LIBERALS RETURNED WITH BIG MAJORITY MAURICE GINGUES, OTHER E. T. LIBERALS RE-ELECTED

World News In Brief

Bari, Italy —(AP)— Fifteen persons were injured — two critically — Monday night in an explosion of fireworks intended for use in a religious celebration. Roman candles — touched off by accident — sprayed fiery pellets into a crowd gathered for the traditional festival of martyrs.

Hamburg — (AP)— Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight champion, left by air last night for Indonesia on his first trip abroad since the war. Schmeling, now a mink breeder, was invited to referee in an international boxing tournament at Jakarta.

New York — AP—Smiling and affable, but uncommunicative, Andrei Vishinsky, Russia's permanent delegate to the United Nations, arrived from Europe today on the liner Queen Mary.

"I don't know," was his stock reply to questions as to whether he would present to the forthcoming meeting of the United Nations any proposals on the admission of Red China or on atomic energy.

A spokesman said Vishinsky would give no interview, as "there is nothing unusual."

Washington — (AP)— Prime Minister Malenkov has successfully weathered a grim power struggle inside the Kremlin and now stands virtually unchallenged as Russia's ruler.

This is the carefully-considered view of senior U.S. foreign affairs experts who have been watching developments within the Soviet Union since Premier Stalin's death.

Active support by powerful Red Army leaders, they said, probably was a deciding factor in maintaining Malenkov's power despite widespread uncertainty after the sudden purge of deputy-premier Lavrenty Beria.

In Korea — (AP)— Brig. Jean Allard, commander of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, has been confined to hospital since he was struck with influenza while touring army installations in Japan.

St. Laurent Government Is Given Over-All Edge Of At Least 77 Ridings

Tomorrow Is Another Day: Drew

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa—(AP)—Hon. George Drew, defeated in his second bid to lead the Progressive Conservative party to election victory, Monday night called for a continued effort to ward that goal.

"Tomorrow is another day," he said in a formal statement, and pledged a vigorous opposition in the next House of Commons.

He asked his supporters to start today to build the party's strength "for further service to the country that we love" and said Canada's future—not the success of any party—was the election issue.

The 59-year-old opposition leader, steadily smiling and patient throughout a series of election-

Progressive Conservatives Gain Two Seats, CCF 10 And Social Credit Five.

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Liberals today start an unprecedented fifth term of Canadian government.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's party lost some of its record-shattering Commons majority in Monday's general election but came up with a solid working margin over all parties.

The 71-year-old prime minister, who staked the Liberal's future solely on their record, brought home 171 of the Commons' 265 members to give him an over-all edge of at least 77.

In his record 1949 win, 193 Liberals steamrollered into office. That number had been cut to 181 by the time the 21st Parliament was dissolved in June.

Monday, all the House parties sliced further into that representation. The CCF made the biggest gains, boosting their number to 23 from 13 chiefly on the strength of a Socialist onslaught in Saskatchewan that overthrew the Liberal majority from that province.

George Drew's Progressive Conservatives added just two to their dissolution total of 48, failing to make the sweeping Ontario gains they had looked for to start them on the way to power.

The official Opposition added a half-dozen to its Ontario membership and gained one extra seat in Quebec, but lost most of that advance on the Atlantic seaboard where the Liberals swept Newfoundland and snatched PC seats in the Maritimes.

The Social Credit group tacked on five to its former representation of 10 members. It took one away from the Liberals in Alberta and cracked the British Columbia field federally for the first time by getting four members in that province.

The Canadian Press final party tally:

Party	1953	1949
Liberal	171	193
PC	50	41
CCF	23	13
SC	15	10
Ind.	3	4
Ind-L	2	1
Total	265	262

Social Credit's British Columbia showing was an evident let-down for that party in the light of its two provincial wins there since the last federal election.

For Prime Minister St. Laurent, who first entered politics in 1941 by exchanging his lawyer's shingle for a cabinet portfolio, it was the second win of the two campaigns he has led. The white-haired government chief, now the grandfather of 17, took over the Liberal leadership from Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in 1948.

For Mr. Drew, 59-year-old former member of Ontario, it was the second unsuccessful bid for the country's top political office. He, too, became party leader in 1948.

While Mr. St. Laurent waged a "no promises" campaign, his chief opponent offered the country a 16-point program that had as its main items promises of a $500,000,000-a-year tax slash and improvement in Canada's trade abroad.

But a record electorate of about 8,500,000 eventually picked the Liberals with—on the basis of incomplete overnight returns—the third highest total a party ever brought to Parliament. The 1949 Liberal figure of 178 stands next to the 1949 high mark.

But while the Liberals failed to reach those levels this time, they did break the four-term records of earlier governments. The first of these was set by the Conservatives from 1878 on, and later the Liberals had four consecutive terms under Sir Wilfrid Laurier, starting in 1896.

However, the Liberals in the current run of administrations already had the record for longevity in terms of years in office, 17, by the time they came up to Monday's election. They had been in office since 1935, the Conservatives under R. B. Bennett winning their last election in 1930.

In the popular vote, the Liberals this time were carrying 46 per cent on the basis of an early-morning Canadian Press tabulation from 36,356 of the 40,575 polls. The Progressive Conservatives had 31 per cent, the CCF 12 per cent and others nine.

The tabulation indicated one of the highest votes in Canadian history, but it will not reach the 5,488,766 record of 1949. Monday's election was the first one-day August election in Canada's history.

Will Do Best For Canada: St. Laurent

Quebec — CP — Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a country-wide speech Monday night, said he "will do his best in the service of Canada."

Mr. St. Laurent was re-elected in his home constituency of Quebec East with a comfortable majority in the federal general election.

Following is the text of Mr. St. Laurent's speech.

"Fellow Canadians:

"I am greatly pleased by the result of my second general election as national leader of the Liberal party.

"I thank you sincerely for the heartening expression of confidence you have given today to the government — your government — of which I have had the privilege to be the head for the last 4½ years.

"The decisive verdict you have given will strengthen the government in carrying on the policies which have given such satisfaction in Canada during the last few years.

"We shall continue to strive resolutely for peace and prosperity, and, with peace and prosperity, as the fundamental aims of the Liberal party—which is to ensure to all Canadians, in every province, or every race and creed and class, and of all political parties, the closest possible approach to equality of opportunity and to a fair share of the bounties with which providence has endowed our favored land.

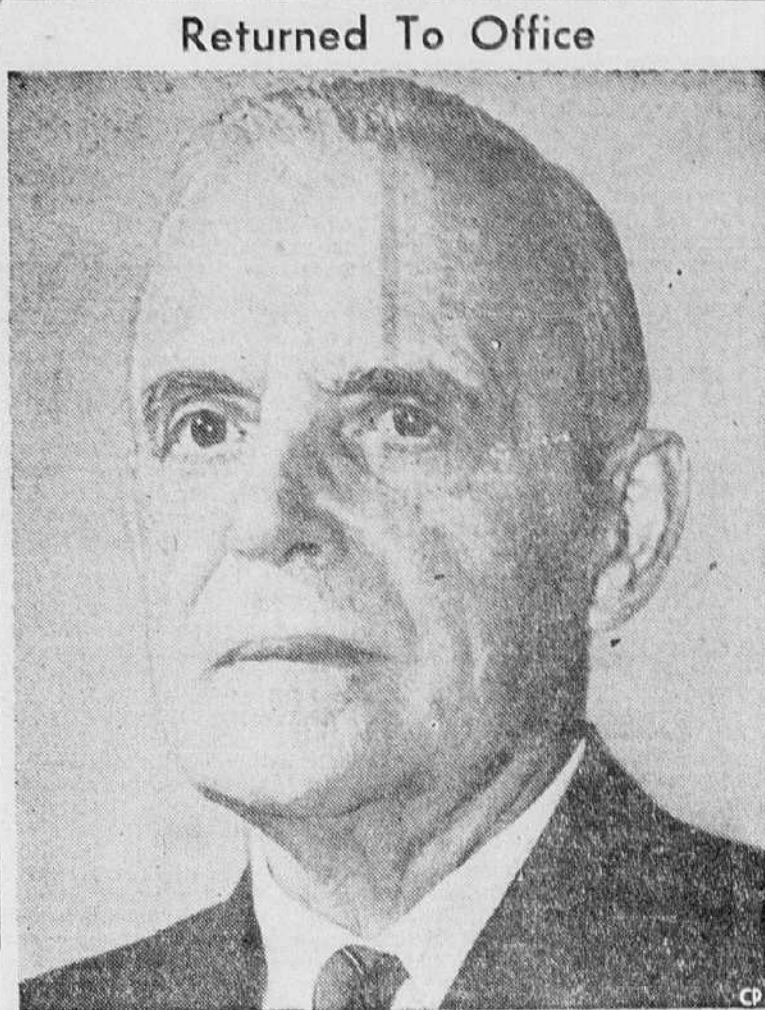

"I wish to congratulate individually each successful Liberal candidate and thank all our friends who helped them to achieve that success.

"Those who were unsuccessful this time, and their friends, will rejoice in the victory of the party and continue to work with the rest of us for the full realization of Liberal policies.

"I should like also to express my appreciation to the thousands of Canadians in hundreds of places from St. John's, Nfld., to Victoria, B.C., who gave me such a wonderful reception, not only during the course of my recent election tour, but wherever I went since I became prime minister of Canada.

"It will continue to be, as it has always been, my highest ambition to contribute something to the strengthening of the spirit of harmony and goodwill and co-operation between English- and French-speaking Canadians which is the one sure foundation of our unity as a nation. With that solid foundation we have built a nation in which we have been able to welcome hundreds of thousands of good citizens of other races who have all made distinctive

Returned To Office

PRIME MINISTER ST. LAURENT

All Members Of Cabinet Are Re-Elected To House

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa —(CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent, fresh from a second victory as leader of his party in a general election, will meet his cabinet here Thursday.

All his cabinet colleagues who went through the campaign were elected, as well as their parliamentary assistant, with one exception.

The new Parliament itself will show little change so far as major figures are concerned. All party leaders were returned along with most of their chief lieutenants.

There is no interruption in government. The cabinet ministers do not have to be re-sworn. They simply carry on.

Only one job of cabinet building awaits the prime minister, apart from any changes he may choose to make.

There was one vacancy when the government went to the people. Hon. Alphonse Fournier, minister of public works, resigned his House seat to take an appointment to the Exchequer Court bench and his portfolio remained vacant.

However, there may be other changes. Finance Minister Abbott has freely forecast that he would move to another portfolio after running the treasury since December, 1948.

It has been frequently forecast that Justice Minister Garson would trade portfolios with Mr. Abbott, a lawyer in private life.

Other changes may be in the offing, but they did not become apparent during the campaign.

There has been talk of Dr. J. J. McCann, 66, retiring from the revenue department for a place in the Senate, and if this happens it may require further shuffles.

For the first time since 1945 the government has a woman supporter elected to the House. Mrs. Ann Shipley of Temiskaming, long experienced in municipal politics.

It would not be surprising, in the near future, she is placed in a cabinet position—to be the first Canadian woman cabinet member. She is almost certain to be made a parliamentary assistant if she falls short of a cabinet post.

Another certain new parliamentary assistant post is ready for W. G. (Gib) Weir, 57, Portage-Neepawa, Liberal whip in the House since 1945.

When he announced dissolution of Parliament and the election date in June, Mr. St. Laurent said he would offer Mr. Weir the post of parliamentary assistant to the prime minister, if the election went in favor of the Liberals. Mr. Weir would retain his job of party whip if he chose to.

The government will have to nominate a new Speaker when Parliament meets and there seems little doubt it will go to the deputy speaker of the last Parliament, L. Rene Beaudin, 41, re-elected in Vaudreuil-Soulanges.

Speaker of the last House, W. Ross Macdonald, Brantford, was appointed to the Senate before the election. The Speaker's job goes alternately to English- and French-speaking members and now it is the turn of a French-speaking member.

There are 12 Senate vacancies remaining. At dissolution, when the prime minister appointed a number of senators, he said he was leaving three vacancies deliberately against the possibility that a new party would form the next government.

Eight Counties Return Members Without Change

The Liberal party continued master of the Eastern Townships political scene, all the eight members of the last House of Commons being returned in yesterday's general elections, although in many cases there was a marked change in popular support.

Some of the candidates found their majorities sharply increased, while in other ridings they found the Progressive Conservatives who provided their chief opposition making serious cuts into the former Liberal leads.

