P. L. Pratley Honoured By Engineering Institute

In an announcement recently released by the Engineering Institute of Canada, Philip Louis Pratley, 5 Thornhill Avenue, prominent consulting engineer, was accorded signal honour by being named one of the two recipients for 1947 of the Julian C. Smith Medal, awarded each year by the Engineering Institute "For Achievement in the Development of Canada." He will receive his award at the Annual General and Professional Meeting of the Iinstitute, to be held this year at Banff, June 1-5.

Mr. Pratley was born in Liverpool, England, and has won the following degrees from the University of Liverpool; B. Eng. (Ordinary) 1904; B. Eng. (1st Class Honours) 1905; M. Eng. 1908; D. Eng. 1939.

In April 1906, after a short period of service with the Locomotive and Machine Co., Montreal, Dr. Pratley joined the Quebec Bridge Board of Engineers, Dept. of Railways and Canals. He remained in the Government service until December 1911 having been appointed Assistant Designing Engineer in October 1910.

Concurrently with this work, between October 1910 and June 1911, he was with the St. Lawrence Bridge Co. of Montreal, preparing stress sheets, designs and estimates for tenders on the Quebec Bridge.

Between April 1906 and April 1908 and December 1911 to April 1920, he was with the Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd., with which Company he had very wide experience as a Designing Draftsman, Detailer and Checker, a Designing Engineer and as Engineer in charge of plate and boiler shop.

From April 1920 to July 1921, he was Principal Assistant Eng. in charge of inspection and valuation of all bridges on the Grand Trunk Railway System and its subsidaries. He was in complete charge of office and field staffs and compiled detailed reports on over 1,100 bridges, including statistics for valuation and court testimony.

From 1921 to 1940, he was a member of the firm Monsarrat & Pratley, consulting civil engineers in Montreal. They handled all engineering matters, staff, office, accounting, dealing with contractors, inspectors, etc. They also acted as technical advisers to legal counsel and were engaged by various departments of Dominion and Provincial governments for numerous projects. Mr. Pratley has served on the executive committee and on numerous technical committees of the Canadian Engineering Standards Association. On the death of Colonel Monsarrat in 1940, Dr. Pratley carried on the consulting practice under his own name.

Dr. Pratley joined the Institute, as a student, in 1907, transferred to Associate Membership in 1909 and to full membership in 1917. He was a member of Council from 1927 to 1929 and from 1932 until

Six Robberies In Westmount This Month

Loss from a burglary which occurred over the weekend at the home of W. R. Eakin, 572 Roslyn Avenue, has not yet been evaluated, it was reported by police after the home was found ransacked on Saturday, shortly after the departure of Mr. Eakin's son, Col. I. R. Eakin, for a weekend in the country. The discovery was made by a servant.

Chief of Police R. Byford stated that this was the sixth robbery in Westmount in the month of May, and gave the addresses of other homes entered as 69 Bruce Avenue, 148 Cote St. Antoine Rd., Apt. 18; 633 Victoria Avenue, 571 Grosvenor Avenue and 655 Lansdowne Avenue.

"There is nothing to indicate a crime wave, and earlier reports that value of the goods lost amounted to $35,000 are false," said Chief Byford, adding that the tentatively estimated value of the stolen articles approximates $5,000.

He suggests that residents can aid the police to protect their properties by promptly reporting the presence of any suspicious looking individuals without arousing their suspicion. This will give the police a better opportunity to apprehend and question such individuals, who might otherwise vanish from the scene.

A. E. MacLachlan Struck By Car, Dies In Hospital

Alfred Ernest MacLachlan, 75, of 396 Olivier Avenue, died in the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital shortly before noon on Tuesday as a result of injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile at Metcalfe Avenue and Sherbrooke St., around 11 p.m. on the preceeding evening.

An inquest was held on Wednesday morning, at which Coroner Richard L. Ducket returned a verdict of accidental death.

According to Westmount Police, Mr. MacLachlan was struck by an eastbound automobile, driven by Dr. C. W. Rondeau, as he was crossing the sereet several yards from the intersection. Dr. Rondeau swerved his vehicle to avoid an accident, but was unable to avoid striking the man.

Cut about the head, at first he was not believed to be seriously injured. He was later found to have sustained a fractured pelvis.

St. John Ambulance Brig. Annual Church Parade

The St. John Ambulance Brigade will hold the annual Church Parade of the Order of St. John, which is being held each year in honor of the Patron of the Order, St. John, on Sunday at 7.30 p.m., at Christ Church Cathedral.

Reverend Dean Evans will officiate at the service, and members of the Order of St. John and members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade of the Montreal District will attend this most important event in the voluntary organization of the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

WAR MEMORIAL CHANGES COMPLETED

Alterations to Westmount's 1914-1918 war memorial, undertaken last fall to honour those residents of the community who lost their lives in the recent war, are now completed. The official dedication of the memorial will be celebrated at a ceremony to take place in the late summer or early fall, City Hall officials have stated. In bringing the memorial up to date, the base was enlarged, the inscription changed and two tablets bearing the names of those who fell in World War II were added, one on each side of the enlarged base.

Picard Brothers Recently Receive College Degrees

Mrs. R. F. L. Picard, of 426 Grosvenor avenue, received word recently that her sons, Horace and Leonard each had been the recipient of a degree. Both young men graduated from Westmount High School and McGill University with the degree of B.A. before the recent war, in which they served with the Navy.

R. Leonard Picard, after graduation from McGill, taught school at Strathearn, Iona and William Dawson schools for five years before he joined the Bell Telephone Company in Montreal. He enlisted in the R.C.N.V.R. and served as an Instructor Lieutenant on the East Coast during the war. After demobilization, he returned to the Bell Telephone Company, in which he now is employed in the personnel section. Last week he was informed that, culminating several years of part-time studies, he has been awarded, in absentia, the de-

Westmount Girl Hurt In Golfing Accident

While playing golf with friends on Sunday evening at the Fairway Driving Range on Decarie Blvd., Miss Pauline Grant, 621 Hallowell Avenue, suffered a broken hand when she was struck by a flying golf ball. The Westmount girl, who is 17 years old and a student at St. Paul's Academy, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, and has been under observation since.

The accident, which occurred between 9 and 10 p.m., also left Miss Grant with a nasty cut on her hand which required several stitches. The mishap is particularly unfortunate for Miss Grant at the present time, for she soon starts examinations at St. Paul's, and she is barely able to write legibly.

High Taxes Reflect World Conditions Rotary Told

Our present high taxation is the result of war and deteriorated international relations, and can only be reduced effectively through economic improvement brought about by enhanced international relations and an improved world situation, declared Philip F. Vineberg, partner in the firm of Philips, Bloomfield, Vineberg and Goodman, in an address to members of the Rotary Club of Westmount, this week.

Speaking on "The Canadian Tax System," Mr. Vineberg went on to say that the income tax, brought in as a "temporary" war measure, in 1917, is now a lusty veteran of two wars, and apparently is here to stay. It has become an integral part of our tax system, which is absolutely necessary in these days of high government expenditure, in which the yearly cost of war debt alone exceeds total yearly budgets of not too long ago.

Looking To Future

In setting up our "rather grim and brutal budget", the government has espoused the long-term principle of operation for the future benefit of our country. Other ways to set off the war debt, he pointed out, would be to pass the debt along to succeeding generations, to produce goods using only existing plants, which would eventually deteriorate and become obsolescent, and by borrowing from abroad. As the situation now is, we owe the money to ourselves.

Discussing the relation between federal and provincial taxation, Mr. Vineberg declared that we have inherited a setup in which the provinces had responsibilities which required high taxation and subsidies from the federal government. However, the balance has changed so that the federal government now carries a much heavier proportional load, and yet the provinces insist on maintaining their old high taxation This has created situations in which, in certain instances, a man or corporation would lose more than the total income through taxes on that income. Therefore, federal-provincial conflict in the tax field becomes a most important problem to the country as a whole.

Compromise Needed

Mr. Vineberg pointed out that resolving the problem requires a good deal of compromise — we

Y.M.C.A.

World Service In Action

JAPAN

In an old Buddhist Monastery on a Japanese countryside, miles from the nearest town, an American soldier, Y-man Russell Durgin stood one day in a circle of young Japanese men and women explaining how to organize youth associations on democratic lines. Questions and suggestions flew from all sides and before long concrete plans were drawn up for several democratic youth associations in the immediate neighborhood. During the meeting incidental conversation revealed that just a few short months before, more than a third of the young men present had been fanatical kamikaze pilots or soldiers in the Japanese Army.

During the past year, scenes like this took place many times in Japan, where 90% of the country's 10,000 villages organized youth associations under Russell Durgin's direction. As Director of Youth Activities under General MacArthur, he travelled last year through 31 of Japan's 46 prefectures. He returned with the conviction that the former military leaders are discredited in the eyes of youth, and that most young people are open-minded and eager to find the new democratic way. Christianity, they feel, is worth studying and democracy is the ideal. The Y.M.C.A. in Japan is trying to give them both.

The Japanese Y.M.C.A. is meeting the temper of the times with an intensive program for students. Student Associations have sprung up anew in more than 100 colleges and universities. The first post-war national student conference, held last September in Tokyo, drew 165 delegates instead of the 90 expected. Students came from all over the country. One stood for two days and nights on a train so jammed he sometimes had difficulty putting down both feet at the same time. All paid their own way and brought food enough to last the whole Conference week. Other Y-sponsored conferences fared well, too. In the Physical Educational field 845 teachers attended institutes in five cities.

Of the 11 prewar city Y.M.C.A. buildings in Japan, 4 were completely wiped out by fire and bombs, 2 are now in use by the occupation forces, and the rest need repairs; nevertheless, the Y.M.C.A. of Japan is carrying on a program of great range and power. All staff members have stuck to their jobs despite outside offers of much higher salaries.

