Dr. P. Koller Says World Facing Many Changes

Dr. Philipp Alexander Koller, well known speaker who was formerly founder and later Vice-President of Rotary Clubs in Czechoslovakia and Poland, was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club, held in Victoria Hall, on Wednesday.

Speaking on "The Making of a Nation; some Teachings of our Age," Dr. Koller explained that history was not a good teacher. Only the generation that goes through the ordeal of war keeps the memory alive. Following generations mostly deny the similarity of their situation. "Our own unwillingness to learn from the Great War is significant enough," he added.

The first efforts to prepare another "normalcy" after the present struggle prove that old conceptions are not sufficient Strivings for something new are shown by recent conferences at Dumbarton Oaks, Bretton Woods, and the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration meetings in Montreal.

"Nobody can foresee whether the revived nations will be able to accept as their political form just what we mean by political democracy or whether they will have to work out their own form as their remedy after the death of Fascism," the speaker explained.

Dr. Koller outlined the problems of Poland and Czechoslovakia after the last war and what solutions were arrived at in the succeeding years.

Walter W. Murray introduced the speaker who was thanked by Chester McBride. A. W. Callard, president, was in the chair.

Westmount Sander To Be Transferred To Montreal West

Montreal West High School which lost a portable sander to a thief during the summer vacation will receive one to replace it from Westmount School Commissioners if arrangements made at Tuesday's meeting of the Montreal Protestant Central Board go through.

The sander which is used on table tops and on blackboards is something like an electric iron with a belt on two spindles, weighing 10 or 2 pounds. It is easily carried in a bag—which is precisely what happened, sometime towards the end of July, Montreal West school authorities believe.

The machine costs about $140.

When the request to authorize purchase of a replacement came before the Board on Tuesday, inquiries were instituted which led to the discovery that Westmount—plutocratic as ever—had two of these machines. It was delicately hinted by Chairman John Rhind that one of these might be transferred to Montreal West, with the value credited to Westmount on the books of the Board.

Dr. F. W. Kerr Ends 12 Year Ministry At St. Andrew's United Church Here

The calendar of St. Andrew's Church carried a message last Sunday from the minister, Rev. F. W. Kerr, announcing his intention of resigning from the ministry because of continued ill-health.

The message came as a shock to the congregation, as the members had been expecting Dr. Kerr to resume his duties at an early date. He has just completed twelve years' service in St. Andrew's, during which years 1,050 persons were received into membership, the finances have improved greatly, and the mortgage has almost disappeared. A new assistant has just been appointed for Dr. Kerr in the person of Rev. Gerald Fee.

Dr. Kerr's entire ministry was in western Canada before coming to Westmount. Probably few men in the church know the west better than he does, having lived there almost continuously since 1900.

In that year he went to Edmonton to teach school. In 1907 he was assistant to Rev. Dr. D. G. McQueen in First Presbyterian Church, Edmonton, one of the most influential churches in the west. The following year he was asked to be colleague and successor to Dr. McQueen, but he decided to go to some of the mission fields of the church. For two years he worked among the tunnel-builders on the C.P.R. at Field, B.C., then among the coal miners at Canmore, B.C. Then for four years at Prince Rupert, B.C. On this latter charge, he preached in the largest theatre in the city every Sunday night, and it was packed with a motley crowd.

REV. DR. F. W. KERR

For six years he was minister of St. Andrew's Church, New Westminster, B.C., after which he was called to Manitoba College, Winnipeg, to be a Professor of Religious Education and Pastoral Theology. For many years in Winnipeg he gave half-hour broadcasts every week for boys and girls, to whom he was "Uncle Fred."

In 1926 he was sent to Geneva, Switzerland, where for six weeks he took part in conference on international affairs. Upon his return he organized study-groups in Manitoba University on foreign affairs, and gave addresses on the League of Nations across Canada and in many cities of the United States.

For eight years he carried on a notable ministry in Knox Church, one of the largest and most impressive buildings among all Canadian Churches. During his entire ministry there the building was taxed to capacity at both services every Sunday. He was an active member at the Rotary Club, and gave many addresses at Rotary conventions both in Canada and in the United States.

In 1930 he was elected President of the Winnipeg Canadian Club, the only clergyman to hold that position.

In 1932 he accepted a call to St.

Welfare Campaign Reports Increase In Donations Here

Topped by a donation of $3,000 from the City of Westmount, the Westmount Division of Welfare Federation's annual campaign today reported an increase in a number of subscriptions this year, particularly in the smaller donations.

"Even with these increases, every citizen of Westmount must assume individual responsibility if the objective of $41,750 set for this city is to be reached," Mrs. F. G. Ferrabee, chairman, announced from the Victoria Hall Headquarters this morning. "otherwise we are bound to fall short."

She expressed gratification at the number of donations which have been increased from one dollar to three dollars. "These all add up," she said, "and help to bring us nearer to our objective which is ten per cent higher this year owing to the increasing wartime demands on Welfare Federation's 31 agencies.

Mrs. Ferrabee noted that not all sections in Westmount had been covered yet, but this was now being handled, for no stone would be left unturned to help Federation achieve its Westmount objective. She reported 135 canvassers on the job, serving entirely without remuneration.

Team captains in charge of the drive here are: Mrs. Dorothy Cushing, Mrs. Ronald Robinson, Mrs. Frank Whittall, Mrs. James Boyd, Mrs. F. A. Falconer, Mrs. E. D. Christmas, Mrs. W. K. Newcomb, Mrs. R. E. Patton, Mrs. A. P. Kennedy, Mrs. J. G. Brierley, Mrs. John Bishop, Mrs. Gilpin Brown, Mrs. Riddell, Mrs. Alan Kennedy, Mrs. Fred Burgess, Mrs. James Hutchison, Mrs. Thomas Earle, Mrs. J. H. Kennedy. Vice-chairmen of the Westmount district are Mrs. C. H. P. Moore, first vice chairman, and Mrs. C. R. Jeakins, second vice-chairman.

In a message last night, Victor M. Drury, campaign chairman, said: "All of the troubles that occur in the families of civilians do occur in the family of a soldier at the front and can

KNOW YOUR WESTMOUNT

Q.—What is the Business Association of Westmount ?

A.—The Business Association of Westmount was formed in February 1938 by the established business firms in Westmount.

The objects of the Association are — (1) to promote by co-operative effort the welfare and best business interests of firms having their place of business within the boundaries of the City of Westmount. (2) to create a spirit of friendliness and co-operation among the business firms and private citizens of Westmount for mutual benefit. (3) to stress upon the members of the Association and residents generally the advantages of buying in Westmount.

The Association assists in Municipal and other Government services from time to time when asked to do so. Members of the Association assisted in the canvas for subscriptions to the First Canadian Victory Loan of the present war.

The Association organized and held a most successful entertainment in Victoria Hall in November 1940 admission to which was by purchase of War Savings Stamps. Many valuable articles which were donated by members for the occasion were auctioned off during the evening by Mr. Fred Fraser—the highest bidder having to purchase War Savings Stamps to the amount of his bid in order to secure for himself the article being auctioned. Approximately $2,000.00 was realized from that event.

Another entertainment of importance was held in Victoria Hall during the following year at which several hundred dollars was raised which was given over to the No. 1 Westmount Squadron Air Cadets of Canada for the purchase of Camp Equipment for their Summer Camp.

The Business Association of Westmount together with other Westmount Organizations made presentations to H.M.C.S. "Westmount" on the occasion of the launching of that speedy little craft. A suitably framed portrait of Their Majesties was presented with an engraved plaque to commemorate the occasion.

Members of the Association trade considerably one with the other and a recent survey brought to light the fact that a very large amount of money was being spent within the ranks of membership in the Association.

Westmount has reliable firms handling almost every line of merchandise and rendering every type of service that may be required. The convenience and satisfaction of shopping in Westmount is stressed by the Association through the slogan—'Shop in Westmount First'.

Persons engaged in the different professions are also welcome as auxiliary members of the Association.

The officers of the Association devote their time gratuitously and on several occasions in the past few years have had the good fortune to meet the City Council of Westmount to whom they submitted various matters in the interest of the Members of the Association.

Joining the regiment shortly after the outbreak of war he obtained a commission, but resigned and enlisted as a private to go overseas in October, 1941. Taking part in all the heavy fighting in which the battalion participated in July, Sergeant Molson was shell-shocked and in hospital for a short time in France. Mary Molson, R.C.A.F. (W.D.), at present stationed in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

Australia's exports of meat and butter to the United Kingdom have fallen by more than half since the first year of the war. The reason is that vast quantities of food are being supplied by the British Dominions to the Allied forces in the Far Eastern war zone. The British public has accepted stringent rationing in order to speed up the defeat of the enemy.