The results of yesterday's election in the Eastern Townships ridings were as follows:

In the former riding, Armand Cloutier, the Liberal, was leading his Progressive Conservative opponent in a straight fight by slightly under 2,500 votes with five of the 184 polls to report. Cloutier polled 15,309 votes yesterday to 12,829 for Roland Provancher.

In a triangular fight in 1949, Cloutier led the field with 16,899 votes, followed by a Union des Electeurs candidate who polled 4,251, the

American Prisoners Vow Vengeance On Progressives

By FORREST EDWARDS
Panmunjom — (AP)— A bitter band of diehard Americans came back from their Red prison camps today, vowing vengeance on weaker comrades who turned to communism under pressure.

They spat out "progressive" as a dirty word, and wore with honor the badge of "reactionary" fastened on them by Red Chinese who clubbed and tortured them but did not break their spirits.

One tough American had to be held back by force when he spotted a "progressive" at the Freedom Village reception centre.

"I'll get that S.O.B. when I get home," he said.

On hundred Americans came back from the north, along with 24 Britons, 25 Turks and 250 South Koreans in the seventh day of the Korean war prisoner exchange.

Meanwhile, 328 Americans repatriated earlier sailed from Inchon aboard the troopship Gen. Nelson M. Walker for the 14- to 15-day voyage to San Francisco's Golden Gate.

All were classed as healthy. The ship originally was to sail several hours later, but its orders apparently were changed.

A plane bearing 10 seriously ill, all litter patients, landed at Honolulu for a night of rest before continuing homeward. It is expected to arrive at Travis air force base near San Francisco about Wednesday.

The first week of exchange has brought 648 Americans of the 2,313 the Reds say they held. A total of 2,372 Allied captives have been returned; the Reds listed 12,769. Two Canadians were among the freed.

The UN command has returned 19,406 prisoners.

Another 100 Americans, 250 South Koreans, 25 Britons and 25 Turks are scheduled to return Wednesday.

The latest group of Americans released won the "reactionary" honors the hard way. There were bitter men among the first groups last week, but few matched the anger of the last groups.

They spoke with passion of those who have suffered.

"If any progressives get on the boat with me," said one, "they'll be shark bait. They are hated worse than the Chinks."

Liberals Lose Two Seats In Quebec Province Vote

Quebec — (AP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent personally led the field as his Liberal party retained its Quebec stronghold in Monday's federal election.

The Liberals, while losing some ground to the Progressive Conservatives, won 68 of the provincial 75 seats. In the 1949 general election the Liberals won 68 of the then 73 seats.

The 71-year-old Prime Minister, fighting his second general election since he took over the leadership of the party in 1948, had a personal majority of more than 20,000 in Quebec East. The seat, held by Mr. St. Laurent since he entered federal politics in 1941, once was represented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canada's only other French-speaking Prime Minister.

Carried back into office on the Liberal tide were Finance Minister Abbott and Defence Minister Claxton, targets of much of the Progressive Conservative criticism during the election campaign, one of the quietest in the history of the province.

Veterans Minister Lapointe and Postmaster General Cote were re-elected with healthy majorities.

Others returned included Hon. C. G. (Chubby) Power, Canada's wartime air minister and dean of the House of Commons in years of service; Jean Francois Pouliot, colorful Liberal member for Temiscouata; Jean Lesage, parliamentary assistant to Mr. Abbott; Paul Emile Cote, parliamentary assistant to Labor Minister Gregg; Joseph Blanchette, parliamentary assistant to Mr. Claxton, and J. Leopold Langlois, parliamentary assistant to the postmaster general.

The Progressive Conservatives lost two of the three Quebec seats they held at dissolution, but they picked up three Liberal ridings.

Leon Balcer, national president of the Young Progressive Conservative Association, was re-elected in Three Rivers, defeating Mayor J. A. Monaghan, Liberal, in a two-man fight.

Two other Quebec Progressive Conservatives in the last Commons — Ri Courtemanche in Labelle and Paul Spence in Roberval — were defeated.

But Progressive Conservative candidates won from the Liberals in Dorchester, Quebec West and Montreal-Notre Dame de Grace.

Three Rivers and Dorchester were constituencies that gave Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, the largest reception of his entire cross-country campaign.

The Progressive Conservatives polled a larger vote in Quebec than in 1949. On the basis of incomplete returns, the Progressive Conservatives polled 414,454 votes compared with 385,140 Quebec votes in 1949. The Liberals had 845,418 compared with 961,933 in the last election.

In most constituencies it was a fight between the Liberal and Progressive Conservative candidates. The CCF and Labor-Progressive parties failed to elect a candidate.

A total of 232 candidates were nominated in the province, but three later withdrew. The withdrawals brought the re-election of two Liberals by acclamation—Lionel Bertrand in Terrebonne and Joseph Fontaine in St. Hyacinthe-Bagot.

Two independents, Raoul Poulin in Beauce and P. E. Gagnon in Chicoutimi, were re-elected. A third independent—Fernand Girard—won Lapointe from the Liberals.

Arthur Masse was re-elected as Independent Liberal in Kamouraska. Adrien Meunier was elected as Independent Liberal in Montreal-Papineau, a seat represented by Mayor Camilien Houde of Montreal. Mr. Houde, who won the seat as an independent, was not a candidate for re-election.

The CCF had 29 candidates in the running and the Labor-Progressives 25. All lost their deposits.

Mrs. Therese Casgrain, CCF leader in Quebec, and Gui Caron, Quebec leader of the communist Labor-Progressive party, were among those defeated.

A total of 11 women candidates, most of them CCF and Labor-Progressive supporters, were defeated. They polled only 6,000 of the 1,380,000 votes cast in the province.

Last Delegates Of ACWW Arrive For Conference

The last of the overseas delegates to the Toronto Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, August 12-23, arrived in Montreal today, on the Empress of France. The group is comprised of 23 members from various parts of the Commonwealth, including Australia, East Africa, New Zealand and Tasmania. The United Kingdom will also be represented and the delegation will be headed by Mrs. Charles Russell, London, chairman of the A.C.W.W. executive committee.

Representatives of the Quebec Women's Institutes and the Montreal Council of Women were on hand to greet them when they arrive in port.

Two of the A.C.W.W. vice-presidents, Miss Amy Kane, New Zealand, and Lady de Souza, Ceylon, also arrived today by plane at Dorval. All are leaving immediately for Toronto.

One of the interesting personalities at the conference will be Miss Elsie M. Zimmern, the first "Honorary Member" to be created by the A.C.W.W. Miss Zimmern was the guiding hand "behind the scenes" in the formative years of the A.C.W.W. to quote her own modest statement when she was interviewed on her way through Montreal to Toronto this past week. At that time she was secretary of the International Council of Women and Lady Aberdeen, president, when those first tentative suggestions were made by the latter that brought together a few leaders of country women's societies in 1929 which led to the conference of the following year when the A.C.W.W. came into being.

Miss Zimmern was chairman of the A.C.W.W. executive through the war years, when the office carried on without faltering in its London office, even through the worst of the blitz. "In fact," said Miss Zimmern, in recounting some of her experiences, "we used to be quite worried if the planes didn't show up and worry about the other part of the country that must be getting it instead."

With an absorbing interest in people she is still ready to assist in any emergency and, to quote from a recent "Countrywoman," "Her wisdom and knowledge of international affairs, her absolute integrity, her calm in the midst of storms, combined with her stupendous amount of common sense, are assets which the A.C.W.W. has indeed been fortunate to have at hand the 23 years of its existence."

At present Miss Zimmern is vice-chairman of the co-ordinating committee and sits on the committees dealing with finance, the conference and the United Nations Specialized Agencies.

CAPTAIN EASY

New Comedy Billed At Brae Manor

The Sadlers of the Brae Manor Playhouse, in Knowlton, announce their new bill for this week, starting Wednesday. The play is "Nina" written by Andre Roussin and adapted by Samuel Taylor.

It is a typical triangle comedy, its characters consisting of: The deceived husband, Adolphe Tessier, stuffy, meticulous civil servant; the lover, Gerard Dupuis, rich young playboy with many interests, with Nina the latest; and, of course, Nina herself. Nina is a lovely creature who "lives for love," a vivacious and beautiful woman. What happens when Gerard, in a moment of boredom, decides to commit suicide in his apartment at the precise moment that Adolphe decides to burst in and murder him, provides an assortment of situations that makes up the swift comedy of the play.

Filmore Sadler will step upon the stage to play the role of Adolphe Tessier, assisted by Brae Manorites Claire Drew, as Nina, Andrew Macmillan as Gerard Dupuis, and Lee Stern, who plays the only other role in the small cast.

Mr. Sadler is directing and James Maquire will design the sets.

Bodies Of Missing Van Doo Soldiers Found In Stream

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In Korea — The bodies of two Van Doo soldiers missing since a patrol the night of May 19 have been recovered from the bank of a stream in no man's land.

The bodies are those of 21-year-old Sgt. J. A. G. Desjardins of Winnipeg, and Pte. H. J. Moreau of Penetanguishen, Ont.

Desjardins led an 11-man patrol from the 3rd battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, trying to intercept and capture a prisoner.

Only four of his men returned, bringing with them a story of a patrol that criss-crossed all night through no man's land looking for the enemy, finally moving to a point 1,500 yards south of its assigned area.

There it was trapped between a Chinese outpost and a Chinese patrol trailing behind. When last seen Desjardins was shooting it out, a pistol in his right hand, a sten gun in his left.

It had been hoped that the missing had been captured.

This appeared strengthened when two outlines in the stream, at first thought to be bodies, were declared by soldiers who patrolled near them to be sandbags that had floated downstream.

During recent rains, however, the objects were raised again to the view of observers who constantly watch no man's land and enemy territory through high-powered binoculars.

They again appeared to be bodies. Lt.-Col. Antoine Poulin, the CO, sent out a small patrol to check. They were bodies, apparently now washed onto the bank. Suspecting that the Chinese might have placed them there and booby-trapped them, Poulin ordered the bodies watched and had the area carefully gone over.

Maurice Gingues Is Re-Elected With 7,630 Majority

Sherbrooke Member Retains County By Wide Margin To Gain A Fourth Term As Member Of Parliament

Registering majorities in all sections of the county, Maurice Gingues was elected as Liberal Member of Parliament for Sherbrooke County yesterday for the fourth successive term. In a straight fight with Antonio Pinard, Progressive Conservative, Mr. Gingues received a majority of 7,630, polling 15,717 votes as compared with 8,087 for Mr. Pinard.

In 1949, Mr. Gingues led a five-entry race, polling 12,116 votes, the Progressive Conservative, Redmond Hayes, coming second with 6,522, Alphonse Trudeau, Independent Liberal, third with 3,080, Gerard Gauthier, Union des Electeurs, fourth with 2,728 and G. Bilodeau, C.C.F., fifth with 1,117 votes.

The multiplicity of candidates in 1949 and the drop in the total popular vote makes comparisons between the two elections rather difficult and open to a variety of interpretations to suit the political leanings of the individual.

Thus Mr. Gingues did increase his majority from 5,594 in 1949 to 7,630 this year, but the Liberal vote this year, 15,717, was only slightly above the total of 15,196 received by the two Liberal candidates running in 1949. On the other hand, the Progressive Conservative vote increased from 6,522 to 8,087.

The total popular vote this year was 23,804 out of a total registration of 34,044; the comparable figures in 1949 being 24,563 out of a registration slightly in excess of 31,000. Percentage-wise, 70 per cent of the electors cast their ballots this time to 79 per cent in 1949.

Mr. Gingues received his biggest majority in the East ward, where he received 4,296 votes to 1,778 for Mr. Pinard. In other areas, the comparable vote was: South, Gingues, 1,633; Pinard, 687; West, Gingues, 4,538; Pinard, 2,416; Centre, Gingues, 918; Pinard, 390; North, Gingues, 2,713; Pinard, 1,860; rural and special, Gingues, 1,543; Pinard, 857.

SPEAKS TOMORROW: Gilbert Rheume, manager of the main branch of the Bank of Montreal in Sherbrooke, will be the principal speaker tomorrow at a luncheon being given by the bank to delegates to the provincial convention of 4H clubs. The convention, expected to draw about 500 delegates from all parts of the province, is being held in Montreal.

"Storepedoes" Deliver News To Islanders

By GRAEME BROOKS

Melbourne — Reuter — The three men who form the entire population of Australia's loneliest colony, a tiny atoll in the Coral sea almost 300 miles off the North Queensland coast, now have their daily newspapers delivered-sometimes.

Four - engined reconnaissance planes of the RAAF are carrying "storepedoes" in their bomb hatches as they patrol in anti-submarine exercises from their mainland base.

