

Mayor, 2 aldermen are acclaimed

Examiner

Vol. XXXV, No. 2 MONTREAL 6, THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1967 16 PAGES 5c

R. B. SEAMAN, Westmount city clerk, caught by the camera as he announces the nomination and election of M. L. TUCKER as mayor for another term and the nomination and election of DAN DOHENY, Q.C., and G. IAN CRAIG C.A., as aldermen, all by acclamation.

On Selby :

City asks SAF action

In order to spare the feelings of the provincial government, Westmount is officially asking SAF (the government's rental agency) to move the families from the condemned building at 323 Selby street.

A letter to this effect has been sent officially to SAF.

The residents in all of the expropriated area of Selby street have been living there illegally since June of '66 on what might be regarded as a tolerance, although there was a verbal extension from the former provincial administration, though nothing in writing.

Thus, the province, through its rental agents, may, at any time, legally require any residents of the area to vacate without further notice.

Man held on charge of indecent assault

Swift action on the part of a parent has resulted in lodging a second man in as many weeks in local police cells — charged with an attempted indecent assault.

The youth in question, who lives on St. Antoine street, was on his way to church Sunday morning when he was approached by a man who suggested the pair get together after church.

When he returned to his home, the boy told his father what had occurred.

The boy and father went looking for the man together, and when the parent caught up with the accused, he held him for the police.

Two churches hit by sneak-thieves

Sneak thieves have struck twice in the same week at Westmount churches — in each case in an overnight attempt at breaking and entering.

Purse snatch fails

Westmount police are looking for a slim, 5 feet, 7 inches tall youth about 16 or 17 years of age who almost succeeded in a purse-snatching Thursday at Metcalfe and Sherbrooke.

A woman was crossing the corner, when the youth, wearing dark trousers and a light-colored jacket, dove at her purse, grabbed it, and began to run.

She held on to the purse and the strap broke. The bag fell to the ground, spewing her cosmetics and other contents of the purse on the roadway.

The youth fled, without obtaining anything of value.

Early Thursday, officials of the Christian Science Church on Lansdowne avenue below Sherbrooke, reported that an attempt had been made to break into the church building by way of the front door.

The thief, or thieves, could not affect an entry however, and may have been frightened away by the regular safety patrol.

In the second case, between Wednesday night and Thursday morning, mauraders made their way into the offices of Westmount Park United Church through a window facing west.

Reported missing are dictaphone equipment, a desk lamp and a travelling clock.

Police are watching the area with extra care, and precaution is also being taken to keep a special watch on other churches in the city, it is reported.

Recidivist is charged in 4 more

David Cabana, known to Westmount police as far back as 1954, is in local police cells again — this time being picked up by the Town of Mt. Royal police.

He is accused of breaking and entering four local residences in the past few weeks and making off with household goods, jewelry and other items.

Breaks were: two on Western avenue and one on Melville, as well as a fourth on Church Hill.

He is also suspected of being implicated in others, police report.

Two o'clock Monday afternoon came and went at Westmount city hall — and no candidate appeared to contest the nomination of Michael L. Tucker for another term as mayor of the municipality; or to contest the nomination of Daniel Doheny, Q.C. for aldermanic seat five, or G. Ian Craig, C.A. for aldermanic seat six.

Thus, once again, the nominees of the Westmount Municipal Association came through unscathed, and will be sworn in on Monday night at a council session, to take their seats as duly constituted and decreed by the Cities and Towns Act of the Province of Quebec.

Members of the council whose terms do not conclude at this time turned up at city hall, as is the usual custom, and the council members, old and new, met for luncheon.

As the time for the close of nominations approached, there was some slight tension, as it was known that a set of nomination papers had been taken out — however, it was found, according to reports, that the person who had intended opposing the Municipal Association slate was not duly qualified, so the three men went in unopposed.

R. R. Seaman duly announced the three names as nominated and elected.

C. M. Russell, president of the municipal association, was on hand to keep an eye on the association's nominees, leaving when he saw that all had been well and properly done.

Centennial task tenders called

Tenders have been called for the addition to the Municipal Library — Westmount's Centennial Project — and tenders will be opened January 19th, it is announced.

Council members, in committee, will check the tenders and award the contract, it is expected, at the first February meeting of council.

Educators discuss the Parent Report

Tuesday night next at 8 o'clock in the Westmount High School Auditorium a joint meeting of the Home and School Associations of Westmount High, Westmount Park and Roslyn schools will be held.

A panel discussion has been arranged on the subject: "The Parent Commission Report and English Education".

Panelists will include — K. H. Oxley, district superintendent, Westmount and NDG, Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal; J. Purkiss, president, Quebec Federation Home and Schools; Father O'Connor, Thomas More Institute; N. W. Wood, principal, Westmount High School. Moderator is Stanley Cohen.

Each panelist will speak on a facet of the subject matter, followed by a question period.

Next week's weather BY ERIC NEAL

JANUARY 14 TO 21, 1967

Very cold with wind-driven snow to open this stormy week. Continuing sunny for a day or two, with easing temperatures and light winds.

Not always, but many years at this time we have a complete thaw, with thick fogs, freezing drizzle or mixed rain and snow, with ice pellets.

Snow banks and icy roads bring traffic to a standstill, and ski slopes lose their snow.

Improving generally, with cold gale winds and light snow through the weekend.

Mink coat, watch, cash are stolen

Residents of an apartment building at 250 Clarke avenue returned home Saturday to find that marauders had made their way into a home, and carried off a quantity of household goods.

While the list is not yet complete, known missing are a mink coat and a wrist-watch, as well as $25 in cash.

Entry was effected, it is believed, by picking the lock on the front door.

Long arm of law

A long-standing case on the books of the Westmount police department was settled this week in Vancouver.

RCMP officials there, acting as provincial police officers, arrested a man who gave his name as Peter Tomkins.

Among other misdemeanours in other parts of the country, he told the west coast officials he had committed a burglary in Westmount on October 13, 1965.

Police here checked the records.

A television set was reported stolen on that date from 1011 Greene avenue, and the case not solved — until now.

Teachers meet Parents today

Westmount High School has issued a letter to parents of pupils at the school, relating to the subject of interviews between parents and teachers.

Text of the letter follows:

"Most parents and teachers realize that for best results in education it is necessary for parents and teachers to work as closely together as possible. Unfortunately the complexity of high school programmes makes it difficult to arrange for frequent face-to-face contacts between teachers and parents.

One such opportunity was provided at the November meeting of the Home and School Association when parents had an opportunity to meet their child's teachers, to see the classrooms and to hear a few words about the work being done by the class.

