IL DUCE SOUNDS OUT BRITAIN ON DEFINITE MOVE TO EASE TENSION

British Defence Council Studying Sir Eric Drummond's Report on His Conference with Italian Dictator—There Was a Possibility, It Was Pointed Out, That Mussolini Promised to Reduce His Troop Strength in Libya to Normal and to Desist from Anti-British Propaganda if Britain Will Reduce Mediterranean Fleet to Normal.

London, November 6.—Progress toward a joint reduction of British and Italian forces in the Mediterranean was believed by informed sources today to be under way.

British Defence Council Ministers met at 40 Downing Street last night after Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador to Italy, conferred with Premier Mussolini at Rome.

Sir Eric's formal report of the talk with Il Duce was received today and given immediate attention. It was pointed out the conference with Mussolini was a continuation of the talk of October 29th which aimed at lessening of the Anglo-Italian tension.

It was believed in informed circles the talks would be continued further, although no meetings have been arranged.

Sources close to the Government did not deny that the Ministers considered a reduction of the reinforced British fleet in the Mediterranean to help ease the Anglo-Italian tension.

The meeting was believed to have been called earlier in the week after Sir Samuel Hoare's trip to Geneva, where the Foreign Secretary laid down to Baron Pompeo Aloisi, of Italy, the conditions under which Britain would remove part of its fleet from the Mediterranean.

Baron Aloisi carried these conditions back to Mussolini, and Il Duce's reply was believed to have been received last night through Sir Eric.

The Drummond-Mussolini conversations, it was indicated authoritatively, produced developments requiring a decision by the Defence Ministers.

There was a possibility, it was pointed out, that Mussolini promised to reduce his troops in Libya to normal and to desist from anti-British propaganda, but only if the British in turn, undertook to reduce their Mediterranean fleet to normal.

Whether any decision was reached here or whether fresh negotiations had gone forward, Drummond could not be ascertained at once.

It was known, however, that the British and Italians were in agreement that the Mediterranean tension should be ended and that soundings were under way for joint, satisfactory action.

ITALIANS INAUGURATE A WAR ON FOREIGN GOODS

Rome, Nov. 6.—Premier Mussolini sounded out Great Britain today for a new, definite move to quiet Anglo-Italian tension in the Mediterranean.

Informed sources expressed belief that Il Duce agreed in a conference last night with Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador to Rome, to draw more Italian troops from Libya if Britain would recall some of its Home Fleet from the Mediterranean.

Officially, the one-hour talk between Mussolini and Drummond was considered to have dealt with British naval tonnage in the Mediterranean and Italian military reinforcements in the North African possession of Libya, bordering on Egypt.

An authoritative source indicated that Il Duce admitted disappointment that the British had withdrawn one division of troops from Libya but did not result in some reduction in the neighboring British fleet.

This time, informed sources said, Mussolini wanted some assurance that the British were ready to bring a corresponding gesture by the British.

These informants, however, were silent regarding hopes for full accomplishment of any such agreement, indicating that the answer was left to London circles.

The feeling in official circles was that Italy now is more than enough men in Libya to protect that colony against native uprisings—the reason attributed to reinforcement of the troops there.

With the recalled division of 15,000 men for home, there remain in the colony three other divisions, totalling nearly 50,000 men. The majority was sent south after the British fleet steamed into the Mediterranean.

Amid these negotiations Italy's self-imposed restriction in an attempt to defeat League of Nations sanctions began to develop into a war on foreign goods.

Public anti-British feeling, which again became evident when five hundred students demonstrated before British shops last night, was Continued on Page 2.

SHORT POSTPONEMENT OF NAVAL CONFERENCE WAS ANNOUNCED TODAY

London, Nov. 6.—Postponement of a conference of naval powers from December 2nd to December 5th was officially announced today.

It was stated the change in date was arranged to give Japanese delegates sufficient time to reach London.

At the same time, it was announced that France and India had accepted invitations to the conference.

The United States had not replied to the invitation. Italy had not yet accepted, but had sent experts for preliminary discussions, beginning this afternoon.

MEXICO MAKES SANCTIONS EFFECTIVE

Mexico City, Nov. 6.—Three of the four sanctions voted by the League of Nations against Italy were put into effect by Mexico today.

The three, establishing an arms embargo, prohibiting the exportation of Italy of certain products, and creating financial sanctions, became effective with publication of decrees issued by President Lazaro Cardenas.

MUSSOLINI'S ARMY WILL RESUME DRIVE INTO ETHIOPIA TOMORROW

Dawn Will See Il Duce's Men Advancing All Along the Line, with Main Force Proceeding from Hauxien to Makale—"Mystery Column" of Danakil Warriors Affording Protection to Left Flank of Advancing Army—Deep Mud Formed by Torrential Rains Already Dry.

Asmara, Eritrea, Nov. 6.—Italian general headquarters announced today that the army would start its advance into Ethiopia again at dawn tomorrow—all along the line.

Deep mud formed by yesterday's torrential rains was already dry, and roadbuilding had been so rapid that supplies could now reach the front with ease.

The column based at Agula, about eighteen miles northeast of the objective city of Makale, will go straight south to Dolo, just east of Makale, it was announced, while the main force will proceed from Hauxien to Makale.

Ras Haile Selassie Gussa, former Ethiopian Governor of Makale, who deserted to the Italian side, still expected to have the honor with his tribesmen of being the first to enter the city.

"The mystery column" of Danakil warriors on the east has reached a point where it affords protection for the left flank of the advancing army, authorities said.

Italians felt little fear of an attack this side of Makale, most of the natives having deserted the Ethiopian side as soon as the Fascist forces appeared.

ITALIAN SCOUTING PARTY FAILED TO ENTER MAKALE

Addis Ababa, Nov. 6.—An Italian scouting detachment attempting to enter Makale was expelled by Ethiopians, an official communiqué said today. Ten Italians and two Ethiopians being killed in the clash over the strategic, objective city on the northern front.

The communiqué said the Italian scouts tried to enter Makale last night in advance of the main body of the Fascist forces driving on that caravan centre.

In addition to the ten Italians killed, the Government announced said, four were taken prisoners, and two Ethiopians were wounded, as well as the two slain.

During fighting in the Webbe Shibili River sector on the southern front on October 18, the communiqué also said, Ethiopians brought down two Italian planes, one of which was laden with bombs which exploded, destroying the machine and killing the occupants.

The other plane was said to have been manned by four Italians, all of whom were killed.

ITALIAN TROOPS IN AFRICA TOTAL ONE-THIRD MILLION

Rome, Nov. 6.—Although the main body of General Emilio De Bono's army in northern Ethiopia has been held up by the rains, advance patrols continued penetration movements today.

An official Government communiqué quoted the following message from General De Bono:

"The penetration of our advance guard has succeeded on every front. In the Danakil region our detachments have passed Gabala and are advancing toward Dato, ten miles farther south."

"The first army corps has occupied Agula, eighteen miles northeast of Makale, sending forth its patrols to south of Maulalo, an intermediate village."

"The native Eritrean army corps has advanced along the valley of the Sallo River-bed."

"The second army corps has completed the occupation of Adialo and Seir."

"The population welcomed our troops with manifestations of submission."

FLORIDA FEARS RETURN TODAY OF HURRICANE

Storm which Caused Heavy Damage Yesterday in Miami Area Reported Turning Northward After Sweeping Gulf of Mexico.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 6.—Floridians braced today for a return visit of a freak hurricane which left more than $2,000,000 damage and seven deaths.

The storm hammered 215 miles out into the Gulf of Mexico, then slowed down and began to curve northward. The New Orleans weather bureau issued a storm warning early today saying the tropical disturbance was centered about 250 miles west northwest of Key West, Fla., apparently moving northwestward about ten miles per hour and attended by dangerous gales and winds of hurricane force over small area near center. Caution was advised vessels in northern Gulf and north central Gulf of Mexico.

Grady Norton, Jacksonville weather bureau meteorologist, said it was "fairly certain" the disturbance would pass over Florida again within twenty-four hours, this time somewhere north of Tampa.

The storm howled in from the Atlantic on Monday, swept past Miami and into the Everglades, leaving a trail of sunken boats, smashed homes and uprooted crops.

The steamship Elizabeth was blown aground off Miami Beach and two barges were adrift on the east coast. Two other ships, the Florida Star and the Sun, were blown through after battling the seas and winds.

On the state's west coast the tug Lapping, en route from Tampa to Charleston, S.C., was reported by the Coast Guard to have been disabled and its three bows, a barge, a derrick and a dredge, cast loose in the face of the storm.

