RUMOR ULSTER NEAR DECISION TO ACCEPT HOME RULE

FIRST FARMERS' LEGISLATURE IN CANADA OPENS

Ontario Government of Farmer-Labor Complexion Assumes Task

LITTLE CEREMONY

Speech from Throne Forecasts Considerable Important Legislation

TORONTO, March 9 — (Canadian Press)—Under circumstances of exceptional interest, and considerable speculation, the first session of the fifteenth legislature of the Province of Ontario was opened here today. It is the first Farmer-Labor legislature in the history of Canada, and the Farmer Government of the Hon. E. C. Drury, holds power by the narrow nominal majority of two members in the legislature of one hundred and eleven seats.

Included among the "supporters" of the Drury Government are eleven Labor members, some of whom are admittedly not entirely in support of the Government's program as announced to date.

However, there is a tendency on all sides, including the direct opposition, Liberals and Conservatives, to avoid unduly embarrassing the Government during the session. The feeling is that the "farmer" cabinet composed of eight farmers, two laborites and one lawyer, should be given a clear track to see what they can accomplish in this reconstruction period in the history of the Province.

There was no salute of artillery as the session was formally opened by the Lieutenant-Governor, Lionel Clarke, this afternoon, but there was a military guard of honor supplied by the famous Princess Patricia Regiment. The social side of the opening ceremonies were not so prominently emphasized as in other days, but the wives of the Cabinet ministers, and many of the members were present for the function.

Much interest was centred in the possibilities of the speech from the Throne—the first in Canada, under such democratic auspices.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

The Speech from the Throne follows:—

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

"It affords me pleasure to welcome you to the discharge of your duties at the opening Session of the Fifteenth Legislature of this Province. As this is my first opportunity of addressing you officially, I desire to tender you my most cordial greetings and to impress upon you the special interest and importance that, for a number of reasons, will attach to your proceedings at this time.

"By the exchange of formal ratifications the Peace Treaty should be made effective, so far as the principal belligerents in the late war are concerned, and the League of Nations has been instituted. Although many of the problems arising from the war remain yet to be solved, we have need for thankfulness in the fact that the Canadian army has returned to this country, and to the occupation of civil life, and that the prospect of an enduring peace is now well assured.

"During the past year the Province of Ontario was favored by a visit from His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. Our people paid a remarkable and sincere tribute to the Heir to the Throne, whose attractive personality and inspiring utterances made a very pleasing and lasting impression everywhere.

"Within the last few days the Parliament of Canada again assembled on the historic site so long occupied by the Dominion Parliament at the Federal capital. The restoration, soon to be complete, of our national forum, improved and beautified, is a matter of congratulation to all Canadians, and a memorable event in the history of free institutions in this country.

"Under the provisions of the Temperance Referendum Act certain questions therein set out were submitted to the electors in October last. The answers to these questions declaring by a substantial majority against the re-appeal of the Ontario Temperance Act will be laid before you By the revocation of the Dominion order-in-council prohibiting the importation of of liquor during the war a new problem has arisen which will call for careful consideration and appropriate action.

TO CONSIDER EDUCATION.

"Recent developments point to a departure from the long established rigidity of party lines and to a greater measure of freedom on the part of the representatives of the people. It is the wish of my ministers that this House will, both by initiative and free decision give the full benefit of its wisdom to the shaping of legislation and the framing of public policy.

"The educational needs of the Province, arising from the conditions which prevailed prior to and during the war, have received the thoughtful consideration of the Government Pending a thorough enquiry into the whole subject, you will be asked to provide for an increase in the grants to the rural schools, both in the counties and in the districts. Your approval will also be asked for making such

PLAN CANADIAN HOSPITAL IN N.Y.

NEW YORK, March 9, (By Associated Press).—Members of the Canadian Club of New York are making preliminary arrangements to organize effectively for the purpose of raising $1,000,000, or as much more as may be needed, with which to build and equip a Canadian hospital in this city.

The project was suggested at a recent club dinner by a member, who pointed out the need for such an institution and called attention to the fact that there are a large number of American citizens of Canadian birth who will welcome an opportunity to show their appreciation of their citizenship in the United States.

Already subscriptions are beginning to come in one of a very substantial sum from a gentleman who has pledged it in memory of his mother, who was a Canadian Committees will be appointed and the work of raising the needed funds put upon a systematic basis.

MARTIAL LAW IN CONSTANTINOPLE; BRITISH IN CONTROL

Sali Pasha Heads New Turkish Government—Situation Grave

FRENCH MENACED

Turkish Nationalist Forces Threaten French in Cilicia

LONDON, March 9 (United Press)—A new Government, headed by Sali Pasha, has been formed in Constantinople, a despatch today said. The new Cabinet, according to the despatch, includes most of the members of the preceding Government.

The exact situation in the Turkish capital today was not clear. Latest reports, from official messages received here, indicated that Constantinople is under martial law, and controlled by British soldiers. The Turks were reported stirred up by Arabians, Mesopotamians and Thracians.

The position of the French forces in Cicilia (Turkish Asia Minor) was described as serious. The French, it was said, are menaced by large bodies of Turkish Nationalist troops of the forces of Mustapha Kemal, leader of the Turkish rebels.

The occupation of Costantinople, it was intimated, may be permanent, the British taking the position that the safety of Allied commerce demands full protection for the "gateway to the east."

Some outbreaks have occurred in Constantinople, official messages said, but it was believed the Allied force there is sufficient to prevent the disturbances assuming serious proportions.

French dispatches indicate the Paris Government is considerably displeased at the turn in Turkish events and feels that Great Britain, Italy and Greece have combined to force through a program to which they know France is opposed.

Meantime, there were indications that the Peace conference here will again take up the Turkish question to devise a formal plan for settling the entire Turkish question. Premier Lloyd George's statement in the House of Commons yesterday that the Government had information that 16,000 Armenians have been massacred in Turkish Asia Minor was taken to mean that opinion is being prepared for extensive British action there.

"The French," Lloyd George said, "are sending reinforcements to their troops in Cilicia, re-establishing their positions to protect Armenians."

BRITISH FLEET ON WAY.

BIZERTA, Northern Africa, March 9.—(By Havas Agency.)—A British squadron which arrived here from Oran has proceeded to Constantinople.

A MOSLEM PROTEST.

Lucknow, British India, March 9.—The Council of the All-India Moslem League has adopted a resolution protesting against the outburst of Christian bigotry in England in the campaign to take Constantinople from the Turk. It declares that existence upon this will drive the Mohamedans to desperate action.

WILSON IS NOTIFIED.

PARIS, March 9.—Premier Millerand has instructed Jules J. Jusserand, French Ambassador in Washington and England and Italy no doubt have imitated him—to communicate to President Wilson general decisions reached relative to Turkey by the Supreme Allied Council and to ask his opinion, says "Fertinax", political editor of the Echo de Paris.

"This was done by way of precaution in view of Mr. Wilson's veto of the Turkish settlement, which Washington despatches foreshadowed," he continues. "Hope is still entertained, however, that America will shoulder her part of the Oriental burden."

Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain proposed on Friday, says "Pertinax," a "grand theatrical demonstration at Constantinople—the occupation of the War Ministry, the arrest of statesmen working against the Allies, the substitution of a moderate conciliatory cabinet for the existing semi-nationalist ministry." He says the dismissal of Mustapha Kemal would also be part of the British Premier's programme.

"The Paris ministry has persistently pointed out that such blustering intervention could only make things much worse," the writer says, "but it is improbable Mr. Lloyd George will be convinced, for he has engaged in an internal political maneuver to appease the 'non-conformist conscience' Premier Millerand gained a few moments of grace by stipulating no action would be taken until the reply of the Allied high commissioners at Constantinople was received."

TURKEY IS WORRIED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 9 (By the Associated Press.)—The Turkish press is much agitated over the understanding between the Armenians and the Kurds and the efforts of the Kurdish leaders in Paris to obtain autonomy for Kurdestan.

Abdul Kador Effendi, representing Kurdestan in the Senate, when approached by the journalists, confirmed the agreement between the Armenians and the Kurds to cease fighting. He also stoutly defended Kurdestan's claims for autonomy.

Consequently Abdul Kador Effendi has become the storm centre for the rage of the Mussulman press, which is quoting many messages from the Kurds saying that they do not desire to break away from the Caliphate. Abdul Kador says the leaders of the Society for the Betterment of Kurdestan, which is generally supported, do not want to abandon religious connection with Constantinople, but that because of the notoriously bad administration they want political autonomy.

The Turkish newspapers insist that it is proposed to sever religious ties, and they attack the Kurdish leaders on religious grounds. The Tasvir-I-Efkiar (Mirror of Opinions) says:

"What good can come to Kurdestan, which is not a part of the Ottoman Empire and the Mussulman world? It is ridiculous that an Ottoman senator should cherish such ideas."

British Coalitionist Wins in Horncastle

LONDON, March 9. — (By Canadian Press).—The Horncastle by-election resulted in a victory for Captain S. V. Hotchkis, Coalition - Unionist candidate. The polling resulted as follows:

Capt. S. V. Hotchkis, Coalition-Unionist, 8,140; Alderman S. Pattison, Liberal, 6,727; W. Holmes, Labor, 3,443.

NUMEROUS SHIPS ARE IN DISTRESS

Gale of Last Week-end Wrought Havoc with Shipping

NO CASUALTIES

Hundreds of Towns in the U.S. Have Been Completely Isolated

NEW YORK, March 9 (United Press). — The mystery of the disappearance of the American tanker Cubadist, which sailed from Havana on February 26, grew today when naval radio stations on the Atlantic seaboard continued to report no word from the missing vessel.

The Cubadist, with a crew of 41, was bound for Baltimore. The last wireless from her reported her position February 29 as 111 miles south of Diamond Shoals lightship.

The belief is expressed that the ship may have met disaster in the storm which swept the Atlantic coast Friday and Saturday. The Cubadist had a cargo of molasses.

Reports from vessels in distress continued to come in last night as the result of the gale, which has played havoc with shipping.

After announcing by wireless that she had an anchor hold 20 miles east of Sable Island, the Shipping Board steamship Lake Ellithorpe which lost her propeller Sunday sent a radio that she again was adrift. The coastguard cutter Seneca is steaming to her aid.

The Shipping Board vessel Guilford, which sprang a leak and was abandoned and at first thought to have sunk, has been found and taken in tow by the coastguard Acushnet. The Shipping Board freighter Sarcoxie, from Spithead, England, has sprung a leak 400 miles east of New York, but is proceeding under her own power.

After losing her propeller, the Shipping Board steamer Wisconsin Bridge, from Baltimore, has been taken in tow by the Shipping Board steamship East Side, coming from Bordeaux. The Shipping Board freighter Buckhannon ran out of coal, while bound here from Messina, and is being towed to Bermuda by the Shipping Board vessel Abianset.

The British steamer Carrigan has the steamship Maine in town. Aid has been sent from Halifax for the freighter Noecalula, which reported fresh water short and no steam 340 miles east of St. John's, Nfld.

SS. LAKE ELLITHORPE SAFE.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 9.—After a stormy night at sea, with the dreaded sand bars of Sable Island near at hand, the Furness lines Maplemore has resumed towing the disabled United States Shipping Board steamer Lake Ellithorp to Halifax. The tow is coming along at the rate of five or six knots. The tow line parted on several occasions last night and the crews of both ships had an anxious time of it. Once it was feared that the Lake Ellithorp would drift onto the sand bars but before this danger became imminent the Maplemore had succeeded in putting another line on board.

HAS ENGINE TROUBLE.

YARMOUTH, N.S., March 9, (By Associated Press.)—The steamer Canadian Warrior, Capt. Bissett, of the Canadian merchant marine, which left St. John Sunday morning for the West Indies, put into Yarmouth Sound and is still here. After leaving St. John the ship developed engine trouble. Repairs are being effected and it is thought the ship will proceed shortly.

TOWNS ISOLATED.

BOSTON, March 9, (By Associated Press.)—Scores of towns in northern New England remained isolated today because of the storm and freeze-up of Saturday. Several places along the blocked branch lines of the railroads reported a serious shortage of food and fuel.

Normal service on the mainlines of the Boston & Maine railroad was possible today, except on the Mountain divisions, which railroad engineers estimated could not be re-opened before Thursday.

100 TOWNS BLOCKADED.

CONCORD, N.H., March 9, (By Associated Press.)—Highway blockades due to the blizzard of Saturday prevented nearly 100 towns from participating in the presidential primaries held in the State today.

HAVE FUEL FAMINE NOW.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 9, (By Associated Press.)—Isolated since last Thursday's blizzard tied up practically all railroads, western and northern Michigan towns are now in the grip of an acute fuel famine. Office buildings and industrial plants in several towns will be forced to close within 48 hours. Montague and Whitehall have been without train service since Thursday and Hart, Elk Rapids and Boyne City have been cut off by mountainous snow drifts since Friday.

FIFTY KILLED IN BOILER EXPLOSION

BERLIN, March 9 — A despatch from Beinrath, Rhenish Prussia, says that fifty persons are estimated to have lost their lives as the result of a large boiler bursting in the Rhenish Westphalian electricity Works. The explosion buried many workmen.

DIVISION UPON KING AMENDMENT SET FOR TONIGHT

Party Whips Have Notified Members Vote Has Been Reached

RESULT CERTAIN

Government Has Safe Majority—Much Interest in White Speech

OTTAWA, March 9, (From Our Own Correspondent.)—The division on the King amendment is definitely scheduled for tonight, the whips have so advised their followers. Hon. Charles Murphy leads off this afternoon and if he opens up a new stage of the vendetta between them, Hon. N. W. Rowell will reply. The division is expected after midnight, the ministerial whips claim a majority of at least thirty-five.

That portion of Sir Thomas White's speech in which he declares for the reversion, at the end of this Parliament, to the name, the principles and policy of the old Liberal-Conservative party was a theme for much afternoon comment in Parliamentary circles today.

The Conservative-Unionists seem a unit in favor of it. Some of those of the Liberal tinge are not quite so enthusiastic. They don't object so much to the policy that is proposed, but they have a certain aversion to being submerged and losing their identity in the Conservative party.

This view finds a wider expression among those from the West than the East because, from this part of the country, Liberal-Unionist members have displayed an unwavering fidelity to the particular name it may take or policy it may pursue in future.

Platforms are not made in a day and while Sir Thomas White's views find a sympathetic echo in many quarters, there are some others to be consulted. The western men favorable to the Government want something to go on in the form of fiscal concessions, and it may to some extent be a matter of compromise.

The applause that yesterday greeted the bold declaration of proposed policy was taken to indicate approval by the great proportion of the Unionist party though on certain desks, including the Cabinet row, there was no pounding.

In a preliminary way it is anticipated that the matter will be discussed at the coming caucus but, whatever division of opinion there may be ultimately, nothing suggests any action to imperil the Government this session.

Even in the future, dissentients from a protective policy are likely to be minimum western group.

FURTHER ATTACKS ON ALLIED MISSION

French Officers Attacked at Bremen on Two Occasions

BERLIN, March 9 (By Associated Press)—Closely following the incident of Saturday night at the Hotel Adlon here in which Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia was the chief figure leading a demonstration against a party of French officers in the hotel dining room, another anti-Allied incident is reported from Bremen. The victims in this case also were high French officers who are members of the Entente military commission.

When the Frenchmen entered the barracks in Bremen to conduct negotiations with German officers, the accounts run, the soldiers sang "Deutschland Uber Alles," the singing attracting a large crowd which roughly handled the French when they left the barracks. The police dispersed the crowd and escorted the officers to their quarters.

An inquiry into the affair was opened immediately.

Still another incident of similar nature at Bremen is reported by the Vossische Zeitung. It says that yesterday two French officers and an Italian officer stopped a man wearing a field grey uniform supposing him to belong to the German army, when the man failed to salute them, and high words followed, culminating in blows. A crowd assaulted the Allied officers, who were considerably injured, the newspaper adds, before they were rescued by the police.

Protestant Clergy Not in Sympathy With Anderson's Views

DEFENDS CHURCH

Says Anderson Has Sunk So Low to Become Brewer of Bigotry

Special to The Star From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, March 9—Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes issued a statement yesterday afternoon in answer to the attacks by William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, in which he characterized Mr. Anderson as a "sinister figure in American politics who sinks so low as to play the role of a brewer of bigotry."

At the same time, in an address before 400 clergymen in the rooms of the Methodist Book Concern, Mr. Anderson repeated his previous statements, declaring that he had never attacked the Catholic Church, but predicting that if the church arrayed itself on the side against prohibition it will find itself "shorn of power as completely as Samson was stripped when he dallied with sin." Mr. Anderson said his attacks have been against certain leaders of the Catholic Church, and against a certain element within the church which is "in politics up to its neck."

The action of the archbishop in answering Mr. Anderson's onslaughts is unusual, as it is seldom that a high dignitary of the Catholic Church takes cognizance of the sort of criticism which Mr. Anderson has been uttering. The archbishop's statement says:

"While yielding to many pressing demands for a statement on the slanderous attack of the leader of the Anti-Saloon League on the Catholic Church, I feel that, in taking notice of it, I should apologize, first of all, for not leaving the matter to the decent sentiment of New York, which long since has passed judgment on his zealot, his tongue and his methods.

"I am gratified indeed to observe the attitude of the Protestant clergy, who, if I may judge by the press, are not in sympathy with the anti-Catholic utterances of Mr. Anderson.

"My purpose in speaking is not to resent the abuse heaped on the Catholic Church, because the Archbishop of New York dared to disobey the mandate of the leader of the Anti-Saloon League by non-attendance at his meeting. Abuse always confounds the abuser.

"My sole anxiety is that a single person, in or out of the Catholic Church, may be possibly deceived by this sinister figure in American politics, a sower of strife, who sinks so low as to play the un-American role of a brewer of bigotry.

"Let me say most emphatically that the Catholic Church is not affiliated with any political organization, local, state or national; much less is the church in conspiracy to contravene, directly or indirectly, the law of the land.

OBEDIENCE TO LAWS.

"No honest man, no matter what he may otherwise think of the Catholic Church, believes the church to be an enemy of law and order.

"I repeat my public statement of a former occasion that the Catholic Church preaches and practises conscientious obedience to every law, and does not discriminate in favor of one more than another. The church further demands that law be obeyed whether we like it or not. Not so Mr. Anderson, who presses and stresses the eighteenth amendment, because he wants it observed and is paid for so doing. He seems but little concerned about other fundamental laws guaranteeing personal liberty, protection against unlawful search and seizure, religious freedom, free speech, free press and free legislatures.

"At a time when every sane constructive and conservative force and element in the community should be working for a united America, it is deplorable—and discouraging, too—that any man should be permitted to foment distrust and breed mischief.

"Woe to him, who in these critical days sets aflame industrial, social, racial or religious dissension! Better for America that he had never been born."

BREAK DOWN PROHIBITION.

In his address before the ministers, Mr. Anderson declared that in addition to the political element in the Catholic Church there is still another element both clerical and lay which is now endeavoring to break down prohibition enforcement whose activities will not prove either creditable or beneficial to the church."

At another point in his speech Mr. Anderson charged "the most eminent Catholic in America, Cardinal Gibbons," with being friendly to the brewers and certain plans which are afoot to bring back the saloon.

"There was a great shriek last week," said Mr. Anderson, "over my alleged attack on the Catholic Church, which so-called attack was a statement to the effect that most of the Catholic leaders in this region are in sympathy with the attempt to break down the prohibition law. The justification for this statement is found in the fact that on the same day my statement was sent to the pastors, Cardinal Gibbons gave out a statement proposing to break down the prohibition amendment and emasculate the enforcement law by permitting the manufacture and sale of beer and wine."

CALLS CATHOLICS PROHIBITION FOES

William H. Anderson, the N.Y. State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, has attacked the Catholic Church as a foe of prohibition. The other day, Cardinal Gibbons, head of the Catholic Church in the U.S., openly defended light wine and beer, and pleaded for the repeal of the dry laws.

UNGAVA EXPLORERS LEAVE TOMORROW

Expedition Into Regions of Northern Quebec Carefully Organized

RICH IN MINERALS

Explorer Blake Says Country Soon to Attract Investors

QUEBEC, March 9.—(By Canadian Press.)—H. L. P. Blake, C. E., explorer and mineralogist, with his assistant explorer, Mr. Cusperson, Mr. Elkington, C.E., and Dr. George Corbett, of Ottawa, and six other assistants, will leave here for an exploring expedition into the Ungava regions of Northern Quebec on Wednesday, and will not return until the end of next October.

Mr. Blake and party who represent a wealthy syndicate of English interests, will proceed over the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway to St. Felicism, where they will collect their supplies and meet a party of Montagnais Indians already engaged with dogs, sleds and canoes and then will proceed north to Chibougamou en route to Lake Misstassini, thence north to Lake Nichinsen and from the latter point proceed north as far as possible with the object of coming out between the Bay of Seven Islands and Anticosti.

The trip into the Ungava region by Mr. Blake and party will be the fourth to be made in the interest of this syndicate, which expects to get into that country within the next two years, and develop its rich mineral resources. The expedition has been carefully organized from previous experience and nothing has been omitted to achieve the success sought after. Dr. Corbett, of Ottawa, is going as a physician in case of need.

Mr. Blake is reluctant to speak of his knowledge of the Northern Winterland over which he has traveled, until his work is completed and a full report made to the English interests he represents. He has no hesitation, however, in saying that the Ungava is rich with mineral resources that will in the near future attract brains and capital for investment. He also says that there is a rich forest of timber from the Lake St. John region to the Misstassini and a wealth of water power for the development of industry.

BRACING CLIMATE.

Speaking of the climate and agricultural possibilities Mr. Blake said: "The climate of the North is not severe after one has become accustomed to it. The temperature is about the same as the Lake St. John district, but dry, bracing and healthy. There is one good advantage, the further north we proceed the longer the daylight will be; besides, when we pass the Laurentian mountains and reach the height of land the country is flat and even and in excellent condition for the building of railways. The possibilities of agriculture are similar to the Lake St. John district and when the region is opened up it will no doubt attract settlers for agricultural as well as mineral pursuits.

"We never have any difficulty with the Indians. We pay them white men's wages and advance the money to keep their families while they are absent with us."

NEW COMPENSATION ACT FOR MANITOBA

Will Increase Compensation and Put in System of State Insurance

WINNIPEG, Man., March 9.—At the sitting of the Legislature of Manitoba last night, Attorney General Johnson, introduced, and it was read a first time, a bill amending the Workmen's Compensation Act, which he said practically amounted to a recasting of the legislation enacted in 1916. It was, he told the House, the result of deliberations between representatives of the employers, employes and members of the legislature.

The measure will increase the amount of compensation and will incorporate the system of state insurance in respect to a number of classes of employment.

After the sitting there was a caucus of the Government members at which Mr. Brown reported upon his visit to Toronto in connection with the difficulty that had arisen in relation to the rates of interest on loans to the rural credit societies. It is understood that his conferences with the executives of the banks has resulted in an agreement to continue the rate at six per cent. The hitch between the societies and the banks had arisen through the banks demanding an advance of a half per cent.

SUICIDE JUMPED OUT OF ELEVENTH STORY

DETROIT, Mich., March 9.—(Star Special.)—Leaving an open Bible on his dresser, with the 23rd Chapter of Genesis marked, Charles J. Rogers, aged 33, a resident of St. Louis was instantly killed early this morning when he leaped from the eleventh storey window of Hotel Tuller to the pavement. The chapter marked in Roger's Bible, and reading "I am a stranger and a sojourner with you, give me possession of a burying place with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight," gives only a dim light on the tragic death. The dead man had been a claim adjuster for the Federal Casualty Company of St. Louis.

Romantic Tale of Beautiful Rich Turkish Girl Was Pure Bunkum

NEW YORK, March 9—(From Our Own Correspondent) — Copy-readers on several New York dailies and others elsewhere are today gnashing their teeth with a considerable gnash. They realize too late that they gave columns of advertising to a motion picture. Yesterday, with tears rolling down their seasoned faces, they wrote touching headlines to the ormantic story of the beautiful Sari, the virgin of Stamboul, lured to America by a soldier and vanished from the ken of her people. Had not their own reporters interviewed (by request) Sheik Ben Mohamed and his four turbaned advisers who had crossed the seas to seek her? Had not they seen these Orientals smoking a real hookah in a New York hotel? Had not eunuchs guarded the door? Had not the Sheik choked with emotion as he related the sorry tale of Sari, the beautiful. Had he not offered caverns of gold for her return, Was not the Sheik garbed precisely as a Royal Hedjazite should be? He was not. Turban, braided tunic, scimitar he wore, indeed, but certain sections of his wear had at one time seen Troy N. Y.

All this might have passed, however, had not Bey Rum Mohamed claimed acquaintanceship with Henry Morgenthau. Sure, he knew Henry. As a matter of fact he was going to dine with him; nice fellow, was the former Turkish Ambassador. And so, such staid, careful journals as the New York Times feel for the story with infinite gusto. But, alas, for unbelievers! One scribe could not remember the honorable party arriving on any vessel. And he thought, perhaps, Mr. Morgenthau might be able to tell him. Mr. Morgenthau didn't know. Nor could he remember any dinner date with Bey. Furthermore, he thought the Sheik's costume too good to be true. And lastly—well, it's to be hoped Bey doesn't know the Arabic for "Bi-at-d liar." At all events, Mr. Morgenthau was unkind enough to call the Hedjazite a fake.

But all this won't interfere with the early release of a thrilling nine-reel movie, the title of which, if you haven't guessed it from the first paragraph, must be left for the advertising columns.

provision for the publication of school text books as shall avoid increasing the cost of books to the pupils. Measures will be submitted to you providing for a revision of the public school law, and for a revision of the Public Libraries Act so as to afford encouragement to these institutions.

STIMULATE AGRICULTURE.

Plans have been matured by the department of agriculture for affording a greater stimulus to agricultural production in this Province, for improving the quality of livestock, and for fostering certain undertakings on behalf of the farmer which condition can be accomplished by individual effort. The department proposes to take steps to bring the advantages of agricultural education more directly home to the people. In order to safeguard the interests of milk and cream shippers a bill will be introduced to regulate the purchase of milk and cream.

"There is reason to believe that the application of the progressive and well-balanced policy will materially improve rural conditions throughout the province and will facilitate the marketing of crops with advantage alike to the producer and consumers. A number of amendments to the present laws will be submitted to you with a view to rendering such a policy effective.

CARE FOR SOLDIERS.

"Inasmuch as the original objects of the Soldiers' Aid Commission have in a large measure been served, and most of its remaining work has been taken over by Federal organizations, my ministers propose to devote the labors of the commission hereafter mainly to the care of the dependants of soldiers, who have been left as a sacred charge upon the community. Complaints having been made as to the conditions prevailing in the soldiers' settlement colony at Kapuskasing, a commission has been appointed to investigate and suggest remedial action and is now engaged in the work.

MINISTER OF MINES.

"In view of the depletion of our forests, and the growing importance of a permanent supply of timber for our industries, the Government proposes to make better provision for reforestation and to organize a more energetic and effective means of fire protection.

"It is proposed to recognise the importance of the mining industry by creating a department of mines, thus separating the administration of mining lands and affairs from that of lands and forests, and appointing a minister of mines. A bill effecting the separation and defining the duties of the respective departments will be submitted. Mining and agricultural departments happily combine to forward the settlement of newer parts of Ontario and the encouragement of the search for mineral deposits is an object of the first necessary for the welfare of the mining industry. A bill will be submitted amending the Mining Act, reducing the fees for recording mining claims and providing other assistance to prospectors.

"During the past year a national labor conference was held in the city of Ottawa, and also an international conference at Washington, under the terms of the peace treaty, at both of which gatherings this province was officially represented. As an outcome of the national conference the Federal Government has arranged for a meeting of representatives of the Dominion and the various provinces to consider the unification of the labor laws of Canada. My ministers realize the importance of this work, both from the standpoint of the workers and the employers. Various measures affecting labor and improving existing laws will be submitted to you, and also a bill providing for the payment of allowances in certain cases to the members of dependent citizens.

"Among other measures which will be brought to your attention will be bills to provide for the preparation of voters' lists and to amend the laws, to amend the Succession Duty Act, to amend the Corporations Tax Act, respecting the law of partnership and the sale of goods.

"Reports will be submitted to you as early as practicable regarding the work of the Hydro Electric Power Commission, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Commission, the Workmen's Compensation Commission and other important public undertakings carried on under the authority of this legislature.

"The public accounts will be laid before you at the earliest possible time and also supplementary elements for the current fiscal year and estimats for the ensuing year.

"In conclusion, I desire to commend to your earnest consideration the measures that will come before you and to express the hope that under the blessing and guidance of Providence, your deliberations will promote the welfare of all sections and classes in this province."

POOR FUN FOR JOHNNIE.

JOLIET, Ill., March 9.—Upon examining a child Miss Hattie Hurst, public school nurse, discovered the little girl's tonsils should be removed, and, accordingly sent a note home, exhorting Mary's mother to have the offending organs taken out. The child returned this morning with the information:

"Please, Miss Hurst, mamma said she would pull my tonsils after school tonight, like she did Johnnie's a week ago, when you told her, with a button hook."

A medical guard was dispatched to safeguard the girl against any informal operations.

HE DESERVED IT.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 9. — The father of thirty-nine children today appeared at the court house.

Jesse Philips, colored, age eighty-seven years went to the office of Lee K. Fesler, county auditor, seeking a soldier's license to peddle. He is a veteran of the civil war.

"Any family?" he replied. Then he told of having been married three times.

"Thirty-nine children is all I have," he said.

He did not say how the thirty-nine were divided among the trio of wives. He got the peddler's license.

Mr. Joseph Vineberg will sail for England on the Empress of France March 13, and intends to remain there about two months.

Saves Fuel and Food

The continued high cost of foodstuffs and household supplies require the strictest economy.

The most expensive foodstuffs are used in baking, so always be careful to use the right kind of Baking Powder, otherwise great waste may result.

Many thousands of people recommend

EGG-O Baking Powder

because it effects the greatest economy.

Its double action absolutely assures perfect baking at all times.

Egg-O also helps save fuel because it does not require so hot an oven as is required by other powders.

Always follow the directions—one level teaspoonful to one level cup of well sifted flour. You use from a quarter to a half less powder when you use Egg-O.

When buying Egg-O the larger tins are the most economical size for family use.

GOVT. TO PAY 50 P.C. ST. ANNE BRIDGE

Ile Perrot Commission Get Federal Govt. to Pay Remainder

PREMIER'S DECISION

Western Connection With Island of Montreal is Essential

The construction of the two bridges between Ste. Anne de Bellevue and Ile Perrot, and between Vaudreuil and Ile Perrot, will, it is hoped, soon be an accomplished fact, for Sir Lomer Gouin told a representative delegation that waited on him at the Government offices this morning that if the Federal Government would contribute 50 per cent of the cost, the Provincial Government would contribute the remaining 50 per cent, and would undertake the construction of the bridge. The cost of the bridge is estimated to be about $400,000, and it was stated that the municipalities of the district served by the bridges would be prepared to guarantee $100,000 bonds for the bridge, to be repaid by a toll system; after which the bridge would be a free bridge. This would be adopting the same system as that approved by the Provincial Government for the construction of the Batiscan bridge.

The delegation was composed of most of the members of the Ile Perrot Bridges Commission, headed by T. B. Macaulay, the president. There were also present Brig.-Gen. A. E. Labelle and Henry Miles, M.L.A., vice-presidents; Dr. Gustave Boyer, M.P., secretary; Lieut.-Col. F. S. Mackay, mayor of Dorion; George Sumner, president of the Montreal Board of Trade; Eugene Tarte, Montreal; Mayor Adrien Rouleau, of Cotsau Landing; Mayor G. Daoust, St. Anne de Bellevue; Mayor Jos. Wilson, Hudson; R. Ouimet, St. Polycarpe; J. Duchastel de Montrouge, vice-president of the Canadian Good Roads Association, Outremont; Dr. Conroy, M.L.A., St. Anne, Montreal; C. E. Gault, M.L.A., St. George, Montreal; A. Farand, M.L.A., Soulanges; H. Pilon, M.L.A., Vaudreuil; W. Reed, L'Assomption; A. Laurendeau, M.L.A., Maisonneuve, J. H. Bedard, M.L.A., Hochelaga; Ald. Ell. Dr. Lalonde.

The speakers were introduced by Dr. Boyer, who afterwards summerized their requests and emphasized the importance of the building of the bridges, with the aid of Federal and Provincial Government aid.

REASONS FOR THE BRIDGES.

Mr. Macaulay said that some people did not realise how dependent Montreal was on bridges. They had bridges on the north, south and east, but none on the west, and the two ferries that connected the island with the mainland were so operated that they were the equivalent of putting Vaudreuil and other parts of the province on that side of the river the equivalent of twenty or twenty-five miles further away from Montreal, this being the time taken for an automobile to go that distance, or for a person to cross on the two ferries either side of Ile Perrot.

Sir Lomer Gouin, who was accompanied by the Hon. A. Galipeault, Minister of Public Works, said that they were all agreed on the necessity of the bridge and its importance, but what proposition did the commission have to make.

Mr. Macaulay said that the bridge would be interprovincial and the Federal Government was, it was understood, prepared to contribute towards the cost. But they did not want to fall between two stools with each Government waiting to see what the other was prepared to do and wanted if possible a definite promise from the Provincial Government as to what they would do.