A second opportunity is being arranged for the afternoon of January 12, when time has been set aside for interviews with teachers. Pupils are being dismissed at 2:20 p.m. and all teachers will be in their classrooms from 2:30-4:30 p.m. to receive parents. The time available for individual interviews will depend on the number of parents desiring to see each teacher, but five minutes may be considered the normal maximum. A member of the Home and School Association will be at each classroom to introduce parents and to see that time is fairly distributed.

The school hopes that an appreciable number of parents will attend but that the number will not be so large as to cause parents long delays. Last year's arrangements worked out very satisfactorily because the majority of parents who attended were those who had problems they wished to discuss with one or two teachers. The November meeting was designed to give those who simply wished to meet the teacher an opportunity to do so. In cases where a pupil is doing unsatisfactory work in several subjects it is generally more satisfactory to

Unity Club plays part in Centennial project

All attention is being directed towards the Montreal Boys' Association Centennial Project which is having its "Kick-Off" January 28th at the Hussars Armory.

The clubs involved in this effort are East End Boys' Club, Lions Boys' Club, Point St. Charles Boys' Club and Unity.

The party at the Armory is to be a gala event. Each Club will be representing a different section of Canada — Unity has the honour of representing the Maritimes.

To this end Mr. Schuett, a very valuable volunteer in the Woodwork Department, has agreed to construct a float representing the Bluenose Schooner. Mr. Schuett is a master craftsman and we are looking forward to something really outstanding in this line. It is hoped that every club will have a float in the parade. There will be a dance with an outstanding band, booths with games of chance, a real Carnival atmosphere with all the trimmings is being planned — "A really big show!"

All members, their friends, parents, staff, committee members and all interested parties are urged to attend. Tickets at a very nominal sum may be procured at the various clubs.

PARLEZ VOUS FRANCAIS?
We have acquired many young French members recently and our staff, three from Ontario and two from Vancouver are finding it slightly difficult to communicate at times. They are very anxious to learn to be bi-lingual but in the meantime we would welcome some French speaking volunteers to facilitate matters and make everyone happy.

NEW STAFF MEMBERS
We welcome to our staff two new members, Miss Catherine Walker from Vancouver. Catherine is in charge of the girls' activities at the Club and has many plans for the coming year.

Mr. Ian Macdonald, another newcomer, hails from Burnaby, B.C. Ian is assisting Tom Stephens, Program Director, with the many club duties and activities around the club. We welcome them both and hope their association with Unity will be a pleasant one.

NEW ACTIVITY
The club has been the recipient of a Model Car racing set and also an electric train. Naturally these need repairs and attention with so many people handling them so frequently. Robert McRae and Robert Laflamme have agreed to be in charge of these and have set up these activities in the Talent Room. Anyone interested may participate under the direction of these members.

NOTES OF INTEREST
Our new wilm has arrived and it is hoped that a Ceramic Class will be started very shortly.

Mrs. Audreen Hawkins will be conducting an Advanced Craft Course for boys and girls 11 years or older every Tuesday evening. Registrations will be taken at the desk.

ZOO
Our zoo is still the centre of much interest. The baby Hampsters are really growing rapidly — it is really fascinating to see the development from day to day. The parents are still very protective and won't tolerate any interference. One little one strayed into the water dish and nearly drowned until it was pulled out by the parents, dried off with some loose paper and covered up with material to dry off. Such devotion!!

A Closer look at Education

In an effort to carry more details to a larger number of tax-payers, The Examiner is planning to bring its readers almost complete details of the brief submitted recently to the Superior Council of Education on the report of the Royal Commission of Inquiry on Education in the Province of Quebec.

The general review of the situation has been reported as follows:
SOCIO-ECONOMIC FUTURE OF QUEBEC

There is no need to dwell at any length on the changing face of Quebec. Forces of a new nature, instilling fresh vitality in the life of the Province, are seen on every hand. A largely agrarian society has yielded place to one which seeks to gird itself for the struggle to master the natural resources of the land. An industrial society now dominates the scene.

The new type of education which the Royal Commission regards as best suited for the needs of this rapidly changing society is commendable.

Technical/Vocational education is now being accorded the measure of respect to which it is justly entitled. In this field the education of the French-speaking youth has been, in the light of recent developments, inadequate. This same stricture can be applied to an even greater degree in the case of their English-speaking compatriots. No one will dispute for one second the right of the French-speaking youth of Quebec to play in the development of the Province any role for which he is suited by reason of competency, training, and education. No one can but wish him every success in this laudable ambition. But the English-speaking youth is now becoming increasingly aware that he too is called upon to prepare himself in like manner in order to deserve a place in the advancing throng.

The success of this cause depends on it being a truly common one, aimed ever onwards and upwards. Community of interest cannot, however, ensue where the efforts of one party are retarded in order to allow time for the other to make up for past periods of sporadic activity. Both must be permitted to move onwards and they will do so provided each is assured of every reasonable freedom.

Since each should be genuinely interested in the progress of the other, there can be no (Continued on page 13)

We Say

Council offices willed and filled

THE offices of mayor and aldermen in many municipalities are sought, fought and even bought.

In Westmount they are simply willed and filled.

The Examiner long has been a booster of the excellence of the administration of Westmount — the "best run city in Canada." The city is blessed with an inexhaustible store of talent among its distinguished and lesser-known citizens from which to draw its Council.

Over the years a smooth, effective system has evolved whereby the Westmount Municipal Association recruits (wills) citizens the city's elective posts and nominates — fills the vacancies, almost invariably by acclamation.

If The Examiner has been critical, it has been over the fact that the system is so slick that unless citizens and ratepayers interest themselves in the WMA, they have little or no expressed interest in how the public affairs of their city evolve, are handled and resolved.

It doesn't make for vibrant democracy—just for excellent administration, so long as the system works.

OUR other beef, delivered each year about this time when the usual batch of acclamations are declared, is that once elected our solons are prone to pay little more than lip service to the principle that public business should be discussed in public. The real work of our City Council is, in fact, done by discussion in "committee of the whole," behind closed doors. Divergent views—and there must be some among the men of experience, talent and imagination involved — are beaten out in private. Formal Westmount Council meetings, the ones on the public record and open to the public, are routine, stereotyped affairs — very neatly packaged and pre-settled but for the usually unanimous vote.

The system does little to encourage the public, particularly the local taxpayers who pay for it all, to interest themselves in issues as they arise, to contribute to their resolution, or to concern themselves in the outcome.

