

Dominion Day accidents and separatists cloud fair skies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The promise of fair weather across most of the country for Canada's 99th birthday Friday is expected to take thousands out of their homes during the three-day Dominion Day weekend to watch or participate in summer recreations.

Airlines and railways officials say extra service will be provided on some routes. Air Canada in Montreal says six planes will be added to its Newfoundland and Toronto runs.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council this year predicts 85 persons will die on the roads during the weekend. The National Safety League estimates 75 more will drown.

Forty persons died in accidents on a one-day, mid-week holiday last year. The worst three-day Dominion Day weekend was in 1963 when 172 persons lost their lives, 85 in traffic.

Police in most provinces are calling for a crack-down on traffic violations.

In the Eastern Townships gala celebrations are planned at Bury, where the traditional round of Dominion Day activities will be held, and at North Hatley, where a horseshow will be held.

On the east coast, Newfoundland, celebrating its come-home year this year, will remember at a service in St. John's the 783 men of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, wiped out July 1, 1916 in the battle of Beaumont during the bloody First World War battle of Somme.

The rest of the Maritimes is holding various sports events but no large celebrations are forecast.

In Montreal, police are hoping separatists demonstrations that have marred May 24 and July 1 holidays the last two years will not take place.

In Ontario, Saturday hydroplanes will compete for the Gold Cup in the Detroit River near Windsor and others will seek the Maple Leaf Trophy at Picton, 20 miles southeast of Belleville.

Manitoba will have a Scottish Amateur Athletic Association track meet and highland games, and a Mennonite choir from Winnipeg will give a concert with a boys' choir from Granby Que.

The student council of the University of Saskatchewan at Regina will experiment with a Speakers' Corner modelled after the one in London's Hyde Park.

Opposition roasts Quebec government's 'stupid' statements

QUEBEC (CP)—The Opposition Liberal party Wednesday accused the new Union Nationale government of operating against the interest of Quebec by making "absolutely stupid" statements that the province's finances are in a bad way.

"When we try to sell any bonds, we should not try to knock the merchandise at the same time."

Speaking of the bond issue, which went on the market Monday and which brokers say is selling slowly, Mr. Kierans said "things would have gone a lot faster if they had shut their mouths for a while."

The official Opposition statement, read by Pierre Laporte, former municipal affairs minister who now is Liberal whip, was made in answer to attacks on the province's financial situation by Mr. Johnson and the new finance minister, Paul Dozois.

Mr. Johnson has repeated time and again that Quebec finances are in a "terrible state" and Mr. Dozois Tuesday accused the former Liberal government of having made agreements which would burden the province "for years to come."

See long rule

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina today expected long and possibly lean years of military rule as their new government began trying to get a working arrangement with normally hostile labor unions.

Strongman Juan Carlos Onganía swore himself in as president Wednesday, assuming virtually dictatorial power, after a three-man military junta ousted civilian President Arturo Illia Tuesday in a bloodless coup.

Strike costly

LONDON (CP)—British ships will sail again Saturday but it will be months, even years, before the cost of the seamen's strike settled Wednesday is known.

Shipowners say their losses will be counted in tens of millions of pounds. But only time will tell how much of Britain's export sales has been lost for good in foreign customers who turned to other suppliers during the 47-day strike.

Dominican head

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Joaquin Balaguer Friday becomes the 70th president of the political volcano that has had Dominican Republic, a little political volcano that has had constitutional government for only seven months in the last 36 years.

The inauguration caps a costly and controversial 14-month effort by the Organization of American States to restore a measure of political and economic stability to the country.

Bombing causes big uproar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The spokesmen emphasized the damage to facilities representing more than 60 per cent of North Viet Nam's remaining oil storage capacity. One American plane was downed.

Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara told a news conference every effort was made to avoid destruction of non military facilities.

But a North Vietnamese army spokesman charged the U.S. planes "indiscriminately bombed and strafed residential and economic areas, causing human and material losses to our people."

Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey said "no civilian casualties resulted." American allies had been told of the bombing decision in advance.

British Prime Minister Wilson expressed regret over the bombings and said Britain was unable to support the action. Initial reaction from Russia, Yugoslavia, India and the United Nations was critical.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons the bombing does not change Canada's policy favoring a letup in air strikes against North Viet Nam to "assist settlement" of the war.

Russians called the raids "international piracy."

City gets place in Expo display

By KARL KRAMER
(Record staff reporter)

A contract for the renting of a booth at the Quebec Industries Pavilion at Expo '67 was signed yesterday at Sherbrooke city hall for $60,000. Half of the contract was paid yesterday and the remaining 50 per cent of the cost will be paid in 1967.

Mayor Armand Nadeau signed on behalf of the city and Maurice de Goumais, commissioner general of the Quebec Industries Pavilion at Expo '67 signed for the pavilion.

Centrally located in the pavilion, the booth will have displays by two local industries. The two companies are Combustion Engineering Superheater Ltd., represented by Roy Scholes and S. W. Hooper, Ltd., represented by S. W. Hooper.

The city of Sherbrooke is the only city having a booth at the pavilion, Mr. de Goumais said.

The booth, although paid for by the city and entitled the City of Sherbrooke, will be financed jointly by the two industries represented at the booth.

Room is available for additional industries. Mayor Nadeau said yesterday at a press conference that other companies contacted by the city did not give a definite answer to the city's proposal.

The exhibitions are to show the expansion of the province and the Eastern Townships and the potential of Quebec.

Major interest in the pavilion is the Hydro Quebec display which will have a color television of its Manicouagan power project. A screen 30 by 20 feet will be erected in the all-steel building. Visitors will see how work is progressing on the power project by means of live camera coverage.

Commissioner general de Goumais thanked the City of Sherbrooke for participating and for taking the initiative. The City became interested in the Industrial Pavilion, two months ago.

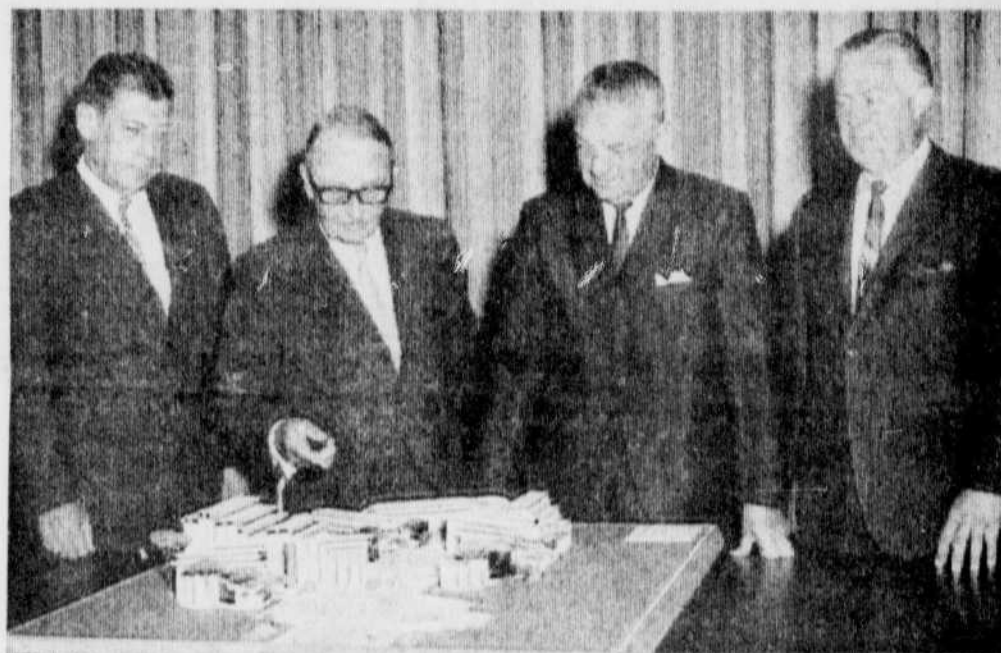

Mayor Nadeau told the Commissioner General that the city was happy to participate in this work and considered it an honor to be in the pavilion.

Suggested for a display is a topographical map of the area showing the various industries, and communications and giving all information of economic value.

PROVINCE NOT PAYING

It was underlined that the Province of Quebec would not pay into the pavilion, Mr. de Goumais stated that it was a co-operative enterprise of various industries.

The building will be located on MacKay Pier. It will be constructed of bolted steel and fiberglass. Although there are 43 cells, only 20 cells are for exhibition purposes. The other cells are for meeting halls, conference rooms, press rooms and two portable bars. Proceeds from the liquor sales will be donated to the Seaman's Fund. Hostesses will give guided tours through the building. Once on the tour visitors must see the Commons bomber misinformed about fuse rate, inquest told

OTTAWA (CP)—A housewife killed when a home-made bomb exploded in his hands as he was leaving a washroom near the Commons chamber.

A 10-page prepared speech found in his pocket said he wanted to "exterminate as many members of Parliament as possible" and proclaim himself president of Canada.

