C. C. F. and Three Liberals Win Byelections

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative Leader and twice Prime Minister of Canada, was defeated while two Liberal Cabinet Ministers and another candidate supporting Prime Minister King were elected in four byelections on Monday.

Mr. Meighen, who resigned from the Senate to run in York South after his selection as Conservative leader last November, to Mr. J. W. Noseworthy, school teacher, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate.

Justice Minister Hon. Louis St. Laurent and Labor Minister, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell retained seats in the Commons by substantial margins.

Mr. St. Laurent succeeds the seat of the late Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, and his portfolio, won in Quebec East where he won from Paul Bouchard, candidate of the recently formed anti-conscriptionist Canadian party.

In the only other constituency contested by the new party, Montreal St. Mary, its candidate, Raoul Perillard, ran second to Dr. Gaspard Fautoux, one of three running as Liberals. Marcel Ostiguy, Liberal, was third and Emile Naud, Liberal, last.

Mr. Mitchell won over two in Welland, Douglas Watt, an independent, and Mark Kriluck, C. C. F. candidate.

Mr. William Wallace Dies After Lengthy Illness at Portage La Prairie

A former highly respected citizen of this district, in the person of Mr. William Wallace, died at his home, Portage La Prairie, Man., on Sunday, January 18th, in his 83rd year.

The funeral was held on Wednesday from his late home. Service was conducted by the Rev. M. A. Creal, rector of St. Mary's Anglican Church.

Interment was made at Hillside Cemetery, Portage La Prairie. The pall-bearers were, Messrs. Allan B. Carroll, Thos. Bell, P. E. Smith, J. F. Thompson, J. F. Gray and W. H. Stanley.

The numerous floral offerings and messages of sympathy showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

More Than $156,000 Subscribed to Red Cross Russian Appeal

More than $156,000 has now been subscribed to the Canadian Red Cross Appeal, according to the latest official statement from the campaign's headquarters in Montreal.

The cause of the Russian defenders—and their urgent need for immediate medical assistance—won the hearts and financial support of thousands of men, women and children throughout all parts of the province during the past three weeks and brought contributions, large and small, from almost every town, village and rural community.

The campaign officially closed one week ago last Saturday, but donations continued to reach the headquarters in Montreal all during the past week.

One of the latest donations received was from the town and district of Richmond and which swelled the contributions from that part of the province to $934.

All Trains Stop for Two Minutes

At 3.00 a. m. on Monday not a railway wheel was turning anywhere in Canada.

Transportation had come to a dead stop as engineers, conductors, dispatchers and all operating staff stood about in telegraph offices listening to the new Daylight Saving Time signals from their communications departments.

For the railwaymen working on Standard time, it meant a halt in operations at 2.00 a. m. and the passing of a full hour in two minutes.

They stopped at 2.00 a. m. and listened between 2.04 and 2.06 to the beat of the time signal on the last stroke of which it was 3.00 a. m. They set their watches, compared them, signed time-sheets and again got rolling, some of them to try and catch up the hour which had vanished into the two-minute space of the time signal.

Letter Received by Local Red Cross Regarding Malicious Rumors

The following letter has been received by the local branch of the Red Cross Society, and the public are asked to co-operate in running down certain malicious statements which reflect on the honour of the Society:—

To ALL BRANCHES AND GROUPS:

A malicious rumor is again being circulated that The Canadian Red Cross Society sells its comforts. In our Bulletin of the 24th of October, 1941, we advised the Branches as follows:— "You are requested to deny the absurd rumors which are being circulated in this Province that The Canadian Red Cross Society is selling comforts that patriotic volunteer women from one end of Canada to the other make for sailors, soldiers and airmen. The Red Cross has never been able to obtain proof that comforts so made are being sold.

The canard has been officially denied a score of times but it is still circulating. We also learn that certain soldiers from this Province have written home complaining that the Society has refused their requests for comforts. This is also untrue. Any Commanding Officer seeing that his men are in need of additional comforts forwards a requisition for these supplies through Auxiliary Services to the Red Cross and these requisitions are filled without question. When delivered the responsibility of distribution rests with Quartermaster Sergeant.

We shall be glad if you will keep this before you in case such rumors are circulated in your district.

The Canadian Veteran has offered a reward of $100.00 for any information that will lead to the apprehension of the guilty party or parties who have been circulating these falsehoods.

W. LEGGAT, President
Quebec Div. Canadian Red Cross

Notes on Price Control

Sugar rationing will not interfere with the housewife's plans for home-made marmalade. The Sugar Administrator of the War-time Prices and Trade Board has announced that a dealer who sells a customer oranges for this purpose will be allowed to sell her a sufficient quantity of sugar at the same time, so she may make her marmalade. The dealer will make a note on the sales slip for the oranges, that he has also sold the customer enough sugar.

If the housewife wishes to buy her oranges and sugar in different stores she should produce the sales slip for the oranges when ordering the sugar. The sugar dealer may then serve her and mark the bill.

A chicken came home to roost at the Montreal offices of the War-time Prices and Trade Board recently. A Board official had purchased a small amount of office supplies from a local merchant and the bill from the merchant arrived in the mail. In clear bold letters it carried the rubber-stamped message: "Under the regulations of the War-time Prices and Trade Board, this bill must be paid within 30 days."

Citizens' Committee Organized for Second Victory Loan

A meeting of Shawville and district citizens to plan for the coming War Loan was held in Hynes' Hall on Friday afternoon.

The organizer from Montreal, Mr. Trevor Thompson was in the chair; but shortly after the meeting opened Mr. R. P. Eades was elected permanent chairman of the Citizens' Committee.

Addresses were given on the plans for the loan, its need in these critical war times, and it was announced that the objective for Pontiac County has been fixed at $225,000.

It was pointed out that the County ought to reach this allocation without much difficulty as the amount raised for the loan last Fall in Pontiac was $370,000.

Inspiring addresses were given by Mr. Eades, Mayor G. G. McDowell, Mr. H. C. Rowat, chairman of the teams committee for the district.

The officers appointed were:— Vice presidents, Mr. A. G. Brough, Mayor G. G. McDowell; publicity committee chairman, Mr. George Eades; teams committee, Mr. H. C. Rowat.

VOICE OF THE PRESS

WHY YOUNG MEN ARE UNFIT

Fifty per cent. of United States young men offering to enlist were found upon medical examination to be physically unfit for military service, so says Gene Tunney, one-time heavyweight champion. The reason, he gives, is the refusal to take the exercise necessary to the development of muscle. Young men prefer the automobile to walking; if they seek recreation, they go to a picture show, listen to the radio, or at best, play badminton. Isn't it true to a certain extent in Canada.

DE GAULLE'S FORCES

General de Gaulle's forces of Free France now include an army of 100,000 men, a fleet of forty warships and 105 merchant ships and tankers. Numbered among his army are 2,000 trained aviators. Despite Petain and Darlan, de Gaulle and his men are preventing the emblem of France from being trailed in the dust.