The result: rezonings, high-rise permits, swimming pools in undesirable locations which have to be changed: such things from time to time burst upon unsuspecting and uninformed affected citizens. Even so, the "system" usually weathers the resultant storm, which itself gets smoothly abated.

THE other day The Examiner was accused in a letter in The Montreal Star of being the "mouthpiece" of Council, in this instance over the Selby street citizens' relocation. In all the circumstances, we attempt to report what we can elicit from City Hall — which all too often isn't nearly enough. If we are a "mouthpiece," which we deny, our alleged masters are both reluctant and inadequate in blowing through us a public trumpet.

Having once again praised the city but not the system, we are not at all reluctant to congratulate Mayor Michael L. Tucker upon his return

Examiner publisher talks about recent visit to Soviet Union

The Soviet Union is still to a great extent a country of contrasts, John W. Sancton, president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and publisher of The Examiner told Westward Rotary Club last Thursday.

True, as a member of a VIP-type three-city tour of Russia, Mr. Sancton admits he may have been in a position to see only one side of the Soviet at times, but he believes his experience as a trained observer and seasoned traveller discounts attempts at brain-washing.

He visited Russia with other Canadians, on the inaugural flight of Air Canada's air-link with Moscow via Copenhagen.

Says Mr. Sancton: "We were royally treated — of course I can't really speak from the viewpoint of an ordinary tourist because of the special nature of the trip, but there is no doubt in my mind that the Russians welcome all tourists."

"The country is hungry for foreign exchange," he added, "and it has found in tourism a quick and ready source of income".

He was strongly critical of those who look on a visit to the Soviet Union with forboding.

He was amazed, he said, that there are people who were afraid if he went to Russia he might not get back. On a visit to New York shortly before his flight to Moscow, he lunched with a couple of American businessmen who actually believed he was joking when he said he was going to the USSR, and then were sincere in their actual regard for his safety there.

After eight days in Russia — during which he visited Moscow, Kiev and Leningrad — Mr. Sancton admitted he had preconceived notions about the Soviet Union considerably altered.

In Canada, he said, Russia will be better known after Expo — for the Russians are bent on outdoing the United States at the 'big show'.

NEW WINDOWS

The Russians, he believes, are opening new windows on the west because they are "scared stiff" of the Chinese and don't want to find themselves the meat in a sandwich.

And, he added, not only is Russia looking for a rapport with the west because of the situation with China, but is actively looking to increase their foreign exchange picture. Tourists from Canada offset purchases of Canadian wheat.

With 10 members of the Federal Parliament in the party, the takeoff was a joyous one, Mr. Sancton related, and from the moment of arrival, throughout the trip TV cameras were trained on the party at most times.

The trip across, he said, was 9 hours and 20 minutes with a reception laid on when the plane arrived in Moscow.

With the receiving party, and attired in a kilt, was the Canadian writer and poet, Farley Mowat. The sight of this international character, with his frost-bitten knees, was one of the incongruities of the trip.

Touching on the beverages at these affairs, Mr. Sancton said there was plenty of champagne, white and red wine, vodka and cognac. He found the Ukrainian vodka, with a couple of red peppers in each bottle, especially violent.

With the beverages, he added, the Russians frequently serve chocolate éclairs, other confections and fruits.

Moscow, Mr. Sancton said, is a city with little private motor car transport, the people travelling on buses, and the 100 miles of metro that criss-cross the city. A new hotel is opening in Moscow in May — with 5,000 rooms.

In Kiev, women were doing the snow removal and other heavy work, and even laying cobblestones. Mr. Sancton's guide (a charming young woman) explained the women preferred the tasks, since it obtained higher wages for them and earlier retirement on pension.

Though the Nazis had destroyed half of Leningrad during the Second World War, little, if any, sign of the damage remains, Mr. Sancton said.

Russia, when he visited it, was in a festive mood, Mr. Sancton reported, celebrating the 49th anniversary of the Revolution. Decorations were everywhere and the special lighting effects "rivalled Christmas in Hampstead".

There was no restriction whatever on cameras, he said, except in Lenin's Tomb, and there he was disappointed with the look of Lenin. The process that is supposed to be keeping the long-dead leader in 'perpetuity' appears to be less than perfect, he said, and Lenin in the Tomb doesn't look as well as Lenin at Madame Taussaud's waxworks.

He was free to go where he wished during the tour, he

YOU SAY Red Cross says 'thanks' again

Sir:

On the eve of a new year I would like very much to thank you for the magnificent support you have given to the Red Cross during 1966.

You have been more than generous in promoting the Combined Health and Red Cross Appeal, the sales of veterans' Arts and Crafts, the activities of our Junior Red Cross members, the Water Safety and Home Nursing Programs and, on occasion, the Canadian Red Cross contributions in cash, goods or personnel to other lands.

Please accept our most sincere thanks and our best wishes for the new year.

Yours sincerely, to the chief magistrate's office and congratulate Messrs. Daniel Doheny, QC, and G. Ian Craig upon becoming new aldermen; by acclamation, of course!

And a thank-you, for the people of Westmount, to retiring Aldermen Claude P. Beaubien and Donald N. Byers, QC.

By TRACY S. LUDINGTON

● Two years ago a quiet little island in the St. Lawrence River was a place where citizens might go, when in search of a peaceful oasis. Expo was a great plan in the minds of its originators.

● A year ago the island and 417 acres of reclaimed land from the might river was largely a sea of frozen mud, criss-crossed by a series of makeshift gravel-and-dirt jobs.

● Now Expo 67 is a reality—and the mid-river site is charged with much of the zest and zeal, enterprise and excitement, glamor and go-go that will burst full-blown on the world when the magnificent extravaganza is officially opened April 28.

Only a year ago some 2,000 workers toiled on the stark, frozen concrete foundations or drove the giant diesels. By November '66 this total was over the 8,000 mark.

The schedule promises that by the end of next month 116 projects that are the responsibility of the Expo Corporation itself will be completed. This will leave only a mere 18 to go until the top-level executive can heave that mighty sigh of relief.

But even then, there'll be the final details like street furniture, and fountains, and a dozen other important things that can't be done until the last minute.

Looking over the site now, there is no evidence of any major work won't be completed on time. The few pavilions with some work uncompleted are the smaller ones — uncomplicated in design and easy to finish.

Expo Express and the mini-rail are finding bridges and ponds and lagoons right where they should be according to plan — as they swing around and about on trial runs.

The LaRonde amusement area is already gay, with the French Village, the English Pub, the Children's World, The Garden of the Stars.

The dolphins are learning their lessons well in their Florida training school; the kangaroos are kicking up in Australia, and will be all ready for their places at the Children's Zoo.