The cutter Nemesis towed the Lapping to Punta Rassa and then went in search of the three drifting craft.

Stories of existing rescues, or escapes from death came out of the southern part of the state after the passage of the storm there.

Howard Cates, twenty years old, was washed ashore at Miami Beach after seven hours in a raging sea. His two companions, Grady Slade, twenty-three years old, and a negro, Jim Cox, drowned when their fishing boat upset.

REPUBLICANS LEAD LIST IN STATE VOTING

Turn in Tide Against Roosevelt Administration Seen in Regain of Control of New York State Assembly by Republicans.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Tasting the sweetness of victory scored in the Assembly elections in the Empire State, United States Republicans leaders said today they saw a turn in the tide for 1936, but Democratic chiefs sharply disputed this.

The party that failed to re-elect Herbert Hoover as President in 1932 topped numerous scattered victories in the state and municipal elections yesterday by regaining control of the Assembly in President Roosevelt's home state of New York.

It also elected mayors in Philadelphia and Cleveland, increased its majority in the New Jersey Assembly and retained control of the State Senate there.

On the other hand, Democrats retained two seats in Congress from New York City, ran up a record majority in the Assembly balloting in their stronghold of Hudson County, N.J., won overwhelming approval of Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman's $55,000,000 state relief bond issue in New York, and looked toward Kentucky today to count the Democratic gubernatorial nominee the winner.

Two persons were killed and two wounded in shooting and cutting affrays in Kentucky, and there were some fist fights in Philadelphia. Elsewhere the day passed off quietly.

Republicans elected eighty-two of the New York State Assembly's 150 members and changed the Democratic margin of four into a Republican majority of fourteen.

Edward W. Curley, Democrat, defeated Victor Santini, Republican, for Congress from the twenty-second New York district. His plurality of almost 29,000 compared with 19,000 in the same district in 1934.

Curley will take the seat of the late Anthony J. Griffin, Democrat.

William B. Barry, Democrat, with a plurality of 101,000 over Joseph M. Conroy, Republican, as against 92,214 in 1934, won the Congressional seat in the twenty-second district which was vacated by William J. Brunner, Democrat, who was elected sheriff of Queens County.

WARN AGAINST APATHY DURING BRITISH VOTE

Conservative Leaders Fear that Assumption that Government Will Win Easily May Strengthen Position of Labor Candidates.

Glasgow, Nov. 6.—Conservative leaders are warning their followers against apathy and against the assumption that the Government is bound to win easily at the general election on November 14.

Lord Stonehaven, the chairman, and Lord Greenwood, the treasurer of the Conservative party organization, have issued an urgent appeal for fighting funds.

It is apathy which is largely blamed for the results of yesterday's Scottish municipal elections. For where labor received a setback in the English municipal contests, it made net gains in Scotland.

Scottish results so far show labor with thirty-three seats gained and twelve lost. In Glasgow labor just missed obtaining a majority over all other members of the corporation. They held fifty-eight seats while the total membership of the council, including ex-officio councillors, is 116.

The party standing in Glasgow now is labor fifty-eight, Moderates forty-two, Independent Labor party twelve, Scottish Protestant League two, Independent Protestants two.

Dundee gave the most outstanding successes to labor, with eight seats recorded. The parties at Dundee are now evenly divided.

A GOVERNMENT MAJORITY OF 210 PREDICTED

London, Nov. 6.—A sporting prediction that the Government would be returned with a majority of 210 seats in the House of Commons at the election next week heartened its supporters today.

A bookmaker firm opened betting with forecasts of the majority the Government is expected to obtain. The figure has risen since Monday from 170 to 210.

Ramsay MacDonald, former leader of the labor party, delivered a biting attack upon his former colleagues in one of the series of talks last night. Speaking at Newcastle, MacDonald said:

"The same men who would not face the responsibility of warding off the crisis in 1931 are now asking us to trust them with the responsibility for bringing on a new one."

He said the Government favored commercial and industrial expansion and progressive reforms. In foreign Continued on Page 2.

DENY REPORTS OF ATTEMPT TO KILL SELASSIE

Ethiopian Government Gives Lie to Report of Arresting American Negro for Placing Bomb in Imperial Palace

Addis Ababa, Nov. 6.—The Government today hotly denied an attempt had been made to assassinate Emperor Haile Selassie, as reported in the Rome newspaper Tribuna yesterday by its Asmara correspondent.

The Tribuna dispatch said a bomb had been found in the Imperial Palace and an American negro ordered arrested as the would-be assassin.

A more definite picture of what probably happened on the night that the emperor's death emerged as police pieced together details gathered from scores of sources.

Having worked until eleven o'clock Monday night in the transfer department of the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, Miss Taylor rode by street car to a transfer point at Carlton street and Broadway avenue. There she boarded a street car which ordinarily would have taken her to within a block of her home, but the car was counted in to the car barn, owing to hockey game crowds, and Miss Taylor found herself alone in a dark street.

In spite of the rain and late hour, police believe, the young woman decided to walk the remainder of the way home instead of waiting for another car.

Intensive search by police today had failed to locate anyone in the vicinity of the crime, which may have been the instrument used to inflict the severe blows on the head and shoulders which fractured Miss Taylor's skull and caused her death.

ANOTHER YOUNG GIRL IS MISSING

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Anxiety over the disappearance of nineteen year old Doris Newman, domestic servant at Government House here, was heightened today as detectives combed the city in search of the missing girl.

The girl, who was killed by Ruth Taylor, twenty year old stenographer, and left her criminally-assaulted body in a ravine at the east end of the city Monday night. It was feared Miss Newman, who disappeared last Thursday, might have fallen victim to a similar attack.

Dr. M. Crawford, chief coroner, said today Miss Taylor's skull had been fractured by a heavy blow on the front of her head. Examination of the body found in the ravine yesterday with clothing disarranged revealed evidence of criminal assault.

Detectives were following several clues in pursuit of the man who attacked Miss Taylor on the lonely street at the edge of the ravine. They were checking the origin and Continued on Page 2.

SEATTLE MAYOR DECLARES OPEN WAR ON COMMUNISTS.

Seattle, Nov. 6.—Mayor Charles L. Smith, in a statement last night charged Communists with a widespread plot to undermine Seattle industry and provoke a general strike out of labor difficulties at Fisher flour mills here.

He said his charge was based upon a "careful secret investigation extending over several months."

He had definite information, he said, to the effect that at least $4,000 was brought to Seattle recently for "use by Communists in the Fisher mill strike by a man whose name we know, the Russian pay-off man of the Pacific secretariat of the Communist party at San Francisco."

"From this time on I am going to make Seattle too hot for Communists," Mayor Smith said.

YOUNG TORONTO STENOGRAPHER MURDER VICTIM

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Hundreds of police and detectives today pursued various angles of investigation in their hunt for the presumably degenerate killer of Ruth Taylor, twenty year old stenographer, whose mutilated body was found in an east end ravine.

Evidently attacked as she passed by the ravine carrying an umbrella during a driving rainstorm about midnight Monday, the young woman was dragged down the hillside, beaten about the head and shoulders and criminally assaulted.

It was expected today that after a conference between Chief Constable D. C. Draper and the Board of Police Commissioners a reward would be offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

A more definite picture of what probably happened on the night that the girl's death emerged as police pieced together details gathered from scores of sources.

HISTORIC CHAPEL AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE SCENE OF ROYAL WEDDING

Their Majesties and Intimate Group Witnessed Impressive Ceremony at which Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott Became Bride of Duke of Gloucester—Wedding Was in Sober Contrast to Brilliant Marriage Last November of Duke of Kent and Princess Marina—Cheering Crowds Greet King and Queen as They Appeared on Palace Balcony.

London, November 6.—The Duke of Gloucester, tall soldier son of the King and Queen, and Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott were married today in a quiet ceremony in the crimson and gold chapel of Buckingham Palace.

Lady Alice, dressed in pearl-shades satin and the thirty-five-year-old Duke, resplendent in the gold-faced blue tunic, scarlet breeches and black-topped boots of the Tenth Hussars, were pronounced man and wife by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

With the plighting of this troth, the Prince of Wales became the Royal Family's only bachelor.

This second Royal wedding within a year—a ceremony stripped of pompous trappings of the recent death of the bride's father, the Duke of Buccleuch—was in sober contrast to the brilliant marriage last November of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina.

Mellow sunlight flooded the palace chapel during the ceremony, bringing into brilliant relief the colorful uniforms and rich dresses of the one hundred and twenty-five persons assembled.

Behind the Duke of Gloucester stood his two supporters, the Prince of Wales in the uniform of colonel of the Welsh Guards and the Duke of York in the uniform of colonel of the Scots Guards.