Dr. Boyer said that two years ago the Federal Government were ready to pay fifty per cent of the cost of the bridge.

Gen. Labelle and Henry Miles emphasized that they would like to go to Ottawa with something of a definite character. The bridge would cost between $500,000 and $400,000, and if the two governments could not contribute it all, the municipalities were prepared to contribute.

G. Sumner, of the Board of Trade, C. E. Gault, M.L.A., and Lawrence A. Wilson also spoke of the importance of a bridge from a provincial and federal point of view.

SIR LOMER'S REPLY.

Sir Lomer Gouin in reply said there was no doubt of the importance of the bridges from a provincial and a Federal point of view, and while he had not consulted his colleagues of the Cabinet he could assure the commission that if they got from Ottawa 50 per cent of the cost, the Provincial Government would undertake to find the balance and ensure the construction of the two bridges, and they would find a system by toll gates of recouping the contributions made by municipalities to the project. "Get a definite answer from Ottawa and I am sure the Hon. Mr. Galipeault will go and place the first stone of your bridges very soon," concluded Sir Lomer.

BIG DECREASE IN INFLUENZA CASES

Very few new cases of influenza are reported today by the local Board of Health, the most notable decrease being in the number of deaths. Dr. Boucher, director of public health, stated today that if the proper precautions are taken by the people the epidemic should very soon subside. The epidemic in 1918 lasted for two months and taking these figures as a basis for the length of time epidemics generally rage, the present outbreak should be over by the middle of March.

Up to noon today five new cases of influenza were reported, the deaths being two from influenza, one from pneumonia and one from broncho-pneumonia.

DEATH OF F. C. REYNOLDS.

Francis C. Reynolds, of 168 Harvard avenue, Notre Dame de Grace, passed away yesterday afternoon at his home at the age of 62 years, after a week's illness with pneumonia. The late Mr. Reynolds was born in Bristol, England, but came to New York in 1880 as manager of the firm of Harland & Son, varnish and paint manufacturer. In 1906 he came to Montreal as manager of firm of Wilkinson, Heywood & Clarke, varnish and paint manufacturers, on McGill street. He later went into business for himself here as manufacturers' agent.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Miss Phyllis and Mrs. Horton Lytle, of Montreal; one sister, Mrs. Hannan, of London, Eng., and one brother, Percy Reynolds, of Upper Mount Clair, N.J.

FIVE YEARS PENITENTIARY.

Five years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Judge Leet in chambers on Max Stern, a young boy who pleaded guilty to gross indecency yesterday afternoon. The charge against Stern was laid by J. U. Barss, the superintendent of the Boys' Farm at Shawbridge.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN GETS BACK HIS GOLD

Muggley Now Wanted in Victoria, B.C., on Theft Charge

Chief of Detectives Regan, of Minneapolis, Minn., arrived in Montreal this morning accompanied by one of his officers and a representative of the firm of J. B. Hudson, jewelers of the same city, to take back H. E. Muggley, wanted on a charge of securing by false pretences jewelry valued at $5,400. The jewelry alleged to have been obtained has all been recovered by the local detectives and identified by the representative of the Minneapolis business firm, as being the goods secured by Muggley.

A complaint was received the day before yesterday by Chief of Detectives Lepage from Chief of Police Parker of Victoria, B.C., stating that Muggley was wanted in that city on a charge of obtaining $4,000 worth of jewelry from a firm of B.C. jewellers under similar circumstances as he did in Minneapolis. It is understood on good authority that the goods alleged to have been secured at Victoria have been recovered by the Montreal Detective Department and will be sent to the owners in Victoria.

Muggley appeared before Judge Choquet, extradition commissioner today being remanded until late this afternoon.

EMPLOYES' BENEFIT SEC'Y ARRESTED

Charged with Defrauding Tramways' Society of $20,000 of Funds

Zotique Albert Thibaudeau, accountant of the Montreal Tramways Company Employes' Mutual Benefit Association, has been arrested on a charge of defrauding his society of about $20,000. According to the charge Thibaudeau took the money between September, 1914, and the beginning of the present year, when investigations into the financial status of the association were made.

He appeared late yesterday afternoon before Judge Cusson, and was liberated temporarily on bail of $5,000. The preliminary trial was fixed for March 16. The complaint was taken out by Amable Caron, assistant secretary of the association.

NO 16-STOREY HOTEL TO BE PERMITTED

The Administrative Commission have passed a formal resolution that they do not think it is in the interests of the City of Montreal to change the present building by-law limiting buildings to ten storeys in height.

This resolution therefore puts an end for the present to the project of the syndicate that was seeking to acquire the block of property bounded by Windsor, St. Catherine and Mansfield streets and Dominion square for the purpose of erecting a sixteen-storey hotel there, subject to their getting an exception made to the present building by-law.

MORE EXPENSES OF AQUEDUCT STRIKE

Still more expenses connected with the aqueduct strike have come before the Administrative Commission, the latest being a total of $7,269.84 voted at the last meeting of the board. Of this sum $3,857.19 goes to the Montreal Public Service Corporation for water supplied; $3,857.10 to R. T. Smith and Co., general contractors; $62.20 to A. A. Giddings and Co., and $12.85 to the Bell Telephone Co. The Commission also voted $436.47 to the City of Lacirne for water supplied to Ville St. Pierre during the strike.

BURGLARS STOLE DOPE AND MONEY

The drug store of Doctor Leduc, 127 Prince Arthur street, was entered by burglars last night, entrance being gained by breaking in the rear door. Money amounting to $115 was taken from the cash register, and also a quantity of "dope," which appeared to be the chief quest of the thieves. No arrests in connection with the burglary have been made yet, but the matter is in the hands of the detective department.

DOINGS AROUND McGILL

McGill and Ottawa College to Debate Tomorrow Evening

The last inter-collegiate function of the season takes place tomorrow evening in the McGill Union when Ottawa College debates with McGill on the subject of freedom of speech. The judges will be the Rev. Dr. Duncan, Judge Leet and Robert Neilson. Dean Moyse will be in the chair. McGill will be represented in the debate by Messrs. Biggar and Abbot of First Year Law.

It is expected that McGill will send delegates to the Y.M.C.A. summer conference to be held this year at Coburg, Ontario, from May 21 to 28.

The annual business meeting of the Y.M.C.A. will be held on Thursday evening in Strathcona Hall.

A general meeting of the Philosophical Society will be held on Thursday evening in Strathcona Hall. A paper on "Einstein's Gravitational Theory" will be given by R. J. Clarke.

Elections for the offices of president of the McGill Union and president of the Athletic Association will take place on Thursday at the Union.

The "King Cook Celebration" of the Faculty of Medicine will be held on March 20 and promises this year to be of unsual magnificence. Having already been crowned king of all regions known to man, the kingdom chosen for King Cook for the present celebration has not yet been divulged, but it is understood that it is one hitherto unknown to the average human. The ceremony dates from 1852.

TEACHERS FORM NEW ORGANIZATION

The Westmount Teachers' Association came into being yesterday afternoon when both men and women instructors in the Public and High Schools united in an organization which is intended to further the intellectual as well as the material status of the profession. The following officers were elected for the coming years:—President, R. E. Howe; vice-presidents, Miss Agnes S. James and Howard Honey; corresponding secretary, H. McLean; recording secretary, A. J. Veysey; treasurer, J. McNaughton; executive, J. Anderson, Miss Zella Honey, Miss M. Tompkins, Miss W. Crossley and Miss Isabel McLeod.

The Westmount Board of School Commissioners met last night to consider the salary question. As there was so much business on hand that had to be completed a decision on this subject was put off until next Monday night.

THE SITE OF THE NEW COURT HOUSE ANNEX

The block bounded by Notre Dame, St. Vincent, St. Therese and St. Gabriel streets, has just been purchased by the Government through Ernest Pitt and Co.

GOT BLANK PAPER IN RETURN FOR CHEQUE

Doctor and Druggist Pounce on Man and Call Him Forger

While G. A. Lapointe, druggist of Rachel street, near St. Denis street, was arranging wares in his store yesterday afternoon, his telephone rang and a pleasant voice informed the druggist that he was "Dr. Desrochers" and that he was sending a boy across to get a cheque cashed—could Mr. Lapointe accommodate him?

Dr. R. A. Desrochers, as it happens, is an old client of the druggists, and Mr. Lapointe had no hesitation in agreeing to cash the cheque—"a bagatelle of $19," said the voice over the 'phone.

Shortly afterwards the druggist saw a small boy, accompanied by a man, approaching the drug store, and to Mr. Lapointe's surprise the man whispered to the lad, and walked to the corner, evidently to watch the proceedings.

The druggist, now thoroughly suspicious, took the cheque handed him by the boy, but returned an envelope with blank pieces of paper instead of bills. As soon as the boy had left, the druggist telephoned to Dr. Desrochers, who lives at 817 St. Denis street, and was told that no such cheque had been sent over. The doctor hurried over and, accompanied by the druggist, they caught the boy and the man just as they were opening the envelope at the next corner.

This morning the man, who gave his name as Charles E. Lajoie, appeared before Judge Leet in the arraignment court, and pleaded not guilty to forgery and attempting to obtain money by false pretences.

He was allowed bail at $100, and will appear on Friday for preliminary trial.

SNOW CAUSE OF THE SOFT COAL SHORTAGE

Trains Held Back by Weather and Large Buildings Cold

The snow storms which have been tying up the country during the past few weeks have had a noticeable effect upon the supply of soft coal available. Talking over the situation with several prominent coal dealers this morning, the Star was informed that the railways are in a measure responsible for the scarcity of soft coal.

Owing to the heavy going more soft coal has been needed for running purposes, and the companies have taken the coal straight from the mines. Under ordinary weather conditions, however, even the extra supply needed by the railways would not have created a scarcity. But all over the country heavy coal trains have been tied up for days by the unprecedented fall of snow. This accounts for much of the pinch that manufacturers are feeling.

It was stated, however, that the scarcity is really an artificial situation created by abnormal outside conditions, and that as soon as the transportation facilities have been restored the matter will right itself.

A number of buildings have been affected and in one school the pupils have been several times dismissed as the school was too cold.

ATTEMPTED MURDER CASE UNFINISHED

In the King's Bench Court this morning before Mr. Justice Dery, the hearing of the charge against Giuseppe Gallo, Vincenza Bertucci and Josef Mafiano of attempted murder of a compatriot, Filippo Cellini was continued. J. C. Walsh, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, conducted the prosecution, Dan McAvoy, K.C., appearing for the defence. The hearing was unfinished at the noon adjornment.

It was alleged that on November 22nd, 1919, the three accused had visited Cellina at his house on St. Felix street and demanded money. When this was refused them they stabbed the victim and left him in a dying condition.

Hubby's Appeal Fails With Wife, S.A. Lassie Wins

"Let me get out Maudie, please, I will go to work," was the plea of Patrick Henry from the prisoner's box in the Recorder's Court today. Maudie remained obdurate and evidently did not think it advisable that Patrick should be out of the clutches of the law.

The charge against Patrick was that he failed to provide for his wife. When he first appeared in the dock he stated that he would like to have bail in order that he could go to his work. Recorder Geoffrion then asked Maudie if she was willing that Patrick should be released. With a slight stamp of her foot, she gave a very emphatic "no." Patrick's face dropped, and with his eyes filling with tears, made unavailing appeal.

After the court proceedings had been concluded, however, the Salvation Army lassie, who attends the Recorder's Court also appealed on behalf of Patrick, and persuaded Maudie to consent that he be allowed out on bail. Bail was set at $500 personal bond.

TENANTS SCRAP OVER DELEGATE

Two Organizations at Daggers Drawn—League Wins Out

The question of who shall represent the tenants of Montreal on the Charter Commission came before the Administrative Commission this morning when John McNaughton, president of the Tenants Protective Association, and Antoine Kelly, president of the Tenants' League, waited on Mr. Decary to ask him to decide which organization had the right to representation on the commission. Both bodies have elected delegates, Messrs. McNaughton and Burns being chosen by the Tenants' Protective Association and Messrs. Antoine Kelly and J. R. L. Ayotte as delegates of the Tenants League. Mr. Decary informed them that he had followed the wording of the Act and sent the invitation to the Tenants' League to chose representatives, this being the body apparently recognised by Quebec. He could not do anything but accept the delegates chosen by the body named, although he suggested it was open to the two bodies to get together and choose one from each if they so desired. As, however, there was seemingly no disposition on the part of the two presidents to agree to this course, the matter was left. Messrs. Kelly and Ayotte being the chosen representatives on the charter commission.

BROKE SPEED LIMIT AFTER ALLEGED DIP

Detective Savard Landed His Man and Took Him to Court

Detective Isaie Savard was warmly congratulated this morning by his superiors for the arrest of James Burden, alleged pickpocket, last night, when the officer chased Burden from the corner of Ontario and Bleury streets to Mance and Sherbrooke streets, and caught him although Burden had a start of a block on the detective.

Besides Burden, Detectives Gorman and O'Donnell arrested Harry Morris and Arthur Ringer, whom they had been watching boarding street cars during the rush hours and acting suspiciously between Ontario and St. Catherine streets on Bleury.

The trio came before Judge Leet this morning and pleaded not guilty to charges of vagrancy. Burden was charged with picking the pockets of James Skelley and to have relieved Mr. Skelley of $142 in a St. Catherine street car. Burden was identified at detective headquarters this morning as the man who had jostled him in the car and whom he had attempted to chase.

Morris and Ringer were allowed bail at $50 apiece, while Burden was granted bail at $250. The preliminary trial was fixed for next Friday.

The Trains are Still Hours' Late Owing to the Snowstorm

Long distance trains are still reaching the city hours behind schedule in some cases as a result of the recent storm. The Grand Trunk train from Portland, due at 7:25 a.m., and the Central Vermont express from Boston, due at 8:05 a.m. were both five hours late. The Canadian Government express from Halifax reached the city two hours behind schedule, as did the Chicago train on the Grand Trunk. The Rutland express from New York was three hours late.

At the Windsor Station the Boston train, due at 8:20, did not arrive until 1:20 p.m. The New York Central express and the Toronto train were both an hour late, but other trains were running pretty well on schedule.

DEATH OF MRS. MIDDLETON.

At Morin Heights, Que., the death has just occurred of Mrs. John Middleton, of Point Fortune, Que. The late Mrs Middleton who was spending the winter with her son, J. P. Middleton, managing director of the Argenteuil Lumber Company, of Morin Heights, died suddenly of heart failure. She would have entered upon her 80th year at the end of the present month. The funeral took place at Point Fortune where she had spent practically all her life since coming from her birthplace in Perthshire, Scotland as a young girl with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pitcairn. She married John Middleton, a building contractor, who predeceased her in 1910. She is survived by two daughters, Miss Mary Middleton at home and Mrs. G. Spratt, of Domrensy, Sask.; two sons, J. P. Middleton, of Morin Heights; J. A. Middleton of Lachute and 8 grand children.

HONEYMOON IN "TEC'S CHARGE.

Detective Sozio, of the Manitoba Provincial Police arrived in Montreal today, having in charge Edmond Dumont, arrested at Three Rivers, and wanted in Winnipeg in connection with a charge of forging a check for $350. Dumont got married a week ago, and it is alleged in order to take a proper wedding trip, forged the check which has led to his being taken back to Winnipeg to face the charge of forgery.

SECOND FUR AUCTION PLANNED FOR JUNE, OUTLOOK SO BRIGHT

Five Million Dollars' Worth of Furs Now on Consignment at the Lagauchetiere St. Warehouse for the First Fur Auction for 100 Years in Canada

Canadian furs, rich, glossy pelts of Canadian fur bearing animals are pouring into the warehouse of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Corporation, in thousands upon thousands.

The big building on Lagauchetiere street is a storehouse of treasures. Bales rivalling in value those of Arabian Nights fame, are being opened daily, and daily more insurance is being taken out by the corporation to protect the immensely valuable contents of the warehouse. For there are close on $5,000,000 worth of furs, raw and dressed, in the big building. Every form of fire protection, the most modern and efficient methods of burglary protection, and an elaborate system of watchmen form a triple barricade for the defence of the great fur catch.

So optimistic are the promoters of the success of the auction that they are already preparing for the second great sale, to be held probably in the latter part of June, when they expect that another $5,000,000 worth of furs will be offered to the buyers of both continents.

There are over 400,000 muskrat skins stacked up on the second and third floors of the warehouse. At New York a few weeks ago good rats were bringing $4.00 a skin in their undressed state, so muskrats alone will bring an appreciable part of the $5,000,000. There are 15,000 rich brown Canadian beaver skins, and there are 20,000 mink pelts, the fur that was at one time considered peculiarly Canadian, but which will be eagerly bought up by American buyers, for New York's Dame Fashion demands mink for the apparel of the four hundred.

FOXES FROM P. E. I.

From Prince Edward Island has come a remarkable quota of fox skins. Other parts of Canada and the United States have also contributed foxes, with the result that there are some 10,000 of these pelts in the warehouse at present. Though the greater number of them are the less expensive red fox, cross fox, Australian fox, etc., there are yet some very beautiful silver and black skins.

Specially noticeable are two silver fox pelts which measure 55 and 56 inches respectively from the tip of the nose to the tip of the plume, and in quality surpass anything hitherto produced in foxes in Canada. They are product of a P.E.I. ranch, and the litter from which they were selected was bred from a Prince Edward Island female with a male from a ranch in western Canada. A number of Californian fox skins show that American trappers and breeders are recognising the probable success of the Montreal fur sales. There are some 40,000 American opossum skins also in the collection.

SKUNK IS VERY PROMINENT.

Martens number 3,000; there are 15,000 otter; 10,000 Persian lamb, 40,000 raccoons, 40,000 skunk, and 60,000 squirrels.

Skunk, when dressed and dyed, is known to the fur trade as Alaska sable. The weasel, which appears under the name of ermine after the skin has been dressed, is there in abundance, there being about 50,000 of the tiny white pelts.

Moleskins, a European product, and coming chiefly from Scotland, have been submitted in large lots by American and Canadian fur houses, and number about 150,000.

Captain Bernier's thirty musk-ox skins, great shaggy affairs of enormous size, have not yet found a place in the sample room and lie heaped together not far from the Buffalo skins that Maxwell Graham brought from Buffalo Park at Wainwright. The fine buffalo heads, also brought by Mr. Graham, are still unsorted, but through the bars may be seen the big powerful heads that are expected to bring somewhere round $1,000 each.

OVERSEAS MAIL

A full mail (letters, papers, parcels) closes today at 5 p.m., to be despatched from Halifax by the Royal George on Thursday.

Another full mail closes at the Central Post Office at 9 a.m., on Friday to connect with the Empress of France, sailing from St. John, N.B., on Saturday.

Incoming mails include 2,000 bags by the Pretorian, which is not yet reported, and 871 bags by the Minnedosa, due at St. John tomorrow.

The mail from the Empress of France (1,747 bags) reached the city today.

ON LOCOMOTIVE VALVES.

F. Williams, mechanical designer, Canadian National Railways, Moncton, N.B., will deliver a paper on "A few General Observations on Locomotive Valve Motions" at the regular monthly meeting of the Canadian Railway Club at The Windsor Hotel tonight.

Evolution of Silverware

From time immemorial the possession of vessels and dishes of Silver has always been looked upon as establishing for their owner a certain status.

As far back as Biblical history takes us do we find among the belongings of great personages a universal regard for "pots and vessels" of silver.

The creations of today—some of the later Birks pieces, for instance—are just as much a type of the present day and generation as the old masterpieces of bygone days.

All the artistry has been preserved to which is added a greater utility—Birks Silver is useful and beautiful and in this respect present-day designs rise superior to the productions of our ancestors.

THE DAY IN PARLIAMENT

UNION OF LIBERAL AND CONSERVATIVE MODERATES URGED

Sir Thomas White Declares National Party of Moderates Would Sweep Country — Bi-Party System Only Safe One, He Tells Commons

PRESS GALLERY, HOUSE OF COMMONS, OTTAWA, March 9—(Star Special)—Sir Thomas White returned to active political life yesterday afternoon, in a speech which has set the corridors of Parliament busy with gossip.

Sir Thomas has been noticeably absent from the House so far this session. The finance policy of the Goverment had bulked largely in the debate on the Address. Sir Henry Drayton was the person constitutionally responsible for an answer; but a speech from Sir Thomas was in the logic of the situation. The speech came yesterday and it was brim full of vigor. In short, it was the most definite utterance which has come from the Government benches at this session.

Sir Thomas did not leave the House in any doubt as to what he thought. He came out clearly on several outstanding issues.

He declared himself firmly wedded to the National Policy, which he described as not a fixed set of duties, but a living principle to be adapted to the condition of the time.

He made a strong pronouncement against extremists in politics.

He asserted that Government by groups would bring chaos into the affairs of Canada.

He affirmed that his guiding principle in war finance had been to maintain confidence and stability in the country.

He defended his policy of borrowing in New York, and he defended also his policy of issuing non-taxable war loans in Canada.

He declared, amid cheers, his belief that if Sir Robert Borden would form a National Liberal-Conservative party, composed of the Conservatives and of Liberals who joined him in 1917, and who agreed with him on national and fiscal issues, he would sweep the country.

He closed by adjuring the Union Government, in military phraseology, to "carry on."

DECLARES BORDEN WOULD SWEEP COUNTRY WITH NATIONAL LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVE PARTY

Sir Thomas White, after some introductory references, came to the heart of his subject, the need at this critical time in the history of Canada for the maintainance of "continuing responsibility on the part of the two great parties." In part, he said:

"The result of a series of a coalition Governments brought about by a group system of representation in this House, would bring about chaos in the administration of the country's affairs. That is the reason why, at the last election, as I have pointed out, the Prime Minister's manifesto was not only for the war. If any one will take the trouble to read it he will see that it was also for the period necessary to deal with the problems arising out of the war. The mandate that the Government has today from the people, rather than being exhausted, is unlimited.

"Speaking of the reaction that has taken place, the member for Redberer, (Michael Clarke), said the other day that what Canada needed was a national progressive party. Well, Mr. Speaker, we have had two historic parties in this country and I have never found that third parties were long lived. I say this to the Government and to members on this side of the House, that if Sir Robert Borden will form a National Liberal-Conservative party, consisting of the old Conservative party and the members of the Liberal party who joined him in the great issue which was before us in 1917, and who thinks alike on national, including fiscal questions, he will sweep the country. (Unionist cheers)

SAYS THIRD PARTY CANNOT LIVE.

"How long have third parties existed, in Canada, the United States, or any other country? They are creatures only of the moment, they are bound to coalesce in time with one or other of the parties. You cannot work out the British constitution unless you have a bi-party system in which there is continuing responsibility on the part of two great parties. You may have three parties for a time, but you cannot have them permanently. There is this difference between a system of Government under two great parties, and a system in which there is a third party—and this has been the case in Canada—that the two great parties have considered always the national interest as opposed to class or group interest.

"Now, I desire to say a word or two with regard to a movement which has attracted a great deal of attention in this country which is very widespread and very important—the farmers' movement, so called. I desire to refer to it only to the extent of considering a complaint; and it is a complaint which might be put forward just as well by the hon. gentlemen opposite, as by the hon. gentlemen on this side. That complaint is that there has been a mis-representation of the farming population of Canada as to the attitude of the two historic parties in this country towards the farmers.

FARMERS NEVER BETRAYED.

"I have read literature and I have heard speeches, in which it was affirmed that both political parties had betrayed the farmers of Canada. I say that is not true. It is not true of the Liberals; it is not true of the Conservatives. Why should it be true? Putting it on the narrowest possible ground, that of political expediency, why should either Liberals or Conservatives betray the farmers, who comprise over fifty per cent. of the population of Canada. On the contrary, no interest has been held in higher regard and importance by both political parties than the interests of the farmers of Canada. The other side of the case has never been put before the farmers, we have all been too busy during the war. But I would hope that in any political discussions which take place throughout the country, that point would be cleared up and the farmers told the other side of the case. While I say the Liberals did not betray the farmers I say also—and so far as this Government is concerned I speak with some knowledge, having been a member of it for eight years—that no Government since Confederation has done so much, for the farming community as the Government which has been in power since 1911.

GOV'T'S UNPRECEDENTED AID TO FARMERS.

"I say that the figures show that since 1911, including the period of war and not taking into account agricultural credits, more money has been spent for the purpose of promoting and aiding agriculture than was spent by all the Governments' from the period of Confederation down to 1911. Have we neglected the farmers? Why should we? Theirs is the basic industry as has always been recognized on both sides of this House, and parties have actually vied with each other in measures taken to promote and encourage agriculture in this country.

"Let us consider the question of wheat during the war. How much do you think, sir, we raised and were able to raise, for the purpose of finding the money with which Great Britain and the Allies could buy the farm products of Canada? $300,000,000 was raised for the purpose of enabling them to buy our cheese, wheat, agricultural products of all kinds.

HANDS FOR NATIONAL POLICY.

"I have said in this House many times that I stand for the National Policy. As Minister of Finance, subscribing to the National Policy which was adopted in its principles by the Liberal party when they came into power in 1896, I was able to make these reductions in the tariff, because the National Policy is not a matter of fixed tariff schedules; it is a vital principle adapting itself to the necessities of the nation from time to time and capable of such modifications as is necessary or desirable in the national interest.

SURPRISED AT CRERAR'S TARIFF VIEWS.

"I was sorry when honorable member for Marquette (Mr. Crerar), left the Government—he was such a good fellow. I was sorry to see him, like a bull moose, as it were, taking to the timber, and I could not help thinking at the time, with a pang almost of sorrow, that the life of a bull moose in a state of nature or in the realm of politics, is almost sure to end in tragedy. I mean, of course, political tragedy, in the case of the honorable member. But I was sorry to see him go, because I liked all the members of the Union Government. I never worked with any set of men with greater satisfaction in my life, and I certainly did not like to see any of them, so to speak, get away. I do not, as I have said, purpose discussing the tariff at this time, but honorable member for Marquette has touched upon it and I was somewhat surprised to find that his position has apparently been considerably modified since he took that political tour through Canada. I read some of his speeches, and as I understood him, the tariff was the most iniquitous thing in the world, and he purposed abolishing it root and branch. His policy was thorough. Why, I have read economics and Adam Smith or John Stuart Mill or Cobden were mild in their statements, compared with those I read in the press, as being from the member for Marquette.

CRERAR'S INCONSISTENCY.

"He is going to prolong the agony. He did not say that he believed in any gradual decrease in the tariff, but he said that he did not purpose abolishing it all at once. I am sure the House and the country will be thankful for small mercies, and if my honorable friend becomes Prime Minister of this country, I hope he will not, as he says, abolish the tariff all at one fell stroke. I am glad, however, that he has somewhat modified his views, although I should like to know which set of views he really holds, because there does appear to me to be something inconsistent between holding one set of views when speaking to the public of Canada, and another set of views when speaking to the members of this House.

"Let me say this to my honorable friend, the people of this country will not tolerate any Government with a fiscal policy that regards the tariff only as a means of raising revenue, and disregards the tariff as an instrument, as it has been and will continue to be for the development of resources of this country, and the maintenance and stability of our industries in Canada.

"Let the matter be debated, as I hope it will be debated, before the farmers of this country. I know the farmers of my own province and of my own constituency at all events, and I say, the farmers will be the first to subscribe to the doctrine I have enunciated. Why, Mr. Speaker, it was for the farmer—and I remember it distinctly, although I was a boy at the time—it was for the farmer as well as for the manufacturer that the National Policy of Canada was established, and the principle was recognized and acted upon by the Liberals when they came into power in 1896. I know it, because I supported the Liberals at that time. Let me ask my honorable friend from Marquette this question: Does he think that the workmen of this country by their votes are going to deprive themselves of employment and expatriate themselves and their families. Well, if we come to any such conclusion as that, I think we are putting a low estimate upon the intelligence of the industrial classes of this country. There may be a few exceptions, but I see no reason why the principle I have mentioned cannot be maintained in our tariff and tariff made acceptable to almost all the gentlemen on this side of the House."

REVIEWS WAR'S FISCAL POLICY.

Sir Thomas then passed to discuss his fiscal policy during the war. He said:

"The policy which I endeavored to follow for the war was to maintain confidence. Were there any panics in Canada during the war? As a result of the action which we took from the first day of war there was supreme confidence as to our financial institutions, and as the war went on and our business increased and prosperity came to the people. The results of our war finance were apparent, and there never was a time during the entire war when there was the slightest sign of lack of confidence in this country, financially speaking.

"We appealed to the people, to the farmers, to produce all they could. We appealed to manufacturers to produce all they could, and we appealed to those who made munitions to produce all they could. It was all for the purpose of the war. But some one says to me: 'Why did you not take away all the money that the farmers made, all the money that the manufacturers made, and all the money that the munition manufacturers made?' We had a voluntary system up to 1917. Supposing we had appealed to the farmers to produce all they could for the armies overseas and the civilian population behind them; supposing we had asked the manufacturers to produce all they could and had asked the munition manufacturers to turn out all the munitions they could, and at the same time we had told them that we were going to take away all the profits? They are a pretty patriotic lot of men. I ask this House—you are all sensible business men—would you have got the same production in the country and in the factory that you did get? You would not.

PROVIDED FARMERS FOR FUTURE DEPRESSION.

"Does anybody mean to tell me that the soldiers would be any better off, or the industrial population of Canada be any better off, if the employers of labor throughout the country had been stripped of their resources and were obliged to take risks at this time, when men have to take risks in view of the keen competition which must be experienced once the war is at an end? We maintained confidence, and we promoted the prosperity of the country. We desired, as I said in a dozen speeches, to have the business of the agricultural community in such a position that they could meet a period of depression if it should come, and period of depression always comes after a war, not immediately, but a few years after. Would the situation be any better today if the farmers of Canada had not paid off so many mortgages, or if they had all their old mortgages and were putting on more?

REFERS TO NEW YORK LOANS.

"My hon. friend says, 'You made loans in New York.' Of course I made loans in New York. What was the effect of making loans in New York? In the first place, my hon. friend is entirely wrong in his statement—at least in the spirit of his statement—that it increased the industrial activity of the United States, that we had imported in good with what we borrowed there. Practically, that is the case; but all the loans which we made in New York were only a fraction of our imports of necessities from the United States. Where does my hon. friend think the proceeds of the New York loans went, insofar as we are concerned? I will tell him. The proceeds of these New York loans went, among other things, to assist the British Government to buy goods in Canada. If we had not been able to finance in the United States, if we had not had this alternative market until the United States entered the war, we should not have been able to have provided the credits to the extent which we did, for the sale of Canada's produce and manufactured goods."

In concluding, Sir Thomas gave his advice to the Union Government in the soldiers' motto, "Carry On."

PREMIER'S GREAT WAR BURDEN.

"The Prime Minister is ill," he said, "I have been pleased with the remarks of the hon. gentleman opposite with regard to the Prime Minister. There is always a chivalry in this House for men under disability. Nobody knows the extent of the work carried on, and the weight of the responsibility borne by Sir Robert Borden during the war and in the period since the war. Nobody knows the weight carried by the Ministers. The Government is in good hands; at its head is one of the ablest parliamentarians in this House, if not the ablest. Carry on—that is what the people of Canada desire this Government to do—carry on, always dealing with the questions from the standpoint of the national interest as opposed to the sectional interest.

SHORT WORK OF EXTREMISTS.

"The public will make short work at the next election of extremists of all kinds, unless I am much mistaken. We have taken over one of the greatest railway systems in the world, if not the greatest. This Government, the people of Canada will believe, can take over those railways and provide for their operation much more capably than hon. gentlemen opposite who do not believe in nationalization at all. There is no doubt about that. A great deal can be done in developing all our national resources, such as our fuel resources and our power resources, for instance, through the development of our canals. These are great and weighty problems, but not beyond the capabilities of the Government as it exists today. I say to the Government; continue, as I know you have been doing, to look at every question from the national standpoint, rely upon the national interest, and carry on. (Cheers).

OTHER PROTESTS AGAINST APPEAL TO COUNTRY

A. B. Copp, of Westmoreland, declared that the Opposition was in earnest in its demand for an election. If Sir Thomas White thought otherwise, let him take the whip off the Government voters and there would be no absentees on the Opposition side. Sir Thomas had advised the Government to "carry on"; but Sir Thomas himself had been eager to leave the sinking ship and get his feet on solid soil. Mr. Copp urged representation of New Brunswick in the Government and expressed the view that Nova Scotia should have larger representation as well.

R. L. Richardson, of Springfield, Manitoba, protested strongly against the proposal to increase railway rates. The C. P. R., he said, was showing increase net revenues and had a big surplus on hand. As to the Canadian National lines, D. B. Hanna was talking of paying the interest on the national debt if he got certain increases in freight rates; but the freight shippers of the country should not be taxed to pay the interest on the national debt. There was, affirmed Mr. Richardson, no justification for an increase of freight rates on the Canadian National lines. Colossal blunders had been made in the construction of certain sections of the N. T. R. the G. T. P. and the C. N. R.; and these sections should be put into a "public ward system" and not counted in fixing the freight rates.

RICHARDSON OPPOSED TO ELECTION.

Mr. Richardson was opposed to an election at this time, as he believed it would lead to the group system of politics which would be a danger to the country. He stated his belief that Quebec should have greater representation in the cabinet.

C. A. Gauvreau, of Temiscouata, condemned the appointment of Hon. Thomas Chapais to the Senate, on the ground that he was already a member of the Legislative Council of Quebec.