And food — would you believe 35 chefs in as many countries, drawing up special menus and practicing their culinary art in new and untold ways?

(Address correspondence to Tracy S. Ludington, EXPO '67, at 7005 Kildare Road, Montreal 29).

Cloutier The Barber is dead. Happy-go-lucky Emile Cloutier who operated a barber shop on St. Catherine between Elm and Wood for over 40 years died suddenly while visiting a member of his family in Florida. He will be remembered by many former customers.

Not very long ago a very old book, discarded many years ago found its way back to its home. On the inside cover of this book was pasted a copy of Westmount Library Rules.

The date of these rules is not known but at the Library they estimate them to be around 1900 or perhaps a little later. Read these rules and compare them with today.

1. Each member may have but one book at a time.

(Today they may take five books per card)

2. A book may be kept out two weeks. At the end of that time the book may be renewed for two weeks more, but no longer.

(Today most books are issued for 28 days, new fiction for one week, and new non-fiction for two weeks. Borrowers may renew a 28 day-book for another month if they wish)

3. If a book is kept out longer than two weeks without renewing a fine of two cents a week is charged.

(Due to present day inflation the fine has risen to five cents per day, per book).

4. Lost books must be paid for; also fines are charged for all damage done to books.

(This remains the same today)

5. No one can take books who already has a fine. Those who twice have fines are suspended from the Library for three months.

(No this rule does not apply today)

6. All are cautioned to speak low and be as quiet as possible in the Reading Room.

(No comment)

7. Children are not allowed to lend library books to one another

(How was this rule enforced?)

There were more chiefs than Indians at Westmount Rotary Wednesday, when 20 past-presidents turned up for past-presidents' day.

Seated at the head table, they were introduced as follows: Percy Jarman (1933-34); S. A. Neilson (1937-38); J. A. DeLalanne (1939-40); E. A. Everson (1941-42); F. C. Whitaker (1942-43); A. W. Callard (1944-45); D. R. W. McKean (Jan.-June /47); W. F. Close (1947-48); W. F. Kenwood (1950-51); J. G. Lawson (1951-52); F. H. Carlin (1952-53); W. W. Allison (1953-54); E. E. Mills (Oct.-June/56 and Jan.-June 64); W. G. Moxley (1956-57); J. P. Page (1958-59); R. E. MacKay (1960-61); J. B. Burrows (1961-62); W. T. H. Clark (1962-63); W. M. Reay (1964-65); L. J. Stuart (1965-66).

It is interesting to note that out of a total of 38 Past Presidents, 20 are still active in the affairs of Westmount Rotary.

President Frank Starr, on behalf of Percy Jarman, started the proceedings by reading from a 1930-50 manuscript that was composed and presented to Westmount Rotary by Honorary Member St. Clair Holland. It reviewed the Club's activities and recorded for posterity all the exciting achievements of the Club.

Other speakers included Archie Callard, who did some reminiscing of the 'Good Old Days'; the war-effort days; the preliminary work for the establishing of the Unity Boys' Club; and a résumé of the Scholarship Fund implementation . . . Bill Allison, who reminisced with 'Carnival' tidbits; Weredale Camp; some hilarious moments in connection with the 25th anniversary of Westmount Rotary; and gave some information relative to the Unity Boys' Club programmes, particularly the Annual "Dads and Lads" Banquet . . .

Les Stuart had members looking into the future and was sure that the current membership would continue to measure up to the high standards set by past presidents.

Bulletin from Birdland:

Canadian birds are changing

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

Like so many other things, Canadian birds are, though extremely slowly, changing. As a climate changes (and surely nobody can dispute the fact that our climate has changed considerably in the last hundred years), naturally the habitat changes.

The increasing population in North America affects bird life in several ways. Think of all the forests that have been cut down in that time! When trees go the birds of the forest go too — but the land is not left without birds. Cleared land brings a different type of life. Settlements bring still other kinds of birds. Oil on the water is depleting our water birds; both the Seaway and building on the shores of our rivers and lakes contribute to our loss of many different species. Our modern tall buildings are a menace to migrants.

It really was the coming of the white man to North America that finished off the Great Auks: those very large, penguinlike birds that lived on the coast. But that was somewhat more than 100 years ago. The Passenger Pigeon, which had bred in wooded sections of Canada, is said to have been numbered in the millions as late as 1888. Yet before the turn of the century it was becoming scarce because each year people turned out along its migration route with guns, bringing down the flying birds by the hundreds — far more than could possible be used for food. The last Passenger Pigeon recorded in Manitoba was in 1898, and by 1914 the last specimen died in captivity. Nobody had thought of trying to protect them.

It is a different matter now. The world has been alerted about the scarcity of the Whooping Crane. They were hunted and their eggs taken until something slides on the actual drivers test given to applicants.

These courses are open to teenagers from 16 years of age and to adults of all ages. Specially trained high school teachers are in charge and brand new '67 cars equipped with double controls are used for on-the-road lessons.

Sportsmanlike driving, defensive driving, driver psychology, Quebec Highway Code, municipal by-laws, elementary mechanics, are part of the theoretical phase of the course. Safe driving practices, negotiating city and highway traffic, parking are the maneuvers taught in the car.

As only a limited number of students can be accommodated, those interested to enrol should call for information and for free brochures: 849-9517 or 334-4827.

like 14 birds were known to exist. But a pair was kept in captivity in the southern states and eggs were saved and hatched. In 1948 a nesting pair was found at Rice Lake, Saskatchewan, and protected. Their holiday resort in the southern U.S. became a refuge. Canada issued a special stamp to mark its drive to protect the big, white birds. The Canadian Government protested to the American Government when Air Force planned opening a bombing range near the Whooping Crane's home, and the U.S. gave in. The public is told each time a migrating flock starts on its way, and we are warned not to shoot. We are informed as to how many children have been (Continued on page 15)

New Tri-Y program expanding at phenomenal rate

"Continuing Education" for Adults at the Westmount, N.D.G. and Downtown YMCA's is expanding rapidly to meet the needs of today's affluent society. With the new cooperative program development it is possible for the three Adult Education Centres to provide a program of greater scope and interest for adults today. The courses include Fine Arts, Social-Recreational Skills, Modern Languages, Skills for Modern Living, Daytime courses, The World Around Us, Human Relations Training, and Physical courses.