King George wore a field marshal's uniform and Queen Mary wore a jewel-blue chiffon velvet gown.

Beside the King and Queen were the recalled King George, of Greece, and Queen Maud, of Norway. The bride's mother, the Dowager Duchess of Buccleuch, sat in the balcony usually occupied by the King and Queen during divine services.

The congregation rose as the bride entered the chapel shortly before 11:30 a.m. 6:30 a.m. E.S.T., and joined the Duke of Gloucester at the altar rail.

The eight bridesmaids remained twelve paces behind the couple. The Bishop of London began the service promptly at 11:30 a.m., and the Archbishop of Canterbury then took up the service, receiving Lady Alice's hand from her brother, the new Duke of Buccleuch.

With his right hand joined to that of Lady Alice, the Duke repeated after the Archbishop:

"I, Henry William Frederick Albert, take thee, Alice Christabel, to my wedded wife, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better or for worse. Thereto, I plight thee my troth."

The royal couple then loosed and rejoined their hands. Lady Alice repeated after the Archbishop:

"I, Alice Christabel, take thee, Henry William Frederick Albert, to my wedded husband, to have and to hold, love, cherish and obey 'till death do us part."

The Duke of Gloucester, taking the Welsh gold wedding ring from the Prince of Wales, placed it on Lady Alice's finger, repeating after the Archbishop:

"With this ring I thee wed, with my body I thee worship and with all my worldly goods I thee endow."

After the prayer and blessing, the congregation sang the Sixty-Seventh Psalm, following which the bride and groom knelt before the altar as the Precursor of the chapel said responses.

The ceremony was completed with prayers by the Primus of the Scottish Episcopal Church, singing of hymns, an address by the Archbishop of Canterbury and a short blessing.

As the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march filled the chapel, the Duke, with his bride on his arm, faced the King and Queen and bowed, while the bride and bridesmaids curtsied in unison.

Slowly the wedding procession filed out of the chapel into the household drawing room to sign the register. The Duke and the new Duchess signed first, followed by the King and Queen, the Dowager Duchess of Buccleuch, the Duke of Buccleuch, Prime Minister Baldwin, Home Secretary Sir John Simon, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lord Hailsham, and other guests.

The public massed before Buckingham Palace, after seeing the bride drive from her home in Grosvenor Place to the grand entrance in a black, red and gold royal coach, before the ceremony, had its first view of the newweds at 12:18 p.m. 7:18 a.m. E.S.T., when they stepped out onto a palace balcony and waved in response to cheers.

Another wave of cheering rose as King George and Queen Mary appeared followed by Princess Elizabeth, carrying a bouquet of roses, and Princess Margaret Rose.

The party quickly re-entered the palace for a wedding breakfast, after which the royal couple left for a honeymoon at Bournemouth. Kettering, one of the Buccleuch family homes.

LEAGUE POWERS MUST ENFORCE SANCTIONS BAN

League Committee Definitely Drops Proposal to Obtain Guarantees from Non-Member States that They Will Not Re-Export Goods to Italy.

Geneva, Nov. 6.—The transit subcommittee of the League of Nations decided today members participating in economic sanctions against Italy must themselves prevent banned exports from reaching the Fascist nation.

The committee definitely dropped the proposal to obtain guarantees from non-member states that they will not re-export to Italy products listed on the embargo.

It also abandoned the idea of enforcing quota restrictions against the League countries of Austria, Hungary and Albania which are not participating in the economic sanctions.

The committee also adopted a resolution by which the states will attempt to guarantee exports of goods banned to Italy will not be diverted from the country to which they are shipped and forwarded to Italy.

If such abuses arise the exporting states themselves will endeavor to correct them. For one thing, it was pointed out, they can always reduce their exports to states not participating in the sanctions if they believe these exports are really reaching Italy.

The text of the resolution, which must be approved by the economic sub-committee and then by the committee of eighteen, follows:

"The committee of eighteen is entrusted by the co-ordination committee with the task of execution of the following proposals and is empowered to make such new proposals as it may think necessary."

"It suggests that in order to render more effective the application of point two of proposal four, approved by the co-ordination committee, governments of the member states will take necessary steps to control as far as lies in their power, the destination of any article the export of which is prohibited to Italy or to Italian possessions."

"The point two referred to says the Government may take such steps as may be necessary to secure that banned articles exported to countries other than Italy will not be re-exported directly to Italy."

"Those states which do not immediately restrict their exports of these articles will keep under constant review the volume and direction of such exports."

"In the event of an abnormal increase of this export they will immediately take such steps as may be necessary to prevent these supplies from reaching Italy or Italian possessions by indirect routes."

"The committee of eighteen will be kept informed of the steps taken in this connection."

A French spokesman, clarifying his nation's position on the transit problem, said it never proposed imposing a quota system on non-participating states or of insisting on guarantees from non-member states. France, he said, had merely attempted to explain its own system of embargo.

France's experts, it was noted in League circles, have apparently abandoned the idea of trying to prevent general German goods from reaching Italy through the Swiss Alps.

servative convention held in the Richmond Town Hall yesterday afternoon under the presidency of Cloris Thibault, Mayor of Danville, and Donald Davis, Mayor of Kingsley.

Three names were placed before the delegates. The first was that of Dallas Grant, of Windsor Mills. Next came the name of Edmund Hayes, son of that veteran Conservative campaigner in Richmond, the late Dr. John Hayes, who unsuccessfully contested the Richmond riding on several occasions, but ever stood as a staunch defender of the Conservative party. The third name proposed was that of Mr. Gaudreau.

Desiring that unity and party co-operation should be the outcome of the convention, Messrs. Grant and Hayes immediately asked that their names be withdrawn in favor of Mr. Gaudreau.

Mr. Gaudreau's unanimous selection was hailed with enthusiasm. Then followed the usual round of speech making, several of the party stalwarts, including Mr. Hayes, discussing the issues of the day.

SUPPORTS GOVERNMENT DESPITE RESIGNATION

William M. Hughes, Who Was Requested to Resign from Australian Cabinet, States Theoretical Objection to Sanctions Does Not Prevent Him from Backing Government.

Canberra, Australia, Nov. 6.—William Morris Hughes, who resigned yesterday from the cabinet at the request of Prime Minister Joseph Lyons, told the House of Representatives today that his views respecting sanctions do not prevent him from supporting the Government's foreign policy.

The former Vice-President of the Executive Council declared he was in favor of sanctions, contrary to the general belief, but insisted their effective application would mean war. He did not admit his position was different from that of the Government.

Prime Minister Lyons' request for resignation was based on a passage in Hughes' book, "Australia and War Today," in which he had written: "Economic sanctions either mean an empty gesture or mean war."

accompanied by a wave of nationalist threatening to make slight distinction between the English and other imported products.

Some merchants placed signs on their counters reading: "War on Foreign Products," and "We Sell Only Italian Merchandise."

WANTS TO EVADE PRESSURE OF ECONOMIC SANCTIONS

Paris, Nov. 6.—The Mediterranean problem was reported in diplomatic circles today to be "settled," leaving Premier Laval a free hand to discuss the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war with Rome and London.

It was stated in these circles that the British are expected to take some of their warnings out of the Mediterranean in exchange for further withdrawals of Italian troops from Libya, but that no announcement of this settlement is expected until after the British elections on November 14th.

A diplomatic source said Great Britain will withdraw at least one ship after November 14. This action, it was stated, will be followed by Italy withdrawing another division of troops from Libya with the understanding that Great Britain will further reduce her fleet in the Mediterranean.

A stop to the anti-British campaign in Italy would be one condition of the settlement, it was said. Said one usually trustworthy source: "It is only a question of waiting until after the British elections."

Officials confirmed the report that an exchange of views was under way among Great Britain, France, Italy and Spain on the question of revising the statute of Tangier—the agreement for permanent internationalization of Tangier.

Authoritative sources said, however, that the exchange of views figured only slightly in the Mediterranean situation, with the status quo likely to be maintained.

Spain, it was said, seeks a revision of the statute in order to give her greater economic influence in Tangier because of the Spanish labor there, but France and Great Britain are regarded as dominating the situation, with Italy's interests negligible.

Another Mediterranean question is that of Italian propaganda in Egypt where thirty thousand Italians have settled.

French authorities said they believed Premier Mussolini was anxious to erase all difficulties with Great Britain and France in order to clear the air and signed a settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war before his nation feels the pressure of economic sanctions.

Labor and Independent Labor are engaged in a keen "family" quarrel with candidates of the two branches entered against each other in eleven ridings. The spearhead of the fight lies in Bridgton division, Glasgow, where Samuel McLaren opposes James Maxton, head of the Independent Labor party.