Mrs. Norma Loughheed of Newmarket, Ont., near Toronto, told a five-man coroner's jury of the dynamite transaction May 13. Five days later Chartier was

She picked up Chartier in her car when he lost his way to Newmarket, gave him a discarded briefcase to carry the blasting equipment and asked an employee to drive him to a bus terminal.

Twenty witnesses testified Wednesday and another 17 were scheduled to be called today. Highlights of the evidence: —Chartier sat in the Commons gallery a few minutes before the blast, asked for directions to the nearest washroom and said he wished to return. He had been drinking but was not intoxicated.

Commons committee urged CBC changes

OTTAWA (CP) — Immediate casting. It was studied Wednesday by the CBC's board of directors at its annual meeting here. A board statement—not necessarily about the committee report—is expected sometime today.

The committee, which found evidence of serious problems between management and producers, also proposed establishment of a grievance procedure to handle personnel problems and try to prevent them bursting into public.

And, concluding that the many functions assigned to the CBC president make his job almost impossible, it said the lines of his authority should be defined more clearly.

The report, tabled in the Commons, follows one by Stuart Keate of Vancouver on the Seven Days dispute and comes only hours or days before the government produces its long-awaited white paper on broadcast, opposition members chose a month without a means test.

Pension force play delays MPs' holiday

OTTAWA (CP) — An opposition play to force an old age bill to establish the Canada Assistance Plan.

The plan, up for second reading — approval in principle — would provide extra government assistance to needy older people.

Members from all opposition parties claimed Wednesday plan did not go far enough. They also wanted an increase in the old age pension to $100 from $75 a month without a means test.

Teenage counsellors train for the YM-YW summer day camp

The Sherbrooke YW-YMCA said, spend over two hours a day in the pool and additional hours in the classroom learning instructions and safety methods. Among the preparations being made for the opening of the camp this coming Monday, is a camp counsellors' training program.

The training program took place this week under the direction of the co-directors of the camp, Mait Stockwell and Fran Yarwood. Under these two instructors, the fourteen counsellors are receiving advanced training.

The counsellors, said Mr. Stockwell, put in a day of six hours of lectures and sports to prepare them for the camp. The day does not end, though, at the end of lectures and exercises, explained Mr. Stockwell, the counsellors are given work to take home for the evening.

Mr. Stockwell said that the emphasis in both the counsellor training and the day camp will be water safety and swim instruction. The counsellors, he said, will be given a sort of reference during the course. The training program that officially ends today will not bring an end to the instruction of the counsellors said Mr. Stockwell. The counsellors he explained, will meet at the end of each day to discuss their difficulties and successes and to plan the next day's schedule.

The instructors in the course, Mr. Stockwell and Fran Yarwood, bring with them to the course and the camp a collective 19 years of professional experience in camps across Canada, in Winnipeg, Saskatchewan and Toronto, Orillia and Woodstock, Ontario. They have tried, said Mr. Stockwell, to cull their best ideas and integrate them into the program of counsellor instruction and into the program of the camp.

Mr. Stockwell said that he believed that this year's camp would be an excellent one. The counsellors have enjoyed themselves but have worked a great deal, he said.

A stranger in Sherbrooke — 3

Lonely meal turns into meeting with potential singing star

When you're new in a town, as I am and don't know anyone, you usually end up having lunch alone.

Having lunch alone isn't so bad, actually. You have time to look around and pass judgment on the restaurant you've just discovered while waiting for the waitress to bring your food.

You can read today's Record as you sip your soup and take time to enjoy your meal. But by the time you get to dessert, you invariably feel alone.

That's how I felt while having that last cup of coffee the other day at a Sherbrooke restaurant on Wellington Street. I was wondering if Sherbrooke was one of those towns where you have to be properly introduced to even speak to a girl, when suddenly, a teenage girl walked up to my table and said: "Hi!"

"Hi", I said blinking, rub bing my eyes (was it something I had eaten) as two other girls flanked the first one, looking rather shy.

The first girl looked at my Black Idea Book in which I had been scribbling some impressions for this article and said: "I'll bet you're a writer for La Tribune."

"For the Sherbrooke Daily Record," I corrected. "Oh, how exciting."

"Yes, it's very interesting work."

There was a pause, and I enquired about what they did — they were in school, would be glad to finish in a short while — what would they do this summer? — baby sit and go to the cottage etc.

But the first one, she was going to start her singing career this summer. "No kidding?"

"Sure I'm going to sing Bang Bang on CHLT-TV in a few weeks."

"Yah?"

"And I've got my performing name all picked out."

"What you going to call yourself?"

"Cricy," she said looking at me closely as to see what effect it had on me. The other girls giggled. They were original too, in their dress. They had fashioned L'il Abner jeans, fringed with colorful cloth.

"Well, if you ever get to be a big singing star Cricy come see me, I've written a few songs you might like to try out on your fans," I said.

"I will."

And so it was I met a possible future singing star while having a lonely lunch.

Negligence is charged in death of passenger

A Sherbrooke youth was arraigned on a charge of criminal negligence yesterday after having been found responsible for the death of a passenger in his car December 2, 1965.

Denis Paradis, 19, was arraigned before Jean Marie Grogan, the justice of the peace after a coroner's jury returned its verdict following a short deliberation.

Jean Guy Plante died two days after an accident which occurred at the entrance to the Sherbrooke Shopping Centre.

The car driven by Paradis contained three friends, Andre Rouleau, Claude Denault and the victim Jean Guy Plante. They had been drinking in the Hotel La Salle in Sherbrooke.

At around 11 p.m. they left a restaurant and were according to two Quebec Provincial Police officers speeding down King Street West.

Constable Marc Bolduc, 23, told the inquest that he followed the speeding car and reached it after it had collided with a marker for the shopping centre.

Mr. Bolduc judged the speed to be 70 mph but under cross examination he lowered the speed to 55 mph. Constable Gerard Renaud, 23, told the inquest that the speed was about 60 mph. He stated that the car was moving "too fast."

Neither Rouleau nor Denault could tell what happened. Denault stated that he estimated the speed to be between 40 and 45 mph.

Paradis testified that he had his father's car and that he had been driving since August 1965. He admitted to having had a few beers. He was certain that only two people were in the front seat.

A witness to the accident, Claude Couture, 29, testified that he had seen the car pass twice. He could not give the exact speed of the car either, but said it was going faster than he was at 40 mph. Crown Prosecutor Guy Blanchette insisted that the inquest be told the speed at 69 mph.

An autopsy showed that Jean Guy Plante died as a result of a cerebral hemorrhage and a crushed skull.

Denis Paradis will appear Thursday before Judge Turmel of the criminal court. Until then he was freed on $500 bail.

tomorrow

MELBOURNE — (Special) — Funeral for Benjamin Garfield Husk, of Melbourne, will be held in Richmond tomorrow at 2:00 p.m. in Chalmers United Church with the Rev. R. A. Cameron officiating. Burial will take place at Ebenezer Cemetery in Melbourne.

Mr. Husk, a retired area businessman, died Tuesday at 85 at his home in Melbourne. Mr. Husk was the owner of G. F. Dresser and Co. Regd. in Richmond and retired from his business only last April.

He was active in both municipal and provincial politics. Mr. Husk was for three terms of office a councillor of the town of Melbourne. He was elected mayor of the town in 1945 and held that position for one term of office.

In 1945 Mr. Husk was the president of the Richmond-Wolfe English Liberal Association and the president of the provincial English Liberal Association.

Mr. Husk is survived by his daughters, Mrs. Fred Fontaine, Mrs. Fraser Converse and Mrs. Frank Wilkens, and a son, Guelph W. Husk.

His wife and a son predeceased him.

Dog school starts July 5

NORTH HATELY — Mrs. Alex Casgrain will be conducting her Summer School for Dogs again after an absence of a year. The classes will be held in North Hately at Mrs. Casgrain's residence, Robin Hill, starting Tuesday evening, July 5.

The course lasts eight weeks, with graduation at the end and diplomas for those whose dogs qualify. Owners and dogs attend class once a week and are supposed to practise daily at home.

Mrs. Casgrain feels that owning a dog entails certain responsibilities, one of which is to have the dog under control and well mannered. Obedience training is not tricks; an obedience-trained dog should be a credit to the owner, and not a neighborhood nuisance.

Further information may be had by telephoning Mrs. Casgrain at 842-2818. Proceeds from the school will be donated to the St. Francis SPCA.

Bury prepared for big day tomorrow

BURY — (Special) — With flags flying, banners waving, homes and businesses decorated in anticipation of the day, Bury, is again putting on a festive appearance in readiness for the observance of Canada's 99th birthday tomorrow.

The celebration of this day has become a tradition in this village. The national birthday was not celebrated here in any extensive way until 1927 when the Bury Athletic Association sponsored the celebration.

On this day the well-known slogan "All roads lead to Bury" is justified by the influx of visitors who come to enjoy the festivities.

Under the presidency of Rayfield Ross, preparations for the day have been made months in advance. Final plans are now complete.

The day's events begin early with a baseball match between Bury and Scotstown at 9 a.m. While this is taking place preparations will be underway for the big parade which is one of the chief attractions of the day.