Capt. R. J. Manion, of Fort William, said that his constituents did not desire an election at the present time. He thought, however, that the election should not be indefinitely postponed, but that consideration should be given to the state of opinion in the country. On the tariff question, he stood between the free trade extremists of the west and the protectionists of the east; he favored a moderate and scientific tariff. He favored high duties on luxuries and as low a tariff as possible on the necessaries of life.

W. D. Cowan, of Regina, paid a tribute to Judge Robson, late of the Board of Commerce, as a "thoroughly honest man, though he was a Liberal when appointed." He declared the Government should study his letter of resignation and remedy the defects which had been pointed out. The Board had done good work, said Mr. Cowan, and either the Board itself or a similar institution should be maintained.

Speeches were also delivered by Pius Michaud, Peter McGibbon and James McIsaac.

One reason why a man whose children are all girls shouldn't worry is because a son-in-law is not only as good as a son, but another man has to pay for his roadster.

LOOKING ON AT OTTAWA

SIR THOS. WHITE DECLARES FAITH IN UNION PLAN

Ex-Finance Minister Makes Striking Analysis of Political Situation

THIRD PARTY FUTILE

Bids Present Government to Carry Out Its Mandate

OTTAWA, March 9. (Star Special)—Emerging from the shades of a semi and self-imposed obscurity, Sir Thomas White crossed the Rubicon in the Commons yesterday afternoon, moved to a bench where he could get the ear of the Chamber, and delivered a speech, long, exhaustive, in many respects notable. It was an analytical examination of the political situation, a definite panacea for its ills, a call "back to the lines" of partyism, a technical treatise of the obstruslties of exchange, and, generally, a defence of his financial administration—all rolled into one, and baked to the king's taste.

It lacked none of the White style, to which in recent years we have become accustomed. It was a quiet yet effective reading of the riot act to one and all, delivered in the absolute, unqualified, diplomatic manner of the distinguished author, without any pussyfooting, without "evasion, equivocation or mental reservation." At the uninviting present, Sir Thomas grasps not: if at all, he would reach out for the greater promise and hope of the brilliant future. He suggests a platform with strength and virility and punch in it, and he bids all who look for something of the kind to come aboard and be seated.

FUTILITY OF NEW PARTY.

Perhaps most significant was the declaration of his view on the future of partyism. He believes in the bi-party system, has no use for any third party, says history has shown their utter futility. Not making light of the agrarian movement, he seems to regard it only as the by-product of the war, as one of those psychological phenomenas which abound in times of great stress and develop grasping and combative and otherwise peculiar instincts.

He sees in the farmers' policy just one thing, one sole objective—class predominance, class government, class legislation. The need of the country, the compelling call of the hour, is for stability—stability in industry, stability in the fiscal fabric which is its vital foundation, the great dynamic of its industrial energy.

BID GOVERNMENT TO CARRY ON.

The party of the present, he says, is all right for the time being; he bids it sail ahead till the end of its voyage, but in permanency he suggests no perpetuation, in name at least, of unionism. Rather, he calls for a national Liberal-Conservative party, pure and undiluted, led by Sir Robert Borden, and composed of "the old Conservative party and of the Liberals who think like him on fiscal and other questions." With such, he says, Sir Robert Borden would sweep the country. In other words, Sir Thomas hails the old party, the old policy, the old dispensation.

It was a long and evidently prepared speech, like the deliverance of some prophet with a message. While some on the ministerial side — the most of them, in fact—seemed pleased, even overjoyed, and indicated it in thunderous applause, others, for some obscure reason, seemed enveloped in a certain gloom. As often pointed out, the Unionist party, one in the war, is as yet not exactly one in conception of the treatment of the problem of peace and in fitting to the present and future, the identical fiscal formula of the historic past.

HOSTILE TO THIRD PARTY.

The speech covered a wide and expansive area. There were felicitations for MacKenzie King, but doubts as to his meaning business in the election talk, then a painting of the lily of the Union Government, its works, its policies, its supreme accomplishments—the greatest since Confederation. The analysis of the third party was unsparingly hostile, and the denunciation of groups very effective. The reason why there should not be an election now, with all the disturbance and chaos it would produce at the time, and the strong likelihood of conflicting factions thereafter, was impressive and convincing.

DEFENDS WAR FINANCING.

To the defence of his financial administration considerable attention was devoted. There was no false modesty about it. The former minister held it to be wise and prudent—no trouble in financing our part in the great conflict, no panics, national prosperity, national confidence. Fiscally, he says there is only one thing to do—stay by a policy that, not only contemplates revenue, but affords a fostering stimulus to industrial endeavor. Will the western farmers go on the rampage?—let them. At least, in the yeomanry of his native Ontario, he has reliance that is implied and unwavering. His last word to the Government was to carry on, fight the good fight, and finish its course.

One listening to the speech was impressed by its obvious sincerity and its outspoken assertion. Sir Thomas is an interesting and authoritative speaker, to whose utterances must attach weight and significance. Conceivably his speech and the fiery cross he raises will not be without its apparently designed influence in determining that fiscal policy which is the pressing concern of the immediate future, and to the evolution of which a party caucus will very shortly apply its best thought and endeavor.

'PEG EDITOR FACES CONTEMPT CHARGE

Failed to Appear to Answer Statements Concerning Strike Trial

WINNIPEG, March 9. (Star Special).—Application was made yesterday afternoon by John Allen, Deputy Attorney General, before a full court of the Kings Bench, for a rule nisi calling Dr. S. J. Johannesson to show cause why he should not be committed to jail for contempt of court.

Charges against Dr. Johannesson, who is editor of an Icelandic paper, and prominent in certain Labor circles, are the result of statements he is alleged to have made in addresses at its Labor church last Sunday and the week previous, concerning the strike trial now in progress.

The court, which consisted of Justice Macdonald, presiding, Justices Prendergast, Curran and Galt, ordered Johannesson to be immediately brought into court and when he could not be found, ordered him to appear yesterday morning to answer the charge.

Allen presented facts through affidavits submitted by constables of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, who reported meetings. Johannesson is alleged to have said: "Truth doth not prevail and is not wanted in our courts. We do not stand a chance. When a witness goes on the stand, he swears to tell truth. Andrews questions him, and he starts to tell the truth. Andrews says, I object, and Judge Metcalfe says, objection sustained."

Referring to the case of John Farnell, who was sentenced recently to nine months in jail after being convicted of seditious utterance, Johannesson is alleged to have said: "Farnell got nine months for trying to give the people their rights." He also is alleged to have said: "What if the Allies had appointed Von Hindenburg to report on who started the war, would it have been fair? Andrews is Hindenburg in this case."

He also was reported as saying, "These men are being persecuted, not prosecuted," that "Mayor Gray and others whose names I don't recall are foul conspirators," and "that Labor is out to fight the church, the press and the Government.

Affidavits were made by Constables C. Farley, Oliver Snowling and Allan B. Lawford.

N.B. HOUSE CANCELS STATE DINNER

Opening on Thursday Will Be Stripped of Time-Honored Function

FREDERICTON, N.B., March 9. (Special to The Star.)—For the first time in history, there will be no state dinner on the evening of the opening of the New Brunswick Legislature, which takes place on Thursday next. Dr. J. E. Hetherington, the Speaker, will probably not be present at the opening of the House, it is said, and may be prevented by illness from attending this session at all. C. M. Leger, M.L.A., for Westmoreland, is the Deputy Speaker, and will act if the Speaker is absent.

It is not yet known whether the split in the opposition party at their provincial convention a few months ago will result in a cross-benches party being inaugurated in the local House or not.

JAPS ASTONISHED AT PREMIER'S MOVE

Various Reasons Aired for Sudden Dissolution of the Diet

TOKIO, March 9 (Associated Press) —Premier Hara's adroit move in proclaiming dissolution of the Diet was a thunderclap to the press and public alike, and the newspapers are busy seeking reasons other than those ostensibly advanced for prompting the Premier's coup d'etat, says the correspondent of the London Times. Premier Hara asserts that the suffrage agitation stirring up dangerous racial elements, rendered prompt action imperative. But the press has almost unanimously expressed the view that the crisis has been precipitated by purely party consideration.

Much capital is being made out of an alleged blunder by Foreign Office officials concerning the publication of diplomatic documents reviewing confidential matter. The newspaper Kokumin Shimbun says:

"A certain diplomatic blunder threatened exposure which would be a serious blow to the Government. Had the matter been pressed by the Opposition there was no alternative except resignation."

The correspondent expresses the opinion that the use of the Imperial rescript may never again be exercised, as the whole proceeding was strangely at variance with the people.

Elections are expected within five months, when the Seiyu-Kai (the party created by the late Prince Ito in 1900) in the opinion of the correspondent, will probably increase its majority, as "the farmers who are not concerned with the suffrage are the backbone of the party."

JAPAN INDIGNANT

Says Story That Japan Bought Russia Victory Preposterous

LONDON, March 9. — The Japanese Embassy here yesterday issued the following statement:

"Referring to the news circulated in the last few days, to the effect that Japan bought the victory over Russia in 1904-5, the Japanese Embassy declares this is entirely groundless. Moreover, we suspect there is some foul play involved in the rumor.

"The story, of course, is so preposterous and chimerical that it hardly deserves a formal denial, but, in view of the fact that several papers printed it, it is well that it should be noticed."

ALL FIXED.

"Why don't you provide something for a rainy day?"

The governing planets of this birthdate are Jupiter and Neptune and the sign Pisces.

When favorable conditions prevail this birthdate gives fame and honor in public and political life. Electricians and engineers are born on this date. This birthdate gives great inventive genius, but lacks the initiative to carry out plans to their highest success. There is a tendency to hold the personality down to a merely mechanical sphere and to be exacting in all matters of detail.

Children born on this date should be given the highest educational advantages possible and every encouragement to succeed along their native line of talent, which is both inventive and constructive, and along the modern lines of industry and manufacture.

They are apt to lack the higher powers of intuition, and the love of money is apt to dominate.

CATHOLIC EDITOR PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Appears on Charge of Inciting the Murder of Viscount French

LONDON, March 9.—The trial of Charles Diamond, editor of the Catholic Herald, charged with inciting the murder of Viscount French, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and others in an article in his paper, began at the Old Bailey Court yesterday. The trial is an out-growth of the attempt to assassinate Viscount French on December 19 last.

Diamond pleaded not guilty, declaring the charge "a notorious lie."

"It is a political charge made by my political enemies," he added.

GERMANY TO INSIST ON ALLIED LOAN

PARIS, March 9.—A despatch to Le Journal from Berlin says that the Government will hand to the Allies in May next, a memorandum insisting on the necessity of granting to Germany a loan of 45,000,000,000 marks. The memorandum will also demand modification of the rules governing the allied occupation, the despatch adds.

CANADIENS MAY PLAY SEATTLE---LEADING N.H.L. SCORERS

ANADIENS MAY GO TO SEATTLE AND COMPLETE SERIES

ying Frenchmen Have Been Invited to Visit the Coast for Three Game Series if Muldoon's Team Loses in Playoff

ither Vancouver or Victoria ld win out in the Pacific Coast key Association race the Cana- may go west to play Seattle and h out the series which the 'flu ented the completion of last year n the Flying Frenchmen went to defend the Stanley Cup. At time that the majority of the Can- players went to the hospital five es had been played and each team scored two victories and the other had been a draw. The original only called for five games but winner was declared it required ther game but it is not likely that Habitants would make the trip the one game even though the might be worth it.

anager George Kennedy of the adiens stated this morning that ager Pete Muldoon of the Seattle had been in communication with y Lalonde and has suggested a three game series be played to the latter. This would undoubt- suit the local players who are to take a couple of side jaunts re they disband for the season. At the present time Seattle are leading in the coast race by half a game over Vancouver whom they displaced from the league leadership last night while Victoria is only half a game behind the Millionaires. If Seattle wins tomorrow night at home over Victoria it will leave Vancouver and Seattle to play off for the title, but if Victoria should win a three-cornered tie would result. This would be disastrous as far as the Stanley Cup series is concerned, for it would mean a prolonged season to accommodate the teams in this extra series and the Senators, N. H. L. champions, are urging the immediate presence of the coast champions in Ottawa before ice conditions make it necessary to transfer the games to the artificial ice plant at Toronto.

Even should this series at the coast fall through for the local team it is said that Manager Sproule of the St. Patricks is arranging a barnstorming trip through the States playing at Cleveland, Pittsburg and Boston, and it is understood the Canadiens are to be invited as the opposition in this series.

JACKSON EARNS BIG MARGIN OVER DUNDEE

NEW YORK, March 9.—Displaying one of the most vicious attacks a lightweight has shown in this neck of the pugilistic world this season, Willie Jackson outpointed Johnny Dundee by a wide margin in their eight round bout at the arena, in the Fourth Regiment Armory, Jersey City last night. Jackson had the better of all but the fourth and eight rounds. The fourth belonged to Dundee and the eighth was even.

In all the other rounds Jackson led by a good margin. He cuffed, hooked and jabbed Dundee until the latter was compelled to fight on the defensive most of the time. Seldom in his long career has Dundee been treated to such rough treatment as he received at the hands of Jackson tonight. Jackson strove hard to duplicate his Philadelphia feat and knock out Dundee. With this uppermost in his mind he threw caution to the winds and kept crowding Dundee around the ring.

Dundee resorted to every trick of the trade he knew—and he knows quite a few—but to no avail, Jackson refused to be stopped. He refused to stand off and box with his wily opponent. Jackson preferred to wade in close and swap punches. In these exchanges at close quarters Dundee was bested. In the sixth and seventh rounds he was forced to clinch and hold to save himself from further punishment.

SEATTLE LEADS IN P.C.H.A. RACE

VANCOUVER, March 9.—Seattle held Vancouver scoreless in the last game of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association season to be played on local ice, winning 2 to 0. It was a fast and hard game and gives Seattle the lead in the race for the coast championship. The best the local team can do is to work into a tie for a league leadership, unless Victoria triumphs over Seattle in their next fixture, in which event all three clubs will be tied. The game last night was one of the keenest fought contests seen here this season.

Seattle's scores were made in the first and second periods, one in each of these sessions.

The league season winds up on Wednesday night. Victoria plays Seattle in Seattle.

Line-up:

Vancouver—Lehman, Cook, Duncan, J. Adams, Roberts, Skinner, Harris. Sub.—W. Adams, Taylor.

Seattle—Holmes, Rowe, Hickey, Walker, Foyston, Ridey, Tobin. Subs.—Nichols, Murray.

Lady Bankers Will Hold Sway Tomorrow

The Montreal Bankers Hockey League have decided not to play their last scheduled game of the season so as to let the ladies use their hours on Wednesday evening at the Victoria rink.

The first game will be from 8—9, between Bank of Montreal ladies and Royal ladies. The second game from 9—10 will be between Commerce-Toronto ladies and from 10—11 the Merchants-Imperial ladies will meet. Needless to say exceptional care has been taken in the selecting of referees for these games as close, exciting contests may be looked for.

The ladies of these different Banks, it is said, have sleepless nights thinking over these games and how they will score when they are on the ice. A great crowd, no doubt, will be on hand to witness these games.

tario Hockey Association decide a win- ser by sudden-death games, and be ready to play the finals not later than March 20.

JOHNNY DUNDEE

Took a lacing from Willie Jackson last night. The winner may meet Lew Tendler.

CARPENTIER WILL NOT BOX AFTER DEMPSEY BOUT

PARIS, March 9 (Star Special) — Announcement that Georges Carpentier would retire from the ring after his fight with Jack Dempsey for the world's championship, was the first public statement made by Mme. Carpentier, following their marriage here yesterday.

"I abhor boxing, and I can't understand women who enjoy such spectacles," the bride said. "I couldn't bear to see anyone hit Georges, and I'll be glad when he quits the ring. I am going to America with Georges on a honeymoon trip, but I will not attend the fight."

Only the relatives and near friends of the couple attended the civil ceremony yesterday. Guests at the church ceremony and dinner today will be confined to the same circle.

Gendarmes had to be called yesterday to clear the way for the couple through the dense crowd of yelling enthusiasts and friends of the popular fighter who gathered outside the city hall, where the first ceremony was performed.

Everybody seemed to be happy, especially the parents of the groom, and Francois Descamps, his manager.

Following the ecclesiastical ceremony today, the European champion and his bride will take a motor trip, and Saturday will join the party at Le Havre that will accompany them to America.

SOCCER GOSSIP

By CRAIG CAMPBELL

Verdun's smoker last night in the club rooms was all the committee and members expected, one great success. Over one hundred were present to enjoy a program second to none. President Jock Somerville took charge, supported by Past President Alf. Glew and Vice-President Hill. The chairman during the evening said they were not present to hear speeches but it was necessary for him to say a few words. They might not have all last season's players, as men must look out for themselves, and Verdun was not in a position to offer jobs. But though they might lose one or two, there was no hard feeling, as the club's best wishes went to those who were compelled to seek new pastures. The job question was a mighty live problem today in soccer. The president in conclusion promised a good tea, and called upon Alf. Glew to present gold fobs to last year's championship team, as a slight token from the members. It is almost needless to say that each man as he made his way up the hall, received a great reception. But after all, the concert was the main thing, and right well was every item enjoyed. Bert Mason, one of Montreal's best, sang three songs right off the reel, and would have been singing yet only for another engagement uptown. Harry Pearson, apart from acting as pianist, sang several songs in the style Harry knows so well, as does also his audience. Others that made up a tip-top programme were Hugh Guthrie, Jock Somerville, Joe Beauchamp, T. Reynolds, H. Jones, Campbell, D. Skinner and M. Cooper.

As an entertainment it was far above the ordinary, and everyone went away delighted with the evening and wishing good luck to Verdun.

All players of the Sons of England Football Club are requested to attend a meeting to be held at St. Cyr Hall, Point St. Charles, on Thursday night next at 8 o'clock. All old players or any new blood wishing to join up with this old and famous club are cordially invited to attend.

The members of this club are very pleased to have obtained the signature of C. Charlesworth, late centre forward of Stoke Res. (England), to a registration form. Several other players have signified their intention to join the ranks of the club in the near future.

The meeting of the Montreal & District Junior Football Association controlling the Junior, Juvenile and Midget Leagues of the P.Q.F.A., for Friday evening of this week has been postponed until Monday, March 15, at 8 p. m. at the Railroad Y.M.C.A. All Clubs to be governed accordingly.

Registration forms will be ready tomorrow and may be had on application to the secretary-treasurer, W. A. Bayne, 1067 Verdun Ave., or at Room 813, 94 McGill street.

An appeal is made for referees for this association. Anyone wishing to help make this Association a success are requested to write the secretary. There is still room for a few more teams in each league. Send your applications as soon as possible as the schedules will be drawn up within the next few weeks.

A meeting of the Neura F. C. will be held at the home of T. Sykes, 2480 St. Andre St. tonight at 8 o'clock. All last year members are asked to be present also any new members. Any information regarding the team can be had by telephoning R. Dupier, Las. 1760.

MATCH ARRANGED.

NEW YORK, March 9. — After long wrangling Earl Caddock, the former wrestling champion, and Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, have agreed to meet in a finish match at Madison Square Garden on Monday, March 15. The result of this struggle will decide who is the proper man to challenge Joe Stecher for the world title.

WHO WILL WIN?

The Neura Basketball team meets the R. R. Y. M. C. A. team at the Railroaders gym. tomorrow evening. Though this is not a league game considerable interest is being taken by the supporters of both teams. Last occasion these teams met the Northenders won by a score of 40 to 20, the Railroad Boys on their own floor expect to beat the Neura team. The Neura team wish to challenge any 120 to 130 pound team especially the St. Stephens A.A. or N.D. de Grace Y.M.C.A., Central Y.M.C.A. and St. Judes. Applications to R. Dupier Drawer 160 G. P. O., Montreal.

Famous Veteran Marksmen Better Last Year's Marks and Outdistance More Youthful Stars—Figures Do Not Prove They are Slipping

With the insertion of much new blood in the ranks of the N. H. A. from the amateur ranks this winter vague whispers have been circulating to the effect that the veteran stars are beginning to go back for they declare that the game is getting too fast for them. They will tell of how they have seen Lalonde, Itre, the Cleghorns, Berlanguette, Randall, Gerard, and Malone all slipping gradually but surely. But is this really the case? Figures never lie, it is said, and if they don't then these fans must be mistaken.

Newsy Lalonde of the Canadiens led the scorers in the N.H.L. last year by bulging the net twenty-three times but this year he has gone back so much that to date he has only scored thirty-three and still has two games more in which to add to his total. That ought to be an answer to any suggestion that he is slipping. His chances of leading the league again this year are good. At the present time he is tied with Joe Malone of the Quebec team, but Joe has only one more game to play and Newsy has two. In the first half Lalonde led with 19 goals to Malone's 18, but in the second half Malone leads by one goal while Frank Nighbor of Ottawa is tied with Malone with fifteen counters. Probably the most sensational work in the second half has been that of Tommy McCarthy of the Quebec team. Although he jumped into the game lacking condition and with the second half well under way he has tallied nine goals and is rapidly making a name for himself.

George Carey of the same team started well in the first half with ten goals but has fallen away badly in the last half while Cully Wilson of St. Pats has doubled his figures of the first half.

The leading scorers to date for the season are—

Lalonde	33
Malone	33
Nighbor	26
Cor. Denneney	23
Noble	23

PRO. BOXING

LONDON, March 9.—The next international boxing contest of any importance will bring out Ted "Lewis, the former welterweight champion, against Johnny Basham, the English champion. They will meet in London for twenty rounds on March 16. Lewis has been made favorite in the betting because of the good form he has shown in recent bouts. He is soon to return to America for another battle with Jack Britton.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 9.—Jack Britton, welterweight champion, won a newspaper decision over Dave Fallis of this city, in a 10-round bout here last night.

Young Chaney of Baltimore knocked out Georgie Brown of New York in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round contest.

Joe Lynch of New York outfought Sammy Waltz of this city in ten rounds.

Frankie Schoell, of Buffalo, won from Mel Coogan, of Brooklyn, in the fifth round of a scheduled ten round bout here tonight. The first round was fairly even and in the second Schoell dropped Coogan for the count of nine from then on Schoell, had it all his own way and in the fifth round the referee stopped it and declared Schoell the winner.

NEW YORK, March 9. — Abe Attell Goldstein, who weighs 114 pounds, is the latest wanderer to invade the Chicago idea. Goldstein stopped Al Reade, sparring partner of Johnny Kilbane, and has twice met Patsy Wallace, who scored a knockdown over Wilde, having all the better of the engagements, according to reports.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9. — Benny Valger, of New York, defeated Jimmy Murphy of Philadelphia, in a six-round bout here last night. Valger had to extend himself because of the local boxer's greater weight.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 9. — The boxing match between Johnny Ray and Johnny Kirk here last night was called off at the end of the second round, after a free-for-all fight had started between backers of the contestants.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 9. — Pinkey Mitchell of Milwaukee, lightweight, last night outboxed Barney Adair, New York, in a ten round bout.

Fisher May Get Chance to Battle

Young Fisher, the talkative Albany middleweight, who's latest effusion to the effect that he could soon knock all the championship ideas out of Gene Brosseau's head was published in The Star last evening, may soon get a chance to prove his worth as a fighter.

Negotiations are under way today to match Brosseau and Fisher for a ten-round bout at Monument National next Monday night. If Fisher will agree to terms, the bout will be staged, as Brosseau is more than anxious to meet the boastful American —and incidentally to teach him a lesson in good manners. Fisher's line of talk is in keeping with the usual run of wordy statements issued by American fistic managers, and if he gets a good trouncing from Brosseau, no one but Fisher will feel very badly about it.

Gold Medal Offered for Pros' Tourney

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Professional Golfers' Association of Great Britain, through its secretary, Roland Perring, has offered a gold challenge medal to be competed for in a tournament to be held in the United States under the auspices of the American Association, the proffer being made in appreciation for the benevolent acts of the American professional association during the war. It is proposed to have the medal in competition until won twice consecutively or three times in all, when it would become the personal property of the winner.

New Broad Jumper for U.S. Olympic Team

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 9.—At Moses Brown school here there is a remarkable standing broad jumper, who will probably gain a place on the American Olympic team which will compete at Antwerp next summer. He is Irving Reid, an 18 year old lad, and he has cleared 10 feet 4 inches in competition and recently in a practice jump is reported to have cleared two inches further.

William H. Taylor, America's leading broad jumper, won the title last year with a jump of 10 feet 5¾ inches. The year previous the winner cleared only 10 feet 2½ inches.

MACHINE GUNNERS IN ACTION.

The big feature game of the week in the Military Indoor Baseball League will be between the Royal Highlanders and Machine Gunners (Officers' series). Both teams were in the running for first place until last Tuesday when the gunners were defeated by the R. M.R's. The cause of this defeat is manifold and to regain their original standing they must beat the Highlanders on Friday night, whom they meet at the R.H.C. Armory. On the other hand the Highlanders cannot afford to lose as they are still unbeaten. This game is causing considerable excitement in the camps of the various militia units interested in this league as the result of this game will practically decide the championship.

BASEBALL FLIES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 9. — Bernie Neis, one of the sensations in the Dodgers' camp, was a member of the Saskatoon club of the Western Canadian League last summer and at the end of the season he led the organization in three departments of play. He took part in 100 games and compiled the best batting average. His figures were .316. He was credited with sixty stolen bases.

BOSTON, March 9. — The return to organized baseball of Armando Marsans, the Cuban outfielder, formerly with the Cincinnati Nationals and Newark Americans, is announced from the spring training camp of the Boston Americans at Hot Springs, Ark. Marsans signed a contract with a Red Sox agent at Havana yesterday, it was stated.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9. — The Supreme Court yesterday upheld the decision of Judge Staake, of the Philadelphia court, permitting Sunday baseball here.

Yankees Discover Another "Babe Ruth"

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 9.—The last spring find in the camp of the Yankees is a "new Babe Ruth." The phenom is Bobbie Meusel, the lad from the Pacific coast. He indulged in his first workout yesterday.

Meusel has it on Ruth both in size and speed—if he keeps up his first day's record. He is over six feet tall and weighs more than 200 pounds. His attitude at the bat recalls that of Hans Wagner, but his punch is stiffer. Even Ruth appeared amazed when the big boy clouted them to all parts of the lot.

He was on third base that Meusel shone in defensive play. He was sure as gunfire to his left and to his right, smothered grounders of the wickedest variety and threw under-hand, over-hand, every which way. He did well at first base too.

The Brooklyn Dodgers played a seven inning game, the regulars beating the Yanniguns 4 to 2. The regular infield has been selected. It is: Koney at first, Olson at second, Ward at short and Johnson at third. The combination showed up to good advantage.

Blankets in Order at Giants' Practice

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 9.—Despite the chilly weather Manager Mac ordered his Giants to work yesterday and the recruits tied the regulars 2 to 2 in a seven inning game. The regulars almost lost out, but in the seventh Lew McCarty, as pinch hitter, managed to connect and delivered the run that evened things up. The recruits did their scoring in the fourth frame off Johnson. They could not connect with Ryan's shoots in the first three innings.

Arthur Fletcher, shortstop and team captain, arrived yesterday and went to work. Where he will be stationed is not yet definitely decided. There is a rumor that he will get third base, but Christy Mathewson is strong for Frisch in that position.

Mathewson is strong also for some of the younger pitchers with stress on Reynolds Kelly, brother of the first baseman. Kelly looks like the real goods.

INSURANCE CALAMITY.

The Royal-Queen staff hockey club proved "hazardous" to the Agents last evening in the Victoria rink and were successful in defeating the latter by 6 goals to 3.

The agents accept "liability" for their defeat but maintain that had the referee shown proper "distribution" of his rulings they would have been the victors.

They refuse to "surrender" to the staff and have challenged them to a return match on March the 22, and have ordered a supply of "monkey glands" and feel "assured" that with rejuvenated youth they can "detach" themselves from the "lightning" effects displayed by the staff.

The following were the teams, viz:

QUEBEC GAVE OTTAWA A BATTLE FOR TWO PERIODS

OTTAWA, Ont., March 9 (Special to The Star.)—Though hundreds of hockey enthusiasts went to the Arena last night, expecting to see Eddie Gerard and his champion Senators run through the Quebec "athletes," they were treated to a surprise. True Ottawa won, and by the decisive margin of 11 to 6, but it was not until the third period that Ottawa cinched the honors and for a time in that session it looked as though Quebec would win out.

Ottawa scored three straight goals right off the reel in the opening session, but Quebec came right back and annexed two. In the second each team tallied one and Ottawa led when they came out for the third session by 4 to 3. Quebec tallied two in quick succession, making it 5 to 4 and for a time they had the Ottawas outplayed, but Eddie Gerard led his team in a magnificent rally and scored two goals after which Quebec weakened. Ottawa played great hockey toward the finish but Quebec fought back hard and the match proved one of the best witnessed on the local ice this season. It was witnessed by about five thousand people, the smallest crowd that has graced a national league fixture in the Capital this winter.

The Quebec team arrived minus Goalkeeper Brophy, who is sick, but they had George Carey back at right wing and big Harry Mummery went into the nets, where he gave a most sensational performance, stopping all kinds of terrific shots. Mummery was one of Quebec's most useful men. Joe Malone and George Carey starred on the line for the Athletics, while McCarthy and Carpenter also turned in useful games. Dave Ritchie likewise being in the limelight.

Eddie Gerard carried off the individual honors for Ottawa, while Frank Neighbor was a close second. All the Senators were good once they got down to business, but for a while in the second and third periods, Quebec had them guessing. Harvey Pulford refereed and the game proved one of the cleanest of the season, only two men, Neighbor and Carpenter, being penalized for minor offences.

The victory was Ottawa's ninth straight and their 19th win of the season, during which they have smashed all National League records. It was their seventh win at home where they dropped only one match all winter. They wind up the season at Quebec Wednesday night and if they win again they will finish the season with the remarkable record of 20 wins and 4 losses.

No announcements have yet been made by Stanley Cup Trustee Foran with regard to the world's series, but it is likely that the Patricks will curtail their season at the Coast and get their champions down here early next week.

Desjardins Signs With Lachine Club

Desjardins, one of the most brilliant pitchers in the Independent Baseball League last season, was today signed up by Manager Bourque of the Lachine club for box duty next season. The Lachine club was the all-star outfit of the league last year and will have another strong team in the field this season. The league is in an exceptionally strong position and will play its games on National grounds.

NEW GOAL-KEEPING SENSATION, FORBES, HERE TOMORROW

St. Patrick's are Bringing Their Brilliant But Youthful Net Minder to Stop the Canadien Marksmen

St. Patrick's come here to conclude the local N.H.L. season tomorrow night, and it will be the last occasion that the local fans will have an opportunity of seeing the Canadiens in action until next winter rolls around. The Flying Frenchmen have been travelling in hard luck practically all winter with sickness, accidents and disappointments breaking against them continually, but in their last two games they have shown that now they are again on edge for all comers. They have a grudge against the Saints, for they were the team that came in to Montreal and gave them such a trouncing that the fans nearly gasped. Tomorrow night will give them a chance to even matters up on this score, and the Habitants are not going to miss a chance to take advantage of it.

Vernon Forbes, the twenty-one-year old goalkeeping phenomenon which the Saints have uncovered from the amateur ranks, will be with the visitors. In the few games he has played to date the fans have heralded him as the future Vezina of the game. With the veteran Chicoutimi cucumber in the Canadian net, and flashy youngster from the O.H.A. ranks in the other, it should be well worth the price of admission to see them in action. Forbes could have played junior this year if he had so desired, but last winter he subbed for the speedy Dental team, and this season he decided to return to his old love, Aura Lee, who developed him as a junior, and he was the mainstay of keeping the mediocre team in front of him in the race.

The champion Senators will conclude the season at the same time, when they go to Quebec to tackle the Athletics again. Now that Harry Mummery has shown his versatility in another way by playing goal for Quebec, probably the next move will be into the movies where the most of the star athletes wend their way now, but still, this is no new feat for him, as it was generally conceded that any team that had Mummery on the defence had a second goalkeeper, for he blocks hundreds of shots with his shins. The N.H.L. season will come to a close on Saturday night in Toronto, when Canadians return there to do combat with the Irish squad, and as second place is still accessible for the Frenchmen if they beat the Toronto team, a real battle is assured.

U. S. MAY OVERCOME HOCKEY DILEMMA BY NATURALIZATION

Despatches from Pittsburg indicate that the hockey fans in the Smoky City are excited over the possibility of that team being barred from competing under the American colors in the Olympic hockey games at Antwerp.

It seems that the entire Pittsburgh team is composed of Canadians, and that none of the regulars has been naturalized. The Olympic Committee apparently is of the opinion that it would be a joke to send a team of Canadians to Antwerp to compete as representatives of the United States.

If the Pittsburgh team is to be barred from the Olympic for this reason, the two other leading hockey teams of this country—Boston and Cleveland —will be similarly affected. Canadians compose about 90 per cent. of the star hockey players of the world, just as 90 per cent. of star ball players were born in the United States.

Three of the star players of the Pittsburgh team, the McCormick brothers and Herb Drury, were in the military service in the United States. These boys can become citizens in twenty-four hours upon presentation of their honorable discharges before any naturalization board in the country.