Some of the more popular courses offered in previous terms are being enlarged offering further opportunities to continue learning at higher levels. Other courses are being offered at several different times during the week to meet the heavy demands experienced last term. These courses include Dress-making, now at three levels and five different times a week at N.D.G.; and a choice of 3 sewing course now added to the program at the Westmount Y. For the Golf enthusiast, both N.D.G. and Westmount are offering group instruction several times a week.

Westmount is also offering semi-private lessons. One of the most exciting courses being offered is the new course in Quebec Law for the Layman. This is a practical course covering a wide range of topics including: offer to purchase, deeds of sale, mortgage liens, leases, inheritance laws, wills, donations, marital law and divorce law, power of attorney, and so on. A three-day Seminar in Human Relations Training is being featured at the N.D.G. Branch and should have a special appeal to business men. Other new courses include Chinese Painting and Brush Painting, Music Appreciation, Fine Arts, Millinery, Knitting, Understanding the Contemporary Novel, Modern Religions, and Architecture.

For further information about these courses, call the Adult Education centres at 486-7315, 937-3916, or 849-5331, local 50. They will be happy to give you further information about these programs and mail you a detailed brochure describing the courses. Registration is already underway and many classes have limited registration. ALL COURSES BEGIN DURING THE WEEK OF JANUARY 16, 1967 — SIGN UP NOW. For further information call Shaun Erb — 486-7315.

It can be:

Jingle Bells or Toll Bells

— says Westmount Y

Its winter time, and the bells will be ringing—some joyfully and some mournfully, depending on how well some of us will be prepared for snow-shovelling and outdoor sports of all sorts.

People don't die from snow-shovelling. Death comes from shovelling snow because the shovellers were "half-dead" when they started. Obviously, a lot of folks don't realize shovelling snow is hard work and when tackled by an overweight, over-aged, over-smoked and under-exercised individual, it comes pretty close to suicide.

Snow-shovelling is not going to harm the middle-aged "athlete" whose fitness programs continuously test and condition wind and heart. Even so, one is advised to go at it carefully and respectfully and with the attitude that the task is something to be enjoyed and, therefore, not hurried. Here is a leisure time activity to be performed leisurely. After each 5 or 6 shovels full, relax while taking 5 deep breaths, at the same time leaning on the shovel. And, if still breathing hard, take another five (breaths). Or get a smaller and lighter shovel or hire the neighbouring high school lad.

Skiing: Good physical condition and ski instruction prevent accidents when skiing. Almost all ski accidents are caused by the poor condition of the skier or by an over-estimation of his skiing ability.

Ski experts recommend that 8 to 12 weeks before the season opens, skiers should devote ten minutes each day to deep-knee bends, toe-walking, deep waist bends and pushups. He should also strengthen thigh muscles by sitting on a table edge and slowly raising and straightening his legs.

Stop skiing before fatigued.
Ice Skating: Small bodies of water such as pools, ponds and flooded hollows that freeze quickly and smoothly are the safest outdoor skating places if artificial ice is not available. Skate only where the water is shallow and don't skate alone or on unfamiliar ice. "Danger Signs" should be given a wide berth.

In a rink, avoid fast skating in crowded areas, and avoid roughness, or dangerous play. Skate where it is supervised.

Hockey: If you are going to play hockey, play with those of your own age, size and experience. Don't skimp on safety gear such as knee pads, elbow guards and such like. Hockey is a game which should be healthy and exciting. And players have a responsibility for ensuring that hockey remains a game, and a healthy one.

Sleigh Riding and Tobogganing: Use hills where there is no pedestrian or vehicle traffic. There should be a safe walkway for those returning uphill. Don't overload the sleigh or toboggan and wait 'till "All Clear", before starting downhill.

Check for the hidden stones and stumps, and don't throw cushions or obstacles in the path of coasters.

Snowmobiles: These are built for transporting people. They are not skis for jumping. Bumps and jumps can cause overturns resulting in serious accidents.

Travel in pairs and remember it may be a long ways back if gasoline runs short or if engine trouble develops.

Carry a first aid kit in a snowmobile.

In all the above, know how to make an ice rescue by means of a ladder, or pole or human chain.

REMEMBER: The more fit the participant the more enjoyable the sport.

Baha's celebrate World Religion Day

Sunday, January 15, is World Religion Day. This event was inaugurated in 1950 by the International Baha'i Community with the object of promoting harmony and cooperation among the major faiths of mankind. It is today celebrated in thousands of cities and towns all around the world.

World Religion Day has a special significance for Canadians this year. For the first time in history all of the religious organizations of a single country have come together to cooperate in a national project. The Canadian Inter-faith Conference, consisting of 34 member faiths, has been brought together by the Federal government to supply the spiritual foundations of the Centenary celebrations.

Mankind is discovering gradually that his religions have far more in common than they have differences. Despite varieties of form and doctrine, the goal, God, is one — and the way to God is also essentially one.

This year the Baha'is of Westmount and Greater Montreal, are sponsoring a display of Books, Quotations and Photographs of several of the world's revealed religions, which will be used throughout Quebec this year.

It's a warm wind, the west wind, full of birds' cries

Westmount Personality

By ADELE HAYES

Westmount's new school Commissioner, Eileen Woodhead, was introduced to her new duties at the Commission meeting Monday night. Here she is shown a point by Dr. David Solomon, of the Department of Sociology of McGill, who starts his second term as Commissioner. At the same meeting Dr. Solomon was re-elected Vice-chairman of the School Commission, Mr. W. T. Bradley, Q.C., remaining as president.

Eileen Woodhead our new Commissioner

Eileen Woodhead, of Dorchester Boulevard, has just been notified by A. E. Mount, the Secretary Treasurer of the Westmount Protestant School

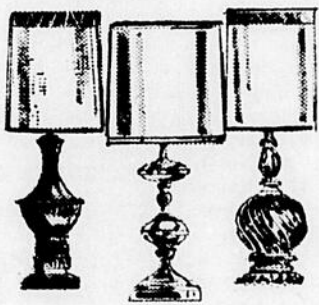

Commission that she is now a new commissioner for Westmount.

Mrs. A. W. D. Swan of Grosvenor Avenue, who has just retired from the post after much valued work to the commission, was able to speak well for Mrs. Woodhead, as they had worked together for many years on Montreal Council of Women committees. Mrs. Swan knew from experience that the job needed someone like Eileen Woodhead, and brought her to the attention of the School Commission and the Westmount Municipal Association.

joiner. Like most creative people she needs time for what she knows are essentials. But we are lucky, for one of the things she feels is essential, is ensuring the best possible future for the new generation. With a well developed sense of responsibility, she found time while a busy mother of small children to work for the Society for Emotionally Disturbed Children, when that organization was young and green. Becoming interested in the need as the result of the problems faced by a friend, it was her first venture into the world of voluntary community service, but it proved to others what she could do, and after serving as School Chairman and later as Vice-President, the first school for the Emotionally Disturbed was established in Montreal. It is typical of Eileen's attitude to the work she does, that she is now well pleased that the school is no longer necessary, as the hospitals have since realized the need and taken over the responsibility.