Invasion Shoulder Patch Model Badge Of Seventh Victory Loan

All Canadians, buyers of bonds in the Seventh Victory Loan which begins October 23, may pin to their lapel a miniature of the invasion shoulder patch worn by British, Canadian and American officers and soldiers in Europe under the command of General Dwight Eisenhower of the Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force. This was announced today at the provincial headquarters, of the National War Finance Committee.

The emblem, which consists chiefly of a flaming sword on a black background, will have a figure 7 as an underlay beneath the sword. This signifies the Seventh Victory Loan.

The shoulder badge of the SHAEF has features new to heraldry, but may be described in conventional armorial terms as a sable—or black—shield, with a "pale" or top band of light blue, surmounting a rainbow of red orange, yellow, green and blue, and charged with an upraised flambant — that is, flaming — sword. The rainbow signifies calm after storm.

The meaning is clear. The black background or "chief" of the shield represents the cultural and physical blackout into which war has plunged the civilization of many countries. The crusader's sword, resembling the two-edged, gold-hilted Excalibur of the legend of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table, is pointed upward, signifying battle, and the flames are at once the gunfire of modern battle and the blazing ardor of the cause of the United Nations.

The light blue "pale" at the top represents a calm sky, and is symbolic of the peace and tranquillity that is the ultimate aim of our struggle. Beneath it is a five-color rainbow, representing the colors in the flags of all the Allied powers.

More briefly and with deep emotional poignancy the symbol was thus described in a letter by a Canadian soldier now wearing it in Europe:

Shield of faith,
These our arms,
Fire and sword—
O Lord!

Freedom' breath
Where vandals trod—
This our aim,
O God!

Art Association Plan Is Favored

Indications of interest are evident in the announcement carried last week by this publication of the projected formation of an amateur art association.

For the benefit of amateur artists who would like further information on the idea, J. R. Wright, of 5336 Snowdon Avenue, is prepared to answer inquiries.

The object of the society is to offer facilities for the exchange of ideas, help amateurs to improve their art, hold lectures and exhibitions. Although defining itself as for "amateurs," the society does not propose to exclude individuals who may have made occasional sales. Any person whose living is earned mainly in other fields is eligible, if interested in the fine arts.

The R.A.F. has flown nearly 2,000,000 miles on mine-laying operations during the last three months—a new record.

Juvenille Delinquency Film Opens Saturday At Snowdon

"Are These Our Parents?" the latest story of child delinquency will have its first Montreal showing at the Snowdon Theatre, Saturday in conjunction with another first-run film, "Johnny Doesn't Live Here Anymore" a delightful comedy of the housing- shortage situation in Washington.

"Are These Our Parents?" tells in colorful fashion the present-day trend of wild living that has sprung up across the country and which many people try to ex se by saying that it is war-hysteria, that it will abate, the conclusion of hostilities. In the film, however, it is plainly shown that the parents themselves, are responsible for much of the waywardness of the present generation, and that delinquency begins at home. Helen Vinson is seen in the starring role, that of a mother whose social activities blind her to the necessity of looking out for her headstrong da ghter. She sends the young girl to a boarding school to get her out of the way; rebelling, the daughter runs away from school and joins a group of 'teen agers who visit a notorious night-club which is raided. Unable to make her mother realize her dan rous position, the daughter goes on to further excesses until finally she and her too-wealthy boy-friend ar hu ed v the law, suspected of murder. How the problem of those concerned is eventually brought to a solution, makes a story of timely and absorbing interest. Others in the cast are Lyle Talbot, Ivan Lebedeff, Noel Neill, Richard Byron, Emma Dunn, Addison Richards and Anthony Warde.

The secon feature, "Johnny Doesn't Live Here Anymore" is a speedy comedy of war-time living in Washington. Simone Simon, a government war-worker arrives in the city, leases a man's apartment only to find that assorted dozens of his friends, mostly boys in the services, have keys to the apartment, along with standing invitations to d in anytime and make themselves at home whenever they happened to be in town. With a si u n like that, the laughs are plentiful and the film is a roar of merriment from start to finish.

At York Theatre

Once again 20th Century-Fox has delved into the rich lore of a great American tradition and has come up with a picture that is at once a great, heart-warming experience as well as triumph of thrillingly exciting entertainment.

Gloriously filmed in Technicolor, "Home in Indiana," which opened yesterday at the York United Theatre, is an utterly welcome sequel to 20th's two memorable excursions into the romance and drama of horse racing, "Kentucky" and "Maryland," both of which this new film surpasses in breathtaking beauty, dramatic impact and stirring action. Featuring Walter Brennan, Lon McCallister, Jeanne Crain, Charlotte Greenwood, June Haver and an outstanding supporting cast, the picture is based on the celebrated Saturday Evening Post serial, "The Phantom Filly," by George Agnew Chamberlain.

"Home in Indiana" tells its beautiful and exciting story of spirited youth, lovely women, fast horses and proud men against the brilliantly colorful background of county fairs and the great "apple pie" country in the most dazzlingly beautiful Technicolor this reviewer has ever seen.

In the film produced by Andre Daven and directed by Henry Hathaway, Walter Brennan gives what is easily his most outstanding character portrayal to date. His role—that of "Thunder" Bolt, the proud horse trainer whose shattered dreams are revived by a young and impetuous boy and a "secret" filly—is tailor-made to the three-time Academy Award winner who plays it with deep understanding and warmth. In other important roles, three comparative newcomers to the screen provide one of the most refreshing treats of the year. Lon McCallister whose performance as "California" in "Stage Door Canteen" marked him as a truly exciting discovery, firmly establishes his right to stardom with his winning portrayal of Sparke, the boy who has so much to learn about women and horses. Jeanne Crain is utterly enchanting as the girl whose problem is to get Sparke to consider her as more than a here "pal," while June Haver does a wonderful job in completing the triangle. Judging from their performances in "Home in Indiana," we are likely to see much more of the Misses Crain and Haver on the screen. Charlotte Greenwood, Ward Bond and Charles Dingle deliver their usual high standard of acting.

On every count—story, production, direction, sheer beauty and acting performances — "Home in Indiana" stands in a class by itself. It's really grand entertainment, a delightful tonic for these times that shouldn't be missed.

Reported at first to be dangerously wounded, his wife has subsequently been notified that Tpr. Colvil is progressing favorably and has now been placed on the seriously wounded list. Educated at Lower Canada College and at Ashbury College, Tpr. Colvil has been serving with the 18th Canadian Armored Car Regiment (12th Manitoba Dragoons) with whom he went overseas in August, 1942.

Animals have these advantages over man: They never hear the clock strike, they die without any idea of death, they have no theologians to instruct them, their last moments are not disturbed by unwelcome and unpleasant ceremonies, their funerals cost them nothing, and no one starts lawsuits over their wills.—Voltaire.

JOINS THEATRE STAFF

Miss Mona Bronfman who has joined the teaching staff of the Children's Theatre which will reopen next month for the 1944-45 season. Miss Bronfman scored many stage and radio successes during her recent sojourn in New York.

Noted Teacher At Evans Sisters

The Evans Sisters' School of Music and Dancing has procured the services of Mme. Alys Wilson. Mme. Wilson is joining the faculty of teachers at this school as instructress in singing, elocution and music appreciation, and classes are now being formed in these arts.

Mme. Alys Wilson is a former pupil of Eleanor Gehart and the late Herman Grunebaum of Covent Garden, London, and has studied in many parts of Europe.

Mme. Wilson has had a great deal of experience all over the world and has achieved great success with persons wishing to overcome stammering, stuttering, etc.

Classes in operetta singing are now being inaugurated, also of great interest to music lovers in Montreal will be the music appreciation lectures and talks on composers—their lives and works.

Despite war conditions the infant mortality rate in Britain in 1943 was the lowest recorded. The deaths per thousand live births were over 7% lower than in 1938. The death rate at ages one to five was 70% lower than 1938, and the death rate for ages ten to fifteen equalled the previous all time low record of 1.03 per thousand.

Language is the armory of the human mind; and at once contains the trophies of its past and the weapons of its future conquests. —Coleridge

Evans Sisters Studio Re-Opens

The Evans Sisters' School of Music and Dancing is going ahead in full swing with classes and private lessons in dancing of all kinds.

Children's classes are held twice weekly in ballet foundation, nursery rhyme dances and tap; adults meet two or three times a week for physical culture, tap and ballet. As well as the numerous classes available, the Evans Sisters' School with a faculty of competent teachers give up to date ballroom dancing; two of the teachers have just returned to Montreal from the Boston Teachers' Convention, and the Evans Sisters themselves spent most of the summer in New York.

Large spacious sunlit studios atop the Royal Bank at Sherbrooke and Victoria Avenue are well equipped with up to date equipment—pianos, public address system—mats—airy dressing room with showers, and clients of the Evans Sisters' School are assured of the best in teaching.