Crucial Game Tonight for Spalding Teams

The line-ups for tonight's game in the Spalding Intermediate Basketball League series between the Railroad Y.M.C.A. and the First Presbyterian Church A.A.A. on the latter club's court, are as follows:

First Pres. Ch.	R.R. Y.M.C.A.
G. Harris	Forward R. Lawton
W. Wolter	Forward A. Spurr
M. Moore	Centre H. Spurr
L. Corbett	Guard W. Gogo
A. Light	Guard B. Hutchison
W. Gormley	Sub. W. Booth
N. Clelland	Sub.

President Provencher has appointed the following officials to act—

Referee—Jack Leonard.
Timekeeper—Henry Heckman.
Scorers—H. E. Horwood and S. King.

The winner of this game will go into a tie for first place in the league standing with the 4th Field Co. Canadian Engineers, which will therefore necessitate a play-off to determine the final winners.

COLLINGWOOD CHAMPIONS.

COLLINGWOOD, March 9. — Collingwood won the O. H. A. intermediate championship here last night, when the local team defeated Kingston intermediates by 14 to 2. Collingwood won from Kingston in Kingston last Friday night by 2 to 1, so the complete score is 16 to 3 for Collingwood.

CURLEY'S TOUR FOR FRENCH IDOL BEGINS MAY 3

Georges Carpentier, the French war hero and the champion of Europe will tour throughout the United States under the personal management of Jack Curley. The famous impresario has signed the most popular man across the sea for a tour of ten weeks starting May 3. Then Curley has an option on the services for five weeks additional.

Negotiations for the appearance of Carpentier have been going on for many months and nearly every manager in the country has been mentioned as having secured Carpentier for some sort of a show. While this was going on Jack Curley has been working quietly and waited until he had matters definitely arranged before he made this announcement. Not until he received the signed contract did Curley inform the public of the agreement. In speaking about the coming tour, Curley made the following announcement yesterday:

"For some time I have negotiated for Georges Carpentier's services for an American tour. I now have his signature as well as that of his manager, Deschamps. The French champion will begin appearing under my management on May 3 and the tour will last for ten weeks. In addition I have an option on his services for five more weeks. During that time I will have him appear in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

"Carpentier cannot appear for any other manager before the expiration of my contract nor engage in any future contract before he finishes with me. I have his acceptance to fight Jack Dempsey for me and we have agreed upon a price and terms. I will make no effort, however, to secure Dempsey until his case with the Government is settled. Neither will I stop in any way Carpentier from accepting terms with any other promoter if he feels so inclined.

"Besides, the business connections with Carpentier, I hope to make matters very pleasant for him and see that he gets a real accurate view of America. Carpentier made such a wonderful reputation for himself in the Great War, that I am satisfied the citizens of this country will be delighted to show their kindly feelings towards the real genuine hero."

UNASHAMED.

I want to be nominated for the vice-presidency.—U. S. Senator Calder.

A student of politics most of our life,
We have witnessed the broils and dissensions,
And thrilled with delight as we gazed at the strife
And noise of contentious conventions;
But never as yet have we known of a case
Of a man with a candor undaunted
Who brazenly said the vice-president's place
Was the job that he honestly wanted.

T. R. was averse to no publicist's job
(Provided, of course, he could pick it),
But well we recall how he simply raised hob
When they begged him to "round out the ticket."
When Fairbanks was mentioned, his whiskers he rent,
And acted distraught and demented,
Although, still avowing he ne'er would consent,
(As Byron observed) he consented.

Doc Bryan was offered the place once or twice,
When the job higher up was refused him;
But, though they had carefully loaded the dice,
Their blandishments never enthused him.
While Thomas R. Marshall declaimed himself hoarse
In strenuous efforts to shake it,
And when he was chosen they had to use force
Before they could get him to take it.

Yet here is a man who is proud to declare,
With never a single condition,
That to hold for a while the vice-president's chair
Is the height of his earthly ambition.
He certainly catches us off of our guard,
No claim could be bolder or balder;
He's after that job, and he's after it hard,
And we'll cheerfully hand it to Calder.

A MARATHON SOLO.

Miss Squallings—"Going so soon, Mr. Hardnut? I've been asked to sing "Till We Meet Again."

Mr. Hardnut—"If you do you'll be a long time at it."

The other evening Jenkins was walking down a quiet road when a powerful man whom he did not know came up from behind, slapped him heavily on the shoulder and exclaimed:

"Well, how goes it, Dickey, old man?"

Jenkins eyed the stranger and the stranger eyed Jenkins, and then the stranger said:

"Oh, sorry! Thought you were some one else?"

"I wish I had been," said Jenkins as he moved his injured shoulder gingerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Newbride had at last obtained a villa in a suburb of London, and Mr. Newbride was hanging the pictures. There was a certain photograph of his wife which he decided must go up, but which was too small to suspend from the rail by a cord. He thereupon got a substantial nail and hammered it into the wall. There came a knock at the door. "It's Mr. Nexdor," said his wife, running to the window. "Your hammering has disturbed him."

Mr. Newbride hastened to apologize.

"Oh, I don't mind the noise," replied Mr. Nexdor, cheerily. "I only came to ask if I might hang a picture on the other end of the nail."

ATHLETICS BACK AGAIN NEXT SEASON

OTTAWA, Ont., March 9.—(Special to The Star.)—Joe Malone, dashing captain and centre forward of the Quebec Hockey Club, who gave another sterling performance against the Ottawa's last night, afterwards gave an emphatic denial to the rumor that Quebec would not be in the National League next year.

Malone, who entered the Ottawa dressing room after the match and extended congratulations to manager Green and his Senators, stated that there was no possibility of the Ancient Capital throwing up the sponge.

"We have played in the hardest kind of luck," said Malone to the Citizen, "but we will be back next year with one of the best teams that has ever played in the series. We were unfortunate with Brophy, who was injured several times, and equally unlucky in not getting Rusty Crawford into the game again. Goodness knows we offered enough money to the amateurs, but could not just land them. If we had another defence man and a first class goalkeeper, we would have been right up in the championship fight. We are already laying plans for next winter and will certainly make up for lost time."

It is understood that there will be a new rink in Quebec next winter, built in the centre of the town, and that work upon it will be commenced as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Malone and other members of the team were up in arms against the report that the Quebec franchise would be transferred to Toronto or Hamilton.

"Mint" League Meets Saturday in Hamilton

TORONTO, March 9.—A meeting of the Michigan-Ontario Baseball League will be held in Hamilton next Saturday, March 13, not March 20, as announced some time ago. The schedule will be revised at this meeting.

Several of the clubs will go to training camps. Of the Canadian clubs at least two will train across the border. The London Tecumsehs will do their conditioning on the campus of Ohio Wesleyan University, while the Brantford Red Sox will probably go to a point in central New York.

Brocco and Deruyter Have Stolen a Lap

NEW YORK, March 9.—Maurice Brocco and Charles Deruyter, the Italian-Belgian team, were one lap ahead of the other thirteen teams at 11 o'clock last night, the 23rd hour of the six-day bike race at Madison Square Garden. They had covered 471 miles and five laps. The record is 5,116 miles, and five laps made by Lawson, and Drobach in 1914. Teams on lap behind were:

Goullet-Magin, Egg-Madden, Cuburn-Kopsky, Buysse-Speissens, Lang-Chaplin, Spencer-Drobach, Kaiser-Hill, Godivier-Van Neuk and Dupuy-Hanley.

Four teams, Bello-Madden, Weber-Staehl, Bowker-Bowker, and Byron-Markey, were two laps behind.

LSON RESTATES S OPPOSITION TO RESERVATIONS

Democratic Senators hey Would Impair League Covenant

RITES HITCHCOCK

lares the Suggested hanges Virtual Nullification of Treaty

ASHINGTON, March 9, (By Associated Press.)—President Wilson ted for Democratic Senators yesy his opposition to any Peace reservations which would en the full force of Article Ten herwise materially impair the ions of the League covenant. thout saying specifically what ctions he would or would not , he wrote in a letter to Senator ock, the administration leader, almost all of the reservations he eard suggested were "ineffect nullifications" of the Treaty ns to which they applied.

fear of reservationists and mild servationists" the letter added, "but I understand the difference be- n a nullifier and a mild nullifier." cussing Article Ten particularly, President wrote that there was escaping the moral obligations h are expressed in positive terms is article' though there could be jection to explaining in an inter- tion the constitutional method by h such an obligation would have fulfilled. The 'very heart' of covenant,' he reiterated, would imperilled by weakening Article

President's letter, written in nse to a request that he confer Senator Simmons of North Caro- in charge for the Democratic of the Senate in current negotia- for a compromise, follows in ESCAPING MORAL RESPONSIBILITY.

"There is no escaping the moral ligations which are expressed in tive terms in this article of the enant. We won a moral victory Germany far greater even than military victory won on the field ttle, because the opinion of the world swung to our support and support of the nations associated us in the great struggle. It did because of our common profession promise that we meant to establish an organization of peace which uld make it certain that the comd power of free nations would e every invasion of right and to make peace and justice the secure by affording a definite al of opinion to which all must mit and by which every interna- readjustment that cannot be ably agreed upon by the peoples ctly concerned shall be sanc- ed.' This promise and assurance written into the preliminaries of armistice and into the preliminof the peace itself and constitute of the most sacred obligations assumed by any nation or body nations.

"It is unthinkable that America uld set the example of ignoring h a solemn moral engagement.

"For myself, I feel that I could not k the soldiers of our gallant armies the face again if I did not do everyng in my power to remove every ancle that lies in the way of the ption of this particular article of covenant, because we made these romises to them as well as to the rest f the world, and it was to this cause hey deemed themselves devoted in a pirit of crusaders. I should be forver unfaithful to them if I did not o my utmost to fulfill the high purose for which they fought.

CONSTITUTIONAL METHODS.

"I think we can dismiss from our minds the idea that it is necessary to stipulate in connection with Article X. the constitutional methods we should use in fulfilling our obligations under it. We gain nothing by such stipulations and secure nothing which is not already secured. It was understood as a matter of course at the conference in Paris that whatever obligations any Government assumed, or whatever duties it undertook under the Treaty would, of course, have to be fulfilled by its usual and established constitutional methods of action. Once or twice in meetings of the conference, when the Treaty was under consideration, reservations were made to that effect by the representatives of individual powers, and these reservations were invariably received in the way in which men who have not for business and not for talk always receive acts of scrupulous supererogation—listened to with indifferent silence, as such men listen to what is a matter of course and was not necessary to say.

"There can be no objection to explaining again what our constitutional method is, and that our Congress alone can declare war or determine the causes or occasions for war, and that it alone can authorize the use of the armed forces of the United States on land or on the sea. But to make such a declaration would certainly be a work of supererogation.

"I am sorry to say that the reservations that have come under my notice are almost without exception, not interpretations of the articles to which it is proposed to attach them but in effect virtual nullifications of those articles.

WOULD CUT HEART FROM TREATY.

"Any reservation which seeks to deprive the League of Nations of the force of Article X, cuts at the very heart and life of the covenant itself. Any League of Nations which does not guarantee as a matter of incontestable right the political independence and integrity of each of its members might be hardly more than a little scrap of paper, as ineffective in operation as the agreement between Belgium and Germany which the Germans violated in 1914. Article X, as written into the Treaty of Versailles, represents the renunciation by Great Britain and Japan, which before the war had begun to find so many interests in common in the Pacific, by France, by Italy—by all the great fighting powers of the world of the old pretensions of political conquest and territorial aggrandizement. It is a new doctrine in the world's affairs and must be recognized or there is no secure basis for the peace which the whole world so longingly desires and so desperately needs.

BAD FAITH IF REJECTED.

"If Article X is not adopted and acted upon, the Governments which reject it will, I think, be guilty of bad faith to their people whom they induced to make the infinite sacrifice of the war by the pledge that they would be fighting to redeem the world from the old order of force and aggression.

"They will be acting also in bad faith to the opinion of the world at large to which they appealed for support in a concerted stand against the aggressions and pretensions of Germany. If we were to reject Article X., or so to weaken it as to take its full force out of it, it would mark us as fleeting to return to the old world of jealous rivalry and misunderstandings from which our gallant soldiers have rescued us, and would leave us without any vision or new conception of justice and peace. We would have learned no lesson from the war but gained only the regret that it had involved us in its maelstrom of suffering. If America has awakened, as the rest of the world has, to the vision of a new day in which the mistakes of the past are to be corrected, it will welcome the opportunity to share the responsibilities of Article X.

ARTICLE RENOUNCES WRONG AMBITION.

"It must not be forgotten that this article constitutes a renunciation of wrong ambition on the part of powerful nations with whom we were associated in the war. It is by no means certain that without this article any such renunciation will take place. Militaristic ambitions and imperialistic policies are by no means dead even in the counsels of the nations whom we most trust and with whom we most desire to be associated in the tasks of peace. Throughout the sessions of the conference in Paris it was evident that a militaristic party, under the most influential leadership, was seeking to gain ascendancy in the counsels of France. They were defeated then, but are in control now. The chief arguments advanced in Paris in support of the Italian claims on the Adriatic were strategic arguments, that is to say, military arguments, which had at their back the thought of naval supremacy in that sea. For my own part, I am as intolerant of imperialistic designs on the part of other nations as I was of such designs on the part of Germany.

CHOICE BETWEEN TWO IDEALS.

"The choice is between two ideals: On the one hand, the ideal of democracy, which represents the rights of free peoples everywhere to govern themselves, and on the other hand, the ideal of imperialism which seeks to dominate by force and unjust power, an ideal which is by no means dead and which is eagerly kept in many quarters alive. Every aspiration influence in Europe was hostile to the embodiment of Article X in the covenant of the League of Nations, and its defeat now would mark the complete consummation of their efforts to nullify the Treaty. I hold the doctrine of Article X to be the essence of Americanism. We cannot repudiate it or weaken it without at the same time repudiating our own principles."

IMPERIALIST WANTS NO LEAGUE

"The imperialist wants no League of Nations, but if, in response to the universal cry of the masses everywhere, there is to be one, he is interested to secure one suited to his own purposes, one that will permit him to continue the historic game of pawns and peoples—the juggling of provinces, the old balances of power, and the inevitable wars attendant upon these things. The reservation proposed would perpetuate the old order. Does anyone really want to see the old game played again? Can anyone really venture to take part in reviving the old order? The enemies of a League of Nations have by every true instinct centered their efforts against Article X, for it is undoubtedly the foundation of the whole structure. It is the bulwark, and the only bulwark, of the rising democracy of the world against the forces of imperialism and reaction.

"Either we should enter the League fearlessly, accepting the responsibility and not fearing the role of leadership which we now enjoy, contributing our efforts towards establishing a just and permanent peace, or we should retire as gracefully as possible from the great concert of Powers by which the world was saved. For my own part, I am not willing to trust to the counsel of diplomats the working out of any salvation of the world from the things which it has suffered.

"I believe that when the full significance of this great question has been generally apprehended, obstacles will seem insignificant before the opportunity, a great and glorious opportunity to contribute our overwhelming moral and material force to the establishment of an international regime in which our own ideals of justice and right may be made to prevail and the nations of the world be allowed a peaceful development under conditions of order and safety hitherto impossible.

REBUKE TO RESERVATIONISTS.

"I need not say that I have given a great deal of thought to the whole matter of reservations proposed in connection with the ratification of the Treaty, and particularly that portion of the Treaty which contains the covenant of the League of Nations, and I have been struck by the fact that practically every so-called reservation was in effect a rather sweeping nullification of the terms of the Treaty itself. I hear of reservationists and mild reservationists, but I cannot understand the difference between a nullifier and a mild nullifier. Our responsibility as a nation in this turning point in history is an overwhelming one, and if I had the opportunity I would beg everyone concerned to consider the matter in the light of what it is possible to accomplish for humanity rather than in the light of special national interests."

CANADA COMPLETES GOLD SHIPMENT

NEW YORK, March 9.—There was received yesterday $2,000,000 in gold from Canada. This shipment completed the remittance of $6,000,000 made by the Canadian Government. $3,000,000 having been received last week.

It was announced yesterday that $1,250,000 South African gold has been shipped from London to a firm in New York.

BROKEN CABLES HAMPER SERVICE

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special Despatch). — Cable communications with Europe and South America has been greatly hindred by broken cables off the Atlantic coast, according to the announcement of three foreign communication services here today.

The French Cable Company, having only direct cables from New York to Paris, has announced it is unable to accept any traffic as the result of a break believed to be a short distance out.

The Commercial Company reported bad service on some lines to England and France, although service is being maintained.

THE RAILROADS GO BACK

THE BOSTON TRANSCRIPT.

It is estimated that twenty-six months of Government operation has caused a loss of nearly $2,000,000,000, and it will take time to repair the damage and to make good the loss. But the patience of the people will be sufficient unto the strain. Indeed if the spirit in which they rejoice over today's restoration permeates the private control and the Government supervision which the new law makes effective. Necessarily this legislation was the fruit of compromise, but a student of the railroad problem of no less eminence than Daniel Willard gives it as his opinion that the law "affords a basis upon which we may, with good reason, hope to see private ownership and operation of the railroads remain the permanent policy in this country." That hope Mr. Willard can be certain is very generally shared by his countrymen.

THE RAILWAY AGE.

Just before and after Government operation was adopted, it was charged all over the country that the railways under private management had "broken down." If that charge could be fairly made then, the charge may be as truly made now that under Government operation they have "broken down." As a matter of fact, under both private and Government operation the managements have shown great ability and energy in dealing with difficult and almost impossible conditions.

THE PROVIDENCE JOURNAL.

The railroads have been returned to their owners in a very unsatisfactory condition. Their rolling stock is decrepit, their stations, tracks and other physical facilities have been permitted to run down. Their customary methods and practices have been superseded by those of an unprecedented central administration. Their office and operating staffs have been demoralized. Incompetent and superfluous employes have been added to their payrolls. In short the once fine railway structure of the United States needs to be renewed and repaired from top to bottom.

BOSTON HERALD.

Governmental operation of the railroads has proved itself the most costly and the least satisfactory of all the economic experiments that this country has tried in 50 years. First and last it has cost the taxpayers of the United States an enormous sum, giving them next to nothing in return. So today the railroads go back to their owners in deteriorated condition, their payrolls loaded with superfluous employes, and with a gigantic task of reconstruction facing them.

DETROIT NEWS.

It will be deemed a favor to the private owners of the railroads if the traveling public will please recall, from time to time, the air of independence and indifference toward the public by their employes during Government control.

HARTFORD COURANT.

These railroads don't look much like the ones that were loaned to the Federal Government a few years ago. Some people never are careful about borrowed articles.

Tenders for Aqueduct and Sewer Materials

Sealed tenders will be received by the undersigned, Secretary-Treasurer, of the Corporation of the Village of St. Jerome de Matane, up to 2nd March next and opened the same day at 7 o'clock p.m. at the general meeting of the Council, for the supplying of all the materials necessary for constructing a complete aqueduct and sewer system in the Village of St. Jerome de Matane, following the plans, specifications and estimates prepared by the engineer Mr. J. E. Grenon.

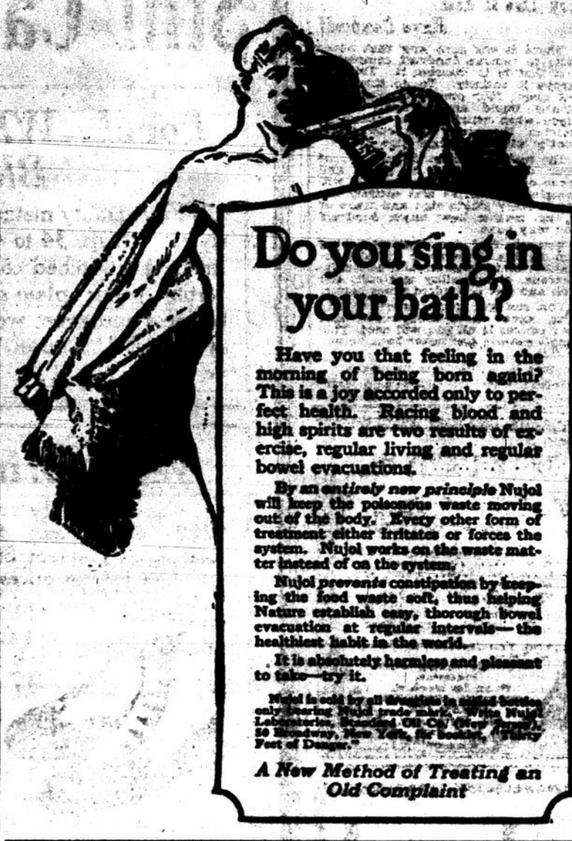

All these materials to be delivered at the railway station at Matane on the first of June next.

An accepted cheque to the order of the undersigned, representing ten per cent of the amount of tender, must accompany each tender.

The Council does not bind itself to accept the lowest nor any of the tenders.

Matane, 2nd March, 1920.

J. E. GAGNON, Sec.-Treas.

Do you sing in your bath?

Have you that feeling in the morning of being born again? This is a joy accorded only to perfect health. Racing blood and high spirits are two results of exercise, regular living and regular bowel evacuations.

By an entirely new principle Nujol will keep the poisonous waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only bearing Nujol trade mark. "Why Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet, "Nujol Fact of Danger."

CAPITALIZATION

Preferred Stock	$1,000,000.00
Common Stock	$1,000,000.00
(No Bonds)

The following information is summarized from a letter from Mr. S. Messer, President of the Company:—

1. The Continental Oil Company, Limited, of Canada, the business and assets of which have been acquired by the North Star Oil & Refining Company, Limited, a Canadian corporation, has been in successful operation in the Prairie Provinces for the past eleven years.

2. The Company has no bond issue or other funded indebtedness outstanding nor any floating debt other than current accounts payable.

3. Earnings after the completion of a refinery for the production of refined oil, gasoline and lubricating oil, at Winnipeg, which refinery is expected to begin operations about the middle of the year, are estimated to be initially at the rate of $150,000 to $180,000 annually, or equal to over twice the dividend upon the Preferred Stock. With the completion of other refineries, earnings are expected to materially increase.

4. The Company has affiliations with large and responsible producers in the United States which should ensure a continuous and constant supply of crude oil. In the event of the development of crude oil in commercial quantities in the Canadian West, the Company, with refineries at Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Calgary, will be in an advantageous position to manufacture from this crude, refined oil, gasoline and other petroleum products for the Western trade.

Applications, which should be accompanied with cheque for full payment, will be received only on the understanding that the right is reserved by us to allot all, a portion only, or none of the amount applied for. In the event of a partial allotment the balance, and if none be allotted the full amount forwarded, will be returned to the applicant.

Interim Certificates will be issued pending engraving of definitive certificates.

It is intended that application be made to list these issues on the Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg Stock Exchanges.

GROCERS' PROBE AT HAMILTON OPENS

Sixty Witnesses to Be Examined—Combine Alleged

O'CONNOR PRESIDES

Witness Claims He Was Unable to Buy Goods Until Member of Guild

HAMILTON, Ont., March 9. (By Canadian Press).—Frank Fearman, who has been in the wholesale grocery business in Hamilton since 1918, was the chief witness at the investigation begun here yesterday by the Board of Commerce, with W. F. O'Connor presiding, into charges that a combine exists amongst the wholesale grocers and certain manufacturers. It was stated that sixty witnesses would be called, that the inquiry would probably last a week, and that before it was concluded sittings would be held either in Toronto or Ottawa.

Mr. Fearman admitted to Chairman O'Connor that the Attorney General's Department was "most aggressive" in trying to get him to go to Toronto in connection with the proposed investigation, but he had delayed doing so because he had to stay in Hamilton on important business. He would not admit having asked the Attorney General's Department to hold off in the matter of the investigation, and he was then seeking to become a member of the Ontario Wholesale Grocers' Guild, but he admitted that he had become a member of the Guild last January after he had made complaints to the Attorney General's Department, that he could not buy goods from the W. C. MacDonald Company, Montreal, or from the St. Lawrence Starch Co., or the Kellog Corn Flake Company. After he had joined the Guild he was enabled to make the desired purchases, he admitted. He had "dumped" the correspondence with these firms, and it was not obtainable, and he was unable to produce evidence that he could not get supplies before he joined the Guild.

W. S. Ware, sales manager of the Kellogg Corn Flake Co., admitted having received verbal instructions to cut Fearman off the jobbing list. He said he could not tell why W. F. Morley, Toronto, had been cut off the company's list.

Mr. Ware said he was not permitted to sell to anybody without instructions from the head office. He did not remember having discussed with H. G. Beckett, of W. H. Gillard and Co., Hamilton, the question of cutting off Fearman or any other grocer.

Mr. Ware's evidence was not regarded by Chairman O'Connor with favor. "I must say he has made a most unfavorable impression," said Mr. O'Connor. "There appears to be some concealment of sales arrangements."

G. H. MacFarlane, general manager of the E. W. Gillett Co., said his company sold to wholesalers at a fixed price. Special rebates were given to some.

ALLEGES GROCERS' COMBINE.

A. W. Roebuck, Toronto, representing the Attorney General's Department, characterized the activities of the Ontario Wholesaler Grocers' Guild as a combine to prevent certain manufacturers selling, except as the wholesalers in the Guild dictated. The climax was capped, Mr. Roebuck asserted, by all within the ring signing a resolution that none of them should sell unless he had a card signed by the secretary of the Guild.

"All investigations are considered a failure unless someone is sent to jail," said Mr. Roebuck. "That is not the purpose of this investigation. At the close of this investigation it will be asked that an order be given to stop the practices alleged against the wholesalers."

Chairman O'Connor agreed that it was not a criminal court.

DISCIPLINE CAPTAIN OF LINER BOHEMIAN

HALIFAX, N. S., March 9.—Capt. Ernest Chiscoe's certificate was suspended for three months, and Second Officer Samuel Blackmore was censured for the loss of the Leyland liner Bohemian on the Sambro ledges last week, when the court of inquiry read their finding at 12:30 o'clock today. The court suspended the Captain's certificate because he did not make sure of his position, and did not take any soundings or verify his bearings. They censured the second officer for not suggesting to the captain the necessity of verifying the ship's position.

HAD A BETTER ONE.

A college professor who was always ready for a joke was asked by a student if he would like a good recipe for catching rabbits.

"Why, yes," replied the professor.

"What is it?"

"Well," said the student, "you crouch behind a thick stone wall and make a noise like a turnip."

"That may be," said the professor, with a twinkle in his eye, "but a better way than that would be for you to go and sit quietly in a bed of cabbage heads and look natural."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS!

PUBLIC conditions with regard to the tuberculosis menace have become so bad that a familiar test of Government everywhere is its attitude towards the dreaded White Plague. Administration of public affairs which fails to grapple energetically with the most striking of all losses of productive population is neither democratic nor efficient.

The decision of the Superior Board of Health for the Province of Quebec to inaugurate a campaign against tuberculosis wins the gratitude of all earnest citizens. Dr. E. M. Desaulniers, Dr. R. Paquin and Dr. J. E. Laberge have been named as a committee to study the question, with Dr. J. A. Beaudouin as secretary.

Much of this coming campaign should mass the whole force of governmental assistance, both Federal and Provincial, boards of trade, labor, employers and press. Here, as elsewhere, when the people have risen up together for action, the awful toll of tuberculosis will be cut down materially and a great wave of hope for better things set in motion throughout the country.

The decision for a campaign against tuberculosis turns the face of Quebec towards the light of a brighter day for large numbers of the people. Let no effort be spared to make the event memorable in the history of public betterment in Canada!

DEMOCRACY AND PARTIES.

[illegible] the greatest union, under democratic Government, is that formed by the common acceptance of certain political principles—a union of political ideas. The members of such a union form a political party, organized, and ready if called upon to translate itself into an active Government.

The present being a time of impatient economic demands—or needs, it may be—the position of great political parties seems to have been widely overlooked. To obtain release from revolutionary conditions, for the people as a whole, there is much talk of a salaried-class union, middle-class union, etc. The tendency towards a breaking up of society into various industrial units, each one seeking its own good, while all "politicians" are relegated to the scrap heap.

The fact is that the shortest and safest way to the adjustment of society to its new needs and aspirations lies through a rebirth of active faith in the great party principles; but it is manifest, also, that to achieve this desirable condition of the public mind, the aforesaid great principles must be proclaimed to the people in terms of salutary application to the immediate problems of the hour. Neglect of this duty by the parties alone can prolong indefinitely from electoral repudiation of any Government lapse of class opportunism which may arise.

Democracy entitles the majority of the people to govern. The people accomplish government by utilizing broad principles fit to win the allegiance of the masses, including the classes. Such is the democratic practice, and it will prevail in Canada so long as the love of freedom which produced Canada's great war service prevails.

THE PEOPLE AND HOUSING.

WHEN the new Housing Commission meets it must endeavor to accomplish something practical to aid individuals to utilize a part of the millions set aside by the Federal authorities for housing.

The Federal Act has recently been amended by the Legislature in a manner which will likely make it none too easy for the Commission to see that those who desire loans for single houses, on a satisfactory financial basis, will be able to get it.

The Legislature has decreed that parties can borrow money to erect apartments of three dwellings, and it is contended by experts that this procedure is not only against the idea of the Federal Act, but that it would largely turn the four millions Montreal may get into the hands of real estate interests, who would alone benefit from the measure.

This must be avoided. Never in the history of the city was the demand for houses more imperative. During the war there was little or no construction, and this, coupled with the influx of thousands of returned soldiers, has created a condition of affairs that cannot be contemplated with equanimity. Not only are families in moderate circumstances compelled to crowd together, and put up with conditions utterly antagonistic to ideas of home life, but rentals are increasing in a manner to strain severely their modest finances.

Undoubtedly in the better housing problem lies much of the antidote to Bolshevism; in the very nature of things soaring rentals and poor housing conditions must breed discontent.

Millions of pounds have been voted in London for the erection of workingmen's houses and for the abolition of slums, and no red tape methods were permitted for a moment to prevent prompt construction. Whole slum areas were bought up, and on their sites rose model cottages, while garden cities were founded in outlying districts. In unnumbered other cities, too, satisfactory progress is being made with better housing projects. In the face of these facts it is obvious that the problem of improved housing is capable of solution, and emphasizes the need of some sane business-like procedure here.

"NATIONALIZATION."

A SPEAKER not long ago declared that the Labor Government of Queensland, by establishing Government factories, had brought down prices "until profiteering became a thing of the past." It had also, he explained, gone into the meat business and reduced prices fifty per cent. As a result of these successes "Australian labor was loudly calling for the nationalization of all industries." But other speakers and writers tell a story in striking contrast with that of the orator.

Since the Ryan Government took office deficits in the finances of Queensland have succeeded surpluses. In response to the cry for "cheap meat for the workers" the Government commandeered twenty-nine sheep and cattle stations. The owners were paid in bonds bearing 4½ per cent interest, although the State borrows at 5 3/8 per cent. In twelve of the twenty-nine stations heavy losses have been sustained. One station shows an adverse balance of $1,200,000. Over all the stations the losses exceed the profits. State butcheries were also established, but they were not supplied with meat from the State cattle stations. It was commandeered from private cattle farmers at 7½ cents a pound, while the meat from the State ranches was sold for export at higher prices. But even with this advantage in a turnover of $2,750,000 the net sales exceeded purchases by only $97,500, which will not meet interest on the capital invested.

When the railways came under the Ryan Government they were making a small profit. But although freights and fares have been increased, a deficit in 1916 of $2,541,220 has risen steadily to $7,106,640 in 1919. A State trawler, designed to curb the profits of fishmongers, which cost $162,000, in May and June, at a cost of $11,130, caught fish to the value of $680. The State fish shops intended to sell fish "direct to the people" show a loss of $48,690. In order to check "profiteering" in carbide, the Government imported Japanese carbide at $500 a ton, while carbide could be bought at Sydney for $250 a ton. The State lime crusher has been closed because it could not produce lime at competitive prices. A State liquor saloon was opened, but the experiment was so unsatisfactory that no additional public-houses have been sanctioned. In four years the taxation has been increased from $5.70 per head to $16.20 per head, or 190 per cent, although all the war expenditure was carried by the Federal Government.

In proportion to population there are more strikes in Queensland than in any other State of the Commonwealth, and many of these occur in the State enterprises. A system of unemployment insurance has been established which requires every employer to pay into the fund $10 per employe for the first year, and such amount thereafter as the Government may determine. It is also provided by this Government, which aims to "nationalize" private employers out of existence, that all persons with a taxable income above a certain amount may be ordered "to create employment by investing money in development work or work for the benefit of the State." Finally the cost of living in Queensland is higher than in any other State of the Commonwealth.

When the State Coal Mines Bill was introduced, Mr. Sedden, for many years a dominant public figure in New Zealand, explained that the State would take a profit of only five per cent, and that when the net receipts exceeded that amount prices would be reduced. But according to Mr. Triggs, member of the Legislative Council of New Zealand, although the Government was relieved from the income and other taxes to which private companies are subject, no actual profit ever has been shown nor have the State mines had any appreciable effect in reducing prices to consumers. Indeed, he says, "the price of coal has risen steadily and consistently ever since the State mines were established." Nor have the State mines prevented discontent among the miners. He declares that labor disputes "hatched in these mines" have spread to the mines operated by private companies, and that Runanga, the Government mining township, "is notorious as a hotbed of sedition and Bolshevism." There is now a proposal by the New Zealand Board of Trade to apply some form of nationalization to all the mines because State competition has restricted the investment of private capital and private enterprise is disinclined to "supply the vital needs of the public."

