

NOTES OF THE WEEK

In attending the banquet of the manufacturers, with which they closed their annual convention at Toronto, Sir Wilfrid Laurier took the opportunity to give his views regarding Asiatic immigration. He stated that at the close of its war with Russia, Japan negotiated a commercial treaty with Canada, which has proved advantage to both manufacturers and farmers. When the treaty was negotiated Japan restricted emigration from its shores. Under new conditions there has been a recent influx of Japs into British Columbia, which has given rise to a demand to annul the treaty. The premier said—

The treaty has been in operation only two years. We are just commencing to reap the benefit, and to denounce it would be simply panic. And for my part I am not disposed, whether in this or any other action, to act in a panic. I want to look about, to inquire, to reflect, before I make up my mind, and it behooves the Canadian government under such circumstances, under the difficulty which has arisen, to contemplate, to inquire, to reflect and to see the best course to follow in the interests of the Canadian people. To at once, without inquiry, denounce the treaty would, in my humble judgment, not be playing the part of responsible men.

This is sensible. To defy Japan is out of the question. The only feasible means of restricting the influx of Japs is by friendly negotiation with the government of the Mikado. Sir Wilfrid desires that Canada should have power to make her own treaties with alien Powers. He said—

Heretofore the diplomatic relations of Canada with other countries had been in the hands of the diplomats of Great Britain, particularly in regard to her American relations. They had not been as successful as they ought to have been. They would have been carried out better if they had been in Canadian hands. He had the highest regard for the diplomats of Britain, but felt that in affairs of state as well as private affairs, less able men would do better when the heart was engaged in business where more able men perfunctorily performed their duties.

This is a senseless demand, unless the premier really means he is in favor of cutting British connection. Supposing Canada had power to make an independent treaty with Japan, and that Japan did not act up to its conditions. How would Canada enforce it?

Mr Weir's visit to Ormstown necessarily provoked a visit from Mr Bourassa. He had been scored unmercifully and he is not the sort of man who passes attacks in silence. So he came before an Ormstown audience on the evening of the 25th and had a respectful hearing. The greater part of his long address concerned himself—his attitude during the Boer war, on the Northwest education bill, on provincial politics. He quoted a letter of Geo. W. Stephens approving of his course in regard to disposing of the resources of the province. He went fully into the purchase of timber-lands by Mr Dupuis and of Peter Mackenzie (of Huntingdon grist mill fame) in leasing mineral lands. As regards the latter he asserted Achille Bergevin was in the deal, as shown by his advocacy of the project that the province build a railway, on an up these mining lands. In describing how timber-lands, water powers, and mining-lands should be dealt with the speaker had the approval of his hearers. Touching on the transactions between Baron Lepine and Turgeon, he alleged there had been forgeries of dates to screen the government and claimed that if evidence were secured from Belgium the charges made would be sustained. He declared his intention to continue his agitation with a view to a change of administration. A vote of thanks was moved by William Greig and seconded by Archd. Muir, Jr. Mr Prevost resigned his portfolio on Monday, which is a concession to public opinion.

In the daily papers an innocent paragraph appears telling how rheumatism can be cured, by a prescription which is given with the assurance that anybody can mix it at home. Why anybody should go to the trouble and expense of making this public is a mystery until the prescription is considered. In addition to such common drugs as dandelion and sarsaparilla there is kargon, unknown to anybody except the ingenious firm that fills bottles with it and sells at a big price, and the object of the prescription is to secure its sale, for to make up the compound a bottle of this precious kargon has to be bought. This ingenious method of entrapping the public into buying patent medicines was worked last winter, when a prescription was widely published which included "oil of pine," and there was another that required "salatone," both being high-priced stuff put on the market by the benevolent gentlemen who professed to give prescriptions that anybody could mix in their own homes. Newspapers that lend themselves to deceive their readers have something to answer for.