The Y.M.C.A. in Tokyo was one of those forced out of its building by the occupation authorities. Notwithstanding the inconvenient location of its new rented quarters, 1,000 young men and women come each day for educational, social and religious activities; Bible classes alone draw 500 weekly. In Yokohama, the other city with a displaced association, the Mayor has substituted a building for the Y in the centre of the city. In another section of the city, the Yokohama Y has turned the burned out ruins of a Church into a school. Despite the absence of heat, windows and floors, 500 people attend daily classes here in the charred concrete remains. Last January in Osaka, fire reduced the Y's 3-storied educational building to ashes. Within half a year, with no help from the outside, a campaign for reconstruction funds was launched, the goal raised and a two-storey building erected. Enrollment now is 1,627.

Fifteen new city Y.M.C.A.'s have been organized in the last two years by volunteer laymen. In Kanazawa, for example, Y members, with the Mayor's backing, began their work with the week-day use of one of the churches. Within 6 months educational classes, Bible Study, a Y Men's Club and a large student program was well under way.

This year the first post-war Boys' Camp was held in Yamanako at the foot of Mount Fuji. Boys from 19 High Schools attended and good times were had in spite of shortages in food, transportation and clothing.

Crippled Children School Plans Tag Day

Westmount citizens have shown a particular interest in the School for Crippled Children, on Cedar avenue just beyond the Westmount limits. Over the years a number of leading Westmount citizens have been governors of the institution, and all today continue their interest.

Saturday, June 5, will be the annual tag day of the School for Crippled Children, and Westmounters as well as other residents of the Island of Montreal are thought certain to respond as generously as they have in the past.

At the school, youngsters of all races and creeds, who by reason of accident, disease or deformity, are not able to play with their fellows, are given a general education and taught special skills which will enable them to earn a living.

"No graduate of the school has ever had to go on relief," Douglas Bremner, president of the School for Crippled Children told The Examiner yesterday.

The youngsters are taken to and from the school in special buses, and while there they have the benefit of a clinic and a nurse for the treatment they need to help make them well again.

Last year a goal of $20,000 was set for the tag day. "On Saturday, June 5, I'm sure we will far surpass that record," said Mr. Bremner.

At the annual meeting of the Scottish Schools Club of Montreal, Inc., Dan Gavin, Graig Nairn, C. D. Fairweather, John Stroyan and Robert Young were re-elected to the board for the incoming year. Also elected to replace retiring directors were: George Burgess, James Gorie, George M. Niven and Ian Wilkie.

An eminently successful year was reported by George Hamilton, retiring president, at the annual meeting with a considerable increase in paid membership and a sizeable operating surplus for the year as compared with a deficit in the preceding year.

James came to a word he could iot pronounce and the teacher prompted: "Barque."

James snickered, and the teacher explained rather impatiently "Barque!"

"Bow-wow", answered James obediently.

Time To Take Part In The Spring Clean-Up Campaign

Greater Montreal's annual Spring Clean-Up and Beautification Campaign, now under way, was initiated in 1909 under the auspices of the City Improvement League. Since that time the city clean-up movement has increased and spread yearly, with many communities participating, in an effort to make their districts clean, attractive and healthy.

The Clean-Up and Beautification drive this year sponsored by the Montreal Junior Board of Trade, which is out to make the citizens of Greater Montreal "clean-up conscious". The object is to clean away the winter's accumulation of rubbish from every corner of the metropolitan district. The hundreds of miles of streets and lanes, the many parks and squares, and the thousands of residences, stores, warehouses and factories, etc., all fall within the scope of this activity, which to be successful must have the active support of the citizens themselves.

The City of Westmount has long been recognized as an advanced community. For instance, in 1913, it was the first city in Canada and one of the first on the continent to adopt the Council-City Manager form of municipal government. Since that time, the system has changed and developed greatly, and Westmount has developed with it, retaining its position in the van.

Success in the huge Spring Clean-Up and Beautification Campaign is possible only through the co-operation of the citizens themselves, and it is the duty of every citizen of Westmount to personally take part in maintaining this community's enviable reputation.

In addition to making your City a clean, attractive place in which to live, your co-operation in the Clean-Up Campaign has broader aspects — i.e. the lessening and possible elimination of fire hazards from accumulated rubbish, an improvement in health conditions due to increasing cleanliness, and lessening of elimination of rats now in the community which are a constant nuisance and danger to health.

Remember to do your part in keeping Westmount a clean, attractive and healthy city, not only during the present Clean-Up Campaign but also throughout the year, by refraining from littering the streets with rubbish and lidless garbage cans.

Local Elections Will Terminate In Huge Parade

Westmount very shortly will be the scene of great activity, with election campaigns being fanned to fever heat. This year, however, the younger fry will be coming into the picture with a general election for the coveted positions of Playtown Mayor, Fire Chief and Chief of Police.

The three existing Mayors Donald Douglas of Westmount Park, James Besant representing Staynor Park and Robert Matthews, Prince Albert, will have to look to their laurels this year. Nominations will take place the second week in June, and polling booths will be in all three playgrounds.

The final election day, 22nd of June, will end in a huge parade and gala evening at Westmount Park. A beauty contest for the girls will be held and the winning contestant will be crowned the Queen of the Parks. The parade, which will begin at approximately seven in the evening will be of great interest. Bands, floats, clowns and all manner of razzmatazz will end up at the Park where the installations will take place with civic officials doing the honors.

Members of the Businessmen's Association are helping out by loaning some of the vehicles which will be decorated for floats. The Recreational Supervisors are making an all-out effort to launch the playground program this year, and the forthcoming events will be watched with great interest.

PLAY FOR CAVALCADE BY TRINITY PLAYERS

Trinity Players will present "The Zeal of Thine House", by Dorothy Sayers, as Trinity Memorial Church's part in the Cavalcade of Christendom, in Christ Church Cathedral on the evenings of Tuesday and Wednesday.

The action of the play takes place in England in the 12th Century in Canterbury Cathedral, and revolves around the re-building of the Choir, after the great fire of 1174. A meeting of the Cathedral Chapter is called to choose an architect and after much discussion regarding expense and experience, William of Sens is chosen, although he is a foreigner.

The Trinity production will be assisted by the Church Choir under the direction of Mr. Prayn, the Organist.

MBA Youth Clubs Join In First Annual Dance

Plans for the first annual dance, sponsored by the central council of the Montreal Boys' Association, are being organized with the event scheduled to take place at Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium on Saturday night.

The council, composed of the various youth groups, Unity, Lyons', St. Columbo and Eastward are now making final arrangements which will include spot dances, waltz and jitterbug contests with other novelty dances. Attractive prizes will be awarded the winners.

Music for the occasion will be supplied by Tony Pascale and his orchestra.

Further information regarding the dance may be obtained from any one of the Youth Groups who are representative of the central council, and it is anticipated that there will be a large attendance from all youth groups of Montreal.

CANADA NEEDS MORE SCOUTS

In his Book "Great Contemporaries" the Right Hon. Winston Churchill devotes important pages to Lord Baden-Powell and the origin of the Scout Movement and has this to say: "Many venerable, famous institutions and systems long honoured by men perished in the storm of war, but the Boy Scout Movement survived. It flourished and grew increasingly. Its mottos gather new national significance as the years unfold. It speaks to every heart its message of duty and honour: BE PREPARED 'to stand up faithfully for Right and Truth, however the winds may blow'."

The Aim of the Boy Scouts Association is to develop good character in boys and prepare them for good citizenship. Scouting is a "games programme", and in teaching it the endeavour is to bring out all that is best in the boy. From the boys' point of view, Scouting puts them into fraternity gangs, which is their natural organization, and through the legacy of chivalry appeals to the average boy's sense of romance.

Never has there been greater need for such a sound influence as that of Scouting in view of the abnormal conditions under which our boys are growing up in these uncertain times. In Canada we have some 100,000 Scouts, not 10% of the boys of Scouting age; and in this thriving Community we have about 1,200 in some 40 units which is still only 10% of possibility.

With their acquisition of a Western Scout Headquarters Building on Cote St. Antoine Road at Draper as a focal point for the Scouting units, the Association hopes to broaden the scope of their local activities with the help and co-operation of individual citizens, and we count ourselves privileged to bring their prospective "Peanut Day Campaign" to the attention of our readers, for CANADA NEEDS MORE SCOUTS.

FOR PASTEURIZED MILK

The Health League of Canada has announced that as part of its year-round campaign to obtain compulsory milk pasteurization throughout the Dominion, it hopes this summer to enlist the aid of resort operators and vacationists.

In a message to vacationists, the Health League requests them to make sure pasteurized milk is obtainable wherever they plan to spend their holidays, while resort operators are asked to make sure the milk they serve is pasteurized. It is pointed out to resort people that if a supply of the commercially pasteurized product is not available it is possible to make milk safe for human consumption by "home" pasteurization methods.

Further, it is the belief of the Health League that once resort operators are really made aware of the dangers of raw milk they will put the health of their visitors before all other considerations and will make sure their milk supplies are pasteurized.

BOOK REVIEW By H. S. Ross

Democracy in the Dominions, A Comparative Study in Institutions by Alexander Brady, Professor of Political Science, University of Toronto. University of Toronto Press, Toronto. Pages 475.

This valuable book introduces us to a large subject when it undertakes to discuss and compare the political institutions of the four overseas Dominions and their physical environment and social heritage. Its theme is a democracy that consists, not in merely abstract thought, but in going institutions, built up by a highly empirical people in conformity with the British parliamentary pattern and exhibiting a variety determined in each case by the whole cast of national life and the intricate interplay of history and geography. In these countries democracy in its essentials means government by the free exchange of opinion, the free choice of electors, and the free activities of parties; it means all those civil and political liberties that took active form in three centuries of British history, along with the rich mental inheritance whereby parliamentary institutions can properly work.

