nothing to say about the record. The game is the thing. The goals have got to come some time. It's the game that counts."

And from Old Poison came these words from his Port Colborne home:

"That's all right. That's what records are made for — to be broken, and Richard is a good man to make it."

"If he didn't make it tonight he would have made it Saturday, so it didn't make much difference."

Even most of Toronto's hockey cynics figured this was the big night for the five-foot-ten dynamo — despite the fact that he has never had big scoring nights at the Gardens. Richard had scored only three goals in eight previous games this season and he was "due."

The crowd sensed it from the opening whistle. The Rocket was his old self, roaring up and down the ice with reckless abandon.

He got No. 323 on a neat passing play with Elmer Lach, The Rocket's linemate during his entire 10-year career. Richard blazed in from the right side and baffled Toronto netminder Harry Lumley with a sharp shot to the left corner. The crowd stood up and gave Maurice a tremendous ovation.

Richard came through five minutes later for No. 324, again with

"THE ROCKET" RICHARD

Lach getting an assist. The crowd went wild, as Referee Red Storey trapped the puck and handed it to the 175-pound ace.

For Richard, who has had a rough time in the big leagues with assorted injuries, it was a good night to cap some of those big seasons, in which he labelled himself as "the most dangerous man on skates."

A few of his big years were in: 1944-45 when he scored 50 goals; 1946-47 when he got 45 and in 1949-50 when he drove home 43.

Baseball Or Movies, Says Prexy Stoneham

New York, Oct. 30 — (AP) — President Horace Stoneham of New York Giants has delivered an ultimatum to Manager Leo Durocher to make up his mind by next month between baseball and the movies.

"I have read where Durocher has stated he may leave baseball for a career in the movies after his contract with us expires at the end of next season," Stoneham said today. "If that's what he wants, that's all right with me.

"However, if he is not going to be back with us after next season, we have a right to know so we'll have time to prepare.

"I thought at first it was a press agent's stunt," Stoneham said, "but Leo told me he has three production offers he feels he should examine."

Durocher currently is working on a picture with Tallulah Bankhead and other stars. He recently signed a contract to pilot the Giants for the 1953 season at a reported $60,000.

In discussing his contemplated switch from baseball to a film career, Durocher said it would enable him to spend more time with his family.

The Durochers have two children, both adopted by Laraine Day, his movie actress wife.

France's Olympic Rider Wins At National Show

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 30 — (AP) — France's Pierre d'Oriola, flashing the form that won him the 1952 Olympic title, last night rode Ali Baba to win the International individual jumping championship in a double jump-off at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

He won the Governor's Challenge Cup by being the only rider to clear a five-foot barrel jump.

He made the obstacle on the second jump-off with the United States' Arthur McCashin on Totilla second and Mexico's Lieut. Joaquim d'Harcourt on Cordoves third.

W. R. Ballard, captain of the Canadian team, took fourth place by accumulating eight faults, two knockdowns over the original course.

Canada's Lt.-Col. Charles Baker made 12 faults and James Elder made 16 faults.

Earlier yesterday Elder was one of three riders thrown in the individual open jumping event. None of the riders or horses was injured when the horses fell attempting to jump triple-bar hurdles.

Last night's was France's first victory. Mexico won the first three jumps of the show.

Leafs Rally To Overcome Deficit And Win Free-Scoring Tilt; Hawks Dump Rangers For First Win In Five

Maurice Richard made the National Hockey League Headlines last night but in all the excitement over his tying of the N.H.L.'s all-time scoring record Chicago Black Hawks slipped almost unnoticed into the league leadership.

The great Montreal Canadien got two goals against Toronto Maple Leafs to bring his mark to 324. the same number scored by Nels Stewart, the star of the '20's and '30's, before his retirement. But the Canadiens fell two goals short of Toronto and lost 7-5.

Meanwhile the Hawks, who hadn't hit the win column in the last five games, skated rings around the Rangers in New York to beat the tailenders 3-1 and take over first place by one point. Canadiens' loss left them in second place with nine points, one ahead of Toronto.