CAN'T BE BLAMED

People in County Kerry, Eire, mistook a Nazi sergeant for a general, when a plane made a forced landing there. They could hardly be blamed, of course, seeing that the German people themselves are mistaking a corporal for a commander-in-chief of all the Reich's forces.

—Stratford Beacon-Herald

WHEAT NEEDED BY EIRE

Faced with a blockade of sorts, Eire stepped up wheat production to an estimated 300,000 tons. This leaves 80,000 tons to be imported.

Now, if Eire would let us use the naval bases, it would be easier to make sure that grain got to Eire.

DIDN'T EXPLODE

The heaviest German bomb dropped on London, which evidently did not explode, measured 18 feet three inches in length, two feet three inches in diameter, and weighed two tons. Why not fix it up for remailing and drop it over the dead-letter office in Berlin?

French Possessions Of Strategic Value

Allied interest in France's colonial possessions in the Western Hemisphere is due to the strategic importance of the group, rather than their value as a source of vital raw material, as is the case in Dutch Guiana, recently occupied by a United States force.

Except for their vast production of sugar and rum — there are 286 distilleries in Martinique and Guadeloupe alone — the ten islands and one piece of mainland that make up Vichy's remaining colonies in the West are comparatively poor and overcrowded. But they occupy locations that scarcely can be ignored.

Martinique and Guadeloupe and five smaller islands lie along a great curving chain of islands that mark the eastern gateway to the Caribbean Sea and the approaches to the Panama Canal. St. Lucia, site of one of the United States' new leased defense bases, is almost in sight of Martinique.

French Guiana, which contains Devil's Island penal colony, is on the northeast coast of South America, adjoining Dutch Guiana, which was occupied with consent of the Netherlands Government to guard the United States supply of bauxite. Its occupation by an enemy would present an obvious menace.

To the south of Newfoundland lie the two barren islands of Miquelon and St. Pierre. Their combined area of ninety-three square miles is inhabited by fewer than 5,000 persons, who make their living chiefly from the fishing industries.

Egypt will pay a bounty to farmers who grow wheat, barley or beans on land formerly devoted to cotton.

GUARDIANS OF EAST COAST

Ontario Pupils To Aid Victory Loan

Nine Thousand Schools In The Province Will Take Part In Pageant

Nine thousand public schools in the province of Ontario have been asked to participate in a historical musical pageant in the period of the forthcoming Second Canadian Victory Loan Campaign.

The Provincial Ministry of Education is interested in the project. The Minister himself, the Hon. D. McArthur, has written personal letters to secretaries of school boards and boards of education and to every school principal urging that some form of entertainment be given in each school to provide a background for campaign speakers.

The musical pageant "Cavalcade of Canada" devised by F. R. Fenwick, Mus. Bac. of the Department of Education is one of several musical plays proposed for general use during the period of the campaign. Two others—"Blue Boots" for junior grades and "Builders of Canada" a musical play for intermediate grades, both written by Mary Grannan (Just Mary) have been suggested as alternative productions.

The "Cavalcade of Canada" relates the history of Canada in music, song and dance. It begins with an opening episode illustrating in dance the manner in which early Indian settlers of Canada celebrated their festive occasions with song and dance. Episode No. 2 dramatizes in the form of French Canadian folk songs the life of the early French settlers, the first white settlers in Canada, before the advent of the British. The coming of the British with the arrival in Canada of the famous explorers of that day, Martin Frobisher, Henry Hudson and William Baffin is marked by an individual episode in an appropriate setting and expressed by the singing of "Come Lasses and Lads" and "The King is Still in London."

Scotsmen who have helped to make Canada great are paid tribute by the inclusion of a number dedicated to Scotland to the accompaniment of the music of "Scots Wha Hae." Irishmen who have contributed their strength and talents to the building of the country are likewise remembered—or will be—when the school children sing, in tribute to them—the words of "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls!" Welshmen, known the world over for their passion for good music and, incidentally, for their oratorical eloquence, will be impersonated by the youthful singing of "Men of Harlech."

Canada, it is pointed out in the foreword of the musical pageant, "Cavalcade of Canada," is composed of men and women of many racial origins. More than 5,000,000 are citizens of British stock or stock originating in the British Isles; three and a half million are derived from French stock and something over 2,000,000 from stock of other European nationalities.

Those European nationalities are therefore to be suitably represented in this pageant, as will be, of course, the United States of America.

Dutch Canadians will derive pleasure from the number dedicated to the years of expansion of their homeland as expressed in song; Belgium will be remembered by the singing or recitation of the immortal words of John McCrae's poem "In Flanders Fields" in tribute to the 60,000 Canadians who lie buried in that ill-starred land today.

Scandinavian countries will be dramatized by the singing in appropriate stage setting and costume arrangement of Norwegian, Icelandic and Swedish national songs. Poland, the stalwart little Baltic nation that gave Joseph Conrad in literature and Chopin and Paderewski in music will receive due recognition by the singing by the pupils of appropriate Polish anthems.

Russia will be given a place in the colourful panorama in recognition of her valiant role in this war. Pupils wearing Ukrainian and Russian costumes will sing Ukrainian and Russian songs in tribute, particularly, to Ukraine known through the ages for its contributions to music, poetry and the arts. The Doukhobors of whom it has been said that "music is their breath of life" will be included in the Russian portrayal.

Many other European nationalities—the Greeks, Czechoslovakians, Yugoslavians, Hungarians will be interpreted musically as well. The Hebrew population of Canada will be included when there is sung in tribute to their contribution to the allied cause in this and other wars the anthem "Lift Thine Eyes" by the noted Jewish composer, Felix Mendelssohn.

This is probably the first occasion in the history of this or any other province in Canada upon which a Ministry of Education has stepped into a national campaign of this kind as the Hon. D. McArthur has done. Certainly it is the first occasion in any province in Canada upon which every school child in the province—or any province—has been impressed into a useful place in a national drive of this kind. For this reason all Canada is expected to observe with interest the results of the provincial campaign in Ontario; the results from that particular angle or in that particular sphere of campaign activity.

Inclusion of the schools, school teachers and pupils alike, on such a scale as now contemplated by the campaigners is a tribute to the growing influence of the school authority and the school in the local community. It is an influence often felt but seldom adequately recognized. The forthcoming campaign should illustrate to what extent that influence is a potent factor in the lives of Canadian families.

"You Can Fight for Canada" from the patriotic review "Pull Together Canada" has been adopted as a theme song for this province by the Provincial Public Relations Committee of the Second Victory Loan Drive.

The opening words of the song epitomise its spirit. They are: "Ships and guns and planes we need, our country to defend—

"But we must arm the hearts of men to win out in the end!"

That song in the form of song sheets has been circulated to all of the sixty four territorial committees now hard at work—preparatory work—in Ontario. Those committees have been asked to ensure that it is in the hands of every student, every school boy and girl in the province, by the date the National Drive is scheduled to begin—on February 16. It is expected that between February 16 and March 16—the period of this year's drive through Canada—everybody will be singing it.