Swooping down to 200 feet over an upturned saucer of coral 300 yards long and 120 yards wide, the bombers drop fresh food packed in dry ice, mail, newspapers, magazines and stores to the volunteers who for 12 months at a time man Australia's Willis island weather station, 1,500 miles south of the equator and deep in the cyclone belt.

Until the new service began with an experimental trip in April, the Willis island staff was isolated except by radio. Their supplies were left by a lighthouse relief ship which called to change personnel at the end of the February-March cyclone season. And for the next year they were alone except for hundreds of thousands of seabirds.

Willis is no holiday resort. Nowhere more than 28 feet above mean sea level, it is whipped by gales and spray that may keep the staff indoors for days on end. No vegetables will grow there.

Its two 60-foot radio masts, guyed to stand winds of up to 100 miles an hour, are the highest points for hundreds of miles around.

The harder of the Willis island staff who seek fish along the low-lying seabed find sharks swimming lazily beside them. Fish are speared or, more usually, shot with a high-powered rifle.

THE CANDIDATES: These pictures were taken last night when Maurice Gingues, re-elected as Sherbrooke's Liberal member of parliament, and Antonio Pinard, his Progressive Conservative opponent, came to the Record office following the announcement of the results. The top picture shows Mr. Gingues waving to the crowd gathered outside the Record office. In the second picture, Mr. Gingues is shown addressing the large gathering on Wellington street, flanked by some of his supporters, including Donat Jacques, his chief organizer. Mr. Pinard is shown making his address, in the lower picture. With him are Gaetan Cote, Marcel Bourque and Dr. Rene Robillard.

Five Former M.P.'s Make Comebacks

By The Canadian Press

Five former members of the Commons will be back in their seats when Parliament convenes this fall. Eleven others made unsuccessful tries.

Four CCF veterans and one Liberal bounced back from previous defeats Monday. Gordon T. Purdy won his old seat of Colchester. Hants to give the Liberals a perfect record in comeback attempts.

Mr. Purdy, who held the seat for two terms before being ousted by Progressive Conservative F. T. Stanfield in 1945, failed to regain it from Mr. Stanfield in 1949 but made it Monday, defeating Fred M. Blois, nominated by the PCs when Mr. Stanfield announced his retirement.

The four successful CCFers all were victims of the Liberals' Prairie sweep of 1949. A. M. Nichol, Frederic Dorion, Progressive Conservative organizer in Quebec, who held Charlevoix-Saguenay as an Independent in 1945, was unable to wrest the redistributed seat of Charlevoix from Auguste Maltais, the sitting Liberal.

The defeated CCFers included Mrs. Gladys Strum, who won Qu'Appelle, in 1945 and lost it to a Liberal four years later. She ran third Monday in an attempt to upset J. L. Macdougall, the Liberal member of the last House for Vancouver Burrard.

George Black, seeking his sixth term in the Yukon, where he was first elected as a Conserson turned the tables on G. M. Ferrie, who defeated him in the Saskatchewan riding of Mackenzie in the last election. G. H. Castleden regained his old seat of Yorkton and Fred Zaplatny was returned in Dauphin, Man., where the sitting members retired.

E. G. McCullough, who lost Assiniboia to the Liberals in 1949, captured another Saskatchewan seat for the CCF when he defeated the sitting Liberal member, John James Smith, in Moose Mountain.

Four other CCFers, five Progressive Conservatives, one Social Creditor and a member of the Communist Labor-Progressive party made the unsuccessful comeback tries.

The unsuccessful Labor-Progressive standard-bearer was Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, who held the Saskatchewan seat of The Battlefords under the Unity label in 1940. She trailed three other candidates in Brandon as James E. Brown held the seat for the Liberals.

Gingues Promises He Will Continue To Serve Interests Of Sherbrooke

By MARGARET DOHERTY

It was a smiling and happy Maurice Gingues who stepped out on the Record platform last night to thank his electors for the 7,630 majority which renews his mandate and sends him to Ottawa for another four-year term.

"I was convinced that the people of Sherbrooke would give me tangible proof of their confidence as they have done in the past," he said, "and I was not disappointed."

The local candidate—who with seven other members forms a solid Liberal bloc in Prime Minister St. Laurent's native E. T.—promised that he would continue to serve the interests of the whole population to the best of his ability.

He thanked his committee workers, particularly the organizers, Donat Jacques and expressed appreciation to Senators Jacob Nicol and Charles B. Howard for their interest and support.

Mr. Gingues also asked his opponent to overlook anything which may have been said "in the heat of battle."

Defeated candidate Tony Pinard's first words were of congratulation to the victor, whom he wished "the best of luck!" He said that for his first appearance in politics he felt that he had made a good showing. He thanked his supporters and promised Mr. Gingues that he would co-operate wholeheartedly in any measures which would be for the benefit of the Sherbrooke people.

"The campaign is concluded without any hard feelings on my part," he declared, "and I am confident of having done my duty." Mr. Pinard also spoke briefly in French.

Earlier in the evening the Liberal committee headquarters on Aberdeen street were humming with activity. Even before the polls closed at seven crowds gathered on the sidewalks and in the streets, speculating on the outcome. But the Liberals themselves were confident of success and at 7.30 cars were lined up in preparation for the victory parade.

The Liberal candidate arrived at his headquarters early and remained in a small room with his organizers, awaiting the final results. He showed no sign of strain or anxiety as he greeted members of the press and several close friends who wanted to be the first to congratulate him.

As it became more and more apparent that victory was assured in Sherbrooke, in the Townships, and in fact all over the country, there was bedlam. Enthusiastic supporters were reliving every moment of the campaign, convinced that things were turning out exactly as they had prophesied. Telephones were ringing incessantly, a radio in a corner attracted a large group interested in outside returns, a number of children squeezed into the already crowded rooms, carrying posters of the Honourable Louis St. Laurent. Everyone was talking at once. At last there was some enthusiasm over the election.

Gone was the apathy which marked the whole campaign, gone was the "I couldn't care less" attitude deplored by all parties, and in its place were victory smiles. Everyone seemed convinced, in the words of the Liberal slogan, that "they never had it so good!"

Both sides of Wellington street were lined, with men, women and children looking at the bulletin boards or listening to the loud-speaker announcements by Bob Butler and Len O'Donnell.

You could tell party affiliations without difficulty by the cheers that went up as the names of various winning candidates were announced. There was a significant silence among the PCs as the national totals were posted.

One local PC official, looking back on the more than 40 years of Liberal representation in Sherbrooke, remarked that, "I guess the only way we can win is to get Mr. St. Laurent to run for us!"

Returning office compilations of the Sherbrooke vote were made at a record pace last night. The complete count of the 154 polls was made shortly after 10 p.m., and throughout the evening the comparative vote figure was compiled speedily.

An interested and interesting visitor to the Record office during the evening was the well-known Canadian author, Hugh MacLennan, whose summer home is at North Hatley. Mr. MacLennan was particularly interested in the results from his native Maritime provinces.

Interest in the election died down quickly after the two local candidates had visited the Record and spoken to the people in the street from the paper's marquee. Within 10 minutes after the candidates had departed, so had all but a handful of spectators.

Maurice Gingues and Tony Pinard crossed paths at the Record office, but did not meet. Mr. Pinard arrived a few minutes before his winning opponent, but delayed his remarks until after Mr. Gingues had spoken. Both the candidates received a warm reception from the crowd, although Mr. Gingues' arrival was the noisier, preceded as it was by the Harmony Band.

Local police reported yesterday was an unusually quiet day and there were no arrests arising from the election. There were many late citizens, however, who complained bitterly that they could not find their polls. Addresses had been changed in several cases from those given in the preliminary reports and for the first time in several elections the parties failed this year to send around any literature advising electors where to cast their votes.

A large crowd of sympathetic people gathered around a parked car on Wellington street just at the height of the election fever, and diverted their attention to what they saw in the back seat of the car rather than the latest election results which were being posted in the Record windows.

A young baby was left stranded in the back of a car, while the parents probably were talking politics and gathering the latest results from the score board. A policeman came to the rescue, but the question remained, the same, "Whose baby is it?"

The officer then waited for the crowd to disperse and the parents to come and get their car, and, of course, the "baby."

Things were quite at the P.C. Wellington South office after the election as they were before it. Most Conservative faithful felt that the Liberal sweep in Sherbrooke County was an endorsement of Mr. St. Laurent not any indication of mass affection for Maurice Gingues or rebuke for "Tony" Pinard.

A total of 24 polls were listed by 7.25 p.m. before poll 56A came through with the first majority (6) for Mr. Pinard. No one said much.

"Tony" conceded election at 7.45, 45 minutes after polls closed. It was his first try in federal politics.

THE LIBERALS CONTINUE IN POWER

Once again the Liberal party has been given an overwhelming mandate to administer this country, its victory in yesterday's general elections being only a little less impressive than that it registered in 1949. The victory may be attributed to two main factors, the personal qualities of Prime Minister St. Laurent and the general feeling of well-being that prevails throughout the nation.

The Prime Minister has an unusual platform appeal and he waged a campaign which showed political acumen, stressing the strength of the Government's policies and at the same brushing aside those points where its position might be considered vulnerable. His ability to put over the latter part of his campaign accounted for much of his strength. This was amply proven by his handling of charges of irregularities in defence spending. Unlike many another speaker, he never sought to deny that there might be unfavorable features in the defence spending set-up, but he was able to convince his hearers that such matters were the inevitable result of normal human error.

The Liberals were also blessed with the general level of prosperity prevailing across the country and were not adverse to claiming credit for a degree of this development, a belief they were able to impress upon the minds of the electorate.

While the failure to strengthen the ranks of the Opposition might be considered regrettable from the viewpoint of efficient government, the overwhelming nature of the victory increases the responsibility of the Liberal party. It must accept the task of carrying out its own policies and of policing itself as well. It cannot make the complaint that its program was interfered with by the obstruction tactics of the Opposition, whose position in the next House will be similar to that of the last — bringing before the people such evidence of government misconduct as the administration may be forced into giving up.

MALENKOV'S DOUBLE TASK

Premier Georgi Malenkov's announcement of sharp revisions in Soviet economic policies indicates his government will undergo further changes soon in preparation for a two-fold job: To strengthen the home front and to use economic power as a potent weapon on the international scene.

The open blandishments to the capitalists of Italy and France and other non-Communist nations of the East and West seem part of a long-range program to isolate the United States from actual and potential allies by means of an economic offensive.

On the home front, the premier makes it clear there are urgent problems that must be solved. Among them is the acute shortage of housing. Malenkov said Saturday in his speech to the Supreme Soviet: "Although before the war and especially in the post-war years, large housing projects were carried out, housing needs are far from being satisfied and the acute shortages are felt everywhere."

There is also a shortage of vegetables and potatoes for both the consumer market and the needs of industry. Malenkov stressed this once again. The shortage is not only reflected in the needs of the city consumer markets, but in the field of animal fodder, which in turn has a significant effect on livestock.

A third problem is the resistance of peasants to total collectivization. There is a sharp reversal of Stalin's policies implicit in Malenkov's attack upon this problem. It will probably be a temporary retreat. The indication is some private operations will be permitted the farmer with regard to his auxiliary farmstead which is not part of the collective farm, but in the long run, the Communist party is ordered to carry out the directive eliminating such vestiges of capitalism and "private property psychology."

Lastly there is a need for more and better quality consumer goods, not only to satisfy public demand but to ward off a threat of inflation born by shortages. There will be more reorganization steps in the field of light industry, particularly with regard to its planning phases. The Malenkov government wants the problem licked without sacrificing the emphasis on heavy industry which builds military and economic might on the international scene.

ARE BRITISH HENS UNHAPPY?

Kingston Whig-Standard

There is quite a controversy in the United Kingdom at the moment over the battery system for hens. This system consists simply of rows of two-foot square cages, in which hens are penned and fed. With nothing to do but lay eggs, they lay more eggs — from thirty to forty more a year, according to reports. The system was expanded in Britain to counter the postwar egg shortage, and whether or not the system was responsible, eggs were taken off ration this Spring. It would seem, therefore, from this distance, that the battery system is well suited to British needs.

The happiness of animals, and birds, however, is more a public pre-occupation in Britain than it is here, and there have been protests against the battery system. The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has decided to condemn it because it is "unnatural" and therefore "conducive to unhappiness among hens." Other criticisms are that it takes away a hen's natural right to run around and scratch, that it results in withered legs, that it over-stimulates the egg-laying organs, which therefore give out earlier and lead the birds to an earlier end in the stewpot.

