

COLLEGE TWELVE ARGONAUTS TWELVE

The Greatest Football Match of the Season Played Saturday.

BUT NO CHAMPIONSHIP WON College Held Its Own With the Much Vaunted Argonauts, Champions of Ontario Union.

Up to date, no team can claim the Canadian Rugby Championship. The reason is that the greatest match ever played here turned out to be a draw. Twelve to twelve was the score, and there was not one serious fight to mar the match.

The result was considerably of a surprise to those who had based their advance ideas of the match upon the newspaper reports. They could judge of the merits of the College men, but they could not judge of the Argonauts' reports for an idea of the qualities of the Argonauts, and in that respect the reports were unconditionally misleading.

They made a lucky fight, however, but as far as the game is concerned, the Ontario Rugby Union is not in it with the Quebec Union. Had Saturday's match taken place a little earlier in the season the Argonauts would have gone back with a few pointers and wrinkles that would have helped them to mow down their opponents.

COLLEGE WAS MARVELOUS. As for College, the team's work was simply marvelous, and it is hard to believe that the ill-fated efforts of three of their men, which resulted in their being put off, College would probably have won.

A GATHERING OF VETERANS. It seemed quite like a gathering of the old class, with this bunch of men who were among the most brilliant players of the time, acting as officials, and King Clancey walking up and down the touch line all day long, and roaring like one occasionally, just to encourage the boys.

THE ARGONAUTS' PLAY. The Argonauts excelled in individual play, and courageous efforts, but even in the individual play the College boys outshined the Argonauts.

It was the last half of the match that was the most exciting. The misadventures of three of the College men made the two teams more evenly matched, and it was a struggle for life.