The manufacturers of the Dominion met in convention at Toronto last week. The tone of their proceedings was the one to which we have become accustomed, that they are persons of such exceptional merit and importance that the country should feel deeply indebted to them and the government do whatever they desire. To hear them the uninformed would think they alone work for the public good and that the prosperity of the Dominion depends upon them. Of course they are dissatisfied with the tariff, what they wish is a tariff that will shut out all competition and leave the customer at their mercy. That poor millionaire, Ed. Gurney, the Toronto stove-man, declared he wanted a tariff as high as Haman's gallows to keep out American manufacturers. A committee was appointed to draft a tariff and to take steps to secure its adoption by parliament. It is easier and more profitable for these gentlemen to meet competition by getting the law shaped to compel those in want of goods to buy from them, than to supply these goods at a price and of a quality equal to any imported under the present tariff. Everybody is complaining of the increased cost of living, yet by the adoption of a revenue tariff the cost of everything the farmer buys would be reduced 10 per cent. and more.

Judge Lafontaine is in danger of constitutional dissolution. He is a member of the Catholic school board of Montreal, and at its meeting on Friday evening, he declared in the school libraries there was scarcely a book of practical value to either pupil or teacher. Their shelves were filled with works of a religious character, such as those of Aquinas, Chrysostom, and Augustine. There was nothing of modern thought and knowledge. Another commissioner declared that, even with such "safe" books, principals were rather reluctant in lending books to the pupils. When ever a borrower presented himself, he was generally told to "come around next day." Libraries that do not inform and schools that do not teach suit the controlling power.

A treaty has been made between Britain and Russia as to their respective spheres in southern central Asia. Its purpose is to secure not only India but countries like Afghanistan and Persia from Russian encroachment. It is understood to be a treaty of give-and-take, Russia obtaining concessions for renouncing all aims to extend its present boundaries. Those who profess to know, declare Britain has no cause to fear for her Asiatic possessions, and she need not depend on the alliance with Japan to counteract her old antagonist.

After a summer of clouds and rain Europe has enjoyed an exceptionally warm and dry September. This, however, was followed last week by unprecedented rains with equinoctial gales of unusual violence. The south of France, Spain and Portugal suffered most, rivers flooding valleys and destroying crops.

The cement walk in front of St. Paul's church is completed, and is a credit to John Darby, who undertook the job at the urgent request of the council.

The Bourassa meeting brought out a fairly large crowd. Conservatives being much in evidence. The undercurrent of Bourassa's talk, both here and elsewhere, is let the majority rule in each province. English-speaking citizens of Quebec province might well pause and consider before they lend support to one who advocates such a policy. It is a pity to see those who cry down Laurier on account of his nationality, rallying around Bourassa, who is being paid for oats at the G.T.R. station this week.

Stores are now paying 25c for eggs. Butter retails at 25 to 26c.

Inspector Gilman held a convention of the Hemmingford teachers in the Model school room, on Sept. 30th. All the elementary teachers and the secretary-treasurers were present. The inspector gave useful recommendations as to formation of classes, course of study, carrying out regulations, etc. The inspector entertained those who attended to lunch at the Commercial house.

The prize-list of the Malone fair has not been published but it is understood the following took prizes—
Class 7—Best Standard bred stallion, M. Levea, Herndon.
Best single gelding, 15.1-2 or under, Noel Reynolds, Dundee.
Best pair matched mares, 15 under 16, Joseph Smallman, Dundee, Que.
Best general purpose stallion, Tom Yam.
Single mare under 15.1-2 hands, James Young.

a half per pound, and butter 27c at the factory. Nearly all the ensilage corn is cut and in the silo, none being hurt by frost, altho the temperature has been a degree below freezing point. A heavy hail-storm crossed the upper end of Tullochgorum Monday afternoon. It travelled from west to east. At this season it could only do harm to orchards.

VALLEYFIELD
On the 26th a severe electric storm passed over here. During the storm some person in Valleyfield called Father Theoret of Bellerive to the telephone. The connection had hardly been established, when a lightning bolt struck the wires in use. Father Theoret received such a severe shock that he was laid unconscious on the floor and his clothes and the chain which he wore around his neck were badly burnt. People should be more thoughtful and not call anyone to the telephone when there is a storm on. Trouble at the municipal light plant Wednesday night, left the town in complete darkness all evening. People were wondering what they would do, if the town did not own electric light.

