World News In Brief

Los Angeles—(AP)—The Los Angeles Times says today the U.S. navy will challenge Britain's new jet speed record of 27.6 miles an hour within 10 days but that the U.S. air force may "unofficially" beat it to the punch.

Although the navy declined comment, the Times says, it learned that the navy tentatively plans an assault with the Douglas F4D Sky-ray interceptor next Tuesday at the Salton Sea or Edwards air force base, both in Southern California. It is a triangular craft with a slim protruding nose.

New Delhi, India—(AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today demanded a bigger role for Asia in the United Nations.

Opening a debate on foreign affairs in the upper House of Parliament, he called for inclusion of neutral countries in the Korean political conference and asserted:

"It does not seem proper that problems intimately affecting Asia, problems which are in fact of Asia, should be disposed of largely by ignoring Asia."

Travis Air Force Base, Calif.—(AP)—Maj-Gen. William F. Dean came home Tuesday night, three years of Red captivity etched in his tired face and declared:

"I want you to get it out of your heads that I'm a hero—I'm not, I'm just a dog-faced soldier." And . . .

"I feel like a million dollars. I almost sent a challenge to Rocky Marciano," heavy-weight boxing champion.

Copenhagen.—(Reuters)—Danes who voted in Tuesday's election found today they had failed to break a political deadlock and give the country a stable, one-party government.

Prime minister Erik Erikson's Conservatives, who operated a shaky coalition with the Farmer's party after last April's "stop-gap" election, found their combined strength still behind that of the Social Democrats, who again captured the largest number of seats in the Folketing, though they lacked an over-all majority.

Mossadegh To Be Hanged; Express

London—(AP)—The Daily Express reported today that ousted Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has been sentenced to be hanged in public.

The Express said in a dispatch from its Tehran correspondent that Mossadegh screamed oaths as the military court sentenced him Tuesday after a secret three-week trial.

The newspaper said the court found him guilty of eight charges of treason and one of mass murder. He will come before another court martial Thursday for confirmation of the sentence, it added.

No other London newspaper carried any similar report at the time The Express appeared.

Mossadegh was arrested Aug. 20 after a royalist coup which brought Iran's young Shah back to his capital from brief exile. Since then he has been held in jail.

Britain And United States Want Korean Debate Curbed

By STANLEY JOHNSON
United Nations, N. Y.—(AP)—Britain and the United States, together again after their split over Indian attendance at the Korean political conference, laid plans today to throttle any more UN debate on the conference until after the parley is supposed to get underway.

The Allied strategy, reported to be supported by the other 14 UN members which sent troops to Korea, is to shove any discussion of Korea to last place on the agenda of the UN's 60-nation political committee.

Bromptonville Bank Robber Escapes From Police Cells After Receiving Sentence

More Mining Walkouts Threatened

Timmins—(P)—Mayor J. Wilfred Spooner plans to go to Toronto, probably today, for talks with Labor Minister Daley of Ontario to stave off threatened economic doom for this northern gold mining town.

The United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) has its members on strike at five of the area's gold mines and threatens walkouts at others among the six still operating.

The union, which called out 1,400 men and brought about the closing Tuesday of the big McIntyre mine, indicated last week that Hollinger, second-largest gold producer in the district, also is on its strike list.

It is believed the shutdown at Hollinger may be hours or, at least, days away.

The McIntyre management acted on shareholders' instructions to close the mine at once if the union struck. As pickets crowded two entrances to the mine, Manager M. L. Urrahart announced:

"The mine is closed. Pickets are not required here."

However, the union placed about 100 pickets on each of the two roads leading to the mine, which has been operating since 1912.

A similar announcement was made by the Delnite mine Aug. 25 when union members stopped operations there.

The union struck at Broulain Reef and Hallnor mines July 11 and at Preston East Dome two days later.

The strikes at mines other than McIntyre involved upwards of 900 men.

Hallnor and Preston East Dome are considered effectively closed. Broulain Reef officials say, however, that the mine now is operating two shifts with about 70 per cent of the 250 hourly-rated employees on the job.

The union, which also called out 1,600 men on strike at the Noranda mine in northwestern Quebec, seeks a check-off of union dues, wage increases and shortened hours.

Mines still operating here up to today were Hollinger, Pamour, Paymaster, Aunor, Coniaurum and Dome.

Civic officials, mindful of a 1941 strike which almost proved disastrous to the gold-mining community of Kirkland Lake, asked Premier Frost to intervene. The premier suggested Labor Minister Daley might be able to bring management and union together to work out their differences.

Mayor Spooner said Tuesday night he expects to consult with Mr. Daley. Taxes here fall due Sept. 30 and civic officials say they will do anything in their power to prevent a southward migration of workers' families which could leave this hitherto thriving community virtually a ghost town.

Both British and Americans appeared relieved they were once more united in fighting the Soviet Union here instead of battling each other.

Five-Year Term Given To Jean L'Ecouteur — Accomplice Receives 23-Months.

Provincial and municipal police are on the look-out today for Jean L'Ecouteur, 35, who broke out of the provincial police cells here early this morning.

Yesterday afternoon L'Ecouteur was sentenced to five years in prison after pleading guilty to taking part in a robbery on September 12 at the Canadian National Bank in Bromptonville.

His accomplice in the bank robbery, Jean-Jacques Rochon, of Hull, was sentenced to 23 months in jail after pleading guilty.

Both men appeared before Judge Dorais Panneton who handed out the sentences.

L'Ecouteur has a lengthy police record and was detained at provincial police headquarters here awaiting transportation to penitentiary.

L'Ecouteur is a small man but apparently strong as he pried open the steel bars of the cell after opening the window and climbed out on the lawn and left for "destination unknown."

Anyone seeing a man meeting his description is asked to phone Sgt. Det. Stenio Brasseur or any of the local detectives, Guy Dupont or Homer Ruiter at 2-4707.

The robbery at the bank netted the thieves some $1,000 in silver after they broke in the vault. They tried to crack the safe but failed. They broke into Notary J. A. Ouellet's office also. His office was in the same building.

The thieves fled from Bromptonville in different directions and earlier this week L'Ecouteur was arrested at Campbellton, N.B., by Lt. Det. Albert Bissillon and brought back to Sherbrooke for his trial here yesterday.

Rochon was arrested by provincial police in Montreal.

The commission, which made a four-year study, suggested today that execution by lethal injection, though at present unacceptable, be examined as a future alternative.

Its 300,000-word report also recommended that the government raise the age limit for the death penalty from 18 to 21, but found no grounds for exempting women from execution.

The 11-member panel was set up to study conditions of execution and prison life for long-term convicts, and was instructed to offer no recommendations on the merits of keeping the death penalty itself.

The panel was set up by the Labor government after the question of capital punishment blew up into a major political storm in 1949.

The commission report will be considered by the government and may set off new debates in the House of Commons, recently stirred by Labor allegations that truck driver Timothy Evans may have gone to the gallows unjustly for a crime committed by John Christie, the Notting Hill murderer.

In their search for information commission members witnessed an electrocution at Sing Sing prison and a gas chamber execution in Nevada.

The commission decided that hanging was still the most effective. It disclosed that the time taken to execute the condemned

Madrid Newspaper Claims Beria Is Hiding In Spain

Madrid—(P)—The newspaper ABC reported today that Lavrenty Beria, former Soviet interior minister, is in hiding in Spain after escaping from Russia.

The newspaper said it considered the story "probably" true, but offered no proofs.

It claimed that Beria was parachuted into the La Mancha region of central Spain. There he was picked up by a waiting car and taken to a spot on the Spanish coast.

ABC said that "Beria was flown to Spain by Soviet pilots who had taken part in the civil war in Spain and were therefore fully familiar with the country."

Doukhobors Impassive At Trials

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Vancouver—(P)—In the Russian patiois of the Doukhobors, Ivan Ivanovich—John, son of John—is everybody and nobody. He is the average man.