As a result of this valuable work, she came on the Education Committee for the Montreal Council of Women, and later chaired the Arts and Letters committee. At the present time she is Vice-President of the Montreal Council of Women.

Together with the new post as school commissioner this would be a full time career for most of us, even without the responsibility of two children in their teens, but for Mrs. Woodhead it is only her contribution to her community.

In a more private way she finds it necessary to fill a creative role by producing something beautiful. A well trained and extremely talented painter, who as a child studied with Ann Savage and Dr. Arthur Lismer on scholarships at the Museum of Fine Arts, and later at McGill's Fine Arts department, she has become through an interest in common with her husband a fine designer in silver and brass. The metals serve as settings for the lovely natural gems and minerals that the family have found on frequent summer trips into the country. Working with an acetylene torch, she must wear the protective helmet and goggles used by construction workers. William Woodhead wears one too when he polishes the stones his wife sets.

While a student at McGill, she took teachers training at the Museum School, and later made a teaching team with Bill Armstrong in the studios where as a child she first experienced the rewards of 'making something'.

Later as a teacher in the field of fine arts, Mrs. Woodhead filled many posts both before and after her marriage. Among them, she started the Saturday morning classes for children in the Town of Mount Royal Community Centre, was Arts and Crafts director for all of the Montreal Parks and Playgrounds, and while still a student ventured from her Ahuntic home to the wilds of Toronto one summer to the post of Junior Supervisor of Arts and Crafts for Neighborhood Workers Association summer camps.

It was therefore to be expected that when the family interests in local gems become truly rewarding, Mrs. Woodhead felt that it should be shared. The Woodheads shared by heading a class in 'Rocks and Mineralogy' at the Unity Boy's Club.

This fascinating hobby was the focal point of yet further outside interests, and led to membership in the Montreal Gem and Mineral Club, which at that time met in Victoria Hall. Husband William became president of this organization three years ago.

When the Woodheads just last year took possession of their fine old house on Dorchester between Atwater and Greene Avenues, with a lane in common with Staynor Street, they found on examining the original deeds that the land was first sold by a Mr. Greene who had married Lucy Atwater, and that the notary for the property sale had been a Mr. Staynor. Right away they felt a part of Westmount, and lucky for us that they did.

● FROM THE MONTREAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN: MRS. V. RAHR, of Westmount, Chairman of Migration and Citizenship, reported to the December Executive Meeting that the Coordinating Committee for New Immigrants has ceased to exist. There is no further need for this committee as the Immigration Department in Ottawa fully and fairly deals with any cases of apparent injustice etc. The Provincial Government, also, has announced its intention of establishing an immigration service with an officer in Montreal.

Mrs. Rahr also reported on the Annual Meeting of the United Council for Human Rights, which she attended as an observer from Council. This group has recently presented to the Provincial Government a brief with suggested amendments to the Civil Code relating to Civil Rights, dealing with immigration, with regulations against discrimination in all areas, and with a suggested educational program. It will be remembered that Council has studied this topic and in 1964 passed a resolution incorporating recommendations for a Code of Human Rights for Quebec, copies of which were sent to the Premier of Quebec, the Provincial Ministers of Finance and State, and two members of Parliament.

● THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE:

Outlook: The rate of growth in chicken broiler production in 1967 will likely slow down. In addition, broilers will face more competition from larger supplies of hogs.

Broiler turkey output will likely continue to rise in 1967.

Outlook: Egg maketings in 1967 will continue to rise because the larger pullet chick placements of this past summer and fall will be coming into lay. Egg prices during early 1967 will likely average below year-earlier levels.

Adult Education at Westmount 'Y'

This winter, with the start of a new series of Adult Education courses, the N.D.G. and Westmount YMCAs are emphasizing their new ladies daytime program. All courses are conducted by experienced and well trained instructors who have received extensive training in their respective fields.

Knitting

An example of this is Gloria Turner, who runs the knitting class at the N.D.G.-YMCA on Hampton avenue. Mrs. Turner received her training at the Marian Academy in P.E.I.

Handicrafts

An increasingly popular course is the Westmount YMCA's Women's Home Handicrafts Course, taught by Mrs. Molly Brott. According to Mrs. Brott, one of the surprising facts about today's life is that many wives cannot even mend their husbands' socks; never mind making a hooked rug for two dollars or a new hat for less than one dollar. Housewives have found this course beneficial economically and also a source of new hobbies.

Rhythmics

If some of you are worrying about losing your figure and charm, why not combine two courses; Westmount's Rhythmic Gymnastics and the Downtown YMCA's Self-Improvement. With the Rhythmics as Westmount, Sonya Bollini will assist you in a program of feminine gymnastic movements to develop a graceful body with a smoother figure. Then, at the Downtown YMCA, well-known Montreal fashion consultant Audrey Morris will help you to make more use of that new figure with graceful carriage, attractive clothing and cosmetic use.

Dressmaking

For those who are productively oriented, N.D.G. offers a daytime beginners course in Dressmaking, along with their four course will be under the direction of Marie Nagy, who has been teaching this course for several years. At the Westmount 'Y', two of the three sewing classes will be offered during the day, under the leadership of Mrs. I. Mallard and Mrs. Hildegard Bauman. These classes are designed to accommodate people at various different levels with individual attention. But if you're academically inclined, why not register for Understanding the Contemporary Novel at the Westmount YMCA.

Evening

However, if you can't make it during the morning or after-

WAYNE RIDDELL, director of the Tudor Singers of Montreal, who are guest artists of Dominion-Douglas Ladies Literary Society on Friday, January 20.

Literary Society to hear Tudor Singers

The Dominion Douglas Ladies' Literary Society will hold their Musicales on Friday, January 20th at 2:30 p.m. The Tudor Singers of Montreal under the direction of Wayne Riddell will give a recital of choral singing of music composed by Gibbons, Britten, Di Lasso, Morley and Hindsmith, etc., and a group of Folksongs. The Choir will be assisted by Gerald Wheeler, Organist of Christ Church Cathedral who will play a Scarlatti Sonata and pieces from Fitzwilliams' Virginal Book on the Harpsichord.

noon, don't forget our evening courses. Many of our day time courses do have baby sitting services available, so if you want more information, why not inquire at any of the Adult Education Centres: Downtown (849-5331, loc. 50); N.D.G. YMC (486-7315) or the Westmount 'Y' (937-3916).

