BRITAIN PREPARED FOR POSSIBLE REICH ATTACK

Future Of Civilization Depends On Outcome Of Fight, Churchill Claims

Britain Is Ready on Land, in Air and on the Sea for the Great "Battle of Britain" Which Is About to Commence—Seven-Eighths of British Forces Sent to France Have Been Returned to England in Safety—Difficulties of Transportation May Prevent Any Large-Scale Invasion of Great Britain by Land Armies, Prime Minister Believes.

(By J. F. SANDERSON, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 18.—(C.P. Cable)—Britain is ready on land, in air and on the sea for the "Battle of Britain" which is about to start and on the result of which depends the future of civilization the world over, Prime Minister Churchill declared in the House of Commons today.

Like a company director addressing a board meeting, Mr. Churchill drew on his great military experience to assess in a cold, factual way the dangers facing this country, its probabilities and eventual victory, and gave his studied judgment that Germany would be crushed in the end.

"Hitler knows," Mr. Churchill said, "that he will have to break us on this island or lose the war."

"If we can stand up to him, all Europe may be free and the life of the world may move forward into a broad, sunlit upland."

"If we fail, then the whole world, including the United States, and all we have known and cared for will sink into the abyss of a new dark age made more sinister and perhaps more prolonged by the lights of perverted science.

"Let us, therefore, so brace ourselves to our duty and so bear ourselves that if the British Empire lasts for one thousand years men will say: 'This was their finest hour.'"

The Battle for France was lost by an "unfortunate strategic opening" by the French high command, Prime Minister Churchill told the House and the "great question is, can we break Hitler's air weapon?"

"The French Government," he declared, "will be casting away their future if they do not continue the war in accordance with their treaty obligations, from which we have not felt able to relieve them."

"It is not yet certain that military resistance by France will come to an end."

"The Battle of France is over and the Battle of Britain is about to begin."

"If we lose it, the whole world, including the United States of America, will sink into the abyss of a new dark age."

He predicted confidently that forces invading Britain likely would be "drowned in the sea or blown to pieces while trying to land."

In Britain now there are more than 1,250,000 men under arms. Behind these stand half a million local defence volunteers, he said.

We also have Dominions armies here," Mr. Churchill added.

He said Canadians had been landed in France but had been safely withdrawn although disappointed.

"In view of the troops now in this country, invasion of this country would require hostile armies on a very large scale," he said, "and we have a navy."

In the final Battle for France, now lost, Mr. Churchill asserted there Continued on page 2, col. 6.

Fifty Thousand Maginot Fortress Reserves Stage Dramatic Escape

Basel, Switzerland, June 18.—(AP)—Fifty thousand French fortress troops escaped from Germany's Alsace-Lorraine trap to reassemble with the French army to the south early this morning.

These troops were mainly from the Nancy garrison and had fought around Metz and in the Vosges sector.

They headed south twelve hours after the Lower Maginot Line army of 300,000 had escaped.

The 50,000 were unopposed except for skirmishes with small German motorized units encountered in the flight down the Sauer Valley.

These troops, it was believed here, might wage a last ditch fight if necessary to win a peace with honor. The first 300,000 are fortress troops of the Lower Alsace Maginot Line, most of them under command of General Bessom, snatched from the jaws of the Nazi trap as it closed shut behind the big fortifications.

This is how it happened: Sometimes between the fall of Paris and the fall of Verdun the Maginot defenders were ordered to send out all available reserves, and at the same time two divisions of Alpine Chasseurs were rushed from the Italian front to re-enforce the Verdun sector.

Before the Chasseurs reached the Verdun region, however, the Germans broke through on the

CLAIMS FRENCH VESSELS UNDER BRITISH FLAG

Authoritative New York Commercial Paper Says Navy and Merchant Ships Turned Over Friday.

New York, June 18.—(AP)—The Journal of Commerce, New York financial newspaper which usually is well informed on commercial developments, said today it is "reporting" that the French naval fleet was turned over to Britain last Friday.

The report, unconfirmed in official Allied quarters here, was contained in a lengthy review of the shipping situation as a result of developments in France.

The Journal also said that French merchant vessels "flying the British flag will continue to carry United Continued on page 2, col. 5.

Marne and sent an armored division to close the door behind Alsace-Lorraine and the Maginot zone. On Sunday they cut the Chasseurs force in two. Less than a division was left between the Germans and the Jura mountains.

Nevertheless, despite their small force and their weariness from several days' fighting, they stood for thirty-six hours against the Germans, using several batteries of 75's and 101's which they found at the position they took on little Presse Mountain about thirty miles from the Swiss frontier.

Behind them the Maginot army of 300,000 men moved out of the trap in overloaded trucks.

Finally, last night after the last of General Bessom's forces had passed through the gap, the Chasseurs broke.

Almost 1,000 of them stumbled toward the Swiss frontier, battle-weary, but only a few came into Switzerland to be disarmed. The remainder turned south to take up new positions for more fighting.

The flow of French wounded across the Swiss frontier continued today.

French refugees reaching Les Verriers said Premier Petain may have had to ask for peace terms because of the situation behind the lines. They said that roads used by the rear guard were lined with

NO SIGN OF GREAT MEDITERRANEAN BATTLE

London, June 18.—(AP)—Authoritative circles insisted today they had no information concerning a report published by the Daily Mail that French and Italian warships had fought a major engagement with heavy Italian losses.

The Daily Mail's Bordeaux correspondent telegraphed that the French Mediterranean Fleet, under orders of Admiral Jean Darlan, French commander in chief and Navy Minister, had clashed with an Italian force. It was not indicated where or when the supposed battle occurred.

Reported that General Commanding Forces in North Africa and Syria Would Establish Government in England and Continue in Battle with Air Force and Navy Operating from British Bases.

London, June 18.—(AP)—French sources in London said today they considered it "probable" that General Albert Nogués, commanding France's North African Army, and General Eugene Mittelhauser, commanding the French Army in the Near East, had decided to continue fighting.

These sources said they had no direct communication with the Bordeaux Government and therefore were unable to confirm or deny reports that French leaders had decided to continue the war, with the Government established in England and the air force and navy operating from British bases.

(Mittelhauser's command, based in Syria, has been estimated at more than 200,000 men. No estimates have been available on Nogués' command.)

SPANISH DEMANDS REVIEWED Madrid, June 18.—(AP)—Reports that Generalissimo Francisco Franco had been invited to act as intermediary in France's suit for peace with Germany were circulated here today as the press speculated on early fulfillment of Spanish territorial aspirations "in a world about to be readjusted."

Although there was no official comment on the possibility of Franco's assuming the role of mediator, success close to the Foreign Office said Germany had invited Spain to participate in any peace discussions with France.

Newspapers pointed to this as an indication that Spain's "national personality" is being recognized in Europe, but they said France's appeal for "an honorable peace" would not divert Spanish attention from off-reiterated objectives.

To these objectives, which include control of Gibraltar and sections of Northwestern Africa, the newspaper Informations added Andorra, the 175-mile square principality situated in the mountainous region between Spain and France.

The paper said the Andorra should be placed under sole jurisdiction of Spain because France had abandoned all claims to co-sovereignty.

Informations, commenting upon Germany's invitation to Spain to participate in any peace negotiations with France, said "peoples with grievances and demands to present and injustices to be repaired soon will have opportunity to do so in a world about to be readjusted."

Reports that Franco had been invited to act as intermediary caused observers to recall that he has had friendly relations with French Premier Petain as well as with Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

Ottawa, June 8.—(AP)—Canadian production of crude petroleum and natural gasoline amounted to 570,131 barrels during March, compared with 655,586 in February and 385,273 in March, 1939, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Natural gas production amounted to 2,882,351,000 cubic feet, against 4,290,250,000 and 3,722,184,000.

At two sittings yesterday, the House voted more than $2,805,000 on budgetary estimates and adopted a division Government bill to give Quebec farmers an additional $6,000,000 in agricultural credit and to amend the Municipal Code. The estimates were voted for the Departments of the Provincial Secretary, Education, Agriculture and Civil Service.

The Farm Credit Bill was adopted by a vote of thirty-seven to nine. Defeated by a similar vote was an Opposition Union Nationale party amendment to the motion to give the measure second reading. The amendment approved the agricultural credit principal but criticized the bill because it raised the interest and amortization rates and would increase annual charges to farmers, discouraging them from attempting to obtain loans.

Eastern Townships Should Be Given Its Chance

"Why is an Eastern Townships battalion not being organized?"

"Why is this district not being given the same opportunity for service as it was during the last war?"

These are questions which are repeatedly being asked. They merit an answer, but the answer must come from Ottawa.

In the world War of 1914-18, the blood of Eastern Townships' men mingled with that of other khaki-clad heroes from every part of the Dominion. When on August 4th, 1914, the news flashed around the world that the British Empire had accepted the challenge of German militarism, the overseas Dominions sprang to arms. The first call for 30,000 men found a quick response, and Eastern Townships lads were foremost.

In the Spring of 1915 came the organization of the 3th Canadian Mounted Rifles, the first distinctive Eastern Townships corps. This was followed by the 117th Eastern Townships Battalion, the 35th Battery and the 178th French-Canadian Battalion. The part played by the Eastern Townships in the last war will stand for all time as a tribute to the valor of the district; to the bravery of the men who served and as an example of the loyalty of the district as a whole to the Empire, and of its determination to serve in time of crisis.

Again the time for service has arrived. Again the district is ready and eager to do its part. The people realize the urgency of the hour. They want to act. They WILL act.

Already a creditable number of men from the Townships have enlisted. Some have gone overseas, others are still in training on Canadian soil. Others have offered their services and are waiting to be called.

But none of these men have been able to enlist in distinctly Eastern Townships units. Apart from the number of men who have enlisted, twenty-one officers of the Sherbrooke Regiment are on active service, eighteen of these being actually in England.

The Eastern Townships lacks nothing in the way of manpower. We have qualified officers. We have in this district many military men who have had years of service. These men are eager to do their part. They are ready to organize, to train men, and to turn out an Eastern Townships Battalion which will be a credit to the district, to Canada, and will be proof that we have not broken faith with those sturdy lads who gladly went forth from Eastern Townships' homes in the last war, some of whom are ready to serve again, others who have, from falling hands, thrown the torch to us to hold high.

Montreal and other important centers have been given an opportunity to play their part. Officers from outside districts have invaded the Townships in the hope of securing the right type of men to fill up their units.

There is no reason why our men should go outside their own district to enlist. It is time the voice of the Townships should be heard. If the authorities at Ottawa and the military powers of the Dominion do not intend to act of their own free will, pressure should be brought to bear.

The Eastern Townships should have its own military units. Men from the Townships should be able to enlist in their own districts. We should not be forced to go afield to play our part at a time such as this.

In asking for the right to do our part, we are not seeking favors or special privileges. We have right here in our midst, the leaders, the men, the readiness and the determination.

We ask Ottawa to judge our military men on their individual records. We ask them to judge our district on what it has done. The past speaks for itself.

The Record asks for an expression of opinion on this important question. Make your views known.

Results can come only from united action. Let every organization in the district register its approval. Let every man and woman in every part of the Townships make it known that we are united and determined when we demand

Quebec Assembly Makes Progress In Clearing Legislative Agenda

Quebec, June 18.—(AP)—The Legislative Assembly was expected today to continue debate on bills in which the Government seeks authorization to establish a Public Service Board, to amend the Land and Forests Act and to limit certain of the Province's statutory expenditures for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1940.

At two sittings yesterday, the House voted more than $2,805,000 on budgetary estimates and adopted a division Government bill to give Quebec farmers an additional $6,000,000 in agricultural credit and to amend the Municipal Code. CANADA AWAITS PRESENTATION OF NEW BUDGET

Drastic Increase in Existing Taxes and Imposing of New Levies Expected in Dominion Budget Thursday.

Ottawa, June 18.—(AP)—Canada's war effort, hitherto considered mostly in terms of men, ships, airplanes, shells and guns, will be portrayed in dollars and cents this week when Finance Minister Ralston presents his budget. Indications are Thursday will be Budget Day.

Then the Canadian public will learn not only the general picture of war finance in terms of hundreds of millions of dollars but just how extra monies are to be extracted from the pockets of individual taxpayers.

All signs point to Mr. Ralston presenting the biggest budget in Canadian history so far, a budget which will call for new taxes and increases in old taxes.

The War Appropriation Bill, already passed by Parliament, runs to $700,000,000 and estimates of expenditure on page 2, col. 5.