And Ivan Ivanovich is on trial in a drafty meeting hall in suburban Burnaby for appearing in public while nude. To Ivan, this is no sin, but a virtue, for to appear nude is to appear in the form in which he was put on earth by God.

There are 70 others like Ivan on trial and 72 like his wife, Dascha.

They were charged after staging a nude parade at Perry Siding near their tent-town home to protest against a provincial government order to send their children to school. RCMP officers who arrested them have testified that they warned them not to continue their nude parades.

To date 79 Sons of Freedom have been found guilty on the nude charge, including 39 Tuesday. Charges against two women and five men were dismissed Monday, leaving 58—all women—still to be tried when the hearing continues next Friday.

Ivan arrives at the courtroom in the back seat of an RCMP patrol car. With two others, he is hustled into the "cell" to await his turn in the kitchen-chair prisoner's box.

The cell is a narrow room. Over the doorway is a sign reading "Men."

When there are 11 like Ivan ready, court begins. Ivan waits his turn, sitting on a chair with his back to the wall or slumped on the board floor. There are two booted and spurred RCMP officers on the door marked "Men."

Electrocution, Gas Chamber Out In U.K.

By JOHN DUDMAN
London—(Reuters)—Convicted murderers will continue to die by hanging rather than electrocution or the gas chamber if the government accepts the recommendations of a specially appointed commission to study capital punishment.

The commission, which made a four-year study, suggested today that execution by lethal injection, though at present unacceptable, be examined as a future alternative.

Its 300,000-word report also recommended that the government raise the age limit for the death penalty from 18 to 21, but found no grounds for exempting women from execution.

CROSSING ACCIDENT: These are views of the level crossing accident near Huntingville yesterday in which one man was killed and two were injured. (Record photos by Gerry Lemay).

Crossing Accident Takes One Life, Two Other Men Suffer Injuries

One man was killed and two others seriously injured in a collision between a railway train and an automobile near Huntingville, early yesterday afternoon.

Killed was Thomas Blanda, 24, of 506 Mattison street, Orange, N. J. Injured were Peter Henderson, 24, 387 Hawthorne street, and Dominique de Angelo, 24, 20 Wheeler street, both also of Orange, N.J.

The Associated Press in New York reports that Blanda had use of only one eye.

The two injured are patients in St. Vincent de Paul Hospital where authorities report their conditions as serious. Henderson is under treatment for shock and severe body injuries while de Angelo received multiple bruises and lacerations to the body and a skull injury.

The injured were taken to hospital by H. N. Brian ambulance.

Apart from train engineer Barker and conductor Barton, both of Montreal, there are believed to have been no eye witnesses to the mishap.

The Montreal to Portland Canadian National Railway train, which arrived in Sherbrooke at noon, is said to have dragged the car about 360 feet down the track.

At the time of the collision, about 12:11 p.m., a railroad gang was working about 150 feet from Dean's crossing and the train had slowed down to 10 miles per hour in order to allow the workmen time to get away from the track.

The workmen reported that none of their company had seen the collision.

The car itself is believed to have been proceeding at a rate of speed no more than 30 or 35 miles per hour when the front of the engine struck the left side.

The body of Blanda was thrown from the vehicle while ambulance crews had to extricate one of the other young men while the third occupant of the car is believed to have been removed from the debris right after the smash.

The area about Dean's crossing is not obstructed by trees or any other objects. The passenger train continued on its journey after a delay of only ten minutes. No one on the train was injured.

Det.-Sgt. Stenio Brasseur headed the Provincial Police investigation, assisted by Traffic Officers Gerard Belisle and Rosario Bergeron.

A coroner's inquest will be held when the injured are able to testify.

Last Red POW's Are Turned Over

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
Seoul—(P)—The UN command today turned over to neutral Indian troops the last of some 22,600 prisoners who renounced communism, leaving Allied stockades empty of captives for the first time in three years.

With the final delivery came a surprise announcement that the Allies will not send observers to watch the arrival at the neutral zone of 359 Allied soldiers the Reds say don't want to go home. They include 23 Americans, one Briton and 325 South Koreans, according to a Communist correspondent.

Red observers watched the two week transfer to the demilitarized zone of Allied-held POWs refusing repatriation. But the UN command said "we do not feel that the presence of UN observers is necessary to insure a fair and successful handling of the turnover from the Communists."

The Allied announcement added "we have confidence in the ability of the CFI (Custodial Force: India) to carry out its mission."

Simultaneously, India ordered 100 reinforcements for the 5,000-man force which will guard the unrepatriated POWs. The additional Indians will be airlifted by the U.S. air force via Japan and are expected this week-end.

Final delivery of prisoners to the buffer zone brings the armistice to a new phase. Starting Friday or Saturday, Allied and Communist interviewers have 90 days to try to coax their former soldiers to come home.

A new source of tension in the eight-week-old truce was a statement by Lt.-Gen. S. E. Anderson,

Unity Is Urged By Duplessis

Quebec—(P)—Premier Duplessis said Tuesday night "the greatest danger of the hour is the lack of consciousness and personal responsibility."

"The greatest danger is not an economic crisis or lack of work for hands and minds," he told the 18th annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce of Quebec province.

Mr. Duplessis appealed for unity in the development and progress of Quebec.

"Human fraternity and Christian charity teach us that by uniting the greatest force there is—the human person—we can build a structure that will be the greatest and the strongest."

"It is a necessity," he said, "to have national solidarity and understanding above petty personal interest if we are to preserve the interests of our Quebec patriots."

Hamburg, Germany—(P)—An experimental model of the new British heavy tank has arrived here for special tests. Called the Centurion, the new tank is a development of the Korea-tested Centurion. It has heavier armor, a more powerful engine and a wider track giving a lower ground pressure.

Municipal Leaders Want Tax On Federal Property

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Montreal—(P)—The mayors of Canada have decided to walk right back up Parliament Hill and tell the federal government they are no happier about the ban on taxation of federal property than they were a year ago.

And for good measure they'll also ask Ottawa once again to let them off paying the 10 per cent federal sales tax on municipal purchases.

The representatives of Canadian towns and cities, who also want a federal-municipal conference to tell their money troubles to, agreed in principle Tuesday with a draft report prepared by the executive of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities putting the federation's case for these demands. Only one delegate dissented.

Said the mayor of Portage La Prairie, Man., Rev. H. L. Henderson, "I'll put my reasons in writing."

The mayors are attending the first International Municipal Congress sponsored jointly by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities and the United States Conference of Mayors.

At their afternoon conference session the mayors disposed of some 27 resolutions, only eight of which were passed, the rest being dropped or referred back to the national executive.

Membership Of C.A.C. Increases

Toronto—(P)—The Canadian Association of Consumers reported great strides in its membership in reports prepared for delivery at its sixth annual meeting here.

Branches of the women's organization in Ontario reported the greatest increase—a 75 per cent jump all across the province. Quebec chapters boosted enrolment by 50 per cent.

Rural group membership in Alberta increased during the last 12 months. In New Brunswick, 32 chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire and 13 women's institutes have appointed liaison officers to co-operate with the C.A.C. It is hoped to have a provincial organization operating in Nova Scotia by next year.

C.A.C. branches in Prince Edward Island were responsible for having an inspector appointed to grade and mark fruit and vegetables for sale in Charlottetown and Summerside. The provincial chapter is pressing for meat inspection and has officially objected to the low butterfat content of milk sold throughout the province.

Provincial chapters have approached their provincial government on the question of cover-top bottle caps. Some dairies use the cover cap, but machines for its application are generally so expensive consumers will not pay for the increased cost of milk.

Nova Scotia women also complained that the matter of the proper labelling of processed fluid as to weight.

The C.A.C. will approach meat packers with a view to having the striped and patterned wrappers for side bacon eliminated.

The meetings end today with election of officers and a luncheon.

U.S. Living Costs At Record High

Washington—(P)—Higher food prices and rents pushed the United States government's cost-of-living index to a record high mark today.