Professor Brady stated that the institutions of Ireland are not included, not by the question as to whether or not Ireland was a Dominion or whether she was even in the Commonwealth, but merely by the circumstance that in character she is different from the young nations which developed from colonies in the last century and whose people experienced the social transformations of settlement in new and often severe lands.

Conclusion: Select Bibliography Index

The following are the closing chapters of this valuable volume:

"Nowhere," wrote a prominent Australian politician in 1889, "whether in public or private affairs, does the individual count for so much as he does in Australia. There is no helpless fluttering against the iron bars of class or tradition." Here precedents were not such shackles as in England, and social equality was regarded as an essential element of the democracy. We find Sir Henry Parkes in the early eighties, in an attempt to set out the points which distinguish Australians, writing that they are free from "the grinding pressure of English poverty. No man need suffer from want of food or from want of warmth." He was confident that "politically the English people in Australia enjoy a condition of equal rights not excelled by the liberties enjoyed by the people of the United States or of any other country. Every man is as good as, and no better than, his fellow citizen, except in so far as he may be greater than he in citizen virtue." Even more characteristically he remarked that in Australia no one need wince "under the patronizing notice of a great personage." In the argument of Parkes, Australia was extolled as a land of freedom, freedom in particular from the social inhibitions of England, from the weight of its past, and from the rule of its aristocracy. Such sentiment was even more emphatically expressed by the zealous band of Australian republicans, inspired and tutored for a time in the nineties by the Sydney Bulletin.

With the coming of the twentieth century changes took place in these attitudes, especially when the great era of social reform began with the accession to power of the British Liberals in 1905. To democrats in the Dominions it became increasingly evident that Britain could give distinguished leadership in devising the institutions of social democracy, and the force of that circumstance grew stronger as the opportunities on the frontiers of the Dominions contracted with the maturing of their economies. Whereas previously they had prided themselves, especially Australia and New Zealand, on a more rapid prowess in democratic institutions, they now increasingly looked, under the pressures of a growing industrialism, to the example set by Britain in national social services. Moreover the gradual supersession of the traditional ruling class brought the democracy of the British Isles closr in character to that of the Dominions. Thus, while the old type of colonial loyalty was weakening and disappearing under the attrition of time, the foundations were being laid of a deeper understanding between democratic communities sharing somewhat similar problems and deriving political nutriment from the same philosophy of life. Collatoration in the two world wars of the twentieth century strengthened their sense of a common goal.

In this new consciousness of a mental unity which characterizes the modern British Commonwealth, the democracy of the United States in some measure shares. In the nineteenth century it also had prided itself on the superiority of its institutions to the aristocratic regime of Britain. It also associated its democratic order with abundant material opportunity, free land, an open frontier, and highly paid labour. Hence it looked with something almost like contempt upon a state of the old world which lacked these valuable assets of social freedom. But in the twentieth century a change has taken place in its outlook under the impact of profound transformations within itself, the upheaval of

Stalin's Sinister Strategy

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

"War is armed conflict between sovereign states, prosecuted by a systematic destruction of combatants and property (and increasingly in modern warfare of noncombatants also) and having for its purpose the imposition of certain conditions upon the opposing power after securing its defeat." That is an encyclopedia definition, and it sums up in cold, factual terms the world conflict through which we have recently passed.

Looked at in the cold light of this definition, the last two world wars — to put it mildly — were foolish and futile. They were wantonly destructive of the life and property of both combatants, and the victors failed in their purpose of imposing peace conditions upon the defeated. The Germans were beaten to their knees in the first war, only to repudiate the conditions of peace imposed upon them and rise stronger than ever to wage a second war of aggression. They have again been beaten, this time to the dust and rubble of their cities the annihilation of their military forces and national leaders. And yet the purpose of the war, the imposition of peace conditions, has not been achieved—why? The answer to that question is to be found in the so-called United Nations which are not and never were united in purpose.

Britain and the United States entered the war with the utmost reluctance, and they were united in the sole purpose of destroying once and for all the military power of Germany and establishing peace and freedom in the world. Russia, on the other hand, avoided the war in the first place by entering into a compact with Germany to divide the spoils of Nazi aggression in Europe. That compact may have been intended by Stalin as a counter-move against Hitler, but its purpose was the same as that of the Nazis—the conquest of the nations of Eastern and Central Europe. This is seen in the present Russian domination of those nations and Stalin's refusal to conclude a peace settlement and release his hold on Germany and Austria.

Whatever we may have thought about the failure of Neville Chamberlain to come to an agreement with Russia before the war, it is now quite plain that the Soviet was playing a double game. The war was the direct result of a clash between Hitler and Stalin for the domination of Europe. The only difference between the two was that Hitler was in a hurry and wanted to achieve his purpose at one blow, while Stalin was willing to wait and gain his ends by infiltration. Thus Hitler played into the hands of Stalin, and we abetted the latter by going to the aid of Russia and signing the Yalta agreement for Russian zones of influence in Europe.

The result is that the Western democracies are now faced with the same dilemma that confronted Neville Chamberlain when Hitler broke his promise and took over the whole of Czechoslovakia. If Chamberlain put too much faith in Hitler at Munich, Churchill and Roosevelt outdid him by confiding in Stalin's promises at Yalta.

The past is past, and "what's done cannot be undone," but it is not too late to learn from experience. We have learned that we cannot depend upon the given word of Stalin any more than we could on that of Hitler. Good faith must be mutual, and if it is only on one side, the unfaithful party has the advantage; he can resort to deceit, delay and other sinister means of frustrating action, as the Soviet delegates to the United Nations have been doing for the last three years. It is as clear as daylight that Stalin does not want a peace settlement in Europe or anywhere else in the world, except on his own terms. The longer he could keep the nations of Western Europe in a state of political and economic chaos, the better his chances of success in extending his "zones of influence" over the whole of Europe.

But the Western Democracies are at last fully awake to the sinister strategy of Marshal Stalin's "cold war." Another Marshall has entered the field with an open campaign for economic recovery, and all lovers of peace and freedom shall diligently work and fervently pray for its success.

ideological forces in Europe, and its own strategic interest in the joint control of the Atlantic with a friendly power. It has come to look with more interest and deeper sympathy upon the British state in its attempts to pursue democratic goals. The federal union advocated by some well-meaning people on both sides of the Atlantic is doubtless utopian, but the moral and psychological cohesion of the English-speaking world is advancing, and is likely to advance all the more surely in view of the ideological challenge of communism in a large area of Europe. This growing sense of a common political ethos will facilitate mutual exchange of ideas and methods, further the promotion of welfare through liberal democracy, and assist this ring of states to adjust their complex life to the harsh necessities of a changing world.

COME AND BRING A FRIEND

S.A. Campaign To Continue During Week

The Salvation Army Campaign for its objective of $125,000 will remain open to accept belated contributions, the total announced today being $115,515, is the statement of Duncan I. McNeill, K.C., General Chairman, who says it is imperative the Campaign remain open so that the minimum objective may be reached.

"The splendid and consistent work of the Salvation Army is too valuable to the area of Greater Montreal not to receive the full support of the people," Major Carswell states, while both report on the excellent work in the various districts which have been canvassed by volunteer workers. "The co-operation has been fine in all localities," Major Carswell said.

Full reports from several districts are still being awaited, he reports and says he is hopeful that when these figures come in and late contributors have made their donations, the objective will be achieved.

Demands on the Salvation Army are acute and all its institutions are feeling the strain and cost of providing these services is increasing, it was also reported.

Christian Science

"Ancient & Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Revelation 21: 7 "He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible:

"Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw." (Matthew 12: 22)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science & Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

"Jesus cast out evil and healed the sick, not only without drugs, but without hypnotism, which is the reverse of ethical and pathological Truth-power. All unscientific mental practice is erroneous and powerless, and should be understood and so rendered fruitless. The genuine Christian Scientist is adding to his patient's mental and moral power, and is increasing his patient's spirituality while restoring him physically through divine Love." (pages 185 and 375.)

Dominion Douglas

On Sunday morning the Rev. Graham Barr will preach in Dominion-Douglas on: "The Seeking God". The choir under the direction of Mr. Robb will sing appropriate music.

At the evening service Dr. Smith will take as his theme: "Maintaining Vitality." At this service the choir will sing: "The Heavens are Telling" from the Creation - Haydn and "As the Hart Pants" - Mendelssohn. This will be the last evening service until September 12th.

Preparations are being made for the annual June luncheon of the Woman's Missionary Society, which will be held on Tuesday at 1 p.m. The speaker will be Dr. J. S. Astbury who has recently returned to Canada following a trip around the world visiting the overseas missions of the United Church of Canada.

During the week there will be the usual meetings of Scouts, Cubs, Guides and Brownies.

Westmount Baptist

"Peace of Mind." This boon which, sooner or later, all of us crave, will be the Theme of the morning sermon in Westmount Baptist Church. Freedom from anxiety and from the storms which sweep the inner life, like those that lashed Galilee into a fury, is surely one of the supreme blessings of life. There are so many things that destroy our peace; yet Christ was not talking figuratively when he promised his own Peace, a Peace that brings inward poise and quiet assurance. Nor was Paul merely using beautiful language when he said "And the Peace of God which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds through Jesus Christ.". People seeking this peace will be greatly helped by this Service.

"Getting What We Need From God." This will be the Subject of Dr. Johnston's evening Address. The Apostle declared affirmatively that "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." Our needs are deep and varied and yet here is a promise that the need of each of us may be fully met. Lives that are now frustrated and unhappy may find the very thing that will bring satisfaction, salvation and victory.

