

FAIR OPENS IN HUNTINGDON THURSDAY NIGHT

THE CLEANER

Huntingdon Fair Bids Well For A New Record

This is Huntingdon Fair Week and the hustle and bustle of activity going on at the Fair Grounds, in the Secretary's office and in other parts, are an evidence of it. Committees are working on last minute details and secretary is busy receiving entries.

To date, we can only give probable figures on the entries, but it looks as if there will be a record number in all departments by the time they are all in. Thirty horses and ponies have been entered. This is expected there will be twenty more. Seventy Holsteins have been entered and it is expected there will be forty more. It is expected that there will be from twenty to twenty-five Jerseys. Thirty Ayrshires have been entered and seventy more are expected. Entries in other departments are coming in well.

All Space Taken in the Industrial Building have been rented. Two spaces have been rented outside for farm machinery display and four more are expected to be taken. That is how that part of the Fair is shaping up.

8 Teams in Tug of War
Eight teams have entered for the Tug of War and there will be a contest on each evening of the Fair in the Arena. The teams entered are as follows: Schenley of Valleyfield; Town of Huntingdon; Hinchinbrook (The Winners last year); Dow (Valleyfield); St. Anicet; Hemmingford; St. Barbe and St. Agnes de Dundee. Five teams have been entered for the Square Dancing Contest and they are as follows: Maple Leaf Grange; Town and Country Teenagers; Mr. Oswald Viallancourt; Canadian Hoedowners and Hemmingford. This event is scheduled for Saturday evening and it looks as if there will be plenty of competition.

Highland Dancing — Big Parade
Highland Dancing will be a highlight for Thursday evening, the opening night. This should prove a great attraction along with the many other features of opening night. Depending upon the weather, the big parade now being planned will be the big opener of the Fair. If it is not raining, it will go on, but should it be wet, then it will be postponed until Friday evening. A good list of entries for this have already been received and it is expected that more will come in. To date there will be Merle Murray on a saddle horse, Huntingdon Citizens' Band, the official car, the following floats: Grange,

Valleyfield Fair Marks Splendid Success

The 1959 Valleyfield Fair is now in the past. Nobody knows what 1960 holds, but one sure thing is that the record attendance of August 1959 will be talked about for some time.

The Rotarians of Valleyfield, who organize the yearly event are very pleased with this year's results. More than 45,000 attended the fair grounds during the five days of the fair, 8,000 of them on children's day. The variety shows that were held in the Arena were also well attended. All wanted to see and hear the radio and T.V. stars being presented. On Saturday and Sunday the arena was filled to capacity. Local merchants had very attractive booths where they showed their products, furniture, clothing, cars, food, beverages, music, etc. The Barry and Barry Midway had its great share of activities and those who wanted thrills were sure to find them there. All in all, the Valleyfield Fair of 1959 was a success. The attendance, the midway, the shows, the booths all helped to make it so. Members of the Valleyfield Rotary Club wish to thank all those who contributed in one way or another. The receipts will enable them to keep on helping the needy of Valleyfield through the next year.

VALLEYFIELD — On Tuesday, August 25th, in the Valleyfield Ladies Bowling Club held their "Mayor Quevillon Trophy Day". Six Montreal rinks and four Valleyfield rinks took part. One twelve-end game was played in the morning followed by a dainty lunch served in the Montreal Cottons Club House. Before the afternoon game got under way all the ladies participated in a "spider" with Mrs. Edwards of C.N.R. winning the prize.

Royce Ruddock, Huntingdon Calf Club, Hillside Sales, Riverside Motors, Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion No. 81, Huntingdon Motors; Cubs and Scouts; Ponies and bicycles and the Rotary Club. The parade will start from Gendron's garage at 7:30 p.m. sharp and make a drive to the Fair grounds via Chateaugay Street, to enter the arena by 8 p.m. The official opening will then be proceeded with and the judging of the floats, etc. Following this the evening's program will be carried through and it is a full one.

Comedy Act — Milking Contest
One of the highlights for Friday evening will be the milking contest. Another will be the Grange Comedy Act which is said will be a real comedy number. There will be the usual program of horse show, tug of war and another full evening.

During the day the judging will be going on and there will be plenty to see and do while this is going on.

Horse Races
Saturday promises to be a big day. During the afternoon there will be a full horse racing program and incidentally this will decide the winners of the Nurse Training Sweepstake Draw sponsored by the Huntingdon Rotary Club. If you have not already obtained your ticket do so without delay. Horses are coming from L'Annapolis, Blue Bonnets, Beauharnois, Valleyfield, Malone and Madrid, N.Y. Several entries have been received for the colts race for the District of Beauharnois. There will also be a saddle race, Blue Bonnets Raceway have given a blanket cooler for the races, as a prize.

During the horse show each evening, there will be some jumps over hurdles and several American horses have been entered for these events.

Huntingdon Citizens' Band will play selections during the course of the Fair. All in all, it seems that there will be plenty of entertainment of all kinds for everybody. What the Fair Board does not provide, the midway will fill in. Get your membership tickets now and with them the admissions that are attached.

Former Dundee Man Recognized For Education Study

Dr. W. Gerald Fleming of Toronto, Canada, has completed four brochures of a series for the "Atkinson Study of Utilization of Student Resources" under direction of the Department of Educational Research, Ontario College of Education, University of Toronto. The reports are being widely quoted and used by educators and authorities in the field of education in Canada. Dr. Fleming is also widely sought as a speaker all over Canada. This summer he spoke before the Conference of Learned Societies at Saskatoon, Sask., delivering a paper on research into developing academic talent.

In the August 5th issue of the Montreal Star, an article, "Ontario School Project Will Spot Gifted Pupils" referred to his work.

An prior to that an editorial, "Make Surveys Count", in the July 28th issue of the Star stressed the necessity of following through in the work so admirably begun by these reports.

Dr. Fleming's notable achievements are of particular interest to the people of Dundee for he is the son of Mrs. Grace MacDonald Fleming, now of Dundee and formerly of Fort Covington, and the late William Fleming.

Dr. Fleming was graduated from Queen's University, Kingston, with a bachelor of arts degree and received his master of education degree and Ph.D. from the University of Toronto. He is assistant to Dr. R. W. B. Jackson, director of the research department, College of Education, Toronto University.

The titles of Dr. Fleming's books give some indication of his studies and the scope of his work. They are:

- 1 "Background and Personality Factors Associated with Educational and Occupational Plans and Careers of Ontario Grade 13 Students."
- 2 "Ontario Grade 13 Students: Who Are They and What Happened to Them?"
- 3 "Aptitude and Achievement Scores Related to Immediate Educational and Occupational Choices of Ontario Grade 13 Students."