The rise to 115 per cent of the 1947-1949 average means a three-cent hourly wage boost, effective next month, for 1,300,000 rail workers. This will boost annual pay roll costs of U.S. railroads by $100,000,000.

Seoul—(P)—National police said today they killed 16 Communist guerrillas and captured 10 during the last week.

The top man of guerrilla forces in South Korea, Lee Hyun Sang was killed along with five of his lieutenants, police reported.

The federation's executive director, George S. Mooney of Montreal, introducing discussion, explained that the federal government last year changed the law concerning exemption of crown property from city taxes.

It had done that after the federation had pressed it to lift the exemption. But all the government did was to modify it so that a town or city got grants equal to the rates that would have been due on any federal property in excess of four per cent.

If the value of federal property in a community does not add up to more than four per cent, the town doesn't collect any money. Mr. Mooney explained the federation's officers went and saw the government a second time when the law was proposed, but they weren't getting the revenue they thought was their due.

Why did Guy flop as a film theater idol? "They threw me into things too big for me. I've put on 10 years since then. Ten years ago I couldn't play a leading man and it was suicide to play juveniles."

Referendum May Be Taken On Local Water Situation

Citizens May Be Asked To Decide Whether Council Should Take Action

Whether the City Council should go ahead with plans for the improvement of the local water supply probably will be placed directly before the citizens within the next few weeks. Aid. Felix Thibault, chairman of the Waterworks Committee, has inscribed a notice of resolution which reads:

"I hereby give notice that at the next regular or special meeting of the council, I will submit to the council for study a resolution concerning a public referendum concerning the city's water supply."

If the prospective resolution is adopted, it means simply that a question will be directed to the citizens asking whether or not they want some action taken to improve the existing conditions.

If an affirmative answer is given, the aldermen will then feel themselves justified in going ahead with the job of revising and modernizing the existing plans for a filtration plant, the gathering of estimates as to cost and the preparation of a by-law for presentation to the ratepayers. A negative answer would be taken as an indication that the majority of the citizens are satisfied with things as they are and that further expenditure is not justified in the near future. The referendum is simply a means of gauging public opinion and does not commit the council, although their future policy will undoubtedly be determined by the results of the voting.

The reason for holding the referendum is simple. A considerable cost is involved in the preparation of revised and modernized plans, the gathering of estimates, the completion of a by-law and the holding of a vote — a cost the council does not feel justified in undertaking if the majority of the citizens show in advance they do not want any action taken to improve the situation.

Just when the referendum would be held, if the resolution is adopted, is uncertain, but it will probably be in six weeks time. The next regular council session is two weeks away and no special sessions are as yet indicated. Then certain delays are required for giving the required notice of vote.

Among details the council must decide are the wording of the resolution and who may vote on the referendum.

Only property-owners may vote on the by-law proper, but in its wisdom the council may permit all taxpayers to vote.

Those favoring the inclusion of the tenants argue that they also drink water and should have a chance to present their views, but opponents of the extended vote say, with a degree of reason, that such a move might give the wrong impression. Their contention is that the proprietors and tenants may have different views and that only those who will decide the fate of the by-law proper should express an opinion on whether the by-law should be presented or not.

Local Kiwanians Will Have Show On Kids' Day

The local Kiwanis Club will again this year have a special movie show at the Granada Theatre on National Kids' Day on Saturday. This will be the third consecutive year a movie has been shown and the fourth year the Kiwanians have given the children of Sherbrooke a good time.

The slogan for the Kiwanis International and The National Kids' Day Foundation Inc., is, "Child by child we build our nation."

The Kiwanis Club will also give their young guests candy on Saturday.

Dormitory Is Requested By Firemen

The local firemen apparently believe they should be allowed to sleep on the job. Not that they want to sleep when they should be fighting fires, but that they should have the opportunity of resting while waiting at the station to answer fire calls.

These views are contained in a letter addressed to the City Council by the local union of the International Association of Firefighters, signed by Andre Dion, the secretary, which reads as follows:

"For some time the City of Sherbrooke and local 987, signed a convention adopting the terms of an arbitration award published earlier. This arbitration award provided among other things the following article 19:

"Hygiene: That each station be provided with a comfortable dormitory, etc."

"But unfortunately ever since the tabling of this award no steps have been taken to improve the deplorable situation which exists."

"We wish, gentlemen, to draw your attention to this particular article and we hope you will take the necessary action to correct the lamentable situation which exists at the present time."

The letter has been referred to the protection committee.

Scout Auxiliary Of Lennoxville Asks For Dolls

A meeting of the Lennoxville Boy Scout Ladies Auxiliary, held at the home of Mrs. S. Dzier with eleven members answering the roll, opened with the Scout Ladies' Prayer.

An appeal for dolls was made, these dolls to be dressed by auxiliary members for Scout Christmas cheer baskets. Miss Robert Cowan, Wilson Street, is in charge of this project and dolls may be left or sent to her.

Plans were also made to hold a food sale and a rummage in October.

This concluded the business and refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. G. Forbes and Mrs. F. Hunting.

ROCK ISLAND

Rock Island, Sept. 23.—Edgar Roderique, age 27 years, of Rock Island, sustained serious injury while unloading logs at the Ayer's Cliff saw mill.

The logs rolled onto his legs fracturing both, one being a compound fracture. He was immediately rushed by ambulance to the Sherbrooke Hospital, where it was found one leg was fractured at the ankle, the other between knee and ankle.

Had Mr. Roderique not jumped when he did, the logs would have crushed his head.

VETERANS' BANQUET: This picture shows head table guests and some of the other persons who attended the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Canada banquet held Monday night at Magog.

Dominion President Guest At Banquet Thursday Night Given By Veterans' Unit At Magog

Magog, Sept. 23.—The Magog unit of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Canada was host to the Dominion president and members of the executive at a banquet held Monday evening at the New Magog hotel under the chairmanship of Arthur Ruck, president of the unit.

Findlay Graham and Mrs. Graham welcomed the visitors and guests at the door and the unit's pipers piped the head table guests to their seats.

Mr. Ruck welcomed the Dominion president, A. J. Wickens, Q.C., of Moose Jaw, Sask., and said it was an honor to the unit that Magog was included on the president's tour of inspection.

Mayor Ovila Bergeron welcomed the visitors to Magog and spoke about the fine work the unit is doing here and in the surrounding districts. He also spoke highly of the pipe band.

J. J. O'Brien, first provincial president, spoke of the accomplishments of various Quebec units that he had visited, with Mr. Wickens, on their inspection tour.

Mr. Wickens, introduced by Mr. Ruck, stated that he was no stranger to the Eastern Townships having lived here before. He gave a brief survey of the organizational set-up of the veterans' association, whose origin dated as far back as 1820.

A royal charter had been granted to the veterans by Queen Victoria in 1840 and at the same time they received the right to wear the royal purple, the only organization other than the Guards brigade with this privilege.

Mr. Wickens commented on the work of the veterans in the west and remarked that they had obtained a suitable camp for members of the boys' brigade this summer. This work was done entirely by the veterans without outside help and it did much to keep down juvenile delinquency.

He told what the Quebec provincial command was doing for the veterans in Quebec province and also reported on the recent international veterans' convention in Paris. There are 23 nations represented in the association, representing a membership of more than 23,000,000.

The slogan, he said, is "Peace with freedom," and he remarked that it is wonderful that veterans can get together and discuss ways of preserving world peace.

Mr. Wickens also had praise for Prime Minister St. Laurent who, he said, is second only to Sir Winston Churchill in what he is doing for the people of the world.

Louis Roberge, St. Jean-de-la-Rive M.P., also addressed the banquet briefly, stating that in the last parliament he was a member of the veterans' board and that he hoped he would again be assigned to that board in the next parliament.

He commended the Magog unit for what it is doing and promised he would do all he could to see that veterans' affairs are given the attention that is their due.