Miss Verna Evans takes a limited number of piano students.

4-H Club Models Shown at Eaton's

In co-operation with the 4-H Clubs, the T. Eaton Company is exhibiting a display of woodcraft.

The 4-H Clubs were established in Canada in 1942, and already have over 40 local clubs and over three thousand members. The aims and objects of the club may be summed up in their motto—"I pledge my Head to clearer thinking, my Heart to greater loyalty, my Hand to larger service and my Health to better living for my club, my community and my country."

The exhibit at Eaton's consists of the many specimens of model making as shown at the Second Congress of 4-H Clubs at Duchesney, P.Q. To any hobbyist the miniature bridges, bobsleighs, barges, dams, etc., will prove fascinating and inspiring. There is no charge for admission.

MISS BEATRICE L. SIMS

Evangelist Beatrice L. Sims, of Toronto, will deliver a series of four Bible lectures at Victoria Hall, on the Wednesday nights of Oct. 4th, 11th, 18th and 25th.

Miss Sims is a sister of William Sims, a former sports radio commentator, who was heard over the Montreal radio stations for several years as "O. K. Bill." Her father was the late F. L. H. Sims, a hymn composer and theologian of note in the Anglican Church. Miss Sim's mother was Florence Nightingale, a relative of the famous nurse of the same name. Miss Sims trained for the nursing profession, and before going to French West Africa, was a head nurse in one of Toronto's largest hospitals.

Many French people are puzzled at seeing well-known types of British aircraft and tanks, and other vehicles and equipment in France with strange markings. All Allied vehicles in France are now marked with a white star, and all aircraft with stripes, in order to distinguish them clearly throughout the battle zone.

Doubtless the motorless man, who sold his 1937 model before it fell to pieces, wonders whatever became of that old Model T he thought would last forever.

Obituary

WALTER A. SCOTT

Final rites were paid to Walter A. Scott, 84, well known art dealer, at funeral services held at his home, 704 Grosvenor Avenue, on Monday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Morrison conducted the service and interment took place in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Mr. Scott, who died suddenly at his home on Saturday morning, was born here Jan. 5, 1860, and was educated at the old Montreal High School. He entered his father's business, W. Scott and Son, Fine Art Dealers, at that time on Notre Dame St. W., and later moved to a new Gallery on Drummond Street.

In 1907 Mr. Scott retired from business and moved to Chateauguay. In 1914 he and his wife, the former Isabel Craig, with their daughter Patience, went to England to do Red Cross work under Lt.-Col. Hadgetts. Mr. Scott was in charge of all Canadian Red Cross stores, both receiving and distributing.

Because of this work and military experience with the Victoria Rifles of Canada from 1878 to 1881, he was gazetted to captain in the Canadian Army Pay Corps in 1916, where he remained until the end of the war, returning to Canada shortly afterwards.

Mrs. Scott died in 1929 and their daughter died two years later.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. F. R. Heaton and Mrs. P. B. Motley, both of Montreal.

CHARLES F. DALE

Funeral services for Charles Franklin Dale, former insurance man and sportsman, was held on Monday afternoon in the chapel of Joseph C. Wray, 1234 Mountain street, Rev. Canon Gilbert Oliver of St. Matthias Church officiating. Interment took place at Belleville, Ont. Mr. Dale, who was 67 years old, died suddenly on Friday at the Lachute Hospital. He resided at 625 Cote St. Antoine Road.

Son of the late Thomas Dale and Mathilda Nicholson, he was born in Canifton, Ont. He received his education in Belleville, and started his insurance business there. He later moved to Montreal becoming associated with Canada Accident Insurance Company.

After some years he formed the North American Accident Insurance Co., of which he became managing director. Later he formed the United Provinces Insurance Company of which he was president. He was also president of the Fassett Lumber Corp., part of whose property at Fassett, Que., was later sold to the Seigniory Club. He retired from business some years later and spent the past few years in outdoor life.

He was a keen fisherman, hunter and lover of bird life. Mr. Dale took active part in beginning the Province of Quebec Society for the Protection of Birds.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Florence Curlette Fish, are two sons, Capt. J. F. Alan Dale, of the Canadian Forestry Corps, overseas since 1940, and Flt.-Lt. Frank N. Dale, R.C.A.F., now in Canada from overseas, two granddaughters and a sister, Mrs. Darragh of Rochester, N.Y.

C. F. SISE

Mr. Johnson was elected president yesterday of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, effective November 1. Mr. Sise, president since 1925, will continue as chairman of the board of directors.

Dr. F. W. Kerr

Andrew's Church, here in Westmount. In the few years previous to this call, he had declined two other invitations to important positions in Montreal.

Few men have been more devoted to the work of the ministry than Dr. Kerr. He was a tireless visitor, a capable administrator and revelled in the teaching opportunity of the pulpit. He regarded himself not as a preacher, so much as an Expositor of the Word of God. Since the war, even during his months of sickness he prided himself on keeping in touch with the young men and women (over 300 of them) in the service of their country.

His own two sons are on active service, Lieut. Donald Kerr, R. C. N. V. R., being in England, and Captain Douglas Kerr, R.C.A.M.C., in Newfoundland.

In 1912, Dr. Kerr married a Southern girl, Mary Elizabeth Grady, a graduate of the State University of Missouri. He met her while returning from a trip through the Holy Land. Their other child is Mrs. A. H. McDougall of Montreal.

affect military morale. On the other hand, our welfare institutions bolster the spirit of the family and consequently of the men in the armed forces. By supporting Welfare Federation agencies we are giving our men overseas the assurance that their families will be helped in unforeseen difficulties.

"Unmet human needs, indifference and neglect can rob victory of its meaning. It is up to every one of us to support our welfare services. If our community is worth fighting for, surely it's worth giving for."

A man without money is like a ship without sails.

Andy O'Brien Says:

—"Our Contributions to Welfare Federation Provide these Youngsters with a Mental and Physical Foundation for Heroic Peacetime Roles of Tomorrow"

"In the inspiring panorama of Canada's wartime heroes along the Bomber and Fighter Command fronts, in rugged army settings and out on the bleak Atlantic convoy trails, I've encountered many who came from shabby sections of our metropolis—clear-eyed, strong-souled sons of the needy who answered their country's call. Yesterday they were like these grand kids you see photoed at Montreal Boys' Association, East End Branch. These youngsters will happily miss the stern call of this war but by our contributions to Welfare Federation we can provide them with a mental and physical foundation for heroic peacetime roles of tomorrow."

(Sports Editor of The Montreal Standard, whose wartime assignments have taken him overseas twice as well as to Labrador, Newfoundland and many times across Canada.)

WESTMOUNT, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1944

CONTRIBUTE NOW!

THE Welfare Federation campaign ends Tuesday. If you haven't as yet made a contribution, please do so, for your money, no matter how little, is urgently needed and will be appreciated. Not the least of the uses to which your money will be put is the care of the families of soldiers overseas. Many servicemen's wives, "going it alone" until their men return, and finding the going difficult, physical and mental breakdowns occur, the children get out of hand, and worrying letters to husbands affect their morale. In such cases, the Welfare Federation is of great help. A family welfare service worker investigates, gives help and counsel. Quickly your money goes to work. Where necessary a homemaker takes charge and financial assistance is given until things are straightened out. And soon the once-harassed mother is again sending bright and cheerful letters to her fighting man abroad. The war years have greatly increased the number of families requiring help. Of 2,597 families helped last year, 1,031 were families of servicemen overseas. Make your contribution today!

PIDGIN ENGLISH

OUR soldiers and sailors in the South Pacific are learning to talk Pidgin English to the natives, writes William Feather. The word "pidgin" is a corruption of "business." It is a simplified basic English that operates on a surprisingly small vocabulary.

Some of the phrases are quite expressive. For example, "big fella pigeon" for airplane; or "screw belong leg" for knee. A mirror is "glass belong look-look," a bishop is "number one heaven talkee man". An office-worker is a "cus-cus", and a typewriter is a "machine belong talk". Perfume is called "water belong stink," and "apple belong stink" is an onion.

When a smart native was given a ride in an airplane, he remarked, "Allee same duck," which describes it well. To express the idea, "I stopped for a long time," the words would be, "Me stop, stop, stop." It is all quite logical in a childish way. A headache is described as "coconut him bad," and "belly walk about too much" means a stomach-ache.

In one form or other, English is becoming a world language. Foreign people all over the globe are learning to say "O.K." or "goddam" or "what's cooking?" A primitive form of English is not hard to learn. To learn the language well, however, is difficult because it has a big and complicated vocabulary.