As the evidence accumulates it becomes more and more manifest that capital will strike just as labor will strike if it does not secure a legitimate return; that the State cannot supply the initiative and energy which create and expand successful private enterprises, and which have been the great forces in human progress; and that whatever may be the results of "nationalization," they are not expressed in economy, efficiency or lower prices to the public.

SCENE IN SECLUSION

Who says the Hun has no sense of humor?

THE WORLD'S PRESS

And Much Criticism Too.

Kansas City Star: Dublin Castle has declared six counties in Ireland to be "in a state of disturbance." Dublin Castle may not have a first-class mail service, but it ultimately gets the news.

Straight From the Shoulder.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Democrats and Republicans, spare the country another year of suspense and helplessness! Give us the Treaty at once; let next March be the anniversary of its ratification, not a time merely for resuming the controversy! If we must take the reservations of the opposition, let's take them—but let's have the Treaty now!

Rhodesia Lags Behind.

Buluwayo Chronicle: Both the old Rhodesian settler and the mere passenger through the country are amazed by the huge areas still apparently unoccupied, and at least unutilized. These should be made available for the objects that were in the minds of Rhodes and his fellow-pioneers and that are still only partly realized. At the moment a dozen strong currents are running for Imperial expansion, and Rhodesia ought to be well in the swim.

Try the Ex-Kaiser.

Yorkshire Post: In the opinion of many the wise thing now to do with the German culprits would be to concentrate our efforts on the ex-Kaiser himself, since, as a matter of fact, he was personally responsible for all the atrocities which we are now seeking to avenge. As the supreme War Lord on land and sea he was accountable for all acts of war done in his name. For either he authorized, or approved, or connived at them, and, if they had been successful, he would have been the first to claim the credit and victorious consequences thereof. His subordinates of all kinds and grades might well plead obedience to orders, which, in the case of a soldier, must ever be the supreme justification for all his acts. A soldier is not a reasoning, but a responsive, animal, and by the very nature of his case must be so.

Had Gladstone Lived.

Manchester Guardian: Even now one feels a certain quiver of apprehension in the thought of the Jovian thunder which would have gathered on Mr. Gladstone's brow could he have listened to Mr. Bonar Law's almost casual confirmation of the disappearance from Europe of the independent kingdom of Montenegro as the result of her adhesion to the Allied cause during the war. Historically there are memories enough to be recalled. Probably Gladstone never embarked more eagerly on any military demonstration than that undertaken for the insistence on the carrying out of the provisions of the Berlin Treaty in respect of Montenegro. At the earliest possible moment in the 1880 Administration he tackled the question, and obtained a naval demonstration off the coast of Albania.

Nationalization in Britain.

Birmingham Post: The colliery nationalization leaders were in evidence in the House of Commons on Wednesday, but the result of their action on that occasion can scarcely have been encouraging, for their voting strength in the House was shown to be insignificant; and there cannot be the smallest doubt that the division on that occasion fully represents the feeling of the country. We are certain that the British public as a whole is emphatically opposed to nationalization, whether of the mines or any other industries, and we have as little doubt that Messrs. Smillie and Co. are well aware of the fact. Nevertheless, he and his colleagues propose to override the will of the nation by coercive terrorism, to force the people into accepting their nostrum by holding up the nation's coal supply. Mr. Lunn plainly threatened the House that if it did not do what the miners wanted, they would force it to do so by violent means. There is nothing novel in such threats; they have unhappily become the commonplaces of the "advanced" miners' leaders; and nobody has done more to give them authority and reality than the president of the Miners' Federation himself. The real object behind all this defiance of the will of the great majority of the people is Bolshevik.

After the War.

They all go by, the pitiless plangent wars,
They all go by and leave the altered world
Unaltered. Underneath the hawthorn-tree.
The shepherd tells his tale, and o'er the sea
The ships are sailing with their wings unfurled,
Spring blows her clarion and the skylark soars.
The ancient mysteries are now as then;
Millions have passed, Earth heeds it not and smiles;
The roads outstretch their grey monotonous miles,
The secular course of things begins again.
This loved hill-side is beautiful as when
The clangorous trumpets blared and when the isles
And all the mountains from their deep defiles
Answered the summons with a stern "Amen."

IS ELECTRICITY LIFE?

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Recent scientific experiment has revealed the possible fact that there may be a much closer relationship between the remarkable force of nature termed electricity and the baffling organic substance called life.

The keenest scientific brains are now being concentrated with a mighty force upon this all-absorbing problem, and some amazing discoveries may be imminent which will revolutionize the entire scheme of things.

At first investigations into the composition of matter brought about the theory that the atom was the unit of composition. The most recent discoveries reveal that this molecule is in reality a cohesion of particles of infinitely lesser dimension which experimentation has proved to be the electron. Here we perceive the obvious relationship between electrical energy and matter.

The electron is the unit of electricity. They exist in positive and negative forces consequently exerting such an irresistible force of attraction, one to the other, that it is calculated that were a group of these molecules concentrated at each pole of the earth's extremities and correspondingly charged that so great is the force of cohesion that they would be drawn together simultaneously.

To this moment scientists are still unable to ascertain as to what electricity is. They have partly harnessed its mighty energies, but they do not know for a fact, as yet, that it moves along a wire or whether on the other hand it acts simultaneously thereon giving rise to certain characteristic changes thereto.

Here again we are confronted with the colossal query—Is ether a combination or molecules of an electronic composition? Should such be the case we have the key to the composition of the universe.

Recent experiment has established ether to be the all pervading substance, the only actual substance and the unit of creation. Are our organic bodies only an outer fungus as it were to the permanent formation which is limb for limb of ether composition?

Should such be the case every subject, every field of endeavor is linked irresistibly and permanently one to the other. Our world becomes a local unit in an infinite sphere of etheric energy. Our present temporal planetary existence might be the organic agency thereby of a colossal, infinite directing force preeminating from a permanent and all pervading universe of a substantial etheric composition where inspiration was the supreme motive power and thought the communicative medium.

HENRY C. HOWARD (Capt.)

NO SHAMROCK CLUB.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—At last, the Shamrock Club House is sold. I think it is nigh time now, for the English-speaking Catholics of Montreal, to do something for our fine young men, and our dear boys. Our Protestant neighbors have, at least, two splendid institutions, the Y. M. C. A. and the M.A.A.A. The French-Canadians have a beautiful club, the N.A.A.A. The Hebrews also their Y.M.H.A. There are several other religious sects that have their young men's associations. Now, what have we, English-speaking Catholics along that line? Absolutely nothing. It is a shame. Are we so selfish and indifferent as to leave the care of our boys to the benevolent attention of people belonging to other religious denominations? What are the Knights of Columbus doing for our young men and boys? I think, now that the war is over, it would be an excellent occasion for the Knights of Columbus to turn the current of charity and devotion that they had for our dear soldiers and continue it for the benefit of our young men and boys.

I think that the Knights of Columbus are the only men in Montreal capable of making a success of such an institution. I sincerely hope that in the near future they will get together and give us a club that will be a credit to our great city and its ambitious people. We will thus give a helping hand to the many other benefactors of youth who are working so earnestly for the welfare of our fine young men and noble Canadian boys. TRUE CANADIAN.

AN APPEAL TO BUSINESS MEN.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Having been in your city for some time have been very much impressed with the number of smart fellows whom I have met, and who are walking your streets seeking employment. I have asked them why it is and they answer by showing me the advertisements in your paper.

Every other advertisement finishes up with "Give experience, references, etc., to Box —."

How can the wholesale and retail, also the large offices expect a returned soldier after being away four or five years to be experienced and produce that "Old Country stuff" references.

The boys are rusty and require a few weeks' polishing up. Again, many of them have qualified for better positions, but when they answer an advertisement they have no reference to produce for that particular work. Hence, they get the impression "No soldiers need apply."

If the firms seeking help would give their address so that the men could have a personal interview it would at least show that they were patriotic and doing all they possibly could do to help out the other organizations in the city who are working so hard to help out the returned men.

I have been all over the West, also in U.S.A. and never was asked to produce a reference. Once I offered to show one and was told to start and show what I could do, that was what they wanted to see. If the firms here were to try a man on his merit they would in many cases get better assistants, as many of these references are not worth the paper they are written on and I am sure many of the young men who are to be found on your streets and attending afternoon shows, spending their gratuity money, would become live citizens in place of them who are gradually losing heart and sinking lower every day until it gets to be that nothing matters.

"Business men of the city" wake up, forget about those references, let us meet you face to face and talk things over about that job.

THE QUIZ

ANSWERS TO MONDAY'S QUESTIONS.

1. Megalomania is a condition of super-egotism or self-exaltation, a form of insanity.
2. Through directions to the artists of his day in designing both dress and backgrounds which he regarded as adapted to his personality, Napoleon Bonaparte originated the school of decorative art known as the First Empire period.
3. A cat-bird is a North American variety of thrush; deriving its name from its alarm cry, which resembles the cry of a cat.
4. A cat-fish is a North American variety of channel fish, which is considered edible in many localities. When caught it emits air with a light purring sound.
5. The President of the French Republic is elected to office for a term of seven years.
6. It has been estimated by scientists that the waters of the earth around the South Pole are a mile higher than those surrounding the North Pole.
7. Bread and potatoes should be eaten with red meat because in the process of digestion the starchy elements of the first two expand, and their combustive action assists in disintegrating the heavy meat fibre, thus hastening its assimilation.
8. Large exports of maize, or Indian corn, are being made from Africa. At the present time most of this goes to Java, where the inhabitants are learning to use maize in place of rice as a food staple.
9. St. David is the patron saint of Wales.
10. The highest volcanic peak in Mexico is Orizaba, in Vera Cruz province. It is 18,300 feet in height.

NEW QUESTIONS.

1. Where was Elysium?
2. What is the depth of the sea at the North Pole as ascertained by actual measurements?
3. What article of dress worn by women during the middle of the Nineteenth Century caused many accidents to the wearers?
4. What is a jamb?
5. What expedition is credited with having made the highest ascent of the Andes attained by white men?
6. What fruit raised in Oregon is the most beautiful of its kind in the world?

Better Belting with Efficiency "Built In"

Efficiency is a result—in our belting it is the culmination of thousands of experiments and tests over a belt-building period of fifty years.

The outstanding factor in creating transmission efficiency in our Dominion Friction Surface Belting is our special friction rubber compound with which the entire belt is saturated. This special friction compound gives our belts a pulley-gripping quality that prevents practically all wastage of power through slippage.

Dominion Friction Surface Belting will transmit all the power that any belt can be made to transmit.

Every ounce of material that goes into Dominion Friction Surface Belting is carefully tested by our experts to make sure that it is up to our high standard.

Each individual operation is checked as the belt proceeds from one machine to the other, and a sample of the finished belt is tested both chemically and physically to prove that it will efficiently serve the purpose for which it was made. This "Built-in Efficiency" is backed by the service of our belting engineers, who are ready to demonstrate its value without charge or obligation.

OUTSIDE STAIRS WERE DISCUSSED

Council Took Up Various Matters Relating to Building

A brief discussion took place at the city council meeting last night relative to the proposed by-law permitting the construction of outside staircases for houses erected in Ahuntsic-Bordeaux ward between Isabeau and Cremazie boulevard, Ald. Filion moving that the recommendation be sent back to the Administrative Commission with a statement that, while in favor of the proposal, the council desired that this privilege be extended to the whole area comprised between Belanger, Delanaudiere, Cremazie and Alice streets, as suggested on Nov. 10 last, and therefore asking the commission to submit an amended by-law on these lines.

Ald. Brodeur opposed the motion. Ald. Turcot, however, maintained that the proposal made by Ald. Filion was one that should be supported as he knew the requirements of the district. The mayor also held this view and the motion was declared adopted on division.

Ald. Desroches carried a motion asking the commission to raise the salaries of the three doctors attached to the fire department to the same standard as that of the medical school inspectors, $1,800 per annum, contending that their work was just as important as that of the school inspectors.

Notice was given by Ald. Brodeur to move a month hence the first reading of the by-law amending the law regarding traffic regulation.

Ald. Carmel proposed, and it was agreed, to call attention of the commission to the fact that serious flooding is caused in the district enclosed by Belanger, Drolet, Beaubien and Christopher Columbus streets, owing to the insufficiency of sewers, and asking them to take steps to carry out the proposal to connect these sewers with the main sewer on St. Lawrence Boulevard.

KEEP HOUSES WARM.

On the motion of Ald. Dixon, seconded by Ald. Carmel, it was resolved "That the Administrative Commission be requested to give to the committee appointed to codify the building by-laws the necessary instructions in order that a clause be inserted in the new code, to compel all those who erect buildings to properly list with oakum the space between the windows and the body of the building and to generally make the whole structure proof against cold, frost, and wind.

"That this council believes that such precaution would have the excellent result of rendering the houses much more comfortable than is now the case, and of reducng the quantity of coal consumed therein during the winter. That this council is of opinion that this should be required by the city and that any enactment to that effect, in order to be effective, should be embodied in the draft of by-law now under consideration."

SMALL FIRE.

A fire of unknown origin which caused about $500 worth of damage broke out in a grocery store at 894 Frontenac street, belonging to T. Lachewinsky, last night. District Chief Favreau and the men of the eastern division were soon able to extinguish the flames which seemed to have originated in a stack of charcoal under the counter.

Council Named Representatives on Exhibition Committee

Any suggestion that Mayor Martin makes to the aldermen these days seems to be discarded, for at the City Council meeting yesterday afternoon his suggestions regarding names of the eleven city representatives on the Montreal Industrial Exhibition Association directorate, four of whom form the predominating voice on the finance committee, were turned down, and eleven men named by Ald. Turcot were chosen, which did not include the mayor's name among them, as he had suggested in his letter to the council it might.

The mayor's suggestion was that Ald. O'Connell, Turcot, Vandelac, Rubenstein, Brodeur, Bedard, Shaw, Desroches, Tremblay, Dixon and himself should be named on the association. Ald. Turcot moved, however, that Ald. Sansregret, Carmel, Filion, Denis, Lamarre, Rubenstein, Tremblay, Vandelac, Dixon, Desroches and Turcot should be those appointed, and he went into a long explanation as to why other members of the council should not be on the association, advancing the reason that some were on the charter commission, some were on the school commission, others were in the Quebec Legislature and so on. As to the mayor, however, he said nothing, and when the motion was handed to his worship to be put to the meeting Mayor Martin ruled that it was out of order, inasmuch as there must be a separate resolution for each name. This was the same ruling his worship gave when the members were named on the charter commission, and it had the same result. Ald. Turcot laboriously wrote out a separate resolution for each aldeprnan he named. When the first one was called Ald. Vandelac called next meeting, but the mayor said that as the appointment was on the order of the day it could not be put ever. One after another the names were submitted and approved by the council.

Ald. O'Connell suggested that some English speaking members should be represented on the association, as they represented large taxpayers in the city. Ald. Turcot maintained that the English members were represented on other appointments in the gift of the council, and that he had himself stood aside so that Ald. O'Connell could go on the charter commission, a statement that was greeted with some laughter. Ald. Turcot proceeded with his names and Ald. O'Connell once more appealed to him, saying that if he would not do it he, Ald. O'Connell, would make a motion himself. As Ald. Turcot showed no inclination to depart from his proposals, Ald. O'Connell proposed that Ald. Creelman be elected a director of the association.

Ald. Creelman at once declined the honor, remarking that he did not believe in Montreal having an exhibition like other American cities that had lost money over it. They had not proper accommodation here for their own residents without having to provide it for others. Ald. O'Connell then suggested Ald. Shaw, but he also declined, holding the same views as Ald. Creelman.

So the election went on and when Ald. Vandelac's name was mentioned he offered to withdraw in favor of the mayor, but his worship said he was very content not to be on the association. The names proposed by Ald. Turcot were eventually all approved of.

Council Turn Down Application of Ottawa Man for City Treasurer

The delay of the Administrative Commission in appointing a city treasurer to suceed Gaspard DeSerres, who also filled the position of a member of the commission, the two positions being divided at the last session of the Legislature, has led to an application for the position of city treasurer being made by H. L. Corbett, city treasurer of Ottawa. His letter was sent to the mayor and council, and a similar one to the Administrative Commission. The latter have the making of the appointment, but the city aldermen could not let the opportunity pass without replying to the letter and telling Mr. Corbett that they consider there are ratepayers of the city who are qualified for the position and that they do not favor any more appointments being made from Ottawa, a reference to some other appointments that have been made by the commission.

Ald. Brodeur moved that the city clerk be instructed to inform Mr. Corbett that the council, insofar as it is concerned, is of the opinion that it would be advisable to appoint one of the ratepayers of Montreal as city treasurer.

A letter was read from J. L. Archambault, K.C., stating that his resignation as a city attorney had gone in to the Administrative Commission, and therefore he withdrew his application to be appointed as chief city attorney which was before the council. At the same time he took the opportunity of thanking the mayor and council for their co-operation and kindness during the twenty-two years he had been connected with the city law department.

Ald. Brodeur moved a resolution recording their full appreciation of the efficient services rendered to the city by Mr. Archambault.

Mr. Archambault has been placed on the pension list of the city with a pension of three-quarters of his annual salary of $6,500 a year.

BRIBING THE COMPOSITOR.

"I see Mad Mullah bobs up again."

"Just a word to the compositor," said the editor of the Plunkville Palladium.

"Yes?"

Tell him not to get it Maud Muller, and I'll blow him to a good cigar."

VERDUN TAXES NOT TO BE RAISED

By a vote of 5 to 2 Verdun city council last night defeated the proposal to impose a special tax with a view of wiping out the discrepancy between the established revenues of the city and the expenditures authorized by the budget for the current year.

The vote was carried after considerable discussion had taken place on the subect during which the council divided itself into two camps, with Mayor Leclair and Aldermen Rheaume and Crowder supporting the measure on the one hand, and Aldermen Brennan, Lawton, Cohn, Lanouette, and Bacon opposing it.

The tax would call for an extra 70 cents per $100 of valuation, which in addition to the tax of $1.29½ already imposed, would make a total of $1.99½ per $100. The opposing aldermen claimed that the deficit could come from several available sources without taxing the citizens higher, such as revenue accuring from taxes of past years, but the mayor declared this practice would be illegal.

Solving the Problem of Appearance With Specially Designed Spring Apparel

Not oversizes, but suits and gowns designed and built by women who have themselves known the discomfort of stout women who have had to be satisfied with so-called "oversizes" and whose appearance has often lost attractiveness because specially designed clothes couldn't be obtained. Trimming lines slenderize instead of emphasize. Extra material put into the upper portions of sleeves where needed, lowered waist-lines and larger armseyes are but items of the details which combine in making our apparel for larger women so acceptable.

—A suit of Tricotine has a narrow Tuxedo collar and the lengthened side panels of the coat are heavily embroidered. The sleeves taper gracefully, then flare out again at the wrist, the flare being covered by embroidery which also is used in the back between flat pleats below the waistline.

—The collar of a Navy Serge suit extends to the full length of the coat; tapering points of embroidery are used in the back and the gracefully curving pockets are outlined with embroidery in black silk. A very narrow belt forms the sole fastening of the coat.

—First Floor Up.

As with suits—so with Coats and Dresses—all are specially designed and developed in materials which camouflage weight wonderfully.

A New Wrinkle In Party Bags

The true party bag top with its large inside mirror has received a lower portion of soft heavy moire which will delight those who have not cared for the conventional outline of the party bag $9.95

One may also have a silk covered party box which is a decided change from the varied leathers used $9.95

Pouch bags of satin and tinsel brocade, $13.50, kodak bags of leathers in suit shades $5.50 to $15.00 and fitted party boxes with the most generously sized mirrors of all. $13.50 and $18.50.

Tricotine is "The" Fabric for Spring

Recent shipments from England have provided us with this much wanted fabric in a 54 inch width at $8.90 a yard.

It bears the magic letters B. D. A., the certificate of merit from the Bradford Dyers' Association, a guarantee of color permanency.

Oxfords of Black Suede

show quite a departure from the short, stubby vamp predicted by Fashion. The vamp is very long and tapering. We feel that Montreal women will appreciate its graceful lines.

Such details as a covered Louis heel with a plate, and hand-turned soles and narrow laces are to be found in these Oxfords.

The same model is obtainable in black kid and patent colt.

MARGARET CURRIE'S CHATS

LENTEN RECIPES.

There is comparatively little waste in a can of salmon, as the proportion of skin and bones in the better grades is small.

Like other food products, salmon prices are still on the ascending list, and when it reaches 42 cents a can, as it has done in some of the stores, the homemaker begins to look about for ways in which the one can may serve as many persons as two did before.

Creamed salmon has been used by many homemakers, but here are some other ways in which the can of salmon may be "stretched."

Deep Dish Salmon Pie.—Line a medium sized deep pie dish with good, plain pie crust. Drain a large can of salmon, removing bones and skin. Make a good cream dressing, not too thick, and flake the salmon in it, seasoning with a little salt, pepper and juice of an onion. Chop enough white celery to make half a cup and add.

Fashion with a small cutter enough potato balls to cover the top of the pie. Put into the crust the creamed salmon, then the potatoes, pour in the rest of the sauce and dot with butter. Cover with the top crust and bake thirty-five minutes.

The potatoes from which the balls were cut may be boiled, mashed and made into soup to precede the pie, which can be followed with a fruit salad, making an excellent and inexpensive dinner.

Salmon Betty.—Flake a can of drained salmon, first removing the skin and the bones. Chop one onion of medium size with one green pepper or a canned pepper, mix with the fish. Butter a pudding dish and put in a layer of fish, then a layer of fine crumbs, dust with pepper and salt and dot with butter.

Proceed until the fish is used up, then beat one egg in a cupful of milk, turn over all and bake a delicate brown. With a plain tomato or a vegetable soup and a good salad this makes another inexpensive dinner.

Salmon Mould.—Take two cupfuls of flaked salmon, two cupfuls of crumbs, the juice of an onion and two sliced, hard boiled eggs, make and add two cupfuls of cream sauce, turn into a butter mould, cover tightly and boil for two hours. Unmould on a hot platter and serve a cream sauce in a hot gravy boat. A vegetable or cereal soup and a salad completes another salmon dinner.

Salmon Crowder is made the same as any fish chowder. Put fried, dried pork in the bottom of the kettle, then layers of fish, sliced onion, potatoes and large crackers, seasoning and milk. Cook half or three-quarters of an hour.

Salmon Chops.—Two cups flaked salmon, two cups thick white sauce, season with salt, pepper, lemon juice and table sauce. Shape by hand to resemble lamb chops, dip in sifted, dry bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for ten minutes. Or they may be dipped in beaten egg and fine cracker crumbs, placed in a wire basket and cooked in deep, hot fat.

When making the sauce for the chops prepare an extra cupful, thin this down a little and add a hard cooked egg cut in slices. This will make a suitable sauce to accompany the chops.

Spaghetti Salad.—Chop fine 2 cups of cooked spaghetti, 2 cups of celery or cabbage, 2 pimentos, and 1 small onion. Mix with mayonnaise dressing and serve on individual plates on lettuce leaves if possible.

In cooking spaghetti for spaghetti and cheese, I always add enough extra for this salad for luncheon the following day.

Fish Balls Popular.—One can always make codfish balls with shredded codfish in the house; and they are especially for luncheon in Lent. Boil half a dozen medium-sized potatoes and when parboiled pour off all the water but about half a cupful and add half a box codfish, which has been carefully rinsed in cold water; when potatoes are soft, drain and mash, beating the mixture of potatoes and fish until very light; add a quarter of a cupful of butter, form into balls, dip in flour and egg, well beaten, and fry in deep fat until a golden brown.

Crab Meat a la King.—Look over one-half pound of crab meat and then prepare the chafing dish with water in the lower compartment. Now place in the pan: Three cups of milk; one-half cup of flour.

Stir to dissolve the flour and then bring to a boil and cook for five minutes. All the crab meat and one cup of celery, cut in one-half inch pieces and parboiled, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one teaspoon of paprika, one-quarter teaspoon of mustard, juice of one-half lemon, one well-beaten egg.

Stir to blend thoroughly and then heat to the boiling point. Cook for five minutes and then serve on toast.

Macaroni and Cheese Rarebit.—Cook four ounces of macaroni and then blanch, chill and chop fine. Place three tablespoons of bacon fat in a pan of the chafing dish and add: One onion grated, two green peppers, minced fine. Cook until soft and then add the prepared macaroni, one and one-quarter cups of grated cheese, two well-beaten eggs, two-thirds cup of milk, one-quarter teaspoon of mustard, one teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of paprika. Stir constantly until boiling and then cook five minutes. Serve on toast.

These recipes may help to vary the monotony of "fish" meals.

MARGARET CURRIE'S MAIL

"THREE STRINGS."

I am rather in a "fix", so I wonder if you would help me. I have three dear boy friends whom I like very much—not one better than the other, that is, at present. They have each asked me to marry them and owing to trouble in the family, (which would take too long to explain here, and which really does not affect the main question) it is necessary I should marry soon. All my friends and relatives have characterized the boys thus: 1. A. is twenty-two, very wealthy, inclined to be lazy, but very generous and lavish. He is at present much in love with me, but I know he is inclined to be fickle. Very kind-hearted. I have known him six years. 2. B. is twenty-two also, he is not well off, but extremely handsome; always cheerful, optimistic, great fun, and a "real" pal. He offers me a home, and an income of $2,500 a year. He doesn't keep at a job long, as he likes a "change" he says. We quarrel only about animals, he hates them, and is often cruel to them, otherwise he is a nice boy. 3. C is much older, he is thirty-three years of age. Fairly well off, nice looking, kind-hearted, but very quiet, reserved, and inclined to be bossy. I find fault with A. because he is fickle, with B. because he does not like dumb beasts, with C. because he is so reserved, calm and bossy. (I am too, and I don't like being made to do things I don't want to! Don't laugh please). I am twenty years of age. Now Miss Currie which shall I give my budding womanhood? I really am serious, but I fear my letter will seem a joke to you! Do you know whose advice I'd really like? Old "Lumber Jack's." I enjoy his letters they are so frank and honest. HOPE.

Ans.—"C" sounds like the "one best bet" to me. "A" is probably a spoiled darling who would not wear well; I wouldn't marry "B" if he had several millions, if he is unkind to animals; even if "C's" "bossy", his other qualities counterbalance that. Most men like to do the "lord and master" act, you know, but it's really just "bluff," at that!

HE IS SHY.

Perhaps you could help me to settle this matter. I am friends with two brothers, both of whom are farmers. I have known the family for years and have been the best of friends, and have gone around with one of the boys quite a little. He is rather shy, and yet I think he cares, but if I am at a dance or party he seems to stand back and let others have first place. He is no dancer but I would willingly sit out some dances with him. Should I ask him why he does it? PUZZLED.

Ans.—Yes.

A. S. B. (DESPAIR).

If what you say is true, I would leave my home town, get as far away as possible, and go to work.

Gregg. Larry Goodman was alone in the office when she opened the door. His startled surprise and pleasure made him stammer like a schoolboy.

"I have come to talk to Mr. Gregg," Elaine said after she had replied to his greeting.

"Thank God!" Larry said so seriously she laughed a little. "I'll tell him you are here." Then as he passed her chair, "Tell him everything you know or—suspect, Elaine."

For the first time since her father had left her Elaine told another all that was in her heart. Although Malcolm Gregg was both shocked and amazed at the lengths she had allowed Kane Vanderwater to go, he never once interrupted her.

"Some one must find out what he does with the money I give him. I must know if there is—another woman in his life. Not for my own sake, but for Henry's. I cannot fight something that is perhaps only a suspicion. I must know one way or the other. But Kane must not know, never must know if there is nothing wrong, that I even suspected him. He has always given me a reasonable excuse for everything—until lately. But I can't go on this way."

"I am glad you have come to me at last, Elaine. I am going to help you. But will you answer me one question? Do you still love him?"

"I honestly do not know. I think so. I have cared very much, you know. Then there is Henry. I guess I am the sort of woman who cannot help caring for the man who father's her children. Yes, I think I love him, although I—don't trust him any more. That is why I have come to you; so that I may have back my trust in him if it is possible."

"If possible I will restore it to you, but—frankly, Elaine, I am afraid for what you will have to face."

"Even so, I must know."

THE AWAKENING OF ELAINE CADMAN

By CAROLYN BEECHER.

(Copyright, 1919, by Carolyn Beecher)

Chapter LXII.

Elaine, troubled because of Kane's absence the night before and because of the message she had received, went slowly up to her room. She was in no mood to talk, even to Mrs. Hunter. Hetty and little Henry were just going for their morning airing and she kissed the boy rather absent-mindedly.

"Aren't you well this morning, Mrs. Vanderwater?" Hetty asked.

"Yes, thank you, Hetty. I am quite well."

"I thought you looked pale, ma'am," Hetty said, and then passed on with Henry, who had tugged at her gown impatiently while she talked.

Elaine stood by the window watching them until they turned the corner. Then with a sigh sat down.

Was there another woman in Kane's life? That she must know and at once. It had been hard to endure his frequent absences; her loneliness. But that she would not could not, overlook. No, not even for Henry's sake would she be so insulted.

"In what have I failed?" she asked herself aloud. "I have given him love, affection, undivided devotion, and my money. What more can a woman do for a man?"

Elaine had been more frightened at this thought—of another woman in Kane's life—than she cared to admit, even to herself. She had an irritable feeling that somehow she had bungled; yet how? Then, too, her money affairs were beginning to assume, to her, an alarming aspect. She knew very well that Malcolm Gregg would never let her suffer; that she could get with the income still left to her. But Kane was even now grumbling because she had not, would not, let him persuade her to give him the entire ten thousand Gregg had advanced her and let the bills wait. He had been very unpleasant over it. Then there was Hugo. He openly leered at her and had taken on an air of superciliious "I told you so" that was particularly aggravating. The man knew she had paid him, yet refused to leave when she discharged him.

She went out occasionally with her young friends, but all zest was gone for her from the gatherings because of her embarrassment at always going without Kane. Almost unconsciously she slipped back into the old habit of refusing to accept their invitations and of doing no entertaining.

Kane had not relaxed in his attentions all this time. He was still overpolite and attentive to her in unimportant ways, rose when she entered a room, and remained standing until she was seated, lighted her cigarette, and kissed her fingers when she took it from him, called her pet names, and made a great fuss over her at times. Yet Elaine could not longer feel he was sincere. She had experienced too many of his rages; there had been too much said about money. Now she could not help feeling that his words, his caresses did not ring true.

Suddenly she decided. She would put behind her all her craving for happiness, forget herself. She would strive to make Kane see to what he was leading them both—the disruption of their home. For Henry's sake she would make a supreme effort to hold his father. But first she must know what she had to fight, Elaine, so open, so transparent herself, could not fight in the dark. With this in her mind she went at once to Malcolm

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

REDDY AND MRS. REDDY ARE PATIENT.

He whose patient doth possess
That which leadeth to success.

Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy were disappointed that their clever plan for catching Peter and Mrs. Peter had failed. They had felt sure that if Reddy could drive Peter and Mrs. Peter out of the bramble-tangle it would be a simple matter for Mrs. Reddy to catch one or both of them. But Peter and Mrs. Peter had found safety in a hollow tree trunk before Mrs. Reddy had had any chance at all to catch them.

But Reddy and Mrs. Reddy are used to disappointments and they never waste any time thinking about them. They always make the best of a bad matter, and this is what they did now. It was quite clear to them that if Peter and Mrs. Peter were inside that hollow trunk, and of course they were, they must come out sooner or later. If they didn't they would starve to death, and before they would do this they would certainly come out. So Reddy and Mrs. Reddy agreed that they would take turns watching the open end of that tree trunk. Reddy agreed to keep watch first. He lay down close along side the trunk of the fallen tree where he could spring on Peter and Mrs. Peter the instant they set foot outside. Mrs. Reddy trotted away to hunt for Meadow Mice. When she had gone a little distance she barked three times. She hoped that Peter would hear her and know by the sound that she had left the place where he was hiding.

For two hours Reddy Fox lay right where he was without moving.

For two hours Reddy Fox lay right where he was without moving. Peter didn't so much as put his whiskers outside that hollow tree trunk. In fact, though he had kept his ears constantly on guard, Reddy hadn't heard the least sound from inside that hollow trunk.

At the end of two hours Mrs. Reddy returned. She took care to come from a direction which could not be seen from the open end of the hollow tree trunk. Very softly she tiptoed up and took Reddy's place. Just as softly Reddy trotted away. He also took care to keep out of sight of the open end of that hollow trunk. Reddy was gone for two or three hours. When he returned Mrs. Reddy was exactly as he had left her. It was plain that she had had no luck. When she saw Reddy coming she got to her feet very quietly and joined him a little distance from the old tree trunk.

"They haven't made a sound," she whispered. "Of course it is daytime and they are sleeping. They know they are safe in there and probably they will sleep all the rest of the day. But just wait until night comes. They'll never suspect us of patience enough to watch all day, and when jolly, round, red Mr. Sun has gone to bed behind the Purple Hills, they'll come out. Then we will be rewarded for our patience. Such a long watch wouldn't be worth while in summer, but with food as scarce as it is now a Rabbit dinner is worth almost any amount of patience."

Reddy nodded. "True, my dear, quite true," he whispered. "You go take a nap now and I'll watch."