Other speakers included: Rev. Father Lacasse, Doug Hadlock, president of the Lennoxville unit, W. Mills, R. Daley, Arthur Sweet, P. Nivens, W. Johnstone, Mrs. Findlay Graham.

Local Rotary Club Hears Address On China By Cookshire Clergyman

Treat the Chinese the way they are, not the way you want them to be is the theory of Rev. P. W. Jones on how to get along with the Chinese people. Mr. Jones, former United Church missionary in China, now minister of Cookshire United Church, spoke on China during World War II at the Rotary Club last night and said that country was tradition-ridden and, in dealing with the Chinese, one should learn to accept that.

"The China of tomorrow is the China of yesterday," said Mr. Jones. "Their saying: 'You can fool with dynamite except when it's exploding,' sums up their philosophy."

Mr. Jones was introduced by Ned Soles and thanked by Douglas Racey.

President L. W. Dixon was in the chair for the meeting and seated at the head table with him were: H. S. Downs, Jr., Gerald Wiggitt, Mr. Soles, Mr. Jones, Mr. Racey, J. Edward Shortt, L. J. Lane and George Witty.

Mr. Lane gave an interesting account of the regional Rotary Fall Conclave, held last week-end at Sugar Hill, N.H., where the local club won the attendance trophy—for a turnout of 52 members and ladies—and the Bean Pot Trophy for winning at golf.

Both trophies were on display at last night's meeting. The attendance cup, in competition since 1949, was won by the locals for the first time. Sherbrooke Rotary was holder of the Small Bean Pot Trophy since last year, for losing at golf, but this year was loaded and returned with the larger emblem.

Osgoode Broadbelt reported that the inter-club golf tournament between Sherbrooke and Quebec has been postponed until warm weather comes again, next year. Howard Nichol brought attention to the rural-urban meeting on October 6 and Bert Ross to the "100 per cent" meeting October 20.

Forest Keene spoke on the advance-moneymakers for the Rotary Fair—the raffle books and distributed literature which showed that during the past 22 years the Crippled Children's Committee of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club has rendered medical care to about 780 crippled children in the Eastern Townships.

In all but nine cases improvement was secured, and in most the child was restored to normal condition. The average cost is about $75 but in some cases this amount is greatly exceeded.

One boy of four drank some lye and about $4,000 was spent to restore him to complete health.

In the past 19 years, Sherbrooke Rotary has contributed more than $130,000 to welfare organizations, regardless of race or creed.

Catholic Charities Campaign Starts On Sunday; Objective Set At $50,000

The annual Catholic Charities campaign will begin on Sunday with the opening supper to be held at the Sacred Heart Hospice.

The increased work being done by the organizations which benefit from this campaign has made necessary a big boost in the objective this year and a total of $50,000 is being sought, compared with $30,000 last year.

Inevitably, the people of Sherbrooke have responded wholeheartedly to this appeal and officials of the campaign are confident that the higher objective will be met.

The campaign continues to October 7 and, as in the past, it will be featured by parish suppers that will be held at the Sacred Heart Hospice.

It is hoped that Archbishop Georges Cabana will be able to attend the opening supper Sunday.

Joint chairmen of the campaign are Yvon Lanctot and Maurice Parsons. First vice-presidents are Jean-Paul Mercier and Stewart Hansford, and second vice-presidents are Dr. Leo Blais and Charles Frost.

Seven Months Receipts By City Run Well Ahead Of 1952 Figure

Total receipts on all accounts for the City of Sherbrooke amounted to $3,330,334.18 for the first seven months of 1953 as compared with $2,804,662.26 for the corresponding period of 1952 according to figures released today by City Treasurer Pierre Bachand, C.A. The 1953 collections represent 63.5 per cent of the estimated budget receipts of $5,244,037.59 as compared with 61.75 per cent of the budget estimates of $4,524,285.02 in 1952.

The total collection on general account, which includes real estate, school and sales taxes and other miscellaneous revenues, reached $1,802,561.21, or 71.88 per cent of the $2,507,593.23 estimated for in the budget. In 1952, the collections for the first seven months were $1,540,773.42 or 71.23 per cent of the $2,162,045.66 budget estimates.

This does not mean that the revenues for the entire year will run substantially ahead of the amount budgeted for at the beginning of the year but is a result of the fact that three of the four quarterly instalments of the real estate and school taxes are payable in the first seven months of the year—while the majority of the license and permit fees become due April 1 or May 1.

In addition to the real estate and school taxes, which produced $919,773 during the first seven months of the year, the other principal sources of revenue for the general account were the sales tax, the receipts from which were $316,298.12, or 68.02 per cent of the estimates; payments on permanent works, $56,868.73 or 81.24 per cent of the amount budgeted for; rental tax, $82,419.24, or 49.65 per cent; business tax, $69,530.78, or 51.50 per cent; licenses, $46,333.20, or 77.20 per cent; and amusement tax, $48,713.78 or 44.28 per cent of the estimates.

For the first seven months of 1953, the receipts of the waterworks were $156,069.86 or 49.28 per cent of the $316,660 provided for in the budget, as compared with $125,422.17, or 55.79 per cent of the 1952 estimates of $224,785.

Collections for the gas and electricity department for the current year reached the high figure of $1,371,703.11 as compared with $1,138,466.57 in 1952. The 1953 collections were 56.68 per cent of the predicted $2,419,784.36 receipts, with the 1952 figure amounting to 53.26 per cent of the budget estimates.

Mr. Thompson said he had confiscated a number of slingshots yesterday that children were using against pigeons.

"Many people do not know it is illegal to use, or even possess, slingshots and catapults," Mr. Thompson said.

He cited articles 116, 118 and 123 of the criminal code which provide a fine of $50 or three months in jail, or both, for possessing or using these articles.

The Health Education Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. E. Hume, has planned an interesting and varied program to meet the requirements and tastes of all ages. Mrs. Ken Bryce is the instructor.

Classes for business and professional women will take place on Monday and Wednesday evening from 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Bryce and the committee have planned new and interesting classes in gymnasium work, dancing and swimming that promise to provide beneficial recreation to all participating. Refreshments will be served to the groups.

A new project that has proven popular in other communities is a Mother and Child gymnastic class. This will take place Thursday mornings at 9:30 when for a half hour mothers and their nursery school aged children will take combined exercises. At 10 o'clock, the children may attend nursery school while the mother may take classes in crafts or enjoy a swim in the pool.

Mothers may leave their children at the "Y" while they go shopping. Other "Y" features are facilities for basketball, badminton and bowling.

CARELESSNESS IN THE WOODS

Statistics from the four Canadian provinces and 31 American states which report details of all hunting accidents to a central agency reveal that about one-third of all casualties result from the accidental firing of a gun.

The other two-thirds, says Ken Morris of Montreal, executive director of the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen, occur when a hunter intentionally pulls the trigger.

"There may be some excuse for the hunter who unintentionally pulls the trigger as he stumbles," Mr. Morris says, "But there is no excuse for horseplay, carrying loaded guns in cars or leaving them loaded around the hunting camp."

Some hunters wear drab clothes hoping to blend into their surroundings and thus improve their chances of hunting success. But in doing this, he warns, they increase the risk that some other hunter will mistake them for game. No game bird or animal is bright red or yellow in color and the wearing of bright-colored caps and jackets is the best of insurance.

Some inexperienced hunters are the victims of "buck fever" and imagine that every sound heralds the approach of an animal.

"Although they too often such hunters shoot before their target comes into view. As a matter of fact, most animals move silently in the bush and loud noises usually indicate the presence of another human."

Most accidents are caused by young shooters, but youthfulness in itself is not the main reason. It is lack of proper instruction and experience.

Hunting, says Mr. Morris, is not a dangerous pastime. Records show that one is safer in the hunting field than while driving the family car, riding in a public conveyance, swimming or boating. But the application of a few common sense rules will make hunting even safer than it now is.

