World News In Brief

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Sir Oliver Franks, British Ambassador to the United States, said last night the Marshall Plan is a gesture of "magnanimity and generosity" which has helped Britain "see its way out of the woods."

Trieste, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Unconfirmed reports have been received here that Yugoslavia has shifted her military strength from the Trieste border positions to defence positions deep inside Yugoslavia. These reports, mostly by travellers from Yugoslavia, say seasoned Yugoslav troops which have faced British and American forces across the Trieste Free Territory borders started to move back into Yugoslavia early in October.

Rome, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Pope Pius implored the European Federalists Union today to press for international understanding because "the danger is great and there is no time to be lost."

The Pontiff received at Castel Gandolfo, his summer palace, about 300 of the delegates to the second Congress of the Union, which would open sessions in Rome last night.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—(CP)—The death toll of a tragic street car crash rose to seven last night when the bus driver, Frank Rowe of Hamilton, died in hospital. Six Hamilton persons killed Saturday in the accident were buried in Hamilton yesterday.

Colombo, Ceylon, Nov. 11.—(Reuters)—A Commonwealth citizenship bill will be introduced shortly to meet the situation that will arise regarding the recognition of Ceylon citizens as citizens of the Commonwealth. It was learned yesterday, Ceylonese citizenship will not deny a person the right to British nationality, it was understood.

Prague, Nov. 11.—(Reuters)—The Czechoslovak government may divert 34,000 civil servants into industry, a trade union council report announced yesterday. The report said the government would probably adopt a recommendation submitted to it to send government workers into industry.

Tokyo, Nov. 11.—(AP)—One-fifth of Japan's coal mines were shut down today as miners in 200 local unions went on a 24-hour strike for higher wages and retirement pay.

Brussels, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Foreign Ministry said last night a trade agreement has been signed between Belgium and Yugoslavia. Details were withheld.

Moscow, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A snow storm today again forced postponement of American ambassador Walter Bedell Smith's flight to Berlin. He was referring to recent Dominion-Provincial government statements.

British And U.S. Planes Fly Supply Route To Berlin Despite Russian Threats

P.C.'s Choose Stanfield In Nova Scotia

Reds Say They Will Force Down Planes Straying From Air Corridors But Allies Intend to Continue Air Lift.

By WES GALLAGHER

Berlin, Nov. 11.—(AP)—British and United States planes flew the supply route to Berlin today in the face of a Russian threat to force down planes straying from the 20-mile wide air corridors to the former German capital.

The American answer to the Russians threat, made last night, was a terse promise from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, that "we will keep them flying."

Both British and American authorities said publicly the Russians would be held responsible for any action they take.

The Russians, citing a long list of alleged violation of their territory, also said they would force down "all aircraft without identification marks of nationality" flying over the Soviet zone, including the three air corridors.

The second threat presumably refers to non-military planes, which do not carry nationality markers. The Russians have complained of commercial flights in the Berlin air corridors.

Some official sources tended to discount the Soviet note as another move in the "war of nerves."

Although both Britain and the United States have said in the past they would use fighter escorts if necessary to keep the air lift going, American pilots said they had standing orders to obey any Soviet fighter plane seeking to force them to land.

Another group of allied officials took a more serious view of the Russian threat. They pointed out previous threats of action against the air lift had been threatened in the Soviet press but the Russians had not heretofore committed themselves in official notes.

The new Soviet move was disclosed when Brig.-Gen. C. K. Gailey, Clay's chief of staff, replied to a letter from Gen. G. S. Lukjant-Schenko, Russian chief of staff.

Gailey noted the Soviet threat to force planes "to land on the nearest airfield in the Soviet zone" and said:

"You are informed that full and complete responsibility will rest on the shoulders of Soviet authorities should any injury be sustained by any of our personnel or any damage occur to our planes as a result of Soviet action taken in this connection."

The three air corridors between Berlin and western Germany were established by four-power agreement. They are approximately 20 miles wide each. In addition there is an international air band around Berlin 20 miles wide.

The Russians have tried to alter the corridor agreement and recently claimed no such agreements existed. The western powers have rebuffed the Soviet moves.

A senior American air officer who declined to be quoted by name said:

"If this is a Russian bluff—and it looks like one—we called it. Now it remains to be seen how far they intend to go."

The American section of the air lift was sharply curtailed this morning as fog shut down the Frankfurt and Wiesbaden landing bases. Operations officers at Tempelhof airfield said they hoped plans would begin landing again after noon.

The R.A.F.'s Gatow airfield was busy landing planes from Fassberg and Wiesdorf in the British zone. Allied planes also fly from Fassberg to Gatow.

British authorities made no formal answer to the Russians but a spokesman said R.A.F. pilots remained within the air corridor. The Soviet-controlled ADN news agency said the same notification went to the French. The French fly only an occasional plane, however, and do not participate in the lift.

The Soviet note came as winter weather approached and made flying within the narrow corridor more difficult.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—(CP)—The Canadian Women's Press Club yesterday announced conditions for its 1948-49 award of a gold medal and $100.

The award is offered for the best handling by a woman writer of a news event or public issue of significance in the daily or weekly press, in popular magazine or periodical, on the radio or in advertising copy.

U.S. Will Send Arms To Chinese

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The first major shipment of American arms and ammunition to China since the Communist sweep in Manchuria was said today to be nearly ready for departure.

The report lacked details and official confirmation, but it came from both Chinese and American sources after the State Department disclosed that more than $112,000,000 has been withdrawn by China from the $125,000,000 Congress voted this year for military assistance.

Most of the money has been paid over to the army for arms, ammunition, vehicles and radios which the Nanking government has said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces must have to stem the Communist advance in North China. Shipments thus far have been confined largely to equipment rather than actual weapons and ammunition, informants said.

The defence department has authority from President Truman to help China by turning over supplies from United States military stocks. The Chinese must supply what it costs to replace the supplies.

Other developments meanwhile testified to the urgent attention being given China's plight by top-level administration officials. Recovery administrator Paul G. Hoffman, for instance, said it is "definitely a possibility, and not a probability" that he will make an on-the-spot survey.

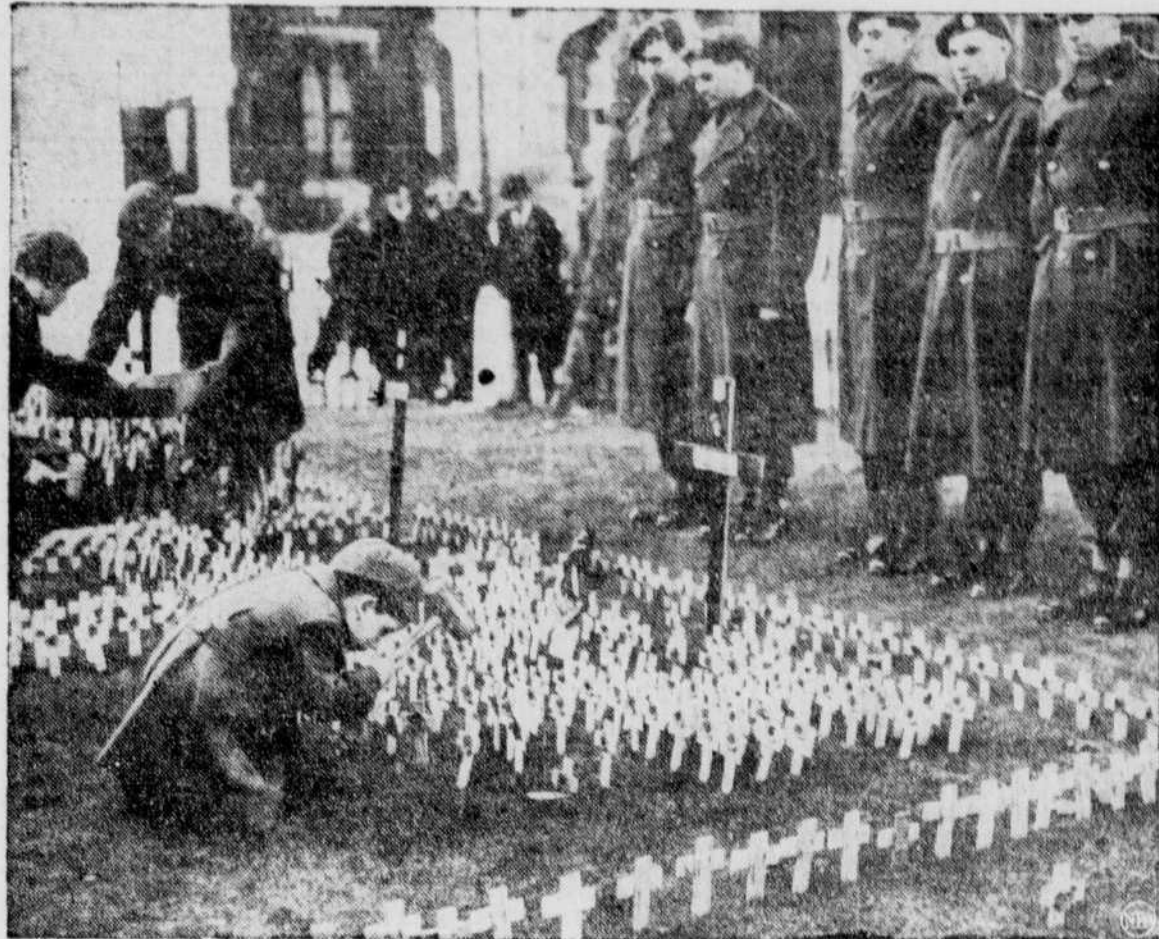

His idea would be to determine for himself what economic help the Chinese need and how it can be supplied with war threatening to spread farther southward into nationalistic areas.

But Hoffman said "developments in Europe" may take him there instead.

Earlier, associates had said he expected to make the trip to China next month "unless the situation by that time becomes too dangerous."

A Poppy For Remembrance

Christopher Veal, who is only 4½ and doesn't remember the war very clearly, is nevertheless solemn and serious as he hammers his memorial cross into the ground. The ceremony took place at the Field of Remembrance outside London's Westminster Abbey.

Canada Pays Tribute To Her War Dead

Canada mourned her dead of two world wars as communities across the land today held their annual ceremonies of remembrance.

Here, in Sherbrooke, memorial services were held last Sunday but many stores and places of business, including government offices, were closed. Municipal offices operated as usual.

Throughout the Townships, however, many communities marked the day with special observances. Richmond, Danville, Sawyerville, Cookshire and North Hatley were among the towns where cenotaph services and parades were planned.

Lennoxville, the Boundary villages and Magog marked the anniversary last Sunday while at Megantic Remembrance Day will be observed next Sunday.

On the state's arch of the National War Memorial in Ottawa and on humble marble cenotaph shafts in the towns and villages, the placing of wreaths of poppies and fir told once again of the nation's gratitude to the men and women who fought and died.

Many of the religious observances connected with this 30th anniversary of the First World War armistice were held last Sunday. Veterans' organizations held church parades and former chaplains and padres recalled wartime sacrifices by the Canadians who fought on land, on the sea and in the air.

Manitoba and Alberta declared today a statutory holiday but in the east, except for the two-minute silence at 11 a.m. local time, many business houses operated as on any other day. Some schools closed and the 35,000 federal civil servants in Ottawa had a holiday.

In the capital, in addition to the usual ceremonies at the National War Memorial in Confederation Square, the Governor-General placed a wreath in the Memorial Chamber in the Peace Tower of the Centre block of Parliament. A book of remembrance lists the names of every Canadian killed in the First World War.

Financial and commodity markets throughout Canada and the United States closed for the day. European markets operated as usual.

And the darkening shadows of international hostility, the thousands of millions went out to the 100,000 Canadian war graves in France, Belgium, Holland, Italy, Britain, Japan, Hong Kong and elsewhere beyond the seas.

Atrocity Deaths Blamed On Japs

Tokyo, Nov. 11.—(AP)—An estimated 1,000,000 war atrocity deaths were blamed today on 25 Japanese leaders by an international court.

Hidoki Tojo, Japanese Premier for most of the war, and his 24 co-defendants sat grim-faced through the reading of the court's judgment in their war-crimes trial. They may know their fate later tomorrow.

To a world shocked by Nazi wartime atrocities the court released the comparative figures.

The Nazis and Fascists captured 235,473 prisoners from Britain and the United States. Of these, 1,348—

Prime Minister King Will Tender Resignation Monday

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The record-breaking term of Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King as Prime Minister of Canada ends next Monday, Nov. 15.