All this condemnation and criticism sounds to us a little laboured. Hens free to run around and scratch feel a compulsion every so often to go lay an egg, from which we may conclude that egg-laying is pretty important to a hen. What is wrong, then, in arranging things so that the hen can devote more time to gratifying this impulse? As far as the scratching is concerned, has anyone ever heard of a hen continuing to scratch when an attendant appears in the henyard with a basin of grain? The only scratching then consists of raising a dust to get to the grain giver. It is a kindness to the hen, therefore, to see that it gets its feed without this frantic sprint at mealtimes.

And the hen is going to wind up in the stewpot some day in any case. If the battery system gets it there a year sooner than would otherwise be the case, the end product may be infinitely easier on human teeth and jaws, thus averting a measure of frustration to humans. Furthermore, the penning in a two-foot-square should also help matters by preventing development of those ropey leg muscles that so often thwart mastication in the case of stewing fowl. And when it comes to a choice between a hen's alleged unhappiness and the frustration and thwarting of humans, we'll let the bird-brain suffer its little twinges.

SOVIET GENERALS

Windsor Star

Reports that a triumvirate of Soviet generals, headed by Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, now is in virtual control of Russia is interesting, and could be true. If so, and if their reported attitude is in favor of peace, it could mean much to the world.

One fact is known. The regular officers of the Russian Army for the most part aren't Communist enthusiasts. A bane of their existence has been the Communist Party political commissars attached to their units to keep an eye on things and to report back to the Kremlin any sign of dissent. The generals and other officers have been operating with a knife behind their backs, ready to be plunged in at a moment's notice.

Lavrenti Beria, director of the secret police, has been purged. What part the Army had in this purge is not yet known. But certainly it would be in favor, and is happier now that he is gone. It is quite possible they influenced Premier Malenkov to get rid of him — or bluntly told him to do so.

MR. GORDON STAYS

Windsor Star

Transport Minister Loisel Chevrier confirms that Mr. Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, has rejected an offer to become chairman of the British Transportation Commission. A native-born Scot, Mr. Gordon could not have been blamed had he returned to the British Isles for such an important task.

He is to be commended, however, for remaining in Canada, his adopted land. He has made a tremendous success here, and has contributed tremendously to Canada. He has a very important job where he now is.

His action, however, illustrates that Canadians now are thinking twice before accepting lucrative and otherwise attractive positions in other countries. They have confidence in the future of Canada, and wish to be associated with it. Mr. Gordon's attitude is an excellent example to other Canadians.

EVOLUTION OF THE TRAILER

Owen Sound Sun-Times

Back in the 1930's most trailers used for living purposes were less than 15 feet long. That is probably still true in Canada, but in the U.S. these vehicles are beginning to look more like railroad cars. They run from 30 to 40 feet in length, and are jammed with the comforts of living — guests rooms, dinettes, television nooks and what have you.

This has led to strange consequences because it means that the trailer, originally designed for mobility, has partly defeated its own purpose. Now most of these big models spend most of their time at rest, hitched up to the local facilities of a trailer park, and are more like houses than vehicles.

There are 200 trailer manufacturers doing a quarter-billion dollars' business annually in the U.S., and they are mildly concerned about this problem. The proposed answer, at least by one manufacturer, is to make the "trailer" a self-propelled vehicle — in other words, not a trailer at all.

This new creation is called a land yacht or a "Safari." The one now on display is just 22 feet long, and is mounted on a three-quarter-ton truck chassis. This model features its own water and electric systems, a four-burner gas stove, refrigerator, three-piece bathroom, a sun deck, etc., etc. The price is said to be "high for a car and low for a home."

The manufacturers are dickering with the makers of a small car to provide one that will ride astern of the land yacht, just like a dinghy.

Crisis Is Building Up In Coal Fields Of The United States

By DON WHITEHEAD

Washington, —(P)—A crisis is building up in the United States coal fields today even while the huge bituminous coal industry is on the doorstep of a glowing future.

The collapse of war-swollen markets, increased mechanization of mines and competition with oil and gas have shaken an industry sprawling across 31 states with its hearts in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky. But one segment has been hit hardest.

The immediate crisis is developing among the high-cost producers and the smaller independents who sell on the open market. They are being squeezed in the fight for markets which have shrunk to a little more than 400,000,000 tons compared to the record 1947 production of 630,000,000 tons.

For the first time in history, king coal has been deposed as the major source of energy for the United States. Oil has moved into the lead. Last year, according to U.S. bureau of mines statistics, coal supplied 34 per cent of energy needs, once it supplied 85 per cent while petroleum supplied 39.4 per cent, natural gas 22.5 per cent and water power 4.1 per cent. Already thousands of miners are jobless or working only two or three days a week. Some coal regions have reached or are approaching a depression state.

There is bitter and increased grumbling from hard-hit producers that John L. Lewis is "pricing coal out of the market" by his successful demands for higher wages and benefits for United Mine Workers members.

Mine union chiefs deny the troubles can be traced to wage increases. They insist coal companies individually will live or die on their own ability to increase efficiency and thus lower production costs.

Some union leaders say the steady trend toward mechanization will force out the high-cost and inefficient producers. They say "frankly they would prefer a smaller industry with high wage standards to a big industry with low pay."

Against this picture of immediate hardship, there is the contrast of a bright future seen by coal's own economists.

These forecasts are based on the expectation that U.S. population will climb from today's 154,000,000 to 190,000,000 by 1975—and that industrial production will double by 1975 to meet the demands of this population.

Much of coal's future is expected to lie in supplying fuel to fire the steel plants and electric utility steam plants. It is estimated steel production will rise from 105,000,000 ingot tons produced in 1951 to 150,000,000 tons in 1975.

Gas and liquid fuel can be made from coal. The processes are not yet economically competitive. However, coal men have estimated that 120,000,000 tons may one day be used in a synthetic liquid fuels industry.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOB

CAN YOU FIND THIS REAL BRIDGE BONUS?

One of the troubles with Hard Luck Joe is that his feet are far too big for any normal human being. As a result, his feet are always getting in his own way, his partner's way or into his own mouth. In today's hand, for example, Joe held the South cards and managed to get himself beautifully tangled up.

There was nothing much to the play. West opened a trump, and Joe exhausted trumps in two rounds. He took a successful heart finesse, and took a successful club finesse on the way back. He was then able to claim twelve tricks, giving up only one spade.

North looked daggers at his partner, and Joe looked apologetic. "I don't see how we could bid that slim," muttered Joe. "After all, we couldn't make the slam unless both the heart and the club finesse worked."

Joe still hasn't seen what crime he had committed. See if you can spot it for yourself before you read on.

South's crime occurred in the bidding. There was no need for him to bid four diamonds. He had already made an opening bid on a slightly doubtful hand, and there was no need to make a second bid on the same doubtful cards.

If South passed instead of bidding, North would have the chance to continue in diamonds if he chose to do so. Hence South would lose nothing by this pass.

Actually there would have been a great gain. North would not have continued the bidding in diamonds. North would have doubled the ridiculous bid of three spades with speed, delight, and gusto.

Monday Is Favorite Day For General Elections In Canada

Ottawa — (P)—Monday has come up as the favorite day of those who pick federal general election dates.

Choice of Aug. 10 for the election put Monday into the lead among days chosen for balloting since Confederation.

The selection made it seven Monday elections and six on Tuesday since 1874, the first year in which elections were held on a single day. Five have been called on Thursday and two on Wednesday.

There have been none on Friday, Saturday or Sunday since the one-day procedure began.

Of the six elections beginning in 1930 and including yesterday's, five have been on Monday's. The sixth—in 1940—was on a Tuesday.

Before 1874, elections took weeks to complete. The first in 1867 ran from Aug. 7 to Sept. 20. The 1872 voting lasted three months.

Lapidary Souvenirs Are Popular

Banff, Alta. —(CP)—Tourists searching for souvenirs at this Rocky mountain resort are finding something a little different from the Indian handicrafts that make up the bulk of sales. Teofan Pyrcz, lapidary work now is for sale.

His lapidary souvenirs—cut and polished semi-precious stones—are not a native Canadian art, of course. His working materials are obtained from many parts of the world, including Africa and Brazil. The former University of Alberta student studies each stone individually and traces its formation from exterior fissures. The stone, or mineral, is then cut in halves. If it's a good one, the cutting surface will display a beautiful array of patterns and colors.

Pyrcz receives agate from the United States, opals from Australia, tiger eye and malachite from Africa, amethyst from Brazil, bloodstone from India, lapis lazuli from Chile, fluorite and hematite from England, and jade from China.

The only material from this district that is suitable for his work is a material called sodalite. Quartz crystals are found in the Yoho and Lake O'Hara districts. Good iron pyrites are found in the Field, B. C. region, in Yoho National Park. These are bright yellow crystals set in white rock, which have earned the name of "fool's gold."

Whatever the materials, the finished products are proving popular.

SHORT STORY

Dream of Youth

By JOHN ROWLEY

They were sitting on a bench in the park, the man and the woman, and the sun shining through the pattern of leaves and branches above them, formed a network of light and shadows almost like some gossamer fairy lace.

The woman was about thirty-three or four blonde with dimples and wide, good humored mouth. The man, who was about the same age, dark with good features and graying hair, leaned towards her. "Do you remember, Jean, the first time we kissed?" he asked tenderly.

The girl laughed a little and there was a faint haze back of her eyes. "How could I forget," she said. "We were so young... and shy! I didn't know what I would say if you asked me... and I was on pins and needles for fear you wouldn't. They were good days, George. Happy days."

George reached over and patted her hand. "They were," he said. "They were wonderful days and I was so much in love with you... It spoiled my appetite! To me you were the most beautiful thing ever come down to earth." He laughed his voice deep and reso-

"Well, goodbye, Jean," he said. "And you're still pretty nice!" He was silent for a moment, each thinking the thoughts that these memories brought up. Finally the man laughed again. "Do you remember our last high school dance?"

The man, lost in thought, gazed out over the green expanse of the park. Far off he could see all buildings rising out of a sea of billowy green, but he wasn't seeing any of that. Instead he was seeing a tall, old fashioned building in a small town a long way from the city.

There was a blare of music coming from the building, a dance music, a number popular at the time. He saw couples getting out of cars and some arriving on foot. Inside, the huge door of what was the gymnasium swelled and heaved with couples packed close together.

He remembered the laughter and the music and something came into his throat and he wanted to cry. The woman sensed it too and she put a slender, graceful hand on his arm.

"Do you remember that dance... our graduation dance? I can see you now. You had on a light blue evening gown that came all the way to the floor and you wore a corsage of some kind of white flowers. The light in your hair made it look all gold and you were the most beautiful creature in the world."

She laughed, entering into the spirit of the thing. "And Mr. Weeks the assistant principal, asked me to dance and I let him have one dance... after all, he was the assistant principal."

"And after the dance," he went on. "The rest of the crowd went down to the little lunch counter around the corner and had some coffee and afterwards we walked home. It was exactly three blocks away... I think I can remember every step... every depression in the sidewalk. And when we got to the house we stood on the steps a long time, not saying anything, just looking at the night... and everything was golden around us."

He paused for a moment, staring straight ahead. "And then you said you had to go in... and you kissed me..." He laughed again and turned to look at the woman beside him. "I floated home on a cloud that night."

She smiled and she sat there, silent for a time contemplating the memories they had conjured up out of the past. At last they got up and the man looked at the woman beside him and smiled.

"Well, goodbye, Jean," he said. "It was wonderful, seeing you again, but I'll have to be running along now. I'm supposed to meet my wife in front of the Metropolitan in about 10 minutes."

She looked at her watch and gasped. "Me, too," she exclaimed. "Why, it's almost five o'clock and yet I haven't finished my shopping yet. I'm afraid my husband's supper will be late tonight. Good-bye!"

They hurried off across the park... in opposite directions!

Newspaper Comment On Election

By The Canadian Press
Saint John Telegraph-Journal (Independent)—By their votes the people of Canada have convincingly expressed their satisfaction with the management of the country's affairs by Mr. St. Laurent's administration. The election outcome is a significant personal achievement for Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Charlottetown Guardian (Independent Conservative)—While the voting may be interpreted as a mark of confidence in the way in which the St. Laurent government conducted the nation's business, it does not necessarily mean that the majority of the people were completely satisfied with its record. In a large degree it may mean only that it was preferable to any likely alternative.

Moncton Times (Independent)—After all the arguments, distortions and passions that Canadians have heard... the electors have revealed that they give solid thought to the real problems confronting them—the kind of government they consider best for their country in the years immediately ahead—and registered their verdict at the polls in terms significantly clear and unchallengeable.