Most political observers predict the return of the Government. Chamberlain said last night the campaign's progress was "very encouraging." But he warned against the overconfidence which he said was apparent in many districts.

column continue their actions in Ogaden Province.

"The aviation forces have executed tactical reconnaissance flights." The Italian armies in Africa now number nearly one-third million men and the seven principal transport ships have been ordered released from service as soon as they return to Naples.

These ships the first to be returned to passenger duty, are the Viminale, Conte Biancamano, Dalmazia, Saturnia, Aventino, Celio and Romolo.

The exact statistics on the number of troops sent has not been announced, but the official total, ship by ship, as they sail, show that 260,000 Italians sailed for Eritrea, Italian Somaliland and Libya.

There already were colonial garrisons there and native troops at the front whose combined total estimated at about sixty thousand men.

MORE ETHIOPIAN CHIEFS SURRENDER TO INVADERS

At the Front with the Italian Army, Nov. 6.—New submissions by northern Ethiopian chieftains strengthened the confidence of Italian officers that their advance into Ethiopia, stalled temporarily by unseasonable rains, could be pressed to Makale—and even beyond—without serious opposition.

Wahab Dabash, chief of the entire district of Agame between Adigrat and the Danakil desert, presented himself to general headquarters in an act of submission considered virtually as important as the earlier capitulations of Ras Haila Selassie Gugsa, governor of Makale, and the chieftains of the Sacred City of Axum.

This formal submission of the whole district of Agame completed Italian subjection—without a major combat—of a portion of Tigre Province as far south as the 13.45 parallel latitude, driving a wedge almost sixty miles deep from Eritrea into northern Ethiopia.

Contributing to this occupation were the seizure of the Azhi district on the east by the Danakil column, the cleaning up of the western area between the Mareb and Takaze rivers, and the advance of the main columns toward Agula, eighteen miles northeast of Makale.

FIRST STORY OF HEROISM REPORTED BY ETHIOPIANS

Addis Ababa, Nov. 6.—A contemporary relates the first story of outstanding heroism in the war.

In order to cover their retreat from a fierce attack by Italians, the greatly outnumbered men, according to this version, the Ethiopians left one soldier to operate a machine gun against the enemy.

After firing all the four hundred rounds which remained, the lone machine gunner removed the breach of his gun and retreated successfully. Emperor Haile Selassie will decorate him. The scene of this action was not named.

The Government added that during the November 2nd air raid by Italian planes on Gorrachei, forty-five women and children were killed and seven Ethiopian soldiers were wounded. Five of the latter, it was stated, have returned to duty.

ownership of a mud-stained blue necktie. A close check was also being made on cleaning establishments throughout the city on the possibility the murderer had attempted to have the bloodstains removed from his clothing.

The father of the missing girl told detectives she had visited her home last Thursday, her day off, and had then left for a dance hall with the intention of returning to her quarters at Government House afterwards. Her father said she had been in good spirits and asked him to call for her at Government House Friday night.

He was notified by telephone his daughter had failed to report for work. Mr. Newman said the girl would have to pass along a dimly lighted street on her way home from the dance to Chorley Park.

Police tickler tapes carried a full description of the girl today and all officers were watching for traces of the missing girl.

A Toronto newspaper offered a reward of $1,000 for the capture of Miss Taylor's assailant, and the Police Commissioner was considering a reward to be offered by the city.

"We have several clues, but it would be premature to make them public yet," Inspector John Chisholm, chief of detectives, said.

LAWYERS' ARGUMENTS GIVE JUDGE TIME TO GET SHAVE

A Little Rabbit Hunting Also Engaged in While Attorneys Argued Over Payment of $10,000 Receivers' Fees.

Wichita, Kas., Nov. 6.—Lawyers were startled yesterday when U. S. District Judge John C. Pollock, attired in hunting costume, convened court by banging on his hotel room table with a shot gun butt and announced:

"I'm going out to get a shave. If the lawyers haven't agreed by the time I return, I'll agree for them."

The question before the court involved receivers' and attorneys' fees of more than $10,000 paid from funds of the Haburney Oil Co. After getting the shave Judge Pollock overruled protests of attorneys for the oil company against the payments and said:

"You can stay here and argue until the room rent is up. I'm going to change clothes and catch a train for Kansas City, whether this case is decided or not. I'm going to make that birthday party my wife is giving for me on time."

The hunting clothes came into the picture because the jurist went out putting rabbits while the lawyers argued.

FAMILY QUARREL BLAMED FOR MURDER AND SUICIDE

Eye-Witnesses Declare Saskatchewan Man Fired Four Bullets at Wife and Then Shot Himself After Dispute.

Saskatoon, Nov. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shillineau lay dead in nearby Sutherland today as result of shooting affray described by Royal Canadian Mounted Police as murder and suicide born in quarrelling.

William Wark, a neighbor invited to Shillineau's home, told police and three girls of the neighborhood last night saw Shillineau pull a revolver, fire four shots into the body of his wife and then turn the gun on himself.

Mrs. Shillineau died instantly from the bullet wounds, inflicted when she prepared the supper late in the evening. Shillineau, a bullet in his head, died in hospital in Saskatoon three hours later. They are survived by an infant nine months old. Quarrelling between the couple over a long period was said by police to have led to the shooting. It was learned Mrs. Shillineau contemplated leaving her husband after she had prepared his supper. Dr. William Oliver, coroner, has ordered an inquest.

BRITISH COLUMBIA APPLE CROP SUFFERS FROM FROST

Believed that Loss in Kootenay District Alone Will Exceed 15,000 Boxes.

Nelson, B.C., Nov. 6.—Frost damage to apples in the Kootenay district will be higher than believed at first, fruit authorities announced today. Early estimates placed the loss at about 10,000 boxes, but it was stated the loss probably will run to 15,000.

Over the entire British Columbia apple area there has been a tremendous loss, it was stated, and authorities believed the Kootenay country was hit harder than other points in relation to its total tonnage.

Potatoes, cabbages and other kinds of vegetables also were damaged.

TO STOP CORBEIL WOMEN ENTERING UNITED STATES

Immigration Difficulties Interfere with Contract of Women Present at Birth of Dionne Quintuplets for Theatrical Appearance.

Detroit, Nov. 6.—United States immigration authorities said today they understood an attempt would be made to obtain a waiver of certain restrictions which prevented Mrs. Douila Legros and Mrs. Mary Lebel, of Corbeil, Ont., from entering the United States early this week.

The two women, who were present at the birth of the Dionne quintuplets, were excluded at the border because they were unable to comply with the contract labor rules. Immigration officials said they had no visas and were without adequate funds.

Mrs. Legros and Mrs. Lebel sought to enter the United States to fill a theatrical engagement in Cincinnati and immigration officials said they were unofficially informed that the theatre management would seek a waiver of the restrictions from Washington.

The women were believed to have returned to Corbeil.

CONTRACT CANCELLATION AWAITS HEPBURN RETURN

Toronto Political Circles Believe that Power Contracts Will Not Be Formally Repeated Until After Quebec Vote.

Toronto, November 6.—Premier Hepburn said last night his Government would not proclaim the Hydro-Quebec power contracts cancellation legislation until after he returns from the indecisive southern holiday on which he leaves today.

"We are taking scarcely any power from Quebec at present, anyway," he said, "and our proposed cancellation of the contracts can wait until I come back."

The view is held in Opposition political circles that in no event will this cancellation be effected until after November 25, the date of the Quebec general election.

SHERBROOKE, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1935.

A GARDEN OF PEACE.

Kate Ford Baker, Dunham

In our garden there is a cool and shady bower, 'Mid songs of birds and fragrant flowers. The roses and the lilies fair, They cast their fragrance on the air. So rich and poor may have their share. I hold in hand some flowers most rare, They look like sunshine from above, For we all know that God is Love. Bright flowers are growing here and there; God's finger-prints are everywhere.

SOMEWHAT DILATORY AT QUEBEC.

Not since 1933 have we had the public accounts of receipts and expenditures from the Government at Quebec. We presume our readers will wish to be as well acquainted with the reasons for the continuous deficits as they were curious about the Auditor-General's report at Ottawa in the passing years. These figures should be recited at the public meetings and the party conventions to be held during the month so that the public generally can be acquainted with their own affairs.

They are aroused to the need of taking a closer interest in their public commitments; and only dollars and cents can tell them whether it pays to be cradled and coddled in the lap of Social Welfare.

