Produce Stores,
BOND AND FREE,
WELLINGTON STREET, CANAL, and COMMON STREETS.

Coal Oil Stores,
GRAND TRUNK STREET & KNOX'S ROAD

INSURANCE EFFECTED, when desired, at the lowest rates charged by the several Assurance Companies.

THE above stores present every facility for the careful and proper STORAGE of all kinds of PRODUCE and GENERAL GOODS, being commodious and well ventilated.

Excellent Cellerage for Pork, Butter, &c, which cannot be surpassed by any in the city being large, cool and airy.

Ample accommodation for the Storage of Iron Coals, and Heavy Goods, in our Canal premises which, from their close proximity to the Basins reduces the cartage to a low figure.

Our Coal Oil Stores at Point St. Charles are specially adapted for the storage of this article, having an inner and outer roof and walls of earth, thus rendering them dark, but at the same time cool, which prevents the leakage of the oil.

Our Warehouse, being connected with the main line of the Grand Trunk by an adjacent siding, there is no cartage incurred on Coal Oil received by this railroad, thus saving not only the expense, but also the damage which necessarily, more or less, ensues to the barrels when carted.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Quebec, January 24th, 1865.

Last night, after the report left, the Speaker informed the House that the Clerk had received from the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, certificate of the return of Charles Boucher de Niverville, member for the City of Three Rivers. This P. M, Mr. DeNiverville, was introduced by Messrs Cartier and Gaudet, and took his seat as member for Three Rivers.

On motion of Mr. Caron, leave was given to the St Hyacinthe election Committee to adjourn till 31st instant.

Atty.-Gen. McDonald, gave notice for to-morrow, he would moved for leave to introduce a bill to give additional powers to the Executive for prevention and repression of outrages on the borders of this Province.

At half past three, the Members of the House waited on His Excellency in the Executive Council Chamber and presented the address on their return.

Mr. Galt laid on the table the public accounts, and trade and navigation returns for the half year ending 30th June, 1864. Mr. Galt also brought down a message from His Excellency transmitting supplementary estimates for the year ending 30th June, 1865. These consisted of two items, 1st. service militia frontier force, viz: pay and allowance to officers and men till the 1st of May, at $70,000 per month; $30,000 for equipment, transportation, barrack accomodation, &c; $30,000, total, $330,000 second. To make good sums improperly surrendered in the case of Young and others, claimed by the Government of the United States under the Extradition Treaty, $50,000.

Mr. J. B. Dorion introduced a bill for the protection of squatters in Lower Canada, also a bill to authorise proceedings for the cancellation of patents in certain cases before the Tribunals of Lower Canada.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Quebec, Jan. 24th, 1865.

To-day, the House resumed consideration of the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Hon. Messrs Bureau, Ryan, Moore and Armand, having spoken, the address was carried unanimously, and will be presented to His Excellency to-morrow afternoon at half-past 3 o'clock. Adjourned at 5 o'clock.

GENERAL PRESS DESPATCHES.

New York, Jan. 24.—The Richmond Examiner of the 20th says, refugees have reached Charleston on the 17th, report that Sherman had sent one corps to co-operate in the attack on Wilmington.

The Examiner also says, the loss of Fort Fisher was occasioned by Bragg failing to attack the rear of the Union forces.

The latest from Hood's report that his army is in fine spirits and on the way to Corinth. The supercedure of Hood by Dick Taylor is confirmed.

The Whig and Sentinel are out in extremely bitter articles against reunion.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Mr. Osborn, the newspaper correspondent arrested in New York, on a charge of publishing contraband information of value to the rebels, in relation to the late expedition against Wilmington, was brought out for trial yesterday before General Doubleday's military commission. Mr. Osborn asked an extension of time in order to procure counsel and witnesses which was granted him and the case set for Wednesday unless he signifies his willingness to begin sooner. When brought before the Court to day he admitted having furnished the information for publication but assigns as a reason for it that he was under the impression that other correspondents intended giving the news. He declined however to tell whence he received his information. A delegation has arrived here to secure an appropriation by Congress for the construction of a canal to connect Greenbay with Lake Michigan.

Sandusky, Jan. 24th.—About four o'clock, this morning a fire broke out in a large stone building occupied by Pierce & Co, as a spike factory and planning mill. The building machinery and a large amount of manufactured stock was totally destroyed by this fire some fifty hands will be thrown out of employment. The loss on the stock is $50,000. The building was owned by R. R. Hubbard & Co., upon which there was no insurance.

Official, War Department, Washington, Jan. 24th.—Maj.-Gen Dix: The following telegram has been received by this department from Lieut.-Gen. Grant. Signed, E. M Stanton.

City Point, Va., Jan 23rd.—To Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War: One of my staff has just returned from Fort Fisher with despatches from Gen. Terry, from which I extract the following:—On the 16th inst. the enemy blew up Forts Caswell and Campbell, and abandoned them, and the works on Smith's Island, and those at Smithville and Reave's Point. These large number of small arms also fell into our hands, besides quantities of ordnance and commissary stores. Our casualties prove smaller then at first reported. They foot up thus: 12 officers and 107 men killed, 45 officers and 490 men wounded.

(Signed.) U. S. Grant, Lieut.-Gen.

MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.

New York, Jan. 24.—The Steamship Atlanta, from Mobile Bay on the 10th, has arrived with 1000 bales of cotton from the rebel government to purchase blankets, clothing, &c, for rebel prisoners. Nothing of moment was going on in the vicinity of Mobile. Gen. Granger, with his army, was still in the neighborhood of East Pascagala.

Special to the New York Express—Washington, Jan. 24.—Ex-President Peirce is hourly expected here, and is said to be one of the Peace Commissioners.

New York, Jan. 24, 10.30 P.M.—Gold closed at Gallagher's Exchange to-night at 204⅜.

Washington, Jan. 24th.—This afternoon a fire broke out in the Smithsonian Institute Building, above the picture gallery between the ceiling and the roof, caused by a defective flue. The ceiling soon fell in, and in a few moments the gallery was one sheet of flame. The windows of the picture gallery soon burst out disclosing only the shell of the room. There were some 200 of Stanly's pictures here, he having negotiated for their sale to the Michigan University. Only five or six of them were saved. The loss is very serious, including the Lecture Room, the Philosophical Instrument apartment, and most of the valuable Instruments. The offices in the towers and the originals of the private records and archieves of the Institution were destroyed. The conflagration was mainly confined to the main building and above the first story, the latter containing the Museum, which was damaged more by water than by fire. The wings and corridors were not much injured. The large library in the west wing is not damaged. The full extent of the loss is not yet ascertained.

