Anxiously Await Opening Speech By Premier--New Cabinet Is Announced

Spotlight of Political Interest Now Moves to Initial Speech of the Premier in Ottawa Next Tuesday, as It Will Probably Strike Pitch of Government's Campaign for Following Eight Weeks--During Next Few Days New Cabinet Will Meet for the Purpose of Setting Its House in Order and Making General Preparations for Appeal to Electorate--Election Date Not Announced--Quebec Will Have Five Ministers in New Conservative Cabinet, Three of Them to Be Named Later--Patenaude, Minister of Justice; Perley, Secretary of State; Drayton Not Given Portfolio--Dr. J. L. Chabot, Ottawa, to Be Made a Privy Councillor.

(Associated Press Despatch)
OTTAWA, ONT., July 14.—Following the announcement last night of the new Federal ministry, the spotlight of political interest now moves to the opening speech of Hon. Arthur Meighen in Ottawa next Tuesday evening. This speech is awaited with particular interest, as it will probably strike the pitch of the Government's campaign for the following eight weeks.

During the next few days the new cabinet will meet for the purpose of setting its house in order and making the general preparations for the appeal to the electorate. Members of the cabinet, however, will not remain in the Capital very long. Within a few days they will return to their constituencies to begin their election campaigns.

The official plans of the Liberal party are being carefully withheld until the tactics of the Conservatives are disclosed in the Premier's speech. Former Liberal ministers are already back in their provinces and constituencies, and some of them have begun their campaigns. Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King has returned to the Capital after several days' vacation, and it is expected that his itinerary will be public within a few days.

With the exception of Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who is attending a Conservative meeting at Renfrew, all members from the Meighen cabinet were at their departments bright and early this morning. All have taken active charge of the departments allotted to them.

Hon. R. B. Bennett was at his desk in the Finance Department; Hon. E. L. Patenaude was at the Justice Department, while all the others were functioning in their ministerial capacity.

The cabinet council met shortly before noon, in what is expected to be one of the last gatherings before the ministers disperse to their provinces to prepare for the election. Several have already made tentative arrangements to leave Ottawa tomorrow. It is expected that the Premier's speaking itinerary will be available late today.

CLAIM THIRTEENTH OF MONTH IS LUCKY DATE ON WHICH TO FORM CABINET

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, July 14.—Is the thirteenth of the month a lucky or unlucky date on which to form a government? Just thirty years ago yesterday the late Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier formed his administration. He himself had been sworn in as president of the Privy Council two days previous. His government retained office for fifteen years, going out of power in the reciprocal election of 1911.

Supporters of the new Meighen Government point to this as an omen of good luck for the present administration.

LIBERAL CAMPAIGN IN BRITISH COLUMBIA TO OPEN ON JULY 26TH

(Associated Press Despatch)

WINNIPEG, Man., July 14.—The Liberal campaign in the Province of British Columbia will be launched on July 26th, Dr. J. H. King, former member for East Kootenay and late Minister of Public Works, stated here in an interview. Liberals will have candidates in thirteen constituencies, with an independent who supported the King government in the House of Commons again contesting Comox-Alberni, the only other riding, he said.

Referring to events since dissolution, Dr. King declared that "Meighen bungled terribly from the time he took office." Continuing, he said: "He failed to constitute a government in the first place, and after his defeat in the House he should have, through Dr. Tolmie or some other member of his party,

TO STUDY METHODS WHEREBY BIG WAGES ARE EARNED IN U.S.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, July 14.—The Daily Mail says there has been discussion in ministerial circles of the desirability of sending a commission to the United States to study the methods whereby big wages are earned there. The mission would be similar in character to that recently sent by the Mail. The newspaper says no decision has been made, but if industrial peace is restored in Great Britain such a commission probably will be sent in the fall.

met parliament the following day and advised prorogation, dissolution and election. Such a procedure would have been better for his own party and would have certainly been better for the country, as it would have provided the necessary supplies instead of having to carry on through the Governor-General. In discussing the acceptance of these interim supplies by the next government, if a Liberal, Dr. King intimated that assent would to a large extent depend on their warrant. He made it clear that he had no criticism of the Governor-General to make.

CANADA IN NEED OF POLICIES OF MUSSOLINI

Declares Italian Premier Has the Unqualified Admiration of Every Fair-Minded Man Who Understands Conditions in Italy.

(Associated Press Despatch)
OTTAWA, July 14.—Canada is now in need of the policies of Mussolini, according to Monsignor A. E. Burke, prothonotary apostolic and founder of the Catholic Extension Society, Toronto, in an interview here last night. Monsignor Burke, who has been stationed in Rome for a number of years and now in Canada following the Chicago Eucharistic Congress, is a great admirer of Premier Mussolini. He stated that the Italian premier has the unqualified admiration of every fair-minded man who understood conditions in Italy.

He stated that he felt "confident that in this and other disturbed nations of the world the only remedy for the industrial impasse lies in the application of Mussolini's legislation to their respective conditions."

BASTILLE DAY CELEBRATED IN FRANCE TODAY

Communist Elements Seized Occasion for a Demonstration and Twenty Were Arrested for Jeering Sultan of Morocco.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, July 14.—France's national holiday was marked today by the greatest Bastille Day parade in recent years, with the Spanish dictator (Primo de Rivera), and the Sultan of Morocco, Mulai Rouseff, as guests of honor.

Communist elements seized the occasion for a demonstration and twenty persons, including M. Joly, a member of the municipal council, were arrested for jeering at the Sultan when he drove up with President Doumergue to review the troops.

The whistling and cheering were about even, but the president, by continually bowing and doffing his hat, gave the impression to the Sultan that the crowd was according him a warm reception.

Units from every arm of the service, from Senegalese troops to the heaviest motorized artillery, passed in review before the president.

Hopes To Bring About Agreement Between John Bull And Uncle Sam That Will Prove Hard Blow To Trans-Atlantic Bootleggers

Chief of Prohibition Enforcement Service in U. S. Has Arrived in London Armed With Documentary Exhibits Regarding Rum-Running Activities Which British Government Has Been Hearing About and Wanting to See For Years.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, July 14.—Armed with full documentary exhibits regarding rum running activities which the British government has been hearing and wanting to see for years, Brigadier General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the prohibition enforcement service of the United States, arrived in London last night.

General Andrews hopes to place before the British government sufficient data to bring about an agreement between John Bull and Uncle Sam and thus deliver a serious blow against trans-Atlantic bootleggers.

By the exchange of information and views, General Andrews hopes some system would be developed by which it would be easier for his rum shib chasers to keep tabs on sailings from this side.

"Not long ago," General Andrews remarked, "I had a talk with a master bootlegger and he admitted that things had been tightened and that the rum chaser had taken some of the joy out of his life. This master bootlegger said that prohibition enforcement had been forcing at least the cheap skate bootleggers out of business, because liquor was becoming scarcer and more expensive, and this necessarily reduced the men engaged in the illicit trade as more capital was required than formerly."