The Westmount Mid-week Fellowship continued each Wednesday evening throughout the summer. It is attended by a company of people who find that by thus coming together in the Presence of Christ, life is purified, re-inforced and sustained. Prayer, alas, is becoming a lost art in the Church of Christ. The call to all Christians is surely to come together in the place of prayer.

Calvary Church

The Services of Worship in Calvary United Church on Sunday, will be conducted and the sermons delivered by the Minister, the Rt. Rev. Dr. T. W. Jones, Moderator of The United Church of Canada, who has just returned from a six-week visit overseas to the Conferences of the Churches in England and Scotland. This will be the only Sunday until the Fall that Dr. Jones will be in his pulpit in Calvary Church and all friends and members are cordially invited to attend.

The Communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed on Sunday morning following the sermon. All who love the Lord Jesus Christ are invited to share in this service.

The Student Assistant, Mr. Maxwell Reader, B.A., will be preaching in Waterloo, Que., for this Sunday and Rev. E. D. Mitchell, M.A., of Waterloo, Que., will assist Dr. Jones in the service of worship and of Infant Baptism.

A special meeting of the Women's Association is called for Friday afternoon, May 28th at 2.30 p.m. It is hoped to give a welcome to Dr. Jones at that meeting. This meeting is the final one for this season and will take the place of the one usually held on the first Wednesday of the month. All the ladies of the congregation are urged to attend.

WEDDING
LANDRY - BISHOP

At the marriage of Jane Ranken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bishop, 785 Upper Belmont Avenue, to Mr. David Michael Landry, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Landry, 493 Mt. Pleasant Avenue, which took place recently in the Erskine and American United Church, the Rev. G. R. Cragg officiated, assisted by the Rev. A. de M. Cameron, of the Church of the Messiah.

The bride, in a gown of ivory Brussels lace over ivory satin and mousseline de soie, fashioned on simple lines, which belonged to her grandmother, was given away by her father. Her veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a bandeau of lily-of-the-valley white Killarney roses and stephanotis and she carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Mr. Berkely Chadwick played the wedding music, and tulips, roses, snapdragons and white plum blossoms were used as decorations.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Cynthia Landry, sister of the bridegroom and the bridesmaids, Miss Betty Sutherland and Miss Helen Driver, were gowned alike in frocks of apple green taffeta, the bodices having draped necklines, forming small capes, and the full skirts fashioned with graduated tucks. Their bandeaux were of slate blue sweetpeas and guinea gold roses in their hair and they carried bouquets of the same flowers.

The flower girl, Miss Janet Logan, a cousin of the bride, wore an apple green taffeta frock, having puffed sleeves and a tucked skirt, and carried a Colonial bouquet of flowers.

Mr. Alan Finley acted as best man for Mr. Landry and the ushers were Mr. David McConnell, Mr. H. T. Macfarlane, Mr. Ward Pitfield, Mr. John Bishop, brother of the bride, and Mr. Peter Landry, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Bishop, mother of the bride, wore a gown of flowered printed crepe, fashioned with side drapery. She wore a hat of dove grey Milan straw and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. Landry, mother of the bridegroom, wore an ensemble of jade green crepe with a matching hat, brown accessories, Russian sable furs and had a spray of brown orchids fastened to her handbag.

The reception was held in Cheney Hall where mixed spring flowers and plum blossoms were used to decorate the bride's table, being arranged with white roses and sweetpeas.

Mr. and Mrs. Landry sailed on board the Ascania for Great Britain, France and Switzerland, where they will spend the summer. The bride traveled in a suit of navy blue and white shepherd check and wore a hat of navy blue rough straw and accessories of the same color.

GERRY'S Chatter Column

A Fascinating Hobby

There is a tremendous interest being shown in the making of hand hooked rugs, which is an interesting hobby for the family. I do not mean the old fashioned rag rug made on burlap, which also is in demand, but the type that is made from a canvas mesh foundation that is quite pliable and marked off in squares, so that a pattern is very easily followed. The big feature of this type of rug making is that no frame is necessary, all that is needed is a simple latch hook, so that one can do the work while chatting away, or carry it where ever one goes. If you visit the hooked rug Dept. at Robert Simpson's, you will find all the girls busily hooking rugs, and with such enthusiasm, that I found it hard not to enter into this attractive pastime too. The girls are only too eager to give you instructions, as to the hooking and the following of a pattern, and also how to make your own design, which is fun also. These rugs which are made from BOUQUETTE CARPETTE RUG WOOL, when finished closely resemble the imported rugs, and will give years of wear. I was amazed when told that the ordinary washing machine will clean these rugs beautifully, without hurting the pile; in fact I have seen one that has been used for three years and has been cleaned by this method, which looks as good as new. The foundation canvas 27" wide is $1.00 yd., the 36", $1.25, the wool is $2.00 a lb. The saleslady was working on a 27 x 36" rug, and said that the TOTAL COST including the HOOK and CUTTER, CANVAS and WOOL would cost around $8.00. This will enable you to have a high quality rug that you will be proud of and so easily made, a hobby in which the whole family can participate this summer.

★ Your Out Of Date Furs

The wise ladies who have sent their furs to L. P. Lazare & Co., 1454 Peel St., for summer storage will have received by this time their estimate for repairs, if any. Attending the fur show some time ago I was thrilled with the new winter styles, the full sleeves and backs . . . in fact the fur silhouette has undergone a complete change this past year, tending to make one's coat of a few years ago look obsolete, and yet, who wants to discard a perfectly good coat. Here is the answer to your problem. If your coat is in perfect condition but you want a different kind of fur, remember, YOUR COAT HAS DOLLAR VALUE AT LAZARE'S as a trade-in deposit, for a beautiful 1949 creation. Your old fur coat can actually be a part trade-in deposit for a new and glamorous one next winter. OR, if you still wish to retain your old coat, visit LAZARE'S and investigate the new shoulderline, swingline and hemline possibilities. Remodeling won't cost as much as you think at LAZARE'S during May and June, and you'll have practically a new coat for a reasonable cost. With the expert craftsmen to advise you on the new styles, you are assured of receiving the most value for your money at LAZARE'S. As the hip length coat is going to be worn this winter, some ladies are having their old coats cut to this style, and wearing them as an in-between coat. However, whatever style you choose, be sure and have LAZARE'S do your styling.

C.S.L. Gift Shop

Much interest has been shown in the window display of The C.S.L. Gift Shop, 1480 Sherbrooke St. W., featuring the Canadian hand blocked drapery material, the design being the old French Church at Tadoussac. This material can be printed on any three colors one may require. The SHOP is now carrying suede jackets made by the well known English firm, DENTS. The jackets are hip length, having two pockets and belt, silk lined, in beautiful shades of Red, Gold and Blue, for $55.00. There are also waistcoats, for $27.50 in Red, Gold, Green and Blue. The very colorful Guatemala table cloths and napkins have been reduced from $9.55 to $6.00. One combination is salmon with blue and yellow stripes, having little ducks along the side. The luncheon sets of green, yellow and blue are $3.00. These cloths are all hand woven by the Mayan Indians who today are weaving their textiles in the same form and manner as did his ancestors. A real attractive black blouse is sometimes hard to find, and it is one that can look as attractive on a young as well as on an older person. This pure silk blouse with hand drawn work in the front, has pearl buttons set with a small rhinestone, and has been reduced from $35.00 to $18.95, size 18. Then there is a grey crepe, for $15.00. The collectors of miniatures who have been looking for a Chinese tea set should make sure and see the brown crockery tea pot with four tea bowls, for $5.00, with a black and gold metal tray, for $1.50. A very attractive wedding gift can be the inexpensive plates with blue borders, having gold flower centers for $2.00 each. These may be gift wrapped and delivered from the C.S.L. Gift Shop. The English cut Brurley Crystal ash trays ars unusual in shape and also make lovely gifts for $3.75.

★ Food Is Health Food Is Life

When last discussing with Mr. Sydney Clark of the Super Health Aluminum Co. Ltd. the subject of cooking vegetables especially with regard to type of utensil to be used, he was very emphatic on a few particulars which I thought you would be interested in knowing: WHY SUPER HEALTH UTENSILS SHOULD ALWAYS BE USED. 1st. THE FOOD YOU EAT TODAY IS OUR BODY OF TOMORROW. Natural food contains all the body requires for a healthy existence as they include vitamins and minerals, but these food values can be lost in your kitchen by (a) Peeling which destroys much of the precious ingredients. (b) Boiling and high temperature cooking. "In addition to important losses of calcium, phosphorus and iron, it has been found that two-thirds of the iodine of green vegetables appears in the cooking water". The late Dr. Mayo wrote: "When you boil vegetables you extract the food values and throw them away". Here are the four reasons why cooking the SUPER HEALTH way have proven to be so beneficial. (a) Vegetables and fruits are cooked in their own moisture at low temperature. (b) Top stove roasting. (c) Greaseless grilling or frying. (d) Tea and coffee made the immersion method. There is a Super Health unit for every purpose, all of which can be obtained at any of the Hardware Departments. The seven salient points of Super Health are: Designed for healthful cooking . . . Heavy cast from pure aluminum . . . No rivets or seams to corrode . . . Lasts for years . . . Seals in cooking odors . . . Saves money in food and fuel . . . Shines like silver.