That song again will be employed as a prelude to addresses by competent speakers who will appear in every city, town and hamlet in Ontario, during the period of the campaign, to explain the importance of Victory Bonds for Victory; Canada's urgent need of money to win this war.

Children of London Give Their Pennies

Children of one of the most horribly bombed areas of London recently presented Bertram D. N. Cruger, London representative of the British War Relief Society, with a gift of five shillings and nine pence to be devoted to the people of the United States who have suffered from the war.

The gift was made up of pennies saved by the school children since December 7—the date of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The presentation was made at the "America Day" celebration at a settlement house in the Bermondsey area. Cruger who has allocated hundreds of thousands of dollars to British organizations in the last two years, said in thanks "This makes one feel that the work of the British War Relief Society has been worth while."

Writes In Verse His Last Bequest

Many interesting and unusual wills have been probated in the county of Wentworth, but here is one contained in four lines of poetry.

It is that of Charles Robert Hodgson, who bequeathed his entire estate of $19,422.86 to his widow, in this fashion:

"All my earthly goods I have in store,
To my dear wife I leave for evermore
I freely give, no limit do I fix,
This is my will, she the executrix."

Mr. Hodgson was a well-known Hamilton florist who died June 19 1941. The unusual will was made on April 12, 1927.

There were no moths or butterflies during the Great Coal Age, when many other insects flourished, because the flowers upon which these nectar drinkers depend had not yet appeared.

A Weekly Column About This and That in The Canadian Army

Everyone has heard, some time or another, a public speaker mention 'the various arms and services' of the Army. What does that mean? That's what I asked. I asked the A.G., the C.G.S., the D.M.O. and I, and a dozen other high ranking officers.

Before we forget I suppose I'd better clear up those initials—some day, if the editor can spare the space, we'd better have a glossary of army terms—"A.G." is Adjutant-General; "C.G.S.", Chief of the General Staff, and "D.M.O. and I", Director of Military Operations and Intelligence. There are probably nicknames for these high appointments but at the moment I can't tell you what they are.

But to get back to "arms and services". Here are the distinctions. "Arms" are the branches of the Army that carry out the tactical plans of the commander. They include: Artillery, Engineers, Signallers, Armoured Corps and Infantry. "Services" look after the arms, support and supply them. They are: Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, etc.

Don't think for a minute, though, that when you refer to the Services, as supporting the arms that you are not referring to fighting soldiers. In the mechanized, all-out war of today—the war that the individual citizen's army is being so highly trained to fight—every man in uniform is a fighting man who was trained first as a fighter before he was trained for or started work at his specialty.

Every officer or man in both Arms and Services starts his soldiering by taking the regular elementary training course. A stretcher-bearer in this war is as capable of assembling a Bren gun from assorted parts in the dark as a Medical Officer is of carrying out a major operation by the light of a motorcycle headlamp.

The same is true of Ordnance, Army Service Corps—every service. No matter what uniform a soldier in your army wears he is a fighting soldier.

Here is an interesting note while we are on the subject of all-round training. The trained mechanic, a man who is found in great numbers in both "Arms" and "Services", is a qualified "first-aid-er", having passed, as has every combatant soldier, a St. John's Ambulance course during his elementary training.

In March, 1918, the enemy came close to breaking through and on that occasion cooks, bakers, farriers, laundrymen and a host of other necessary, but not necessarily war-like, odds and ends turned to with cleavers, picks and shovels, hammers—anything that would serve as a weapon. They acquitted themselves well, too.

The weapons seemed archaic. They were. But today, if such a situation should arise, the men would be ready for it. Today there is a course given to all soldiers in "un-armed combat". This course teaches them how to use improvised weapons such as shrapnel helmets, fists, knees, boots in a lethal manner. Imagine what a man armed with a butcher's cleaver or a tailor's goose could do with them after learning to take care of himself without any arms.

A few minutes ago I referred to a shrapnel helmet. Once we used to call them "tin hats". Now you frequently see them referred to as "battle-bowlers"—what will they think of next?

Reform Thy World Beginning With Me

The President's informal remarks to the industry-labor conference set an admirable example of the spirit in which we must try to adjust our domestic problems during the period of the war. If each of his hearers recognizes his personal responsibility for national unity and national strength, there would be no difficulty in arriving at a prompt agreement. The President cited the prayer of a Chinese Christian: "Lord, reform thy world, beginning with me." There could be few more useful prayers for each of us to keep as a guiding rule in the present crisis.

Lessons In Love

JERRY BRONDFIELD

Last Week: Barbara apologizes to Dugan for questioning his judgment in the business deal. They go for a ride with Larry, Barbara's steadiest suitor, and after Dugan leaves them, Larry tells Barbara that he remembers where he has seen Dugan before — as a football hero in newspaper pictures. He also remembers that Dugan's percentage of Indian blood is very slight. Barbara is surprised, and before retiring, she considers the possibility of turning her charm more fully on Dugan to bring Larry around.

PLANNING A CAMPAIGN CHAPTER VI

Barbara was awakened the following morning by a violent pounding on her door. "Hit the deck," a muffled voice said. "You're taking me sightseeing. Remember?" It was Dugan, and she remembered then his self-extended invitation of the night before. "You're crazy," she called sleepily. "It's only 8 o'clock. Come back in three days." with a pail of water," he threatened.

She got dressed. And it was an appreciative eye which Dugan cast over her. From the tip of her blue and pink slippers to the crown of her royal blue picture hat she was the most radiant thing he had seen in New York. Or anywhere, he decided.

"I'll probably spend my time looking at you, rather than the high spots of New York," he said bluntly as they started out in her car.

"Thanks, but you don't deserve all this, you fraud?"

"Fraud?"

"Sure. Larry Grover told me a few things Uncle Hank forgot to mention. So you're an Indian, are you? A big, bad, blood-curdling Indian who was going to make me thankful for all those starchless palefaces who haunt my doorstep."

Dugan studied her profile as they drove. There was a grin on his own face as he replied.

"Look, beautiful. I don't disagree with my boss. It was your Uncle Hank's idea, and he insisted on my co-operation."

"Don't think for a minute," he continued, "that I particularly like the idea of providing your social picture with a change of pace. Especially when I was told beforehand that I probably would find you an intolerably spoiled but uncommonly beautiful wench."

She gasped. "Unquote, Uncle Hank," he grunted, "but I'm inclined to agree."

"And if you must know," he went on evenly, "I'm not a fraud. There is Indian blood in my veins, and I'm proud of it. A great-grandfather of mine married the daughter of a Pawnee chief. Since then we've stuck to the Irish."

"Then where do you get this Chief Leaping Water business?"

"Strictly on the legitimate. I spent most of my life with Indians. I was practically raised next door to a reservation . . . lived, played, fought with Indian kids. When I graduated from college they inducted me into the tribe as an honorary chief. Now then, if I'm not too objectionable, start showing me the wonders of the modern cliff dwellers."

Then hours later they were on their way back, the lights of Manhattan in the distance.

"Some island," he mused.

"Not bad for $24 and a string of beads," she observed. "That's what the Dutch gave the Indians for it, you know."