New hunters should become familiar with their weapons before they go hunting. They must remember that a shotgun is dangerous up to a distance of 300 yards and that the bullet from a hunting rifle may carry as far as two miles. Even the little 22 rim-fire bullet is dangerous up to a mile.

"To use a firearm once or twice a year is not enough to get to know it and to feel at home with it. The experienced shooter is the safe shooter, and one way to gain experience is through active membership in a trap, skeet or rifle club," he says.

Mr. Morris cited the records again. During the 15 years in which accident records have been maintained, not a single hunting fatality has been charged against any one of the 300,000 members of the National Rifle Association of America and the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen.

FRANCE MUST MOVE SOON

The French surely must be tired of being told they are at the crossroads and must move soon if they are to retain any semblance of leadership in Europe. The fact that this is true does not make the constant warnings more palatable to the French.

The newest alarms grow out of Chancellor Adenauer's smashing election victory in West Germany. Adenauer is a champion of European unity and the European Defense Community. His parliament already has endorsed the program. His personal triumph at the polls lifts his prestige to new heights. But these very facts multiply the pressures upon France to act in these same causes.

For France originated the EDC idea and up until the last year or so was in the forefront of the European unity movement. By hanging back, it appears to be repudiating its earlier stand. It seems, moreover, to be forfeiting leadership.

The French still could recapture initiative by declaring their intent to resume pursuit of the unity goal, especially in the defense field. This would be all right with Adenauer, who is cautious about taking the lead. Suspicions of German militarism and authoritarianism are still widespread, and the aged chancellor believes it wiser for him to play a supporting role.

Britain, heretofore not directly involved in unity projects, may help at this juncture to spur the French to renewed efforts. French reluctance, of course, has always reflected fears of a revived German army, in any form whatsoever. If, as is reported, the British are now offering much closer military ties between their forces and EDC, that might go far to assuage French fears. Britain would be the check on Germany.

But one thing looks certain. The French have already wasted many months in futile dalliance over the EDC issue and related unity questions. They cannot now ask for another long period of grace while they try to decide whether to lead or not to lead.

The French Socialists, never famed for statesmanship in the foreign field, still put all their faith in a big-power conference, the favored panacea of the neutralists. They defy the West to turn to Adenauer for leadership. Said one:

"Are you trying to threaten us with the Germans? Well, go ahead and back Adenauer, and accept the historic responsibility for the next war."

Coming from a Socialist, this amounts to saying: "We don't intend to do anything, but it will be all your fault if you try something else and it fails to assure peace."

This kind of blackmail would force us to accept either dangerous inaction or appeasement of the Russians. The West rejects either course. It may not turn to Adenauer, but it will surely look elsewhere if the French do not quickly begin acting like responsible adults in a perilous world.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN NEA Washington Correspondent LOW SERVICE MORALE LAID TO WIVES OF SERVICEMEN

Washington — (NEA) — A colonel in the Pentagon developed an interesting theme on the present alarming state of low morale in the armed services. He puts about 90 percent of the blame on the wives of the men in service.

It's obvious why a colonel, brave enough to say such a thing, must be kept anonymous. But there's no anonymity connected with claims that morale is low.

In his first meeting with the press, Admiral Arthur Radford, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, appeared more concerned about low service morale than he did about the Russian hydrogen bomb. There are at least a half-dozen high-level reports being prepared on the subject for presentation to Congress.

Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson has a study under way following a memorandum written by former JCS Chairman Gen. Omar Bradley. Bradley wrote that he was worried about "the growing lack of confidence in the military service as a worthwhile and respected career."

As far as the anonymous colonel goes, Wilson and the other morale experts can stop probing the problem right now. He claims that behind almost every case of low morale, you can find a female. Following is a paraphrasing of the colonel's ideas:

First, doff your hat to the service wives and widows who have suffered plenty. Congratulate the handful who cheerfully move from post to post without complaining and who never say one word which dulls their husbands' sense of duty in performing one of history's most important jobs, that of defending freedom in the world.

But then you come to the majority of service wives and the sweethearts of servicemen. They are the ones who gripe.

It's the most-married military organization in history with approximately 85 per cent of the officers and 35 per cent of the enlisted men with wives.

Wives Complain About Pay Take the loudest beef of all about military service, which is low pay. You don't hear the bachelor complain. The wives are the ones who needle their husbands about more money, always pointing out how much more can be made in private industry. They forget such things as free medical attention and low commissary food prices.

The average man in service is not distressed to be sent overseas or to some out-of-the-way base. It's his wife who prods him into trying to get some soft, state-side assignment. Then, when he does, she fusses about the trouble of moving, even though the services take care of practically every detail of it for her. American women just seem afraid to leave the warm security of their familiar, warm, beauty parlor hair drier.

Again there are a few who enjoy this chance of seeing different parts of the country, knowing that wherever they go they will probably meet old friends and make many new ones.

Some wives are happy as long as their husbands are attending some service school or stationed at some base where life is easy and pleasant. But they can't seem to understand that all of this preparation must lead to a tour of duty overseas or with troops, where life might not be so cozy or where they can't follow their husbands.

No organization in world, public or private, spends as many billions of dollars to keep the wives of its male personnel happy as does the Department for Defense. Wives are moved overseas, lock, stock, refrigerator, stove, automobile and vacuum cleaner on comfortable, and sometimes luxurious, ocean liners.

Should Teach Wives The services spend hundreds of millions of dollars on troop information programs which try to explain the basic international strife between Communism and Democracy, which is why so many Americans have to be in uniform, many unwillingly. American women need these courses more than the men.

The average U. S. female tends to be a pacifist. She resents being even a small part of a military organization. She doesn't realize the tremendously important job her husband is doing in uniform. She wants life in her new rambler untroubled by transfers or overseas assignments, untroubled that the country itself is threatened as it never has been before in history.

She has also forgotten that military service, even without the imminent threat of war, is an ancient and honorable profession which has attracted red-blooded males since the dawn of history. And again everyone knows that wives and sweethearts of men in uniform can be brave and do suffer and should get sympathy. But so do wives of miners, bricklayers, milkmen and engineers suffer.

Please remember, these are the colonel's ideas.

Hotel Accommodation Is Problem As Australia Faces Busy Year

By STEWART TILLEY Melbourne—(Reuters)—Australia's chronic shortage of hotel rooms and her stringent liquor control laws are being subjected to critical scrutiny as the country prepares for a royal tour a few months from now and the 1956 Olympic games here.

Architects and building officials assert the country's hotel accommodations are 20 to 30 years behind the times while critics add that her liquor laws are even more outdated.

During the royal tour, the shortage of hotel space will be felt directly in every state capital while the pinch during the 1956 Olympics will be felt most directly in Melbourne where the games are to be held.

But in every state capital right through every year, the prevailing scarcity of hotel rooms puts a damper on the plans of thousands who, for business or other reasons, would be on the move.

The cold shoulder given by hotels to people travelling from one state to another, or from country districts into the capitals of their own states, is a pointer to what conditions will be like during the royal tour.

Aggravation of the hotel problem will arise from Australians crowding into state capitals to make sure of seeing the Queen and her husband.

CONTRACT MADE WITH GOOD PLAY How would you play today's hand if you were South, the declarer, at a contract of four hearts? West opens the five of diamonds, and you must plan the play.

If you go with the ace of diamonds, you will surely lose a diamond and two spades. If you then get a bad trump break (and you will, because West has a natural trump trick) you will be set.

If you begin by playing a low diamond from the dummy, East will take the king of diamonds and will return a spade since it is quite clear that immediate action may be necessary to prevent you from getting a spade discard on one of dummy's diamonds.

In short, you lose your contract whether you take the finesse or refuse it. When the hand was actually played, South made his contract by taking the finesse in a peculiar and deceptive way. He played the queen of diamonds from dummy at the first trick.

If the finesse had succeeded, South would have drawn trumps and would have been content to give up two spade tricks and a trump trick if necessary. Since the hand was being played at rubber bridge, South really didn't care about risking a possible overtrick; he just wanted to make sure of his game contract.