Halifax Chronicle-Herald (Independent)—It is often roundly asserted that a large and commanding majority is not good for any and may even be detrimental to the cause of truly responsible government. While the extremity of this dictum may leave it open to considerable doubt, there is certainly truth in it—that a strong and alive opposition with its worrying tactic is the basis of sound democratic administration. It may be, as is often charged, wasteful of effort and time, but it incalculates a healthy regard for the opinions and the rights of others and for the ultimate responsibility of a government—to the people.

The Montreal Gazette (Independent Conservative) said the Liberal government will face the work of the next four or five years with little opposition because it has found little opposition in the country itself.

It added: "Above all else, of course, the Liberal party has had the immense advantage of having Mr. St. Laurent as its leader. The evident wish of the late W. L. Mackenzie King that Mr. St. Laurent should inherit his political mantle was the last of his masterly adjustments."

"So sweeping a victory as Mr. St. Laurent has gained brings with it exceptional obligations. The comparative weakness of the power of the opposition in Parliament makes all the heavier the personal responsibility of the prime minister for careful and restrained administration."

Sherbrooke La Tribune (Independent Liberal)—"Wisdom has taught man he is better off to retain the substance rather than exchange it for the shadow. This is a lesson the Canadian people have obviously learned well."

La Tribune added that the Canadian population in 1953 as in 1949 had decided to keep the "certain rather than exchange it for the uncertain. To accept accomplished facts rather than the improbable."

Ottawa Citizen (Independent Liberal)—There is a danger in recurrent landings. The House of Commons is left with a small and frequently ineffective opposition, and the dominant party has little to keep it in check but its own sense of responsibility. In such a case, criticism from within its own ranks... may help in some measure to compensate for the lack of a numerically strong opposition.

It is in the public interest that this should be so.

Toronto Globe and Mail (Independent)—The Progressive Conservatives presented a constructive program attuned to the times and what appeared to be the weaknesses of the St. Laurent government. Supporting that program, we felt—and still feel—it important that no more time and opportunities to promote the balanced development of the country should be wasted. Nonetheless, it has been turned down by a seemingly satisfied electorate.

It is commonly said that governments cannot be changed in good times. Is that the only reason for the Liberals' sweeping victory? We think there is another—the extraordinary vote-getting powers of Prime Minister St. Laurent. Few men in Canadian history have shown his ability to obtain support at the polls.

Moose Jaw Times-Herald (Independent)—There are certain features of the election which are of particular interest. The first is that the government gained strength in the Maritimes. The second was the return of every cabinet minister, while the third was that in B.C. where the Social Credit party recently won control of the government, the electors must have figured that the St. Laurent government would be returned, and kept themselves in good standing with Ottawa.

Saskatchewan and Alberta remain the recalcitrant provinces, preferring major representation at Ottawa in the ranks of the splinter party opposition to giving support to a government plying with the electors in all other provinces.

London Ont. Free Press (Independent)—It is a bitter blow to Hon. George Drew, who fought a valiant and clean campaign, and to his devoted followers. They will be consoled by the fact that Mr. Drew himself and most of his lieutenants survived the battle and will be on hand to fight another day. In fact one of the strange features of the vote was that most of the outstanding personalities of the last Parliament were returned.

Lethbridge Herald (Independent Liberal)—Prime Minister St. Laurent is able to say today that elections can be won on performance without glittering promises. Opposition leader George Drew now knows that brave promises, even

Rail Traffic Is Snarled In France

Paris — (P) — Rail traffic was snarled throughout France today as a new Communist-ordered transport strike began to creep across the country. Once more the workers fought Premier Joseph Laniel's economy decrees.

Other walkouts threatened and it appeared that France faced a second gigantic tieup like that last week when 2,000,000 workers in state and municipal services and government-run industries quit their jobs.

The new tieup was launched by the Communist-led Confederation Generale du Travail which called its 270,000 member railwaymen off their jobs. The non-Communist Socialist Force Ouvriere went along on the walkout.

Most of last week's walkouts were for 24 to 48 hours. This time no limit was set by the CGT. The FO and the Christian Trade Federation control the rest of the country's 440,000 railway workers. Thus far, there was no indication that the federation had decided what action it would take.

The CGT said the aims of the strike are higher salaries and an all-out war on the government decrees, which it described as hitting at the privileges and social benefits of civil servants.

In Paris, many of the big train terminals were closed including St. Lazare, the main station for suburban lines. Some terminals were open but had no trains operating.

There also were indications that the strike would spread to the city's subway and bus system during the day.

Report from throughout the country indicated that the strike was increasing in effectiveness as the day wore on. Near Limoges, in southwestern France, 15 trains carrying 15,000 persons were blocked and welfare services hurried to round up food for children among the stranded passengers.

A new, large-scale strike in the government-run gas and electricity industries was also feared. It already had begun in Nice, on the vacation-crowded Riviera.

The Postal, Telephone and Telegraph tieup was in its seventh day. The lack of mail service, crippling business and commercial transactions, was expected soon to force many industrial establishments to close.

Thousands of vacationers were stranded in seaside and mountain resorts without enough money to pay their bills.

The government "requisitioned" the PTT employees, ordering them to return to work or lose their jobs. In general, the employees ignored the orders.

Of cutting taxes half a billion dollars, have no appeal to Canadians who would rather see their country developing her resources and paying her way. And Alberta remains, federally, in the political wilderness.

night duties that gave him little rest, took time out for a brief press conference with reporters who had travelled with him on his seven-week, 20,000-mile campaign tour.

He said he had not expected the outcome "to be as one-sided as it was," but declined to comment on whether he felt there was any over-all reason for the result.

He was asked if he intends to step down as Conservative leader or go before a party convention for a "vote of confidence."

"Those are not decisions that are made by an individual," he replied. "Those decisions are made by the executive."

Whether any convention would be called would be decided "by the meetings of the party."

For the immediate future, he said, he has no plans beyond going to his home town of Guelph, Ont., before the end of the week for a few days. There were no vacation plans.

Mr. Drew was at home with his wife and two children when The Canadian Press reported the Liberal government's return early in the evening.

They left soon after for a Lansdowne Park committee room, where Mr. Drew gave his personal thanks to the men and women who waged a successful campaign for him in Carleton constituency while he toured the country.

His next visit was to his party's national headquarters, a crowded house in downtown Ottawa, where he was met with cheers and applause from a crowd which had been sombre before his arrival as election returns showed the steady Liberal sweep.

Mr. Drew shook hands all round, posed with his wife for television, newspaper and press photographers, and then retired into a closed room with his closest advisers to prepare his statement.

He read it, in French and English, for radio broadcasting and then repeated the performance for television and newsprint.

"The people of Canada have made their decision in no uncertain manner and I accept it cheerfully," he said.

"Naturally I wish it had been otherwise. However, I shall never question the judgment of our people in a free vote."

"It is my earnest hope that all those who worked so hard for the Conservative party will remember that today's election is merely an incident in the long march of democracy towards better things. Tomorrow is another day."

"Let us all start tomorrow morning to build the strength of that party for further service of the country that we love."

"As Her Majesty's loyal Opposition, we will give to the government at all times our support when we believe it is right and constructive and vigorous criticism when we think it is wrong."

"To those who have been elected I extend my congratulations. Once again the government has a commanding majority. I hope that their contributions to our national life. "And, now that you have given to my colleagues and to me the vote of confidence for which we appealed, I wish to repeat the promise—which is my only obligation—to give you the best service of which I am capable, and I make, with assurance, the same promise from the able and devoted colleagues who, with your endorsement, will continue to share with me the responsibility—and the high honor—of carrying on the government of Canada."

"Thank you all and good night."

Husband, Wife Team Works In Laboratory

Cornwall, Ont. — (CP) — New-comers from England, Ronald G. McCleary and his wife are both experienced laboratory technicians. And in their present position at the Cornwall General Hospital they work side by side. They've been doing that in England for some time.

Both were born in South Shields, in the northern country of Durham, and had similar careers. Mr. McCleary is the "better half" right now, having passed final examinations as an associate of the Institute of Medical Laboratory Technology. His wife, at present a junior technician, plans to write her finals in 1945.

They went to school together in England, and after graduation took up laboratory techniques which required five or six years of intensive study.

They'll be right at home in the Cornwall hospital. In the laboratory there they will be directed by Dr. W. J. Shannon, who came from England last February. Another English newcomer, Betty White, also is working in the hospital.

The young couple were married in South Shields just before coming to Canada, arriving in July. About the only thing they're concerned about here is the heat in their new home. "I guess if my husband can stand it I can stand it," said Mrs. McCleary. Her husband echoed the sentiment—"If my wife can stand it, I can stand it."

in the east pointed to a government sweep early in the ballot count Monday night. The Canadian Press trend analysis showed the Liberals to be the winners an hour and 15 minutes after the polls closed in the 160 constituencies of Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Drew conceded loss of the election at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

In traditionally Liberal Quebec, Prime Minister St. Laurent clung to 66 seats of the province's 78, losing one from his dissolution total. The Progressive Conservatives boosted their representation to four from three.

Ontario gave the Liberals 51 compared to the 55 they held at dissolution, while the Conservatives added six to their June total of 26. Another of the 85 Ontario seats went to a Liberal-Labor candidate, William Bendickson, in Kenora-Rainy River. He is a definite supporter of the government as a parliamentary assistant.

His election assured the government of a working majority of 79, which could be strengthened further with the help of a couple of Independent Liberals in Quebec. The 1949 over-all majority of the Liberals was 124.

In the Maritimes and Newfoundland, the Progressive Conservatives backed from their Ontario-Quebec gains. Liberals took away the two ridings in St. John's, Nfld., the only ones in the 10th province held by the Progressive Conservatives as the result of the first election there since 1949 confederation. That made Newfoundland the only province in this election to fall into the lap of one party.

Despite Progressive Conservative gains in Nova Scotia's May provincial election, the Liberals took two Conservative-held seats. The only Progressive Conservative survivor there was George C. Nowlan, national president of the party, who held Digby-Annapolis-Kings.

The Progressive Conservatives held their own in New Brunswick, swapping a pair of seats with the Liberals, but lost one to the government in Prince Edward Island for a net loss of five in the four seaboard provinces.

As the count moved into the West, the Progressive Conservatives held their three Manitoba seats while the Liberals dropped two in that province which had its provincial representation of 16 cut by two in the Commons redistribution. The CCF held at three.

Saskatchewan, with 13 Liberals at the end of the last Parliament, this time elected 11 members of the CCF, which had only five from there before despite the province's record of Socialist provincial governments. The Liberals elected five this time, and one Progressive Conservative went in.

The Progressive Conservative was John Diefenbaker, one of the top men in his party, who won Prince Albert after redistribution wiped out his old Lake Centre seat. Alberta lifted its Social Credit membership from 10 to 11, with that party making a net gain of one from the Liberals, who elected four.

The two Progressive Conservatives in the province, who have a Social Credit provincial government, were returned.

Both the CCF and Social Credit made gains in British Columbia, where the Liberals held nine of 18 seats at dissolution. Of the 22 B.C. members after redistribution, the Liberals took eight. The CCF jumped its supporters to seven from three, taking over a riding formerly held by an Independent who customarily voted with the government.

Social Crediters moved in on four of the British Columbia ridings, while the Progressive Conservatives held their three seats in that province.

New CCF members going in from B.C. included Harold Winch, who resigned recently as provincial CCF leader.

All national party leaders except Communist Tim Buck of the Labor Progressives were re-elected comfortably. Buck lost his deposit in Toronto Trinity. None of the party's 100 candidates were returned.

Prime Minister St. Laurent had the largest plurality of any candidate, 19,377 over a Progressive Conservative in a five-way fight in Quebec East. He polled 25,564 votes.

George Drew was re-elected in Ontario's Carleton with a 5,574 lead over Liberal John McDonald in a four-way battle. He scored 19,781.

CCF leader M. J. Coldwell went back in Saskatchewan's Rosetown-Biggar, and so did Social Credit leader Sonon Low in Peace River.

St. Laurent Had Big Majority

By The Canadian Press

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent led his Liberal party to a sweeping victory in Monday's federal election—and his own win was the most sweeping of any, coast to coast.

Running against four opponents in Quebec East, he marked up a plurality of 19,377 votes—more than any other candidate in the country and almost 2,000 more than his own huge advantage in 1949.

Sixteen other candidates had margins exceeding 10,000 votes in Monday's balloting. All but two were Liberals running in Quebec where their party scored a provincial walkover.

