Recreation Leader Reports To First Annual Meeting

First Year of Recreation Association Classed as Period of Survey

The following is the report given to the first annual meeting of the Huntingdon Recreation Association, by Mr. Stanley Liversidge, the appointed director. It is a rather comprehensive report and deals with all phases of the activities undertaken and the problems encountered in trying to carry them out. The meeting was held in the County Building, on Thursday evening. To:

Members of the Board of Management,
Huntingdon Recreation Association.

Gentlemen,

As of June 30th, 1947, the above association will have completed its first year of operation, which time it must be borne in mind should be considered a period of "process of elimination", trial and error — — a survey period.

Activities commenced last July with the actual formation of the Association. The Board of Management at that time was composed of the following people: The Clergy of all Churches in Huntingdon, President of the Board of Trade, President of the Canadian Legion, President of the Rotary Club, Principals of both schools, Messrs. Chas. Reid, E. C. Martin, Alex. Fawcett, D. A. Grant, Francois Cleyn, W. K. Philps and A. L. Sellar. These men were to hold office until the first annual meeting, when a new Board of Management was planned to be elected by the public.

The first attempt at finding out public interest in recreation was made in the form of a questionnaire which was distributed through the mills to each employee and to the public through the medium of the Gleaner. Unfortunately, the response was extremely poor and a very low percentage of questionnaires were returned. It was found however that the greatest interest in all proposed activities was among the boys and girls of school age. Some young adults showed interest in activities such as bowling, hockey card games, etc., but unfortunately no one showed a very keen interest in leading any activity or acting on committees.

The first project was the Benni Coccia playing field which was developed by the boys themselves. Much work was done on repairing the diamond, bases, backstop, etc., and this was financed by the Rotary Club. A bantam league was organized and four teams were active all season. The trophy which was donated by Mr. Benni Coccia won by the Mohawks and presented to them at a large dinner given at the St. Joseph Parish Hall. From beginning to end, this league proved a tremendous success, and most certainly had its value from the "teaching good citizenship" point of view as well as good sportsmanship.

Around the same date, swimming lessons were offered to any children in Town who wished to learn. The D.V.A. swimming pool was secured for one day per week and although the enrollment was small, it proved a tremendous success. The only regret was that it was started a little too late in the season to be of any real value.

At this point a cycle club was started and many interesting trips were made. Much difficulty was experienced in getting a leader to take the group over and this curtailed activities considerably. Despite the leadership shortage, a very interesting group was organized which although small, forms the nucleus of larger things and shows a need for this sort of thing.

In the month of August, horseshoes and pitching equipment were purchased and two pitches were built on the Benni Coccia field. This sport proved particularly interesting among the older gentlemen of the Town and many an interesting hour was whiled away. Upwards of one hundred men pitched over the short length left in August and September.

A library committee was formed around this time, whose job it was to seek out information regarding the possibility of a public library. The libraries of both the Huntingdon Academy and St. Joseph School were offered, but unfortunately nothing further developed at that time.

The question of reorganization of the Huntingdon Lawn Bowling Club was brought up, and an attempt was made at getting this sport reorganized. Three teams were formed and a small schedule was drawn up. Although the groups were small, real interest was shown, and many pleasant evenings were spent.

In the beginning of September a Gun and Fishing club was organized under the leadership of Mr. Wm. Boyd and is still a going concern. A play was brought from Montreal and the proceeds went to this club for equipment, etc. This money has not as yet been used, and when a plan of action has been decided upon, it will be used to good advantage.

A business men's health class was organized and excercises were given one evening per week. This

Study Means of Increasing Hospital Facilities in Huntingdon

In accordance with a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Huntingdon County Hospital on April 11th a meeting of the Medical Board and the Building Committee was held at the Hospital on April 24th.

Conditions were fully explored and two plans are under consideration and as soon as an estimate can be secured of what it would cost to complete these respective plans, they will be referred back to the full Board of Governors.

If approval is given of either of these plans, a campaign will be organized to raise the necessary funds to put the project into effect. In an appreciation of the benefit this institution has been to the community it is expected that the public response will be generous.

Fine Concert By Franklin Academy

Presentation Given at Huntingdon High School

A full house greeted the Franklin Academy Choir from Malone, N.Y., when they presented their concert at the Huntingdon High School auditorium, on Friday evening. The Huntingdon Rotary Club through Mr. Ivan Heath, was responsible for this presentation which was put on in conjunction with the Huntingdon Boys' Band.

The choir, made up of young boys and girls from the Franklin Academy, was under the direction of C. Richard Rhoades, and required two buses to transport them to Huntingdon. Mr. François Cleyn, President of the Huntingdon Rotary Club, introduced the choir in behalf of the club and remarked on the quality of their singing and the treat that was in store for the large audience.

The girls were very nicely gowned and each wore a corsage of flowers which added to their costume. While the singing of the group captivated the audience, the singing of the boy soprano, Douglas Gallagher, seemed to draw forth the most praise. Those attending were remarking on this lad's fine voice for several days after the programme.

The Huntingdon Boys' Band under the direction of Mr. Don Moore,

Rotary Assures Boys' Club For Huntingdon

Meeting to be Held by Directors of the Club to Reach Decision as to Building

At the Rotary Club Luncheon meeting on Monday, Mr. C. A. Wylie, Executive Director Montreal Boys' Association, gave a talk on the formation of Boys' Clubs and some of his experiences in this connection. A matter of importance came before the members in that a decision was required as to whether the club would purchase one of the huts at the barracks to be used for a boys' club. There was a question as to whether it would be advisable to buy a hut and leave it at the camp site, or to move it to a new site more in the center of town. Mr. Wylie, who had come with the idea of talking on Boys' Club as a general thing, changed his address to fit in with giving information that would be helpful to the Rotarians in reaching a decision on the matter in hand.

Therefore, before any decision was made on the purchase or otherwise of the hut, it was decided to hear Mr. Wylie and get some idea of what would be necessary. In giving an account of boys' clubs that had been set up in Montreal, Mr. Wylie outlined some of the difficulties encountered and the methods used to overcome them. He said that they had found that a river or a railway always acted as a natural barrier or dividing line. That is if they decided to found their club on one side of a river, it meant that they would get the boys from that one side and not from the other. The idea was that they wanted boys from both sides of the river and therefore the ends were defeated. As he saw the situation in Huntingdon if the hut in question would be bought and left on its present site, it would mean that it would have to draw the main of its members from the other side of the river and that is where most of the town lay. It would be better to buy the hut and move it to some more central spot that would form the center of the activities to be engaged in.

He explained that when they were going to plan a setting for a boys' club, they investigated all the probabilities first and made a map of the area and they blocked off where their population would be and what types of population there would be. When this had been done they decided the most strategic spot to locate the club to draw the largest possible number of members. Boys' Clubs are actually educational as the members do things for themselves, keep the rooms clean and tidy, keep the building and grounds tidy and so forth. There was no interference from adults, caretakers or boards of officers, the boys were responsible only to their leader or leaders. It had been found that when such clubs had been in schools or such like buildings there was always interference from the caretakers and the officers on account of one thing or another, and this did not auger well for a boys' club. Therefore the club rooms should be solely for the use of the boys who are members and no other interference whatsoever. He mentioned that while he spoke of boys, this usually meant girls were included in a number of the activities. The usual method was to divide the boys into different age groups and keep them interested in various things to do. It was found that a teen-age group would often want to hold a dance and this was allowed on the understanding that the group would be fully responsible for all expenses and to keep order and so forth. The younger groups were usually dismissed at about 9 p.m. and older groups could take over until a later period. It was also found that those in the older groups could help with the younger ones and so forth. No older adult organizations could come along and say we are going to use the club rooms for a concert, dance, meeting or anything else, the boys were allowed full use of the rooms and the leaders only provided the proper guidance.

Following Mr. Wylie's talk, the members were asked if they had any questions on the matter, and several had. Having settled these, a secret vote took place on the question of whether to buy the officers' mess and leave it there, or whether to buy a hut and move it to a new location, or to build from scratch. The voting went in favor of not having the location at the camp site, but move it to a more central spot in town. Some thought one of the huts could be moved, while others thought it would be better to put up a new building. It was finally decided to leave the matter to the directors of the club and for them to make a report to a meeting in two weeks' time. One thing is assured and that is that there will definitely be a Boys' Club in Huntingdon.

Mr. Wylie made some further suggestions as to the best way to handle certain problems that would probably arise from time to time and Mr. Liversidge outlined some reasons why he wanted the club situated near the centre of town. Mr. Wylie was born at Aubrey, Que., and was educated in schools there and in Montreal. The association which he directs has five of the largest boys' clubs in Eastern Canada, with memberships as high as 1,000. Mr. Liversidge was responsible for starting one of these clubs which at first had a membership of 40 to 50 and then climbed to 400 and it is still growing. He feels that such a club will have equal success and be the means of building a real community spirit among the boys and girls in this community as well as aiding in the education of these young people.

Legion Purchases Camp Hospital Building For A Home

The Chateauguay - Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion has recently purchased the Hospital at the Military Camp as a Legion Home at which regular meetings will be held, entertainments in connection with the raising of funds for Legion purposes, recreational activities, and all other activities ordinarily carried on in the past by the Legion. It is expected that the Ladies Auxiliary will make the Home the center of their activities and their meeting-place. As there is a large floor space it is also hoped to make the Home available for outside parties and meetings.

This building has been purchased at a cost of $2424.00 with an additional $300.00 required to be deposited pending a release to the Government from the land owners. A part of the purchase price has already been raised but a considerable sum will be required immediately to complete the payment of the purchase price and equip the building. For the above reasons the Chateauguay - Huntingdon Branch will shortly conduct a canvas in which the public will be asked to make contributions. The members of the Legion feel that the public will welcome an opportunity to show their appreciation of services rendered and to see that the returned boys have a proper place in which to meet.

Chairman H.R.A. Considers Association Work Beneficial

Report Shows That Programme is Necessarily a Long Range One

The following report given by the chairman of the Huntingdon Recreation Association, Mr. E. C. Martin, gives some brief facts of how the Association has been operated and financed since its inception in July of 1946. The report was given at the annual meeting held at the County Building, on Thursday evening.

Since July 2nd, 1946, the affairs of the Huntingdon Recreation Association have been conducted by an Interim Committee composed of F. Cleyn, representing Leach Textiles Ltd. and Spinners Ltd., A. L. Sellar representing the Huntingdon Gleaner Inc., D. A. Grant, representing Huntingdon Woollen Mills Ltd., and Popular Rugs Ltd., A. Fawcett, representing Fawcett & Grant, E. C. Martin representing the School Commissioners of Huntingdon, and by either Father J. A. Pigeon or Brother Fallon, representing St. Joseph's School. E. C. Martin was named Chairman and D. A. Grant, Secretary-Treasurer.

A constitution was drawn up and after much study was adopted at a meeting held on October 7th, 1946, and it was understood by the members of the Committee that they would conduct the affairs of the Association until a permanent slate of officers would be elected at a meeting this spring, of which notice would be given to all citizens.

Instructions were given to the Director, Mr. Stan. Liversidge, to make a survey of the community as to its needs. A questionnaire was put out and had such a poor reception from the adults of the town that the Committee and the Director came to the conclusion that the most effective work could be done with the children in the schools by way of giving them proper direction and amusement and in training them as future leaders. As a result most of his work has been done with children of school age. The expenses, outside of the salary of the Director, were borne by a special fund already in existence and by donations.

On November 13th, the Director reported that there were several projects that he had in view but that he could not carry them out unless money was available and it was decided to make a public campaign for funds. The public responded well as the treasurer's report will show. However, when the money was raised, it was found that certain equipment could not be purchased and as a result the proceeds of this drive are almost intact.

At a meeting held on March 27th, the Director reported that he has completed his survey and he recommended: 1. That the needs of the community could best be served by him confining his work for the most part with the school age children; 2. That this object could be best obtained by the formation of a Boys' Club or Youths' Club where all town activities of that nature could be centered; and, 3, That for several reasons it has been proved that the High School is not the logical place to centre the activities of such a club.

In view of this report your committee has given thought to obtaining headquarters for such a club or the modest beginnings of such a headquarters, in which the boys could do much of the work themselves. The best solution seemed to be to purchase a hut at the Camp and negotiations have been underway to that effect. It would appear as if such a deal might be made and this Committee strongly recommends that a hut be bought if at all possible and established as a Youth Club.

The Committee is of the opinion that the Director is well qualified to do his job, and that his work, although of a preliminary nature, has been of great benefit to the young people by way of physical training, supervised sports, supervised amusements, and in general in preventing the possibility of delinquency among the younger element. The Committee feels that the results will be evidenced in years to come by the development of the children of Huntingdon to useful and respectable citizens and leaders in their walk of life.

It is unfortunate that this work is not and cannot be brought to the attention of the public. The only occasion in which the work of the Director was brought to the attention of the public was by way of the concert at the High School consisting of choral numbers. Much favorable comment was heard about the work that had been done in about two months and the Committee is of the opinion that the work of the Director will be more appreciated by the public as the public becomes aware of what actually was in the minds of the promoters of the project, and as that plan develops in the hands of the Director. It is a long range project in which most of the results cannot be seen or appreciated at the present time. Already some forty communities in Ontario have a full time Director, so that the Town of Huntingdon is one of the pioneers in this work which appears to be a must for the future.