Harper's New Monthly Magazine.—Mr. Pickup has received his usual supply of this monthly for February, which is full of interesting matter.

The Finances.—The statement of the revenue and expenditure which has already appeared in the Globe, before it was laid before Parliament, which is supposed to be entitled to receive these statements at the earliest possible moment, does not, we fear, entirely justify that roseate hue, which, by the glamour of oratory, has been thrown over it. True, there has been a very respectable increase in the revenue of the country, amounting to something like $1,200,000, and considering the exceptionably large importations and the addition to the taxation imposed in the two last years, it would have been wonderful if that had not taken place. But, unfortunately, we have the steadily recurring element of deficit—an increase of expenditure on the other side amounting to nearly $800,000, so that the increase of income is reduced by two-thirds of the amount. We take it that more than all the increase of income derived from the new taxes of last year is already disposed of in this ordinary expenditure, so that at the end of the twelvemonth, we are really worse off than we were before, inasmuch as the new sources of income has not sufficed to meet the new outgoings, the surplus being more than made up by the unusually large importations. We have not at hand the materials for calculating this conclusion with perfect accuracy; but, by a rough estimate, we are pretty certain that it will be found to be the fact, that the balance of the income over the expenditure does not equal the large additions to revenue which would have arisen in any case from the augmented imports even upon the tariff of 1863, and without the new impositions. The result is evident that, unless against all reasonable expectation the imports continue on the same scale, our Chancellor of the Exchequer is virtually at the door knocking for fresh supplies. We may add, not only that there is no reasonable expectation of the imports continuing on the same scale as in 1864, but that it would in one sense be unfortunate if they should do so. We showed by the returns for the Port of Montreal, which we printed the other day, that the importation of woollen goods had been about three times as large as that of 1863, and the importation of cotton goods something like twice that of 1863. But these quantities are expressed in values, and it is well known that the prices have been so much larger than in years previous to the war, that the larger figures do not by any means indicate increased powers of consumption on the part of the people; but only increased charges on one of the most important elements of housekeeping. As compared with the preceding year, the importation was so large as to threaten evil to the merchant—as compared with a few year's ago, the prices were so high as to show oppressive augmentation of the cost of living. Neither quantity nor price can be supposed likely to keep up, so that even under ordinary circumstances we must speedily exhaust the surplus and recur to new imposts. But unfortunately we have a new element of expense, compared to which all others are likely speedily to appear as trifles. The Speech from the Throne has already informed the lieges that the Government has to seek a new appropriation for the cost of the volunteers called into active service, and it is very plain that if this do not entirely exhaust the existing surplus and change the balance of the past year to the other side of the ledger, it will create a permanent situation of deficiency, according to any calculation of existing resources and demands. It must be understood that this instalment is only for the six months ending June 30th, on which day our fiscal year now ends. If made up to the present date, according to the former custom, the statement would probably be less favourable.

Expenses of Sympathy.—Parliament began business on Monday night, and on Tuesday it was informed of the amount of the first instalment, of the charges for that foolish sympathy, which has recently been so much the fashion. The government have come to the conclusion that it was the safest course which could be adopted to accede to the demand of the American government and hand over $50,000, being the amount claimed as damages on behalf of the Vermont Banks robbed by the raiders, and prevented from receiving their money by the action of our officers of justice. Whether there is in equity or international law, any valid ground for making this demand as a question of right we shall not undertake to say. On the first blush of the question, we should answer in the negative but we highly applaud the prudence which has dictated the determination. We only wish that the same prudence had been manifested some months ago, and enforced upon the public by the authority which a grave citizen according to the poet always has when he addresses words of sobriety to his fellow citizens, we are convinced that half a dozen sentences pronounced in parliament by some of the present ministry last year would have so directed public opinion as to have made it extremely unlikely that any strangers living within the circle of that opinion would have ventured to brave its censure. Besides the $50,000 for the purpose already mentioned $330,000 are asked for the costs of the Volunteers, the two making nearly $400,000 for a beginning, and we all know what such beginnings lead to. We desire no better testimony to the justice and wisdom of the course which the Herald has pursued than that which was afforded by the message transmitted to Parliament last evening by His Excellency. The game of defiance is all very well until it has roused a powerful enemy but when that has happened the most foolhardy is compelled to measure his forces by the standard of reality. It will be well for us if this lesson teach us wisdom for the future. There are other phases of folly into which the policy of the Country may be directed which first or last will involve perhaps ruinous expense which for any practical purpose will be as useless as the $380,000 which has been thrown away as the penalty for an unreasoning sympathy. When we sometime ago pointed out the losses caused by the violent exhortations which led to the destruction of the House of Parliament as an example of the costs of a similar kind of violent language directed against a neighboring country, we were not, we think, very far wrong. It is a pity that an assessment could not be made upon those who have been the chief cause of the damage.