Dr. Douglas Smith installs 1967 officers for UCW

Mrs. John F. Scandrett was re-elected president of the Dominion-Douglas United Church Women at the annual meeting held on January 10th. Mrs. Scandrett and the following officers were installed by Rev. Dr. R. Douglas Smith, minister of the church.

Mrs. Morley G. Taylor and Mrs. Edward R. Huckman, first and second vice-presidents; Mrs. H. T. Findlay, Mrs. Douglas B. Peters, recording and corresponding secretaries. Mrs. Thomas G. Sweeny, treasurer; and Mrs. R. Arnold Russell, finance.

Honorary President is Mrs. R. Douglas Smith and past president, Mrs. W. A. Messenger.

He served in the RCAF for two years during World War II and began his association with Canadian Pacific in the Passenger Traffic Department in 1948.

In 1952, Mr. Jolicoeur was appointed secretary to N. R. Crump, then vice-president of the company. He became secretary to the president in 1955, assistant to the president in 1960 and was assistant to the chairman and the president at the time of his appointment as manager of Le Château Champlain.

Mr. Jolicoeur describes the opportunity to work with Mr. Crump as the "chance of a lifetime." During the late fifties and early sixties there were trips to Europe, the Middle East and the Orient; ship launchings in Britain; promotions in Latin America and directors' meetings in Tokyo.

Mr. Jolicoeur is married to a Spanish-Irish girl, the former Carmen del Vayo de Callagher. They have two sons, Paul Carlos, 4, and Michael Marc, 2.

grounds whatever for curtailment of the activities of either of the two contributing forces. Freedom of educational thought is every whit as important as religious freedom and there is no reason to suppose that our attempts to meet the needs of the times can best be served by requiring one to stand still in the path until his fellow overtakes him.

That there should be any impediment placed in the way of the development of the English-speaking school system is not suggested in the slightest degree in the thoughts expressed by the Royal Commission. To the contrary it has stated "The English-language public schools should not only continue to exist but they must also progress in their own fashion."

The Commission has said that "reform should not be directed toward curbing English-language education, but rather toward encouraging French-language education to achieve as quickly as possible a comparable level in its quality and its services." This Board cannot but be apprehensive when actual happening would appear to indicate that, in some quarters at least, there are those who would appear to believe that attainment of a comparable level will be that much more readily reached, if the existing level in the English-speaking schools is restrained at its current stage.

May it be emphatically denied that the Board is motivated by reasons of selfishness, in drawing attention to this potentially dangerous situation. It is thought that, again only in some quarters, insufficient consideration has been given to what might very well result from any move to mute the English voice of Quebec. Our Province cannot reach its full economic development by seeking to dwell in isolation nor can it hope to be accorded its proper place if the English fact is removed or even weakened in Quebec. Investors in Quebec bring more than money to the Province—they bring people. What possible inducement can be offered the latter if it involves bringing their families into a region devoid of any of the type of contacts they have previously enjoyed.

Let us be sure that the record is kept straight. There is nothing in the Report of the Royal Commission that gives even the slightest suggestion that the English-speaking system be weakened in the slightest degree. The approach which this Board has followed in studying the various reforms proposed has been forced upon it as a result of attitudes adopted and views expressed by others for whom the Royal Commission is in no wise responsible.

said, away from the official party, and in Leningrad toured the streets and lanes and cafes for a couple of hours. Among the young people he saw no beatniks and not a single mini-skirt, although he admitted the climate may have had something to do with the latter phenomenon.

At the official army parade to mark the anniversary of the revolution, in Red Square, after standing for some time in the extreme cold, he was pleased when a flask of hot red wine was passed round.

And in Kiev, as he stood looking at the eternal flame burning in front of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier . . . his guide stepped forward and said to him: "How can anyone, think that we . . . who lost 20,000,000 in the Second World War . . . ever want another world conflict?"

Educational Cruises chance of lifetime

By BRIAN MAYNE

Here's the chance of a lifetime! Summer educational cruises for students. In 1966, 300 students and teachers formed the vanguard of what is to be ever-increasing numbers in the years to come who will go forth from Canada each summer to participate in Educational Cruises on the British India School Ships, "DUNERA", "DEVONIA", and "NEVASA." This year they will travel with students from Britain, France, Belgium, and Japan.

In ports, free excursions with English-speaking guides takes the school to the places of greatest historical and contemporary interest leaving ample time for shopping and for each group to explore on its own. During the evenings, local children give dancing and singing demonstrations on board and join in the evening entertainment. Emphasis on academic study is subtly changed to gainful recreation.

In making these visits these children have also been admirable ambassadors for the country from which they come, and throughout their area of operation, the School Ships receive a warm and enthusiastic welcome.

All participation in Ship's School Association program for 1966 was from Ontario. However, in 1967, space will be offered to schools in various parts of Canada and it is hoped that arrange for an appointment with the guidance counsellors, vice-principals or principal rather than to attempt to meet briefly with several teachers. At interviews arranged by appointment, complete information can be gathered by the counsellor and adequate time can be made available. The school telephone number is 933-2701.

Teachers sincerely welcome the opportunity for an interview with parents whose children are having difficulty in their subject, as they are concerned when a child is making unsatisfactory progress. At any time in the year parents are welcome to telephone the school to arrange for an appointment with a teacher. In practise, however, appointments with teachers are relatively infrequent. It is hoped that if you have a problem you would like to discuss with your child's teacher you will make a special point of coming to the school on January 12th between 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

It is not necessary to make appointments for that date, but the teacher will be better prepared for the interview if he knows you are coming. If you plan to attend, it will be helpful if you will fill in the form below and have it returned to the class teacher. The class teacher will forward it to the teacher or teachers concerned."

Yours sincerely,
N. W. Wood, Principal

selves have to sign a form similar to the one above to show their earnings from work in 1966. This form is entitled Declaration of Earnings.

The Board must have these forms which certify or declare earnings in order to calculate the approximate amount of the pension.

These forms will enable the Board to issue checks beginning in February instead of waiting till May or June, when the record of earnings will be finally established after checking income tax returns and contributions to the Pension Plan.

Beneficiaries, then, should note that the amounts paid to them at the beginning of the year are interim benefits which may be adjusted when their record of earnings has been finally established.

Westmounter in Britain:

News-thoughts at Random

By Stephen Schofield

Would the Hon. C. M. "Bud" Drury, MP, and Mr. Peter Kerrigan please step up here for a minute?