As it happened, East won the first trick with the king of diamonds. He reasoned that South could not have the jack of diamonds, since he had played the queen of diamonds from dummy at the first trick. Apparently it couldn't do any harm to return a diamond, and it might do a lot of good. Hence East returned the nine of diamonds.

This was exactly what South had hoped for. He won the second trick with the jack of diamonds, drew three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and cashed the ace of diamonds in order to discard a losing spade. Now the defenders could get only one spade, one trump, and one diamond, not enough to defeat the contract.

CARD SENSE Q.—The bidding has been: South West North East 1 Heart Pass 1 Spade Pass ? You, South, hold: Spades Q-8-3, Hearts A-Q-J-7-5, Diamonds K-Q-3, Clubs 3-2. What do you do? A.—Bid two spades. This shows a near minimum opening bid with fair support for your partner's suit. In this case you have only 14 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, but you count 1 point extra for the queen of your partner's suit. TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-8-3-2, Hearts A-Q-J-7-5, Diamonds A-Q, Clubs 3-2. What do you do? Answer Tomorrow

TWENTY YEARS AGO Oneasme Gagnon, M.P., is believed ready to seek the leadership of the Provincial Conservative party at the forthcoming convention in Sherbrooke. Maurice Duplessis, M.L.A. for Three Rivers, is believed the general choice of the delegates.

TEN YEARS AGO The Germans have scuttled thirty ships in Naples harbor to prevent them falling into the hands of the advancing Allied forces.

at 6 p.m. in New South Wales and Victoria. In the other states they close at 10 p.m. Night clubs laws are only slightly more lenient. No liquor is sold on Sundays.

Most hotels also close their dining facilities early. Some of the state premiers and government officials of the Australian states saw for the first time when they went to London for the Coronation which really good hotels and service were like and how the liquor laws of other countries differ from those here.

The critics hope that this experience will persuade them to remove such restrictions as the early closing of bars, ease laws regulating the sale of liquor with meals and remove the stipulations which make it necessary for night-club patrons to buy their liquor in advance as a means of by-passing the restrictions.

THE MATURE PARENT

A CONFIDENCE FOR MOTHERS OF BOYS TO LISTEN IN ON

It goes on endlessly, it seems. It was at a large dinner party. Highball in hand, a beautiful young woman sank down on the settee beside me. "Hello," she said. "You drinking Coke?"

"Really? When I drink I drink. Especially tonight. This is the second anniversary of my divorce."

"How nice," I said. "How's she taking the second anniversary of the divorce?"

"Oh, marvelously, simply marvelously," my beautiful neighbor told me. "She lives with my parents. I work. You can't work and take care of your baby at the same time, can you? So Amy stays with my parents. But she's happy. I'm the one who isn't adjusted. Amy never mentions her father. That means she's adjusted, doesn't it?"

"I don't know," I said. "I don't know your little girl."

"The lovely, slightly unfocused blue eyes moved away from my face to the glass in hand. For a moment or so my neighbor just stared into the clear golden liquid it held as though she were searching it for some clarifying, precious meaning or message. Then, as though she hadn't found it, she took another long swallow."

"My child's a lamb," she said. "Really? She looks like her father. He's awfully good-looking. I like Amy, but I'm not gaga about her, you understand. Definitely not gaga. I do not ooze devotion. I don't go all mushy when I show people her baby pictures. I don't look at my child the way you look at your husband on your honeymoon. That's really don't do."

"My ex-husband's mother looks at him like that," the beautiful young woman said. "She adores him out of this world. She went right on buying all his shirts for him after we were married. She took all his socks home to darn. Why couldn't she adore her own husband instead of mine? Why did she have to do everything for me so that he couldn't even hold a job long enough to pay our obstetrician for Amy? Tell me that, will you? You can't, can you? Not at a party, anyway. . . ."

"It might spoil the fun, mightn't it?" she said, getting up. "We don't want to do that, do we? No, of course we don't. I think I need a refill."

Mothers of boys, hers was the second such confidence I listened to this week. Are you listening, too?

SHORT STORY

Lucky Leslie

By Helen Longworth

They call me Lucky Leslie—not because I'm so lucky but because of my wife Celia and her phobia. Sure, lots of people believe in luck, omens and that stuff. But you could cover half the country before you'd find anyone the equal of my Celia for ideas on luck. It's not ordinary garden variety luck that Celia talks about either—not four leaf clovers, new moons and rabbit's feet. Oh, no! Celia goes in strong for lucky numbers. In her book, 7 is the luckiest, 3 is a fair number and 6 you skid by with eyes shut and hands clenched.

Celia believes if you have good fortune doing a thing a certain queer way once, then if you repeat it—bingo—you're fortunate. If Celia were to find a diamond on the corner of Main street on the 7th of the month and while wearing a red rain coat; she would believe that next month, come the 7th, she could don the same rain coat (no matter if the sun was blazing), go back and find a ruby. The queer part of it is—Celia would.

When we were married in those unpleasant days of '43, I had leave from the 15th to the month to the next. We had known each other for a couple years, Celia and I. If I'd had my way we'd have been married the 16th. But Celia said, "The 7th—that's the day for luck." Even reminding her that that date was a century away and that we would be married but a few days before I went back into action wouldn't swerve her. The 7th it was to this day. Celia believes the reason I wasn't amongst the 166 killed in our regiment was because we were married on the 7th. And maybe she's right!

Take our son—the doctor said David would be born on June 28th. Celia said she chose July 3rd. The doctor snorted. "Choose!" But David was born on the 3rd of July at 7 o'clock—just like Celia had predicted.

Her strongest belief is that things happen in 3's. If there's 2 big train wrecks, Celia expects the third. When David had measles and chicken pox inside of 2 months, I thought it enough. Celia said there would be more. He came down with the mumps on the 6th. If we were an unexpected company of 3 nights in a row, Celia makes a batch of cookies and waits for someone to drop in without warning. They always do!

But even Celia couldn't find enough lucky omens or charms to counteract the 6th of the month that was rushing at us. Old Crawford, head of Crawford Corporation said business was so bad that he'd think the office crew would be through on the 6th. I was one of the last taken on.

The 6th was coming and I had a good idea of who was going to get a pink dismissal slip in their pay envelope. Celia said she would try to think of something. Ha! We both knew we were whistling in the dark.

Early the morning of that fateful day David woke with a terrific stomach ache. Two hours later he went to the hospital for an appendicitis operation. I know, operations aren't unusual. But it was blow number one—of three. At breakfast our toaster popped sparks and smoke instead of toast. Celia chattered about the low cost of repairs. But I knew she was thinking to herself "the second trouble."

Like they had gone into deep mourning, that's the way the office force looked. I tried to write up orders like it was just any day, instead of the 6th. Celia telephoned to say she had dropped her wrist watch and broken it. Now why was a trivial thing like that worth a telephone call? Well, when the pay checks came. Mine didn't have a pink slip. I could have danced on my desk top. I rushed home to tell Celia the good news and that her theory was wrong. She took it casually. "Remember my watch," she asked blandly. "That was the third blow, see?"

But do you know something funny? She said she dropped it. I found her shoe on the dresser amidst some bits of broken glass, and some glass was stuck in the heel. You don't suppose the heel of her shoes met that watch on purpose—or, do you?

Bury Women's Institute Presented Life Membership To Mrs. E. Wooten

Bury, Sept. 23.—At the October meeting of the Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. E. A. Stokes, the highlights of the evening were the presence of the County President, Mrs. S. B. Coates, and the presentation of a Life Membership to Mrs. Everett Wooten, in recognition of her service to the W.I.

In making the presentation, Mrs. W. Buchanan, president, stressed the fact that a Life Membership is only given to a member as an honor for outstanding service to the W.I., and that all members were unanimous in their opinion that Mrs. Wooten's service is most deserving of this honor.

