Gary Richardson of Shawville was one of seventeen students taking part in graduation exercises for the Diploma Course in Agriculture.

Terry Davies of Shawville received his Diploma in Agriculture.

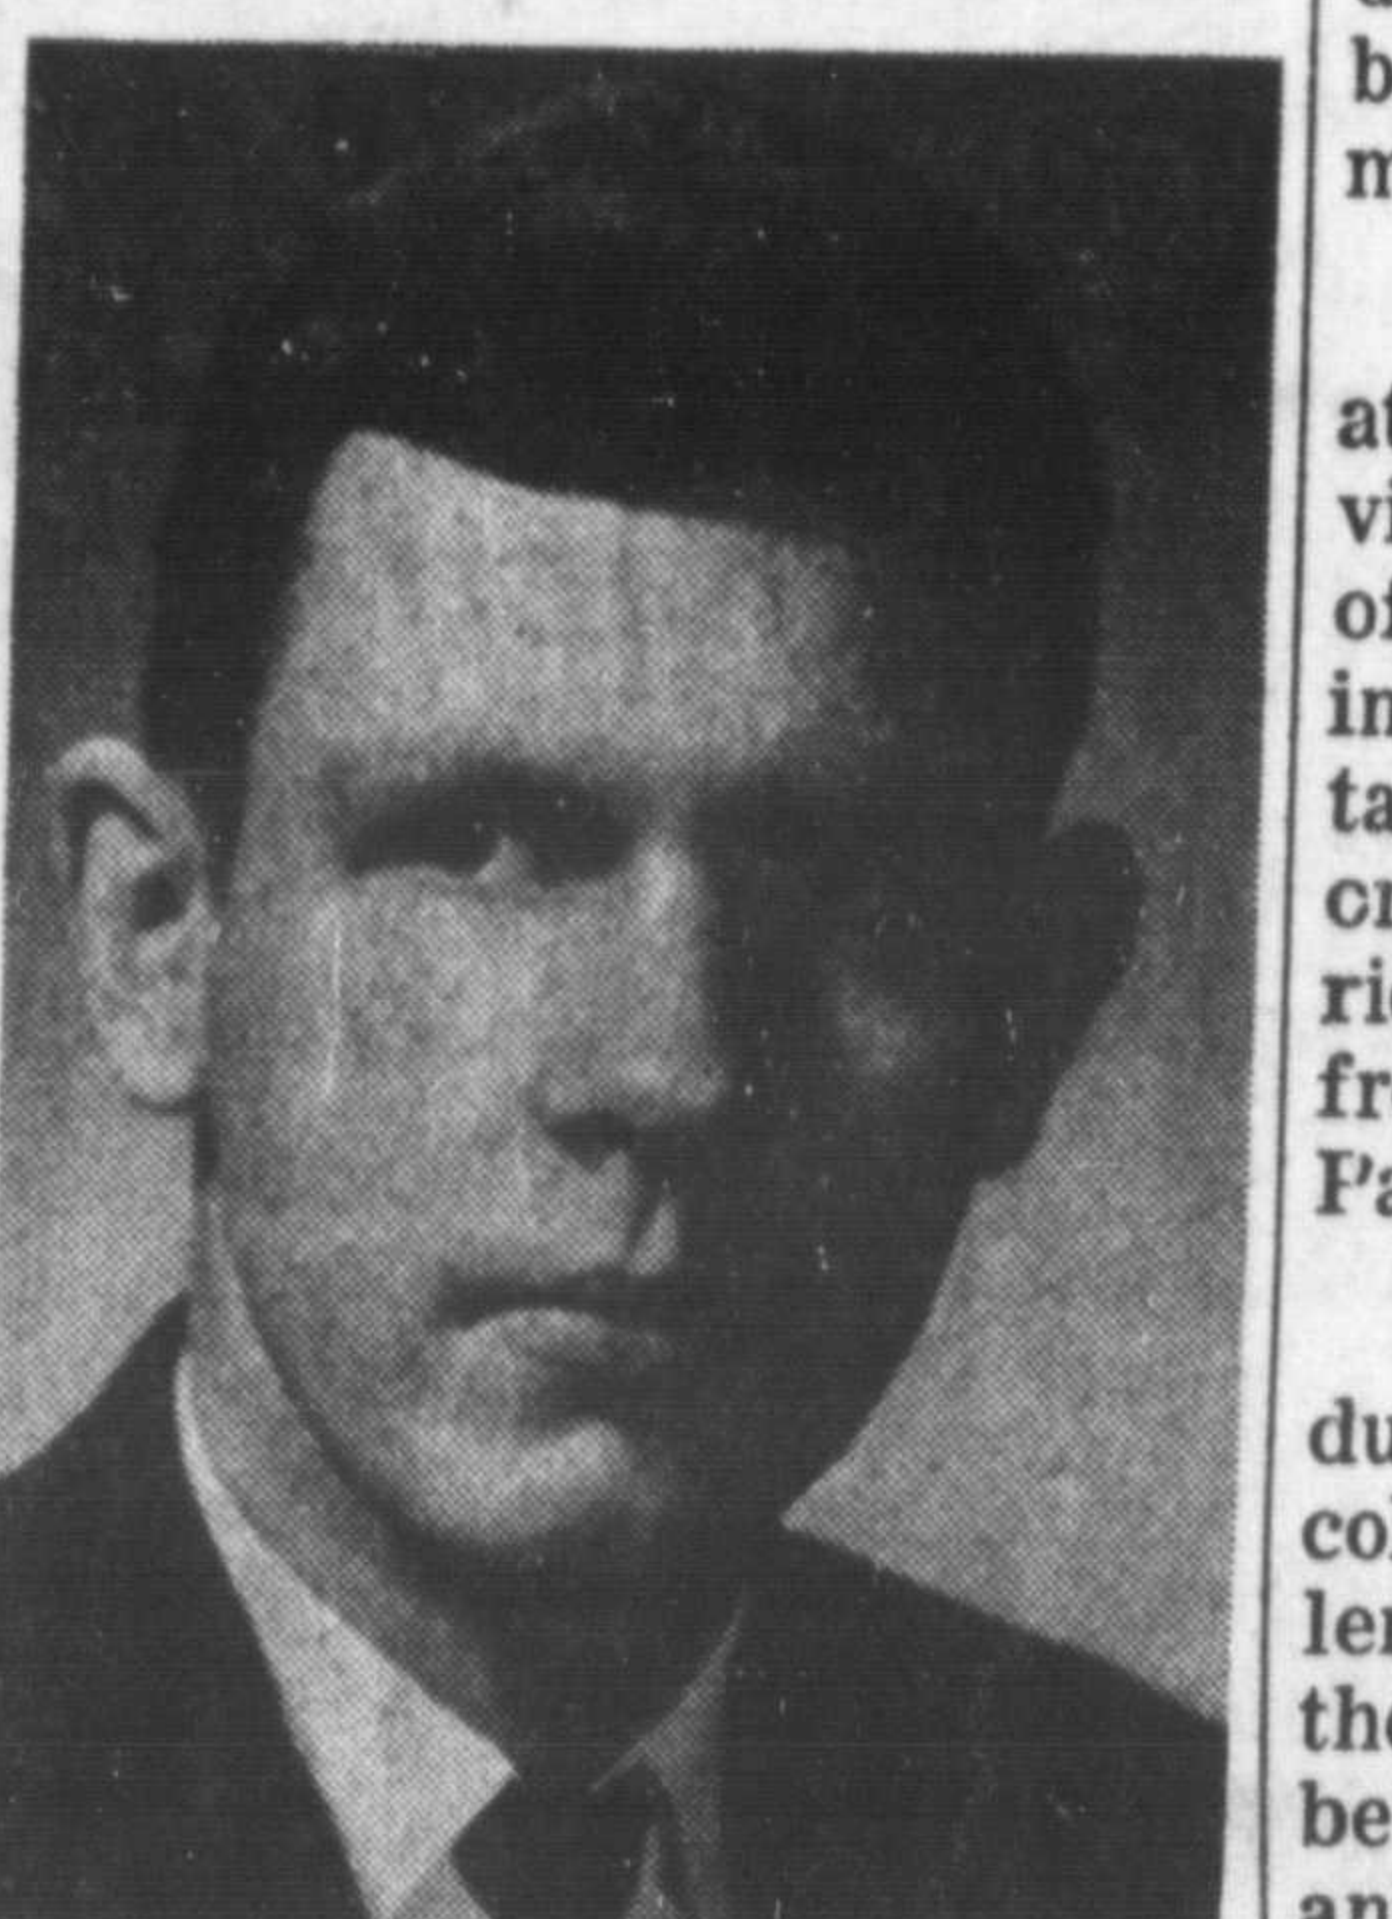

Seventeen students took part in the graduating exercises for the Diploma Course in Agriculture on Friday, Mar 29, at Macdonald College.