Valleyfield Masonic Lodge Has Golden Jubilee

John Lowe and John J. Swanston Receive 50-years Jewels of Masonry

In the spring of 1897, Valleyfield Lodge A.F. & A.M. was instituted and placed under dispensation. On April 23rd, 1947, last Wednesday evening, this event was observed at Valleyfield in a gala celebration of the golden jubilee. The Grand Master of Masons of Quebec, Most Worshipful Brother Leslie Hale Boyd, K.C. attended with Grand Lodge officers and there was an outpouring of members from every lodge in Montreal District No. 3, while all districts from Montreal were represented. Over 200 members joined to felicitate a lodge whose existence spanned a half century. Forty-four lodges took part. From Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, the Eastern Townships, the counties of Beauharnois, Chateauguay and Huntingdon, and from all parts of Ontario, from New York State and even from Scotland and Ireland they came to express the enthusiasm of the occasion. On this St. George's Day, all roads led to the cotton town on the edge of Lake St. Francis.

The festivities of the evening had been planned by a committee that had worked hard unceasingly for two months under the chairmanship of P. L. Clark and the manner in which attention was given to the details connected with such an affair reflects great credit upon organizing ability and foresight. Like a play, the setting was in two parts, two acts, the first of which began in the lodge rooms and the second which reached its climax in the Montreal Cottons Club, where a programme of music, speech and song ended to send the happy celebrants to their homes with memories of an evening well spent.

In the lodge room, the Grand Master was received by Worshipful Master K. A. Good, whose address of welcome was admired as a model of expression. M.W. Bro. Boyd congratulated the lodge and then proceeded to invest V.W. Bro. John Lowe and W. Bro. J. J. Swanston with fifty year jewels. The recipients were presented by M.W. Bro. J. A. McDonald and W. Bro. C. W. Gurnham respectively, when it was pointed out that these two veterans were the sole survivors of the charter members who, fifty years before, had asked for the privilege of forming a lodge in Valleyfield. In fitting words, and amidst great applause, M.W. Bro. Boyd pinned upon V. Wor. Bro. Lowe and W. Bro. Swanston this accolade of rare distinction. R.W. Bro. C. L. Roman then called attention to the fact that there were two members, R. G. Clifford and H. L. Nixon, who were in waiting to receive their certificates. The Grand Master humorously pointed out that these youngsters were graduates who were receiving their diplomas to go forth into the world to acquire experience in their profession and to achieve

Annual Meeting Huntingdon Recreation Association

Boys Club Matter of Consideration—Rotary Offers to Buy Suitable Building

The Huntingdon Recreation Association's first annual meeting was held at the County Building on Thursday evening, with a very poor attendance that was quite disappointing to the committee in charge. However, the meeting was proceeded with and reports were given as to the progress made and the activities engaged in during the first year of operation. The reports were given by the chairman, Mr. E. C. Martin and the director, Mr. Stanley Liversidge, and appear as separate items elsewhere in this issue.

The financial report showed that of the amount of money received from the campaign for funds for the association, a balance remains amounting to $741.91. The salary of the Director has been paid and will continue to be paid by a group of industrialists in the Town of Huntingdon and is therefore not a charge against the funds of the association.

A slate of officers to be the permanent officials of the Huntingdon Recreation Association, was proposed by Mr. Grant of the Huntingdon Woollen Mills Ltd., as follows: Chairman, Mr. Fred Dobbs; Treasurer, Mr. Howard Brown; Secretary, Mr. Sidney Smith; Members: Dr. J. E. Caza, Mr. W. R. Wilson and Mr. Leo Galipeau. This slate was accepted by the meeting and passed.

In giving his report, the Director, Mr. Liversidge, recommended that a Boys' Club be created here and in this connection Mr. Martin called upon Mr. F. Cleyn to outline a proposition that the Rotary Club is considering. Mr. Cleyn said that the Rotary Club has been negotiating with War Assets Corporation with regard to securing one of the huts at the barracks to be used as a boys' club house. The club had been notified that the purchase of one of the huts could be assured when it was to be used for such a purpose. In consequence they had a choice of the one used as the officers' mess and of two others located near the hospital building. It would be a matter of deciding which of these would be the most suitable. Mr. Cleyn said that in talking with

Ordination Service Of Robert G. MacMillan

On Tuesday, April 22nd, at 11.00 a.m. the members and adherents of Athelstan and Elgin Presbyterian Churches formed a large congregation in Elgin Church, to witness the ordination to the holy ministry of Robert G. MacMillan, who has served here as student-pastor for the past few years.

The Presbytery of Montreal, was represented by Dr. J. B. Maclean, moderator pro-tem; Dr. A. S. Reid, clerk; Rev. Prof. R. Lennox; Rev. A. T. MacKay; Rev. H. A. Pritchard; Rev. J. S. McBride; Rev. W. McBride; Rev. S. Vance; Dr. D. Wade; Mr. Geo. P. Elder; Mr. C. W. Orr and Dr. A. White. Public worship was conducted by the moderator, Dr. J. B. Maclean, of Huntingdon. The Rev. Professor Robert Lennox, M.A., of Presbyterian College, Montreal, delivered a very inspiring sermon. The service of ordination then followed. Dr. Maclean addressed the questions to Mr. MacMillan and by the laying on of hands by the members of the Presbytery Mr. MacMillan was ordained to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The new minister was then addressed by the Rev. A. Lorne MacKay, B.D., of Montreal West Presbyterian church. He stressed the need for prayer, study and pastoral visitation as essential in the life of a minister today, and presented to Mr. MacMillan, in a very excellent address, the responsibilities of the Christian Ministry. The Rev. H. A. Pritchard of Ormstown Presbyterian Church gave the charge to the people. Said Mr. Pritchard: "A congregation which prays for their minister finds little time to criticize him."

The Elgin Congregation under the capable leadership of the Ladies Aid Society served a delicious dinner to all who were present, for the ordination service. During the dinner Dr. A. S. Reid, who has acted as Interim-moderator of Athelstan and Elgin Churches for some years, was presented with a suitable gift in appreciation of his untiring services. The presentation was made on behalf of the two congregations by Mr. W. R. Rutherford, clerk of the Elgin Session, and Mr. Jas. Brims, clerk of the Athelstan Session.

Three Calves Born To Ayrshire Cow

An Ayrshire cow, belonging to Mr. Emile Charland on Mr. Michael McAllister's farm, at Covey Hill, has given birth to triplets, a heifer and two bulls. This gives rise to the thought that a steep and rugged road may lead to "a land flowing with milk and honey."

Boys' Band Attends Festival At Forum in Montreal

Crowds Along Route of Parade Give Plenty of Applause For the Boys

The long awaited event and for which the members of the Boys' Band have been practising these many weeks past, has at last taken place. The International Festival of School Music took place in Montreal on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and the Boys' Band took their part on Saturday afternoon.

A Provincial Transport bus was chartered to take the 40 members into the city and left the Huntingdon High School at about 11.30 on Saturday morning. It was an excited bunch of boys that boarded the bus and Bandmaster Moore had quite a time keeping their spirits in check. Mr. Sidney Smith also accompanied the boys in to Montreal, both to assist Mr. Moore and to obtain first hand information as to what happened at the festival. During the ride in, sandwiches were handed around and a five-minute stop at Ste. Martine allowed for drinks to be purchased. Thus fortified the boys had to keep going until after they had participated in the events for which they were scheduled.

The original plan called for the band to be at the Forum in Montreal at 1.30 and to form into a parade at that point and march about a mile and a quarter. Then to dismiss and come back to the Forum to take in a Massed Bands Concert at 3 p.m. This however was changed when the party arrived at the Forum. Instead it was rearranged that the bands would arrange their formation on the McGill Campus and march back to the Forum. For this part of the programme there was not much time as the bands were already assembling and one of them passed the bus as it entered the campus. However, the place in the parade was found and the Huntingdon Boys' Band was soon out on Sherbrooke Street taking its part in the parade back to the Forum.

This band was one of the smallest in number of the seventeen in the parade, but it was not the least in volume by any means. The uniforms were entirely different from any of the other bands, although there were several that were quite striking. Huntingdon Band was the only organized band from the Province of Quebec, the majority of them being from the States. There were some members of various Montreal High Schools made up into one band, and also one from Ontario. Each band in setting out on the route of parade was spaced so as not to interfere with the one in front or the one behind. All along the route of parade, the Huntingdon Boys gathered much applause from the large crowd that lined the route and at some sections they were given an exceptionally fine ovation. They looked smart in their uniforms and kept a military pace, while the music was well played. The route was a long one, but the boys did not seem to tire and kept their position all the way to the Forum.

As soon as all the bands were assembled in the Forum, and they practically filled the available space, the concert of the massed bands began. This was under the direction of Dr. J. J. Gagnier, and six numbers were played to a Forum audience in which standing room only was the order. The numbers played were: Anchors Aweigh, National Emblem, Our Director, Mon Ami, Steady Boys and The Thunderer. As each piece was completed the Forum resounded to the applause. The Huntingdon Band had a front position almost immediately in front of the conductor. The drum sections of each band were placed on a separate platform and arranged according to the type of drum and behind the director. When The Thunderer was played the bass drum section was brought out from the others and placed to the left of the director. At the evening performance, the announcer said that Dr. Gagnier had been so pleased with this rendition of The Thunderer, that it had been included in the evening programme by special request. He said that the bands that played it during the afternoon had done exceptionally well with this number. At the evening performance it was only picked players from each band that played in the concert. Huntingdon Band was not included in this part of the performance.

Following the afternoon concert, part in the programme were dismissed outside the Forum. In order for the Huntingdon Boys to fill in time between dismissal and supper, it was decided to march them to the Provincial Bus Depot on Dorchester Street, where they could leave their instruments until time for the return trip. Along the route, the boys played several selections to the delight of people in the houses and the large crowd of children which travelled along in front and behind. On arrival at the bus depot, it was necessary to wait fifteen minutes for the bus to be brought around. No time was lost so the boys again played some selections for the benefit of passengers waiting to board the buses and the staff of the depot. For their efforts they received a hearty round of applause. All then boarded the bus and were taken to a restaurant to enjoy a well earned meal, the first since leaving Huntingdon and the time about 5.15.

It can well be imagined that 39 healthy lads, the bandmaster and the press representative lost no time in ordering and setting about enjoying the meal served. In fact it was learned that some of the members took a second serving of the same order, they were so famished. There was still some time to fill in, between after supper and

FRANKLIN ACADEMY CHOIR PRESENTS CONCERT IN HUNTINGDON

Annual Report—Recreation

WHILE the first year of actual work in connection with the recreation Association in Huntingdon is not completed, the annual meeting held the past week was given reports of the progress made. These reports are given quite fully in this issue and there is therefore no need for us to go into them, but we do feel some word on the progress of the association is due from us.

In the first case, despite the publicity that has been given on this association and the work it is doing, there still seems to be a large number of persons who are in almost complete ignorance of it. The idea behind the association is to create the social welfare of the people of Huntingdon and to bind one and all together in a true community spirit. It is also felt that if the young people are occupied with worthwhile pursuits there will be less chance of delinquency. The reports would seem to indicate that some large measure of success has been achieved in both directions and that before the aims are definitely accomplished, the people will need educating as to the worthiness of the project. There is no doubt in the minds of the promoters that the past year has had its successes and they are satisfied that the association will finally show itself to be most beneficial to the community. The most important matter is to obtain the whole-hearted support of the people of the community to ensure its early complete success.

Some people seem to have the mistaken idea that the Director, Mr. Liversidge, can run the whole show by himself. The burden of this has been proven and the whole idea can only develop if leaders for the different groups can be obtained to take charge under the general supervision of Mr. Liversidge as director. These leaders have not been obtained in sufficient numbers to operate all the activities that the director had planned, consequently they had to be confined to those which he could conveniently handle. The result is that it was decided to confine the director's work to the school children of the town with the idea in mind that potential leaders can be found among them. This idea is to continue and there is every indication that a boys' club will be formed to further stimulate the work among the young people.

Mr. Liversidge is of the opinion that once he can get this boys' club started, that he will have a greater interest for the young boys of town. He is particularly anxious that this shall be a real community affair and that all boys regardless of race or creed will become members. He has had considerable experience in this kind of work and the officers of the association feel that it can be made a success if all the people will co-operate in making it so. He does not guarantee that his efforts will show right at the outset, as much has to be overcome and much groundwork will be necessary before the club can operate in the way he intends. It may be that the public will be called upon to offer their financial support as well as their moral support, in order to make this a success. In the first drive for funds, an objective was set at $1200, but only $800 was raised, this sum remains practically intact and will be used to operate the association as to buying equipment and such like. One important point which we would like to make is that the money raised did not go to pay the salary of the director and from indications it is not the intention to use any of this money for that purpose. Industrial concerns in Huntingdon are looking after the financing of the salary of the director and there is no charge against the association for this. A number of people who were approached in the last drive resented being called upon as they thought, to help pay the salary of the director. It is therefore that we are pleased to point out that contributions were solely for the purpose of buying equipment and so forth. If another drive should come along, please bear this in mind and be sure that all contributions are used toward buying necessary equipment only. Incidentally, if there are any persons who feel they would like to make a contribution at any time, same will be thankfully received by the treasurer of the association, Mr. Howard Brown. It must be remembered that no charge for membership is made to anyone and the money must be procured to finance it and make it a success. So far the Rotary Club has helped very considerably and is still willing to do so, but this one organization cannot be expected to do it all. It is expected that when the various groups are fully organized they may be able to put on some form of public entertainment which will serve to show what has been done and also help in raising extra funds. In the meantime more support is urged for the benefit of the association, that the reports will show, is doing a good job.

Experience For the Band

THE trip to Montreal to take part in the International Festival of School Music, was more in the nature of experience for the Huntingdon Boys' Band. It was a first step to gaining wider recognition and perhaps entering contests that will prove the ability of this band to compete with others in the field. There were some very fine bands entered in the parade on Saturday afternoon and Huntingdon was probably the smallest in number of members and the only organized one from Quebec. The boys showed up well and won much applause from the crowds along the route of parade.