★ Gifts For The Bride

From now on the Summer weddings will be taking place, which means gifts to be thought of, and, if you are looking for rare pieces of silver or china, I certainly know of no better shopping spot than the MORGAN TRUST GALLERY, on City Councillor St., and judging by the many ladies I noticed there last week, I am not the only person who thinks so. The most fascinating room to spend a quick half hour in is the china room. Here you will have no trouble in picking out a rare piece of Spode, wedgwood, or crystal . . . these are gifts that any bride will cherish. There are four very valuable prints hanging on the wall of this room, which have been part of a collection of twenty, that were sold at a recent auction at Sotheby's, London. They are colored plates engraved after Howett (1766-1822) and are drawings of British field sports. They fetched £1,150 for the 20, and these four are here priced at $200.00. You will find a finely scrolled, oriental tin, Chinese double compartment box, for $6.50, which could be used for smokes and matches. Here is a chance to buy some old Wedgwood, dated 1780; this is a tea set, and can be bought by the piece. There is a good size Irish glass decanter, beautifully cut, that will fit perfectly in any wedding gift display, for $25.00, also, many cut glass decanters from $6.00 up. There is something about a brass kettle that adds charm to a fireplace, and the one here, an English flat top type of $18.00, should NOT be missed, for it is a beauty. Here is a more expensive gift, one that could be used for a presentation: A pair of fine old English Hall marked candlesticks, about 13" high, expertly made by Mathew Boulton, London, 1817. There are so many other beautiful pieces that I have not mentioned, so before some one else has picked them up, do visit MORGAN TRUST GALLERY.

Sodality Officers Elected At 10th Anniversary Meeting

A review of the tenth anniversary year of the Young Ladies' Sodality of Ascension Parish at the annual meeting held recently showed many activities successfully carried out during the past season.

Officers elected for the coming season are as follows: Prefect, Miss Alice St. James; Vice-Prefect, Massia Cach; Recording Secretary, Patricia Mulcair; Corresponding Secretary, Marguerite Ascoli and Treasurer, Miss Carol Melvin.

Through the work of the Apostolic Committee, visits were made to the Convalescent Hospital every Sunday morning by two or three Sodalists when cigarettes and magazines were distributed to the patients. A new project sponsored by this committee was to take fifty children from St. Patrick's Orphanage to see the Santa Claus Parade and it is planned to take the children out again in June, this time for a picnic. At Christmas time seventeen baskets were prepared and distributed to needy families. Besides this, several girls from the sodality served many valuable hours as Nurses' Aides, at St. Mary's Hospital. Old clothes were collected and turned over to the Welfare Bureau for distribution and candy and tobacco were sent to the Old Folks' Home.

The Social Life committee opened the season with a tea at the Queen's Hotel, followed by a Social in November at Victoria Hall. This committee made the arrangements for a dinner held at the Tertiary House to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Sodality, and in April planned and successfully carried through a Fashion Show by Bruck Silk Mills. In May, a Mother and Daughter Communion Breakfast was held at the Berkeley Hotel and the activities for this committee ended with the serving of refreshments at the close of the annual meeting.

A Mystic Library was established this year by the Catholic Truth committee whereby sodalists loaned their books out to other members. This committee also looked after the pamphlet rack at the back of the Church.

The main project of Our Lady's Committee was the promotion of the Family Rosary. Pilgrimages to Bonsecours and Gesu churches are also planned by this committee.

The Eucharistic committee was in charge of the monthly spiritual meetings; Holy Hours held on the Feast of Christ the King, New Year's Eve and on Holy Thursday; and of the closed retreat held at the Convent of the Sisters of the Immaculate Conception.

SMOTHER THAT SNEEZE

Good personal hygiene is a most important measure for the control of droplet infections, the root of many respiratory diseases. If people could avoid the expulsion into the air of organisms from the nose and throat, a major source of infection would be eliminated. Paper handkerchiefs for use when sneezing or coughing or blowing the nose are valuable as they may be burned after use. Dust control measures in the home and industry are also good methods of preventing the spread of these diseases, national health experts say.

Before Packing Iron For Travelling, Check On Thermostat Control

Be sure your electric iron can be used on both alternating and direct current before depending on it for travel.

The lightweight folding irons, sold especially for travelers, usually have no thermostatic control and therefore can be used on either AC or DC. But irons with thermostats may not be suited for both types of current.

Thermostats

Thermostats on irons for use on AC may be ruined on DC. Contact points can be melted when the thermostat acts to break the current when the iron reaches the desired temperature. Then, either the iron will no longer heat, or the heat is uncontrolled and if continued may even melt the plate of the iron.

Public power lines throughout the country are AC but many private concerns, such as hotels, apartments, hospitals and other institutions have their own generating plants and are still on DC. Some are in the process of converting so may have DC in some rooms and AC in others.

Travelers, therefore, should know whether the iron or other electrical equipment they carry is for use on AC or on both AC and DC.

Third edition of the Mary Beetles Spring Revue will be presented Saturday afternoon at the Sun Life Auditorium in aid of the Kinsmen Club of Montreal Boys' Club and Youth Work. Owing to numerous requests from pupils and friends, a few numbers seen on the program, May 7th, at His Majesty's Theatre will be repeated.

Two Studio Recitals will be held next week, one on Tuesday and the other on Thursday, featuring the piano pupils of Annette Deschamps and Bertha Macbeth. On Wednesdays, Muriel Shoobridge and Olive Sanborn Lead will present their pupils in a song and recitation recital at Wesley United Church.

"Now Voyager" Avenue Theatre On Saturday

In her picture, "Now Voyager," which opens Saturday at the Avenue Theatre, Bette Davis has a glorious role that surpasses anything she has done before. She plays the part of a neurotic daughter of a strict New England mother, whose only escape from her sordid world is a frustrated love affair. In the male lead is suave, handsome Paul Henreid.

Charlotte Vale, (Miss Davis' role) is interviewed by a psychiatrist, Dr. Jaquith (Claude Rains) who was brought there by her sister-in-law Lisa (Ilka Chase).

After a period of trial readjustment at Dr. Jaquith's rest home, he advises Charlotte to take a trip before returning home. This she does, and during the voyage, meets and falls in love with Jerry (Paul Henreid) an unhappily married man whose love for his child keeps him attached to his invalid wife. Despite the fact that her love affair can never really reach its ultimate, Charlotte's relationship with Jerry enables her to return home a completely changed woman both in appearance and mentally.

Second Attraction

The added attraction will be the delightful comedy "Million Dollar Baby" co-starring three popular players, Ronald Reagan, Priscilla Lane and Jeffrey Lynn.

Children's Play At Monkland Saturday Morning

Here is good news for the hundreds of children who were disappointed for the past two weeks and were not able to see "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs". Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, the directors of the Children's Theatre, regretted that so many youngsters were turned away as there were no more tickets, but are pleased to announce that the performance will be repeated at the Monkland Theatre on Saturday morning at 9.45.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", ever one of the most popular of all fairy stories, has been most enthusiastically received, and this performance at the Monkland Theatre will give hundreds of youngsters an opportunity to see this delightful play. You will meet the lovely Snow White and her Prince Charming, the wicked witch, the jealous queen, the kindly huntsman, all the lords and ladies of the court, and, of course, you will be thrilled with the seven little dwarfs who live in the deep forest. Elaborate costumes, beautiful scenery, tuneful songs and dancing, will round out an excellent morning's entertainment.

Piano Students Will Be Heard

Many clever young pianists will take part in the annual recital by pupils of the well known Montreal teacher, Miss Francis Goltman, Lic., Mus., on Tuesday, June 8th, at 8.15 p.m. in Tudor Hall of James A. Ogilvy's Limited.

As usual, Miss Goltman has selected attractive recital numbers to suit each individual performer and as there is music of great variety the programme will appeal to all lovers of good music. It includes Movements from Sonatas. Concert Etudes, Waltzes, Marches, Tarantellas, a Spanish and Russian Dances and many types of classical works. The public is cordially invited to attend as there is no charge for admission.

Stand-Out Performances In Film At Westmount Sunday

"Nightmare Alley", which starts Sunday at the Westmount Theatre, stars Tyrone Power with Joan Blondell, Coleen Gray and Helen Walker. And it rocks the screen with its unusual and provocative theme!

Based on William Lindsay Gresham's sensational novel, the film presents Tyrone Power in a completely different role, one that forcefully demonstrates his remarkable versatility. On the opposite pole from his portrayal as the idealist in "The Razor's Edge," Power turns in a startling performance as Stan Carlisle, a ruthless carnival barker turned mentalist who succeeds in vaudeville, night clubs and finally his own phony tabernacle by preying on the fears of others. Completely unprincipled, he rides roughshod over the women who adore him and men who trust him, only to fall prey to a woman more ruthless than he.

"Nightmare Alley" is packed with standout performances. Joan Blondell, as Zeena, teaches Power the secrets of her mind-reading act, yet is tossed aside early. Coleen Gray, in but her second screen portrayal, is convincing as Molly, the curvaceous partner of "The Great Stanton." She is exploited mercilessly, yet never quite convinces herself that her husband could be that phony. Helen Walker, as Lilith Ritter, is the hard-minded psychologist—ironically the one person Power never plays false, and the one by whom he is betrayed.

Second Feature

In 1924 a ragged little jet-black three-year-old, so tough that his jockey needed a shot-loaded quirt to handle him, took most of America's "bookies" for probably the toughest ride in their history. He was "Black Gold," the winner of the 50th running of the Kentucky Derby.

This horse's story was so fabulous, and so full of human interest, that Allied Artists decided to put it on the screen as their first Cinecolor production. Anthony Quinn was cast to star as "Charley Eagle," Oklahoma Indian owner of the horse. Katherine DeMille, Quinn's wife in real life, would play opposite him as his screen wife. Ducky Louie was chosen to portray the jockey, and the cast would also include Elyse Knox, Raymond Hatton, Kane Richmond and Moroni Olsen.

"Black Gold," the dramatic picture which was the result of these plans, and the expenditure of a million dollars in production cost, will be the added attraction!