The top awards the Minister of Agriculture and Colonization medals, went to the three students ranking highest in each of the three options. In Animal Science it was William Cochrane of St Andre Avellan, Quebec; in Field Crops, John Rember of Ormstown, and in Horticulture John Duckworth now a resident of St Anne de Bellevue.

The La Ferme Prize, offered by the editor of the well known Quebec farm magazine La Ferme, for the best project, was won by Christopher Judd of Shawville. The project consists of a detailed five year development plan for the home farm that projects the changes considered by the student as being necessary and feasible to meet his objective.

William Cochrane also won the Minister of Agriculture and Colonization Prize for the student making the greatest progress during the two years of the course.

The Vernon E. Johnston Woodlot Awards were presented by Professor A Jones to John Gibb of Abbotsford and William Cochrane. These students were also recipients of gifts from the Leavitt Safe-

Who will live in the new old folks' home?

I would like to live in the Pontiac Protestant Home for the Aged—

1. As soon as possible -----
2. In one year -----
3. In two years -----
4. In three years -----

Name -----

Address -----

Age at present -----

Dale Thomson, chairman of Lions Committee for the Pontiac Protestant Home for the Aged would like everyone who is interested in taking up residence in such a home to fill out and mail the above questionnaire to Box 322, Shawville, Quebec.

The Lions Club of Shawville in co-operation with the Clarendon and District Ministerial Association, is conducting this survey to determine if there is a real need for a home for senior citizens in the County of Pontiac.

Several years ago a similar survey was carried out by the directors of two proposed homes for elderly people of the Roman Catholic faith in Pontiac County. It showed a real need for such a home and as a result plans have been announced for the building of two such homes, one in Campbell's Bay and one in Fort Coulonge.

Professionals in the field of social service who have studied the situation feel that a Protestant Home for elderly people is indicated in the Shawville area. Definite plans cannot be proceeded with until it is absolutely established that there will be people moving into the home when it is completed and ready for occupancy. If at least 100 people fill in and return the above questionnaire, the committee feels that it would be worthwhile going ahead with the project.

The Ministerial Assn. is assisting the Lions in sending out questionnaires to many people who are at present in their own homes and are well able to manage on their own, but who might in a few years wish to move into a well organized home for the aged if there was one here to move into. He would also like to see letters accompanying the questionnaire with any comments about the proposed home which would help the committee in its planning.

Talk of the building of an old folks' home has been going on for a long time and the Shawville Lions Club has been building a fund to get it started when the time was ripe. Donations for the home are being accepted by Al Merritt who is the treasurer of the committee and who has been active on the committee, along with Dale Thomson ever since its start.

A year ago, some of the district's ministers started a survey of prospective residents of such a home and received replies from forty people who felt that such a home should be built. The present survey is not an opinion poll but a definite listing of people who wish to live in a Protestant Home for the Aged either this year, next year or in two or three years.

The questionnaires may be handed in to a minister, or taken to Mr Thomson at Frasers Clothes store in Shawville or mailed to Box 322, Shawville and the information on the questionnaire will be handled in strictest confidence when received by Mr. Thomson. The important thing is to get the questionnaire back during April, and at the very latest before May 4th. It is not necessary to be a member of, or even to attend any church to be eligible for residence in the proposed home.

Chapeau adds weight to request for Pontiac site for English RC School

A meeting sponsored by the Chapeau P.T.A. has voted unanimously to work for the establishment of a central high school at Campbell's Bay to serve the needs of all English speaking Roman Catholics of Pontiac County. Representing a school enrolment of 739 English speaking Roman Catholic students in Pontiac County, about 200 people attended the meeting held in the Community Centre, Chapeau, Monday evening April 8.

Speakers at the meeting, under the chairmanship of Joe Donlan, included Rev. Douglas Bridge who reported on the April 2 meeting of a Pontiac delegation with the Deputy Minister of Education Mlle Therese Baron. No decisions were taken at that meeting, but a further meeting is scheduled for April 25.

Cecil Vibert, president of Pontiac Central P.T.A., spoke in favor of a Pontiac-sited high school for English speaking Roman Catholics, and stated that the Hon. Raymond T. Johnston, Minister of Revenue, was likewise in favor.

Bill Muloin and Stan Callaghan, who represented parents and teachers from the east of the County at the meeting, both declared for a local high school, with Stan Callaghan stating that the parents and teachers of Quyon favored Campbell's Bay as a location. Bill Muloin, speaking for the Shawville area, advised that the need was for the best possible school with the least possible distance for everyone to travel.