Vandalism at War Memorial Arena and Fair Grounds

Some very serious reports have reached this newspaper of damage being done at the Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena, during the past few weeks and also at the Fair Grounds.

The officials are a little undecided as to what to do to stop it, but feel that something must be done. With work going on for the Fair, the buildings have been open more than usual and thus entrance has been made during this time.

The War Memorial Committee has had a steel wire fence erected and this has been badly damaged. In several places it has been badly sagged and damaged. In the arena, several of the light shades and sockets have been broken. It is necessary to have to use tools to remove the broken bulb sockets. In one corner of the building was a large wasp nest and stones and such have been thrown at this and caused much damage to this corner. Various corners inside the building have been used as a toilet. This has also occurred in the building that is to be used for a horse barn. It is presumed that this took place during the ball games which have been held at the Fair Grounds.

Children are using the Arena as a playground and run up and down the seats and so forth. They have no right to be in the building at this time and still less to cause damage. Parents would be advised to question their children and to warn them not to play on this property. The committee is intending to take drastic action to stop this damage and anyone caught at it will be made an example of. Everyone should respect property and especially this War Memorial Arena.

Boyle Bros. Pony Tops Central Canada Exhibition Sale

1,000 crowded last at pony auction, the renowned Colton Ray Holder of Missouri auction off 50 registered and grade ponies at gunpoint speed. The top price pony was a black two year old registered filly, Debbie Lou of Bend Water. Consigned by Boyle Brothers of Ormstown, P.Q. Mr. John Bracken former P.C. Party Leader of Monticello shelled out $25,000 for this beautiful mare. The sale's average price was $282.00.

Congratulations go to Boyle Brothers for their sharp-eyed and fine breeding which brought them top prices in good competition from Ontario and the U.S.A. They also stood well in the show classes.

Boyle Bros. took two prizes in the halter class at the Central Canada Exhibition held at Ottawa. A second prize with Ebbie Lou, registered Shetland and a 3rd with Mary Lou Thelwater.

All of this is further good publicity for our district and Boyle Bros. can feel pride in their achievement.

"Canadian Register" Is An Encyclopedia Of Worth

Just recently we received a large encyclopedia published by the Globe Encyclopedia Company, with Mr. W. H. Morton Cameron, of St. Bernard de Lacolle, Que., as the compiler and publisher. One might then say that this is a local enterprise and which has done and is still doing a job of publicity for these parts.

Mr. Cameron is 72 years of age and has been doing the work of compiling these encyclopedias over the course of forty years. This particular edition which we have been reviewing is the thirty-first volume he has published in that time.

The book is 8 1/2 x 11 1/2 and is 3 1/2 inches thick. It has a very heavy binding and the paper is of a heavy, glossy texture. There are 228 pages including those of the index and the whole is tab indexed for easy finding of the various sections with which the book deals. This index is gold lettered and the tabs are of various colors and easily seen. The cover is stamped in gold lettering and embossed. Such a book is a fine acquisition for any library for it contains a wealth of information on the subjects which are covered. This volume is the "Canadian Register of Commerce and Industry". It deals with the history of such as it pertains to Canada.

Such a work must entail a great deal of research and need a great amount of time for travel and interviews and the gathering of the data. The compilation would take a considerable amount of time and for the publisher to have put out 31 such encyclopedias in 40 years, must have been a colossal task.

The book is profusely illustrated in various tones of sepia and full color pictures and photographs. It starts with an outline of geographical features of Canada, something of the history of the country and then goes on with descriptions of the various provinces and capital cities as they pertain to commerce and industry. Curiously, it starts with the Western provinces and works to the end of the book with the Eastern Provinces. Thus after a story on Ottawa as the capital of Canada and the seat of the Federal government, it follows with British Columbia and so on across the country. All of the matter is deeply interesting because the description is in easy flowing language which urges the reader to follow on Full and descriptive treatise are given of all the commerce and industry to be found in Canada. When one reviews all of this and studies the pictures, a mind of amazement wells up in the sort that so much is to be found right across this great country with its still few people to look after. The reader begins to realize just how much industrialization has been built up here over the years and it renews faith in the future of the country and the nation. A surprising feature is the vast amount of industry and commerce which has been built up in the western part of the country, especially in British Columbia and Alberta. Saskatchewan is still primarily the agricultural province, with Manitoba partly so, but inclining to industrialization with Winnipeg as a main centre. Oil and gas have been the boosters in Alberta, or it may still be famous only for its Calgary Stampede. Nevertheless, Western Canada can be classed as an industrial area, just as much as Eastern Canada, today.

Mr. Cameron has done an excellent job with this encyclopedia as also with four other volumes on Canada. They provide plenty for reference to anyone seeking knowledge of our country. In the other series of compilations are included the countries of South America, Africa, Australasia, the Near and Far East.

Lightning Strikes Barn at Dundee

The barn and new crop of hay belonging to Deschambeault Bros. Gerald and Gill, near Dundee, was lost in a fire which occurred during the storm on Monday afternoon. The farm is situated about a half mile this side of the U.S. border near the Dundee Customs.

The barn was about 40 x 20 and was struck by lightning about 1:30 p.m. during the storm which passed over this area about that time. The farm adjoins the border. The Fort Covington Fire Dept. answered the call, but could not do much except to prevent the fire spreading.

Mr. Gerald Deschambeault who was at the scene, got the tractor out of the barn, but in doing so was badly burned on the right arm and shoulder and on the face. He received first aid from a local doctor and was later treated at the Huntingdon County Hospital for the burns.

The loss is estimated to be approximately $6,000.

Malone Fair Has Successful 1959 Run

The Franklin County Fair, held at Malone, N.Y., concluded a highly successful run on Sunday, with Jack Kochman thrill drivers in an exciting program in the afternoon.

To Participants in Fair Parade

In the event of rain on the opening night of Huntingdon Fair, Thursday, September 3rd, the Street Parade will be postponed to Friday evening, September 4th. Please keep this in mind all who are planning on being in the Parade. Postponement will only be in the event of there being rain.

Two Cases Polio Reported Here

Two proven cases of Polio have been reported in the Huntingdon area, one at Lees Corners and the other in town. Both victims are children who have recently received inoculations and they are reported to be improving. The first case was about two weeks ago and the second one about a week ago.

Some cases have been reported from surrounding communities, but these are the first within our own immediate bounds. There have been some cases of high fever among children of late which was suspected as polio but the children quickly recovered. It is not thought that the present cases are serious enough to warrant any alarm.

The opening of the Catholic school has been postponed one week, until September 8th. It was to have re-opened this week.

