Maple Leaf Grange Tourists Assistance

Maple Leaf Grange–Operates Information Booth For Visitors

Maple Leaf Grange members are doing their bit toward Canada's Centenary and the furtherance of Expo. They have recently installed an information booth in the lobby of their hall at Kensington, on Route No. 4 with a picnic area at the side. This project is under the Community Service Committee and planned under the direction of Mrs. Alva Moore the Chairman.

This is intended for the use of all tourists to Canada and it is hoped that many will make use of the facilities. In the lobby, the door of which is kept open, a welcome sign faces all who enter the door. At the left is a table on which a guest book has been placed and it is expected that visitors will sign. On the wall is a list of people in the area and their telephone numbers who can accommodate visitors with rooms, etc. Just inside the door and on the right is a telephone from which calls may be made if required. Of course this is of the coin type and calls can be paid for. On the wall at the right is a rack containing many pamphlets and folders on Expo, etc. Beside this is a list of professional and business places providing various services in the area and the phone numbers. These include such as doctors, garages, service stations food stores and such as a visitor might wish to know.

Outside on a grass plot, several picnic tables have been set up and a fireplace has been built where a fire could be made. The whole provides what a tourist may be looking for as well as a spot to stop and rest and for refreshments. A store and gas pumps in the vicinity are also a welcome asset for the tourist or visitor.

STE CECILE NOW FORMS PART OF VALLEYFIELD

The Municipality of Ste. Cécile will turn over all official documents and valuation roll to the authorities of Salaberry-de-Valleyfield within a few days. This procedure follows a decree published in the official Gazette, sanctioning the annexation of this municipality to the town. The total area of Salaberry-de-Valleyfield is now of 17.4 square miles and will eventually have facilities for up to 75,000 citizens.

The Venice of Quebec is therefore taking on more importance and there is no doubt that this annexation will provoke a growing expansion of the town, for the benefit of the whole population.

TWINNING

In the "twinning" of cities of the Province of Quebec with cities of the other Provinces of Canada, many celebrations were held these past few days. Mayor Bruno Beaulieu, Director of the Union of Municipalities of the Province of Quebec and member of the twinning committee within that Associaiton, officiated at the twinning ceremonies of Richmond, B.C. and Pierrefonds, Quebec, at Pierrefonds on Saturday, July 29th.

On July 20th. Mayor and Mrs. Bruno Beaulieu were present at Cap de la Madeleine for the ceremonies twinning that city with Red Deer, Alberta.

On July 26th, Mr. and Mrs. Beaulieu were the guests of the twin cities, Hull, Quebec and Edmonton, Alberta at a dinner at the Helene de Champlain restaurant on the Expo site.

Mr. Beaulieu announces the coming of around fifty students from our twin city Mac Gregor, for the end of August.

We know the population of Ormstown will welcome these young people and organize special festivities during their stay here so that they will take back pleasant memories of their visit.

Local Scouts Attend World Scout Jamboree In Idaho, U.S.

Two boys from Huntingdon and one from Ormstown, left on Thursday afternoon for Montreal and the Scout World Jamboree which is to be held in Idaho, U.S. from August 1st to 11th.

Those from Huntingdon were: Bobby Elliott and Gary Pringle and they made the journey to Montreal by bus. Peter Cowper was the boy from Ormstown.

Bobby Elliott and Gary Pringle of the Huntingdon Scouts were to go to Expo on Friday for Boy Scout Day. They were then to board a plane for Calgary and they were to be joined by other Scouts from the Province of Quebec. On arrival at Calgary they would board a bus to take them to Banff and then on to Farragut State Park in Idaho.

When the Jamboree is over the boys will go to Vancouver and here board a plane which will bring them back to Montreal.

Funds have been raised among the citizens of Huntingdon to make this trip possible and for Huntingdon to be represented at the World Scout Jamboree. The two boys were chosen some time ago and have been eagerly looking forward to this big outing since that time. No doubt on their return they will have lots to talk about both with relatives and friends and with their fellow Scouts and Cubs. The Gleaner hopes to have an account of their trip and stay at the World Jamboree after their return. Meantime we all wish the boys an enjoyable time.

NEW BRIDGE OVER SEAWAY TO VALLEYFIELD A POSSIBILITY

In the near future the project of the elevated bridge over the Seaway at Valleyfield will take another step towards achievement. Drivers who have to use the lift bridge at Larocque Road every day know how much congestion there is at that point when ships go by. The idea of an elevated bridge was greatly exploited at the time of the last electoral campaign, but many difficulties made this project hard to realize.

Dr. Pierre Camu, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway declared while in Valleyfield recently, that the main obstacle to the construction of such a bridge at the cost of 8 million dollars was the fact that the New York Central Railway is using the bridge. The Seaway did not refuse to participate financially in the project but could not demand the removal of the railroad track.

It was up to the federal and provincial governments to come to an agreement with the company involved. It seems at present that their talks will have good results. Mr. Gérald Laniel, M.P. for Beauharnois-Salaberry gave a report of a letter received from the chief engineer of the said railroad company. It is highly possible that the railroad will disappear from Valleyfield; he does not give details of the changes that will be made, but foresees a solution that will satisfy all concerned.

The N.Y.C. railroad station in Valleyfield has now been removed. The company could easily avoid going through Valleyfield on the trips between Montreal and the United States. Results of the study now in process will be known soon.

One saw similar driving on George Street, Ormstown, last Sunday afternoon. Luckily no other car happened to be in the way.

At an adjourned meeting of the Huntingdon Protestant School Commissioners on Thursday, one tender was opened for the painting of several school rooms.

The quote tendered was from Alex Chartrand of Huntingdon and proved to be acceptable to the Board after it had been examined and discussed. The contract was therefore awarded under the terms of the tender. The job is to cover nine classrooms at a price of $125 per room for one coat and an additional charge of $25 per room if a portion of the room is to receive a second coat. Malone Fair To Be Held Week of August 21st-27th

Franklin County's 117th annual exposition opens on Monday with one of the greatest programs of attractions ever assembled in Northeastern United States. Some of the best known names in the world of entertainment plus an outstanding harness race schedule . . . and exhibitions in all departments will be on parade for the 7 day period commencing Monday, August 21st and ending Sunday, Aug. 27.

The gay midway will be filled with the fun attractions conceived by veteran outdoor showman Oscar C. Buck. The cattle barns will be bursting at the seams with entries from a wide area and with animals of several breeds on display. So enthusiastic has been the response to the Malone Fair's Horse shows that the directors of the Association in charge has enlarged the ring area to almost double its former size.

The Night Fair . . . which through recent years, has attracted more persons than during the daytime hours, starts off with a bang. The grandstand show will feature one of the best known stars of the WWVA, Wheeling, West Virginia Jamboree — Jim Greer. With him comes the Mac-O-Chee Valley Folks, named for the famous Indian tribe that once considered that area their home.

Jim Greer, who has been a public entertainer since he reached the ripe old age of five, is constantly booked on the radio, stage, and television circuits. He is best known for his performances as one of the mainstays of the Jamboree.

The Malone Fairgrounds has been under constant grooming this past Spring in order to have it all set for the big day — the third Monday in August. Groundskeeper William "Bill" Welch and his crew have repaired fences, rebuilt the burned-out horse barns on the South end of the grandstand. They have also completely constructed a new stage floor — upon which the "Multi-thousand dollar" attractions will be presented during the Night Fair.

Racing is planned for Tuesday through Friday of Fair week in Malone with purse money of $10,000 being offered. The Jack Kochman Helldrivers return again to climax the week long outdoor spectacle with three performances on Saturday and Sunday. Last year the Helldrivers outdrew even themselves — breaking all records for local attendance at the County Fair.

Russel Chapin of North Bangor is president of the Agricultural Society which sponsors the Malone Fair. Maurice Finnegan is secretary. Vice-president is Philip Riley; Treasurer, Philip McMahon; and Race Secretary, Leon Sova.

Big Day In Malone August 13 For National Air Show

Precision flying, thrilling acrobatics, sky-writing and parachute drops will be featured at the Malone Dufort Airport Sunday, Aug. 13, when the National Air Shows present their 1967 air show, highlighting 15 events.

The show is sponsored by the Malone Chamber of Commerce and will climax a weekend of activity, starting with a band concert at Memorial Park at 8 p.m., Friday, Aug. 11.

Malone is one of the last communities to have a municipal band and weekly concerts in the park are a summer tradition in this community.

A program of old and new favorites, stirring marches and popular numbers are scheduled for the Aug. 15 concert.

The Malone Golf Club will be a popular spot that weekend with the state Elks junior championship tournament scheduled, as well as the Elks district tournament. But there will still be a lot of time for duffers to play on the beautiful 18 hole course.

The new skeet range at Westville will be open to the public and expert shooters as well as novices will be welcome.

Not the least of the weekend's events will be the second annual sidewalk sale, when Main Street merchants move their merchandise onto the sidewalk for an old fashioned sale.

Local M.P.P. Writes Letter To Premier D. Johnson

Huntingdon, Que.,
July 26, 1967.

Hon. Daniel Johnson,
Premier of Quebec,
Parliament Buildings, Quebec.

Dear Sir,

May I express to you, on behalf of many, many, of the citizens of Huntingdon County, regret and dismay at the disregard for the Canadian flag, in the decorating of the Parliament Buildings, for the visit of General De Gaulle.

According to the news, the same was true of the road from Quebec City to Montreal.

It would appear that you have already declared Quebec independent from Canada and have used the General to give his blessing to the event.

The lavish use of public money to insult all believers in Canada, French or English speaking, can not be justified.

Kenneth Fraser, M.P.P.
Huntingdon County.

Back To The Past For The Centennial

Above are Notary and Mrs. Bouchard of Hemmingford dressed in old fashioned costume and riding in an early vintage car, in the recent Centennial parade held at Hemmingford. The parade and all the celebration was a great success.

Round Byre and Ring

By FRANK NAPIER

We are indebted to J. Douglas MacKeehnie, Secretary-Manager, Ayrshire Breeders' Association of Canada for a summarized report of the dispersal sale of the Meredith Ayrshire herd of Topsfield, Mass., U.S.A. A herd which until the sale, July 14 and 15, was one of the largest, likewise one of the most outstanding Ayrshire herds in the United States, with some of the credit in that connection going to animals purchased in Canada during the past decade or two. Included in the David Lamport purchases in Canada for Meredith was that outstanding group of cows which R. R. Ness & Sons Ltd., Howick, purchased from the Bowaters' Hammonds Farm Ayrshire herd of Newfoundland and subsequently resold to Meredith. Included in the said group being the World, Canadian and U.S.A. record holder Hammonds Top Primrose, the dam of the noted Eastern Breeders' Inc. (Kemptville) A.I. sire Hammonds Masterpiece, and several of her sisters.

