MEMBERS IN SESSION UNTIL EARLY IN MORNING TO PASS MONEY BILLS

Debate on Address in Reply to Speech from Throne Adjourned Until Parliament Reassembles on April 13—For Entire Afternoon and Most of Evening Opposition Members, Chiefly Three Laborites, Pressed Government to Renew Its Efforts to Deal With Unemployment and to Continue Relief Payments.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 1.—After sitting until early this morning in an effort to dispose of the supplementary estimates, Parliament today will have only a short session before adjourning for the Easter recess. The finishing touches will be put on the money bills, and then they will go to the Senate for its consent. The debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne has been adjourned until Parliament reassembles on April 13th.

Faced with a deadline of midnight, the House of Commons last night made a belated effort to apply all haste in dealing with the estimates. Because the Government fiscal year ended on March 31st, it was necessary to pass the money bills before 11 p.m. Only the final stages will be applied to the bills today, and because a new fiscal year began at midnight, it will be necessary to amend the bills to make them apply to the expenditures incurred prior to that hour.

Warnings of widespread distress among the laboring classes of Canada leading to riots and serious developments, were heard in the Commons yesterday. For the entire afternoon and most of the evening, Opposition members, chiefly the three Laborites, pressed the Government to renew its efforts to deal with unemployment and to continue relief payments. The votes for this purpose, they said, expired when the fiscal year ended yesterday, and no time should be lost in voting additional relief.

Because one of the Labor members, Angus MacInnes, (Vancouver South), lost track of time and exhausted his forty minutes without moving a motion, the abortive debate petered out. The motion, which would have been interpreted as a vote of want of confidence in the Government, contemplated urging upon the administration the necessity of taking immediate steps to combat unemployment. No member of the Government took part or replied to the charges. When the motion was not put, the House automatically went into supply and proceeded with the supplementary estimates for the balance of the evening.

Two Quebec Liberals, Dr. J. A. Denis and Martial Rheaume, said the Bennett Government had failed to implement its pre-election promises. Only a few days ago two thousand men walked to the Montreal City Hall in search of food. Did this look as if the Government had ended unemployment, asked Mr. Denis.

It was nearly 9:30 o'clock when the House turned to the estimates. The first real snag was encountered when an item of $300,000 for additional unemployment relief for returned soldiers came up for discussion. R. W. Gray, (Liberal, Lambton West), asked the Premier why the relief payments for veterans had been cut off by Hon. Murray MacLaren, the Minister. This had not been done, the Premier declared. The whole incident had been misunderstood. The Minister's statement to the press on the incident had been misinterpreted.

Did the returned soldiers in the Cabinet agree to the temporary suspension of the payments, Mr. Gray wanted to know. When no answer was given, Mr. Gray asked if no Minister was permitted to speak. Major C. G. G. (Liberal, St. John's West), asked the same question. Mr. King said the impression was abroad that individual Cabinet Ministers were not free to speak, that they were nonentities. Mr. Bennett declined to reply to the language used by the Liberal leader.

The item finally passed after Major Power said the Government had been forced to rescind its suspension order by a wave of protest from all parts of the country. This was denied by the Prime Minister; the Opposition was attempting to make political capital from the incident.

In a statement issued last night Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, said that the expenditures for relief would not end with the close of the fiscal year yesterday. Payment would be made up to the end of June in all provinces except Ontario, where they end June first, the Minister said.

ATTACH NO SIGNIFICANCE TO VISIT OF AMBASSADOR

Minister to Japan Using Customary Leave of Absence to Journey to Canada.

OTTAWA, April 1.—Although Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Japan, will probably discuss with the Government a number of matters, particularly bearing on trade, his visit to Canada during May is without special significance. At the Department of External Affairs it was stated yesterday that Mr. Marler merely proposes to take the customary leave and will use it to visit Canada. Information received at the department is that he will leave on May 1, which is later than the date mentioned in news despatches from Vancouver.

HOPES HELD THAT QUEBEC HOUSE MAY CONCLUDE SESSION TONIGHT

Little Business of Importance Now Remains Before Legislature—Bridge Matters Settled at Sitting Yesterday—Numerous Private Motions Discussed—Bill Amending Elections Act Awaits Third Reading.

QUEBEC, April 1.—With only the question of Montreal Jewish Schools, the lowering of the age of succession duties and a few minor bills awaiting study, the Quebec Legislature has virtually completed its labors for 1931. As no discussion is expected regarding the Succession duties bill, there appears to be no reason why parliament cannot prorogue tonight or early tomorrow. The afternoon session yesterday was spent in discussing motions of private members.

The bill regarding the preparation of the election lists in provincial matters still awaits the reading of the bill itself, though the fight was made on the resolutions, and the House divided accordingly, on party lines.

Bridge matters again came to the forefront of the assembly at the morning sitting, the issue arising over the Caughnawaga bridge. This bridge is one of the eight provided for in the bill of Hon. J. N. Francoeur, Minister of Public Works and Labor, but it so happens that a commission has been named to construct the bridge, and it is now necessary to amend the act creating the commission in case the federal Government should make a grant in the matter, and Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests, brought in the measure. It is Mr. Mercier who brought on the original bill.

The minister explained that because of the negotiations already entered into with the Federal Government, it was wise to continue the commission on the Caughnawaga bridge in effect. The members of the commission had worked hard, and had made certain progress, and in case Ottawa did wish to help, it was well to give the commission the necessary power to build the bridge. The provision in question permits the question to allow the Caughnawaga bridge to be built by the commission, which means the commission would give out a contract, and in that sense the bill is a law of exception as against the bill of Hon. J. N. Francoeur. The whole substance of Hon. Mr. Mercier's bill is to the effect that should the tolls on the Caughnawaga bridge be insufficient, the Government may make up the difference.

Members of the Opposition claimed that it would have been possible for the Government to make an arrangement with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company whereby the company's bridge would be widened to accommodate motor traffic, and the cost would have been only $60,000.

Hon. Mr. Mercier said the matter was much exaggerated. Stories of negotiations with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company had been common since 1910, and there had never been a question of anything like $60,000. The only figure mentioned had been $2,000,000, higher than the cost of a new bridge. Mr. Mercier said he did not talk from evidence of a third party, for he had personally discussed the matter with the C. P. R.

The resolutions and bill were finally disposed of. The House also disposed of the bill to allow the Government to increase from $5,000 to $10,000 a mile, the grant for the building of a railway line which will complete the Lake St. John belt line.

REPORTS ROOM OF PRINCE ROBBED AT BUENOS AIRES

Argentine Newspaper Claims Police Have Recovered Jewelry and Arrested Prominent Citizen.

BUENOS AIRES, April 1.—The newspaper Critica said yesterday that the bedroom of Prince George at the embassy was ransacked on the night of March 14th and personal jewelry of considerable value stolen.

Since Prince George and the Prince of Wales left for Brazil, the newspaper said, police have recovered the valuables and identified the thief. As yet unnamed, he was said to be a prominent young Argentine who had been so friendly with the royal visitors that his presence at the embassy was not considered suspicious.

The Prince of Wales and his brother were attending the British Empire Trade Exposition during the time of the purported robbery.

OBJECTION WAS REGISTERED BY COL. RALSTON

Former Minister of National Defence Did Not Like Manner in Which Letters Had Been Sent Out to Postmasters.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 1.—Letters issued under the signature of the Deputy Postmaster-General, which required postmasters to make affidavits that they had not been guilty of political partisanship, were severely scored by Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, in the House of Commons last night. In committee of the whole, the House was reviewing an appropriation of $375,623.18 owing by the post office to the Printing Bureau, an accumulation of overdrifts since 1927.

The department, Colonel Ralston said, had issued those communications, adding the threat that failure to reply or to make the affidavit would be taken as indication of guilt, with consequent dismissal of the individual concerned. Such procedure violated the practice of trying such cases in the ordinary way, and was contrary to British justice which presumed a man to be innocent until found guilty. The postmasters were not informed of the nature of the charge or of the person making it.

In no case had a postmaster been dismissed until he admitted guilt, the Prime Minister replied. He assured Colonel Ralston that the paragraph which interpreted failure to respond as an admission of guilt would not be acted on.

Some amusement was caused by A. W. K. Neil (Independent, Comox-Alberni), who put in a "plea for forgiveness on behalf of a postmaster in his constituency who had been campaign manager for his opponent." The item was passed.

CITY HALL IS DESTROYED IN OTTAWA BLAZE

Large Part of Building in Ruins Today and Seven Firemen in Hospital as Result of Fire Which Raged Last Night.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 1.—A large part of Ottawa's City Hall is in ruins today and seven firemen are in the hospital, their injuries not yet fully determined, as the result of fire which raged in the aged stone building for four hours last night. Damage to the four storey structure will likely range between $150,000 and $200,000, but there is an added, inappreciable loss in the destruction of documentary files.

INVESTIGATION IS COMPLETED IN R-101 DISASTER

Board of Inquiry Decides that Tragedy Was Caused by Bad Weather and Leakage in Gas

LONDON, April 1.—The crash of the giant British dirigible R-101 last October 5th, which took forty-eight men to their deaths, was due to a combination of bad weather and leakage in the gas bags the official board of inquiry ruled in a voluminous report made public yesterday.

The human element did not enter into the crash, the board reported, except to the extent that the watch had just been changed before the ship dived in a downward current. The helicopter, the report said, was yet unaccustomed to the feel of the ship.

The board found no basis for questions that the ship was sent on its intended journey to India before it was ready as a political stunt in connection with the Imperial Conference.

In its report the inquiry board says that the flight unquestionably would not have been made so soon and further tests would have been undertaken if it had not been for the Imperial Conference, but nevertheless, all concerned had full confidence in the ship and believed her able to meet any emergency.

The official report contains no recommendation looking toward an avoidance of similar disasters resulting from a substantial loss of gas from one or more of the bags in the forepart of the ship, is held by the board to have been "the immediate cause" of the crash.

The ship fell near Beauvais, France, in the early hours of the morning. The report was formulated by Sir John Simon, president of the board of inquiry, and by Colonel W. T. C. Moore-Brabazon and Prof. C. E. Inglis, the other members. The vote of the board was unanimous.

In its conclusions, the report agrees closely with the opinion expressed by Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, who testified at the inquiry. After exhaustive discussions of the ship's construction, of the result of preliminary trials and the conditions under which the ship set out on its fatal flight to India, the investigators set themselves to examine every possible cause for the crash and to arrive at the truth by process of elimination.

By this process, the investigators said they believed they had reached the "general nature of the true cause although the details can never be learned since no one was in the control car surviving."

The board argued from the basis of certain "definitely established facts" of which four of the most important are:

That the weather at the time of the crash was extremely bad, with wind blowing in fierce gusts.

That the ship in her trials had lost an abnormal amount of gas through wearing of holes in the gas bags, and perhaps through her valves when she rolled.

That the elevator was handed to a new height-coswain at two in the morning which was immediately before the fatal crash.

That the fire did not break out until the ship had struck the ground.

The board reached conclusions which may be tabulated as follows:

(1) Any idea that the ship broke in the air from internal weakness as did the United States dirigible Shenandoah, may be rejected.

(2) There was no failure in the control gear.

(3) Though meteorological forecasts issued before the ship's start "seriously underestimated" winds she actually met with, the accident could not be explained solely by reference to abnormal weather conditions.

(4) There is no reason to attribute the accident to any failure in the competence of officers or crew.

(5) The longitudinal movement of the gas bags was not in itself sufficient to cause disaster.