Some people are of the opinion that this festival was in the nature of a competition. This was not the case, it actually was an honour to be allowed to enter the festival. It is too bad that our boys were not able to be in on more than one day of the affair, as then they may have had a chance to play an individual programme that would have given some idea as to how they would be received by a large audience. This could not be arranged, due to a number of reasons, but it is hoped that another year something of this nature can be worked out.

They did very well, however, and the members of the band no doubt learned quite a lot from watching the other bands perform and the way they conducted themselves on the march. They played very well on the march and even though smaller in number than the other bands, their power was equally as good as many of them. The boys conducted themselves well and a trip such as this one will teach them much that they must learn in patience and obeying the commands of the bandmaster. Such trips are not all just pleasure trips and the importance of keeping together and so easing the worry of the bandmaster, is something that must be learned. Upon the bandmaster rests the responsibility for all the group and the arrangements for the welfare of the group so that accidents are avoided and the group arrives back home intact. Many of the members of this band are quite young boys and liable to have ideas of their own, which may seem quite all right to them, but not so good in the eyes of an older person. When one person has charge of such a group in a city like Montreal, it is no picnic and Mr. Moore is to be commended for his courage in undertaking such a trip. Despite this, however, the group was kept intact, or their whereabouts was known for the most part, so that when leaving time came all were gathered together without too much difficulty.

It was a great experience for everyone and all should be the better for it. The younger boys learn a sense of responsibility in having to look after their instruments and not being able to lay them down anywhere. The older boys have a job to do in setting an example of good behaviour for the younger members. Young boys like to do what the older ones do and it is therefore quite important that the older ones do not set them a bad example. Going away like this and seeing other bands and groups taking part in a festival as the one on Saturday, is practical experience that will mean much on other occasions. It also affords the bandmaster an opportunity to observe whom he can't trust to do as he instructs and therefore which ought to be dropped when the next time comes around. There is also the matter of arranging to occupy time when the boys are not engaged in playing. Most of the time in Montreal was engaged in one way or another, except for an hour between supper and the evening performance. Such a period is a hard one on the person in charge and hard for the boys to understand that they cannot just run wild. While some had been in the city before and knew their way around, there were some that had not, or had just been there with their parents. It is not possible to trail a group of boys around the city as in a short time some are missing or they have lagged far behind and the group becomes scattered. With what has been learned by this trip future ones will be even less of a worry and instructions handed out will take care of any forgotten this time.

Safety Week in Huntingdon

PLANS are being formulated with the purpose in view of designating the week of May 11th to the 17th as Safety Week in Huntingdon. It is intended that executives and key men of all the industries in Valleyfield, Ormstown, and Huntingdon meet together at the Chateau, Huntingdon, on Monday, May 12th, at a dinner. At this time safety measures will be discussed from the angle of prevention and what should be done in a precautionary way. On Tuesday night a rally of the workers will be held in the Parish Hall, Huntingdon, when safety measures and prevention will be the topic of discussion.

The observation of this week is under the auspices of the Quebec Safety League and it is the first time that such an event has ever been held in Huntingdon. No doubt the reason for this is that Huntingdon and surrounding district is now recognized as an industrial area and the need for accident prevention is becoming more and more evident. With the large amount of machinery now in use in this area, there is an increasing need for safety measures to be instilled into the various operators. In a number of cases persons operating the machines have little previous experience on such machines before being taught to operate them here. There is one point in favor of this and that is that the new operator is liable to be more careful than the older one. It is said that familiarity breeds contempt and this is often noticeable among experienced operators more than green ones. The experienced person is apt to take more chances on account of the fact of knowing more about the machine and having tried doing things around that machine. The safety conscious person, however, will not take chances and will not allow other persons to take chances. Foremen in charge of a number of workmen should not tolerate those in his charge taking chances of any kind. He should instil in all the need for safety measures and the prevention of accidents. It is with this idea in mind that the meetings are to be held in Huntingdon during the week in question.

Not only is the League interested in industrial accidents, but accidents of all kinds, and seeks to aid in the prevention of all accidents. To this end a series of films will be shown to the school children of the district showing the dangers of traffic accidents, road hazards and so forth. Talks will also be given the children with instruction as to what to do and what not to do and the best way of avoiding accidents in general. The home is just as prone to accidents as anywhere else and talks will be given on home hazards as well.

Huntingdon Has a Band--Now Why Not a Concert Orchestra?

It is Believed There is a Need For a Good Concert Orchestra in Huntingdon

Music seems to be a part of everyone's life and if there were no music it would be a pretty dull existence. Right from days when such musical instruments as we have today were unknown, there were always means of making sounds that were soothing to the ear. Drums, while not musical in themselves, were used and are still used extensively by the savage tribes and their ancestors to send messages and for a background to tribal dances. Reed flutes and whistles were in use in the days gone by and created a weird kind of music that would almost send the old warriors into a frenzy. Nero is credited with playing a fiddle while Rome burned; Cow horns were used to call people to meetings and gatherings of all kinds and to announce the approach of important people and to herald events in the ancient arenas.

MUSIC IN AGES

All of this can be credited as the music of the day and age and which has been handed down from generation to generation, with improvements as new developments were introduced. We have come through various ages of music and we have copied other nationalities and combined their methods with our own to create ages of music. Through the invention of the gramaphone or the talking machine, music has been brought into homes where often no one was of musical inclination. Today radio brings to the home all the best that talent can offer in the way of instrumental and vocal music. The voice sounds lost when not accompanied by an instrument of some kind. So it is to day that music has become a part of our lives and people are lost if they have nothing at all on which to create music.

LESS INSTRUMENTS IN HOMES

Perhaps the gramaphone and the radio have retarded the eagerness of the younger generation to take up music in some form or another, for there are fewer homes in which a piano, violin or some other musical instrument of this kind can be found today. In the days gone by it was hard to find a home that had no musical instrument at all, for this was the only way that music and its enjoyment could be had. Even a mouth organ or harmonica, was eonsidered a wonderful thing to play, but when one could play the piano, or a violin or other stringed instrument, they were in great demand.

NEED FOR CONCERT MUSIC

The Gleaner in the past few weeks has been gathering information on some of the old-time orchestras that operated in the Huntingdon area a few years ago. The idea behind this being to try and foster the organization of a good concert orchestra. We have a band that is functioning very well now and this will be able to supply the need for this type of music, but we have nothing that will meet the needs of supplying music for dinners or banquets, or capable of playing for concerts. We realize that there are several types of dance orchestras operating throughout the district and we know that these are in great demand, but we would like to see an orchestra that could play a good concert programme of light and classical music as well as the popular numbers. This same orchestra should also be able to play for a dance if required to do so, but not for the boogie-woogie type. There are some very fine pieces of music that have been written that the young people of today never hear and thus are never able to appreciate. It might be possible to work in some music appreciation nights when the better class of selection could be explained as they are played and which would create a finer taste in the music desired.

TWO GOOD ORCHESTRAS

In our investigations we found that Huntingdon boasted of two good orchestras in the days gone by which were capable of filling the bill that we have in mind. Naturally these orchestras were well patronized and they live in the memories of quite a few of the people still in Huntingdon today. Along with this story we are printing two pictures of one of these orchestras and one that was very popular for both dance and concert playing. Of the other one we were unable to obtain pictures as we were informed that none apparently were taken.

THE McGINNIS ORCHESTRA

One of the orchestras to which we shall refer, was the McGinnis Orchestra, or as it was called, The Huntingdon Orchestra. We use the name McGinnis, because it was more familiarly known by that name. Further, it was almost a family orchestra as four of its members were of the McGinnis family. The practices took place at the McGinnis home every Thursday evening and it was nothing for a crowd to gather on the sidewalk near the home to listen to the playing of this orchestra. When a pleasing number was played, great applause would come drifting through the screened windows of the house. This orchestra won fame in Huntingdon and surrounding territory for the fine selections that it rendered and the pleasing and harmonious rendition of same. Many concerts were played in the old Moir Hall. Numbers of the old time dances were supplied for the musical part of the entertainment by the McGinnis Orchestra and it was in great demand for all kinds of events. Each member was an artist and deeply interested in playing for the sake of playing. Some of the members were as follows: Mr. W. D. Shanks, flute; Miss J. M. McGinnis, 1st violin; Mr. Francis Murphy, 2nd violin; Miss Isabella McGinnis, viola; Miss Mary McGinnis, guitar; Mr. Peter McGinnis, clarionet; Mr. James Oney, trombone; Mr. William Hunter, cornet; Mr. Alex Boyd, bass violin; Mr. McWilliams, drums and cymbals; Miss Milicent Walker, piano. Miss Walker was the regular piano accompanist, but from time to time others filled in and they were: Miss Edith Philps (Mrs. Thomas), Miss Eva Lefebvre (the late Mrs. D. Faubert), Miss A. Vinet (Mrs. J. Demers).

Over the years this orchestra became disorganized through members going away to other places and today only a few remain of the original. They did furnish music for the people for a number of years however. Those remaining today are Miss J. M. McGinnis, Mr. Francis Murphy, Mr. Alex Boyd and Miss Milicent Walker.

THE HUNTINGDON JAZZ BAND

Another orchestra of those other days was the Huntingdon Jazz Band, the prime movers of which were: Mr. John Dixon, now of General Motors, Montreal, who played the traps and xylophone; Mr. D. L. Kelly, Huntingdon, who doubled on clarionet and saxophone. Mr. J. B. Macmillan was asked to conduct the orchestra and he played the trumpet and later the piano. Among other early personnel were: Mrs. George Collum (nee Miss Beatrice Fallon) who played the piano; Mr. Neil Henderson, violinist; Dr. Moore Kelly, now of White Plains, N.Y., who played the banjo.

This orchestra was more of the dance type and played for dances at the O'Connor Hall, in Huntingdon, and at other points in the county and elsewhere wherever its services were required. It's services were in great demand for these events and a great deal of work was done in connection with raising funds for the Great War Veterans as the orchestra was in its prime at about the time of the conclusion of World War I. Large crowds were drawn wherever this orchestra played and it is still talked of today as one of the best orchestras that has been in Huntingdon.

THE CONCERT ORCHESTRA—Reading from left to right—D. L. Kelly, J. B. Macmillan, Neil Henderson, Moore Kelly and John Dixon. Others were added to the personnel of this orchestra as occasion demanded, but actually it was the same as in the Huntingdon Jazz Band.

After a few years it was decided to go into concert work and to do this the necleus of the orchestra was augmented by taking in other players. At about this time Mr. Macmillan had to give up his part in the orchestra due to pressure of his school work and his inability to take the time to attend practices and go away to the various points outside the locality. It was also found that with a concert orchestra it was quite difficult to handle because of the distances that it would be called upon to travel. Finally this idea was abandoned and it returned to the straight dance orchestra. Mr. Ed. Brady took the piano and Mr. Norman Fleury of Malone as violinist was added to the strength. In course of time other members gave up for one reason and another and the orchestra ceased to exist. A new orchestra was formed known as the Moonlight Serenaders, but this too closed up.

HUNTINGDON HAS THE TALENT

Since this time Huntingdon has had many orchestras, but none that proved as popular as those mentioned above. The type of music as mentioned has undergone many changes in the intervening years, but now there again appears to be a swing toward the better type of orchestra and for the higher type of music. Huntingdon has numerous functions throughout the year where a good concert orchestra could be used with splendid results and apart from the value of the music, there would be a certain remuneration to be gained by the players. As the Gleaner was informed, the players in the orchestras mentioned earned quite a little spare money for their playing which helped them to accomplish the things they had in mind to do. One player made sufficient to put himself through school and attain a profession. What was done in those days can be done again now and we might also mention that in the case of the Huntingdon Jazz Band, practically all the members played in the town band and gained their inspiration from this. While we would not suggest that the members of the present band be the ones to form a concert orchestra, we do think that there are a number of talented people in this district who could be prevailed upon to form an orchestra of the type that we believe there is a need of. It is with this in mind that we do suggest that perhaps these persons could get together with a view to forming such an orchestra. If this could be carried out, Huntingdon would be very well equipped in a musical sense as it would have the band for outside and other engagements calling for this type of work and it would have a concert orchestra which could take care of events which call for this type of music.

Our hotel here is considered one of the best of its kind and it could possibly be made more attractive if an orchestra could be called upon to play dinner music and such like on occasions. With a large number of tourists passing through Huntingdon and stopping off here for meals, the soft music of a dinner orchestra could be an added attraction. We have the talent here, but it needs to be brought out.

The Gleaner is informed that the necleus for a new orchestra is being formed under the direction of Mr. Albert Godin, perhaps this will be the start of the type of orchestra that we have in mind. However, here is the thought and it is for those interested to implement it into an actual fact. Should there be anyone interested in forming such an orchestra, The Gleaner would be pleased to give some publicity to the matter toward helping such persons in getting started.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA
by the Canadian Press

Specially Written for THE HUNTINGDON GLEANER By SHANE MACKAY Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, (CP)—A House of Commons committee on redistribution this week is considering widespread changes in the boundaries of federal electoral constituencies.

Task of the committee is to rearrange the ridings in line with the government's redistribution bill to increase the Commons membership from 245 to 255. Because of relative changes in the population the province of Quebec will gain eight seats under the measure, bringing its representation from 65 to 73; Ontario will be increased by one to 83. . . and Nova Scotia from 12 to 13.

Saskatchewan and Manitoba each lost one seat, while Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Alberta are unaffected. British Columbia will gain two new members.

Sub-committee reports presented to the committee last week gave a rough idea what might happen. Major changes recommended by the Ontario group called for establishment of two new constituencies in the northern part of the province and elimination of the Muskoka-Ontario riding now held by J. M. Macdonnell, chief financial critic for the Progressive Conservative party.

In Quebec, the Laval-Two Mountains seat now held by Liguori Lacombe, an independent, would be dropped and part of it joined to one of four new ridings on Montreal Island. Two Mountains would be joined to Argenteuil, now held by Georges Heon, Independent Progressive Conservative.