EVERY Canadian, everyone worthy of the name Canadian, pays full tribute to the magnificent heroism of men like Paul Triuet, Dollard Menard, and Father Sabourin. We share the pride of all other Canadians in the glorious achievements of such French-Canadian regiments as the Royal 22nd, Les Fusiliers de Mont Royal, and the Chaudieres. We know that on land, at sea, and in the air, gallant young sons of Quebec are fighting with superb courage in the common cause for freedom. We know the anxiety and the anguish that are in the hearts of many wives and parents in that province whose loved ones have borne their full share of our part as a nation in the greatest cause which ever challenged the heroism and the sacrifice of decent youth. — Premier George Drew of Ontario.

"THIS HAPPY BREED OF MEN"

HAVE the English changed much since September, 1939? One by one they have relinquished, without a murmur, cherished practices and institutions. They have permitted cockney youngsters to overrun stately country mansions. They have taken up seriously the leveling of nrolment at famous "public schools. They have even submitted to restrictions on bath water.

Let their friends, however, rest assured. There is no fundamental and alarming change. They are not going to give up cricket! From Normandy comes the comforting news of troops playing the traditional game, with an entrenching tool for bat, a tin can for ball, and chunks of stone for wickts.

We affectionately preserve in our files the biographical sketch of an Englishman of our acquaintance who wished, for the most worthy purposes, to make a good impression on his American friends. He made no special point of his classical record at Cambridge, or the fact that he had held an important post with Lord Kitchener in the Ministry of Munitions during World War I. But he did make a modest point of the achievement of "211 runs at cricket in 1892 at Lord's Ground in London."—Christian Science Monitor.

DISARMING OUR BROTHERS

WE'LL come clean at the start. This is a fanciful little yarn—a fiction. But if it is a joke, it is the grimmest we ever heard.

It concerns a man who cashed a bond. Now it is every Canadian's right to dispose of one or more bonds if an actual emergency arises. But Jim Smith's reason was a frivolous one.

That night Jim dreamed a dream. His son was with Eisenhower's invasion forces, and Jim dreamed that he saw him holding up the enemy at a salient, spreading death among the Germans with his Canadian-made machine gun and Canadian-made band of cartridges.

A sergeant came and took the band out of the gun. Smith Jr. was flabbergasted. Helpless he watched the exultant ranks of the enemy swarm forward to capture the salient and wipe out its defenders.

"Sergeant," he gasped, "this is treachery. It's murder!"

"Sorry," replied the sergeant. "Those bullets aren't paid for. The man who bought the bond has just cashed it in."

TWILIGHT

Green twilight slips among the summer leaves
  And lights a star in every bough;
As slow as honey moves the dark
  Across the tilted plough.

Across the eyes of children half-asleep
  And mothers mending with slow thread;
Let dark endure, to light a dream
  In every fallen head.

—Breen Van Slyke.

CASUALTY

Out of a great delight I will come to you,
  Rushing across the orchard's crooked floor,
Turning an ankle on a broken sod,
  Stumbling through apple husks to reach the door;
There at the orchard wall I will lift the bar
  That guards the silence of my soft retreat,
And find you standing, feeling for my hand,
  And starting forward with requesting feet,
Begging in roaring silence to be led
  Across the orchard and among the stones,
Longing to breathe the spicy nip of pinks
  And mignonette and coral upin cones,
Walking more briskly to consume the space
  That separates you from the fires red glee,
Reaching your hands to feel the dancing flames
  Whose laughing sparkle you will never see.

—Evelyn Craig Busby.

A SOFT PEACE?

IT was noted at the close of World War One that 70 per cent of all U.S. Army casualties, numbering almost 250,000, occurred in the weeks after the High Command had advised the Kaiser the Germans could not win. While the Kaiser clutched at straws, Allied losses unnecessarily mounted.

The German General Staff, which operates on the same slide rule today as it did 25 years ago, has long since made its readings. Hitler compels the war to continue while he prates of secret weapons.

There is not much in this situation to cause the Allies to feel that the German people, so docilely doing their master's bidding, are better than their leaders. It should not encourage German expectations for a soft peace.

SEA-ACRES

The sea is mottled as a field today.
Along the distance, grassy breakers reach,
Tossing wet handfuls like a pelting spray
Of Queen Anne's lace toward the pebbled
  —Marcia Nichols Holden.

BUT IT HAS HAPPENED

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

News comes from Australia that the Curtin Government is likely to arrange free passage, after the war, for migrants, the cost to be shared with the Government at the place from which the migrants leave. Demobilized British service personnel will be considered first and next Americans. The Government believes the reconstruction period will provide more jobs than their own people can cope with. It is thought that at least ten years of intensive efforts will be needed to overtake their serious housing shortage. They will encourage the immigration of war orphans from many European countries; not only of British children. They feel that children, whatever their nationality, are apt to assimilate more easily than adults the national spirit of their adopted country. There is no indication of any readiness to admit Asiatics as immigrants.

The London Spectator writing of the robot bombs stated: "No one need affect to be indifferent to these lethal instruments. They are alarming and horrible, but as instruments of war they have proved ineffective. They have not had a featherweight's influence on the conduct of the war or the morale of the people."

Hugh Gibson in his new book, The Road to Foreign Policy, stated: "The best hope of the world today lies in building up international collaboration and the confidence that can grow only from the knowledge that collaboration gets better results than can be gained through sharp practice and force."

There are 89 public schools in England. They are really private schools. There are 99 other schools which are independent but are helped by grants-in-aid from governments local or national. These are called grammer schools. The Fleming Committee Report recently issued stated that there is much that is worth preserving in the tradition of these schools and that these traditions should be made available to the poor as well as the rich.

On this continent organized labor has opposed immigation aimed at bringing large numbers of men from abroad because of the belief that the labor market would be flooded and wages and living standards lowered. Experts on this subject believe that increased population means enlarged consumer needs and increased production which in turn calls for more work which adds to the total wealth of a country.

New Brunswick electors do not oscillate quickly from one party to another as may be judged from the fact that between Confederation and 1908 the Conservatives held office for the first sixteen years and the Liberals for the next 25 years. Since 1908 N.B. has changed its political preference every ten or fifteen years.

THE COUNTRY LAD

My father's field is shining in the sun
  With marching stooks on every stubbled slope.
The season of fulfilment is begun,
  And neighbors rally in the dawn
    to cope
With tasks too heavy for their mounting years,
  That not one sheaf be lost to winter's blast.
My mother's eyes are dim with misted tears
  As, all alone, she spreads the noon repast.

Would that my comrades and myself were free—
  Our duty done, the victory complete!—
To seek again, beyond the cold
    grey sea,
  The land-locked trails that knew our youthful feet;
To live where life from turmoil
    finds release,
  To die where death is sanctified
    by peace.

Westmount Baptist

Real Christian men and women acknowledge Christ as Prophet, Redeemer and King. If Christ be King then he has certain inalienable crown rights. On Sunday morning Dr. Johnston will speak to his congregation of "The Crown Rights of Christ."

At the evening service the sermon will take the form of a frank, personal question: Are You Really Alive—to Christ? In Christ? For Christ? If Christianity in individual lives is not a force it is in danger of being a farce. The call of these days is to a new vitality, a new virility in Christian life, experience and service. The monthly Communion Service takes place on Sunday at twelve o'clock noon. New members will be received. The annual Assembly of the Eastern Association of Baptist Churches takes place in Temple Baptist Church, Outremont, on Wednesday and Thursday. Rev. G. A. Leichliter, of College Street Baptist Church, Toronto, will be the special speaker. Westmount is anticipating visits from Dr. A. J. Moncrief of Walmer Road Church, Toronto. Dr. Moncrief, who is a Southerner, is a most effective speaker, whose ministry is warm, inspiring and challenging. Westmount is also looking forward with deep interest to the coming of Rev. Eric Quirk, who has just returned from India, and who has a deeply moving story to tell of recent happenings there.

C.W.L. WESTMOUNT TOLD WOMEN'S JOB TO FOSTER IDEALISM

One of the most important tasks women will have to undertake in the post-war years, is that of restoring idealism to a disillusioned world, said D. Archie MacDonald, when he addressed the meeting of the Westmount subdivision of the Catholic Women's League, held on Tuesday afternoon in St. Leo's School Hall.

In this connection, Mr. MacDonald pointed to the widespread influence which all women's organizations could have in shaping public opinion, and bringing pressure to bear upon the public authorities to enforce laws, and make, not only our city, but the rest of the world, a better place in which to live.

The s[illegible] length the problems which are to be found at "our own door-step," such as the need for greater reinforcements of traffic laws, health laws and bettering general living conditions. If public opinion is not aroused and led in the right direction, he said the situation will keep on getting worse, till someday it will definitely become out of hand.