On that day, after 21 years, five months and eight days in office, he will tender his resignation to the Governor-General and quietly retire. His successor will be Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, the new Liberal leader.

The 73-year-old Prime Minister made the long-expected announcement of the retirement date yesterday in a letter expressing regret at his inability, due to illness, to attend the opening luncheon of the annual meeting of the Dominion executive council of the Canadian Legion.

He addressed the letter to Lt.-Col. L. D. M. Baxter, Dominion president of the Legion, and said he was "happy" to take the privilege of making the retirement announcement through the Legion.

He had hoped, he went on, to associate his retirement after placing the Government's wreath at the base of the nation's war memorial here in the official Remembrance Day ceremony.

However, the illness which had sent him to bed for nearly four weeks in London and still was confining him to his Laurier Avenue home this "cherished hope" impossible. He felt his strength returning "increasing measure" each day, but had been advised to limit his engagement and public appearances.

The retirement ceremony is expected to be simple. Mr. King, if he then is able to venture outside, likely will motor to Government

Hope For End Of Cold War Is Voiced In U.N. Circles

Paris, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The possibility of a halt in the east-west cold war brought a surge of armistice-day hope to United Nations delegates today.

American delegation sources confirmed that State Secretary Marshall will meet President Truman in Washington later this month for a complete review of foreign policy problems.

While the survey would include all aspects of the current policy conflicts between the United States and Russia, the American delegation said it knew of no definite plan for a meeting of Truman and Prime Minister Stalin.

Dispatches from Moscow yesterday reported all newspapers carried stories of a possible meeting between the two chiefs of state.

At Key West, Fla., where Truman is vacationing, a spokesman said there are no plans of any kind for a Truman-Stalin meeting.

The Moscow dispatches, interpreted by some delegates here as showing a new Russian willingness to attempt to settle the east-west conflicts, were just one move in the Soviet Union's fresh diplomatic pattern.

Sources in the United States delegation even interpreted recent Russian-bloc attacks on John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign policy expert, as preparation for a "peace offensive." These sources said the slurs on Dulles may be intended to show the Slav peoples that a settlement with the United States is possible now that the "war-mongers" have been kept from American office.

Russia's deputy foreign minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, last year listed Dulles as the No. 1 American "war-monger."

Australia's Herbert V. Evatt, chairman of the U.N. General Assembly, who has attempted to bring the east and west together on specific problems, commented that "the log jam has got to be broken and it will be broken very soon."

Another manifestation of the Soviet mood of conciliation came when the Australian delegation's resolution calling for direct negotiations between Greece and her northern neighbors won unanimous approval in the political committee.

The resolution calls on representatives of Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria to meet with four U.N. officials—Evatt, secretary-general Trygve Lie; the political committee chairman, Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium; and the political committee secretary, Selim Sarper of Turkey.

Australian sources said Evatt hoped to convene the meeting as soon as possible, perhaps today. Sophocles said in Athens meanwhile, that conciliation with the Communist-led guerrillas was impossible. He made the statement in reply to an open letter from eight former cabinet members asking support for the Australian proposal for Balkan peace negotiations.

Five thousand Jewish refugees in Shanghai appealed to the Jewish Congress in New York to be evacuated to the United States, Palestine or wherever possible.

Nineteen foreign prisoners—British, French, Hungarian, Turkish, Indian and Russian—added their plea that somebody get them out of Shanghai's jail.

Strikes Tie Up American Shipping

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A major part of American shipping was crippled today by longshoremen's strikes on the east and west coasts.

The Port of New York, foremost in the world's commerce, was almost paralyzed as thousands of men stood idle.

The blitz also hit the important harbors of Philadelphia and Boston, where other thousands joined a rank-and-file protest against a wage settlement negotiated by A.F.L. union leaders.

Spread of the walkout to additional ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va., by tonight or tomorrow was feared.

A Gulf-coast stoppage has been promised if the east-coast strike becomes official and complete.

A crippling west-coast strike of C.I.O. unions has left American ships and men idle from Alaska to Mexico for many weeks.

There was a possibility, however, that the east-coast walkout might be short-lived.

The S.S. America, queen of the United States merchant marine, was due to steam into the New York strike area today with nearly 1,000 passengers from Europe.

They faced the possibility of losing their own luggage—as passengers.

Drew Calls Upon Canadians To Serve Their Country

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Halifax, Nov. 11.—(AP)—George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, called on Canadians last night to dedicate themselves to serve their country in the spirit of those who had given their lives for Canada in the two world wars.

In a pre-Armistice day speech at a public meeting, Mr. Drew said that on the occasion he felt it fitting to recall that men had given up their lives for the cause of freedom and security.

"I believe we should dedicate ourselves to serve our country—no matter what form or level it may take—in the spirit of those who gave their lives for Canada," said Mr. Drew.

The 54-year-old veteran of the First World War, now on a tour of the Maritime provinces, said there is evidence that efforts are being made by Communists and by "nationalists" in Canada to use the power of Canada's various governments and for a re-adjustment of their taxation rights.

Changes were necessary to guarantee the provinces rights that would prevent the establishment of a unitary system of government in Canada. The readjustment of taxes was necessary to lighten the taxation burden and to assure the provinces of revenues needed for their own development.

He reiterated his stand on Dominion-Provincial relations and said that Canada's Federal system of government could not survive if one government collected all the taxes and left the provinces dependent on subsidies.

Another speaker at the meeting was Robert L. Stanfield, of Halifax, who a few hours earlier had been

HOLLYWOOD PRIARS' FROLIC FEATURES WORLD OF TALENT

Hollywood — There's never been a show quite like the Friars' Frolic, staged at the San Francisco Opera House and the Los Angeles Philharmonic Auditorium. I've never seen anything like it. It was a night I'll never forget. The greatest names in show business were there, proving that there's no business like show business.

Jack Benny in a blond wig, an ice blue gown and high heels impersonating Gracie Allen opposite George Burns.

Al Jolson in blackface for the first time in 21 years, singing "Mammy" and "April Showers" — "Turn up the lights I want to see your faces."

Danny Kaye in blue slacks impersonating Kay Thompson with Van Johnson, George Burns, Jack Carson and Jack Benny as the four Williams Brothers. (Carson couldn't keep a straight face and broke up continually.)

Tony Martin and his songs. Donald O'Connor, George Burns and Ben Blue in a comical "Minuet." George Jessel as master of ceremonies and as Professor Labber Macher, one of his old vaudeville acts.

Benny Again
Bud Abbott and Lou Costello in a burlesque. Jack Benny again in overalls and a dead pan as the violin playing leader of a hillbilly band.

"Anyway, It Makes A Change!"

London, Nov. 11.—(P)—Showgirls can prance around without brassiers in Paris—but not London. Especially not on a television show.

That's the breathless word from the BBC which found it necessary to pull quite a lot of wool over customers' eyes Tuesday night.

Occasion was a television show of the famed Paris Lido cabaret imported lock, stock and cravick for 90 minutes of Parisienne frolicking.

The BBC put its foot down quick when goggle-eyed producers saw four semi-nudes dressed, as one put it, "with their chests free." Brassiers, and "filmy bits" foresewhere, were hastily ordered.

Sighed lissome 20-year-old Yvette Comets, one of the showgirls: "I knew the English were particular about these things. Anyway, it makes a change."

band. Lou Holtz, Buddy Clark, Bill Shirley, Ronald Reagan, Bob Hope.

The Ritz Brothers as mad as ever. Harry introduced one song with: "This is one of the reasons we're not in pictures."

America's greatest songwriters singing and playing their greatest hits in an act titled, "I'd Rather Write the Nation's Songs." All the way from white-haired Jack Norworth, singing "Shine on Harvest Moon" and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," to Rudolph Friml in a medley. In between: Shelton Brooks and "Some of These Days," L. Wolfe Gilbert and "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," Harry Akst, Harry Ruby, Johnny Mercer and Robert MacGimsey and "Shadrack."

Morris Stoloff leading the orchestra with Joseph Santley, Harry Joe Brown, Billy Daniels, Frances Grant and Sam and Dave Lederer running the show behind the scenes.

It was entertainment really out of this world, staged flawlessly and without the usual Hollywood ostentation, braggadocio and backstage temperaments. Just great entertainers, entertaining their friends who paid from $24 to $100 a seat. Part of the money goes to charity and part to the Friars. "We really need it," said Jessel. "Imagine one deck of cards for 500 men."

Jolson Closes
Jolson, as usual, was in the closing spot. But it was the first time two ever seen him topped. By the time they got to Al the packed house they were standing in the aisles had seen a four-hour parade of the world's greatest entertainers.

Hope was his usual bright self with a series of fast quips. Commenting on atom bombs, jet planes and other new instruments of war, he said: "Wouldn't it be awful if the Republicans got in just as the world went out?"

It was the Friars' Frolic but it was Jack Benny's night. His get-up as Gracie, the hillbilly routine and his stint as a Williams Brother kept him out of his usual character but as funny as I've ever seen him.

The Friars can take a mass bow for the greatest show ever staged in Hollywood.

Local Real Estate And School Taxes One Is Killed, Two Injured Near Megantic

A sharp increase in current real estate and school taxes during October 1948 as compared with October of the previous year is shown in the monthly report of collections issued today by City Treasurer Maurice Cormier. Receipts from realty taxes during the past month amounted to $150,753.21 as compared with $136,064.26 in the same month of 1947 and $20,229.60 in September 1948. The sharp increase in October over September is accounted for by the fact that the quarterly payment for those property owners who make their payments throughout the year becomes due October 1 with the discount date expiring October 10.

Collections on account of arrears were improved, $14,666.41 being received on this account last month against $2,747.52 a year ago. Amusement tax receipts for the month were up substantially from October 1947. Total collections from this source were $7,746.96, comprising tax $5,195.34 and surtax $1,511.62, while in October 1947 collections were $5,385.11, divided into tax of $4,048.54 and surtax $1,336.57. The keen interest displayed in the Provincial Baseball League play-offs during September shot amusement tax receipts in that month away above the average, the total amounting to $12,893.72, divided into $9,790.38 tax and $3,103.34 surtax.

Receipts from the utilities departments were slightly higher during the past month than a year ago.

The collections in detail were:

Royal Baby Will Become Next In Line Of Succession To The Throne

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 11.—(P)—The baby expected to be born to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh this week-end, whether a son or a daughter, will inevitably be next to Elizabeth in line of succession to the Throne.

If the child is a son it will always keep that place; if a daughter it would be displaced if a son were born later. Whether boy or girl, the child will move Princess Margaret from second to third place in line of succession—and Margaret will drop one place farther down for every child that is born to Elizabeth.

In the meantime, Princess Margaret remains second heiress to the throne. She could only be heiress presumptive if her sister came to the throne without children. (At present Princess Elizabeth is heiress presumptive.)

Official records show that the line of succession passes from the Sovereign through his eldest son, or if there is no son, through his eldest daughter. Therefore, even if Princess Elizabeth is never crowned Queen, her children will be heirs to the throne after the present king.

The Royal baby, if a boy, will almost certainly be given four names, including George (after the King), Philip (after his father), Louis (after his uncle, Earl Mountbatten), and probably Andrew as a compliment to Scotland.

If a girl the baby will probably be named Elizabeth, Mary and Alice—the latter after Philip's mother.

The baby will be born with the title of Prince or Princess under a ruling by the King made public yesterday. It will be addressed as "Royal Highness."

The King amended a 1917 edict by his father, King George V, which limited the title of Prince or Princess to the children and grandchildren of the King in the male line only.

Under the 1917 ruling, Princes transmit princely titles only to the next generation. Thus the son of the late Duke of Kent, a brother of the King, is H.R.H. the Duke of Kent and a Prince. But if he marries, a son could not be considered Royal and would be His Grace the Duke of Kent.

If Elizabeth has a son when she comes to the Throne, he will automatically be heir apparent—as her apparent, her son would become Duke of Cornwall in the peerage of England and Duke of Rothesay in the peerage of Scotland.

In hospital also were Charles Chase, 24, of Brownville, and Edmund Vieneau, 45, of Holeb. Vieneau, a welder, suffered fractured arms and severe burns.

Chase had head injuries and possible concussion.

Rollins was the father of seven boys, the oldest 15.

The last Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor, became the Duke of Cornwall on the accession of his father to the Throne on May 6, 1910 and was created Prince of Wales on June 23 the same year.