The Leafs, setting a reputation as the league's come-from-behind club, trailed 3-1 at the end of the first period. Richard's two goals in the opener brought the crowd of 14,069 to their feet and that seemed the climax of the game at the time. But the Leafs stormed back with three straight goals in the second period to make it 4-3 and then, in a free-scoring final period, got three goals to Canadiens' two for the decision.

It was a bruising game with frequent bursts of speed and 15 penalties were called. Bert Olmstead duplicated Richard and got two goals for Montreal. Dollard St. Laurent got the other.

The Leafs were paced by Harry Watson with two, while the other goals were split among Ted Kennedy, Sid Smith, Max Bentley and Gord Hannigan.

The Black Hawks outclassed New York before 7,054 fans but two of their goals came with some help from broken Ranger sticks. Allan Stanley went to get a new one in the opening minutes of the second period and Jim McFadden capitalized on the break to score. Son after, Nick Mickoski also broke his stick and the Hawks charged into the Ranger end while he sought a replacement. Cal Gardner scored on this break. The first Hawk goal came in the first period when Gus Mortson got his first of the season.

Al Rollins had his second shutout of the year going until 18:53 of the final period when Mickoski caught the right-hand corner.

Boston and Detroit were idle last night but meet tonight on the Red Wings' home ground. New York goes to Chicago for a return engagement.

Major Baseball Heads Draft New Waiver Rule

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Baseball's major-minor executive council yesterday drew up a new waiver rule designed to curb the sale of star players from one league to another during the season.

The move was believed to be aimed at New York Yankees, who in the last several years have taken advantage of the current waiver rule by purchasing such stars as Johnny Mize, Johnny Sain, Elwell Blackwell and Johnny Hopp. Each player was instrumental in helping to bring a championship to the Yankees.

The proposed new waiver rule will require each club to obtain waivers from the other 15 clubs before it can sell a player to a club in the other league after July 31. As the rule reads now, a club needs only to receive waivers from the seven other clubs in its league in order to sell a player to the rival circuit for the waiver price of $10,000.

Commissioner Ford Frick said the new waiver rule must be ratified by a majority of the clubs in each league to become official.

In the only other game scheduled, Buffalo Bisons moved into third place by shading St. Louis Flyers 2-1.

At Pittsburgh, Bob Sabourin and Phil Maloney led the way with two goals apiece and Frank Sullivan, Pete Backor and Ray Timgren got the others.

The Providence goalie had 56 stops while goalie Gil Mayer had a comparatively easy time, making only 19.

The "Old Professor," as the 37-year-old southpaw control expert is fondly called, won 17 games last season and dropped 13. He has won 65 games for Cincinnati's second division club in the last four years —an average of slightly better than 16 a season.

Quebec, Oct. 30—(CP)—Jean-Paul Bisaillon scored both Valleyfield goals last night as the Braves tied Quebec Aces 2-2 to move into a first-place tie in the Quebec Senior Hockey League with Montreal Royals.

Bisaillon's second marker came late in overtime after goals by Ludger Tremblay and Jean Beliveau had brought Aces from behind.

After a scoreless first period, Bisaillon gave Valleyfield the lead in the second stanza when he lured Jean Marois out of the Quebec goal and slipped the puck into the cage. Andre Corriveau and Georges Bougie assisted on the play.

Tremblay sent the game into overtime in the third period when he deflected a blue-line shot by defenceman Gordie Hudson following a face-off deep in Valleyfield territory. Al Baccari assisted on the play.

Beliveau's goal in the first minute of overtime, put Aces ahead. The big centre scored with a slap shot from a scramble.

With 51 seconds of play left in the 10-minute overtime period, Bisaillon counted his second goal on a play with Bougie and Bruce Cline after a face-off in Quebec territory.