We hear that another farm on the canal at St. Timothy has been sold for $30,000. Does this mean that the work of developing power from the canal is to be commenced soon?
The fruit crop this year is reported to be short. Peas and peaches are very scarce and high priced. Grapes are a little more abundant and retail at 30 cents per basket of 7lb.

Saturday afternoon, there passed away at the home of his son-in-law, Jules Guindon, aged 70. Mr Guindon was a well known citizen of Valleyfield.

Our telegraph office, which was stationed near the Larocque house, has been removed to the office of Mr Plante, lawyer, on Victoria-st, Miss R. Charette, replacing her sister, has charge of the office.

Both political parties are at work revising the list of parliamentary voters. It is said that a number of names on the list are those of men who have left town. Party managers have agreed to strike all non-residents from the lists. Young men who wish to vote at the next elections should see to it that their names are placed on the revised list.

A dramatic and musical concert is advertised by the Cercle Emarid for the purpose of establishing a public library.

HEMMINGFORD
A gang of workmen from Malone, N.Y., are putting in a concrete platform at the Roman Catholic church. This will be the first platform of the sort in Hemmingford. It is estimated that it will take upwards of 50 barrels of cement and cost in the neighborhood of $800.

THE FRONTIER S. S. ASSOCIATION
Met in convention at Athelstan on Thursday and Friday. The Munro memorial hall is an admirable place for such an assembly and was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The program was varied and interesting, and the large number of those interested in S. school work who attended received much pleasure and practical help from the bill of fare which it provided. It is only necessary to mention J. Ritchie Bell, who frequently appeared in song and soul-stirring Bible reading, and the Rev. J. A. Macfarlane, who gave several of his wonderfully fresh, luminous and stimulating expositions of Bible truth, to indicate the richness of the treat enjoyed. But besides these, there were other workers from abroad as well as from the district, who contributed items that helped to make this one of the best conventions ever held by the association. This was finely expressed by the Rev. A. Rowat, whom his many friends were pleased to see so well, and who attended all the sessions of the convention, when in reply to votes of thanks, he said that he with his people, instead of receiving thanks, owed the association thanks for coming to Athelstan. The thanks, however, were well merited, as the cordial welcome and kind hospitality which greeted the delegates contributed in no small measure to their enjoyment. The serving of dinner and tea in the hall was an admirable arrangement, affording, as it did, fine opportunity for social intercourse.
The Rev. W. H. Stevens was elected president for next year, and the Rev. J. D. Anderson secretary-treasurer.
It was recommended to the executive committee that they should try to arrange for holding the next convention at Howick.
The Rev. Geo. Smith of Toronto, who represents the mission to The Regions Beyond, gave the closing item on the program, an interesting address on South America, illustrated by beautiful lime-light views.
The following were the resolutions adopted by the convention: In recognition of the office of secretary-treasurer, would place on record its high appreciation of the valuable services she has rendered during the years she has discharged the duties of this office. Her work has been marked by deep and intelligent interest that has conducted in no small measure to the success of the association, an interest that we are glad to know will not be abated by her vacation of this office. The association regrets that circumstances have necessitated her retirement from active duty in this line, and expresses the hope that she may soon find herself free to resume service for which she has shown special qualification.

Moved by James Winter, seconded by James McKell, that the thanks of this convention be tendered to Mr. J. W. Kilgour, for the interest he has taken and the efforts he made to make this convention helpful and instructive, also to convey to him our appreciation of his untiring service during the two years he has occupied the responsible position as president of this association.

Moved by Rev. W. H. Stevens, seconded by Rev. Dr. Morrison, that the members of the Frontier S. S. association in convention assembled, desire to place on record their appreciation of the faithful services rendered by the Rev. Edgar T. Capel, provincial secretary. We believe that the efficiency of our schools has been increased as a result of his services. We desire to assure Mr. Capel of our sympathy with him in the work to which we believe he has been called by the Great Head of the church.

Moved by Rev. W. H. Stevens, seconded by Rev. C. E. Jenkins, believing that the best safeguard for the citizenship of our beloved Dominion is found in the education of the heart and head of young Canada, this convention wishes to urge upon all our churches and schools the imperative need of enlarging the equipment and increasing the efficiency of all our schools.

Resolved, that this convention expresses its heartfelt thanks to the speakers from outside the bounds of Frontier district who have so kindly come and helped in the program. The address and singing of Mr. Ritchie Bell have been of great help in arousing enthusiasm, as well as the scholarly remarks of Mr. J. A. McFarlane on the S. S. lessons for the coming quarter. To Mr. Colquhoun and Mr. Leroux for their excellent addresses on mission phases of work amongst the Jews.

THE MILKING MACHINE

Ed. The Canadian Dairyman: It seems almost like presumption at this time to give anything in regard to the production of first-class milk for cheesemaking purposes. Every agricultural paper you pick up has some article on the care of milk. But perhaps a few words from a person who has made cheese for 12 years, and for the past 14 years has been a travelling inspector, may be of interest. A few facts picked up may prove practical and beneficial rather than theoretical. Theories are all right, but they must be proven by practical work before they are of any benefit to the dairy industry. There is no use in telling a person to do such and such a thing with his milk unless you give him your reason for it. I have some hopes of doing a patron good when I have interested him to a point where he will ask you why you do this or that, or what will be the result if these suggestions and improvements are not carried out.

Be careful to milk the cows at the same hour night and morning in a quick, quiet and cleanly manner. Why? Because it is a well-known fact that any noise that will excite the cow during milking, not only reduces the quantity, but also decreases the percentage of fat. The second step is aeration. Why? To remove the odor and other injurious flavors. The third stage is to reduce the temperature to 65 or 60 degrees (I would not wish it reduced lower for cheesemaking). We reduce the temperature of the milk to retard the propagation of injurious bacteria or microbes. At the above temperature, propagation is very slow, but at a temperature of 75 or 80 degs., they increase at such a tremendous rate that the milk becomes a living mass of microbes, the result of which is a spongy or porous gassy curd, which absorbs the moisture from the curd to such an extent that it greatly reduces the quantity of cheese made, as well as the quality. This all tends to reduce the farmer's profits.

During the past three months I have been making some experiments along the line of fermentation tests with milk that was milked by the Burrell-Lawrence

Kennedy milking machine of Little Falls, N.Y. The machine that I used is one lately installed in the stable of John Geddes, Esq., Ormetown, Que., the first in the province. I have come to the conclusion that the difficulty of getting rid of the gas in the milk for cheesemaking would be a thing of the past if all cows were milked by the process of compressed air passing through the milking tubes, as used by the foregoing company. I cannot go into any extended explanation of the test in this letter, only to state that the samples were taken immediately after milking, without reducing the temperature, then sealed up until morning. The cheesemaking process was then gone through with. The sample milked with the machine produced a piece of curd clean in flavor, with close, firm body and silky texture; the hand-milked sample produced curd with a strong, covey, gassy flavor and a weak porous body.

I have come to the conclusion that in the majority of cases with the patrons of factories, it is not a case of not knowing how to take proper care of milk, but a case of "don't have to." Let one instance prove my assertion. I have a patron under my inspection who sends part of his milk to a milk dealer in the city. Having occasion to be present one evening at milking time, I noticed that they spent a great deal of time in aerating and cooling the milk that went to the city. The milk for the factory was poured into a can and not even placed in a tub of cold water. I remarked, "What are you going to do with that milk?" and received for reply, "Oh, that milk is going to the factory in the morning. We don't have to bother with that. The cheesemaker takes it in even if it is sometimes not very good. Now, until the proprietors and makers will combine together and agree not to receive milk that has been refused by an opposition factory, so long will tainted and sour milk be forced on to makers to the injury and loss of all careful and honest patrons.—A. S. Lloyd, of Ormetown.

CANADA

It has been computed that the number of harvest hands who went to the Northwest this year scarcely amounted to half of those who helped to reap the crop of 1906.

Winnipeg, Sept. 27.—As days go on the returns from the crop are full of surprises—some bad, some good. Fields that were thought to be almost ruined are turning out 15, 18 and even 20 bushels to the acre, while other fields that were thought to have entirely escaped the frost are showing up badly wrinkled. There is no doubt whatever that there is a very heavy percentage of damaged wheat in the country, and just now there is a good deal of uncertainty as to what or shall not be done with wheat that is still standing, very green, but of which the heads are filled to a greater or less extent. Farmers are recommended to thresh everything that can be threshed, as almost any grade of wheat or oats will have a value this season.

Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 27.—James Benning, of Glen Williamstown met with a very painful accident at the fair in Williamstown yesterday, when he was accidentally hooked in the eye by one of his cows, which he was tying. His face was terribly lacerated, and it is feared he will lose an eye. He was taken to Montreal for treatment. Mr. Benning is the well known Ayrshire breeder, who recently went to Japan with a herd which he sold to the Mikado's government.

Montreal Gazette: This is the day the increased price of milk is to go into effect, but members of the Milkmen's association have not been able to unanimously agree upon what that increase is to be. The result is a split in the ranks of the association, some dealers having decided to sell at 10 cents a quart, according to the association's original decision, while others will only charge 9 cents until Dec. 1, when they will put up the additional cent. Others may continue the 9 cent rate. The views of the former party were emphatically expressed at the association's recent meeting, when President Drummond declared that he would have to go out of business unless he charged 10c a quart. Notwithstanding this, however, there were many members who thought 9 cents would be sufficient for the winter, while there was also a compromise party who wanted to charge 9 cents until the real winter weather set in and the price of fodder would go up. A unanimous decision could not be arrived at, and hence there will be two prices prevailing in the city commencing with to-day.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 29.—The hands of the descendants of the men who fought in the British and United States armies at Lundy's Lane 98 years ago met in friendship and mutual esteem yesterday, when the Niagara Frontier Landmarks association and the Daughters of the War of 1812 of Buffalo visited the battlefield to dedicate a monument to the memory of Captain Abraham Fuller Hull and nine men of the 9th United States Infantry, who fell in the fight, and the members of the Lundy's Lane Historical society welcomed them, escorted them to the scene of the ceremonies and assisted them in their duty in every possible way. The monument is built of huge blocks of grey granite, and bears a suitable inscription. The United States flag, which veiled the memorial, was withdrawn by Miss Elizabeth C. Trott, whose ancestors fought in the battle. The assemblage sang the United States and Canadian national anthems, and a bugler of the 12th United States Infantry sounded " taps," closing the ceremony. Capt. Hull was 28 years of age when he met death at Lundy's Lane. He was a son of Gen. Wm. Hull, who surrendered Detroit to General Brock, and was present on that occasion.

UNITED STATES

The Ampersand, one of the largest and most sumptuously appointed hotels in the Adirondacks situated near Saranac Lake village, was destroyed by fire Monday evening, 23d Sept. The hotel was closed for the season on Saturday and a number of men were employed in cleaning and putting the building in readiness for the winter. The fire started in the elevator shaft and in a short time swept through the entire structure. The loss is estimated at $200,000. Insurance, $60,000.

Malone Gazette: Thursday night burglars entered the store of P. E. Smith, at Burke, taking clothing, tobacco and cigars to the value of $25 and escaped to Canada with a livery rig obtained at a local stable. The robbery was reported to Mr. Smith at 5 o'clock the next morning by Wm. Downer, a young man about 18 years of age who is employed in C. Mason's livery stable. Downer stated that two men came to the barn late Thursday night and compelled him under threats to go with them to the Smith store which they broke into, taking the articles mentioned. They then got the livery rig and drove to the Canadian line leaving the horse and buggy at Jamieson's place, where they made some purchases. Downer declares that he took nothing from the store and had no hand in the burglary, being forced to witness the acts of the two men. As soon as possible he reported the burglary to Mr. Smith. Efforts are being made to locate the two men, who it is claimed were at one time employed at the stone quarries at Burke.

Potatoes fetch only 40c a bushel at Chateaugay depot.

Paris, Sept. 28.—The Ursuline nuns, who for many years have resided in a convent at Graveleins were expelled to-day by a large force of gendarmes, who barred the approaches from early morning. A summons to open the gates was disregarded and the convent was then forcibly entered and the nuns ejected. It is understood they will go to live in England.