The Courts and the Mob.—The Court at Toronto, legally charged with the consideration of the claim of the United States for the extradition of Burley, had no sooner decided according to such light as it possessed, than another judicial body took up the matter, and waited upon the learned advocate for the accused, Mr. Cam[illegible] held its own court on the occasion. There does not appear to have been much more reasoning than is usual when a point of this kind is to be decided by the kind of authority which took this duty upon itself. But there seems to have been a good deal of music, and we notice that the band of the "Queen's Own" headed the tumultuous crowd who went to Mr. Cameron's to proclaim its opposition to the judgment which had been rendered in spite of that gentleman's arguments. This band played the "Bonny Blue Flag," and other airs, composed in honour of a government not recognized by the Queen, whose "own" the musicians professed to be, and in despite of that Government with which Her Majesty is in amity and alliance. There have been precedents in British history which perhaps would be more honoured in the breach than the observance, of distinguished advocates carrying their causes from the Bench into the street, and from the legal into the political forum; but this has generally been done when the law point was one having a close connection with internal politics—when the decision which was impugned affected the interests of the people who protested against it. We cannot but think that Mr. Cameron would more have consulted his personal and professional dignity if he had refrained from countenancing a demonstration made on behalf of a pseudo foreign Government, which had just been shown to have authorized acts hostile to the policy of his own Government, and tending to involve that Government in war. It is not very long ago that, in general orders from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, and still more distinctly by a verbal communication made to two companies of volunteers by General Napier, it was stated that the military force then called out was to be employed to prevent just such expeditions as that of Burley. Hence we see the excessively decorous character of the demonstration made by this band of the "Queen's Own" in favour of a person declared to be so much a public enemy that troops have to be employed, at vast expense, to combat machinations and enterprises similar to that for which he is now in custody. We cannot but think that some notice of an official kind should be taken of an act so adverse to all sound military discipline. Mr. Cameron was of course bound to exhibit all zeal for his client; but having done so, though his own master to do as he pleased, he was not bound to talk nonsense to a crowd, and in the exercise of a wise discretion he probably would have refrained from doing so. He seemed to give up all hopes, indeed, from the authority where his intervention was appropriate. He had nothing to say of his confidence in the result of the writ of habeas corpus; but he ventured to assert over and over again that the Government would not give the prisoner up if the Courts decided that he ought to be surrendered. We are certain that it did not need the news from England of the speech of Mr. Fortescue, which arrived the next night, to convince any reasonable man that Mr. Cameron, in speaking thus, was simply flattering the wishes of his hearers, knowing well that the surrender is sure to follow the legal decision that such surrender is consonant to law. We suppose, moreover, that it will take place even in spite of such opposition as may be made by the gentlemen who, with the "Queen's Own" band in front, serenaded Mr. Cameron with the strains of the "Bonny Blue Flag." We have had already quite scandal enough on British justice and order growing out of these raider cases without repeating the exhibition of mob law which took place at Halifax. We see that in our own city "public opinion" is to be invoked in the last resort, after Courts and Government shall have decided, to prevent our treaty obligations from being fulfilled. We know what public opinion means in such a case as this, and we trust that it will be met, if it be brought into the field, by appropriate arguments. We have the utmost respect for public opinion, even in its operation on judges and tribunals, who often require to be made to think out a little beyond the narrowest views which may be drawn from the books. But public opinion expressed in the streets after a final legal decision; expressed, too, in the shape of physical force, which can in that stage be the only mode of utterance, can only be replied to in the same fashion.

Mr. Perrault.—The Journal de Quebec says that this gentleman stated at one of the meetings recently held in his county, that the constant sight of the British flag was displeasing to him. We are assured that Mr. Perrault said nothing of the sort. He has exhibited on all occasions his zealous loyalty, having obtained his military certificates at the School at Quebec, and offered his services on more than one occasion for the protection of the frontier. At the meeting in question he objected to the veto which the general government, under the scheme of the Confederacy, is to have; saying that he would much prefer, in case of an appeal from injustice, to make it direct to the Imperial Government, which would decide on it free from local prejudices. which might warp the judgment of the general government of the Confederacy. He added that if any one believed in the efficacy of the treaty of cession to protect French Canadian rights, this protection would be destroyed and the French Government debarred from any opportunity to remonstrate if the French Canadians willingly accepted a new constitution of quasi independence, since such acceptance would amount to an assertion of their capacity and willingness to take care of themselves.

The Money of the St. Albans Banks to be Refunded.—We learn on very good authority that the Canadian Government have determined to refund to the St. Albans Banks a sum of money equal to that stolen from them on the 19th October last by the Raiders, and returned to the latter by the late Chief of the City Police. We have good reasons for believing that the exertions of Mr. B. Devlin have tended in no inconsiderable degree to this result.

The Service Militia.—We print this morning on our first page, the names of those resident within the city limits, who have been drafted to serve three years in the Militia. The papers were completed last week and transmitted to the Adjutant-General's Office in Quebec; but the Gazette has since then obtained the list, out of [illegible] the Government organs. The Registrar of Montreal, it appears, has kept no list of the names, at least so the officials in his department state. Any of our readers who examine the list will, we think, be surprised to learn that this is the result of a draft. The Militia Act provides that the name of each person appearing on the Rolls shall be written distinctly on a piece of parchment, card or paper, "as nearly as may be of the size following," and a specimen is given. These slips are to be put together "in a box or urn to be by him (the Registrar) provided for that purpose, and such box or urn shall be shaken so as sufficiently to mix the names," previously to the required number being drawn out. If this rule were followed out, there would be a thousand chances to one, we should say, against the names of two members of one family, or of two people living under one roof, being drawn forth from the box one after the other. But what do we find in these published lists, in which the names are not classified in any way, but are apparently set down as drawn? Why not only the names of two, three or four members of one family following each other in succession throughout the whole list, but the extraordinary result of the inmates of boarding houses being balloted en masse. In one case of a boarding-house, in the St. Lawrence Ward, we notice that every male in the house has been drafted, and, singular to say, their names apparently all came forth from the ballot-box in succession. Fifteen gentlemen's names, together with that of the proprietor of the house, all appear one after the other, one of these being seventy years of age, and an invalid. We confess that we cannot explain how such an extraordinary result could be attained by a regular ballot. In another instance, a school boy fifteen years of age has been drafted, and in another a gentleman very well known in the city, and long past the age which exempts him; in another, one who died six years since. We mention these merely as a few of the evidences of the carelessness and inaccuracy exhibited in this work. It is not to be supposed that such results will be received with satisfaction by the people. Indeed, it is asserted by some that the ballot is null, in consequence of the assessers not having complied with the requirements of the Militia act with regard to the special returns they had to make. We have only the authority of the Gazette for That paper, in an editorial paragraph on Thursday last, stated that the assessors did not make the special return as required by the act, and that the consequence would be that all young unmarried men, not householders, would be exempt. How have the lists been completed, for we notice the names of many young men included? Has the city directory been made use of? The arrangement of the names leads many to believe that some such method must have been resorted to. We may mention that Volunteers are exempt from musters of the Militia, and from actual service in it, except in case of war; and that at no time shall more than one son belonging to the same family, residing in the same house, if there be two inscribed on the Militia Roll, be drawn; unless the number of names inscribed be insufficient to complete the roll of service militia.

The Mayoralty.—The deputation, appointed at a meeting of the electors in the Mechanics' Hall on Monday to wait upon Henry Starnes, Esq., to obtain his consent to be a candidate for Mayor for the present year, have done so this day, and regret to say that he declines solely on account of his duties in connection with the management of the Bank. There will be another meeting of the electors in the Mechanics' Hall on Thursday, the 26th, at 4 p.m. We trust there will be a large attendance.