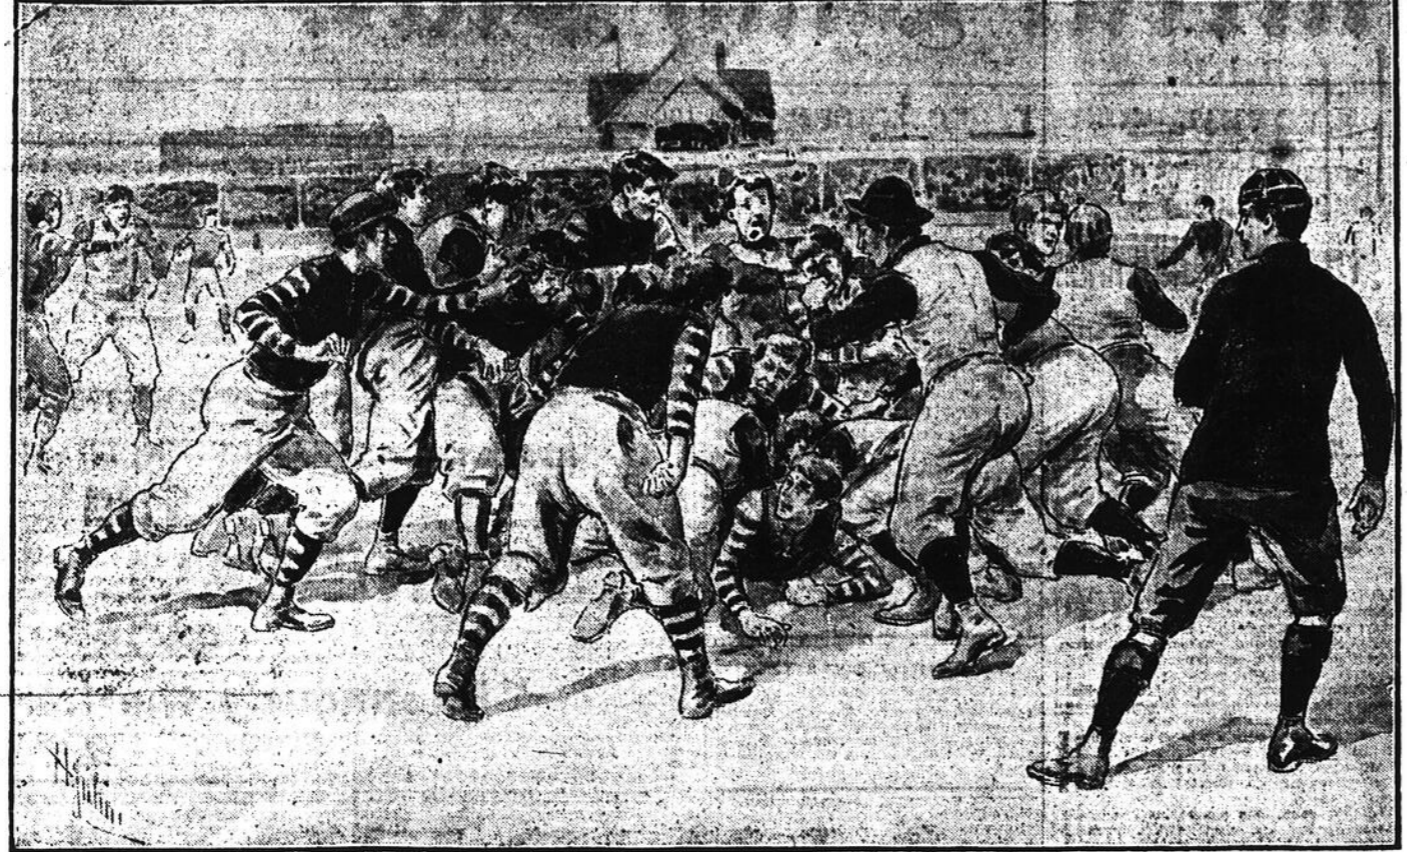

COLLEGE WON THE TOSS. There was a slight breeze from the east when the teams lined out. College won the toss and chose to defend the east end.

COLLEGE, 11. ARGONAUTS, 0. College had the ball in Argonauts' territory when half-time was called. Devin was muffed and the ball rolled to the touch line.

COLLEGE, 11. ARGONAUTS, 0. Boucher took the short kick and it was College's ball. Argonauts were short on the wings, Argos tried a long throw-in.

COLLEGE, 11. ARGONAUTS, 0. Gleson worked a neat trick, and by picking up his own drop kick was able to punt into touch at centre.

legals backs were weak and only Gleson's timely efforts saved them from disaster.

The Mail and Empire reports says: Honours were even and there was no room for any pick. Both teams put up a splendid game and it was nip and tuck throughout.

game progressed, and in the latter part of the game Harvard many times was forced to the limit of the downs to make her distance.

Both teams were handled with good judgment, and about only one mistake can be pointed out.

Harvard presented a team, the personnel of which was unchanged from start to finish, and the happy lovers who thus won glory for the crimson, were almost as full of death when the referee's whistle sounded to meet the onslaught of the Harvard pliers.

"Try not the pass," says the Trunk Line Association.

The excessive excitement into which the Germans have been thrown by an incidental remark of England's great Chamberlain seems to indicate that England has in the past given its great sister beer-drinking nation credit for too much common sense.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer told his constituents that the Government had borrowed a sum of no less than £127,000,000 ($618,400,000), in two years for the purposes of the war and yet it had been obtained with less disturbance in the money market and with less injury to the credit of the country than had been known on any previous occasion which could fairly be compared with it.

At Stirling, Scotland, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman remarked to the assembled Liberals that both he and they were impervious to obloquy and abuse. "We do not care the loss of a ticket that this great newspaper or that great newspaper may say."

It is probable that Sir Henry and his party will continue to abide in the cool shade of opposition until at least one of the great organs of British public opinion endorses their opinions.

At present we have to turn to the Continental press, or the yellow journalism of the United States to find any endorsement of the unpatriotic attitude which the Bannerman wing of the once Great Liberal party has adopted.

THE THIRD CANADIAN CONTINGENT.

The Dominion Government having offered and the Imperial Government having accepted a Third Canadian Contingent, it is not a patriotic attitude to say or do anything to minimize the significance and consequently the moral effect of Canada's latest contribution to the defence of the Empire.