Delegates to the April 25 meeting with the Deputy Minister will be the same as the delegates to the April 2 meeting, and are Cecil Vibert, Fr. Shulist, Mrs. Harold Muise, Basil Murphy and Bartley Quigg.

A meeting is to be held on Wednesday evening April 17 (tonight) at St Mary's School, Quyon to inform the parents and teachers of the Shawville, Bristol and Quyon area about what has been done and what further plans have been proposed.

"Here Comes Charlie" this Saturday night

Scenery, including stairways and working doors has been built on stage at Shawville High School for the great dramatic production coming Saturday, April 20.

Produced and directed by Mrs Henry McCord, High School English teacher and acted by ten talented teenagers, the play should set a new high in school drama for this district.

Costumes are being prepared and make-up will assure a near professional performance. The only ingredient needed which the school drama club cannot provide is a large audience. They are counting on the rest of us to arrive on time, 8 o'clock Saturday and to enjoy their play "Here Comes Charlie".

CROP INSURANCE

The deadline is approaching for farmers to take out crop insurance. Some won't bother at all and then if their crops fail they will be expecting the government to save their day and see them through as it has in the past.

Some farmers, though, will take out the crop insurance, thus dispelling that one bugbear of farming, unpredictable weather.

The possibility of running a farm as a self sufficient business, without the help of people whose businesses are in other fields, is coming closer and closer. The prospect of a Canadian farm population which is actually as independent as farmers always like to think they are is most attractive.

With the advent of crop insurance, the farmer can no longer claim to be in a peculiarly unfortunate situation. There is nothing unfortunate about being the owner of a good business in which all possible losses are insurable. The insurance is still subsidized to encourage the farmers to get going with it which means that we all share in paying half the farmer's insurance premium and all the administration costs for the farmer's crop insurance.

If there is any good reason why a farmer would not be wise to take out crop insurance by paying his half of the premiums before the deadlines, it should be made public, and fast.

WELFARE FOR THE UN-NEEDY

How can the Quebec government avoid contributing to shiftlessness, dishonesty and just plain laziness on the part of some of its citizens?

Welfare cheques from Quebec go out regularly to people who are capable of working for a living, and some of whom are working for a living, but accepting the welfare payments as well. Unemployment payments are being made to people who are employed and to people who should be working but would rather not.

All the recipients of all these payments are living off the rest of us who work hard and pay enormous taxes to support the government's welfare programs, among other things.

Everyone who works for a living knows that there are people who simply can't do this. These are the sick and the crippled, and the women who have been deserted with small children to look after, and the old people and the blind people. And everyone who works for a living knows he is fortunate to be able to do so and sincerely pities those who can't. Nobody who pays his taxes begrudges the amount of them that goes to the really needy people, and most of the fortunate people also donate to charities of various sorts.

But also everyone who earns his way in life by his own hard work gets up a real sweat just thinking about some of the ones who get welfare payments unjustly. They manage to get around some technicality to claim eligibility and from then on it's just a matter of watching the cheques roll in.

It shouldn't irritate us so. We should view these people as maladjusted. We should consider they are only harming themselves. We should — but how can we when they are using our money?

There must be a solution. Maybe a closer control of welfare payments, on a strictly local basis is the answer. Any suggestions?

There was no Pee Wee hoc key meet at Alexandria over Easter because of trouble with the artificial ice machine there. All the plans for transporting and billeting and entertaining the teams from Shawville had to be cancelled and a lot of youngsters were disappointed. But the weather made up for it by providing a perfect weekend for outdoor activities at home instead.

We have been notified that Ross Cornish is not actually a member of the Telephone Board, just manager of the Company. Just a technicality, but we may as well get it straight.

A safe driving tip is to eat candy or drink very sweet coffee whenever there is a possibility of falling asleep at the wheel or whenever alcohol has impaired your driving. The "one for the road" which should always be a cup of coffee, should be as sweet as possible for fast sobering action. All this information is from the Canadian Sugar Institute which is interested in selling sugar and also interested in safety on the highway.

TO THE EDITOR

T V coverage

Editor,

The Liberal convention which took place in Ottawa April 4th to 6th I followed this convention with great interest and listened to all the candidates speak except Rev. Lloyd Henderson who was last to speak.

For when he began to speak those handling the broadcast interviewed people and former speakers and went on doing so for the entire half hour.

In other words they never gave Rev Lloyd Henderson any coverage what so ever and it made this big convention look so small for so little for a fellow Canadian.