The exceptions were in Essex East, where Health Minister Martin had a 14,260-vote edge in a four-way fight, and Calgary North, where Progressive Conservative D. S. Harkness was re-elected with a plurality of 10,839 over four opponents.

Here are the Quebec Liberals besides Mr. St. Laurent who bettered 10,000-vote pluralities:

Hull—Alexis Caron, 15,029; Longueuil—Auguste Vincent, 11,836; Montreal Cartier—Leon Crestohl, 11,409; Montreal Hochelaga—Raymond Eudes, 14,566; Montreal Jacques-Cartier—Lalonde—Edgar Leduc, 10,477; Montreal Lafontaine—J. G. Bell, 11,906; Montreal Leval—Leonid Demers, 11,495; Montreal St. Ann—Thomas P. Healy, 13,037; Montreal St. Henri—J. A. Bonnier, 10,201; Montreal Ste. Marie—Hector Dupuis, 11,180; Montreal Verdun—Paul Emile Cote, 11,939; Quebec South—Hon. C. G. Power, 12,315; Richelieu-Vercheres—Lucien Cardin, 12,315; St. Jean-Bertheville—Napierville—Hon. Alcide Cote, 13,803.

All cabinet ministers were returned, and so was virtually every major figure in the last House. One parliamentary assistant fell, Dr. E. A. McCusker of Regina, assistant to Health Minister Martin. He lost to a CCF opponent.

Three women were elected, more than the Commons has ever seen. One was Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (P-Hamilton West), only woman in the last House.

The others were Mrs. Ann Shipley, as a Liberal in Ontario's Timiskaming, and Sybil Bennett, Progressive Conservative, in Halton, Ont. Miss Bennett is a niece of the late Conservative prime minister.

Majority of 438 to almost 2,200 this time. Maurice Giguere was returned in a straight fight in Sherbrooke by a majority of 7,630 over Antonio Pinard. In 1949 the Sherbrooke picture was complicated by a five-way fight, including an Independent Liberal, who received 3,080 votes, Giguere then winning out by a majority of 5,584.

GREENSHIELDS STOCK MARKET

The market showed an indecisive tone in quiet trading yesterday. Among firmer issues, Abitibi was up 1/4 at 15, Asbestos up 1/4 at 27, and Thrift Stores up 1/4 at 20-1/2. Among easier issues, Aluminum was off 1/4 at 48-1/4, Bell Telephone off 1/4 at 39, Dominion Steel off 1/4 at 12-1/2, Hiram Walker off 1/4 at 49, and Royal Bank off 1/4 at 35-1/4.

Imports in June amounted to $409,300,000, compared with $324,300,000 in June 1952 leaving an export surplus for the month of $6,800,000, against a surplus a year ago of $54,500,000. In the first 6 months totalled $2,221 million and exports totalled $2,020 million, resulting in trade deficit for the period of more than $201 million. In the first half of last year there was a trade surplus of $170 million.

Prairie grain producers marketed an estimated 812 million bushels during the crop year ended July 31st, the highest volume of deliveries in a single crop year. At the end of the period, Canadian wheat stocks totalled over 268 million bushels, the heaviest carryover since the war and 40 per cent above the previous year's figure.

The Chilean Government has asked the U.S. to purchase 65,000 tons of surplus Chilean copper at world market prices for the U.S. stockpile.

Crude oil production in the first five months rose to 36,570,000 barrels from 20,507,000 barrels in the like period of 1952.

T. J. Dillon, President of United Steel Corporation reported that profits for the first 6 months compare quite favourably with the 1952 period and that sales and profits for the second half should be satisfactory.

MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. reported a net profit for the 3 months ended June 30th of $4,173,950 or $0.79 per share, against $3,384,493 or $0.64 in the same period of 1952. In the 9 months ended June 30th, net profits amounted to $18.7 per share, sharply off from the $2.48 earned in the like period of the previous fiscal year.

Owing to depressed market conditions, Bruck Mills Ltd. has deferred on the Class A stock the 30 cent dividend normally declared at this

A. NORMAN SHERRY

A. Norman Sherry, a resident of Sherbrooke, passed away at the Sherbrooke Hospital in his 68th year on Tuesday, July 21.

Born at Suffield on January 15, 1898, he was the only son of the late Edwin Sherry and his wife, M. Toussaint, both of Suffield.

Mr. Sherry is survived by his wife, the former Carrie A. Hartwell, of Minton, three sisters-in-law, two brothers-in-law and several nephews and nieces.

He was a member of Osisko Lodge, A. F. and A. M. No. 107, G. R. Q., and Prince of Wales Lodge, conducted the Masonic services on Thursday evening for Osisko Lodge.

The funeral, which was largely attended by relatives and friends, was held on Friday at two o'clock at Johnston's funeral chapel, the Rev. R. P. Stafford, pastor of Sangster Memorial United Church, officiating. Miss Thelma Crawford sang his favorite hymns, "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder" and "Rock of Ages."

The bearers, all friends of the deceased, were J. Jenkins, C. Ellis, S. Moran, S. Johns, E. McKnight and C. Bettie.

The flowers were numerous and beautiful, testifying to the esteem in which Mr. Sherry was held by his many friends.

Interment took place in the North Hatley cemetery.

Highlights

St. John's, Nfld. — Canada's oldest voter cast his federal election ballot Monday at the home for the aged and infirm here.

Halifax — Publication of a list of offences under the Canada Elections Act resulted in confusion among some voters in the dual constituency of Halifax Monday. They questioned whether it was proper to vote for two candidates when the act prohibits voting twice. Returning officers explained that no person can cast more than one ballot.

Montreal — Special "flying polls" visited hospitals to allow bedridden patients to vote. Returning officers assigned to this duty said the vote had been heavy. Only two patients had refused to mark their ballots.

Montreal — Egan Chambers, Progressive Conservative candidate in Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount, on a tour of the polls, called police on two separate occasions to have two men arrested on charges of impersonation. Mr. Chambers said he was personally acquainted with the voters the men had allegedly attempted to impersonate.

Montreal — In the Montreal-Verdun riding, hundreds of voters were turned back because they had not brought enumeration receipts. Paul Cote, the Liberal candidate, toured the polls and explained to deputy returning officers that the receipts were not required to be produced at the polls.

Montreal — After the polls closed a street fight broke out on Bordeaux street in Montreal Papineau riding and 25 men were arrested. Police said wooden clubs and stones were used in the battle. They said they did not know what caused the outbreak. Five men were injured.

Montreal — Inspector Rene Poirier, veteran Montreal police officer who has handled six elections, said only 13 persons were arrested during the voting hours. Eight were arrested on charges of impersonation and five for stealing a ballot box. All were released after the polls closed.

Toronto — The man who left an indelible mark in Canadian sports records was returned Monday to the political skirmishes of the country's federal government. He is Lionel Conacher, Canada's greatest all-round athlete who was re-elected as a Liberal in Toronto Trinity in the general election. Conacher has held the seat since the 1949 election and beat three other men. They were Tim Buck, leader of the Labor-Progressive party, S. W. Froliek, a Progressive Conservative, and Herman Vanden, a CCFer.

Sudbury — Leo Gauthier, Liberal candidate in Nickel Belt riding, with his election Monday night set up a record believed unique in Canadian politics. This is his third consecutive election — in three different ridings. He was elected first in Nipissing. When it was split he ran and won in Sudbury. Another split, forming Sudbury and Nickel Belt ridings, saw him run in Nickel Belt and again win.

Fort William — Rev. Dan McIvor, the 80-year-old minister who moved into federal politics in 1935, was re-elected in Fort William riding in the general election Monday. The Irish-born Liberal, father of six, beat the three other candidates — a Progressive Conservative, a CCFer and a Labor-Progressive — by a good margin.

Antwerpen, Belgium — Maj. M. J. Egan of Toronto and Edmonton has got a lot of milk contracts — among other things — on his mind. He is deputy assistant adjutant of Canadian troops at the Antwerpen base unit and is in charge of moving the 27th Canadian Infantry brigade's administrative headquarters from Hannover, Germany, to Antwerpen. The move is scheduled to take place early in August.

That involves changing the supply lines for the 6,000 men in the brigade. Their supplies were formerly unloaded at the port of Bremen and Hamburg, Germany, and shipped across Germany. In keeping with the army's policy of separating service from fighting units, the brigade's administrative men are being moved from Hannover to Antwerpen. Supplies will be unloaded at Antwerpen and moved 280 miles across Belgium and Germany to Hannover.

The idea is to have the supply lines secure in the event of a conflict. Fighting troops can move quickly but service troops with their paraphernalia cannot. Maj. Egan is master-minding the mountain of administrative detail which is involved in the supply-line change.

He must couple the Canadian units with British supply lines and services and make arrangements for civil labor as well. He must

Coldwell Quite Happy With Result

Rosetown, Sask. — CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell said after his election here Monday night: "I am quite happy with the national results. They are very much as I anticipated, though I think the CCF earned better support in some parts of Canada. We look forward to the day when we shall receive the support we believe our record in the House of Commons has earned."

"Every good piece of legislation, whether in the realm of social security, orderly marketing of farm and other primary produce, or in improved labor laws, has been placed on the statute books because the CCF was in Parliament. I do not think that has been generally understood."

"I want to thank all who carried our banner and went down to defeat. The time will come when their efforts will be fully justified and completely successful. Time and world trends are on our side."

Mr. Coldwell spoke of the strength of the social democratic parties in Europe in opposing totalitarian parties, "like our LPP and Social Credit parties" and went on:

"In our view the peace of the world is dependent on our banishing exploitation, misery and want from the lives of many millions of impoverished people."

"The CCF will urge policies of benefit to our own people first and then give all its support to policies to ensure that peace and social and economic justice will prevail throughout the world."

"I am encouraged by the results today, and we shall fight on for the welfare of mankind."

First machine for tanning sole leather was a simple horse-driven stone mill that ground oak bark, invented in 1626 by Peter Minuit, of New York.

It is believed the gypsies came, not from Egypt as their name indicates, but from India, since their language, Romany, is Indo-Iranian.

let contracts for such things as boot repairs and laundry services. Another of his jobs is to make arrangements with Belgian customs officials regarding the movement of men and supplies across the Belgian border.

Yet another is a problem peculiar to Canadian troops in Europe — milk supply. The Canadian Army in Europe draws its food supplies from the British Army but fresh milk isn't included in the British ration.

Because Canadians love milk, the army's ration scale calls for 20 fluid ounces — almost a pint — daily for a man. This must be purchased by private contract in Denmark.

Maj. Egan says he feels his service troops will be satisfied with the change to Antwerpen. He reports that the city offers every amenity for the soldier — and at moderate prices.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

The minutes of the last session were read by the secretary, Sister Myrtle Hill. The Grand Lodge officers were introduced and welcomed: Sister Williams, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec; Sister C. Cavell, district deputy president of District No. 2, and Sister M. Hill, past president. The degree was conferred on three candidates, and a sick member was remembered. The president addressed the gathering and remarks were also made by others present.

Sister Hill presented the president with a gift. Guests were present from Farnham, Cowansville and Dunham. In all there was an attendance of 43. The hall had been made attractive with bouquets of flowers. The meeting was closed in ritual form. Refreshments were served, which included a birthday cake in honor of some of the members.

Miss Brenda Boule is spending some time in Lacolle with relatives.

Mrs. Murray O'Regan was the guest in Montreal of her parents,

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moynan. The Misses Audrey and Hazel Patten are spending several days in Montreal with their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Griggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bidwell have moved to the apartment in Mr. Vernon Lamb's house, which was recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fadden.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Morrison and daughter, Sandra, and son, David, of Toronto, Ont., have been guests of Mrs. Morrison's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fadden.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lahue and daughter, Norma, and Mr. James Boule have returned from an enjoyable motor trip to Toronto and Niagara, Ont., returning by way of the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Clark and children, of Farnham, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cowan.

DIXVILLE

The annual meeting of the Dixville and Crocker Cemetery Co. was held in the Dixville Protestant School building on the evening of July 24. The president, Mr. Reginald A. Mayhew, was in the chair. The minutes of the 1952 meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Cora Damon, and were accepted. The financial report was given by the treasurer, Mr. G. Parker and declared approved. It was voted that Messrs. Clayton Thomas, Ora A. McIntyre and Leslie Wright be elected as trustees for the ensuing two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hudson, of Lower Waterford, Vt., were the guests of Mrs. Margery Chamberlain and family, and called on other friends.

The Penman shop here in the village has re-opened, after being closed for a two weeks' holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Guelph Parker spent the week-end in Bury, with the latter's mother, Mrs. Helen McClintock.