"I know. Typical, wasn't it? The palefaces started trimming them then, and they'd still be at it down in Oklahoma and elsewhere if the government hadn't stepped in to protect their oil lands."

They were quiet for a few moments with only the purr of the powerful motor in the air. Then Barbara broke the silence.

"Well, if we've exhausted the Indian subject, how about some golf tomorrow?"

"Have to be at your uncle's office tomorrow morning, but okay about 2 in the afternoon," he said mechanically. And then in a surprised tone. "Oh, you play golf?"

She bristled. "For your information, I've never played with a man I couldn't beat. Also for your information, I shoot in the high 70's and I'll bet you a good ducking in the pool that I beat you."

"I've only played twice this year and I'm a little rusty, but I may be able to make it interesting. It's a date and a bet."

She shot a beautiful 78, but he went her one better with a 77. She knew she was licked when her eye followed his opening drive which cleaved the fairway in two, 275 yards down. But what really got her was the manner in which he merely smiled patronizingly every time she made a good shot. Instead of complimenting her, he gave her a superior glance and bettered the shot with his.

"Tell me," she said somewhat petulantly as they walked off the 18th green, "is there no end to your talents? With what am I to be surprised next?"

He guided her to a table underneath an umbrella on the clubhouse terrace. "Frankly, I've just about exhausted them," he said with mock seriousness. "There isn't much more I can guarantee. I'm the clean, wholesome, outdoors type, you know. For instance, I've never had a talent with women."

"Too bad," she said cynically. "Nothing you couldn't develop, though, is it?"

"With a little of the proper encouragement, maybe." There was a grin on his face as he said it, but his eye looked straight into hers, and she was the first to lower her gaze.

"Sorry," she said, recovering the slight measure of composure she had lost. "Sorry, but I don't see any forthcoming in the near future."

He made quite a business of examining the glass of lemonade he held in his hand. "I didn't really expect any. In fact, I wasn't seeking any at present. You flatter yourself."

She stiffened. He had led her to a neat little trap, and she had tumbled right in.

So he didn't want encouragement, did he? Well, Mister Dugan Blake, she didn't think acting was one of his talents, and that look he had given her indicated he wasn't quite telling the truth.

And then she wondered how she should describe the tingle which the sudden little observation had given her.

At any rate, it would be fun making him change his mind. But just for the fun of it, of course, she told herself.

"Blackout Light" Ingenious Device

Atlanta Man's Invention
Provides "Invisible Illumination"
For Blackouts

An ingenious device known as a "blackout light," designed to give enough illumination to permit orderly movement during periods of emergency blackouts without being visible to enemy airmen, has been invented by W. S. Cottongim, an Atlanta, Georgia, manufacturing executive.

Lighting engineers have been closely watching tests with three of the lights at the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary — a place where blackouts would present an unusually difficult problem. They say the invention holds much promise for relieving conditions caused by enforced periods of darkness in industrial plants and homes, and as directional finders on city streets.

In reality the "blackout light" is not a light at all, but a soft glow achieved by treating a cloth background with a secret self-illuminating phosphorus paint and fitting it into a light reflector. This phosphorus mixture is activated by small special electric bulbs. These bulbs will burn for more than 1,000 hours, according to Mr. Cottongim, while the background can be activated again and again and still retain its efficiency.

While these small bulbs go out like other lights when the current goes off, the secretly treated phosphorus background remains luminous for a period of from 10 to 12 hours. A six by 18-inch "blackout light" will give off enough glow to make objects in an ordinary room distinguishable, without being visible from the outside.

The light can be made in the shape of arrows and placed along the street to point the direction to air-raid shelters, or placed in industrial plants to point the way to exits or fire escapes. If used on the outside, without being seen from the air they will give enough light to guide those within 100 feet or so, declares Mr. Cottongim. The "blackout light" can also be made in the form of words.

Nelson To Scrap Peace-Time Ways

New U. S. Production Boss,
Donald M. Nelson, Forecasts
Changes

Donald M. Nelson promised that so many old ideas were going to be junked in the next few weeks and so many new ones adopted to get America's production into high gear that it will "make your hair curl."

Ordinary, peace-time, even "sensible" methods are going to be tossed overboard for a system that probably will bring charges of insanity from the old-timers, the new boss of production and supply said in a speech read for him in Vincennes, Ind.

"We need to be cracked enough, if you please, to try to do things that sensible men would not try to do under ordinary circumstances," Nelson said.

There can be no more half-way measures, no more maybes, buts, and ifs in the war against Hitlerism, he said, because:

"Failure in this job, let me remind you again, is equivalent to national death."

Every worker must be utilized for war production or civilian necessities; every machine must be one part of the whole pattern in the war effort.

Mine Production

Nelson's formula, where mines are already working at capacity, is:

"Kick all of the old standards out of the window and go ahead somehow, anyhow, and increase the production of those mines by 33 per cent."

Management may have to make concessions to labor, and labor to management, and both to the general welfare, but:

"None of that matters. In each situation the only thing that could conceivably stop us would be the fact that it was not physically possible to get more ore out of the ground than was already being mined.

"No other consideration is of value."

To send American soldiers, sailors or marines into action with anything less than 100 per cent. of the equipment they need would "condemn a certain number of them to death needlessly," Nelson said.

If a comfortable stay-at-home people had given an extra bit of self-denial and made an extra effort in the last 18 months, the story at Wake Island would have been different, he said, and:

"Those boys would probably be in Tokyo by now—as conquerors, not as prisoners of war."

Performance

The job now, he said is:

"To hold the point of view which sees no necessary accomplishment as impossible, which looks on obstacles only as things which are to be knocked out of the way, and which is ready to try any new routine, any new device, any new way of doing things, in order to get results."

Seniority doesn't necessarily mean quality, Nelson said, and from now on the test is going to be "performance."

This isn't a young man's war nor an old man's war, but:

"A smart man's war, and we must insist that only smart men may occupy the jobs that call for smartness."

It should not be assumed that the enemy is stupid or weak or unresourceful, for they're nothing of the kind.

"We used to tell ourselves that the Japs would be committing national suicide if they made a pass at us. So what happened?"

"So they hit us with a Sunday punch that almost knocked us through the ropes."

"Let's get wise to ourselves and realize what we're up against."

Time, Nelson said, isn't on our side, and that idea should be discarded.

Poetic Rendering Of "Some Chicken"

Letter to Minneapolis Star Journal — To the Editor: There'll always be an England, said his Majesty the King. And through each conquered nation let his cheerful message ring. The mighty mistress of the sea has proven in the past that though she lost some battles, she can always win the last.

Though often in this holocaust she took it on the chin, no lightning war will now exhaust her fervent will to win. Thus with contempt her people meet all talk of shameful peace: "Far better dying on your feet than living on your knees."

A silly threat Herr Hitler flung: "In three weeks' time," said he, "just like a chicken's neck is wrung, so shall Great Britain's be." "She missed the bus," we often heard, but she can fly, by heck! She's quite a healthy looking bird.

SOME CHICKEN, EH! . . . SOME NECK!