The parade begins at 12 noon. Long before the appointed hour crowds are expected to gather at the strategic points to view the colorful pageant, as it winds its way through the town.

It starts at the CPR station preceded by Mayor Gordon and Mrs. Dougherty, Bury Athletic Association president Rayfield Ross and Mrs. Ross.

The Eastern Townships Highland Pipe Band will lead the parade through the town to the end of Main Street, where the diversified assortment of floats, decorated cars, and horse-drawn rigs will await the decision of the judges.

The children's class with their little floats, decorated wagons, doll carriages, bicycles and tricycles will join the main parade at the Bank, continuing as far as the Armory where they break off to join the others in the park.

A perennial feature of the parade is the float on which the cups and trophies are displayed on a revolving dais.

Following the parade will come a brief pause for lunch. A hot turkey dinner and a cold plate supper will be served in the Town Hall by the Canterbury Ladies' Guild and the Women's Institute. Refreshment booths on the grounds will provide ice-cream, soft drinks, hot-dogs and light

Fire destroys Danville barn

DANVILLE — (Staff) — A barn near here was completely destroyed by fire last night. Shortly after being called by Danville firemen rushed out to the scene at Wilfrid Gagnon's farm, with special portable relay pumps and all available equipment. The 23 firemen did their best but early this morning the barn was completely destroyed.

"We had to get water in a brook several thousand feet from the barn," said fire chief Paul Breton.

The few animals in the barn, were taken out before the fire got out of control.

Canada faces problems in next year

When a nation starts the hundredth year of its political existence the time is appropriate for a study of the accomplishments and the obstacles which have arisen over the century.

Thus on Dominion Day, 1966, Canada can look back over its balance sheet of the past 99 years and seek to determine its condition when it enters its second century one year from now.

That there are many substantial items on the assets side is beyond doubt.

The original four-province union shakily established in the eastern section of the North American continent has expanded to a nation extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the United States boundary to the Arctic Ocean and into the frozen polar wastes.

The population has increased ten-fold. It has registered amazing gains in the economic and industrial fields and has become one of the major trading nations of the world.

Its people enjoy one of the highest living standards in existence anywhere.

In almost every field of endeavor it has matched or exceeded the gains registered elsewhere.

But there are definite liabilities that cannot be overlooked in any true appraisal of the nation's position.

During the past year the political position has been particularly unstable, both on the federal and provincial levels.

This has resulted in some unsettlement of the economy, being especially marked in the fields of labor relations and racial tensions.

Here rests the greatest challenge facing the Canadian people in the year ahead.

Given strong leadership by the governments concerned and a display of goodwill by all races and classes of the population, Canada should be able to mount the hurdles in the path of progress and enter its second 100 years of existence in an even stronger position than in the closing year of the first century.

The most comforting thought about the boys' long-hair fad is, "This, too, will pass."

This lottery assured of success

The Kremlin, which has budget troubles just like any capitalistic government, is going to raffle two per cent of an entire year's output of cars in the Soviet Union.

This only amounts to 4,000 cars, but the lottery, beginning July 1, is expected to take in odds of rubles which will be used to finance intensified military training for civilians.

Though it may sound like an unsocial-ist tactic, state lotteries are routinely used to raise supplementary revenue in the U.S.S.R. Seldom has there been such a glamorous one, however.

Waiting lists for new used cars, filled up for the next two years, were closed indefinitely last February.

New plants, which will raise production from the present level of 200,000 cars a year to 800,000, will not be in operation until 1970.

Other papers say:

Compulsory car insurance required

Responsible motorists should not have to insure themselves against being injured by irresponsible motorists.

In other words, they should not have to provide for payment of medical bills incurred through some other person's fault. The other person should have the cost and liability imposed on him rather than on his victim. He should be insured before he is turned loose with a vehicle so, if he does injure someone, the injured person will be taken care of instead of having to care for himself.

This seems like a simple and honest enough expression of principle. It sounds entirely reasonable and sensible.

But it doesn't appear to be acceptable to provincial authorities concerned in this matter.

Hon. Gordon Taylor, minister of highways, said recently that the government is studying methods of insurance to compensate drivers and families for injuries or death in accidents caused by uninsured drivers. There is a suggestion that people who buy regular insurance which covers damage they might do with their vehicle should pay 12 to 15 per cent more for additional protection for themselves. This means that these people, who are the responsible drivers, would be carrying a double load, including the load spurned by people who don't carry insurance. This is most definitely unfair.

There is no use trying to make out that the uninsured drivers who pay $20 into the so-called unsatisfied judgment fund make any real contribution to public security. This is only a device to enable people who won't get insurance, or can't get it, to put their vehicles on the road.

The case has been cited recently of a woman who has just undergone her thirtieth operation for injuries she received from being struck by a vehicle in 1952. She has spent thousands of dollars of her own and undergone great suffering during the years. No individual should be placed in such a position, yet many people are in varying degrees as a result of being injured by uninsured drivers.

Clearly, the only safe and decent way out of this dangerous situation is to require that all drivers of vehicles carry adequate insurance coverage for personal and property damage they might cause while operating their vehicles. Until this requirement is instituted, there will continue to be grievous physical and financial tragedy inflicted on many innocent citizens. If action is not taken soon, an aroused public inevitably is going to demand it.

US Senators can show real speed

There are times when Congress seems to move at a frustratingly slow, horse-and-buggy pace. But when it has a mind to, it can act with orbital speed.

Consider the course of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Authorization Act through the Senate the other day. This bill authorizes expenditure of more than $5 billion for the nation's space program in the fiscal year beginning July 1. Now $5 billion is no small change, even in our times. And since the sum involves highly complex program embracing outer, and even interstellar, space adventures, you might think that it warrants some questioning and debate, even conceding that it was considered at length by the Committee on Aeronautics and Space Sciences.

Here is how much debate it got: Senator Holland made a brief plea for more research on solid fuel propellants, and Senator Tower commended the space committee for its "effective endeavor." That was it.

In about five minutes, the $5 billion space bill was passed. Normally, a roll call vote is taken on a measure involving such a sum, so that legislators may express their positions. There was no roll call this time, though, perhaps because there were fewer than a dozen Senators on the floor.

The vote was so fast that Pennsylvania's Senator Clark, who had made a stop at his office to pick up some papers on his way to the Senate, arrived too late for the vote.

He was, to put it mildly, disturbed. "It is my view," he said, taking the floor, "that our national priorities are substantially out of order, when the Senate, in the course of five or 10 minutes, passes... a bill to send a man to the moon" while the nation's problems "are primarily on earth."

It may, indeed, be a little hard to explain to ordinary people why various elements of sometimes less costly earth-bound projects can be debated, dissected and reconstructed on the Senate floor for days before coming to a roll call vote. While the space program rockets through untouched at the rate of about $1 billion a minute.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The Allies completed the evacuation of the Rhineland 36 years ago today—in 1930. Although the 1919 Versailles treaty had said the area would be occupied at least 15 years, British and Belgian troops withdrew in 1929, and France was obliged to pledge withdrawal following a new agreement with Germany on war reparations. The only solace to France, who considered German inability to use the Rhineland for military purposes a major part of her defence, was a German commitment to keep the area demilitarized. The commitment was broken within six years.

MEMORY-JOLTING FLASHBACK

The readers say:

MP answers DVA hospital criticism

Dear Sir:

On the editorial page of your paper, dated Wednesday, June 22, 1966, one of your readers, Mr. Cliff Royce, bitterly attacks me for having indicated in the House of Commons that an insufficient role is given to French Canadians in the Department of Veterans' Affairs, and at Queen Mary Hospital in Montreal, situated in the province of Quebec.

I would be grateful if you would publish my answer in the editorial page and give it as much prominence as to the narrow-minded attack of your reader.

The situation and the statistics I declared in the House of Commons have been given to me by the Honourable Minister for Veterans' Affairs in person, in a written answer that the said Minister had tabled in the House of Commons under Question No. 1260.

I had posed the said question to the Honourable Minister following numerous complaints I had received.

I would appreciate it, Sir, if you would publish as an annex to my answer, the document tabled in the House, a photocopy of which I enclose.

When I raised this question in the House, neither the Honourable Minister nor any of the Members present denied the obviousness and the significance of the official statistics.

When I raise such questions, I do it in order to reveal certain anomalies and to allow a friendly settlement of Canadian problems.

During the present session, I have often declared that Sherbrooke County gives to all of Canada a shining example of the agreement and justice which should prevail, for, in Sherbrooke, all citizens deem themselves to be brothers, and work hand in hand, in personal relationships as well as in social activities.

In Sherbrooke County, I often favour the requests of the English-speaking Canadians. Recently again, I recommended to the Chairman of the C.B.C., Mr. Alphonse Quimet, the establishment of a satellite of the English Channel from Montreal for Sherbrooke and its area.

Your reader, Mr. Royce, should rather protest to the Liberal Member of Parliament for York—Humber, Mr. Ralph B. Cowan, who constantly objects to the 300,000 French-Canadians of Toronto and its suburbs being able to hear radio or TV programs in French.