Then when the voting was over our new Prime Minister the Hon Pierre Elliott Trudeau went up to speak and he went on to say what a great convention had taken place and he distressed the point how it was done in such a democratic way. In other words a believer in democracy and one who treats all others as his equals.

Rev Lloyd Henderson was a candidate at this convention just the same as the other eight candidates and why was he not allowed to pick lots just the same as the other candidates to know where and what order he would speak in. But no he was told he would speak last or else.

And I defy contradiction. Has any of those other candidates ever tried addressing an empty hall which had been full to capacity a few minutes before Rev Lloyd Henderson began? Surely the other candidates could have remained 30 minutes longer to hear Mr. Henderson if not out of courtesy then surely out of respect for a fellow Canadian. I asked this same question on the Green Line and he could not answer it. The people of Canada were disappointed and so was Rev Lloyd Henderson. Now the only way in my estimation that this can be answered is you would have to swing the word democracy around in much a shorter form and shorter word such as shall we say RIN. And when they write up a new constitution probably they can find a new word for democracy.

Box 101,
Eric Belanger,
Campbell's Bay,
Quebec

(Editor's note: A lot of people seem to have got all worked up about how two of the candidates' speeches were not carried into our living rooms on television. All the candidates were speaking to the delegates and all were given time on the platform and all delegates were given seats at the hall. The television broadcast had nothing to do with the voting of the delegates, but was simply live coverage of an important event.)

A 53 year old Fort Coulonge man, Dollard Bertrand who was caught by QPP while driving his car with fictitious markers was fined $100. plus court costs.

The occasion will long be remembered as a most enjoyable one, a number of years having elapsed since the five first cousins, Mae, Marjorie, Dr Jim, David and H. R. had met.

Accident Monday at Pontiac Mill

William Ranger, Hubert Elliott, Renaud Rainville and Ronald Blais were splashed by hot liquid from the digester shortly after noon at the Pontiac Mill in Litchfield Monday. The accident occurred when the chip chute became plugged and the four men were trying to clear it out.

The heat of the liquid was 240F which is above boiling temperature. The other workmen at the site hosed down the four men immediately and Mr Ranger and Mr. Elliott received first aid on the spot and were able to return to work the following day. Mr Rainville and Mr Blais were taken to Pontiac Community Hospital where Dr Williamson, a skin specialist from Ottawa, just happened to be in attendance. Dr. Cowley reported later that Renaud Rainville was resting comfortably and Ronald Blais was last seen strolling down the hospital corridors, stilling early rumours of the seriousness of the accident which had been circulating.

The only other accident reported from the mill recently was yesterday's collision in the parking lot between two parked cars! Mrs Harold Hall's tiny dark blue Vauxhall Viva was occupying its place near the main building between two other parked cars, while Mrs Hall was at work as a typist. Vehicle operator Sidney Hodgins meanwhile had parked his light blue Chevrolet on a higher spot above an island of flowers and grass.

Without warning the Chev took off driverless, veered through the soft island, ousted the little Viva forcibly, and took its place between the other two parked cars without scratching either.

Damage to the Chev and the Viva has been estimated to total less than $500.

ASK YOUR CHIROPRACTOR

MIGRAINE HEADACHES

Question:

I have had migraine headaches for several years. Can Chiropractic do anything to relieve this problem?

Dr. Johnston
Shawville, P.Q.

Answer:

Migraine, unlike usual headaches, is noted for its violence in the later stages. Vomiting, nausea, dizziness, blinding flashes of light, a throbbing head—all add to the suffering. Starting usually in the head, the pain spreads gradually to face and neck. Sometimes, temporary blindness with intense optic pain results. Reducing explanation to simple terms, this shows impingement exists in the nerves affecting the neck, brain, sinuses, optic nerves and saliva glands. Nerves controlling digestive organs lead from the same area, hence outward manifestations of nausea and vomiting.

As a symptom, it certainly has all the discomforts of a painful disease, and a nasty one.

Migraine's many disturbing factors demand careful examination. Dismissing it with a "pill" for a severe headache only means recurrence. One danger of migraine is that some sufferers form drug taking habits to alleviate pain. Likewise hasty examination and treatment may result in attempts to control the pain rather than correction of the real trouble.

Migraine, it can be seen, is more than a "bad headache". Chiropractic treatments applied after thorough investigation are usually effective, because the Chiropractor must locate the offending vertebral subluxation interfering with the nerve, before corrective adjustments.