Mr. MacDonald concluded by saying that a greater task than this for women is inconceivable and a lesser one unwomanly.

Mrs. Edmund Foster, the newly elected president, gave a brief resume of the coming year's activities.

Mrs. C. J. Lovett and her committee were in charge of tea arrangements, decorations being carried out with deep yellow marigolds and candelabra with yellow tapers.

The benefit of proverbs, or maxims, is that they separate those who act on principle from those who act on impulse; and they lead to promptness and decision in acting.

And So It Goes . . .

By Betty Bruce

In Margaret Macpherson's book "I Heard the Anzacs Singing," she tells a story about a lady who suffered greatly from seasickness. The very look of a ship was enough for her, and yet she had to do a certain amount of travelling between New Zealand and Australia. One night she went aboard as usual with the rest of the passengers, and later woke up with the all to familar symptons. Hastily she rang the bell for the stewardess. No answer. Again she rang. And again still no answer. In high dudgeon she jumped back into bed feeling like a martyr.

In the morning she dressed and left her cabin. Before she got on deck she met her brother-in-law, the Captain, and complained bitterly that no one had tended her while she was seasick during the night.

The Captain gave her a queer little look. "We've been tied up to the pier all night," he told her, "and some of the crew were allowed to spend the night ashore, your steward among them."

So much for the power of imagination! You've probably heard also of the man who woke up in a small room in a friend's cottage in the country. He felt that he was stifling and had to have air. In the blackness of the night-he could find no match to light a candle, but a glimmer of grey indicated glass. In vain he wrestled with the problem of opening the window, however, and in his urgency to breathe cool air to revive him, he groped about for one of his boots and smashed the glass. Drinking in great gulps of air, the exhaustion passed and he fumbled his way back to his bed and slept soundly for the rest of the night.

In the morning he found that instead of smashing the window he had broken the glass front of a bookcase. In imagination only had he gulped in great drafts of cool air, but the imaginary zephers had calmed him and sent him to sleep.

So much again for the power of imagination.

"As a man th' :th, so is he," says the Bible. For good or for ill our thoughts rule us. If the seasick lady hadn't thought so much about seasickness she wouldn't have been sick, and goodness knows what might have happened to the man who thought he was choking for fresh air if he hadn't imagined he was getting the genuine thing to revive him when he smashed the glass panel of the bookcase. It certainly pays these days, when there is much to keep us tense and fearful, or sorrowful, deliberately to turn our thoughts into cheerful channels and to lose ourselves in service to others.

A news photograph from England appeared in the sport pages last week showing Private Grace Dreyer, former Major Ladies' Softball League star, crossing the plate after knocking out a home run for No. 50 Company in the London Area Championship series.

The picture brought back many gay memories, for I knew Grace when she was a Sergeant here in Montreal, and I could pick out her trim figure when her own mother might have had a little difficulty. Grace was one of the C.W.A.C. girls who grew up with the Longue Pointe Ordnance where, at certain times, a bugle blast would shatter the din of typewriters and tugmotors, intimating to every member of His Majesty's forces present that it was the moment for gas mask 'rill. To see our sunny Grace transformed in a twinkling from her curly-headed, blond-skinned self into a snouted ogre was something of a shock. For twenty minutes or so this goggle-eyed monster could pore over ledgers or invoices of stationery equipment, carrying on conversations with other ogres who stalked about under the hideous green mercury-vapour lamps, till the bugle blast gave the signal to unmask.

Grace comes of fighting stock. One of her proudest boasts, and the only time she ever boasted, was about the seven (if I remember right) members of her family in the services. Grace was exceedingly proud to be a C.W.A.C., and proud to give only her very best to whatever job was assigned her.

If she had a weakness, it was for fixing broken office gear. Balky Bostitches and cranky filing mechanisms were to her what crossword puzzles are to puzzle addicts, a tremendous temptation to chase the missing clue to the very end, bugle blasts or not.

One of her other C.W.A.C. accomplishments that comes to mind was her prodigious memory for the words of songs. During the first tramways strike I got lost in the shuffle somehow and missed riding in the station wagon that had brought me in the morning. Faced with a nine-mile ride home in an open truck, I was gloomily considering the prospect when I felt a warm, strong little paw shoved into mine and Sergeant Dreyer cheerily enquired "Come home with us in our bus? I'll fix it with our officer."

That was how I had the privilege of hearing the army girls sing all the way home, and how I discovered Grace's ability to remember the opening line of the twentieth verse of any of a dozen C.W.A.C. ballads.

A host of local friends will wish her well in her new sphere.

Note to the Cleaners

Non-tubbable summer clothes are going to the cleaners in droves these days as good housekeepers start the business of packing away summer clothes for another year. If your pet dress has a coffee stain on it don't keep the cleaner in the dark . . . write a note and say what it is. Saves time all round and keeps everybody in the play. When you get them back again leave summer dresses in the cleaner's bags or transfer to your own cotton dust protectors. Take precautions with summer woollens . . . moth-proof bags are still the best . . . check them for tears and mend with tape, if you don't you might as well write "Welcome, moths!"

Developing Appreciation

RUTH T. KNIGHT

It was Betty Jo's sixth birthday and the party being over, I began putting the house in order. As I passed the living room window, I stopped to watch the youngsters skip merrily along the sidewalk, gay paper hats set jauntily on their heads.

Then I wondered where Betty Jo was. She always went part way with her friends; now she was nowhere to be seen.

Unexpectedly, I came upon her seated on the staircase, her head in her arms, crying.

"Why Betty Jo! What are you crying about? Didn't you enjoy our party?" I asked. "Your little friends all seemed to have such a good time, and they brought you so many lovely presents."

"But, why did Mary Jane have to give me that old cream pitcher that we play house with?" sobbed Betty Jo. "Everybody knows it is an old thing."

"Let me see it," I said.

Betty Jo got up halfheartedly and fetched the pitcher.

"Look at it—all cracked!" she exclaimed, sniffling and drying her eyes. "Besides, it's a funny-looking thing. And I gave Mary Jane a pretty bracelet for her birthday."

"Where did you get the money for the bracelet, Betty Jo?"

"You gave it to me," she answered in surprise.

"But Mary Jane's mother has all of Mary Jane's many brothers and sisters to feed and clothe so she probably couldn't afford money for a present for you. So Mary Jane gave you her little pitcher. She knew you liked to play with it. She thought you'd be pleased. And I don't think it's funny looking. As a matter of fact, I think it's very charming. A little Dutch girl and boy are painted on it and an old Dutch mill!"

I turned it bottom side up, from force of habit, and saw in bold print, "Made in Holland."

"Why!" I exclaimed, "this was made in Holland—that delightful land of tulips and wooden shoes. Let us go and see what we can learn about Holland."

I took Betty Jo's hand and we went into the library. First we gave the globe a twirl and located Holland on the map. Then, taking a book from one of the shelves, we seated ourselves comfortably in a big chair.

We learned so many interesting things about the home of the little pitcher that Betty Jo began to see her gift through different eyes. Already, young as she was, the china pitcher was giving her a panoramic view of little girls in voluminous skirts and crisp white caps and aprons; windmills propelled by ocean winds to rid a land of surplus water; fields of waving grass where lazy cattle grazed, and acres and acres of tulips making a riot of color. She was seeing a land made fertile by canals and dikes, a land of beauty and simplicity.

"I'm glad Mary Jane gave me that pitcher," she said, smiling happily.

"Tell her so, when you see her," I answered. "We must find out things about your other presents, and then you can tell each one of the children how much you are enjoying their gifts. And, Betty Jo, remember this: when we are going to buy anything we should look it over and think whether or not it is worth the price. But there is no price on a gift, so we look at it differently. We look only to find what there is that makes us glad.

"Now suppose this pitcher had not come from Holland or from any place in particular. What about it then, as a gift?"

Betty Jo looked at it thoughtfully. "It would still be good to play with—and if that was all Mary Jane had—"

"Yes," I answered, "you are quite right."

If, instead of a gem or even a flower, we could cast the gift of a lovely thought into the heart of a friend, that would be giving as the angel give.

White-Collar Girls In Chungking Live Frugally

White-collar girls in the world's fighting capitals have many problems in common. Not the least of these are the simple necessities—a place to live, food to eat, both at a price that the poor but ambitious clerk can pay.

But nowhere are the trials and tribulations of the working girl more severe than in Chungking, temporary capital of Free China. There, more than 2,961 women work in offices and private organizations. This information was recently revealed in a survey conducted by the Women's Advisory Committee of China's New Life Movement.

Clever, hard working and serious minded, approximately 1,946 of these women are graduates of high schools; 585 have university degrees; 290 are graduates of technical schools and 69 or more have been educated abroad.

The housing problem in other capitals would make these Chinese girls smile, for in Chungking most of the women live, not in comfortable if shabby boarding houses, but in one and two roomed bamboo-and-mud houses. For these they may pay as much as $30 a month, far more than most of them earn in thirty days. Even with several sharing the expenses this is a constant and severe financial drain.

Most of them wear blue cotton dresses and once a year if they are thrifty enough to save a little money they buy two new cotton dresses.

Even a king needs his vitamins, and in Britain, both royalty and commoners are getting more of theirs from the once despised cabbage.

Peaches And Plums Furnish Deligthful Fall Desserts

By Laura C. Pepper

A bowl of fresh or stewed fruit is the simplest and one of the best solutions of the ever - present "what shall we have for dessert" problem.

But, comes a day when crisp fall weather calls for something hot and a little more filling for dessert. That's the day for an old-fashioned Roly-Poly pudding with the tangy flavour of fresh plums.

Or the family table will be lengthened to include boys and girls from the services for a bang-up Sunday dinner. They'll love frozen peach cream as a topper-offer.

Plum Roly-Poly.

3 cups halves or quartered, pitted, sweet plums
2-3 cup sugar,
1-8 teaspoon salt
1 1-3 cups boiling water.

Wash plums and cut in halves or quarters, removing pits. Add boiling water to sugar and salt, bring to boiling point. Add plums and simmer 5 minutes. Strain off syrup and reserve.

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2¼ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in fat using two knives or a pastry blender, until the mixture resembles fine bread crumbs. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on a lightly floured board and roll in a rectangl ¼ inch thick. Spread plums over dough and roll like a jelly roll. Place in a greased bread tin and pour over the roll ¾ cup of the plum syrup. Bake in a hot oven, 425 deg. F., for 25-30 minutes. Serve hot with the following sauce.

1½ cups syrup from plums
2½ teaspoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
⅛ teaspoon almond extract

Measure syrup remaining and, if necessary, add water to make up 1½ cups. Bring to boiling point. Mix cornstarch with cold water and stir into boiling syrup; cook 10 minutes; remove from heat and add almond. Six servings.

Frozen Peach Cream

2 egg yolks
2-3 cup sugar
1 cup top milk or thin cream
1½ cup sieved fresh peaches (6 medium)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 egg whites

Beat egg yolks and sugar together; add milk or cream, peaches, lemon juice and almond extract, blending well. Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes then dissolve over hot water. Add slowly to the first mixture, stirring to prevent gelatine from lumping. Place in freezing tray of refrigerator and freeze until firm, about 1 hour. Remove from refrigerator and turn into a chilled bowl, mash and add unbeaten egg whites. Beat wtih a rotary beater until the mixture is fluffy. Return to tray and freeze until firm. Eight servings.

Minted Apple Butter

4 cups light colored apple pulp
4 sprays mint
Juice of 2 lemons
2⅔ cups sugar

Cook fruit until tender with enough water to prevent burning. Put through sieve or strainer. Mix all ingredients, adding enough green coloring to tint mixture. Boil mixture rapidly until thick and clear. Remove mint sprays. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Mickey Rooney, as the irrepressible Andy, sets off to follow his father's footsteps at Wainwright College and learns to his delight that it is now co-ed. His troubles begin on the train where he meets Bonita Granville bound for Wainwright, Herbert Marshall, dean of the college, and the pretty Wilde Twins, only since the twins, in order not to be separated, are pretending to be one person, and keep Andy in a perpetual state of confusion.

Attracted to Bonita

Andy is attracted to Bonita immediately, but it is soon obvious that although Bonita likes Andy she is much more interested in Herbert Marshall. When they arrive at school Andy tries to help the twins out of their predicament and only succeeds in getting himself into trouble. His affairs with Bonita aren't going well either. He is so miserable that he decides to leave college rather than risk blemishing his father's good name. But before he can go the Judge arrives and sets everything to rights and Andy then decides to settle down to a happy scholastic career.

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

Romance takes some unusual turns in Hollywood. Writers for the screen constantly are devising new and novel ways of getting sweethearts into each other's arms.

In M-G-M-'s "See Here, Private Hargrove," the hilarious comedy of soldier life now at the Westmount Theatre, love finds its way by a still different route, that of a date bureau run by a couple of enterprising soldier sharpsters. They get Bob Walker, playing the title role, in their clutches and sell him a date with his "Ideal," lovely Donna Reed.

Donna answers his ring at the door. "Good evening, Miss Holliday," he says, "I'm Private Hargrove. Private Marion Hargrove, D Battery, First Battalion, First Regiment, Field Artillery Replacement Training Center, Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

"United States Army?" she asks, amused. "Er—a—good evening. Did—did you want to see me about something?"

"I'm Private Hargrove," he repeats. "Your date." And he hands her flowers and candies.

Donna accepts them automatically, then as his words register, "MY WHAT?"

"Er—I'm from the—you know—the date bureau.

Donna's blank look shows that she knows nothing of any date bureau.

"But, you must know about it," the desperate Walker pleads. "They sold me this date. For five dollars."

"They sold you a date—with me? Five dollars!"

"They said you were their most expensive girl," Bob explains.

"Well, of all the unmitigated Army nerve," Donna's wrath descends. "Do you thing girls are cattle . . . sheep . . . horses?"

"No, ma'am."

"Well, you can have these back. And there's the door!" With that, she throws the flowers and candy at him. Walker is festooned with roses and double dipped bon-bons as the scene ends.

Walker comments: "This should put an end to blind dates for all time! Even in the Army!"

M.R.T. Resumes Season Tomorrow

Welcoming John Ready in his first directorial venture for MRT, the Montreal Repertory Theatre commences its fifteenth current season by presenting to the Montreal theatre audience, "And So To Bed." Opening tomorrow, this play will be featured at the Guy Street Playhouse for one week, until October 7th, with a matinee on the last day.

"And So To Bed" is a three act comedy, written by J. B. Fagan and based on an incident in the live of the celebrated diarist Mr. Samuel Pepys, his wife, a deluge of famous actresses of the day, the Mistresses Knight, Pierce and Knepp, and the Merry Monarch of England, Charles II.

The title role of Samuel Pepys is being portrayed by Robert Watt, well-kown MRT player and an old favorite of Montreal audiences, aided and abetted by Althea McLean in the role of Mistress Pepys. Miss McLean was last seen at the Playhouse in a featured role in "Pride and Prejudice." Lillian Crum Niderost, a former

WESTMOUNT HIGH LIGHTS

By GEORGE COCHRANE

It will be the boys from West Hill up at Molson Stadium tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 and while even the most rabid Westmount fan knows that the chances of George Smith's footballers upsetting the Chesley crew are practically nil, the general concensus of opinion is that tomorrow's night cap is going to be a real battle.

After last week's 30-0 defeat at the hands of Brother Ambrose's D'Arcy McGee squad the local hopefuls will doubtlessly be rated as "push-overs" by Chesley's huskies. But, this is, as far as I know, just a pleasant day-dream, there is more than a possibility that the West Hillians will take the field for tomorrow's encounter brimming with over-confidence.

Over-confidence has done many strange things in sport. Remember a couple of years ago, the year that Westmount won the city championship, when Montreal handed us our only defeat of the year at Westmount Park? Remember two years ago when Catholic High, after losing to West Hill by a score of something like 44-0, came back to win the final bout? And last year Catholic High went into the championship game confident of victory but came out of it the losers.

It happened before. It may happen tomorrow.

POST MORTEM

Last week's game might have ended differently if Westmount had capitalized on that first quarter chance. For, after ploughing up the field with a series of rapier-like thrusts through the line, and despite a number of fumbles and penalties, the Smith men reached the three-yard line. With three yards to go, and four downs to do it in, it looked like a sure five-pointer.

But what happened? The McGee line, which had looked like a papier mache production when Westmount was on the march, turned into a brick wall and W.H.S. bounced off it four times.

From then on Brother Ambrose's boys had a fairly easy time of it. Featuring a short-passing attack, and making the best of a number of fumbles, they made their way over the line five times and converted each time.

The McGee boys used a double reverse, complete with a lateral pass, to advantage and in the second game of the double bill, in which West Hill mowed down Montreal 34-0, the winners used a similar play with disastrous results for Charlie Barbour's crew.

Those junior high sweaters that our team wore last Saturday will be replaced tomorrow with new white and maroon outfits.

Catholic High take on Montreal in tomorrow's opener.

HI-Y

It's busy, for the members of the boys' Hi-Y club for at their meeting last week they laid the foundation work for a number of ambitious schemes.

John Pepper, aided by two boys and two girls, has already started plans for the Friday night parties that proved so popular last year but whether or not the Y is going to take over the management of the parties has not yet been decided.

Jack Dudley with Taj Foreman of the gals' club helping him out, is organizing a Hi-Y sponsored improve your dancing club which he expects to get underway in the very near future and the club also plans to send a newsletter to Westmount High old boys on active service.

The next meeting of the boys' organization won't be held until October 12, the Thursday after Thanksgiving.

Things are rather quiet on the girls' front. Because of a lack of a Y adviser the gals won't plan anything until October 11. President Inger Jorgensen, however, is doing a lot of thinking.

At the gals' first meeting, held last week, Virginia Birk was elected secretary. She succeeds Deborah Pierce who is now living in Ottawa.

Sam Freedman, energetic president of the boys' Menorah club, has revealed that the first meeting has already been held and that the 1944-45 executive, elected at meeting number one, is as follows: president, Sam Freedman; vice-president and treasurer, Manfred Liverant, and secretary, Tom Kahn.

The newly-elected executive immediately went into conference and the following committee chairmen were appointed: Programme, Jack Shayne; social, Nat Liebman; house, Sandy Marshall; war services, Bernard Cooper; social service, Ernie Sacoransky; and telephone, Lyon Nathanson.

The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, October 4, when the club will have a bowling night.

HI-Y DANCE

It was dance time at Westmount High School last Friday afternoon and the organization behind it all was the Westmount boys' Hi-Y club. For the local Hi-Y was sponsoring the combined pep rally and "P.M.", dance that was unanimously voted a success by the more than 200 young men and women of the Westmount senior and junior High Schools that attended.

And the best part about it, from the viewpoint of the customers, was that the admission fee was only ten cents. Yet, despite the small admission fee, a profit of about $30 was realized.

With Parker L. Wearing, one of W.H.S.'s most popular teachers, in charge, the pep rally got underway at 3.20 and lasted until four oclock. Then the gym was cleared while final preparations for the dance were being made. Dancing, to the music of America's best bands via records, got underway at about a quarter after four and lasted until after half past six.

The next boys' Hi-Y club dance has been tentatively scheduled for October 27. This will be their annual fall dance and will probably be held in the spacious gymnasium of the junior high school.

WINNING PENNANT ON UMPIRE'S BONER

The American League pennant race this year will go down as one of the closest in the history of the game, but Harold C. Burr, of the Brooklyn Eagle, has a story in the last week's Sporting News that tells of a race that was decided on the last day of the season, and was awarded to the wrong team by an umpire's mistake. That was the National League 1908 season.

Testimony in Court

Burr quotes dusty old records from the Illinois courts to prove that Pittsburgh and not Chicago should have won the pennant. The last game of the season saw Pittsburgh playing at Chicago with the championship hinging on the result. At a critical period in the game the Pirates filled the bases and then their second baseman, big Ed. Abbatichhio, hit a ball a mile long into the left field bleachers close to the foul pole. Today it would have been called a grand slam homer. In those days of tight baseball the four runs would have been enough to win the game pulling up.

"Foul ball," bawled the domineering Hank O'Day, who was umpiring.

The Pirates figured they had four runs and they crowded round O'Day hollering, yelling and dancing. But the battle ended as all battles with umpires end—the decision stood!

The Cubs went on to win the game, tied with the Giants and beat them in the play-off.

But that wasn't the end of the story. That winter a woman who had been sitting out in the bleachers sued the Chicago club for damages, claiming that the ball Abbaticchio hit had struck her, and she testified on the stand that when she was struck she was sitting in fair territory.

There was nothing the Pirates could do about the matter. The Cubs had been awarded the pennant, and they had beaten the Detroit Tigers in the World's Series. It was all baseball history by then.

American League All-Stars

Your observer's all-star team for the American League is composed mainly of players of the first four teams—Detroit, St. Louis, New York, Boston. Writers much less unanimous in picking American League all-stars, than they were with the National.

The all-star catcher is Hal Wagner who recently traded his bat for a rifle. Wagner hit .329 while with Boston and when he, along with Doerr and Hughson, went into service, Boston's pennant chances went west. The 71 games played were not enough to place him in contention for the batting crown, however. The alternate receiver is Buddy Rosar of the Cleveland Indians who is batting .276 for 84 games.

American League pitching is the best of the two major leagues. Leading the staff are Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout, who have each won 26 games for Detroit. The balance of the staff is composed of Tex Hughson, who won 18 games for Boston before joining the Service a month ago. Nels Potter and Bob Muncrief of the Browns who have won 15 and 12 respectively and Hank Borowy of the Yanks who has won 17. However Muncrief has been out of action for a month with a sore arm and Potter was suspended in mid-summer for throwing a spitter.

At the initial sack we have Dick Siebert, one of the few of the team who is not with a first division club. Dick of the Philadelphia A's is batting .312 for 114 games. Dick has played both first base and in the outfield this year. His understudy is Nick Etten of New York who was batting .285 at latest averages. We like Etten better than Rudy York, also a contender.

Second base is given to Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox. After Doerr left for the Army while batting .325 the Red Sox then in second place collapsed and are now in fourth about 8 games off the pace. Snuffy Stirnweiss of the Yanks is the alternate. Snuffy was batting .318 and leading the league in hits, runs, and stolen bases at the latest despatch.

At short we have Vernon Stephens of the Browns who is batting .300 and leads the league in Runs Batted In. His sub is Lou Boudreau of the Indians who was batting .321 according to the averages of September 18.

Third base goes to Pinky Higgins of the Detroit Tigers. Pinky is having one of his best years in baseball in 1944. He is batting .304 and had 62 Runs Batted In. His alternate is Ken Keltner or Mark Christman of the Indians and the Browns respectively. Keltner led Christman in batting with .291 to .277 and in Runs Batted In with 79 to 76 but Christman was more valuable to his team.

The outfield is composed of Pete Fox, Bob Johnson, and Stan Spence. Fox and Johnson of the Boston Red Sox are batting .327 and .325 respectively and Spence has .299 for the Washington Senators. Johnson leads the trio in RBI with 94. Spence has 82 and Fox has 57. The sub for the outfield is Dick Wakefield of the Detroit team. Wakefield is batting .321 for the Tigers in the sixty games in which he has participated since his discharge from the Navy in mid-July.

The above team has 4 Detroiters, 4 Browns, 3 Yanks, 5 Red Sox from Boston, 3 Indians, 1 Senator, and 1 Athletic. The only team not represented is Chicago.

Six Man Rugby Recruits Asked To Form League

All teams wishing to enter the Westmount Municipal Six Man Rugby League are asked to contact Recreation Supervisor Jim McCormick immediately at the office in the greenhouse or by phone at FI. 1929. The league will be split up into three sections, providing enough teams are interested. There will be the pee wee group for boys 12 years and under, not weighing more than 90 pounds; the bantam section for boys 14 years and under, not weighing more than 100 pounds, and the midget section for boys 16 years and under, not weighing more than 125 pounds.

The schedules will commence this Wednesday, October 4th, at King George Park, where all the games will be played. Doubleheaders will be staged each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon, while two games will also be played on Saturday mornings.

The following clubs have already stated their intentions of entering the loop, Dave Binmore's Eagles; Richard Lord's Hawks; Marvin Greenbaum's Greyhounds, and Pete Fullerton's Tigers, all in the midget section, with Richard Lord's Tornadoes and Pete Laffoley's Typhoons in the bantam group. Ross Gillingham's Panthers; Marvin Greenbaum's Greyhounds, Phil Martin's Argos, and Billy Leslie's Yanks will compete in the pee wee section.

Wolf Packs Do Not Hunt Man

Writer Claims Wolfes Too Crafty to Tackle Humans

I would like to put one or two things right about wolves. First, there is the yarn, often repeated in books, about wolves pursuing men. I have come across descriptions of their doing so in Siberia, Northern Quebec, Ontario, and the Yukon, but I have yet to meet anyone who has actually been chased by a wolf, or attacked by the pack.

Books can say what they like about wolves attacking men. But this is true—when a wolf comes on the scent of a man's trail he will make a leap of twenty feet, if necessary, to get clear across it!

Far from attacking a man, the wolf is afraid of him; women as well. This again is true—I am speaking of a lady named Mrs. Angus Sherwood, who lived twenty miles or so up-river from Fort Norman. She was alone in her cabin one afternoon. Glancing out of the window, she saw what she thought was a great husky dog snooping around where the puppies were kept. She ran outside and threw a stick at the animal and chased it away.

Next morning the Sherwoods found three of the pups had gone, obviously devoured during the night by the intruder of the previous day. Angus deduced from this that a wolf had been around, and that the brute was scared stiff at the sight of a fluttering skirt.

From "Down North," by Tony Onraet (Cape, 8s. 6d.), descriptions of a French-Canadian trapper's life.

The R.A.F. Transport Command has flown more than 20,000 Allied wounded from France to England since D-Day.

Victory Gardens Nipped By Frost

Victory and other gardens all over the district suffered from the first touch of frost which assailed the province over the week-end.

McGill Observatory said the lowest reading was Saturday night when the mercury registered 40.5 degrees. This reading was taken, however, at an approximate distance of five feet from the ground. With ground temperatures running considerably lower than the standard temperatures registered on thermometers, frost was possible with a 40.5 standard reading, it was explained.

The mercury registered a low temperature of 41 degrees yesterday and a high of 57 degrees The weather forecast this morning was "fair and a little warmer today, followed by scattered showers tonight and Tuesday, with fresh winds."

Garden losses, according to a brief survey today, were not great, and this was due partly to the fact that the long spells of hot weather this year had hastened fruit and vegetables to early maturity in many cases.

Remaining tomato and cucumber crops as well as some others suffered in the first cold nip of the season, but the hardier vegetables suffered little. The stronger flowers also escaped damage by the frost.

The first frost, which hit a number of Laurentian areas as well as the Montreal district, ended the 1944 vacation season for many city people, who had decided to remain in their country houses until October if the weather was agreeable. Many boarded up their homes, packed their belongings and returned to the city.

The British Ministry of Food is experimenting with the preservation of herring by freezing and dehydration with a view of sending dehydrated herrings to the liberated countries of Europe. This follows the announcement of a £2,000,000 British Government plan for the re-equipment and development of the British herring industry after the war. During the war the greater part of Britain's trawler fleet has been engaged in mine-sweeping.

Never sound the trumpet of your own praise.

at the Baha'i House of Worship in Wilmette, a suburb of Chicago, Illinois, on the shores of Lake Michigan. A total of over 1,500 believers of 35 nationalities took part in the convention. Black, yellow, brown, red and colorless individuals rubbed elbows in complete amity.

The Baha'i Faith originated in Persia in 1844. The central theme is the oneness of mankind. The Baha'i teachings put great stress upon the necessity for universal peace, universal education, a universal language, an international tribunal, and so on. The Baha'i scriptures have been translated, in part, into Esperanto and some 35 or more national languages. (World Goodwill Service.)

One of the notable things about our new Government at Quebec is its size — 21 Cabinet Ministers. This is the all-time high for any Canadian Government. Premier Duplessis evidently believes that if two heads are better than one it must follow that 21 are better than ten and that is not an unreasonable expectation if the Ministers give the best that is in them to the important questions which will come before them. It is well known that our Cabinet Ministers, as a rule, are overworked, even though they have the help of hard working deputies and secretaries. The life of a public administrator is never a bed of roses. Operating a faulty economic system is difficult and worse than usual when we are afraid of the so-called peace periods.

Within reason the cost of a larger Cabinet is of little importance. Compared with the salaries of many industrialists, salaries of Cabinet Ministers and representatives and civil servants are inadequate.

The only other Cabinet as large as that of Premier Duplessis is our Federal Cabinet with 20 members—an increase of 4 over its pre-war strength. Ontario and Saskatchewan have 12 each, Nova Scotia 8, New Brunswick 8, Prince Edward Island 9, Manitoba 10, Alberta 8, and British Columbia 8. P.E.I. has 1 Minister for about each 10,000 inhabitants. On that basis we would have 350 Ministers. Premier Douglas the new C.C.F. Premier of Sask. when he increased his Cabinet from 9 to 12 was criticized by many over-timid editors but our Premier has left him at the post.

leading player with the Saskatoon Little Theatre, and a newcomer to Montreal makes her local debut in the glamorous part of Mistress Knight. Mistresses Knepp and Pierce are played respectively by Frances Lindsay and Lucille Masson. Others in the cast include Griffith Brewer, Miriam Lunn, George Woods, Thelma Nicholls and Betsie Hay. The role of Charles II is played by John Ready who also directing the production. The music is under the direction of George M. Brewer, and the designing and lighting of the two sets under the supervision of the very capable Quentin Lawrence.

The theme of the play runs along these lines. Mr. Pepys, fond of music, but still fonder of the fairer sex, finds himself in many strange places and predicaments due to his weaknesses This naturally causes somewhat of a fracas between he and his wife. Luckily however, Mr. Pepys is able to reverse the situation on account of his wife's accidental meeting with Charles II under somewhat peculiar circumstances. By the intervention of the King, peace is finally restored, and happiness again reigns supreme.

"And So To Bed" was first produced in London in September, 1926, where it received wide acclaim. In a record run it played successively at the Queen's, Savoy and Globe Theatres. The play met with additional raves on Broadway in which production, Roberta Beatty, well-know MRT actress, was featured in the role of Mistress Knight A touring company brought the play to Montreal in 1929. It now seems fitting to bring the play before a Montreal audience, as it is felt it will be equally enjoyed by those who remember the professional production and by those who are now seeing it for the first time.

Mr. Fagan, the author, a student and lover of the works of Samuel Pepys, spent ten years in the research and planning of the play. More we cannot say, as the pen cannot do full justice to the sparkling wit and comedy of Mr. Fagan's play.

Rev. Fred B. Whale Of West Africa To Visit Brigade

Friday evening saw the 1st Company off to a flying start with a record number of recruits. After re-organizing the squads, a little brushing up on drill was given by Staff-Sgt. Eddie Goring, while the recruits were put through their paces by Lieut. Alex Upham and L/Cpl. Alan Robinson. Following this, the evening was devoted to team games, that all might have a most thrilling evening together.

Sunday the 1st Company organized a special joint Company service in conjunction with the 11th Company and listened to a most inspiring message from the Dominion Secretary, Capt. Phil. R. Adams of Hamilton. The Brass band took part in the service with Captain J. H. Richardson in charge and presiding at the console.

Plans have been drawn up to mark the visit of the Rev. Fred B. Whale, Boys' Brigade Missionary and organizer for the Sudan Interior Mission in West Africa. Mr. Whale will be in Montreal on the 13th of October and remain for five days. During his stay he will visit every Company and a special rally has been set for Westmount and west-end companies on the 17th instant. On this occasion a miniature review and display of the work will be given and Mr. Whale will show his motion pi[c]ture. On Sunday, the 15th instant, he will be in Maisonneuve Presbyterian Church in the morning and a special Battalion parade in the afternoon centrally located, while in the evening he will again address another congregation on this important missionary work. It is hoped that The Boys' Brigade in Canada will adopt this Brigade Mission and support it fully.

The Brass band is making great progress and with the added support of an able assistant bandmaster, should advance in leaps and bounds. There is still room for a few more players, however from last week's list of recruits, it will not be long before every vacancy will be filled.

ABOUT THE THINGS YOU BUY IN WARTIME...

"I think it can be safely said that the sugar supply position is the most difficult situation we have to face today in any rationed commodity.

You can't get all you want in wartime. If one pound will do, don't buy two."

Abordon

The sugar situation is NOT sweet

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE SUGAR CANADA CONSUMES HAS TO BE IMPORTED

This map shows where Canada, Great Britain and the United States got their sugar in the good old days of peace. Our three countries take practically all the exportable sugar from these major sugar-exporting areas.

But supplies have either been cut off by enemy occupation of the country—as in the case of Java and the Philippines, or their production radically reduced by shortage of workers, as in the case of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad, Fiji.

Even the production of beet sugar in Canada and the United States has been drastically cut by labour shortage. In both countries the '43 sugar beet crop was forty per cent less than in '41. The only country to show an important increase is Cuba, where output had for years been deliberately restricted. But its increase has not been sufficient to offset the losses elsewhere—let alone meet the increased demand.

ROLLING ON SUGAR

The war has brought some unusual demands on the United Nations' sugar pool. Vast quantities have been taken for making industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber (tires, etc.) as well as T.N.T. and smokeless powder. For instance, the explosive to fill five 16-inch shells requires as much sugar as is produced on an acre of the finest sugar land. This year Cuban sugar alone used for making industrial alcohol will equal Canada's normal sugar imports for more than two years.

THE SUPPLY IS SHARED

All sugar supplies are pooled and under the control of the Combined Food Board of the United Nations, which allots supplies to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform basis.

DO WE NEED MORE SUGAR?

A century ago the whole world didn't consume as much sugar as Canada does today. Our sweet tooth has been acquired in quite recent times. Sugar rates high for its energy value, but starchy food is a good substitute.

WE'RE LIVING ON OUR SUGAR CAPITAL

At the time of "Pearl Harbour" the United Nations had a reserve stock-pile of about 3 million tons, but for the last 3 years we've been using more than has been produced—and dipping heavily into "reserve." Liberated nations will have to dip in too. Extra good crops could improve the situation, but greatly increased supplies are not in sight. If current consumption keeps up, we could be very short of sugar next year. We must do the utmost to conserve our supplies.