United States Acts To Halt Transfer Of French Colony

House Expected to Give Final Approval by Tonight to Measure Authorizing Direct Action if Colonies in Western Hemisphere Are Transferred from One Non-American Power to Another.

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—The United States Government stepped up its efforts to reinforce the political, economic and military defenses of the Western Hemisphere today as Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini considered the peace terms to be offered France.

Leaders predicted the House of Representatives would pass legislation before tonight charting a course of action in case any attempt is made to transfer French possessions in the New World to Germany.

The resolution, approved by the Senate yesterday, seventy-six to nothing, does not refer specifically to the war but serves notice that the United States would not "acquiesce" in the transfer of Western Hemisphere colonies from one non-American nation to another.

It provides that, if any attempt to effect such a transfer appears likely, the United States will consult immediately with the other American Republics on steps "to safeguard their common interests."

This consultation, the declaration says, will be "in addition to other measures."

In diplomatic circles it was predicted freely, however, that the question of sending troops to French possessions in this part of the world would not arise, at least for considerable time. These possessions include Guadeloupe and Martinique in the Caribbean, French Guiana on the North Coast of South America, and St. Pierre and Miquelon Islands near Newfoundland.

In the first place, it was pointed out, these lands have no great wealth like the oil of the Dutch West Indies, to which the Allies sent troops as a precaution after Germany overran The Netherlands.

Speculation persisted here over the fate of the French fleet, the second largest in Europe.

Should it be turned over to the Germans intact, the combined Nazi-Italian-French fleet would outnumber the British in all categories other than cruisers and aircraft carriers and would have a similar superiority over the United States fleet.

Coincidentally, the administration here rushed preparations to start construction of additional warships already voted by Congress and asked Congressional approval of a further $120,000,000 building programme designed to give this country by 1944 a fleet far larger than any now afloat.

High officials worked also on a plan of Pan-American trade co-operation which officials said would, in effect, prevent the Nazi barter system from playing one American country against another in buying such products as wheat, cotton, beef, coffee and copper.

There was speculation that this proposal probably would take the form of a huge corporation or other agency, to be subsidized by this country. This corporation, the speculation ran, would buy exports Continued on page 2, col. 8.

Meanwhile the Canadian advance guard had moved on towards its zone of concentration in France, and had reached Sable, near Tours. They hadn't the faintest idea of how tight the German ring was being drawn.

Their train glided quietly into the yards in the early hours of Friday. No person was in sight. The French engineer sounded a few blasts of the locomotive whistle, but there was no response.

Brig. A. A. Smith, of Wincha, Ont., at the head of the 1st Infantry Brigade, and Lt. Col. E. W. Haldenby, M.C., of Toronto, headed the 48th Highlanders, started off to investigate. They met a man who identified himself as a British military transport officer. He told them the Germans had broken through the French defences and that they were at that very moment advancing on Sable.

"Get your men out of here as quickly as you can," he advised, and then vanished into the darkness. The Canadian officers were dumbfounded. They tried to find their informant again, but failed. Inquiries elsewhere, however, convinced them their plight was serious.

Orders were given to the train crew to prepare to return, but the crew declined to move without word from the stationmaster, who could not be found. Furthermore, they said there wasn't enough steam in the boiler. And they added: "Be-cause, the war is over."

Terms Of Armistice For France Being Reviewed At Munich Conference

France Must Accept or Reject Terms Before They Are Made Public, German Sources Declare as Hitler and Mussolini Meet at Munich—French Prepared to Resist Rather than Submit to "Dishonorable" Demands.

Munich, Germany, June 18.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Ciano, of Italy, arrived at Munich at 3 p.m. (9 a.m., E.D.T.) today for their conference with Adolf Hitler on the French request for peace terms.

An hour later they sat down at a conference table with Hitler, who had arrived shortly after noon.

Hundreds of church bells rang as the Fuehrer reached this Bavarian city, where National Socialism was born in a beer cellar.

Authorized German sources said today that France must either accept or reject the peace terms of the Axis powers before they are made known to the world.

Nothing will be published "prematurely" concerning the peace price asked of France, it was said.

These circles said they were convinced Premier Petain's final word on the proposals must be known before anything is made public here.

Thus a brief communique merely stating the fact of the meeting between Hitler and Mussolini, and nothing more, is all that may be expected today, these informed quarters said.

The communique may be expected sometime tonight, it was said.

DEMANDS HONORABLE TERMS

Bordeaux, France, June 18.—(AP)—France, declaring her navy and her air force "intact" insisted today that her peace terms with Germany and Italy be "honorable."

While Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini were debating Premier Henri Philippe Petain's request for peace, Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin told the French people and the world by radio last night that "if we are given the choice between resistance and honor, the French army and the whole French people will know what to do."

As he spoke the Germans were moving still deeper into France on virtually all fronts but the French army still resisted, especially at Orleans, seventy miles south of Paris, and in the region of La Charité sur Loire, a full 120 miles southeast of the Capital.

At both of these places, which are on the Loire river, fighting was "violent," according to a night's communique of the French High Command.

"At all points of contact," said the communique, "our troops still are fighting with the same bravery for the honor of the flag."

Baudouin said "We are ready to lay down arms if we can get an honorable peace, but we are never ready to accept shameful conditions which Continued on page 2, col. 5.

Possibility that Dominion Might Not Take "Reciprocal" Action Against U.S. Hinted.

Canadian Trip To France Failed To Bring Clash With Reich Horde

Somewhere in England, June 18.—(AP)—Canada's Active Service Force, after months of preparation and training, finally got to France last week primed for front line action, but it was disclosed, had to turn around immediately and return to England without having seen a German or fired a shot.

The vanguard of the First Division is back with a dramatic story. Part of the detachment, comprising the headquarters staff of the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade and the 48th Highlanders, escaped the German encircling move by a margin of only two hours.

Led by Maj. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, the Division moved toward France a week ago today. For days and nights long columns of motor transports rumbled to the ports of embarkation. Escorted by British and French naval forces, the leading transports carried the First Brigade, some advance units, vehicles, ammunition and supplies, reaching port last Thursday night.

Troops crowded with more Canadians expecting to come to grips with the Germans rode at anchor in a South Coast harbor, while still other units streamed hourly into the assembly area.

Then suddenly came the news that the "show" had been called off. The men didn't know then why the change had been made. Now they know.

Dominion Reorganizing Armament Output As French Ask Armistice

Ottawa, June 18.—(P)—Canada's war effort, in home defences and whole war supply programme is being "very rapidly reorganized" in keeping with developments of the past week.

Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons last night that "our whole plans" are being re-aligned but he would not say what his Department might be doing next week or next month.

Right now many busy mobilizing Canadian industry, progressively calling in force the almost unlimited powers granted it by Orders-in-Council and about to be confirmed and augmented by amendment of the Department of Munitions and Supply Act.

Under these drastic powers, the Department can set up new factories of its own, incorporate Government-owned companies for special purposes, determine prices and regulate production.

"We are getting to the point where, if a manufacturer has a thing which the Government needs, we preempt it, we pay him what we think is a fair price. If he does not think so, he has an appeal to the Courts," Mr. Howe explained.

The bill was passed through the Committee stage and now stands for third and final reading.

Most of yesterday's full session was given over to questioning of Mr. Howe on the operations of the Munitions and Supply Department and of Labor Minister McLarty on relief matters as the House gave first reading to the bill to provide funds for unemployment relief and farm distress.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King at the opening announced that some Canadian troops had been sent to France last week but that during the week-end, because of changed circumstances effective steps for their withdrawal were started.

Mr. King, announcing his intention to make a comprehensive statement on the war crisis today after Prime Minister Winston Churchill has made a pronouncement in the British House, said that Canada's determination to increase its war effort, in home defences and whole war supply programme is being "very rapidly reorganized" in keeping with developments of the past week.

ENGINES PROVE MAJOR LACK IN PLANE OUTPUT

War-Time Needs of Great Britain Interfere with Manufacture of Canadian Military Airplanes.

Ottawa, June 18.—(P)—In a war fought to a great degree in machine shops far from the firing line, Canada wages a hard battle these days to provide aircraft for its Allies.

While the Canadian aircraft industry has been growing by leaps and bounds to provide planes to meet enemy numerical superiority, production of the types of aircraft necessary for the war effort presents a great problem.

Canadian plane makers are entirely dependent upon outside sources of engines. In twenty-five engines for large types of aircraft, the majority of engines came from the United States and the small engines for light sports planes from British factories.

But even before the war was raging in Europe, Canadian aircraft factories began construction of British design for the Royal Air Force and for the Royal Canadian Air Force. Specifications called for British engines of various types, but Great Britain's present emergency demands all aero engines its factories can produce be thrown into the production of the war effort.

The possibility is seen that British engines may not be available in the quantities anticipated for Canadian needs.

While no aero engines are manufactured in Canada, subsidiaries of United States and British manufacturers import parts and assemble engines in the Dominion. Canadian branches of two of the largest United States manufacturers have recently enlarged their plants at Montreal and will within a few weeks be able to double their capacity. These plants also provide facilities for the necessary periodic overhaul of engines in service.

One type of elementary training plane, the Tiger Moth, under construction in quantity by the De Havilland Company near Toronto for the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, is customarily powered with a British-built engine, but other types of trainers to be built in Canada, the Fleet, elementary trainer and the Harvard, advanced or intermediate trainer, use United States engines.

British-designed aircraft under construction in Canada or shortly to be built in Canadian plants are the Handley-Page Hampden heavy bomber, the Stirling four-engine bomber, the Vickers-Supermarine Stranraer twin-engine flying boat, the Blackburn Shark torpedo plane, the Westland Lysander army co-operation plane, and the Bristol Bolingbroke twin-engine medium bomber and reconnaissance plane.

All are designed for air-cooled radial British engines, but it is considered possible that United States radial engines could be used in an emergency.

CUPID CLAIMS FIRST VICTIM IN KEYS QUADS

Three Sisters Act as Attendants at Wedding of One of Four Famous Oklahoma City Sisters.

Oklahoma City, June 18.—(P)—Cupid claimed his first victim among the Keys Quadruplets today.

It was brown-eyed Mona's wedding day. The young man was Robert W. Fowler, oil company accountant. She met him two years ago.

Her sisters—Leta, Mary and Roberta—cast aside any sad thoughts over the break-up and said they were "right happy for Mona."

The Quads have been in the spotlight since their birth June 4, 1915, their parents soft-pedaled commercialism for twenty-two years. Their appearances as vocalists were confined to schools, churches and civic affairs.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, speaking in the Commons the day after the United States Government announced the new regulation might effect "something in the nature of reciprocity" in the matter.

He said conferences between Canadian and United States Governments would be held on different questions as they arose.

According to United States Legation officials here every Canadian, regardless of age, would require a passport to enter the United States after June 30. Photographs of each individual will be required on the passport.

However, Canadians travelling on established transportation systems from Canada through the United States to other parts of the Dominion will not require passports. This applies to established railways, bus or air transportation systems. Travelers in automobiles, however, will require passports.

Canadian passport officials expect an increase in the issuance of passports due to the United States regulation.

A passport costs five dollars and is good for five years. At the end of that time it can be renewed for another five years on payment of $3.

Latest tourist figures, covering April, show a large increase in outgoing Canadian cars to the United States over the same month last year. During April 70,420 cars were cleared under tourist permits for various periods compared with 54,592 in 1939.

Total number of cars entering Canada during April totalled 201,005 compared with 227,697 in April, 1939, a decrease of 26,692. All but forty-five of these tourist cars were entered from the United States, the remainder from Australia, Panama, Mexico, Alaska, the United Kingdom, British Guiana, Salvador and Newfoundland.

Canada Awaits Presentation Of New Budget

Continued from page 1. diture for normal Government purposes run to about $450,000,000. Col. Ralston's budget will not propose the raising of little more, aggregating more than $1,000,000,000 by taxation. Already the Government is borrowing from the public through the War Savings Certificates and there may be large war loan campaigns.

The general policy of war finance, however, is stated in the special session of Parliament last September is to pay expenses out of revenue as far as possible.

In framing the budget and deciding where and how heavily to tax, the expert advisers of the Finance Minister keep in mind the general economic well-being of the country, the foreign exchange situation and the importance of keeping business and industry functioning smoothly.

Thus the tax changes may be such as to produce as much revenue as possible with a minimum of dislocation. They may bear more heavily on individual incomes and individual spending than on corporate endeavors.