The people of Canada should not, carp about my minor details of the conditions of the arrangement between the two Governments. The contribution of six hundred men with horses, arms and equipment complete, even to the tents; and especially such men as will no doubt be selected; is it this stage of the war a very valuable contribution to the imperial forces.

As Dr. Borden says, the force will arrive in South Africa at a most important juncture of the campaign, and is likely to have a greater opportunity than any Canadian force has had; which in the light of what has been accomplished by our Canadian troops already, is saying a great deal. The force will be an effective one, and will go with the hearty approval of the great majority of the people of Canada.

Even those Canadians who do not altogether approve of Canada sending a contingent, would surely prefer that, if it is to be done at all, it should be done well and done with a good grace.

CIDER AND TEMPERANCE.

In discussing one aspect of the temperance question, the London Spectator makes some comments upon an alternative beverage which should be of interest to the Canadian apple grower. "A good deal has been said of late in the press in regard to the question of cider. For ourselves, we believe that an increase consumption of cider in substitution for that of beer, cheap wines, and spirits would be most beneficial to the community.

But, as was pointed out by one of the writers, ciders of many kinds, and there is had as well as good cider. When men drink bad wine and are made ill, they do not say that wine does not suit them, but that sour wine, or sweet wine, or some particular brand of wine is poison to them. In the case of "apple wine," a man who has blindly taken a bottle of badly made or adulterated cider, when he is made ill, condemns the whole of the poison to him.

What is wanted is classification in ciders as in wines. People should distinguish between the makers of cider and the kinds of cider, as they do between champagne and claret, or, again, Perrier-Jouet and Mumm. It is a pity there are not cider merchants, as there are wine merchants, who would select the best brands, and deal with all the makers and growers so as to be able to match exactly their customers' requirements.

Another matter of great importance is the need of attending to our orchards. Unless we do that it is useless to think of making really good cider. A dirty process will make bad cider out of good apples, but the cleanest and most scientific methods will not make really fine cider out of poor and badly grown apples."

One of the greatest obstacles to the dissemination in the consumption of these alcoholic liquors in the vicinity of the distilleries is the quantity of these

DRIFTING POLITICAL SHIPS.

There are no leads of open water beyond the ice pack, and the political ships are drifting. All the officers of the Liberal craft are agreed in denouncing the incompetence of the ministry in the management of the war.

THE LIVERPOOL BANK ROBBER.

Gooldie, who defrauded the Bank of Liverpool of £170,000, is still at large. Close enquiries are being made by the Liverpool police.

THE SULTAN IS HARD UP.

Never has the Turkish Government been in such financial straits as at the present time. It is impossible to see how the expenses of the Hamaz and Bairam, due in December and January, and involving £200,000 can be met.

THE CORONATION CEREMONIES.

Keen interest has been excited by the reports of the coronation ceremonies in London. The ceremony of the coronation of King George V. will be held on the 26th inst.

RIOTING IN GALWAY.

Serious rioting followed the illuminations at Galway in honour of the election of Col. Arthur Lynch to Parliament. The Nationalists paraded the town, waving their flags and windows of the houses of Unionists and Nationalists suspected of voting for Lynch were defaced with mud.

ANGLO-AMERICAN AFFAIRS.

From their contrast with the Anglo-German outbreak, the speeches of Messrs. Hay and Choate on Anglo-American affairs received a warm, almost a rapturous welcome.

THE LITERARY SENSATION.

The literary sensation of the week is William E. Henley's onslaught upon Stevenson worshippers. In tone it is not dissimilar from that of his attack on the indiscriminate eulogists of Burns.

AMERICAN COMPETITION.

Acute depression prevails in Northampton, Leicester and Kettering, the principal centres of the English shoe trade. American competition is the cause in Northampton of the depression.

GERMANS MAKING GREAT MISTAKE.

They Are Attacking One of Their Best Friends in Britain. Chamberlain not disturbed by hardening in England. But Public Feeling in England is Hardening Against Germany, Where Agitation Continues.

NEW YORK, November 25.