Thank you very much, gentlemen. Would you just stand here, please. You can be very helpful.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, most of you are probably much more familiar with these Westmounters than I am. But I might mention that I remember Mr. Drury when he was still in short pants, long before he moved into Westmount. And curiously I met Mr. Kerrigan on the beach of Lake Huron before he moved to Westmount.

The point in this. Because these two Westmounters are political opponents, Liberal and Conservative, I am asking them to suppose we have here an extraordinary device, operated by two pushbuttons, one blue button and one red button.

SUPPORT

By pushing the blue button two-thirds of the 100-odd Canadian newspapers will support the Liberals. Or, by pressing the red button two-thirds will support the Conservatives.

You understand that, Mr. Drury? Mr. Kerrigan?

Which button would each of you push? Oh, no, no, ladies and gentlemen. That is not important. The important question is this: Would it make any difference which button is pushed?

May I ask you, Mr. Drury, what Canadian party and leader have remained in power, in your lifetime, longer than any other? The Liberals under King: 1935-48! Right. Thank you.

And may I ask you, Mr. Kerrigan, what American party and leader have remained in power, in your lifetime, longer than any other? The Democrats under Franklin Roosevelt: 1933-45? Correct. Thank you, Mr. Kerrigan.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, the fact is that throughout Mr. King's tenure as Prime Minister of Canada, approximately two-thirds of the Canadian press was against him; yet he and the Liberals remained continuously in power for 13 years.

And throughout Mr. Roosevelt's presidency more than two-thirds, nearly three-quarters of the American press, was against him, often bitterly critical; yet he remained in power longer than any president in American history.

Then what difference would it make to your parties, Mr. Drury and Mr. Kerrigan, which button is pushed?

CLEVEREST

Probably the cleverest Canadian ever to exert his press upon public opinion, was Lord Beaverbrook, who admitted (a most admirable admission, I think), before millions on television mere weeks before he died, that in this effort throughout much of his life, he failed.

All this, ladies and gentlemen, seems to indicate that if material is deliberately pressed upon us, we ignore it.

On the other hand, when great minds have something to say, not what they are told to say, what happens?

John Fischer, editor of Harper's, says all great newspapers are products of editorial minds; Dana, Ochs, Scripps, White, and others. "When they died and businessmen look over, many of these papers became respectable and juicy, or disappeared."

Theodore H. White, an internationally respected reporter, contends that the creation or salvage of a publication, is no business for a businessman, while those that are guided by capable editors — men who have something to say beyond what television can offer — have the best chance of survival.

LORD THOMSON

On Dec. 1, 1966, The Westmount Examiner ran an article in this column about Lord Thomson. The article insinuated that his acquisition of more and more newspapers is prompted by pride which, according to the authorities quoted, has been the chief cause of misery in every family and nation since the world began.

About three weeks later, on Dec. 19, Lord Thomson, speaking in Canada, said, "I'm through with it. I won't open another paper in Britain."

Apparently The Examiner gets around!

NEWS

Probably no British newspaper knows the following news.

Mr. Douglas Reed, for 12 years chief European correspondent for The (London) Times, is now retired and living in Africa. He has had two books published in England: Disgrace Abounding (eight editions); Insanity Fair (40 editions); and both in several languages.

Now he has written The Battle for Rhodesia, which has made a big impact in Africa and will shortly be published in the U.S. by the Devin-Adair Co. And what is probably unknown is that "no English publisher can nerve himself to issue this book."

* * *

The scene now changes to the opening act of As You Like It by William Shakespeare, at Bishop's University, Lennoxville, Que.:

"ORLANDO: My brother Jaques keeps at school and report speaks goldenly of his profit. For my part, he keeps me at home, or to speak more properly, stays me here unemployed. Call you that keeping for a gentleman of my birth, that differs not from the stalling of an ox! I gain nothing under him but growth, for the which his animals on his dunghills are as much bound to him as I. The spirit of my father begins to mutiny against this servitude. I will no longer endure it, though yet I know no wise remedy how to avoid it." (Act I, scene 1).

Everyone knows that.

What no one knows is what happened before the play opened. The producer, the Dean of Divinity, painted the scenery, which he found hard work, while Orlando and other players watched.

In jest the exhausted Dean remarked: "You get a man to paint your scenery. You don't pay him anything. You don't even give him a drink."

It was after 10 p.m. and illegal for students to leave the College; and it was illegal to bring in beer at any hour. But Orlando managed to get out, obtain a few bottles of beer, and find his way in again.

What was a Dean of Divinity to do? What would the Principal say if he found out?

Very severely the Dean said, "This is against the rules! This must never happen again!"

Then, keeping a sharp lookout for the Principal, they all sat down and drank the beer.

TORONTO

Orlando was Mr. John Bassett, now publisher of The Telegram, a Conservative Toronto newspaper evidently still striving to catch up to its Liberal rival, the flourishing Toronto Daily Star.

And the Dean of Divinity is now The Most Rev. Philip Carrington, Quebec Lodge, Little Somerford, Chippenham, Wiltshire, England — one time Anglican Archbishop of Quebec.

And today, former Westmounter Bassett, photographed as Orlando, strikingly handsome without glasses or hearing aid, his unlined face as smooth as a baby's bottom, with all his teeth and a headful of fair hair in the exuberant prime of youth adorns the walls of Quebec Lodge in Wiltshire.

Canadian birds . . .

The U.S. has lost its Ivory-billed Woodpecker; its Red-cockaded Woodpecker and its California Condor are threatened with extinction. Our Labrador Duck which nested on the east coast has been extinct since 1875; our Eskimo Curlew vanished. Let us not lose the Gadwall of the southern prairies.

Educational . . .

students from Westmount will be participating. Plans for 1967 call for 900 berths, divided into three different itineraries.

Youth is the best time to travel, when the tide of enthusiasm and vigor runs most strongly, and when the sights and sounds of the world we live in make a vital contribution to maturity.

Through this medium, thousands of students have seen, for example, the Acropolis at Athens, the Hermitage Museum at Leningrad, the ruins of Pompeii at Naples, the Hot Springs in Iceland, the Holy places, under circumstances which enabled them to obtain the greatest benefit from such experiences.

THE VOICE OF WOMEN

was founded in July, 1960. The Annual Meeting of members elects the executive and decides the policies. These policies are implemented during the year by the National Executive, subject to the approval of the Council, on which all provinces are represented. Members are grouped by provinces, with provincial executives which collect dues, organize local activities, etc. National and provincial newsletters maintain communication.