So all that long, bright day Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy took turns watching for Peter and Mrs. Peter to come out of that hollow tree trunk. And, all that long, bright day nothing happened. Finally, jolly, round, red Mr. Sun went to bed behind the Purple Hills, the Black Shadows came creeping out across the Green Meadows and into the Green Forest. It was the time that Peter Rabbit best loves to be abroad, and Reddy Fox, hiding behind the fallen tree trunk, sighed softly. He felt sure, absolutely sure, that Peter wouldn't stay in that tree trunk much longer. The time had come when patience would be rewarded.

ACTION OF SOAP.

This is the day when people are asking how and why things are done. Just how does soap clean clothes? Fatty impurities and waste products thrown off through the pores of the skin lodge in the clothing and hold particles of dust. Soapy water penetrates a fabric quickly, softens the dirt and divides the fine particles of fat, which are then easily removed by rubbing.

Various substances are used to accelerate or facilitate the action of soap. Among these are lye, washing-soda, borax and ammonia, turpentine, kerosine, naphtha, benzine and Fuller's earth.

Lye and washing-soda are strong alkalis, used in what are called strong soaps. The alkali unites with fat particles to form soap. This emulsification aids in removing dirt particles; but as these alkalis also tend to destroy the fibre of cloth, they should be used only on coarse materials, sparingly, and with great care for immediate and thorough rinsing.

Borax and ammonia are milk alkalis, and are used with melted mild soaps to form a solution for washing flannels and delicate colored fabrics. The use of turpentine, kerosene, benzine or naphtha very materially facilitates the softening and loosening of the dirt, but their odor lingers unless the rinsing is done very thoroughly.

Fuller's earth is used in the scouring soaps, and is the slightly gritty substance one feels in them.

Washing powders are a mixture of soap and an alkali, the better ones of a mild alkali with a good deal of soap. Poorer kinds, containing strong alkalis, are wasteful, because they injure the fibre of the cloth.

Buy good soap wholesale. Unwrap each piece and lay it up on a shelf to dry. It will harden and go further in use.

Easy Lunches for "Busy Days"
There are "busy days" in the home just as there are "busy days" in the office and then the problem of lunch is one of getting the greatest results from the least expenditure of energy. When dainty ready-cooked dishes can be procured however, this problem soon disappears. Jellied Brawn, for instance, makes a most delicious lunch dish and as far as nourishing qualities are concerned has an exceedingly high food value. Afternoons go so much easier after a satisfactory lunch. Why not try this suggestion?

Decorative Accessories
An otherwise ordinary room may be redeemed by the addition of a point of interest—whether it be in color or form, or a combination of both. Often a successful decorative scheme hinges on a detail—a detail such as an interesting Coronation or Pillow Cushion placed upon a Chesterfield or an unusual Pedestal Lamp or Torchere, whose form and color will give to a room just what is lacking, and add a sense of balance, completing a harmonious whole. A decorative Bookrest, placed upon a table, a beautiful framed Mirror, a Statuette, or even the color provided by a Lamp Shade, will lend a charm to an otherwise ordinary scheme.
A visit to the Galleries will illustrate just what we mean. Here will be found Lamps, Torcheres, Bookracks, Cushions, Mirrors and a host of decorative accessories, whose individuality and moderate price will recommend themselves to you.

STR. CAPE BRETON SPLITS AMIDSHIPS

Members of Crew Tells Thrilling Story of Battle in Storm

COMPLETE LOSS

Rudderless and Propeller Blades Smashed, Was at Mercy of Elements

SYDNEY, N.S., March 9.—(By Canadian Press.)—With the steering gear torn away by the force of the gale and ice floes, and the propeller blades smashed, the Dominion Coal Company's carrier Cape Breton battled with the heavy seas in Saturday's terrific storm off the south coast of Scatterie Island for five hours before being finally driven ashore, split in two amidships. The thrilling story of their experience was told by members of the Cape Breton's crew on their arrival at Louisburg yesterday. Every member of the crew, with the exception of Captain J. A. Willett, of Sydney, and the First Officer, Fynn, are now at Louisburg, the two ship's officers having remained on Scatterie Island to superintend the work of removing personal effects and fixtures from the ill-fated vessel.

According to the story of the trip as related by members of the Cape Breton's crew, the vessel left Halifax on Friday and until 11 o'clock Saturday night, when off St. Esprit, where they encountered the gale, had a fair run. The force of the gale was first felt near St. Esprit, and an hour or so later, the Cape Breton encountered heavy ice floes. The vessel struck a course down the coast, but in the heavy seas the rudder was smashed and the steering gear carried away when off Port Nobi. This occurred about 11 o'clock Saturday night, the propeller blades being broken in the ice floes, and the vessel becoming unmanageable. The Cape Breton was tossed about for five hours by the strong winds, the gale at this time having reached its greatest velocity.

AT MERCY OF ELEMENTS.

An effort was made by the crew to effect temporary repairs to the steering gear, but while this work was in progress the ice, smashing against the steamer, broke the propeller blades and from then on until the Cape Breton was blown on the shore, the vessel was at the mercy of the elements. The Captain made an effort to put the vessel in such a position that she would lodge on the south shore, all hope of saving the ship having been abandoned when her steering gear and propeller blades were washed away, the one aim then being to save the crew. It was just about daybreak when the Cape Breton was off Port Nobi and about 11 o'clock Sunday morning, the vessel was driven ashore. The Cape Breton being light, went well up on the shore, and thus the crew were able to leave the vessel and reach the island without much difficulty. They were about to start a fire near the fishermen's shacks when the residents of the island, attracted by the sight of a vessel being washed ashore, came along and gave the members of the crew shelter.

The Cape Breton is now a total loss and is resting on her side on the shores of Scatterie Island. The members of the crew landed at Tuffy Cove about 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and they were brought to Louisburg Monday afternoon on the Reid-Newfoundland steamer Kyle that went to the assistance of the Cape Breton late Saturday night. The members of the crew are none the worse for their experience.

BUCKHANNON AFLOAT.

BOSTON, March 9.—The Shipping Board steamer Buckhannon, leaking and without fuel, water or provisions, was taken in town yesterday for Bermuda. She had been burning part of her cargo to keep the pumps going during the past two days. The Buckhannon was bound from Messina for New York.

The steamer Sarsoxie, one of the Shipping Board's new vessels, is partly disabled and leaking badly, 400 miles east of Ambrose Channel lightship. She expects to reach New York this afternoon.

U. S. STEAMER PICKED UP.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The American steamship Wisconsin Bridge, from Hango, Finland, for New York, is in tow of the steamer East Side, on her way to this port, having lost her propeller while 1,000 miles at sea.

BRITISH STEAMER'S PLIGHT.

LONDON, March 9.—A radio message received here from the British steamer Carrigan Head, yesterday, indicated that she had the Atlantic transport steamship Maine in tow, and was making for Queenstown. The latter was reported in distress 300 miles off the Irish coast last Saturday.

The Carrigan Head sailed from Dublin via Greenock, March 4, for St. John, N.B.

NORWEGIAN BARQUE ASHORE.

STAVANGER, Norway, March 9.—The Norwegian barque Patmos, from Newport News, February 5, for Korsser, Denmark, is reported ashore near here, and is said to lie in an exposed position.

GLENORCHY TOTAL WRECK.

VICTORIA, Brazil, March 9.—The British steamer Glenorchy, which struck on the rocks off Victoria Bar, March 1, is a total wreck. She is a vessel of 4,654 gross tons, hailing from Glasgow.

CANADIAN LANDS JUMP 36 PER CENT.

Interesting Official Statistics Regarding Farm Values, Wages, Etc.

PROVS. COMPARED

Average Wages Throughout Dominion Show Considerable Increase

OTTAWA, March 9, (By Canadian Press)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics publishes today its annual report on the average values for the year 1919, of estimates of (1) the values of farm lands; (2) the wages for farm help and (3) the value of farm live stock and of wool. These estimates have been compiled from the returns of a large corps of correspondents throughout every province of the Dominion.

The average value of farm land for the Dominion, including improved and unimproved land, together with the value of dwelling and other farm buildings, is placed at $52 per acre, as compared with $46 last year; $44 in 1917; $41 in 1916; $40 in 1915; $38 in $1914, and in 1910. This shows an enhancement in value of farm lands of $14 or 36.8 per cent. in five years. By provinces, the value is highest in British Columbia, being $174 as compared with an estimated unit value of $149 per acre in 1917 and 1918.

Ontario with an estimated average value of $65 per acre and Quebec with $72 per acre are above the average for the Dominion. Last year both Ontario and Quebec gave each the average value of farm lands at $57 per acre. In Prince Edward Island the average value of farm lands has risen from $44 per acre, the highest previous value, to $51. Nova Scotia also shows an increase from $36 per acre, in 1918 to $41 in 1918. New Brunswick valued its farm lands at $19 per acre in 1910; $29 in 1916 and 1917; $35 in 1918; and $32 in 1919. The value of farm lands in Manitoba, while fluctuating between $29 in 1910 and $32 in 1918, rose to $35 per acre in 1919. In Saskatchewan farm lands were valued at $32 as compared with $29 per acre in 1918 and $24 in 1914. and Alberta lands increased in value from $21 per acre in 1914 to $27 in 1917 and $29 in 1919.

AVERAGE WAGE INCREASED.

The average wages paid for farm help in 1919 show considerable increase as compared with the previous year. For Canada as a whole, the wages per month during summer for males, inclusive of board, is $78 and for females $43 per month; the value of board $24 per month for males and $19 for females, is included in the above estimate.

The downward trend of the value of horses from the high mark of 1917 is again in evidence in the figures of 1919; the values of milch cows continues to advance while the value of other horned cattle, sheep and swine is either stationary or slightly lower. For the Dominion, as a whole, the average price of horses under one year old is $55 as against $56 in 1912, and $57 in 1917; for horses, 1 year old to under three, the average value per animal was $108 as against $112 in 1918 and $116 in the previous year; for work horses the price per animal is practically the same in 1919 as in 1918, ($161 and $162.)

MILK PRODUCTS GO UP.

The continued upward trend of the value of milk products is reflected in the average price of milch cows which is placed at $92 per head in 1919 as compared with $87 in 1918, $62 in 1916 and $42 in 1910. The average value of other cattle under one year was $25 as compared with a similar figure in 1918, while those of three years old and over dropped in value from $88 per head in 1918 to $83 per head in 1919. Sheep averages $15 as against $16 in 1918. Swine are valued at $26 as against $25 in 1918. Wool shows a drop of from 62 cents per pound to 55 cents for unwashed and from 80 cents to 70 cents for washed. Correspondents were required to report from the best possible information available the average value per head of each kind of farm animal in their districts, and the averages thus obtained have been compiled and employed in the calculation of total values according to the number of farm animals as returned in June, 1919.

RESULTING TOTALS.

The resulting totals for the Dominion are as follows, the figures for 1918 being given in brackets:

Horses	$425,070,000	($459,155,000)
Milch cows	327,814,000	($307,344,000)
Other cattle	361,007,000	($398,514,000)
All Cattle	706,821,000	($705,058,000)
Sheep	50,605,000	($ 48,802,000)
Swine	102,309,000	($112,751,000)

The total value of farm live stock in Canada is therefore estimated at $1,206,602,000 as against $1,336,766,000 in 1918 and $1,102,261,000 in 1917.

The total number of animals reported on farms in June last was:

Horses, 3,467,369; milch cows, 3,548,437; other cattle, 6,536,574; sheep, 3,421,958 and swine 4,540,070.

ANDREWS RENEWS ATTACK ON IVENS

For One Hour Crown Counsel Gives Accused Verbal Shelling

POISONOUS ARTICLES

Says Ivens Worked to Destroy Framework of Society

WINNIPEG, March 9, (Special to The Star).—A. J. Andrews, K.C., chief crown counsel, again trained his guns on William Ivens, pastor of the Labor church, at yesterday afternoon's session of the strike trial. The session only lasted an hour, because of the illness of James Jack, juror, but during that hour, counsel subjected Ivens to a withering verbal shelling.

After quoting extensively from articles appearing in the Western Labor News, of which Ivens was editor, and referring to a speech made between the time of the Calgary convention and the Winnipeg strike, Andrews said: "What a pity that this man with such a command of language should prostitute his God given eloquence to the cause of pulling down everything good in our constitution and in our framework of society, doing all he can to make the satisfied dissatisfied, to set class against class, to fan the flames of discontent until it breaks out in very revolution."

Andrews, anticipating criticism for reading only portions of articles, said: "I have read parts only and have skipped from place to place, because I am only reading what I consider important things. Defense counsel and accused may say: read the whole of the articles, they may change the sense. I submit it does not. If you are going to hunt poison, you may find next to poison a bottle containing harmless medicine. It is the poison in these articles for which they are responsible, it is the seditious here that it is my duty to point out to you."

Quoting from the Labor News, Andrews charged Ivens with writing: "Under the heading Bolshevism speaking, he says, 'once more the fires of Bolshevism have overleaped its bounds, once more has its perfume, pleasant or otherwise, crossed borders and passed west. Gradually it is coming to west.

"Then he goes on to point with apparent glee to the fact that there may be no troops obtainable to fight the Bolsheviki. He said, "Canadian troops had mutinied and America was opposed to sending troops, French troops had mutinied and so on.'"

Referring to the Western Labor News of April 11, counsel said, "In the editorial column Editor Ivens refers thus to the western conference: "Opposed to this ideal—he is referring to the Industrial Peace Conference in Paris—stands the policy of the Western Conference, which says, "There shall be no employer and no employee and no government as at present constituted. In place of these, all shall be workers, because of the wiping out of the profit system. Then, through the institution of the Soviet system, workers and all people shall elect delegates to the Central Soviet to do the necessary legislating."

"It is impossible for Ivens to come here and argue that, because he was not at the Calgary conference. He is as much responsible for it as every one who went there. He may say he is not socialist, but I leave it to you whether he has not out done all of them in his revolutionary ideas. In his attempt to disturb society and set class against class in this community."

He then turned to a report in the Labor paper of April 18, of Iven's speech at the Labor Church which also was reported by Staff Sergt. Reams of the R. N. W. M. P.

THE REPORT SAYS.

"It is hard to conceive a more scathing indictment of capitalism than the speaker meted out. He spoke of it controlling the press, controlling the Legislature, entering the judiciary," and you will see that is a favorite topic with the accused Ivens. It is intimated and suggests that it retards and drags out cases until even the semblance of justice is destroyed and until the courts become a jest and a by-word.

It appoints its heelers as judges and magistrates. Never yet was it known to put a worker of independence on the bench."

"Ivens, preacher, a man masquerading under the guise of a Minister of the Gospel, using these damnable words toward the judiciary of our country, a judiciary we have every reason to be proud of. What kind of a man is this who refers to our judiciary in terms of that kind, and what is his life? What kind of a man is it that is always seeing wrong in others? Is it because of the lily whiteness of his own blameless life? He believes he is the one pure man."

REVOLUTIONARIES DISPERSE.

SAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, March 9.—A despatch from Tegucigalpa says that as the Honduran revolutionary forces have been dispersed and have fled into Nicaragua, the Government of Honduras has set at liberty all political prisoners.

PUBLIC WORKS

Federation of Canada Elect Officers at Ottawa Meeting

OTTAWA, March 9 — At the second annual convention of the Dominion Public Works Federation of Canada, held yesterday at the Russell Hotel, the officers for the ensuing year were elected. They are: President, T. G. Matheson, Toronto; first vice-president, F. Jacques, Ottawa; second vice-president, A. Morrison, Montreal; third vice-president, F. C. Dovey, Winnipeg; secretary-treasurer, S. McGarry, Montreal; assistant secretary, J. H. Rogers, Toronto. The executive committee will be composed of the elected presidents of the affiliated associations. The secretary's report, presented at today's meeting, showed a balance of $180.47.

KNEW WHAT IT WAS LIKE.

Mrs. Green (relating experience)—It hurt something awful. The dentist wanted to give me gas, but my husband wouldn't hear of it. You see, he'd been gassed himself in France.—From the Boston Transcript.

"Who said FRY'S?"

He just loves its delicious chocolaty flavor.

Kiddies who get FRY'S regularly are vigorous, warm-blooded and healthy. They throw off colds quickly. They are more likely to escape epidemics. If you have some little pale faces at home, just try FRY'S. You'll be glad you did. But—remember

NEPONSET TWIN SHINGLES

Asphalt Saturation—Slate Surfaced—Fire Safe.

Supply a roof that combines durability and service with a pleasing and attractive appearance.

For protection from heat, cold, rain, storms and the risk of external fires, caused by sparks and burning embers, "Neponset" Twin Shingles are rendering excellent service on thousands of residences, bungalows, churches, schools and public buildings throughout Canada.

"Neponset" Twin Shingles are the only Twin Shingles manufactured. They are two shingles in one, thus reducing the time of laying, and the number of nails required by one-third.

"Neponset" Twin Shingles are so designed that they can be laid close together, assuring a roof that is absolutely weather-tight, while retaining the appearance of a slate roof.

"Neponset" Twin Shingles are made in two colors, red or green.

There is a "Neponset" dealer in your district. Write us for his name and a copy of our illustrated booklet "Roofing Canada."

WHY! EVERYBODY'S USING IT!

Mother burned her hand— Zam-Buk stopped the pain.

Father's finger was crushed at work— A Zam-Buk dressing was applied.

Sister had eczema— Zam-Buk healed it.

Phad chapped hands— Zam-Buk ended the pain and healed them.

Mother lent some Zam-Buk to Mrs. Jones— She says it's wonderful!

And every time brother Tom writes from France he says:— "Send us more and more."

(Extract from letter received)

Honestly now! Could you pay 50c. for any other prescription which would give you as much all-round service and satisfaction as a box of Zam-Buk does? Zam-Buk is a combination of powerful, healing, herbal extracts, so refined and compounded that wherever there is any kind of soreness of the flesh, or diseased tissue or abnormal condition (such as inflammation, festering or blood-poisoning) it almost immediately soothes and heals. It stops bleeding. It is highly antiseptic—kills all germs. It is suitable alike for the hardened skin of a working man or the delicate velvet skin of a child. It never goes rancid. Its power does not evaporate. Use half a box and put the remainder on the shelf—just as good six weeks or six months after.

FREE TRIAL—Send name of paper and 1c. stamp (for return postage) to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for free trial box.

CITIZENSHIP HAS DANGERS

Rev. Dr. Pidgeon, of Toronto addressed the Young Men's Canadian Club in the Windsor Hotel last night upon the subject of "Citizenship."

The principal danger in connection with this in Canada, he claimed, was sectionalism, which was dividing people into different classes, pitting province against province and seeking to further the interests of one section at the expense of another.

A new spirit of citizenship had been awakened by the war.

"I believe today there is a new spirit towards the needs of the State and a new response to its demands," said Dr. Pidgeon. "Canadians as never before are realizing their heritage and the value of that heritage and their duty in regard to it."

M. P. Fennell presided at the dinner, R. L. Calder, K.C., introducing the speaker.

PRINCE A FELLOW OF CHEMIST BODY

The Prince of Wales has become an Honorary Fellow of the Canadian Institute of Chemistry, according to a communication just received by Harold J. Roast, secretary of the institute.

The Canadian Institute of Chemistry came into being last May by the vote of chemists of Canada at that time assembled in Montreal. It is the only body representing the chemical profession in Canada from the professional point of view. Through its activity Canada is to be represented at the next meeting of the Inter-Allied Chemical Congress to be held in Rome next June.

The first annual meeting of the institute will be held on May 28, in Toronto. Although only in its first year the institute numbers amongst its fellows over 100 of the leading chemists of Canada. It is believed that it will become a decided force for development in the industrial life life of Canada.

FIRES PROBED

Believe Rats Upset Candles at Religious Rite, Causing Fire

No cause for the fire which broke out in the stable of Emery Benoit, merchant, 2086 Christopher Columbus street at an early hour on the morning of March 1, and in which three horses, a dog and an automobile were destroyed, was discovered at the investigation by Fire Commissioner Ritchie, yesterday afternoon. The stable and garage were insured for a total of $8,650, the horses for $450, the harness for $100 and the carriages for $300. The automobile was not insured.

In the investigation into the fire which occurred at the apartment of Isidor Goldenberg, a commercial traveller, 402 St. Denis street, on the evening of March 5, the only theory advanced by Goldenberg was that some rats must have upset some candles, which had been lighted to observe a religious rite, whilst he and his wife were at the theatre. The damage to the apartment was about $350, but was covered by insurance of $1,500.

Whilst doing his best to heat the room in which his four-year-old son was receiving a bath, Francis Paquette, of 125 Wellington street, dropped a coal oil heater and caused the fire which broke out at his house on the evening of March 3 last.

EX-ALD. BLUMENTHAL WINS COURT ACTION

In the Superior Court yesterday, Mr. Justice Lane handed down judgment condemning Moses Solomon to pay Mrs. Abraham Blumenthal the sum of $1,045.60, with costs and interest from June 16, 1917, to this date, and ordered that a certain property owned by defendant and situated at the corner of Sanguinet and Roy streets be hypothecated for the amount of the judgment and costs.

WILL ENTERTAIN G.W.V.A. DELEGATES

A meeting of the civic reception commitee was held yesterday under the chairmanship of Dr. Dubeau at the City Hall, when it was decided that the city should entertain the 800 delegates to the Great War Veterans Convention who are meeting in the city at the end of the month, to a banquet at the Windsor Hotel. The banquet will be given on the evening of March 23. Col. J. J. Creelman waited on the committee and explained the matter to them.

The committee also decided to entertain the members of the National Editorial Association, representing newspapers in the United States, who will be in the city on June 21 and 22, as part of their Canadian tour. They will be driven around the city and entertained to a luncheon on the top of the mountain.

The visit of the members of the Imperial Press Conference in August was also considered by the committee, and it being stated that a citizens' committee was being formed for the purpose of entertaining the delegates representing the biggest newspapers of Great Britain, it was resolved to await a communication from this citizens' committee as to what they desired the city to do, it being understood that the reception committee was prepared to fall in with the wishes of the citizens' committee in every way so as to make the visit to the city an enjoyable one.

NO UNIFICATION FOR QUEBEC BAR

Sir James Aikens Told Quebec Wants Old System Retained

QUEBEC, March 9, (By Canadian Press).—Sir James Aikens, president of the Canadian Bar association, and Lieutenant Governor of the province of Manitoba, was the guest of the Quebec Bar at a dinner tendered him at the Garrison Club last night.

Ferdinand Roy, K.C., Batonnier of the Quebec Bar, welcomed the guest but voiced the opposition of Quebec bar to proposed unification of Canadian laws on the ground that for three centuries in this country and for over one thousand years in another country, which we always call the 'Mother Country', we in Quebec have been accustomed to certain ways of thinking and of feeling, which, through atavism and education, have created the very soul and substance of our economical and social life. It is upon that living block of ideas, of sentiments, of remembrances and aspirations that our civil law has been moulded, and blood and time have so cemented them together that any interference with this law would now amount to an intrusion into the privacy of our soul and body.

"Now sir, of course we may all be wrong, and you are here to put us right, but there are a good many at this bar and out of it, who imagine that an association like yours fatally tends to centralization; that centralization involves the sacrifice of provincial rights and privileges to the people of unification, and that if Canadian laws are unified (whatever may be the provision in your program as to the 'preservation of any basic system of provincial law') it means the unavoidable submergence of our civil code.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.

DEMOCRATS MAY HAVE DAMP PLANK IN THE PLATFORM

Leaders Believed Favorable to Liberal Interpretation of the Laws

RESULT OF VOTE

Table Shows Figures by Which Strong Candidate Could Carry Presidency

Special to The Star by David Lawrence. Copyright, 1920.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Prohibition has made its way into the strategy chamber of the political parties with the prospect that the Democrats, at least, will consider seriously inserting a damp plank in their platform. The leaders here are against the saloon, against whiskey, against a repeal of the Federal prohibition amendment but in favor of a liberal interpretation of the laws and a less drastic enforcement act so that light wines and beers may be made in the home or bought like any other article of food provided the beverages do not contain too much alcohol.

Congress, under the amendment to the constitution, can define what is intoxicating or non-intoxicating by determining the amount of alcohol that it is permissible to use. At present the law reads one-half of one per cent. Democratic leaders declare this is absurd and that the country would not suffer the evils of wetness which the Anti-Saloon League preached so vigorously if the percentage were double or even treble the present amount.

WHAT OF VOTE-GETTER?

But the interesting phase of the question is the consideration given to a damp plank as a vote-getter in the next elections. Could the Democratic party carry the country by it? I present today a table of states which several Democrats of prominence have worked out and which they think could be carried "with a strong candidate on a platform containing declarations of a liberal character in the matter of laws relative to intoxicating liquors. It will be noted that in the first group are states of the so-called South, with certain border states, their state and electoral vote respectively: Alabama, 12; Arkansas, 9; Florida, 6; Georgia, 14; Kentucky, 13; Louisiana, 10; Maryland, 8; Mississippi, 10; Missouri, 18; North Carolina, 12; Oklahoma, 10; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 20; Virginia, 12. Total, 175.

KEEP SOME DEMOCRATIC.

From the above group, it is true came the chief support for the prohibition amendment, but as between a wet and dry issue and voting the Republican ticket, the negro problem is counted upon to keep the South more Democratic. The South, moreover, has had state laws on the liquor question long before the Federal amendment was adopted.

As for Missouri, Maryland and Kentucky, which have shown a tendency to become Republican, the Democratic strategists says the liquor question would surely keep them Democratic. But to continue with the table:

Massachusetts, 18; New York, 45; New Jersey, 14; Ohio, 24. Total, 101.

Combining these two groups of 175 and 101, the grand total would be 276, which is ten more votes than are needed to elect a President of the United States.

But even if the four Eastern states were not assured, the Democratic wet advocates point to a carefully worked out list of doubtful states, from which they would expect to acquire enough votes to make up for any losses in Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Ohio in that combination. These so-called doubtful states are as follows:

State and electoral vote respectively—California, 13; Colorado, 6; Connecticut, 7; Delaware, 3; Indiana, 15; Rhode Island, 5; Arizona, 3; Montana 4; Nebraska, 8; Utah, 4. Total, 68.

SOME TO REPUBLICANS.

The Democrats here by no means concede any of the above states but for the sake of conservatism they put the above list in the doubtful column. As for states that might not be carried if the wet issue were injected, the following states would be conceded to the Republicans:

Illinois, 29; Iowa, 13; Maine, 6; Michigan, 15; Idaho, 4; Kansas, 10; Nevada, 3; New Hampshire, 4; New Mexico, 3; North Dakota, 5; Oregon, 5; Pennsylvania, 38; South Dakota, 5; Vermont, 4; West, Virginia, 8; Wisconsin, 13; Washington, 7; Wyoming, 3; Minnesota, 12. Total 187.

ENOUGH TO WIN.

The foregoing total of 187 would, however, be enough to win as 266 is required.

Of course, the Democrats are basing all these figures on the assumption that "a strong candidate" will be nominated. They would hardly be able to run Herbert Hoover on a wet platform, as he is thoroughly dry. It would have to be what is called a "liberal" plank in order to tempt A. Mitchell Palmer, who is a prohibition advocate. But if Mr. Hoover were nominated, maybe the Democrats wouldn't feel the necessity of a damp plank. They might be disposed to let it be fought out in individual congressional districts where the Volstead law would be attacked. Representative Vare, a Republican, has already announced that he would ask for re-election on a wet platform. So have many Democrats. This individual congressman might be fighting for a liberal interpretation of the liquor laws without regard to the top of the ticket.

NOT FOR REPUBLICANS.

As for the Republicans, the handicap of the Solid South would prevent them from inserting a wet plank in the Republican National platform. They would not gain Southern votes by being wet and they might lose certain Republican states in the West. So the Democratic leaders have figured it out that the only chance of making it an issue on the President ticket rests with them. They point to sentiment in New York state, Rhode Island, Ohio, and the recent victory of Governor Edwards in New Jersey, as an index of what might be expected in a presidential campaign in which prohibition was an issue. They can always count on the South. The question is really how many wet states are there in the North which, when combined with the Solid South makes a Democratic victory policy.

The foregoing tabulation shows one combination based purely on the supposition that the liquor controversy would transcend all other questions, all other ills of the Wilson administration or promises of the Republican party. If it were not for the effective use by the Republicans of such slogans "sound money," and "the full dinner pail," and other promises that contain a personal appeal, the Democrats wouldn't be so sanguine. They haven't figured on what the women might do. But they are assuming that denunciation of the saloon, prohibition of whiskey and the fixing of a liberal percentage of alcohol for light wines and beer would win even the feminine vote or at least split it.

COMPLICATED ISSUE.

But would Southern congressmen vote for a liberalization of the laws relating to prohibition? They have always stood with the dry forces. Would it do any good to vote for a Democratic President if Southern congressmen reverted to their prohibition views on this? Those Democrats with dry leanings who say it couldn't be done and those who are confident the Southern Democrats would be able to square themselves with their communities by insisting that state laws would protect the South whilst the Southern Democrat wet was in duty bound to assist his Northern brother in carrying out a campaign pledge. Southern Democrats have surrendered on the states rights doctrine to the Northern wing of Democracy for the sake of harmony. It is an open question whether they would favor liberalization of the Federal dry laws.

Discussion of Second Reading of Irish Bill Before Easter Recess

LONDON, March 9. — The Government has decided that it is absolutely necessary to have a second reading discussion of the Irish Home Rule Bill before the Easter recess, Andrew Bonar Law announced in the House of Commons yesterday. It is essential, he added, in view of the position in Ireland, that it should be made plain that so far as the Government was concerned they meant to continue with the bill, which was the most important measure of the session.

BRITAIN PURCHASING ANGLO-FRENCH BONDS

Chamberlain Makes Statement Regarding Loan in U.S.

LONDON, March 9.—J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, discussing in the House of Commons yesterday the decision not to renew the Anglo-French loan in the United States, stated that Great Britain in providing her half had no intention of reborrowing outside the United Kingdom, any part of the sum required, so that when the loan is repaid Great Britain will have reduced her external debt by more than £50,000,000. The Chancellor added:

"We shall employ for the purpose resources already available in the United States and to the extent which they are not sufficient, we shall ship gold. We have already made a beginning by buying Anglo-French bonds in the market at a considerable discount below par."

SEATTLE, Wash., March 9.—It is announced that the break in the Pacific cable between British Columbia and Australia has been repaired. Messages will be accepted only for Australia, not for the Orient.

Sir Auckland Geddes to Receive £20,000 as Ambassador to U.S.

LONDON, March 9. — The British Ambassador at Washington will hereafter receive £20,000 yearly. His salary will be £2,500 and entertainment allowance of £17,500. Premier Lloyd George made this announcement in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. Sir Auckland Geddes was recently appointed to this post.

REORGANIZING THE ITALIAN CABINET

ROME, March 9.—Re-organization of the Italian Cabinet, following a four-hour meeting today, is now forecast. Re-organization virtually was decided upon at the meeting, it was said.

Former Premier Giolitti declared in an interview that the people must give Premier Nitti time to execute his program. Senator Maziotti today interrogated the Foreign Ministry as to why the Allies have not given final ratification to the Treaty of Peace with Australia.

ABOLISH THE CIGARETTE.

CHICAGO, March 9.—"Abolish the cigarette" is one of the war cries of the International Cigarette League, organized here. The deadly "pill" must go by 1925 they say. Another slogan is "save the girl."

CHIROPODIST IN ATTENDANCE

Hours 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

3274 passengers in cars of 31 different makes drove up before this Opera House entrance one evening last month. Many of them are travelling for second-class comfort, not realizing that they pay first-class prices for it

Does it Really Cost any more to Travel First Class

YOU will often hear people say, with an air of resignation, how much they would rather ride in a Packard, if they could only afford it.

Putting the Packard owner in a class apart, with special comforts and privileges—assuming that he pays more for his motoring than they do.

A GREAT many people would be less resigned to their own inconveniences of travel, if they knew how little the Packard owner pays for the comfort they speak of.

Packard Transportation never costs more than second-class transportation—and often less.

The gasoline mileage of the Packard is from 10 to 14, according to road conditions. The oil mileage, 1,000 to the gallon. Tires, properly cared for, 12,000 to 16,000 miles.

The Packard exclusive heat-treating process adds greatly to the strength of the steel, reducing repairs and depreciation.

The longer life and greater used value of the Packard more than takes care of the difference in initial investment.

FOR twenty years the Packard Company has been studying motor cars from the standpoint of Transportation Experts. Time after time it has proved that trying to save on the initial investment costs a man more in the long run than buying a Packard.

Transportation facts are not a matter of compromise, but absolute—as the Packard Transportation Experts can show any man who really wants the facts.

FERNAND RINFRET ST. JAMES' CHOICE

Had Lead from Start But Four Ballots Necessary

Fernand Rinfret, editor of Le Canada, was chosen last night as Liberal candidate for St. James division, at a convention held at de Salaberry school, corner Beaudry and Robin streets. While it took four ballots to have the absolute majority of the delegates on one candidate, Mr. Rinfret lead from the beginning, and his majority increased at each ballot until the fourth, when he secured 59 votes, which include an absolute majority of all the ballots cast.

A feature of the convention was the strength showed by Wilfrid Gagnon, a young manufacturer, only 24 years old, son of Narcisse Gagnon, boot and shoe manufacturer in the riding, who took second place from the outset and kept it until the end.

The Hon. Clement Robillard, M.L.C., and Irenee Vautrin, M.L.A. for the division, presided over the meeting jointly. The Hon. Severin Letourneau, M.L.C., conducted the convention, and Hector Perrier acted as secretary. J. A. Beaudry and Emile Fontaine acted as scrutineers.