Albertans have been promised a salary of $23 a month each by Aberhardt, this to come out of the general taxpayers, the landlords, the thrifty and the hard working. The Albertan who works for a living will be looked upon as a dunderhead. Why need he, when the adult members of the family can qualify for the dote of the school teacher who talked himself into the premiership.

We are instructed that we are to have old age pensions, so that the bosses will no longer have to keep a man on the pay-roll after he has reached sixty. Compassion and loyalty can be thrown aside; the Government will provide.

We promise that the figures of 1933 will be analyzed if no later statistics are provided. We assume, from the reluctance at forwarding the books, the affairs are even worse. We promise to tell.

English people particularly who have been bringing their money and their industries into Quebec, will not like the stories we shall tell about the Sherbrooke Courthouse and the Sherbrooke City Hall, where no English need apply.

The time has come for a show-down and some sincere declarations.

In the newspaper office we have been giving our French-Canadian subscribers a square deal—as many employees in proportion to the number of subscribers. That is only fair and just.

DAVID FORGETS THE STRIFE OF YESTERDAYS.

With that philosophical reflection which marks the Editor of a great journal, David Williams, of the Collingwood Enterprise Bulletin, lays aside the results of the general election with these thoughts:

The election is over. Now let us take to heart the words of the late Lord Salisbury, then Lord Cranborne, after the fierce and bitter controversy over the Reform Bill of 1867. His party had been beaten, but he said:

"It is the duty of every Englishman and of every English party to accept a political defeat cordially and to lend their best endeavors to secure the success, or to neutralize the evil, of the principles to which they have been forced to succumb. England has committed many mistakes as a nation in the course of her history, but the mischief has been more than corrected by the heartiness with which after each great struggle, victors and vanquished have combined together to lead the new policy to its best results. We have no wish to be unfaithful to so wholesome a tradition. As far, therefore, as our Liberal adversaries are concerned, we shall dismiss the long controversy with the expression of an earnest hope that their sanguine confidence may prove in the results to have been wiser than our fears."

Let it so be said of Canadians; hence instead of controversy with narrowness, meanness and dark-like jabs let us now get together to further the interests of our country and of our town. Grits, Tories, C.C.F. and Sevenists are after all but citizens and those of Collingwood are citizens of "no mean city." Let friction be forgotten, jealousies wiped out—let the best come to the top. It is the duty of the hour. Through union Collingwood can be made a better place for all. Let's go.

The London Times has become a world newspaper because it accepts the government returned to power as the British administration, and it gives to that government its full and hearty support—when they thought it was right. The Times has no partisan bias. Very nearly it became the property of a Canadian.

KILL SOME OF THE EXPENSES; DO IT IN A BIG WAY.

Many national problems confront us in Canada to-day. The recent government feared to tackle the existing burdens, but went off on a tangent to create new Acts which they hoped would divert the minds of the people from that which they knew to that which they knew not of and never understood.

Why should a Marketing Act be conducted by the Government for only a limited class? Why should the people bear the cost of selling the product of a small class?

Why should the Government seek to boost prices for one class of people so that all other classes should pay more for the products and also share the cost of the selling?

These were foolish fantasies when $200,000,000 was being wasted in other forms and fancies created under what they term social welfare legislation. The people bear the burden and "pay the piper" at double the cost of doing what, under public operation, costs twice as much as it would under private conduct.

We launched a campaign over a year ago for less government of business and more business in government. We termed it a National Business Government. The idea got into the wrong hands, and we dropped its advocacy, lest we get mixed up in a Reconstruction party founded on private revenge.

Yet we feel that more business-like views will be undertaken by the present Government. They see what happened to the administration which was unmoved in the face of climbing debts and borrowing to pay growing deficits. They will be silly if they do not accept the lesson and adopt the policy of decreasing waste and extravagance. It cannot be done by just pecking at it.

The borrowing of $75,000,000 as a starter is not a good omen.

REVENGE AGAINST THE TRUTH IS EXPENSIVE.

There is an undercurrent of feeling among people that you must not do or say anything which may offend some person in authority, such as a government or a department.

For seven years we have been outspoken critics of the postmasters-general who have an avid taste in beheading country postmasters who do not belong to their political party. For the same length of time we have had to repair our postal links to different parts of the Eastern Townships. Just a coincidence, of course.

But this is not a coincidence: We have attacked as useless and extravagant the Board of Railway Commissioners. And every time there is set on foot an active canvass of our advertising accounts with the railways, particularly where we have open transportation accounts.

Most of our readers will recall the increase in the Record's property assessment immediately following some criticism of the City Aldermen. No just reason was ever offered for the added burden of $5,000, an increase over that of adjoining properties. We told our readers about it, but not a single word of explanation was ever vouchsafed, nor has an adjustment ever been made. Those who may have felt it unfair or ill-advised were too cowardly to make any protest, though they must know that some day the account will be squared.

Even those who feel the need of having a newspaper air their grievances are content to "let George do the worrying."

The wheel turns, the time will come when these men who lack motivation when another is unfairly and unscrupulously attacked will be the feller who needs a friend.

There have been many changes in our civic body. There will be more. Revenge upon a newspaper unafraid is expensive.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

Redmond Hayes, who is known on every street and highway, on every back concession in the County of Richmond, is the son of the famous doctor and historian of the Eastern Townships. He is equally deft with both languages, and he would soon be the leading lieutenant of the Conservative party in the province. This young man, learned in the law, and a clever advocate, should be the Conservative candidate in the County of his birth. He has served every Conservative party candidate at every election since he reached his teens, and he is an adept in political and legislative lore.

PORT OF ROCK ISLAND HAD A BUSY OCTOBER

Motor Vehicle Statistics Reveal Exceptionally Fine Weather Experienced Last Month Resulted in Much Traffic Crossing International Border.

Rock Island, Nov. 6.—October was a busy month for the port of Rock Island, motor vehicle statistics for the past month indicate. The exceptionally fine weather resulted in an almost steady stream of traffic crossing the international border, thousands of tourists taking advantage of the fine conditions to travel and view the picturesque countryside before storing their machines for the winter.

According to E. J. Struthers, collector of National Revenue, customs and excise division, no less than 5,823 cars bearing United States license plates crossed the border during October to tour in Canada for forty-eight hours. For other than touring purposes, travelers' vehicle permits were issued to 225 applicants.

American tourists, expecting to stay in Canada as long as sixty days, drove 2,909 cars across the boundary. Included in this number was a vehicle from Rotterdam, Holland. By states the number of cars entering Canada under this classification follow: Vermont, 1,825; Massachusetts, 383; New Hampshire, 339; Connecticut, 88; New York, 84; Rhode Island, 62; Maine, 56; New Jersey, 36; Pennsylvania, 12; Florida, 6; California, Maryland, and Ohio, three each; and one each from Alabama, Colorado, District of Columbia, Michigan, Minnesota, South Carolina and Texas.

Included among the cars reporting out were one from France and one from Mexico, while a Canadian passed through Rock Island on his way to Europe via New York. Canadian automobiles exported for touring purposes numbered 1,290.

Traffic for the period from January 1st to October 31st also showed an increase over the corresponding period of 1934. Regular permits for tourists were issued to 42,507 during the first ten months of 1934, while this year the figures have jumped to 44,598. These permits were for less than twenty-four hours. An increase of almost twenty-five per cent. was noticed in the number of permits issued to tourists who wished to visit from twenty-four hours to two months.

From January to November, 1934, there were 21,013 permits, while the total this year has increased to 26,167.

Many trucks reported at the local bureau. A considerable amount of lumber was exported through Rock Island along with 173 cows, twenty-six pigs and twenty-three calves. Other border ports also report many heads of cattle moving south.

SAVANT INSTRUCTS YOUTH OF TODAY ABOUT MARRIAGE

Famed Viennese Psychologist Warns Modern Boy to Beware of Girl Who Keeps Beaux Waiting on Corner in Rain.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The girl who keeps her beaux waiting on the corner in the rain is not the girl to marry, Dr. Alfred Adler, famed Viennese psychologist, advised modern youth today.

Even when it is not raining, a boy should beware of the maid who "stands him up" or is late for a "date," the former associate of Dr. Sigmund Freud declared. For, he warned, such tricks are sure signs the girl is more interested in herself than in her escort, and that would ruin any wedding.

It is just as bad, the psychologist said, for a girl to wed a youth "to save him." It would make no difference whether she saved him from being "sick," a gambler, a loafer, or from a lower level. Doctor Adler said—her motive would be the same: a desire for adoration.

"She thinks he would always be grateful, would always look up to her," he said. "And no human can bear to look up always."

Marriage failures are due, the Vienna savant said, to the fact that "both parties are expecting, and nobody giving."

Successful marriages he described as unions where "each is more interested in the other than in himself."

FEAR LAUNDRY WORKER WAS MURDERED BY LOAN SHARKS

Several Persons Questioned by New York Police Today in An Attempt to Trace Missing Man.

New York, Nov. 6.—Police questioned several persons today in an attempt to trace Harry Smith, thirty-five year old Bronx laundry worker, whose wife fears he was kidnapped or killed by loan sharks.

Mrs. Smith told detectives that two representatives of the "Shylock racket" visited her yesterday and said: "Get the money by eight p.m., or you won't see your husband tonight."

Unable to pay the thirty-nine dollars which the men demanded for a twenty-five dollar loan, the woman waited until eight o'clock and then notified police when her husband failed to return home.

OPENING HELD OF SCHOOL AT AYER'S CLIFF

Interesting Programme Presented at Formal Opening and Presentation of Prizes at Ayer's Cliff High School.

Ayer's Cliff, Nov. 6.—A highly varied programme, witnessed by a large attendance of parents and friends of the pupils served to make the annual opening exercises and presentation of prizes at the Ayer's Cliff High School held in Confederation Hall one of the most successful in recent years.

A. H. Slack, chairman of the School Board, who presided over the gathering, in his opening remarks thanked the public for their co-operation and highly commended the teachers for their work during the past year. An important addition to the already modern equipment of the school had been made during last year, he said, in the form of two drinking fountains.

The programme opened with the presentation of a pageant, "Mother Goose," by the primary pupils of Miss Bell's room. Each pupil depicted his or her part in an excellent manner, the principal characters being "Mother Goose," Pauline Gothrop; "Jack and Jill," Murray Johnston and Doreen Bell; "The Old Woman in the Shoe," Barbara Brown; "Dr. Foster," Isobel Carpenter.

This was followed by an interesting address by Rev. Churchill Moore on Red Cross work. Mr. Moore, together with J. N. Hibbard and Dr. C. L. Brown comprised the School Board of twenty-six years ago.

"Olden Days" was presented by Miss Riley's pupils, Audrey Howard reciting "Long Ago" and Ronald Bell gave the reading, "Back to Grandpa's." "In My Grandma's Garden," was sung by all the pupils.

Rev. W. W. Smith, rector of St. George's Church, spoke very appropriately to the young people. John Rousseau, as always, was enjoyed in a recitation.

The senior pupils presented two scenes from a French play in charge of Mr. Miller, and this made an amusing change. The "Perrichon Prologue," was very well produced, the part of Mr. Perrichon being taken by Kenneth Thompson; Mrs. Perrichon, Ada Hopps, and daughter, Henrietta, by Joyce Rexford.

Miss Jessie Gibson rendered two vocal solos, "The Oregon Trail" and "When the Leaves Bid the Trees Good-Bye," her numbers being greatly enjoyed.

TO BEGIN WORK ON STRETCH OF CONCRETE ROAD

Section of Sherbrooke-Stanstead Highway Between Laddie's Gas Station and Prouty's Crossing to Be Started Next Week.

An army of about two hundred men will swing into action with picks and shovels next week on the construction of the new stretch of Government road between Laddie's gas station and Prouty's Crossing on the Sherbrooke-Stanstead highway. This section of road will join the recently completed part of the concrete road leading to Stanstead. It will be about two miles long, a quarter of a mile shorter than the present distance between Laddie's station and the crossing.

This new section of highway is expected to cost in the vicinity of $49,000. Leaving Laddie's station, it will follow the present road for about 1,000 feet and then deviate to the right to follow the line of the junction of the Capetown road. Six bad curves will be eliminated, and when completed this section of concrete road will be a great asset to motorists and a boost to tourist trade.

The contract for the work has been awarded to the Stewart Construction Company. Mr. Stewart told a Record representative today that he expected to begin work next week. Only the road-bed will be completed this year, and if the weather is favorable this will be finished before January. The concrete will be poured next fall.

FAMOUS STRING QUARTET AGAIN AFFORDS TREAT

Music-Lovers of District Given Fourth Opportunity Last Evening of Hearing Famed Hart House String Quartet at Bishop's University.

For the fourth time the walls of the Bishop's University gymnasium last night resounded to the melodious strains of the superbly played instruments of the Hart House String Quartet, and for the fourth time music-lovers of this district were afforded an opportunity of hearing one of the finest groups of musicians of its kind in the world.

Last night's concert was generally accepted by the audience as perhaps the finest the Hart House String Quartet has yet given. The programme, especially chosen to contrast the works of Mozart and Beethoven, was of a diversified nature, and was enthusiastically received, the listeners calling the members of the quartet back again and again for encores and bows.

The personnel of the Hart House String Quartet, which was founded in 1924 by Honourable Vincent Massey and Mrs. Massey, comprises James Levey, first violin; Harry Arm Adaskin, second violin; Milton Blackstone, viola, and Boris Hambo, violoncello. The recital last evening was in the nature of a premiere, for it marked the first concert of James Levey as first violinist of the quartet. Mr. Levey, who has been in Canada for only two weeks, replaced Geza de Kresz as first violinist. He attained a world-wide reputation with the London String Quartet and has been, for the past two years, teaching in New York. It is Mr. Levey's great ambition to bring the Hart House Quartet to true international fame, and several discussions he has had with Hon. Vincent Massey reveal Mr. Massey as very enthusiastic with the plans.

Mr. Levey further intends to endeavour to popularize English folk songs, and stress English music generally, particularly the English school of chamber music. In this connection, he told a Record representative yesterday afternoon, the quartet is at present rehearsing one of the best of the English chamber music, "Moods," by Walter P. Emerson, for its Toronto opening, which will take place following a concert tour of the Maritimes.

First selection on last evening's three-part programme was Mozart's "Quartet in D Minor," No. 13. The quartet, true to international fame, and several discussions he has had with Hon. Vincent Massey reveal Mr. Massey as very enthusiastic with the plans.

Mr. Levey further intends to endeavour to popularize English folk songs, and stress English music generally, particularly the English school of chamber music. In this connection, he told a Record representative yesterday afternoon, the quartet is at present rehearsing one of the best of the English chamber music, "Moods," by Walter P. Emerson, for its Toronto opening, which will take place following a concert tour of the Maritimes.

The second part of the recital consisted of three selections. First of these was a sprightly "Canzonetta," by Mendelssohn. This, as the name implies, a "little song" was lively and gay, and gave an excellent example of the delicate touch of Mendelssohn. Succeeding this was a composition by Joseph Spohr, "The Lonely Shepherd." Here the music called up visions of a shepherd tending his flock in some isolated region, far away from his fellow-beings.

Perhaps the most popular of the selections played was the third number in this part of the programme. This, by J. B. McEwen, was "Red Murdoch," and was a truly magnificent description of a Scottish Highlander in battle array, going forth to the music of the bag-pipes, to fight and win the best of his native land. As an encore to this selection, the quartet played another composition from the same suite by McEwen.

Beethoven's "Quartet in E Minor," Opus 59, No. 2, was the third part of the concert last night. Chosen by the quartet of first contrast with the quartet of Mozart played first, this is one of three string quartets composed during 1806 and dedicated to Count Rossmowski, Russian Ambassador at the Court of Vienna. It is an outstanding representative of the composer's second period, during which he produced his best known and most popular works. The four movements, the Allegro, the Adagio, the Allegretto and Presto, are in a different vein than those of the quartet of Mozart, and afford a striking illustration of masterful technique and precision-like sweetness.

In response to the insistent applause of the audience, the musicians rendered three encores. The first of these was the lovely and popular "Andante Cantabile," by the Russian composer, Tchaikovsky. This was followed by the old favourite, "Molly On The Shore," by Percy Grainger, and the final encore was another selection from J. B. McEwen's suite, entitled "The Mountain Little-folk."

"It won't happen again," the prisoner promised.

VERDUN DOWNED LAFONTAINE TO INCREASE LEAD

Jean-Louis Bourcier Scored Four Goals as Maple Leaf's Routed Lafontaine in Senior Group Last Night—Canadians Nosed Out Victorias in Second Tilt.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—The Verdun Maple Leafs downed the Lafontaine Blues last night and increased the margin over their present Senior Group rivals, the Royals and the Canadians, to four points. Paced by Jean-Louis Bourcier, Verdun staged a third-period rally which brought a six to two triumph. In the other contest on the second Senior Group programme the Canadians topped the Victorias by the odd goal in five.

Verdun's ace scoring line of George Brown, Bourcier and Columbian Ethier leaped far ahead of other Senior Group forward combinations at this early date, by virtue of Bourcier's goal-getting rampage which netted four of his team's six tallies. Brown, who scored both of Verdun's goals against McGill, got another goal last night and two assists.

Lafontaine held the Leafs in check for two periods, but Verdun turned it into a rout in the third chapter as they lengthened a two to one lead into the final six to two count.

The rebuilt Vics, with "Hello" Gagnon between the goal posts, met defeat in their season's debut when the Canadians rallied in the third period. Gagnon played for the Vics because the vexing and long drawn-out case of Ed Archambault remained unsettled after the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association had met again last night to discuss the matter.

Individual goals marked the opening scoring gestures. Lionel Pilon sent the Habitués into an early lead, but Frank Shaughnessy, Jr., husky Vic defenceman, nullified that effort with a solo shot. The old McGill combination of Farmer and Farquharson, reunited for the first time since they graduated from college, got together for the second Vix marker early in the second frame.

Cammie Houde and Wilf Doyle collided behind the Victoria net in the third stanza and Houde swung his stick, felling Doyle. The injured player was removed to a hospital where it was learned he had suffered a concussion. His condition was not termed serious, but he will remain under observation. Malenfant and Blanchard brought the Canadians their decision with third-period tallies.

QUEBEC ACES SUFFERED SURPRISE SETBACK

Quebec, Nov. 6.—Royal 22nd Regiment scored a surprise victory last night when it defeated the highly rated Quebec Aces by two to nothing in a Quebec Amateur Hockey League fixture. In the other fixture of the twin bill, Laval handed the Quebec Amateurs a two to nothing beating.

Brilliant backchecking by the Regiment's forwards held the Aces speedsters scoreless. Hudon gave the Soldiers a lead in the second period on a play with Lorrain and Morin, while Perreault registered the clinching goal in the final frame on a pass from Dube.

Ondrea, lanky Laval wingman, registered both his team's markers on assists by Fortin in the middle chapter.

HALIFAX WOLVERINES ARE LIKELY TO DISBAND

Halifax, Nov. 6.—Although efforts are still being made to keep the Halifax Wolverines together, only a shadow of the Allan Cup pack slated to represent Canada in the Olympic Games will be ready for the journey to Berlin. Since the Halifax coach and two of the smartest forwards have been lost to the Wolves, two other players have refused to take their places on the team.

Harassed by financial difficulties of the club as well, Manager Jack Conn was said to be determined to start the Maritime Hockey League with as many regulars as available and wait for the prodigals to return.

LENOXVILLE BOY STARRING IN MOUNT ALLISON WIN

Sackville, N.B., Nov. 6.—Mount Allison's English rugby stars are New Brunswick intercollegiate champions as a result of the home-and-home series they played against the University of New Brunswick. The first contest at Fredericton ended in a scoreless draw, but Mount Allison triumphed in the second fixture by a score of twelve to three.

In the second game, played on a rain-soaked field, one of the outstanding performers was the Mount Allison fullback, Russell "Rudd" Johnston, of Lennoxville, well known in Sherbrooke and Bishop's University hockey circles. Although none too familiar with English rugby, Johnston saved the day several times.

Another Quebec boy, Don Gough, from Kenogami, also starred as ball half for Mount A.

MARABOU FINISHED AHEAD IN MELBOURNE CUP RACE

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 6.—Marabou, owned by J. Fell and T. Hogan won the Melbourne Cup race yesterday. J. J. Leahy's Garrier was second and Miss Lorne Doone's Silvadale third. Twenty-two ran.

"The study of the occult sciences interests me very much," remarked the new boarder. "I love to explore the dark depths of the mysterious, to delve into the regions of the unknown, to fathom the unfathomable as it were, and to know the things that are hidden from the eyes of the world." "Let me give you a little more of this, Mr. Smith," interrupted the landlady.

NO RELIGIOUS FACTORS ENTER OLYMPIC GAMES

President of International Olympic Committee Receives Assurance of Adolf Hitler that No Action Will Be Taken to Hurt Feelings of Jewish Visitors to Games.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler today gave Count Henri de Baillet-Latour, president of the International Olympic Committee, his personal assurance that nothing would be done to hurt the susceptibilities of persons of religious beliefs or races other than German in the forthcoming Berlin Olympics.

Count Baillet-Latour told the Associated Press that after a full half hour talk with Hitler, he came away completely satisfied on the points which had aroused some controversy abroad, particularly in the United States.

The Count asserted that a campaign against Germany as the scene of the Olympic Games had been conducted for political and sporting motives, unsupported by other national committees.

"We can disregard it, because it is based on misstatements and many lies," he said.

"Under those circumstances, the International Committee has neither right nor reason to object to the games being held in Berlin.

"If any national committee tries to prevent people from coming, then the International Committee will take steps to remove such objections. If the International Committee was not fully satisfied concerning them, it would not hesitate to withdraw the Games from Berlin for the International Committee is the supreme authority for the Games, not national committees.

"Jewish sportsmen have assured me that positively no distinction has been made as regards race and color."

The Count said Hitler's assurance extended both to participants in and visitors to the 1936 Games.

Asked about certain points in a letter from Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, particularly concerning "Jews not wanted here" placards, the Count said these would be removed.

FOUR TEAMS IN LOCAL VOLLEY BALL CIRCUIT

Business Men's Class at Y.M.C.A. Add Volley Ball Schedule to Physical Activities—Swimming and Life-Saving Instructions Planned.

The attendance at the Y.M.C.A. Business Men's classes has increased to such an extent that it has been found necessary to organize a volley ball league to afford the members an opportunity of enjoying a game without too many players lining up on both sides of the elevated net.

With Bill Peak, popular local athlete, directing the drill, the members of the Business Men's group are put through calisthenic exercises which are followed by competitive games and apparatus work.

The game of volley ball concludes the activities on the gymnasium floor and a shower and swim rounds out the programme. The volley ball league will operate on Mondays and Fridays and those who are not scheduled to play will be given special swimming and life-saving instruction.

The teams have been selected as follows:

Doughnuts: Dr. L. Darche, M. Smith, L. F. Cannon, Dr. A. C. Hill, G. E. Hodge and W. H. Wolter.

Chestnuts: Dr. S. Marcus, A. D. Echenberg, D. Watson, M. Foster, L. Bernstein and E. Cook.

Walnuts: G. Davidson, C. McCullough, E. Price, T. J. Bonner, G. H. Jaquith and L. Prefontaine.

Peanuts: D. R. Bishop, J. C. Powers, A. B. Smith, F. B. Mitton, Rev. C. King and E. C. Royle.

The schedule adopted for the league, which has been named the Nut Volley Ball League, follows:

November 8, Doughnuts vs. Peanuts; November 11, Chestnuts vs. Walnuts; November 15, Doughnuts vs. Chestnuts; November 18, Walnuts vs. Peanuts; November 22, Doughnuts vs. Walnuts; November 25, Peanuts vs. Chestnuts; November 29, Chestnuts vs. Doughnuts; December 2, Walnuts vs. Chestnuts; December 6, Chestnuts vs. Doughnuts; December 9, Peanuts vs. Walnuts; December 13, Walnuts vs. Doughnuts; December 16, Chestnuts vs. Peanuts.

BOWLING

PATON'S LOST LEADERSHIP OF FIVE-PIN LEAGUE

Place-setters since the beginning of the season, Paton's today find themselves in third position in the Y.M.C.A. five-pin Bowling League standing. The downfall from the heights was brought about by the Board of Directors last night and today I'm Alone and Paton are sharing first place with Page-Sangster and Paton's on even terms one string behind.

The Directors edged out ahead in the first string, winning by nine pins. They finished thirteen pins behind the wool workers in the second tilt, but staged a comeback which brought them the decision, capturing the deciding chapter with ninety-eight pins to spare.

The Federals prevented Page-Sangster from creating a triple tie for the leadership. With Rolfe Longhead and Gordie Knapp setting an early pace, the Clothiers drew first blood. But the Printers "went wild" in the second column, recording a total of 175 as "Manny" Bourguignon shattered the single-string record of 333 set by Dave Reid, of the Record entry. Guy Smith led his men to victory in the deciding contest.

CENTURIES OLD SILT REMOVED, REVIVING PORT

Unique Engineering Feat Opens South American River to Ocean Traffic for First Time in Four Hundred Years.

Saint John, N.B., Nov. 6.—To the little tanker Talaralite, carrier of gasoline and oil between Canada and South America, has fallen the honor of re-opening navigation from the Caribbean Sea to the Magdalena River in Colombia after a lapse of four centuries. Talaralite officers told the story when the tanker completed her latest routine trip to Saint John.