Five new seats would be created in Montreal City. The ridings of St. Denis, St. James and St. Mary's would be realigned to include a separate constituency of Notre Dame de Grace. A combination of Mount Royal, St. Laurent, Cartierville, Park Extension and Hampstead would form another seat.

Pontiac riding would be split into two parts, the Rouyn-Noranda mining area being made a separate constituency and named for the late Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec.

Lake St. John-Roberval would be separated, and the existing constituency of Chicoutimi rearranged and named after the late Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former justice

BUT, you know, IT IS HAY

WHEN we were a bit younger, "it ain't hay" was a smart way of saying that the money involved was really important.

We'll wager the man who coined the phrase was not a farmer. Because a farmer would see that there is a lot of similarity between the hay in his mow and important money . . . money in the bank.

For the wise farmer stores hay—not just enough for a mild winter, but enough for the longest, most severe one.

And the wise saver provides not only for the expenditures he plans . . . for money to spend wisely on worthwhile things . . . but for the unforeseen emergency—the unexpected opportunity.

During the war years, nearly half a million more Canadians realized that setting aside money in a savings account at the B of M was sound commonsense—like the farmer putting hay in his barn. That makes a million and a half B of M depositors following a policy that is at once in the best interests of the individual depositor and in the best interests of the nation.

For money in the bank doesn't lie idle. It works constantly in two ways. It works for the saver and it works for national prosperity—providing, by loans and investment, the capital that creates employment. It helps to produce goods . . . to produce prosperity.

RECIPES

WHIPPED CREAM FOR FESTIVE FARE

It is with a happy smile that homemakers across Canada welcome back into their menus more and better cream. For several years, due to war conditions, the use of heavier creams has been prohibited as a means of conserving the butter-fat for more essential purposes. Butter is an indispensable item of both war and peace-time menus.

Cream is not pure fat, but rather that part of milk which contains the most fat. It is usually sold according to the percentage of fat it contains. The kinds of cream commonly sold on the market are cereal cream, coffee or table cream, and whipping cream.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture say that there are several factors which influence the successful whipping of cream, such as age, temperature and richness. Cream for whipping should contain about 30% butter fat and should be from 12 to 24 hours old. It will whip more easily if thoroughly chilled to below 40°F. Do not whip for too long a time, otherwise the fat globules may collect and form butter. Cream should at least double its bulk when whipped.

The fat contained in cream is in an easily digested form and therefore may be used to add richness and flavour to be the normal diet, as well as that of the invalid or convalescent.

Whipped cream may be used as a garnish or as one of the ingredients in fruit or jelly desserts, ice-creams and mousses. When freezing ice-cream or mousses in a mechanical refrigerator it is necessary to incorporate air into the mixture to give a smooth, velvety texture. The medium most frequently used for this purpose is whipped cream. Always freeze ice-cream and mousses with the temperature control set at the coldest point.

Howick

A special service was held on Sunday night in the United Church by Rev. John Coburn, representing the Quebec League for Temperance. A fine congregation was present and listened to one of the finest addresses on the evils of drink that this community has heard for some time. The School Choir sang two beautiful selections, "The Lord's Prayer" and "Abide With Me." Rev. John Macpherson introduced the speaker and presided. Two pictures were shown, both showing the degrading influence of drink and how a delinquent boy can be helped.

Mr. Robert A. Speirs, headmaster of Selwyn House School for boys was the guest speaker at a School and house meeting, in the United Church, on Friday night, April 25th.

Mrs. A. B. B. Moore, of Saskatoon, spent Tuesday of the past week in Howick, renewing old acquantances.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rorison, Mr. and Mrs. Young and son Bryan, motored to Burlington, Vermont, over the week-end. Mr. Rorison attended the banquet and international meeting of Lafayette Canton of the I.O.O.F. where a class of 50 candidates took the militant degree.

The monthly meeting of the Georgetown Bible Class was held on Friday evening, April 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McFarlane, after the business meeting games were played and everyone enjoyed the delicious refreshments served by the hostess.

The W.M.S. of Knox Church held their April meeting at the home of Miss Martha Goundrey, on Tuesday afternoon, the 22nd at 2 p.m. Mrs. Jas. Anderson presided and the meeting opened by singing Hymn 552. Mrs. Anderson gave the Scripture reading from Ps. 119 Verses 9 to 16, and also led in Prayer. The Glad Tidings Item was read by Mrs. W. Stewart and Miss Gladys Ritchie gave the Glad Tidings prayer. The roll was called and 6 members responded with the text word "Life". The minutes were read and adopted. The Treas. reported having $14.70 on hand, and Mrs. Anderson gave a short report on Dr. Wilkie's address, which he gave at a meeting held in Ormstown, telling how there were 75 churches in Formosa, and 27 were self supporting and the others working to keep going. Two verses of Hymn 386 were sung and Miss Mildred Hay gave the special Item, "The Rise and Fall of a Nation." As never before the whole world is thinking in terms of nations. There is a world wide revolution under way. Change is the watch word of the hour. The Temperance Item was, can we hope for a Christian peace, in this world when we find a Liquor Bar set up to serve the members of the peace Councils, but no Altar where men may seek guidance from Almighty God. After the offering was taken, two verses of Hymn 643 were sung and the meeting closed by repeating the Auxiliary Closing Prayer.

Covey Hill

Good progress has been made in re-building the chimney and making other repairs on Mr. Thos. Waddell's house.

Mr. D. Faubert of Huntingdon, was a recent business visitor to the Hill.

Mr. Aaron Churchill is a patient in the Montreal Homoeopathic Hospital, where he was accompanied by his wife and parents last Tuesday.

Mr. L. A. Waddell and daughter June and Mr. Gerald Bourdon, of Montreal, spent the week-end here.

Absence of any great depth of frost and the winter's heavy snowfall, which caused disastrous landslides in other places, resulted in damage to local hillside roads. Snow-ploughing calls for especially prompt attention to roadside ditches, failing which a costly improved road becomes much less tempting to the American tourist, after the washed-out road-bed has bumped and bruised himself and his car.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bourdon and sons were visitors in Rouses Pt. on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Simpson visited the Misses Sarah and Margaret Simpson and Mr. Marshall Simpson, Champlain, on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lowden and George spent Saturday at their home here and visited with friends.

A letter from Red Cross House in Montreal expresses appreciation of the quilts and comforters contributed by the Covey Hill-Havelock Group.

More are needed, not only in Canada, but also in the war-torn countries overseas, and workers are urged to make a renewed effort. A supply of materials for sewing and knitting will very soon be available to local workers, and more workers will be welcomed. Also donations of white cotton bags will be helpful and may be left with either Mrs. C. B. Edwards or Mrs. R. J. Bourdon.

Going Places

Wednesday, via the kindness of Mr. Manning, Gladys and I motored to Montreal to visit hospitals. Gladys stopped off at the Western to see her husband, Adam Sellar, and I to the General where daughter Florence was recovering from appendix operation. Not exactly a pleasure trip, but the patients were steadily improving and we did have a few diversions.

Thursday morning we went our separate ways, meeting for lunch at the Mount Royal Hotel. In the meantime I made an appointment with Claire Wallace and received invitations to be guests at the 13th Annual Donor Luncheon of the Women's Social Service Organization. We sat at the Press Table with Elsie Dettmars, Woman's Editor for the Gazette.

Hello Everybody!

Claire Wallace declared that Radio people should be heard and not seen. Like her voice, her actual presence exudes glamour and confidence—enlarged size. Tall, fair and handsome, she wore a dark suit with pink blouse, a toque-shaped hat with large pink roses and touches of blue.

With the audience spellbound by her fast delivery, witty comment and wholesome enthusiasm about her work, she revealed intimate details of her career and its present objective, viz: to sell Canadians on Canada and vice versa, dividing a share of the business with her sponsors. The most effective and quickest method of achieving this is by radio dialogues with Elwood Glover, relaying interpretative stories gathered from all parts of the country. Claire told the 400 guests that it made her happy to again visit the Normandie Roof, as it was the special spot she and her husband chose for relaxation when they met fortnightly during the war. She assured them that she considered her husband (second) James E. Stutt, "a gorgeous man", and recounted some of her more interesting adventures in securing stories.

Hint to the Lonely

In search for something unusual in human interest stories, Claire Wallace once advertised for a "gigglo" and got 350 answers from men. In a diving suit she walked on the bottom of the ocean; visited Mexico to interview the new President. There is a tremendous amount of behind the scene preparation to ferret out news, interview people all across the country and she writes 3000 words for each broadcast. She was on her way to the Maritimes to interview people and complete stories for Radio transmission. She loves the work.

Her talk was inspirational and most refreshing for City women. There were two other men at the head table. The Rabbi Morris Cohen of Zion Synagogue and a representative of the sponsors, but Corey Thompson of Radio Station CKLV beat them to it when he got up and gave Claire a bear hug and a kiss.

Mrs. R. Seigler, President of W.S.S.O. for ten years, in her address praised the efforts of her fellow members in fulfilling its objectives of supplying to under-privileged children of pre-school age, foods, clothing and medicines. Her very informative and eloquent address was broadcast over CKLV. Mrs. M. H. Cohen reported that $5,000 had been raised during the year by luncheons, meetings and tag day and that 12,600 quarts of milk, as well as Carnation milk and other baby foods, clothing and medicines had been distributed.

Festival of School Music

At the Forum on the opening night, it was quite thrilling to hear O Canada and Star Spangled Banner sung by thousands of young voices and to listen to a succession of bands, choirs and orchestras from both countries.

From my notes: Medford, Mass. Band. Extra good. Boys in black and gold uniforms; girls in evening dress. Two color bearers and two drum majors stood at attention. Played Colonel Bogey, Pilgrim's Chorus, Student Prince. Six Sousa buss horns worth $500 each. I learned that band was accompanied by Mayor of the City and other citizens. High School Orchestra of Jamestown, N.Y., girls in evening dress, boys in uniforms. Lockwood High School, Warwick, Rhode Island sent a choir of 60. The girls were in evening dress and Marian L. Willard was the Conductor.

The Barrie Ontario Band was very smart in scarlet coats, white pants and shoes and black ties. The girls in the band wore white skirts.

The bands made the biggest hits at the Forum and the massed choirs next in popularity. The size of the building made it difficult to hear the smaller choirs.

At the Ford Hotel I talked to Mr. Gallagher of Oakland, Maine and two daughters. Charlene 9, plays the Melophone and Gloria 10, the cornet. They experienced trouble in securing uniforms in time and Charlene's just arrived in Montreal by air that morning—wine and white with officer cap. Fifteen cars and two buses were required to transport the choir of 160 band of 45 and 35 supporters who came to Montreal for the three-day festival. The girls were buying a pair of red slippers for Mother's Day at the hotel Gift Shop. One shoe was lettered in gold "Charlene" and the other "Gloria" and across the toe of each shoe, the word "Mother". They explained that their mother was prevented by illness in the family from making the trip. Mr. Gallagher said it would cost him $150 for the trip and the girls were given $5.00 each from Band Fund, towards expenses.

Yes, Pepsi-Cola gives more for your money! It's 8¢ and worth it! Here's why...

Yes, Pepsi-Cola now costs eight cents —and that price is your best guarantee of a drink that is truly BIGGER and BETTER!

You see, the price you pay when you pick a Pepsi today reflects our refusal to lower Pepsi-Cola standards of value, purity and flavour in the face of greatly increased costs of production.

In refusing to lower these standards, we rely upon the Canadian public to recognize the true economy of buying only the best—the best in quality, the best in quantity.

For over 12 years, Canadians have agreed that Pepsi-Cola is tops—tops for refreshment, for purity, for value. They have enjoyed Pepsi-Cola's matchless, "hits-the-spot" flavour; they have bought 12 full ounces for the price of six.

Now, in common with Canada's housewives, we face the problem of rising costs. The increased costs they meet in their kitchens we see in our plants—multiplied many times. Compare, for example, the price of sugar in 1939 with what we must all pay today!

In spite of these costs, we continue to offer you the best. Rather than lower our standards of quality or quantity, we ask you to pay eight cents for a drink which is still BIGGER and BETTER.

Yes, Pepsi-Cola now costs eight cents. It still enables you to enjoy the very best in flavour, the best in purity... still brings you a lot more for your money!

Alterations at The Chateau

Several changes are being made at the Chateau which will make for improvement in facilities and beauty of surroundings. The basement garage is being remodelled into a large reception and banquet hall where banquets and gatherings of all descriptions may be held. A basement is being dug under the Beer Garden for the purpose of storage. The earth from this basement is being put on a boulevard at the side and in front of the hotel and this will be planted as lawn with a hedge around it. In behind this will be space for parking cars, so that they will for the most part be kept from the front of the hotel and be safer from possible damage. There is no doubt that the lawn and hedge will greatly improve the frontage of the hotel.

Wedding

BRYSON-REMBER

At St. Paul's United Church, Ormstown, Que., on Saturday, April 12th, 1947, at three o'clock, the marriage was solemnized of Jean Alexa, daughter of Mrs. Rember and of the late Alexander P. Rember, to Mr. George Cameron Bryson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil J. Bryson, all of Ormstown, Que., the Rev. C. Leslie Taylor officiating. Mrs. G. P. Osmond played the wedding music and Miss Ruth Rember, sister of the bride, sang very sweetly, "One Alone" during the signing of the register.

Standards of mauve stocks, yellow daffodils, ferns and lighted candles were used to decorate the church and the pews reserved for guests were marked with clusters of mauve stocks tied with ribbons.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. John Ward Rember, wore a gown of white crepe, with ecru lace yoke, long sleeves ending in lace points over her hands and a very full bustle effect skirt ending in a short train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a headdress of white tulle caught at each side by lily of the valley and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white iris.