I hope that your reader will no longer mount his high horse and that he will have the courage to come to my office in order to discuss these ticklish questions.

Yours sincerely,
Maurice Allard, M.P.
Federal Member for Sherbrooke.

Question No. 1260
Question asked by Mr. M. Allard.

QUESTION:
1. How many French speaking physicians are there at the Queen Mary Hospital in Montreal to admit and examine French speaking veterans?

2. What is the total number of medical practitioners or specialists at this hospital and of this number, how many are French speaking?

3. Under what conditions is a physician or specialist allowed to admit and examine French speaking veterans?

4. Is correspondence between physicians, specialists or the administrative office and French speaking veterans conducted in French, and is it always conducted in French?

5. What is the total number of nurses, assistant nurses, graduate nurses, maintenance, office and other staff employed at this hospital, and of this number, how many are French speaking?

6. Of the total number of persons employed at the hospital, how many are bilingual?

ANSWER: TEXT

The Hon. Roger J. Teillet, Minister of Veterans Affairs.
1. Patients at Queen Mary Veterans Hospital are examined and admitted from the Out-Patient Clinic. This is staffed by part-time General Practitioners, of which there are a total of 10. Three of these are French and all ten speak French fluently. There are also two full-time Medical Administrative physicians in the Out-Patient Clinic, both of whom are French.

2. There are a total of 148 part-time medical practitioners and specialists at the hospital. Of these, 40 are French and of the remainder the vast majority can speak French although their mother tongue may be English. All 40 French doctors speak English well. In addition, there are 13 full-time specialists, of whom four are French and the remainder have varying degrees of proficiency in French.

3. All General Practitioners' credentials are reviewed by the Senior Treatment Medical Officer and the Director of Admission services who recommend appointments to the Medical Executive. The appointments are then approved by the Medical Advisory Board. Each appointee must hold a license to practise in the Province of Quebec. In addition, those holding specialists' appointments must hold a specialist's certificate from the Quebec College of Physicians and Surgeons and from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons. All but three of the consulting staff hold teaching appointments at either McGill University or Université de Montréal. Admission to the Indoor Consulting Staff usually requires Fellowship in the specialty concerned.

4. Correspondence between veterans and physicians is always through the Medical Administrative staff and in each case it is in the language employed by the veteran.

5. Total staff, 938; French speaking, 634.

6. Total number of employees, 938; Number of bilingual employees, 331.

These numbers are based on employees' statements and do not indicate the level of proficiency in either language.

Half a year's food in cellars

Grain hoarding hurries famine

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The ground with some chillies, wheat and rice needed to feed India's hungry lie buried in the corner of a million peasant huts.

Officials estimate the total of hoarded grain in the country at about 7,000,000 tons, or more than half of this year's food deficit.

Much of it is wrapped in cloth bundles by peasant women immediately after the harvest and hidden in a straw-lined hole in the wall.

The rich may meet rough justice—as in a village near Calcutta where 500 men recently surrounded a wealthy man's house and forced him to distribute 20 sacks of rice among them.

The merchants, if traced, are liable to imprisonment.

WON'T CHANGE

But the government can do nothing about the peasants' buried treasure. Their insecurity is born of long dependence of the freaks of the monsoon and only prolonged experience of plenty will persuade them to give up their hoarding habits.

Meanwhile, repeated official statements that no one will be allowed to die from hunger in India this year are aimed at avoiding a famine scare, which could cause hoarding on a more alarming scale.

Hoarding is only one of many factors clogging the distribution of grain. Though India, even in this year of drought, produced enough grain to feed its people, the food is not always available everywhere in the right quantities at the right price.

Difficulties of communication with the remotest parts of the countryside mean that the government can have a famine on its hands before it has had time to remedy the situation. By the time the monsoons have spread all over the country, in a few weeks' time, remedial measures will in any case be almost impossible in many areas.

PERMIT PACIFISM

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Defenders and apologists of France's NATO-wrecking policy maintain that, far from doing harm, President de Gaulle is the one and only Western statesman who has the vision and courage to seek change in the frozen pattern of Cold War confrontation.

Europe, we are told, has changed beyond recognition since the dark postwar years of Stalinist conquest and the peril NATO was set up to cope with no longer exists. The Soviet Union, the argument goes, seeks genuine accommodation with the West and de Gaulle leads the way in removing obstacles — such as the no longer warranted U. S. involvement in European affairs — to a sweeping detente.

People who reason this way seem to have short memories. It wasn't the U. S. but the fragmented Europe of intensely nationalistic states that plunged mankind into two world wars. And in each case it was the U. S. which had to come to the rescue of the embattled democracies of the old continent with massive military and economic aid.

Aggressive forces

While America bears no direct responsibility for the two holocausts, serious students of history maintain that U. S. isolationism certainly encouraged the aggressive forces to launch their attacks. In other words, had the United States been involved in Europe's affairs in concert with the old world's democracies, the two disastrous conflicts might have been avoided.

At any rate, there can be no doubt that it was the backbone of U. S. strength in NATO that stopped Soviet postwar expansion and enabled Western Europe to regain political and economic stability. Lacking a strategic hinterland, Western Europe can never hope to balance Soviet military power.

Stopped in its tracks by American military presence in postwar Europe, the Soviet Union had to revise its blueprint of Communist expansion. What could not be achieved quickly by force without risking nuclear destruction was to be gained gradually by deceit and patient internal subversion. The new tactic was embodied in a modernized version of Lenin's old peaceful co-existence stratagem.

In the European context the primary purpose of the co-existence line is disruption of the balance of power secured by the direct participation of the U. S. in Western Europe's defense structure. To achieve this aim Moscow set out to convince the European members of NATO that their fear of Soviet expansion was no longer valid and that American military presence in Europe has become a major obstacle to an amicable settlement of the continent's post-war problems, and especially of the German question.

Remembering Khrushchev's definition of peaceful co-existence as "a form of intense economic, political and ideological struggle," as well as the fact that only the U. S. was strong enough in the age of nuclear weapons to balance Russia's military might, Western Europe showed little interest in Kremlin lures. France certainly was among the most cautious NATO members, for when Macmillan went to Moscow in 1959 to explore detente possibilities, it was de Gaulle who, forever, suspicious of another Yalta-type deal between the Russians and the Anglo-Saxons cried "appeasement."

It was again de Gaulle who voiced dark foreboding when the late President Kennedy started shaping an exploratory modus vivendi with the Soviet Union that culminated in the French-boycotted partial test-ban treaty.

Individual targets

Looking back, one is tempted to conclude that it was this deep-seated mistrust of Britain and the U. S. that eventually steered de Gaulle into his present tantrum which gave Moscow the NATO-wrecking opening it was looking for. After the general's abortive attempt to base his nationalistic grand design for Europe on close French-German co-operation and sans Les Anglais, the Kremlin started working on de Gaulle's crystallizing vision of France's destiny to lead the divided continent out of its Cold War stalemate.

The effort, while still short of forcing American withdrawal from Europe, has paid off handsomely. It encouraged France's pullout from NATO and de Gaulle's trip to Moscow not as a spokesman of the West but as an anachronistic rebel whose inflated ego might prove to be the instrument for splintering Western Europe into helpless individual targets of peaceful co-existence conquest.

People who argue that Khrushchev's definition of peaceful co-existence as the nuclear age substitute of military aggression is no longer valid should, before carrying their argument any further, take into consideration that this concept of co-existence was reconfirmed as recently as last January by Soviet delegates to the Havana conference of Communist subversion strategists. Singling out the U. S. as the one and only remaining real obstacle of Communist expansion, the conference called for "a wave of sabotage against Yankee interests throughout the world" and urged Marxists "to sow seeds of discord everywhere and keep the oligarchs busy putting out the fires."

De Gaulle is no Marxist and probably means well, but the seeds of discord sown by his revival of Europe's nationalistic ferment surpass anything grown, packaged and marketed by the Kremlin. I predict that France, which faces political chaos the moment the general dies, will be the first to reap the bitter harvest of de Gaulle's folly.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The New Hampshire legislature has been called back for a special session—because everyone forgot a one-cent gasoline tax dating back to 1951 expires July 1. Gov. John W. King called the session after an oil industry spokesman tipped one of King's aides. New Hampshire would lose about $2,000,000 annually if the tax were not renewed.

The Bering Sea is named after the explorer Vitus Jonassen Bering, a Danish-Russian explorer who discovered Bering Strait and Alaska early in the 18th century. The Bering Sea is approximately 885,000 square miles in area and is bounded by Alaska and Siberia. At its narrowest part it is only 144 feet deep, thus preventing any sizeable water transportation between the Pacific and Arctic oceans.

School year ends at Sutton High with grades 1 — 7 prize awards

SUTTON — Sutton High School officially closed the school year with the presentation of reports and awards of prizes to Grades 1-7 at a general assembly in the school gym, on the afternoon of June 23.

Grade 2 presented a delightfully modern version of "Little Red Riding Hood," under the direction of their class teacher, Mrs. Royce.