Friends of Mrs. Effie M. Tuttle, formerly of this place, will regret to learn that she was the victim of a serious accident and is at present in hospital in Norwood, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Combs, of North Hatley, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivor F. Whitehouse, on Central Street.

Mrs. Origene Quimette, who was assisting with their haying, suffered a very painful accident, when her hand was caught in the hayfork, causing severe lacerations. Miss Janie Whitehouse and Michael Whitehouse, of Rock Island, are spending a week with relatives here.

B.F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire

Because IT HAS NO TUBE

It may save your life...

It can save you trouble...

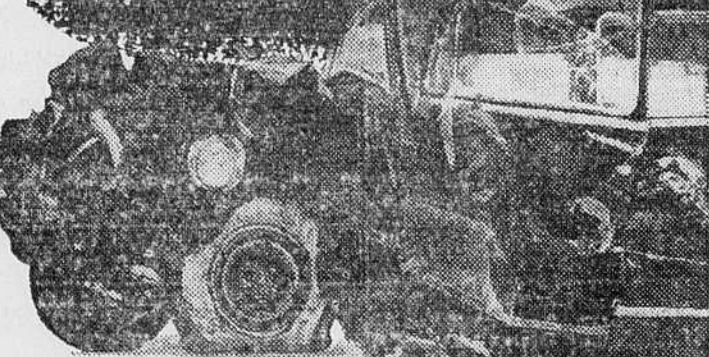

It will save you money...

The B.F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire gives you maximum protection against the hazard of blowouts and dangerous skids, that frequently result in serious injury, and even death.

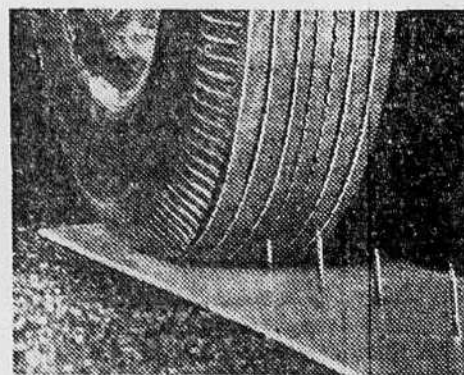

The B.F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire seals punctures on running wheels... protects against the annoying trouble caused by flat tires.

The B.F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire provides greater safety than any tire and tube, yet it costs less than the conventional safety tire-tube combination.

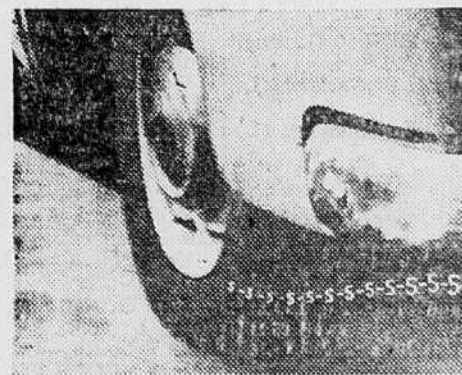

Don't let this happen to you

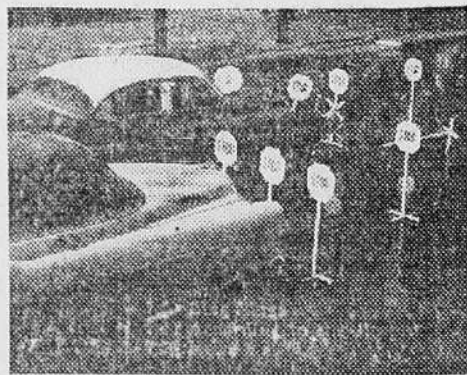

Automobile accidents caused by tire blowouts account for the loss of many lives, and an even greater number of serious injuries. Blowouts are caused when the inner tube explodes through weakened or broken tire cords. Because it has NO inner tube, a B.F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire changes a sudden, dangerous blowout to a safe s-s-slowout—allowing you time to stop your car safely, with perfect control.

PUNCTURE PROTECTION
A gummy rubber compound under the tread immediately seals around puncturing objects, and permanently seals the hole when the object is removed. Inconvenience and delays are eliminated.

BLOWOUT PROTECTION
Instead of a tube, the Life-Saver has a patented inner lining that's part of the tire. In event of damage there's no sudden blowout, only a small leak in the liner, a s-s-slowout that lets you stop safely.

SKID PROTECTION
The Life-Saver tread is cross-cut into thousands of tiny grip-blocks. At 30 miles per hour on wet roads, it stops you a car length quicker than regular tires... and gives you longer mileage too.

Your B.F. Goodrich dealer now has the Tubeless Tire ...it can be your LIFE-SAVER

FUNGUS DISEASE SPREADING EASTWARD FROM CALIFORNIA
By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

A disease not previously discussed in this column goes by the tongue-twisting name of coccidioidomycosis. A discussion of it has been requested by Mrs. J. P. and others.

The disease has been encountered most often in southern California, but it has been found in other parts of the southwest, and appears to be spreading slowly eastward. Aside from the fact of its apparent gradual spread, it may be of interest to people living in other parts of the continent because there are so many military camps in the southwest in which young men and women from all over may spend some time, and consequently become exposed.

Coccidioidomycosis is caused by a fungus. The fungus has been found in members of the rodent family and in the soil. Human beings may be attacked by this fungus either through a break in the skin or more commonly, by inhaling it.

It is not spread directly from person to person, though there have been a good many laboratory infections in those who have been studying the organism.

When acquired by inhalation, there may be no symptoms whatsoever, but if the reaction to the infection is severe enough, cough, loss of appetite, fever, headache, and other symptoms must like those of tuberculosis of the lungs are likely to occur. Quite often, after a week or two, skin lesions which are sort of bumps, may appear. This kind of coccidioidomycosis is sometimes known as San Joaquin fever, desert fever, or "the bumps."

It is encouraging to be able to say that the outlook for the disease in general is good. Most recover fairly promptly without any particular treatment. Occasionally, someone gets a form which is pretty generalized or which attacks the meninges lining the central nervous system, and under such circumstances the outlook is poor.

Also the chronic type which occurs from time to time is difficult to treat because there does not appear to be as yet any drug or medicine which is particularly effective.

Like some other diseases which are referred to in this column from time to time, coccidioidomycosis is at present largely a regional problem and does not afflict an enormous number of people. What the future will bring, however, is another matter, and the spread of coccidioidomycosis must be watched with care.

Huskiest HAULERS

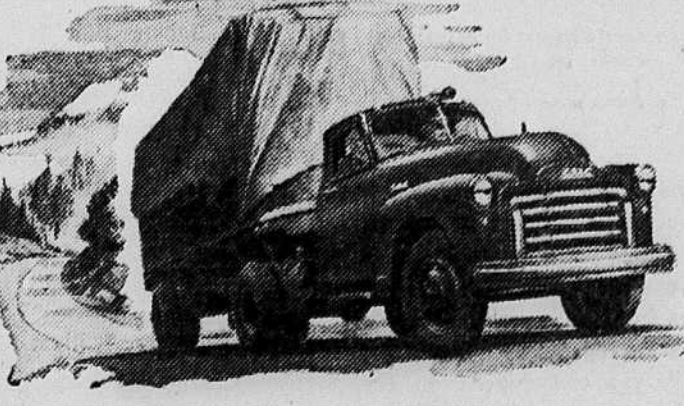

BY THE PACKAGE

Model for Model, feature for feature, GMC trucks give you more real dollar value right from the word "Go!" On city delivery jobs, for example, they can't be equalled for dependability, stamina, attractive appearance and all round utility. And every single model, from the smart-looking sedan delivery to the biggest heavy-duty hauler, brings you overall economy you've never known before!

BY THE TON

Where the loads are heaviest and the going is roughest, GMC trucks can handle the really rugged jobs with ease, and come back for more. GMC pays off in load-carrying ability with deep channel section frame side rails, rugged front axles, plus a full range of rear axles and transmissions and heavy duty springs. This wide range lets you select exactly the GMC truck you want for your particular job.

BY THE MILE

For faster acceleration and greater hill-climbing ability, GMC pays off in power with a choice of four famous high-compression engines ranging from 107 h.p. to 150 h.p. The Loadmaster, the Torquemaster and the Workmaster all bring you sparkling full-pressure lubrication and scores of other features to provide the power you need with the economy you want. For real value — see your GMC dealer!

SHELL PREMIUM GASOLINE WITH TCP

The most powerful gasoline your car can use

*Patent applied for

TCP*, a Shell-discovered additive, now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, increases power up to 15%, spark plug life up to 150%. Puts an end to spark-plug mis-firing due to combustion deposits.

If you have a new car, particularly one with a high-compression engine, Shell Premium with TCP is essential if you want it to keep on delivering its original power for the normal life of the spark plugs. Owners of older cars also benefit. Even if your car has gone 30,000 miles or more, your engine can get back much of its original power by the use of Shell Premium with TCP. Shell Premium with TCP acts fast! You'll feel that increase in power by the time you've finished the second tankful.

Today Shell Premium with TCP is available in this area, but only from your Shell Dealer.

OPERATION "PINWHEEL" — This dramatic aerial picture shows four outboard motorboats trying to catch a runaway put-put (making circle) in the Mississippi River near St. Louis, Mo. The skipper swam to shore, after he was tossed from the craft which spun sharply when the motor was started. It took 20 minutes for rescuers to get the spinning boat under control.

RETURN FROM HELL — Army Cpl. Richard M. Davis of Battle Mountain, Nev., is borne on a litter to a waiting ambulance after his repatriation at Panmunjom, Korea. Cpl. Davis, one of first UN prisoners freed by Reds, told of a death march that claimed 1250 American lives in February, 1951. "Of 1400 men who began the march," he said, "only 150 survived."

Selby Lake's Children's Concert Was The "Hit" Of This Happy Colony

Selby Lake, Aug. 11. — The summer season at Selby Lake is well under way. Apart from the fishing, swimming and mountain climbing, there have already been hay-ride frolics.

Forty-three children under teen age had a riotous hay-ride which ended at the lake with a huge bonfire and toasted marshmallows.

The adults held their first hay-ride in a very novel fashion, and the fashions were really something to be seen. It was a masquerade hay-ride and anything was liable to happen. Coons from way down south mixed it up with clowns, Indians and even "bonneted babes," and it was quite evident that some kidnapping was taking place.

The highlight thus far in the Selby Lake season was the Summer Children's Concert, on Monday night. This included a total of twenty-four items marshalled together by Father Zachary, of Ottawa, who is again spending his vacation here.

The concert opened with a bang at the hands of the boys, Harley Nichols, Doug Wilkinson, David Sands and John Tritschler, who endeavored to prove their prowess as carpenters. A skit entitled "School Days" was presented by Dale Tobin with Deanna and Carol Dean, Beverley Chambers and Barbara Ball. Recitations were given by Judy Wilkinson, Lynn Mackenzie, Dominique Haydar, Michael Amyot, Ross Nichols and a couple of by the master of ceremonies, Father Zachary, on local topics.

Songs were presented by Barbara Ball, Jody Kingan, Kerry Lowrey, David and Carolyn Sands, Gail Lowrey, Joanne Woodard, Joan Newfield, Jane MacDougall, Heather Watt, Ann MacDonald and Billy Procter.

Group numbers were given by John Tritschler, Carol Wilkinson, Martha Stalon, Susie Kieran, Judy Wilkinson, Lynn Mackenzie and

Gaston Ledoux Gives Best Wishes To Granby Fair

Following is the message of Gaston Ledoux, local M.L.A., on the opening of the Granby Fair, which starts Friday and continues Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Ledoux is a patron of the Fair.

"It is a great pleasure for me to wish the organizers of our annual fair the best of success."

Gaston Ledoux, M.L.A.

Sheryl Badger.

David Sands and John Tritschler provided a comical skit called, "Crossing the Red Sea," while Barbara and Wendy Kerr sang the little hymn, "Jesus Loves Me."

The Glamorgals of Selby Lake provided many laughs with special numbers. This lovely group was composed of Flo Walsh, Molly Amyot, Flo Kingan and Maureen Kingan, Sue Tritschler and Betty Kerr.

Queenie Ball contributed to every number throughout the enjoyable evening with her excellent accompaniment at the piano.

The real highlight of the evening came as the first number after the intermission, when two "grewed up pickaninnies from way down South," Daisy May Thursday, Mrs. Howard Drennan, and Buttercup Tuesday, Doris Brock, took over the stage for a song and dance routine that almost had the audience rolling in the aisles.