For four hundred years a silt bar had clogged the mouth of the mighty Magdalena, as important to northern South America as the Amazon is to the central part of that continent. Since the last previous ocean-going vessel sailed up the river in the sixteenth century the rich city of Barranquilla, near the northern coast, had been a river port. To reach a port outlet people of the Magdalena River valley were obliged to ship their coffee and other merchandise over seventeen miles of railway from Barranquilla to Puerto Colombia.

An ingenious engineering feat finally solved the centuries-old problem and revived Barranquilla as an ocean port. Two parallel jetties, each a mile and a half long, were run into the ocean, confining the river mouth to a channel about a hundred metres wide. The outgoing tide ripped away the bar, thus opening the inland waterway to ocean traffic.

When the sombre-colored Talaralite slid from the Caribbean into the river's mouth and on to Barranquilla the historic occasion, of supreme importance to Colombia, thrilled the country's millions. For one thing it meant that petroleum refined at Berranca Bermeja, 350 miles in the interior, could be shipped directly to the Pacific coast of South America via the Magdalena River.

The Talaralite first arrived at Puerto Colombia, where she picked up prominent Colombian and oil company officials. Contact was maintained between the ship and La Prensa, Barranquilla's newspaper. Elaborate arrangements had been made for thousands to see the tanker pass through the channel which silt had obstructed for 400 years. A borrowed seaplane added zest to the scene, and a locomotive and pile-driver were stationed on the jetties to salute the ship. "Indescribable emotion prevailed," said the Barranquilla newspaper regarding reactions of the highly emotional Latin populace.

As the tanker approached the jetties, the coursing tide could be felt. The atmosphere aboard became tense when the time arrived for Captain Sanchez Rey, veteran nautical expert familiar with the waters, to take the wheel. Captain D. F. MacDonald, master of the Talaralite, had studied conditions carefully before setting out from Puerto Colombia. With flags flying, the tanker sailed easily between the parallel breakwaters. The locomotive blew shrill blasts with an enthusiastic accompaniment from the pile-driver.

All along the route upriver crowds congregated to cheer and marvel. The seaplane flew back and forth, exciting many who had never before seen an aircraft. The river boat Barranca, similar to the old type Mississippi steamships, welcomed the ocean vessel near Barranquilla. This incident touched the Colombians deeply.

Unlimited hospitality characteristic of the tropical people was extended to Captain MacDonald and his crew. With inhabitants of Barranquilla and upper stretches of the Magdalena River valley ready to develop the regained port, the little Talaralite received a tumultuous farewell on her departure for Canada.

He broke one of the boiled eggs and called the waiter.

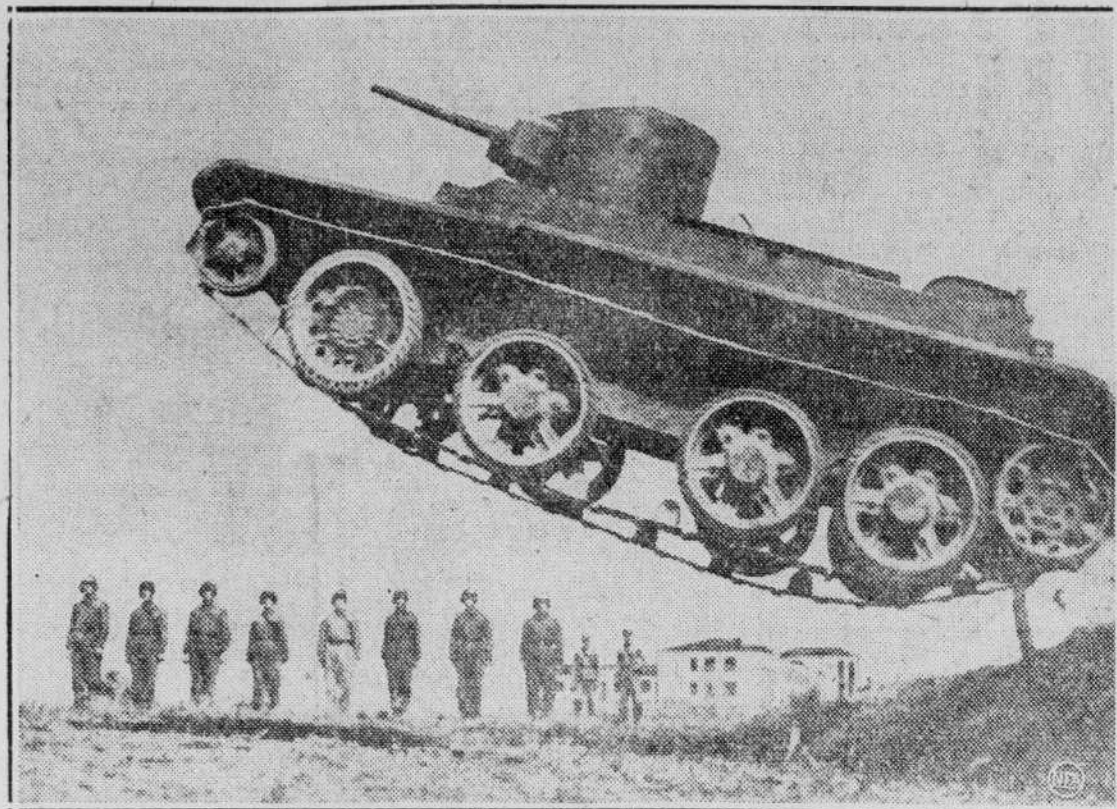

"I say, my man," he said, "these eggs are exceptionally small, aren't they?"

"Fraid they are a little, sir," replied the waiter.

"And they don't appear to be very fresh," went on the customer.

"Then it's lucky they're small, ain't it sir?" replied the waiter.

IMAGINE THIS MONSTER THUNDERING AT YOU!

The amazing speed and power of modern tanks is vividly exemplified here, in the spectacular leap of a Soviet steel monster after surmounting a barrier, as troops stand by to watch the sensational feat. High it rises over the obstacle, its turret gun ready for action, the dirt flung in all directions from its tracks. The picture was snapped during recent manoeuvres of the Russian tank corps.

CANADA TO HAVE ITS OWN DRAMA, EVEN AS ERIN'S

Director of Hart House Points to Ireland as Example of High Standard in World's Theatres.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Nancy Pyper, tall, attractive brunette who has become an arresting personality in Toronto's world of the little theatre, served cakes and tea to an interviewer and told of her plans and hopes for development of a Canadian drama.

"Canada is bound to have a national theatre," she said. "It is merely a matter of time." Mrs. Pyper, wife of a Toronto newspaperman, came here from Winnipeg little more than a year ago and already has taken over leadership of Hart House Theatre, perhaps the most advanced organization of amateur actors in the country.

Under her direction, Hart House will forsake none of its well-loved traditions. But the changes are it will house a new dramatic spirit because Nancy Pyper has high hopes and a rare ambition for the Canadian theatre.

"The Irish national theatre is an example of the heights we are going to attain," she said. "In Canada, we need people to write. And when they do they should have opportunities to produce. There will be many a Canadian counterpart of O'Casey, Yeats, Synge and Lady Gregory once it is realized what a wealth of breath-taking drama lies in the history and life of this country of ours. I can't help feeling we shall have a national theatre here in the not too distant future."

"The Dominion Drama Festival is a stepping-stone in the right direction," she affirmed, turning now to the question of acting. "Competition for itself, however, kills real drama. The important thing is the training of young people of talent who have had a certain amount of academic work and are ready to make a beginning in the professional theatre."

"Tremendous progress has been made through the efforts of Lord Bessborough and there is no doubt Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir will lend all their support to work so well begun. Lady Tweedsmuir is herself a dramatist," Mrs. Pyper added, "and there is just a possibility we may add one of her plays to the already heavy schedule we have planned for this season."

Referring to the widespread interest in amateur theatricals throughout Canada, Mrs. Pyper said western cities, such as Winnipeg, though hampered by comparatively meagre equipment and lack of financial backing, do not lag one bit behind the east in enthusiasm and achievement.

"Killarney, a small farming community in Manitoba, composed mainly of Russian, Polish and Hungarian immigrants, produced their first play—one of Tchekov's—on my suggestion with no outside aid and it was one of the most perfect pieces of spontaneous acting on the part of the whole cast I have ever seen," she said.

Something of the attitude of the Old Comrades, where the ultimate goal of amateur achievement is the comparative perfection of the professional stage, is needed in Canada, in Mrs. Pyper's opinion. "The spirit which prevails at Oxford University, whose dramatic society has launched many a well-known professional actor, is what I want to inject into Hart House."