Tariff changes, usually a prominent feature of the budget, will be few. The income tax may be increased and the exemptions reduced in order to bring lower incomes, not presently taxable into the tax field.

Canada's total expenditure for purposes in the four years of the last war amounted to little more than $1,000,000,000. The way in which war has increased in cost is graphically illustrated by the fact that this fiscal year, from April 1, 1940, to March 31, 1941, the Government is budgeting for a war cost of $700,000,000.

The budget speech will be Col. Ralston's. He took over the Finance portfolio only last September and after delivering the budget will become Minister of National Defence, succeeding Hon. Norman Rogers who was killed in an airplane crash last week.

As usual the tax changes announced in the budget become effective at once. The machinery for putting them in effect is all ready, but in order to prevent speculation and profiteering the utmost secrecy is maintained as to the nature of the changes.

Nevertheless French military spokesmen have acknowledged that the front was at a deadlock—that the front was disorganized and that the Germans had split the French forces into four ribbons.

And the army's communiqué said that German spearheads had been driven as far as the region of Dijon and Autun, East of the Loire, 150 to 175 miles Southeast of Paris and that Nazi mechanized units had reached the Rhine and the Moselle.

The German high command claimed yesterday that its Southwest push in Northeastern France had reached the Swiss frontier, cutting off the Maginot line from the rear, but a dispatch from Les Verriers, Switzerland early today said that 300,000 French Maginot troops had escaped the trap and that they remained on "orderly guard" on the Lower Jura region, ready to enforce the demands for an "honorable" peace.

Berlin dispatches said the Axis powers would impose "hard" terms on France. From Les Verriers it was reported that most Frenchmen in Switzerland expected German demands would permit an "honorable" peace, but they were apprehensive regarding possible Italian demands for Corsica, Savoy and Nice. They said these would be considered "dishonorable" and that the French might choose to fight on rather than submit.

In a broadcast last night addressed primarily to North America the French Government radio reviewed the plight in which France finds herself today and acknowledged that "We have made many mistakes."

"What was our crime?" the announcer asked. "It was simply a belief in a way of life that our experience has proved to be suddenly unadapted to the times."

"Our lives were full, with mingled work and laughter, while others were doing nothing but train their sons to fight. We built schools and hospitals, and we enjoyed life as a whole with the finer graces as well as the major ones. We lived easily and well."

It added that the report of the flag shift on the French merchant vessels "received partial confirmation at the customs house where representatives of the line were identified arranging for clearance of four vessels" with immediate destination believed to be an Eastern Canadian port.

London, June 18.—(P)—Sir Victor Warrender, Finance Secretary to the Admiralty, announced in the Commons 125 civilians were killed and eighty-one were wounded in aiding the Navy reloaded the Allied armies from Dunkerque.

Sir Victor said of the casualties four killed and two wounded were civilian volunteers and the rest members of the merchant marine.

Future Of Civilization Depends On Outcome Of Fight, Churchill Claims

Continued from page 1. were only three British divisions, because of the time it took to replace supplies and equipment lost in the disaster of Flanders.

"We sent every man we could to France as fast as we could re-equip and transport their formations," he said.

The Prime Minister recalled how the British Army and 120,000 French troops were rescued by the Royal Navy from Dunkerque but only with the loss of "all their cannon, vehicles and equipment."

"This loss inevitably took some weeks to repair, and in the first two of those weeks the battle in France had been lost," he said.

Mr. Churchill added that considering the heroic resistance made by the French and the enormous losses and inevitable exhaustion of the Germans that "it might be well thought that the twenty-five divisions of the best trained and best equipped troops would have turned the scale."

Only three British divisions were able to stay in the lines with the French, Mr. Churchill said.

"We sent every man we could to France as fast as we could re-equip and transport their formations," Mr. Churchill said.

The Prime Minister referred to "many who wished to hold an inquest on the conduct of the Government and Parliament during the years which led up to this catastrophe."

Indictment of the former Government, he said, "would be a foolish and pernicious process."

Recklessness is utterly futile and even harmful.

"Of this I am quite sure, that if we open a quarrel between the past and the present we shall find that we have lost the future."

Mr. Churchill said he spoke of events leading up to the recent fighting in France "to explain why it was we did not have between twelve and fourteen British divisions fighting in this great battle instead of only three."

Mr. Churchill said seven-eighths of the British troops sent to France since the beginning of the war—about 350,000 out of 400,000—were now safely back in England. "Others are still fighting with the French and with considerable success," he declared.

"More than 1,250,000 men are now under arms in this country," Mr. Churchill said, adding that a great mass of stores, rifles and munitions have been saved from France.

"I made it perfectly clear that whatever happened in France would make no difference to the resolve of Britain and the British Empire to fight on," he said.

During the last few days, the Prime Minister disclosed, Britain had "successfully brought off the great majority of troops" from lines of communication in France.

"We have a great system of minefields," he said. "The utmost ingenuity and imagination is being displayed to meet and counter any novel possibilities of invasion."

After telling of the size of the military force in the British Isles, Mr. Churchill said that "We may expect very large additions to our weapons in the near future."

The Prime Minister promised that Britain would call up and drill further large numbers of troops and told those not called up to stay at their ordinary work.

He assured the nation that "the invasion of Great Britain would require the transport across the sea of hostile armies upon a very large scale."

In his rejection of "reclamations" the Prime Minister said it was "absolutely necessary" that all Ministers should be respected and that their subordinates must know their chiefs were not "threatened men."

Hence, he said, "I cannot accept the drawing of any distinctions between Members of the present Government," and added "its Members are going to stand together. We are going to govern the country and fight the war."

He said "We have incorporated into our defence forces every man for whom we have a weapon."

So far as airborne invasion on a great scale is concerned, we are far more capable of meeting it today than we were at periods during the last and during the early months of this war."

BRITISH FLEET LOSSES LIGHT IN PAST WEEK

Merchant Losses for Week Totalled Nine Vessels of 45,936 Tons—Two Neutral Ships Lost.

London, June 18.—(P)—British mercantile tonnage lost during the week ended June 9 totalled 45,936 tons, it was announced officially today. Of the total, 4,400 tons were lost in operations off the French channel ports, it was said.

Nine British ships were lost during the period covered by the statement. Two Allied ships, totalling 1,628 tons, went down.

Two neutral ships totalling 4,472 tons were sunk during the period. German merchant losses up to June 16 have totalled around 837,000 tons, and Italian losses up to the same date have been 230,000 tons, it was said.

The announcement explained that actual British merchant losses in the period were 41,536 tons, since the loss of 4,400 tons in the "combined operations" off the French coast were "not mercantile losses in the ordinary sense."

Similarly, the actual Allied mercantile total was set at 952 tons.

Start Of $20,000 Blouin Lane Project Approved By Council

New East Ward Street Between Bowen Avenue North and Second Avenue to Be Opened Up as Unemployment Relief Measure—$1,500 Grant to Canadian Red Cross Society Ratified and Routine Matters Discussed.

After a delay of more than a year during which other projects have kept Sherbrooke's jobless busy, the $20,000 development of Blouin Lane in the East Ward will be started very shortly, members of the City Council decided last night when they approved the purchase of properties affected by the work.

The plan is to widen and extend Blouin Lane so that it will become a regular residential thoroughfare joining Bowen Avenue North and Second Avenue and running parallel to Council Street a short distance beyond St. Jean Baptiste Church. First advanced early in 1939 as an unemployment relief measure, the development was allowed to drag but was brought back to life two weeks ago when Alderman Maurice Delorme complained it had been held up too long.

Originally construction of a forty-foot wide road had been suggested but after studying the matter the Council members decided traffic in the district did not warrant this and it was decided to lay out a twenty-foot street. It is expected this change in plans will mean a considerable saving for the City since less land has to be expropriated.

Last night's meeting was one of the most placid this year and apart from the Blouin Lane expansion there was little business of any great importance. Other matters included ratification of the $1,500 budget grant to the Canadian Red Cross Society, and approval of purchase of supplies for the different departments.

A request from residents of Olivier Street and Laurier streets that Brook's be connected with the Roads Department for further study. An amendment to the chimney sweeping by-law was adopted in all three readings and licenses to two local residents, Gerard Buisson and Antonio Levesque, for chimney cleaning were granted.

$6,000 DAMAGE IS CAUSED IN GRANBY BLAZE

Fireman Slightly Injured in Fire at Granby Wet Wash Building on Young Street.

Granby, June 18.—One fireman was slightly injured and damage estimated at $6,000 caused in a blaze yesterday morning at the Granby Wet Wash on Young Street, the fire apparently originating in a boiler room on the ground floor.

The fire spread rapidly and, although the firemen arrived on the scene scarcely two minutes after the alarm had been turned in, had gained considerable headway and was already threatening the building's top storey. The firemen worked for two hours before the blaze was brought under control.

Raymond Forand, one of the fire-fighting staff, tripped and sprained his ankle. He was the only casualty. It was announced that the building was partially covered by insurance.

ALD. THIBAUT IS CONCERNED OVER EQUINES

"Weighty" Discussion in Council Chamber Arises from Proposed Purchase of Horses for City.

Never more let it be said that Alderman Eugene Thibault has no interest in horses. He certainly has and especially so when money has to be spent on them.

A few months ago when icy winds howled down the St. Francis River and horses parked at Lansdowne Market shivered in near-zero weather, the local officials of the Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals approached the Council and requested that a mere fifty dollars be spent in the construction of a lean-to for the protection of the animals.

Ald. Thibault, in his capacity as Finance Committee Chairman, told the S.P.C.A. heads in no uncertain terms that the Council had no interest in horses and would by no means spend any money to ensure their comfort.

Last night Ald. J. E. Lacroix, the Chairman of the Roads Committee, had just finished reading a report suggesting the purchase of three horses, one of which was to cost $200 and the other two $250 each.

"Mr. Mayor," Ald. Thibault said, "I should like to know why it is that one horse should cost $250 and another fifty dollars less."

Ald. Lacroix replied that the difference in price was due to a disparity in the ages of the animals.

"I can't see why one horse should not be as good as another," the Finance Chairman said. He suggested that perhaps a veterinarian should be commissioned to determine whether or not the difference in price were justified.

Ald. A. C. Ross, generally recognized as the Council's expert equine, got to his feet.

"I've seen the horses in question and I don't think we need a veterinarian to tell the difference," he stated. He went on to say that two of the horses in question were "Easterns" and gave a rather complex outline of why one should be better than the other.

Mayor Joseph Labrecque remarked that it wouldn't hurt to have the veterinary look at the horses.

"It will cost you ten dollars," Ald. Ross commented.

"I think that might be a good investment," Ald. Thibault chimed in. "The veterinarian might find one of the horses has appendicitis."

Ald. J. O. Charrier remarked dryly that it would be a good thing to take out options on the horses in case the veterinarian found them in excellent shape and the persons from whom they were being purchased took advantage of his report to raise the price.

On this matter was then put to a vote and the purchase authorized on condition that the horses were approved by the veterinarian.

Many Local Residents Make Application For Passports

Applications for passports are being received from Sherbrooke citizens in ever-increasing numbers because of the United States ruling that all Canadians visiting that country after July 1, even temporarily, will require passports and visas before entry.

The necessary documents are issued only in Ottawa but application forms for passports may be obtained at the local offices of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways. Head of the C.P.R. Bureau told a Record representative that he has already exhausted his supply and has wired to the Federal Capital for more, while the C.N.R. officials announce they have only a few forms left.

After the forms have been received and properly filled out they must be "vouched" or certified by an authorized person who has known the applicant personally. The Department of Internal Affairs recognizes bank managers, lawyers, doctors, clergymen and some public officials as competent to vouch for an applicant. Two photographs of the applicant must be supplied, and one must be certified by the "voucher."

The completed forms, properly certified and accompanied by photographs, are then submitted to the Government Passport Bureau with a five-dollar fee, and it normally requires two or three days for the application to be passed and a passport issued.

Next step is for the applicant to obtain a visa from the United States legation at Ottawa or the nearest U.S. consular office. While full information on visas has not yet reached Ottawa, it has been declared possible that additional photographs and a nominal fee might be required for a visa to travel in the United States.

Canadian passports are valid for five years, when they may be renewed for an additional five years upon payment of a renewal fee of two dollars.

Conscription Vital To Canadian Defence Claims French Newspaper

Montreal, June 18.—(C)—Le Canada, Montreal French-language newspaper (Liberal), today published the following editorial under the heading, "Canada Is Threatened; We Must Defend It."

France's capitulation gives the war an aspect of extreme gravity, the repercussions of which it is our duty to face. Great Britain has proclaimed its resolve to carry on alone until final victory. We know the measures that have been taken to defend the British Isles against invasion.

The cessation of hostilities on French soil means that the attacks of the enemy will be carried out with renewed vigor on the United Kingdom and on the nations of the British Commonwealth. Canada is directly threatened and must take immediate defence measures required by the situation.

The question is protection of Canadian soil, arming of our country, and calling the whole nation to the defence of the homeland.

Canada's participation in the European war has been effected by means which are manifestly insufficient to assure the military defence of Canadian territory.

The recruiting of the army, as carried out until the present, made call only for volunteers, but the defence of Canada demands the mobilization of all able-bodied men. Canada, in the present extremely grave circumstances, must be able to count on all men who, either by birth or by naturalization, are Canadian subjects.

MAYOR LAUDED ON NOMINATION

Naming of Mayor Labrecque to Executive of Federation of Canadian Mayors an Honor to City.

Congratulations to Mayor Joseph Labrecque on his election to the executive of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities were extended by his fellow members of the City Council at their regular meeting last night when a report of the Federation's three-day convention at Ottawa was tabled by City Clerk Antoin Deslauriers.

Aldermen Maurice Delorme, Eugene Thibault and A. C. Ross were spokesmen for the Council and said it was an honor for the city to have the Chief Magistrate named as a member of the important executive group.

Extending thanks, Mayor Labrecque said he was greatly impressed with the convention and was sure that the Sherbrooke delegation did its part at the various meetings.

In his report of the conclave, Mr. Deslauriers gave a review of the different meetings and questions of national interest discussed and summarized some of the more important addresses, especially that given by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, of New York.

COUNTY BOARD HOLDS SESSION AT STANSTEAD

Township of Hatley Voted Fifty Per Cent of Costs Incurred in Settlement of Claim for Damage to Horse.

Stanstead, June 18.—At the June session here of the Stanstead County Council the Municipality of the Township of Hatley was reimbursed the sum of $27.50, fifty per cent of the costs incurred by the Township in settlement of the claim of Paul Bazin for damage to a horse on a country road.

Under existing circumstances local Corporations have exclusive control over the repair and maintenance of the county roads in this county, but the legal liability for any accident on these county roads or claims arising from them rest on the County Corporation.

In order to correct this condition, it was resolved "That the Mayors comprising this County Council instruct their Secretaries to forward to the County Secretary, as soon as possible, a list showing all roads, with a proper description of same, that lie on the boundary line of this county and the Counties of Brome, Sherbrooke and Compton; that the Secretary put notices as required by law and give notices to other County Corporations interested that at the next regular session of this Council to be held in September next, a resolution will be introduced to transfer jurisdiction of all county roads from this County Corporation to the various local Corporations in which the said county roads may lie; that the Secretary be instructed to take any further measures necessary to ensure the bringing into force the object of this resolution."

Elgin Decoteau, of Bromptonville, Injured in Collision Between Motorcycle and Car.

Thrown from the rear of a motorcycle when it collided with an automobile on the road to St. Denis about ten o'clock last night, Elgin Decoteau, thirty-one, of Bromptonville, was brought to the Sherbrooke Hospital where it was found necessary to amputate a foot.

JUDGMENT AGAINST FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT

A judgment by default against a former local resident, Greatham Delormier, has been rendered in Superior Court in favor of the Edwards Realty and Investment Company of Sherbrooke.

The Edwards Company heads claimed $512.54 plus interest as the amount of a promissory note allegedly signed by the defendant in April, 1935, and payable twenty-three days after the date of issue. In the judgment it was stated the plaintiff company had proven the essential allegations and Delormier was ordered to pay $510 and seven per cent interest.

Members Of Canadian Legion Seek Formation Of Townships Units To Assist In Dominion's War Effort

Eastern Townships Members of Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Adopt Resolution Asking Government to Raise Units from this District for Service with New Divisions of C.A.S.F.

Rallying behind the British Empire in its hour of need, members of the Eastern Townships Branches of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.,

Legion, meeting at Coaticook, adopted a resolution asking that one or two or more strictly Eastern Townships units be raised for service with the new divisions now being formed, such units to be for actual service with the Canadian Active Service Force.

Indicative of the loyalty of Eastern Townships citizens and their desire to play a part in the fight for democracy, the resolution is the same as the one adopted by veterans of the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, who held their annual reunion in Sherbrooke last week-end. Some time ago members of the 117th Battalion, another Eastern Townships unit, offered their services to the Government as home guards.

Area No. 3 of the Canadian Legion is composed of Branches at Sherbrooke, Stanstead, North Hatley, Magog, Coaticook, Bury, East Angus, Knowlton, Richmond, Waterloo, Granby and Danville-Ashcroft. In the Coaticook meeting firm loyalty to the British Empire was expressed, and with it a demand that the Eastern Townships be given a greater opportunity to serve.

Copies of the resolution were sent to the Acting Minister of National Defence, the Commanding Officer of Military District No. 4, Montreal, the Commanding Officer of Military District No. 5, Quebec, and all members of Parliament from Eastern Townships constituencies.

Text of the resolution follows: "Whereas during the war of 1914-18 many men from the Eastern Townships were enlisted in practically every overseas unit recruited in Montreal because little opportunity was afforded those men to join Eastern Townships units;

"And whereas such men missed the opportunity of having the neighborly feeling of a local unit and the further chance of working with their own regimental organizations after the war;

"And whereas we have in the Eastern Townships capable men both to officer and complete units for constant service in the Canadian Active Service Force;

"Therefore be it resolved; "That this representative gathering of Eastern Townships veterans do strongly petition the Canadian Government that one or two or more strictly Eastern Townships units be raised for service with the new divisions now being formed. Such units to be for actual service with the C. A. S. F. and not broken up for reinforcements as was the 117th Battalion during the last war."

GOVERNOR DEFEATED IN MAINE PRIMARIES

Portland, Me., June 18.—(A)—United States Representative Ralph O. Brewster won the Republican nomination to the United States Senate in yesterday's Maine primary, defeating Governor Lewis O. Barrows.

He will oppose former Governor Louis J. Brann, opposed for the Democratic nomination in the September election.

On the basis of unofficial tabulation early today of returns from 400 of the state's 629 precincts, Barrows had 27,305 votes to 23,078 for Brewster, once his political friend and leader.

BRITAIN LAUNCHES FITNESS CAMPAIGN

London, June 18.—(A)—Britain has launched a "Fitness for Service" campaign today to prepare every male over sixteen years of age for the strain of war. The Central Council of Recreative Physical Training said, "Victory will be delayed and even jeopardized unless the stamina of every youth and man in the country is raised and maintained at the highest possible level."

FOLLOW THE KING'S WORDS

In the critical times through which the British Empire is now passing, the people in the widely separated Dominions and possessions look more than ever to the Crown for leadership. To them the words recently issued by King George VI to carry on the struggle with rising hearts serves as an inspiration for the more effective prosecution of the struggle.

His words offer a clarion call to duty on the part of every true Britisher, no matter in what part of the Empire he may be located. The task ahead is heavy but it is not insuperable. While the surrender of the French has been a decided blow, there are many factors that still favor the British in the struggle. The British Navy is still the greatest in the world and its strength is increasing every day. The economic position of Great Britain and Germany, despite its recent conquests, cannot be compared, and today economics provide an important sinew of war. The food situation from the German point of view is depressing. The virtual total mobilization of the manpower of the chief food producing nations and the cutting off of supplies from others raises the question of a major famine which may so undermine the German structure that their defeat on the field of battle is inevitable. But in all these favorable factors, the time element enters. To bring them to fruition means long, extended effort on the part of the British people, and in this struggle the words of His Majesty will offer hope and inspiration.

TIME TO WAKE UP!

The decision of the French Government to halt hostilities, coupled with the announced declaration of the British to carry on the fight for freedom to the bitter end, places an added burden on those parts of the British Empire which subscribe to the doctrine of democracy. Canada is included in the ranks of the democracies and its people are strong supporters of this political creed. So strong is their faith in the idea that they are willing to submit to great sacrifices, even fighting unto death, for their belief.

Thus the half-hearted war effort of the present administration at Ottawa produces disgust in the minds of the average Canadian, who feels that the liberty he prizes so highly in being threatened by the failure of the Government to act effectively in mobilizing the resources of the country for the struggle ahead.

The defeat of France increases the British crisis. To effectively guard its shores, Great Britain must have more planes, guns, tanks and munitions. Its participation in the struggle on the continent has been costly in these respects, seriously draining its own too ample supplies. To the New World it looks for substantial assistance in continuing the fight. From the United States the answer has been prompt but Canada has been woefully slow. Its production of every line of war material has been far from its capacity. In fact, in many instances, notably tanks, it has done nothing. In other divisions it has not even supplied the simplest wants of its own defence forces. Canada can produce armaments. The people demand that its production facilities be put to the fullest use, even if it involves the reorganization of the Government with the dropping of the present leader and the formation of a National Government of the country's leading brains.

The recent change in the direction of the Defence Department may bring a speeding up of activities along this line in view of the known aggressive policies of the new Minister, but to be effective, they must be accomplished properly. The time is too critical for delay. The Commonwealth cause is far from hopeless. Victory is still possible and with the united efforts of men of good-will, a happy outcome may be effected but to accomplish this strong direction is needed and at present Canada is lacking in this.

BRITISH WOMEN AND WAR EFFORT

Faced with a steadily-growing aggravation of the international situation and the increased danger to Great Britain due to events of the week, a drive against waste, gossip and hoarding has been launched by the women of the British Isles. A manifesto pledging the signatories to make the best use of the money and materials available has been issued, obligating those who sign it:

1—To carry out the spirit as well as the letter of regulations with regard to buying.

2—To consider the needs of others and refrain from selfish hoarding.

3—To make frank inquiries if we are puzzled by a rise in price, instead of suspecting profiteering and gossiping about it.

4—To co-operate with tradespeople by paying bills promptly.

5—To recognize difficulties caused by shortage of staff; to wait patiently in turn and choose quickly when it comes.

6—To take pride in thrift; to remember that many daily necessities are brought from overseas at the peril of men's lives, and to see that nothing is wasted or carelessly used.

NEW OCCUPANTS OF RIDEAU HALL

Filling a post to which he was originally named twenty-five years ago, the Earl of Athlone today stands on the Canadian soil over which he will rule for the next five years as the personal representative of His Majesty King George VI. Canadians will unite in welcoming him to this Dominion and feel highly honored that the new Royal representative is himself a member of the Royal Family, being the brother of Queen Mary and uncle of the present Monarch.

His Excellency comes to Canada with a splendid record of service to his country and the Empire, having filled many posts of importance in the military and diplomatic sphere. For many years he has been suggested as a suitable incumbent for this high office, his appointment even being announced in 1914, but owing to the exigencies of the First Great War, which opened for him a greater field of service with the Imperial armies in the field, the nomination was cancelled.

His coming finds Canada facing grave problems created by the war and the determination of the people of this country to fight alongside Great Britain to the bitter end in the struggle to preserve democracy. The opening period of his rule will be beset by grave difficulties, but these difficulties in themselves might help to fuse him closer to the hearts of the Canadian people. His close connection with King George is certain to increase the determination of the Canadians to carry on the fight despite events of the past few days—if this determination needed any strengthening. His record of service to the Empire cause will be an inspiration to those holding less important places in the national set-up, and generally his coming should prove a great boost to the cause of Empire unity.

His wife, the Countess of Athlone, Princess Alice, has herself an enviable record, being prominently connected in recent months with the organization of the various women's volunteer auxiliary services in the Old Country, and her experiences might well aid materially in co-ordinating the many duties which the women of Canada have voluntarily assumed in pressing the war effort of the Dominion.

To Their Excellencies, the people of Canada bid welcome and hope that before many months of their rule has passed, the greatly-desired victorious peace will be concluded so that the remainder of their stay within the Dominion may be marked by events giving rise to more pleasant memories than must inevitably accrue in governing a nation at war. But if this is not to be, if the struggle is long-drawn out, they may be assured that the Canadian people will be united with them in the long fight for victory, no matter how rough the road and how steep the hill.

FROM THE RECORD FILES OF THIRTY YEARS AGO

Fire breaking out during the night caused extensive damage to the recently-erected plant of the Guelph Patent Cask Company at Stouffville.