Results of Motorcycle Races At Ormstown

Edgar Davis, one of the top ranking riders of the Province of Quebec won the Expert Class money at the professional motorcycle races held at the Ormstown Fair Grounds, Saturday, August 29th. The races sponsored by Ron Mavor and Keith Rankin of the Cycle Service Centre drew a good crowd. Riders from all over Quebec participated in the 12 race card. Davis was pushed hard by Pouliot, the Quebec City ace, in the feature class of the day's racing and the finals provided the crowd with lots of excitement as the riders hit the line almost neck and neck.

Yvon St. Pierre came off his bike in a backstretch turn skid during the lightweight races and suffering cuts and bruises was unable to return to the racing. Donald Lorenzetti was another rider that took a spill. He, however, recovered his bike from the infield, took off again, and won 2nd money in the Junior Class.

The promoters, Ron Mavor and Keith Rankin are striving to hold at least another two meets at Ormstown before the weather turns too cold.

Results: Expert Class: 1st, Edgar Davis; 2nd, Dom Pouliot; 3rd, Steve Kowalyk.

Labor Day Celebration Plans Completed By K. Of C.

Monday is Labor Day, and in Chateaugay it marks the second annual celebration sponsored by Wadhams Council Knights of Columbus.

The day-long festival is to be held in the Village Parking Lot on East Main St., and promises to be even bigger and better than last year's successful celebration.

Various committees are busy putting finishing touches on the program that will provide entertainment for every member of the family.

Highlight of the celebration will be a chicken barbecue dinner to be served in a large tent commencing at 12 noon and continuing until 7:00 p.m.

The menu will consist of: A half chicken, tomatoes, corn, rolls, butter, potato salad, coffee or milk.

The entire parking lot will take on a carnival atmosphere with several mechanical rides for the children, special booths, and

Entries were well out in front of previous years and in all departments. The Fair Board is highly pleased with the results as far as they have been tabulated to this time.

Opening Of Playgrounds Now Set For Thursday Afternoon

The weather was again responsible for a further postponement of the official opening of the Huntingdon Playgrounds, on Monday afternoon. As will be known it rained on and off for most of the day on Monday and while officials gathered at the spot for the opening, it was decided to postpone it until Thursday afternoon, September 3rd, at 4 p.m.

Huntingdon Fair will be opening that evening and it was felt that more citizens would be able to attend the opening of playgrounds on that day.

The playground in Garden City is a very fine example of the need for such, as a large number of children are playing there every day. It is therefore in the interests of the parents to gather at the opening ceremonies when they take place this Thursday. The equipment is well built and there is plenty of it and it is quite evident that the children do enjoy it.

We understand that very soon some more equipment will be erected in Prince Arthur Square at the Wellington Street end. A good part of this is ready and can be erected. It is not likely that the other centres will be equipped this year, as the grounds for them are not yet in condition. There is no doubt that these will be equipped early next year however.

Meantime, keep in mind next Thursday, at Garden City, 4 p.m.

Speaking On World Tour, H. E. McCormick Addresses Rotary

Hugh E. McCormick, Monitor Publishing Co. Limited, Notre-Dame-de-Grace, addressed the Rotary Club on Monday, telling of his trip around the world. In making the trip Mr. McCormick told of his visit to various parts of the world, any one of his stops overseas could well have been a wanderer in the mind of a child. Mr. McCormick's talk to a considerable extent referred to the customs that prevailed in the many countries. As to Bombay, India, it was the state of poverty that prevailed, was so devastating to the mind of a man who is accustomed to things as we have them in Canada. Children were to be seen stretched out on walks during an afternoon, not knowing where they would get their evening meal or just where they might sleep at night. In a way that would walk past a store that might have an awning, and there you would see the youngsters asleep.

Mr. McCormick made this world trip to attend a World Newspaper Conference being held in Australia. Australia he found to be a country very much like Canada, except that in the north it enjoyed a Florida climate and it was from that area the people received their citrus fruits, etc. The principal cities of Australia were Sydney and Canada in that they were scattered and hundreds of miles apart.

In Hawaii he was met by his wife, and he felt that that land of sunshine was a paradise that was indeed a full story in itself. In order to round out his round the world trip, Mr. McCormick had a trip to Japan and Hong Kong. He held of many experiences in these two lands. He was very much taken with Tokyo, which has a population of 8,500,000 and he said it seemed to have a similar number of automobiles. It is a very busy and much frivoly. "How about YOU?" asks JACQUES SAUVE
"HAVE YOU TRIED O'Keefe ALE?"

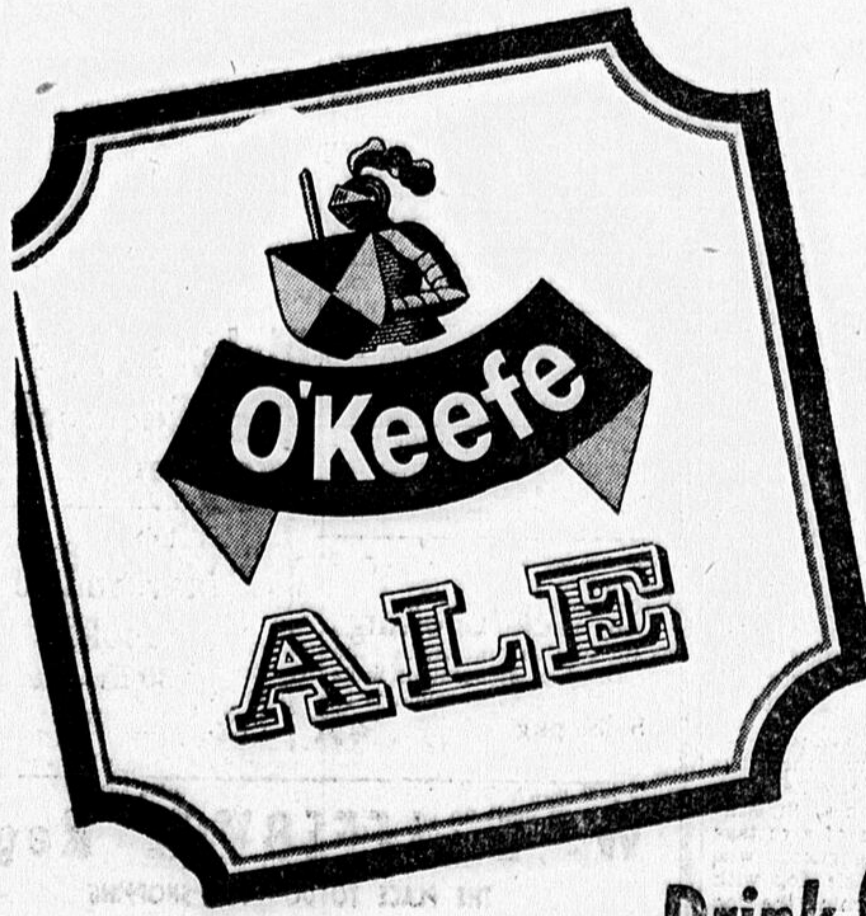

All over Huntingdon district you'll see a big change . . . to O'Keefe Ale. A lot of people wanted an ale that was mild . . . and O'Keefe Ale gave them the natural mildness they have been looking for! How about you? You'll never know how good ale can be unless you try it, so next time, why not ask for a mild O'Keefe Ale?