Writ of Habeas Corpus granted in the case of Mr. Daoust, M.P.P.—His Honor Mr. Justice Monk, in Chambers yesterday, granted a writ of Habeas Corpus applied for by Mr. Ouimet in the case of J. B. Daoust, M. P. P., committed for trial on two charges of forgery. The writ being made returnable at half-past twelve, the prisoner was brought before His Honor, who liberated him on giving, in one case, two sureties for £300 each and his personal recognizance in £600, and in the other case, two sureties for £300 each and his personal in £500. The Hon. Mr. Morin, Q. C., represented the Crown.

Chiefship of Police.—At the meeting of the Police Committee on Monday evening last, in reference to a successor to Major Lamothe as Chief of Police, it was agreed to let the matter lie over until after the Civic Elections—say until the middle of March.

The Volunteers on the Frontier.—Elsewhere will be found a list of the Volunteers from Montreal now doing duty on the frontier.

Sale of Real Estate.—The property known as Sydenham Place, St. Antoine Street, consisting of four Cut Stone Houses, was sold yesterday at auction by Mr. Leeming for $16,900.

St. Antoine Ward.—We have seen the requisition sent to Mr. David Brown asking him to allow himself to be put in nomination for the St. Antoine Ward, and we are glad to observe that it is signed by a very large number of the electors. It has been fully ascertained, we believe, that a large majority of voters of the ward have pledged themselves to support Mr. Brown, and there is no appearance of opposition to him This gentlemen will, we doubt not, carefully attend to the interests of his constituents, and worthily represent them in the City Council. His experience and position qualify him in every way for the duties he will have to perform.

APPLICATION FOR A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS IN THE CASE OF JOHN CAMERON, CHARGED WITH ARSON.

An application was made by Mr Kerr yesterday at one o'clock in the afternoon, before the Hon. Mr. Justice Monk, in the Superior Court Chambers, for a writ of Habeas Corpus in the case of John Cameron, committed for trial by Judge Coursol on a charge of arson. Mr. Kerr submitted the petition of the prisoner in the usual form, in which he declared his innocence of the crime charged.

Mr. Devlin resisted the application, and entered into a detailed statement of the evidence, the chief features of which we have already published He contended that the evidence adduced was as conclusive as could be in such cases, and that the law did not absolutely require that the evidence should be direct. The evidence was circumstantial; but all the circumstances pointed to the accused as the person who had fired the building. He dwelt on the facts of three insurances having been effected, amounting in all to $5800, and that while concealing from one office the existence of insurance with another office.

The Judge remarked that although it was necessary that persons effecting insurance should say whether previous insurance existed, it was of daily occurrence that men insured in different offices, without giving this information. It would be different, however, if, after the question was pointedly asked, the existence of previous insurance should be denied.

Mr. Devlin said in this case the question had been asked and a denial was given.

Mr. Kerr replied: He censured the course which he contended was taken by Insurance Companies in cases of this character. Instead of using every effort to ascertain who the guilty party really was, they fixed upon some one person and then endeavoured by every means in their power to establish the guilt of that person. He contended that in this case witnesses whose evidence would have established the innocence of the accused were carefully kept away. He then proceeded to show that persons had not been examined for the prosecution whose evidence was material for the defence. He also reviewed the evidence and dwelt particularly upon the deposition of the accused taken during the investigation before Judge Coursol. He contended that the evidence for the prosecution was purely circumstantial, and it had been shown that the gateway was open and nothing to prevent burglars from entering the shop. John Cameron stated that he had retired at 11 o'clock the night before, and the fire did not occur until two or three the following morning, and it was inconceivable that such inflammable a matter as had been described in the evidence as having been scattered through the shop, could have taken such time to break out in flames. He urged that the testimony was most defective, the evidence of persons who could have established or refuted the facts alleged by John Cameron in his deposition. In setting forth the reasons why the writ of his Honor should issue, he alluded to the case in which his Honor had just granted a writ. It was not for a moment to be supposed that the fact of the principal in that case being a member of Parliament had influenced his Honor's decision, but he referred to it to show that so far as the importance of the respective crimes was concerned, as shown by the punishment attached to both, he might reasonably claim that the writ might issue. In a case of forgery there was no discretion allowed by law, the lowest penalty being four years imprisonment in the Penitentiary, while in a case of arson the exercise of discretion was allowable.

Mr. Devlin called his Honor's attention to the own name upon the goods in the store and this fact pointed to him as the perpetrator of the offence.

His Honor said he would take the case en delebre and let the Counsel know when he would be prepared to give his decision.

ANNIVERSARY MEETINGS.

MONTREAL RELIGIOUS BOOK AND TRACT SOCIETY.

Last night the second of the Anniversary meetings was held in the Wesleyan Church, Great St. James street,—the 29th annual meeting of the Montreal Religious Book and Tract Society. The chair was taken at seven o'clock by T. M. Taylor, Esq., and the following gentlemen occupied seats on the platform:—Rev. Joshua Fraser, Rev C. P. Watson, Rev. Mr. Parker, of Danville; Rev. Mr. Green, Rev. Mr. Muir, Rev. Mr. Gill, of London, England; Rev. Mr. McVicar, Rev. Mr. McKillican, Rev. Mr. Lavelle, Rev. Mr. Alexander, Rev. Dr. Hamilton, Capt. Noble, R. E, Sergeant Major Davis, Scripture Reader Burns. The evening's business was prefaced with the usual religious exercises, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Lavelle.

The Chairman after some preliminary remarks, stated to the audience that in consequence of the illness of the Rev. Professor Cornish, Secretary of the Society, no report had been prepared; it therefore remained for him to give such a statement of the year's labors, as he could collect from various sources. There was but one agent of the Society in the field, Colporteur Armstrong, a well tried and faithful laborer. The Chairman gave a detailed view of the peculiar nature of colportage labor. In this City there were two Scripture Readers to the Garrison, until recently, but at present there was but one, Reader Burns whose duties extended to the entire Garrison. The labors of this Scripture Reader are under the Chaplains of the Garrison and in connection with the British Army Scripture Reader's Society. Branch Societies had been established in the Lower Province but he could not say much for their efficiency He urged on the audience to push forward the special work of the Society. He gave a brief glance at the financial condition of the Society. The income from sales at the Depository and by Colporteurs amounted to a little over $2,000. The Committee regret that the contributions compare unfavorably with past years. The usual amount of aid from the Parent Society had been received; but this Society should be in a position to conduct its own affairs and contribute to the aid of the parent Society.