Dutch Want Team Play Abolished In Olympics

Amsterdam, Oct. 30—(AP)—Col. P. W. Scharroo, Dutch representative on the International Olympic Committee, announced yesterday he will propose the abolition of team sports events in future Olympics.

He said the Olympic program was too full and needed simplification to bring down the costs of the games and their preparation.

If his proposal goes through, it would mean the elimination of such sports as soccer football, field hockey, basketball and water polo from the games.

Norris Leans Towards St. Louis For Fight

New York, Oct. 30 —(AP)— Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said yesterday he "leaned toward" St. Louis and Dec. 10 as the site and date for the proposed light heavyweight title bout between champion Joey Maxim and Archie Moore.

Norris met with managers of both fighters for several hours but failed to come up with a definite match. He said St. Louis, Cincinnati, Detroit and Miami are being considered.

In addition to Dec. 10, Morris listed Dec. 17, Jan. 7 and New Year's eve in Miami as alternates.

Senators Nip Chicoutimi 4-2 In Heavy Checking Battle; Victory Moves Ottawa Into Fourth Position

Otawa, Oct. 30— (CP) —Ottawa Senators last night took over sole possession of fourth place in the Quebec Senior Hockey League by defating Chicoutimi Saguenays 4-2 in a rugged game.

The victory moved Ottawa to within a point of the third-place Sherbrooke Saints and two ahead of Chicoutimi.

Bill (Red) Johnson, Bep Guidolin, Howard (Rip) Riopelle and Johnny Arundel counted for the winners while Lou Smrke drove home both Chicoutimi tallies.

Johnson drew first blood for Ottawa at 3:28 of the initial period from a rebound in front of the net. Guidolin made it 2-0 on a break-away before Lou Smrke put Chicoutimi into the game from a rebound.

Riopelle counted Ottawa's third goal at 14:08 of the period when he picked the corner of the net on a long drive while Delphis Franche was sitting out a slashing penalty.

Smrke took advantage of an Ottawa penalty when Jackie Giesbrecht was off for tripping at 8:51 of the second period and blasted in a pass from his brother, Stan, and Dussault.

Brading's And Patoine's Lunch Tie For Honors In City Small Pin Loop; Five Players Join Special "500" Club

Brading's and Patoine's Lunch made clean sweep of their matches in the City Small Pin Bowling League at Gerry Mathieu's Bowlorium while in the other game the Pistol Club emerged the winner over J. O. Nault by copping three of the strings.

At the New Wellington Alleys R. Bergeron and Guertin's Jewellers won all four strings while the American Biltrite took three from Paul's Restaurant.

Patoine's win enabled them to join Brading's for a tie in the top spot of the loop. A. DeLafontaine chalked up the high single of 214 for the winners while Paul Jacques posted the high triple with 542. In the Levesque-Brading's tilt G. Philippon rolled a single of 203 with H. Fortier coming through with 474. R. Ainslie was the pace setter for the losers with 209 and 503.

B. Carrier had 170 for a single while R. Rheault posted a triple of 475 for the Pistol Club. E. Houde was the high bowler for the Nault Store with 185 and 495. R. Bergeron rolled the high single and triple for any team with 930 and 2,484 totals. N. Bilodeau top the winners with 214 while L. Marquis had a triple of 535. R. Provencher was the top player for Guertin's with a single of 198 and a triple of 463. E. Gregoire paced the losing Turcotte squad with 177 while G. Fournier had a triple of 461.

M. Carbonneau had the high single and triple for the Rubber Boys with 195 and 507 while R. Gregoire chalked up 154 for Paul's with R. Castonguay registered the high triple with 412.

Paul Jacques, A. DeLafontaine, R. Ainslie, L. Marquis and M. Carbonneau moved into the select circle of the "500" Bowlers while twenty-five made the "400" Club during the past week.

Richer Wins Cambridgeshire Stakes; Owner Gets $9,864 Purse For Classic

Newmarket, England, Oct. 30—(AP)—Richer, a three-year-old colt which went to the post at 100-to-6 odds yesterday, won the 110th running of the Cambridgeshire Stakes—and fortunes for people who had drawn him in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes.