Rodney Tait and Jack Wilkinson handled the arrangements for the refreshments and the Pavilion, of Pinnacle Lodge, which was provided "free" for the event was packed to capacity.

Pat Lesser Leads Qualifying Round In Ladies Open

Posts 77, Even Par, To Set Pace As Marlene Stewart Ties With Four U. S. Stars In Runner-Up Position

London, Ont. — (CP) — Pat Lesser, bespectacled sharpshooter from Seattle, shot a par 77 here Monday to lead the qualifying round of the Canadian Open golf championship. The tough Hunt Club course floored many likely-looking prospects as the six-day title tournament opened.

One of the better United States players in the tournament, Miss Lesser shot a two-over 41 going out but came home with a blazing 36 on the back nine, two-under, to equal the 77 par for the layout.

While the course proved really rough for some of the contestants, the top players weren't far off the pace. Canada's Marlene Stewart, winner of the close tournament here last week and British champion, posted a one-over 78 after a scarily opening nine. She shared second spot with four U. S. stars, Edean Anderson, from Helena, Montana, defending champion, Grace Lenczyk, a two-time champ, and Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif.

The top 32 scorers go into match play for the championship today. The rest of the field will battle it out in the several flights. The tournament runs through Saturday when a 36-hole match play duel will be staged for the title. The scores were higher than normal as the field of 130 battled it out for championship flight spots.

U. S. Davis Cup Selection Committee Names Seixas And Trabert To Carry Doubles Assignment Against Canada

New York — (AP) — Moving swiftly to erase team friction on the matter, the United States Davis Cup selection committee Monday picked U.S. Seixas and Tony Trabert to carry the doubles assignment in the approaching international matches.

The committee, headed by Lawrence Baker of New York, suggested that this duo, who lost to the Australians a year ago, team for the doubles competition this week at Newport, R.I., and the national doubles championships next week at Longwood, Mass.

The action was taken over a mild protest on the part of Trabert, who said at South Orange, N.J., last week he'd much prefer to play with his longtime friend, Bill Trabert.

At the time, Trabert sharply criticized Seixas' chances as "unorthodox" and said he thought Trabert was "the best right court player in the world."

Wimbledon champion Seixas, acknowledged he was offended by this statement of his Davis Cup teammate, suggested that he and Trabert continue as a tandem. He said he felt they could beat the Australian pair of Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad.

The selection committee's hasty meeting and subsequent directive means that Seixas and Trabert probably will team in the American zone matches against Canada next month.

Winners of the U.S.-Canadian matches will meet the victor of the match between India, eastern zone representative, and Belgium, European zone champion, for the right to challenge Australia for the big cup.

The selection committee didn't say who will face the Canadians, but changes are Seixas and Trabert will play the opening singles and then team in doubles. Hamilton Richardson is a third member of the U.S. team.

Hillman Hurls No-Hitter As Cubs Blank Leafs

Toronto — (P) — Dave Hillman, 25-year-old right-hander, Monday night became the first Springfield pitcher to hurl a no-hitter in the International League as the Cubs blanked Toronto Maple Leafs 5-0 before 5,059 election day fans here.

Ironically, it was the first victory this season for Hillman, a 5-foot-11 native of Dungan, Va. He has seven losses. This year is his fourth year in organized baseball. Last season he compiled a 6-8 record while serving with the Cubs and Des Moines of the Class A Western League.

16 Countries To Compete In Tuna Match Next Month

Halifax — (P) — Sixteen countries will be represented at the international tuna match at Wedgeport, N.S., Sept. 9, 10 and 11.

Eleven teams will compete, largest number to take part since the matches began in 1937.

The Commonwealth team will comprise members from Australia, Bermuda, Canada, England and South Africa. A Scandinavian team will include anglers from Denmark and Sweden.

Others teams will come from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Cuba, France, Mexico, The Netherlands, United States and Venezuela. Cuba won the championship last year.

Senior Tennis Players Meet At Seignior Club

New York — (P) — A 12-man team of senior tennis players will represent the United States against Canada in the Gordon Trophy matches at the Seignior Club in Quebec next Friday and Saturday.

The team is headed by Mel Dranga, Seattle, holder of the U.S. national senior clay court title, and Volter B. Evans, of East Orange, N.J., a ranking senior player.

This is the fifth year of Gordon Cup competition, which alternates between Canada and the U.S. The United States has won every year.

Emil Zatopek Sets New World Record For Six-Mile Event

London — (P) — Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's triple gold medal winner in the Olympics bettered the listed world record for the six-mile run, the Bucharest radio reported Monday.

Competing at the fourth world youth and students festival in Bucharest, Zatopek was clocked in 28 minutes, 30.2 seconds for the six miles while on his way to 10,000 metres (340 metres more than six miles). The broadcast did not give the great runner's time for the 10,000.

Britain's Gordon Pirie, however, ran six miles in 18:18.4 July 10. The accepted world record for the distance is the 28:30 set by Finland's Viljo Heino in 1949.

Six-Bout Boxing Card To Be Presented At Windsor Mills Friday; Tony Percy Faces Stevenson In Final

Windsor Mills is to be the scene of a top-notch boxing program this Friday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Six bouts have been lined up by promoter Les Connor.

The main attraction of the evening pits Vern Stevenson of Montreal against Tony Percy of Drummondville. This will be an eight-round affair and should be action-packed from start to finish.

The semi-final will show Paul Gendron of Asbestos and Maurice Everett of Sherbrooke in a six round bout.

Everett, a former Golden Glove champion will be favored to gain the nod over the newcomer from Asbestos.

Two five round bouts, both middleweight fights, will have Yvonne Twine of Montreal against Gerard Beaudit of Sherbrooke, while "Butch" Bourquet tackles Jack Forke of Montreal.

Roger Cote of Bromontville faces Maurice Panton of the same town in a four-round preliminary scrap.

Claude Abran will swap punches with Gilbert Gamache for three rounds in the opening bout of the evening.

Fans desiring to reserve their seats in advance may do so by phoning Windsor 363-r-2 or Sherbrooke 2-7327.

Monte Irvin Stands Good Chance Of Becoming Second Right-Hand Hitter To Win NL Batting Crown

New York — (P) — If Monte Irvin of New York Giants can maintain his National League batting supremacy he will become only the second right-handed swinger in more than a decade to win the league's batting championship.

Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson has been the only right hitter to capture the crown in the last 10 seasons. Robinson led the league in 1949 with .342.

Left-handed swingers have dominated the senior-circuit batting leaders during the last 10 years with Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals taking the title six times.

Prior to Robinson the last right-handed hitter to lead the league was Ernie Lombardi, who hit .330 for the Boston Braves in 1942.

Irvin, who is hitting .339, took over the top spot from St. Louis' Red Schoendienst, who led to second place with .323. The Giants' outfielder went 10-for-25 during the week and gained four points while Schoendienst lost eight points in going 6-for-27.

Carl Furillo of the Dodgers remains third with .329, followed by Cincinnati's Red Kuzewski and Chicago's Frank Baumholtz, tied for fourth at .327 each.

Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators is starting to pull away from the rest of the pack in the American League hitting race.

The first baseman, in quest of his second batting crown, boosted his average six points to .331. He collected 11 hits in 26 at bats.

Cleveland's Al Rosen, fourth last week, moved into second with a .320 mark as George Kell of the Boston Red Sox skidded to third at .319.

Orestes (Minnie) Minoso of the Chicago White Sox slipped from third to fourth with .316 while Billy Goodman of the Red Sox rounds out the first five at .310.

Ed Mathews of Milwaukee Braves continues to top the National League home-run derby with 36 and Brooklyn's Roy Campanella still is the runs-batted-in pacesetter with 104.

Gus Zernial of the A's hit four home runs during the week to displace Rosen as the American League leader in that department with 29. Rosen has the most RBIs, 92.

Pitching laurels in the National League go to Milwaukee's Lew Burdette with a 9-2, 81B won-lost percentage. Ed Lopat of the Yanks ranks as the American League pitching leader with an 11-2, .846 mark.

Bob Porterfield Adds One More To His "Bad Dream" Team As Piersall Ruins His No-Hitter With Single

Bob Porterfield's "bad dream" team is growing. He added another outfielder and may soon have a full line-up.

Porterfield, a stylish Washington right-hander who is specializing this season in pitching shutouts, has blanked the opposition eight times in 17 complete games. That's more than any other pitcher has accomplished in either circuit since Bob Lemon's 10 in 1948.

He hurled No. 8 Monday night, a sparkling no-hitter against Boston Red Sox which he won 2-0.

In the only other action, Milwaukee Braves whittled half a game off Brooklyn Dodgers' National League lead by whipping St. Louis 8-2. The Dodgers still lead by 6½ games.

The lone Boston safety was a third-inning single by rightfielder Jim Piersall.

Strikeout Record Is Already Broken By "Major" Bowes; Diers To Date Has 17 Circuits Compared To 23

Sherbrooke Indians, League leaders in the Provincial Baseball League, didn't get a chance to extend their pennant-bound margin last night as they were washed out. Municipal Stadium where Indians were scheduled to be at home in a twin bill against Thetford Mines Miners was deemed unplayable because of Monday's heavy rains.

Sherbrooke, which has won nine straight, journeys to Quebec today for a two-day series with the second-place Braves who have taken their last eight in a row.

John Cerbo will pitch at Quebec tonight while Bill Dailey, if scheduled is followed, will have a go in the Capital Wednesday evening.

Indians return here Thursday evening for a doubleheader against Drummondville Royals.

With a day off from play, we have had time to peruse the records of the present-day Sherbrooke Indians and those of the athletes who wore Sherbrooke colors in past days in the Provincial League.

One local all-time record has already been broken by the Indians. It is the strikeout mark by "Major" Jack Bowes, ace left-hander of the local squad who will be setting a new all-time mark for local hurlers every time he fans another man. Bowes has now whiffed 129 Provincial League batters against the old record of 118 set by Auguste Gagne in 1946.

Clell Hobson, Indians' second sacker, has already totalled 24 two-base blows, compared with the all-time Sherbrooke record of 29 set by Silvio Garcia in 1950.

Jack Waters, who boosted himself to a .335 clip in the past week, is not too far off Garcia's all-time Sherbrooke high of .365, set also in 1950.

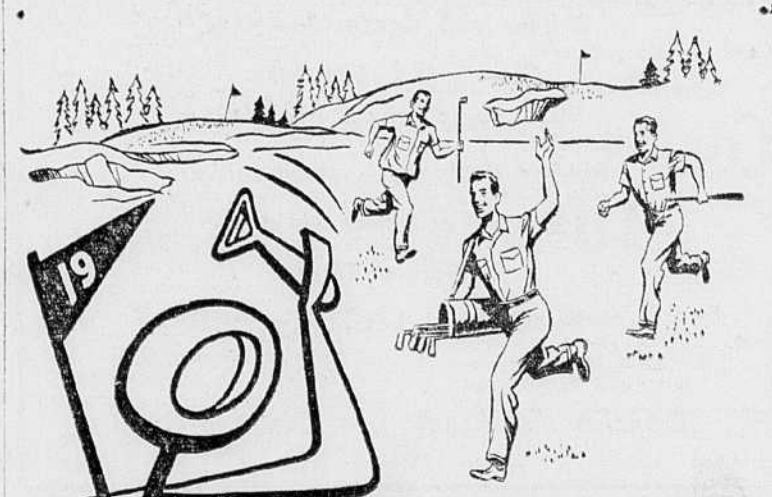

Bob Diers, hard-hitting Indians' right fielder, who is just shaking off the effects of a beaning, is only six home runs away from Claro Duany's all-time local record. Duany amassed 23 four-base smashes in 1950. Diers has 17 to date.

Although Diers hasn't had any circuit clouts since he returned to action last Friday, he has had two triples among his extra base hits.

Diers, Hobson and Jack Castro, each of whom has batted in more than 70 runs are within reach of Garcia's all-time total of 116, set in 1950. Lou Shapiro in the same year totalled the most number of wins by a Sherbrooke pitcher with 18 triumphs but present-day Danny Osinski (13), Bowes (12) and Cerbo (11) have a chance to top this.

Shapiro also holds the highest pitching percentage when, in the same year, he had a .818 average with four losses against those 18 wins. Osinski stands at 13-6. Bowes 12-3 and Cerbo 12-2, while Bill Dailey, who reinforced the local mound corps only a few weeks ago, has four wins and is undefeated.

The present Sherbrooke club is the youngest one ever fielded in the Provincial League and has had the least experience of any team in the loop. It is this collection of ball players which Merrill "Pinky" May has molded into the most potent combination in the Provincial Baseball League.