[illegible] announced that the first resolution would be read to them.

Moved by the Rev. James Elliott, seconded by the Rev. A. Duff of Sherbrooke: That the report which has [illegible] been read, be adopted and printed for circulation and that the following gentlemen be the officers and committee of this Society for the ensuing year:—

President, Mr. Henry Vennor; Vice-Presidents, Principal Dawson, L.L.D., &c, and Mr. J. A. Mathewson; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. W. O. Buchanan.

Committee.—Revs. Joshua Eraser, C. P. Watson, Messrs. T. J. Telfer, Jas. Murphy, J. H. Henderson, Jos, Popham, Capt, Noble, R. E., Griffith Evans, M.D, J. Murray Smith, H. G. Vennor,—Macdougall, Sergt.-Major Davis.

Rev. Mr. Elliott in moving the resolution said all that had been said and done was not supererogatory. We lived in an age when Christianity was more diffused than in any other. Notwithstanding the power of Christianity, there was still much wickedness prevailing. Those engaged in the distribution of Tracts, could tell how much suffering there was in this city. This was chiefly among those without the pale of the church. The Society intended to continue to use the word of God and Tracts in the work of correcting those evils. Pure truth was claimed as the characteristic of the publications of the Society, and with this powerful agency much good was being done. The material necessities of the poor were also brought before the public by the agents of the Society, who became familiar with them in the exercise of their duty.

The Rev. Mr. Duff, of Sherbrooke, seconded the resolution. He held that the anniversaries in May in England was one of the most glorious features of the history of Great Britain in this age. He would not say much on the subject of war, but while these anniversaries were held it would be hard to set them by the ears with a nation who also celebratad these annual meetings.

A collection having been taken up it was Moved by the Rev. H. Gill, representative of the British and Foreign Bible Society, seconded by the Rev. Mr. McVicar, That as the system of colportage has been approved and blessed of God to the enlightenment of the masses of the population wherever it has been employed, this meeting regrets to hear of the curtailed operations of the Society in this department during the past year, and expresses its conviction, that so important a work is entitled to a larger amount of sympathy and support from the christian public, than it is wont to receive.

Rev. Mr. Gill said he had a filial duty to perform. The Bible Society was the offspring of the Tract Society, and he as the child of the former Society he had great pleasure as the representative of the Society, in shaking the hand of the President of this Society. He related many incidents, showing the non-sectarian character of the Bible and Tract Societies, and the friendship that should subsist between them. He read a number of extracts from a book recently published under the auspices of the Roman Catholic church, a translation of which in England had received the approval of Cardinal Wiseman. These extracts the speaker characterised as blasphemous. He disclaimed any intention to wound the feelings of any Roman Catholic, but he considered them to be in error. He urged the combatting of these errors by circulating the Bible, and this he held to be the province of such societies. He, therefore, made an earnest appeal to the audience to support the society.

Rev, Mr. McVicar, urged the necessity of method in all their efforts, showing how destructive it was even in business matters to act without system. In many country villages and other localities the business of religion was conducted in such a manner as to call forth the sneers of the systematical skeptic. The work of this Society was to circulate the Bible. This had been the corner stone of the British Government and its influence was acknowledged over the entire world, He contended the home mission field was the the particular province of the Society and there was much to be done by it in Montreal. The Catholic Church while they did not deny that God's gifts were good for the people yet refused them this best gift. Where the bible was not free the people could not be free. He held the energy of the puritans of Vermont and Massachussets which carried freedom down the Mississippi and declared the negroes free was due to the freedom of the Bible. He dwelt with eloquence on the power of the Bible in extending freedom. The report showed that the funds of the Society had fallen off. There might be a cause for this, but retrenchment should not commence with the Church. He had recently seen statistics showing the capital invested in business in this city The capital invested in commerce was 26 million dollars; the banking capital was about 15 millions, showing a total of 41 millions. Now if the trifling odd millon were but devoted the cause of God there would still be the forty millions devoted to worldly pursuits. All the Societies combined did not received a million dollars. There was therefore this forty-one millions devoted to worldly pursuits with the exception of a few thousands given to the church of God.

Moved by the Rev. John Alexander, seconded by Sergeant-Major Davis, C. S. C., That this meeting has heard with much satisfaction that the Committee have been enabled to maintain the effort that has been put forth by the employment of Scripture Readers, for the advancement of the spiritual welfare of the troops now in the garrison of this city.

The Rev. gentleman, in proposing the third resolution, spoke of the military spirit which had been awakened. A few years ago it was thought that all military establishments might be dispensed with, but the last decade had shown that the time had not yet come for that The Indian Mutiny, the Italian war, the war in the neighbouring Republic, the war in Denmark, &c., had shown that that time had not come. It was therefore necessary that the soldier should be elevated to the Christian standard, and he would be all the better soldier. He referred to a number of Christian soldiers, whose names had become prominent in our history—Col. Blackadder, Capt. Vicars, &c. Religion made a man a better man, and the soldier a better soldier. He urged the claims the soldier had on the people; he gave up the ties of family to defend the home of all, and it would be pleasant to think when these men were on the field they had been influenced by the efforts of these Societies to become Christian soldiers. The soldier was the right material from which the Christian can be made. He pictured the result if soldiers were all Christians. The Government of Britain would become a great missionary Society, whose agents extended wherever the sway of Great Britain was acknowledged. He again impressed with much earnestness the claims of soldiers on those in whose defence they were giving up so much.

Sergeant Major Davis, seconded the resolution in a speech of marked eloquence and ability, which was listened to with great attention, and in the course of which the speaker was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause.

Moved by Captain Noble, R. E., seconded by the Rev. C. P. Watson:—That this meeting, whilst expressing its strong conviction of the value of Evangelical Religious Tracts as a means for the dissemination of christian truth, rejoices to hear of the large circulation of the same by this Society during the past year; and would here record its appreciation of the valuable aid which has been rendered by the Association of Tract distributors and others in this important work.

Capt. Noble proposed the resolution in a few remarks appropriate to the occasion.

The Rev. C. P. Watson briefly seconded the resolution.

Captain Noble moved, seconded by the Rev. Mr. McKillican, that the thanks of the Society are due to the President, T. M. Taylor, Esq, whose services in that capacity had done so much to further the [illegible] of the Society.

Captain Noble in moving the resolution paid a tribute to the energy and devotion of the re[illegible].

The motion was carried unanimously.