THE O'KEEFE MILDNESS SECRET

Ever bitten into a grape seed? It's bitter, unpleasant. Grape growers found by experiment that they could develop seedless grapes with nothing to spoil the delicate flavour.

Ordinary hops contain seeds which give an unpleasant bitterness to ale. But O'Keefe master brewers insist on castlier "Seedless Hops". There's no unpleasant bitterness, just the right natural mild flavour.

Drink O'Keefe The Mild Ale!

Two Local Residents Injured In Accident On Constable Road

Two Huntingdon men were injured on August 24th, when the cars they were driving collided almost head on on the Constable road north of Malone.

Injured were Raymond Latulipe, 35, of St. Anicet, Que., who was bruised and treated as an out-patient at the Alice Hyde Hospital and Gordon Cairns, 36, of Glenelm, Quebec, who was also cut and bruised. He was detained at the hospital.

Latulipe was summoned on a charge of reckless driving following the crash and was sentenced to 30 days in the Franklin County jail or a $100 fine, when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Paul Drago of Constable. He was committed to jail, but it was expected that the fine would be paid.

State police reported the accident occurred at 8.30 p.m., on Route 16 north of the Town Line Road. The car driven by Latulipe was northbound and the car operated by Cairns was travelling in the opposite direction, when Latulipe's car swerved and collided with Cairns' vehicle, troopers said.

Two orchestras will be in attendance from The Chateau—The Prairie Rangers and Brian Ross and his Rock'n Roll. A good time is assured for all and there will be plenty of room. The proceeds will help the committee of the War Memorial Arena to pay a little more on the outstanding debt. Your support is solicited.

New House in Prince Street

The foundation has been dug for a new house on Prince Street. Mr. Earl Fournier is the contractor and he is building it for Mr. Chas. Kyle.

Work on Route 52

Work of putting gravel on the much widened Route 52 is going ahead at a fast rate and has reached the Huntingdon end. The Bell Telephone workers are also busy changing their lines to conform with the new width of road. The gravel should help to smooth out the bumps for the time being until the black top is applied, probably next year. The road-way has been cut down in places where there was quite a rise, but it has left some of the properties high above the road. Entrances to these places will have to be rearranged in some way.

Not Best For Good Relations

Some rather unpleasantness has occurred at one of many Lake St. Francis camping sites near St. Anicet. One of the owners of a cottage have been entertaining guests, who had brought their beagle dog with them. On Tuesday morning the dog was let out for a run and wandered into a neighbors domain. For some reason someone at this property took a shot at the dog and hit it.

Returns From Holiday

Mrs. D. Fraser recently returned from an enjoyable trip and visit with relatives and friends in Iowa and Michigan. U.S.A., cities and towns included Waterloo, Hudson, Charles City and Nashua, Iowa, also Flint, Mich. The outstanding event at each year, Fraser was an invited guest was the Family Reunion of the descendants of the late George and Frances Carr of Carrville, Iowa, which took place on the afternoon of August 9th, in Wildwood Park, Charles City, Iowa. The late George Carr left his home and birthplace, Elgin, Huntingdon Co., Que., more than 100 years ago, accompanying him was an older brother, the late Joseph Carr of Elgin. Though the latter returned to, and spent the remainder of his lifetime in Elgin, George Carr never returned, but lived for a time in Wisconsin, then in Illinois, finally locating in Iowa. His descendants are numerous and live in various mid-west and western States, but as many as possible gather each year for the "Family Reunion". Next summer it will be held in Carrville, Iowa.

Mrs. Fraser accompanied relatives on a visit to "The Little Brown Church in the Vale" in Nashua, Iowa. Nestled in a beautiful wooded campus one mile northeast of Nashua, Iowa, this picturesque spot which inspired Dr. William S. Pitts to write the song "The Church in the Wildwood", is visited by thousands of numerous and live in various mid-west and western States, but as many as possible gather each year for the "Family Reunion". Next summer it will be held in Carrville, Iowa.

The visitors were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dwyer of Weymouth, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McNamara of Boston, Mass., who had been on a business trip to Albany and other leading New York centres and were taking in Huntingdon on their return trip.

Mr. E. M. Dwyer is director of the department concerned with the control of diseases of farm animals in the State of Massachusetts. He drafted the Brucellosis programme for that State, and in that respect he informed Mr. Boyce that the Massachusetts Official Vaccination regulations insofar as imported cattle (from other States and Canada) are concerned do not become effective until the first of January 1960.

Mr. H. E. McNamara is Commissioner for Agriculture for the State of Massachusetts.

However, both men are also extensively in the dairy business in a personal way, both of them with Holstein milking herds of over 150 cows, the milk from same being retailed in the Weymouth and Boston areas. Macfarlane, who are also extensively in the dairy business in a personal way, both of them with Holstein milking herds of over 150 cows, the milk from same being retailed in the Weymouth and Boston areas.

Attending the bride were: Miss Phyllis Davidson, of Ottawa, and Miss Anna Stark, of Huntingdon. Their gowns: Miss Davidson in emerald green pure silk taffeta; Miss Stark in lavender pink, with similar in style to the bride's gown, but with waltz length skirts and cap sleeves. MARRIED AT THE UNITED CHURCH

DANIEL-TELFER

Huntingdon United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, August 29th, when Isabel Jean Telfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Telfer, Huntingdon, became the bride of Harold Wayne Daniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Herbert Daniel of Huntingdon.

The church was nicely decorated with baskets of gladioli and the wedding music was played by Mr. Peter Rhodes. Rev. Robert S. Beal, assisted by Rev. Thomas Knowles, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of off-white pure silk brocade, fashioned with bouffant, floor-length skirt which swept into a cathedral train; the bodice of the gown having a low U neckline encrusted with pearls, long sleeves and an empire waistline. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a seed pearl coronet, and she carried a crescent bouquet of pink delight roses, with a sprig of white heather. Her pearls were a gift from the bridegroom.

Attending the bride were: Miss Phyllis Davidson, of Ottawa, and Miss Anna Stark, of Huntingdon. Their gowns: Miss Davidson in emerald green pure silk taffeta; Miss Stark in lavender pink, with similar in style to the bride's gown, but with waltz length skirts and cap sleeves. They wore floral headbands matching their bouquets of white gladioli and pink carnations.

Huntingdon Fair

EACH time the fair rolls around, a new excitement prevails and anxious moments are on the Board for the Fair Officials. They have planned a program which they hope will meet with general approval of the public. The financial return must be such that all expenses can be met. This can only be done by the co-operation of the citizens as they plan to attend the Fair.

This is the last call to the citizens of this community to attend the Fair and support it with all they have got. A very fine program has been arranged and there should be something of interest for everyone. Exhibits have been increased in number throughout the various sections and competition for the prizes will be very keen. Therefore in this direction there should be considerable interest also. For three nights and two days — September 3, 4, 5, the biggest event of the year will be held. You can make it a success by your attendance and co-operation.

Several improvements have been made at the grounds which should be beneficial to everyone — exhibitors and patrons alike. An extra evening will allow more opportunity to take in the attractions and Saturday should allow of everyone being able to attend on at least one day. If last year was good, let us make this one better by attending in greater numbers than ever.

The Last Summer Long Week-end

MONDAY is Labour Day and the coming week-end will be the last long one of the summer months. The children will be returning to school and there will be a trek back to towns and cities from summer camps in preparation to the return to normal living. Those who have their own summer camps will be closing them up until next summer. They will probably spend this long week-end doing just that. Mothers will be looking over junior's clothes and perhaps making a few new purchases to complete the going back to school outfit. Preparations will be made by those who are going on to college or university, or going there for the first time. It will be an active time for most everyone, for the summer is considered over when Labour Day rolls around and the kids go back to school.

Labour day is a good holiday and the best is always made of it, but a word of caution is always wise when these long week-ends come along. While on every one of these long week-ends our roads are well travelled, we believe that on Labour Day week-end, they are perhaps travelled more than usual. The reason being that more people will be returning from summer camps and they will probably be carrying camping equipment and what-not. There is the chance they may have delayed longer than they figured and feel there is the need for a greater hurry for the return home. They may be harassed by checking to see that everything and everybody is packed in the car.

There will be people travelling in all directions and from all directions, so the roads are liable to be congested. We suggest that you use care and precaution to avoid accidents. You do not want to mar your holiday by a tragedy.

This year the number of accidents on all week-ends have been on the up rather than down. With Labour Day, the heaviest travelled holiday week-end of the year, extra precaution is needed to prevent accidents. We suggest that you plan to get started on your return home early in the day, don't leave it to the last minute. The farther you are from home, the earlier the return start should be made. The most congested part of the trip will be toward the end of the day and by that time the driver will be getting tired too, tempers become a little frayed and anything can happen. Travel while you feel fit and alert and you will be better able to cope with any emergency.

Don't take chances by speeding and cutting in and out of traffic, better lose a few minutes of time than to lose your own and perhaps other lives. It is the risks which are taken which often cause the accidents. Keep the highways safe for you and the other fellow. You do not want to mar your holiday and you don't want to spoil the other fellow's holiday. If all will play it safe, accidents will be cut down. Let's all play it safe.

Back To School

WE don't know how the kids will feel about it, but by this time next week, school will once more be in session. For those in Huntingdon, some will be occupying the new classrooms which have been added and there will be some re-arrangement from the pre-holiday period. While there was some disruption during the building operations, upon the whole, the school ran along quite smoothly despite all the difficulties. From now on, however, the administration should be more easily handled and the pupils should prosper from the improved facilities.

All over the area covered by this newspaper, the trek will take place as the back to school movement proceeds. For a day or two the principal operation will be that of organizing the work and the supplies for the pupils that will be needed in the new year's course of studies. Once this has been attended to, it will be a case of getting down to the new courses and studying hard until the next examination time comes around again.

Some of the pupils will have the same teacher, some others will have a new teacher. To some of the teachers it will be a return to the same school, while some others will be newcomers and need to become acquainted. This is a time of year when re-adjustment must be made by both pupils and teachers in more ways than one.

There are those who will be going on to the advanced centres of education and here again a re-adjustment will be necessary. For some it will be a week or two later before they register and perhaps for the first time. The back to school movement will be definitely on however. It is as it should be, for today we need scholars of merit in order to carry on the affairs of this modern world. The pace of everyday living is such that only those with the best possible chances will succeed. There is no place for the unlearned, for machines have taken over most of the laboring types of work. As an instance of this — a few years back ditches were dug by hand — the pick and the shovel — which was a source of work for those who were unable to do anything else.

In these times the machine does the work in faster time and with far less exertion. But the man who operates the machines needs to know more than the one who formerly dug the ditches. We could go on enumerating many such advancements which are causing the need for more education on the part of the even average worker. As we go on up into the higher paid positions it becomes even more necessary for increased knowledge and ability.

The age today is automation. By some it is feared that man may not be wanted. Man is wanted, it is he who has created the age, created the machines and so forth. However, he has had to use his brain power, he has had to learn how to build and operate the machines created. Men will be needed to operate these machines even though they be automatic in the full sense of the word, or they will become robots. In every machine age there have been displacements of manpower, but in due course it has turned about that a greater demand for manpower has developed once the age has become settled. An instance of this is the era of the recording machine or phonograph — musicians would be out of employment on account of it. Then came radio and now we have television. What is the result — more and more musicians are needed to keep up with the work involved. Man can never be replaced entirely by machine, for man is the brains of the machine and would never be able to function without this power behind it.

However, it does point up the need for greater concentration on education, for education is the means by which man develops his brain power, becomes more proficient in everything he does, for education after all is only knowledge. Without the ability to absorb knowledge, we could none of us do the things we do.

Boys and girls, young men and women, no matter how you feel about going back to school, go there determined to do your best to learn all you can. It will be to your advantage in the end and you will be glad you did.

Huntingdon Fair

By the time this issue of The Gleaner is received at outlying points, Huntingdon Fair will doubtless be in full swing. Nevertheless, that will still be ahead of the two great livestock days — the "Black and White" Holstein Show and the Jerseys on the Friday, the Special Ayrshire Show and the 4-H Club events on the Saturday.

The Judges

The Holstein "Black and White" Show will be judged by Ray Connor, a well-known Holstein breeder of Hatley, Que.

The Jerseys will be judged by an Ayrshire breeder, Ken Roy of Gerald A. Roy & Son, Howick, Que. However, in addition to having been a leading 4-H Club Exhibitor and Judge, Ken Roy is also a distinguished former student of Macdonald College in Animal Husbandry.