Einar C. K. Arnild,
Minneapolis.

SAVE

ON BAKING COSTS— GET BETTER RESULTS

Every time you use Calumet Double-Acting Baking Powder you save. You pay less—you use less.

And you get better results because of Calumet's double-action. First in the mixing bowl, thousands of tiny bubbles, released by moisture, start to make your batter or dough light and fluffy. Then in the oven, released by heat, thousands more of these fine bubbles lift your cake or biscuits high and evenly. Remember—with Calumet:

- 1—You pay less—Calumet is priced surprisingly low, probably lower than the baking powder you are now using.
- 2—You use less—Calumet's double-action means double-leavening so most Calumet recipes call for less baking powder.
- 3—You get better results—because continuous leavening means finer, better texture in all your baking.

Some Tempting Cheese Dishes

After telling you something about cheese as a food and as a substitute for part of your daily milk portion, it seems appropriate to give a few tempting dishes containing cheese.

Welsh Rarebit

- 1/2 lb. cheese (grated)
- 1/2 teaspoon mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Cayenne
- 2 teaspoons butter
- 1 egg
- Dry toast

Place cheese in double boiler or chafing dish and sprinkle over the mixed seasonings. Add butter in pieces; then add the milk. When cheese is melted, stir in a well-beaten egg; cook for a moment. Serve on toast or on salt wafers.

Cottage Cheese

Heat sour milk or buttermilk until the whey is quite clear; drain in a cheese cloth and let drip about five hours without squeezing. Place curd in a bowl; break with a wooden spoon. Season with salt and mix into a paste with a little cream. Mold and set in a cool place.

Cheese Souffle

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Cayenne
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3 eggs

Cook first five ingredients as white sauce for two minutes. Remove from heat and add well-beaten yolks of eggs and cheese. Beat away to cool. When cool, fold in whites of eggs beaten stiff. Turn into buttered baking dish and bake in slow oven 30 minutes.

Cheese Fondue

- 1 cup scalded milk
 - 1 cup soft stale bread crumbs
 - 1/4 lb. mild cheese (cut in small pieces)
 - 1 tablespoon butter
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - Yolks 3 eggs
 - Whites 3 eggs
- Mix milk, breadcrumbs, cheese, butter and salt. Add yolks of eggs which have been beaten until creamy. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Pour into buttered baking dish and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven.

The composition of cheese is one-third protein, one-third fat and one-third water. In melting cheese use a gentle heat as intense heat makes cheese tough and difficult to digest. A little soda added to milk and water used in cooking cheese, will render the cheese more soluble.

Daylight Saving English Invention

Attributed to Bricklayer and Became Law in England in 1916

Few folks know that daylight saving time was invented by an English bricklayer called William Willet. He passed on the idea to his member of parliament, who later became Sir Robert Pearce. The bill was first introduced into the house of commons before the last war, but a select committee shelved the notion until 1916, when the unrestricted German submarine campaign made extra daylight in factories essential. The bill became law on May 21, 1916. The original scheme of the bricklayer had been to put the clock forward by four leaps of 20 minutes each, but Sir Robert Pearce amended it to the extra full hour which we enjoy in normal times.

Some amusing incidents occurred when the bill first became law. The palace officials hired a man by contract whose task was to see that all the royal clocks were duly moved in October and the spring.

Several other go ahead clock-makers followed suit, and offered to do the same at a lump sum down, with a contract to last for 30 years. As most of the clock-makers were well over 60 three of them were imprisoned—as a lesson — for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Must Get Behind the Loan

(From The Ottawa Journal)

This country, we repeat, must not permit controversy over its methods of raising manpower to weaken its efforts in subscribing to the full and brimming over, the coming Victory Loan. Some of us may feel that a plebiscite over conscription at this time is a mistake and a wrong to Canada. That is understandable. It would not be understandable, and it would be still graver wrong to Canada, if we carried our grievance, real or imaginary, to the point of sabotage against a Canadian war loan. That would be cutting off our nose to spite our face, and with a vengeance.

The Journal for its part has no patience with those who, under a sense of frustration over this plebiscite business, suggest boycott of war savings certificates and refusal to buy war bonds. Such suggestions are dangerous; dangerous in the sense that if once taken up and permitted to spread they might easily result in two things: (1) failure of the voluntary raising of war money, and (2) consequent compulsion in raising war money. Such a thing, coming at this time, would make great reading—for Adolf Hitler.

Money raised by Victory Loans and war savings certificates has been put to good use. It has been used to build Canadian industry and production into a war effort of power and magnitude that is a credit to this country. Let us, as Canadians, go on with that work, and better it if possible.

As for the plebiscite, we see only one democratic way of dealing with it. That way is to go out, and try to get others to go out, to vote to release the Government of its "pledges" thus voting in effect for the conscription we think necessary. If following that, and with the Government given its release, conscription does not come, there should be ways and means of dealing with the Government.

The Spirit of The Pioneer Mother Flames Anew Today

THINK BACK to the old days—when Canada was young.

Think of the high courage, the indomitable will of those pioneer women. Within the stockade or in the open field, they toiled—yes, fought—by the side of their men for the safeguarding of everything they held dear.

In the hearts of the women of Canada, this old spirit flames anew today! Gone are the heavy muskets, the log barricades—but the love of freedom, the stubborn resolve to win through at all costs—these things remain unchanged, unchangeable!

Grimly quenching their tears, mothers say "God bless you" to their fighting sons—everywhere young women are serving where duty calls—the women of Canada are bound together in one common cause.

In thousands of Canadian homes, women are revising their family budgets, planning new economies, making extra sacrifices—so that more and more money will be available for the purchase of Victory Bonds.

They know—these women of Canada—that every dollar loaned now means more tanks—more guns—more planes—more ships—more of everything which is needed to smash Hitlerism and bring Peace to all the family hearths of the world.

Channel Islands Under Nazi Heel

Story of an Islander Who Escaped to England in A Motorboat

A fairly large number of troops appear to be stationed in the island to which I belong, and of their general behavior to the populace there seems nothing to complain. A report that men from the island had been removed to camps or elsewhere on the continent is untrue, but all have to work mostly on food production, or do such other work as they are suited to.

Much hardship now exists however, owing to scarcity of one thing and another.

The islanders have had no tea for 12 months. Soap, candles, and paraffin are not obtainable, and the people mostly retire at dusk and rise at dawn. Butter is allowed at the rate of 2 oz. a week, meat 5 oz., and no fats. Gas for cooking is allowed for only 20 minutes or so, at two periods each day.

There was little coal for fuel during last Winter, and those who live near the coast gather driftwood, etc., for occasional fires. Many of the older people succumb with the cold. Nearly all doctors left before the occupation. A few German doctors are there, but not enough to cope with epidemics if such occur.

No clothing can be renewed, and not a reel of cotton is to be had. The outlook for Winter is therefore very grim.

No civilians remain in Alderney, which is given over entirely to military occupation. Fewer troops occupy Guernsey.

is shown by the German rank and file, as for instance when a con-

Lack of enthusiasm for the war tinent was ordered from Jersey for the Russian front. They revolted, but machine guns were trained on them by the officers.

Though not popular with the Jerseyites, the Germans have nevertheless contrived to win a small proportion of them to their ideas. For the remainder, they just have to keep quiet to avoid trouble.

Cinema shows are given free twice a week — mostly German films and propaganda. To educate the islanders in music approved by the Nazis, the occupying forces have imported a German opera company to give bi-weekly entertainments. Radio listening is allowed at certain times, except to English news.

Horse Does Not Need Ear Trumpet

Few animals surpass the horse in the keenness of his hearing; yet there are a multitude of drivers who yell and shout as if the horse in front of them with the delicate and sensitive ear were 16 blocks away. We have sometimes been able to convey a sound to the horse we were driving which the person sitting beside us could not hear. The quiet, confident tones of the voice aid greatly in controlling the horse.

We do not like drivers who never talk to their horses, though there used to be a driver of a six-horse team in Boston known as "Silent Jim." People stopped often to watch him handle his team in difficult situations, backing, cramping, turning around, without speaking a word.

At any rate, please remember, whoever you are who drive, that your horse has no need of an ear trumpet to hear you.

Base Metal Mines Increasing Output

While Canadian civilians are being asked to conserve use of metals to help the war effort, base metal mines are taking further steps to increase available supply of those metals at the source. With exports of non-ferrous metals up almost 25 per cent. in the first 11 months of 1941 over the corresponding period in 1940, base metal mines have already been turning out record quantities but they aim to do better still. Expansion called for under the Hyde Park agreement is expected to bring mineral production to a level hardly thought possible before the war.

The metal production picture in 1941 offers a striking contrast to that in 1917. Metal prices today on the average, are only half those existing in the last war but quantities produced are tremendously greater. With actual production figures not available, approximate increases over the first Great War period are estimated as follows: Copper, 750 per cent.; lead, 1,300 per cent.; nickel, 250 per cent.; zinc, 1,650 per cent. Certainly Canada's base metal industry has reason to be proud of its effort in this war to save democracy. — Financial Post.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON VI.
A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM. — Mark 1:21-34; Luke 4:31-41.

Printed Text, Mark 1:21-34
GOLDEN TEXT — I was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day. Revelation 1:10.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING
TIME — May, A.D. 28.
PLACE — The city of Capernaum, at the northern end of the Sea of Galilee.

21. "And they go into Capernaum; and straightway on the Sabbath Day he entered into the synagogue and taught. 22. And they were astonished at his teaching: for he taught them as having authority, and not as the scribes." It would seem that our Lord regularly attended the services of the synagogue on the Sabbath. We should follow his example. At times the services may be dull or meaningless but our presence there may be a blessing to others as well as to ourselves. Our Lord came to do many things, including the great work of teaching, a privilege He here exercises amidst His own people, in what ought to be an atmosphere of true worship. These people had heard teachers all their lives, and, no doubt, some of them had gone up to Jerusalem and heard the best teachers that Jerusalem had at that day. But the teaching of Jesus was immediately recognized as being something different; loftier and more powerful than any other teaching they had ever heard. In fact, they were utterly astonished at the way He talked, surprised especially at the authority which the Scribes never revealed. When men listened to Him they knew He was right. The authority of Jesus was, and still is, the authority of absolute truth.

23. "And straightway there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried out, 24. saying, What have we to do with Thee, Jesus thou Nazarene? Art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God." Something strange makes this spirit seek out Jesus in public and cry out what he knows about Jesus. May it not be possible that the man himself, weary of the bondage of an evil spirit, and learning that one who could deliver was teaching in the synagogue of his city, rushed in hoping that he, too, might be set free as others had been.

Jesus Has Authority
25. "And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. 26. And the unclean spirit, tearing him and crying with a loud voice, came out of him." The Lord Jesus does not argue with the demon; — he does not debate what he will do. The deliverance of the man takes place immediately. When the power of Christ is set against the power of evil, evil is compelled to give way.

27. "And they were all amazed inasmuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What is this? a new teaching! with authority to command even the unclean spirits, and they obey him. 28. And the report of him went out straight way everywhere into all the region of Galilee round about." For the second time this day the people of Capernaum are astonished: first with our Lord's teaching, characterized by an authority which they had never witnessed before, and now in finding His word to evil powers likewise characterized by the authority of a master.

Church and Home
29. "And straightway, when they were come out of the synagogue, they came into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John." In spending part of the Sabbath in the synagogue and part in the house, Jesus touched the two most sacred institutions given to men, the church and the home. It should be noted that Jesus went first, early in the morning, in the house of the Lord, and then later in the day, in the house of men.

30. "Now Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever; and straightway they tell him of her. 31. And he came and took her by the hand." Jesus uttered no word and silently effected the miracle taking her hand, a symbol of helpfulness all the world over. "And raised her up." No doubt as His hand touched hers, He communicated strength to her, enabling her to get up. "And the fever left her, and she ministered unto them." The miracle here is that the fever left immediately, and she was immediately well.

32. "And at even, when the sun did set, they brought into him all that were sick, and them that were possessed of demons. 33. And all the city was gathered together at the door. 34. And he healed many that were sick with various diseases, and cast out many demons; and He suffered not the demons to speak, because they knew Him." There must have been a mysterious sympathy and goodness in His looks, and words that seemed to beckon the wretched to Him as their friend. The blind cried out to Him from the roadside, and the woman of Canaan followed him in spite of His hard words. When He came near, even those possessed felt His divine greatness; and he spoke to all some word of mercy.

Hotels In Britain Have Their Trials

Hotels, like private households, have their difficulties. The milk shortage directly affects them too. A tablespoonful of milk is the limit of the ration, and if it goes into the morning coffee, guests must take their porridge without. So states one hotel manager. For the rest of the day, a modicum of milk is served with tea, and generally none with coffee.

Even the porridge has suffered a declassification. I hear of one establishment where, in deference to the English habit of eating it with sugar, it is actually savored with sugar instead of salt in the making, and thus rendered completely unacceptable to the Scottish palate.

Not a great deal of sympathy goes out to the hotel guest, who is mistakenly pictured as living on the fat of the land while everybody else is severely rationed. The truth is that hotel menus are much attenuated as compared with a year ago, and, if the black market operates, it is only in the less reputable establishments.

RADIO REPORTER

DIALING WITH DAVE:

By the time the next column appears in print the probabilities are all Canada and the United States will be on Daylight Saving time — and that's going to do rather funny things to your radio listening: in fact, rather mix it up for you. Briefly, this is what will happen: Those who are on Daylight Saving time, will hear Canadian network shows at the usual time — but American Networks, such as Charlie McCarthy and others, will be heard ONE HOUR EARLIER! Those who leave Standard Time, will hear Canadian network shows ONE HOUR LATER than they've been accustomed to hearing them, but American originating shows will not change time! A bit confusing, but literally, that is what takes place, for at present the United States is on Standard Time, while most of Canada's originating points, like Toronto, have been consistently on Daylight Time! The exact time change date is Monday, February 9th — so after this Sunday's programs are over, watch for the changes!

Good news for many of the localities of the Province is the fact that the Bandwagon will continue to ride down Harmony Highway throughout the year. The Bandwagon shows are produced from local radio stations — CKOC's version is aired on Fridays at 8.30 D.S.T.—CFRB's Saturday at 7.00 p.m. They're smartly paced shows, highlighting each week some local effort on behalf of War Work. The Kinsmen's 'Milk for Britain' Fund has received wide publicity on the Bandwagon shows, and many of the show's promotional ideas have added very material assistance to the Drive's success!

Another show spotlighted on various local stations throughout the province is Hoedown by Ogden — two weekly quarter hours of traditional 'old-time' music and song, with modern excerpts styled by Dorothy Whyte! Dot is a Canadian born lass, who toured England a few years ago, and was featured with Jay Wilbur's Band! She made quite a name for herself, and the boys at CKOC treasure their Jay Wilbur recordings which feature Dorothy in the vocal refrains! CKOC's "Hoedown by Ogden" is aired at 7.00 p.m. D.S.T. Tuesday and Thursdays.

Some Canadian shows, particularly the networks, may change time to avoid conflict with American shows coming into Canada. But keep listening — and don't miss the big Tuesday night variety headliner, "Blended Rhythm," starring Eric Wild's orchestra, the solo voices of Georgia Day and Burt Austin, and the Campbell Sisters. Comedy, a la Variety style, is offered by Frankie Shuster and Johnny Wayne. Herb May M.C.'s the show, and its pace is keen! It's a CBC Network show! The program will continue to be heard at 8.30 p.m. D.S.T.

A Few 1150 Listening Tips:
Keep your dial on 1150 Monday nights at 8.00 D.S.T. in the future — the feature "What's on My Mind," quiz show with a new twist, has taken on some new trimmings, and is really bang-up entertainment. There's an audience participation feature too! And speaking of 'Quiz' — catch CKOC's 1.30 D.S.T. daily "TELE-QUIZ" — a half hour of fun for all — and of course, no quiz round-up is complete without mention of "TRUE OR FALSE," conducted by Dr. Harry Hagen Mondays at 9.30 D.S.T. on CKOC and a large network of Ontario stations!

Sunday on CKOC has many pleasant quarter hours of fine listening: For instance, Joe Petersen, English boy soprano at 12.45 — Accordians at 4.45 — and the Old Refrains at 6.15!

Record of the week — the fast becoming popular 'Tis Autumn, as recorded by Eddy Duchin!

WINNIPEG BUILDS PROPELLERS

Among the numerous war industries spread across the West is a plant in Winnipeg where propellers are built for Canada's training planes. Modern machinery, such as the device shown here, helps speed up production. This "profiling lathe" does a job in thirty minutes that used to take an experienced worker six hours.

Modern Etiquette

1. Isn't a young person entitled to all the pleasure he can get out of life?
2. What colors of ink should be used for correspondence?
3. Is it all right for a man to hail a woman on the street?
4. Is it proper to take a woman across a room for the purpose of introducing her to a man?
5. Is it permissible for a mother and her son to have joint visiting cards?
6. What is essential to have a perfectly set table?

Answers

1. Yes, if the pleasure is innocent and moderate. Moderation should be practiced in all things. Colton wrote, "The seeds of repentance are sown in youth by pleasure, but the harvest is reaped in age by panic." 2. Black or dark blue ink should be used. Persons of good taste do not use fancy paper or colored inks. 3. Yes, if he knows her well. 4. No; the man is always brought across the room to meet the woman. 5. No. A man may have a joint card with his wife but does not share one with his mother, daughter or sister. 6. Everything should be spaced perfectly, and all silverware balanced, with the centerpiece in the exact center. Beyond this rule the table may be set as the hostess chooses.

Have You Heard?

A filling station man answered the distress call of a stalled car some few miles down the road. Arriving at the scene, he found the fluttering female driver, pulling and jerking and peering but to no avail.

His brief once-over revealed that the car was out of gas. "Oh," sighed the lady with relief, "I'm so glad that's the only trouble. But if you suppose it would hurt if I drove home on an empty tank?"

Doctor: I'm Dr. Peter, and you have just regained consciousness after the crash.
Motorist: Oh, for a second you gave me such a shock. I thought you said you were St. Peter!

Not being fit for military service, a little man tried for a job as a striker in a blacksmith's shop. After looking him over the smith picked up the biggest hammer and threw it out of the window, saying: "If you can do this you can start work."

The little man picked up the anvil and threw it after the hammer, saying: "O.K., are we working outside?"

Teacher: "What is a rabbit?"

Johnny: "Dad says it's an animal that grows the fur that other animals get credit for when it is made into a coat."

He sat fidgeting and nervous in the solicitor's waiting-room. A clerk entered.

"I say," said the client, beckoning to him. "I have an appointment with the solicitor at ten o'clock. It's about a legacy."

"And how long have you been waiting?"

"Twenty years!" replied the other.

HOW CAN I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make an ink for writing on glass, ivory, or other smooth surfaces?

A. Use 3 parts nitrate of silver, 20 parts gum arabic, 30 parts distilled water. Dissolve the gum arabic in two-thirds of the water, the nitrate of silver in the other third. Then mix, and add the desired color.

Q. How can I make the creases in trousers last longer?

A. Try putting a teaspoonful of sugar into a cup of water and sponging with this solution when pressing them.

Q. How can I make a decorative salad?

A. By cutting some hard-boiled eggs in six lengthwise slices and arranging petal-fashion around mounds of chopped pickle, mixed with salad dressing. Serve on lettuce.

Q. How can I test the quality of table linen?

A. A good method for testing table linen is to secure a sample and dip it into any kind of oil. The linen threads will become almost transparent, enabling one to see very readily how many cotton threads it contains.

Q. How can I keep the juice of fruit pies from running over?

A. If a soda cracker is rolled into fine pieces and sprinkled over the lower crust of a fruit pie, it will prevent the juices from running over into the oven.

Dried Apples Raise Fund For England

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, handed the Lord Mayor of London, Sir John Laurie, a cheque for $56,678 ($252,000) for the air raid distress fund.

One of the largest single contributions to the fund, the money came from the sale by the ministry of food of dried apples sent by the Canadian government and the Canadian Red Cross.

What Science is Doing

BOARDS FROM OATS

Stucco, plaster, wall board and insulation — all from oats — are the latest development in building materials revealed in a patent (No. 2,269,509) granted to Michael J. Batelja of Portland, Ore.

The patent papers contained a photograph of the inventor's own house sheathed with oat stucco which looks like stone.

To prepare the stucco and plaster, oats are first pulverized, then mixed with water, one pound to twenty pounds of water. Next the mixture is cooked at 212 degrees Fahrenheit until it becomes jellylike.

A small amount of sassafras oil is added to prevent mold growth. The mass is then mixed with a fibrous material, like ground-newspapers, straw or rags, to obtain the desired consistency.