The announcement that the Anniversary Meeting of the Bible Society would be held in the same place this evening, having been made, the services closed with the Doxology, and the benediction pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Lavelle.

The meeting adjourned.

NEW ORGAN FOR THE CHURCH OF ST. JAMES THE APOSTLE.

The instrument just completed by Mr. Warren of this city, was opened at the morning service on Sunday last We delayed giving a detailed description of it till an opportunity offered of testing it stop by stop.

We may premise that, owing to unforeseen delays, though the instrument was fully erected, many of the pipes had to be left for the Sunday's service in a half-regulated and imperfectly tuned condition, so that it was not heard to the best advantage. In a day or two these defects will be remedied.

Appended is a list of the stops comprising the Organ:—

Great Organ CC to F—54 notes.
1. Double Diapason......... 16 feet.
2 Open do 8
3 Stop do .... 8 tone.
4. Principal 4
5. Twelfth 2⅔
6. Fifteenth 2
7. Se. quealtera (3 ranks)....
8. Mixture (2 ranks).........
9. Posaune.................. 8
10. Clarion 4

Swell Organ CC to F—54 notes.
11. Horn Diapason.......... 8
12. Stop Diapason.......... 8 tone.
13. Viol de Gamba.......... 8
14. Principal............... 4
15. Cornet (2 ranks).........
16. Cornopean (Besson Bass).. 8
17. Hautbois............... 8

Choir Organ CC to F—54 notes.
18. Dulciana.............. 8
19. Melodia (Clarbella Bass) stopped........... 8 tone.
20. Principal 4
21. Harmonic Flute......... 4
22. Piccolo Fifteenth........ 2
23. Cremona to Tenor C..... 8

Pedal Organ CCC to F—30 notes.
24. Open Diapason (wood)... 16 feet.
25. Bourdon.......(do).... 16 tone.

Accessory Movements:
26. Swell to Pedals.
27. Great to Pedals.
28. Choir to Pedals.
29. Swell to Great.
30. Bellows check.
Three composition pedals.

The instrument is placed in an organ chamber open to the Church and the Chancel by two arches, so that there are two organ fronts, the pipes composing which are symmetrically arranged, and are being handsomely decorated by Mr Spence, who; judging from the smaller front already completed, has been most successful both in design and execution. The feet of the pipes are maroon colour, the lips gilt, the lower part of the body green, the upper part white, with a capital of gold and crimson; the whole being diapered and otherwise ornamented in a most tasteful manner. The effect is rich and beautiful, and by no means gaudy or meretricious. Beyond all question, it is the handsomest organ front in Canada, and unique in style.

In regard to the instrument itself, we can award Mr. Warren much praise. The mechanism works well. The touch of the manual key boards (which are bevelled in front, and very accessible,) is agreeable and easy. There are, besides, special mechanical facilities afforded to the organist; the swell pedal being centred beneath the foot, and the swell being constructed so that it will remain open in any position, instead of closing of itself, as usual. The three couplers, manuals to pedals, instead of being worked by stop heads, in the usual way, are placed under the choir manual, beneath the right hand of the organist, and thus more easily accessible. They are, moreover, worked in couples, the pressing of a small thumb piece throwing the coupler into gear, the pressing of the other throwing it out. This we believe in the first time the plan has been tried on this continent.

In voicing of the various stops, Mr. Warren has been very successful. The diapasons, as all foundation stops should be, are full, round, and sonorous. The soft and solo stops are all good, many of them excellent; among which may be mentioned the dulciana, melodia, harmonic flute, and piccolo of the choir organ; and the hora diapason and viol de gamba of the swell organ. The posaune of the great organ is very powerful, adding much to its richness; while the cornopean and hautbois of the swell organ are well voiced and agreeable.

The mixtures of the great organ are extremely powerful, and add immensely to the brilliancy of tone of the full organ In thus making the tone brighter than the construction committee calculated on. Mr. Warren has shewn how easily the ringing tone so much admired in the organ at the English Cathedral can be attained by the use of heavy mixture stops. As a matter of fact the great organ of this instrument while less in size by 54 pipes, is nearly as bright as that of the organ in the English Cathedral; and could easily have been made as much so, though at the risk of making it harsh. No one connected with organs would for a moment desire to have this tone tampered with.

Of the Pedal Organ we may remark that the open pipes are full and pleasant in tone, while the bourdon pipes are soft enough for the most delicate stops in the organ.

Should (as seems not unlikely) a transept be added to this Church, the instrument as it now stands will be sufficient to fill the building with sound; though it might be judicious to add a Reed stop, and a soft metal stop for the pedals, for which there is not sufficient room in the organ chamber. As matters stand the builder has had to exercise considerable ingenuity in compressing the organ into its present space, while leaving sufficient room for access to the mechanism and pipes in case of derangement.

We may assure the congregation of the church that they have secured a well built and handsome instrument, nearly as large as that of the English Cathedral, filling the building most effectively, and with ample resources for the best organists. We may express the hope that they will value and cherish it as it deserves.

The organ Committee consisted of Messrs. Chas. Phillips, (Chairman,) Jas. Crathern, (Treasurer,) C. H. Davie, (Secretary,) G. A. Prowse, W. F. Kay, W. J. Norris, A. Welch, and C. Dorwin. To Messrs. A. Welch and C. H. Davie, was entrusted the arrangement and superintendence of the building of the instrument.

It may not be amiss to mention in this connection that very recently, Mr. G. G. Hook, of the firm of celebrated Organ Builders of Boston, addressed a letter to one of the gentlemen of the Montreal Seminary, stating the highly favorable impression made on him by the organ in the French Parish Church here, so far as completed; naming particularly the superior judgment, skill and enterprise evinced in the conception of the work; the excellence of the mechanical work and action; the volume and grandeur of the full Swell Organ; and the beauty of the solo stops; concluding by stating that, when completed, judging by what was already done, the result must be truly magnificent. This coming from a gentleman who has recently erected in Boston an instrument rivalling in many respects the celebrated Boston organ, is certainly a great compliment to Mr. Warren; while from one, residing near enough to Montreal to render a business competition with Mr. Warren by no means improbable, it has additional value. By those conversant with organs, the compliment is known to be well deserved.