The screen story of "Black Gold" follows closely the real story of the horse's career. His mother, a mare named Useeit, was owned by an Oklahoma Indian. She wasn't too good a sprinter, but her owner worshipped her, as Quinn does the mare he appears with in the picture. Useeit was bred to "Black Tony," famous stallion owned by the great race track figure, Col. E. R. Bradley.

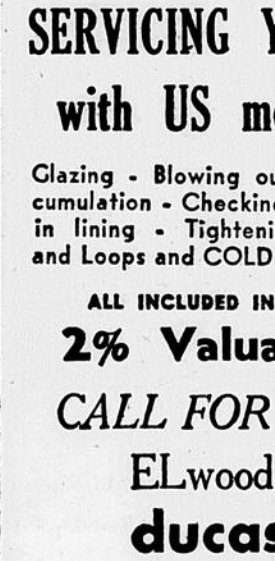

Following the birth of the colt, Useeit's owner died, as he does on the screen. But on his deathbed he told his wife that the colt would win the Kentucky Derby. The Indian had prophesied correctly, and three years later it actually did win the Derby, with the Indian's wife, tears in her eyes, proudly receiving the gold cup.

In the Winter book "Black Gold" had been a 200-to-1 shot, though when he went to the post he was the favorite at less than 2 to 1. With the horse also a favorite of the Indians in Oklahoma, the betting on him from that state was heavy. Many of the bookies tried to "lay off" their bets, but it was too late. They took a terrific beating. In some cases, it was years before bets were completely paid off.

For the race there were 19 starters. Most of the great names of racing were represented by their colors. But this colt, named "Black Gold" because he was born just as an oil gusher was brought in on his owner's ranch, won by half a length.

Ullaine Malloy Thrills Crowds At Belmont Park

Gasps of fear and cries of admiration greet the aerial exploits of pretty young Ullaine Malloy, whose brilliant feats on the trapeze are currently thrilling thousands at newly-opened Belmont Park. Featured in the Park's policy of free outdoor attractions, Miss Malloy performs twice daily, at 5 p.m. and at 11 p.m. Each time her performance presents the highlight of the day.

Known as "Venus of the Air" to thousands in the United States who have witnessed her spine-chilling aerial acrobatics, Ullaine Malloy comes to Belmont Park from a long series of engagements that began at the age of 17 when she joined the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus. A season under that famous "big top" established her reputation as a daring and brilliant performer, and for the following two years her act was featured with the equally famed Sells-Floto Circus, during which time she performed in nearly every large city of America.

However, but for the lure of the circus, Ullaine Malloy might have become a newspaperwoman. She was born in Idaho and attended the State University there, graduating in journalism. For some time she contemplated the two mutually exclusive careers and then decided in favor of the aerial trapeze, which had always been a hobby with her. Today her earlier training stands her in good stead for she understands the language of the press and enjoys her interviews with newspapermen.

But Miss Malloy is first of all an athlete. She swims, rides and hunts. She enjoys riding best of all, and is an expert at jumping as well as skilled in amateur polo.

As the personable gambler in this popular RKO Radio film, Mr. Grant has added another, and a novel, portrayal to his large gallery of screen portraits. For Fine Summer Lawns Attend to Fertilizing Now

With really hot weather in the offing, it is time now to give the lawn its last feeding until fall. The best lawn fertilizer is one that is high in nitrogen, with good support, but lower percentages, of both phosphorus and potash. The nitrogen is the chemical responsible for sturdy leaf growth and that is what is wanted from grass.

It is possible this year to buy once more the lawn fertilizers that are made with organic as well as inorganic nitrogen. These are superior to inorganic ones because, while the chemical nitrogen (inorganic) gives a quick response in growth, it is the organic (made from animal or plant matter) nitrogen that sustains the grass for the long summer time. It gives out its salts slowly, as rain and weather conditions cause it to decompose.

Fertilize Carefully

Just plain organic fertilizers are fine for the lawn too, particularly at the very end of June. These include cotton seed meal, soybean meal, dried blood, tankage and the like. Some of them are available in certain localities this year, others have still to come back on the market.

A light sprinkling of fertilizer at this time of year is ample. If you own a fertilizer spreader, make the necessary adjustment in the openings so that the material is just able to go through and will not pour out. This brings up the matter of fertilizer spreaders.

If you don't already own one, it is a good investment to make. Not only can fertilizer be put on the lawn evenly and rapidly, by just loading and pushing the spreader, but grass seed and screened compost from your own compost pile are also handled by this versatile tool.

Water Thoroughly

There are all prices of spreaders, some with the hopper made of cardboard cost only about $2, the large size metal spreaders costing $10 or $12. And there are all kinds of sizes in between these two in price. If you want to keep it looking just so, a spreader is a big help.

After the fertilizer is spread, do be sure to water the lawn well, not just sprinkle it. This water washes the fertilizer down around the grass roots and the soil, so that any soluble chemicals will be absorbed by the soil.

And then, to complete the lawn care required for this season of the year, reset your lawn mower so it cuts at least an inch and a half, better two inches, high.

Your lawn is probably largely composed of bluegrass, if it is a sunny lawn. Bluegrass has a dormant or resting period in the heat of summer, therefore growth slows greatly. To keep the lawn looking well and healthy it is necessary to stop close clipping, for the bluegrass just won't take it. The two-inch setting is probably as high as your lawn mower will go. The grass may not look quite as trim when it is allowed to grow this high, but it will stay a lot greener and come out of the summer heat in a lot better shape if left that little bit longer.

THE EARLY BIRD

Agnes: "How did you stop your husband from staying out late at his club?"

Jane: "When he came in late, I called out in a nice, sweet voice, 'Is that you, Jack?' and my husband's name is Tom."

Betty Speirs-Peter Miller Show of Shows Successful

The Betty Speirs-Peter Miller 'Show of Shows' lived up to its title Thursday last when before a capacity audience the annual Springtime Dance Revue was presented. Beginning with the baby classes in 'Mickey Mouse's Birthday Party' to the senior and exhibition presentations everything was in the smooth and clever manner usually associated with this show. As Mickey Mouse and Minnie Mouse, Heather Goad and Susan Mendelsohn were the 'life of the party' and were ably supported by Shirley Birrell, Jill and Mary Timmins, Barbara Ann Pringle and Marjory Klein, while in the ballet roles those outstanding were Joane Miller, Louise Bissonnette, Virginia Connors, Sandra Van Der Haeghe and Suanne Moseley. Colour was added by Dorothy Mendelsohn and Marion Bedonkean in a Gypsy number.

The antics of the babies, including the unrehearsed interludes, won the audience completely and made them receptive for a fine junior variety programme which starred Emily Ann Robertson, Judith Bennett, Beverley Calvert and Beverley Gilbert.

Special mention is made of Sheila Edwards for 'The Swan', in which this young lady displayed talent which promises big things for the future. Marion Grant and Joyce Atterbury were to the fore with smart solos while the tap dancing of the classes was a revelation.

The hit of the evening was undoubtedly an Irishman of three years of age who sang and danced to his own and the audience's huge enjoyment. As the revue moved along we were treated to some fine work by the soloists Carroll Guerin, Eunice Newall, Emily Ann Robertson, Sheila Edwards and Mary Blicksted, which was the best we have yet seen.

Teachers Perform

When the seniors took the stage the honors certainly went to Peter Miller and Therese Daly for a lovely vocal duet followed by a brilliant Exhibition Waltz, which received an ovation and deservedly so. Here the two teachers gave pupils and audience alike a perfect example of stage presence and showmanship.

Mr. Miller immediately followed with a ballroom demonstration in Tango, Foxtrot, Waltz and Rumba with Lorraine Harris, a very personable young lady.

Space does not permit the mentioning of all names but "Les Sylphides" ballet, by the senior group and Exhibition Waltz by the juniors were excellent as was the spectacular finale in which the entire ensemble danced Miller's celebrated 'Time Step Routine.' Harold Morris at the Concert Grand was a tower of strength.

In closing we would add that Betty Speirs, Peter Miller, their assistants and pupils have never excelled this recital.

AT THE AVENUE SATURDAY!

Paul Henreid and Bette Davis in a dramatic moment from the picture "Now Voyager" which will be shown at the Avenue Theatre starting Saturday until Tuesday!

"Mr. Lucky" and "The Fallen Sparrow" At Monkland, Sat.

Mr. Lucky", Cary Grant's new starring film for RKO Radio, tells what happens when a self-made gambler clashes with a Manhattan socialite. Around this theme the picture builds an unusual story of romance, scheming and conflict that is said to make it one of the most entertaining vehicles of the season.

The two principals meet. Grant, trying to promote a bankroll so he can take his luxurious gambling boat to South American waters. is also dodging by posing as another man. Laraine Day, the Park Avenue girl, is endeavoring to raise $100,000 for Relief, Inc., so a cargo of medical supplies can be sent overseas.

The relief workers are planning a charity dance to obtain part of their money. Grant seeing his opportunity, tries to persuade them that a gambling concession on the side, operated by his men, will bring them the whole hundred thousand in one evening. He doesn't tell them that he intends to abscond with the entire receipts.

However, Fate takes a hand in the affair, and as Grant and Miss Day find themselves becoming more and more interested in each other, unforeseen complications arise. The whole film provides Grant with what is probably his finest and most colorful role to date. The outcome is as exciting as it is unexpected.

Charles Bickford, Gladys Cooper, Henry Stephenson and Alan Carney, head the supporting cast of the David Hempstead production. H. C. Potter directed, from the screenplay by Milton Holmes and Adrian Scott.