There is a perceptible hardening of public feeling here against Germany. The remark heard on every side is that the German agitators may succeed in making Mr. Chamberlain Prime Minister if they persevere in distorting the obvious meaning of a harmless phrase and in holding him up to ridicule in indecent cartoons.

THE AGITATION CONTINUES.

Berlin, November 25.—Germany continues to ring with the protests against the reference of the Berlin case to the British Colonial Secretary, made to the German army in his speech at Edinburgh.

GERMANY'S NEW TARIFF BILL.

THE NAVIGATION SEASON CLOSED

Last Ship of the Season the Steamer Banana Sailed To-day.

A DECREASE IN TONNAGE.

Low Rates and Scarcity of Cargo Responsible—Passenger Business Good.

To-day the Elder-Dempster steamship Banana, the last steamer to remain in port, sailed for Liverpool, thus closing ocean navigation for the year 1901.

Montreal, in common with the seaports of the United States, has suffered from a depression in the trans-Atlantic carrying trade. The feature of the ocean freight business has been a shortage of cargo and extreme low rates.

THE TONNAGE OF THE PORT.

With one or two exceptions, the regular lines show an increase in tonnage this year as compared with last. This, however, does not necessarily indicate an increase in cargoes.

Vessel.	Tons.	Dec.
1898-1900	1,212,747	1,182,333

SHORTNESS OF GRAIN.

The shortness of both corn and apples had much to do with the decreased tonnage. Ordinarily in the autumn months, grain and apples are shipped in great quantities.

Mr. La Bruere Pacaud, mining recorder of Hootalinqua, Big Salmon District, Alaska, has arrived in this city, after an absence of ten years, and at the Windsor last evening gave his opinion of the alleged plot to seize the Yukon mining district.

"Not so much as we would like to see owing to the enormous cost of getting it into the Yukon, it is easy to understand that many large property holders are quietly waiting to see if transportation facilities will not gradually drop to a more normal figure to enable them to get in their plant at a reduced cost.

M'GILL STREET FIRE

Mr. George H. Harrower's Shirt Factory Destroyed and Other Places Injured—Loss is About $60,000.

A serious fire occurred in the business section of the city early Sunday morning, and caused damage to the extent of $60,000 or $70,000.

The fire broke out in the top story of the building at the corner of St. Paul and McGill streets, occupied by George H. Harrower, shirt manufacturer; W. & F. P. Currie & Co., importers; and the Dominion Paper Co., and rapidly spread all over the structure.

It was first noticed by Frank McDonald, watchman of the Dominion Burglary Guarantee Company. At that time, about 2 o'clock, the flames were bursting through the windows on the top flat.

In response to the watchman's alarm, the firemen soon arrived on the scene, but they could get their apparatus to work, the flames had spread all over the top story, and were beginning to fall through the floor to the flat below.

The water tower was raised at the corner of McGill street, and, being operated by the Clapp and Levesque engine, it did splendid work.

The fire in the top flat was evidently beyond control, and the firemen devoted their efforts to keep it from spreading to adjoining structures.

About an hour after the fire started, the two top flats fell, and the firemen soon had the blaze under control.

The walls of the building remain intact, though the interior is gutted.

The fire was a break one for the firemen. Sub-Chiefs Mitchell and Jackson, arrived with first contingents of the brigade, and realizing that the fire promised to be a serious one turned in a second and third alarms.

Apparatus soon arrived, from all sections of the city, the building was surrounded, and a veritable deluge of water poured out on the flames from all sides.

Owing to the ice and the wires, the firemen had difficulty in getting to the top, but once started they soon succeeded in beating the blaze back.

The firemen confined the blaze to Harrower's premises, but the lower floors, occupied by W. & F. P. Currie, and the Dominion Paper Company, are damaged by smoke and water, and will be heavy.

The ware rooms of Redmond, Greenleaf & Co., hatters and furriers, 136 McGill, also suffered from water and smoke.

The cause of the fire is unknown. There were no fires of any kind on the top story, the building being heated by hot water.

A hundred hands will be thrown out of employment for a few days. The building is owned by the A. S. McFarlane estate, and is insured for $20,000, carried by two companies. The firms occupying the building were insured.