The Ayrshires will be judged by Rowland R. Ness, son of Douglas A. Ness of R. R. Ness & Sons, Howick, Que., and, himself, already with a fine record as a herdsman and showman. One of the former leaders of the 4-H Ayrshire Club of Howick, in both showmanship and judging he also distinguished himself at Macdonald College in Animal Husbandry. He is also Secretary of the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club.

Feeding Experiments

At the time of the 38th annual Feeders' Day at the University of Alberta, Dr. L. W. McElroy reported on an extensive steer feeding trial involving hormone (stilbestrol) implants, protein supplements, self versus hand feeding, carcass grade effects, and use of a synthetic insecticide for warble control.

In this trial, four pens of 10 head yearling feeder steers graded (alive) "common-good" were used.

All were fed the same basal grain ration with iodized salt and a mixture of bone meal and ground limestone free choice in boxes.

Roughage was similar in all lots, equal parts of alfalfa and native grass hay put through a forage cutter.

Lot 1, the controls, were hand fed as above.

Lot 2, were hand fed and on the first day of the test implanted with Synovex-S in the ear.

Lot 3 were hand fed with the addition of 1 lb. of linseed oil meal daily per animal.

Lot 4 were self fed grain with 1 lb. of linseed oil meal each daily.

Interesting Results

The results were interesting:

The implanted steers consumed 2 lbs. more grain per day than the controls in Lot 1 and nearly 1 lb. more than the combined grain and linseed meal intake of Lot 3.

On the other hand Lot 2 — implanted steers — made 34% faster gains than their controls in Lot No. 1 and 20% more rapid gains than Lot 3. The self fed steers in Lot No. 4 made 12% faster gains than the hand fed steers in Lot 3. (Comparative figures between Lots 2 and 4 are not given, F.N.)

Moreover, the implanted steers required 20% less feed to produce 100 lb. live weight gain than did the controls (Lot No. 1); 13% and 10% less feed than the hand fed (Lot No. 3) and the self fed (Lot No. 4) groups receiving the linseed oil meal supplement.

Finally, the carcasses of the implanted steers (Lot No. 2) graded fully as well as the others. Also when all the costs had been evaluated, the implanted steers (Lot No. 2) showed a "profit" of $26.95 per head vs. only $9.61 for the controls. (The report does not give the "profits" made by Lots No. 3 and 4).

Warble Treatment

Also in connection with the feeding experiment, one half of each lot had been given "Trolox" bouquets at recommended dosages and the others were left untreated as controls. While the Trolox failed to induce added rate of gain there were only 24 warble larvae in the 30 treated cattle vs. 235 in the untreated steers, another 20 steers having been added to this phase of the test.

Hereford vs. Charbray

At Stockman's Day at the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Dr. C. M. Williams reported an interesting trial to compare the feeding performance under Saskatchewan winter conditions of Hereford vs. Charbray Hereford crossbred steers. He emphasized that the trial was not to test the value of cross breeding but to study the suitability of a particular breed for cross breeding under Saskatchewan conditions. (A rather fine distinction, but nevertheless of considerable interest to those who have been concerned over the concerted impact by a small group to upset the old established Aberdeen-Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn breeds by replacing them through cross breeding with Brahman and Charolais bulls, or the fused product of same, Charbray's. — F.N.)

The 40 steers used were all obtained from the same cow herd, the only difference being in breeding of the bulls used. The Hereford bulls were Line 1 developed at Miles City, Montana, Experiment Station for superior rate of growth.

The cross bred steers were sired by one Charbray bull (5% Charolais and 3% Brahman). Divided into eight groups of five head, four lots were protected only by a corral fence of 8 inch planks with 8 inch spaces and the other 4 were given a straw open shed.

The initial weight of the cross bred averaged about 50 lbs. heavier than for the Herefords, possibly due to added vigor from the cross.

All lots were given all they would eat of a basal grain mixture.

There was no obvious difference in performance between the two groups until the thermometer approached zero. At low temperatures the cross bred steers seemed reluctant to move off the bedded area although feed intake continued normal except on the stormiest days. Occasionally the cross bred were observed to be shivering, although later it was found that their hides were thicker and heavier than those of the Herefords.

The straight Hereford-bred steers showed a 12% advantage in rate of gain and through the feeding period they increased in quality more rapidly, until by slaughter more than one full carcass grade separated the averages for the two groups.

The Herefords yielded a dressing percentage of 50.7 vs. 58.6 for the cross bred, the cooler shrink was 37% less and their hindquarters weighed 5% more.

Officially the two lots graded as follows:

Herefords — 96% Choice, 4% good.
Charbray + Hereford — 18% Choice, 35% Good and 47% Standard.

What Is Colonialism?

By LEWIS MLLIGAN

At the recent meeting of the Couching Conference one speaker declared that Russian occupation of countries in Eastern Europe was no worse than British colonialism. That word, colonialism, has been bandied about as if it were a synonym for an aggressive and ruthless imperialism. I have consulted several dictionaries in vain for a definition of the term colonialism. The Annandale merely describes it as a "phrase or idiom."

The word colony is defined more definitely as: "A body of people transplanted from their mother country, and remaining subject to the jurisdiction of the parent state; a body of settlers or their descendants; the country planted or colonized."

Even the word "colony" has fallen into disrepute among some Canadians whose forebears were all colonists and proud of that title. Yet it dies hard. Travelling on my holidays through Ontario by the Colonial Coach Lines (sic) I was everywhere reminded of these "old colonial days. The name still survives nostalgically in old hotels and of all things, in one of those very modern caravanserais, under the title, "Colonial Motel!" The motor car has swept the highways and rural buggy, but one comes upon a lone byway of the colonial horse and hitching post in the villages, while remnants of the snake fence on farms are reminiscent of the strenuous and hopeful toil of the pioneer colonists who laid the foundations of our present state. Even in the United States the word Colonial is proudly preserved. As far south as Florida the name still flourishes in the Colonial Inn of Miami Beach. Colonial architecture has attained permanent status among the classics of that art.

So there is no reason why we should be ashamed of our colonial ancestry. It was the rock from whence we were hewn, and Canada is still colony, as witness the thousands of immigrants from the old countries who are settling in this Dominion annually. Canada is still "a body of settlers or their descendants," and Disraeli once declared that "colonies do not cease to be colonies because they are independent." Burke, the great British statesman, speaking of the connection of the colonies with the mother country, said: "These are ties which, though light as air, are strong as links of iron." That mystical bond was recently manifested in the joyful Dominion-wide reception accorded to the young Queen Elizabeth II by the descendants of those colonial pioneers. BLESS BE THE TIE THAT BINDS.

A little push will perform more miracles than any amount of pull.

The Week At Ottawa

OTTAWA, (CP) — The Borden Energy Commission says international oil companies should themselves seek adequate markets in North America for Canada's oil wells or face Canadian import restrictions.

That policy was recommended to the federal government in the Royal Commission's final report made public at the week-end.

On a key issue before it, the six-member commission said that "at this time" the government shouldn't impose restrictions to ensure construction of an oil pipeline from the west to the rich Montreal market. Montreal refineries, with one-third of Canadian refining capacity, now use oil from Venezuela and the Middle East.

Instead, the commission said, the industry should be given 12 to 18 months to show whether it can develop adequate markets for Canadian oil.

The recommended target: Canadian oil production of about 700,000 barrels daily by the end of the next year. Average 1958 output was 456,000 barrels daily—only about half of productive capacity.

Canadian farmers figure to harvest 405,013,000 bushels of wheat this year—nine per cent more than last year. The Prairie spring wheat crop is expected to total 391,000,000 bushels, an increase of 13 per cent.

The estimates, made by the Bureau of Statistics, are pegged to August 15 crop conditions. These indicated that the over-all Canadian wheat yield will decline a percentage fraction this year to 17.6 bushels an acre.

The Prairie yield, however, will rise an estimated two percentage points to an average of 17.3 bushels. In Ontario, by contrast, the winter wheat yield is estimated at only 28.1 bushels, compared with 1958's record 41.2. This, combined with a 27-per-cent drop to 425,000 in acreage, will result in Ontario producing only about half the amount it produced last year.

The anticipated Canadian crop would be the largest since 1956 when 573,062,000 bushels were grown. The record—701,944,000 bushels—was set in 1952. The 10-year average is slightly more than 490,000,000 bushels.

The government is making it tough for the factory-farmer to get federal price supports for egg production. On October 1, the federal agriculture department will go out of the egg-buying business and substitute a form of deficiency payment to egg producers.

The egg market will be allowed to find its own price level. Then the government will pay to the producers the difference between the free-market price of eggs and the supported price. The support will be based on the present support price of 44 cents a dozen for grade A large eggs wholesale at Montreal and Toronto.

The way this system benefits the independent farmer and hits the farmer who works under contract for big marketing agencies or the large-scale producers whose operations are in effect, farm factories in the method of making payments.

Only eggs marketed through registered egg-grading stations are eligible for the deficiency payment. That lets out nearly all the large-scale producers whose production by-passes the grading station and goes directly to the retailer.

Another safeguard against subsidizing the integrated farm is a quota system whereby payments to any one producer will be made on a maximum 4,000 dozen grade A large or extra large eggs. About 70 per cent of producers have an output below the quota maximum.

One effect the government hopes to see from this new method of price supports is a sharp reduction in the price support bill. It will no longer be left with large stocks of eggs brought by government agents to maintain the price at the support level.

And moreover it won't leave the government exposed to criticism for the losses incurred in getting rid of the egg surplus abroad at prices below the purchase price. In the fiscal year ended last March 31, this re-sale cost the government $3,425,000 and still left the government holding 5,000,000 dozen eggs. Seaway Expansion Plans are afoot to unstopper the bottleneck in the St. Lawrence Seaway. The bottleneck is the Welland ship canal, crossing the Niagara escarpment between Lakes Ontario and Erie.

In the first year of navigation on the seaway, embarrassing tieups of shipping occurred at either end of the canal in the rush of shipping unleashed by the new waterway into the heart of the continent.

Now the Canadian government plans to spend $7,500,000 to increase the canal's passage facilities by 25 per cent, without levying additional tolls on vessels.

At present, the canal can pass 13 or 14 vessels up and an equal number down daily. The government hopes to have new facilities ready by the opening of navigation in 1960 to increase this by one-quarter.

Treasury Report The government rung up a surplus of $38,400,000 in the first four months of fiscal 1959-60. The finance ministry's monthly treasury statement released at the week-end showed revenues in the period totalled $1,665,200,000 and expenditures $1,626,800,000.

In the same period last year there was a surplus of $24,000,000. The government ended the last fiscal year with a budget deficit of $609,000,000—less than forecast.

Education Conference Once again the educationists are planning to take a hard look at education in Canada.

The groundwork is being laid for a second Canadian conference on education. The first met in Ottawa last year and came up with, among other things, a number of resolutions urging that more money be made available for education.

"This second conference will be more specific," said Caroline Robins, conference executive secretary, in an interview.

The idea is to examine more carefully the purpose and philosophy of Canadian education—what schools are for and the sort of person they should produce.

After a tour in London the members visited three large farms, one a 730 acre farm in Canterbury where fruit and grain and lettuce (20 acres) was grown along with cattle and sheep. In Kent the Okanagan members felt at home among the orchards. The Wye College farm was also visited.

Then the group divided and half visited a WI meeting at Wrecesham hearing a speaker on the conservation of the old homes and historic sites, while the other half learned how to make hats, the two groups meeting for tea with the St. Mary's Institute.

The following day they visited Denham College to see the lovely old building of the English Institutes where members were taking courses in music, painting, etc. Then to the Shakespeare country, a boat ride on the Avon, Oxford and Chester (again met by W.I. members) and a farm on the Welsh border.

The Lake District, then on to Scotland at Gretna Green and finally to Edinburgh to the Conference where they were very busy attending sessions from August 3 to 15.

MARRIED AT HOWICK

TEMPLETON-TODD

The Howick United Church, Howick Quebec was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 2:30 p.m. on August 8, when Rev. E. F. Carey, missionary from Japan, united in marriage Roberta Isabel, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Todd, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, and William Robert, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Templeton of Riverfield, Quebec.

The church was beautifully decorated with colored gladioli. The guest pews were marked with sweet william and white satin ribbon bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and looked ever radiant in a bridal floor length gown of imported French Chantilly lace over white taffeta and nylon tulle. The gown was fashioned with a bow scalloped neckline and long pointed sleeves. A very full skirt with princess panels ended in a slight chapel train.

A finger tip illusion veil was held in place by a scalloped coronet embroidered with seed pearls. Her jewelry was a seed pearl necklace, a gift from the groom, and pearl earrings, a gift from the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. G. Ramsden of Ottawa. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

The bride was attended by Miss

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 70 guests in the social hall of the church. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a bouquet of roses.

Rev. E. F. Carey asked the blessing after which the newly weds and their respective families and friends enjoyed a bountiful repast. A toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. E. F. Carey to which the groom very capably gave a fitting response. A toast to the attendants was proposed by Mr. Brodie Templeton to which Mr. John Todd father of the bride, gave a fitting response. Miss Marjorie Ness, cousin of the groom, was in charge of the guest book.

The charming young couple spent their honeymoon on a motor trip to Rhode Island and the Maritime Provinces returning home by the Gaspé Coast. For travelling the bride wore an imported French flannel two-piece printed suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The Storage of Newly-harvested Grain

The hot, dry weather which prevailed throughout the province of Quebec during the month of July has so hastened the ripening of grain crops that harvesting is already completed in the western part of the province and is in full swing in most other districts.

Mr. Paul Méthot, director of the Plant Products Division of the Quebec Department of Agriculture, anticipates an increase in the amount of spoilage in storage because of the probability that the dry, well-ripened appearance of the grain will lead to neglect of the few simple precautions necessary for its preservation.

Every year, a considerable quantity of grain does in fact lose much of its value because excessive heating and fermentation in storage have deprived it of its power of germination (so that it can no longer be used for seed) and have given it an earthy colour and a disagreeable odour. In most cases this deterioration could easily have been prevented.

In the first place, if the grain contains a lot of weed seeds or if it has been harvested before reaching complete maturity, it should always be spread out thinly in a well-ventilated place in a good draught of air. If heating starts at certain spots within the mass of grain, it may sometimes be necessary to stir it with a shovel. The temperature of the grain may also be lowered by passing it through a fanning-mill or threshing-machine. The fanning-mill not only cools the grain but also gets rid of the weed seeds and all the other green stuff which are usually the cause of heating.

Grain which has been harvested with a combine is always more likely to heat and should therefore be treated more carefully.

Most men will lend a hand much quicker than they will money.

Now Is Best Time For Making A New Lawn

At this time of the year we are entering a period which is very favourable for sowing a permanent lawn. For one thing, the coming season is a little damper and, furthermore, the growth of weeds is now somewhat abated so that the grass does not meet with such vigorous competition. This period lasts until about the tenth or fifteenth of September.

In order to establish a good lawn without going to too much trouble it is necessary to have:

- 1 A well-drained piece of ground;
 - 2 Between six and eight inches of good topsoil;
 - 3 Good seed.
- A good soil is one which holds water well and is well aerated, is slightly acid and rich in plant nutrients. If the soil is too alkaline it does not retain water and fertilizing elements, as for instance in the case with sand, satisfactory results will depend on liberal applications of fertilizer and frequent waterings.

Complete and detailed instructions for making a lawn may be obtained free of charge by writing to the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa or to "Le Jardin Botanique de Montréal" for a bulletin on lawns. But Mr. André Sauvé of the Quebec Department of Agriculture, a specialist in landscape-gardening, strongly urges those who want to make use of the information given in these bulletins to pay particular attention to one very important point, namely, the depth of topsoil required. The recommendation has already been made repeatedly by every possible means, that in order to make a good lawn, either by seeding or sodding, it is necessary to have a foundation of at least six to eight inches of good topsoil. However, after watching people making lawns one is left with the impression that the publication of this advice has been largely a waste of time. Most people still continue to spread a couple of inches of good soil on top of the subsoil from excavations — in most cases clay — and then sow seed or lay turf on it. It is not surprising to find them later resorting to various palliatives. Unfortunately no remedy has yet been discovered which can supply this vital deficiency. Four inches of good soil is better than two inches, but six or eight inches is far better still. Poor soil, such as the subsoil from excavations, is deficient in available plant nutrient elements. It is difficult to correct such deficiencies by applying commercial fertilizer because good structure, that is to say cause soil of this kind also lacks it becomes too compact and is therefore almost impervious to air and water and fertilizing elements. The structure of physical condition of poor soil can be improved by the addition and incorporation of three or four inches of manure, peat or muck soil, peat moss or sawdust. In the case of a property covering an area of four or five thousand square feet, however, a great deal of trouble will be saved in the long run by removing the poor soil and buying good topsoil to replace it.

Wedding

PILON-LOWDEN

The marriage of Geraldine Gertrude Lowden, daughter of Mrs. Hollis Lowden and the late Mr. Lowden, Covey Hill, to Herbert (Bert) William Pilon of Montreal took place on August 8, 1959, at Covey Hill Union Church, the Rev. J. C. Hood of Ormstown officiating. Mrs. Gavin Morrison of Havelock played the wedding music. Baskets of gladioli and white ribbon were used to decorate.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Thomas Lowden, chose a floor length gown of white Swiss organza and carried a bouquet of red roses. Her shoulder length veil was held by a bandeau of pearls and sequins. The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Whyte, was gowned in floor length dress of blue organza over taffeta and net and carried pink carnations. Mr. Harold Graham acted as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Harold Allen and Roy Lowden. Mrs. Lowden, the bride's mother, wore a dress of navy nylon and taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Pilon, mother of the groom, was dressed in blue lace over taffeta with blue and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the reception at the Frontier Inn, Hemmingford, Mr. and Mrs. Pilon enjoyed a motor trip to Old Orchard, Atlantic City and other points in the States. For travelling the bride chose a sheath dress and coat of blue with white accessories. They have taken up residence in Montreal where they are both employed.

and making sketches in his Durocher avenue home.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, John Russell, and one daughter, Miss Roslyn Millar of Montreal; and a brother, Fred Millar, formerly of Greenfield Park and now residing in California. Another brother, George Millar, who also worked in the engraving department of The Star died some years ago.

Obituary

The Late John A. Miller
Funeral services for John A. Miller, pioneer Montreal newspaper photographer and artist, were held from his home, 5134 Durocher Avenue. Burial was at Riverfield, Que.

Born at Howick, Que., 83 years ago, Mr. Miller came to Montreal with his parents when he was one year old. Being a competent photographer when only in his teens, he worked as a photographer and artist for the New York American and later for the New York World for a period of nine years.

While in New York, he married Mary Ellen Greig, of Howick, in 1903. Upon his return to Montreal, he switched from photography to organizing the Maple Leaf Dairy, which was one of the first pasteurizing plants in Quebec. In an effort to make his plant truly efficient, he purchased all delivery trucks and necessary machinery in New York because they were not available here.

After about five years, he resumed his work in photography and art, working for The Montreal Star and The Standard from 1909 to around 1922. His work was considered of exceptional quality because not only was he capable with a camera, but as an artist he was also able to illustrate important news-features.

Subsequently, he established his own photography studio, the Miller Studio, on St. James St., West, which operated for many years. For some time, he was assisted by his brother, the late Walter Miller, who also had worked for New York newspapers. The latter also worked for The Star for many years as a photographer.

In 1950, the Miller Studio was destroyed by fire and from then until his retirement in 1954, he was employed by Rapid Grip and Batten Ltd. Since his retirement because of illness, he spent his leisure hours painting