The wedding attendants were, Miss Marion Rember, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Miss Mary Bryson, sister of the groom as bridesmaid, both wearing short-sleeved, floor-length frocks of aqua taffeta, flower headdresses, long lace mittens and carried semi-cascade bouquets of Johanna Hill roses. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Roberta Rember, sister of the bride, who wore a floor-length frock of orchid sheer over taffeta, long lace mittens, flower headdress and carried a nosegay of yellow and mauve spring flowers. Miss Mary Catharine Hooker, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, was dressed in a floor-length frock of yellow sheer over taffeta, flower headdress, long lace mittens and carried a tiny nosegay of mauve and yellow spring flowers. Mr. Boyd Campbell, brother-in-law of the bridal couple, was best man and the ushers were Mr. William Cameron, uncle of the groom and Mr. Donald Bryson, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Rember, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece dressmaker suit of grey crepe with black accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Bryson, mother of the groom, wore a black tailored suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at The Chateau, Huntingdon, Quebec.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Bryson left for a wedding trip to various points in Ontario, the bride wearing a black tailored suit with matching accessories, grey shortie top-coat and a corsage of American Beauty roses. They will reside in Ormstown, Quebec.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Elizabeth Hunter, Holyoke, Mass., Mrs. John L. Stuart, New York City, Mrs. Robt. S. Weir, Senneville, Miss Helen Wood, Dixie, Mrs. Norma Lucier and Mr. Roy Lidstone of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. A. Edward Clarke, Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Steinbarge and Mrs. Robt. At The Movies

Love Laughs at Andy Hardy at O'Connor Theatre

With Love Laughs at Andy Hardy, movie-goers may be bidding farewell to the screen's best-known family. The Hardys have been with us for some years now, and have undoubtedly come to set a pattern for American living since the day when a film called A Family Affair (featuring Lionel Barrymore as the judge instead of Lewis Stone) made its appearance and unknowingly launched one of the most popular of film series the screen has ever known.

Metro's decision to cancel the series was announced this week, when it was explained that in future Mickey Rooney would be playing adult roles—no more the perennially adolescent Andy. This decision will not come as so much of a shock as it might have a couple of years ago, for the Hardy Family have been missing from the screen since Rooney went into the army.

The thoroughness with which Metro produced these films was always a point of pride in Hollywood. The pictures were always supplied with a solid budget and the backgrounds depicting the Hardy's home and the small town of Carvel were as carefully retained from picture to picture as were the moral standards. Woe betide the set-dresser who gave the Hardys a different kind of frying-pan from the kind they had last time! It was as if America, with a decreasing home-life itself, was cherishing the Hardys as symbols of nostalgia as well as patterns for behaviour.

Since Lewis Stone took over the role of Judge Hardy from Lionel Barrymore in the second Hardy Family film (You're Only Young Once) the Hardy Family has remained unchanged. Mr. Rooney has been Andy, Fay Holden has been Mrs. Hardy, Sara Haden the Aunt Milly and Cecilia Parker, sister Marian.

Sister Marian is missing in this latest episode, being but a passing reference keeps her in mind. Missing too, is Polly Benedict, the girl friend to whom Andy remained most faithful in the series. But Ann Rutherford, who played Polly, had plenty of rivalry in her day from such attractive young ladies as Lana Turner, Judy Garland (three times) Martha O'Driscoll, Kathryn Grayson, Esther Williams, the Wilde twins, Diana Lewis, Patricia Dane, Donna Reed. Indeed, the Hardy films have been used systematically by Metro as springboard for its budding talent.

In Love Laughs at Andy Hardy, the studio gives three girls a chance to join the ranks of those who have climbed via the Hardy ladder. They are Bonita Granville (as much a veteran as Rooney himself), Lina Romay (a graduate from Xavier Cugat's orchestra) and six-foot-four Dorothy Ford. The last-named, a handsomely elongated wench, is introduced for some rather doubtful comedy, while Andy breaks his heart over a college girl (Miss Granville) and is mildly consoled by a South American import (Miss Romay).

In other things, Love Laughs at Andy Hardy is typical of a series that has made a virtue of being typical. There are not one but two of the familiar "man-to-man" talks between Stone and Rooney, and homey references to pie, the country-club, Mrs. Hardy's tendency to worry, Andy's to get moon-struck, and the Judge's good home-spun good sense.

The Hardys are a pleasant, if idealized, family and a lot of people from homes less ideal are going to miss them.

Ayrshires For China

Three hundred and seventeen of the 637 dairy heifers in calf shipped to China recently were Ayrshires. Similarly, 80 of the 160 purebred bulls which were also shipped to China were Ayrshires.

Of the 317 Ayrshire heifers 175 came from Quebec; 69 from Ontario; 5 from Alberta and 68 from British Columbia. Forty-two of the Ayrshire bulls came from Ontario; 10 from Alberta and 28 from British Columbia. A very high standard was set insofar as the bulls were concerned. Their dams and two grand-dams had to have records which averaged at least 450 lbs. butterfat in one lactation.

This shipment was arranged by U.N.R.R.A. and the cattle will be unloaded at Shanghai, China and from there distributed to Chinese Hospitals and Agricultural Colleges for breeding purposes.

the night concert, so a large number went to a show and the smaller boys had to be restrained from running all over the city and buying everything they saw. They were allowed to buy a soft drink or some candy or whatever their fancy turned to and kept together in a group, later returning to the Forum for the concert. All enjoyed this very much.

It was a tired, but happy bunch of boys that boarded the bus at 11.15 to make the return trip to Huntingdon and it was 1.30 a.m. standard time before they arrived at the school for dismissal.

Valleyfield Masonic ...

the example that the older two had attained.

After these ceremonies, the Grand Master retired and the scene shifted from the lodge room to the Montreal Cottons Club. His withdrawal and arrival at his destination was a tribute to the foresight of the committee and the efficiency of the city police who had blocked off an area on the main street for the numerous cars that jammed the highway. Quickly and without confusion, the traffic was sent on its way to Maden St. where the same efficiency was shown by the police in directing the cars to their proper place and oversight, which was dutifully maintained until the last group had departed.

The club rooms were packed with the scores who could not gain admission to the lodge. While awaiting the Grand Master they had listened to old time music, renewed friendships and had looked longingly at the table prepared by the Women's Association of the United Church under the direction of its president, Mrs. Geo. Wrightman and Mrs. E. Boy. These inviting tables were laden with delicious food and were decorated with numerous vases of flowers that had been arranged by a member of the lodge, Ernest Swanston, son of a charter member and this entire day had been spent in adding this touch of delight, which was widely commented upon and later mentioned by the chairman. The background of the head table was decorated by the colors of the Union Jack and the Star Spangled Banner.

Such a cloud of witnesses had appeared that the seating capacity of the club was severely taxed for a short time but this state of emergency was gracefully met by the ladies and hasty temporary measures were adopted and by this time the head table was ready to be seated. Benediction was pronounced by R.W. Bro. the Rev. C. Ritchie Bell and the evening began with the enjoyment of the delicious food. Dr. C. L. Roman, who acted as chairman, called for the toast to the King and the President of the United States, which toasts were accompanied by the singing of the National Anthem.

The choir from Royal Albert Lodge under the direction of W. Bro. H. Maude and accompanied by Bro. R. H. E. Painter contributed from time to time many numbers that were appropriate to the spirit of the date, while Mr. Gilbert Shore sang, without music, two songs that were loudly applauded. Dr. Roman then called upon M.W. Bro. J. A. McDonald to propose the toast to Grand Lodge to which the Grand Master responded. He spoke of the incomparable welcome that he had received here in the country and then high-lighted the recent conference in Washington when the Grand Masters of 48 states and nine Canadian provinces met to discuss the Masonic problems of a disturbed world and told about this body being received in audience by the President who had talked informally with them. He also outlined the tremendous amount of work done by the Past Masters' Association and exhorted Valleyfield to raise up a standard that would reflect honour and esteem upon it. R.W. Bro. Michael Lafsky, who, as sitting D.D.G.M. of Montreal District No. 3, was to have been present, but, because of serious illness, was in hospital in North Carolina, was represented by R.W. Bro. W. W. Morrison, I.P.D.D.G.M. R.W. Bro. C. Ritchie Bell, chaplain of the district, delivered a stirring and inspiring message which warmed all hearts.

During the evening, it was noted by the chairman that V.W. Bro. J. A. Hunter of Chateauguay and V.W. Bro. D. A. Young of Mount Royal, along with W. Bro. Norman McCrimmon, who was unable to be present, were with the charter members at the Cradle of the lodge. Also V.W. Bro. W. S. McLaren of Ormstown, who was the first W.M. of Glenorm Lodge was asked to take a bow, while W. Bro. E. P. Hoover received a round of applause when it was recalled that he had been initiated exactly twenty-one years ago in Kilwinning Lodge. The chairman briefly referred to the tree of Valleyfield's ancestry and family relatives,—from Elgin, the great-grandmother, through Kilwinning, through Chateauguay and mentioned the sister lodges, Hemmingford and Glenorm and mentioned her aunts, Ionic, Mt. Royal and Hudson and touched upon the spiritual kinship that existed between Chateauguay and Constellation Lodge of Malone, N.Y. It was pointed out that every living P.D.D.G.M. of the district from 1922 to 1947, was present. R.W. Bro. O. E. Stanton, the senior member of this body, spoke about the early days and character of his official visits.

With "the word in season fitly spoken," W. Bro. C. W. Gurnham neatly and meatily proposed the toast to the visitors. R.W. Bro. F. W. Schuitzlein of Malone responded with a delightful array of phrases that brought to mind the close and happy relations that had been felt for so many years between neighbouring lodges and offered wishes for Valleyfield's continued growth and prosperity. He was followed by W. Bro. Thos. F. Hamlet of St. Georges No. 10, the oldest lodge in the district, and his spontaneity of wit and sincerity were highlights of the programme. W. Bro. R. G. Fieghen, of Fellowship Lodge (under dispensation) closed the responses by the visitors by giving a history of his newly-formed lodge, which took the older listeners back to the early days of Valleyfield Lodge

With the rendition of "The Lost Chord" by the Royal Albert Quartet, the Junior Warden's toast, God Save the King and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne", the fiftieth anniversary became history. The music was gone, but the melody lingered on to give the earnest of a distant diamond jubilee.

The guests at the head table were—Dr. C. L. Roman, chairman, M.W. Bro. L. H. Boyd, M.W. Bro. J. A. McDonald, R.W. Bro. W. W. Morrison, R.W. Bro. H. Wall Clarke, D.D.G.M. Montreal District No. 1; R.W. Bro. E. E. Long, D.G.C. District No. 1; R.W. Bro Roy L. Campbell, D.D.G.M., Montreal District No. 2, R.W. Bro. C. Ritchie Bell, D.G.G. District No. 3; R.W. Bro. F. W. Schuitzlein, P.D.D.G.M., Franklin-Hamilton District, N.Y. State; V.W. Bro. John Lowe, W. Bro. J. J. Swanston, V.W. Bro. J. A. Hunter, R.W. Bro. H. Pickering, V.W. Bro. A. B. Jarvis, G.J.D., W. Bro. K. Good, W. Bro. C. W. Gurnham, W. Bro. T. F. Hamlet, W. Bro. R. G. Fieghen, R.W. Bros. O. E. Stanton, C. R. Selkirk, B. C. Bell, E. Lefrançois, A. A. Lunan, W. Welch, Walter MacKellar, H. There was a full attendance of members who answered the roll call by reading a verse from the New Testament. The president, Isabel Brown, and secretary, Lois Kazulak, conducted the meeting very efficiently. The Scripture lesson was read by Dawn Elder. The gift boxes were brought in and from the 8 boxes $5.98 was counted. At the next meeting the rest of the boxes will be brought in. Those bringing in birthday money were Betty Fraser, Margaret Arnold and George Sheard, totalling 21c. The collection amounted to 68c, making an all over total of $6.87 which will all go to aiding Missions. Mrs. Lisle Waterson told the children a story of God's infinite power, and Mrs. Chas. Fraser took up another chapter in the Study Book. The next meeting will be held on Friday afternoon, May 2nd.

Mr. Gerald Fleming spent several days recently, visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fleming. Gerald has one more examination to take, and then in May he will receive his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Queen's University at Kingston, Ont. Gerald, who specialized in History and Economics, has really done himself proud in his University studies, and is to be congratulated on the completion of his B.A. degree. He expects to teach school this spring and summer along the Gatineau River.

Mr. Gordon McGibbon, a student at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., has just completed his first year and returned to his home here on Tuesday to spend a week with his mother, Mrs. Gregor Leslie and Mr. Leslie. Gordon will leave the first week in May to take up his duties as teacher in Grand Remous, Que., near Maniwaki. This school remains open during the summer months. Gordon has done very well in his first year classes and expects to return to Queens in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson and family, of Montreal, have moved into Mr. John Leslie's house on his other farm. Mr. Robertson has been engaged as gardener at the L. A. Forsythe farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbrod Marchand motored to Montreal on Wednesday, called there by the serious illness of Mrs. Marchand's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. V. N. Elder and Dawn were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell McDonald.

Ready Money for Redecorating and Repairing Your Home
Low-Cost Loans Help Home Improvement.
This year thousands of Canadians are planning to put their home improvement plans to work-rebuilding, redecorating, buying new furnishings and new appliances.
Already many of these home owners have found a ready ally in the Bank of Montreal; for the B of M's low-cost Personal Loan plan makes possible the immediate cash purchase of household essentials and materials for repairs.
The Bank of Montreal is glad to lend money for any useful purpose to anyone who is in a position to repay. And the rate is surprisingly low ... only 27c a month for a $100 loan, repayable in twelve monthly instalments. You can borrow more or less, for shorter or longer periods: the cost remains proportionately the same—6% per annum. And there are no "hidden charges"; 27c a month for each $100 borrowed is all you pay.
If you need money to brighten up your home, see Kenneth Pope, manager, or the accountant, Mr. Hobbs, at the Bank of Montreal, who will be glad to talk over your plans with you. You will like their attitude: "When you ask for a loan at the B of M, you do not ask a favour."-(Advt.)