Second Feature

"The Fallen Sparrow", RKO Radio offering which comes to the Monkland Theatre, Saturday, with Maureen O'Hara and John Garfield in the stellar roles, is the sort of movie that tempts one to describe it in superlatives.

It's as thrilling a story of hard-boiled love - making, clever detective work and perilous adventure as the screen has served up for a long time. Its absorbing escape entertainment, calculated to make the spectator forget his troubles and sure, at intervals, to make his hair stand on end!

The locale is New York City, the time, before our entry into World War II. But the plot really begins with hero Garfield's soldiering for the Loyalists in Spain's civvil war, and unwittingly picking a feud wth Hitler over a battle standard which he hides to prevent its capture by Fascists.

It's Herr Hitler's whim, to have the flag, but Garfield's only hope of survival is to avoid telling, even under torture in prison, where it is. If he tells, he knows he will be killed. After two years of imprisonment, he is allowed to escape.

As the picture opens, he is returning to New York City, to avenge the murder of a friend who, he thinks, was killed for arranging his get-away. From the first he suspects that the agents are not through with him, and are thinking up a scheme to make him reveal where he has hidden the flag.

Soon he realizes their presence among New York's crowd of refugees, and recognizes part of their new scheme against him as the use of feminine allure. He suspects three beautiful women — Miss O'Hara, Martha O'Driscoll and Patricia Morison — of being in league with his deadly enemies. By way of finding out if this is true, he makes hard-boiled love to all three.

Another friend of the hero's is murdered, and events move swiftly to an action-packed climax in which the hero traps his foes before they can spring an unescaping trap upon him. Suspense is sustained right up to the surprise ending.

Garfield is ideally cast. Miss O'Hara never had a better role and the other two girls, Walter Slezak, John Miljan, Hugh Beaumont, John Banner and others of a large supporting cast, appear to excellent advantage. "The Fallen Sparrow" is based on Dorothy B. Hughes' novel, as scenarized by Warren Duff. Robert Fellows produced the big movie for RKO Radio, and Richard Wallace directed it.

AT THE SNOWDON SATURDAY!

Gregory Peck and Dorothy McGuire play lead roles in the Academy Award Winning Picture "Gentleman's Agreement" which starts Saturday at the Snowdon Theatre. Based on the sensational and provocative best-seller by Laura Z. Hobson, the picture also stars John Garfield and Celeste Holm.

"Gentleman's Agreement" Widely Hailed Film, Snowdon Saturday

Following on the heels of unprecedented acclaim that marks it as one of the most exciting and important motion picture entertainments of recent years, "Gentleman's Agreement" opens Saturday at the Snowdon Theatre. The film stars Gregory Peck, Dorothy McGuire and John Garfield, and was directed by Elia Kazan from Moss Hart's screen adaptation of the widely discussed best-seller by Laura Z. Hobson.

There was never any question in mind as to the choice for the film's central character, the crusading magazine writer, Phil Green. In describing him in her novel, Miss Hobson practically puts the finger on Gregory Peck: "He was in his thirties, tall . . . with an intelligent, decent face. Eyes and hair were dark . . . there was a quiet about him, an absence of aggression, yet there was no diffidence in his voice or manner." The part gave Peck his most challenging role and heaviest acting schedule to date.

Dorothy McGuire was assigned the complex role of Kathy, whose romance with Phil is threatened by something which, despite all her understanding and love, she cannot comprehend before it is almost too late.

The role of Dave Goldman, who understands only too well the cause of Phil and Kathy's difficulties, went to John Garfield, who considers this the most important role of his career, although he does not appear until the film is almost two-thirds over.

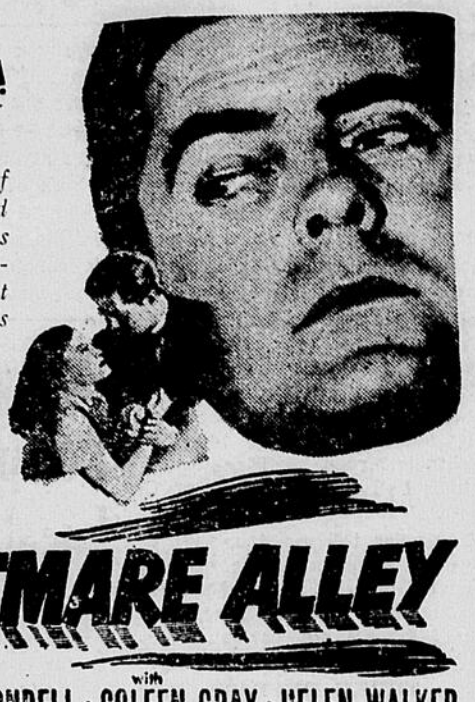

Others in the outstanding cast include Celeste Holm, as the vivacious fashion writer; Anne Revere as Phil's liberal and understanding mother; June Havoc as Phil's tortured and confused secretary; Albert Dekker as the fighting liberal magazine editor; Jane Wyatt as Kathy's "country club set" sister; and Dean Stockwell as Tommy Green. As the millions who read the book know, "Gentleman's Agreement" is the story of Phil Green, young, crusading feature writer, and of the exciting challenge and adventure he experienced when he undertook to do a daring and complacency-shattering series of articles. Determined to tackle his subject from the inside out, Phil assumes an amazing masquerade. Driven by a passion no woman could understand, he is catapulted into a world he never knew, but stubbornly pursues his course although to the one woman he loves it spells the destruction of their romance. The startling things he discovers; what befalls his family; and how he is forced to choose between his conscience and Kathy is said to emerge on the screen with all the terrific suspense and gripping drama that has made "Gentleman's Agreement" the most provocative story of these times.

ASCENSION HUNTING FOR HITTERS

Local Fastballers Reported Interested In Emmett Jones

The fastball grapevine would have you believe that Kevin Kennedy's Ascension ball nine are conducting an intensive search for players who can put a few dents in the old apple. For the local larrigans, after winning their opener against Steinberg's in smart fashion way back on May 9, have dropped three straight. And the chief cause of all the trouble has been a woeful lack of power at the plate.

The Westmounters are now embedded in the Snowdon League cellar. They are reported interested in the services of Emmett Jones, burly right-handed hurler who saw considerable service with St. Augustine's last summer both on the mound and in the outfield. Emmett, now in the twilight of his athletic career, is a dangerous man at the plate. Last summer he connected safely his first ten official times at bat. If the locals can persuade the big fellow to join their forces, hey'll really have a long ball hitter worthy of the name.

The spies tell me, too, that the boys are after a couple of players who operated in the East End League last season. One thing seems reasonable certain: Kennedy's men need strengthening.

THREE DEFEATS

Here's the bad news, all in one paragraph: Monday night at Trenholme Park Ernie Mundey's Hampton Food nine hammered out a 19-6 win over the locals. Roger Bourassa was tagged with the loss . . . Sunday night at N.D.G. Park St. Augustine's eked out a 1-0 win over Ascension. This was one the locals should have won — and would have had they been able to get their hits when they were most needed.

The locals left a total of 11 men on base compared to the six left stranded by the Saints. Gerard Lecavalier was charged with the loss on this one although he allowed a scant six hits, half of them of the scratch variety, and fanned 13 . . . Saturday afternoon at N.D.G. Park Thrift knocked out a 6-1 win over the locals with Paul Laurin hurling two-hit ball for the grocers. Bourassa went the route for the losers.

COMING UP

This week's games in the Snowdon Senior Fastball League are as follows:

Tonight at N.D.G. Park: Thrift vs St. Augustine.

Monday night at Trenholme Park: Steinberg's vs Hampton.

Wednesday night at Macdonald Park: Steinberg's vs Thrift.

Kinsmen Classic Set For June 26

Boys of the West End and Verdun will have a chance to participate in Montreal's first soap-box derby since before the war, when the Kinsmen Coaster Classic takes place on June 26th. This year, boys between the ages of 9 and 16 are eligible to compete in the race, sponsored by the Montreal Kinsmen Club.

The question of weight is such an important one to the boys who are building their motorless racers, that it deserves special consideration in any discussion of planning The rules specify that the combined weight of the racer and the boy driving it cannot exceed 250 pounds. Boys who have built racers in the past have found that while a heavier car will pick up speed faster, a lighter car will get off to a quicker start.

When a racer has been completed, the car must pass the Inspection Committee. This committee checks to see that every car abides with the rules regarding steering and brakes, making sure that the car is safe.

Boys who are building racers and have not applied to P. O. Box 915, Place D'Armes, Montreal, for entry, must do so right away, so the name may be placed on file, application completed, and the racer classified and inspected.

STACKS CARDS

Nippy Jones made good at first base. That enabled the Cardinals to return Stan Musial to the outfield, and obtain Ralph LaPointe as infield insurance in the deal sending Dick Sisler to the Phillies.

STAMP CLUB

The Westmount Stamp Club held their regular weekly meeting in the Victoria Hall on Thursday evening, May 20th. Despite seasonal outdoor attractions the attendance at this popular club shows no sign of decreasing. Only two more meetings of the current season remain and members are nrged to make a special effort to wind up the season with a full attendance.

The next regular meeting on June 3rd, for accommodation reasons, will be open to members only. The following week, June 10th, will be the last meeting of the present season and a further announcement will be made in these columns next week.

Competitor Interest In Caledonian Games Wide

The games section of the Caledonian Society reports that interest in the Caledonian games, which will be held Saturday at C. N. Recreation Grounds in Lachine, is back around pre-war level.

Entries are on a considerably heavier scale than for past two years, both for highland games and track and field events, and are coming in from out of town sections as far removed as Hamilton, London and Buffalo to the West and Quebec City to the East. With the earlier date for the Games this year, prior to breaking up of schools, a much greater interest in junior events is anticipated.