The resulting compound may be applied like conventional plaster or stucco, it is said. Or it may be molded into boards, tile or bricks. On setting it becomes hard and tough.

SCIENTIFIC NOTE

In perverse contradiction of the accepted theories on drinking and driving, one Toronto motorist is accustomed to drive with especial care after he has taken one or two drinks.

Returning from a stag party one recent evening, he was hugging the curb and proceeding at not more than fifteen miles an hour when he was startled by the sudden appearance of two policemen, one on each running-board.

"Step on it, buddy," shouted one of them, "and catch that car ahead. The driver's drunk."

Had Moses Foreseen Our Misuse of Land

Without flippancy and with all reverence, it is suggested in a recent issue of "Citriculture" (California) that if Moses had foreseen man's woeful misuse of land in every country and in every age—the wastage of soil by man's suicidal agriculture and the resulting man-made deserts and ruined civilizations — if he had foreseen the desolation caused by man's ignorance or greed, or both, Moses no doubt, would have been inspired to amplify the Ten Commandments to ensure man's understanding and observance of his trinity of responsibilities — his responsibility to his Creator, his responsibility to his fellow-men, and his responsibility to Mother Earth. Such an amplification might have been given in these words: "Thou shalt inherit the earth as a faithful steward, conserving its resources and fertility from generation to generation. Thou shalt safeguard thy fields from soil erosion, the living waters from drying up, thy forests from desolation, and protect thy country from overstocking or over-grazing, so that thy descendants shall never be deprived of their abundance." — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Fear Hens Won't Like Blackouts

Attorney-General Conant, chairman of Ontario A.R.P. committee, agrees with complaints filed with him by York County farmers, who say that, when the power is turned off during blackouts, egg-laying will slow up. The farmers say that chickens must have light at certain hours or they will stop laying.

Mr. Conant agrees this is so, and while he sighs over the many problems involved in ARP preparation, says the blackout regulations must be amended to take care of the situation.

In Ontario, it is pointed out, there are thousands of chicken hatcheries, and a serious production problem might ensue if power is cut off. Mr. Conant has invited the farmers to make suggestions as to how best to regulate blackouts, so as not to interfere with chickens.

Roosevelt Prefers "United Nations"

It looks as if the term "United Nations" is going to be preferred in this war to the designation "Allies" used in the First World War.

In his speech before Congress recently President Roosevelt spoke of "we of the United Nations" alluding to the 26-nation agreement pledging a war to the finish against the axis and promising no separate peace by any of the participants.

That agreement was headed "Declaration by United Nations."

It was reported the president did most of the drafting of the declaration and personally selected "United Nations" in preference.

War Bringing Back Old Time Economies

Some millions of pamphlets are being scattered about Canada urging people to save household fats and bones and telling them that it is possible to make first-class soap from animal fats.

What a long way Canadians of today have moved from the customs of their forebears if they have to receive such information formally and officially! Their grandmothers did not need to be told that animal fats can make good soap. They had constant demonstrations of the fact.

The war is bringing old economies back to us. Perhaps among others it will bring the soap kettle and the soft soap and hard soap of far-off days. If we are to pay for this war — and that is our job — we shall have to turn our resources to account instead of sending them to the incinerator or pouring them down the sewer.

32,144,201 Fur Pieces For German Soldiers

It is significant that the German people contributed 32,144,201 pieces of fur to the appeal to keep the Nazi army warm in Russia, says the Wire.
Of these furs were brought from the attics, where they had been lying these many years. Everything from fur coats to fur ear muffs went into the collection bins.

If the German people were not still behind Hitler and the lust of Germany to conquer the world, they would not have been so diligent in finding furs to send to the troops on the Russian front. If there had been any tendency against the Nazis, this was an opportunity to do so. The Gestapo would know about some of the furs, but the Nazi officials would not know about the old furs in the trunks in the attics.

Hitler has not lost his hold on the German people yet. They may not be as keen for the war as they were, but those fur contributions show they are still willing to support the men at the front.

Free French Sub Plys The Atlantic

The Surcouf, the world's largest submarine is plying the North Atlantic again, fully manned by Free French naval forces and ready to do her part in clearing the enemy from Allied shipping lanes. The 4,300-ton undersea craft, once the pride of the French fleet, took to sea after participating in the occupation of the St Pierre and Miquelon Islands by the Free French forces Dec. 24 and again is a deadly menace to any enemy craft she may contact. And the crew of 140 officers and men, under Captain Louis Blaison, are anxious to swing into action.

South Americas' Unanimous Action

The now almost unanimous movement of all the countries of North and South America into the ranks of those fighting the Axis has a significance that may be missed by many. The republic south of the United States may not be able to send great naval land and air forces into action, but their declarations of war, their breaking of diplomatic relations and their assurances of benevolent neutrality will mean great aid to the fighting Allies.

Severing of all economic channels, seizure of Axis merchantmen, and similar measures will mean the release of British naval craft from blockade duties off South American coasts. Seizure of Japanese fishing craft will prevent possible re-fueling of Axis submarines and surface raiders. Cutting off all hemisphere supplies at their source is in itself a real blow to the Axis and one that will be felt more and more. — Edmonton Journal.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally in a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Iron Sports Equipment Used in Ancient Times

Steel or iron have been favored for sports equipment since ancient times, when Greek athletes hurled the javelin in their games, and then down through the Middle ages, when armored knights tested their skill in tournaments. Today steel is more prominent than ever in sports and games, and every year millions of pounds of steel are bought in the form of sports and recreation equipment. When many modern sports were developed wood and leather were used widely, but the trend is now toward steel where speed, strength and safety are important.

Golf, a game in which little steel was once used, in 1938 absorbed about 1,069,000 pounds in the manufacture of new clubs, exclusive of other uses on the courses.

Of the total for golf clubs 175,000 pounds of steel were used for the shafts of wood-headed clubs, while

Secretary of Bible Society Acknowledges Contributions From This District

Mr. John Murray, Shawville, Que.
Dear Mr. Murray.

I have received through you, Shawville's magnificent gift of $ 250.15 to the world wide work of the Bible Society and herewith enclose receipt for same. I feel that I cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing the Society's grateful appreciation to the officers and collectors for their most efficient service, for without their co-operation and willing sacrifice of time, this splendid result could certainly not have been received. Would you, if possible, please pass on to the collectors our sincere thanks for their continued loyalty to the cause of Bible distribution.

Shawville has ever been regarded as one of the best branches in the Ottawa Auxiliary and in 1941 it has even surpassed its fine record of former years. At a time when the Bible is so greatly needed in our national and international life, this, I am sure, is cause for gratitude to you, as it is to us.

May the year upon which we have entered be one of health and blessing to you all.

Very sincerely yours,
B. V. MACLEAN,

The collectors were:—
Wilmer Hodgins, Ben F. Smith, W. H. Corrigan, Geo. E. Palmer, Leslie Dean, Hubert Hamilton, Arthur Caldwell, T. M. Wallace, Clarence Dean, Harold Hayes, Lawrence Hodgins, Arthur Dagg, Norval Wilson, Gussie Draper.