Chateauguay Home And School Association

The Home & School Association really felt the support of its members and friends Wednesday, April 16th, when many braved the blizzard to attend the monthly meeting.

Mrs. Johnson explained the report of the Committee appointed to study the Outremont School situation. In the municipality of Outremont there is no provision for the continued education of Jewish children after the end of the present school session in June, 1947. As legislation governing the renewal of the contract to educate Jewish children in Outremont will come before the Quebec Legislature in the very near future, we were asked to support the recommendations of this Committee. Mr. Rose moved that these recommendations be supported at once and also stated that Protestant clergy are very much concerned with this condition of racial discrimination.

An address on the "Role of Kindergartens" which was given at a meeting of the Quebec Home and School Association in Montreal, was read. In this address the function of the kindergarten was thoroughly explored. They serve to provide a proper orientation for the preschool child; they bring to light tendencies and faults which can be corrected before the start of formal school work; they provide a background of experience and interest which many children do not get at home, and are therefore particularly valuable in the poorer districts.

The meeting then turned to a discussion of the uses to which the projector should be put in the community. Members of the School Trustees who were present assured the Association that organizations wishing to use the machine can do so in the school building on application. They opposed removal of the projector from the building. To a suggestion that Association should sponsor entertainment movies for the children on Saturday afternoons, the Trustees explained that the Provincial Board would not sanction charging admission. Mr. Melville, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, suggested having a trial entertainment program to ascertain the response from the children. If a satisfactory result is obtained such movies may be part of the community's activities.

Mrs. J. Walker, who was President of the Home & School Association when the purchase of the projector was initiated, thanked the Trustees for their co-operation in securing the machine and the two principal donors whose contributions made the early purchase of the machine possible.

Owing to the lateness of the hour only one movie was shown, but this amply demonstrated the benefits to be derived from this new form of education.

New Officers Elected For Community League

On Monday evening, April 21, the Chateauguay Community League held its first Annual Meeting at St. George's Church Hall. An exceptionally good attendance of members was present to witness the election of new officers and withdrawal of the past year's officers of the young but active Community League, organized and fathered by past president Don Davies and a handful of faithful community supporters just a year ago.

The secretary's report on the year's activities was read before the members shortly after the meeting was brought to order. A brief outline of the inaugural meeting of April 22, 1946, was given, followed by reports of all general meetings throughout the year.

A number of accomplishments, beneficial to all residents of the community were given in an effort to show the public the dire necessity for such an organization in this district.

At the first meeting, the newly formed league was asked to protest an unfavourable change in the New York Central timetable. An exchange of wires and correspondence between the league, the Board of Transport Commission at Ottawa, and the offices of the New York Central System at Montreal and Waterville, N.Y., successfully reinstated the previous train schedule.

General complaints from the public in connection with poor bus service poured into the hands of the newly formed League. This was successfully coped with in the forming of a transportation committee, headed by Mr. Jim Walker. This committee was very active throughout the season and brought decided improvement in the schedules and routes of the Provincial Transport Co. in Chateauguay and district. Mr. Jim Walker was also successful in protesting delays caused by one of the conductors on Train No. 4, who habitually held up the train while he completed collecting fares and whose general attitude toward travellers was uncivil.

The second general meeting adopted a motion that the league should take an active interest in the local election for Councillors. A nominating committee was formed and was successful in obtaining the appointment of two members of our present town council. At this meeting Mr. Reg. Perry became instrumental in obtaining publicity through the medium of notices in the newspapers. He also assisted in the preparation of material for news letters which later became a medium of town council news and league activities that was sent to all members and many property owners of the town.

The third general meeting included the formation of a committee to investigate and take suitable action to obtain improved telephone service. This committee successfully paved the way to a speedy improvement in telephone systems throughout the locality. This committee was also responsible for arranging the Demonstration Lecture entitled "It takes more than a telephone" by Mr. Paul Ouillette held on Feb. 10 of this year.

The League has also successfully obtained the services of our aldermen in the form of brief addresses, before the general meetings, of council activities. Mr. Melville gave a brief address at one meeting in which he outlined and explained the reasons for the increased taxation in this municipality. He also spoke of council plans for the future—a topic that is of interest to all residents.

With these many successful accomplishments by a newly formed organization still in its early stages, is it not worth the interests and co-operation of all residents of our community to give their utmost support to the League and its newly elected officers? The League appeals to you for support and are now staging a drive for increase in membership.

Following are the newly elected officers and directors for the 1947-48 season:

Officers: President, D. Monks; 1st Vice President, P. Labrie; 2nd Vice President, J. R. Boivin; Secretary, Bill Barclay; Treasurer, Ivor Jones.

Directors: George Airlie, Reg. Perry, Os. Sanders, J. J. Van der Brugghen, Nelson Bryant, Fernand Chevalier, Don Davies, Romeo Laberge, Bob McGlashan, Pete Gilbert, Allan James, George Casavant.

Heights Stag Club Completes 1946-47 Season

The 26th annual and final meeting of the Heights Stag Club for the 1946-47 season was held on Thursday, April 17th, at the home of K. F. Bonnell.

In addition to twenty regular members, there were three former members present for this final get-together. They were Alf. Champion, Geo. Moffat and Arthur Williams. They were warmly welcomed by their many old friends.

After a pleasant evening of Bridge, the retiring President, A. S. Friedlander called the meeting to order and extended a welcome to the visitors and then made a few remarks on his own behalf. Having told the Club how much he had enjoyed being President for the year and thanking the members for their co-operation he then presented the prizes for the aggregate scores for the season. The winners were I. W. Gilbert, N. R. Ashley and Les. Cameron.

The results of the election of Officers were as follows:

President: K. F. Bonnell.
Vice-Pres., R. G. MacGregor.
Treasurer: T. M. Yarnell.
Secretary: J. W. Bonnell.

Following further business the meeting adjourned until the fall with an appropriate Toast to Good Fellowship by Fred Benn and the singing of God Save the King.

SPORTS COLUMN

The Chateauguay Aquatic Club will hold its 40th Annual Electoral Meeting on Wednesday evening, April 30, at the Club House. Commodore Len Noon announces that several of the retiring executive will be unable to accept nominations for the forthcoming season due to pressure of business. It is hoped that the returned men and the sporting populace of the community will avail themselves of this opportunity to serve and further the cause of this oldest of Chateauguay's Athletic Organizations. There is a big job to be done this coming year with the 1948 Olympic Games not too far off and Mr. Noon considers that this may be the turning point in the paddling group's history with the C.A.C. regaining its former position as one of the Division's leaders.

The Racing Committee hope to have the boats on the water within the next two weeks and interest is running high amongst the younger paddlers with everyone anxiously awaiting the arrival of the new shells and the chance to try them out. The Club would like to see a grand turnout at tonight's meeting and members unable to attend are requested to forward their proxies.

It is this observer's opinion that the time has arrived for us all to put our shoulders to the wheel, and the fire-side critics now have their opportunity to devote something tangible towards furthering and developing our youngsters through clean, wholesome and worthwhile sports.

Tennis Club to the Fore

Mr. George Ellicott, genial secretary-treasurer of the Heights Tennis Club, tells a glowing story of the marvelous headway his organization is making on the construction of their new Club House and Tennis Courts. The revival of this club has met with enthusiastic approval from all quarters and the hard working executive headed by Chateauguay's foremost sportsman,

Aubrey-Riverfield

A pleasant social evening was spent last Tuesday in the Aubrey curling rink club rooms, when curlers, relatives and neighbors gathered in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Craig and family, who are leaving our community to take up residence on a farm near Ormstown. Mr. and Mrs. Craig were quite taken by surprise, when during the evening's entertainment, they were called forward, and Mr. Andrew Allen and Mrs. Angus Black, on behalf of the gathering, presented them with a lovely electric table lamp. Both Mr. and Mrs. Craig expressed their thanks for the kindness shown them at this time, and also all the years they have lived among us, and hoped the same neighborliness would be shown to the new occupants of their farm, as had been shown to them. They also invited everyone present to visit them in their new home. Several games of euchre were played and delicious refreshments were served. Best wishes for every success is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Craig and family in their new home.

The April meeting of the Riverfield Evening Auxiliary was held on Wednesday evening, April 23rd, at the home of Mrs. John Nussey, with nine members and one visitor present. The president, Mrs. Harry Angell, opened the meeting with the Call to Worship, which was followed by the singing of Hymn 86, "All People That on Earth do Dwell." Mrs. John Nussey had charge of the devotional period, the Scripture lesson being taken from Psalm 96. Hymn 399, "Come, Let us Sing of a Wonderful Love," was then sung, followed by the business meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the offering was received. A letter was read by the Secretary, Mrs. Wallace Craig, asking for donations to books to be sent to British Guiana. It was decided to have all members bring in any suitable books they wished to donate, at the next meeting. The Supply Secretary, Mrs. Gerald Roy, asked if the members would kindly bring in their donations of articles for the bale, in May instead of November, as has been done in previous years. In this way, it will enable Mrs. Roy to plan the work for the year, so as to prepare a variety of clothing for the bale. Mrs. Dick Tanner read a chapter from the Study Book, entitled "Land of Religion," and the meeting closed with the Auxiliary prayer in unison. Following the meeting, the members worked on quilt blocks, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour spent.

Mrs. A. Gruer was hostess at a pleasant afternoon party on Tuesday afternoon, when she entertained a few neighbors and friends in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ross Gruer, and little son Peter, who are leaving shortly for their new home in Lindsay, Ont. A delightful time was spent in quilting and conversation. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Donald Ness. The best wishes of the community go with Mr. and Mrs. Gruer to their new home.

Mrs. E. Angell, of Ormstown, was a guest on Friday at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Angell and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Robertson.

The Misses Erma and Audrey Reddick, of Montreal, and Miss Shirley Milne, of Macdonald College, spent the week-end at their respective homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Shackleton and Mrs. Kyle of Montreal, were callers on Thursday at the "store," home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Robertson.

Congratulations to Rev. and Mrs. W. C. McBride, who are rejoicing over the arrival of a lovely baby girl, on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooke and two small daughters, formerly of Montreal, who have recently arrived home from an extended trip in England, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Orr, before proceeding to their new home at Toronto.

Mrs. Mary McNeil and granddaughter, Mary Catherine Hooker, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robertson.

Miss Juanita Moore, of Montreal, was a week-end guest at the Moody home.

Mr. L. H. Melville is doing an outstanding job.

The concrete has already been poured for the foundation of the Club House and Mr. Ellicott states that they expect the structure to be completed by early June. The Association plans to keep the club open throughout the winter months and its facilities will be made available to associate as well as playing members. This should prove a boon to the Club's members and the executive deserves high praise and commendation for this first concrete contribution towards the furtherance of year round community spirit and sports life in Chateauguay.

Mr. Ellicott strongly advises that applications for membership be submitted as early as possible as a definite limitation must necessarily be imposed on the number of playing members. A hearty invitation is extended to all tennis enthusiasts as well as to all those interested in becoming associate members.

CANADA'S TEXTILE INDUSTRY is not generally regarded as being anything very exciting. It is true that in normal peace-time years textiles led all other industries in employment and wages paid. But that means we are just a part of regular daily living in Canada. It makes us about as exciting as a kitchen table.

DURING THE WAR, Canada's hundreds of textile plants turned out millions of yards of urgently-needed supplies. Today we are working hard to catch up with the heavy and growing civilian demands of the post-war. We provide thousands of jobs to Canadian citizens at new high wage levels. True, these factors do not seem exciting but it is nice to know that we have a place in Canada's way of living. A kitchen table may not be exciting but it is important to the household.

Recreation Leader Reports

was especially designed for men whose positions compelled them to sit at a desk all day, and who felt the need for light excercise. Unfortunately only four or five men were attending these classes, and this, coupled with the fact that other activities cut into the Health Class, it was decided to disband the group.

At this point, winter activities were being thought about, and a meeting was held to look into the possibility of an Industrial Hockey League and an Industrial Bowling League. Both of these were organized, and much work went into the planning. The Industrial Hockey League was not too successful and was not really finished properly. As it happened, there were some quite bad injuries and teams were consequently weakened. While the teams were at full strength and games were being played, some very good hockey was seen. The Industrial Bowling League which started with ten teams, finished with twenty teams consisting of people from nearly every Industry and Company in Town. The winners of the league were as follows: girls, Post Office; men. Engineers.

Children's movies on Wednesday evenings have proven one of the most popular activities to date. These movies were started in October, and will finish at the end of this month. It was first decided to charge ten cents admission, but owing to the fact that the cost of the film was not being cleared each week, it was necessary to raise the price to fifteen cents. This increase in admission did not in any way weaken the attendance, and helped to clear the cost of renting film. Although movies for children have a real entertainment value, it is the ability to mix well together which has had good results generally. It is found that petty, but important behaviour problems have decreased rapidly over the winter season, and this in itself, is extremely gratifying.

Many other activities which would come under the short-term activity list were held over the year, and are as follows: Hallowe'en party, Xmas party, Bicycle parade, Rotary Bean Harvest, Corn and Weiner Roasts, Church Picnics, etc., etc.

It was decided in December of last year that funds were needed to carry on this work on a larger scale, and a public campaign for $1200.00 was launched. The campaign lasted one week and the total amount collected at the end of that period was in the vicinity of $800.00. With the exception of small amounts which have been spent on petty cash items, this money is still intact.