The son of Rockefella and Grandpa's Will won the 1⅛-mile gallop on a soft track beating Sunny Brae, a 66-to-1 outsider by two lengths. Garrison Hack, 50-to-1, was beaten into third place in a photo finish. The winning time was 1:52.8.

A field of 42 went to the starting gate and the two favorites, Cap of Gold and Antrycide, both 10-to-1, never showed in the race.

Cap of Gold lost a pot of gold for the MacLeans, a family of Glasgow bookmakers. Two weeks ago George MacLean's 33-to-1 long shot, Flush Royal, won the Cesarewitch Stakes, which with the Cambridgeshire comprises English Racing's big betting autumn double.

The MacLean's had coupled Flush Royal with Cap of Gold in many big bets although they denied they stood to win £500,000 ($1,400,000) if Cap of Gold won.

Richer's victory brought a purse of £3,523 ($9,864) to owner Greville Baylis.

Winning jockey Ken Gethin said he never had a moment's anxiety about Richer's ability to win.

Gethin said he settled down about sixth in one of the two groups which raced on each side of the wide, undulating track.

"The pace was a cracker," Gethin said. He started to move up to the leaders when they had gone about five furlongs.

"Richer was going so well," said Gethin, "that I asked him to go in front going down the hill.

"He never faltered and ran on strongly to win like a really good horse."

Gethin gave a public tip at a dinner at Newmarket Thursday when he told a crowd "at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon I hope we'll all be a little bit richer.'

Three Rivers Drop Second Tilt On Tour

The dead heat between Galt Black Hawks and Barrie Flyers for the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A lead continued last night as both won their games.

Neither of the leaders can afford any mistakes. Guelph Biltmores, apparently unhampered by the loss of four top performers to the parent New York Rangers, are only two points behind with 11.

Three Rivers Reds were the Bilts' victims last night as they dropped the second game of their Ontario tour 4-2. Barrie took Kitchener 6-3 and Galt beat Toronto Marlboros 7-2. There was no action in Quebec.

Chick Chalmers was top man for Guelph as he had his first three-goal night since entering junior hockey. Gerard Bergeron opened the scoring in the first period for Three Rivers then Chalmers tied it up. The second period was scoreless. Chalmers broke the game up in the third. After Jean-Guy Gendron had given the visitors a 2-1 lead he scored two quick ones to make it 3-2. Irv Scott added an insurance marker three minutes later.

New York, Oct. 30— (AP) — Mrs. B. F. Whitaker's Grecian Queen made her own pace to win the $51,500 Demoiselle Stakes at Jamaica Race track yesterday.

The homebred daughter of Helipolis-Qbania, piloted by Eric Guerin, came busting out of the starting gate in front and stayed there during the 1 1/16-mile run to win 2½ lengths from Howell E. Jackson's Ballerina, in the fair time of 1:46 3/5.

In third place came Brookemeade Stable's Tritium, the 3-5 favorite, who faded in the stretch.

Grecian Queen earned a purse of $33,325 in winning her fourth race, and third stakes in 14 starts.

College Football Bribe Attempt Revealed At University Of Maryland As Sophomore Offers Three Gifts

College Park, Md., Oct. 30—(AP)—A student who allegedly offered $1,500 in bribes to three Maryland football players including star quarterback Jack Scarbath eluded a campus police net yesterday.

College officials said the bribe offers were made to hold down the score against Louisiana State University in last Saturday's game. Maryland won 34-6 and the three players said they had been asked to keep the margin of victory to no more than 20 points.

The attempted bribe was reported last Friday by the players, but University officials kept it secret until yesterday on the insistence of State's Attorney Carlyle Lancaster.

President H. C. (Curley) Byrd of the University said a warrant had been issued for the sophomore student.

Lancaster had prevailed upon University officials to try to trap the student into making a new offer in the presence of an outsider. The student, who had been on Maryland's junior varsity football squad for two years, didn't fall into any of several traps which had been set.