Principal, S. N. Pergau paid tribute to those teachers of the school who will be leaving the school. Mrs. Rose Shook is retiring after many years of service. Mrs. Joyce Lawrence and Mrs. Catheline Soule will not be teaching next year in order to spend time with their families. C. J. Soule and K. B. Tannahill are moving to positions in other schools.

"The loyal and efficient service of these teachers has been very much appreciated and our best wishes go with them wherever they may be," Mr. Pergau said.

New members on the staff will be: Mrs. Lily John M.A., Mrs. Marjorie Ferguson B.Sc., Miss Lynette Enevoldsen B.A., Mrs. Marjorie Dyer and Miss Margaret Boyd.

The Principal stressed the importance and possibilities involved in the modern activist emphasis on education, and the part that teachers and parents, as well as pupils, must play to make the schools a centre of activity and not merely a passive or idle process. To the pupils he said:

"There is only one you. Your life is your own and the responsibility to make it what you want is yours. Your parents, your friends and your teacher will all help you, but it is up to you, and you alone, to see that you make yourself what you want yourself to be."

Report cards were given to all pupils of Grades 1-7 by the Principal assisted by the class teacher. Book prizes and awards were presented by each teacher to her class.

OOPS — When the sidewalk cracked and gave way under the weight of this loaded truck, it slid slowly off St. James Street, and almost gracefully toppled onto its side. No one was hurt, and the truck pulled away undamaged after it had been pushed out by a big payload and a bulldozer. The truck, which belongs to Benro Con-

The children will be taught to make puppets and how to perform with them. Anyone interested may call Mrs. Duke at 263-1741.

Mrs. Duke added that there were also some vacancies for the center's summer art courses for children between 9 and 12 years old, start on July 12.

News flashes from around the world

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. Space agency plans today to hurl an experiment-packed satellite into orbit around the moon to warn what precautions must be taken by astronauts driving the lunar pathway.

The satellite, called Lunar Explorer, is scheduled for firing at 11:08 a.m. EDT as the payload of a Delta rocket.

Lunar Explorer will try to become the first satellite in history to reach a lunar target without any correction manoeuvre along its three-day, 246,000-mile-long course toward an orbit around the moon.

WELLAND (CP) — St. Lawrence Seaway officials said Wednesday night the Main Street lift bridge on the Welland Canal, struck by the 633-foot grain carrier Lemoyne Wednesday afternoon, will be closed at least until noon Friday. Seaway navigation is not affected.

A. L. Luce, western region superintendent for the seaway, said the main load-bearing girder of the bridge tower is buckled to such an extent it must be replaced. The operation will take at least until Friday.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate Wednesday gave third reading to acts amending the Customs Tariff Act, the Student Loans Act, and the Excise Tax Act.

Senator Charles McElman (L-New Brunswick), in his maiden speech in the Senate, introduced a bill which gives an additional $50,000,000 to the Atlantic Development Board.

The bill later received second reading.

TORONTO (CP) — A national meeting of customs and excise officers representing 8,000 men has been called for the weekend to organize a protest against salary freezing under the new civil service job reclassification program.

Robert Alton, president of the Customs and Excise Officers' Association's Toronto branch, said several customs officers have received letters from the bureau of classification telling them they have been "red-circled" at their current salaries.

At the present rate of salary increases, it will take more than 10 years before the gap is closed to the new category scale.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Ike and Mamie Eisenhower, looking back over 50 years of married life, have decided "these last years" are the happiest.

For former president Dwight D. Eisenhower it's because he has more time for such things as exploring supermarkets or painting "anything that intrigues me."

For his wife, the former Mamie Geneva Doud, it's because she has a home for her own for the first time since she married a young army lieutenant in the parlor of her mother's red brick house in Denver July 1, 1916.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Automobile Association estimates a record-breaking 100,000,000 persons will take motor vacations this summer, travelling 155,000,000 miles in the United States and spending $25,000,000,000.

Many will travel on the "national system of interstate and defence highways," which now has 21,500 miles of de luxe roads and plans to build a total of 41,000 miles.

Schoolhouse comes back to life

CAPE CROKER, Ont. (CP)—An abandoned schoolhouse on this Bruce Peninsula Chippewa Indian reserve 30 miles north of Owen Sound has come back to life and now is a thriving means of livelihood for a group of Indian craftsmen.

A year ago four reserve women who had studied silk screening at a training course sponsored by the department of Indian affairs, moved into the barren schoolhouse and started making notepaper decorated with Indian motifs.

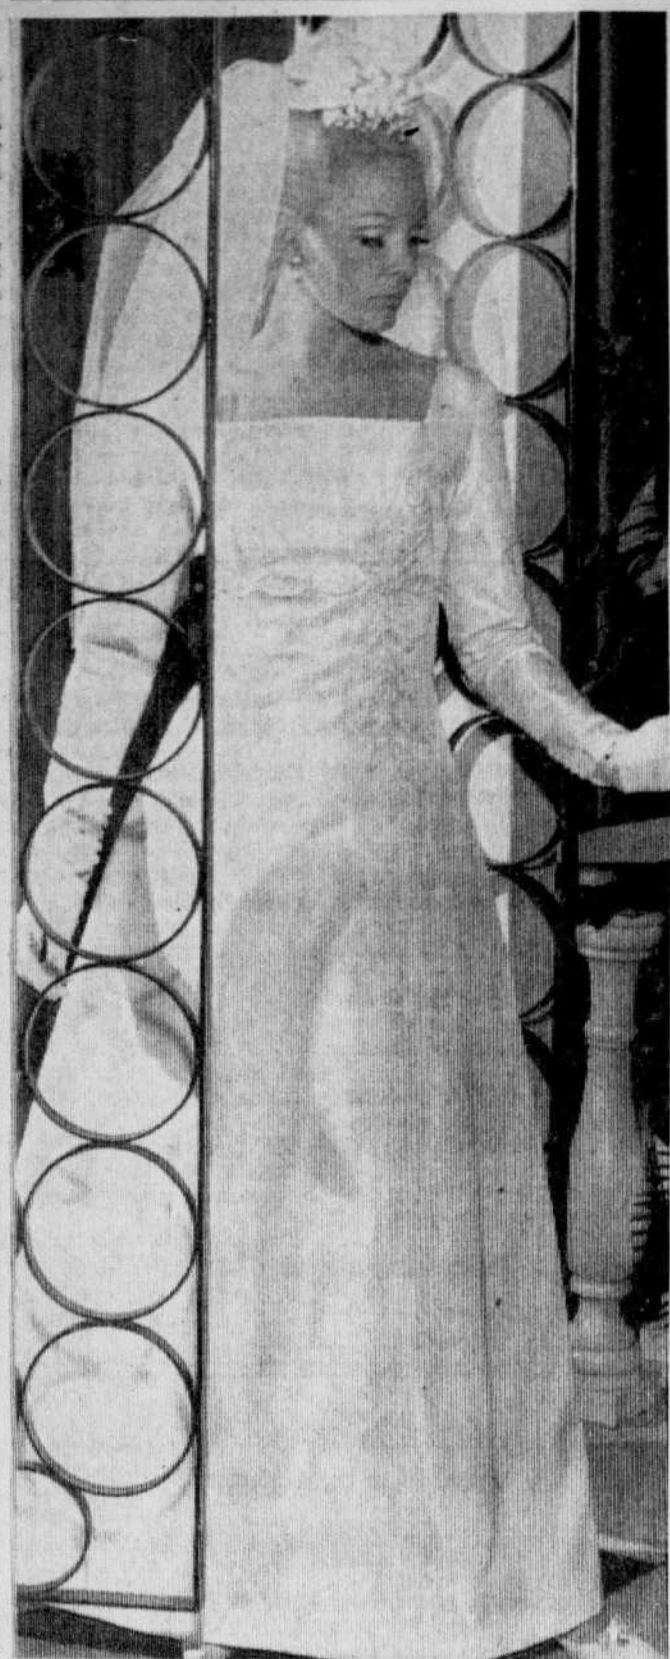

Now seven Indians work there, putting in an average of 30 hours a week each. Their products are their sole means of livelihood.

Production has doubled with the increase in workers and the craftsmen are learning new techniques and using new materials.

Merle Moorhouse of Hamilton, a graduate of the Ontario College of Art, is spending nine weeks with the Indians to improve their skills. The group is running a test lot of calendars and learning to print on cloth. They are working on a variety of distinctly Indian tablecloths, placemats and notepaper that will be sold in craft shops across Canada.

The other is a handy make-ahead dessert—a big, generous, beautiful that would be wonderful for a church social or a patio barbecue party.

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Former president Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower will observe their golden wedding anniversary July 1 and a piece of white cake—with the frosting still intact—from their wedding reception in Denver is carefully preserved in the Eisenhower Library here.

There's also a box containing rice thrown on the young couple, several wedding gifts and pieces of china that were part of Mamie Doud's hope chest.

Sir John A. Macdonald's home

Earncliffe, Victorian greystone mansion now residence of British high commissioners

OTTAWA (CP)—Sir John A. Macdonald probably spent some of the happiest times of his life at Earncliffe, a Victorian greystone mansion on the south bank of the Ottawa River here.