Death removed the oldest native born citizen of Sherbrooke, Mathew Reid, born here in 1828. He was governor of the District Jail, which position his father had held before him, the family retaining the post since 1819.

Several persons, train crew and passengers, were more or less seriously injured when a Central Vermont Railway train, bound for Montreal, jumped the rails and partially upset shortly after leaving Granby station.

Many United States Congressmen were worried by the great exodus of American farmers for the Canadian Northwest provinces and some proposed special appropriations in an effort to divert this flow to the Southwestern States.

More complaints were received from farmers throughout the Eastern Townships that dogs were causing heavy losses among sheep-raisers. They declared that it would not be long before the industry disappeared.

The newly-completed Post Office was opened at Sutton with Postmaster C. D. Griggs in charge.

SONG FOR A CITY CHILD'S BEDTIME

Gleaming lights upon our street,
Keep my child in sight,
Such a little lad, and sweet,
Guard his dreams tonight.

Motors sing a song to him,
Safe as wind in forest trees,
Sing of speed and grace and vim,
Sing a city's mysteries.

Footsteps passing endlessly,
Waves of men upon time's shore,
Teach him kinship so that he
Will men's hearts explore.

Crowding walls, homes that hide
Laughter, sorrow, love and tears,
Let your strength in him abide,
Help him live these years.

ELIS BIDS FINAL CONTRACT QUICKLY WITH NEW PARTNER

This is the second of a series of six articles in which Morrie Elis, winner of the masters' individual world championship, explains the technique of handling different partners.

Sound partnerships, explained Elis, like to build a solid wall around their contracts. Also, during the course of slow bidding back and forth, the opponents may get the impression that the bidders are in a dangerous contract, and make a close double.

Take for example today's hand. Elis sat West of South's opening heart bid, the only bid his partner can make is one no trump.

After South's pass, Elis, with a familiar partner, might bid two clubs and proceed to the three no trump contract slowly. With a strange partner, however, two clubs might conceivably be passed. He cannot take this risk, and must plunge immediately to three no trump.

With this hand he was interested only in finding out if the heart suit was stopped in East's hand, and the risk of the jump to three no

PRESS COMMENTS

LEOPOLD AND ALBERT

(Free Press, Winnipeg)
It was in the fall of 1914 that Punch published one of its most famous cartoons, depicting the Kaiser, against a background of torn and smoking villages, saying to the King of the Belgians, "So you see, you've lost everything." To which the indomitable and handsome Albert, with head flung proudly back, replied, "Not my soul!"

The son Leopold will not share the place held in history by his gallant father.

NAVY RETAINS POWER

(Washington Post)
Napoleon failed primarily because of British sea power, which prevented the Corsican dictator from getting to grips with England and which has enabled the British merchant marine to keep the seas no matter how many battles were won by the "grande armee." The present activity of the British fleet, striking at German sea power wherever and whenever it can be found, is evidence of the extent to which Great Britain still relies upon this weapon.

EAGER FOR SERVICE

(Windsor Star)
Four days ago, we made this statement: "The rank and file of the people of Canada desperately want to fight this war." Word now comes that the British Columbia Dragoons, a non-permanent militia unit, have vowed Ottawa, demanding that the unit be made part of the Canadian Active Service Force. The men, according to the message, "refuse to return to civilian life at present stage of war." If any proof were needed about how the people feel about serving their country and their Empire, here it is.

KING LEOPOLD

(Brantford Expositor)
Ignoring Prime Minister Winston Churchill's restraining and charitable injunction to withhold judgment on the action of the youthful King of the Belgians, Leopold III, in capitulating to the Nazis, the world has done precisely the opposite. The unhappy Leopold, born under an ill star, his whole life dogged by tragedy, stands condemned in the pillory of popular denunciation, scorned by his friends, and branded as a coward and a traitor.

THE LAWYER VIEW

(Kingston Whig-Standard)
But Britons are not yet slaves, nor are they likely to be. If the news from Europe is extremely serious and depressing, it is no more serious and depressing than was the news in some of the worst hours in the last war. The next few days or weeks will probably bring news of attacks on civilians that will be infinitely more horrible and tragic from the Allied point of view than any news of a quarter of a century ago. After these darkest of days, however, the prospect is that the tide will slowly turn toward Allied victory, as it turned in 1918.

HAVE KEPT THEIR COURAGE

(New York Times)
Yet can anything be "certain" for Germany as long as the British and French keep their courage, their will to survive? They have not lost their courage, as Hindenburg has shown. They will use every ounce of it now, when the survival of France as a free nation is at stake. We across the Atlantic can hear the roar of the guns, the crash of falling buildings, the cries of the wounded; for this is an hour of decision, and in large measure the future of our world will be shaped by the outcome.

QUICK MARCH!

(Canadian Finance, Winnipeg)
The charge of complacency levelled against the present administration is, perhaps, unfair. But there has been too much caution for effective fustling with dictatorship and their fully mobilized totalitarian economies. In ordinary business people seldom get very far who are afraid of making mistakes. In the vast business of war which, in essence, is the most intense competition imaginable between opposing factories, we need dynamic and inspiring leadership. Full realization of that fact is dawning; and the people of Canada will inevitably demand, and get, that sort of leadership.

"LET THEM TALK"

(Baltimore Sun)
Fritz Kuhn (head of the German Bund in the U.S.A.) and men like him do not believe that reason is strong enough to combat error of opinion. But we have tried it for a century and a half, and it works—not perfectly, to be sure, but well enough to keep the country going. We have found by experience that it is best to let people argue things out; for we have found that sometimes a wise man, when he begins to talk, sounds like a wise man, and that a fool, when he begins, frequently sounds like a wise man, yet if both talk long enough their true characters will inevitably appear. Therefore, "Let them talk" is the law—not merely an enactment of State Legislatures, or of Congress, but the will of the American people, which is higher law than any statute.

NO EASY "GRAB"

(Christian Science Monitor)
Japan already has a considerable economic foothold in the islands (the Dutch East Indies). What it particularly needs from them is raw materials. The United States has a similar interest, and another which arises from the position of those islands on world-trade routes which are important to American shipping. Neither country would be pleased with the prospect of engaging in warfare there. Even with Britain busy elsewhere, these islands present no easy "grab" for Japan so long as other large Powers assert their interests in them. Naval operations in that area, even for Japan, are long-range operations. And it is unlikely Japan could balance—merely by possessing them—the great economic embarrasments which might follow a further sudden deterioration of Japan's commercial relations with the United States. So, Mr. Hull and Mr. Arita—while probably not meaning quite the same thing when they use the same phrases—yet have many reasons to suppose that their definitions of the position of the Netherlands Indies are at least reconcilable.

SOMEBODY KNOWS BETTER

(Calgary Herald)
Across the border the American people are beginning to take Trojan Horse activities more seriously. They were inclined to ignore the activities of German bands and Christian Front headquarters, to consider Fritz Kuhn, chief Nazi organizer, as a clumsy clown and the Christian Front as harmless visionaries. The authorities at Washington know better.

ENEMIES WITHIN

(The Civil and Military Gazette, Lahore)
It is most unfortunate that impatient political reformers, even if they are in a microscopic minority in India, have been so far forgetful of the dangers of creating a division of opinion, if only theoretically, between the Princes and the responsible elements in India who have nobly come forward with offers of service to the Empire at this juncture, and others whose only qualifications for voicing what they fondly claim are the views of the Indian intelligentsia is their voicelessness.

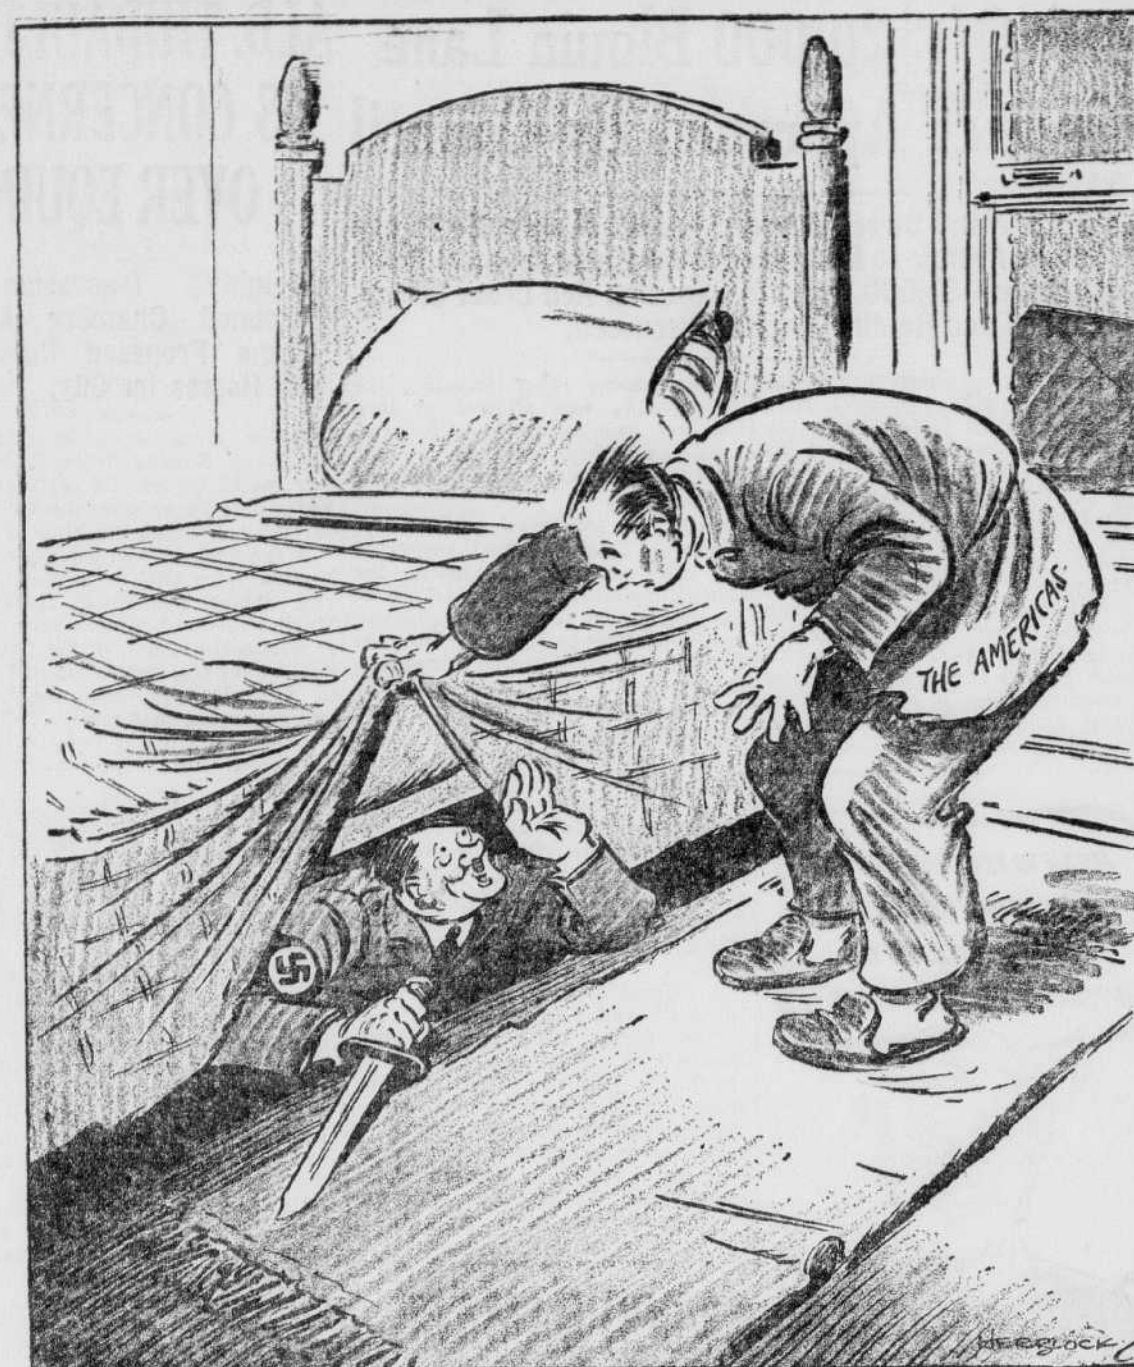

These preachers of forceful acquisition of political rights are the greatest enemies of their country. They may—some of them at least—be in the receipt of a paycheck from the enemy country, judging by the way they are attempting to change the loyalty of the simple masses in India into disloyalty. These agitators who pose as patriots are doing their best to retard the political progress of India, instead of accelerating it, but, more than this, they are sowing the seeds of disorder at a time when India, or any other country of the Empire, can least afford to become the scene of conflict. It is the duty of every Provincial Government to see to it that these mischief-makers are silenced once for all during the period of the war.