He showed up at one class momentarily this morning and then skipped with police still after him, officials said.

The entire football squad, which hasn't been beaten in 18 games and is ranked second in the country, was aware before Saturday's game of the alleged bribe attempt.

According to signed statements by the three players, the student said he intended to bet that Maryland would win by no more than 20 points.

The student, the statements said, first went Thursday night to the room of Tom Cosgrove, senior offensive centre. Cosgrove said he was offered $1,000.

Frank Navarro, senior offensive guard, said he was visited the same night and offered $400.

Scarbath, a leading candidate for All-America, said he was offered $100 Friday.

Canada's Top-Flight Chinese Player Got Biggest Thrill In Grey Cup Game With Stampeders

Edmonton, Oct. 30—(CP)—Normie Kwong, the only Chinese player in top-flight Canadian football, thinks that playing on a Grey Cup champion team in the first year out of junior ranks was the greatest thrill he has had in the game.

The 24-year-old China Clipper, a hard-driving, fast-cutting halfback, was with Calgary Stampeders when they won the Grey Cup in 1948 and the following year when they were beaten in the final by Montreal Alouettes.

Before the 1950 season he was traded to Edmonton Eskimos and won his greatest glory with the Eskimos, who meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the 1952 Western final starting Saturday.

Kwong won selection on the 1951 Western All-Star team and he led the loop in ground gained rushing. He picked up 984 yards, believed a conference record, better than five yards each time he carried the ball. And he carried the ball nearly 200 times in 14 games.

Normally the 190-pound, five-feet-nine half wears thick-lensed spectacles but on the football field he puts on contact lenses.

His nationality has caused him no trouble.

"Everybody on my own team kids me," he said. "I have never heard any opponent make any remarks about my nationality."

Popular with his team-mates and a practical joker, he takes part in most of the dressing-room banter. Indicating there is no strain, one team-mate when heckled in the dressing room by Kwong, said:

"Pipe down, you North Korean, you."

"We're not related but I know him well," Normie said of Larry Kwong the Vernon, B.C., product and the only Chinese to make an appearance in the National Hockey League. At present Larry plays hockey for the Valleyfield Braves in the Quebec Senior League.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York —(AP)— Rocky Marciano will defend his heavyweight title against Jersey Joe Walcott either in March, indoors, or in June under the stars, probably the latter, and from there on the strong boy from Brockton will fight no oftener than once a year.

All this on the word of his manager, Al Weill, so busy taking in money these days that he has been forced to hire extra help just to see that none of the green stuff gets thrown out with the trash.

"I've been telling Jim Norris (president of the International Boxing Club) that we should wait and hold it outdoors and draw a million and a half, easy," Al said, "but Jim keeps talking about holding it indoors in the Chicago Stadium in March . . .

"Rocky and me want to get this committment off our hands so we can go on and make some real money," Al continued expansively. "We'll fight just once a year. That's plenty often enough for a champion to fight, and besides we can make more getting around the country than fighting every few months."

Rocky and his eager pilot will hit more than a score of cities before they wind it up in mid-December. Rocky plans to fly back home around Nov. 7 to welcome his first born, Weill having promised him two days off for the purpose.

Rocky is refereeing both boxing and wrestling shows, and sometimes he simply makes personal appearances at theatres.

"We'll have to come back by the middle of December because I've just about closed for Rocky to box a six-round exhibition at Caracas — that's down in Venezuela — on Dec. 15," Al said. "That'll be the first time he boxes since he's champion. We'll take some boy from around there for Rocky to box.

"After that they want us to come out and spend a whole week in Los Vegas. Two of those big clubs out there and a new hotel have offered us $15,000 for the week. It isn't the money we could make on one-night stands, maybe, working on a percentage basis, but I've never been there and I figure it would give me a vacation."

Perhaps it should be pointed out that, in addition to his money appearances, Marciano also has made scores of visits to hospitals and has given his time freely to various worthy causes. He is becoming wealthy in a hurry, but he is making a lot of friends, too.

Football Fever Mounts At Torrid Pace As Western Final Draws Near; Both Teams Ready For Top Classic

Edmonton, Oct. 30. — (CP) — Football fever climbed in Edmonton this week as frenzied fans, still suffering from the shock of the Saturday Slaughter here last week, build up hopes that their Eskimos can whip Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

And Coach Frank Filchock's green-and-gold gridders, who crushed Calgary Stampeders 30-7 last Saturday to win the two-game total-point Western Semi-Final 42-38, are just as optimistic as their fans.

Filchock reports his camp in fine condition, both physically and mentally. Don Lord, blonde Vancouver product ,and Ray Enright, 23-year-old Edmonton homebrew, weren't in action last week-end but both will be in the backfield Saturday for the first game of the best-of-three Western final against Bombers.

Rollie Miles, sensational all-star scatback who has twice won the Eskimos' most valuable player choice, says his ankles are coming along fine and Montrealer Jim Chambers, who caught Miles' game-breaking forward to spell Calgary's doom, expects his shoulder separation to be healed well enough for the opener.

In Winnipeg, where the odds favor Bombers 5-3, Coach George Trafton indicates he and his Bombers have plenty of respect for Eskimos, though they don't fear them.

"We're up against a terrific ball club," Trafton says, "but we're not afraid of them."

Joe Zaleski, second-string Winnipeg quarterback, is the only serious cripple in the Bomber camp. He has a broken finger on his pitching hand. Guard Al Wiley isn't expected in the line-up because of an injured arm but Buddy Tinsley, all-star tackle, will dress. He had a mild case of 'flu.

Flying Wing Ian Gibb is sidelined for the rest of the year with vision trouble.

The Bombers are expected in Edmonton Friday. The two clubs will return to Winnipeg for the second game of the series Saturday, Nov. 8 and the third, if necessary, will be played there Tuesday, Nov. 11.

Braves' Rookie May Try Out With Celtics

Boston, Oct. 30— (AP) —Gene Conley, Boston Braves' six-foot-eight righthanded pitcher, plans to try out for Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association, much to the dismay of General Manager John Quinn of the Braves.

A basketball and baseball start at Washington State, Conley, however, is an unknown court quantity to President Walter Brown of the Celtics.

"If Conley can show us the stuff, we'll sign him," Brown said.

Conley is regarded as one of the Braves' outstanding 1953 prospects, but his contract contains a clause that prevents him from playing basketball except with the club's permission.

Asked if the Braves would take action if Conley qualifies for pro basketball, Quinn replied: "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

Conley was shipped to the Milwaukee American Association farm club by the Braves early last season and compiled an impressive 11-4 record.

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION AND PROFIT

In a progressive and dynamic country, capital and work are the two essential factors for production. One could do nothing without the other.

The collaboration of these two forces would be impossible without the existence of profit, or to be more exact, chances of profit, which arouse the spirit of initiative. Without the perspective of a certain revenue, which capitalist or economizer would risk his money towards the working of our forests and our mines, or towards the foundation and upkeep of industrial or commercial establishments?

We sometimes hear it said that, if not possible to abolish profit, we should at least rigourously restrain it, because it is one of the principal causes of high cost of living. But a survey of the Federal Bureau of Statistics is far from confirming such a statement. According to that department, the percentage of the national revenue which represents the dividends distributed by Canadian societies for the past twenty years is rather low; it fluctuates only within narrow limits and in the past two years has had a steep drop. From 5.6 in 1929, it went to 6.8 in 1933, and successively fell to 6.4 in 1940, to 4.5 in 1950 and to 3.9 in 1951.

Profit is the incentive of industrial progress. It was the hope of a satisfactory revenue which determined the Canadian industrialists to establish enterprises and incited a multitude of people with savings to ensure by personal investments, the operation and expansion of such industries.