Louis Duval And His Wife Collapse In Witness Box As Hearing Continues

After more than an hour on the witness stand last night, Louis Duval, 65-year-old farmer from St. Leon de Val Racine—who is charged with manslaughter as a result of his brother's death—collapsed and was unable to continue with his testimony.

The accused's wife took the stand and broke down under cross examination by Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre, K.C. The Duvals were the two last witnesses to be heard for the defense.

The Crown Prosecutor concluded his proof yesterday noon and Mr. Cliche called his first witness at 2 o'clock. Mr. Justice Cesaire Gervais, stating that today is a holiday, asked the jurors if they had any objection to hearing the testimony last night in order that the case might be concluded on Friday. The jurors agreed to hear the remaining witnesses and it was only upon the collapse of both the accused and his wife that the court adjourned, at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Cliche brought in several character witnesses, among them Rev. Rene Lefebvre, parish priest of St. Leon, who all declared that the accused enjoyed a good reputation, was a peaceful, just and honest man and had never been in any trouble with anyone. Crown Prosecutor Dugre asked Father Lefebvre if he could give the same certificate of good conduct to the victim, Georges Duval, and he answered in the affirmative.

It has been established that the two brothers, Louis and Georges, had disagreed over the ownership of some pulpwood, and the Crown attempted yesterday to prove that the posts on the lines separating their properties had been changed. This was denied by the accused.

Giving his version of the tragedy, Louis Duval said that he was working on his fence April 28 when he saw his brother Georges come running towards him screaming, "Get away from there, Louis, 'tu va mourrir.'" (or you're going to die). He said that Georges kept swearing and running towards him. Fearing his brother, who was eight years younger and of a more robust constitution, Louis claims that he grabbed a stick of wood, and in self-defense, struck him. He emphatically denied that he intended to hurt him, saying, "I simply tried to defend myself—I didn't want to hurt him because I knew that when he was sober, Georges would be angry with me if I did."

Six-year-old Georges Laroche, adopted child of Louis Duval, who was with his grandfather, as he calls him, at the time of the incident, was brought in by Mr. Cliche, and stated that he saw Louis strike Georges. He corroborated Louis's statement that Georges grabbed him around the waist and that he (Louis) picked up the stick of wood and struck his brother first on the hands and arms and then on the head. The Crown contends that Louis's first blow

New Gloves For The Maestro

Lauritz Melchior, whose fine concert here Tuesday night was attended by more than 1,600 music lovers, is seen above showing one of the "souvenirs" of his Canadian tour to Record staff writer Margaret Doherty and Joachim Bachand, local impresario. It is a pair of gloves which he bought in Quebec and which he intends to use while gardening at his home in Hollywood.

State Support Is Needed If Metropolitan Is To Have A Successful Future, Melchior Says

Graduate Of Bishop's Gets London Post

Montreal, Nov. 11.—David K. Buik, of Montreal, yesterday was appointed special representative of the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway in London, by W. A. Mather, President of the C. P. R. He succeeds William Baird who died in London last September.

By MARGARET DOHERTY
SHERBROOKE RECORD STAFF WRITER

The Metropolitan Opera is in a somewhat precarious position at the present time and should have the support of the government or the state if it is to look forward to any kind of a successful future.

Lauritz Melchior, acclaimed as one of the greatest heroic tenors in musical history, made this statement at an interview on Tuesday, a few hours before his concert in the Grand.

"We are in a bad way," he admitted. "The opera house is too old and it is not air conditioned. We should have a new one, bigger and more modern, with an adequate stage where the scenery can appear to advantage. As it is now, trucks remove it every night after the performance and thousands of dollars are paid regularly in night workmen's wages."

He declared that no opera can pay with a short season, and said that when artists are engaged he believes they should be given a three-year contract.

Lauritz Melchior is a striking man. Tall—he measures six feet four inches and weighs 230 pounds—he has wavy white hair, eyes that crinkle merrily when he smiles, and a general expression of good humor and joy of living.

He says he feels sorry for young people today because they have nowhere to go to get the finishing touches—there are no opera houses and "you can't develop artists in a drawing room."

In his young days, whether in Germany, France or Italy, every small town had its opera house and young musicians were given an opportunity to develop their talents and to get the feel of the stage and the audience's reaction.

"Today unfortunately," he said, "the world is occupied with other things." He mentioned that in June this year he was in Nuremberg for "Rigoletto" which was given a very good performance, but that he did not know how the artists could keep up under the appalling conditions which exist there. Their only food was bread without butter, and very poor coffee. After the opera they had a repast consisting of a couple of boiled potatoes.

"The great Dane of the Metropolitan" as he is called, enjoys the movies because they bring him in contact with different types of people. He believes that the average person can be taught a liking for better music and, in his movies, he combines popular selections with a few of the works of the great masters.

He thinks his forthcoming movie "Luxury Liner" is his best, and says that in addition to "Come Back to Sorrento" (which proved so popular at his concert here) and a drinking song, he also sings excerpts from "Aida" and "Valkyrie."

Asked which he enjoys most, opera, the concert stage or the movies, he answered, "Just as I like different kinds of food, so I am happy whether singing an operatic role, making a concert tour or taking part in a film. I am of the opinion that artists should be as versatile as possible."

He expects to spend Christmas at his home in Hollywood and says that on January 8 he will fly to Cairo for big-game hunting—"You have to have some fun once in a while"—and after this expedition he will go to South Africa for a concert tour. He has already given 22 concerts since October 1.

Mr. Melchior, who drove to Sherbrooke from Quebec, was quite impressed with the scenery and remarked that this part of the province must be beautiful in the spring and the summer. He bought several pairs of gloves in Quebec, including one pair which he intends to use for gardening, when he returns home.

The artist was accompanied by his wife, diminutive Maria Hecker, former European film star, whom he affectionately calls Kleinchen—meaning "little one." He handles her husband's business affairs and accompanies him on all his tours.

Bishop's Team Wins Debate Against McGill

A series of exchange debates between McGill and Bishop's which had been interrupted by the war was resumed last night with the Bishop's team of M. G. Birchwood and George McClintock successfully defending the resolution: "Resolved that present trends towards more vocational specialization in Canadian high schools should be accelerated." McGill was represented by Peter Satterthwaite and Morris Weiner. R. C. Selakwe, president of the Bishop's Debating Society, was chairman.

Another Bishop's team, debating the negative of the same resolution, defeated McGill in Montreal. Doug McVie and Ormond Hopkins were the Bishop's speakers in this debate, while William Tetley and Hugh Hamilton spoke for McGill.

Mr. Birchwood, opening the debate at Bishop's, stated that in any discussion of education the trends and technological developments of the age should be kept in mind. Therefore today children must be given a vocational training in high schools which will equip them suitably for life. Calling for more specialization, the speaker pointed out that only one in 20 Canadian high school graduates ever receives any higher education, either in the arts or in a specialized field.

Therefore, in order to give every child an opportunity to advance himself, increased vocational specialization in high schools is imperative. At the same time, however, a basic training in the humanities would be necessary in order to better equip the pupil for his part in society. In closing, Mr. Birchwood said that in our democratic educational system opportunities must be presented to all, and therefore more technical subjects should be included in the high school curriculum.

Mr. Satterthwaite, speaking first for the negative, explained that the present-day trend in education was to allow the student who lacks the ability to pursue academic studies to receive some vocational training, as well as to offer to those with high mental capacities the opportunities to pursue courses leading to university. Acceleration of this trend would result in many necessary arts subjects being eliminated, and the student with little or no aptitude for technical pursuits would have virtually no opportunity for advancement. The person without at least the rudiments of a classical education could not possibly educate himself.

Sen. Nicol To Keep Control Of Quebec Papers

"I will keep control of Le Soleil and L'Evenement Journal as long as I live." This was the only comment Senator Jacob Nicol, publisher of the two Quebec dailies, would make yesterday on a report that they had been sold.

The report, published in Quebec L'Action Catholique Monday, said the two papers had been sold to Oscar Gilbert, Quebec hotelkeeper.

Senator Nicol, also publisher of Sherbrooke La Tribune and Three Rivers Le Nouvelliste, said previously he had received an offer to sell his interest in the two Quebec papers.

This memorial plaque was unveiled today in honor of Flt.-Sgt. Ralph W. Billing, R.C.A.F., who gave his life in the Second World War.

Memorial Plaque Is Unveiled In Honor Of Flt.-Sgt. R. W. Billing

At a brief ceremony in the Bell Telephone building here, a memorial plaque dedicated by fellow employees was unveiled this morning in honor of Flight-Sergeant Ralph W. Billing, R.C.A.F., who gave his life in the Second World War. Flight-Sergeant Billing worked with the company here before his enlistment.

Canon Russell Brown of St. Peter's Church delivered a brief address on the theme of dedication. Canon Brown said in part: "We are here to do two things: To honor one who has made the supreme sacrifice and two, to pledge ourselves to the same high devotion to duty. When our Lord says 'Greater love hath no man than this' he means that there is no other way of measuring devotion than by sacrifice."

H. E. Walker, Bell Telephone manager, in a dedication address, said: "In unveiling this memorial plaque to him today, we rededicate ourselves, all our human and spiritual efforts, toward the accomplishment of the purpose for which he fought, a world peace, an enduring peace for all mankind."

The plaque was unveiled by W. Pettis, of the company's Plant department, and a veteran of the late war, immediately prior to the two minutes' silence in honor of the fallen.

Among those present at the unveiling ceremony were: Mr. Billing's three sons Winston, Raymond, Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wesley Billing and Mr. John Kay of the Canadian Legion.

Lawrence Binyon's celebrated poem "To the Fallen" was read by Canon Brown.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Thirty years ago today the "Cease Fire" order brought an uneasy peace to a world torn by the greatest war in history and the people celebrated in the hope that the tremendous price paid in blood and treasure would mean the end of war for generations to come. But such was not to be and after twenty years was strained international relations, the world was plunged into an even more tragic struggle. Once again the conclusion of hostilities brought the thought that, perhaps, the nations would be spared further bloodshed. The passing years have indicated that this is rather an optimistic hope although the world leaders have managed to maintain a semblance of peace between the major powers and prospects for the continuance of the armed truce have not disappeared entirely.

Thus we observe another Armistice or Remembrance Day still hoping that the day will not be long distant when nations and men can be induced to live as neighbors and brothers and that from our midst will be lifted the continued dread which lurks that again the call may come and other young men will march onto the battlefield to suffer the same fate which was meted out during those dark days of 1914-1918 and 1939-1945.

Not only do we hope that nations will learn to live together and to work together, but we hope that within our own Canadian borders there will be a bond of true Canadianism uniting all provinces and all races and creeds living within our national confines. We must learn the lesson of unity if we want Canada to prosper. We must forget petty differences of race and creed if we want to be happy. We must be tolerant and understanding if we want to be good citizens and honest Canadians following the Divine and command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor."

If Canadians are not united at home they cannot hope to give an example of leadership abroad.

CHINA FACES COLLAPSE

Serious as the military situation is within China, with the forces of Chiang Kai-Shek facing annihilation at the hands of the Northern Communist armies, the economic condition of that unhappy nation is even more distressing. Chiang has called upon his people to prepare themselves for eight years of war, at the end of which time he hopes to have rid his country of the Red revolutionists. However sincere Chiang is in his statement that the Chinese Nationalists will fight on, it is to be feared that the morale of the people will be unable to withstand the sufferings and deprivations that appear inevitable in the days ahead.

Already the country is reported a seething mass of potential revolt, with frequent riots brought on by hunger. The recent currency reforms effected by the Nationalist Government appear to have been useless with the gold yuan following the old Chinese paper into utter worthlessness. Already the workers have refused to accept the new currency in payment of their wages and demand that rice be provided instead. This is not forthcoming and already large sections of the Nationalist-controlled areas are facing starvation.

Starvation is an enemy no government can fight for long. Ideologies may be enforced at the point of the bayonet. Restrictions on thought and religion may be tolerated under pressure, but sooner or later the hungry man is bound to rise in open revolt. Then the sole hope of the administration is the military.

In China, unfortunately, the majority of the soldiers are almost as hungry as the civilian population and the government distribution has broken down so completely that it is unlikely that their condition will be much relieved. Hungry soldiery are even more dangerous when revolution breaks out than are civilians, for as a general rule the soldier is armed even if the civilian is not.

LEARNING CITIZENSHIP

Men and women are not born responsible citizens. In fact it is doubtful if any member of the human race is born with the ability to get along with his brothers and sisters. We have to learn these things. Before we reach school age our ability to learn anything not obviously connected with immediate need is severely limited. After we leave school it is often too late to change habits already formed. While we are at school, we have both the opportunity and a growing amount of ability to learn how to get along with other people, and how to take an active part in community, provincial and national life.

It is during school years that man learns to accept the role of a responsible citizen, who has been described in the following terms:

A good neighbor—one who understands the other man's point of view:

One who respects the rights of others;

One who knows that every privilege has a corresponding responsibility;

One who understands how democracy should work in his community, province and nation, and in his daily life — and take part in it;

One who respects the democratic process, the laws that it produces and the properly constituted authorities who see that they are carried out.

The foundation of good citizenship is good human relations. The school should teach tomorrow's citizens how to get along with one another.

WORLD PARLEYS WEIGH SUBJECTS MICROSCOPIC AND CATASTROPHIC

If there's anything in the world you want fixed up, just call a conference. That seems to be the rule for settling international problems in the postwar world.

The growth of this world conference business has really been terrific. State Department's Division of International Conferences told Congress it expected about 450 to be held in the fiscal year ending next July 1. Before the war, when the United States didn't belong to the League of Nations, there were only about 75 a year.

Last month there were 18 of these conferences going on at the same time, all over. The list included the International Council for the Exploration of the Sea, held at Copenhagen, and the Second Inter-American Conference on Indian Life, at Cuzco, Peru.

This month there are only 13 international conferences scheduled to meet. Most important will be the UN Food and Agriculture Organization Council and Conference in Washington. They will report on world food supplies and shortages, and what can be done about them.

The 107th meeting of the International Labor Organization's Governing Body will be held at Geneva, Switzerland. ILO is the only functioning survival of the old League of Nations. It has done a lot of good in raising world labor standards.

Also on this month's schedule is the Second Inter-American Congress on Brucellosis. That last is a word you won't find in even the two-volume dictionaries. "Brucella" is there. It's a bacteria named after a Scotch Dr. Bruce, who discovered the thing. But if you want to know what it does when it bites or poisons your pet livestock, you'll have to go to Mendoza, Argentina, where the conference will be held.

SOME SUBJECTS ARE BROADER

Not all international conferences are about subjects as small as bacteria. Last month they held at Fontainebleau, France, a Conference for the Establishment of the International Union for the Protection of Nature.

There's a fine large subject for a world confab. But somehow, the news about it didn't seem to get in the papers over here. What's the matter with those foreign correspondent guys on the other side, anyway? Always cabling about Russia or the Arabs or the Azerbaijanis, but never bothering to cover the stories about international do-gooders who want to save Mother Nature herself. If they cut loose with these atomic bombs, maybe the old girl will need some saving.

Other dandy conferences which you can attend next year if you have a mind to include a meeting of "United Nations Experts to Study the Problems of Housing Indigenous Native Populations in the Humid Tropics." It will meet in March in an as yet undetermined place in Equatorial Africa, and will have a second session some place in the Indian Ocean area in August.

In June you can go to the Fifth International Grasslands Conference in the Netherlands, or the Third Conference on African Tourism at Nairobi, wherever that is. In August there will be a Diplomatic Conference on the Revision of the Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works.

... ALSO PEACE CONFERENCES

Among the other gatherings which most people hope will be held, but which are still scheduled as "undetermined" as to time and place, are the Japanese and German peace conferences.

But what all this adds up to is that the world is getting to be an awfully complicated place in which to live. If all these conferences are a forerunner of how regulated life is going to be under a world government, the prospect is somewhat frightening.

Thirty-two organs of the United Nations have scheduled meetings in the current fiscal year, and 44 other agencies in which the United Nations has an interest will also meet. This gives a rough idea of how much work the United Nations Bureau already has to do in straightening out the tangled international situations in food, trade, aviation, telecommunications, health, labor, education and social welfare. All this is in addition to the wrangling over political questions in the Security Council and General Assembly.

The U. S. government will spend over $50,000,000 this year on international conferences and conventions. About half of the sum will be for United Nations activities.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Thou hast covered thyself with a cloud, that our prayer should not pass through. — Lamentations 3:44.

In desert wilds, in midnight gloom;
In grateful joy, in trying pain;
In laughing youth, or nigh the tomb;
Oh! when is prayer unheard or vain?

—Eliza Cook.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN, JOHN?

FROM THE PEN OF E. T. WRITERS

NOVEMBER 11, 1948

We call it the day of Remembrance and we bow in silent prayer For the soul of a loved one sleeping somewhere "Over There."

We place a wreath, as a token, to honor their memory.

And to prove that the sacrifice they made will never be forgotten by.

Oh yes, we will remember the ones we held so dear.

Who gave their lives to save us from bondage and from fear.

But if we fail to keep the peace which they have died to gain.

Then on our shoulders rests the wrong, and their sacrifice was in vain.

Let us bring to this "Day of Remembrance" love for our fellow-man.

Let us study each others' problems and help wherever we can.

Remember those who are lying in lands across the sea.

Remember the sacrifice they made to keep the Homeland free.

Let us pray, on this "Day of Remembrance," that we may our duty see.

That we try to live with all mankind in peace and harmony.

So that those we have loved so dearly may not have died in vain.

And the honor and pain of warfare will never be known again.

EMILY MILLAR.

REMEMBRANCE DAY, 1948

The battlefields are quiet, strangely quiet. An ominous hush pervades the slinking air. Those gleaming crosses stand erect, a challenge—Lest we forget a soldier's dying prayer.

Peace in our time—and this shall be the answer.

For we have died that all mankind live, free, While on the sacrificial altar burning.

Our candles beam throughout Eternity.

A dream—a wish—a prayer, and all is silent.

While starless skies bespeak a sunless morn.

They are remembered only for their dying.

And bugle call awaits the yet unborn.

Peace in our time is still the supplication.

Rising from hearts that ken war's haunting cry.

Echoes of marching feet disturb the slumber.

And teardrops glisten in a woman's eye.

These are our sons,—we bore them, and we cherished

Their hopes and dreams,—replicas of our own.

Many shall wear a Poppy and remember

Flesh of our flesh, bone of our very bone.

Nobly they tread the halls of old Valhalla

Victor and Vanquished, brothers born of Death,

Forgotten all their differences and conflicts

Their strivings faded with their latest breath.

O God, Who knows the purpose of all living.

Who knows the reasons, as the reasons be,

Make us to live that in our lifetime's seeding

No act of ours shall breed disinuity.

Let us remember what they, dying, gave us.

Grant we prove worthy of so great a trust,

A world, wherein all sacredness of duty

Wrought the more sacred by their hallowed dust.

GROUSE DRIVE IN IRISH MOU.

By BARBARA BUCHANAN
of Knowlton
Montreal Gazette

Edenfel, County Tyrone. — The heather in the bogs has almost finished flowering, and the bog grasses are turning rich colors of reds and purples and browns. The mountains are at their best now, and it is at this time of year, when the grouse shooting season is open, that we get the excuse, or the reason, to go up in to the highlands. The mountains are heather-clad and only rarely does one see a tree on them.

On a perfect Irish day—not clear sun, but sunlight and patches of cloud—I was invited to a grouse drive on the Fivemiletown Mountains. I joined the "guns" for lunch, and the conversation was mostly of the morning's shooting, and in anticipation of the afternoon's.

There was little lingering over the meal, and soon we were squelching through the wet weather and the eight "guns" took up their positions about forty paces apart, and partially hidden and camouflaged by sods of turf and heather. The beaters were beyond the hill, and drove the game up over the crest of the hill, when they flew over the guns, and were fired at. Never to have seen a grouse drive is to think that it is merely a slaughter of birds in a most unsportsmanlike manner, but it is far from that, and only the very best of shots will be able to down two birds with his right and left barrel.

The view was magnificent from the tops of the mountain, and the day was so clear that we could easily see off to the Sligo Mountains, and it was easy to pick out the great mass of Benbulbin on the sky line.

Crouching down in the shelter of a butt, waiting for the birds to come over, I heard the full story of the "Hairy Men of Benbulbin." For generations there had been tribes of small, hairy men living in caves on this great, towering mountain. They subsisted on whatever game they could catch or kill, and on bits of moss and roots, until about 50 years ago, when either their supply of food ran short, or they became lazy and unwilling to search for it amongst what grew on the terrain always known as their own.

So, in the daylight, while the men of the farms came down and bothered the women on the small farms at the foot of the mountain, and made some minor stealing raids, and made a thorough nuisance of themselves. Finally they became so bold, and so terrifying to the farmers that the people of the valley, with outside help, rounded them up, and, finding them to be so mentally deficient, and so incapable of speech and many normal actions, that they were put into asylums, or places where they would be carefully guarded.

But such weird happenings were far from us in the grouse drive above Aphinstown, and the game was plentiful, and the dogs worked well to retrieve the dead birds. It is fascinating to watch the dogs at work, systematically covering the ground and retrieving. . . .

Two days later I was invited to another grouse drive on the moors above Beltrim, in the foothills of the Sperrins. In one drive, after the beaters had come up to the guns, and they had set the dogs to retrieving, and just as we were trying to move on to another drive, everyone was put into the greatest consternation.

One of the beaters had put a rod through a hole in an old tin can, and was drawing his fingers down the rod which made a noise exactly like an old cock grouse. It is a wonderful sound, the cry of a grouse, coming out of the mist high on the top of heather-clad mountains. All the guns became terribly excited, and there was a click, click, click as safety catches were let off, and every one looked in the direction of the sound, never dreaming it was the beater who was creating the calling sound. When he was discovered we went off in a joyous mood to shelter under a bank to have lunch, and the next sound was that of popping corks from the bottles of stout being opened.

But soon again we were squelching over the lovely moors in search of that great sport—shooting grouse. About six o'clock we came down and had tea at the castle, and one of the members of the party went out to the river below, and, before dinner, killed a fine salmon.

DEFENSE IS POSSIBLE FOR SMOTHER PLAY

This is the fourth of five articles on the fascinating but difficult smother play.

I have selected today's smother play for our lesson hand because it is one of the few smother plays against which you can create a defense. It differs from the rest of the plays in this series, and some players might refer to it as a forced coup; nevertheless, it comes under the smother play classification.

West cashes the king of diamonds and declarer ruffs the second diamond with the nine of spades. The jack of clubs is led and East correctly refuses to win it, to avoid creating two entries into dummy. Declarer continues with another club, East wins this and leads a diamond, forcing South to ruff with the ten of spades.

Now declarer enters dummy and leads a trump, finessing the jack. He cashes the ace and king of hearts and leads a small heart, throwing West in the lead.

The three remaining cards in each hand are underlined. West has nothing to lead but a diamond on a club. North and East each have three trumps, while declarer has two aces-queens of trumps and the eight of hearts. If West returns a diamond, it is trumped in dummy. If East under-trumps, another trump will be led from dummy and the queen finessed.

If East trumps with the king, South will win with the ace, cash the queen of trumps, and the last trick will be won in dummy.

Here is the defense against this particular play. The play goes the same up to the point where East wins the trick with the ace of clubs. Now, instead of returning a diamond to shorten the declarer, if East returns a heart, declarer will have to win the trick with the king. He can go over to dummy with the queen of clubs, but he can take only one finesse. When he finesses the ten of spades, he can cash his other high heart and throw West in the lead; but now West will have a diamond exit and thus defeat the smother play.

Truman-Stalin Talk Rumors Are Heard

By

DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

Speculation over the report of a possible meeting between President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin in Moscow has swept both hemispheres like a prairie fire, demonstrating anew the intensity of world interest in any such parley.

It's noteworthy that the Moscow press has given heavy play to this report which was carried by Tass, the Soviet news agency. Tass attributed the information to an item by the Washington Times-Herald, evidently referring to a column by Tris Coffin.

The story has met with mixed reception. State Undersecretary Lovett said in Washington yesterday he knew nothing to substantiate the idea of such a meeting. The Presidential press secretary, Eben Ayers, who is with the chief executive at Key West, offered no comment but recalled Truman's repeated assertions that he would be glad to talk with Stalin any time the Soviet chief wishes to come to the United States.

Of course Truman did have a plan to send Chief Justice Vinson to Russia recently, but State Secretary Marshall persuaded the President not to do that. However, the President left the door open for possible consideration of a similar mission. In view of this it is interesting to see L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ which frequently reflects the views of Pope Pius, expressing hope that the United States elections have paved the way for a Truman-Stalin meeting.

And from well-informed American sources in Paris comes the sidelight that Truman and Marshall are expected to confer shortly over the whole field of America's relations with Russia.

Well, what of the advisability of a Truman-Stalin meeting, assuming that it could be arranged?

Most observers appear to regard the proposition with much doubt, as a two-edged sword which might do some good but could do much harm.

On the credit side one can see that it would give vast satisfaction to those who feel the United States is missing a bet by not attempting such a direct approach. Furthermore it would put the United States on record as having gone the limit in trying to achieve peace.

On the other hand there would be the danger that the move would be interpreted as appeasement. Such an interpretation would give Moscow grand propaganda with which to convince their own people, and doubtful foreign lands, of Red Russian supremacy.

Then there is the definite danger that the Russians, after smoking the pipe of peace, might employ the following form of trustful tranquility for the expansion of their fifth-column projects in foreign countries. That's a tough suggestion to have to make, but past experience shows that it is in the cards. Employment of the double cross not only is one of the cardinal methods of Communism, but is actually part of the written code.

But supposing Moscow made a pact of amity with the western powers, "calling off" the cold war?

I think you will find the consensus of observers is that we might have a period of pseudo-peace but that most assuredly this would be followed by a resumption of the Communist world revolution. It would be most unwise for us to believe that Communism will abandon its offensive.

talks said last night that the gap between the Newfoundland request and the original terms has been narrowed. They indicated that the difference, while not vast, is not negligible either.

Earlier in the week sources in close touch with the negotiations predicted that final agreement would probably be reached as soon as next week. Neither Mr. St. Laurent nor Mr. Walsh would offer any official predictions last night.

Mr. St. Laurent said everyone wanted to conclude the talks as soon as they could, because they had other duties to attend to.

Kiwanis Club Holds First Ladies' Night

Enjoying the fellowship and hilarity of the first Ladies' Night to be held by the Kiwanis Club of Sherbrooke, some sixty Kiwanians and their Kiwanite-Queens, with a few special guests, last evening spent a happy time in the Mayfair Room of the New Sherbrooke Hotel, where a turkey dinner was followed by special entertainment and dancing until midnight.

The evening was planned especially for the entertainment of the ladies, and the committee in charge dispensed with a speaker, held club business to a minimum, and arranged for special prizes, drawings and a brief musical program to fill the interlude between the dinner hour and the dancing which followed.

1st Vice-President Charles Kench presided at the dinner, in the absence of President Newman T. Hunter. The toast to the ladies was given by Gordon Beerworth, and Rev. John Comfort led the gathering in a most enjoyable singing, with a solo being heard from Jim Campbell, Secretary of the Granby Kiwanis Club, present with Mrs. Campbell, as special guests of the evening. Another guest introduced to the members was Paul Laframboise, President of the new Silery, Que. Club.

Ray Gendron supervised the special drawings which took place during the singing period, 12 pairs of Lotus gloves "made in Sherbrooke," being drawn for from among the numbers held by the ladies present. Winners were: Mrs. Ray Gendron, Mrs. Reginald Bishop, Mrs. John Comfort, Mrs. Orin Montgomery, Mrs. Tom Cadman, Mrs. Fred Simpson, Mrs. Jim Campbell, Mrs. Eric Sutherland, Mrs. M. Hicks, Mrs. Harry Grundy, Mrs. Harold Slater and Mrs. Ernest Morely. A special prize of a ticket to the Sherbrooke Symphony Concerts for the season, donated by President Newman Hunter, was won by Mrs. Wyatt Johnson.

Jack Lenaghan, who presided at the organ during a singing, introduced John Comfort, and the two Kiwanians presented a most enjoyable interlude of song and music. Two vocal solos were given by Mr. Lenaghan, a waltz melody and "Two Ties," while the Padre delighted everyone with his rendition of "The End of a Perfect Day" and the comic song "These Hard Times." Dancing was then enjoyed to the music of popular hits of the day, played on a modern "Juke Box," with Ray Gendron leading in a series of "Paul Jones" dances midway through the evening.

It was announced that next week's meeting would begin promptly 8:15 in order that the special guest speaker, Mayor General Dan Spry, Chief Executive Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association for Canada, may address the club from 7 to 7:30 p.m. The club's annual meeting will follow. On November 30th, Sherbrooke Kiwanians will join with Newport, Vt., Kiwanians and their ladies, in a joint meeting to be held at the Del Monty Hotel in Rock Island.

The fate of cargoes on ships still at sea and bound here was a major problem for maritime companies.

Special police patrols guarded the New York waterfront around the clock, but all was peaceful.

Up to 10,000 of New York's 25,000-odd members of the International Longshoremen's Association (A.P.L.) were reported to have joined the walkout which began before dawn yesterday.

Custom-house figures showed 41 ships were affected here immediately, in addition to 16 already lying idle as a result of the west-coast strike. Yesterday's rain, which normally would curtail dock work, and today's Armistice Day holiday obscured the full impact of the walkout.

Y's Men Are Addressed By W. H. Bradley

The immediate problems facing Sherbrooke as a city were outlined last evening by Alderman W. H. Bradley, guest speaker at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Y's Men's Club held in the Chateau Frontenac Hotel.

Mr. Bradley urged the members to take an interest in the community. He told them how town planning was necessary and discussed the financial situation and civic administration of the city.

"It is expected that the city budget will show a deficit this year," stated Mr. Bradley. He continued by saying that additional taxes of some form will have to be imposed.

He pointed out how the majority of business was carried out on Wellington Street which was overcrowded and he expressed the hope that business establishments would be set up in the other sections of the city.

Introduced by Craig Bishop the speaker was thanked by Jack Barnack.

Dr. T. J. Southwood gave a report on the boxing show to be staged at the Y. M. C. A. on November 18 and 19. Several films will be shown and such top fighters as Joe Louis, Tommy Farr, Tony Galento, Schmiedling, Pastor and Baer will be seen in action, in this movie.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Gordon Bull while a report on the turkey raffle was given by Forrest Lord. Members of the club will sell ads for the exhibition hockey game between Sherbrooke and McGill. Proceeds will be used to help set up a McGill Scholarship Fund.

Those seated at the head table with the guest speaker and vice-president Archie Mitchell were: Halley Evans, Dr. T. J. Southwood, A. Ashton and Gordon Bull.

self to new tasks if he should find himself discontented with his occupation.

Mr. McClintock, speaking last for the home team, conceded that there was a trend towards more specialization in high school vocational training, but added that it should be accelerated. He illustrated by mentioning present-day education in this province. Education, he continued, should prepare the pupil for future participation in civic, cultural and political activities, as well as for a specific occupation, which can be done only by giving him more vocational training. Increased vocational specialization, however, would not necessarily mean the elimination of basic liberal arts subjects, with increased efficiency and economy.

In his closing remarks Mr. McClintock emphasized to the fact that those who cannot go on to university must be given the opportunity to receive some training which will better fit them for participation in society, and this can be done only by offering more vocational guidance in the high schools.

The last speaker, Mr. Weiner, admitted the need for specialization, but emphasized the fact that this should come after high school. The child of high school age is too immature to choose his vocation, and must therefore be given an education in high school which would be as broad as possible. As for vocational training, he quoted the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association as saying that industry would much rather employ men with a general education and train them in the plant. Increase vocational training, therefore, would burden school boards with unnecessary added expense. In closing, the speaker stated that the purpose of education was to increase the individual pupil's capacity for learning, in order that he might enter any field he desires.

Due to the fact that Mr. Satterthwaite was unable to finish speaking because of a fainting spell, the Bishop's team agreed not to deliver a rebuttal.

Judges for the debate were G. Farthing, C. Wayne Hall and H. Doherty.

Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary Has Social Afternoon

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. were hostesses yesterday afternoon at a tea for the mothers of the juvenile members of the Y.M.C.A.

The tea was held in the lounge of the Y.M.C.A. under the co-operation of Mrs. N. S. Lathrop, Mrs. T. J. Quintin, the president, received the guests.

The new drapes and newly upholstered chairs in the lounge, which were recently completed by the Auxiliary, furnished a cosy atmosphere. The tea table was covered with a white embroidered cloth, and was centered with green and yellow tapers in silver holders. Mrs. Hubert Johnson poured tea.

One of the highlights of the afternoon was a tour of the buildings under the supervision of E. Shortt, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Several noticeable improvements were observed throughout the buildings.

One of the more important ones is the removal of the stairway at the side of the swimming pool. Regardless of the careful supervision, youngsters had been endangering themselves by jumping and diving off these stairs, although diving facilities are available. Much of the credit for these improvements is due to the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Perhaps the most interesting inspection was that of the Y's Bay Centre. Mrs. D. Knapp was in charge of the rooming work on a commission basis. Nearly new clothing of good quality is brought in and the Auxiliary sells these every Tuesday. Ordinarily, because of inadequate space, it is necessary to put away the clothing after each selling day as the room is used for other causes. Yesterday, however, the articles were left on display, and the collection of good quality clothing was really amazing.

After tea was served, a gymnastic demonstration took place, in which the Juniors and Midgets, under the direction of Cliff Sutton, displayed their skill at marching and handling the equipment.

The Doctor Says

OUTLOOK FOR ERYSIPELAS IS MUCH IMPROVED BY NEW DRUGS

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
The cause of the disease known as erysipelas is a streptococcus very much like the germ which produces "blood poisoning." Erysipelas, however, affects the skin in particular. It starts suddenly and is frequently associated with high fever.

Jordan

This disease, of course, can be spread from person to person as can so many of the germ diseases. It sometimes follows other streptococcus diseases such as scarlet fever. Erysipelas is most frequent early in life, especially during the first two years. It becomes more frequent again in the older days of life. Generalized weakness resulting from poor nourishment, Bright's disease involving the kidneys, and chronic alcoholism are also known to favor its development.

May Affect Face, Head

The most common form of the disease involves the skin of the face and head. Chills and other signs of a suddenly rising fever are characteristic. The skin is usually involved first in one spot—often where a small wound or scratch has been present. This becomes red, swollen and within a day or two spreads to the surrounding area. It spreads outward leaving a sharp line between the normal and diseased skin.

In the usual case, and particularly if the patient is not in poor physical condition, erysipelas may clear up in about a week even without treatment. Complications such as meningitis, inflammation of the kidneys, and even blood poisoning, however, are not uncommon. Since the sulfa drugs have become available and penicillin as well, the outlook has been greatly improved. Either one of these preparations shortens the course of the disease.

Although erysipelas is not entirely disappeared, it is certainly less frequent now in most parts of the world than in the past and when it does develop it can be treated more promptly and more successfully.

Q—What is the cause of slimy sediment in the urine?
A—Just what this means is hard to say. The urine should be examined under the microscope and by chemical tests and then it should be possible to give an explanation of this curious condition.

ty one afternoon, at the Consolidated School. Games of various kinds were played in keeping with the occasion and prizes were awarded for the best original costumes, and for the races, candy peanuts and soft drinks were also distributed. The kiddies with their smiling faces appeared to enjoy the whole affair immensely.

New Source Of Power Is Aiding In Development Of Yellowknife Area

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—An electrical shot-in-the-arm has been injected into the dreary land of musk and snow just south of the Arctic Circle.

Resources Department engineers, overcoming sub-Arctic difficulties and hazards, have harnessed a new source of power for development of the rich mining lodes in the Yellowknife area of the Northwest Territories.

It is the Snare River storage and power project, launched by the Department in 1946 and now spilling out 8,350 horsepower from the tumbling Snare River just 200 miles south of the Arctic Circle. The project was opened officially Oct. 4.

A Canadian hydro project, the Snare River job doesn't bulk large; it turns out about enough energy for a town of 5,000 or 6,000. But its completion in the face of major obstacles represents an important page in the story of man's mastery of the north.

It is the most northerly power development of its size on the continent. And it was put into production only after a long and carefully planned campaign against the tricky northern seasons, which fought the engineers at every turn.

Because of the short navigation season on northern rivers, transportation was the major obstacle. The builders utilized everything including barges, planes and sleds to get their 2,400 tons of material and equipment to the power site.

The isolated location was accessible only by plane in summer. During the winter, it was reached by tractor-sleigh trains over musk frozen by the 40-below-zero weather.

Because of pressure ridges and gaps in the ice, the lake haul of about 200 miles was a ticklish job. Tractor trains made the haul, preceded by scouting snowmobiles testing the ice. The route was inspected daily by a small plane.

As it was, the $4,500,000 job was completed about five weeks ahead of schedule, with the help of such unorthodox transportation aids as a plane landing strip dredged up right out of the Snare River below the site of the 800-foot-long dam.

Power for the project now is going to the giant Yellowknife Gold Mines, Ltd., so far the only actual customer, but by next summer it will be piped to the town of Yellowknife near the mining site 94 miles south of the Snare River site.

A town of about 3,000, Yellowknife now gets its power from its own Diesel plant and from Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. The Snare River horsepower will enable the townfolk to indulge in such luxuries as electric stoves.

Les Compagnons Have Their Own Private Theatre

By PIERRE DUBOIS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

in Montreal, Nov. 11.—The dream of a lifetime—a private theatre—has come true for Les Compagnons, Montreal's unique group of French-speaking players, to start them on the second decade of a history already well punctuated with success.

No blare of trumpets heralded the opening of the new theatre, a converted red-brick, Anglican church in Montreal's east end. But Les Compagnons celebrated by kicking over the traces in a professional way.

For their house-warming they served up for the first time a modern, standard commercial success. It was the French translation of Tennessee Williams' popular Broadway play "The Glass Menagerie."

Previously their repertoire included nothing but vehicles of a poetic nature, mostly work by Moliere.

It surprised no one that the customers liked both "Le Manoir de Verre" and the cosy little theatre with its smart, wide, stone foyer, its 450 red-plush, comfortable seats, good sight lines and deep-set stage. For 10 years Montreal audiences have accepted Les Compagnons as a group that can do no wrong.

The anonymous company—names of performers never appear on a program—started out as a purely parochial venture in the far north-end parish of St. Laurent. But their superb artistry attracted immediate attention, and popular demand forced them to come out of St. Laurent to perform in more central locations.

Under expert directorship of Father Emile Legault, the company gained even wider acclaim on a tour of provincial centres, now a part of their annual routine. Soon their founder had given up his vicarship at St. Laurent to devote all of his time to directing Les Compagnons.

Today this going concern operates with a full administrative staff, including a cook, located in the former Anglican rectory acquired along with the church. Father Legault operates a school of drama as well, and soon hopes to start an English-speaking section.

Two years ago Les Compagnons gained Dominion-wide prominence after entering the Canadian Drama Festival at London, Ont., and capturing top-ranking with Moliere's "Le Medecin Malgre Lui." Their performance won over a London, Ont., audience which advance reports had described as "difficult."

"Actually," says Father Legault, "the people of London were wonderful, and unanimous in their acclaim."

The company failed to retain their 1947 laurels at the festival. They nevertheless came away with awards for the best performance by a male actor and the best performance by a woman player. And they'll be back again in the festival at Toronto next spring.

Do Women Dress For Men?

Pretty Clothes Used To Impress Friends
As Well As Being Male-Bait

Dear Miss Dix: Will you please settle an argument which has been going on in our family for quite some time? The question is this: Do the majority of women dress for other women or to please men? My husband thinks that women don't give a rap about what men think about their clothes, that it is their sister women for whom they doll themselves up. But my mother and I hold a different opinion. We think that women use pretty clothes as a bait to attract men. What do you think about it?

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: I am straddled on the fence. Both answers are correct. The average woman is indifferent to the opinion of any man about clothes unless he is a man milliner or in the dress trade. What she is looking for is a confection that will turn her dearest friend green with envy and make her eyes bulge out.

Likewise, although the great majority of men are not too clothes-conscious, they fall for fluffy ruffles and gay colors like wheat before the scythe. A homely girl with a lot of pretty frocks can snap her fingers in Miss America's face any day, for the average man never distinguishes between a girl's glad rags and the girl herself. She looks good to him and he doesn't know that what he has fallen in love with is the latest Paris model, not the girl in it.

CREATOR'S PLAN

The love of clothes evidently was part of the Creator's plan for women, for the first thing the first woman did was to make herself a dress. It was the great original pin-up and the sex as been at it ever since, and it has been a solace to them in all the vicissitudes of life. No matter what else happens, women have, as the French say, "tousjours la toilette."

Dear Dorothy Dix: I do not believe that working wives spoil their husbands. In many cases at least since the war, it has been the wives' fault that they are still working. They become so independent during the war and earned such good money that they hate to give up their jobs. Many husbands have pleaded with their wives to return to domesticity, but they refuse.

Any man who really loves his wife is only too pleased to pay out his money for household expenses and to keep the home fires burning. Don't you think so?

GRACE

Answer: I do not think that there is any other problem that is more difficult to solve than how to get married women back again into their homes, where they are needed. They have tasted blood and they can't go back to cambric tea. Thousands of women who were young, strong and enthused with patriotism enlisted for all sorts of jobs during the war and, to their surprise, found out that they had talents they did not know they possessed and that they could command fantastic salaries.

They had been happy and contented in their small homes, but now that the war is over they are not willing to go back to their old routine. They find housework a chore for which they have no taste. They are bored for lack of excitement. And they do not want to give up their pay envelopes and just be wives and mothers again.

And that is why there are so many divorcees and so many delinquent children. For domesticity is a full-time job.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been married for nine months and am going to have a baby. My husband is 24 years old and has been married three times. He flirts with every girl he sees and comes home after midnight with lipstick all over his shirt and lips. He never gives me a penny and fusses if I even buy a bar of candy. What do you suggest that I do?

UNHAPPY WIFE

Answer: It is too late to make any suggestion that will be of any help to you just now. But after the baby is born and when your heel of a husband deserts you and the child, as he is sure to do, try to use some common sense in planning your future life. Surely a man who has the wife-swapping habit offers an awful warning that should make any girl stop, look and listen before she marries him.

Speech Courses
Benefit Student

By ALICIA HART

The time for a girl to learn to speak clearly, forcefully and attractively is while she is in school, where speech courses are available to her.

Few courses will have more to offer her in measurable benefits than speech-training. Some people are born with charming voices and the ability to use these well, but the great majority of people need to learn the mechanics of breath-control and voice-placement.

The importance of learning these mechanics while you are young and while you are developing in other directions cannot be overemphasized. Thanks to the speech-training which you're urged to include in your courses of study, you will come out of school with a personality asset which will enable you to tell your own story to anyone. A good talker is always sure of being heard. She can command attention by the very quality of her voice. If she has something to say, she can be sure of her success as a good conversationalist and, perhaps, as a fine public speaker.

Are not these sufficient inducements to make you want to develop your voice to its fullest power? And to do it now, while you are in school, rather than later on when taking a speech course is less easy to crowd into a career-girl's routine.

Too-Tight Corset
Distorts Figure

By ALICIA HART

No mature woman was ever successful in slimming hips down to fledgling proportions by squeezing into a too-tight corset. Yet plenty of women do try.

Better than a too-tight corset is one that fits a mature figure easily, gives the older woman a more easy-going grace. The most that anyone can expect of a corset is that it will control curves, knit flesh more compactly, and give clothes a firmer foundation. Besides hampering freedom and "girding" a figure too obviously, an undersized corset will squeeze in hips at the expense of a waistline or cinch in a waistline at the expense of the flesh above it.

Best choice of a girdle, for the woman who wants to look slimmer, is an all-enveloping corset or a long girdle to which a diaphragm-banded bra can be securely fastened. Such a girdle, provided it fits easily, will support muscles, keep posture more upright, control curves and make a silhouette look slimmer.

No mature woman was ever successful in slimming hips down to fledgling proportions by squeezing into a too-tight corset. Yet plenty of women do try.

Better than a too-tight corset is one that fits a mature figure easily, gives the older woman a more easy-going grace. The most that anyone can expect of a corset is that it will control curves, knit flesh more compactly, and give clothes a firmer foundation. Besides hampering freedom and "girding" a figure too obviously, an undersized corset will squeeze in hips at the expense of a waistline or cinch in a waistline at the expense of the flesh above it.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE OF CANADA

The regular meeting of the Sherbrooke Sub-division of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, took place on November 2, in the library of St. Patrick's Church, with the president, Mrs. Rene Blouin, in the chair.

Prior to the opening of the business meeting, prayers were said for the repose of the soul of Mr. Francis Hoyer.

Reports of the secretary, Miss Yvette Campbell, and the treasurer, Mrs. Bernadette Lecours, were read and adopted.

Mrs. R. C. Winslade, social service convenor, stated that regardless of lack of money in the social service fund, at the request of Father Moisan (who had many calls for help), the social service work would be carried on as usual. Mrs. Winslade reported shoes, rubbers, clothing and two tons of coal had been provided to needy persons.

The sum of five dollars was voted towards wreaths for Armistice Day.

Mrs. Rene Blouin, president of the Sub-division, stated that a letter had been received from Mr. Frank Conway commending the work of the C.W.L. members as canvassers during the Catholic Charities Campaign.

A very urgent appeal from Mrs. H. P. Swan, a C.W.L. worker at present in Germany and noted for her outstanding work in the organization of the Beaver Club in London during the war, was brought to the attention of the meeting by Mrs. John Murphy.

This appeal was for material for diapers, as well as articles of baby clothing of any kind, and also old Christmas cards to brighten the lives of the many destitute children in Germany. In consequence of this appeal, the sum of $10 was voted for the purchase of materials plus the additional sum required for shipping charges. Members present were urged to get in touch with other members to obtain contributions towards making up parcels to forward to Mrs. Swan to assist her in her very charitable endeavors.

Mrs. F. E. S. Shelley noted that a number of members had been ill, these being Miss Planchette Roy, Mrs. Paul Rousseau, Mrs. A. S. Parker and Mrs. Leonard Barlow. Sincere wishes were expressed for their speedy return to health.

Mrs. Shelley read a letter from a patient in St. Francis Sanatorium to whom the visits of C.W.L. visitors had brought comfort and cheer. Hospital visits for the month numbered 32 to the Sherbrooke Hospital; 39 to St. Vincent de Paul; 40 to the Hotel Dieu; 5 to the Sanatorium, and the usual weekly visit to 15 or 20 aged at the Sacred Heart Hospice. Four private calls were also made.

Mrs. A. L. Vallee announced that a closed retreat would be held at the Blessed Sacrament Villa on the week-end of the 13th and 14th of November, with Reverend Father Coghlin as retreat-master. Members were urged to attend and to bring friends.

It was announced by Mrs. Thomas Coley that the yearly drawing would be held at the December meeting. The president, Mrs. Blouin, extended congratulations and thanks to Mrs. J. W. Drapeau and Mrs. F. Steben for the success achieved in the food booths sponsored by the Senior Sub-Division C.W.L. on the occasion of the parish bazaar.

The suggestion was made by Mrs. R. C. Winslade that a donation be made to the Boys' Camp—the sum of $25 being accordingly voted for this purpose.

Members were reminded of the donation of food and fancy articles for the sale which will be held at the December 9 tea.

An appeal was made for singers in the Ladies' Choir—especially for the Holy Hour.

New members proposed and accepted were: Mrs. C. G. Litter, Mrs. Oscar Blouin, Mrs. Louis Pecteau, Mrs. G. W. Gagne, Miss May Morrissey, Mrs. Ernest Boisvert and Miss M. A. McKenty.

OBITUARIES

MRS. SIMEON WRIGHT, OF NORTHAMPTON, MASS.

Glen Sutton, Nov. 11.—This community was saddened to learn of the passing of a former resident here many years ago, Ella J. Wright, at Northampton, Mass., on October 24.

She was born at Glen Sutton on October 22, 1867, the eldest of the family of Samuel and Maria Bryant Sargent.

A sister, Mrs. Frank Wilson, of Glen Sutton, alone remains. Two brothers, Horace and Freeman, predeceased her in the years that have passed.

She was married to Simeon Wright and spent the years of her married life on the farm now occupied by her sister and family.

Five children were born to them and when all were very young she lost her husband by an accident.

With fortitude and courage she proceeded to bring up her young family, still occupying the little farm on the hillside. Her son, Claude, a boy in his teens, manfully stuck by her until the sisters were grown up. She disposed of the farm and went to Northampton, Mass., in 1913, to be near some daughters, and where she was first employed at the Lonesome Pine Inn for several years.

She then was employed as cook at the Lawrence House, a Smith College dormitory, for 18 years, retiring after her 70th birthday, to make her home with her youngest daughter, Lila, Mrs. Charles Barnett, at 28 Myrtle street, Northampton, Mass.

Other daughters were nearby with whom she visited frequently, as well as with her son, Claude, at Bellows Falls, Vt.

She was a faithful Christian, a quiet and reserved friend and neighbor, and gave unstintingly of her means and strength. To know her was to love her better.

She suffered two light strokes in September, 1947, from which she partially recovered, so that she was able to be up and around performing light housework. Shortly more than a year later complete paralysis overcame her and although her mind was clear to the last, it was apparent that the end was approaching.

The funeral was held from the Newell and Son Funeral Home in Northampton, Mass., on October 27 at 2 o'clock, with an organ prelude at 1:30 p.m., and was conducted by Rev. Robert Rodinmay, of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Burial was made in the family lot in the Bridge street cemetery. Bearers selected by herself were and as

Remembrance Day Services And A Parade Were Held At Waterloo

Waterloo, Nov. 11. — An impressive Remembrance Day service was held in Waterloo on Sunday, November 7, when a parade, beginning at the Canadian Legion Hall, wound its way up Court Street, down to Main Street, at the Post-Office and stopped at the Town Hall.

Members of Shefford Branch No. 77, Canadian Legion, Boy Scouts, C.G.I.T., and service clubs made up the large parade, all led by the Waterloo Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. George Young.

At the cenotaph, in front of the Town Hall, gathered the citizens of Waterloo to pay respectful homage to those who laid down their lives in World War I and World War II.

Rev. Harry Andrews, O.B.E., led the gathering in a short prayer, after which wreaths were laid at the cenotaph, representing relatives, the Legion, all societies and service clubs, manufacturers and friends. This was followed by the sounding of the "Last Post," two minutes' silence, "Reveille," and the National Anthem.

The parade again wound its way down to the United Church, where a divine service of remembrance was held. Rev. N. D. Patterson, of Granby, was in charge assisted by Rev. H. Andrews, who read the lesson. A choir made up of representatives of both St. Paul's and St. Luke's led in the singing of three hymns, "Land of our Birth," "Lord, while for all mankind we pray," and "O Valiant Hearts." Miss Janet Adam was at the organ, and she accompanied Mr. Roger McKenney in the singing of "There is no Death" by Geoffrey O'Hara.

Rev. Mr. Patterson in his remarks spoke of the First War, its destruction, its suffering and its results. "Was it all for naught," he asked. "Not entirely, as it showed many weaknesses in man's plan for peace. Therefore the second war was brought on by struggling, pompous war minded individuals. In the arms of this conflict encircled the globe, and brought sadness to hearts of everyone. Did the lesson we learned in the first war suffice us to make a decent and lasting peace this time? Time alone will tell," the speaker stated, "but we must turn to God for guidance, for help and for leadership. This way alone will grant the peace for which everyone is seeking."

The standard bearers for the occasion were Messrs. R. Stretch, L. Bissonette, W. Scott and W. Hughes for the Canadian Legion, Robert Mairs, Roy Parkes, John Porter and Dale Chadcock for the Scouts, and the Misses Ruth Adam, Joy Hackwell, Rita Neilson and Juliette Tetreault for the C.G.I.T. Mr. Windsor Holloway was the sergeant-at-arms.

ST. PAUL'S ANNIVERSARY SERVICE

At the regular morning service of St. Paul's United Church, the anniversary service was held. Rev. Mr. Reader of Calvary's United Church, Montreal, was the minister for the occasion, and his address was based on "Humanity, and the four reasons that it is up the river without a boat." "It is not a lost cause," it was stated, "but there are many roads, many wrong ones, which may be taken back. We learned many through error, we have many more to learn, but we should not be discouraged with the results. We have the Lord to whom we may turn," the speaker stated, "and he will not only show us the way but will accompany us on our journey. We should not let him wait too long, but we must act today, and seek guidance."

The choir rendered as an anthem "He Careth for Thee" by Bemis, with the duet being taken by Mrs. R. D. MacLay, soprano and Mrs. G. E. Hanson, contralto.

WATERLOO REVERTS TO DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

The Waterloo Town Council has passed a regulation whereby the town of Waterloo will revert to daylight saving time at midnight, Saturday, November 13th, 1948.

This is in accordance with the necessity of conserving electricity due to power shortage, and the town council is requesting that all citizens do what they can to help in the ten percent cut in electricity.

This is an emergency, one which we must face as gracefully as possible with every precaution taken in order to save power.

This, of course, is brought on due to the excessive dry weather of late, and with the coming of a few days' rain, the normal way of life, as far as electricity is concerned, will be resumed.

A FOOD SALE

A food sale under the auspices of the Order of the Eastern Star was held on Saturday afternoon at the Southern Canada Company's store.

There was an excellent assortment of food, and it was well patronized, with a financial success being assured.

An interesting feature was the raffling of a hand-made lace tablecloth, made and donated by Mrs. McIntyre. This raffle was won by Mrs. A. A. Taylor.

IRON HILL

The second son, Jack, of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Chapman, was knocked down by a horse which he was leading. The horse stepped on the boy. One leg has a compound fracture and the other badly bruised.

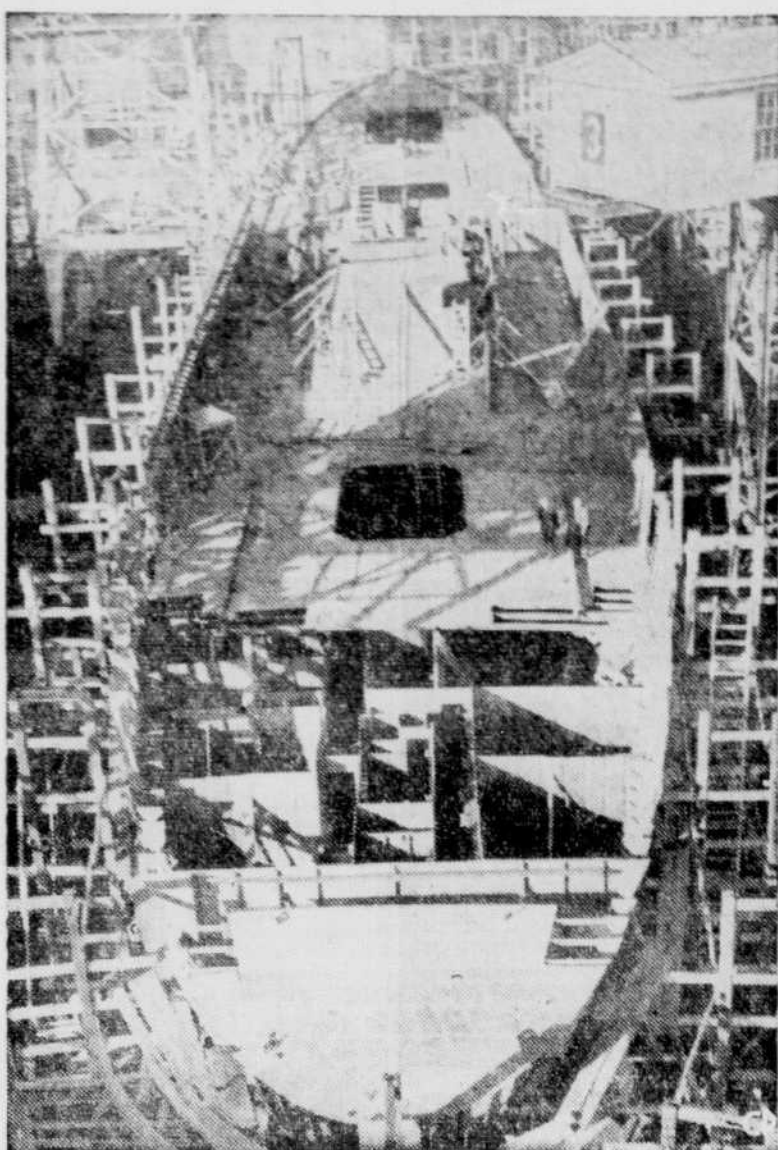

The friends of Mr. Edward Hunt will be happy to learn that he has returned from St. Joseph's Hospital, in Granby, much improved in health.

Mrs. D. E. Hadlock is at home after staying with her son, Wilfrid, in East Farnham, for several weeks.

Mrs. Perry, of Sudbury, Ont., has been staying with Mrs. James Mason for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Leilyn Mason are home, after a two weeks' vacation with relatives in the United States. The friends of Mr. John Beard, a former resident of this place, will be sorry to hear that he is in St. Joseph's Hospital, in Granby.

International Hostility Deepens As Canada Remembers Dead Of Two Wars

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—(C)—Canadians today are marking the 30th anniversary of the ending of the first major war even as the shadows of international hostility darken the world.

On this Remembrance Day, the thoughts of millions go out to the 100,000 graves in France, Belgium, Holland, Italy, Britain, Japan, Hong Kong and elsewhere that tangibly represent the national sacrifice in two conflicts.

The ritual that has become tradition will speak its solemn voice from coast to coast, in cities, towns, and hamlets. The two minutes of silence, the bugle, the laying of the wreaths, the hymns, the hushed reverence will unfold around the local monuments.

There will be no public speaking of the doubts and fears that will haunt every moment of ceremony.

In Ottawa, a Russian military attaché will take his place in the line of foreign representatives who place their wreaths. He will be dressed in the brown uniform of his country.

The capital will see its annual observance take place at the na-

It is the same sandy beach, washed by the same waters of the English Channel but there all resemblance ends. Taken in August of this year, the top Canadian Army photo shows residents of Calvados province enjoying the pleasures of the beach at Bernieres in Normandy. The bottom photo was taken D-Day, June 6, 1944, as Canadian troops poured into Normandy. Here many Canadian soldiers who will be remembered today lost their lives. (CP Photo).

Four Years After

Family Gets Lawyer For R. E. Barrows

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Ralph Edward Barrows, 19-year-old athlete charged with the Waldorf-Astoria hotel killing of a Montreal businessman, believes "the jury will be in my corner . . . when the truth is known."

That was what he told his mother Mrs. Yvonne Burdick, when she visited him yesterday in Tombs Prison.

At the same time the Legal Aid Society withdrew from defence of the Grand Rapids, Mich., youth.

Benjamin Schmier, court-appointed lawyer and member of the society, said he had withdrawn from relatives in Richmond and Melbourne.

Mrs. J. Proulx and Mr. William Robinson and Mrs. Alfred Davidson were dinner guests of Mrs. Ovidia Lariviere and Mrs. Annie Ingram in Melbourne.

Mr. Wilfred Proulx and Miss Irene Davidson were in Richmond and called on Mrs. O. Lariviere.

Miss Irene Davidson was a dinner guest of her brother, Mr. Leonard Davidson, and family.

Mr. Thomas Lancaster, Mr. Hubert Cookman and Mrs. Robert Lancaster visited at the home of the latter's daughter, Mrs. Leonard Davidson, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Crook and children, of Granby, called on their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lancaster, on their way to Richmond.

Messrs. Thomas Lancaster and Alex Davidson were in Valcourt on business.

R. E. BARROWS

the case after Barrows' parents told him they had funds to engage a private lawyer.

Barrows is charged with homicide in the death of Colin Cameron MacKellar, 56-year-old textile executive. Mr. MacKellar was found beaten to death in his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Friday. Barrows was arrested several hours later.

He has pleaded innocent to the charge. The district attorney's office, however, said it had obtained a verbal admission from Barrows that he struck Mr. MacKellar in an argument.

DAVIDSON HILL

Mr. and Mrs. George Brereton, of Montreal, spent two days with her mother, Mrs. Henry Lancaster, her brother, Munroe Lancaster, and her uncle, Mr. Andrew Mallette, who has been ill at the home of his sister, Mrs. Henry Lancaster.

The sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Skillen and family in the loss of their home in Ulverton, by fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davidson and little daughter, Patsy Ann, of Montreal, spent a short time at the home of his mother, Mrs. Alfred Davidson, and brother, Mr. Alex Davidson.

Miss Irene Davidson, T.A., of Montreal, spent a few days with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tibbets, and family, in Waterloo, on her way home here, where she will spend an indefinite time.

Mr. Alex Davidson was an overnight guest of his brother, Mr. Leonard Davidson and family in Melbourne and was accompanied home by his brother, Leonard, and nephew, Robert Davidson.

Mrs. Alfred Davidson was a dinner guest of her son, Mr. Leonard Davidson and family, in Melbourne.

Mr. Thomas Lancaster called on the prime minister, the chiefs of staff and others.

Nov. 11 has been tacitly accepted as remembrance day for both wars. There has been some talk of changing it to a day that would embrace both conflicts but nothing has come of it.

MANSONVILLE

Miss D. A. Manson spent a few days in Montreal.

Mr. Hormidas Lafreniere was a visitor in town.

Athlete's Foot Archaeologists Take Advantage Of London's Many Acres Of War Ruins

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 11. — The blitzing of London left bare many acres of foundations which offer a tempting field for archaeologists. And they are taking advantage of it.

Two years ago leading British antiquaries created a fund which paid for the first year's work. Archaeologists penetrated to the level of Roman occupation—now buried to an average depth of 16 feet below the modern streets.

Digging trenches at various carefully chosen positions they cut through the confused upper accumulations of post-Roman London right down to virgin soil.

Leading antiquaries say, however, that little more than negative information was gained, and it will be necessary to cut a "long exploratory trench" before the positions of Roman streets and buildings can be determined. Before the trench can be cut more funds will be needed.

"If the first four centuries of London's history are to be adequately explored, the task must be a national—even an international one," said antiquarian Gordon Hume.

A good many thousands of pounds must be spent if the opportunity is not to be wasted before rebuilding begins.

Antiquaries point out that the massive brick and concrete blocking the way of archaeologists will inevitably have to be moved by the contractors of tomorrow, so that the cost of drilling and removing would not be wasted even from a utilitarian viewpoint.

"Until the middle of the last century," Hume said, "little was known of Roman London. So few were aware of the city's Roman origin that next to no interest was taken in the chance discoveries of Victorian times."

Today many city aldermen are alive to the current opportunity of unveiling a portion of Roman London. The plan prepared for the city's reconstruction leaves open the Roman defensive wall running from Cripplegate Church toward Aldersgate, and it is here that many important discoveries may be made.

SHERBROOKE AT HOME TONIGHT TO QUEBEC AGGREGATION

Locals To Be Gunning For Number Nine Win; Both Squads At Full Strength For Important Battle

Coach Dugre and his fast stepping boys will be at home this evening to the Aces of Quebec, who are putting in their initial appearance of the season at the local arena.

Sherbrooke, who are at present the hottest team in the league having won their last eight games, will be out gunning for number nine when they line up against the Aces this evening. The locals will have their full team in uniform for tonight's battle with Playing Coach Punch Imlach's squad.

In their first encounter of the season, in Quebec City, the locals banged out a 5-1 win over the Capitol City aggregation to upset the highly rated Aces, and no doubt Imlach's squad will be seeking revenge for the insulting setback they received from George Slater's new entry in the loop.

The Aces pack a fast skating outfit and is backed up by one of the best net minders in the circuit in the person of Johnny Marois, who is also one of the province's good tennis players. Marois has a good pair of hands and can handle his end of the game in a fair manner. On the blueline Coach Imlach has Renaud and the much talked about McBride, for whom the Aces paid a good sum to Conny Smythe to obtain his services, and the boys will be trying to break the local's winning stride.

At the present Sherbrooke has a victory over every team in the league, except Ottawa and Royals, and Saturday evening the locals will move into Ottawa to tangle with Tommy Gorman's highly rated Senators to see if they can add Boucher's boys to their long list of wins. Sunday they return home to take on the hot Valleyfield Braves in a regular fixture of the Senior loop.

Stampeders Given Edge Over Regina In Final

Calgary, Nov. 11.—(P)—Calgary Stampeders, unbeaten in league competition all season, today held a slight edge in betting odds as they prepared to meet Regina's Saskatchewan Roughriders here for the Western Canada football championship and the right to play the east for the Canadian title.

At Regina last Saturday the teams battled to a 4-4 stalemate in the first of the two-game, total-point series, and today's fixture has assumed the status of a sudden-death affair.

Fred Grant, Roughriders coach, said his team was in "top shape," a sentiment echoed by Stampeders Coach Les Lear for his own charges.

Both teams went through light drills yesterday, practising behind locked gates to prevent any leakage of possible surprise plays planned for the crucial game.

Providence Reds Beaten By Flyers

St. Louis Flyers, leaders in the western section of the American Hockey League, last night handed a 4-2 defeat to first-place Providence Reds in the eastern division.

Flyer scoring was divided between Paul Gladiu, Johnny Mariucci, Johnny Raynak and Ernie Trigg—two of the goals coming in the first frame and two in the middle period.

Johnny Chad and Pete Kapusta racked up a marker apiece for the losers.

Pittsburgh Hornets and Cleveland Barons battled to a hard-fought 3-3 tie with Stan Kemp getting a pair of goals for the Hornets. Sid Smith got the other tally.

Pete Leswick hit the mark twice for the Barons while Ralph Wycherley got a single.

Rovers Eke Out 4-2 Decision Over Royals

Lake Placid, N.Y., Nov. 11.—(P)—New York Rovers scored twice in the overtime period last night to defeat Montreal Royals 4-2 in a Quebec Senior Hockey League game.

The Rovers were behind 2-0 when they came through with a pair of third-period goals to send the game into the extra session.

Bob Pepin of the league-leading Royals put the visitors ahead with a goal at 6:55 of the opening period and the lead stood until Stan McLellan evened the count for the Rovers in the first minute of the third period. Billy Watson sent the New York team into a temporary lead at 4:18 but Pete Morin evened the count at 12:37 for the Royals to send the game into overtime.

The Rovers wasted no time in caging the winning goal when Flynn, Dick Kotanen and Val Dery swept down the ice following the opening face-off. Flynn netting at 12 seconds. Allan Staley scored the insurance marker for the Royals at the four-minute mark and the winners hung on for the remainder of the play.

Goals by Ken McKenzie, Mario McKay, Les Douglas, Doug Lewis, George Azar and Art Lessard put Buffalo Bisons ahead of New Haven Ramblers, 6-1.

Befogged Black Hawks Left In N.H.L. Cellar As Boston-New York Clash Is Postponed Owing To Heavy Fog

Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings skated around in the fog for nine minutes last night and then decided to call it a night.

Referee Bill Chadwick decided the dense fog in Boston Garden was a bit too thick and ordered the game replayed tonight.

For Chicago Black Hawks, the fog they've been in most of the season lifted in the third period. But they came out of it too late to catch the New York Rangers who beat them 4-3 for Rangers' second win this year.

It left the Hawks alone in the National Hockey League cellar, two points behind the Rangers.

It was the first time in N.H.L. history that a game has been postponed after it started. Unusually mild weather was blamed for the soft ice which Chadwick decided was too dangerous. There were no "fog checks," but the capacity crowd of 15,900 was told the ticket stubs would be honored tonight.

Black Hawks move up to Montreal for tonight's other game.

Hawks' defeat boded ill for their heavy road trip this week. They play in Toronto Saturday and are back home Sunday to meet Detroit, a total of four games in five nights.

Veteran Edgar Laprade whipped in two goals for Rangers while Winnipeg's Don Raleigh and rookie Clint Albritton got the others. Gage Stewart, Roy and Jim Conacher scored for Chicago.

Trailing 4-1 at the start of the first period, Hawks put on a heavy drive that forced Coach Frank Boucher to put five Ranger defencemen on the ice to beat off the desperate Hawks in the final period. He made the shift when Coach Charlie Conacher pulled Sugar Jim Henry from the Chicago nets and iced six forwards.

Laprade sent Rangers ahead in the first period on a pass from Ed Kullman. Raleigh followed two minutes later after Albritton made the play. Rangers' lead was cut by Roy Copacher's 35-foot shot with assists going to Metro Prystai and Gage Stewart.

Jim Conacher and Stewart scored four minutes apart during the third-period drive.

National Sports Conference To Be Summoned By Federal Government

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—(P)—A national sports conference has been summoned for next Jan. 7-8, the government announced today in a move seen as a probable consequence of Canada's fiasco in the last Olympics.

Aim of the Ottawa conference, to which more than 30 amateur and professional sports bodies have been invited, is to promote "greater participation of sports in Canada."

A health department announcement said the meeting has been called by the Government-sponsored National Council on Physical Fitness, by the Council made clear in the invitation it is not trying to take—and will not accept—any responsibility for governing sport in the Dominion.

"Members of the council feel," according to the announcement, "that the time is opportune for a meeting at which problems of mutual concern may be discussed by representatives of the sports groups and solutions considered for any difficulties which may exist."

N.H.L. Game Called Off Owing To Fog

Boston, Nov. 11.—(P)—The first-place Detroit Red Wings and the runner-up Boston Bruins will play off the first postponement of a started game in the National Hockey League's history tonight at Boston Garden.

With the temperature in the 70s and conditions muggy, referee Bill Chadwick ordered it put over for 24 hours last night after the sides had played nine minutes and one second of scoreless, tame action.

Heading the players' complaints that the ice was much too soft and the fog over the rink much too thick to follow the puck, Chadwick called for a 10-minute recess.

During a conference with General Manager Art Ross and Coach Dit Clapper of the Bruins, and Tommy Ivan, the Red Wings' pilot, Chadwick suggested he telephone league President Clarence S. Campbell in Montreal, and request permission to stop the game.

When Campbell could not be reached immediately, the quartet decided to act on its own initiative and stop the game. The packed crowd of 15,900 was advised that ticket stubs could be used for either tonight's reply or for refunds.

As a result of this unprecedented major league hockey action, tonight's Quebec Senior League game between Boston Olympics and Ottawa Senators has been put over indefinitely.

HOCKEY'S BIG SEVEN
The big seven remains unchanged with no new entries after last night's game. Still leading the race is the Torrid-Bruin line of Grant Warwick, Ed Sanford and Pete Babando. The trio's chance to make a few extra points were squelched last night when the Bruin-Detroit game was stopped in Boston because of fog in the rink.

Aces Edge Out Cats 5-4 In Overtime

Quebec, Nov. 11.—(P)—An overtime goal by Julian Smith gave a 5-4 victory to Quebec Aces over Shawinigan Falls Cataracts in a regular game of the Quebec Senior Hockey League played here last night before 3,500 fans. It was Shawinigan's 10th loss in a row.

Playing Coach Punch Imlach led the offensive over Cataracts with two goals as Earl Frazell and Jimmy Planché were getting the others. For the losers, Jean Jacques Lafond, Hughie Riopelle, Alfie Webster and Matt Del Vecchio scored one apiece.

Alouettes Face Ottawa With 3 Top Players Injured; Coach Hayman Looks For Win Although Riders Favored

Montreal, Nov. 11.—(P)—The Alouettes are down today as Montreal Alouettes tangle with Ottawa Rough Riders here in the first game of the Big Four football play-off.

The Alouettes, rated as seven to five underdogs, are going into battle with three of their most valuable players watching from the side.

They hope to get some of it from Aaron Robinson, Chicago White Sox catcher obtained yesterday in a swap for pitcher Billy Pierce.

Robinson comes to Detroit in a straight player deal. The swap was engineered at the major-league draft meeting in Cincinnati by the Tigers' general manager, Billy Evans, in conversations with Frank Lane, new general manager of the Sox.

Robinson, 32-year-old former New York Yankee catcher who went to the White Sox in a trade for pitcher Ed Lopat a year ago, hit only .249 for the White Sox.

He bagged eight homers. It's believed he'll deliver the long ball more frequently here, however, for he's a strong left-hand hitter and will be aiming for Briggs stadium's moderately short 325-foot right-field fence.

Pierce, 21-year-old graduate of Detroit sandlots and highland Park (Mich.) High School, came to the Tigers during the war as a curve-balling left-hander with promise.

Last season, Pierce won three games and lost none but was used in only 55 innings.

The trade could benefit both clubs. Chicago is short on pitching and Detroit is in dire need of a long hitter.

Bridgeport, Conn.—Georgeie Duna, 130, Hartford, outpointed Teddy (Redtop) Davis, 132, Brooklyn (10).

lines—halfback Billy Bass and linemen Steve Chamko and Ralph Webber.

Bass is a recent blow to the Alouettes' undaunted spirit. He developed water on the knee since the Montreal club downed the Wildcats last week-end in Hamilton.

Montreal Coach Lew Hayman plans to try for a big score in this opener of a two-game, total-point series. He knows how tough the Ottawa boys can be.

"We have everything to gain and nothing to lose, by gambling on rolling up as big score as we can in the opener," Hayman said yesterday as he put the final touches to his play-off strategy.

General opinion is that the Riders' strength rests on their two powerful lines. The Alouettes match their first forward wall—perhaps best it—but they don't have the reserve the Ottawa squad boast.

In the backfield, Alouettes have a slight edge.