Mrs. S. B. Coates then pinned the Life Membership pin on Mrs. Wooten and presented her with the certificate.

Although it came as a complete surprise Mrs. Wooten, she rose to the occasion and expressed her appreciation of the honor conferred upon her.

Several years ago Mrs. Wooten broached the subject of making a rock garden on the slope flanking the steps to the cemetery, as a memorial to deceased W.I. members. While all agreed that it would be very nice, the interest was only lukewarm, however after having received permission from the Town Council and Cemetery Committee, Mrs. Wooten with the initiative and perseverance characteristic of her, went ahead with her plans. A committee was appointed to help her, but she has had full supervision, and much of the real labor involved with the project. This year she sees the result of her efforts culminating in a place of beauty, glowing with color and the admiration of all who pass.

Four Double Classes Listed On Tonight's Racing Card

Events Well Filled With Several New Horses Making Debut; Post Time 8:00; Favorites Still Rated Inside

Four classes are listed on tonight's racing card at the local race track and all four are two-heat fixtures in the mid-week program presented by the Sherbrooke Racing Club. The first event is slated for 8.00.

All events are filled but a few changes may be effected as the card was originally listed for Sunday but rain forced postponement and the club officials moved the program back to tonight. All classes are for purses of $400 each on a divided basis.

In the first class eight horses will go to wire and anyone of the starters could well romp home ahead of the field. A couple of new entries will be making their initial start in this event. The first heat is a six furlong while the second go will be a mile dash.

In the CC Pace another field of eight contestants will face the starter. The first heat is a mile affair while the second trip is a mile and a sixteenth. In this class Storm Hanover, the property of Sam Fobi, of Sherbrooke, will be making his first start on the local track for quite sometime and is rated one of the favorites.

H. K. Volo, Brady Signal, Hilda Brooke, Linda C. Grattan must all be considered before a winner is picked. Another new entry will be seen when Alpine Hanover, with F. Pouliot at the helm, will battle it out.

In the B Pace Purvis Lawason, racing secretary, has lined up another well balanced class and the wagers may have a little trouble in picking out the winners in both heats. Percy Lynaugh, who set a new mark for the drivers on Saturday, will have a starter in Allie Truax. Star Boy from Dr. Weil-leux's local stable will still be given a slight edge providing that his driver, G. Desrochers, can bring him home.

In the BB Pace, the final event of the evening, a field of seven horses will battle it out for the honors. This class will be a hard fight the whole way with Mighty Tarr, The Grey Goose, Stan H. Mabel K. Brooke and Peter R. Signal will be in the thick of the duel. A new starter, Colonel Wilkins with F. Pouliot in command, will be making his debut. This outsider is considered as a dark-horse and should be worth watching.

Yonkers Raceway's Licence Suspended

Albany, N.Y. — (P) — The State Harness Racing Commission Tuesday suspended the license of the Yonkers track, effective immediately. The track's fall season was to have started on Sept. 28.

The suspension will remain in force until all 1,200 of the harness racing track's employees sign affidavits that will include statements referring to their backgrounds.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey called on the AFL International Building Service Employees Union to take away the charter of local 32E and "only grant a new one when all the racketeers and all of those who have had any part in its leadership and evil practices have been eliminated."

About 800 members of the local are employed by Yonkers Raceway. Dewey said the local had forced a violation of the law on the Yonkers track by ordering the 800 workers not to sign affidavits required by law.

Red Wings Dump Orioles To Win Semi-Final Series

Rochester Red Wings, International League pennant winners, are all set to put their record on the line again in the post-season finals. The Wings made it three in a row over Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night, winning 8-1 to take their best-of-seven semi-final 4-3.

Rochester now awaits the winner of tonight's Montreal-Buffalo clash for a final series to determine the league entrant into the little world series.

Buffalo Bisons travelled Tuesday to Montreal for tonight's game. Montreal could win the set-to with a victory as they now lead the best-of-seven series 3-2.

The Wings won Tuesday night's game after Baltimore starter Bob Greenwood walked the first three batters and the Wings picked up four runs in the first inning.

Members Start Drive To Raise Funds At Sydney

Sydney — (P) — Two members of the Sydney hockey club, Cliff Libbus and John Mulvihill, have started a drive for funds to get Sydney Millionaires back into the Maritime Major Hockey League.

"Millionaires" executive announced the withdrawal when a fundraising campaign resulted in only $5,000 of a $12,000 objective being collected.

The status of the Sydney club will be discussed at a league meeting at New Glasgow Saturday.

No TV Or Radio In Order To Protect Theatre Network

New York — (P) — With no home television or radio for the Rocky Marciano-Rocky LaStarza heavyweight title fight Thursday at the Polo Grounds, the International Boxing Club said Tuesday blow-by-blow descriptions from ringside would be limited to newspaper publication only.

Jim Norris, IBC president, said these restrictions had to be enforced out of fairness to theatre network television, which is offering the fight on theatre screens simultaneously in 45 theatres in 35 cities.

The IBC authorized a 75-word summary of the progress of the fight for broadcast every three rounds.

Boxer Dies After Blow Over Heart

Johannesburg, South Africa — (P) — Boxer Johnny Johnson died after receiving a blow over the heart in a fight with Abie Farrell here Saturday night.

A report received here Tuesday said Johnson succumbed shortly after he was knocked out in the fifth round of a bout for the South African navy lightweight championship.

Baseball Executive Says Browns' Franchise May Go To Montreal Or Toronto; Those Interested Deny It

New York — (P) — Toronto or Montreal—and not Baltimore as everyone thinks—will get the St. Louis Browns' American League franchise in the opinion of one major league executive, but his prediction ran into denials on all sides today.

The executive, who asked not to be identified, said that at least three clubs will vote against moving the Browns to Baltimore.

"Clark Griffith of Washington and the Macks of Philadelphia don't want Bill Veech (Browns' owner) between them," he continued. "Don't expect the Yankees to vote for Baltimore, either."

"I'd say it is a 60-40 proposition right now between Toronto and Montreal, I understand Veech and Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto have some sort of an agreement between them."

But all the parties concerned were quick to deny that the executive had had his facts straight. "It's news to me," said Veech in Chicago. "That informant knows things I don't."

"It just isn't so," he said. "On the contrary, I'll vote for Baltimore no matter what the other clubs favor."

Commented Roy Mack, executive vice-president of the Athletics.

"I intend to go to the owners' meeting with an open mind on the Browns' situation. I do not intend to reach a decision on the matter until Veech has presented his plans to the owners."

The meeting to decide on the fate of the Browns is scheduled for this Sunday here.

The Yankees also are keeping an open mind on the matter. Said president Dan Topping: "We want the Browns to shift to the city which would be best for the American League," he observed. "At this time, Baltimore is as much in the picture as Toronto or Montreal."

In Toronto, Cooke said he had no comment, while in Montreal general manager Guy Moreau of the Royals said he was in favor of the Browns being transferred to the Canadian city.

"Major league ball is bound to come to Montreal sooner or later," he said. "Why not now?"

President Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who also owns the Montreal franchise, said he would not stand in the way of the city getting the franchise.

Although city officials would make no comment, Baltimore remained confident that it would get the Browns. The Sun said that when it queried city hall about the report, the officials only smiled.

Pee Wee Reese And Phil Rizzuto Play In Fifth World Series; Both Are Still Considered As Key Men In Event

New York — (P) — It'll be like old times for rival shortstops Pee Wee Reese and Phil Rizzuto when Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees meet for the fifth time in World Series competition starting next Wednesday at Yankee Stadium.

Both veterans, considered by many to be the key performers on their pennant-winning teams, were opposing shortstops when the two clubs got together for the first time in the World Series of 1941, and they're still around 12 years later, a trifle slower but as classy as ever both at bat and in the field.

For Reese, this is his fifth series—all against the Yankees—and he still is looking to play on a world championship team. Nov. 24, the Louisville colonel has a .297 overall World Series batting average.