Another noted subsequent purchase was the bull Burnside Beau Ideal 2nd. (bred by R. R. Ness & Sons Ltd.) and several of his daughters from the Sous L'Ombre herd of L. Bousquet, Granby, Que. A group of four females which had previously won the first prize Get of Sire award at Quebec and Sherbrooke Exhibitions in 1963 and which subsequently won similar awards at Eastern States Exposition, for Mererith in 1963. 64 and 65. Several other noted animals were purchased from the Cumming Bros. herd of Glengarry, Ont., and the Glencameron herd of MacGilivray Bros. Brome, Que.

We understand that the reason annexed to the sale is that now common story, absorbtion of the farm for residential purposes. However, it is interesting to note that in addition to the noted herd sire, Meredith Harry, all the matrons over 10 years of age and most of the calves born in 1967 have been retained.

Two-Day-Breed Spectacular

Headed "Famous Meredith Ayrshires Sell in Two-Day Breed Spectacular", the report says, in part:

"Ayrshire breeders from across the United States and Canada journeyed to Topsfield, Mass. — home of the world famous show winning, record making milk producing Meredith Ayrshire Farm. In an exciting 2-day dairy auction, 303 registered Ayrshires sold for an average of nearly $500. Hundreds of prespective buyers vied for ownership throughout the entire event, and with the selling of the last animal, a total of 67 U.S. breeders, representing 22 states, from coast to coast, had purchased 247 animals. Twenty-seven Canadian buyers from 5 Provinces, including far-off Newfoundland, bought 56 animals that averaged $599.

"An average of $2,100 was paid for the top 10 animals and 71 head sold for $600 and above, including a 2-day old bull calf at $1,400. A son of Selwood Betty's Commander, and purchased by Ardrossan Farm of Pa."

Canadian Purchases

"Topping the Canadian purchases was Mor-Ayr Belinda (classified Excellent 92.5) to R.R. Ness & Sons Ltd. Howick, Que., at $2,700. Another selection at $1,900 was Sous L'Ombre Ideal Hyrondelle, E., the "tan bark favourite" Ayrshire that was named All-American as a Two, Three and Four-year old cow. (This was one of the already referred to Canadian-bred get of sire winners by Burnside Beau Ideal 2).

"A daughter of the record holding Sprightly Mary (26,662 lbs. M., 997 lbs. F. at 5 years), in Meredith Supreme Sprite went to MacGilivray, Bros., Brome, Que. (This cow is also a daughter of Alderwood Supreme, a noted champion and A. I. sire in Canada).

The Great Primrose family drew spirited bidding. Two full sisters of Hammonds Top Primrose sold for a total price of $5,400 to Redina Farm, Newton, Pa. Several members of the Primrose family returned to Hammonds Farm in Newfoundland, where the renowned Primrose family originated.

In may also be noted that high producing daughters of Selwood Betty's Commander demanded prices ranging from one to two thousand dollars; that Charles Abbott, Spring Farm, Conn., purchased 37 cows and bred heifers, and that W. T. Walls, Pontotoc, Miss., (a frequent purchaser in the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club area) purchased the largest number, an outsanding selection of 39 open and bred heifers.

Another Holstein Highlight

Says a recent Holstein-Friesian Association Newsletter, in part: "Two Royally bred Holstein bulls and two high class bred heifers have been shipped to Japan from Canada. The buyer is Federation of Agriculture Co-operatives Societies of Hokkardo, Hokuren, Japan.

"Heading the group", says the report, "at what is reported to be a record price for a Canadian Holstein to Japan, was Roybrook Telstar which was sold in the 1964 National Sale, at $25,000.00 to the Telstar Syndicate (comprised of the breeder, Roy Ormiston, and G. R. McLaughlin, Robert Flett and H. A. Werry & Son), and has since been widely used in artificial service by Canadian and foreign breeders."

Briefly, this bull has an outstanding pedigree, and is line bred through both his sire and his dam, the latter being the famous "White Cow", Balsam Brae Pluto Sovereign.

The other bull, Seiling Mark, sold by Orton Eby, is a son of the noted producer Seiling Anna. His sire, Ebydale Marcus, was a son of A.B.C. Reflection Sovereign (Class Extra Sire) and of Lonelm Rag Apple Marjory, an Excellent, former World Champion and All Canadian Show cow.

The heifers are: Glenafton Patsy, a member of Glenafton's noted Pasty family, by Roybrook Revelation, in turn a son of A. B. C. Reflection Sovereign.

The other bred-heifer is International Rosa, bred by R. J. Stewart, Bolton, Ont. Sired by Burtshill Ladysman, in turn a son of the $37,000 Romandale Reflection Marquis. Her dam has a record of 24,686 lbs. milk, 844 lbs. fat.

Wedding

MEERS - HEWSON

A pretty summer wedding took place June 3rd., at 2 p.m. in St. Andrew's United Church Buckingham, Que., when Audrey Gwen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hewson became the bride of Mr. Ronald Alfred Meers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Meers of Ottawa with Rev. Rolland Gregoire officiating. Mrs. Chesley MacLennan played the wedding music. During the signing of the register Mr. Frank Thorp of St. Lambert, uncle of the bride, sang, "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie, the front was prettily embroidered, a detachable train flowed from the waist. Her shoulder length veil double tier of nylon was held by a double taffeta bow bows in their hair. They carried bouquets of white carnations, tinted yellow and green-ery.

The little flower girls, Mary Ann Baird, niece of the bride and Tracey Donald, niece of the groom, looked lovely in long gowns of pale yellow terylene silk, white headbands, and they carried miniature bouquets of white and tangerine coloured carnations.

Mr. Ralph Buchanan acted as best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Wilfred Baird and Mr. Maurice Bouchard.

Mrs. Baird, the bride's mother, wore a pale blue lace dress with matching coat and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Buchanan, the groom's mother, wore a pink two-piece ensemble with beige accessories. She wore a corsake of pink carnations.

This and That in Town

✓ THE THIRD ANNUAL HORSE SHOW sponsored by the Huntingdon Fair Board will be held this Sunday, August 6th, at Huntingdon Fair Grounds. 29 trophies will be awarded for Jumpers, English and Western saddle classes, palominos, Pony in saddle and harness classes and Roadsters. Potato races will also be a feature of the day. Judging will start at 1 p.m. with continuous showing to nine p.m. There will be pony rides for the youngsters and meals will be served on the grounds by Judy's Restaurant. This has become the largest one-day horse show in the province so, come one and come all.

✓ THE COMMUNITY was greatly saddened last Friday when it was learned that J. Alderic Tremblay had passed away. For many years a respected restaurateur in Huntingdon, the deceased was also a former Alderman of the Town. Recognized as an honest and hard-working man, Mr. Tremblay will be missed by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. Funeral services for the deceased were held Monday morning at St. Joseph's Church. The many patrons of Tremblay's Restaurant sincerely hope his widow and family will continue to operate the business.

✓ RASPBERRIES AND BLUEBERRIES are reported to be plentiful this season, mainly due to the above-normal amount of rainfall. The berries are large and juicy ... just right for pies. (hint ... hint).

✓ A VALLEYFIELD RESIDENT compiled an interesting "Letter to the Editor" which arrived at the Gleaner Office on Monday morning. The letter concerned regional schools and reflected considerable thought. Unfortunately, it was not signed. Again, may we remind subscribers that all such letters must be properly signed for our files; however, a nom de plume may be used for publication if the writer insists.

✓ GERRY ALLAN of Ourtown was the lucky winner of a 65 cc Honda in a drawing sponsored by the local K. of C. The drawing was held Sunday afternoon at St. Anicet following the annual K. of C. sponsored Blessing of the Boats. Reverend Father Deguire drew the lucky ticket. A large number of boats, from small rowboats, to fair-sized cruisers, received the blessing.

✓ DONALD BROWN, 24, was drowned at Bolton Pond Sunday morning July 23rd. He was the only son of Mr. Glen Brown, M.L.A., Brome County, and of Mrs. Brown. On a number of occasions, the drowned victim had visited Huntingdon with his parents and he was favorably known to several here and also to some families at Lake St. Francis. He was an excellent swimmer and excelled in distance swimming. On the day of the tragedy, he and friends were diving from a raft near the family summer home and part of the sport was to see who could stay under the water for the longest time. Donald made several dives and "stayed under" longer each time, but when he dove the final time, he failed to come up. Belief is that he blacked out from lack of oxygen. In the few minutes that elapsed before his friends realized something was wrong, he had died. His body was recovered in about 6 feet of water. The young man had recently received his B.A. and two days previously had signed a contract to teach in Saskatchewan. The sympathy of friends in this community is extended to the bereaved parents and Donald's two sisters.

✓ MR. ERNEST WATTERSON, Ste. Agnes de Dundee octogenarian, was painfully injured about mid-afternoon on Friday on Chateauguay St. in Ourtown. The 83-year-old gentleman was crossing the street near the Rolfe Hardware Store and as he stepped away from the line of cars a vehicle owned by Mr. Philippe St-Louis of Pointe-Aux-Trembles backed out of the line preparatory to proceeding east on Chateauguay St. The driver did not notice Mr. Watterson who was knocked to the pavement. Passersby shouted to the driver to stop, otherwise the car might possibly have passed over the injured man. Mr. Watterson suffered a fractured hip and was taken to the County Hospital and later transferred to the Barrie Memorial at Ormstown.

✓ A SHIPPING STRIKE will probably materialize any hour. many of us probably think this will only mean we won't be delayed during the strike at the Valleyfield bridge, or we won't see boats passing at the lake, but let's keep in mind that every strike hits us right in the pocketbook, sooner or later.

✓ TALKING ABOUT THE LAKE, people living along the shore are asking each other "What's happened to the weeds this year?" In recent years, weeds by the ton have been washed into shore and to date (touch wood) there's hardly been a sign of them. Stinking dead fish and eels washed in with the weeds have also been conspicuous by their absence. Previous common belief was that ships passing slightly off-centre in the channel were cutting the weeds and causing them to be washed ashore, but this theory no longer holds water because more ships than ever have been using the Seaway ... not only that, but there have been more huge ocean vessels. Could it be that most of the weeds of yesteryears were caused by a giant effort to rid certain areas, east of Cornwall, of weeds by cutting them every year? Some people say if weeds are cut annually for three years, they won't appear again. If this is so, let's hope they're gone for good. NOW, IF THE CITY OF CORNWALL COULD MUSTER THE NECESSARY FUNDS FOR PROPER SEWAGE DISPOSAL ...

✓ THE PONY being offered at Huntingdon Fair will be at the parking lot in Ourtown this Friday afternoon and evening. Purchased from Roland Riel, the grey two-year-old will really steal your heart. Well broken and a perfect companion for children, those in the know say he's the best yet, and many people can vouch that's really saying a mouthful. (Man, if the Fair Board had conducted a pony draw, 'way back when' I'd have spent all my Star money on tickets if he'd been anything like the beauty being offered this year). Cone along on Friday and see him but dont forget ... he can't be bought for love or money: he must be won and your chances are as good as anyone else's. One question: will sec'y-treas. Tom Brooks and Pres. Stan Reid REALLY give that pony up after Huntingdon Fair is over, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 and 2?

✓ ADRIAN EDWARD, age 22, of 383 Lang St., in Chateauguay drowned at Mountain Dew Lake near Hemmingford on Sunday. A mechanic at the Finch Mercury garage in Chateauguay, he was well known to many in the Hemmingford, Howick, Ormstown, Huntingdon area.

✓ TEXACO HAS JOINED IMPERIAL in the price cutback for gasoline in the Montreal area and before the week is out other major companies will in all probability follow suit. High test in the Montreal Esso and Texaco outlets now retails for 46.9 and regular for 41.9 and spokesmen for these major companies state that service stations not passing the saving along to consumers will pay one cent per gallon more on the wholesale price. About the same time that the reduction in the cost of gasoline was announced, one of the major tire manufacturers announced that the cost of tires would be considerably increased.

✓ THE PURPLE SLEIGH: did you know that Donald Watson opened his gift shop on Route 9 at Henrysburg on June 24th? Miss Judy Cavers of Ormstown is a full-time employee and Don or wife Martha are there every day. Don obtained the huge fibreglas horse in California and the sleigh is over 100 years old ... both eye-catchers for the well-equipped gift shop. High quality Canadiana is featured as well as imported giftware and Don tells us Irish fisherman hand-knit sweaters have been a big seller. More next week.

✓ YESTERDAY, August 1st, Valleyfield became the district centre for mail distribution. Mail that formerly arrived in Huntingdon at 5:40 now arrives at 4:40 and the evening mail will be all sorted for five o'clock. This morning mail that arrived here at 5:30 will now come in at seven o'clock. Evening out-going mail will not leave Huntingdon until 6 o'clock.

✓ THE ABOVE IS FINE AND DANDY if it has to be, but our local P.M. Jim O'Hare has advised The Gleaner of still yet another change and it's one that we aren't going to like: collection of mail at the seven letter boxes in Ourtown will only be made once a day. Until yesterday, collections were made twice daily. Real Lecavalier, who looks after mail in these letter boxes, will make one call daily hereafter, at 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and at 3 p.m. on Saturdays. The local post office employees from the P.M. down to the newest clerk have no say in any of the changes mentioned ... they are obeying orders issued by the Post Office Department in Ottawa. Approve or disapprove, the orders have been issued and we, the public, will experience a lesser degree of service. The seven letter boxes here are located t: Fairview and Henderson corner; Lake and Chateauguay; Lake and Wellington; the railroad station; Wellington and Cemetery; near St. Joseph's Church; Prince and Dalhousie. They were a definite convenience for many. While the boxes will remain as they are, they are now being cleared only once a day and this will be a disappointment for many.

✓ OUR MAN JOHN put his foot in it Saturday afternoon. No doubt about it, he really did. Fact is, we could really pass the blame along to the apple of his eye, Penny, a year-old Pug, black as the ace of spades. Now John and Ida take Penny for a visit with Dr. John Whitehead at Ormstown at fairly regular intervals and it was late Saturday afternoon when John pulled his boner. The doctor was finishing with Penny and mentioned that the next visit would probably be at a different place because he had sold his house and was building another. Now John always liked the doctor's house and grounds near the Ormstown Ex. grounds, especially the king-size swimming pool, so he disapproved (around here when he disapproves, he doesn't leave room for doubt because he just calls us the dumbest bunnies in town ... not quite as polite by a longshot mind you, but that's what we'll say he calls us seeing this is in print) ... but down at Ormstown he just said "I hope you know more about building a house than some damn fool opposite the Barrie. Some son-of-a-gun there has four walls practically finished and they haven't even started the roof, the!xx*$ fool." Silence. Long silence. Then "That's where you'll be bringing Penny, I'm building that new house in front of the hospital."

✓ ORMSTOWN: Properties have been changing hands in recent weeks and the housing shortage is expected to become acute in this town as the regional school progresses. Most recent changes include the Dr. John Whitehead property on Lambton to John McCaig; the John McCaig home on Victoria to Andrew J. McGerrigle, recently of Sorel; the Dr. Davidson property to Dr. Lee Belisle.

✓ ALLAN FERNS of Fort Carry, Man., renewed former acquaintances with a number of Huntingdonians last week on his way to visit Expo. Allan left Huntingdon in the 30's and despite frequent trips back, says the old town is different every time he comes.

✓ GERRY McCARTNEY of Ormstown has been advised that he has been awarded the Iskendecian Car-of-the-Month award. Gerry's car is featured in the August edition of Hot Rod Magazine. We suggest non-subscribers of this popular motor magazine should reserve their copies at newsstands right away. The car is a 1964 Oldsmobile Cutlass convertible and the performance records and other pertinent data will make interesting reading for car enthusiasts. Congratulations there, Handy Andy Gerry!

✓ TOWN FATHERS, your attention please: those two really big potholes in the concrete of the Walker Bridge in Ourtown aren't getting any smaller. Considering the good general condition of town streets and the neat appearance of parks, also the attractive benches and functional waste receptacles, all on top of pretty darn good garbage collection and regular work, perhaps these potholes have just been overlooked. Anyhow, the professional eye of Town Foreman Philibert Langevin would size the problem up PDQ. Right?

✓ HO-HO .. and The Mayor said we couldn't find anything to crab about after all the lights on the other bridge were put in working order!

✓ GUY TAILLEFER, manager of the new teen-age orchestra The Morticians, reports the group is really off the ground. Art Brouillette's corner store at Port Lewis was literally packed to the rafters last Saturday night when the Morticians made their debut. Teen-agers from Huntingdon, Valleyfield, Ormstown augmented the lakeshore groups and from comments heard here and there, everyone had a good time.

✓ DID YOU KNOW that Armand Taillefer has returned to Ourtown as Parts Manager for Roch Trepanier Automobile Inc.? Armand was the first of the popular Taillefer family from Athelstan to work at the J. E. Myers Shell Service station here. He left in '56 to accept a position with the Z. Perron automobile garage in Valleyfield. Welcome home Armand ... watch those Rock Trepanier Fords go by!

Grange News...

songs and two skits completed the program. The skits showed how accidents can happen and how necessary it is to have knowledge of First Aid. At the conclusion of the program, Master Rosemary Cosgrove thanked Mr. Molyneau for his talk and demonstration and Elva Moore as Chairman of the program.

The Grange meeting opened in its regular form. Six new members were balloted on and accepted. Under Committee reports Service and Hospitality reported 159 Centennial Guest Books had been sold and there were prospects of more. For Publicity, Rita Kerby reported the news of last meeting had been forwarded to the press. Pearl Milne reported for the Sick Comm. with a number of sympathy, and get-well cards being sent. Under Community Service it was noted picnic tables had been placed in the parking lot at the Grange Hall, a fireplace had been built, a telephone installed and much information placed in the entry at the hall. This is for the convenience of tourists, Expo '67 visitors, etc. It was also noted that the Grange received no publicity for their effort to help make the Legion Day, July 1st a success. The float, depicting a huge birthday cake, signifying the Centennial year of both Canada and the Grange, was in the parade, and a refreshment booth operated by Grange members was also on hand.

A letter from Dep. Arthur Tanner was read re the tickets for the 6th and 7th Degrees. Further information may be had by contacting Mrs. Cosgrove. Under new business, it was decided to hold a special meeting to work the 1st and 2nd Degrees and to make plans for the Fair. The 3rd and 4th Degrees will be conferred at the next regular meeting in August.

The Lecturer, Cecil O'Connor, Chairman of the Float Comm. thanked all who had helped out also a thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Milne for the use of their garage for preparing the float. The usual trophy and prizes will again be donated by the Grange members for the Fair.

Editorial Notes..

The De Gaulle Affair

IN days gone by we admired General de Gaulle because of the way he handled the affairs of his country, France, when a strong hand and a clear mind was needed to recuperate that ailing country. In the early days before the war with Hitler, France was having its own troubles and finding it hard to keep a responsible government and maintain its place in the world. Following the capitulation to Germany and the occupation by German forces after the swift fall of the Maginot line, France was really beaten. De Gaulle at that time fled to England and was treated right royally while there. As the fortunes of the war once more turned in favour of France and it was liberated from the Germans by British, Canadian and other allied forces, de Gaulle was once more installed to look after its destinies.

During the time that has elapsed since de Gaulle took over France and became its President, our admiration for him has suffered continually because of one and another of his actions.

His visit to Canada and his urging of the people of Quebec to become Masters in their Own House has torn the last threads of our admiration to bits which have been blown away by the winds. We no longer have admiration for this man. We can never forget what he has done either at this time nor in the past.

The people in Quebec are not people in bondage and therefore are not seeking liberation. They have nothing to seek liberation from. They are as free as the birds in the air. If this were not so some of them could not stage the demonstrations the way they do. Only in a free country can the people express themselves. General de Gaulle in expressing thoughts along this line was on the wrong track.

Certain factions may be said to be seeking independence, but certainly not liberty.

In looking at the affair, we cannot entirely blame General de Gaulle. We must lay a large part of the blame at the feet of the Provincial Government and Premier Johnson in particular. Then again we must lay a share of the blame at the feet of the Federal Government and Prime Minister Pearson. It was well known before the visit what was going on and the time was then that Prime Minister Pearson should have asserted the Federal Government's position. De Gaulle should not have come to Quebec Province first, but to Ottawa and then on to Quebec.

It seems quite evident at this time that de Gaulle had some priming on the Quebec situation before his arrival and that he was full of some idea that Quebec wants to be a part of France. To some extent our Premier subscribed to greater collaboration with France during the visit. He had decided that he and he alone was going to handle the affair of the visit and he did and with little reference to Ottawa in any way.

We feel that de Gaulle after his utterances should have been asked to leave Canada; however he decided this for himself and left before going to Ottawa. There is still no telling how much harm may have been done in this Province. There has been a lull in the insistance of calling for a separate State of Quebec since the opening of Expo, at least, and things have been going along more smoothly until this unprecedented outburst on the part of a Guest of the Province. Most people, we believe, want to go along as Canadians; they have no wish to make racial issues. Each one respects one another and in this way all get along well together, working, playing and helping in various community projects to benefit the whole. In this way we can build a united and prosperous Canada whereby all will share in the benefits that can accrue. There is a true slogan which is: "United we stand, divided we fall."

— Sidney Smith

Riots And Uprisings Rampant

THE recent so-called riots in the United States have been on the scale of small wars. Real shooting has taken place and homemade bombs have also been used. It is hard to reconcile these as race riots which is the explanation given them, for actually the people concerned are all American citizens. The difference in the people is the color — the negroes' black — and the other people, white.

Since the abolishment of slavery in the United States, the black people have been free. For the most part these people were born in the United States and therefore are citizens of that country despite their color. In earlier years after slavery was abolished, the black people were not allowed full freedom and were kept in certain areas and not allowed to mix with the whites, besides a number of other restrictions. Today, this is more or less not the case and black people mingle with white and enjoy the same privileges. However, there is still some poverty and squalor among the black people and they are not wholly accepted in the same manner as white people. The black people also seem to believe that they are discriminated against in many ways and that the white people are given preference over the black.

From time to time incidents occur that tend to arouse bitter feelings between the two factions and when these come about there are small to large uprisings. These increase in intensity in relation to the amount of animosity that is aroused. Such was the case of the recent riot in Detroit and which left that motor city in a state of great demolition. We believe this has been the largest demonstration that has occurred so far. It amounted to almost warfare for there were both black and white snipers and many large fires and looting going on for several days and nights. The snipers were cutting down the firemen and policemen as they tried to do their duty. The National Guard was called in and they went from place to place routing out snipers and some other innocent persons were killed or injured in the process.

This incident started through some negroes tailgating a police car. They were beaten up and other negroes entered into the dispute and gradually the whole mushroomed into a full scale riot. From reports it is not clear who beat up the negroes and nothing has been explained as to why the negroes were tailgating the police car. Actually we do not know of any law or regulation which says one cannot do this. But like Mrs. Murphy's cow in the great Chicago fire, it is a small thing which got out of hand and led to more serious consequences.

Riots have been rampant in many parts of the United States over the past months and there have been many causes for them. Deep down, the resentment black for white and white for black is the core of the trouble. While the Government has granted certain rights to the black people, the whites in many cases have determined not to recognize them.

We feel that this all stems back to the early American people who brought the black people to their country to be slaves. Now the offspring of these negroes are American citizens themselves and they are entitled to all the rights accorded an American citizen, there can be no discrimination. The only other alternative would be to gather all the black people together and ship them off to Africa or some other country of negro origin. This would be equally as cruel as it was to enslave their forefathers and drag them off to a strange country.

The situation being what it is, it seems the only thing to do is to treat the matter and the people as a part of the American way of life. To this end slums and poverty must be cleaned up in the areas where these black people live. Treat them as fellow humans and help them to live as Americans. In some parts of the United States where slavery was practised to greater extent such as in the southern part, it is hard for the white people there to treat the black people as a level of themselves. Elsewhere, it is not as difficult.

A news item was given in the television round-up of news the past week, which we have not noticed in the newspapers — yet if true, it has significance. It was stated in this newscast that the R.C.M.P. and Provincial police were watching a certain place near Montreal which is being frequented by the Cuban personnel from the Cuban Pavilion at Expo. It had been acertained that some Quebec people with separatist tendencies were being trained by these Cubans in the art of guerrilla and subversive tactics.

If this is the case, it seems that appropriate steps should be taken at once and the people responsible at the Cuban pavilion should be sent out of the country with all speed. The Cuban Government should also be warned that such activity must stop. The freedom of the personnel of the Cuban Pavilion should be curtailed

That such training is taking place is warning that we in this country should beware of probable riots in the future and take all possible steps to prevent them. We should not wait for them to start before taking action. Wherever there is the possibility of something like that happening then no time should be lost in stamping it out. A closer check on firearms, explosives and such should be made; who is buying same; the purpose and the actual use in order to keep note of supplies. Any suspicious transactions should be thoroughly investigated.

GREAT — JUST GREAT

I think probably the most difficult relationship to maintain, at any reasonable level, is that between teen-age children and their parents.

Marriage is tough enough as you all know. But at least the partners, in most cases, are prepared to bend a little, to give an inch, or even two if necessary, to compromise when there's no other way out.

Married people do communicate, even though the form ranges from grunts and sighs to language that would sear the earlobes of a saint. They're usually from the same generation and, at worst, can spend hours running down the government, the boss, the neighbors, or each other's families.

I know couples, including us, who have been amicably bickering for anything from two to six decades. It becomes almost a game, in which you know every ploy or gambit of the opponent. (A ploy is when she has you dead to rights. A gambit is when you just might get away with the story).

But with teen-agers, you're fighting a losing battle. First of all, there is the language barrier. Theoretically, you're both speaking the same tongue, but when it comes to interpretation, there's no relation whatever.

You say, "Now, I want you home at midnight, right on the dot." This, to the teen, gyrating in that weird, trance-like state they call dancing, means "Well, I don't have to leave until midnight". A scene ensues.

And at scenes, you haven't a look-in. You're all set to raise hell. Hackles are properly erect. And five minutes after the kid gets in, you're on the defensive, trying to prove that you're not "an old grump," or completely irrational, or "the strictest parent in town," or an out-and-out liar who said twelve o'clock was the dead-line for leaving the dance, not for being home.

Teen-agers are like women. You can't discuss anything with them, in a logical way. You are completely baffled by a series of irrelevances, non-sequiturs and such things as, "You don't trust me. That's what's wrong with you. You don't trust me!" And they're right.

It's sad to see a family breaking up. I suppose its inevitable and right. But it's sad. Ours is. We had a swim the other day, the four of us. As we were leaving the beach, I said to the old girl, "Do you realize that's probably the last time we'll all have a swim together?" She agreed.

Kids don't want to go swimming with their parents. They want to lurch around with their own age group. They used to practically destroy me, when they were little, making me play with them when we went swimming. Duck dives, underwater endurance tests, races. And now it's transistor radios, squabbling and cheeky remarks for which there is no real answer except a swat on the ear. And you can't do that, or they'll run off and start smoking pot.

Enjoy them when they're little. You can blow on their bellies, kiss their little soft bums, rock them when they're sick, and tell bedtime stories till you're blue in the face. There's communications then.

But don't expect too much when they get past 13. For the next six years, it will be sun and showers, cold fronts moving in, a lot of low pressure areas, with the occasional high, and such suggestions as I've heard recently: "Dad's just not with it. He's out to lunch."

It's nothing new, of ocurse. When I recall how utterly selfish I was as a youth, how little I cared about my parents' hopes and fears, I understand. It's been going on since Cain clobbered Abel and broke up that nice little family group.

It's a time of life when the whole earth revolves around ME, and parents are merely another awkward, sometimes obnoxious circumstance that is preventing ME from being what I want to be and becoming whatever I will be.

Oh, well, there's an excellent invention called grandchildren. I can hardly wait to get at spoiling mine rotten so that their parents will be totally unable to cope with them.

N.B.: Winner of guest column announced next week for sure. Isn't it exciting?

All took part in the study period, the subject being, "The Necessity of Religious Teaching in the Home." A Birthday Celebration

The family of Notary J.B. Bouchard of Hemmingford gathered on Sunday, July 23rd. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bouchard to celebrate the 85th birthday of Mr Bouchard. The party numbered 21, children and grandchildren, and was quite a surprise for the guest of honour. After a buffet lunch which was served on the lawn Mr. Albert Bouchard of St. Lambert, the eldest son, on behalf of all present and those who were unable to attend wished his father a happy birthday and good health to celebrate many more. He then presented him with a gift, a brightly coloured, tuneful, parakeet. Expressing his thanks in a few appropriate words, Mr. Bouchard said how surprised he had been to find he was the guest of honour at what he had thought was to be the family picnic. And with a smile, added, that it seemed the older one grew the more important one became.

Notary Bouchard, now retired from active practice, is a well known senior citizen of this community. May we join with the family in offering our congratulations and best wishes for many years to come.

Bride-elect Entertained

Mrs. Murray McCartney entertained at a Trousseau Tea for her daughter Heather, on Saturday, July 29th., from 7-10 p.m. About 50 guests signed the guest book.

The tea table was decorated with aqua and white candles and pink carnations. Tea was poured from silver services by the bride-elect's grandmothers, Mrs. P. McCartney and Mrs. Thompson. Dainty coloured sandwiches, squares and cookies were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Martin Thompson, Mrs. Thomas Begbie, Mrs. Ronald Begbie, Mrs. Quentin McCartney and Miss Jean Rostrup.

Miss McCartney was surprised last week when 14 business friends met in Lachine to give her a shower. The gifts were stainless steel pots and pans. Mrs. McCartney and Mrs. Royle were present at this shower. Other gifts were received on Saturday evening, lovely surprises, which Heather appreciated.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dewittville, Que.,
July 28th, 1967.

The Editor,
The Gleaner,
Huntingdon, Que.

Dear Sir,

Your editorial of July 26th —"The Search for a Leader"— supports the re-election of Mr. Diefenbaker as leader of the Conservative Party. Mr. Diefenbaker has many assets. He is a good fighter, has lots of courage and doesn't know when he's beaten. In fighting an election these are good qualities, but the winner of an election has then to lead the country, beginning with his cabinet. Mr. Diefenbaker has failed to produce a team from his cabinet members. In other words he is not a good administrator. His policy as leader of the opposition has been to make personal attacks on the men on the government benches. It seems to me that there are times when the good of the country and not the doing-down of an opponent should be the overriding consideration.

Mr. Pearson has failed to make the impact as a public figure that Mr. Diefenbaker has done, but he has created a loyal team from his cabinet members. When leader of the opposition he gave support to some actions of the government — or at least abstained from attack. He has a background of knowledge of world politics and world figures that I believe has been useful to Canada.

However, the Conservative party is, I suppose, looking for someone with the desirable qualities of Mr. Diefenbaker (for the purpose of fighting the election) and the intelligence and leadership ability of Mr. Pearson. Let's hope they find what they are looking for.

Yours truly,
Mrs. A.M. Reid

The Editor,
Huntingdon, Que.

Dear Sir,

I would appreciate space in your paper to make clear to the citizens of Huntingdon County, the position of the Liberal Party, re the controversy over the statements of Charles De Gaulle during his visit to Quebec.

As most everyone knows, Mr. Lesage held a press conference on Friday last after a caucus of the Liberal members of the Quebec Legislature. He made a declaration, that the Liberal Party is not a separatist party and will continue to work for a strong Quebec in Canada.

I was at this caucus and as an English speaking Quebecer, I was very proud of the other members of the Liberal Caucus who felt that this was the time to stand up and be counted as Canadians. All except one, who resigned from the party. I wrote the enclosed letter, to the Premier Daniel Johnson last week, it makes my opinion quite clear.

Yours very truly,
Kenneth Fraser, M.P.P.

Howick U.C.W. Holds Interesting Meeting

Once again the Unit B ladies of Howick United Church have celebrated the Centenary by holding their July meeting in the atmosphere of 100 years ago — more or less. They met at Marjorie Templeton's home. The Templetons are collectors of antiques and their living-room provided a perfect setting for such an event. Coal-oil lamps glowed softly, with one electric light under an old-fashioned shade, and a candle at the front door for added light.

There were 23 members and seven visitors present and many were wearing authentic costumes. As they answered the roll call they described what they were wearing or displayed an article they had borrowed or inherited, some very valuable and beautiful.

Joan Ness opened the meeting with a Centennial prayer. The worship service was led by Jean Templeton, part of which was a reading about Canada. Betty McFarlane and Marjorie Templeton told about the early churches in this district. These histories were most interesting and time was taken to discuss where places had been situated and what many of the names meant to the present generation. A short business meeting followed before the meeting adjourned.

Marjorie Templeton and Betty McFarlane conducted a surprise guessing game. Aided by husband or children of the members, they had collected baby pictures or pictures taken in their early years. These were mounted in groups on three large cardboards and displayed. There were shouts of laughter as the ladies recognized themselves — some as naked or near naked babies, others dressed and posed primly for the photographer.

Tea biscuits with a spot of jam were served, similar food to the scones of grandmother's day. Before leaving we heard a record of a Harry Lauder song, played on a fine old cylinder machine. Many pictures were taken to record this historic meeting.

Howick

Donna Gardner, Marian Gebbie and Donna Tannahill are attending Gracefield Camp for ten days.

Several young people assisted with the music during the month, Lynn McFarlane, Linda Gruer, Pamela Ness and Peter Miller, solo verses of "The Old Rugged Cross" with the chorus in unison; "Saved By Grace" sung by the choir with solo verses by Ethel Gruer and Linda Gruer, "The Prodigal Son" solo, Peter Miller; "He Smiled On Me" solo by Susan Henker of Calgary.

The regular choir appreciates the help given by Young People and would urge more of the boys and girls to use their vocal talent in this way.

About 50 children enrolled in the summer school sponsored by local Churches and led by Miss Hazel Benner and Miss Eunice Dougherty. On Friday evening the various departments presented a display of what they had learned and made during the week which was interesting to the parents and friends who were present.

Chateauguay News Notes

The Centre is to have a new Caisse Populaire building. It is presently under construction on rue Principale at the corner of l'Ecole street.

All the ODD sculptures are not at Expo 67. Next time you are passing Desjardins Welding on d'Anjou, opposite Beauchateau Shopping Centre, take a good look at their effort. It is entitled "Metier des Hommes." It is just as fascinating as the one at Fairview.

The traffic lights at the corner of St. Francis and Highway 3 and 4 still not operating. It is most maddening and frustrating if one wishes to turn off St. Francis towards Town. This reporter observed some workmen attempting to do repairs on three occasions last week. Quite evident they didn't meet with success.

Local scouts are attending the World Jamboree at Farragut State Park in Idaho, U.S.A. See details elsewhere.

St. Andrew's United Church Scout Group are hosting 24 boys scouts, 4 men and 2 ladies from Calgary, Alta. They arrived last Friday midnight at Central Station; at the church at 1:00 a.m.

On Saturday morning the Venturers Troop under the leadership of Des Rutherford made breakfast for the whole group They were then guided around the Expo site by the Rovers. We understand they spent Sunday sailing on Lake St. Louis.

Town of Chateauguay Police were kept busy last Friday and Saturday, apprehending shoplifters. About five or six persons accused of shoplifting in a local department store were arrested, questioned and let out on bail until their appearance in Municipal Count last Monday evening.

Town Police also report a rash of minor accidents — fortunately with no injuries to anyone. Spokesmen for the Police Dept. feel it is quite remarkable that there have been no serious accidents at the corner of St. Francis and highways 3 and 4, with the lights inoperative for over a week now.

The revision of the Valuation Roll of the Town of Chateauguay has been homologated.

On last week's referendum for sidewalks on St. Francis Blvd., the figures are as follows:

Ward No.	Yes	No
6	47	54
7	59	47
8	25	87
Total	131	188

Rejected: 10.

Ward No.	Valuation
6	$639,200	$682,800
7	676,900	528,400
8	255,600	952,600
Total	$1,571,700	$2,163,800

Rejected: $181,300.

The majority of Ward 8 were quite definitely not in favor of this by-law. Their objection seemed to be mainly, that existing schools and churches in the McLeod Ave., area have been without sidewalks for some years now. Another one of their objections was the fact that snow clearing in winter would cost much more with the necessity of purchasing equipment for sidewalks, plus men to operate same.

A young man lost his life by drowning last Sunday afternoon. Adrian Edwards, 22, was a resident of Lang Street, Colonia. See details elsewhere.

An ambitious program of events is to be held in Centre Parks during August. A complete list is elsewhere in these pages.

At a special meeting of Chateauguay Centre's Council on July 24th, a permit for the construction and operation of a drive-in theatre was given to Mr. Gaston Dubuc. This is of course subject to approval of the Town Planning Commission and Quebec authorities.

A notice of motion to prepare a by-law for opening of West End Street was given.

Same for opening of David Street, also in West End area.

Another notice of motion was given for preparation of a by-law for macadam on part of St. Joseph Blvd.

Three by-laws were adopted numbered 641-642 and 643. Please see public notices in these pages for details.

On July 25th a meeting of the Financial Committee was held at Centre's Town Hall.

At an electors' meeting held on July 28th on by-law 638 amending by-law 619 concerning zoning in Ward 3, the by-law was approved.

Also on the same evening by-law 639 was also approved. Subject was also zoning amendment.

The third revision of the Centre's valuation Roll is deposited in the office of Town Clerk, Laurier Legault, and may be seen by interested parties during regular office hours, Monday to Friday until August 12th, inclusive.

CHATEAUGUAY PADDLERS PREPARING FOR DOMINION CHAMPIONSHIPS AT EXPO

Chateauguay Canoe Club had a week-end off from their busy summer schedule last week-end, but used the respite to good effect in preparing for the Dominion Championships at Expo this coming week-end.

Commodore Kevin Duffee stated last week-end that the Clubs' major effort would be in the Senior War Canoe. Captain Don Rose and his crew have had an outstanding season to date, and are confidently expected to put up a good showing at Expo.

The Senior Tandem of Gerry Kezar and Bill Lobban have been out practicing early morning for the past week.

Commodore Duffey said that demolition of the club's old quarters is almost complete. The Club moved into new quarters in Laberge Park early this season.

St. Francis Traffic Lights Out Of Action Again

As Chateauguay motorists discovered to their acute discomfort last week, the St. Francis Boulevard traffic lights broke down, and caused considerable dislocation of traffic, particularly at peak hours. The greatest inconvenience was to Montreal — bound traffic using St. Francis Boulevard, which was unable to obtain easy access to the main highway.

A Town of Chateauguay Police spokesman informed the Gleaner that the Provincial Government Department of Roads had been notified. The Department is responsible for the operation of the lights because Highway 3 and 4 is a main artery in the Provincial network of the Chateauguay Valley.

The Police spokesman stated that a key spare part was not immediately available from the suppliers, Municipal Signal Division of C.A.E., but that the Roads Department had indicated that repairs to the lights would be completed this week.

Choice For "Miss Beauchateau"

In conjunction with the 10th anniversary celebration of the founding of the Beauchateau Country Club Inc., the organizers have selected four candidates to compete for the title of "Miss Beauchateau."

The election of "Miss Beauchateau" will take place on Saturday evening, August 12th.

The following are the candidates: Diana Philip, 18 years, Chateauguay; Francine Tisseur, 19 years, Howick; Micheline Bedard, 18 years, Chateauguay; Diane Daoust, 17 years, Beauharnois.

Your encouragement and presence at this event would be greatly appreciated.

A SPECIAL INVITATION TO THE TEENAGERS. The renowned orchestra "THE PERSUADERS" will be in attendance. The orchestra will start playing at 8:30 p.m.

Open Letter To Father John O'Brien From Russ Faughnan

Dear Father:

Catholics in Chateauguay received your recent statements on television with regard to "gambling in church", with great interest. Your point of view was surprising, since it publicly went completely contrary to that expressed by most Priests and Church officials, (i.e., Wardens, workers, and busybodies). And after all, many of our children attend your school, Loyola.

Time was when the Catholic Church in Quebec stoutly defended its parishioner's right to "take a flyer" as you put it, on Bingo, lotteries, and the like. In fact, time was when your mother and mine spent a good deal of their summer at the Lake of Two Mountains area, on Bridge and Bingo, both. I hope that you can remember those days as well as I, when a ten cent bet was considered fun and, if you kept on losing, you were giving to charity. It was only when one got greedy and started to bet fifty cents that he became a sinful gambler. Nowadays, it seems to be Church policy that all gambling is sinful. As witness your companions on that particular TV show, who unanimously took a viewpoint in opposition to your own. It has been my unfortunate experience with a number of Church societies, to be also standing alone against the pious inferences that the road to the Church Bingo game is paved by the Devil. These fruitless encounters undoubtedly contributed to the fact that I no longer participate in these societies.

In our youth, we were both considered as "kooks". You, for your quiet manner and reserve, and I, for rather opposite reasons. If we were opposites then, how can we now stand on the same side of such an obviously contentious principle? Or, is the Church changing? Do other priests at Loyola share your viewpoint? Is there really any official Church position on gambling in or on Church premises? It would be an ironic joke if all these righteous people who have destroyed any aspect of fun in the Church have been completely wrong, and that such a thing was permissible, and even encouraged, all these years. Think of the thousands of dollars that could have been raised for charitable purposes.

So that is my question, Father Jack. Were you expressing your personal opinion, or are our mothers doomed to remain the frustrated compulsive gamblers that they once were, or still are? (To this day, my own dear old mother would gladly wager that the day after Sunday was a Tuesday, if the "odds" were right). I hope that your family is also in such good health.

Kindest regards.

Perspective

No Tears For De Gaulle

by Russ Faughnan

It will take us months before we can really know the effects of President De Gaulle's visit to Quebec, but there are some things which can be very definitely stated as facts.

First of all, le grand Charles made no mistake. He knew exactly where he was going, what he was doing and what he was going to say. He played his part and left, in my opinion, according to schedule.

True, he deliberately set out to support Quebec's radical lunatic fringe. I think he flopped! In fact, I think he achieved exactly the opposite result. Suddenly all Canadians, English and French are realizing that we are Canadians and that nobody can insult us. Except ourselves, of course.

One man stands very tall, as a result of this fiasco. Mayor Drapeau did the unexpected and even the unnecessary. He did not have to stand up and defend the country. In doing so, he laid his reputation on the line. As so often happens, Drapeau comes out of it a bigger and better man, perhaps even a potential premier.

Not so with either Johnson or Lesage. They very carefully kept their heads in the sand until the big wind had blown by. It would be better had they left them there. Johnson supported De Gaulle under the mistaken idea that Quebec would really like to be separatist. Mr. Johnson underestimates the intelligence of the average French Canadian, I fear, and probably just lost the next election. Mr. Lesage was no more a man. He waited until Johnson made his unfortunate statement and then jumped in to challenge the National Union to declare itself a separatist party. Nowhere in Lesage's statement did he criticize De Gaulle. I cannot help but think that both of these political experts have outlived their usefulness and have lost touch with the people.

On the Federal scene, Pearson acquitted himself extremely well, and it is rather a pity that he has done so at the end, rather than at the beginning of a great career. No other Federal figure made any statement that was worthy of the moment, with the possible exception of Tommy Douglas. The rest simply brought out the tired old cliches.

The cartoonists had a field day. The best that I saw was the one depicting a RCMP sergeant saying goodbye to his corporal, with the words, "You can't miss him, he's French, 6 feet 5, and has a big mouth." Cassius Clay?

CENTRE PARKS TO HAVE AMATEUR SHOW THIS MONTH

Auditions for an Amateur Show are to be held on Aug. 16, 17 and 18, for two groups of young people, in the Centre area. Groups of children under 15 years and 15 years and up will be eligible.

Applications for the Auditions are to be sent to Mr. Larry Eldridge at 25 d'Anjou Blvd. (Centre Town Hall) stating what sort of entertainment the child, or children do. For instance, if a group — how many and what instruments; or impersonations; or singing, dancing; any sort of talent. Young people are asked to write in their applications as soon as possible, or before Aug. 15th.

The Show will be held on Aug. 24th at Marguerite Bourgeoys School, and prizes are to be awarded to the winners.

Within the next few weeks at individual parks, horseshoe, croquet and tennis games have been scheduled.

A trip to Belmont Park by bus is also being planned for the youngsters on Aug. 22nd.

The many and varied activities of the Parks Dept. are keeping the Centre's young people busy, occupied, and happy throughout the vacation period. Chateauguay Y.M.C.A. Form Youth Council

Mr. Tony Cornford, Programming Director of Chateauguay Y.M.C.A. told the Gleaner last week-end that plans have been made to form a Youth Council in Chateauguay. All schools will be represented, with a minimum participation of two or three boys from each school. Mr. Cornford stated that perhaps the most difficult problem in forming the Youth Council will be to ensure adequate representation from the teenage group NOT attending school — those actually working or seeking employment.

Mr. Cornford stated that under discussion is a YMCA Coffee Shop, with a maximum seating capacity of fifty. Plans call for a small raised stage where 2 or 3 singers, drummers and other performers would entertain. The enterprise would be organized by the teenager group for the tennager group, and would be open from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. Soft drinks and pastries would be available.

Adult help has been assured to help the teenagers set up shop. The Catholic Women's League and the Businessmen's Association have promised to help. The Lions Club's Mr. Serge Gervais, C.A., has offered guidance in financial management.

Chairman of the Y.M.C.A. Board of Management is Mr. Eric Stafford.

Chateauguay Y.M.C.A. is associated with the Lachine — Dorval headquarters, and a professional Y.M.C.A. staff member now works half time in Chateauguay. The decision to base the Y's first efforts in Chateauguay on the teenage group was taken some months ago, when it was recognized that this was the most pressing need. Adult programming and pre-teen activities will follow once the teen programme is fully under way.

The Board of Management meets this week, and further announcements are expected shortly.

ST. ANDREW'S NOTES

Back from his brief holiday, Rev. Howard Fraser chose as the topic for his sermon the theme "With All Your Heart". Hymns sung included "New every morning is the love", "Come, let us sing of a wonderful love", and "O for a heart to praise my God.

The Sacrament of Holy Baptism was given for William Donald Toffi, born September 6th., 1966, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vasile (William) Toffi, 100 Greening Street, Chateauguay Terrace and Patricia Lesley Reed, born April 9th., 1967, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Reed, 60 Bowin St., Chateauguay Station.

REFERENDUM REJECTS ST. FRANCIS BLVD. SIDEWALKS

Last Thursday's referndum in Town of Chateauguay's Wards 6, 7 and 8 resulted in defeat for the By-Law covering sidewalks for St. Francis Boulevard.

Details of the vote were as follows: —

	For	Against	Rejects
Ward 6	47	54	2
Ward 7	58	46	9
Ward 8	25	88	—
Total	130	188	11

Approximately 15% of those entitled to vote did exercise their privilege. A Town spokesman at the referendum site, St. George's Anglican Church, stated that the Cities and Towns Act specified that where the cost of a By-Law was to be borne by only a portion of the Town, a minimum of 51% of the electorate must vote, or the By Law was automatically set aside. As the percentage of votes cast was far below the minimum required, the By Law was thus barred on two counts. Despite the widespread controversy surrounding the By Law, the cost "at large" to those residents not fronting on to St. Francis had been estimated at approximately one cent per $100 valuation, or an average of $1.20 per household. With such a trifling sum at stake, it is hardly surprising that only 15% took the trouble to vote. Although Town officials stated that a breakdown of votes between St. Francis frontage and the rest of the wards at large was not available, it is thought that the percentage frontage votes would at least have come close to the mandatory 51%.

A surprising feature of the vote was the large majority in Ward 8 against the By Law. Ward 8's boundaries are Routes 3 and 4 — St. Francis Boulevard (south) — Maple Boulevard (east) and the line extending from Lepailleur to Maple. The only houses in the Ward fronting on St. Francis are those in Northern Development and surrounding area. It thus appears that the Ward which was least affected was the only one to vote overwhelmingly against.

Town officials and Home Owners representatives expressed general disappointment at the result of the ballot. The 51% requirement was not generally known prior to the referendum, and its implications are now being studied by those who feel that sidewalks must be installed eventually — on St. Francis as well as on other roads throughout Chateauguay. It is evident that the expedient of sharing the cost "at large" in three wards is self-defeating. Perhaps the solution lies in apportioning the cost on a frontage basis only, street by street — surely the only way whereby 51% could be effectively encouraged to vote. Perhaps a general By-Law for sidewalks throughout the Town, to be paid at large throughout the Town, might stand a chance. Or is this one other project that must await the forming of a Greater Chateauguay?

A few complaints — including one which was very vociferous and threatened the tranquillity of the poll — were made by those unaware that only the registered property-owner may vote in person. Town Secretary Mr. Claude Hurtubise, with one major exception, had little difficulty in explaining that a wife could not deputize for the husband, and vice versa.

Local Scouts At World Jamboree

First Class Scout Eric Gleave of the Pathfinder Group of St. Andrew's is on his way to Farragut State Park in Idaho, to attend the World Jamboree there, which is being held for two weeks. Accompanying Eric is Scout Master John Carr, (also Assistant District Commissioner) of the same group.

The two flew from Dorval International Airport last Sat., July 28th, arriving in Calgary in the late afternoon. From Calgary they were to travel by bus to Idaho. Their activities actually started off on Thurs. evening, when the whole Scout group going to the Jamboree met at Rosemount United Church. They spent the night there and on Friday the whole day was devoted to attending various activities on the Expo site, where it was Lady Baden-Powell Day.

When they reach Calgary there is a possibility that they will have a side trip to Banff, Alberta.

After the Jamboree closes, they are to journey by bus to Vancouver, where they will spend two days, and then fly home to Dorval.

There are 1200 scouts in all going from Canada, and each has been issued a special neckerchief for the Jamboree.

Scout Eric Gleave a resident of Ville de Lery, has been in the Pathfinder group for some time, and is very active in all facets of the Scout movement.

Scout Master John Carr, who resides on McKee Street, Colonia is a long time member of Scouts and very well-known, not only here in Chateauguay, but also in the Montreal area.

We wish young Eric Gleave and Mr. Carr a very pleasant trip and we hope the Jamboree is something they'll remember always.

For those interested, radio station C.F.O.X. is expecting to have news reports on the Jamboree each evening at 5.15. One of their staff, Norman Haines, is also attending this event, and they are hoping to have details each day to broadcast.

CHATEAUGUAY RAMBLERS PREPARE FOR NEW SEASON

There will be a new look about the Quebec Football Senior Conference when the season starts next week. St. Lambert has dropped out of participation, leaving only three teams to fight it out — Montreal North Bears, Hawkesbury Hawks and Chateauguay Ramblers. Financial difficulties are said to have caused the demise of the St. Lambert team. Chateauguay Ramblers, while deeply regretting the passing of St. Lambert, have purchased the entire equipment of the former team.

The Ramblers' new coach this season will be Mickey Maguire, appointed two months ago. Mickey, whose playing career ended ten years ago, saw service with the Alouettes from the Greater Montreal area, the Calgary Stampeders, and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

All of last year's players have been re-signed, but the new coach has announced that all positions are open, and will remain open until the first whistle of the first game, versus Conference Champions Montreal North Bears at Laberge Park on Friday August 11th. Practice sessions started last week, and Mickey Maguire expects that the team to beat this year, as it was last year, will be Montreal North Bears. Rumours have it that the Bears also will start the new season with a new coach.

The unknown quantity in the reconstituted Conference will be the dark horse Hawkesbury Hawks, who are reported as having recruited a number of promising juniors.

The opening game will be preceded by a reception at the home of Town Mayor Joseph Laberge.

Prior to the game the popular Les Riveraines will parade to Laberge Park, where they will perform at the half-way mark. They will also perform at most games throughout the season. Les Riveraines, it is reported, will participate in a competition for majorette groups across Canada at Expo. Final plans will be announced shortly.

Ramblers also have a new President this year — Mr. Fernand Menard. Of the old guard, Past President Bob Bisson and Hon. President Foster Gardner will still be around.

Gerry Duffey is Vice President, Mr. Russ Weir, General Manager, Mr. Harry Maguire (no kin to the coach), Equipment Manager, Mr. Joe Pistilli, Secretary and Mr. Jean-Paul Bourcier, Treasurer. Mr. Bob Jack will be trainer. Former President Don Noonan remains as Director, and Mr. Hank Lapointe will do double duty as player and as a director — an unusual combination. Mr. John Brière will be Players' Representative to the Board of Directors.

Go, Ramblers, Go !

Local Man Drowned Near Hemmingford

News was received late last Sunday evening that Adrian Edwards, aged 22, of 383 Lang St., Colonia was accidently drowned at a beach near Hemmingford earlier on Sunday afternoon.

Details of the tragic event are scarce, but the Gleaner learned from a nephew of the drowned man, that a group of young people picnicking at the beach noticed that the victim hadn't been seen for some time. On enquiries at the beach restaurant they were informed that they were not permitted use of the telephone to call police. Instead, a search of the surrounding bush was suggested and after two hours, had been spent without and sign of the missing man, a search of the water at the beach was made.

The man's body was discovered by Nelson Beveridge of Chateauguay and it seemed apparent that artificial respiration was too late. However another request to use the telephone to call police was refused by the restaurant owner.

The victim, who resided with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Alivisatos was an employee of Finch Mercury.

Our most sincere condolences to the family on their tragic loss.

Airship Over Chateauguay

Two weeks ago, Goodyear's airship passed over Chateauguay on its way to the Valleyfield Regatta. At the request of Chateauguay Centennial Committee's Co-Chairman Mr. Thomas McDade, the dirigible made several "passes" over Chateauguay, and attracted widespread interest.

In 1964, the three largest Canadian tobacco advertisers spent $6,278,000 on advertising, of which $1,438,000 was spent on TV.

HISTORY OF CHATEAUGUAY

By RHODA McFARLANE PART 2

Settlements

In the early days there was two settlements, one at Chateauguay Basin and the other one at Chateauguay Village, a mile and a half farther south.

These two villages were included in the Municipality of St. Joachim de Chateauguay incorporated in 1855.

In 1912 Chateauguay Basin, separated from the Parish, was granted a Town Charter under the name of Town of Chateauguay.

Then in 1914 Bellevue and Woodlands withdrew and formed a separate municipality under the official name of Ville de Lery.

A residental section in the Town of Chateauguay withdrew in 1948, and took the name Town of Chateauguay Heights.

At the 1959-60 session of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Quebec, Chateauguay Village applied for and was authorized to assume the status of a Town.

The name chosen was Town of Chateauguay Centre, Quebec.

MODES OF TRAVEL

The River

The Chateauguay River, formerly called Wolf River, approximately 80 miles long, rises in New York State, U.S.A. It flows northward in a series of rapids, expands into a placid stream, curving through a wide-spreading plain of fertile soil and empties into the mighty St. Lawrence River at Chateauguay Basin.

The Basin, in the early days was a very busy place for until the Beauharnois Canal was opened in 1845 the Chateauguay River was the main outlet for the district. This was the highway, both summer and winter, for immigrants, their supplies and the export of potash and lumber. As the immigrants increased in numbers the need for a Ferry between Lachine and the Basin became urgent.

A sailboat was provided but it proved inadequate and a boat propelled by horses was placed on the route, about 1828. The "horse boat" was propelled by 6 horses, the power being supplied by their feet, thrusting the treads on which they stood away from them.

In time "the horse boats" were replaced by Steamboats.

Jacob and Charles Dewitt ran the Steamer Chateauguay for a long period also The Fashion on the route to Beauharnois.

In 1864 The Beauharnois, Chateauguay and Huntingdon Navigation Company placed its boats, The Empress and Salaberry, at the disposal of the people on the south shore of the St. Lawrence.

Captain Filgate owned three boats: The Star, The Filgate and The Beauharnois which plied between Montreal, Chateauguay and Beauharnois.

In 1922 The Steamer Beauharnois made its last trip.

Railroads

The next mode of travel was supplied by the Railway Companies.

The first railway in Canada was built by the St. Lawrence and Champlain Railroad Company on the South side of the St. Lawrence in 1836.

The line ran between Laprairie and St. Johns, Quebec.

The Grand Trunk Railway Co. re-organized the Montreal to Fort Covington Line between 1879 and 1880, there was a Station at St. Isidore, which was used by Chateauguay residents.

In 1896 the New York Central Railroad began the construction of the Chateauguay, Beauharnois, Valleyfield line as a section of its Montreal - New York, via Malone system.

A Railroad Bridge was built across the Chateauguay River at the Basin and opened for traffic in 1897.

The New York Central Railroad Company provided good service, and as a result the towns and villages between Chateauguay and Valleyfield increased in population as many families from Montreal bought land and built homes in this district.

After approximately sixty years the New York Central discontinued the passenger service on this section of its line.

Automobile and Autobus

The first automobile made its appearance in 1913.

In 1927 or 1928 an autobus operated by a Mr. Legault of Beauharnois provided transportation to and from Montreal. Eventually this route was taken over by the Provincial Transport Company of Montreal in 1929.

The autobuses at first used the ferry from Caughnawaga to Lachine, then changed by using Victoria Bridge. Now by using the Mercier Bridge the time and distance are considerably shortened to Montreal.

BRIDGES

Village

In Abbe Elie J. Auclair's "Histoire de Châteauguay" written for the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the founding of the Parish of St. Joachim de Chateauguay he mentioned that a Bridge had been built across the river at the Village in 1810. When it was carried away by the ice in 1843 the government gave a grant to replace it.

A covered wooden bridge built in 1868 was also carried away by ice in the spring of 1886.

In 1887 and 1888 a stronger bridge, this time of concrete with a superstructure of steel, was erected.

With steadily increasing traffic it was found necessary to replace this bridge by one also of concrete and steel in 1924.

The New Chateauguay Village Bridge

Construction of a continuous girder type of concrete bridge was begun in October 1955 and traffic over it began in December 1956.

The official bridge opening ceremonies took place on May 24, 1959 when Mrs. Arthur Laberge cut the symbolic white ribbon naming it "The Arthur Laberge Bridge" in honour of her late husband who had served the Municipality for thirty-three years and as member of the Provincial Parliament for nine years.

A fitting tribute to a native son!

The Basin Bridge

For years, residents of the Basin had been agitating for a vehicular bridge and at long last their hopes were realized when the Norema Construction Company Ltd., began work in 1959 on a bridge of concrete and steel at the mouth of the Chateauguay River. It crosses the river from the North side on to the end of Isle Bernard (Nun's Island) and thence to the West side of the river.

The Island Bridge

In March 1960, the Grey Nuns of Montreal were given permission to build a Bridge from Isle St. Bernard across the river to the mainland.

Construction was begun in the Spring and finished in the Autumn of 1960.

ROADS

One of the drawbacks the early settlers had to contend with was a lack of roads.

They used the river as a highway, they drove on the ice in winter and went by canoes in summer.

There were Indian trails on both sides of the river. Rough cart roads were built and ox-sleds were used on bush tracks.

Where there was swampy ground the settlers would place logs or poles crosswise across the swamp, these were called "Corduroy" roads and helped to improve conditions for a time.

One of the early road builders was Marc Antony Primeau of Ste. Martine, who built a "plank road" across country to Ste. Philomene and thence to Caughnawaga which was opened for traffic in 1849.

This road provided a more direct route to Montreal than by Chateauguay Basin.

But unfortunately due to the perishable nature of the timber soon made it no better than a clay road.

A road had been built in Chateauguay Village along side the Roman Catholic Church property. At a meeting of St. Joachim's Church, wardens and freeholders in 1860, they voted to cede to the municipality a piece of the Church ground to widen "Le Chemin de la reine" that is to say "The Public Road." The road now forms part of Route 3 Highway.

In 1912, 1913 and 1914 the Parish Council undertook the building of the first Macadamized Roads at a cost of $25,000.00 Of this amount the Provincial Government paid 50% and the Parish Council 50%.

The River road from the Basin to Chateauguay was completed in 1923.

CHURCHES

Roman Catholic

A Roman Catholic Mission was established in 1683 and had its Chapel on l'Isle St. Bernard. It was still in use when Madame d'Youville and the Grey Nuns acquired the Seigniory in 1765.

In 1774, a stone Chapel was built on the Island and dedicated to St. Joachim.

The first Chapel at the Basin erected in 1735, on land belonging to Antoine Bourcier was also dedicated to St. Joachim, the patron Saint. It, too, was a Mission and the Jesuit Fathers from Sault St. Louis performed priestly duties until 1774.

A rustic wooden cross topped by a symbolic Weather Cock stands close to the road on the West Side of the River, on Youville Blvd. South of St. Jean Blvd., this marks the place where the Chapel once stood.

The erection of St. Joachim Church in the Village of Chateauguay was begun in 1774 and finished in 1779.

The oldest part of this Church is "The Sacristy" built of wood which had been used in the first Chapel at the Basin (1735).

In 1845 according to Church Rules and in 1846 by Civil Law, The Parish of St. Joachim de Chateauguay was established.

This Parish Council, one of the oldest churches on the South side of the St. Lawrence River celebrated its two hundredth anniversary in September, 1935.

The Franciscan Fathers of Montreal, wishing to found a House of Retreat in the Country, were permitted to establish one at Chateauguay Heights.

In 1930 they rented the former Hamilton Home on Church St. They bought land bounded by the Caughnawaga Road, Robert Avenue, Orchard St. and the Railroad Track, and thereon built their Chapel, Christ-Roi which was dedicated in 1931. Their House of Retreat was completed in 1932.

Protestant

The first Protestant Services in Chateauguay previous to 1833 were held in the homes of the Scottish Settlers, when Reverend Alex Gale, a Presbyterian minister, at Lachine, Quebec paid occasional visits.

The first minister, Reverend Walter Roach, was appointed a Missionary to Canada by the Glasgow Colonial Society of the Church of Scotland in March, 1833.

He was inducted to the pastoral charge of Chateauguay, November 24th, and Beauharnois, December 1st, 1833.

Services of Worship were held in the home of Mr. James Lang from 1833 to 1840.

In 1837 land was secured in Chateauguay Village for a church and cemetery.

The first church, a brick one, dedicated and opened for worship in 1840 was named St. Andrew's in honour of the Patron Saint of Scotland.

This church was replaced in 1880 by a more substantial building of stone.

As the years passed owing to the increase in population at the Basin, it was felt that a larger church would provide greater facilities to meet the needs of the rapidly growing congregation.

As a result land was bought from Mr. Jerome Dupont and the third St. Andrew's Church was built in due course, opened and dedicated on March 20, 1910 at Chateauguay Basin.

Anglican

The first Anglican Service was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wyse, Chateauguay Heights, Quebec, November 30, 1924.

Tully Hall on Gilmour Avenue was bought by the Anglicans and converted into a Place of Worship, was dedicated and named St. George's Anglican Church in 1925.

In 1960 The Church of St. George, built on St. Francis Boulevard in Chateauguay Gardens, was opened and dedicated on September 29. On November 27, it was constituted The Parish of Chateauguay (Anglican) with a Resident Incumbent.

LETTER FROM

SEIGNIORY PARK

From Letter of 1st August 1962.

Provincial Transport Company had applied to the Quebec Transportation Board for an increase in bus fares because of the increased cost of a recently signed labour contract. An exasperating feature of busing it to Montreal was the lack of proper indication of the route to be taken. It was announced that an upcoming issue of a popular week-end journal would feature Seigniory Park as an ideal new community, with pictures of our houses, particularly the Rideau model. 64 houses in Seigniory Park were either built or abuilding. Blake Jennings of Colonia placed seventh out of 22 entries in the Provincial Championship's 100 metres free style for his age group.

About 100 couples showed up at the Club's Hard Times Dance, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Primeau won first prize for their hobo costumes.

Last week-end Klaus Minde and I gave a haircut to the shrub which had started to obscure the children warning sign near the entrance to Woodbine Park.

Woodbine Park finally got its quota of playground equipment early last week — two set of swings and a gym set. These have been in constant use ever since, to the delight of children and parents alike. Personally, I think our park is second to none in Chateauguay.

The incoming executive of the Pre-School Association are holding their first meeting in 394 Woodbine tonight, Wednesday. The Chairman's husband has been requested, with a tolerable quantity of politeness, to go and play darts and drink beer at the club for the duration of the meeting. A usually reliable spokeswoman of the Association tells me that the main item on the agenda will be details of registration for the coming season. Construction of the new schoolroom is well advanced, and will be completed in plenty of time.

The referendum on the St. Francis sidewalk effectively killed the project in the meantime. It is difficult to see how it ever could have had a chance, since it appears that one of the requirements is a turnout of at least 51% of those eligible to vote. When only about $1.20 per annum is at stake for the large majority, how can a 51% turnout ever be expected? Yet a sidewalk for St. Francis must and will come some day. Further details on the referendum are to be found elsewhere in this issue.

We are still on our Expo vacation, and enjoying every minute of it. Each time I see something especially exciting I usually make a mental note to write about that item in my column — but mental notes and written notes are two entirely different things. With me — it must be written down — otherwise I can't recall it at all.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin McCartney of 170 Gaspe Street had a number of dinner guests last Monday evening at their home. Visiting from Sudbury, were: Mrs. McCartney's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Buchanan and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lepage. Parents of Mrs. McCartney also Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buchanan of Howick, and also Mr. and Mrs. Ross Buchanan of the same area. Altogether counting the children there were sixteen. The Sudbury visitors were at Expo and enjoyed it of course. While here they also attended a cousins' wedding last Saturday.

The Hopkins family of McLeod Avenue have been entertaining guests from all over the globe. Their visitors are enjoying Expo, and other exciting things around Montreal.

Our get-well wishes to Mrs. Pat Skelly, who is at present in Lasalle General Hospital.

A recent visitor at the Baird's residence on McLeod was their favorite "Auntie Jennie." While here Auntie Jennie was kept busy baking pies, which disappeared faster than she could bake them.

Some callers were trying to call me by phone last week and found my line out-of-order. It was repaired very quickly by the Company of course, but in the meantime we are still wondering who called and couldn't get through. I guess it will ever remain a mystery — except for three that we have finally traced. Sorry about that!

Liturgie — Paroles du Seigneur: Que servira-t-il à l'homme de gagner le monde entier, s'il ruine sa propre vie (la vie profonde de son âme)? Matth. 16, 26) — Ne vous rendez pas esclaves des hommes (de leur manière de penser et d'agir) (1 Cor. 3, 17). Là où est l'esprit du Seigneur là est la liberté (2 Cor. 3, 17). Si vous demeurez dans ma parole, vous serez vraiment mes disciples, vous connaitrez alors la vérité et la vérité vous fera libres (Jean 8, 32) — Nous savons, nous, que nous sommes passés de la mort à la vie, parce que nous aimons nos frères (1 Jean 3, 14). — Aussi bien vous n'avez pas recu un esprit d'esclaves, pour retomber dans la crainte; vous avez reçu un esprit de fils adoptifs qui nous fait dire: Père! Liturgy — It was a startling experience for the three apostles who were permitted to witness the transfiguration of Our Lord. It would have been startling to us too, if we had been there. However, we have heard this Gospel so many times that our sense of surprise had faded, and we simply accept His transfiguration as a promise of what will happen to us eventually, if we live good lives.

It has always been our accepted belief that man has been created in the image and likeness of God. It is not right, then, there are people living "in conditions unworthy of human beings" in distress, in misery, in hunger. It is a situation that cries out to us for correction. And guidelines for solutions are provided for us in Pope Paul's encyclical "The Development of Peoples."

The Lord allowed the apostles to see His transfiguration as a foresight of the future, and to encourage them to work towards a desirable goal. The development of peoples offers an insight into the essential transformation that must be made in this world, that must be begun now — for Our Father insists that we too must heed the cry of the hungry," "Give us this day our daily bread!"

Déclaration de Marcel Pépin

La présence officielle de la France parmi nous a été une source de réjouissance pour toute la population d'origine française. Sur le plan culturel, pendant de trop nombreuses années, l'absence de relations valables avec une nation qui nous est très chère fut une lacune regrettable.

Le Gouvernement actuel du Québec et le Gouvernement précédent ont fait beaucoup pour établir les bases d'une coopération sérieuse et il convient d'applaudir à cette politique de collaboration et d'échanges.

D'ailleurs, nous-mêmes, à la CSN, nous avons des liens directs avec la centrale internationale qui se nomme Confédration internationale des Syndicats chrétiens dont le siège social est à Bruxelles, en Belgique. La Confédération Française et Démocratique du Travail (CFDT) est membre, comme nous, de cette Confédération mondiale et je rappelle que le président de la CFDT (Français) a été notre invité d'honneur aux congrès de la CSN de 1964 et de 1966.

C'est donc dire que ce n'est pas d'hier que nous sommes en communication avec le monde français, particulièrement le monde du travail. Toutefois, au cours de sa visite, le Général de Gaulle n'a pas limité ses interventions aux seules questions culturelles.

Le Président de la France a fait des déclarations politiques qui ont été interprétées de part et d'autre soit comme un appui aux séparatistes québécois, soit comme un nouvel impérialisme français, soit comme une attaque contre le fédéralisme canadien, soit comme une nouvelle tactique dans la politique française à l'égard de Washington. Nous laissons à ceux qui sont intéressés le soin de commenter ces diverses interprétations.

Ce que nous pouvons dire aujourd'hui c'est que notre vie politique s'ouvre de plus en plus sur le monde et il est certain que nos gens auront à se prononcer sur les attitudes à prendre vis-à-vis les pays avec lesquels nous entretenons des relations, dont la France.

Nous nous devons cependant de souligner que le président actuel de la France représente un régime dont la politique interne est jugée très durement par les travailleurs.

Le régime gaulliste vient, en matière économique et sociale, de se faire remettre les pleins pouvoirs du parlement français. C'est-à-dire qu'il a obtenu le droit de légiférer par simple ordonnance, dans ces deux domaines qui touchent directement les travailleurs.

Nos confrères travailleurs français répudient, à l'unanimité cette manoeuvre dictatoriale et anti-démocratique du régime gaulliste. Tout récemment, 10,000,000 (dix millions) de travailleurs français ont mis à exécution leur menace de grève générale. C'était la première fois depuis des années que les trois centrales ouvrières françaises lançaient un mot d'ordre semblable avec succès. C'est donc dire que les travailleurs français sont unis contre cette politique des pleins pouvoirs du régime gaulliste.

Le conseil confédéral de la CFDT vient tout juste de sonner l'alarme et demande à tous les salariés de rester vigilants et de se tenir prêts à répondre aux directives de leur centrale même si la période des congés bat son plein en France.

Nous considérons qu'il est de notre devoir d'exprimer notre solidarité avec les millions de travailleurs français dans leur lutte contre la politique d'ordonnances du régime gaulliste.

Bref, le régime gaulliste, par la bouche du président de la France, peut bien faire valoir ses opinions ou tenter d'influencer nos politiques internes, mais nous n'accepterons jamais que ce mode de gouvernement soit transporté chez-nous. Dans les circonstances, nous croyons qu'il est utile de souligner ces faits pour que les travailleurs puissent en prendre connaissance.

On émettra un timbre à l'honneur du Gén. Vanier

M. Jean-Pierre Côté, ministre des Postes, a annoncé la semaine dernière que le timbre commémoratif du général Vanier, qui sera émis par le Ministère des Postes du Canada le 15 sept. 1967, aura comme élément principal la reproduction d'un portrait photographique du général pris par Yousuf Karsh. Cette émission sera unique en son genre parmi les timbres canadiens, parce qu'il y figurera la reproduction réduite de la signature de l'ancien gouverneur général.

En émettant ce timbre, le Ministère rend hommage au très honorable général Georges-Philias Vanier, qui s'est hautement distingué dans le rôle de soldat, de diplomate et celui d'homme d'Etat. C'était la première fois qu'un gouverneur général, originaire du Canada, décédait en fonctions. Il est né à Montréal le 23 avril 1888 et décédé le 5 mars 1967. Le nouveau timbre sera mis en vente le 15 septembre, soit le même jour où, en 1959, le général a prêté le serment d'office à titre de gouverneur général du Canada.

Pour le nouveau timbre de grand format horizontal, on s'est servi du procédé de la gravure en creux sur métal et de celui de l'offset. Le portrait du général Vanier, qui a été gravé et imprimé en noir, figure à gauche et occupe environ un tiers de la longueur du timbre. La signature se trouve un peu au bas et à droite du timbre. Plus haut figure l'inscription suivante sur trois lignes: Governor-General, 1959-1967 et Gouverneur général. Le mot Canada apparait sous la signature, dans le coin inférieur droit, près du chiffre "5" qui indique la valeur du timbre. Une deuxième couleur vient s'ajouter; il s'agit d'une teinte chaude qui sert de fond ombré à la signature et qui a été obtenue par l'utilisation d'une encre brune et du procédé d'imprimerie offset.

C'est la Canadian Bank Note Company Ltd., qui a été chargée de la conception du dessin et qui imprimera toute l'émission, soit 24 millions d'exemplaires. Yousuf Karsh, dont la photographie sert d'élément de base à l'effigie, jouit d'une renommée internationale dans le domaine du portrait photographique.

Dans le cadre des "Jumelages" des villes de la Province de Québec, avec des villes des autres Provinces du Canada plusieurs manifestations ont eu lieu ces jours-ci.