In December, the Huntingdon School Girls Choir was started, and the results were really first rate. About the same time, a dramatic club was formed among the Academy High School girls but due to the fact that studies became rather heavy at this period, it was decided that the play should be staged in the fall of the year.

A School Operetta was organized at this time also, and a Junior choir started rehearsals. All of these rehearsals came to a conclusion in March of this year when a concert was presented at the Huntingdon Academy. It was a complete success in every way and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present. While choir work in itself is a grand training for children, it is also very interesting to see how the necessity of team work and pulling together can be injected into these youngsters through this medium.

I should like to express my sincere appreciation of the help given me by the following leaders during the past season:

Benni Coccia Field: Mr. Howard Brown, all members of the Rotary Club, All coaches and Umpires and a special vote of thanks to Mr. Benni Coccia.

All members of the Clergy.

Operetta and Mass Choir, Mrs. E. Foster and Miss R. Ruddock and all teachers.

Special thanks to Mr. J. B. MacMillan for complete co-operation and advice.

If by any chance there are any names that I have missed it is purely unintentional.

There is one activity which I failed to mention previously and which should be brought to the fore, the Young Married Couples' Club. Upon the suggestion of Rev. Thos. Knowles, this group was started during the winter months and the purpose was to create more of a friendly interest among all young married couples in Huntingdon who, quite naturally, have a lot in common. This group has grown to a membership of forty-four, and has most definitely achieved the purpose it started out to achieve.

In consideration of the foregoing report and in view of the fact that interest in Recreation has come from the school age mostly, it is my considered opinion that the following recommendations should be put into effect at the earliest possible moment:

(1) All sports and recreation such as Hockey, Softball, etc., which are now being operated independently and are now self-supporting be brought under the control of the Huntingdon Recreation Association whose Board of Management would handle finances and whose various committees would have complete control over their management.

(2) That a Boys' Club be organized and either be run as a separate project or incorporated into the Huntingdon Recreation Association. This would create a place where constructive leisure time activity under proper supervision could be offered to the boys in the Town, and where without a doubt would offer some opportunity for girls' work as well. Upon formation of this Club and provided the proper standards are reached, it should unquestionably become connected with the Boys' Club Federation of Canada.

(3) That the Recreation Association be headed by a small Board of Management consisting only of citizens who are wholeheartedly interested in the project and whose interest would be active rather than just passive.

(4) That the various committees formed for the furtherance of boy life and recreation in the community should in every case be composed of people who have a wholehearted interest and whose interest would be active rather than just passive.

(5) That the first consideration as far as the boys' club is concerned should be the location, and my suggestion would be the land next to the skating rink, or the Benni Coccia field. It should be located in a strategic spot in the Town so that all boys could use its facilities at any time and the proper youngsters would be brought in.

Respectfully submitted,
S. P. Liversidge,
Director

QUIZ FOR A Junior Citizen

HOW IMPORTANT IS PROPER STREET LIGHTING TO YOU AND YOUR TOWN?

(a) Proper Lighting Means More Play Hours In The Day. It means staying out with your friends for those extra hours; it means getting home easily and comfortably after the party or dance—no more stumbling through the dark, no more fear of shadowy lanes and corners.

(b) Proper Lighting Means Safer Streets. Accidents drop to the very minimum on properly illuminated streets. You're always safe when you can see where you're going.

(c) Proper Lighting Means Going Out At Night. Perhaps for a needed errand, perhaps to take someone very nice to a movie or for a chummy soda. Brightly lit streets make it easy and safe —and fun.

(d) Proper Lighting Means Growing Up In A Town That's 'Going Ahead.' A town with proper street lighting is a modern town—a good place to grow up in because it is keeping pace with progress and is looking to the future. It's a town that's 'going ahead.'

Proper street lighting is important to you. Discuss its need with those who are concerned with your future—your parents, your civic council. A bright town has a bright future. Don't keep your town in the dark.

Today we Live in a Greater Canada

Not a dream of the future but a Present Fact!

TODAY Canadian manufacturing has reached record peacetime heights. It has gone far beyond anything attained in pre-war years. During the war we became the world's fourth industrial nation. Now, in peacetime production again, over 980,000 Canadians are employed in manufacturing—compared to 570,000 in mid-1939. And average pay has more than doubled!

CHARLES McNELLEN, in the years 1920 to 1924 was driving a truck for a Toronto electrotyping firm. During this time he studied the business and was appointed as salesman for the same company from the latter part of 1924 until April, 1931. His enthusiasm inspired other men who agreed to assist him in the founding of his own business. Today he is President of "Bomac"—one of the largest electrotyping and engraving companies in Canada.

MR. McNELLEN says, "Canada has been good to me. She will prove the same to those young Canadians who are ready to take advantage of the vastly increased opportunities she offers today. Here, within our own country, in every field of endeavour, successful careers await the talented and ambitious."

For years pulp and paper ranked as Canada's most important peacetime industry—judged by wages paid, production value and exports. It is greater than ever today—with a 48% increase in employment over 1939.

Spurred by war demands, Canada became the fourth steel producer of the United Nations and manufacture of iron and steel products became the industry employing most Canadians. Today there are more than twice as many of us engaged in this industry as before the war.

The textile industry is our other great manufacturing employer. It, too, tremendously increased its output to meet war needs. Today in it, too, far greater numbers of Canadians are employed than in 1939.

Reasons For Chocolate Bar Increase Given

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board stated recently that, judging by recent reports appearing in the press, a number of factors in connection with the recent suspension from price ceiling of all confectionery items, including chocolate bars, had been overlooked.

The most important, the statement pointed out, appeared to be the fact that at the same time that these items were decontrolled, the subsidy, amounting to thirteen and one half cents per pound on raw cocoa beans, had been cancelled and also at the same time an increase of one cent per pound on sugar had become effective. The amounts in subsidy paid on all inventories held by manufacturers of raw cocoa are being recovered by the Government.

Because of these increased costs, manufacturers have raised their prices and at the retail level the standard types of chocolate bars now cost the consumer eight cents which includes one cent war excise tax. These bars vary in weight from one and one half to one and seven eighths ounces.

A comparison with the United States prices shows that by the pound, Canadians are paying from 70 to 85 cents including sales and war excise taxes of approximately ten cents per pound and Americans are paying from 85 cents to one dollar per pound, with no such taxes.

The standard U.S. chocolate bar was reduced in weight and now averages between one ounce and one and one eighth ounces and sells from five to six cents.

Annual Meeting

Mr. Liversidge the matter of location of the building had come up and while the Rotary Club had thought that the building would be better left where it is and that the officers' mess building would be the most suitable, Mr. Liversidge had thought differently. He thought that the building should be moved to the lot near the Skating Rink, or to Bennie Coccia's field. His reason for this was that he considered a central location better suited to the work of a boys' club. With this in mind a price had been secured as to the cost of dismantling the hut and re-erecting it on a new site. In view of this it might be considered that the other huts would be the best for this purpose. Mr. Cleyn said he was inclined to the view that as the Legion had secured a building on the land in question that if the other building could be left there also, it would eventually build into a community centre. The Rotary Club is willing in Mr. Cleyn's estimation to buy the hut and if required to move it, to do this also, but he wanted something that he could present to the meeting which would be held on Monday. After much discussion, the matter of the actual location was left over to the meeting of the Rotary Club when a decision would be arrived at.

Asked as to the attendance at the movies put on for the children, Mr. Liversidge reported that the average attendance was about 100. The meeting thought this was a very good average and that the effort was well worthwhile in the fact that 100 children had been given good entertainment. It was also felt that this was a good basis of the probable membership of a boys' club. Mr. Liversidge said he felt this would be increased once he got the boys interested and he hoped to have all boys in all parts of town as members.

The matter of all forms of recreation being controlled by the association was brought up and Mr. Liversidge felt that there should be a complete amalgamation of all activities within the association. He pointed out that it would be beneficial for all sporting groups, as funds collected by these groups could be used to purchase the equipment needed for them and they could be assured that they would be operated in a proper manner and under the right type of supervision.

It was also pointed out that as the idea of a Recreation Association is new, that a good deal of education will be needed to prove to the public that such is worthwhile and it will be a long range process before it can be made to work with real efficiency. The progress made in the first year was most encouraging, but there is much more that can be done. Co-operation is needed in order to make a complete success of the undertaking and the support of all citizens is also needed.

The basic idea behind the Recreation Association is to build up a spirit of goodwill and sportsmanship among all citizens of the town without regard to race or creed. To build up a community where each and every one will be united in an effort to make it a good place in which to live. In order for this to be accomplished it will be required that all citizens take a broad outlook and cast aside all pettiness and work with the community's interest at heart. It was expressed by some present that this goal was being achieved but it would require much more effort before it could be completely accomplished. With the co-operation of all citizens working together there is no reason why such spirit and goodwill should not exist.

Three Cups Won by Badminton Club

Three out of four cups played for at the Malone Annual Invitation Tournament on Sunday, April 27th were won by members of the Huntingdon Badminton Club. A total of eighty-eight contestants comprising forty-four teams of mixed doubles entered the event. Clubs from Cornwall, Valleyfield, Massena, Malone and Potsdam were represented. Bill Rosenchein of the local club paired up with Miss O. Newman of Cornwall to win the "A" Class competition, while Madeleine Michaud coupled with Gordon Lanktree took top honors in the class "B" round.

In the championship play of the Huntingdon Club, Bill Rosenchein again came to the fore when he and Mrs. Eleanor Foster succeeded in taking the long end of a hotly contested best-out-of-three series against Jim McCoy and Jean Rowat, last Thursday night, to win the Robert Trophy. The consolation event for the year was won by Cyril Rolfe and Cecile Cappiello, who beat out Fred Dobbs and Irene Elliott in the final round which was played off on Monday night. Presentations will be made when the club holds its annual dinner at the Rod and Gun Club on Thursday, May 1st.

The Club also held its annual meeting for the election of officers on Monday. Eddie Weeks was voted in as president to succeed Fred Dobbs. Madeleine Michaud continues on as Secretary while Wallace Rennie and Cyril Rolfe were elected to act as Vice-President and Treasurer in that order.

Girls' Softball Team to Hold Dance Proceeds for Uniforms and Equipment

Plans are being completed for the Huntingdon Royals Girls' Softball Team dance which is being held in the High School Auditorium on Friday evening, May 2nd. The proceeds are to go toward uniforms and gloves and other necessary equipment for the team.

Win Peasey and his orchestra will provide the music for dancing.

The hall will be decorated in blue and white, which are the team colours, and orange. Decorations for the occasion are in charge of Bill Bernhardt assisted by John and Hugh McCallum, George Hood and "Chief" Tremblay.

Miss Hazel Clausson and her committee composed of Gladys Tannahill, Rhoda Lamb, Helen Whittal, Louise Clausson, Clare and Eileen McCallum, Bernice Bernhardt, and Florence, Frances and Effie Middlemiss, are in charge of refreshments. They will be assisted by Mrs. Middlemiss and Mrs. W. A. Perkins. Tickets may be obtained from any of the girls on this committee or at the door.

Donations for the refreshments, which will be on sale, have been received from a number of the local merchants.

Although it is very early in the season much enthusiasm has been apparent. The following girls have signified intentions of turning out to practices: Clare McCallum, Gladys Tannahill, Eileen McCallum, Hazel Clausson, Effie Middlemiss, Bernice Goldie, Eleanor Hutchings, Louise Clausson, Florence Middlemiss, Rhoda Lamb, Frances Middlemiss, Bernice Bernhardt and Lillian Beare. Any other girls who are interested are asked to get in touch with Clare or Eileen McCallum or Gladys Tannahill.

Last year the girls' team played a number of games, against Aubrey-Riverfield, Ormstown, Howick and Dundee. It is expected this coming season that there will be a district girls' softball League, and it is hoped the team schedule will include outside games as well.

The team will be managed by George Hood with coaching assistance by Bill Bernhardt and Merrill Smith. Rolland Emond will continue his good work as Secretary-Treasurer of both boys' and girls' teams.

With plans already well advanced for the coming season, it is hoped the Royals Girls will receive the community support needed to carry through.

Obituary

The Late Harold S. Kerr

Mr. Harold S. Kerr, Roosevelt Avenue, of the Town of Mount Royal, Montreal, beloved husband of Blanche Tryon, formerly of the Beaver, Que., passed away at the Ross Memorial Pavilion of the Royal Victoria Hospital on Friday, April 18, at 6 o'clock, following a heart attack suffered two weeks earlier as he was returning from Cowansville, Que., where in company with his architect he had been inspecting the construction of a High School which his firm, the Harold S. Kerr Contracting Co. were in process of erecting.

The deceased was born in Montreal, on July 18, 1899, the son of the late Dr. Harry Kerr and his wife, the former Grace Millar, of Dundee. He was educated at the Montreal High School and also attended McGill University.

Later he became associated with the Walter Hunt Contracting firm of Montreal and with whom he remained for 16 years before forming his own Contracting Company, the Harold S. Kerr Contracting Co., Ltd., and was rapidly rising in his business before his untimely passing.

He was married on June 14, 1927, to Miss Blanche Tryon and they were the second of two couples to take their marriage vows in the old Zion Church, Dundee, despite the fact that it had been in existence since 1868.

Funeral services were held at the William Wray Chapel in the city, on Monday, April 21, Rev. C. Ritchie Bell in charge. The body was brought to Dundee in the afternoon for interment in the old Zion Church Cemetery. Rev. A. E. Hagar was in charge of the committal service.

He leaves to mourn his loss besides his wife, his mother, Mrs. Grace Kerr, Dundee, Que., two sons, Hugh 18, and Fred 13.

Among those attending the rites at the graveside were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Storm, Miss Hattie Dewey, Mrs. A. J. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Finch and Mrs. Allie Cushman of Fort Covington, N.Y., Mrs. Merle Adams, Jersey City, Mr. and Mrs. H. Miller, Westville, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ryan, Rouses' Point, N.Y., Mrs. H. P. Stockwell and two sons, Messrs. Hermon of the Sun Life and Ivan Stockwell, Principal of Pointe Claire High School. The deceased man's employees in the contracting business attended the funeral services at the Chapel in a body, a tribute to the esteem in which he was held.

He was a veteran of World War I as was also his father, Dr. Harry Kerr. On discharge from the service he took the soldiers' engineering course at McGill, then for experience spent five years in the North Country under Arthur Sancton, Consulting Engineer for Canadian Vickers Ltd.

L. Bergevin, Howick Loses Home in Fire

Early Monday morning fire broke out at the home of Mr. Lawrence Bergevin, on the Tullochgorum Road. About three a.m. Mrs. Bergevin called her husband certain that there was smoke in the house. Mr. Bergevin, on getting up to see if everything was all right, noticed flames in the walls and on going upstairs he also saw flames. In a very short time, the house was all ablaze and they only had time to get the children out who were taken to the neighbours. The house was burned to the ground with all the contents, except a few things saved from downstairs. Many willing workers were trying to save a large barn nearby the house which was in danger and would have gone too, had not the wind changed in time to save it. This is the third time Mr. Bergevin has had a loss by fire. Cause of fire is unknown. The community extends sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Bergevin, in their great loss.

Britain's political pot seethed and bubbled over an all-party fire after Conservative Leader Winston Churchill got the first "rise" out of Prime Minister Attlee since the Labor party took office in June, 1945.

The usually unruffled prime minister, addressing a Scottish trade union meeting at St. Andrews at the week-end, accused Churchill of "meanness" in criticisms of the government and of supporting "obsolete imperialism."

Labor party sources said Attlee was aroused by a steady barrage of criticism in the press and at public meetings, capped by the wartime prime minister's recent speech at a Conservative gathering.

In reply to Churchill's assertion at that meeting that the Labor administration was "living upon the American dole," Attlee snapped at the "torrent of abuse" he said had come from the Conservative leader and added:

"If the Labor government is living on the dole, much more so was the coalition government. It is incredible that he should stoop to such meanness."

Churchill did not reply immediately but Sir Maxwell Fyfe, former Conservative attorney-general, told a party rally in Croydon that Attlee has started a new technique —"that of complaining about people complaining."

Noting Attlee's contention that the Conservative party had "no drop of policy" to offer, Sir Maxwell said a statement of Conservative party policy would be issued shortly by Richard Butler, one-time minister of education.

Other party developments included speeches in Hampshire by Sir George Jeffreys, member of parliament, and Lord Selborne, minister of economic warfare in the coalition government, both of whom assailed miners for "exploiting" the country. Non-partisan political sources said the speeches seemed to conflict with a bid for working-class support recently inaugurated by Anthony Eden, deputy Conservative leader.

The Liberal party, meanwhile, passed a resulution urging a national wage standard and seeking a royal commission to investigate present trends in trade unions, particularly the closed shop and restrictive practices. The Communist party in a manifesto appealed to the powerful Trades Union Congress to urge "removal from the government of supporters of the foreign policy favored by Tories and American imperialism."

The Big Four's peace parley at Moscow ended with negligible achievements—but on a note of optimism and hope for the future.

While admitting disappointment over failure of foreign ministers to "get more agreement on fundamental issues," United States Secretary George Marshall denied that difference of opinion between Russia and the western powers had been increased at Moscow. In fact, he said, "it was clarified—we came to a clear understanding of what were the disagreements."

Britain's Ernest Bevin told correspondents that the meeting had been "one of the biggest steps to building of the peace," and forecast agreement on political principles in Germany "next time." However, he repeated the British decision to not agree to international control of the Ruhr until economic unity on a reciprocal basis had been reached.

A note of pessimism came from John Foster Dulles, special adviser to Secretary Marshall. He thought the American delegation was returning home without any important agreements—"a sobering and disappointing fact."

Before departing, Marshall denied that a possible meeting of President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister Stalin had been discussed during his stay in Moscow.

At the end of an 18-day tour Henry A. Wallace held a press conference in Paris at which he said the Jews are entitled to a voice in the United Nations and that the Jewish resistance movement in Palestine is necessary to "arouse the conscience of the world."

The former United States vice-president wound up his continental stay with a conference with leaders of the French Communist party. They told him "developments in the United States" gave them the impression that the American government was backing Gen. Charles de Gaulle and his Rally of the French People movement.

For three days rescue crews raced flames, smoke and deadly gas to save 11 men trapped 1,750 feet below the surface at the East Malartic Gold Mine, northern Quebec. At the week-end, company officials told anxious relatives efforts to snuff out the fire had failed and that little hope could be held that the men would be brought out alive.

Two threats had faced the imprisoned miners—death by suffocation due to smoke from smouldering timbers and death from carbon monoxide. Rescue teams said that at a level of 300 feet above the spot where the men were thought to be, there was a deadly mixture of gas while it was believed that air near the men was clearer.

This grim twist, that a man is doomed if he tries to get to the surface for fresh air—was believed to have caused the death of one victim of the accident. Trainen Lucaci, 44, tried to get to the top and was found dead on the mine's railway tracks.

Dramatic tension surrounding the scene recalled the Moose River cave-in of April, 1936 when Dr. D. E. Robertson, Alfred Scadding and Herman Magill were trapped for 10 days. Magill, Toronto barrister, died in the mine three days before his companions were rescued.

Japan last week elected the moderately-leftist Social Democratic party to the dominating position in the House of Representatives and the premiership. Unofficial returns showed they won 143 seats, the Liberals 131, Democrats 123, Co-operatives 31, Communists 4, minorities 21 and independents 13.

The United Nations military staff committee adopted a resolution recommending that the security council make public its first report on principles for the establishment of an international police force. If published, the report will disclose results of secret meetings of the committee during the past year.

minister. Charlevoix-Saguenay would also be divided into two ridings, and the Magdelan Islands, now part of Gaspe, would form a separate district.

Ontario's changes would involve elimination of Cochrane-Nipissing into two constituencies known as Timmins and Sudbury. Muskoka would be split between Parry Sound, Simcoe East and Victoria.

Nova Scotia would get its additional seat through creation of a new constituency of Queen's and Shelburne.

Although the Manitoba and Saskatchewan sub-committees did not report last week, it was learned that the redistribution might involve dropping of Portage la Prairie and Lake Centre, now held by C. C. Miller and John Diefenbaker, both Progressive Conservatives. Others mentioned as possible victims were Neepawa and Macdonald held by Progressive Conservative Leader John Bracken and Liberal Whip W. G. Weir. The British Columbia sub-committee did not report.

In the Commons, the members neared the end of their debate on the Omnibus Controls Bill and by the end of the week the government had withdrawn seven of the 57 orders-in-council which it proposes to continue in effect for another year.

Many of the orders passed with surprising ease while some met unexpectedly heavy opposition. One which would continue the government's power over the movements of Canadian Japanese caused spirited charges of racial discrimination by members from all three parties. The measure was passed over the opposition of C.C.F. members and several Liberals and Progressive Conservatives. Among the latter were David Croll (L--Toronto Spadina), John Hackett (PC--Stanstead), John Diefenbaker (PC--Lake Centre), Bona Arsenault L--Bonaventure) and Benoir Michaud (L--Restigouche).

Gleanings: Finance Minister Abbott said the government's policy on discontinuing butter rationing would be announced "in due course" . . . The board of transport commissioners mulled over possible regional hearings of the case against the railways' application for a 30-per-cent freight rate increase. . . President H. H. Hannam of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture left the capital to attend the first meeting of the International Federation of Agriculture.

A Commons committee discussed lowering the age limit for voting from 21 years to 18 . . . Justice Minister Ilsley said he would introduce a bill this session to make "important changes" in the criminal code . . . Prime Minister Mackenzie King returned to Ottawa after a four-week vacation. . . .

A Newspaper Is More Than An Ordinary Business

A newspaper is much more than an ordinary business. It is a public trust, emphasizes the Bowmanville Statesman.

An ordinary business can accept or reject the privilege of carrying and selling varying lines of goods. A newspaper, if it is a true mirror of the life of the community, must report faithfully whatever happens. The citizens of the community look to it to keep them informed as to what is said and done at all meetings of municipal bodies, and generally speaking what is happening in the life of the town as a whole.

The newspaper of course, is not responsible for what members of council or other speakers say but it must report fairly and honestly, whether it agrees with what has been said or not. The press represents the people who have an indisputable right to know what is said and done by their elected representatives.

The press in its freedom is one of the chief guarantors of freedom of speech and human liberty generally. Once a publisher of a newspaper accedes to a request to leave out certain news items or omit reporting certain public speeches, he is false to that trust.

If the newspaper is fair, all citizens must be treated alike. Those who get in trouble with the law must expect publicity. This is a disagreeable task the newspaper has to perform as part of its public service.

People sometimes mistakenly think that the publication of a man's views means that a newspaper sympathizes with his viewpoint. News and views are two completely different things. An honest newspaper's own views are found only in its editorial columns. All else is fair reporting of what is said and done not by the newspaper, but by others.

Price Control and Rationing Notes

This column is conducted under the supervision of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Q.—Is fuel still under the ceiling?

A.—Charcoal and briquettes fuelwood are removed from ceiling regulations on April 2. Coal, and coke were removed at midnight April 15th.

-o-

Q.—Could you tell me if Wartime Prices and Trade Board licenses are still required if I want to start a business?

A.—It depends on the type of goods you intend to sell. If they are under price ceiling regulations you still require a Board license. If they have been removed from ceiling controls, a license is not necessary.

-o-

Q.—How much canning sugar will be given this year and when will we receive it?

A.—Under present arrangements, the allowance will be 10 pounds for each holder of a ration book. The sugar will be granted in two five pounds lots, the first five will be granted in May.

-o-

Q.—I understood that the sugar ration allowance would be increased in April. Would you please tell me how much the increase is?

A.—For the balance of the year it will be three (3) pounds. At the present ration level, each holder of a ration book is entitled to 31 sugar-preserves coupons. Last year the allowance was 28 sugar-preserves coupons.

-o-

Q.—I have made considerable improvements to a house I own. May I increase the rent?

A.—Not without written permission of the Board. However, this may be secured on application to the nearest W.P.T.B. office if there are renovations amounting to 10% of the assessed value, or services, facilities or accommodation added since the rent was fixed.

-o-

Q.—The women's association of our church is holding a luncheon for some 325 people. Would it be possible to get sugar and butter coupons for this purpose?

A.—No . . . extra sugar and butter coupons are not issued for this purpose. If the church members are arranging the luncheon, they will have to buy butter and sugar with coupons from their own ration books and take this food along to the church.

FALSE APPETITE

You can't eat by instinct. It is not a safe nutritional guide. Once believed to be an indicator of adequate diet, appetite, alone, has been proven unreliable, because of the peculiarities of individual food habits, the variety of foods available, and the removal of valuable nutrients in the processing, handling and preparation of foods.

Health authorities therefore advise a study of what is good for you to eat, and urge adherence to sound rules of nutrition.

Canadians who have not already done so, are invited to apply to Provincial Health Department for a copy of "Canada's Food Rules." These are useful guides to eating, and the literature is all free.

Our Population Trends

There is much speculation about the 1946 population figures of Canada, recently issued by the Bureau of Statistics. The annual estimate of pupulation is for June 1st each year and is based on three factors, (a) excess of births over deaths since the last census, (b) immigration and emigration, (c) ration book distribution. The last is a new and very dependable element in the estimate. The prairie provinces have a five year census so that the 1946 figures for those provinces are by actual count.

The total increase in population in Canada for the 5 years since the 1941 census is 801,000 (approximately ¾ of 1%) but the significance, for students of Canada's political economy, lies in the gains and losses by provinces. The highly industrialized provinces of Quebec and Ontario showed population gains of 8.9% and 8.4% respectively; British Columbia had a population increase of 22.6%. The natural increase in population in Canada in recent years (excess of births over deaths) has been 1¼% per year and accounts for 6¼% of the 5 year increase which means that Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia gained 2.7, 2.2 and 16.4% respectively from other sources.

Nova Scotia with a gain of 5.8% and New Brunswick with a gain of 5% in 5 years approximately retained their natural increase.

The Losses

The provincial losses in population are Prince Edward Island a little over 1%, Manitoba 3/5 of 1% and Saskatchewan, the lone socialist province, 7.4%, plus the natural increase in each case. Alberta with a gain of ½ of 1% held only a small part of its natural increase.

What is the Answer?

The population figures give strong arguments in favour of those who contend for a new deal in our economy. We can have a strong Canadian national spirit only if Canadians in all parts of our country feel that they have approximate equality of opportunity. The Rowell-Sirois Commission made an attempt to find a basis of equality. The present proposals of the Dominion government constitute a second effort toward this end.

No one would claim that either offered perfect solutions — probably a perfect solution is not possible. The solution will only be found if the people of all provinces put their loyalty and faith in Canada ahead of their provincial loyalties. The solution must be a formula which is accepted as giving every province its just share of our national assets, not one which infers that the richer provinces are distributing charity. A vocal public opinion could bring a solution to this problem soon. The alternative could be a serious dislocation of our economy which would bring hardship to many of our people.

Party Affiliations

Supporters of Canada's socialist party are embarrassed by the language used at their party's recent British Columbia convention. The president, on being re-elected by acclamation mildly criticized the program of the party's leader, Harold Winch. "If comrade Winch is too cautious in facing current risks," he said, "he faces the greater risks of failing to achieve the revolutionary purposes of a socialist movement."

Ottawa circles are very familiar with the communist "line" and wonder if the expression used by the C.C.F. leaders in British Columbia are not too much like the communist technique to be a coincidence.