The experiment of using muslin over barn windows instead of window glass is being made. It secures ventilation and even in the coldest weather the temperature of the cow stables is lowered only two or three degrees while the stable actually feels warmer because the air is kept dry. It is believed that the adoption of muslin windows would do much to prevent the spread of tuberculosis among cattle. The plan has been used successfully by poultrymen to secure ventilation and prevent fowls from having colds and similar ills.

HUNTINGDON

—The N. Y. C. afternoon train made its last trip on Saturday. The G. T. Sunday train wound up a poor season on the 29th.

—The meeting in the county building, Tuesday evening, to consider building a skating and curling rink, was well attended. Mayor Philips occupied the chair, and after expressing himself in favor of the project, called on Dr. Walsh, M.P., Rev. C. E. Jenkins, Rev. E.W. Florence, Mr. Walker, M.L.A., and others. All agreed a place for winter recreation was desirable and that it was within the ability of Huntingdon to secure a suitable rink. A plan for one had been submitted, estimated to cost $3600. A committee was appointed, composed as follows: Dr. Walsh, chairman; W. H. Walker, J. C. Boyd, and Philipps, T. B. Pringle. The instructions given the committee were to report as to cost, etc., at an adjourned meeting to be held Friday (to-morrow) evening. There are subscriptions now for $1800.

—A meeting of board of delegates of Huntingdon and Chateaugay was held in the county building on Wednesday, September 25th. Present: Delegates Todd, Hanna and Stewart, for Huntingdon, and Delegates Beaudin and McGerrigle for Chateaugay. Delegate Todd, Warden of Huntingdon, was appointed chairman. The act of agreement, drawn up by A. Muir, senr., special superintendent, signed by Bernard Durain and other rate-payers of Godmanchester, regulating a watercourse through their lands, and forming a branch of the Brethour discharge, was ratified without change. Bernard Durain was appointed special officer over the Brethour discharge and its branches.

—At the meeting of the Protestant committee of education on Friday the allotment of grants to the academies was made. Huntingdon coming 3rd gets $332, Gault Institute 6th $310, Ormetown 12th $294. Hemmingford is classed 22nd among model schools and is given $135. McGill and Bishop's colleges divide $2200 of the fund between them.

—The annual meeting of the Mutual Fire Insurance Co. was held yesterday; W. H. Walker, M. L.A., president, in the chair. There was a fair attendance of policy-holders. The financial statement, which was highly satisfactory, was adopted. The retiring directors were re-elected.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors Mr. Walker was re-elected president and John Younle vice-president. Sixty-five applications were ratified, and eight losses, amounting to $231, ordered to be paid.

—Auction sales are numerous in this section and, even with the high price of feed, some good prices have been realized for stock. At the sale of Walter Crawford, conducted by Auctioneer Philips, cows sold from $17 to $50 per head, averaging $30. Two-year old heifers brought from $11 to $24.50 each. Yearlings sold from $7 to $12 per head. One bull calf sold for $37.50. One pair 2-year old colts brought $115; 1 spring colt sold for $51; 1 driving mare $125. Hay sold from $17 to $19.25 per ton; oats 60c per bushel. Total amount of sale, $2316.

PRINGLE, STARK & CO.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—In the cattle markets, the quality of the stock offered showed no improvement, the bulk of it being half-finished, which added weakness to the situation. Choice heaves sold at 4.3-4 to 5c, good at 4 to 4.1-4c, fair at 3.1-2 to 3.3-4c, common at 2.1-2 to 3.1-4c, and canners at 1.1-4 to 1.1-2c per lb. There was no change in the condition of the market for sheep and lambs. Supplies are coming forward freely, but as the demand is good for both local consumption and export account, the feeling is steady and an active trade continues to be done at unchanged prices. Sheep sold at 4 to 4.1-4c, and lambs at 5.1-4 to 5.1-2c per lb. Supplies of calves were fairly large for the season, for which the demand is good at prices ranging from $3 to $12 each. The market for hogs remains about steady owing to the fact that the offerings are not excessive, and, in addition to this, advice from European sources on Canadian bacon during the past week show no important change as compared with the previous one. The demand from local jobbers and packers for supplies continues good, and a fairly active trade is passing, with sales of selected lots at $6.25 to $6.50 per 100lb, weighed off cars.