The names of eight candidates were proposed to the meeting. They were the following: Leonce Plante, advocate; Emile Massicotte, notary; F. J. Mackay, notary; Wilfrid Gagnon, manufacturer; Fernand Rinfret, journalist; Dr. J. C. Poissant, L. N. Ricard, notary, and Ernest Bertrand, advocate. Each candidate was given a five minutes' speech, and after all the aspirant candidates had signed a pledge to respect the choice of the convention, the vote started. It was then about 9:30; the balloting lasted until 12.30 a.m.

The first ballot resulted as follows: Rinfret, 27; Plante, 15; Massicotte, 8; Gagnon, 24; Bertrand, 11; Ricard, 18, Poissant, 3; McKay, 4. On the next ballot, Dr. Poissant was eliminated, according to the rule whereby the one getting the lowest number of votes is eliminated after each vote is taken. The second ballot resulted as follows: Rinfret, 35; Plante, 12; Massicotte, 6; Gagnon, 26; Bertrand, 10; Ricard, 18; McKay, 3. Col. McKay was eliminated, and Messrs. Massicotte withdrew. The third ballot resulted: Rinfret, 50; Plante, 10; Gagnon, 29; Ricard, 20. Mr. Plante was eliminated. The remaining three candidates on the fourth ballot got the following votes: Rinfret, 59; Gagnon, 27, and Ricard, 22.

Messrs. Gagnon and Ricard, who were in minority, then proposed and seconded that Mr. Rinfret's nomination as Liberal candidate be made unanimous, which statement was received with cheers.

Mr. Rinfret then thanked the delegates for the honor done him, and asked the support of all to carry the riding for the Liberals. Irenee Vautrin, M.L.A. for St. James division, also spoke briefly, and the meeting came to an end.

HEALTH COMMITTEE NAMED.

A committee composed of Dr. E. E. Dessaulniers, Dr. R. Paquin, and Dr. J. E. Laberge, with Dr. J. A. Beaudouin as secretary, has been appointed by the Superior Board of Health to study the question of tuberculosis and prepare a plan of campaign against the disease in the Province. Dr. S. Boucher, Dr. J. A. Hutchison, Dr. Elzear Pelletier and Dr. A. H. Desloges were appointed to the commission on Venereal Diseases. Dr. Arthur Simard, president of the board of health is a member ex officio.

Department of the Naval Service.

ROYAL NAVAL COLLEGE OF CANADA.

THE Royal Naval College is established for the purpose of imparting a complete education in Naval Science.

Graduates are qualified to enter the Imperial or Canadian Services as midshipmen. A Naval career is not compulsory however. For those who do not wish to enter the Navy the course provides a thorough grounding in Applied Science and is accepted as qualifying for entry as second year students in Canadian Universities.

The scheme of education aims at developing discipline with ability to obey and take charge, a high sense of honour, both physical and mental, a good grounding in Science, Engineering, Mathematics, Navigation, History and Modern Languages, as a basis for general development or further specialization.

Candidates must be between their fourteenth and sixteenth birthdays on September 1st following the examination.

Particulars of entry may be obtained on application to the Department of the Naval Service, Ottawa.

The examinations for entry to the College will be held, by the Civil Service Commission, for the present year, early in June and applications for entry must be filed with the Commission prior to the 24th May, 1920.

EMMANUEL YOUNG PEOPLE AT DINNER

At the eleventh annual banquet of the Young People's Society of Emmanuel Church last night about one hundred and twenty-five members and guests were present. The tables were decorated with candelabra and spring flowers. The president, William E. Shepley was in the chair. The musicians of the evening were Allan Crawford and Leslie Collins, pianists; Miss Marjorie Ramsay, violinist, accompanied by Miss Edythe Milne; and Noble Birks, cellist. The toast to "The Church" was proposed by S. A. Antliff and responded to by the Rev. George Adam. In replying to the toast to "Our Guests," proposed by Leslie Collins, Canon Shatford gave an inspiring address on the subject of "Young People in the New Day of the Church." The Rev. J. P. Tucker of the Dondi Institute, West Central Africa, also spoke and showed several colored lantern views of the work which is going on there.

COURT-MARTIAL TOMORROW.

A detail of officers under the presidency of Lieut.-Col. F. Minden Cole, D.S.O., will assemble at Headquarters, Bishop street tomorrow morning, at 10 o'clock to try by Court-Martial Pte. J. King, R.C.R., accused of offences against military law.

TO RUSH LASALLE BRIDGE.

The work of completing La Salle Bridge will be rushed by the city now, the aldermen yesterday voting the $30,000 required on the assertion of E. R. Decary, the chairman of the Commission, in the morning, that this would absolutely be the last credit required for the work. The Council also voted $10,000 for water services.

SHARP ADVANCES IN WALL ST.--B. C. FISH YEAR--LOCAL DULL

B. C. FISHING NET PROFITS IN 1919 DECLINED

The annual financial report of the British Columbia Fishing & Packing Company, holding company of the British Columbia Packers Association, shows net profits before taxes of $319,-293 as compared with $436,360 in 1918 and $453,090 in 1917. After taxes amounting to $50,000 (estimated) in 1919 and $110,000 (estimated) in 1918, there was available for dividends $269,-306 against $326,360 in 1918. Dividends took up $236,040 against $214,590 in 1918 and $171,672 in 1917, while the usual $5,000 was written off to contingent reserve and donations took up $2,050 against $1,700 in 1918 and $2,200 in 1917, leaving a surplus of $26,107 against $104,070 in 1918 and $360,668 in 1917, after adjustments on this latter year. After adding in previous surplus, total credit at profit and loss account to be carried forward to 1920 operations amounted to $1,465,802 against $1,439,-695 in 1918 and $1,347,945 in 1917.

Profit and loss account compares as follows:

	1919	1918	1917
Net profit.$	319,266	$ 436,360	$ 453,080

P.&L. bal.	$1,465,802	$1,439,695	$1,347,945

*Adjusted.

The balance sheet shows total current assets at $1,428,304 against $1,463,-035 in 1918, and total current liabilities for $184,649 against $347,207 in 1918, leaves net working capital of $1,243,655 against $1,115,828 in 1918. After adding in investments, total net quick assets amounted to $1,878,227 as compared with $1,696,080 in 1918. This increase of nearly $200,000 in the net working capital available at the end of the company's year shows steady effort to better the working position of the organization.

	1919.	1918.
Current liab.	184,649	347,207

Investments	634,572	580,252
Quick assets	$1,878,227	$1,696,080

The balance sheet shows total assets at $4,548,025 against $4,659,059 in 1918. Fixed assets were reduced in the years from $2,610,539 in 1918 to $2,462,-610. Investments increased from $580,-252 to $634,572. Inventories were cut down slightly from $1,035,557 to $1,014,-261. Cash on hand is up from $6,117 to $223,962, off-setting largely the drop in accounts and bills receivable from $421,-264 in 1918 to $189,061 at the end of 1919.

The feature of the liabilities is the wiping out of bank loans which amounted to $145,000 at the end of 1918. There was an increase in insurance reserve from $84,157 to $84,714, and one for contingent reserve from $26,600 to $31,400.

Balance sheet compares as follows:

In the report, it is pointed out that the demand for the higher grades of salmon greatly exceeds the supply, but it is difficult to sell the lower grades, and last season there was a considerable quantity unsold on hand. It is forecast that as the cost of packing will be considerably higher in 1920 it is felt that the stocks held will be sold at inventory prices or better.

Bought Gold in Open Market in London

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.)—The first shipment of gold from London to New York this year was arranged yesterday, when Kuhn, Loeb & Company secured $1,250,000 of the metal in the London open market. The gold, it is understood, comes from the Transvaal, and it was said yesterday that it was not connected with the shipments which it has been rumored will be made by the account of the British and French Governments as part of the payment of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan, which matures October 15 next.

IRREGULAR IN PARIS

PARIS, March 9.—Prices were irregular on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 50 centimes. Exchange on London 48 francs 70 centimes. Five per cent. loan 88 francs. The dollar was quoted at 13 francs 62 centimes.

BLACK LAKE COMMON ABOVE JACOBS OFFER

It was understood in the street today that the offer to the shareholders of Black Lake Asbestos and Chrome Co., by Jacob A. Jacobs, referred to in The Star a few days ago, with a view to securing control of the company, had not yet gone forward to those interested in a strictly formal manner, but it was expected that the shareholders and bondholders would receive a circular within the next day or two putting the proposition in black and white.

The offer put before the recent meeting of the company at Toronto was 12 for the common and 25 for the preferred. There are 30,000 shares of the former and 10,000 shares of the latter outstanding so that the most interest would centre in the market for the common.

In yesterday's trading in the Toronto market the price of the common crossed 12 and was 12½ bid today. As this is better than the offer made by Mr. Jacobs, it is thought to possess some significance and there is naturally some interest in the street as to the identity of the parties bidding higher than Mr. Jacobs.

The market would naturally become keenly interested if it thought there was anything like a contest for the control of the company by some other parties.

Who's Who in the Street

Duncan W. Fraser, who was recently appointed vice-president, in charge of sales of the American Locomotive Company, New York, was for some years managing director of the Montreal Locomotive Works, Ltd., the Canadian subsidiary of the American company. Mr. Fraser devoted a number of years to the practical study of mechanical work in a number of American plants, so that he has a practical knowledge of the mechanical as well as the business side of building and selling locomotives. He is one of the numerous band of "Bluenoses," who have made good, being a native of Pictou County, Nova Scotia.

TOBACCO MAGNATE SUED

NEW YORK, March 9.—A summons in a suit against Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen, president of the British-American Tobacco Company, Ltd., was filed in the Supreme Court yesterday. The plaintiff is Marvelle Cooper Brice, said to have served in the British army. The attorneys decline to make public the details of the suit. Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen arrived in New York last January on his 46th visit to the United States. He has made frequent visits to Canada and is widely known in the eastern provinces of the Dominion.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Times—The basis of the day's spectacular developments was the decision of the Supreme Court that stock dividends were not subject to the income tax, but supporting influences were not lacking in news affecting the railroads and in the movements of foreign exchange. The great importance which the stock trading community had imparted to the pending ruling on stock dividends for many months was impressed with emphasis upon the market when ticker services through error announced early in the afternoon that the decision had been unfavorable to recipients of such disbursements. Still greater emphasis was disclosed when, the error being corrected, industrial shares advanced from 4 to more than 40 points.

Sun and Herald.—"The market was much excited, of course, to get an idea of what it is all likely to mean so far as the future is concerned. All that was recorded yesterday was the first rush of the shorts to cover and the secondary buying movement on the part of traders and others who knew just what is coming from their respective companies. Otherwise the news had hardly gotten out to the public, so that it will be left until today to see what response is likely to come from this direction.

Tribune—It has been a long time since the professional element on the short side has been so completely upset as it was yesterday. The short interest undoubtedly was of extremely large proportions judging from the eager demand for stocks from that quarter. The covering of a large part of this short account naturally weakens the technical position of the market, so that many observers were looking for a reaction after the extraordinary recovery of yesterday.

World.—Aside from the wild gyrations caused in the stock market by a misinterpretation of the stock dividend tax decision by the Supreme Court sent out by a financial news agency shortly after noon yesterday, movement of values were largely based on the improvements in the monetary situation, as reflected in the week-end statement of the Federal Reserve Bank. There is a general belief that the next fortnight will witness a complete change in the credit situation and that more wholesome conditions will mark the course of the loan market during the remainder of the year.

RAILROADS WON SUIT

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Railroads of the country in the Supreme Court won their suit to compel the Interstate Commerce Commission in fixing valuation of lines to accept present value of right-of-ways and terminals, instead of the original cost.

MANY THRILLS IN BIG PERFORMERS IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 9. — Firmness ruled at the active opening of today's market, some of the prominent specialties adding variably to yesterday's gains while others reacted. General Motors, the sensational feature of the preceding session, made an early gain of four points, which was extended to 16 points within the first half hour. Crucible Steel lost two points at the outset, immediately reversing its course, soon showing an actual gain of 12 points. The stock of other companies which are expected to revise their dividend policy as a result of yesterday's Supreme Court decision averaged initial gains of 1 to 2 points. U. S. Steel was the only stock to record a "wide" opening, a block of 5,000 shares changing hands at 101 to 100½, an extreme rise of ⅝ of a point.

United States Rubber opened at 106⅝, up ⅛; Atchison 84¾, up ¼; Reading, 77½, up ¼; Tobacco Products, 65½, up ⅝; International Paper 81, up 1⅛; Republic 95½, up ⅛; American Car and Foundry 137¾, up ¼.

Those who thought that all the thrills had gone out of the market after the sensational run-up yesterday, were given a surprise before the end of the first half hour's trading today. Selling by profit-takers was quickly absorbed and industrial stocks were rapidly rushed up to new highs. General Motors hit 323, up 22 points net; Crucible 240, up 14 points. Activity in Crucible was laid to a report that the company is soon to issue a stock dividend which may reach 100 per cent.

General Motors and Crucible Steel extended their gains only to react 10 to 12 points on realizing sales. Other motors and steels, also equipments and oils, were 2 to 5 points higher, with shipbuildings and miscellaneous shares but pressure caused a general easing of prices in those issues. Odd lots of Atlantic Refining, a Standard Oil subsidiary, sold at $1,520, a gain of 150 points.

It was not until the second hour that rails became active and strong, gaining 1 to 3 points. Coalers led with Reading, Pacifics following and then the secondary or low-priced issues.

Call money opened at 8 per cent.

The market was very active for the first two hours running 466,000 shares for the first and 757,000 shares up to noon, but quieted down considerably in the early afternoon when prices of some of the biggest performers eased off. Gen. Motors was by long odds the biggest feature jumping from 305 at the opening to 323, reacting to 310½ and rallying to 318. Around 1 p. m. it was 310¼. The new stocks at 30½ advanced to 32¼ and reacted to 31⅝. Crucible also had a very striking market rising from 226 to 240 very sharply and in the later trading ranged from 229 to 232½ to 230½. U. S. Steel opened at 101 but steadily reacted until it touched 99⅝, later rallying to ⅞.

Some of the more notable fluctuations elsewhere were: Wool 125½ to 131½ to 127½; Stedebaker 91 to 93½ to 91½ to 92¾; Baldwin 118⅝ to 121 to 119; Chandler 139½ to 141½ to 123½ to 129¼; Mex. Pete 181 ⅝ to 183 to 182⅝ to 184.

The railways which developed strength in the second hour were Erie 1st pref. and C.P.R. was a feature at 121⅛ to 124½ to 123½; Union Pac. eased off 1 from the opening to 121½, but later touched 126. Southern Pac. crossed par again to 100½, after an earlier reaction from 99 to 97½. Reading went to 80¼, from an early low of 79⅝.

Other features were: Texas Pac., 37½ to 38½ to 38; St. Paul, 38⅝ to 40; Rock Island, 39¾ to 38 to 40 to 38½; Pere Marquette, 30⅝ to 29⅝ to 30; Mo., 30 to 29½ to 30¾. N.Y.C., 74½ to 76⅝ to 76; Atchison, 84¼ to 83⅝ to 84⅞; Erie, 15. New Haven, 35½.

Among other features were: Scotia, 60¾; Shell, 79½ to 80½ to 79½; Sinclair, 41⅜ to ⅝ to ½; Retail Stores, 72¾ to 73⅝ to 72¾; Republic, 95¼ to 95⅝ to 94¾; Pierce Arrow, 77½ to 78; Pan American, 89½ to 91⅝ to 90½ to ¼; Kenstone, 41⅝ to 40¼; Int. Paper, 81 to 79¾ to 80; Alcohol, 85 to 84⅝; Cent. Leather, 84⅛ to 85½ to ⅝; Beth. Steel B., 91⅝ to 90½; Loco., 91 to 91⅝ to 90; Car, 137⅝ to 136½; Marine, 45¾ to 44½ to ¼.

Cuba Cane, 13⅜ to ⅝ to 14.

RE-ELECTED PAPER BOARD

Business considerations at the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Howard Smith Paper Mills Limited, held late yesterday afternoon, were largely of a routine order. The report, already reviewed in these columns, was adopted.

The executive and directors were re-elected without change, as follows: C. Howard Smith, president; James W. Pyke, vice-president; J. Alex. Cameron, J. J. M. Pangman, H. C. Courtney, D. W. Campbell and J. Anderson, with Harold Crabtree as secretary-treasurer.

Opinions from Wall Street

John Moody.—An average profit of ten points during the next few years in railroad bonds bought at current prices looks not only possible, but highly probable.

H. Hayden, Stone & Co.—Must admit that it is difficult to see how an extended rise is possible until there is an easier banking situation.

Merrill, Lynch & Co.—Future course of the market is subjected to conditions of money market.

E. J. Johnson & Co.—Good stocks are selling below intrinsic values. This is the time to make a study of values and buy within one's ability to protect stocks.

Goodbody & Co.—Apparently the stock market is well liquidated.

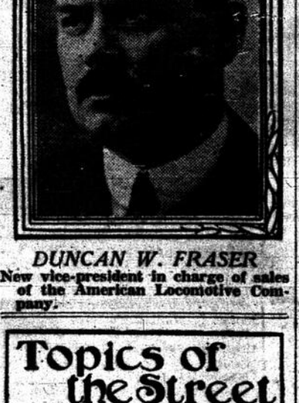

E. & C. Randolph.—H. K. Evans wires: While no such pace can be maintained, and while it would even be perfectly natural for a fair-sized reaction to follow such rapid advance, do not believe that the rise has yet run its course, and still favor buying stocks for turn on any fair-sized decline from the present bulge.

Post & Flagg.—We think we will see firm market unless we run into very adverse money.

Pynchon & Co. wire Craig, Luther & Irvine as follows: Two decisions of the Supreme Court are of far-reaching significance and should continue to influence sentiment for some time, but market is not likely to continue to be such a runaway affair as during yesterday afternoon, as money conditions will continue to be temporary restraining influence.

Logan & Bryan.—Advance in the stock market was rapid, and short interest no doubt has been considerably reduced. Any further upturn in values will doubtless attract quite a volume of realizing sales by those who bought at the lower levels a short while ago.

Topics of the Street

The session on the local market this morning was dull, only 5,192 shares being traded in, compared with 9,480 shares yesterday morning, a falling off of 4,288 shares. The morning is one of the smallest recorded this year to date.

The more active stocks included: Breweries 1,829 shares, the only issue traded in to exceed to 600-share mark; Ames pfd., 340; Sugar, 450; Steel of Canada, 265; Bridge, 203; Steamships, 190; Spanish River, 130; Canners, 130; Iron, 127; Wayagamack, 125, and Shawinigan, 114.

Advices from Wall Street today state that brokers are greatly incensed over the news service blunder which cost the Street so dearly yesterday in connection with the Supreme Court decision on the stock dividend case. A full enquiry is demanded.

In the meantime the Associated Press claims to be the only service which supplied the news correctly, the New York office sending out the following statement early today:

"Regarding erroneous reports on U. S. Supreme Court decision that taxation of stock dividends as income is unconstitutional which affected the stock market, the Dow-Jones service said: 'Not only were flashes to financial agencies wrong, but those sent out by newspaper services were incorrect.' The Associated Press service was accurate in every particular, and as the Dow-Jones message implied that it, in common with other news associations, was wrong, a request was made to Dow-Jones for a correction of their statement. This was refused and Associated Press has sent out a message presenting the facts."

The point involved in the decision must not be confused in the public mind that dividends received from stocks are not taxable. It is when a surplus is divided by the issue of new stock, or, in other words, dividends are paid in the form of additional stock that these new stock issues are not considered as dividends for the purpose of taxation, but merely as so much capital. Dividends to be taxable must be payable in money, and not in an issue of new stock.

The decision will result in the refund of millions of dollars of taxes improperly collected. There are other vast sums which in the course of time will be refunded to the public, because the Internal Revenue Department has exceeded its authority in collecting the taxes, or because the taxpayers have improperly construed the requirements.

Wall Street believes that on the stocks General Motors, Chandler Motors, Standard Oil stocks (all issues), Crucible Steel, Endicott Johnson, Republic, American Woollen and Baldwin Locomotive stock dividends will be declared soon in accordance with the decision of yesterday. It is considered likely, too, that several railroads will issue stock dividends on profits derived from their coal properties.

Among the corporations which issued such dividends in 1919, which are now classed as not taxable, were American Gas and Electric, American Light and Traction, Burns Brothers, Bush Terminal, Cities' Service, Columbia Graphophone, General Electric, Kelly-Springfield, Keystone Tire, Middle States Oil, Tobacco Products and Tobacco Products Export.

Probably the first of the long-expected stock dividends will be declared by Chandler Motors. The company is earning approximately $51 a share.

In connection with the sharp advance which has occurred in the shares of the Abitibi Power & Paper Company on the local market, it is stated on the Street that this movement is largely due to the reflection of renewed interest in the company in view of the near approach of the time for the division of the shares.

The split, when it occurs, will give present shareholders five shares in the new company for every one share now held, and will increase the capitalization from the present $5,000,000 to $25,-000,000. It is stated that final steps in connection with the drawing up of the charter of the new company which will automatically take over the present company will shortly be taken, and that the announcement will be made almost immediately afterwards.

There is a good deal of interest among traders as to what will be done in connection with dividends on the new stock, and guesses are being made, these ranging all the way from 4 to 6 per cent. No intimation has been received from officials or directors of the company as to what will be considered in this connection, and this fact is creating a tone of uncertainty concerning the new shares.

It is stated, however, that, physically, the company never was in better condition, and that at present time the output is averaging very close to maximum capacity. A short time ago the dam at Iroquois Falls was damaged, and this resulted in a falling-off in output owing to the lack of power necessary to carry on full operations. This break has been repaired, and a short time afterwards the mill made a new high record in respect of output.

It is rumored on the Street that as the split in the shares will naturally not bring any additional capital into the company, some new financing will be carried on in the not far distant future, and although this is not yet officially confirmed, it is believed that such will be in the form of bonds. In this connection, however, it is stated in the financial district that the issue when made will meet with ready disposal, and it is doubtful if much of this security will find its way into the usual financial circles.

SHAWINIGAN IN SHARP RALLY; LIST STEADIER

There is not much of interest in the local market this morning, and the tone was rather divided. While the market did not sympathize to any great extent with Wall Street's wild swings, and the result was that the activity was not marked in any one direction.

Shawinigan, which has been hanging fire for some time past, proved a late feature. Throughout the morning the stock was traded in at the unchanged figure of 110½, but at the close the price was bid up to 112½, at which level a couple of odd lots were taken up and the price closed strongly at 112 bid, with offerings at a half point higher. Brazilian, another London-influenced issue, which has lately shown renewed strength, sold at 48 throughout the session, this being up ¾ over last night's closing.

Lake of the Woods sold at 102, up 6 over the previous sale some days ago.

Elsewhere Sugar continued in activity, ranging at 93½ to 93 to ¼, down ½; Breweries active at 52¾ to 52 to ½, unchanged; Steel of Canada, 80½, unchanged; Ames pfd., 111 to ¼ up the fraction.

The pulp and paper group were less in prominence. All during the session Abitibi was offered at 275, down 2 from the previous close, but tractions ob board lot proportions were recorded. Wayagamack was 75 to ½, up 1; Laurentide 91¼, down ½; Spanish River 86, unchanged; the preferred 128 to 129, up 1.

The balance of the list ranged as follows:

Penman's, 116, unchanged; Hillcrest 58, unchanged; Bridge 107, up ½; Power 86¾, up ¼; Quebec Ry. 28 to ¾, down ¼; Steamships 75 to 74¾, unchanged; Flour 110, unchanged; Canners 61¾, unchanged; Iron 71¾, up ½; Elec., 86, unchanged; B. C. Fishing 60, down ¼, and Car pfd. 100¾ to 100.

HIGHLY ERRATIC TREND RULED IN EXCHANGES

There was another highly excited time in the foreign exchange market in New York this morning, although, in the main, the general tendency was to higher levels and at the end of the morning, the rates were usually higher than at the opening.

Sterling opened at $3.58¾ for demand and $3.59½ for cables, advanced to $3.61 for demand and $3.61¾ for cables, eased back to $3.60 for demand and $3.60¾ for cables, advanced to $3.61¼ for demand and $3.62¼ for cables, then around the end of the morning was quoted firm at $3.61 for demand and $3.61¾ for cables. Throughout, the tone was unsettled and the course of quotations irregular, rallies following declines in rapid succession, those presented above representing only the major swings.

French francs opened at 13.62 for cheques and 13.80 for cables, with the later respective rates up to 13.75 and 13.73. Italian lire opened at 18.12 for cheques and 18.10 for cables, and advanced to 18.07 and 18.05 respectively. Spanish pesetas were quoted at 17.55 for cheques and 17.65 for cables.

The advance in the German reichsmark continued into today. Yesterday they advanced sharply to 1.10 cents at the close compared with the recent low of 1.10 cents. Today the rate opened at 1.10 to 1.12 and then advanced sharply to 1.17 cents.

Other foreign exchanges were quoted as follows:

Swiss francs 6.00 for cheques and 5.98 for cables; Belgian francs 13.32 for cheques and 13.30 for cables; Dutch guilders 36⅝ for cheques and 36¾ for cables; Stockholm 19.45 for cheques and 19.60 for cables; Christiania 17.15 for cheques and 17.30 for cables; and Copenhagen 15.65 for cheques and 15.80 for cables.

New York funds were a shade easier this morning but the market was dull, once more, apparently awaiting the resumption of a definite trend in the sterling exchange market. The situation continues unchanged from previous reports in these columns, although it is noteworthy that buyers of exchange are now staying away from the market except in the cases where it is essential to fill immediate requirements. No doubt the condition will prevail until the sterling exchange market settles once again, or needs become more imperative than they are at the moment.

BRITISH SHOE CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, March 9.—(United News)—British shoe manufacturers will make a determined effort in the next two years to develop an American market. The styles, which hitherto kept English-made shoes from becoming very popular here, are being altered to fit the American pattern, a British trade emissary said today.

Shortly after the war 42 British shoe manufacturers formed a sales organization for foreign trade, so that duplication of salesmen in foreign fields would be avoided. Walter Crick, representing the combination in this country, has just arrived in New York.

AMERICAN LOCO. ORDER

NEW YORK, March 9.—The American Locomotive Company this morning announced the receipt of an order for 12 additional Pacific locomotives from the Canadian National Railways. This brings the orders placed recently by the Canadian Railways with the company to a total of 67 engines.

TEXTILE TRADE HAMPERED BY SUPPLY LACK

NEW YORK, March 9.—The scarcity of flax is the all-important fact in the linen trade today. This scarcity will grow acute during the spring and summer, permanent relief becoming possible only when the Irish and Belgian crops have been harvested, or some supplies begin to come forward from Russia. Even if Russian supplies could be obtainable, it would be May or June before vessels would begin to come out of Archangel. The trade here and abroad is noting a constant increase in the volume of union goods of all kinds being contracted for to supply the dearth of all-flax goods. Hemp, cotton and even jute yarns are being used as mixtures. Many mills are trying to keep their organizations intact by working on all cotton goods, but the difficulty of getting yarns for quick use is a serious one.

Much of the yardage in recent imports has been made up of war linens of various sorts, aeroplane cloths, canvas, etc., and there is a growing dearth of crashes, damasks and other household linens. Some of the fine handkerchief linens are so hard to get that several handkerchief manufacturers are not attempting to keep up old-time assortments. Some are bringing in scattered lots, but they cannot get cloth enough to work on, and cotton substitutes have become more general than ever before.

Buyers of linens who are not deterred by price and who comprehend the very unusual conditions affecting production in this particular textile have no hesitation in allowing an order to stand if an agent says he cannot assure a delivery within six months, and will not even guarantee it to begin at that time. Some of the largest crash manufacturers in Ireland and Scotland have pulled out of the market for any delivery for sale of September, and by which they do not care to go positively.

Authentic information is that the amount of flax handled in Great Britain in 1913 for spinning purposes was almost 130,000 tons, while in 1919 only 36,-000 tons were available. From this figures it is readily seen how the linen market has been hampered the past year, and why Belfast manufacturers are not in position to run their mills full time.

The British Government continues in control of the flax crop of Great Britain and again is offering planters many times the pre-war prices for the flax, to encourage intensive flax farming.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK

CUBAN SUGAR STRONGER

A sharp improvement in the unlisted market for Cuban Canadian Sugar was reported today, bids for the common advancing to 35 with none offered at that price. Nominal quotations recently have been 27 bid, 33 asked, with the last sale recorded at 30. The preferred lately sold as low as 75 in a weak market, but the recent range has been 79 to 80.

TORONTO TRADING DULL

TORONTO, March 9. (Toronto Stock Exchange).—Government loans were the active features of trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, $61,000 worth of the 1937 war loan changing hands on a range of 99¼ to 99⅝ at the high. The last sale before lunch was at 99½. In other respects the market was slow, with trading sparse and scattered. Canadian General Electric had some sale at from 108½ to 109.

DULLNESS MORE IN EVIDENCE; CHANGES SMALL

In the afternoon the local stock market continued very dull and price changes for the most part were confined to fractions, Shawinigan was not traded in to any extent, although a broken lot or so changed hands at 112, the level of the closing bid of the morning. Breweries was 52 1-2 to 52 1-8; Sugar 93 1-4 to 92 1-2; Spanish River 86 to 85 3-4; Smelters, 29 1-2; Brompton, 78; Power, 87; Glass 65 5-8 to 1-2; Riordan 182 1-2; Brazilian 47; Quebec Ry., 28 1-4; Gen. GERMAN MARK'S RECOVERY

In the early afternoon sterling exchange again strengthened slightly, demand being quoted at $3.61¾ and cables $3.62. French francs were quoted at 13.77 for cheques and 13.75 for cables; and Italian lire 18.07 for cheques and 18.05 for cables.

The German reichsmark had another very sharp rally and the rate advanced to 1.30 cents. This morning the best quotation was 1.15 cents. A week ago the rate was 1.03 cents and on the low of the recent break they touched 1.01 cents. The recovery in the mark was one of the outstanding features of the foreign exchange market, although the rate still has far to go to par at 23 cents.

DENIAL ON STEEL ORDER

SYDNEY, March 9.—Officials of the Dominion Steel Corporation here deny the report that a large order has been placed with them by the Japanese interests.

QUEBEC BIDS REJECTED

NEW YORK, March 19. — The New York agency of the Bank of Montreal states that the City of Quebec did not accept any of the bids for the $2,400,000 of its three year or ten year 6 per cent bonds, for which proposals were asked on March 5.

NEW YORK, March 9. — The statement of unfilled tonnage of the U. S. Steel Corporation as of February 29, will be issued at noon tomorrow. It is expected to show another substantial increase in orders, probably as much as 500,000 tons, according to Wall Street estimates.

COMMUTERS HOPE TO SAVE MONEY

Claim Many Rides are Wasted on Monthly Tickets Now

FINDING JOKERS

Railway Commission Hear Complaints Against Increased Fares

The question of commutation rates again came before the Board of Railway Commissioners on the resumption of their sittings here this morning.

A. S. Pelletier, speaking for the citizens of Lachine, pointed out that the districts near a big centre were mostly chosen by working class residents, and therefore these would suffer from the increased charges. The railways should remember that if they lost a little on short distance passenger traffic, they regained it on freight. It had been said that refunds were made for unused tickets, but this was only done in very exceptional cases.

In answer to the chairman, S. Carlton stated that the street cars had reduced their fares from 15c to 10c per ride. The main trouble was not so much the fare as the number of rides per ticket.

"The whole trouble," remarked Chairman Carvell, "arises from the fact that you consider it on the basis of the cost per ride, while the railway companies regard it as cheap facilities during a given period, and expect you to take advantage of these facilities within that time. Exactly the same objections were brought up by commutors in Lachine last week."

LOW TERMINAL CHARGES.

Charles N. Valiquet drew attention to the fact that in calculating these minimum rates the railway company charged the same terminal charges for short as for long journeys. If specially low terminal charges could be allowed to the New York Central by the C. P. R., surely low terminal charges could also be used in calculating the commuters' minimum rate.

Mr. Valiquet was proceeding to deal with the refund question, when the chairman remarked "I think we can admit that the present refund system does not amount to much."

E. Flintoft, (C.P.R.) We have to be pretty strict or we get skinned.

Chairman Carvell: Oh you're strict enough all right.

MONTHLY TICKETS.

The other question continued Mr. Valiquet was the reduction of the number of tickets. Statistics in a machine showed that an average of 8 rides per month on a monthly ticket were wasted, so they wished a 45 rides per month ticket instead of 55 rides.

Mr. Flintoft: Are you willing to pay the $5.50 minimum for it?

Mr. Valiquet: That question does not give us credit for much intelligence. If no concession were made, there would be a serious diminution in commuter traffic. There should not be more than 40% increase in rates.

W. Brown, La Salle, pointed out that the tramway 10c fare equalled the railway 30c fare, in that it was not limited to any specific period. The terminal charges seemed to be a new discovery, and a useful one for the railways. New factories and industries were likely to be prejudiced in Lachine by the increase in rates.

FOUND THE JOKER.

Chairman Carvell: Now you are getting at the gist of the matter. Should a railway be called upon to lose money in order to build industries or get people to the country?

T. R. Smith, Lasalle, described the minimum rate as a joker, which the railway hid in their pack.

Mr. Flintoft: No, no, we have no jokers.