He had given the historic dwelling its name in 1871 when Thomas Reynolds, the owner then, was thinking of calling it Eaglescliffe. Sir John suggested instead "earn," the old English word for eagle.

He bought the house in 1883 for $10,040 and lived there until his death in the upstairs front bedroom June 6, 1891, when reporters camped on the wide tree-shaded lawns and temporary telegraph lines were installed for them.

Sir John liked to attend the children's parties given at Earncliffe for his invalid daughter, Mary, and to sit with her on a garden sundeck which still remains, overlooking the river.

In his time, $7,000 worth of alterations were done to the house, including the addition of a study with a handy escape door to the garden. After his death, his widow received a title from Queen Victoria and chose to be called Baroness Macdonald of Earncliffe.

Rather suffer than switch?—try these hair care tips

Sunlit, shining hair is an important part of summer beauty but it comes with its own set of maintenance problems.

There's something exhilarating about those ads showing honey-tanned girls with wet, sun-streaked hair emerging from swimming pools, or shimmering chestnut tresses streaming from an open convertible.

But the minute the average woman's hair gets wet it goes limp as rags, dull as dishwater and unmanageable as steel wool. And as for riding hatless in a convertible, well, it would take a week to comb out all the snarls.

Sunworthy hair, like most things, takes time and care but the result more than justifies the extra effort.

The best thing to do with long hair in summer is, regrettably, to cut it off. Only a blunt-cut, very straight style can survive the rigors of hot humid weather, gusty breezes and dips in lake or pool water.

A curly style requires daily pinups and who needs a hot mane of hair around her neck in 90 degree weather?

SUFFER But if you've spent all winter growing your locks to just the right length and would rather suffer than switch, try these tips.

First, get a good body perm. This is one that gives just body, no curls. Humidity does disastrous things to curly-curly hair.

Always use a conditioner after washing and a good body-giving setting gel at pin-up time.

For evening wear, or just to get it off your neck, catch your hair up under a hairpiece or wear it in a French twist. Avoid pony tails as they cause hair to break around the hairline.

If dryness is your hair problem in the winter, don't count on summer sun to reform it. You'll need double the pampering if you want to avoid that thatched straw appearance.

Begin by budgeting plenty of pennies for a really good conditioner, and lavish it on after washing your hair and before and after sunning.

Avoid too frequent washings, use a cream shampoo and only warm water, and brush daily. 100 strokes, from roots to tips.

As if this isn't enough gentle loving care, you must also be sure to cover hair when swimming and sunning, avoid too hot hair dryers and steer clear of acid rinses like lemon juice.

If all this sounds like too much work, you could always get a wig.

A wonderful quickie pick-up for all types of hair is stroking a conditioner over hair and wrapping your head, turban-style, in a towel wrung out in hot water. Leave the towel in place for seven minutes. This treatment should replace the oils removed by sunshine and water.

Sun-bleached hair is attractive if you can get it, but it often has attendant disadvantages, like dryness. If you'd like the effect without the problems, why not bleach a few strands yourself? Other alternatives are color sprays, a new shampoo and a setting gel that adds colored highlights or the latest gimmick in the false hair department, little individual curls and streaks that you can pin in where you like.

FLAT CLIPS If you're spending the day lazing on the beach, don't feel you need a hairdo as elaborate as Madame Pompadour's. It's play in the government of Canada, and for this reason she was sad about her retirement.

When the Senate Retirement Act came into force, Mme. Jodoin, and 26 other senators over 75, had to choose between retirement and serving out their life appointments.

All future senators will be required to retire at 75.

Although it was a difficult decision, Mme. Jodoin made it in 24 hours.

She believes the Senate has an important steady role to play in the government of Canada, and for this reason she was sad about her retirement.

MR. AND MRS. EDGAR E. DUDLEY (Photo by Studio Eclair)

Eileen Elizabeth Smith weds Edgar Eugene Dudley

KNOWLTON — The marriage of Eileen Elizabeth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertie W. Smith, of Knowlton, to Mr. Edgar Eugene Dudley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Dudley, of Sutton Junction, took place Saturday, June 4 at 11 a.m. at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Knowlton, Rev. T. E. Nurse officiating. Mrs. Wilson Frizzle played the wedding music and Mrs. Bill Badger sang O Perfect Love during the signing of the register. Spring flowers were used in decorating the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length taffeta gown fashioned with guipure-type lace and a trimmed bow at the back. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a beaded rosette and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Linda Wright and Miss Debbie Rodd were in dresses of blue nylon organza over taffeta, accented with nylon lace bodices. They wore matching headresses and white accessories and carried bouquets of lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Cindy Wright, as flower girl, wore a white lace dress with blue trim and carried a basket of lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. Wayne Dudley was best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Eugene Jones and Mr. Lawrence Page.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, chose a blue suit with matching hat and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Dudley, mother of the groom, wore a blue flowered dress of acetate sheer over taffeta with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Bert Smith, Sr., grandmother of the bride, was in blue terylene dress with matching jacket, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony the reception was held at Knowlton, in the Rebekah Hall, which was decorated with spring flowers, the head table being centered with a three-tier wedding cake made by Mrs. Irene Williams. Gold candles and gold-embroidered napkins completed the table arrangements.

Music was supplied by an orchestra under the direction of Bill Donaldson.

Later, the couple left for a honeymoon in central United States, the bride travelling in a two-piece blue suit, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Dudley will take up residence in Cowansville.

Evening jackets made of hand-painted tie silk and designed by d'avenza of Rome—"absolutely beautiful."

James Bond trenchcoats with "absolutely everything"—brass rings, epaulettes, wide belt, generous turn-up collar and ample wrap.

Tuxedos with a neat, narrow banding of satin rather than the wide one of old. With a slightly suppressed waistline, they look more like a good, dark suit than a uniform.

A suit entirely hand-made with tiny, tiny stitches.

"It was explained to me that one of the marks of a very fine suit is the single-constructing piece of canvas used to give just the right amount of body to the jacket."

"Another sign is an inside bellows pocket—one that sticks out instead of in when you stuff it with various bits and pieces."

In accessories, Miss Runcie saw beautiful nylon crepe executive-length socks ("very slimming to the ankles"), hand-painted silk handkerchiefs in every color of the rainbow, striped shirts in all colors.

And she found the big item in men's apparel this year—a sporty jacket, dressy enough for travelling or Sunday afternoon wear, made of beige, forest green or navy cavalry twill with smart welt-seam detailing and inset belt on the back.

"Definitely a status symbol in men's fashion circles."

OLD SOFAS BETTER Earncliffe went to the British government that year for $90,000 and has been the residence of that country's high commissioners ever since.

Cause of insolvency elusive in seven firms' bankruptcies

MONTREAL (CP) — R. V. Barnett, a trustee appointed to investigate the affairs of seven insolvent companies, told creditors Tuesday he was unable to fix the causes of insolvency "with any accuracy."

He said this at a meeting at which creditors considered proposals by the seven companies to avoid going into bankruptcy.

All seven businesses are controlled by Montreal businessman Moshe Cohen.

Outside creditors hold debts of $2,636,652 with the firms. The remainder of the debt consists of amounts owed between the firms.

Present at the meeting was Jay Roumanek, Crown prosecutor in charge of investigating bankruptcies in the Montreal area.

The seven firms are World Plywood and Veneer Ltd., Satinwood Finishes Inc., Plywood Distributors Inc., Design and Furniture Craft Inc., Sanpex Inc., Quebec Kitchen Inc. and Decor Furniture Inc.

Largest creditor appeared to be the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce which is owed $496,047.58.

Mr. Barnett said in his report Mr. Cohen had been unable "properly to account for the deficiency of assets to meet his liabilities."

The proposal of the companies was to repay in full all debts transferred, effective July 1, 1969.

A majority of creditors voted to accept the proposal but one major creditor refused to accept it.

An unidentified New Brunswick firm which is owed $152,000 by Plywood Distributors Inc. refused, pinpointing out that this firm still is operating in the black and that he therefore could expect to get all of his money back and would have nothing to gain from accepting the proposal even if the firms were sent into bankruptcy.

The vote then was adjourned for a week.

Fatal shooting

ST. BENJAMIN, Que. (CP) — Andre Ratte, 17, of Ste. Germain, Que., was killed early Wednesday when he was shot in the chest by a rifle.

Police said the youth was shot when he tried to enter a home against the owner's will.

Provincial police are holding Herve Turcotte and Jean-Baptiste Turcotte, 53, as material witnesses pending a coroner's inquest.

St. Benjamin is 60 miles southeast of Quebec City.

Professionals lift picket lines at computer centre

QUEBEC (CP) — Picketing of the provincial government multiplying department by several hundred striking government employees was suspended after seven hours Wednesday.

The picket line, which had blocked entry to 300 employees of the department since they reported for work in the morning, was lifted by order of the strikers and government negotiators.

The 1,600 professional employees have been on strike since May 9 because of what they described as government delays in contract negotiations.

They are seeking an annual increase of $2,000 to bring them up to par with their fellow workers in Montreal.

reserved a lower court decision and acquitted two women of perjury, for which they had been sentenced to six months in jail after being held without bail for three months.

Three justices ruled the Crown had not proved, beyond reasonable doubt, that the appellants had lied during a preliminary inquiry into a murder charge.

The women are Ghislaine Lesard, 19, a barmaid, and Jeanine Beauchesne, 28.

The perjury charges followed the women's testimony at the preliminary hearing of Robert Collin, one of three men charged in the slaying of Aime (Rocky) Brunet in September, 1964.

Strike favored

QUEBEC (CP) — More than 90 per cent of the 32,500 members of the 125 affiliated unions representing hospital employees in Quebec voted Wednesday night in favor of a strike to back up contract demands.

The hospital employees, members of the National Federation of Services (CNTU), have been trying for more than two years to sign their first province-wide collective working agreement with their employers.

The earliest date for a strike therefore would be July 9, allowing the eight days which a union must by law give to the provincial government of its intention to strike.

Did not think

QUEBEC (CP) — Eric Kierans, former revenue and health minister, said Wednesday the Liberals lost the June 5 provincial election "because we were too overconfident."

In his first post-mortem on the election, Mr. Kierans said that the government made the mistake of assuming that the people were familiar with developments which, while old hat for the administration, were still new for the electorate.

Technical career booklet is out

A new booklet directed to high school students demonstrates that university education, while important, is not the only kind of higher education worth considering.

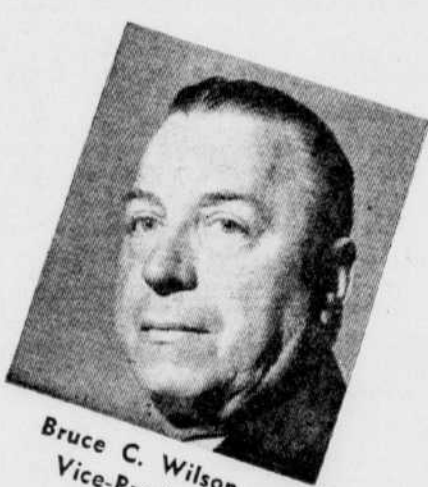

The booklet, "Technical Education May Be For You" was released today by Mr. George A. St-Pierre, Sun Life's Branch Manager in Sherbrooke. The pamphlet is the latest in the series "Values in Education," published by the Sun Life as a public service.

The text of the pamphlet was approved by the Technical and Vocational Training Branch, Government of Canada. Sun Life has also produced, in co-operation with the Department of Labour, a 26-minute color film on the same subject, "Wayne and Shuster Look at Technical Training in Canada." The film is available from any regional office of the National Film Board in Canada. Pamphlets in the "Values in Education" series are free of charge and available from Sun Life offices across Canada.

Sometimes Canadians take freedom for granted... probably Dominion Day, the birthday of our country, is a good time as any to reflect that our freedom was hard bought. It is our duty, as citizens of a free land, to guard our democratic way of life.

Hungry Alouettes return to greet thirsty ladies

Ladies entering the Sherbrooke Municipal Stadium may have their thirst quenched quickly this evening, but it's going to take quite a bit to satisfy the hunger of the Sherbrooke Alouettes.

The Als, after suffering two straight defeats on road trips this week, are back tonight with the Granby Cardinals as their congenial guests.

The promotion committee of the Alouettes has announced this evening to be 'Ladies Night' at the stadium, and, as mentioned yesterday, the weaker sex will be treated to free soft drinks in gratitude for their patronage.

Sherbrooke plays Granby Cardinals in one of four games scheduled in the Provincial Baseball League, and their stomachs, or is it pocketbooks, are growling already.

Only one game out of first place, the Als seek the upper echelons of the Provincial League, and a victory tonight will certainly not endanger their ascent.

And one method of climbing this status column tonight will be by putting one of their best pitchers on the mound, presumably against one of Granby's best.

Adrian Zabala, Jr., already having one game to his credit, is the player most likely to get the chance to meet John Elias as his mound opponent.

Zabala Jr. won his initial appearance in the Provincial League last Saturday, when the Alouettes defeated Drummondville Royals.

The Alouettes are hungry and their intentions are to make the Provincial League title their main course, with the playoff championship the dessert.

Miss Claire Lindell posts 81 gross for CLGU Field Day honors at SCC

Miss Claire Lindell, of the Asbestos Golf and Country Club, won the gross honors at the Sherbrooke Country Club over 85 ladies playing in the first tournament of the Canadian Ladies Golf Union, Eastern Townships section, yesterday.

Miss Lindell won the first gross of her class, A, by posting a 43 on the first nine, and coming back to par the final round at 38. Her gross 81 was seven over the ladies' par of 74.

Mrs. R. Newman, of Knowlton, placed second in this same class with an 86 gross, one stroke better than Mrs. R. Eaves, of Drummondville. Mrs. Sanford Carter, of the SCC, had 90.

Mrs. K. King, president of the E. T. Branch of the CLGU, stated that 85 ladies took to the fairways for this annual tournament, representing nine clubs. This is an increase of 10 over last year's first such event.

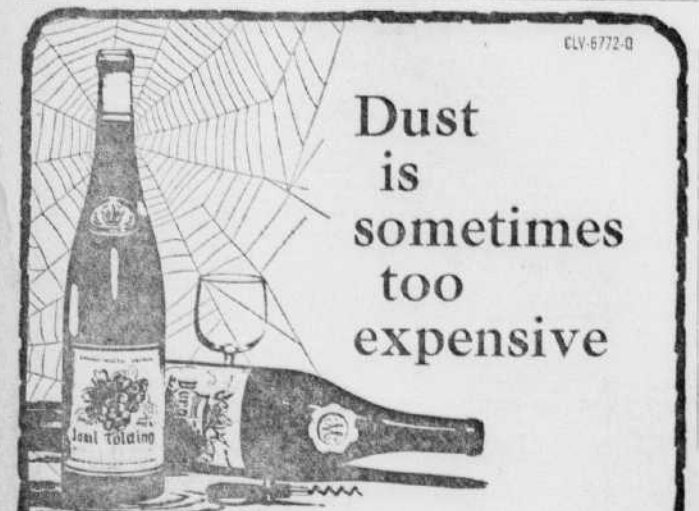

In the net section of Class A, Mrs. George Sylvestre, wife of the Lennoxville Golf and Country Club president, posted a 91 - 20 - 71 to lead, followed by Mrs. George Beaulieu, of the SCC, who finished with a gross 89. Her 17 handicap gave her second net at 72.

Mrs. John McDonough, Sherbrooke, won gross honors in Class B with a 98, followed by Mrs. Moira McKenna, SCC, with 103. Mrs. G. Blouin, Lennoxville, posted a 78 net for Class B, and took first over Mrs. R. Blackmore, SCC, and Mrs. C. Bordet, Lenn, who both finished with 82.

In Class C, Mrs. Fernand Delisle's 114 gross was low enough to take prime position over Miss M. Larose of Knowlton, four strokes more with 118.

Mrs. L. Tanguay and Mrs. F. Roch, both of Sherbrooke, had 81 and 87 nets in Class C.

The initial draw saw 58 ladies receive starting times, but a rearrangement had to be made, as late mails brought in the entries from Dufferin and Cowansville clubs. Yesterday's short rain period did not put a damper on the CLGU activities.

Dust is sometimes too expensive

The fine coating of dust found on cellar-aged vintage wine bottles often is proof of the excellence of the wine inside.

However, not everyone can afford the luxury of a vintage wine every day. Even a wine connoisseur saves his best bottles of vintage wine for very special occasions.

Therefore, for those who want to enjoy wine every day, Paarl imports delightful yet inexpensive wines in bottles from the sunny vineyards of South Africa.

For example: Paarl Cabernet, a light ruby-red wine pressed from the same aristocratic grapes that produce the world's finest Bordeaux. And Paarl Late Vintage, a semi-dry "Spätlese" white wine reminiscent of the famous wines of the Rhine.

Next time try these two excellent, modestly-priced wines.

Orioles, Tigers and Red Sox post wins in Little League, two games on tap this evening

Three games were played in the Sher-Lenn Little League last night. In Lennoxville, Orioles rapped Yankees 8-2, while at the Parade Grounds Tigers won a well played game against Senators, winning 5-1, and Red Sox romped to an easy 17-5 win over the White Sox.

Tonight, Indians take on Senators and Yankees meet the White Sox, both games at the Parade Grounds.

Yankees were ahead 2-1 at the end of the first two innings in their game with Orioles.

In the third, the Orioles went ahead on three runs and added four more in the fifth to make it 8-2 in their favour and the game ended that way as the Yankees went scoreless after the second inning.

Tigers had to go all out in their game with Senators to take a 5-1 win. Senators were playing without a couple of their regulars and this may have been the difference.

The teams were tied 1-1 at the end of two. Tigers went ahead 4-1 after three and added their final tally in the top of the fifth. Denis Dussault in his win had nine strikeouts.

Red Sox with 11 runs in the first just coasted the rest of the way in their game with the White Sox and although the score went one way it was interesting.

Young Bruce Coley, of White Sox was the star of the game with two big home runs, one with a man aboard. Daniel Beauchemin pitching for the White Sox also hit a homer.

Richard Nicol clouted one for the Red Sox.

Manuel Santa favored to become new Wimbledon champion as mates claim he is one of the best LONDON (CP)—The two defeated semi-finalists today picked Manuel Santa, Spanish tennis artist, to beat American Dennis Ralston in Friday's Wimbledon final.

Cliff Drysdale, South African star defeated by Ralston Wednesday, said: "Santa is the finest player in the world today, in my opinion."

Ralston overcame Drysdale 6-8, 8-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3. Santana beat Owen Davidson of Australia 6-2, 4-6, 9-7, 3-6, 7-5 in the other semi-final Wednesday. Each semi-final lasted for nearly three hours.

Davidson, an unseeded player, said: "I think Santa will win this title. He has no weakness for an opponent to concentrate on."

Friday's final will be the first since 1955 in which no Australian has participated. The top three seeds this year were all Australians — defending champion Roy Emerson, Tony Roche and Fred Stolle, in order.

LEVEL AFTER FOUR

Davidson, 22, was level at two sets all. But Santana, 28, gained an early service break in the decider, helped by a lucky netcord, and raced on to lead 5-1 in games and 30-love on Davidson's delivery in the seventh game.

Then Davidson staged one of the greatest last-set rallies ever seen on the centre court. He pulled up to 4-5. Santa, serving, led 40-love to hold three match points.

Three great service returns averted the crisis and the Australian stood at deuce. Even Santana joined in the thunderous applause.

Don Drysdale, a $500,000 hold-out in the spring, has become a 10 and pitcher.

The Los Angeles right-hander won his first game since May 30 and pulled his season's record to 5-10 Wednesday night when the Dodgers beat Cincinnati Reds 9-5.

He also hit a pair of singles in an eight-run, third-inning outburst.

Drysdale lasted until the seventh inning, giving up three runs on nine hits before finally being relieved by Phil Regan. Tony Perez' two-run homer in the eighth closed the gap but Regan hung on to save it.

The victory ended a six-game losing streak for Drysdale, who finished with 23 victories last year.

Third-place Dodgers and second-place Pittsburgh Pirates picked up ground on National League-leading San Francisco Giants. The Pirates pushed across a run in the last of the ninth for a 6-5 victory over Houston Astros while Juan Marichal lost his third game as St. Louis Cardinals nipped the Giants 2-1.

In other games, Philadelphia Phillies dropped New York Mets 5-2 and Chicago Cubs rallied for seven runs in the ninth inning and a 9-5 victory over Atlanta Braves.

Four clubs in Senior League Len O'Donnell re-elected again Drummondville are now 'Eagles'

THEY MEET THE PRESIDENT — The heads of the teams in the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League meet President Len O'Donnell yesterday after the annual meeting. They are from left to right, Roland Bolduc and Roland Leblanc of Drummondville Eagles, Paul-Emile Michel, Victoriaville Tigres, President Len O'Donnell, Fernand Fredette, St. Hyacinthe Gauls, and Raymond Bergeron, Sherbrooke Beavers.

The Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League held their annual meeting yesterday and the same four clubs signified their intentions of returning for the 1966-67 season.

The league, with members of the press and radio, were guests of Ivan Dugre at his summer home at Johnsville. All clubs were represented and several changes in the executive were made.

Len O'Donnell was re-elected for his 14th term as president while two new vice-presidents were named to replace Lucien Lefebvre of St. Hyacinthe, who had tendered his resignation, Ivan Dugre of Sherbrooke, who asked to have his name withdrawn.

Jean-Maurice Bilodeau was re-elected following the voting. Claude Guertin of St. Hyacinthe and Bernard Dionne of Drummondville were the other vice-presidents named. Henry Crocheteire, president of the QAHA, acted as chairman of the elections.

Georges Haggarty of Drummondville was named honorary president while Gaston Fausse of Granby, Frank Gueon of Drummondville, Judge Redmond Hayes of Sherbrooke, Leo Theroux of St. Hyacinthe and Pierre Roux of Victoriaville were elected as honorary vice-presidents of the circuit.

Mr. Crocheteire gave a brief report on the annual meeting of the QAHA and outlined points pertaining to the league. Several questions were asked regarding certain matters and Mr. Crocheteire gave a resume on them.

The new representatives of Drummondville stated they would be back as they had received a very good reception from the City Hall aldermen. The City owns the rink in Drummondville and the aldermen claimed they would give their support to have senior hockey back in Drummondville. Drummondville, which has been undergoing a completely new setup, came through with their answer at the meeting yesterday stating they were going to operate next season. There had been a question of dropping out for Junior "A" hockey but following the reception they received at the City Hall and the request from the mayor and aldermen, they will continue to operate.

Roland Leclerc will be the new president replacing Gaston Ginguere, who will be a director. This was brought about owing to Mr. Ginguere's new business. Roland Bolduc is acting as general-manager of the club for the time-being.

The league deposit, or bond, was raised from $2,000 to $3,000 for all clubs in the league and those wishing to enter. This was discussed and the teams figured it would be a stronger incentive for the clubs to think twice before dropping out. All clubs were in favor.

The next league meeting was slated to take place in Drummondville next Thursday, July 7, at the Civic Centre commencing at 8:00 p.m.

Following the meeting, the league and members of the press, radio and TV were guests of Mr. Dugre at a steak dinner.

Mickey Mantle belts two homers as Yanks edge Red Sox, Orioles increase lead as Tigers lose Mickey Mantle's goal is 500 homers. There's some doubt, however, whether he can reach it this season.

There also is some doubt whether he wants to.

Mantle hit two homers for the second consecutive night Wednesday, leading New York Yankees to 6-5 victory over Boston Red Sox. They brought his home run total to 484.

"I'm counting the home runs," Mantle said. "But I may stop one short of 500. It will give me an excuse to come back next year."

Mantle considered retirement after the 1965 season. But the Yankees talked him into undergoing a shoulder operation and giving it at least one more try before finishing a major league career that now spans 16 years.

FEELS STRONGER NOW

He has been bogged down around the .250 mark most of the season, but he is feeling strong now. He had seven hits, including the four homers, in his last 12 trips to the plate.

Mantle hit a three-run homer in the first inning Wednesday and a solo blast in the third, giving him homers in three straight at-bats. But, in the fourth inning, with a chance to tie the record for most consecutive homers, Mantle settled for a single.

The homers brought his total for the season to 11.

Meanwhile, Baltimore Orioles increased their American League lead to 3 games by downing Kansas City Athletics 5-2. Second-place Detroit Tigers bowed 6-2 to California Angels. Cleveland Indians whipped Minnesota Twins 4-1 and Chicago White Sox blanked Washington Senators 5-0.

Frank Robinson, Jim Bunning and Schoolboy Rowe named to starting American League All-Star outfield

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson of Baltimore Orioles, Jim Bunning and Schoolboy Rowe in the select circle of men picked for both leagues' All-Star teams Wednesday when he was named to the American League starting outfield.

The American League players, managers and coaches voted three right fielders into the starting lineup with their ballots for Robinson, Minnesota's Tony Oliva and Detroit's Al Kaline.

Hank Aaron, who had hit 24 home runs for Atlanta Braves in games through Tuesday, was the top National League vote-getter with 255. Also picked were Willie Mays of San Francisco Giants, 208 votes, and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh Pirates, 134.

It was the 13th time Mays has made the team and the 12th each for Kaline and Aaron.

NEW SYSTEM

For the first time, the voters did not have to decide by positions. Previously, a right fielder, a centre fielder and a left fielder had to be selected. Players were not permitted to pick their own teammates.

The starting infielders for the July 12 All-Star game at St. Louis were named Tuesday.

The catchers will be announced Sunday and the pitchers and the remainder of the 25-man squads later next week.

Walter Alston of Los Angeles Dodgers will manage the Nationals and Sam Mele of Minnesota Twins will boss the Americans.

Although Oliva and Kaline normally play right field, each has appeared in centre several times this year. Under the rules the starting players must play three innings, unless injured.

their way to 72 countries of this is considered just one of

Founded in 1939 by the late

Jean-Paul Laroche and Fer-and vice-president, and a third founder, Alcide Chabot, the quarter century history of this firm has been one of flaw-

Originated as a cast iron foundry producing sewer pipes and fittings for a clientele comprised mostly of plumbing suppliers, the factory's output surged in 1941 when they started manufacturing component parts for armaments used in the Second World War. Although small in overall layout, this little foundry with its staff of 10 gained undaunted respect for its war effort, and in 1945, at the end of the war incorporated as a company.

Now, nineteen years later, the company has turned the quarter century mark, observing the occasion with a mammoth enlarging program that will facilitate more versatile production, which in turn will again increase the firm's potential sales outlook.
Today the foundry's payroll