Dealing with the question of loss of gas, investigators doubt if there was any prolonged leakage "at any rate if it were so pronounced as to be observed."

CAUSE OF PLANE CRASH IS BEING INVESTIGATED

Wing of Machine that Carried Eight Men to Death Found Half a Mile from Wreckage.

COTTONWOOD FALLS, Kas., April 1.—In twisted wreckage and from cowboys who heard the dirge of faltering airplane motors, air-men and the state sought today the cause underlying the death of Knute Rockne and seven other persons against a rocky promontory of the Flint Hills.

Cattle browsed near the debris as a chicken's feet its members grieved with the millions who had thrilled to the wizardry of the genius of Notre Dame, was called into session at this city, eleven miles from the pasture where tragedy hurled out of the sky.

A flying saucer muggy weather on April 1st would have placed them last night in California, the two pilots and six passengers met instant death. There was no fire, indicating the transcontinental and western air pilot, Robert Fry, had switched off the engines in the last moments of despair. The plane, which had left Kansas City little more than an hour before, was shattered against the ground, its motors partly buried.

Jess Mathias, of Los Angeles, the co-pilot, signalled by radio a few minutes before the crash that he did not have "time to talk."

"What are you going to do?" he was asked by an operator at the Wichita municipal airport.

"I don't know," Mathias answered.

Three bodies were found in the wreckage. The other five were thrown free. H. J. Christen and J. H. Happe, of Chicago; W. B. Miller, Hartford, Conn.; Spencer Goldthwaite, New York; and C. A. Robrecht, Whiting, W. Va., were the others.

A half mile from the wreckage was found a wing of the plane. H. G. Edgerton, of Wichita, a representative of the air line, informed Dr. Jacob Hinden, county coroner, there was a possibility ice had weighed down the wing, causing its severance from the plane.

Residents of the vicinity, however, said ground temperatures were above freezing, and cowboys who scanned the clouds said the plane was not flying high.

Arrangements are being made to take today to South Bend, Ind., the body of Rockne, for whom funeral services will be held Saturday or Sunday.

The forty-three year old football coach, en route to California moving picture studios, he missed being in a few minutes in Kansas City two of his sons, Knute Rockne, Jr. and Billy, 11. They were returning from Coral Gables, Fla., where they had visited their mother. Dr. M. Negro, of Kansas City, a longtime friend of Rockne, brought them home last night, broke to them the news of their father's death, and found them brave through tears.

Afoot, horseback and by motor car curious Kansans came from miles away to view the wreckage and its wreckage away pieces of the plane's fabric.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN BROMPTON DIRECTORS

C. G. Greenhields and J. E. McCrea Retire from Brompton Company Board.

MONTREAL, April 1.—J. E. McCrea, of Sherbrooke, and C. G. Greenhields, of Montreal, retired from the board of directors of the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company at the annual meeting held here yesterday. Others elected to the directorate were Ernest Rossier, N. A. Timmins, J. I. Rankin, R. W. Steele, A. F. White, R. O. Swezey, H. A. Clarke, G. Cotterelle.

R. W. Steele, vice-president, presiding at the meeting, stated that nothing had been done with regard to a possible merger of the company's properties, and it was unlikely that anything would be done until other units in the industry had clarified their positions.

At a meeting of the St. Lawrence Paper Mills Company, Limited, Mr. Steele and Mr. Timmins were elected to the board. Other business was routine.

LABOR CHIEF WARNS U. S. TO BE ON GUARD AGAINST SOVIET RUSSIA

Washington Officials Silent When Enquiry Is Made Concerning Possibility that Recent Visit of Premier Bennett May Have Had Something to Do With Present Interest Being Taken by U. S. Government in Russian Soviet Moves.

NO COMBINE TO BE TOLERATED, SAYS PREMIER

Hon. Peter Heenan Asked Government if It Intended to Do Anything to Block a Rumored $600,000,000 Merger in Paper Industry.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 1.—The Government was asked if it intended to do anything to block a rumored $600,000,000 merger in the paper industry. The question was put by Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, when the item of $15,000 to be used under the Combines Investigation Act was before the Commons last night.

It was proposed, Mr. Heenan said, to discontinue the high price mills, focusing production in the low cost establishments. This would result in throwing many people out of work and would prove a setback to those communities in which the high price mills were situated.

Whether a combine existed to the detriment of the public could only be established after the corporation was formed, Premier Bennett asserted. The closing of mills was primarily a provincial matter. "No combine," he added, "will be permitted to contravene the laws of the Dominion."

The item carried.

CONFLAGRATION CONSUMED BARN AT COATICOOK

Up-to-Date Structure Belonging to Wm. Falconer, on Ladd's Mills Road, Fell Prey to Flames This Morning—Loss Estimated at About $5,000.

COATICOOK, Que., April 1.—A disastrous fire which destroyed one of the finest barns in the Eastern Townships was still smoldering at a late hour this morning. The scene of the conflagration is the Wm. Falconer farm, situated about three miles from here on the Ladd's Mills road. The flames were first noticed about nine o'clock this morning, and the origin has not yet been established. They spread quickly, and in no time the barn was beyond control. The residence, situated across the road from the blazing structure, also caught fire, but the blaze was extinguished before it gained much headway. The fire brigade, which has been doing herculean work, hope that the wind will veer and send the sparks in a direction from the Falconer home.

A conservative estimate of the loss which Mr. Falconer will sus-

EVERY AVAILABLE MANAGUA MAN MOBILIZED TODAY TO FIGHT FIRES

So Far as Is Known, There Is Not a Habitable Building Left in Once-Beautiful Central American City Razed by Earthquakes Yesterday—No Water Available for Drinking or Fighting Flames Which Broke Out Today—Number of Dead Between Five Hundred and One Thousand.

GANDHI WILL SHOW WORLD GOVERNMENT ECONOMY

When Nationalists Assume Reins of Office Even Viceroy to Have Pay Cut to $50 a Week.

KARACHI, India, April 1.—When Gandhi's Nationalist party wins freedom for India, the Mahatma told the Nationalist Congress last night, "our government will be run with the strictest economy and even the viceroy will not get more than $50 a week."

"We want to run the government as plain citizens, not as high-salaried officers," he said. "We want a regime of righteousness in which every man shall be equal. I have embodied these sentiments in a resolution so that the world, and the British Empire in particular, may know what full independence means."

The shocks occurred throughout the day and at 9:30 p.m. another severe tremor shook the city, bringing down buildings about the heads of rescuers and further frightening the panic-stricken population, most of whom were camped in parks and on the shores of Lake Managua.

So far as is known there is not a habitable building left in the once beautiful Central American city, the second in size in the republic. President Moncado himself abandoned the national palace for a tent. Both British and United States legations are in ruins.

There is no water available for drinking purposes or fighting the flames, the tremors having broken the water mains and flooded the streets while a landslide covered the pumping station on the edge of Lake Aposcocha. The Central American Power Company station was not damaged and will furnish limited street-lighting tonight.

The greatest loss of life occurred in the national penitentiary, where at least 150 persons were killed when the walls and ceiling of the building tumbled about them. Many Nicaraguans were killed in the public market place and two Nicaraguan National Guards were burned to death while attempting a rescue.

Distribution of food was taken over by the United States marines, whose officers requested Washington to cancel orders withdrawing them from Nicaragua in order that they may cope with the situation created by the quake. President Moncado, in a public statement, congratulated and thanked them for the splendid work which they were doing.

The president issued the following:

"A state of seige (martial law) has been declared in the department of Managua. The director of the National Guard (officers by United States marines) will undertake the task of caring for the people and guaranteeing property. Food will be purchased at the expense of the Government and distributed gratis. Committees will be organized to relieve the poor and suffering."

Although most of Nicaragua felt the quake which occurred with deadly suddenness just after ten o'clock, only Managua suffered any real damage. Granada, Masaya and Corinto, port and terminus of the railroad in Managua, were not hurt, but it is possible that some mountain villages with which there is little communication were damaged.

A complete check of casualties will not be possible until the blaze has been quelled and rescue squads have a chance to dig through the debris of the city, if then. Many bodies are buried beneath the crushed abode walls, and many injured imprisoned in the debris probably have been killed by the flames.

The marines, in taking charge of the situation, issued orders that individuals caught looting would be shot on the spot, but no looting or depredation has been discovered. Col. F. L. Bradman is acting in charge of marines and General Calvin Bruce Matthews of the National Guard.

The marine corps barracks was turned into a large hospital and refugee camp. Fifteen hundred persons came there early in the night and were cared for. Families of United States officers remained there all night, there being no place at all available for them in Managua. It was regarded probable that all United States women would be taken out by aeroplane today, either to Panama or some other Nicaraguan city.

Relief work from without the city was speeded during the night. The U.S.S. Rochester left Panama at 7 p.m. for Corinto and the Salians will leave today with a cargo of food and supplies. Twenty-four army planes were expected at daybreak from Panama, and five planes of the Pan American Airways, which suspended (Continued on Page Nine)

CLEVELAND W.I. SHOWED A FINE ANNUAL REPORT

Good Balance on Hand Marked Operations for Past Year—Officers and Conveners Appointed for Another Year's Work.

CLEVELAND, April 1.—The annual meeting of Cleveland Women's Institute was held in the New London school house with twenty-three members and two visitors attending. The meeting opened with the Club Women's Creed, followed by the minutes of the last meeting, which were read and adopted. The roll call was answered by "a suggestion for next year's programme", and paying the annual dues. Twenty-three members joined. A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Evan Crook, seconded by Mrs. R. Pease and extended to Miss Alice Pease and Mrs. F. Monahan for their kindness in offering the use of their houses for the social and supper which had been held and proved so successful. A resolution that the attendance contest be withdrawn for the coming year was carried.

The secretary, Miss A. Healy, then read the financial and yearly report showing: Balance on hand, March 1930, $42.25; receipts for year, $88.71; expenditures, $73.20; balance left on hand, $57.76; number of meetings held, ten; social evenings, four. One dinner and a St. Patrick's supper were also held.

The conveners were all present and gave their reports which were very interesting. The retiring president, Mrs. Chas. Tozer, thanked the conveners and officers for their help during her two years of office and asked Mrs. Neale Robinson to take the chair for the election of officers. The elections resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Maude Healy; first vice-president, Miss Abbie Pease; second vice-president, Mrs. Nelson Robinson; secretary-treasurer, Miss Alma J. Healy, re-elected; assistant secretary, Miss Alice Pease.

Mrs. Maude Healy then took the chair for the balance of the meeting. The following conveners were nominated and elected: Agriculture, Mrs. Chas. Tozer; child welfare and public health, Mrs. Goldwyn Fletcher; education and better schools, Mrs. Gloria Curtis, with Mrs. C. G. Morey, assistant; home economics, Mrs. Evan Crook; immigration, Mrs. N. COUNTERACT FORMATION OF ICE ON AEROPLANE WINGS

Aviator Reports Victory Over One of Most Dangerous Enemies of Aviation.

AKRON, Ohio, April 1.—Victory was reported here yesterday over one of the aviator's most dangerous enemies—ice that forms on the wings of his aeroplane and sometimes causes it to be wrecked. Through low-hanging clouds, at freezing temperature and an altitude of 2,000 to 3,000 feet, Charles Meyers, of Cleveland, piloted his aeroplane which was equipped with rubber "overshoes."

The overshoes—poaches of specially treated rubber fabric fitted over the leading edges of the plane and wings and struts—were made to "breathe" as the ice formed on them. As they breathed the ice crumbled away.