Rizzuto, appearing in his eighth fall classic, has been on the winning side six times. The little

Granby Stops Quebec 10-5 To Lead Series 3-0

Quebec — (P) — Granby Phillies Tuesday night took a stranglehold on the best-of-seven final playoff of the Provincial Baseball League defeating Quebec Braves 10-5 to lead the series 3-0.

The Phillies, who were never lower than third in the standing throughout league play, have held a big edge over the Braves in the series so far for the Brulette Cup.

Granby jumped into the lead in the first inning with two runs but Quebec came back and took the lead with a single marker in the third and two more runs in the fifth and another in the sixth.

In the eighth inning the Phillies sent eight runs scampering across home plate to sew up the win.

Leafs Have Top Good Club, Says Former Coach

St. Catharines, Ont. — (P) — Joe Primeau, coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs for the last three years, visited his former team's training camp here Tuesday and was impressed with what he saw.

"That's a good hockey team with a couple of real big-league lines," he said.

Primeau resigned from his coaching duties at the end of last season and entered private business.

The National Hockey League Tuesday worked hard again Tuesday under freshman coach King Clancy sparing nothing in a 60-minute scrimmage. It ended in a 3-3 tie.

Adios Betty Sets World Record For Divided Race

Delaware, O. — (P) — One world's record was broken and another equaled Tuesday as Grand Circuit harness racing began its Little Brown Jug race stand at the Delaware County Fair.

Hugh Grant's Adios Betty of Bradford, Pa., driven by Del Miller, erased the 6:20 45 divided mile standard for two-year-olds, pacing fillies in winning the $10,103 Walnut Hall Farm Stake.

Adios Betty won a race off from Walnut Hall Farm's Phantom Lady to clinch the verdict. Grant's Filly took the first heat in 2:05 but dropped the second by a nose in 2:04 2-5, as Phantom Lady's mile equaled the world's record for age and gait set earlier this year by the same Adios Betty.

The third heat was timed in 2:09 1-5 as Adios Betty won by 1 1/2 lengths. The combined times 6:18 3-5, lowered the divided heat record set by Countess Vivian here last year.

Court Puts Smart Back In Sulky

Columbus, Ohio — (P) — A court order Tuesday put Wayne Curtly Smart of Delaware, Ohio, back in the sulky again.

The veteran harness horse trainer and driver won a temporary restrainer against a year's suspension by the United States Trotting Association.

Lawrence B. Sheppard, USTA president, handed Smart a one-year suspension Monday, barring him from harness activity until Sept. 7, 1954. Sheppard's action followed a similar order by the Michigan State Racing Commission last week, after the commission ruled Smart was implicated in the ad...istering of a medicine to a horse at the Wolverine Raceway in August.

Oshawa Generals Suspend For Year

Toronto — (P) — The Ontario Hockey Association Tuesday night gave Oshawa Generals of the association's junior A circuit permission to suspend operations for the coming season.

Allie Reynolds May Start World Series For New York Yanks After Classy Job Yesterday; Indians Win

It could well be that Allie Reynolds has fastballed his way into the job of opening the world series for the New York Yanks a week from today.

The veteran speed merchant certainly has erased all doubts as to his fitness. And Tuesday night he gave Charlie Dressen's sides an eyeful of some of the best pitching performed by any member of the Yankee mound staff this season.

Working against the admittedly weak Philadelphia Athletics Reynolds blazed his way to 11 strike-outs in seven innings while giving up two measly singles and walking four.

At the end of seven Casey Stengel decided he had seen enough of Reynolds for the evening. And what he had seen had made him very happy.

Neither Stengel nor Dressen has disclosed his world series pitching rotation. But Reynolds' fine form in recent weeks has inspired considerable support for the big chief to pitch the opener.

The Oklahoma Indian is 36. He has appeared in five world series, pitching 69 1/2 innings in 12 games and has a 6-2 record. The New York Giants beat him once in 1951 and the Dodgers beat him once and lost to him twice last fall.

The Yankees beat Philadelphia 7-2 Tuesday night with both Philadelphia runs coming off Bob Kuzava who pitched the last two innings. One of them was Gus Zernial's 42nd home run, a blast which kept him one ahead of Cleveland's Al Rosen in the American League home run derby.

Rosen hit his 41st in Cleveland's 8-3 victory over Chicago. By winning the Indians' virtual clinch in the second place they lead the White Sox by three games with four to play.

Brooklyn Dodgers closed their Ebbets Field season by tying the National League record of 60 victories and 17 losses. They beat

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York — (P) — The visiting expert from the corn country shook his head and said he was more puzzled than ever about Thursday night's championship fight after having watched the challenger, Roland LaStarza, wind up two solid months of training at Greenwood Lake.

"I went there expecting to see him practising a left jab and generally getting ready to stay away from Marciano for 15 rounds," he said. "If he's even got a jab I never did see it. I'll swear I do leave that boy thinks he can go in and fight Rocky and cut him up and beat him."

This reaction has been more or less typical of the scores of boxing authorities from every part of the country who have made the pilgrimage into the Ramapo hills to watch the Bronx butcher's son prepare himself for his greatest test. They went there expecting to see one thing, and saw something entirely different.

When he climbs into the Polo Grounds ring, LaStarza will be facing a murderous and ceaseless hitter, a fireplug of a man who seems impervious to punishment and to fatigue. When you watch Marciano batter his sparring partners and reflect on those terrible blows that spilled Joe Walcott at Philadelphia and Chicago, the thought of having to fend him off for 15 rounds—45 minutes—is rather frightening.

You say to yourself that if you were in LaStarza's shoes you would be practising up to be as elusive as a mountain goat. You would be devising schemes to keep from getting hit while at the same time managing to catch the eyes of the judges. This is why it has been unsettling to see the challenger doing just the opposite.

Maybe he will turn out to have been a prideful young rockhead, but LaStarza has trained with no thought in mind except to meet Marciano head-on and outbox and outslug him again. As he firmly believes he did in their other meeting exactly three and one-half years ago. He thinks he can take what Rocky hands out, barring a sucker punch he doesn't see coming.

LaStarza has followed just one set pattern in every boxing session. He had stayed on top of his men, throwing punches with a speed that has surprised many who never saw him before, and he has sternly taught himself not to step backward coming out of an exchange. He saw what happened to Walcott.

We recall that Keene Simmons, a big Negro sparring partner of LaStarza's who has fought and trained with both men, told us seriously that he would rather fight Rocky six times than Roland once. He couldn't explain it, but he said that Roland just naturally hurt him all over.

Miss Betty Bronson, Rock Island, Bride-Elect, Entertained At Shower

Rock Island, Sept. 23 — Mrs. Roy Petelle and Mrs. Earl Sykes entertained at a delightfully arranged shower, held at the home of Mrs. Petelle at Derby Line on Friday evening, in honor of the approaching marriage of her niece, Miss Betty Bronson.

Miss Bronson was lured to the home to do an errand, and upon arriving was taken by complete surprise to find a large number of her friends gathered. She was escorted to a chair artistically decorated in shades of orchid and green, over which were balloons, which were "popped" and the bride elect showered with colorful confetti. The bride-elect was then presented with a corsage of daisies.

On a decorated table before her was a grand array of prettily wrapped and ribboned parcels, with many more arranged on the floor. In opening these Miss Bronson was assisted by her grandmother, Mrs. Eugene Perkins, with whom she had made her home, and by Mrs. Herbert Flynn, of Morgan, Vt.

The lovely gifts of china, linens, blankets, pyrex, and lamps as well as other gifts for the new home were, passed around and much admired, after which Miss Bronson, in her usual charming manner, expressed thanks to her friends.

Several of the friends gave readings, which were in keeping with the occasion and much enjoyed. A buffet lunch was served, which included a pretty bride's cake, made and decorated in white and silver by Mrs. Bennett, of Beebe, the base of the cake being encircled by autumn flowers. The initial cut was made by the honored guest.