FANS DON'T LIKE DODGER NOSE-DIVE

That stormy petrel of the American baseball scene, Brooklyn, is back at it again, with the countless Flatbush fans and Dodger supporters throughout the nation demanding something in the way of an improvement in the fortunes of the slumping Brooklyn baseball team.

Basically, the Dodgers still have the same fine team that won them the National League pennant and carried the New York Yankees to seven games in last year's World Series. They still have the same catching and pitching, the latter considerably strengthened by the acquisition of Preacher Roe, a top southpaw from the Pittsburgh Pirates. Their brightest star is rookie Preston Ward at first base, while the rest of their infield is better than last year. They have Jackie Robinson, Pee Wee Reese, and Billy Cox, and such other talented performers as Johnny Jorgenson, Arky Vaughan and Eddie Miksis. Their outfield still has Pete Reiser, Carl Furillo, and Gene Hermanski, and an addition is strong-hitting Dick Whitman, last year with the Royals.

MIGHT BE LEO'S JOB IS SHAKY

But still this ball club is not winning for high-paid Leo Durocher, probably the top-salaried man in his field, whereas it came through for old Barney Shotton, who got something like $10,000 for a pennant. If Mr. Durocher doesn't start to win pretty soon, he's going to find himself out of a job, for Brooklyn is notoriously impatient with a loser, and the sight of the Dodgers almost ten games back of their great rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals, is not a pretty one to any Flatbush supporter.

You can't blame it all on Leo, though, for his pitching has been the worst in either league. Ralph Branca, 21-game winner from last season, has fallen down miserably, and the rest of the staff has likewise been unreliable. Probably the biggest individual disappointment has been Hugh Casey, ex-ace reliever, who has been ineffective all season long.

ALUMNI ARE NEMESIS FOR BROOKS

Then, you can bet that Leo and his boss, Branch Rickey, are none too happy over the continuing success of their castoffs, including Stan Rojek, Dixie Walker, Eddie Stevens, and Kirby Higbe, who have helped the Pirates into the first division, after the Bucs' dismal finish last year. Then, every time the Brooks play in Boston it is little Eddie Stanky who stars in the game, and this Rickey castoff is the chief reason why the Braves are in third place.

SWEEP BY CARDS HURT MOST

But the finishing blow came last week, when the large, confident Cardinals blew into Flatbush, and swept a three-game series with the Brooks. But the rub is the way in which the Cards did it. They won the first game 4-2, but went on to make a shambles of the next two contests, and their three game totals were 31 runs and 40 hits. Stan Musial led the assault with 11 for 15, and drew more cheers than the whole Dodger team did together. In this series, a Brooklyn ball club was booed for the first time since the Dodgers' dismal seventh place finish in 1943.

It must have brought back memories to Branch Rickey, who has never been any too popular in Brooklyn, and must have given Leo Durocher — the man on the spot — a new feeling — a feeling of apprehension for the first time since he came to Brooklyn in 1939.

Weed Sprayers Must Be Cleaned

Reports of damage done by residues of 2,4D weed killers left in sprayers and then unknowingly used on flowering plants or vegetables is garden news of great importance. There are two possible precautions which may be taken to prevent such a happening in your garden.

The first is to buy a second sprayer, cheaper if necessary, and to use it for 2,4D spraying only. The second is a thorough cleaning of your one and only sprayer after every use of 2,4D sprays by the following method: first clean the sprayer with kerosene, then use soapy water. Rinse with the kerosene once or twice, with the soapy water three or four times, and then with clear water twice. It takes all these rinses to really clease the sprayer—and then one is not absolutely sure that all is well. The purchase of a second sprayer is really the wiser plan.

Lamprey Eels Are Threat To Our Fish Supply

Great Lakes fishermen are a hardy even-tempered lot. But an eel-like two-foot long fish parasite is trying their patience.

Catches are decreasing in number and many of the fish caught have large scar-holes in the sides of their bodies,—tell-tale evidence that the bluish-colored sea lamprey has been at work.

The lamprey grasps the side of the fish with a row of dangerous looking teeth inside its sucking mouth, works its way through the scales and drains the blood.

Number of pounds of lake trout caught in Lake Huron, Georgian Bay and the North Channel fell from 3,797,975 in 1925 to 862,166 in 1945.

Experimental work is being done to determine the abundance of sea lampreys, their life history and methods of control. But much work remains to be done.

It is thought the lampreys originated in Lake Ontario, spread into Lake Huron through the Welland Canal in about 1921. Now they are appearing in eastern waters of Lake Superior.

Experts say apparently the only way to control them is by trapping in spawning grounds—usually a stream of clear, rapid water with a stony bottom.

Little Thessalon River, about 50 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, is the favorite spawning ground. Fact that none spawn in similar adjacent streams is an unsolved puzzle.

Lake Ontario is a potential supply source and experiments aimed at control should be extended to this body of water.

If any commercial use could be found for them, their numbers could be reduced by intensive fishing. Europeans are reported to consider them as delicacy but Canadians have not found them palatable.

A Canadian canning plant canned some one time. The result was edible but at the same time more experiments were suggested.

TRELLIS VINE

Clematis Jackmani, a semi-hardy ornamental vine, is a trellis suggestion for home owners. The vine does best in a sunny location but also thrives in partial shade.

Plant Clematis in rich, well-drained soil and give it protection from wind. Strong winds whip the vines and injure the new growth.

The Jackmani variety is the most widely planted. It bears many large violet-purple flowers throughout the summer and into autumn. While Clematis Jackmani is sometimes killed by severe winter temperatures. it is beautiful enough to be worth that risk. It usually gives some bloom the first season.

Vacationists Warned Against Raw Milk Dangers

The Health League of Canada has announced that as part of its year-round campaign to obtain compulsory milk pasteurization legislation throughout the Dominion, it hopes this summer to enlist the aid of resort operators and vacationists.

In a message to vacationists, the Health League requests them to make sure pasteurized milk is obtainable wherever they plan to spend their holidays, while resort operators are asked to make sure the milk they serve is pasteurized. It is pointed out to resort people that if a supply of the commercially pasteurized product is not available it is possible to make milk safe for human consumption by "home" pasteurization methods.

The Health League is of the opinion many urbain residents are so accustomed to regular delivery of pasteurized milk to their homes that they sometimes fail to realize—or forget—that raw milk exists, and that raw milk can contain dangerous disease bacteria which can cause such serious illness as bovine tuberculosis, typhoid and para-typhoid fever, undulant fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever and septic sore throat.

Further, it is the belief of the Health League that once resort operators are really made aware of the dangers of raw milk they will put the health of their visitors before all other considerations and will make sure their milk supplies are pasteurized.

On the other hand, as long as some vacationists neglect to insist on pasteurized milk there may be some resort operators who will continue to serve unpasteurized milk. However, if customer demand for safe milk becomes unanimous, the Health League says there soon won't be a resort in the nation which will serve anything but the pasteurized variety.

When all static is eliminated from radios, crooners will be deprived of their last alibi.

Those who have suffered from an attack of poison ivy know how cruelly this plant can hurt those who touch it. Here's sound advice from safety officials: "Learn to recognize this plant—and leave it alone. Whether it be bush or vine, its sap is always dangerous. Remove it, and if you can't remove it—don't touch it. You may well spoil your holidays, if you do!

Tag Day Opportunity To Help Crippled Children

The citizens of Westmount and the west-end generally have long taken a keen interest in the School for Crippled Children.

The plight of the child who is not free to play with his fellows, by reason of accident, disease or deformity, wring the heart of humanity, and humanity's heart is a big one.

Citizens of Montreal generally will have the privilege of lending a helping hand to these youngsters Saturday, June 5, the annual tag day of the School for Crippled Children.

Every morning busses travel about Montreal picking up children to take them to this unique school, which is on Cedar avenue. Handicapped in various ways physically, the children are unable to attend normal classrooms, but without fee and without regard to race, creed or color they are welcomed to the School for Crippled Children.

Normal Schooling

At the school they are given wholesome food, taught ordinary school subjects and special additional ones to help them when the time comes for them to earn their living. Too, they have all the benefits of special medical treatment.

"Handicapped but Happy" might well be the motto of the youngsters. The word "crippled" is never mentioned in the school, the children consider themselves as going to school like other youngsters to learn their lessons and learn to be better citizens.

Not one child from the school has ever grown up to go on relief, and many of them today have responsible jobs in Montreal industry and commerce. It is only with the help of the citizens as a whole however, that this work can continue.

The School for Crippled Children is the oldest Institution of its kind on the continent. The annual tag day, June 5, is the only appeal, with the exception of a Christmas letter to a few interested friends of the scheel. The annual operating cost is $60,000 and the governors are hopeful that last year's tag day goal of $20,000 will be topped by a wide margin this year.

Douglas Bremner is president of the school and H. P. Wheatley executive director and governor. Miss S. T. Rountree is headmistress, Miss H. D. McNiece, principal emeritus and governor, and Dr. Harry Stern, visitor. Governors are Willard Mace, Frank J. Kelland, D. B. Ross, William Ashworth and John P. Harrison.

Aren't husbands who rebel at the price of women's hats failing to consider their entertainment value?

Women who go in for heavy cosmetics to make their given age sound plausible are just making up for lost time.

Smoking May Cause Heart Disease Increase

Smoking may have something to do with the higher incidence of coronary thrombosis among women in the past 30 years, according to an article in a recent issue of Hygeia.

"Four groups of 1,000 patients each (smoker, nonsmoker, coronary thrombosis and non-thrombosis) were subjected to statistical analysis. On the average smokers were found to get coronary thrombosis 10 years earlier than nonsmokers. Although not a cause of the disease, smoking is considered by many heart specialists to be a factor," the author, Irene E. Soehren, states.