Destructive Fire Last Night.—About twenty minutes to nine o'clock last night an alarm of fire was given from box No. 8, and the fire was discovered to be in the large dry goods store of Mr. Pape, in McGill street, the second store from the corner of Notre Dame street. Almost immediately after the first alarm was given the whole building, three stories high, was one mass of flame, which burst forth with terrific fury from the upper flats.—[illegible] hose reel arriving before [illegible] spot, the first [illegible] alarm had been sounded, and in a few [illegible] streams of water were brought to [illegible] building. The fire at one time threatened the destruction of the whole block, which extends from McGill to Recollet streets; but the firemen, under the able direction of the Chief, Mr. Bertram, behaved most energetically, and happily succeed in confining the flames to the one building which was completely gutted. The roof however, still remains. The deluge of water of course occasioned some damage to the goods in the stores on either side, the one being occupied by Mr. Goulet, and the other by Mr. McIntyre, dry goods merchant. The latter we believe suffers considerable damage by water. He is insured in the British American. Both the stores were several times in imminent danger of taking fire. The paint shop of the Messrs. Ramsay was also in considerable danger during the fire, which fortunately however, did not extend to it. The firemen only completed their work about eleven o'clock, when the flames were got thoroughly under. Mr. Pape's stock we believe, was insured for $12,000 in the Royal, and the same company had about $2,000 on the building. There have been few fires at which the value of the Fire Alarm Telegraph, and the efficiency of the Brigade, have been more plainly shown than at this one. We doubt if, a few years ago, the fire would have been confined even to the large and valuable block in which this store is situated. As it is, the interior of the one building has been destroyed, but little other damage has been done.

Police Court.—A vagrant woman, named Mary Wilson, was arrested for stealing clothes from W. Row. She pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

Recorder's Court.—There were seventeen prisoners before the Recorder yesterday. Charles Prentis was fined $10 for assaulting Henry Ellis with a bottle and inflicting a bad cut under the eye. It appeared that Prentis intended to assault his wife and Ellis and other neighbours interfered to defend the woman, when he received the blow in question.

Two men named Andrew Walker and Thos. McGrath were fined $10 for depositing night soil in a lot off St. Catherine Street, near Papineau road.

The Burlington Free Press says:—M. F. Chase has been appointed Deputy Collector for the new Port of St. Albans. No better [illegible] three years past in the Revenue Department at Rouse's Point, and for ten years Express Agent at that place. He has therefore experience, and having known him for years, we can say that he has the ability and gentlemanly manners for a good Collector.

REPORTED RAID TO RELEASE THE PRISONERS AT CLINTON PRISON.

The Tribune receives letters from Montreal, which on several occasions, we have observed to contain very exaggerated statements in reference to the feeling of the people here and so forth. It is the same correspondent we presume who now claims to have discovered the plot of another raid across the border. We give for what it is worth, the substance of his story, which is as follows. The statement is made with a minuteness which gives it an appearance of truth, but it should be received with caution:—

The project of these Rebels comprehends the capture of the Clinton State Prison at Dannemora, a descent on the village of Plattsburg, and a grand raid in New England. At the prison the machine shops, rolling mill, foundry, &c., are to be destroyed, and the convicts released, most of whom it is believed will readily accompany the raiders to Plattsburg. At the latter place, the extensive barracks belonging to the Government are to be destroyed, the custom house, post office and banks plundered, and the entire town given up to pillage and conflagration. And all this "as a mild retaliation for the outrages committed by Hunter, Burbridge, Sheridan, and others." But this work is not to be done alone by Rebels in Canada. A considerable number of the "chivalry" have been detached from their regiments by the Rebel War Department to assist in the work of plunder, murder and devastation. These "gallant" men have stealthily made their way North, and many of them are now concealed with their friends in Baltimore and New York, while a few others are said to have actually colonized in Plattsburg and other towns in Northern New York. All are in communication with the leaders, and are awaiting orders. The "invaders" from this quarter are to work their way across the line in small parties—most of them proceeding in sleds—in the neighbourhood of Summit, and are to rendezvous at a designated point, at an appointed hour of night, near Chazy Lake. The sleds, at a proper time are to be abandoned, are each to be drawn by two horses, and are to contain saddles, arms and ammunition, and other articles necessary for the expedition. Such of the men as are not in this way provided with horses will, when they require them, supply themselves by robbing the most convenient to them. The leaders have not only a complete drawing of Clinton Prison, but have recently reconnoitered the grounds and determined on the points and mode of attack. The prison is said to contain three hundred and fifty inmates, including several Southern sympathizers from Maryland, confined for political offences, who are guarded by less than thirty sentinels. To surprise and overpower this guard it is supposed will be an easy matter. The men secreted in Baltimore and New York are to proceed at different times to various points on or near the Ogdensburg and Rouse's Point Railroad, and on an appointed day are to take the morning train on its way from the former to the latter place; and immediately on leaving Chateauguay are to seize the train, destroy the railroad bridge and telegraph at that point, after which they will proceed east, and near Summit take up the remainder of the crew from the Canada side. The latter are to make their way by different routes to this obscure point under the guise of hunters. The force will then proceed to Moor's Junction and take possession of the Plattsburg train, which always connects at the junction with the train from Ogdensburgh. Here the locomotive first seized will be disabled, the telegraph wires cut, and the raiders will "change cars" for Plattsburgh. At West Chazy they will destroy the railroad bridge, then continue on to Beekmantown—a hamlet four or five miles of Plattsburg—where they will meet the raiders who are to proceed by way of Clinton Prison, and in company with them hasten to the above village. If their arrangements should be completely executed they would all reach Plattsburgh before their approach could be made known thereto and in no case could the people be informed of their danger through friends in other parts of the County in time to enable them to successfully defend their homes and property. It is expected that the raiders, having accomplished their purposes at Plattsburg, will, after paying a visit to Keesville, where there are extensive rolling-mills and factories, cross to Burlington, Vt., plunder that town, Waterbury and Montpelier, capital of the State, then hasten on to Haverhill, N. H., and then push across the latter State to Maine, where they will keep raiding until driven by a superior force out of the country. If obliged at last to seek refuge in Canada or New Brunswick, the leaders believe that it could not be successfully disputed that their numbers and proceedings entitled them to be regarded as belligerents, and not liable to extradition. Those who are expected to engage in the expedition from Canada are ordered by the [illegible] Secretary of War to report [illegible] the Rebel points within [illegible] to certain officers at [illegible] the State of New York, so that it could not be contended, as to them, that they had violated the neutrality of Great Britain.

The Reciprocity Treaty.—The determination on the part of Congress to terminate the treaty with Great Britain, in relation to the Provinces, furnishes another proof that feeling is stronger than reason. The weight of argument is all on the other side. A few local interests may profit by the abrogation of this agreement, but the nation, as a whole, must suffer by the change. We have shown this so conclusively in past years, when the subject was discussed upon the merits, that it is quite useless to go over again the grounds of this conviction. The treaty is to be annulled in order to punish the Provinces for their real or supposed hostility to Northern interests since the inauguration of the rebellion. The blow will tell beyond a doubt. The change will affect a large number of people over the border, and prove a serious interruption to a very profitable trade. It may do more injury on that side than it will on this, although of that we have very grave doubts. It will, however, inflict an injury. It is effectual retaliation, if we assume that there has been cause of offence, and so far there has been no child's play about it. It is a serious business, and will be more extensive in its results than even its authors suppose. It will be serious, also, as we have hinted, because the damage will be mutual. The hand that strikes will feel the blow at least as much as the body which receives it. The assumptions to the contrary in Congressional debate are utter nonsense. We have taken vast millions of raw produce free from the Provinces, and sent them as many millions of our manufactures in return. Because they have paid their treasury a duty on these manufactured goods, therefore, it is said, we have the worst of the bargain! The man who uttered that speech is hopelessly incompetent to understand the first principles of political economy. This country wolud like such an interchange with all the world The truth is, that the increased traffic has been a source of great profit to both sides, and its cessation will tell upon the material interest of both countries. It will cost our people less, it is true, for the time being, to strike a blow across the border in this way, than to go to war with our northern neighbors; but if the war might soon be settled, and this is to last for years, the actual hostilities might prove to be cheaper in the final result.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE CONFEDERATE CONGRESS.

According to the report of the Richmond Sentinel of the 17th, they had a lively time in the Rebel Congress the day before. Certain secret proceedings of that body, which are supposed to favor the opening of negotiations for peace with the Government at Washington, had been denounced in the Sentinel of the 14th, as Treason, and Mr. Orr of Mississippi brought the subject to the attention of the House. Importance was attached to the article in question because the Sentinel was considered the organ of Jeff. Davis, and was presumed, therefore, to speak his sentiments. Mr. Orr's speech is significant. He does not reveal the character of the proceedings referred to, but he defends them even on the supposition that it was proposed to send Commissioners to Washington to treat for peace. "This movement," he says, is not in the hands of timid or time serving men. Sustained, as they are, by a volume of sentiment in the country and in the army, and by their own sense of duty, they are determined that in some form the statesmanship of the country shall be invoked in an honest effort to end this carnival of death by negotiation." But that negotiation, he clearly intimates, does not involve the destruction of Slavery or the reconstruction of the Union. "We certainly," he continues, "could make it to be their (the Federal Government) interest to recognize us an independent people without involving either Slavery or reconstruction." If Mr. Orr and his party propose nothing more than this in sending Commissioners to Washington, we don't see why Mr. Davis and his party should object to their going, unless he has a well-grounded fear that such propositions being rejected, others more likely to be entertained would then be offered. If the vote on the resolutions subsequently offered to rebuke The Sentinel is a test of the strength of the two parties, Mr. Orr and his friends have no reason to be discouraged.

A rumor meantime reaches us from Washington that Mr. Blair has again gone to Richmond. Mr. Singleton still remains there.

Members of Volunteer Companies and the Draft.—In order that members of volunteer companies may be exempt from duty under the late draft, it will be imperative that the provisions of a sub-section of the Militia Act be observed. It reads thus.—"And no person shall have the benefit of such exemption unless he has, at least one month before he claims such benefit, filed his claim thereto with his affidavit made before some magistrate (or affirmation in cases where persons are allowed to affirm) of the facts on which he rests his claim with the Clerk of the Municipality within the limits whereof he resides." So that the volunteers who have now been drafted must each for himself, if he would secure the exemption, make his formal application in the way [illegible]

Volunteer Rations.—The following is a statement of the rations allowed the Volunteers on frontier duty, as per order from the Militia Department:—

Bread, one pound; fresh meat, one pound; butter, two ounces; coffee, one third of an ounce; tea, one sixth of an ounce; sugar, two ounces; rice, two ounces; milk, one pint; potatoes, two pounds, per day. And the contractor for groceries will be allowed to charge two cents per man per diem for supplying barley, salt, pepper, and a sufficiency of vegetables, (to the satisfaction of the commanding officer) for making soup.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Colds and Coughs.—Sudden changes of climate are sources of Pulmonary and Bronchial affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies act speedily when taken in the early stage of disease, take at once "Brown's Bronchial Troches," let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Farmers. provide yourselves with PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER at this season of the year, when Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, &c., may disable your hands. Use it in every case of the kind, and it will effect a speedy cure. But be sure you trust to no other remedy but the old, long tried Perry Davis' Pain Killer, which has never to my knowledge failed.

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

With corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purges out these im[illegible] stimulates the organs of life into [illegible] disease. Hence it [illegible] storing the health and exp[illegible] Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Liver Complaints, and Heart Diseases Try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick for they not only contain little of any Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. We can only assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

Prepared by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine everywhere.

The Wonder of the Age

MYSTIKOS

BOGLE'S MYSTIC HAIR TINT.

THE NEWEST AND GREATEST DISCOVERY.
The indispensable appendage to every toilet—The companion of young and old.
The "long sought for and now found."

IT IS NOT AN INSTANTANEOUS HAIR DYE, but it gradually and mystically restores hair to its original color, and gives to grey, or to any unpleasant hue of hair, any tint, varying from the lightest, through all the intermediate shades, to the deepest black, lifelike and natural, at pleasure. It can be used as easily as oil to the hair. The directions are so simple that a child may apply it. It is contained in one bottle. There is no washing of the hair before or after the application. It will not stain or discolor the scalp. It is as harmless as water. It is chiefly composed of vegetable ingredients, and no sulphur, lead or deleterious minerals are contained in it. It nourishes and strengthens the hair, promotes its growth, and sustains it in prestine beauty to the latest period of life. In short, it is a wonder, a luxury, none should be without it. Try! Be convinced!

The Mystic Hair Tint is peculiarly adapted for ladies, on account of its easy application. Also, and for the same reason, to gentlemen in the army or navy.

The Mystikos is also the cheapest article, as one bottle will last from nine to twelve months.

 Concise and simple directions accompany each package.

PRICE, $1.50 PER PACKAGE.