KEEP COOL!

(Free Press, Winnipeg)
A despatch from Windsor, Ont., tells of certain troops being stationed in a barracks situated "strategically near the international border," and the suggestion of the despatch is that this was done as a protection against 7,500 armed German band members who are said to be in Detroit, and are feared by some Canadians to be a direct threat to Windsor.

Is there any actual danger of such a kind? Detroit is in the United States, a country very friendly to Canada and alive to the necessity of keeping control of disorderly elements. Would the United States government be indifferent to an attack on that country to attack Canada? Or would it snap into action and put those members of the German band where they belonged? It would do that at any time, but never faster than right now when it is hastening to arm against the Nazi menace.

Mrs. Phipps was proud of her son Rufus. "He's so gifted, Mrs. Jones," she told her neighbor one morning. "Now he's gone in for music and paid fifteen shillings for an instrument."

"What instrument does he play?" asked the neighbor.
"He calls it a catarrh," "Catarrh," echoed Mrs. Jones. "I thought that was something to do with the nose?"
"Oh, no," corrected Mrs. Phipps, beaming. "He plays everything by ear!"

He was the final speaker at a banquet. Speakers before him had dined on interminably. The audience was bored almost to tears. The applause was tremendous.

DUTCH HEIRESS CONVINCED OF GREAT REVIVAL

Princess Juliana Tells People of Canada that Country Will Ultimately Be Restored to Power.

Montebello, Que., June 18.—Princess Juliana of the Netherlands introduced her subjects to Canadians yesterday in simple and homelike words which asked their love but not their pity.

"No woman ever felt as proud as I do today of the marvellous heritage of my own people," she said in an address over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. She spoke from the Seignior's Club in this Ottawa Valley district where she and her two children are spending the first part of their stay in Canada, where they have come because they are on the "blacklist" of the German Gestapo.

"They had always lived their own lives," the Princess said of her countrymen. "They had always maintained the right of the individual to his own liberty, to the liberty of his person and to the liberty of his soul."

"When others were denied these rights in other parts of the world, they welcomed them—they took them into their hearts and into their homes. But when suddenly they were placed before the terrible choice of surrendering these rights or dying in their defence, they never hesitated. They died, and everlasting glory to the men of our armies, who, hating and loathing the very idea of violence, stood firm until they were completely overwhelmed by the superior force and the treason of an enemy unto whom they had always been a generous and helpful friend."

For these reasons, she said, "Never speak to me of pity. Pity is for the weak, and our terrible fate has made us stronger than ever before." She asked instead for "strengthening love."

The war, she declared, "is not a gigantic battle for one nation alone but for all nations. Not only your but our life is thrown into the battle for our freedom of conscience."

Mrs. Guy Bryant entertained informally last evening at her residence on Ontario Street for Miss Della Ingraham and Miss Mary Rowles. Bridge was played at two tables, the prizes being won by Mrs. Harry E. Grundy and Miss Edna Osbourne. The hostess also presented gift prizes to the guests of honor. At the close of the game refreshments were served in the dining room where an artistic arrangement of buttercups and forget-me-nots in a cut crystal bowl centered the pretty table.

Mrs. H. L. Cleveland, Mrs. Gordon Sangster and Miss Phyllis Goff were hostesses at the tea hour yesterday afternoon when they gave a charmingly arranged handkerchief shower for Miss Jean McNab, a popular bride-to-be. The guest-of-honor was sent on a treasure hunt, being invited to "follow the gleam," namely, instructions in verse attached to each "find" as to where the next daintily wrapped parcel was to be found, the last verse extending loving wishes to the bride-to-be. Tea was served in the dining room, where Mrs. Andrew Sangster did the honors, with Mrs. Frederick Sangster assisting. The lovely table continued the same color scheme used for the "shower" gifts, with mauve and pink sweetpeas in a silver bowl and mauve candles in silver candlesticks.

Women's Clubs

W. C. T. U.

Of exceptional interest were reports submitted last evening at the closing meeting of the W.C.T.U. for the season held at Mrs. W. E. Hodges' home on London Street.

Miss M. Heath, the President, was in the chair and conducted the opening devotional exercises.

A special feature was Mrs. G. M. Charland's splendid report on the forty-first annual convention recently held in Milby, while much interest centered in Mrs. S. C. Emerson's statement that "Splendid temperance educational work had been carried on the various schools throughout the city."

The meeting resolved to distribute further posters and literature in public places about the city. Plans were completed to donate prizes in hygiene in grades V and VI, in the Mitchell, Lawrence and East Ward Schools, and further that Mrs. Charland would make the presentation on behalf of the union.

The meeting closed with prayer.

I. O. O. E. Members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in Sherbrooke, concurring with the urgent appeal made by the National Chapter at the annual meeting recently held in Saint John, N.B., are making a supreme effort to raise money for the War Service Fund of the Order.

With this end in view all local chapters are co-operating to stage one big event, namely, a garden party at "Howardene" on July 10, the gracious offer made by Mrs. Charles B. Howard in placing her beautiful home and grounds at their disposal being gratefully accepted and very much appreciated by every member of the I.O.O.E.

Plans are well under way and now everything depends upon the generous patronage of the public. This has never failed in the past and the Daughters of the Empire feel confident of its continuity more especially at this critical time when every ounce of strength and every cent of cash may play a vital part in the war.

UNION SEWING CIRCLE The re-appointment of its officers and the reception of reports revealing that much good work had been accomplished by the Union Sewing Circle were outstanding features of the annual meeting held last evening at the home of Mrs. W. Elliott, Argyle Avenue.

LAKE MEGANTIC RED CROSS TO SPONSOR PARTY

Lake Megantic, June 18.—The monthly meeting of the Megantic group of the Canadian Red Cross Society was featured by reports of the refugee, supply and work conveners.

Chief discussion at the meeting was a proposed garden tea party, with a musical programme, to be held at the home of the President, Mrs. Stearns. The following Red Cross articles and refugee clothing were sent to Sherbrooke in May: Fourteen bedjackets, six sweaters, six army scarves, three navy scarves, four pairs army socks, three pairs navy socks, one pair wristlets with thumbs, seventy-five handkerchiefs, two dresses, six slips, six waists, thirteen pairs panties, seven pairs pajamas and eleven nightgowns.

A box of refugee clothing was shipped to Montreal on May 14 containing three quilts, two afghans, three bonnets, one pair baby mittens, two baby sweaters and one scarf.

General Notes. Mrs. Jack Mann, of Lime Ridge, was a caller at the home of Mrs. Aaron Westman, who accompanied her home and called at the home of Mrs. Enoch Westman.

REPORTS GIVEN AT COOKSHIRE GROUP MEETING

Cookshire, June 18.—The regular meeting of the W.M.S. of Trinity United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Crawford. The President, Mrs. Goff, presided, and the meeting opened with the singing of the National Anthem and the National Prayer in unison. The ship service was led by the President, the theme being "Christian Stewardship."

The Secretary and Treasurer presented their regular reports, and a finance committee was appointed. Thirteen members answered the roll call and there were three visitors.

Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Forde, delegates to the recent Presbytery held at Waterville, gave some very fine reports of those meetings. The meeting closed by the singing of the hymn, "God Bless Our Native Land," and the Mizpah benediction.

During the social hour which followed, the hostess, Mrs. Crawford, served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Gill and Mrs. C. Taylor.

Dudwell. Mrs. H. Grinstead entertained at her home in honor of Miss Margaret Cooper, a popular young bride of the near future, who is being much fettered prior to her marriage. Tea was served at a buffet in the dining room, where the table, at which Mrs. C. M. Cooper and Mrs. S. A. Banfill poured, was effectively decorated with spring flowers, with matching tapers in silver holders. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. E. P. Wilson and Mrs. H. Crutfield. On behalf of those present, Mrs. Grinstead presented the bride-to-be with several pieces of aluminumware enclosed in a box, painted to represent an electric stove and brought in by two young boys. Miss Cooper, in her pleasant manner, thanked her friends for the gifts and the honor shown her.

later, with Mrs. W. E. Hodges, Secretary, and Mrs. A. Jobel, Treasurer, unanimously re-elected, opened proceedings with the recital in unison of the 23rd Psalm.

The annual reports presented by the Secretary and Treasurer revealed that much good work had been accomplished during the past year by the members of the Circle, who expressed their deep thankfulness that they had been enabled to accomplish so much towards helping to keep some little children warmer, both during the day and night, with garments and quilts they had made.

This knowledge is ample reward to the members of the Circle for their many hours of unselfish work and devotion, and last evening they again avowed their firm determination to "carry on" in the same spirit of unity, each one trying to do her best. Adjournment was made until the autumn but sewing for refugees will be continued by the members throughout the summer months. Later refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Whittingham.

GARDEN PARTY PLANS STUDIED AT WATERLOO

Waterloo, June 18.—The June meeting of the Young Women's Association of St. Paul's United Church was held at the home of Miss Mary Traux with an attendance of thirty members and visitors.

A feature of the meeting was a sale of home cooked edibles in charge of Mrs. Roger McKergew. During the business period Mrs. Heman Wing presided.

Minutes of the last meeting were accepted as read by Mrs. M. D. Smith. It was decided to discontinue the meetings through July and August but tentative plans were made for holding a garden party in the middle of July.

At the conclusion of the regular routine the President, Mrs. Wing, on behalf of the Association, presented Miss Wanda Orr, with a gift prior to her marriage which takes place during the summer.

Miss Orr expressed her appreciation of the souvenir, which she would treasure in her new home, and immediately following her remarks, refreshments were served by Miss Traux, who was assisted in serving by Mrs. Earl Blake, Mrs. M. D. Smith, Mrs. Wing and Mrs. Plouricht.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER ENJOYED A pleasant function was arranged at the home of Miss Valera Spinney by the hostess and her friend, Miss Geraldine Clark, in the form of a Miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Wanda Orr, B.A., of the Waterloo High School teaching staff, whose marriage to Mr. Ralph Broadhurst takes place in the near future.

Twenty-two invited guests were present when the guest of honor arrived, being casually brought there by friends on a pretext planned by themselves, hence the surprise for Miss Orr was complete, and as the sponsors of the event desired it should be.

On entering the home of Mr. Spinney, strains of "Here Comes the Bride," played by Mrs. C. H. Daigneau, gave Miss Orr her first intimation of the reason for her being there. In a short time doubt was left in her mind when a mock marriage ceremony was portrayed for her benefit with the following participating: Clergyman, Miss Enid Wood; bride and groom, Miss Geraldine Clark and Miss Valera Spinney; bridesmaid, Miss Doreen Bewick; best man, Miss Helen Grenier; flower girl, Miss Svill Dore; bride's father, Miss Mavis Martin, organist, Mrs. Charles Daigneau.

An atmosphere of good-will and merriment, thus created, made a fitting time for the presentation of many prettily-wrapped gifts of China, glass and linen to the guest of honor, who expressed her deep and sincere appreciation for the numerous lovely and useful presents, and for the delightfully-arranged event which would long live as a pleasant and refreshing memory.

Following the presentation of the gifts a sing song was enjoyed, after which dainty refreshments were served by Miss Clark and Miss Spinney.

Deaths Reported

G. E. SMITH, CALGARY.

Calgary, June 18.—The funeral of George Edgar Smith, who passed away suddenly on May 12 at his home in Calgary, took place on Wednesday afternoon, May 15. The simple and impressive service, which was attended by many old friends, was conducted at Park Memorial Chapel by Rev. G. R. Upton, pastor of the Pentecostal Tabernacle.

Mr. Upton, in his remarks, paid a sincere tribute to the sterling worth and character of the late Mr. Smith, stressing his honest faith and true devotion to his church and family. The hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace" was sung and John Peel, a friend of the family, sang the solo "Face to Face." The pall-bearers were C. L. French, O. L. French, H. B. Le Bourveau, Lindsay French, Oswald Geehan, nephews, and R. J. Smith, a cousin of the deceased.

Many beautiful floral offerings and messages of sympathy were received. Interment was in Burnside Cemetery.

George Edgar Smith, elder son of the late Isaac and Julia Lindsay Smith was born in 1852 at Bulwer, Que., and where he spent the early years of his life engaged in farming, moving to Calgary twenty-seven years ago.

On April 6, 1881, Mr. Smith was married to Elsie M. Learned, of Learned Plain, Que., who, with two sons, Harold L. of Calgary, and Lawrence L. of Klamath Falls, Oregon, survive.

His second son, Howard, predeceased him in 1914 and his only sister, Mrs. Amanda Williams, still resides in Bulwer. Mr. Smith will long be remembered by a large circle of friends who unite in extending to Mrs. Smith and the family heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement.

MRS. CHARLES ARMSTRONG, OF SCOTTSOWN.

Scotstown, June 18.—In tribute to one who has passed on, a largely attended funeral service following prayers at the home was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Friday, May 17, for Mrs. Charles Armstrong, who died after a brief illness on Wednesday, May 15, at the age of forty-two. Although Mrs. Armstrong had been in failing health her sudden death came as a shock to her many friends.

A brief but impressive service was conducted by Rev. A. D. MacLellan, pastor of the church. With Mrs. Arnold MacKenzie as organist, favorite hymns of the deceased, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and "A Garden of Sweet Songs" were sung.

Among the beautiful floral tributes were included wreaths from the employees of the Guelph Cask, Veneer and Plywood Co., St. Paul's Women's Society and Presbyterian Circle. The casket was borne to its last resting place in Riverview Cemetery by Lyford Elger, John Nicholson, George Armstrong, Charles Graham, Erving Elger and Alex Graham.

Mrs. Armstrong, nee Margaret Graham, was born in 1898, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graham. She graduated as a nurse from the Lowell General Hospital, later acting as Night Superintendent for three years in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

In 1927 she was united in marriage to Charles Armstrong, one son, Jackie, being born. He died in 1933 at the age of three. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, a sister, Mrs. Paul MacLellan, a brother, Murdo Graham, nieces, Pauline and Janice MacLellan, and nephews, Donnie and Murray MacLellan, all of Waltham, Mass., her uncle, Mr. Murdo Murray, of Scotstown, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Those from out-of-town attending the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Paul MacLellan, the Misses Pauline and Janice MacLellan, Donnie and Murray MacLellan, and Mr. Murdo Graham, of Waltham, Mass., Mrs. Leon Coug, Mr. Lawrence Graham, Mrs. Angus Smith, Mrs. A. Polli and Mrs. Harry Calcagni, of Granville, Vt., Mr. Angus Graham, of Barre, Vt., Mrs. Norrey Hunting, of Lennoxville, Mrs. Angus MacLellan, of Lennoxville, Mrs. Irene MacLeod, R.N., of Sherbrooke, Mr. Allan MacLeod, of Milan, Mass., Angus Campbell and John Campbell, of Gould Station, Mr. and Mrs. Allan D. Morrison, Miss Alene Graham, Mr. Alex Graham and Mr. John Graham, of Dell, and Mrs. Peter MacIver, of Galsion.

KAYSER SQUADS LEADING SOFTBALL LOOPS

City Loop Team Wins Seventh Game In Row

Kayser Contingent Blasts Textile 18-11 to Remain Undeatable in City League Competition—Chartier and Lessard Hit Homers—Millionaires Move into Second, Downing Paton 14-6.

Textile took a turn at trying to stop the Kayser conquerors last night. They threw everything they had into the battle in an effort to halt the march of the Kleinen, but attacking behind a heavy barrage of base hits, Kayser scored an 18-11 victory.

In the second game the Millionaires regained a winning keel as they thumped Paton 14-6 for their fourth win in seven starts. At the top of the standing, Kayser have yet to be beaten, while bringing up the rear, Paton are winless to date. Textile and Millionaires have been jumping in and out of second place like puppets on strings, and last night it was the money men who took over the runner-up spot.

Seven games have seen Kayser score 79 runs, a little better than an eleven-per-game average. They have been scored on 35 times, one more than five times a game.

As they piled in eighteen tallies last night, clean-up man Joe Chartier set the pace with a pair of home runs. Right-fielder Lessard hit for the circuit and also knocked out a double, while Francois Latulippe hit one for two bases.

Starting first, Kayser took a three-run lead as Letarte walked and Pinard, Asselin and Drapeau singled, but a seven-run spurge in the second frame put Textile on top. In the uprising three Kayser errors, hits by Bouchard and Valland and bases on balls to Raymond and Rondeau figured in the scoring.

Chartier's first circuit clout in the third scored Letarte who had singled and Pinard, who was given a base on balls and made the score 7-0 but Collin singled to send Valland and Boisvert across the plate for Textile in the last of the third and raise the count to 5-6.

In the fourth an error and a single put Latulippe and Brault on base and Howie Peterson hit safely to chase them in and pull the Kleinen up within one run of the Textilemen. Kayser went out in front in the next frame on successive four-ply swats by Chartier and Lessard. The Kleinen went on to pile up seven more in the sixth and another in the seventh, while the Textilemen counted once in the fifth and sixth. Peterson and Emond pitched for Kayser and Boisvert and Boutin for Textile.

With Harry Kouri hurling five-hit ball, the Millionaires won in a walk from Percy Francis' Paton pack, combing the pitches of Yergeau and Allen for fifteen pokes, including home runs by Russ Blinco and Yvan Dugre and doubles by Nadeau and Gabe Gosselin.

The Millionaires scored three runs in the second, two in the fourth, three in the fifth, four in the sixth and two in the seventh, while the Patonmen got one marker in the second and five more in their last stand at bat.

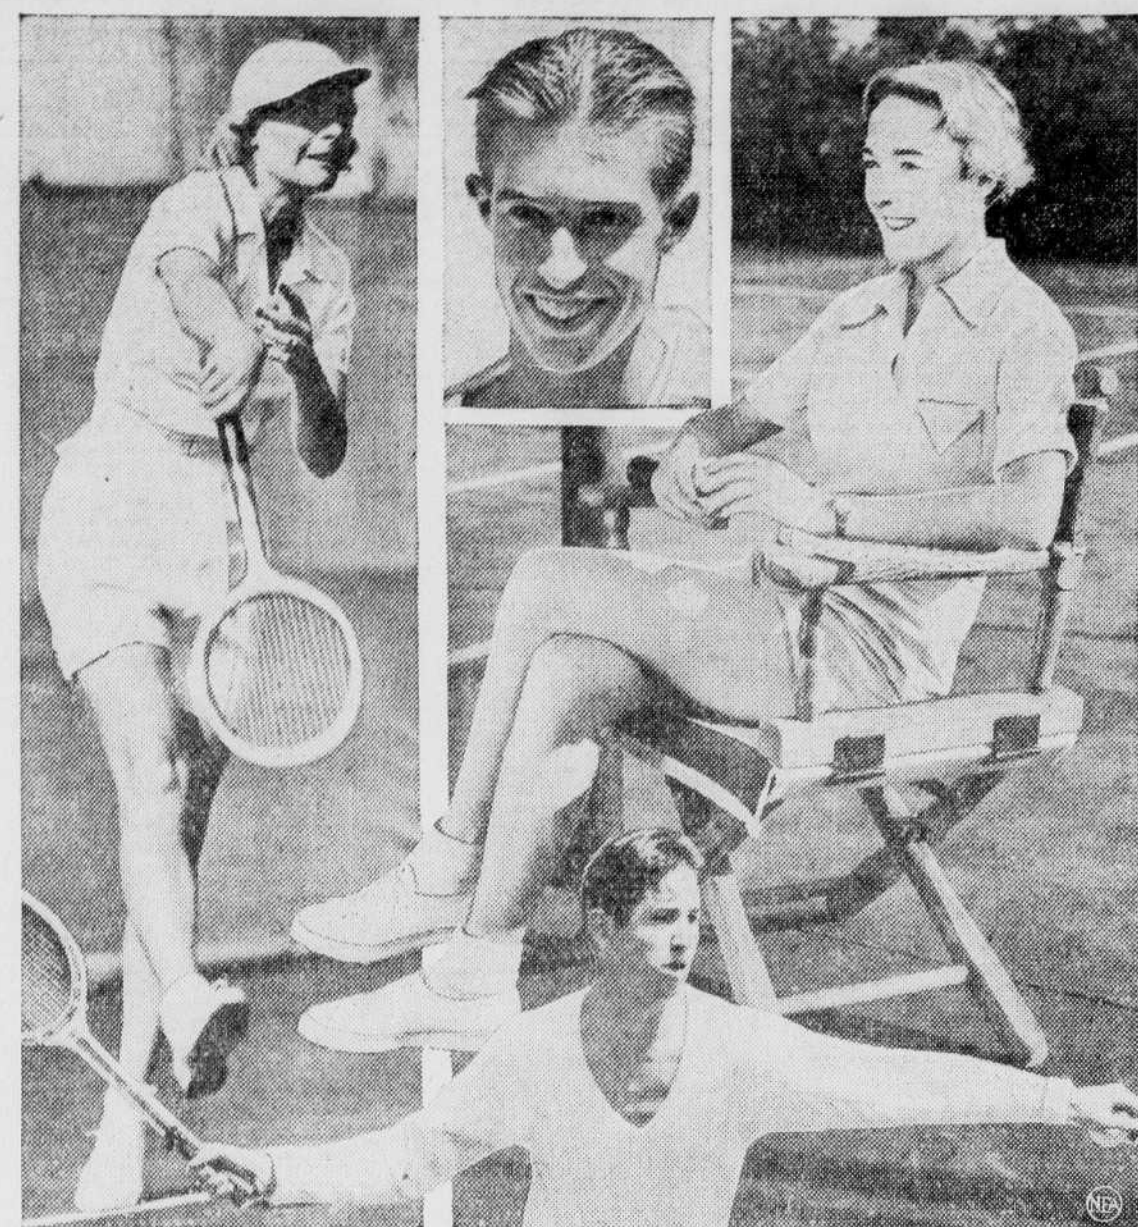

Roger Dugre had three hits and Blinco, Yvan Dugre, Gosselin and E. Letarte two each for the winners. Slater homered for Paton, while Yergeau doubled and singled, Auray had a double and Murray a single.

In Sporting Vein

By Allan Bryce.

They should have the banners and bunting flying at the Kayser plant today, because the two company softball teams playing in organized leagues are holding down the leading positions. In the City League Henry Klein's first team made it seven wins in a row by polishing off Textile 18-11. Howie Peterson and Emond did the twirling as Jack Forsy missed his first game since the start of the season. The Kayser outfit in the Industrial League, champions last year, climbed to the top of the heap by noosing out Canadian Silk Products 3-2.

Johnny Rader, likeable pitcher who was with the Sherbrooke team for the last two seasons, writes from Fall River, Mass., that Tom Hannan, Manager of the local Provincial League nine in 1938 and 1939, is undecided about going to Granby, Hammond, listed on the Red Sox roster before the start of the season, was slated to play in the infield and to handle relief hurling chores. If he does join the Sox it will be interesting to see him in action in the local park.

Lou Varnese is letting his beard grow, and by this time should have a regular Van Dyke. The little infielder who worked at third and second here last year, is with the House of David's touring troupe and is performing at the Keystone Park for the beavers. His double play partner is Bennett, who was with Quebec Athletics in 1939. Two or three other former Provincial Leaguers are with the House of David team.

Sherbrooke is in Quebec City today, ready to tangle with the Athletics in a night game. Back home tomorrow night the Gaudreaults meet Granby Red Sox, and then on Wednesday night they travel to Granby for a return engagement with the Red Soxers. At present the locals are tied with Granby, two and a half games away from the top and a game and a half behind the second-place St. Hyacinthe aggregation. Since Granby goes into action against Three Rivers tonight and since a Quebec win would be disastrous, the Sherbrooke boys have got to be in winning form to stay up there in the first division.

Don Mill, right-fielder who replaced Ray Croteau, went to bat five times at Victoriaville and five times again here on Sunday. In the ten trips he hit safely four times for an average of .286 and drove in two runs. Fans who went to Victoriaville say Mill played a bang up game, getting three hits and making a beautiful running catch in the pasture. He is a fast man on the base paths, although his throwing arm is not as strong as was Croteau's, and should be valuable to have around. The team is set now. The limit for changes has been past and the drive down the stretch will have to be made by the outfit now in the Sherbrooke uniform.

Again this year, fans are taking pens in hand to ask for an occasional Saturday or Sunday afternoon game. The difficulty is that because not all the teams have lighting systems the ones not so equipped have to be given afternoon and twilight games. An organized baseball regulation calls for each team to have a home game on Sunday, so teams who play at night have to play day ball away from home and return home for night encounters. This is the angle that has to be taken into consideration when the schedule is formed before the season starts.

Recording his no-hit no-run game against Asbestos, "Lefty" Dube, of Sherbrooke, sent 13 of the Miners down swinging and issued only one base on balls. His opponent, Bill Koch, who worked for the Monarchs last year and tried out with St. Hyacinthe at the start of the present season, was doing some fair country hurling himself, fanning nine and walking only three while allowing Richmond four hits. His mates gave him poor support, however, committing six errors. Two of the four Richmond hits were for extra bases, Dube doubling and Asselin hitting a home run.

A bad man to hook up with a second time, Joseph Barrow Louis, colorful as well as colored champion of the heavyweight boxing division, plods out of his corner at Yankee Stadium Thursday night to meet Arturo Godoy, South American soccer who has been cashing in on his reputation after lasting fifteen rounds with the champ a while back. The Chilean Croucher would seem to be in for a bad time, because The Brown Bomber is irked no end at what the boys are saying about him, and remembering what Joe did to Max Schmeling when he met him the second time, it appears logical to expect a quick knockout. In fact, it will be surprising if Godoy comes out for the sixth round, unless Louis is only a shadow of his former murderous self.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Sydney Wooderson's invasion of United States tracks ended on a note at Princeton, N.J., a year ago today when the Little Briton was accidentally bumped during an invitation mile run, and finished last in a slow field of five. The diminutive record-holder led all the way until Blaine Ridout of Texas clipped him on the last turn.

THETFORD MINES

Mrs. W. Barrett was hostess at a linen shower at her home on Sheridan Street Thursday evening in honor of Miss Kathleen C. Moriarty. On the arrival of the guest of honor she was greeted with the bridal chorus and directed to a nicely decorated chair, done in pink and white, and given a pretty corsage. She then proceeded with opening numerous parcels from a dainty and well-filled basket prettily decorated. Following a social hour refreshments were served. The dining table was centred with spring flowers. Mrs. E. L. Moriarty and Miss L. Seymour poured coffee and tea. The hostess was assisted in serving the numerous guests by her daughter, Miss Bernice Barrett, of Drummondville, and Miss Gladys Burns.

Miss Betty McNaughton spent a week-end here, and returned to Montreal accompanied by her sister, Mrs. A. L. Penhale, and Mr. Penhale, who remained in the metropolis for a day.

CARDS DEFEAT BROOKLYN FOR FIFTH IN ROW

Billy Southworth's St. Louis Outfit Spills Dodgers 3-1—Reds Top Phillies 6-2 to Regain Lead.

St. Louis Cardinals may not be going anywhere, but they're unquestionably going there fast.

Since Billy Southworth ascended (?) to the managership last week the club has won five games and hasn't been beaten. But the Cards were in such desperate circumstances to begin with that this spectacular streak hasn't been good enough to get them out of the National League second division and they will have to keep going at a good clip to overtake Chicago Cubs who are five games ahead of them.

But whether the Redbirds ever get into the first division or not they are pretty sure to cause a lot of commotion for the rest of the season. They created quite a bit yesterday by blockading Brooklyn Dodgers 3-1 and enabling Cincinnati Reds to regain first place. All of the Cardinal runs against Brooklyn were unearned yesterday, because of four Dodger errors, but this does not mean St. Louis didn't deserve to win. Clyde Shoun made his first start of the season and went the complete route for the first time since 1938, holding Brooklyn to four hits.

While this was going on the Reds reaped a 6-2 triumph at Philadelphia to take a full game jump over the Dodgers and also shove the Phillies into the National League's cellar. Whitley Moore relieved John Vander Meer with two on and none out in the second inning and gave up only two hits in eight innings of excellent hurling.

New York Giants got back on the winning track and moved within a game of second place when Paul Waner continued his mastery over Chicago Cubs by a 2-1 score. The durable Dean, who held the Cubs to four hits in making his first start a week ago today, permitted no hits at all until the fifth yesterday, and just six in the game.

Boston Bees, who couldn't get any sort of pitching worthy of the name in the early part of the season, benefitted from two six-hit performances by Bill Posedel and Al Piechota in sweeping a double-header from Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 and 5-1.

The American League had an idle day.

WELL-BALANCED LITTLE GIANTS IN GOOD SPOT

Jersey City Banks on Reserve Strength for International League Pennant Drive—Splits with Montreal.

Although a ball team can have only nine men in action at a time, there's a definite reason why clubs carry squads of more than twenty players and it isn't just to give deserving boys jobs.

Besides the necessity of having a good sized pitching staff to keep things going every day, there's a need of reserves for every position. Not infrequently it runs out that a pennant-winning club isn't the one with the best regulars but the one with the best players sitting on the bench, ready to step in at a moment's notice.

All this is leading up to Jersey City's position in the International League. The Little Giants, 1939 league champions, are running second now in a close race with Rochester Red Wings. But they're in a strong position to bid for the pennant because of their reserves.

One of these is 20-year-old Hugh Egan, who came up this season from the Evangeline League. He made his first start last night in the opening game of a doubleheader against Montreal Royals and won it 8-1 with a six-hit job. He had some difficulty for three innings, then settled down and outpitched Kemp Wier, the Royals' mound ace.

Two veterans, Alejandro Carrasquel and Bobby Porter, fought it out on the hill in the second encounter, but the Jerseys didn't give their Venezuelan curver any too good support and went down 2-1. As a result they gained only a half game on Rochester's league leaders, who took an 11-1 drubbing from Syracuse Chiefs. Jersey City still is two games behind.

The other four clubs were not scheduled.

LOUIS OUT TO KEEP TITLE IN UNITED STATES

Fistiana's Richest Trinkets Might Go to South America in Event of Godoy Victory Thursday Night.

New York, June 18.—(AP)—The Al Weill wink is considerably more expressive than the far-famed Weill wink, although not quite as large.

He gives that eyelid a click so hearty it can be heard as well as seen. He did today when someone asked him about the possibility that Arturo Godoy would export the heavyweight championship to South America and defend it from there.

provided he takes the title from Joe Louis in Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

And when he did, plump Al wasn't winking because he had something in his eye.

The situation offers the most interesting possibilities. Of course, first off, the Chilean Croucher would have to whip Louis—a job he didn't accomplish last February, and doesn't figure to come any closer to doing this time, if you believe those 1-to-5 odds on the Bomber.

Let's suppose he does. In that event, there's a strong possibility fistiana's richest trinket will be put on the line outside of the United States for the first time since Primo Camera turned back the mid bid of Paulino Uezudun in Rome seven years back.

The suggestion in the wink was that, instead of tangle with Louis again within ninety days, as he has already signed to do, Godoy would be willing to "blow" a $25,000 forfeit, ship to South America, on the next boat and defend the crown in Argentina against such fellows as say, Alberto Lovell or maybe "Bicycle Bob" Pastor.

NEW CARDINAL BOSS HAS TIME AND MATERIAL

Billy Southworth, Recalled from Rochester to Replace Ray Blades, Has Good Chance to Show Ability.

New York, June 18.—Billy Southworth has the time, and what is more important—the material.

Never was a manager in a better position to demonstrate his ability than is the new guide of the St. Louis Nationals.

When Southworth was recalled from Rochester to replace Ray Blades, the Cardinals, picked by many to beat the Reds at the outset, were tied with Boston for the upside down championship—15 games behind the pace.

The Red Birds had dropped nine of their last 10 contests at home, including successive double-headers to the Giants.

Southworth took over a club whose pitchers had yielded 30 runs and 74 hits in the last four games. Reputedly powerful sluggers left 54 men on the bases in the five-game series with New York, and nine more in their following engagement against Joe Sullivan, the Bees' southpaw.

Southworth became boss of a pitching corps which needed 19 men in its last six games—a staff so worn that not a single member was in condition to start. There was some dissension, too.

St. Louis pitchers will take regular turns—get a chance to go the route. Once he gets them adjusted, Southworth can't miss getting a lot of pitching out of Lon Warneke, Mort Cooper, Bob Bowman, Fiddler McGee and the left-handers, Ernie White, Max Lanier and Clyde Shoun. St. Louis catching is adequate with Mickey Owen and Don Padgett around, and the latter is one of the most dangerous hitters in the business.

The infield will be all right as quickly as Jimmy Brown gets back in the thick of things.

Johnny Mize is the only member of what was a Murderer's Row who has stood up this season, and even his average is one of several due to skyrocket.

Despite its present place in the league standings, the St. Louis club has potential pitching and power, and that's a tough combination to beat.

The Cardinals have needed practical direction.

A 15-game deficit is far from being an insurmountable barrier at this stage of the proceedings.

Billy Southworth has a grand opportunity to be baseball's Miracle Man of 1940.

Sport Flashes

New York, June 18.—(AP)—Strange sights: Cardinal pitchers actually going the distance these days.

They already have $45,000 in the till for Louis v. Godoy and it may do a lot better than was first thought.

Baron Boots Poffenberger, who traded beers for cheers, is collecting dividends down in the Southern Association. He had won 10 games on June 12 and at that rate stands to win about 30 games for Nashville.

The Yanks have got to step on it, at that. Some of the dopesters have figured it out they'll have to win seven of every 10 remaining games to tape the pennant for the fifth time in a row.

Carl Hubbell's sister, Mildred, hurls for an Oklahoma softball team and, like her brother, does it from the port side.

While on tour Alice Marble always is accompanied by her tennis coach and a voice teacher.

Lack of consistency seems to be one of the Yanks' troubles. Charlie Ruffing, for instance, has yet to win two games in a row.

Explaining his failure to win his debut game with the Brooks, Curt Davis said: "For a few moments, I forgot where I was. When the first two batters hit safely and no pitcher rushed out to relieve me, I became disconcerted and thought I was back in St. Louis."

One-minute interview: Billy Southworth: "Madwick? I saw enough of that guy in one ball game."

"Has your wife started her spring cleaning yet?" "I'm sure she has. The maid and cook took yesterday."

Nosing out Canadian Silk Products 3-2 while Mitchell's were upsetting the Rand by a 15-13 score, Kayser, last year's Industrial Softball League champions, took over undisputed possession of the leading position in the current pennant battle last night. In the third game on the programme Fairbanks bested Carnation Milk 18-9.

Luc, of Kayser, and Theriault, of Canadian Silk Products, engaged in a tight mound duel in the best clash of the three-game card. Luc gave C.S.P. only four hits and held them to single tallies in the fourth and fifth frames, while the Kayser batsmen got to Theriault for six safeties, and scored once in the second and twice in the fourth.

Newt Munkittrick collected two of Kayser's six safeties. Each team committed one error but pulled off a good number of brilliant fielding plays to more than make up for defensive lapses.

Behind 6-4 at the end of the second inning, Fairbanks went on to score four times in the third, nine times in the fourth and once in the fifth, while holding their opponents scoreless, to make their triumph at the expense of the Carnation crew decisive. The milkmen pushed over two runs in the first and four in the second, then picked up a single marker in the sixth and two in the seventh. Fairbanks pounded the pitches of Weaver, Carnation curver, for 17 solid clouts, while Bench limited the milkmen to nine base knocks.

In the stormy Rand-Mitchell's mix-up the teams clouted 31 basehits, and committed six errors. Charley Clark and Wilcox, of the Ingersoll outfit, were tossed out of the game by Umpire Larry Pergau. With Smith hitting four for four and Art Wright connecting for a triple and double, Mitchell's stepped into the lead in the third frame and were never headed. Howell hit safely three times for the losers.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Paul Dean, Giants: Held Cubs to six scattered hits to beat them second time in a week.
Ole Shoun, Cardinals: Limited Dodgers to four hits in going route for first time since 1938.
Lloyd Moore, Reds: Went to mound in second inning and allowed Phillies only two hits for remainder of game.
Bill Posedel and Al Piechota, Bees: Each retired Pirates on six hits to give Boston sweep of double-header.

That man is back. "Ole Fox" Griffith sure likes to take the joy out of life for New York fans. First, he predicts the Yanks won't win again. Now he says Madwick coming to the Dodgers was just another baseball deal—that Joe isn't the difference between a pretty good team and a flag.