"The master bootlegger, I thought was quite frank, as he was rather pleased that we were forcing the little fellows to give up the ghost. Then I told the master bootlegger that about time we finished off the cheap skate the master bootleggers would begin to feel the pinch."

SIGNING OF FRANCO-BRITISH DEBT AGREEMENT IS HAILED IN FRANCE AS OBJECT LESSON TO U.S. GOVT.

It Is Pointed Out in Diplomatic and Official Circles that Great Britain Showed a Greater Understanding of France's Position Than Did American Creditors, Thus Indicating that the Benefits of a Lenient Attitude Toward France Are Appreciated in England.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, July 14.—Signing of the Franco-British debt agreement in London yesterday is hailed here, not only as a noteworthy achievement by the Briand-Caillaux government, but also as an object lesson to the United States.

It is pointed out in diplomatic and official circles that Great Britain showed a greater understanding of France's position than did the American creditors, thus indicating that the benefits of a lenient attitude toward France are appreciated in England.

The French attribute Great Britain's stand to a realization in England that British interests depend to a great extent upon French prosperity.

ABILITY TO PAY SHOULD GERMAN REPARATION PAYMENTS LAPSE

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, July 14.—The question of France's ability to pay her war debts in the chance that German reparation payments should lapse, is discussed in letters exchanged between Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill and Finance Minister Caillaux, which form an annex to the Anglo-French debt funding agreement.

In his note to the British Chancellor, M. Caillaux declared that fulfilling of the French debt settlements, both with the United States and Great Britain, depend largely on the continued transfer of receipts from Germany under the Dawes plan.

"If, therefore, for reasons outside of the control of France, such receipts should cease completely or to an extent greater than one half, a new situation would be created and France reserves the right in such an event to ask the British government to reconsider the question in the light of all circumstances then prevailing. It is subject to this expressed reservation that I am ready to sign the agreement we have drawn up," Mr. Caillaux wrote.

Chancellor Churchill, in his reply, says that the British government must maintain the position that settlement of the debt depends, like the debt itself, on the sole credit of France. He wrote:

"You will realize that in the hypothetical circumstances which you mention Great Britain would already have suffered a diminution in receipts from the Dawes plan which we have taken into account in arriving at the various debt settlements, and this is one of the factors which would necessarily be borne in mind in the event of any reconsideration of the question being desired by the French government."

"Subject to this, I do not object to the statements you make. In event of any modification being made I should expect, in order to secure equal treatment among the creditors, that other creditors of France would take into consideration a corresponding modification of the debts due them."

Indications Are Number Of Dead In Great Explosion Probably Never Will Be Known

Death Toll Stood at Twenty-One Today, and Wet Ground and Ruins Soaked by a Heavy Rain During Night Made for Safety as Marines Continued Searching for Additional Bodies.

(Associated Press Despatch)
OVER, N.J., July 14.—Indications today were the number of victims of the explosion that destroyed the naval ammunition depot at Lake Denmark, and wrecked the army arsenal and damaged a dozen New Jersey towns, probably never will be known.

Even the lightning bolt that set off the $75,000,000 holocaust, probably never will gain official recognition, as the only men who saw it close to land were picked up dead near the building that was struck or have vanished.

The death toll stood at twenty-one early today and wet ground and ruins soaked by a heavy rain during the night made for safety as marines continued searching for additional bodies.

The latest unofficial estimates placed property damage as high as $65,000,000 for the Lake Denmark naval arsenal, $5,000,000 for the army arsenal at Picatinny and $4,000,000 for civilians. Four towns were practically devastated. In Mount Hope, 107 company-owned miners' cottages were wholly or partly destroyed. Wharton, Rockaway and Hibernia were the three other towns that suffered the greatest damage. Smashed plate glass, plaster and debris were strewn through the streets at Dover, Boonton, Milton, Newfoundland, Luxembourg, Danville, Succasunna and Ironia.

About $400,000 of the estimated civilian damage consists of claims for injuries to three hundred persons.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY IS LIKELY TO BE POSTPONED

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, July 14.—The cabinet at a meeting today considered the possibility of postponing the Imperial Conference in view of the impending general election in Canada. Reuters learned today. The outcome of the discussion is not known. It is believed a request for postponement of the conference was received from Canada. The necessity of electing a new House of Commons there makes the attendance of fully accredited representatives uncertain, it is stated.

HOPE FOR MOVE TO END COAL MINERS' STRIKE

However, Miners Appear to Adhere Firmly to Determination to Refuse to Work Longer Hours Under Any Condition.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, July 14.—Some hope for a movement towards resumption of negotiations to settle the British coal strike is founded upon the fact that the executive of the Miners' Federation Committee meets in London today for the first time in a fortnight.

Present indications are that the hope for settlement is not substantial. The miners, with comparatively few exceptions, appear to adhere firmly to the determination to refuse to work longer hours under any condition. While it is true a few thousand men scattered throughout the country have resumed work, the main body of miners reject the owners' new proposals.

THIRTEEN WILL BE HANGED TODAY FOR PLOTTING TO KILL TURK PRESIDENT

Superstitious Say that Thirteen Death Sentences on Thirteenth of Month Bodes Ill for Future of New Turkey.

(Associated Press Despatch)
SMYRNA, July 14.—Smyrna quays, to which thousands fled to escape the wholesale tragedy of the burning of the city four years ago, will witness another tragic scene today.

Fifteen persons were condemned to death yesterday for plotting to kill Mustafa Kemal Pasha, President of Turkey, a month ago, on his arrival at Smyrna, and today thirteen of them will be hanged at tripods at widely separated points of the waterfront. Two were condemned by default.

The superstitious say that thirteen death sentences on the thirteenth day of the month bode ill for the future of new Turkey; nevertheless, the verdict of the tribunal of independence was applauded.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

TATTTLER IS TRUE TO HIS NAME

A tattler sometimes has his use. And for his being there's excuse. —Old Mother Nature.

Danny Meadow Mouse had just made the acquaintance of Tattler the Yellowlegs down on the salt marsh where Danny was now living. That is, he was spending much of his time on the marsh, although his home was on 'be high land close to the marsh. Danny quite admired Tattler. "Do you know," said he, "I thought you were a giant? Yes, sir, I did. I thought you were a Giant Sandpiper."

Tattler laughed. "We do belong to the same family," said he, "and I suppose I do look a great deal like a Giant Sandpiper. However, my name is Yellowlegs, so don't forget it! Tattler the Yellowlegs."

Just then Tattler stretched his neck up and looked over the marsh. Then hastily he took to his wings and away he went, whistling as only he can whistle. Danny could hear that whistle when Tattler was so far away that he couldn't be seen. Everybody else heard it, too. That is, everybody around that part of the marsh heard it. Up from the bed of a creek a short distance away flew Longlegs the Great Blue Heron. A little farther Black-crown the Night Heron flapped his way up into the air. Peep and his friends came skimming past just over the tops of the grass. Without being told, somehow Danny knew that it was all on account of Tattler's whistle. Being so little and short himself, he couldn't know what was the cause of it all. But he had a feeling that Tattler had seen danger of some kind and had given warning.

This is just exactly what had happened. Tattler is the watchman of the marshes. Wherever he goes he is always on the watch, and he instantly he sees anything suspicious he gives the alarm. Because his whistle can be heard so far all the marsh folk have learned to look on him as a sort of watchman and to be on guard whenever they hear that whistle. So Tattler is true to his name. It is, of course, a nice kind of tattling, because it is doing his neighbors a good turn. It has, however, made him greatly disliked by some who miss a dinner because of his tattling.

Danny himself decided that as long as he didn't know what the danger might be, the wisest thing for him to do would be to get back home. So away he went as fast as his short legs could take him. Just as he reached the hollow log in which he had made his home a familiar voice said, "Hello! So this is where you are living."

Danny gave a little squeak of startled surprise. Then he found his voice. "Hello," said he, "Yes, this is where I am living. My, how you startled me, Jimmy Skunk!" For it was his old friend of the bathhouse, the black Jimmy Skunk.

"What were you running so fast for?" inquired Jimmy.

Danny looked a wee bit foolish. "I don't know," he confessed. "Tattler the Yellowlegs gave an alarm and everybody seemed to take it as a danger signal, so I ran home."

Jimmy grinned. "If you run every time you hear Tattler down there on the marsh, you'll spend a good deal of your time running," said he. "Tattler is a good watchman all right, but he whistles when there is no need of it. He is such a timid fellow himself, and so very watchful, that he whistles an alarm at the least unexpected or unusual thing. He's a great traveller, that fellow is."

Many professional men and admirers of the deceased doctor attended to pay their last tribute to the former physician.

Besides having a large private practice, Dr. Stewart was from 1906 to 1916 medical officer at the Dominion Immigration Bureau in Montreal. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Elizabeth Grant Stewart.

CARTERS ASK FOR REDUCTION OF TARIFF

Mr. Antonin Deslauriers, the city clerk, was waited upon this morning by a large number of carters who were protesting on the recent by-law which was passed by the Council regulating the carter's tariff which they claimed was too low.

After hearing their complaint, Mr. Deslauriers explained to them that the by-law could be altered only by the City Council, and that it would be necessary for them to make a formal complaint in the nature of a petition to the City Fathers.

DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

A visitor to the Daily Vacation Bible School yesterday was very much impressed with the wonderful success of this new organization in the life of Sherbrooke. It was discovered that yesterday brought the registration for the school up to the splendid figure of one hundred and twenty-three, and additional seats have to be secured for two of the rooms, as the classes have overtaxed the seating capacity. The visitor was also impressed with the splendid enthusiasm of the teaching staff, also of the helpers, and the feeling is general that the Sherbrooke Daily Vacation Bible School is one of the things that is very much needed and greatly appreciated by the boys and girls attending.

BEAUTIFULLY DRESSED WITHOUT GREAT COST

"Most opportune" will surely be the exclamation from very many ladies who live in Sherbrooke and vicinity, when they read the announcement made on a different page of this issue, that Sommers, Limited, are holding their July clearance sale immediately. Beautiful dresses, coats, suits, model hats, etc., are to be sacrificed, regardless of cost. The reason being that the policy of the firm demands that no garments be carried over from one season to another—the object being to enable the firm to show nothing but an entirely new stock of ladies' wear for fall, 1926. The established, high class reputation of Messrs. Sommers Limited will make this genuine sale an opportunity for ladies to stock up at greatly reduced prices, and should appeal very distinctly to those who appreciate style, quality and good taste in every thing they wear. The sale begins at 48 Wellington Street North at 9 a.m. tomorrow, Thursday, July 15th.

MEMORABLE DATE IN FRENCH HISTORY

For the past one hundred and thirty-seven years July 14th has been a prominent date in connection with the history of old France, for on this date down through the ages the brave sons and fair daughters of the great Republic have observed Bastille Day.

The thought of Bastille Day takes the Frenchman back in mind to the heroic days of his country's history of 1789 and thereabouts, when Louis XVI was the King of France, and when the people were fighting for their freedom and attempting to free themselves from the oppressions which beset France at that time.

The Bastille was a strong fort which Louis had had built at Paris. This fort was protected by a strong garrison and many cannons. It was utterly detested by the people because it was here that the people were imprisoned at the King's command and without a trial.

The people had hoped to be successful in taking the Bastille, and it was on July 14th, 1789, that their desire was realized and the Bastille fell into their hands.

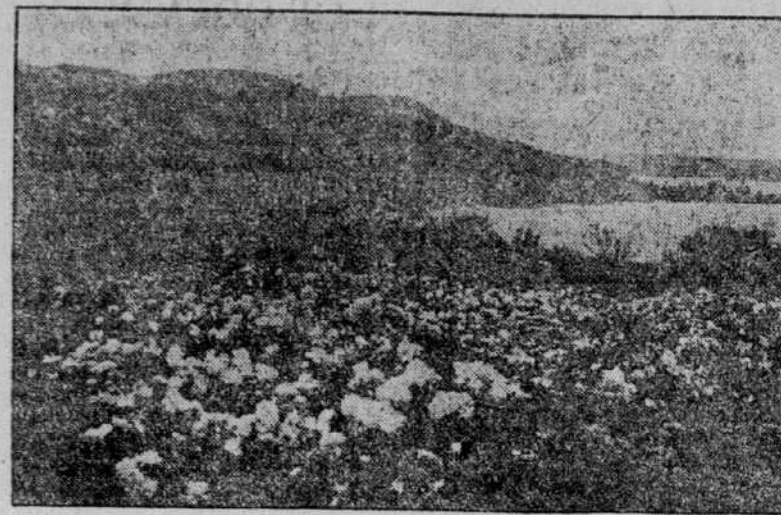

After the taking of the Bastille, the Parisians placed in their hats a rosette made of blue and red, which were the colors of the flag of Paris. La Fayette, who commanded the National guard, had inserted between the red and blue a piece of white, which was the color of the King's flag, and these colors, the red, white and blue, became the national flag of France.

The observance of Bastille Day is still carried out in France, where the event is marked by a national holiday.

NORTON PEONY GARDEN

A view of the world-famed peony gardens on the grounds at Mr. Harry Norton's summer home at Ayer's Cliff. These plants, which are at their best just now, having about ten thousand blossoms, were visited yesterday by the editorial and business departments of the Daily Record, who were guests of Mr. Norton. These gardens are known over the entire continent and have been the means of making known the Province of Quebec in many distant parts.

RECORD STAFF WERE GUESTS OF MR. H. NORTON

Members of Editorial and Business Departments Enjoyed Several Hours Yesterday in Viewing Wonderful Collection of Peonies at Mr. Norton's Summer Home at Ayer's Cliff.

Members of the business and editorial departments of the Daily Record enjoyed a most pleasant outing yesterday afternoon when, through the kindness of Mr. Harry Norton, they paid their annual visit to his beautiful summer home and viewed his world-famed peony garden and the numerous other beautiful flowers being cultivated on his extensive grounds. Following the visit to the "Norton garden," the members of the party journeyed to the Canby Tea House at Ayer's Cliff, where, as guests of the Record Company, all enjoyed a most delicious chicken dinner. The party made the trip by motor.

Mr. Norton was on hand to welcome the party on their arrival at his cottage and in his usual congenial manner, conducted his guests on a tour of the beautiful grounds surrounding the cottage. His wonderful peony garden was the chief point of interest. The huge collection, which contains about a thousand named species, and many more which Mr. Norton is at present working on, was at its best yesterday and was a mass of beautiful colors, there being in all about ten thousand blooms.

Mr. Norton gave freely of his time and knowledge in explaining all of the different types of peonies that are being grown in his garden and also explained the care and treatment which must be given to them from the time they are sown as seed until they become the popular peony plant. Needless to say, Mr. Norton was called upon to answer many different questions, which he willingly did.

One of the most interesting species in his collection is the peony which Mr. Norton himself originated and which two years ago was christened "The Sherbrooke Daily Record" peony. Referring to this particular variety, Mr. Norton said that he was very proud of it and also remarked that it had attracted much interest from tourists who visited his gardens.

While touring the gardens, Mr. Norton gave each member of the party a huge bouquet of peonies, which comprised many different varieties and types.

After thoroughly enjoying and viewing the peonies, all were shown the rose gardens, where a number of different and special species of roses are grown. Here again Mr. Norton explained the different types and also gave each member of the party a beautiful rose as a souvenir of the occasion.

After enjoying the full use of the grounds for a few hours, which to the visitors seemed but a few minutes, the party thanked Mr. Norton most cordially for his kindness and generous invitation, and with their arms filled with beautiful peonies bid adieu to their kind host.

The next stop was the Canby Tea House at Ayer's Cliff where upon arrival, all were welcomed by Mrs. W. E. Hurd, and served with a most appetizing chicken dinner, which was thoroughly enjoyed and done full justice to.

Following the dinner the party returned to Sherbrooke after a most enjoyable and successful outing.

Yesterday afternoon was not the first time that the members of the Record staff have been privileged to enjoy the hospitality of Mr. Norton, as every year they are favored with a special invitation to spend an afternoon at his beautiful summer home. Yesterday's visit, however, was one of the most enjoyable which they have yet experienced and every member of the party thoroughly appreciates Mr. Norton's kindness and all look forward to the privilege of another visit next year.

Mrs. A. M. Kemp and Mr. H. E. Kemp were called to Manchester, N. H., to attend the funeral of her nephew, the late Mr. Harold Rice, and returned on Saturday.

BRIG. GEN. ARMSTRONG TO REMAIN QUEBEC MILITARY HEAD

(Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, July 14. — Rumor says Brigadier General Armstrong is to stay Quebec military head.

MANY MATTERS DISCUSSED BY Y.M.C.A. BOARD

Mr. Lunn, Physical Director, Has Resigned—First Class Reports Were Presented.

Last evening the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association was held in the Y.M.C.A., with a very good attendance. After routine business was covered, correspondence was read in which there was a letter from Mr. Lunn, physical director for the past four years, submitting his resignation as physical director of the Sherbrooke Y.M.C.A. to take effect September 15, 1926. In dealing with this the members of the board spoke very appreciatively of the work accomplished by Mr. Lunn since coming to Sherbrooke four years ago, during which time a heavy programme has been carried through very successfully. On motion the resignation was accepted and the secretary was authorized to write a letter to this effect to Mr. Lunn, expressing the appreciation of the board members and wishing Mr. Lunn every success as he goes to Chicago Y.M.C.A. College to further equip himself for his life work.

Correspondence was also read from the retirement fund committee submitting two propositions to assist in meeting the deficit in the accrued liability of the retirement fund. It was unanimously agreed that an increase in the assessment to the local association would be the better method to follow. Correspondence was read from National Council office relative to the material available for filling the vacancy at Sherbrooke, and the action of the president ratified in connection with correspondence with likely applicants. The membership report was read. It showed the membership standing as the highest on record with a total of 650.

The financial statement showed an income of $957 with an expenditure of $2,562, which included large amounts for repairs to the building. In a statement regarding the finances for 1925-26 it was reported that there was a deficit of $235 with promises of $245 not yet received, and it is to be hoped that all those who promised subscriptions will do their best to have these in in the course of the next few days.

The report of the general secretary indicated an extraordinary activity in the swimming pool, with three splendid classes for junior and adult ladies, which were being taken advantage of as never before. The report also referred to the boys' camp, at which thirty-seven took advantage of the opportunities afforded and had a splendid time. Reference was made to the splendid work done by the foreign work committee, with over two hundred dollars received for the work of the international committee on the foreign field. This is by far the best showing that Sherbrooke has ever made, and the prospects are extremely bright for the completion of Sherbrooke's allotment by December.

Referring to the future, the secretary indicated the programme for the boys' conference, October 8th to 10th, with Messrs. Buckley and Duckworth as the leaders. It is also hoped that Prof. Boothroyd, of Lennoxville University, will be at the conference to assist. Arrangements are being made for the Eastern Townships Inter-High School athletic meet to be held on Saturday, Oct. 9th. Reference was also made to the success in the promotion of the "Father and Son" banquet. The

ANNIVERSARY OF OPENING OF FIRST RAILWAY

On Wednesday Next Ninetieth Anniversary of Opening of Champlain and St. Lawrence Railroad Will Be Observed—First Train Ran from Laprairie to St. Johns.

Wednesday next, July 21st, will be a prominent date in the history of Canadian railways, for it will mark the ninetieth anniversary of the opening of Canada's first railroad, the Champlain and St. Lawrence, which was officially opened by the Governor General of that time, His Excellency the Earl of Gosford, on July 21st, 1836.

This new road ran for a distance of 14 1/2 miles from Laprairie, on the south bank of the St. Lawrence promoters have received the consent of Rev. J. G. W. Ward, D.D., of Emmanuel United Church, Montreal, as the speaker at the end of February or beginning of March, 1927.

Regarding the Y.M.C.A. interest in the Davidson estate Mr. D. J. Salls was authorized to take necessary action for the adjustment of the situation.

Reference was made to the passing of one of the outstanding members of the Association in the death of Mr. Lawson Bryce, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bryce, and the secretary was authorized to send a letter of sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bryce and family.

River, a little west of Montreal, to St. Johns, on the Richelieu River, to the south. It had a gauge of 5' 6," its rails being of wood, on top of which flat bars of iron were spiked, following the common practice of the time in the United States, where they were used in North Carolina as early as 1830. These wooden "strap" rails were still in use as late as 1847, when they were replaced by iron rails.

The Champlain and St. Lawrence Railroad Company was incorporated in 1832 with 74 proprietors, the capital provided for being $50,000. The subscription books were opened on May 1st at the Exchange Coffee House in Montreal, which in that year had a population of approximately 20,000.

While the charter had provided that the road would be completed within three years from the date of incorporation, it was not until 1835 that construction began. Its first president or chairman was the Hon. Peter McGill, a Scotsman who came to Canada in 1809 and became a wealthy merchant, and who between the year 1834 and the year 1860 (when he died) had been president of the Bank of Montreal for 26 years, a member and, later, president of the Legislative Council, Speaker, a member of the Executive Council, a Governor of McGill University, of the Montreal General Hospital and Mayor of Montreal.

Among those who attended the opening of Canada's first railway were a company of nearly 300 ladies and gentlemen, among whom were His Excellency the Earl of Gosford, Sir George and Lady Gipps, Sir Charles Grey, Mr. Secretary Elliott, the Hon. Peter McGill, president of the railroad company, a number of members of the Provincial Legislature, and the officers of the Garrison.

THE FLAG AND THE AUTOMOBILE.

While most people do not see much reason for using an automobile as a flag staff for the display of a profusion of flags or even of banners, there are not many who will seriously object to the fancy of a motorist if he is inclined to decorate his car with the flag of his country or of any other country. Courtesy, of course, rules that when visiting a foreign country, if one displays his own country's flag he should, also, have along side the flag of the country he is visiting. But after all, it is not a matter of great international concern.

A custom has recently developed in the States of showing a cluster of small flags on the front of the car. Many cars coming across the border carry these, and in most cases a British flag is added when motoring on this side.

Immigration officials at the ports of entry tell us that nine out of ten cars entering Canada thus far from the States contain former Canadians, on a visit to relatives here. In these particular cases one might expect a little more consideration while in the land that gave them birth.

Up in Ontario the flag display matter has been commented upon sensibly by a number of papers. The following is taken from the Globe:

It is altogether doubtful if in nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of a thousand the tourist from across the border who is so roundly condemned for "flaunting the United States flag" has any intention of showing disrespect to Canada or Canadians. He probably never gives a thought to the matter, and when it is brought to his attention is usually only too willing to show consideration for Canadian sensibilities by displaying the Union Jack with the Stars and Stripes. Where a deliberate wish to offend is manifested, some sort of reprimand is desirable perhaps, but a view of the matter that may commend itself to the reasonable mind is that taken by The Kingsville Reporter. The editor of The Reporter says: "If a few tourists get pleasure out of a lavish display of the American flag, why should we be the joy-killers? It is either the exuberance of youth, ignorance of international ethics, or a spirit of spread-eagleism, that prompts the display. Inordinate use of flags and banners on an automobile indicates that the owner or driver has an immature mind."

That may be the best point of view from which to regard those few among our visitors who seek to wave offensively the United States flag on this side of the border.

SETTLERS FROM U. S. FOR CANADA.

While the movement of settlers from the United States to Canada is by no means enough to offset the flow in the other direction, it is interesting to note that there is a northward trend.

According to statistics available, in 1925, settlers effects were brought into Canada from the United States to the value of $7,604,209. Nearly every State contributed to this amount, the more important being, New York, $965,167; California, $565,274; Illinois, $320,101; Iowa, $272,489; Michigan, $803,639; Washington, $888,353.

There is lots of room in Canada and the time may come when the tide of emigration will flow more strongly from the border States to Canadian agricultural lands.

THE BOY AND COLLEGE.

The dean of men at the University of Illinois, Thomas Arkle Clark, has written much on colleges and life. He has just stated some reasons why boys should go to college. Here are his words:

"It goes without saying that the man with a college education, all things considered has an advantage over the man without such training, but I long ago decided that not every one should go to college. A good percentage of fellows who try to support themselves when in college fail for want of physical endurance. I should never send a boy to college who did not have a real desire to go—not for the life he would enter into in college but for the chance he would have to study under direction and to become acquainted with the theories which are to be found in books. If one finds study a bore and a burden, if one goes to his books as criminal goes to his hanging, college is not the place for him. One should like books, he should enjoy study, he should feel that the opportunity to spend four years in getting his mind trained is a privilege rather than something to be endured with fortitude until it is past."

"I see boys every day whose parents are anxious for them to do well, to get out of college what the parents themselves have lacked, to accomplish the things which one or the other of the parents would have been glad to do, but who themselves have no interest, no enthusiasm, no appreciation of the opportunity which is theirs. I should not send such a boy to college, but would let him go to work."

A WIFE'S WORST PUNISHMENT.

(By Dr. Frank Crane)

A woman out West has sued a man for divorce upon the grounds of neglect.

She says she cannot stand his indifference. So long as he beat her up occasionally it was not so bad. But coldness was more than she could endure.

This is a peculiar trait of womankind. The wife of a cabman loves him all the more when he bashes her over the head occasionally and she does not mind being dragged along the floor by her hair.

But studied neglect is more than any woman can stand. The greatest offense against love is not violence and cruelty, but it is indifference. Love is warmth, and its greatest enemy is not some other kind of warmth, like anger, but it is coldness.

A woman lives in her affections, and so long as those affections awaken a response, she can endure almost anything. When the response ceases the case becomes unendurable.

The lesson from this is not that a man should abuse his wife, but that he should remember that the greatest cruelty he can practice upon her is neglect, more than abuse.

A spurt of anger and the violence that accompanies it may be condoned, but the studied, icy winds of neglect are unendurable.

A man cannot expect to retain the affections of his mate unless he repays them in kind. Everything in the world has to be paid for. Even love has its price, and the price of love is love in return. No other price will suffice. A woman can overlook almost anything if she is sure her man loves her. Women have clung to drunkards and ne'er-do-wells through all kinds of ill weather, but it is rare indeed to find a woman who will continue to endure the indifference or neglect of her mate.

The moral of this to all male mankind is: Verb sap.—Cpt. 1926.

PRESS COMMENT

SUPPRESSION OF PRESS.

According to cable despatches, influential leaders of the Trades Union Congress admit that they made a psychological blunder in stopping the publication of the newspapers. By this ill-considered action they stifled the expression of the moderate and impartial public opinion of the country, which is one of the most powerful factors in the direction of the national affairs in Britain. The labor leaders hastily formed the conclusion that when they term the capitalist press would be an enemy of their cause. It is just possible that an informed public opinion was more severe in its judgment of the general strike than an informed public opinion would have been.

HONESTY AND KINDNESS.

The familiar adage that honesty is the best policy is undoubtedly generally accepted as expressing an undeniable fact. This is a view, however, that at best is a more or less selfish one; the most that can be said for it is that it is a safer one for society to hold than would be the opposite supposition that honesty is not altogether profitable. There are some, nevertheless, who believe that honesty has a hold on humanity greater than that of mere self-interest; some whose faith in this quality, as a fundamental element necessarily entering into all right relationships and activities, enables them to discern that all have, instinctively or consciously, a desire to be honest. Such a conviction was recently expressed by Jules E. Guinotte, probate judge of Jackson County, Missouri.

Experience, if it be narrow or if it include unfortunate incidents, may sometimes seem to lead to bitter disillusionment and general distrust of mankind. But if one's experience be broadened, and especially if one's attitude toward the world be influenced by the kindly ideal which takes always the position of sympathetic understanding and helpfulness, it usually results in warming one's faith in humanity. In his own experience, it appears, Judge Guinotte believes that forty years' service in a probate court, where differences of opinion, desire, and ambition pass and clash, affords sufficiently ample opportunity for observation to justify faith in humanity, as essentially honest at heart. And he believes too, quite rightly, that honesty is encouraged by kindness, which should, in his opinion, be a rule of conduct.

Such utterances, springing out of rich experience, are reassuring, for they illustrate how confidence in the power and persistence of a fundamental right quality helps to discourage the practice of its opposite in daily contacts and affairs. It is a truism that when one knows nobility is expected of him, one's desire to be noble is stimulated. A simple act of kindness, or even a kindly attitude without definite effort, has often turned the tide of temptation, and helped someone to save the day for honesty in conduct. Indeed, such kinship exists between kindness and honesty that the one can scarcely be practiced without the other. "To do justly, and to love mercy" still go hand in hand as an unsurpassed rule for sane and successful and happy living.

Stevenson, superintendent of this department. The president's letter in Leaflet was read and also the report of Stanstead County annual convention. Other readings followed. As Stuart and his brother, David, were proceeding along the main road, a car (driven by Mr. Gauvin) rapidly approached them, which they naturally supposed was going straight on, but suddenly it turned up the road to Bolton Glen, striking Stuart Woodley a bad blow, while David, being in front, had got past. SUNDAY SCHOOL CELEBRATION AT HATLEY

Another Annual Event Went Off Successfully — Results of Sports—Social and Personal.

HATLEY, July, 14. — Peerless efficient committees of the Guild and Aid of the Anglican and United Churches combined to produce another successful display, upon the fifty-ninth return of the confederation of the nine provinces. At ten a.m., the street parade, led by Turcott's band, passed through the groups of people, who were patiently waiting their appearance. Following the horsemen, moved with slow and stately dignity the beautiful flower-bedded motor car of Mr. H. B. Whitcomb, driven by Mrs. Whitcomb, who was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. M. E. Leavitt, of Ayer's Cliff, Mrs. M. W. Le Baron and her guest, Mrs. Robert Johnston, of Montreal. These decorations consisted of the graceful plumes of the beautiful English Wisteria, in three shades of purple, from royal to violet, among which was entwined creeping vines of the Canadian Ground Pine. From the first, it was a foregone conclusion that this turnout would be awarded the first prize of two dollars and fifty cents. The second was received by Miss Mary Sutton, of the teaching staff of the Hatley Public School, whose coupe was a second, and won the cash prize of two dollars. Little Bros

TIGERS REDUCE
YANKEES' LEAD TO SIX GAMES

Jacques Fournier, of Dodgers, Tied Modern Major League Record When He Hit Three Homers Yesterday.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, July 14.—Jacques Fournier, Brooklyn invalid, has for a time taken baseball minds off the fact that the New York Yankees are losing ground steadily. Fournier, weakened by an injury which brought a long lay-off, was only able to hit three home runs against the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday in a game which Brooklyn lost by 12-10.

This tied the modern major league record, but the tie is shared by several performers.

Seven runs in the sixth gave St. Louis a winning margin. Bill Sherdel left-handed all the way for the Cards despite sixteen enemy safeties.

Cincinnati outslugged Philadelphia to retain its four-game margin over all comers, winning 10-7.

Wilson's homer in the sixth eventually gave the Chicago Cubs victory over Boston by 2 to 1, as Heathcote scored ahead of him. It was the former Giants' thirteenth of the year, putting him in the lead of his circuit.

The Yanks' lead in the American was cut to six games when they lost to Ed Wells, of Detroit, 5 to 4 and the Mackmen defeated St. Louis 3 to 2. Herb Pennock was outpitched and would have lost by a larger margin had not Joe Judge uncovered some dazzling fielding.

The Mackmen won in the eighth inning when Joe Hauser, pinch hitting for Cochrane, smashed out a homer scoring Poole ahead. Van Gilder allowed only six hits, while Walberg gave nine, but kept them scattered.

Three triples and four doubles came from Washington bats in the champions' 13 to 9 verdict over Chicago. McNelly had a double and four singles for a perfect day at bat, while Ruel accomplished as much with a double and two singles.

The Red Sox could muster only four hits from the service of Karr, of Cleveland, and went down 6 to 1. Left-fielder Eichrodt led the Indian attack with a triple, a double and a single.

The major league leaders to date are as follows:

National League. — Batting, Bressler, Reds 371; runs, Blades, Cards, 65; hits, Brown, Braves, 111; doubles, Wheat, Robins, 26; triples, Wright, Pirates, 13; homers, Wilson, Cubs, 13; stolen bases, Young, Giants, 13; pitching, Haines, Cards, won 7 lost 1.

American League. — Batting, Ruth, Yanks, 375; runs, Gehrig, Yanks, 81; hits, Falk, White Sox, 122; doubles, Burns, Indians, 35; triples, Gehrig, Yanks, 14; homers, Ruth, Yanks, 27; stolen bases, Meusel, Yanks, and Rice, Senators, 14; pitching, Pate, Athletics, won 8 lost 0.

PREDICTIONS OF A KNOCKOUT ARE NUMEROUS

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, July 14.—Jack Delaney, French-Canadian, regarded in many quarters as "the uncrowned champion" of the light-heavyweights, tomorrow will test his ability to wear the crown.

Paul Berlenbach, former wrestler, who gained the title of the "Astoria Assassin" after two dozen straight knockouts a year and a half ago, only to be stopped by this same Delaney in four rounds, will be the defender. Berlenbach was not the light-heavyweight champion when Delaney knocked him out, but since gaining the title has recorded a fifteen round decision over the marvel from Quebec. Predictions of a knockout are numerous, for Berlenbach's defense is an offensive, while Delaney carries a right hand that may well bring fear to any opponent. The Canadian is a sharpshooter, while Berlenbach is a rugged two-fisted fighter.

Berlenbach is expected to enter the ring tomorrow night at about the time, 175 pounds, while the challenger probably will scale about 170 pounds.

MEETING OF CANOE CLUB

An important meeting of the Sherbrooke Club has been called for tomorrow evening at the club house at eight o'clock sharp. As some important matters are to be discussed, it is hoped by the officials that all members who can possibly do so will be on hand. A trial practice in connection with the regatta will be held following the meeting.

THE CRITIC OF THE MOB

The play was a wretched affair and the audience began to hiss violently—all except one man, who clapped his hands like mad. "Say!" exclaimed his neighbor, "You've got a nerve to applaud such rot as that."

"G'wan!" replied the other, "I'm applauding the hissing."

MAY ANNOUNCE
THIS EVENING

Premier Meighen Spent Morning in Consultation With Those High in Councils of Conservative Party.

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Ont., July 13.—"Perhaps tonight," said Premier Arthur Meighen shortly after noon today when asked when he would be prepared to announce his cabinet. Mr. Meighen spent the morning in further consultation with those high in the councils of the Conservative party. He had quite a long talk with Hon. E. L. Patenaude, who is regarded as one of the likely appointees from the Province of Quebec.

Unless there are last minute changes, it is practically certain that Hon. R. B. Bennett will be Minister of Finance, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture, Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Customs. Also it is very probably that J. D. Chaplin, who has represented Lincoln, Ont., for some years, will be Minister of Trade and Commerce. Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, of Fort Williams, Ont., is a certainty for one portfolio. Rumor connects him with the Post Office Department, but he might be appointed Minister of the Interior, or possibly of Immigration. The name of G. B. Nicholson, of East Algoma, is connected with the Labor portfolio.

Sir George Perley, who is not anxious for an active department, may be Secretary of State. It is suggested that the portfolio of Justice may go to Hon. E. L. Patenaude, but there is a good deal of indefiniteness in regard to the Quebec ministers.

George B. Jones, of New Brunswick, will probably be given a portfolio. The ministers without portfolio, it is understood, will be Dr. Raymond Morand, of East Essex, Ont., Donald Sutherland, of South Oxford, Ont., and J. A. MacDonald, of King's, P.E.I.

WILL TAKE OVER CONTROL OF CONSERVATIVE CAMPAIGN IN QUEBEC

MONTREAL, July 13.—Asked today if it was true that he was definitely out of the running for cabinet honors in the Meighen Government, J. H. Fortier, Quebec, said: "Yes, that is so. That is all settled now."

J. L. St. Jacques, M.L.A. for Argen-teuil, would neither deny nor confirm a rumor which assigned him a place in the cabinet, with the likelihood of Sir George Perley making way for him in the federal Argenteuil seat. Asked whether there was a foundation for the rumor he said: "There is foundation for it, such as there is for most rumors. It is a rumor which has arisen, one does not know where."

He declined to discuss it. Rumors among Montreal Conservatives is that Hon. E. L. Patenaude will take over full control of the Conservative campaign in Quebec on his return from Ottawa. It is believed in some quarters Mr. Patenaude will again run in Jacques Cartier.

RESULTS OF BOUTS LAST NIGHT

The results of the fights last night are as follows:

St. Paul—Billy Petrol, of Fargo, N.D., knocked out Johnny Rocco, of New Rochelle, N.Y., in the eighth round of a scheduled ten round bout.

Ray Richell, of Chicago, outpointed Peter Sarmiento, of the Philippines, in ten rounds; and Benny Valgar, Chicago, beat King Tut, of Minneapolis.

St. Louis—Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, outpointed King Solomon, of Panama, in ten rounds.

Reading—Rus Whaling, of Philadelphia, beat Johnny Hayes, of Philadelphia, in ten rounds.

Minneapolis—Billy Showers, of Chicago, outpointed Johnny Simpson, of San Antonio.

Jackie Ronalds, Duncie, Ind., won on foul from Eddie Myer, Detroit, in the tenth round.

San Jose, California, Sammy Offerman, San Francisco, light-weight, won a decision over Billy McCann, of Cleveland in eight rounds.

SHOOTING

THIRD SALVER SHOOT HELD AT SAND HILL

The third salver shoot of the Sand Hill B.A., was held on the ranges on July 10th. G. E. Picard is leading in the series for the salver, with only one more shoot to finish the series.

The following ten scores were the highest:

D. L. Labonte 85, G. E. Picard 85, E. G. White 84, A. F. Labonte 82, M. D. Laberec 80, J. C. Townsend 79, C. Schaughnessy 78, J. O. Brazil 74, S. Brazil 73, A. E. Labonte 70.

The next shoot will be on Saturday, July 17th, at 1 p.m., and will be a practice shoot.

FOREST FIRE SITUATION IN WEST SERIOUS

Entrance Through Western Gate of Kootenay National Park, Embracing Banff-Windermere Highway, Is Closed.

(Associated Press Despatch) NELSON, B.C., July 14.—Entrance through the western gate of the Kootenay National Park, embracing the Banff-Windermere highway, is officially closed by reason of prodigious forest fires burning near the Kootenay river. The fire advanced from forty miles northeast of here in spite of strenuous and heroic efforts of those in charge, assisted by some twelve hundred men. They are said to be gaining headway, coming south along the Kootenay river and threatening the destruction of the wonderful avenue of trees; also working away northeast up Vermilion river. The weather for days has been excessively hot, with absolutely no moisture. Fortunately only a few windstorms have come up. They threaten rain but seem to pass away.

HUNDREDS OF ROARING FIRES

(Associated Press Despatch) SPOKANE, Wn., July 14.—The tinder-dry forests of Washington, Idaho and Montana were dotted today with hundreds of roaring fires. In many sections the flames have been fanned by high winds, spreading over large areas.

Every mountain in the Kootenay National Forest looks like a volcano, according to E. J. Gest, airplane forest warden, "with great clouds of smoke rolling up."

Between forty and fifty lightning fires were started yesterday in the Coeur d'Alene section of northern Idaho, rangers reported. Okanogan, Washington, reported a 2,700 acre fire in a valuable watershed on South Creek, and a blaze covering 1,000 acres twenty miles north of Winthrop. Twelve fires are said to be burning in the Chelan Forest.

One hundred and six new fires were reported from Newport, Washington.

Men were sent from Kalispell, Montana, last night from Spokane and Missoula to combat 165 blazes in the Blackfoot National Forest. Flames in many instances have been brought under control, but one extending over four thousand acres is still said to be threatening Glacier National Park.

LAWSON BRYCE BORNE TO REST; LARGE CORTEGE

Many People Present at Funeral and Immense Number of Floral Offerings Showed Respect Felt for Young Auditor Who Died on Sunday.

Accompanied to the last by relatives and a very large cortege of friends and admirers, the remains of Lawson Elmhirst Bryce, accountant and auditor, who passed away in his twenty-fifth year on Sunday, were borne to rest in Elmwood cemetery yesterday afternoon. The number of people of all ages and walks of life who attended the service at the house, 186 Quebec street, and the scores of wreaths and other floral offerings, combined to show the respect or love felt towards Mr. Bryce and his sorrowing parents and friends.

The Reverend W. S. Lennon, D.D., pastor of Trinity United Church, of which Mr. Bryce was a member, conducted the service at the house, and delivered an address. Assisting were Rev. G. Ellery Read, D.D., and Rev. Alfred Bright, pastor of Plymouth United Church and St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church respectively. Two hymns were sung, "Hold Thou My Hand" and "When in My Day of Life the Night Is Falling", by a quartette of Trinity United Church, composed of Mrs. George Parsons, Mrs. Ranshouse, Mr. Gordon Armitage and Mr. R. Havard.

From the house the cortege went to Elmwood cemetery, where prayers were said by Rev. Dr. Lennon, Rev. Dr. Read and Rev. Mr. Bright. In the several automobiles which were filled with flowers were many offerings from companies in which Mr. Bryce did auditing and from associations and clubs of which he was a member.

The mourners were Mr. J. H. Bryce, father of Mr. Lawson Bryce; Mr. Kenneth Bryce, Montreal, brother; Mr. James A. Bryce, Peterboro, Ont., uncle; Mr. Archibald Bryce, Toronto, cousin; and Mr. Charles F. Flint, Newport, Vt., brother-in-law.

The bearers were Messrs. Clifford Armitage of Kenogami, Que., William McCullough, Asbestos, Que., Stewart MacDonald, Edwin Sims, Jack Lunn and Herbert Barclay. Of these, four were old school friends of the deceased, two of whom also were at McGill University with him.

Amongst the many friends present were Messrs. J. T. Reid, James Stewart, of Lennoxville, and Alex Ross, who are intimate friends of Mr. J. H. Bryce, and several officials of the Sherbrooke High School, of which Mr. Lawson Bryce was a

$17,951 FOR AUTO DEALERS IN SHERBROOKE

That Amount Will Come to Local Retailers as Compensation for Loss in 1920 by Remission of Luxury Tax—Parliament Voted $1,690,000 for All Canada.

The sum of $17,951 will come to automobile dealers in Sherbrooke and an amount somewhat larger than this to dealers in other parts of the Eastern Townships, as a result of the passing of a vote of $1,690,000 by the last parliament to compensate these dealers for the losses which they sustained in 1920 when the luxury tax on cars was removed without provision being made for those cars which they had on hand already. The Retail Automobile Dealers of Canada made a strenuous campaign for this vote for some six years without avail, although the association officials were everywhere received with the greatest of courtesy in Ottawa circles, according to a circular of appreciation which has been issued by the dealers. Finally in May of this year, the Government bill to pass the vote of compensation was supported by all parties and was passed, boards of trade, associations of various kinds and newspapers throughout the country having continually urged this action on parliament. As a result of the grant by the government, the dealers are now reimbursed for their losses and so have issued a circular letter of appreciation and a statement of how the money will be distributed among the dealers and the provinces. These documents are signed by James R. Dixon, and are dated at the end of June.

The explanation of how the loss incurred by the dealers is as follows: In December, 1920, an order-in-council was passed by which the luxury tax on automobiles was suddenly remitted. Consequently the price of these cars was lowered, and the cars which were already on hand had to be sold at this reduced price, though bought at the old price. Consequently the dealers had to suffer the difference, and their loss was of an enormous amount. Apparently there was no legal way in which this amount could be collected, but the dealers felt they had a moral argument, and in this, as already stated, they were backed up by all parts of the country. After the several years of pressing of claims, the viewpoint of the retailers prevailed, and on May 28th the sum to cover loss and interest was voted.

When the vote by parliament has been assented to by His Excellency the Governor-General, the Department of Customs and Excise will verify the correctness of the dealers' claims, and, as soon as this has been done, the cheques will be issued. In case the department desires to verify dealers' claims from the dealers' own records, it is being strongly urged that all dealers have their records in good order and readily available for inspection by an official.

The total amount which the retail dealers claim as their losses and interest, as a result of the remission of the luxury tax in 1920 is $1,687,499.95, of which $324,783.97 will come to this province, this being the largest amount for any province except Ontario. Of this amount for Quebec, Sherbrooke is to get $17,951.62. Details given for this city in connection with this sum follow: Number of dealers, three; average loss per dealer, $5,983.87; minimum for any one dealer, $668.32; maximum for any one, $11,455.23; least number of cars possessed by any dealer, one; greatest number, 43.

To dealers in Thetford Mines, the sum of $9,061.22 will be allotted, while Cowansville will get $8,639.47. Other places in the Eastern Townships will receive smaller sums.

Amongst the many public bodies which passed resolutions in favor of the voting of this relief money were the E.T. Associated Boards of Trade, the Sherbrooke Automobile Club, and the Sherbrooke Automobile Dealers' Association.

graduate, of companies for which he and father did auditing and accounting, and of associations and clubs of which he was a member.

INTERNATIONAL ROTARY ASPECT WAS STRESSED

Rotarian H. G. Hatcher, Sherbrooke Delegate, Greatly Impressed by Convention at Denver, Col.—Enthusiastic Over Manner in Which He Was Entertained.

Sherbrooke's official delegate to the International Rotary Convention at Denver, Colorado, Rotarian H. Gordon Hatcher, told the fellow-members of his club last night of his experiences, of what impressed him most and of what benefit it was to attend such a convention. While all of the thousands of men attending the convention were not always of one mind on a subject, said Mr. Hatcher, yet all were in complete unity of ideal and friendship, and the results of the meetings were important and far-reaching.

Following last night's dinner and sing-song at the New Sherbrooke House, Dr. J. C. McConnell read out a letter from Mr. Henry Cordy, of Sulphide, Ont., formerly of Eustis, thanking the Sherbrooke Rotarians, amongst whom he was a member for several years until he left this district, for remembering him in his recent illness. Ex-Rotarian Cordy stated in his letter that he was much improved in health now and might visit Sherbrooke this summer.

President Henry Welsh reminded the club that Rotarian Hatcher was being called upon to speak a week earlier than he had intended to, and so was somewhat unprepared. Mr. Hatcher, in opening, recalled to his hearers that there had been a question raised as to whether it was worth the expense to send a delegate to Denver, but since he had once attended such a convention he was positive of its value and that it was worth while. The question raised occasionally that so many thousands at such a convention prevented the best results being obtained was turned down, as it was a well known fact of psychology that a greater spirit was resultant from a larger than a smaller crowd.

Mr. Hatcher traced his journey from here to Denver, which was pursued, after Montreal, in company with other Rotary delegates. Everywhere these delegates were royally entertained, the three chief stops being at Toronto, Chicago and Omaha. When Denver was reached, their treatment by Rotarians and all classes of the population alike was splendid. All transportation in the city was free, and Denver members of the club lent their cars or took the visitors themselves to see the city and the scenery in the surrounding district. A rodeo and other entertainments were put on, in which delegates took part if they desired to try their hand at such things as milking wild cows. Everywhere throughout the West, said Mr. Hatcher, both in the United States and Canada—he having returned through the Canadian West—there was a feeling of optimism and enthusiasm visible.

The International Aspect.
The earnest desire on the part of all the delegates to improve international relations and work for world peace impressed itself perhaps above everything else on Rotarian Hatcher. Great prominence was given by the Americans to delegates from Canada and other parts of the world, and the address—one of the finest he had ever heard—in reply to the speeches of welcome, was delivered by a New Zealand man. A beautiful pageant tracing the growth of internationalism was also staged. Another magnificent speech advocating world peace, was that delivered by a Japanese, who was speaking on Rotary education.

Another point given prominence by Mr. Hatcher was the feeling of friendship and association exhibited at the convention, this spirit existing to a greater extent than he had ever seen before. Of the actual Rotary programme, perhaps more emphasis was laid on Rotary education than on any other point, and the local club decided to obtain copies of some of the addresses on this topic for perusal by the members who were not at Denver to hear them.

President Welsh extended the thanks of the club to Mr. Hatcher for his address.