The inflation and deflation, which worked like a man's lungs, were created by a motor-driven air pump in the cockpit.

AMENDMENT PROPOSED TO UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY LAW

Winnipeg Labor Member Would Clarify Rights of Citizens Attending Political Meetings.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 1.—A bill designed to correct certain abuses in connection with "unlawful assemblies" received its first reading in the House of Commons yesterday. J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg, North Centre), who sponsored the bill, explained that its purpose was to insert a safeguarding clause in the criminal code in order to ensure that the general nature and character of speeches on public affairs should be the ground for regarding any meeting as unlawful.

"In some of our cities recently, there has been what seems to me of an abuse of the law whereby citizens have been prejudged with regard to their utterances, while others who may have been listening have been declared to be members of an unlawful assembly," Mr. Woodsworth said. "This has been done without regard to the general character of the speeches made. The bill is merely to prevent that sort of thing in the future."

BRUTAL MURDER COMMITTED ON BUSY STREET

Max Tendler Shot to Death in Chicago Last Night—Crime Believed Aftermath of Drug Peddling Affair.

CHICAGO, April 1.—While thousands of homeward-bound showgoers from the Riviera and uptown theatres were passing, two men walked up behind Max Tendler, 42, as he stood buying a newspaper and shot him to death. The killers escaped in an automobile after firing five shots into the victim's body.

Tendler was arrested at the Metropolitan Hotel with Marie Gibbons and John Baldwin last January 14, the police reporting they found narcotics in their possession worth $2,000, and their investigation of the killing was being made on the theory that it was the result of a drug peddling affair.

Reports were circulated that Tendler had been an informer for the New York police and that he had been instrumental in connection with the conviction of Police Lieutenant Becker, Lefty Louis and "Gyp the Blood" for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, New York gambler, but the New York authorities reported they did not recall him.

The Chicago police also said they had information indicating Tendler had been a member of a kidnapping ring that had collected large sums from gamblers and saloonkeepers. His hearing on the narcotic charge had been set for April 17.

Mrs. Reddy Springs A Surprise

To things you've learned you're sure to find That other folk have not been blind.—Reddy Fox.

Wisely Mrs. Reddy asked no questions of Reddy Fox when lame, bruised, wounded and muddy he returned home. She simply did what she could to make him feel better. She cleaned his wounds and helped him slick his coat. Then she left him to keep watch of the six lively little Foxes playing around the doorstep and went hunting. No matter what might happen there must be food for those six little mouths. Reddy felt that he should be off hunting too, but he knew the best thing he could do was to remain quiet for a while.

"I wonder what Mrs. Reddy thinks happened to me," thought he as he lay watching the youngsters play. "Of course, I'll have to tell her. I don't want to but I must. I'm ashamed to let her know that I wasn't smart enough to get those young Marsh Hawks and not to be caught doing it. Perhaps I ought to have told her about that nest. Working together we might have succeeded. Now Whitetail and Mrs. Whitetail know that I know about that nest and one or the other will always be on guard."

Late that afternoon Mrs. Reddy laid down beside him. She was tired for she had been hunting most of the day. However, she had had good luck and the six youngsters had full stomachs and were taking a nap. Reddy was just getting ready to tell her what had happened to him when she spoke.

"Whitetail or Mrs. Whitetail must have returned home rather unexpectedly," said she. There was a twinkle in her eyes which Reddy didn't see.

Reddy's eyes flew wide open with surprise. "What's that?" he exclaimed.

"I said that Whitetail or Mrs. Whitetail must have returned home unexpectedly," repeated Mrs. Reddy.

"What do you know about it?" demanded Reddy.

"I know that you have been watching that nest for some time and I can guess the rest," replied Mrs. Reddy. "It takes big claws and hooked beaks to tear a coat the way yours is torn. The Whitetails are the only Hawks that nest on the ground, so are the only ones you would have trouble with. I decided long ago that I would leave them alone. The risk was too great."

"Do—do—do you know where that nest is?" Reddy's surprise was so great that he stammered. "Of course," retorted Mrs. Reddy. "Did you think you were the only smart one in the Old Pasture?" "I thought I was the only one who knew of that nest?" replied Reddy honestly.

Mrs. Reddy chuckled. "I found it before you did," said she. "It was quite by accident," she added. "I was hunting a Rabbit near there and happened to see Mrs. Whitetail drop down in the bushes with some grass. I guessed what that meant and watched until I saw Whitetail do the same thing. Then I knew they were building a nest."

"And you didn't say a word about it!" exclaimed Reddy.

"No more did you say a word about it when you found the nest," returned Mrs. Reddy sweetly.

Reddy had nothing to say to this. "How did you know I was watching the nest?" he asked.

"I ran across your trail one day and followed it. You were hidden in

KU KLUX KLAN MEMBERS DO NOT APPROVE CRITICISM

HAMILTON, Ont., April 1.—An open letter sent by the "Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Canada, Klavern No. 10" to Captain Elmore Philpott reproves him for his criticism of the Ku Klux Klan, made in a speech he delivered at a recent meeting in Toronto.

The letter "regrets" that "a man of your calibre and social standing would condemn any organization and make such statements without any investigation on your part." It goes on to say: "May we inform you that we believe in creed with creed and race with race. We can assure you we have men honorable, just, upright and God-fearing whose characters are above reproach."

Doctors pretty well agree that (barring germ diseases) most chronicness, lack of pep and ambition, are due to failure to keep "clean inside."

On Saturday evening, March 28th, through the kindness of Dr. F. E. Draper, of Bedford, and Clifford D. Richard, a moving picture entertainment was given in the Memorial Hall, under the auspices of the Junior Red Cross. The proceeds, which amounted to $13.85, will be used to defray the hospital expenses of the local boy who was successfully operated on for his eye-sight. The boy was born with cataracts on his eyes and was almost totally blind. Since the operation Dr. Draper says that it is expected the boy will have from 90 to 100 per cent. perfect vision by the middle of the summer. This has been accomplished through the untiring efforts of the Junior Red Cross in raising money for this purpose.

OYSTER SUPPER
WELL ATTENDED;
FARNHAM NOTES

Women's Missionary Society at Farnham Sponsored Successful Supper—Newsy Items and Personals.

FARNHAM, April 1.—The Women's Missionary Auxiliary held a very successful St. Patrick's oyster supper on Tuesday, March 17, in the United Church hall. The supper of hot oysters as well as salads was served at 5.30 to 7.30 o'clock, and was largely attended, all enjoying the supper and the social evening among friends and acquaintances.

The tables were prettily arranged with decorations in green and white, and were centered with tall vases of yellow narcissi and daffodils.

The hall was very artistically decorated with green and white crepe paper and with numerous St. Patrick's emblems. The decorating of the hall was carried out by the members of the Junior Ladies' Aid Association, who also in a very capable manner served the St. Patrick's supper, under the supervision of Mrs. Alec Alexander, Mrs. Clair Brown and Mrs. Bertha Simon. The young ladies wore pretty St. Patrick's aprons and hair bandeaux.

The guests were received upon their arrival by Mrs. Harry Campbell and Mrs. Thomas Riddick. The cashiers of the evening were Mrs. Ed. Ingalls and Mrs. Walter Gibson, while the kitchen and food were in charge of Mrs. Mary Smith and Mrs. Albert Beaton with a capable number of assistants. Mrs. Fred Bradcock was in charge of the tea and coffee.

The gratifying sum of nearly $140 was received from the supper.

The members of the Missionary Society are most grateful to all who so generously helped toward making this St. Patrick's supper a decided success and especially to Mr. Charles Cook, who loaned his car to the society, and to Mr. Archie Harris collected the food for the supper.

Ladies' Aid Held Meeting

The Ladies' Aid Association met in the hall of the United Church on Thursday afternoon, March 26, with an attendance of twenty-six members and eight visitors. One new member was added to the roll of membership at this meeting. Following the transaction of the various items of business, the fancy work committee distributed many articles to be worked during the spring and summer months. Supper and a social hour followed. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Francis Cross, Mrs. Harold Campbell, Mrs. Harry Kavanagh and Mrs. Herbert Kemp. An added feature of the salad supper was the serving of hot oysters, with Mrs. Mary Smith in charge of the cooking, and which were a contribution to the supper from the Women's Missionary Auxiliary and to which the members of the Junior Ladies' Association were especially invited. The oyster and salad supper was served to about forty-eight and was much enjoyed by all.

TOMATO JUICE AS A TONIC
DRINK IS INEXPENSIVE

Health Authorities Advise Practice of Serving Tomato Juice and Solids.

Doctors and dietetic specialists are pointing to canned tomatoes as an inexpensive corrective food for the whole family, supplying as they do the health values needed to make up for the deficiencies commonly occurring in the average diet.

Canned tomatoes, leading medical authorities declare, are even more potent in Vitamins than are imported oranges, and tomato juice is much richer in iron content than is orange juice. Tomato juice has another virtue that commends it to the heads of families—it is pleasantly inexpensive. Oranges for export are gathered before they are ripe on the trees.

The most economical way of obtaining tomato juice—whether for baby's "health drink," for table service or for serving as a refreshing "pick-me-up" between meals—is to strain good-quality canned tomatoes. As little or as much juice as is required can be easily separated and the remainder of the contents of the can used in making one of a score of delicious, healthful tomato dishes. There is no waste.

Canned tomatoes as a healthful food and a tonic drink are being widely endorsed by high authorities. The Hon. Dr. Robb, Ontario Minister of Health, and medical officers of health in published statements, advised a general use of canned tomatoes both as a food and a drink.

PRE-ELECTION
PROMISES UP
BEFORE HOUSE

Defeated Candidate in Rimouski Had Promised Important Reductions in Salaries of Canadian National Officials.

OTTAWA, April 1.—Sir Eugene Fiset, Liberal member for Rimouski, has given notice that he will ask in the House of Commons if the Government proposes to increase the salaries of the members of the House of Commons.

These promises, Sir Eugene Fiset states, were to reduce the salary of Sir Henry Thornton to $15,000 per annum; to reduce the salaries of all vice-presidents and other high officials of the Canadian National by fifty per cent and to provide that a large proportion of employees on the Ottawa-Montreal and Montreal-Halifax routes must speak both French and English fluently.

Sir Eugene enquires also if any application has been received from Mr. Boulay to be appointed a director of the Canadian National, and if such application was refused. He also wishes to know if Mr. Boulay was offered a senatorship in July, 1917, by Senator L'Esperance.

A number of questions in respect to income tax assessment, especially as applied to large incomes, have been placed on the order paper by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg North Centre.

Mr. Woodsworth, after inquiring the total amount of personal net income assessed for income tax, before exemptions, from 1919 to 1929, asks:

"What is the number of personal incomes assessed, and the total value of that assessment before exemptions, for net incomes from $50,000 to $60,000 from $60,000 to $70,000, and from $70,000 to $80,000, and so on, from 1919 to 1929?"

Notice has also been given by Mr. Woodsworth that he will move for a copy of all correspondence which has passed between the Mayor or any other official of the City of Brantford, and the Minister of Labor, regarding the administration of relief.

"Is the Government aware that the Canadian banks have advanced in loans or guarantees the sum of $88,000,000 to the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited?" asks Paul Mercier, Liberal member for St. Henri.

"Has the Government, to date, guaranteed the banks interested in these loans in favor of wheat pools, for said amount of $88,000,000, totally or partially?" proceeds Mr. Mercier.

CANDIDATE FOR MAYORALTY
FAVORS NEW PROGRAMME

Free Whiskey, Licensed Gambling and Easy Divorce Are Planks in Platform of Mayor Roberts, of Reno, Nev.

RENO, Nev., April 1.—Two candidates for mayor opposing E. E. Roberts, incumbent, who is seeking re-election on a platform advocating free whiskey and supporting licensed gambling and easy divorce, have refused to campaign on those issues.

Mayor Roberts said that gambling is "bad business," but that as long as people will gamble it is more desirable for it to be done openly and with the sanction of the law. He also defended the segregated district in Reno as a means of controlling vice.

He advocated the placing of a barrel of corn whiskey on every corner in the city with a dipper attached and a sign inviting all to drink as much as they pleased but not to carry any liquor away. The liquor, by the mayor's plan, would come from a municipal still operated at public expense and would be "good corn whiskey."

WOMAN THOUGHT
DEAD WAS IN A
STATE OF COMA

With Every Evidence of Death, Funeral Notices Published and Family Assembled for Final Rites, It Was Found Out in Time that Woman Was Not Dead.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 1.—The tenacity that life sometimes exhibits was revealed here.

Mrs. Lorena Wolfe, 103, went into a coma last Wednesday at her home in Lima, Ohio. There was every evidence of death. Death notices were run in the newspapers, and the usual newspaper stories about such elderly persons were carried in due form. Her sons and daughters were summoned to her bedside.

Her physician warned, however, the body not be prepared for burial, as he wished to observe her further. According to one of her daughters, Mrs. Charles Grau, of Toledo, who returned here, Mrs. May Moore of Toledo, another daughter, went into the room Saturday where the body lay and began sobbing: "Oh, my dear mother."

Just then Mrs. Wolfe's eyes began to flicker and the words came from her lips: "Don't cry, I'm all right."

Mrs. Grau said her mother had retained consciousness over the week-end.

Hundreds of Mexican Peons Become Wealthy Overnight Following Discovery of Gold on Western Slope of Wild Sierra Madre Range in State of Sinaloa.

NOGALES, Ariz., April 1.—On the western slope of the wild Sierra Madre range in the Mexican state of Sinaloa, gold has lifted the curtain on another of its powerful dramas.

Rumors of a great strike, five hundred miles below the border, have been heard here and in Mexico City for a week, but not until Manuel Llantada, self-styled discoverer of the vein, arrived here last night, was a clear account given.

Llantada, a few weeks ago was a clerk in a grocery store in the village of Guadalupe de Los Reyes, where there would be more people following the straight and narrow path if it led into Easy Street.

* Tired Out * Here's the Reason! * Eat Yeast *

STRENGTH GONE and errands not half done! Know the feeling?

POISONS that arise here are the cause. Keep intestines clean

BY EATING yeast. Try it in milk shakes—or just plain.

Do you Tire Easily?

That's how Intestinal Poisons affect you, doctors say!

ISN'T it discouraging, when pep gives out... when you feel listless, tired and cross for no apparent cause?

Yet the cause exists... right inside your body! In most cases it's simply that age-old evil... that unpleasant trouble to which women are particularly subject... Intestinal Fatigue!

In Intestinal Fatigue, undigested food masses accumulate and stagnate in the intestinal tract because elimination has become irregular. As a result, depressing poisons seep into the blood and circulate throughout your system. Your appetite fails.

Color fades. Vitality is slowly undermined!

Now what you need is simply to cleanse your system regularly—not with weakening cathartics but by a gentle, natural means.

For this purpose, famous physicians, for over three-quarters of a century, have recommended fresh yeast.

This food—for that's what fresh yeast is—softens harmful waste matter in the intestines and at the same time stimulates the natural action that removes it. It tones up digestive functions, too, so that we derive the utmost nourishment from everything we eat.

So, if you feel run-down, start eating Fleischmann's Yeast today! Just eat three cakes every day, regularly—before meals, or between meals and at bedtime—plain or in a third of a glass of water (hot or cold), in milk, or any other way you like.

You can get Fleischmann's Yeast at grocers', restaurants, drug stores and soda fountains. Each cake is rich in three vitamins—B, G and D.

First Day of April Is Always Observed With Much Enthusiasm by Practical Jokers.

Today there are two distinct classes of individuals walking about. There is the enthusiastic practical joker, who is determined to get the most out of April Fools' Day. Then there is the timid soul who is certain that he is going to be fooled. Between the two there is a bound to be close rivalry, but the joker seems to have the best chance of scoring the counting point.

The world over the first of April is given to foolish doings. It has been such for generations past, and will remain a day of innocent merriment long after the present "jokers" have played their last trick.

The origin of April Fools' Day is not very clear. It is known that the people of France observed it long before the people of England, but its actual origin has never been traced. What is probably the oldest idea about the day is the ancient Jewish origin of making fools, this being traced to the time when Noah began it by sending the dove out of the ark on the first day of the month, which answers our first of April. Again the ancient Hock-tide, an old Saxon word meaning "the time of scorn or triumph," may have gradually become the annual April Fool, but nothing authoritative is said regarding it. The French use the word "fish." There is an old verse regarding the origin of April Fools' Day which reads thus:

"The first of April, some do say
Is set apart for All Fools' Day,
But why the people call it so
Nor I, nor they themselves do know."

With the memories of past experiences fresh in mind it is not surprising that many timid persons ventured forth today with much suspicion and misgiving. In every store, office and factory of the city, it is safe to say, the spirit of April Fools' Day will be in evidence. It might be anyone from reserved and unapproachable "boss" to the office boy who is selected as the victim, for class and position are often overlooked when it comes to joking on this day of jokes.

Whatever may be the nature of the joke it is well meant and the spirit of merriment should not be cooled by resentment. The best policy for one who has been fooled is to pass the joke on to some one else before the day is over.

FUNERAL OF MRS. GEORGE H. BRADFORD

The funeral of the late Mrs. George H. Bradford, whose death occurred Saturday afternoon, March 28, at her residence, Montreal street, after a brief illness, was held at 2 p.m. Monday. Prayers for the family were conducted at the home by Rev. Canon H. R. Biggs, rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church, who also officiated at the church and at the graveside. At the brief but impressive burial service two of the favorite hymns of the deceased, "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me," were sweetly sung by a mixed choir, Mr. J. Cuthbert Somers presiding at the organ.

The bearers, all intimate friends of the family, were Messrs. J. T. Morkill, William M. Steele, John B. Beach, Philip M. Robins, H. Bruce Fletcher and Harry F. Hargrave.

The chief mourners were Malcolm H. Bradford, son, Clive Dobell, son-in-law, and Curzon Dobell, grandson.

Beautiful floral tributes covered the casket, including a pillow from the family, wreaths from the staffs of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Sherbrooke Daily Record, besides numerous tokens of affection from relatives and friends.

The late Mrs. Bradford was formerly Ellen Newell, eldest daughter of the late Dr. Selim Newell, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., and was born on June 5, 1843, being in her 88th year at the time of her death. In 1876 she married George H. Bradford, for many years publisher of the Sherbrooke Gazette, who predeceased her in January 1921. She leaves to mourn her loss a son, Malcolm H. Bradford; three daughters, Mrs. Clive Dobell, of Montreal, and Misses Edith and Addie Bradford, of this city; a sister, Miss Etta Newell, of Hanover, N. H., and numerous nephews and nieces.

An accomplished musician, she took an active part in the local musical circles of earlier years, and was prominent in the women's organizations connected with St. Peter's Church, of which for many years she was a devout and consistent adherent. Despite her advanced years, her keenness of intellect and faculties remained with her to the very end, and her passing is a source of regret to her friends, both in their appreciation of her many lovable traits of character and also in the severance of another link in the rapidly disappearing chain of the older inhabitants closely associated with the life and growth of Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Douglas Stevenson and Mrs. A. L. Parker accompanied by their sister, Mrs. R. G. Gooley, of Coaticook, are going to Richmond today to visit their father's brother, Mr. George P. Dresser, who is today celebrating his eighty-ninth birthday. Mr. and Mrs. John Dresser, of Montreal, will also join the family party, who will dine together at their uncle's residence in Richmond, where his daughter, Miss Bertha Dresser, acts as chaperone and companion to her sister-in-law. His many friends in the Eastern Townships will unite in extending to Mr. Dresser hearty congratulations and best wishes for continued health and happiness.

Mrs. W. H. Lovell, Mrs. F. Parkin and Mrs. Purdy were hostesses yesterday afternoon when, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Trinity United Church, a very successful afternoon tea was held in Wesley Hall. Daffodils with ferns and tall green tapers in silver candlesticks decorated the tea table over which Mrs. J. W. McKee presided. Mrs. P. Cathcart assisted the hostess in serving. Prior to the pleasant social gathering a largely attended business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. Walter Armitage, in the chair and Mrs. Robert Bradley in charge of the devotional period. Several matters of business were disposed of and final plans made for a sugar social.

A delightful birthday party was given last evening in honor of Mr. Edward Wheeler at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Ellis, and Mr. Ellis, Belvidere Road. A cut forty guests, including the family and intimate friends, gathered to extend birthday greetings to Mr. Wheeler, who yesterday celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday. Cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. F. Parkin and Mr. Irvin Smith. Following the card game a delicious buffet supper was served with the pretty table being centered with the candle decorated birthday cake, spring flowers and tapers in shades of pink and green. The guest-of-honor was the recipient of many gifts, birthday cards and greetings from his family and hosts of friends, who united in best wishes to Mr. Wheeler for many more years of health and happiness.

THIEVES ENTER AND ROB STORE DURING NIGHT

Store of Mrs. Gagne, First Avenue, Broken into and Large Quantity of Cigarettes Stolen.

Following closely upon rumors and reports concerning petty thefts committed in various parts of the city, Mrs. Gagne, 9 First Avenue South, reported a more serious case to the local police this morning when she advised them that her store on First Avenue had been broken into during the night and that a large quantity of cigarettes, amounting in value to about $30, had been stolen.

The robbery was committed in the early hours of the morning, the thief or thieves forcing an entrance through the front door, boldly disregarding the danger of being caught in the act. In order to break into the store, the party forced a lock on the double door and managed to unlock the inner door without forcing the lock itself.

Strangely enough, the culprits appeared concerned only with the cigarettes and tobacco, leaving untouched an amount of money which reposed in a small drawer. Mrs. Gagne discovered the robbery only this morning when she arrived to open her store. She immediately notified the police, who are conducting an investigation.

The Misses Two are spending the "Easter season" in Montreal.

Miss Helen McManamy, pupil at Villa Maria Convent, Montreal, is spending the Easter holidays at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McManamy, Queen street.

Last night the employed boys' group met for refreshments after "Y" class when the question of a social evening was discussed. It was agreed that this should be held in the near future.

THE POST OFFICE CLOCK. The "town clock" in the Post Office tower will take a well earned rest for a few days, whilst expert clock makers from the Department of Public Works inspect, repair and adjust the mechanism. They have been listening to its pulse for a fortnight, timing its tick and its tock, studying its carburetor and its accelerator, measuring the rhythm of its heartbeats and otherwise preparing for an operation for its appendix and other repairs of that kind. The Honorable the Minister of Public Works, at Ottawa, has decided that it was a case for specialists. In the meanwhile the Skinner clock will time the town to the second.

MONTREAL HIGHWAY TO BE OPEN FRIDAY.

The road from Sherbrooke to Montreal will be open to motor traffic on Friday, it was stated this morning by Mr. J. C. McConnell, secretary of the Eastern Townships Automobile Club. This will mean that motorists will be able to avail themselves of the long week-end to drive into the metropolis, and many will without doubt appreciate the opening of the highway so early in the season.

The road from Sherbrooke to Magog is open and in good condition, with the exception of a few rough spots. Gangs of men have been working at the other end of the highway and in the vicinity of Oxford for some time, and it is expected that a good road will be open through to Montreal on Friday.

ADDRESS ON RESIDENTIAL COLLEGES

The important part played by residential colleges in the intellectual life of a country was reviewed before members of the Omega Alpha Club last evening by Mr. John Ford, of Bishop's University debating team.

While acknowledging that a general education served a useful purpose in the life of a nation, the speaker contended that many important contacts were overlooked, which could only be brought out in the residential system. These included a closer fellowship with the other students and more especially with the faculty.

It was held by the speaker that when there is one bright student at a school, the intellectual level of the whole class is raised. In addition, the speaker believed that the rough edges were rubbed off at a residential institution.

During the course of the evening, Miss Eleanor Wheeler favored the members with a number of musical selections.

The speaker and soloist were thanked by the president.

At a largely attended meeting of West Ward citizens, held last evening in Notre Dame Hall, Alexander street, Mr. Omer Blais was unanimously selected as a candidate for that section of the city in the municipal elections which are to be held in a fortnight.

Mr. Blais is an employee of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Possessed of a pleasing personality, he is regarded as a man who could serve his ward and the city to advantage. He speaks English fluently and declares he will represent all classes of citizens without favor to any special group.

He was selected as candidate before an audience numbering several hundred. The gathering was presided over by Mr. J. E. Breton with Mr. J. V. Fregeault acting as secretary. Mr. Blais' nomination was proposed by Mr. Henri Menard and seconded by Mr. Joseph Loubier. Among those who spoke during the meeting were Messrs. Alphonse Houle, J. C. Morin and Mr. Blais himself.

One of Mr. Blais' staunch supporters is Mr. J. O. Royer, who was mentioned as a likely West Ward candidate. Mr. Royer, however, told his friends several days ago that he could not under any circumstances accept a Council seat.

GIRLS GAVE A FINE DISPLAY LAST EVENING

Y.W.C.A. Was Packed as Various Classes Presented Demonstration of Gymnastic Ability—Well-Balanced Programme.

From the martial refrain of a popular military air which heralded the inauguration of the "grand march" to the final echo of the National Anthem a large audience of proud parents and interested relatives and friends packed all available space in the McKinnon Memorial auditorium last evening when the physical department gave a stellar display of their gymnastic ability. Throughout the entire programme, which was very evenly balanced and entertaining, every performer, from the smallest, (and there were some small mites of humanity, to their older sisters, paid a fitting tribute to the hours of ceaseless work and tireless patience which their instructors, Misses Mary Anglin and Emily LeBaron, had devoted towards their development. Accompanied on the piano by a well known local pianist, Miss Irene Olivier, the members of the various classes went through their paces in faultless style and fully merited the unstinted admiration which their actions solicited.

The performance last evening was in the nature of a personally conducted world tour, during which short sojourns were made in different countries. Denmark, England, Russia, Greece and the southern section of the United States and China were among the ports to which a call was made, and in each country the dances performed by the attractively attired native were exceptionally well carried out. Dressed in tunics which gave free play to their movements, the "Y" girls did their "acts" with grace and ease, their demonstration being remarkable for grace and poise rather than for feats of strength. The evening's entertainment was perhaps the best of this nature ever held in this city, and the assemblage demonstrated the interest which the Sherbrooke public is taking in the development of its fair youth.

Although the large "liner" was filled when the grand march started, many interested spectators were still wending their way up the gangplank trying to obtain an advantageous point. After a complicated march, which was executed without a hitch, the juniors, intermediates and seniors were the centre of attraction. The juniors, Gertrude Mittleman, Janet Speid, Peggy Richardson, Mavis Johnson, Mary Baldwin, Vivian Parr, Annie Crochetiere, Roberta Richardson, Phyllis Onions, Irene Batchelder, Marjorie Lee, Patty Webster, Elsie Welsh, Kathleen Simpson and Rita Greenberg, showed remarkable agility in climbing single ropes, while Mavis Johnson, Gertrude Mittleman, Patty Webster and Roberta Richardson performed the harder feats of scaling two ropes simultaneously. The intermediates, Doris Buckley, Isobel Gregoire, Winnifred McManus, Mary Dillon, Claire Anger, Lillian Wall, Ellen Lee, Jeanne D'Arc Richard and Marguerite Cotton, were seen to advantage in their bench work, while the seniors built graceful human pyramids during their mat work.

Balancing on the beam, a miniature form of tight rope walking, was the next offering by the juniors. Eight young ladies, Peggy Richardson, Marjorie Lee, Roberta Richardson, Frances Baker, Vivian Parr, Mary Baldwin, Nora Walley and Gertrude Mittleman, performed stunts on the beam which would have caused circus acrobats to hang their heads in shame. The juveniles' contribution during the tight rope walking scene was an exhibition of ladder work in which Mary Lynn, Margaret Sisco, Margaret Richardson, Carol Jamieson, Florence Martin, Ann Skelton, Brenda Walley, Audrey Spanswick, Ruth Ewing, Margaret Hovey, Thelma Saunders, Ann Hammond, Helen Hall, Joan Jenckes, Joyce Goforth, Rita Baird and Sylvia Blackburn took part. LOCAL POLICE EXPERIENCED QUIET MONTH

Fewer Arrests Reported During March—Motorists Exercising More Caution—Warm Weather Results in Decrease in Wood Delivery.

The police front has been comparatively quiet during the past month, statistics issued by Chief of Police H. O. Camirand this morning reveal. The campaign which the chief waged against reckless drivers during the previous month brought fine results, and compared with the twenty-four drivers who appeared before the court in February, a mere seven were called during the course of the past month to answer to charges of reckless and fast driving.

The arrests were not as numerous as during the previous month, the report indicates, thirty-five persons being stopped compared with sixty-four for February. The advent of spring weather caused a decrease in the demand for wood made upon the department throughout the winter, but the amount shipped out was nevertheless large, 534 loads being distributed among poor families during March. This was 136 loads less than the previous month, but 180 loads more than for the corresponding month last year, and exactly 370 loads more than for March, 1929.

Of the thirty-five persons arrested in March, eight were for vagrancy, seven for infraction of the municipal by-law, nine for being drunk and disorderly, six for being drunk and incapable, three for theft, one for neglecting to provide and one for desertion of service. Nineteen of these paid fines imposed, thirteen forfeited their deposits, eight were sent to jail for non payment of fines and four were ordered to appear before the Magistrate.

During the month of March there were thirty-two fire calls, eight ambulance calls, fifty-six police calls, 142 cases of protection, two cases of goods exposed, twenty-four doors reported unlocked after closing hours, ninety-two lights reported defective, ten dangerous places noted; four stray animals and two stray children taken care of and 1,290 loads weighed on the public scales.

The collections for the month were as follows: Recorder's Court, $205; public scales, $129; rent $84; police department $2; and poor department $9.35, making a total of $439.35.

KROEHLER QUALITY IS INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS

Fraud can be most easily perpetrated in the sale of Chesterfield suites. Suites of good outside appearance, but poorly built and with shoddy insides are still commonly offered by many stores. Kroehler, the world's largest manufacturer of living-room furniture, has a reputation for quality that is famous internationally—all suites offered in the sale bear the KROEHLER name. Every suite is guaranteed to be of the highest standard of construction and materials.

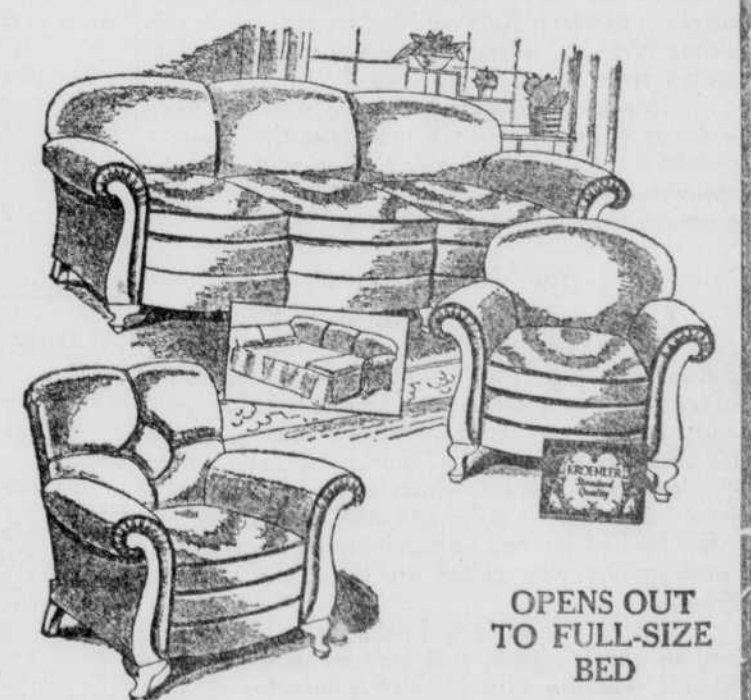

SEE the Kroehler Pounding Machine in Our Window.

A seventy pound sack of sand, continually lifted and dropped onto the seat of a Kroehler chair—that is a test that no other upholstered furniture can stand. This constant pounding would soon wreck the ordinary suite but it is an attention-compelling exhibition of what your suite has to stand over a few years of use. The wonderful KROEHLER HIDDEN QUALITIES are proof against even this extraordinary punishment.

APOSTROPHE TO A CANADIAN WINTER.

Helen Heston.

O, Winter! in thy fleecy, soft attire,
What loss is theirs who think these small desires,
And count thy snows a sculptured funeral pyre,
With marble fold, in fold, still rising higher!
Thou art at most a transient, fitting guest,
With foot-fall light as yet the earth e'er pressed;
The secret's known to those who love thee best,
That oft, thy fiftful pranks are but in jest,
Thou dost not always play the scolding shrew,
Not always storms thy waspish tongue doth brew,
Thou hast thy mellow, melting moods divine,
With balmy winds, and radiant sun and shine,
That tell the world, thou canst be most benign,
And fill the heart with joy, akin to wine.
In truth, thou art a tender, loving friend
To sere brown fields, thine ermine robe doth lend,
O'er every naked, trembling bush and tree
Thou fling'st a drapery, wrought by none save thee,
Thou rul'st these northern lands with beauty clad!
And heart as stout as beats 'neath Highland plaid,
Men should not hurl harsh epithets at thee,
And joyous, thy departing foot-steps, see,
But, rather bid thee welcome to their land,
And gladly clasp in theirs thy proffered hand.

THE FIENDS OF RUSSIA.

All sorts of funny fellows think they can go to Russia to find out for themselves. They have the spirit of curiosity highly developed, but like the average missionary they lack the ability of interpreting that which they see and hear.

An official of the Russian secret police who got far enough away from that country to feel quite safe in telling everything he knew but his name, says that the official records showed that in 1930 there were 662,200 prisoners in the working camps of the Soviet Republic. Of these 569,983 were men, 73,288 were women, and 18,932 were young lads and lasses between the ages of 13 and 17. They were engaged in rough outdoor labour, chiefly in the forests, in railway construction, in drawing and ditching, fishing and building.

The "Ogpu" which is the Soviet department in charge of the political convicts who have dared to differ with the self-appointed dictators contract with the lumber companies to supply labour at a fixed rate of 4 1/2 rubles daily, about 45 cents' worth of honest money, and those in charge of this slave labour seldom take any interest in feeding their help properly. Last winter of 1930 there were 72,000 casualties in the working camps, many dying from diseases following malnutrition, and many were shot by guards whilst trying to escape or for inefficiency in earning power.

The convict labour lives in shacks, are without medical attention, their clothes are in rags, and their food is tainted. The dainty dish is horse meat once a week. The shacks are filthy and overcrowded.

In these vast areas, where the unfortunates experience daily the depths of woe, it is quite enough to stir the world's pity.

Russia will some day pay the price for its fiendish cruelty to its own people.

Not Dante could tell the story, nor could Robespierre and his cruel confederates in the days of France's guillotine of blood equal this picture of a nation gone mad in these days of modern civilization.

Yet this is the country which would try to teach us the beneficence of Socialism and Communism, of which Ramsay MacDonald, the British Prime Minister, admits that he is in the Kindergarten stage of advancement.

This is the country which Mackenzie King defends in Parliament when he says that Canada should not cut off business relations with its ruthlessness, and its expressed determination to undermine the civilization of the world.

AN APPRECIATION.

As a proud man does Grenville Kleiser, the poet and essayist, boast of being "an old Ryerson School Boy," in that famous Toronto academy of learning. As a young man he studied elocution, and many of our Toronto subscribers will recall his recitals of "David Copperfield" and other classical monologues which brought him calls from cities in Canada and the United States. After he had opened an academy to teach public speaking he was called to the Yale Divinity School.

The author of forty books on public speaking, on good English, and kindred subjects, Mr. Kleiser was the founder and conductor of the Public Speaking Club in New York City, from which institution he carried on a correspondence course wherein he had 100,000 pupils all over the world.

His present hobby is the writing and sending of original poems to some of his boyhood friends who publish newspapers. The primary object is to give pleasure and render helpful service to the unsuccessful and to the discouraged.

Those who may have enjoyed the inspirational odes from his pen may know that they come to him from out of the everywhere and from a good-living life. Grenville Kleiser is a master of English in its purity and expression, and should he ever gather all his inspiration into a book it will become a literary treasure.

We are always proud to present his poems because of the health and the strength which they carry in every verse.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

M. F. Hepburn, who essays the peculiar role of being a member of the House of Commons at Ottawa, and leader of the Liberal party in the Ontario Legislature at Toronto is having the troubles of the man who tries to sit on two stools. There is an underlying resentment among the Liberal members of the Provincial Legislature at the foisting upon them of a leader who is not even a member. Mr. Hepburn will have to do some miraculous stunts soon to show that he is the Moses who will lead his party out of the wilderness of Opposition, wherein the Liberals have wandered since the demise of Sir Oliver Mowat.

One dear lady says that Prince George is too young to assume a Vice-Regal post. George was born in the closing month of 1902. He is, therefore, in his 29th year. Britain has had Prime Ministers who were much younger than that.

Unsound economics in Canada have had serious consequences for the overburdened taxpayers. Total losses of Government railways on operation expenses alone figure nearly $300,000,000 in eight years, whilst on the Canadian Government Marine there is an apparent loss of over $100,000,000. Until wiser counsels prevail and thoughtless objectors are ignored, these adventures in public ownership will surely bankrupt the country. Some people can figure a profit in public ownership, but the poor taxpayer and freeholder finds that his general taxes mount higher, and his property does not appreciate in value.

February in England's trade circles was termed the "blackest month through which this country has passed for many years." And in the concurrent issue of the British dailies there appeared this rainbow of promise from Ottawa: "It is confidently hoped that at the adjourned Imperial Conference in Ottawa agreements will be concluded for closer Empire trade which will strengthen still more the bonds of Empire and bring to every part of it great and enduring prosperity." This is quoting from the King's Speech from the Throne, and would indicate that the United Kingdom liked the blunt speech and plain meaning of the Canadian Premier.

Ramsay MacDonald has issued a call to the constituencies that have elected Labour candidates as members of Parliament to discipline those who have grown restive under the repeated failures of the Labour administration. Nothing has been accomplished by this Government, and naught will there be. The Prime Minister wants to stifle individualistic thinking on the part of his followers, and insists upon team play. He confesses to abject failure in the relief of unemployment and denounces the men of means who alone can cure it. His own confessed collapse he lays at the door of the whole machine of capitalism, and he does not realize that capital can crawl into a hole quicker than quicksilver when it is threatened by demagogues such as he.

FRONT WINDOW MUSINGS

A dog's life still has its drawbacks. Imagine having to sit on somebody's lap all the time.

The chief trouble seems to be that bad people won't respect a good law if good people don't respect a bad one.

Alas! By the time a man outgrows Santa Claus, he believes rich men are eager to let him share in a sure thing.

Farm surplus: The sad result of overlooking the fact that tractors do not eat.

When a middle-aged man thinks he is hungering for romance, he is just hungering for youth.

Outlaw: Any bare-footed patriot in the banana belt who acts as the Minute Men did.

Public Ownership: A pleasant conviction that it does not cost you anything if bonds are issued to pay for it.

Success is all that counts. It determines whether a man is a rebel or a great liberator.

The disadvantage in being a statesman is that you never know whether you were right until long after you are dead.

"When our people see the light they will obey the law," says a prominent clergyman. They do now, if it's a green light.

CHICAGO EARNS RIGHT TO ENTER FINAL PLAY-OFF

Defeated New York Rangers Last Night by One to Nothing—Now Meet Canadiens or Boston.

TORONTO, April 1.—The black-shirted puck-chasers from Chicago stand on the threshold of the world's professional hockey supremacy today. Last night they vanquished the New York Rangers by one to nothing to qualify for the final series for possession of the coveted Stanley Cup against either Boston Bruins or Montreal Canadiens.

The latter two teams meet at the Forum in Montreal tonight in the fifth and deciding game for the championship of the National Hockey League and the right to contest the cup final with Chicago. The teams have won two games apiece to date, the Bruins winning the first and fourth matches and the present cup holders the second and third.

Setting up a record unequalled in modern hockey, black curly-haired "Chuck" Gardner, youthful Chicago goal guardian, has proved his selection as the N.H.L.'s all-star netminder was no mistake. He blanked the Rangers in two successive games, even though he was bombarded with a fusillade of forty-five shots last night compared with sixteen aimed at his rival in the Ranger net.

The Hawks won the first tilt of this series by two to nothing, and previously they eliminated Toronto Maple Leafs by a four to three score on the round, and in these games also, Gardner stood out.

Shooting three sets of speedy, close-checking forwards for the boards at frequent intervals, Coach Dick Irvin adopted the same tactics against the Gotham Blue Shirts which had been so successful against the speedy Leafs.

The famed front line of Frankie Boucher, Bill and Bunney Cook were held in complete subjection throughout both games.

Tommy Cook notched the lone marker of last night's hard fought display when he broke away with Adams and Wentworth early in the last frame. The Rangers, nearly exhausted from their frantic efforts to slash the Hawks' two goal margin, were unable to keep pace with the snipers, and Cook culminated a passing bout with his team-mates by scoring a pretty counter.

Rangers didn't give up then, but maintained a four and five-man attack on the Chicago cage. The systemized backchecking of the Hawks, however, frustrated their efforts.

Considerable pessimism prevails in the Canadian camp concerning the condition of several players who were injured in the previous matches with the rugged Bostonians. Albert Leduc, rotund defence player, who suffered a slight concussion during the second game at Boston, was again injured in the game at Montreal on Monday when "Red" Beattie cross-checked him over the head. An examination revealed his jaw had been injured. Marty Burke, regular defence star, Aurel Joliat and Pete Lepine are other Red Shirts on the ailing list.

The Bruin camp reports no injuries and the team in fine shape for the decisive tilt.

N.H.L. PLAY-OFF RECORDS

TORONTO, April 1.—Chuck Gardner, diminutive Chicago goalie who led the league in shutouts all season, is keeping up the good work. By blanking New York Rangers in the playoffs last night, Gardner has allowed only one goal in the last three games his team has played. Conroy Weiland, of Boston, still leads in scoring points for the play-off series, having tallied four goals and recorded two assists. Eddie Shore, of Boston, has served fourteen minutes on the penalty bench.

The records of goals, assists, points and penalties (in minutes) follow:

	G.	A.	P.	Pen.
Weiland Boston	4	2	5	2
Clapper Boston	2	3	5	6
Owen Boston	2	3	5	7
Morenz, Canadiens	0	4	4	2
G. Mantha, Can.	3	0	3	0
W. Cook, Rangers	3	0	3	2
Thompson, Rangers	3	0	3	0
March, Chicago	2	1	3	0
Shore, Boston	2	1	3	14
Adams, Chicago	1	2	3	6
T. Cook, Chicago	1	2	3	0
S. Mantha, Can.	2	0	2	8
Wassie, Canadiens	2	0	2	6
Gottselig, Chicago	1	1	2	2
Barry, Boston	1	1	2	4
Romnes, Chicago	1	1	2	0
Couture, Chicago	0	2	2	0

One goal has been scored by Gagnon and Rivers, Canadiens; Ripley, Chicago, and Johnson, Rangers. Leduc, Lepine, Larochelle, Canadiens; Gainer, Boston; Chapman, Boston, and Wentworth, Chicago, have all scored one assist. Boston, Canadiens, Rangers and Chicago have played four games each.

NEW BRUNSWICK TO REPRESENT THE MARITIMES

Woodstock High School Won Interscholastic Basketball Title by Swamping Nova Scotia Champions

WOODSTOCK, N.B., April 1.—The Maritime Interscholastic Basketball Championship today is safely entrenched in this town, with the students of Carleton County Vocational School holding tightly to it. Last night the locals completely swamped Glace Bay High School, Nova Scotia champions, by a 41 to 18 count to cap the two game round 74 to 47. The Vocational boys next visit Sherbrooke, Que., for two games Monday and Tuesday with the Sherbrooke High School.

Flashing a brand of basketball that has never been equalled in school circles in these provinces by the sea, the Vocational quintette left little doubt as to the superior team. After winning the first game by only four points—the margin coming by better use of free throws—the locals were expected to encounter even greater difficulty last night. But from the opening whistle it could be seen they were at top form, completing brilliant attacks with deadly shooting, and preventing Glace Bay baskets by airtight defensive methods.

Billy Reardon, Vocational guard, who is one of the real basketball stars of the province, junior or senior, and Tommy Cole led the scorers with thirteen points each. Thus Reardon is high man for the series, scoring eighteen points in the opener.

By reason of Woodstock's victory, the play-off dates for the Eastern Canada Interscholastic championship have been postponed until next Monday and Tuesday instead of this coming Friday and Saturday as previously planned. In the event of the Nova Scotians capturing the Maritime title, they would have continued to Sherbrooke and played here over the week-end but the New Brunswickers plan on spending Easter at home and leaving for the Eastern Townships city some time the Sunday afternoon.

Bringing the Woodstock aggregation to Sherbrooke means an expenditure of over two hundred and fifty dollars as guarantee. The importance of the series, however, is expected to fill the local "Y" gym and furnish sufficient for the large financial amount involved. This is the first time in the realm of local sport that a Sherbrooke aggregation has reached such heights and the confidence and pride which the locals have instilled into their followers by reason of their achievements augurs well for the attainment of a record breaking crowd.

WINNIPEG TOOK FIRST CONTEST FOR ALLAN CUP

Westerners Chalked Up a Two to One Victory Over Hamilton in Initial Clash Last Night

WINNIPEG, Man., April 1.—Left at the post, in the spur for two Allan Cup final wins and the Canadian amateur hockey title that goes with them, Hamilton's east-ruling Tigers today laid plans for a rally in the stretch. In the second match of the two of three games final, they hope to draw up on even terms with Winnipeg Seniors, western champs, who took the opener last night by two to one.

Reversal of form or system will be necessary if the Tigers are to stage a comeback, for they were outspeeded almost throughout the initial clash. Only in the last stages of the game, when the Junglesmen backed their red shirt foes into their own zone and cut a two-goal lead in half, were the Hamilton sextette able to claim an even territorial break.

In the second game tomorrow night, the Tigers may cast aside their defensive style and meet the flashing Pegs at their own game—speed. Last night they appeared to be unable to match strides with the flying red shirts, but their tricky work about the goal may be able to offset the deficiency.

motion in the name of Robert Taschereau, Liberal M.L.A., for Bellechasse. This reads that: "This House expresses the opinion that the Federal Bankruptcy Act is detrimental to the farming classes of which it affects the credit and it invites the Federal Government to amend that law."

Alderic Blain, Conservative M.L.A., for Dorion spoke in support of the motion, and it was unanimously adopted.

The House next turned to the motion of Paul Sauve, Conservative, M.L.A., for Two Mountains, as follows: "That this House expresses the opinion that the farmers who deliver milk from their cows in the cities and towns, do not receive from the companies with which they are obliged to do business, a fair and equitable treatment, respectfully recommends to the Government that it take for that very important industry, appropriate and efficacious measures so that farmers may obtain justice and that they be reasonably protected."

The public bills committee of the Assembly discussed the bill of Amadee Caron, M.L.A., for Magdalen Islands on the valuation of electric company towers, and posts, and sent it back to the House without recommendation.

BOISSE WILL BE SENTENCED FOR STEALING

Local Young Man Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Theft Resulting from His Looting an Ice Chest

Napoleon Boisse, local young man, changed his tune before Judge J. H. Lemay in the Magistrate's Court, this morning, when he answered guilty to a charge of theft. Whether the Magistrate will have any compassion for the accused for his genius in a tight squeeze will be known this afternoon when Boisse will hear sentence pronounced upon him. The charge which Boisse faced was the aftermath of a midnight escapade in which the prisoner indulged in the early hours of Sunday morning. A constable on his beat on Cresse street noticed the thief pilfering the ice box belonging to Mrs. M. McCafferty, 9 Cresse street. The minion of the law and the robber were conscious of each other's presence at about the same time, and at this juncture Boisse's genius almost fooled the officer. Instead of bolting, the accused tried to fool the policeman by knocking at the door and seeking admittance as the son of the house. Further investigation revealed his nefarious intentions and he was arrested.

Dame Antoine Jean appeared this morning to answer to a charge of illegal possession of liquor at Asbestos. She will receive sentence this afternoon.

Alphonse Galipeau, of East Angus, was remanded until April 15th for the inauguration of the preliminary hearing into the charge of manslaughter facing him as the result of the death of a companion, Alfred Menard, last October. He was allowed his freedom by furnishing two thousand dollars bail.

TWO NEIGHBORS FELL OUT OVER USE OF A ROAD

Important Decision Rendered in Appeal Court—Judgment of Mr. Justice White Upheld.

Colonel Emile Rioux received a message today stating that the judgment rendered by His Lordship Justice White in the case of Olivier Villeneuve vs. Arthur O. Labree, of Beebe Plain, farmer, had been confirmed by the Court of Appeals. This decision interests many farmers who may have enclosed land.

The plaintiff, who has a farm situated in the village of Beebe Plain, adjoining the defendant's farm, took an action against the defendant alleging that for several years the defendant had been illegally, unlawfully and without authority, trespassing on plaintiff's land by using a road leading from the main road to defendant's farm; that the defendant had been acting for several years as though he had a servitude or right-of-way on the plaintiff's property; that on September 29th, 1927, the plaintiff closed this road, way leading from the main road, and that, on the same day, the defendant, maliciously and unlawfully took down the gate in question and used the road and trespassed thereon on plaintiff's property. That, furthermore, on the same day, the defendant, after having taken down the gate, brutally attacked the plaintiff, adding to his assault the threat that no one would prevent him from using the road in question. By the conclusions of his action, the plaintiff asked that his property be declared clear of all servitudes, and right-of-way, and that the defendant be ordered not to trespass on or use the said private road under the penalties provided by law in such cases.

The defendant answered this action by pleading that the road in question had been in existence for the last thirty years; that the municipality of Beebe had been repairing the road for the last twenty years; that plaintiff and defendant both received moneys from the municipality to fix the road; that the road in question had been kept open during the winter months by the corporation, and that the public was using it as a public road.

Furthermore, the defendant alleged that this road was the only exit which he had to the main road, defendant's property being enclosed land; that the road had been used by the corporation of Beebe for several years to haul gravel from a gravel pit situated on defendant's property; and moreover, that on September 30th, when the defendant took the gate down, the plaintiff stated that he would have to pay five cents every time he would use the said road, which defendant refused to pay; that on October 3rd, 1927, defendant was notified by a lawyer's letter not to use the road in the future under all the penalties of the law, and that, since the reception of this letter, defendant never used nor had the intention of using the road in question, defendant using another road opened by the corporation; and that plaintiff's action was malicious and unfounded in fact and in law.

The Superior Court, presided by Mr. Justice White, dismissed the plaintiff's action with costs, and this judgment was confirmed by the Court of Appeal, which condemned the plaintiff to pay defendant's attorney's costs in both courts.

Colonel Rioux acted for the defendant in the Superior and Appeal Courts.

CENTRAL PLACE OF EXECUTION IS SUGGESTED

Rotary Club to Submit Resolution to Higher Authorities Regarding Centralizations of Place for Carrying Out Capital Punishment.

Speaking before members of the Rotary Club at the regular weekly dinner held at the New Sherbrooke House last evening, Rotarian Albert Reid suggested that the club forward a resolution to government authorities requesting a central place in this province for the carrying out of capital punishment. The proposal was first made some time ago by Rotarian Reid to the directors, and they decided to place the matter before the club as a whole.

The Rotarians were undecided whether it would be advisable for them to deal with such a question, and finally agreed to apply to higher authorities in their club for ruling.

Rotarian Reid spoke at length upon the subject, stressing the necessity of centralizing the place of execution in the case of capital punishment, both to ensure a firm moral standard of community life and to economize by eliminating the heavy expenses attached to every case. "The many dollars involved in the carrying out of every execution," said Rotarian Reid, "could be expended for more material considerations. Then there is the humane element of the affair, the effect on our community and children. The only opposition there is to the centralization of this phase of law enforcement is that the manner in which it is now carried out is a deterrent to crime. This is not the case," declared the speaker.

MEMBERS IN SESSION
UNTIL EARLY IN MORNING
TO PASS MONEY BILLS

expire today were given to the members of the House of Commons yesterday by the Labor members from the western constituencies.

The discussion started when A. A. Heaps, (Labor, North Winnipeg) moved that the House adjourn to discuss a matter of "urgent public interest", namely, the acute distress being caused by the prevailing unemployment.

Premier Bennett raised a point of order. He said that, if he had heard the motion right it dealt with a matter already before the House and the subject of reference in the Speech from the Throne. It was not in order.

Speaker Black asked if any member wished to discuss the point of order before he gave his ruling.

Danger of riots in some cities was feared by J. S. Woodworth (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre) if the Government's assistance to direct relief were cut off with the end of the fiscal year today.

Further consideration of the estimates was delayed while members discussed whether or not the motion was in order. Mr. Speaker Black then ruled the motion was not in order and the House proceeded to other business.

However, it soon returned to Mr. Heaps' motion when he moved it again as an amendment to the motion for the House to go into committee of supply.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Fisheries, opposed the motion raised on the ground the matter raised was not of recent occurrence and had been already discussed during the debate on the address. Mr. Heaps, on the other hand, argued that the fact the unemployment relief funds voted at the special session lapsed today made it an urgent situation.

Already in a number of Canadian municipalities the appropriations for direct relief had been spent and no further money was in sight, said Mr. Woodworth.

"Tomorrow," Mr. Woodworth explained, "those men who are on the streets and unless something is done by the Federal Government to meet this emergency, I say there will be riots in some cities. That is inevitable."

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, agreed with the Government spokesmen the first motion was out of order. The question raised was under discussion in the address debate and in the amendment moved by Mr. Hon. Mackenzie King.

Expressing agreement the Government was raising a technicality to preclude discussion on the "greatest national emergency facing Canada today," Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, stressed the need of immediate steps to remedy unemployment. Mr. Mackenzie (Lib., Vancouver Centre), suggested the estimates be pushed through and the Government then state its policy regarding industrial workers and the agricultural industry. So far there had been no announcement on either subject.

When Mr. Heaps brought up the same matter as an amendment to the Prime Minister's motion to go into supply, there was further objection.

Mr. Heaps, however, declared that he was going to move an amendment, and that it was his right to do so when supply was called. He was allowed to proceed.

He felt, said Mr. Heaps, that he would be recreant in his duty if he did not draw to the attention of the House and the Government conditions as they existed in many parts of Canada. Members would be returning to their constituencies for Easter, and one question which they would be asked was about steps to meet unemployment conditions. If there was any situation in September last which made it necessary for Parliament to be summoned, such a condition was very much more accentuated at present, Mr. Heaps declared. Parliament had now been sitting for some time but nothing had been done. The Government had not taken the House into its confidence in respect to proposals for alleviating the very serious condition of unemployment prevailing.

"A worse condition of unemployment prevails today in Canada than I have ever known," Mr. Heaps insisted. In the City of Winnipeg alone 7,000 men had been receiving relief from the municipality.

Parliament ought not to adjourn for the Easter recess until something had been done to relieve the situation. The special session three measures had been adopted to alleviate unemployment. One had been the widening of the dumping provisions of the Customs Act; the second, the appropriation of $20,000 for unemployment relief; and the third, the increasing of the tariff. When, a few days ago he had asked the Prime Minister what action had been taken with respect to unemployment, said Mr. Heaps, he was told to put his question in the order paper. That was no way to deal with the matter.

Mr. Bennett had often invoked the precedents of former Liberal leaders; but he should learn that a 20th century condition could not be dealt with by the application of 19th century ideas, said Mr. Heaps. The Government's so-called remedies had been failing for some time. Returns showed that 228,351 persons had been given 3,975,555 days work—or 18 days per man—in the last five or six months. The average wage earned in that time would be $80.00. In addition 113,000 persons had been unemployed relief.

"It is all right for a party to be sympathetic with the laboring men when they are in Opposition," Mr. Heaps proceeded, "but it seems to be a different matter when they sit on the Government benches." Almost a year ago he had moved a motion calling for immediate action to alleviate unemployment. Mr. Heaps recalled. At that time the Conservatives supported him. He asked them to be as considerate and consistent today.

Parliament is losing its grip on the people of Canada, Mr. Heaps continued. On one side in this country there was political democracy and, on the other, financial autocracy. The latter had a stranglehold on the affairs of the country, very much to their detriment.

Unemployment in Canada, declared Mr. Heaps, sprang from world conditions and for that reason application of local tariffs would not better it. The real cause of distress conditions was the low purchasing power of the people. While production had increased all along the line, wages and purchasing power had remained steady. Capital was taking too much from industry and human beings were being exploited by machines.

All the national resources of the country should be mobilized to deal with the emergency situation, he declared. Mr. Heaps. The fine phrases and resolutions proposed in the Speech from the Throne will not fill an empty stomach. What is needed are concrete and definite proposals.

"The Prime Minister said he was going to deal with this question or perish in the attempt," concluded Mr. Heaps. He hoped that the Government would rise to the occasion, because there had never been a more urgent matter awaiting attention.

Mr. Woodworth assured the House that he had no desire to delay business. It was perhaps important that estimates should be passed and that "contractors on the Vellum canal should be paid." It was also important, however, that the unemployed should be given assistance. Many of them were in the bread-line. The very first responsibility of a Government was to give the people an opportunity to live and to eat.

Last year, said Mr. Woodworth, he had been supported by the Conservative party when raising the unemployment issue. Today the unemployment situation was worse. If the Conservatives supported proposals for alleviating unemployment last year they should give even greater support now when conditions were so much more serious.

At the emergency session all that was done was to provide three weeks work for approximately 288,000 individuals, said Mr. Woodworth. There were more unemployed in Canada today than 288,000. He felt that members should not go home for the Easter recess without making some provision for them.

Conditions at present were appalling, continued Mr. Woodworth. What was being done? For one thing, the Government was deporting large numbers of people. This was hardly fair when it was considered that those immigrants had been induced to come to this country. He had protested year after year against the policy of spending large sums of money to bring immigrants to Canada. It was not for the Government to deport these people simply because they had lost their jobs. It must be remembered they had broken their home ties and severed all connection with the country of their origin in coming to this Dominion. It was a poor policy to subject those people to such a substantial injustice.

Mr. Woodworth deprecated the practice of dismissing single men first when work became slack. These men simply drifted from one city to another and aggravated the situation in those places. He cited the case of a young man who had come to Canada some years ago and who, because he had protested against the treatment being meted out to another unemployed man, had been cut off city relief. There was nothing left for him but to become a criminal.

This invoked a protest from David Spence (Cons., Parkdale), who asserted that Mr. Woodworth was only "inciting that man" to become a criminal.

Mr. Woodworth denied this, reiterating that this was the only thing for that person to do. Many people were being forced into crime due to present conditions; for it was fundamental that people had a right to live.

Unemployment insurance was one remedy suggested by Mr. Woodworth. He had never called it a solution to unemployment but it would tide over the country until better times appeared. Unemployment insurance had been "despised as the dole but it is any more degrading than our system of soup kitchens? Our system is absolutely demoralizing."

In asking the Government to consider some form of unemployment insurance, Mr. Woodworth said he realized the financial difficulties in its path at the present time. "It might swallow all the resources any Government might have." Nevertheless, something had to be done to relieve the situation "otherwise there will be some catastrophes."

"Which should be considered first, dividends, profits, vested interests, or men, women and children?" asked Mr. Woodworth. Call me a Social Creditist, but I believe that the men, women and children should have precedence over bond interest."

He went on to attack the present capitalist system, under which huge dividends were paid while the employees received pittance. He believed unemployment insurance could be instituted in this country "if the taxes were levied fairly against those huge corporations and not on the mass of the people."

No indication had been given which inspired hope that the Government proposed to bring in measures to deal with the serious unemployment situation, said A. W. Neill (Ind., Comox-Alberni). Mr. Neill declared that municipalities in Canada had strained themselves last year to alleviate unemployment conditions. They could not be expected to continue doing this. It was now for the Government to make preparations for the coming fall and winter when conditions would certainly be serious again. He was afraid that "we are just going to drift along until a desperate situation is reached."

There must, said Mr. Neill, be greater co-operation between capital and labor in industry. Some form of unemployment insurance might be necessary for the future, but unemployment insurance was not a thing which could be established in this country. It was a very thought out scheme on a contributory basis. In the meantime the unemployed must be aided for.

Establishment in every city of Canada of a distributing centre for food and other necessities was advocated by William Irving (F.A., Wetaskiwin). The Government should go ahead and build its highway across Canada, as well as other public works. If money was not available let the Government issue treasury notes which could be redeemed when better times came around.

The Government had assumed responsibility for ending unemployment, Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, and member for Kenora-Rainy River, informed the House.

Appointment of a royal commission to investigate wages paid under the unemployment relief scheme was advocated by Mr. Heenan. He charged "starvation wages" had been paid in some sections of northern Ontario, despite the agreement between the federal and provincial governments that the prevailing rate of wages would be paid under the scheme. "And the men are working under conditions such that if they open their mouths to complain, they will lose the mere pittance they are getting," he added.

In his opinion, section of northern Ontario, men had been paid 35 cents an hour. Mr. Heenan stated, He produced figures to show the prevailing wages were considerably higher than that level, section men on railroads receiving from 41 to 43 cents an hour. Hon. W. A. Gordon, acting Minister of Labor, in the absence of Senator G. D. Robertson from the House of Commons, had stated the Government would withhold grants where it was established terms of the agreements with the provinces had been broken. For this reason a Royal Commission should investigate the question of wages paid, Mr. Heenan argued.

GIRLS GAVE A FINE
DISPLAY LAST EVENING

time the vaulting horse was brought into play, and the seniors showed their proficiency in this department of their work.

These preliminary acts served as a send-off and the good ship Y.W. "M-E-L-B-A," manned by Misses Mary Anglin and Emily LeBaron, then started on its round-the-world cruise, with Denmark as its first port of call. Here the travellers were royally welcomed by the evening class who performed gymnastics and a wand drill. During the ensuing ocean voyage, which led to England, the juniors engaged in marching tactics. Those taking part were Frances Baker, Gertrude Mittleman, Rita Greenberg, Marjorie Lee, Phyllis Onions, Annie Crochetter, Peggy Richardson, Janet Speid, Vivian Parr, Mavis Johnson, Patty Wiggert, Roberta Richardson, Ann Echenberg and Ruth Echenberg.

Then suddenly something went wrong with the ship's electrical fixtures, and while repairs were being made the seniors indulged in lighted club swinging, which proved very pretty as the lights described their arcs through the gloom.

Three Quaker maids, Misses Isabel Rothney, Margaret McCauley and Dorothy Bambridge, were selected to give part of the entertainment sponsored by the English crown. Attired in characteristic Quaker costumes they acquitted themselves creditably in their various quaint customs. The voyagers happened by Buckingham Palace at the same time as the King's horses and the King's men were doing their daily duties. His Majesty's equestrian guard, however, had nothing on the juveniles' hobby-horse. This act brought Leslie Wood, Margaret Richardson, Ruth Ewing, Thelma Saunders, Brenda Waller, Helen Hall, Mary Lynn, Margaret Hovey, Sylvia Blackburn, Margaret Sisco, Rita Baird, Joyce Goforth and Carol Jamieson before the audience, and a taste of Merrie Olde England was brought out in their antics.

The trip to Russia was evidently made when nobility flourished in that country, and grand parties were the order of the day. The evening class transformed the hall into a miniature palace ball room as they imitated the splendors of the former Czar's court in their Russian mazurka dance. Misses Daphne Mooney, Emily O'Dell, Kathleen Thompson, Rolande Prefontaine, Marion Hall and Ruth Leslie represented the gay cavaliers whose carefree ladies were Misses Florence Pearson, Marjorie Pearson, Bessie Weinstein, Annette Duberger, Lucy Cochran and Dorothy Barton. Careful training was evident in the performance of this difficult dance, which was executed in genuine Russian style.

A scene which could be laid in any city was the background for the Newsboy Clog, which was performed by the intermediates, Claire Anger, Marguerite Cotton, Marguerite Dowsett, Helen Goforth, Gretchen, Vivian Parr, Marjorie Lee and Mavis Johnson, made pretty dolls, who had perfectly memorized their various steps and performed them to every one's satisfaction.

China was the last stop which the tour made before its return to its home shore. The costumes used in this act made it one of the prettiest of the evening, and the gracefulness with which the performers, Misses Florence Pearson, Marjorie Pearson, Bessie Weinstein, Annette Duberger, Lucy Cochran and Dorothy Barton, went through the gavotte greatly enhanced the finale. This quartette was particularly well received, and their act was a fitting culmination to a fine evening's entertainment.

The steamer then proceeded on its homeward journey and at the pier the girls presented their inter-pieces of art, was contained in the juniors' interpretation of a Grecian Chorus Dance. Marjorie Lee, Doreen MacDonald, Irene Batecler, Annie Crochetter, Vivian Parr, Phyllis Onions, Roberta Richardson, Patty Wiggert, Gertrude Mittleman, Mavis Johnson, Mary Baldwin, Frances Baker, Kathleen Simpson, Elsie Welsh, Ruth Echenberg and Rita Echenberg, attired in appropriate loose costumes, cavorted through their paces in a manner which stamped them as future stars in this expressive art.

The next leg of the journey was a long aeroplane hop to the Sunny South. Here Misses Isabel Rothney, Margaret McCauley and Dorothy Bambridge gave their version of the Liza Jane clog in real old southern style.

The next item on the programme was furnished by the "Y" Joys. The intermediates, Doris Buckley, Claire Anger, Marguerite Cotton, Isabel Grogier, Marguerite Dowsett, Jeanne D'Arc Richard, Catherine Davey, Helen Goforth, Winifred McManus and Lillian Wall, filled this role and proved themselves to be headliners in their circus stunts. Gayly bedecked in a strikingly colored outfits, their feats duplicated the antics which keep the younger element in laughter when "the circus comes to town."

The second last item of the evening was the Dancing Dolls by the juniors. Dressed in costumes whose color scheme blended beautifully, Ruth Echenberg, Annie Crochetter, Roberta Richardson, Phyllis Onions, Rita Greenberg, Irene Batecler, Gertrude Mittleman, Mary Baldwin, Ann Echenberg, Patty Webster, Elsie Welsh, Frances Baker, Vivian Parr, Marjorie Lee and Mavis Johnson, made pretty dolls, who had perfectly memorized their various steps and performed them to every one's satisfaction.

The steamer then proceeded on its homeward journey and at the pier the girls presented their inter-structures with beautiful bouquets of flowers, and the passengers wended their way to their respective hearths to revive reminiscences of the delightful voyage they had just completed. The performance last evening was a striking tribute to the work performed by Misses Anglin and LeBaron, while the gifts from the girls testified to the close harmony existing between the teachers and their various classes.

SANK AUXILIARY SHIRT TO WELL TO SAVE LAD.

BOW, N.H., April 1.—Arthur White, a four-year-old boy, was taken from a twenty-foot well shaft into which he had fallen by relays of workmen who, spurred on by his anguished cries, sank an auxiliary shaft to gain him his freedom. He had been in the narrow shaft for approximately five hours with his arms pinioned above his head by the narrow walls. He will probably recover.

M. E. Hanna, the United States Minister, who has been in Guatemala City for the past week, is taking an aeroplane from there today for Managua to take charge of civil relief work until a representative of the Red Cross can arrive.

In an effort to prevent spread of the blaze, which was started when short circuits developed in the wiring of several fallen buildings, Army officers from the Nicaraguan canal survey at Granada took over the task of demolition of several structures in the path of the flames, one such ordered destroyed being the Anglo-South American Bank Building.

There was $500,000 in coin and currency in the bank vaults, but it was believed impossible to reach it. It National Bank building was damaged but not severely. The Nicaraguan brewery is practically intact and is furnishing water and other beverages to victims and marines. Willard Leon Beaulac, United States Charge d'Affaires, stated that it was not safe to enter the ruins of the United States Legation.

All communications were severed, except those afforded by the tropical radio. Its Managua office was demolished by the quake, but the employees repaired to the power station, three miles outside the city, and