Mr. Smith: They are jokers, for you can always get away with them. The New York Central gives a 50-trip ticket, which makes a precedent.

Mr. Flintoft: What is the rate charged?

Mr. Smith: Practically the same as you put in on the mileage business.

Chairman Carvell: That's another joker (laughter.)

H. Butler, appearing on behalf of the city regarding the increased fares to Bordeaux, urged that Mile End should be the commutation ticket destination, and not Place Viger. He further thought that a compromise should be arrived at between the present rate and the rate proposed by the railways.

George Coutlee, a proprietor from Bordeaux, spoke of the great loss property owners were likely to suffer in the district through any increase in the fares.

MORE TRAINS IF HIGHER RATES

C. Tilson asked that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company submit a statement showing the reason for the new rates they proposed to charge on the route to the Laurentian Mountains for ten trip tickets. He said that they should show that it is not making money on the present rates.

Ex-Alderman Jos. Leonard, who resides in Bordeaux, stated that since the C.P.R. had resolved to increase its rates for commutation tickets to Bordeaux, it should put more trains to this point. At present there is no outgoing train later than 6:20 and he said that lots of people, merchants and professional men have to stay down town very often until about 7:00 p.m. Then, in order to reach their homes, they have to travel either to Ahuntsic or Cartierville by tramways and then hire a hack to reach Bordeaux, which in all cases necessitated at least an expense of 75 cents. Mr. Loranger said he had no objection to pay more if proper accommodation was given, but he objected to an increase for a poor service.

The Board then adjourned for lunch and it was suggested that the railroads would be given an opportunity this afternoon to refute or answer to some of the statements made against them. Chairman Carvell, however, intimated that this was not meant as a re-opening of the argument as the Board feels satisfied they have now all facts necessary to adjudicate on the matter submitted to them.

DAYLIGHT-SAVING FOR CITY PROPOSED

Administrative Commission in Favor if Public Bodies Desire

The question of daylight saving this year came before the administrative commission at their last meeting when a resolution was forwarded from the city council in favor of advancing the clocks one hour from April 4 to October 24. The Commission passed a resolution in favor of the proposal, but deferred taking any definite action until they ascertain from the interested bodies in the city what they desired this year.

The city treasurer was authorized to strike off from the books the following special taxes uncollectable. On Crown properties $729.46; on civic properties $15,830.47 and on other properties not recoverable for various reasons $10,673.66.

The Administrative Commission at their last meeting approved of the classification of employes and the schedule of salaries that will be paid the different categories, and on the motion of Commissioner Ross, seconded by Commissioner Verville, it was resolved to give instruction to the Commission of Municipal Service and the heads of departments that this classification is to be observed in future appointments.

It was reported that Vincent Fons had been appointed a lieutenant in the fire brigade in the place of H. McDonald, who had refused to accept the promotion offered him.

The Tramways Commission is to be asked to abolish the stop half way up on Beaver Hall Hill and make the first stop between Victoria Square and the top of the hill at the corner of Dorchester street.

A sum of $4,600 was voted for the reception of the Great War Veterans Convention and $2,000 for the National Editorial Association.

WIRELESS TALK TO ROTARY CLUB

"There's a long, long trail a winding—" sang a voice from nowhere in the banquet hall of Freeman's Hotel this afternoon, while Arthur Hyatt Morse, of the Marconi Company of Canada, explained the marvels of wireless telephony to interested members of the Rotary Club.

The mystery of the invisible singer was cleared up by Mr. Morse when he stated that a sending instrument was at work in the Marconi station near the Bonaventure depot, and that the vagrant ether waves were being picked up by a small aerial in the hotel, which in turn transmitted the sound through a reproducing instrument and megaphone amplifier, as a demonstration to the assembled Rotarians of the possibilities of wireless telephony.

In rapt silence the club members listened to the conclusion of the song, sung in a clear, although somewhat thin, voice, and then were entertained to a lively waltz tune played on a gramophone at the sending station. The sound of street cars stopping and starting outside the Marconi station, and the multifarious noises of the city were also brought into the silence of the hotel room by the wireless phone.

Despite the obvious capabilities of the invention Mr. Morse said that he did not think it held commercial possibilities at the present time, unless great developments were made in its practise. Nevertheless long distance connections had been made locally by means of the wireless telephone, and conversations between Montreal and Rimouski, a distance of 310 miles, had been reproduced quite distinctly.

On the subject of wireless telegraphy Mr. Morse declared that it was important that every city have an emergency radio station by which it could summon help from neighboring cities in the event of civil strife or storms or any other agency which might lead to the severing of the ordinary means of communication.

IROQUOIS PROTEST NEW FRANCHISE ORDER, WANT NO CHANGE

The Iroquois Indians of Caughnawaga announce a meeting of protest against the passing of the proposed franchise legislation, which would put ordinary citizenship within the reach of all. The Iroquois claim is that the bill would force citizenship on them.

The Iroquois claim they are an unconquered nation, having treaties with the French, English and American Governments. They say it is unconstitutional to force them to accept the citizenship of their allies in war, and their friends in peace; to force them to fight their wars when their treaty or scrap of paper says that they will never be called to fight their battles.

Steps are being taken, they say, to unite all Indian reserves to present a united front against the action of the Government.

"Too Many Husbands" Smart Farce-Comedy of Delightful Witticism

F for no other reason than that it brings us a company of English artists who understand the technique of their art, and who can play farce without affectation and without any hint of descending to burlesque, "Too Many Husbands," the new Maugham play for which many people have been waiting, and which was presented at His Majesty's theatre last night, would be more than welcome. The play will stand upon its own merits as a farcical comedy, but one shudders to think how it might be butchered at the hands of an incompetent or even a less well-balanced cast, for it depends very largely upon the skilful interpretation of deftly contrived situations and upon the authoritative handling of dialogue at once subtle and dexterous for its complete success.

Mr. Maugham has given the English stage a series of clever comedies, some of them brilliant, some keenly satirical, all touched with his racy wit and his incisive shafts of ridicule. But he has always kept well within the bounds of propriety, in so far as his actual dialogue is concerned. In "Too Many Husbands," however, he enters the realm of farce-comedy, indulges in a daring exploitation of a situation which ought to be tragic, but which, in his hands, is vastly entertaining, and gives us food for laughter such as we are seldom offered.

The theme is a simple one,—a husband supposed to have been killed at the front suddenly returning to find his wife married to his best chum. He does not realize the situation, and Mr. Maugham contrives that for a considerable time there shall be the most amusing it impossible series of devices in apprising him of it. When he does he and husband No. 2 set to work to solve the problem. Drawing room work it is speedily made clear that each is more than loath to relinquish his claims to the dainty, airy, flighty Victoria to the other. But the method proves a stumbling-block until Victoria herself solves it by announcing her intention to divorce both and marry an elderly admirer—and a Rolls-Royce. The announcement is followed by a mighty comic bit of farce, in which a fictitious female co-respondent is introduced. As satire it is quite unworthy of Mr. Maugham, but as a piece of farcical comedy it is more than amusing.

Nothing but the extreme ingenuity of the dialogue in the second act saves the play from becoming tiresome, for it is of course beyond the farthest limit of possibility that such a situation as that to which Major William Cardew returns after having been reported dead could remain unexplained for so long. But so deft is Mr. Maugham ,so dexterously has he framed his dialogue and contrived his situations, that a semblance of plausibility sufficient to permit of unarrested action is provided. The delightful humor of the dialogue is an unalloyed joy interpreted as it is by such artists as Lawrence Grossmith, Kenneth Douglas, Estelle Winwood and Marguerite St. John.

Obviously the situation Mr. Maugham creates lends itself to all kinds of exploitation. His dialogue, however, is never coarse. It is frequently capable of two interpretations, but the fact that the audience is in the secret from the outset robs it of any intentional double entendre, while at the same time adding a spiciest of humor to the most simple and casual remarks. It is possible that Mr. Maugham might have eliminated one or two frank references in his closing act, when discussing essential causes contributory to legal divorce in England. Had he done so, the comedy would not have been affected to any material extent. But even here the matter is handled in such a matter-of-fact way by the elderly lawyer that offensiveness is non-existent. And it should be borne in mind always that "Too Many Husbands" is intended to be a farce-comedy, and nothing else.

Mr. Woods is to be congratulated upon having secured such an admirable cast. Lawrence Grossmith, who plays Major Frederick Lowndes, D.S.C. (husband No. 2), and Mr. Kenneth Douglas, who fills the role of Major William Carew, D.S.O. (husband No. 1), form perfect foils. Mr. Grossmith's inimitable skill in stage portraiture of the stolid, unemotional, good-natured young British officer finds ample scope, and is brilliantly exemplified throughout. Mr. Douglas brings ripe experience and a fine poise to bear in another portrait cleverly differentiated. The keen sense of each actor for the finest and most delicate of comedy values enables them to play up to one another with unusual effect.

Miss Estelle Winwood's interpretation of the fascinating Victoria is a gem of comedy work, upholding the best English stage traditions. The portrait is an ultra-modern one, and Mr. Maugham has also made it a subject for considerable genial satire, which Miss Winwood reveals with a lightness of touch and an airy humor that hold considerable charm, which is accentuated by her own alluring and daintily costumed personality.

One hastens to add a word of tribute to that veteran actress, Miss Marguerite St. John, for her delightful portrayal of the worldly-wise mother. Miss St. John will be remembered by many theatre-goers here, as she has been a frequent visitor to Montreal since her first appearance as a child under Langdon at the old Academy of Music. Her Lady Beaconsfield with Mr. Arliss was her last previous success here.

Beatrice Miller played a manicurist with vividness. Mr. Fritz Williams in the role of the elderly admirer, Leicester Paton, would be well advised to cultivate a less stilted and affected manner of speech. His present delivery is difficult to catch the drift of. H. E. Brewer made a satisfactory lawyer, and Miss Florence Edney gives us an unctuous vignette of the professional female co-respondent,—by the way, an invention of Mr. Maugham's.

The staging and setting were perfect in their unobtrusiveness, their appropriateness and their impeccable taste.

"Kiss Me" Condensed Musical Comedy is Feature Of Bill at Princess

"Kiss Me," another example of the one-act musical comedy, which is a feature at the Princess theatre this week, there is much good material, but it is not all utilized to the best advantage. Miss Ethel Corcoran and Harry Meyer are seen with the most attractive moments of the production. Mr. Meyer himself takes the role of a youthful young husband who finds himself compelled to confess himself with a wife and three children at an hour's notice in order to explain deception practised upon them, of which he has great expectations. He is less stagey than most, and has a happy knack of carrying off a situation.

Miss Dorothy Sadler visualizes with considerable empressment the "vampire" type known to the motion picture world — and nowhere else on earth. She does it well, and members of the chorus portray various famous ladies in history picturesquely. It is refreshing to note that the author of "Kiss Me" is under the delusion that both Desdemona and the innocent Juliet were of the vampire type. Who said that Shakespeare was NOT dead —in the U.S.A.?

Miss Margaret Ford sings baritone —also otherwise. She impressed her audiences yesterday. So did Miss Briscoe and her "semi-nut" partner, Al Rauch, in song and comedy patter of an amusing and harmless type. Harry Leonard and Miss Willard specialize in diverting repartee. Mr. Felix loops the loop on a trapeze, while the audience waits for him to break his neck—and is, of course, bitterly disappointed. The wire act by the Four Ortons is made memorable by the hugely amusing performance of a comedy member of the troupe, who flies in mid-air, hauled by a trained goose, and makes other tripe about the stage while the rest of the company are going through their tricks. This is a novelty that promises to be extensively copied.

Miss Jean Chase and Company could not overcome the handicap of the snowstorm, and did not arrive in time for the afternoon performance. For the balance of the week they will present "Peggy's Wedding Night."

"A Stitch in Time" is Satisfactorily Played By Orpheum Stock Co.

A pleasing comedy, with the love element predominant, is that presented by the Orpheum Players this week in "A Stitch in Time." The story, although along conventional lines, and with the inevitable happy ending, is well-handled by a capable cast, with William Naughton and Margaret Knight in the principal roles.

There is a Cinderella-like touch to the plot, for Phoebe Ann Hubbard, the humble scrub girl of the artist's studio in the first act, blossoms forth into a beautiful and exquisitely-gowned young woman, and is in the arms of the hero before the final curtain falls.

It was Phoebe who all along really loved the hero, who was struggling to make good as an artist, although his father offered him a lucrative post in his leather business. Lola Trevor, the mercenary blonde, made "Worthy" believe she loved him, with an eye to his financial expectations, but clandestinely she gave her heart to Dick Moreland.

This faithlessness leads to a tense scene in the third act, when, on the eve of his marriage, "Worthy," disturbed by a noise in the middle of the night, comes downstairs upon a candestine assignation of Dick and Lola. Phoebe, who had conveniently fallen asleep in the room, wakes up in time to self-sacrificingly shield Lola by posing as the object of Dick's nocturnal visit. For a time it looks as though hearts will break, but next morning, through the intervention of the faithful butler, Jenkins, who has been an eye-witness of the whole affair, "Worthy" learns the whole truth, bids the faithless Lola begone to her Richard, and clasps the gentle Phoebe in his arms.

A delightful change from the somewhat stereotyped form of motion picture productions which have been appearing of late, in which the action of the picture is invariably laid in the United States, is that produced at Loew's Theatre this week in which Vivian Martin in "His Official Fiancee" plays the leading role with delightful charm and daintiness. The action of the play is laid in England around a business man who, for reasons, needed an official fiancee in order that he might be able to consummate a large business deal. A very pretty love story runs through the play, with the usual ending.

The vaudeville bill is one of merit. The Three Gregorys open the bill with a hoop-juggling act. Jessie Reed, who has appeared before in this city sang a few songs, but was hardly up to standard.

"Wanted a Model" is the title given to the offering of Genaro and Gold, who contributed some clever dancing, interspersed with musical numbers. Clever witticisms, lots of laughs, and bright sayings together with eccentric dancing marked the act of Barnes and Freeman.

The clever balancing feats performed by the Royal Uyena Japs made the audience fairly hold its breath at times.

Loew's News and a comedy film, "Sheriff Nell's Comeback," rounded out the bill.

British Burlesque at Gayety

A bright burlesque is offered at the Gayety Theatre this week, Jack Conway with the Liberty Belles providing the entertainment in a musical melange, "Manless Isle". The title of the piece explains itself and gives the comedians, Jack Conway and Vic Plant, plenty of opportunity to work in some clever comedy.

Pauline Harer delighted the audience with numerous songs, in all of which she was ably assisted by the chorus. Helen Stuart and Monica Redmond also assisted materially in making the performance a success.

The musical numbers, stage settings and costumes were all that could be desired, and the entire performance was bright and clean, every number being well produced and acted.

Comedy-Bouffe Given By Theatre Parisien At the Arcade Theatre

With "Ma Tante d'Honfleur," a three-act comedy by Paul Gavault, the Theatre Parisien Company have again chosen a lively, but by no means profound play. It was produced for the first time last night at the Arcade Theatre and was generously applauded by a large audience.

Unlike Charley's immortal aunt, "Ma Tante d'Honfleur" is exceedingly broad-minded, accommodating and generous. To describe the comedy act by act would be too long and read too stiltedly. There are many funny situations, and in parts the dialogue is very clever.

It is of the old comedy-bouffe style, however, much in favor by amateur theatrical companies, but rather below the standard of plays produced by the Theatre Parisien Company since their arrival in Montreal. Nevertheless the stage settings are good, and the performers carry out their parts well.

The aunt's part is taken by Lili Rito. The role is anything but natural—ten thousand francs here, a couple of thousand francs there to the domestic servants for tips, is hardly convincing for a provincial French lady; but Mlle. Rito fills this most optimistic aunt's part with much success.

As the nephew, Robert Casadesus has perhaps the most successful part since he has been seen in Montreal. The friend Adolphe's role is in the hands of Andre Franky, who is well suited to it. He falls head over heels in love with his mistress and finally marries her—due to the matchmaking talents of the aunt. As the mistress, Henriette Delannoy is spectacular, and realises the possibilities of her role. Mlle. Debrennes, who played Yvonne, did not seem up to her usual standard, but Suzanne Caubet as the disappointed grisette was charming. Feliz Barre and Angele Verin were convincing as the provincial couple.

The Theatre Parisien Company will present "Main Gauche," by Pierre Weber, next week as their last production in Montreal.

New Cafe-Cabaret And Roof Garden on Bleury Street Soon

The growing popularity of the cafe-cabaret is being emphasized in many directions. The universal desire for ample dancing accommodation and the attractive features which a dancing-floor and cafe-cabaret combined offer to the public are being exploited on both sides of the line.

Montreal is shortly to have a brand-new cafe-cabaret established on the most modern and luxurious lines, it is announced. M. Bouche, of Chicago, who has had a long and varied experience in this particular line, and who is the director of the largest cafe-cabaret in the Windy City, which accommodates thousands of guests, has selected Montreal as a desirable place in which to break new ground.

M. Bouche has chosen the Wilder Building on Bleury street for his site. He will occupy the main floor and the roof of that building early in the Spring. On the main floor will be the cafe , to accommodate six hundred people, and on the roof an up-to-date roof garden with accommodation for over two thousand.

M. Bouche announces that it his intention to establish an elaborate cuisine on the same plan that has made his Chicago management widely known. There will also be a complete vaudeville bill for the cabaret show, and as M. Bouche intends to establish a chain of similar cabe-cabarets, he expects to be able to offer the highest class of cabaret act around a circuit.

PABLO CASALS IS SUPREME ARTIST

'Cello Recital, with Inspired Accompanist, Reveals Purest Art

PABLO CASALS, 'cello recital; NICOLAI SCHNEER, accompanist; His Majesty's Theatre, local management, Louis H. Bourdon; program: Sonata, G major, Sammartini. Concerto, Lalo; encore, Chanson. Napolitaine, Sgambati. Variations on a theme by Mozart, Beethoven. Arioso, Bach. Allegro spiritoso, Senaille; encore, Apres un reve, Faure. Larghetto lamentoso, Godowsky. Menuet, Debussy. Danse espagnole, Granados. L'Abeille, Schubert. Allegro appassionato, Saint-Saens; encore, Mazurka, Popper.

A great truth was simply stated yesterday afternoon when the program announced the appearance of "Le violoncelliste supreme." The word "supreme" is the one which best indicates Mr. Casals' place in the world of music, since he stands alone and unrivalled in the mastery of his instrument, and possibly second to none as an executant and interpreter in the wider sphere wherein violinists, pianists and singers are vaguely grouped together as reproductive musicians.

Violinists who heard the recent Flonzaley concert are still exclaiming "How pure their playing is!" And purity of a kindred nature uplifted Mr. Casals' program. Mr. Casals has the power of taking the music he plays up and out of the notes till it is recognized as something infinitely superior to mere mechanical contrivances, something to which mechanical contrivances are incidental. Sembrich and Alhani, among singers, used to rise above their songs in this way; and the same altitude is attained by Thibaud, Heifetz and Cortot among instrumental lists of the day.

LIKE EAGLE'S FLIGHT.

There was absolutely nothing of the flesh in Mr. Casals' reading of the Bach Arioso, which soared, in great, long lines of exalted song, like the tireless flight of an eagle. And when Mr. Casals reminded us of more material things, as he did the Grieg ode picture and in Mr. Godowsky's somewhat earthly lament, he still purified them of all their grosser elements so that they took on a higher meaning under the transforming light of his ennobling concepts. Imagination shivers at the suggestion of what Mischa Elman would probably have done with these pieces had he been trying them on his violin.

Of Mr. Casals indifference to technical difficulties it is scarcely necessary to speak. Technical command of his instrument is merely a convenience to him, he apparently gives no thought to technique at all, being so sure of it that it is taken as a matter of course. Of the depth, height, breadth, richness, variety and glory of his tone, it would be easy to write a column.

The word "accompanist" is not comprehensive enough to describe Mr. Schneer's share in the concert. Perhaps the term "collaborater" would better express the importance of his position, a position which he completely and perfectly filled.—P. K.

MUSIC

The following program will be played at the Monument National this evening by Florence Stern, the brilliant young violinist: Sonata, G minor, Tartini; Serenade espagnole, Chaminade-Kreisler; Scherzo, Ditters-dorf-Kreisler; Liebesfrued, Kreisler; Concerto, Kreuter; Fantasie on "Faust," Sarasate; Canzonetta, d'Ambrosio; Fuestak Fia, Keler-Bela. Miss Stern's accompanist is Kennedy Freeman, who will play two piano solos as well.

A new work, a sonata for two violins and piano by Miro, a composition in modern spirit but intricate and scholarly as regards construction, will be played at the Dubois String Quartet concert this evening. Another noveilty on the program will be a Fantaisie for two violins and piano by Ethel Barns. This concert takes place in the Ladies' Ordinary of the Windsor Hotel.

* * *

Mme. Fortier will sing songs by Schubert, Schuman and Robert Franz at the lecture on "The Entry of Romance into Music" which George M. Brewer will give tomorrow evening at Mrs. Ballantyne's house, Forden avenue, Westmount. The remaining lectures of Mr. Brewer's series will be given on the following Wednesdays, March 17 and 24, his subjects being "The Opera, and its Successor, the Music Drama" and "The Position Since Wagner." These lectures are open to the public.

MILITARY QUERIES AND ANSWERS

L. H., Grand Mere.—Please let me know if there will be a ribbon issued to the C.E.F., Siberia, also if the men of the C.E.F., Siberia, are entitled to wear the Victory and General Service ribbons.

A.—There will doubtless be some sort of riband issued to the C.E.F., Siberia. It has not been determined so far as I am aware, whether the Victory and General Service medals will be issued to the Snowball Brigade.

C. B., St. Elizabeth street—Would you kindly give me some advice concerning the gratuity given to Canadians serving in the Imperial army. I filled a form in, sent it to Ottawa in a registered letter, on January 29, but up to the present have not heard a word from them. As I am in urgent need of money, being out of work, and a wife to keep, I would be much obliged to hear from you at your earliest notice.

A.—It has been stated more than once that this payment will not be made until communication has been had with England. It is certainly not Ottawa's fault, I'll bank on that.

S. B.—I read in the Veterans' Column of last Saturday's Star of the increase given to Imperial Service pensioners, providing they gave satisfactory paid military service during the war. I served 21 years with Royal Field Artillery, and was discharged in England, 1913, at the outbreak of the war. I was in Toronto, and I joined the C.F.A., November 14, 1914 and was discharged November 19, 1918. I served in France and England. I would be obliged if you could tell me what to do. My Imperial pension is paid from Ottawa. Thanking you.

A.—Write the officer paying Imperial Pensions, Sparks street, Ottawa.

Mrs. E. G., Martel Ave.—Will you kindly advise me if I am entitled to a Memorial Cross, as I am next of kin, being the eldest sister, also being left his will. My brother was shot on the 26th September, and died on the 28th. Hoping I am not troubling you too much, and to have a reply as soon as possible.

A.—Yes, I would say it will come to you, but don't apply for it just yet. These awards cannot be hurried by applying.

Mrs. E. B., Bordeaux street. — I would be very grateful if you will help me out in this affair. My health not being very good, I have an opportunity of going to Florida with some relatives, but before accepting the offer, I would like to know if I could have my pension transferred there, as I should be away for an indefinite period. Thanking you for past favors.

A.—Yes, certainly you can. Write S. H. Elliott, Pension Office, Drummond Building. To be sure you must expect to lose whatever the cost of exchange may be.

THE ORDERLY ROOM MAIL BAG

STYMIED.

Dear Orderly Sergeant.—It would have been a crime to so address the O.S. in army days, but then we are at peace.

Would you kindly tell me if there was an "order-in-council" passed which set Feb. 1, 1920, as the last day on which applications would be received for training by the Government? I applied about Feb. 15, and after some correspondence, was handed this "order-in-council."

I was discharged in December, 1918, but was under age when I joined and after serving almost three years was still under age on discharge. The Y.S.B. was my unit which between friends was some lay out, if it is ever possible I should like to have a heart to heart talk with the octopus which started the idea of corralling us young guys into that bunch.

Also if the "order-in-council" is "honest to goodness" what would your advice be to get around it.

Thanking you in advance,
S. M. D.

P.S. If you answer in your columns don't put my initials in as this is a small burg and everybody knows everybody's business. S. M. D.

Ed. Note—Sorry but I am unable to suggest any strategy that might get around the difficulty. I opine that you are stymied. I'll leave out the name of your "burg."

The Machine Gunners.

The officers mess of the Canadian Motor Machine Gun Brigade has now been established and they hold their first dinner at the armoury, 23 Mance street on Tuesday 9th, at 6.30 p.m. (Dress informal.)

The Sergts. of the Brigade will hold a dance in the armoury, 23 Mance street on St. Patrick's night, 17th inst., commencing at 8 o'clock. Tickets can be procured at the Orderly Room, 75 cents each, including refreshments. A good orchestra has been provided and a good evening's fun is assured.

The Machine Gunners' officers will meet the Vic. officers on Tuesday, 10th at the Vic armoury in the baseball series at 9.00 p.m. and on Friday their opponents will be the undefeated Highlanders. The M. G. officers suffered their first defeat last week at the hands of the R.C.R's and naturally they will endeavor to pick up the points from their opponents this week.

Duties—Officer for the week, Captain S. Gudgeon; orderly officer, Lieut. Thibeaudeau.

MILITARY NEWS AND VIEWS

G. W. V. A. Band — The regular practice of the G.W.V.A. Band will be held at the Khaki Club on Wednesday, the 10th instant, at 8 o'clock sharp.

On Friday last Capt. Ryan held his first practice and from the start the members showed the keenest interest in their work. He insists upon thoroughness and perfection in every detail, and shows remarkable ability to impart his knowledge of music to others. It was particularly noticeable the interest he took in the individual members and the assistance he rendered to the junior players. He intends taking the Band step by step the simplest of music being mastered thoroughly before the more difficult is attempted. With regular practices and regular attendence the association feels that the band will soon reach a premiere position.

The band is still several members under strength and all bandsmen with overseas service are invited to attend the practices.

COL. BIGGAR IS GUEST.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Colonel O. M. Biggar, chief of the Canadian Air Board, was a guest of the Manufacturer's Aircraft Association at the Aeronautical Exposition yesterday.

ANTI-JEWISH DEMONSTRATION.

BUDAPEST, March 9. — Anti-Semitic demonstrations by Christian students caused the closing of the University here last Thursday. The day was registration day and a number of soldiers of the Terrorist group entered the building with the avowed purpose of preventing Jews from registering, which resulted in the directors closing the university.

COLUMBUS, O., March 9. — Seven hundred car repairers in the Norfolk & Western railroad shops in this city went on strike last night in an effort to enforce their demands that one of the shop employes be discharged. The man in question refused to walk out when a strike was called last year.

SPOKANE, March 9. — Weyerhaeuser lumber interests, the greatest in the West, announce ten to thirty per cent price reductions on all products in an effort to halt advancing prices. The reduction is guaranteed until June 1.

Sped Down N.Y. Harbor to Catch Vanishing Liner

NEW YORK, March 9.—A speed record for tug travel through New York harbor was made yesterday by Lieut. Travers Williams-Taylor, son of Sir Frederic Williams-Taylor, of the Bank of Montreal.

Lieut. Williams-Taylor had booked passage on the Cunard liner Imperator. Just after the departure of the big steamer shortly after noon he arrived at the dock. Waving two fifty-dollar bills he shouted "the man who puts me aboard the Imperator gets $100, and the one who makes a good try and loses gets $50." The captain of the tugboat Lewis Bulver immediately cut loose, shouting to the lieutenant to jump aboard. The tug [illegible] down the harbor through the shipping at full speed and the captain won his hundred dollars when the Imperator stopped off the Statue of Liberty in response to whistled appeals and Lieut. Williams-Taylor climbed aboard.

NEW AUSTRIAN NOTE ISSUE.

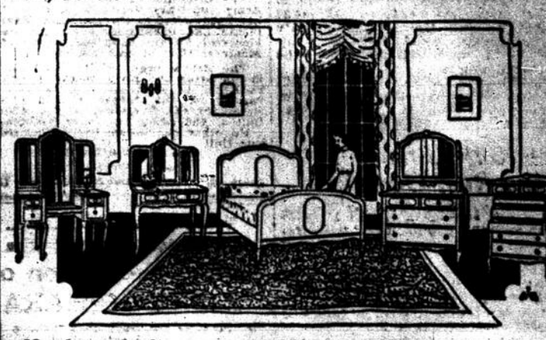

VIENNA, March 9—The Government has decided to issue another billion crowns of 3½ per cent treasury notes. It is generally believed that the bulk of these notes soon will be converted by the banks into crowns, thus again inflating the currency.

THERE IS NOTHING that appeals to the average housewife so much as CLEANLINESS. DENT HARRISON'S BAKERY would appeal to the most particular housewife from the standpoint of cleanliness. And to see the marvel bakery at work—well—marvellous is the only word that can describe it. And—WE KEEP THE QUALITY UP.

STRONGLY OPPOSE PARTY PATRONAGE

Civic Service Federation Condemns Preston's Proposed Campaign

OTTAWA, March 9 (By Canadian Press)—That the Civil Service Federation is strongly opposed to a return to the party patronage system in regard to Civil Service appointments, was plainly evidenced at yesterday afternoon's session of the convention being held in the Great War Veterans' Association club rooms. The members practically unanimously endorsed the action of the president, Frank Grierson, who on receipt of a letter from W. T. R. Preston, of Port Arthur, stating he intended instituting an active campaign for the support of party patronage, replied in no uncertain terms that Mr. Preston need not look to the Federation for any assistance in his efforts and intimating that he (Mr. Grierson) could not conceive of any sane man, much less a civil servant, espousing the cause.

The discussion that followed the reading of the letters was short. A resolution endorsing the action of the president was almost unanimously carried, the only member against the proposal being Mr. Matheson, of Toronto, who, while not in favor of party patronage, thought the expression of an opinion by the Federation would stir up trouble between that body and the members of Parliament. He argued that as they were shortly going to bring the bonus question up it would be foolish to make enemies over a matter which really rested with Parliament.

The only other business of importance was an application from the American Postal Workers for affiliation with the Federation. The delegates from the Postal Workers were in attendance and stated their case, but the matter was referred to committee for report.

KAPUSKASING PROBE NEAR CONCLUSION

Minister of Finance Farmers to Take Stand Today

KAPUSKASING, Ont., March 9.—The end of the Kapuskasing enquiry, so far as local evidence is concerned, is in sight. This afternoon the various officials are to take the stand, and their evidence is expected to consume the balance of the day and part of Saturday. The commission expects to leave for Toronto on Wednesday night's train.

Only two witnesses were examined yesterday, and Chairman Nickle intimated at the conclusion of the morning session that any other settlers desirous of giving evidence were required to come forward before Friday, although allowances would be made for late arrivals. A number of the pioneer farmers are believed to be coming forward, which will put the number of witnesses well over the half hundred mark.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted by the members of the commission to another tour of inspection of homes in two different parts of the colony. Witness Gough testified for more than an hour. While declaring himself personally as willing to stay he had a few grievances to ventilate. He was allowed to by the chairman as a "friend of the cause," in the meaning that he had exhausted his capital in developing his farm, and he must have premises for other work until his holding should become self-supporting.

A MODEST REQUEST.

One morning Mr. Jenkins, the proprietor of the village provision store, received a letter which caused him to indulge in a few impressions at his stationery. It ran as follows:

"Dear Sir: Will you let my little boy, Billy, ave six loaves and a pund of cheese on trust, as my husband is out of work, and will pay you the first week after he gets his unemployment benefit. I am sending the newspaper and tie the bread in a bag of your muslin, coz if the worst comes to the worst and the old man can't find a job we'll have to borrer a step ladder and a pail and go out scrubbing."

English Voiles

Indestructible, Indelible and Almost Indescribable

The finger of exaggeration may be pointed at us, but we care not. We simply cannot restrain from rhapsodies when writing of these enchanting wash goods. Of such fairy delicacy that Titania herself, amid the fantastic revelries of her midnight elfin court, would be graced, clothed in such filmy beauty. Substance as delicate as shadows, patterns as pretty as patches of panoramic gardens. A Great House for Veilings

The other day lack of space compelled us to crowd out from our page an advertisement from our Veiling Department. This unavoidable exclusion brought forth a remonstrance—and a very natural remonstrance from the department, and we were invited to go over their stock in order that we might fully realize its vastness, its variety and importance.

To state that we were amazed at its scope is to put the case mildly. We saw veils, beautiful beyond imagination. So many really lovely designs, so many artistically clever and novel ideas, so many colorings, so many different styles made for the thousands of types of faces, complexions and hats.

Therefore, we unhesitatingly endorse the claim, that Goodwin's are veiling specialists.

We quote a few examples of Veilings.

Plain meshes, allover chenille spots, small allover patterns, some with pretty borders. .25, .35, .50, .65, .75 and .85 yard.

Others of fancy meshes in black and colors .95 to 2.95 yard.

The Composite Stove

Everybody's Praising It

It has so many advantages over the ordinary cooking stove. For one thing it occupies so much less space, and yet has actually more cooking surface. The oven is level with the face, and consequently, stooping is unnecessary. The oven, by the way, is heated evenly, the heat circulating it 2½ times. Also the heat is regulated simply from the side. You can grill to perfection over this stove. Easily-removed roller-grates. Deep dust pan.

If we've excited your curiosity enough, let us have the pleasure of showing this sensible stove to you and explaining in detail. Prices now are:
