Cradle of Confederation toured by Queen

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — It's Prince Edward Island's day today in the Queen's tour of Eastern Canada.

Her formal acknowledgment of the federal government's participation was given Tuesday when Prime Minister Pearson formally welcomed her to Canada and Governor-General Vanier was the honored guest at lunch aboard the royal yacht Britannia.

Today's program called for a visit to the historic old P.E.I. provincial building where the Fathers of Confederation first explored the possibilities of union.

Also on the program was a 15-minute visit to the provincial exhibition grounds, where Charlottetown's school children gathered, and, in the evening, a state dinner and grand ball at a local hotel.

General Vanier was to leave early today by train for Quebec, where as colonel of the Royal 22nd Regiment he will welcome the Queen for the regiment's 50th anniversary Saturday.

Tuesday night the Queen and Prince Philip were guests of honor at a royal variety performance in the new $5,600,000 Fathers of Confederation Memorial Centre. She opened the centre officially earlier in the day.

While RCMP police dogs were held on tight leash and mounted in riot-squad dungarees surveyed the crowd with high-powered binoculars, the Queen delivered a message to the crowd praising the Confederation of Canada 100 years ago.

CONFEDERATION THE ROCK — The Confederation which had its beginnings here in Charlottetown has been the rock on which the Canadian nation has built its strength and authority," she said.

She described Canada as one of the world's "older and most stable nations," and said, "may God continue to shower his blessings upon this land of Canada and her people in the years of challenge and triumph which lie ahead."

The royal variety performance which followed was a synthesis of Canadian talent, led by Lorne Green, the Ottawa-born star of the American TV show Bonanza.

Farm loan bill is passed by MPs after week talk

OTTAWA (CP) — Amid an outburst of old-fashioned sock-em Prairie politics, the Commons passed a major farm bill and gave first reading to a second Tuesday.

A hard-fought debate spanning seven sitting days ended abruptly when final approval was given unanimously to a bill providing for government loans of up to $100,000 to syndicates of three or more farmers who wish to buy and use farm machinery on a joint basis.

The measure now goes to the Senate, which resumes sittings next Tuesday after a month-long recess.

The Commons also passed a resolution leading to the introduction of amendments to the Crop Insurance Act of 1959. The changes would give added federal financial backing to provincial crop insurance plans.

Spokesmen for various parties agreed that the new legislation likely will encourage more provinces to enter the crop insurance field and extend coverage to many more farmers.

So far only three provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island — have set up crop insurance pilot projects. About 6,000 out of the 400,000 farmers in Canada were covered by crop insurance at last count. All were Prairie farmers except for 75 potato growers in P.E.I.

Conservative MPs lived up to the proceedings by accusing Agriculture Minister Hays of being "bull-headed" and of trying to destroy the Prairie Farm Assistance Administration.

Mr. Gabias was expelled from the assembly in August after a bribe - taking accusation he made against Attorney-General Rene Hamel was declared groundless by an assembly committee.

A rift between Mr. Gabias and Mr. Johnson developed during the summer but a meeting between the two men ended with conciliatory statements.

NOT SATISFIED — Speaking the day after his party lost four provincial by-elections, Mr. Gabias said he is not satisfied with the work of Mr. Johnson as opposition chief. But he added "it is very difficult for a party in opposition to win by-elections."

He said disagreements within a party are normal and tend to prevent a monolithic organization from developing.

He again criticized the current opposition for what he called its excessively "co-operative" attitude toward the Liberal government of Premier Jean Lesage.

It was this criticism that led to the previous conflict between Mr. Gabias and Mr. Johnson.

Citadel is shined for visit Saturday

QUEBEC (CP) — The big granite fortress sprawling high above the St. Lawrence River will be spic and span and alive with soldierly dash by the time an old friend returns there Saturday.

The friend is Queen Elizabeth and she will be returning to the Citadel for a third visit after stops at the historic installation in 1951 and 1959.

The Queen made her 1951 visit as Princess Elizabeth but she and Prince Philip found the Citadel's welcome fit for a monarch, the way intensive preparations are making it this time too.

The preparations are being carried out by men of the Royal 22nd Regiment, of which the Queen is colonel-in-chief. She will take advantage of her visit to dedicate a memorial on the 50th anniversary of the Royal 22nd, a predominantly French-speaking unit.

The Citadel has entertained famous guests other than Her Majesty, Churchill, Roosevelt and MacKenzie King met there in September, 1944, for one of the major top-level conferences of the Second World War.

The Queen will find the Royal 22nd snappy and the granite star on Cape Diamond, 400 feet above the St. Lawrence, sparkling when she arrives for the hour-long dedication ceremony. It will be the feature of her two-day visit to Quebec City, although she'll also speak in Quebec's legislative council chamber and attend a state dinner before leaving Sunday.

The star-shaped Citadel fortress was completed about 1830 and, before modern artillery and air warfare, it was considered impregnable.

Canada's governors - general have used it as a part - time residence since 1870 and King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, parents of the present monarch, stayed there during a 1959 visit. Highest point in Quebec City, it commands a superb view of the St. Lawrence, the city and the Laurentian Mountains.

Sherbrooke voters consider their choice

As Sherbrooke votes today

Mayor, aldermen seek return

By CUTHBERT JONES (Record staff writer)

Sherbrooke's brief and comparatively listless municipal election campaign wound up today with voters going to the polls to elect a mayor and two aldermen.

Seeking the post of Chief Magistrate are Mayor Armand Nadeau who has held the mayoralty for the past nine years and Roger Gauthier, who lists himself as a property administrator.

There are also aldermanic races in the North and West wards. In the North Ward, Ald. Paul Gervais is being opposed in his bid for a fourth term by Raymond Bergeron a furniture dealer.

Also seeking a fourth term is Ald. J. M. Jeanson, in the West, who faces two opponents—Jean Denis Guillemette, a restaurant owner, and Roger Gingués, a shoe merchant.

Two retiring aldermen whose terms expire this year — Ald. Carl Camirand in the Centre Ward and Ald. Felix Thibault in the East — were returned by acclamation on nomination day last Wednesday.

The 60 polling stations established throughout the city to serve the 20,793 electors entitled to cast their votes for mayor opened their doors at 9 a.m. and will remain open to 7 p.m.

There are also 21 polling stations in the West Ward and 15 in the North for the aldermanic contests.

A total of 6,298 electors are on the West Ward rolls and 5,271 in the North.

Comparative figures for the 1961 elections were: Mayoralty, 14,819; West Ward, 4,537; North, 3,976.

Early reports indicated that voting was steady if somewhat light.

At one North Ward poll, 13 electors turned up in the first hour or approximately three per cent of the 410 names registered.

Similar reports were received from polling stations in other sections of the city.

A modest rush was indicated around noon but the heaviest vote is expected between four o'clock this afternoon and the closing of the polls.

In the last mayoral election, 58.7 per cent of the registered voters cast their ballots.

Fight integration

CHICAGO (AP)—An attempt by a high school teacher to integrate a south side neighborhood near the home of Mayor Richard J. Daley is meeting stiff opposition from white residents.

John Walsh, 37 and white, purchased an old two - storey house in the predominantly white working-class section and rented an apartment to Paul Jones, a Negro college student, and Ovala Buntin, a native of South America.

At least 16 persons were wounded when armed police charged a Peronist mob that closed in on a car carrying de Gaulle and Argentine President Arturo Illia.

De Gaulle's short tour of Cordoba touched off three separate demonstrations by Peronists trying to use the French president's presence to draw attention to their campaign to bring exiled dictator Juan D. Peron back home.

In British election

Socialism vs. capitalism is issue

LONDON (CP)—The British election fight, sometimes heady but more often dull, rolls into its final week with the issues boiled down essentially to the question of whether the 35,700,000 voters want to risk the swings of capitalism or wade deeper into the world of socialism.

Despite Prime Minister Douglas-Home's pleading that those who tinker with socialism are toying with Russia's unhappy experiments, voters appear to be responding more readily to Labor Leader Harold Wilson's promises of a better life.

National opinion polls maintain Labor now has the edge. Stock markets have responded with anxiety.

Tshombe said a hostage

CAIRO (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government was reported holding Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe a hostage today until his government calls off gendarmes surrounding the United Arab Republic's Embassy in Leopoldville.

Tshombe abandoned his attempt to attend the conference of non-aligned nations Tuesday night after the conference told him he would not be admitted. However, the newspaper Al Ahram, which has close links to Nasser, reported the U.A.R. government had told Tshombe he would remain in the guarded Aruba Palace on the outskirts of Cairo until the U.A.R. Embassy in the Congolese capital was freed.

De Gaulle welcomed after riot

ASUNCION (AP)—President de Gaulle basked today in the welcoming warmth of Paraguay, which greeted him with vivas and rose petals after a Peronist riot broke up his farewell appearance in Argentina.

The French chief of state arrived Tuesday night to visit Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, Paraguay's dictator president, on the eighth leg of his 16-country Latin American tour.

More than 20,000 residents of Paraguay's 459-year-old capital staged a well-organized welcome demonstration here. The scene contrasted sharply with the rock, tear-gas and gun battle that erupted a few hours earlier in the industrial city of Cordoba, a Peronist stronghold in central Argentina.

At least 16 persons were wounded when armed police charged a Peronist mob that closed in on a car carrying de Gaulle and Argentine President Arturo Illia.

De Gaulle's short tour of Cordoba touched off three separate demonstrations by Peronists trying to use the French president's presence to draw attention to their campaign to bring exiled dictator Juan D. Peron back home.

Both major parties talk of the need of stripping Britain of "restrictive practices" which tend to enforce price rigidity and make Britain less competitive in world markets. And both seem to agree there must be restraint by management and labor to prevent runaway prices.

Wilson has accused the government of hiding the truth about Britain's economic "crisis" by borrowing heavily from other countries to finance a widening gap between high imports and trailing exports.

He fishes for fares with red, white and blue lures

By CY FOX

MONTREAL (CP) — When Pierre Delagrave is asked how he won his wartime MBE, he replies:

"I got it for finding pork in a British sausage."

The former RCAF squadron leader is on an even more challenging search now. As a CNR vice-president, he's trying to hunt down the railway's lost passengers and bring them back.

Since the Second World War, thousands have abandoned rail travel for the automobile, bus or plane. Luring them back is the single problem of Mr. Delagrave, 53, a widely travelled native of Quebec City, who is in charge of passenger sales and service.

His methods are off-beat. So is his background, for a top railroader. He was an international refugee official when he joined the railway just six years ago. A Gallic bonhomie is reflected in his approach to brightening traditionally dreary train life.

At his paper-piled desk high in a Montreal office building, Mr. Delagrave ponders figures showing that between 1949 and 1962 the proportion of the inter-city travel market held by railway companies in Canada dropped to 3.9 from 14.1 per cent. The percentage of such travel miles accounted for by private cars and commercial buses rose to 90.9 from 84.2 while air transport jumped to 5.2 from 1.7.

HAS NEW APPROACH

Mr. Delagrave came to the CNR's passenger division in 1960 and since then one of the division's responses to the sales challenge has been the fare plan known as red, white and blue.

The new plan reflects his outsider's approach to what he calls "the problem of marketing trains."

The scheme replaces fares based on mileage with rates that vary by days and in accordance with the different travel seasons of the year.

Introduced on CNR trains between Montreal and the Maritimes in 1962, it turned the Ocean Limited into a profit-maker, Mr. Delagrave said.

Since its extension throughout the system this year, bookings on the Trans-Continental between Toronto and Vancouver have increased but Mr. Delagrave gave no specific figures on its effects.

Passenger service revenue for the CNR in 1963 was listed as $44,400,000 compared with $44,000,000 in 1962. The company's gross revenue last year was $800,000,000 but it showed an over-all loss of $43,014,000. Better schedules and service and improved equipment form the other parts of a four-part passenger program instituted by the free-wheeling former airman.

WOOLING PASSENGERS — Pierre Delagrave, vice-president of Canadian National Railways, is offering everything from bingo to coloring books to people who ride on his passenger trains. His policy of helping passengers play away the miles is gradually winning back passengers who forsook rail travel for cars and planes. (CP Photo)

As president of the Canadian Tourist Association, he thinks such efforts to improve Canada's transportation services can't help but boost the nation's appeal to foreign vacationers.

The CNR executive is unconventional in more than his methods of railway salesmanship.

His higher education consisted of what he terms "private training in accounting and economics" and not the usual passage through universities.

"In this respect at least, I am a commoner," he said.

Much of his RCAF service was in staff work. In 1944 he went to Ottawa as deputy administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Several years in other government posts followed and in 1952 Mr. Delagrave derouijoyen to Geneva to become deputy chief of budget and administration for the Inter-governmental Committee for European Migration.

HAPPY IN EXILE

Refugees were the organization's chief concern. The Quebecer found the work eminently worthwhile and recalls, "Never was there a happier Canadian-in-exile."

In 1958 Mr. Delagrave's wartime chief at the prices board, Donald Gordon, offered him a post with the CNR, which Mr. Gordon now heads.

Back to Canada came Mr. Delagrave, this time as special assistant to the CNR's vice-president and secretary.

Now, his hair turning a distinguished white, he bounces around the passenger department radiating a sense of European joie de vivre which may account for the interest he takes in turning the travel hours of his passengers into fun.

"People often object to train travel because they think of it as boring. We want to make it as entertaining as possible."

Hence the Delagrave concept of "playing the miles away," which can include anything from bingo in the club cars to coloring books for the children.

Protestant, RC acclamations

School board elections

Lorne Campbell and Jeffrey Wilson were re-elected by acclamation to the Sherbrooke Protestant Board of School Commissioners in elections held yesterday.

Both Mr. Campbell, sitting chairman, and Mr. Wilson will serve for three year terms.

Mr. Campbell has been a member of the school board since May 1959, and Mr. Wilson since February, 1963.

William Steele was yesterday re-elected by acclamation to serve another term on the Sherbrooke Roman Catholic School Commission.

Mr. Steele represents English-language Catholics on the commission.

He has served in the post since 1955.

In a post-election declaration Mr. Steele expressed thanks to English-Catholic ratepayers for returning him as a commissioner.

"As a member of the commission for nine years, it is with a desire to continue to serve that I accept," he said.

He promised to be objective in all things concerning education. Before making decisions, he said, he would consider questions from the viewpoints of the different groups concerned: taxpayers, teachers, administrators, and students.

"I hope sincerely," he said, "that Quebec will continue to give a school to English-Catholic minorities in all that touches our school matters. Evidence of such fairness is well demonstrated here in Sherbrooke," he said.

Domtar Windsor modernization to cut jobs by 200

MOCK FIRE, EVACUATION IN CITY

DEMONSTRATIONS HELD — Above, members of the Sherbrooke fire department demonstrate the modern method of extinguishing an oil fire with dried chemicals.

Below, students at the Mont Notre Dame Convent line up to be counted after being rudely awakened at 10.30 last night for surprise fire drill and evacuation. Both demonstrations were held by the Sherbrooke fire department in connection with Fire Prevention Week.

Modernization of the kraft facilities at the Windsor, Que., plant of Domtar Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd., at an estimated cost of $12,000,000 was announced in Montreal yesterday by W. N. Hall, president of the Dominion Tar and Chemical Co. Ltd., parent company of Domtar Pulp and Paper.

During a press conference at which an $85,000,000 expansion program for Dominion Tar and Chemical was announced, Mr. Hall said that while employment at Windsor will be reduced from 800 to less than 600 with the modernization, "our only alternative was completely closing down of the mill because it has become completely uneconomical."

The $12,000,000 improvement program at Windsor will include a new woodyard for the storage and handling of wood chips and a new wood room complete with three new large barking drums and chippers.

The present Windsor bleach plant will be completely replaced with a new building and equipment for a five-stage bleach process, increasing capacity to 400 from 125 tons a day.

Modifications also will be made to the pulp dryer to increase the daily capacity to 250 tons from 70 tons. Auxiliary equipment also will be improved.

Target date for completion of the Windsor project is late next year.

"The new equipment will allow for greater efficiency and wider use of available wood species, including hardwoods," Mr. Hall said, "as well as wood chips produced from sawmill waste."

Most of the increased pulp production at Windsor will go to captive markets — that is, markets provided by the company's other divisions. Any surplus will be exported to the United States, the United Kingdom and Europe.

Mr. Hall said that $62,000,000 of the $85,000,000 expansion expenditures will go towards establishing a pulp and paper operation at Lac Quevillon, Que., some 300 miles northwest of Ottawa in the Abitibi district.

Installation of a new fine paper machine and extensions to shipping and stock preparation systems at the Cornwall, Ont., mill will cost another $11,000,000.

Domtar already is spending $15,000,000 at its Red Rock, Ont. pulp and paper operation to improve its pulping process. This will bring Domtar expenditures for expansion by 1967 to a total of $100,000,000.

Federal and Quebec tax incentives were the key to the decision to build the Lac Quevillon project, Mr. Hall said. The company "makes no bones" about the federal incentives also deciding on expansion at Cornwall.

Mr. Hall said that construction at Lac Quevillon was "subject to satisfactory conclusion of final arrangements." He would not elaborate but it was understood the "final arrangements" were an eventual report.

Border alderman resigns

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — Thomas Bowen resigned as alderman at the Rock Island Town meeting held on Monday evening, in the village hall. Mr. Bowen's resignation was received and accepted with regrets.

He had been elected to complete the unfinished term of Stuart Edgar, who also resigned a few months ago.

Border Electric made the Town an offer to service the street lighting and supply bulbs. A contract will be signed with the owners to do this.

Immediate repairs are to be done on the Tomifobia river dam in Rock Island so that the spring highwater and flooding ice will not take it out.

The council agreed to negotiate purchase of a parcel of land from Mrs. Leo Gagniere, in the Municipality of Beebe for the purpose of the Rock Island sewer disposal plant. This purchase is subject to the agreement of Beebe Council.

The Phelps Street extension in the new section of Rock Island, East of the Highway 91, which is rapidly being developed and new homes built, is to be paved, tentatively this fall, and a grant is to be applied for.

A letter was read from Clarence Kendall, Principal of Sunnyside School, in regards to safety of children in the school zones. Mr. Kendall noted that cars speed by in the 20 mile zone, many ignore the street school signs and obey only when they spot the police car. The Council feel the youngster's safety is a responsibility of the school.

H. M. Cass, chairman of the Roads committee was authorized to enter into an agreement the same as last year for sidewalk clearance of snow, and to continue negotiations with local contractors and report at the November meeting. A special meeting could also be called to decide upon a contract.

A letter was read from the principal of Sunnyside school noting motorists passing school buses, speeding in a 20 mph school zone, whenever the police car is not in the area. This same situation arises in all school zones. The council felt this is a matter for the Rock Island Council to deal with as Sunnyside entrance and exits are in that Town. However the Council recommends some action be taken. With only one police car to patrol it is impossible for the police to be at every school zone at the same time, it was noted.

Extra policing is to be done on Halloween night. An offer was made by Border Electric to patrol and service the street lighting formerly done by Southern Canada Co. This offer will be studied and a reply made before the end of December.

The secretary is authorized to issue building permits, and to inform the applicant that the permit does not give a guarantee of service of water, lights, roads, when the building is in undeveloped sections.

Stanstead is to adopt fire code

STANSTEAD — (Special) — The Stanstead municipal council, October 5, Monday, agreed to adopt the fire prevention code and by-laws of the province, adding one of their own, that failure to adhere to the code will be punishable by a fine of not less than $10 and not more than $50.

The police committee reported it had met in Rock Island with the committees of Beebe, and Stanstead.

There have been complaints of racing, speeding, minors driving without a license and judging from the police report of fines collected the past month, the department is clamping down on offenders.

The police report noted 161 calls received at the control center, of which nine were accident investigations, 14 other investigations, assistance to four fires and the public seven disturbance calls, 2193 miles were patrolled.

Mayor E. J. Struthers will contact George Vaillancourt, MLA, to have the Provincial Police investigate reports of some hotels open for business at illegal hours. He will also express the appreciation of the council for the paving of Cartier Street, St. Joseph's Blvd., and Young Streets extension in the municipality.

FORBIDS SUNDAY WORK

Recently appointed, the royal commission is to begin public hearings next month on whether the seven-day week should apply to the pulp and paper industry. At present, Quebec laws forbid Sunday operations in that industry and the industry as a whole claims that the shorter work-week has hurt Quebec competitively because of the lost time in starting up mills after the one-day layoff.

Solicitor-General Wagner wins seat

Results of Monday's voting in four Quebec constituencies only serve to support the old political axiom that "In Quebec, provincial governments do not lose by-elections." But the clean sweep of the four counties, including the recapture of the traditionally Union Nationale riding of Dorchester, can be taken by the Liberal administration of Premier Lesage that the Government's policies are meeting with the general support of the electors.

electors saw fit to return candidates of the ruling party. Perhaps most gratification will be expressed in the election of Solicitor General Claude Wagner in Verdun. After several years as a crown prosecutor and later Sessions Court judge, during which period he became prominent for his "get tough" policy towards the criminal elements, Mr. Wagner accepted the Solicitor General's post. Immediately he implemented a number of reforms in legal procedure designed to modernize the cumbersome processes of justice in this province and to curb the activities of organized crime rings.

It won't be long until you'll be putting antifreeze in your radiator, or you and the car will steam.

Good traffic safety habits at home

In addition to the conventional subjects, many modern schools in Canada are becoming more and more concerned with driving and traffic safety for school age youngsters. Many schools including a number in the Townships, have full-fledged traffic safety programs. Safe driving techniques are also conducted in a class room atmosphere in some schools.

week, members and guests heard Mrs. Ruth B. Cohen, chairman of traffic safety and driver education for the Quebec Federation of Protestant Home and School Associations, point out that in addition to school programs, there is much that parents can do to educate their children properly with regard to traffic and driving safety. For even with increased emphasis in school on this aspect of modern living, the proper home atmosphere is important. As Mrs. Cohen said, one of the roles parents can play is in the setting of proper examples. Even the best school program will be of little value if car-driving parents persistently display those all-too-common bad safety and driving habits which we criticize in everyone else.

The easiest way for parents to find out how much they don't know is to help their teen-agers with homework.

New Hampshire lottery no gold mine

Because of U.S. federal laws which prevent the general publication and broadcasting of lottery particulars, there has been a certain aura of mystery about the results of the first New Hampshire State sweepstakes. The lottery was widely heralded as a means of increasing the revenues of the financially depressed primary schools.

So now news stories tell us that the gross proceeds of the first sweepstakes were about $5,700,000. After the deductions for costs, payments to winning ticket holders and taxes, the schools netted about $2,500,000. This will be distributed on a per-pupil basis among the school districts — about $20 for each pupil, or five per cent of the $400 per pupil average expenditure in New Hampshire. The sweepstakes, it may be concluded, offers no major solution to a government's revenue problems.

Other papers say:

Redistribution must have priority

Commoners speak plaintively of a late Fall holiday but they will not deserve it until they pass the redistribution legislation. This system designed to take politics out of redistribution is greatly to be desired. The element of urgency is that until redistribution on the basis of the 1961 census has been decided, any election must be fought on the basis of the 1951 census. The shifts of population since 1951 have been extensive and numerous changes in constituency boundaries must be necessary. The estimate is that at least two years will be required to allow the representation commissioners to finish their work. The last six in Parliament are regrettable. If the MPs go on holiday with this part of their work unfinished they will appear heedless of justice in representation. That is an accusation they might be expected to fear more than most.

Finland finds a way with youth in country-wide club network

HELSINKI, Finland — (NEA) Formation of a midget racing car club got a group of aimless teenagers off the tree-lined streets of a Helsinki suburban community. But its organization did more than busy idle hands. It shed new light on the broadening role of youth clubs in Finland. The city fathers of Tapiola had spent six months trying to deal with their problem of street-gathering young people. Finally, a representative of the Youth Association of Finland suggested the racing car idea. Now members of the club build their own cars — similar to go-carts — and race them on a supervised sports car track. They're too busy to get into trouble. The Youth Association is the national headquarters for the 1,403 youth clubs in this country. The setup is similar to that of the Kiwanis, with local, district and finally national membership. Said a Youth Association spokesman: "Our young people, like those everywhere, are being pulled apart by so many alternatives and decisions that they don't know what way to turn. "We feel we have succeeded in reaching the 'lonely youth!'" In a nation of 4 1/2 million persons, being a member of some youth club is getting to be almost as vital to those 15 and over as strapping on their first skis for a cross-country run. The political implications of being able to draw upon 1,403 organizations united by

BY AILEEN SNODDY common interests may sound ominous to some. Club executives, perhaps remembering how prewar Germany utilized its youth, are determined to keep the clubs non-political. The movement started in the 1880s to bring culture and self-education to rural youth. Now local clubs open doors to members who want to dance, learn languages, act in amateur plays, discuss politics or take part in group gymnastics. Hobbies, crafts and preservation of folkways draw members to these special-interest groups. Each club meets one night a week and those in more than one club have a busy schedule. The Youth Association executive said he feels the network of clubs offers a quicker way to reach antisocial teenagers than resources in other countries. One recent success are "youth cafes" where teenagers meet to dance and drink soda pop. "Our club members who helped start these," he explained, "then go to the cafes, try to get close to the aimless ones and encourage them to join a club. If they belong to some club and not a gang, then they have an interest in something and aren't just aimless." Counseling also is reatively new to club activity in Finland. The Big Brother approach often is used, but unfortunately there is a shortage of trained youth workers here, too. More "youth" pastors are being trained to stimulate growth of church-affiliated clubs which are a minor factor at present. What do Finnish teenagers want help with? (1) advice on choosing a profession, and (2) how to get along with people. There is some governmental and municipal money but clubs build clubhouses and support themselves on money from as many as 35,000 festivals and amateur theatrical productions each year. Tourists to the smaller Finnish towns are treated to rousing folk dances put on by folk dancing club members. One such dance group will tour the United States and Canada in November and December. The 30 members represent many folk dance clubs and it took 15 years of planning and saving so they could appear in such cities as New York, Fitchburg, Mass.; Duluth, Minn.; Marquette, Wis.; Milwaukee, Waukegan, Ill.; Cleveland and Ashtrubula, Ohio, and Toronto and Sudbury, Ont. Visitors who see the Finnish group may wonder at the age of some of these "youth" club members. Once a member, always a member, the Association executive explained. In fact, the youth association also thinks it has a key to helping the older person meet retirement. "Being a member of a youth group from age 15 to 60 or 65 helps a man or woman retire," the spokesman said. "They spend most of their lives having an interest. When they retire, it is easier for them to keep active, choose new interests."

(From the Record of Friday, October 7, 1949) The Quebec - Sherbrooke presbytery of the United Church of Canada registered "grave concern" and "opposition" to any proposal for setting up state lotteries in the Province of Quebec, in a resolution presented in a report of the Committee on Evangelism and Social Service at the fall session of the presbytery meeting in Plymouth Church. In stating its opposition to a recent announcement by Premier Duplessis that a sweepstakes the profits from which would go to educational and social services may be legalized in Quebec, the presbytery said that lotteries are not a dependable source of revenue, that it creates an "unsound set of values" incompatible with Christian ideals, and that "it places the burden unfairly on the poor."

Wholly alien UK adopts US campaign tricks

LONDON — (NEA) — In a painful development for Empire-firsters, techniques and terminology of American politics are getting all mixed into the British general election.

Labor party leader Harold Wilson is in trouble with some of his countrymen because they think he's trying to get elected on Oct. 15 by using some of the same tactics employed by John F. Kennedy in 1960.

And some British Conservative party people are not only bewildered but unhappy by the use of such terms as "conservative" to describe GOP candidate Barry Goldwater and his policies.

This is the first time in 40 years that a British general election campaign has coincided with a U.S. presidential campaign. And in those years the revolution in communications media has brought the two nations much closer.

The controversy over Wilson has been sparked chiefly by his challenge to Conservative Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home to meet him in face-to-face television debate. This, declares a London Evening Standard editorial, is "wholly alien to the British political system. The prime minister and the leader of the opposition are not isolated individuals seeking the lonely summit of presidential power... but representatives of the constituency which elected them."

As the politicking grows more intense there have been dark hints that Wilson would like to replace the office of prime minister by that of an executive-type president. He might also introduce such innovations as the American-style press conference. There is little doubt that Wilson has studied the late President Kennedy's campaign. He even seems to have adapted some of those 1960 Democratic slogans. "America," said Kennedy, "must get moving again." "Britain," says Wilson, "must get moving again." Kennedy: "This is a great country, but it must be greater." Wilson: "We in the Labor party think Britain can do better."

As for this "extremist" label (which Goldwater's opponents have tried to paste on him) no one could accuse the typical British conservative of being extreme. His hero is Queen Victoria's pin-up boy, Disraeli, and his party slogan is "Don't Rock the Boat."

British Conservatism may seem straightforward to the natives, but foreigners may find it confusing. "It is traditionally the right-wing party in parliament," according to the "Penguin Dictionary of Politics," which states in the next breath that it "has accepted the principles of the welfare state."

For a Royal commissioner

Biculturalism a busy business

OTTAWA (CP) — Week commented Paul Lacoste, commissioned co-secretary. He said internal reports are being prepared for the 10 commissioners to summarize and interpret the opinions and proposals expressed by participants in the grass-roots forums last spring. The commission is considering whether to draft an interim report to the government on its initial findings, but no decision has been made so far. More briefs are expected from key national organizations and for this reason no firm schedule has been worked out to date for the public hearings where the briefs will be made public and discussed in detail. The commission originally expected to begin its hearings in late September or early October, but this target date likely will be pushed back to November or December. The bulk of the hearings will be held in the first half of 1965. The commission plans to visit all 10 provincial capitals and several cities in Ontario and Quebec. Appointed July 22, 1963, the commission is not expected to issue its final report until 1967. Results of many research projects will not be available until a year from now. Several hundred servicemen and civil servants and officials of crown corporations have been asked to air views about the extent of bilingualism in private interviews with commissioners and staffers. These interviews will be worked into the schedule of public hearings as time becomes available.

The detective story as we know it was born in the pages of Graham's Magazine, a Philadelphia journal, in April 1841, with the publication of a short story, "The Murders in the Rue Morgue," by Edgar Allan Poe. Poe followed this with two more detective stories: "The Mystery of Marie Roget," and "The Purloined Letter."

King coal created Cumberland

CUMBERLAND, B.C. (CP)—Cumberland, made famous by King Coal, is surviving despite it. A small group of men organized the Union Company and later the Dunsmuir family of Victoria, who owned coal mines near Nanaimo, formed Union Colliery Company, later to become Canadian Collieries. The city was named Cumberland, the population rose to 3,000 and King Coal reigned. Even after the Second World War, many thought coal was to stay. But cheapness of other fuels and increasing expenses led to the closing of two mines. Five homes are privately owned. They have been painted and modernized. Stores and businesses have brightened their premises and remain open Saturday nights. Although a logging operation has recently moved, houses sell as fast as they become vacant, thanks in part to nearby RCAF Station Comox. If there is a ghost town, it is Chinatown. Once it was second only to San Francisco's Chinatown. Now only a handful of the Chinese residents remain. Most of the 30 or so Chinese still here quietly remember the past amid the brooding, silent and decaying Chinatown.

The Doctor Says
TREATMENT TODAY PROMISES GOUTY ARTHRITIS RELIEF
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT M.D.

Q—I am taking ColBenem for gouty arthritis. It works fine, but will it have any harmful effects?

A—You are taking a combination of colchicine, an old standby in the treatment of gout, and the newer probenecid, which helps your system to eliminate the urate crystals that precipitate in the tissues and cause the pain and inflammatory reaction of gout.

This combination is much safer for prolonged use than probenecid alone. Your doctor should carefully regulate your maintenance dose—the smallest dose you can take and not have attacks of gout.

Anyone who is taking probenecid in any form must avoid aspirin or any other form of salicylates. Colchicine in too large a dosage may cause diarrhea. This would be a reason to reduce the dose if other causes of diarrhea are ruled out first.

Q—My eye doctor told me the pressure in my eyeballs was dangerously high. He did no other tests, but told me to return in two weeks, during which time my fluid intake is drastically restricted. This is a hard routine for me to follow. Do fluids play such a big part in developing glaucoma? If so, how much liquid is safe in a 24-hour period?

A—Restricting your fluids helps your doctor determine in a doubtful or borderline case whether you have glaucoma.

In either case, the restriction is temporary. If it is determined you haven't got glaucoma, you may be able to drink fluids freely but, having had the finger of suspicion pointed your way, you should have your eyeball tension checked at least twice a year.

If you have glaucoma, your doctor will treat it and allow you a more liberal fluid intake.

Q—What could cause a severe headache on awakening each morning? It eases up after coffee and aspirin. Could it be caused by arthritis or low blood sugar?

A—Early morning headaches may be caused by sleeping in a poorly ventilated room (especially if coal gas seeps into the room), using too high a pillow, chronic kidney disease, or chronic sinus trouble with obstruction of the drainage of mucus from your nasal sinuses into your throat.

Arthritis and low blood sugar would not cause this type of headache.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Bruck Mills plant dismantles landmark of Cowansville area

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — More than 50 spectators witnessed the dismantling of a landmark in Cowansville yesterday. The 45 ton water tower, second and last of the towers that have stood at Bruck Mills, Cowansville for 63 years, was taken down by a 90 ton crane at a cost of $5,000. The company architect stated that the tower was being removed because it had outlived its usefulness.

The tower stood 150 feet high and 24 feet across. It could hold 50,000 gallons of water. The tank alone weighed 25 tons.

By DAVID SLABOTSKY

said architect E. Bonar Lindsay. The tower was originally designed to serve as a fire prevention unit, but the company replaced it with a separate water supply from the new city reservoir. The space was also required for plant expansion, said Mr. Lindsay.

Bruck Mills employees were evacuated for the operation, said Mr. Lindsay, as the crane set the tower down in three separate parts, each one weighing approximately 15 tons. Although the dismantling operation itself took only a day, previous work had been done a few days before. The wooden insulation on the water-pipes took three days to remove, said Mr. Lindsay, and most of the torch-cutting had been taken care of before the actual work of taking down the tower got underway.

The present tower had been standing for approximately 25 years, said Mr. Lindsay, while the previous one lasted 38 years before collapsing. It was constructed of wood, said Mr. Lindsay.

The tower which has just been taken down would cost about $40,000 to replace said Mr. Lindsay, but he has not disclosed what the company proposes to do with it.

Reprimand given to secretary

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — A severe reprimand was handed down Monday night to Fernand Barsalou, secretary of the local Cowansville School Commission, for having authorized an $800 contract to Foster Clouture Company without consulting the committee as a whole.

The reprimand was given at the school commission meeting. "The taxpayers are represented by the entire council," said Dr. Gregory Page, "and only the entire council can make decisions of this nature."

Although the council is not revoking the contract, members of the council "strongly advised" the secretary against any repetitions of this action.

Gibraltar's future is under discussion by UN committee

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Gibraltar, a two-square-mile fortress guarding the entrance to the Mediterranean and the crossroads of Europe and Africa, is Britain's newest colonial headache at the United Nations.

It is an issue that calls up echoes of 18th-century European power politics and modern overtones of the cold war and the British election.

Britain acquired the fortress almost by accident 260 years ago and now is under attack because it is moving the colony towards greater internal self-government.

The site of the debate is the General Assembly's 24-member colonialism committee, which has been discussing the future of "The Rock" for the last two weeks.

The accuser is Spain, and the nub of its case is that Britain agreed, under the Treaty of Utrecht of 1713, that if it ever pulled out of Gibraltar the fortress would be returned to Spain.

Now, the Spaniards say, Britain is trying to perpetuate its hold in Spain by moving the colony to a status of independent association with Britain.

Britain replies that it does not accept the Spanish interpretation of the Treaty of Utrecht and plans to go on defending the colony.

In the middle are the fewer than 25,000 "Gibraltarians," who say they don't want to be turned over to Spain and are content with the way things are going now.

On the sidelines is the Soviet Union, charging that Britain is trying to maintain a base threatening the "national liberation movements" of the peoples of Asia and Africa. The Russians demand that the colony be demilitarized, hinting that it might become a base for NATO nuclear submarines.

Also on the sidelines, at least for the moment, is Britain's Labor party, which has charged the ruling Conservatives with being too soft with Francisco Franco, Spanish chief of state.

The UN debate has been marked by Spanish charges of British duplicity going all the way back to the Spanish war of succession.

British and Dutch forces captured the stronghold in 1704 during that war, acting on behalf of Archduke Charles of Austria, a claimant of the Spanish throne.

But the British admiral, Sir George Rooke, ordered the British flag raised on his own responsibility and claimed the rock for Queen Anne. The Spaniards ceded control to Britain in the Treaty of Utrecht nine years later and British possession was confirmed in the Treaty of Versailles of 1763.

Spanish UN delegate Jaime de Pines charged that Britain, after conquering the fortified promontory, expelled the true inhabitants and brought in a "prefabricated" population which has no right to "dispose of a part of Spain" as it pleases.

He did not challenge statements by Gibraltar's new chief minister and opposition leader that the inhabitants are united in wanting to retain the association with Britain.

But he warned that, if Gibraltar receives self-determination without British withdrawal, Spain will cut vital economic links with the colony and declare its residents "persona non grata" on Spanish territory.

END OF 50,000 GALLONS — The water towers at Bruck Mills, Cowansville, have been landmarks for 63 years. According to company officials, the present tower was being dismantled because it had outlived its use as a means of fire prevention. The tank could hold 50,000 gallons of water and weighed 25 tons. Performing the dismantling operation is a 90 ton crane with a 150 foot boom. Cost of the operation was $5,000, said officials.

Silver wedding is celebrated at Derby Line

DERBY LINE — Mr. and Mrs. Grant Guerin were pleasantly surprised on Sept. 26, at a gathering held in honor of their silver wedding anniversary, which had fallen three days previously.

The couple had been invited by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Judd, of Derby, to accompany them on a drive terminating at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sweet, at Holland Pond, where they were greeted by 15 relatives and friends.

The steak dinner included an anniversary cake, made by Mrs. Vivian Kelly and decorated by Mrs. Robert Stratton, in white roses, the third tier topped with wedding bells and leaves, from which fell white satin ribbons tied with 25 love knots.

Following the presentation of gifts and cards to the guests of honor, a social evening of dancing and chatting was enjoyed. The party was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Judd, Derby, Mr. and Mrs. Stratton, Irasburg. Guests were from Norton, Holland, Newport, Irasburg, Barton, Derby and Boundary.

On their anniversary, Sept. 23, Mr. and Mrs. Guerin had been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carter, in Derby, at a dinner attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Judd, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Sloan, Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stratton and family, of Irasburg. As this was also the birthday of Mr. Carter the three celebrants received gifts. Dinner served by the host and hostess, included a cake, one half being decorated in birthday motif, the other half in anniversary motif, a social evening followed.

Grant Guerin and Ruth Judd Stratton, who were married on Sept. 23, 1939, at Derby, have spent their married life at Derby Line and have a son, Mr. Robert Stratton, and two grandchildren.

FIRE PREVENTION DEMONSTRATION — The Danville volunteer fire brigade, under the direction of Chief Paul Breton, Saturday, began a week's program of lectures, demonstrations and recreation activities with a display of the force's working power held on the grounds, near the town hall. In the photo, Chief Breton and a volunteer fireman give oxygen to a victim overcome by smoke. Schools and business establishments will be visited and inspected, contests will be given to the students, fire extinguishers will be re-filled and chimneys in the town will be cleaned. A parade and further demonstrations will be held at the close of the week with the crowning of one of four candidates, Sherwood Royal, Leona McDonald, Nicole Breaud, Madeline Mayette, for the title of "Miss Fire Prevention".

R.J. Porterlance gets CPR post

R. J. PORTERLANCE

MONTREAL — Rene J. Porterlance, of Sherbrooke, has been appointed superintendent of Canadian Pacific's Laurentian division with headquarters at Montreal. It was announced by J. L. Brazeau, vice-president and general manager of the railway's Atlantic region.

Mr. Porterlance, who brings 34 years of experience to his new posting, succeeds E. L. Guertin, assigned to special duties.

In his new position, Mr. Porterlance assumes jurisdiction over operations on Canadian Pacific's rail lines extending from Ottawa to Quebec City. He joined Canadian Pacific in 1930 in the motive power department being made locomotive foreman for the Quebec Central Railway at Vallee Junction, Quebec, in 1946. He has been assistant superintendent and master mechanic for Q.C.R. at Sherbrooke since 1961.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"When the breaks came, I was ready I worked hard for a whole year to train myself. The ones who don't succeed in films are those who aren't prepared to follow through when the breaks do come."

Who said that? Anjanette Comer. Who is this year's Hollywood success story. And no one is less surprised than she is.

The name is all her own. "Anjanette" was thought up by her mother, who was seeking a name that was different. As far as Anjanette knows, she is the sole possessor of it. Her monopoly soon may end. Already, she noted with a trace of indignation, it has turned up on "Burke's Law" as the name of a character.

Comer is the family name. "A lot of people have suggested I change it," said the actress. "I never considered a change because my father would have been too disappointed. He has no son to carry on the family name."

It's pronounced Com-ber. No puns about Anjanette being a comer, please. She has arrived. She has the lead with Robert Morse and George Maharis in "Quick, Before It Melts."

She also has the lead with Morse, Jonathan Winters, Robert Morley, John Gielgud, Dana Andrews, Liberace, etc., in "The Loved One."

Scarcely a year out of the Pasadena Playhouse Dramatic School, she is well on her way. She won her first job not by tests but by readings—cold deliveries of scripts she hadn't seen before.

First came a Gunsmoke, then an Arrest and Trial. Her second professional appearance won her an Emmy nomination. The word spread from producer to producer: The girl is good.

HENDERSON VALE — Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Wright, who spent the weekend in Lennoxville with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Little, also visited Mr. and Mrs. Dufferin Annesley, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Nobes and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Kelso.

Mr. Donald and Douglas Kelso, of Sherbrooke, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Kelso.

The Misses Jean and Mae Wright and Master Lloyd spent the weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Little, in Inverness.

HUNTINGVILLE — Miss Emma Nilsson and Miss Jean Murrant, of Ste. Agathe des Monts, were weekend guests at Riverside cottage, the home of Mrs. H. Hyatt.

Mrs. William Strong, of Ottawa, Mrs. H. Hepworth, of Rawdon, Mrs. A. Phipps, of Melbourne, Miss E. Nilsson and Miss Jean Murrant, of Ste. Agathe, were visitors of Mrs. E. Dewing.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

TACTICS CHANGE WITH DEFENSE

By OSWALD JACOBY

In "Bridge Writers' Choice 1964," Harrison Gray of England chose a routine four-spade contract in which declarer had to adopt one plan after another to counteract good defense. The trump lead was most unwelcome. He won it in his own hand and led a heart toward dummy's king. West might hold the ace, but no such luck. East put the ace on the king and led a second trump.

A second heart lead lost to East's jack and East led the third round of trumps. South was back in his own hand. He led a low club and finessed dummy's ten. Finally, something had worked.

He led a low heart from dummy. Perhaps the queen and ten would fall together—they didn't. South ruffed the heart and led a second club to dummy's ace. When the queen of clubs failed to fall, it looked as if South would have to depend upon a club break, but he had another arrow in his quiver.

He cashed dummy's king of spades, discarding a diamond from his hand. Then he led the eight of hearts. East won with the queen and South discarded another small diamond.

At this point West was squeezed. He had to unguard either the king or queen of diamonds. Either discard would give declarer the rest of the tricks and his contract.

Pass	2 Spds.	Pass	?
You.	South, hold: Spades, K-Q-7-2; Hearts, 8-4; Diamonds, A-K-9-5-3; Clubs, A-2.

What do you do?
A—Just bid four spades. Your partner may have a very weak double.

Today's Question
Instead of bidding two spades, your partner bids three clubs over your two hearts. What do you do now?

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC introduced its new economy-size comedy package Monday night.

90 Bristol Court is the title for 1½ hours of television which really is three separate situation comedies. It concerns people who live in a posh garden apartment.

First of the trio was Karen, a pretty teen-ager played by Debbie Watson. It got off to a sluggish start with something about a blind date followed by prolonged confusion about identities.

Harris Against the World, the second segment, stars that excellent actor Jack Klugman. The first episode was an exaggerated story about an incredibly stupid secretary and a lost report which produced a lot of anguished forehead slapping but not much humor.

Finally there was the broadly slapstick Tom, Dick and Mary, about a pair of newlyweds who take in a friend as a boarder. The two men are interns, and what goes on in their hospital, including a pillow fight and a patient running around the corridors in his nightshirt, may give Casey, Kildare and the American Medical Association the jim-jams.

And that's just a start. Varsol also cleans hardwood floors like nothing else on earth—doesn't leave a trace of old wax, dirt or grease anywhere. Takes road-tar from cars too. So for painting or cleaning—get Varsol. Better hurry, though. Every paint brush is after Varsol.

Maple crop drops
QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec bureau of statistics announced Monday production of maple products in the province this year dropped to 1,607,000 gallons, compared with 2,355,000 gallons in 1963.
The statement attributed the decrease to higher temperatures.
The decrease was heaviest in the Quebec area, where production was 423,000 gallons, a drop of 379,000 gallons. The Eastern Townships led production with 681,000 gallons.

Coming events planned, donations made by Stanstead South U.C.W.
ROCK ISLAND — The fall meeting of Stanstead South Church United Church Women was held on Sept. 30 in the church hall, the president, Mrs. George Carruthers opening with a devotional period, and Mrs. Hazel Smith, leader of the Aid Unit, reading an article and a poem. Rev. Carl Gustafson, pastor of the church, concluded with a prayer of thanksgiving.
Mrs. Carruthers, who with other representatives of the church had earlier the same day attended the U.C.W. rally at Hatley, at which there were 72 members from various churches in the area, brought back a message urging that everyone make use of the literature available through the literature chairman. She also spoke on other matters of interest at the rally.
Plans were made for coming events, the rummage sale to be held Oct. 10, in the church hall, with workers from the three Units volunteering. New dishes are to be ordered for the church kitchen, the committee of Mrs. Kenneth Baldwin and others to decide on a pattern.
Oct. 22 for the turkey supper, Mrs. C. R. MacLean to be chairman of the dining room, Mrs. Carl Gustafson, Mrs. George Carruthers, Mrs. Thomas McCune, in charge of the kitchen, with Mrs. Merton Davis, convenor of the advance sale of tickets. The supper will commence at 5:00 p.m. and continue until all are served. Mrs. G. Hatch, will be in charge of publicity and Miss H. Cowles the posters.
The Christmas sale and tea will take place Nov. 2, the kitchen details to be handled by the Circle Unit and the dining room by the Canusa Unit. The Aid Unit will also assist with the tea. Each Unit will arrange its own sales tables.
It was decided to donate $75 to the Sunday School to assist in paying for new curriculum books, another $75 to be paid the allocation to the U.C.W.
Mrs. Alan Greer, stated that she would appreciate discarded nylon stockings to send to Korea. A box for them is placed in the church hall, or they may be sent to Mrs. Greer, in Rock Island.
Mrs. Carruthers announced that the program material recommended is on Trinidad and Brazil. It is hoped that films will be shown at the next meeting, to be held in the church hall Nov. 30.
Mrs. C. R. Darby, Mrs. Hazel Smith and Mrs. Roland Curtis were named to act on the nominations committee; Mrs. G. Hatch to be on publicity; Mrs. Hazel Smith to replace Mrs. Philip Cross, as chairman of community friendship and visiting, working with a committee of Mrs. Golda Standish, Mrs. C. R. Darby and Mrs. Raymond Grow. It was stressed that all members take an active interest in visiting, especially those in Rest Homes and hospitals.
Talen money earned in the summer months was turned in by four members totalling $24.80, each relating how she had earned it. The church hall curtains have been cleaned and will be hung before fall events commence.
All Units agreed that the proceeds from the turkey supper will be used towards costs of the hall renovations, done this summer, which included improvements and paneling of the walls.
Mrs. Merton Davis, reported on the U.C.W. Summer School, held at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, which she attended as a representative of the church. She was thanked by Mrs. Carruthers.
The evening terminated by the serving of refreshments by members of the Canusa Unit, the table being centered with an autumn floral and candle arrangement.

Knowlton and Farnham romp to easy wins in BM Juvenile Football loop, final games on tap this weekend

By DOUG MACKENZIE

KNOWLTON — As the four teams head into the final week of regular season play, Knowlton Larks find themselves in first place, with the Farnham Frontenacs in second, two points behind. These same two teams will battle this weekend in Farnham. The Larks are virtually assured of a first place finish in the regular schedule due to the high point scoring total they have amassed during the season.

In Cowansville Saturday, the Larks were bolstered by the return of right guard Dave Grant to the lineup. Grant had been out with a severe knee and thigh injury and had missed five games up until last weekend.

League scoring leader Lynford "Duffy" Hadlock, romped for 5 majors as the Larks swamped the Colts, 54-7. Hadlock has raised his season total to 37 TDs, which must be close to some sort of record in any league.

Right end Wade Hadlock caught 6 passes, of which two were good for six pointers to raise his total to 13 TD passes. Ken Lenz was strong going both ways, and as Diff Hadlock's running mate on the half line, Lenz scored his first major of the year on an off tackle play from four yards out.

Mike Sherman clicked on three convert attempts and Diff Hadlock scored the other. The Larks' other two points were scored on a safety touch which was credited to the team as the Cowansville player was snowed under by a horde of red jerseys.

Nelson Mizener, Larks' rookie centre, missed a glorious opportunity to score a TD. Knowlton had a first down on the Colt three yard line, and Albers, Lark QB, threw a look-in-pass directly over the line of scrimmage into Mizener's hands. Mizener was so stunned at having possession that he didn't move and Colt tacklers reacted quickly to bring him down. If he hadn't hesitated, he could have had six points.

The Colts scored their lone TD when Milton Ewing scored on a two yard plunge which followed a single earlier by Claude Naud in the second quarter.

Freshman Head Coach Paul Jordan of the Colts has nothing to be ashamed of this season. Jordan had a rebuilding job to do with the Colts and a lot of players to teach. Even if they don't advance past the semi-finals he will have a nucleus to start with next year.

In Waterloo, the Farnham Frontenacs shut out the hapless Waterloo Lions 36-0, thus keeping their defensive record clean. The Lions have not scored a point on the '63 league champions in four contests this year. Art Palmer scored three TDs, Alan Palmer and Jim Byers, a non-member of the Palmer family, as well as being a Farnham Frontenac, scored the other major.

The playoff situation shapes up this way. Second and third place teams will play in a sudden death game at the home field of the second place finisher. The winner of this game will meet the first place club in a two-game total points home-and-home final playoff series.

The remaining games in the B.M. Juvenile Football League will have Knowlton at Farnham Friday evening, October 9, at 8:00 p.m. and Cowansville journeying to Waterloo Saturday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. Not Sunday night as previously reported.

The standings follow:

Team	W	L	T	A	Pts.
Knowlton	10	1	437	90	20
Farnham	9	2	373	108	18
Cowansville	2	9	121	353	4
Waterloo	1	10	63	452	2

Riders explode in last quarter, win 27-3

BUCHANAN ON THE RUN — Saskatchewan Roughrider Ed Buchanan runs into waiting Ottawa Rough Rider half-back Larry DeGraw as a maze of Ottawa tacklers follows the lone Regina player during a Canadian Football League interlocking game at Ottawa Tuesday. Ottawa defeated the Roughriders 27-3. (CP Wirephoto)

OTTAWA (CP)—"I hear Russ Jackson played a good game," said Saskatchewan Roughrider quarterback Ron Lancaster after his Western Football Conference team suffered a 27-3 setback by Ottawa Rough Riders Tuesday night.

Lancaster didn't even get to see most of the action, although the interlocking game attracted 19,710 fans to see what was expected to be an aerial battle between Lancaster and Jackson, the Ottawa quarterback.

Lancaster used his passing to set up a first-quarter field goal by veteran Reg Whitehouse and give his team an early lead, but Lancaster was injured a few plays later and spent the rest of the game in the Saskatchewan dressing room.

The third-place WFC team didn't score a single point after Lancaster's injury, although they did stay within a touchdown of Ottawa until the Eastern Conference leaders exploded for 17 points in the last quarter.

The win broke a first-place tie in the EFC and gave Ottawa a two-point lead over Hamilton Tiger Cats. Saskatchewan remains in third place in the West, two points behind Calgary Stampeders and three behind B.C. Lions.

Lancaster suffered a possible rib separation when he fell on the ball to recover a fumble, and 215 pound Ottawa end Billy Joe Booth landed on top of him. Lancaster said he didn't know "how bad the injury is," but it is expected he will not miss more than one game, and may even be back for Saskatchewan's next contest, against Toronto Argonauts in Regina next Monday.

Jackson had his troubles passing, but more than made up for it along the ground as he scampered for 134 yards in 10 carries, almost half of Ottawa's total 304 yards gained rushing. Fullback Dave Thelen also turned in a strong effort, scoring two touchdowns of four and five-yard plunges. Ottawa's other touchdown was scored by rookie end Jay Roberts on a nine-yard pass from Jackson.

Moé Racine contributed the other nine points with two field goals, from 19 and 20 yards out, and three converts.

Saskatchewan's offence crumbled without Lancaster, and his replacement, defensive halfback Bob Ptacek, who was the Roughriders' quarterback until Lancaster was acquired from Ottawa two years ago, stayed mainly on the ground. Ptacek completed three of seven pass attempts, good for 41 yards, the same total as Lancaster managed with four completions in seven attempts before he left the game.

Jackson didn't have much more success in the air, completing six of 13 for 89 yards, although one of his aerials did go for a touchdown. Roberts was his favorite target, catching four for 56 yards.

Ottawa rallied after Saskatchewan opened the scoring, and took a 7-3 lead before the end of the first quarter on Thelen's first touchdown.

Racine's first field goal, the only scoring play in the second quarter, gave Ottawa a 10-3 lead at the half.

Ottawa clinched the game after another pass, a fourth-quarter toss by Ptacek that went astray and was picked off by Bob O'Billovitch for the game's only interception.

Whitey Ford faces young Sadecki in today's opener, Yanks 17-to-10 favorites, sellout crowd on hand

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It's New York power against St. Louis speed, crafty Whitey Ford against youthful Ray Sadecki, and world series-hardened veterans against a relatively inexperienced crew as the Yankees and Cardinals open the autumn classic today.

The best-of-seven series will decide baseball's world championship.

The Yankees, 17-to-10 favorites to win their 21st post-season title in 29 attempts, were handicapped somewhat by the absence of regular shortstop Tony Kubek. He had missed the last two weeks of the season because of a jammed wrist.

Kubek has been replaced by Mike Hegan, rookie first baseman and son of Yankee bullpen coach Jim Hegan.

Phil Linz will play shortstop and lead off. The Cardinals, too, are not 100 per cent physically fit.

But Julian Javier and third baseman Ken Boyer, injured in weekend games with New York Mets, both assured manager Johnny Keane Tuesday they were ready to play.

"You couldn't keep those fellows out of the series," said Keane. "They played too hard to get into it."

SELOUT ASSURED
 A sellout crowd of 32,000 was assured with speculators getting as much as $100 for a pair of box seats.

Temperatures were expected to be 65 to 70 for the Cards' first World Series since 1946. Starting time was 3 p.m., ADT.

On the basis of experience, the Ford-Sadecki duel appeared to be a mismatch. This was the eighth opening game assignment and the 22nd series start for the 35-year-old Ford who turned in a 17-6 record during the regular season. On the other hand, it was World Series baptism for the 23-year-old Sadecki, the Cardinals' lone 20-game winner.

"If there is an edge," said Keane, "I guess you have to give it to the Yankees because of their home-run power. They hit more homers than we do over a season's play, but in one game or in a short series, we can hit as many home runs as they."

"We've got three or four men who can hit the ball out of the park. Lou Brock, our left fielder, can hit the ball as hard as anybody in baseball and that includes (Mickey) Mantle."

"TOUGH" SERIES
 Yogi Berra, St. Louis-born manager of the Yankees, like Keane, expected a "tough" series.

"They've got a good hitting club," he said. "And they've got good speed. You can't take them lightly."

The Yankees presented the same lineup Berra employed to clinch the American League pennant. Mantle was in right field with Roger Maris in centre and switch-hitting Tommy Tresh in left.

The Cards outhit the Yankees 272 to 253 during regular season play, but the Yankees had more home runs, 162 to 109.

Individually, the Cards' Brock led all hitters with a .315 batting average. Boyer was tops in runs batted in with a total of 119. Flood had the most hits, 211.

Mantle was the leader in home runs with 35.

St. Louis taken over by World Series, tickets and hotel rooms running low but tension mounts

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis has been taken over by the World Series.

Tickets and hotel rooms were running low, but tensions and enthusiasm were fast increasing as the city prepared for its first fall classic in 18 years.

Talk of the chances of a St. Louis Cardinals' victory over New York Yankees was everywhere—taverns, restaurants, offices, in the street.

Signs boosting the Redbirds could be seen throughout the city.

And fans were everywhere trying to pick up a ticket.

Tickets for the bleachers went on sale at 9 a.m. today and the line stretched for blocks, with many well-bundled fans having spent the night in temperatures that dipped to 36 degrees.

Two men began a two-day pinocle game. Others sat in folding chairs or slept in nearby autos while a friend or relative waited in line.

Third in line stood hard-tack Robert Hunt, who spent hours waiting Monday night and Tuesday morning for a pavilion ticket, obtained it, and within an hour, lost it.

SCALPERS BUY
 Police stood by to halt such operators as a tavern owner who hired four boys to sit in line in chairs, which he planned to sell to the highest bidder early today. Only bonafide fans could hold places in line and tickets sold for as much as $100.

Inside the stadium, decorators were hard at work installing a row of field boxes, bringing total capacity to about 30,500. Stands are expected to swell the crowd to more than 32,000.

Yogi Berra returns home but not in same park, Cards refused him in role of hero, he worked out

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Yogi Berra is back home in St. Louis.

He has come a long way from the years when he played sandlot ball with Joe Garagiola and haunted both the Cardinals and the now defunct Browns for tryouts.

Berra is back as manager of New York Yankees, ready to take over the Cardinals in the World Series after winning a permanent job in his rookie year.

"I used to sit right up there with the knothole game," Berra said Tuesday, pointing toward the left field stands at Busch Stadium.

"Sure, I used to work out here," he said. "I tried out with both the Cardinals and Browns."

"I only saw one Series game here. That was the last game in 1946 when the Cardinals beat the Red Sox. The next game I saw I was playing in it for the Yanks . . ."

"Mr. Rickey once told me I'd never be a big league ball player."

He was referring to Branch Rickey who was general manager of the Cards in those distant days before moving on to Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, the Continental League and, eventually, back to St. Louis as a special consultant.

"He was going to move on to Brooklyn but he didn't tell me," continued Berra. "When he got there he sent me a wire to report to the Dodgers at Bear Mountain. But I had already signed with somebody else (Yanks)."

Eskimos post their first win in two seasons when they eked out a 25-22 verdict over Blue Bombers

EDMONTON (CP)—A prolonged exercise in futility ended for Edmonton Eskimos Tuesday night when they posted their first victory in two seasons against Western Football Conference opposition.

Eskimos stood off a late surge to dump Winnipeg Blue Bombers 25-22 before 12,463 fans and record their third victory of 1964. Their previous two victories this year and their only two 1963 triumphs were earned in interlocking games against Eastern Conference foes.

Winnipeg now has lost 10 consecutive games this season.

The last Edmonton success against a Western rival occurred Nov. 3, 1962 when Winnipeg absorbed an 18-12 defeat at Winnipeg.

Joy because of the victory was tempered for coach Neil Armstrong because of a knee injury late in the game to quarterback Jon Anabo, who engineered the triumph with a fine passing demonstration.

MAY MISS LIONS' GAME
 It was considered likely Anabo would not be able to play Saturday at Vancouver against British Columbia Lions, who lead the WFC by one point over Calgary Stampeders.

The rebuilding Eskimos have six points, eight behind third place Saskatchewan Roughriders, who are three points out of the lead. Winnipeg has three points.

Anabo connected on 10 of 15 passes for 202 yards and touchdowns by Tommy-Joe Coffey and Bill Tobin. His passing also set up another Tobin touchdown. Centre Bill Mitchell kicked three converts, a 48-yard field goal and a single to complete the Edmonton scoring.

Leo Lewis, Art Perkins and Norm Rauhaus scored Winnipeg touchdowns. Lewis converted two of them.

Winnipeg led 7-3 after the first quarter on Lewis' 87-yard touchdown romp, but Edmonton was in charge 18-7 at half time and led 25-9 after three quarters. The two Bombers points in the third quarter came when Eskimo punter Marcel DeGueu conceded a safety touch.

Supper meeting planned by BPW at Rock Island

ROCK ISLAND — After the summer recess, the Border B.P.W. Club held a meeting on Sept. 28, at the home of Miss Ruth Wing.

Plans were made to have a supper meeting on Oct. 17, in the hall of Centenary Church at 6:00 p.m., to which members of other B.P.W. Clubs will be invited, when Mrs. Jean Smith, of Montreal, will give an illustrated talk.

Mrs. Ralph Roger, a past president of the Border Club was congratulated on her appointment as Liaison chairman on the Provincial Board of officers. Mrs. Wallace read a communication from the Provincial president, Miss Muriel Bowls, Montreal, and other reports from the 19th Biennial convention held in the summer, at Ottawa.

A brief of The Honorable Claire Kirkland Casgrain, Minister, Executive Council, Quebec, was read on Quebec's new deal for married women, Bill 16, which has been passed by legislation, coming into effect on July 1, the principle of the legal incapacity of married women in Quebec was not re-examined until 1961. In the 1930's, the married woman was given full power of administration over revenue and property derived from her personal work outside the home.

Bill 16 was passed by the Lower House on February 14, 1964 and by the Upper House on May 14. So that now a married woman whether separate or common as to property has the power to represent her husband for the current needs of the household and the maintenance of the children including medical and surgical care. Thus she is able to authorize an operation on her children when her husband is absent or cannot be reached. If a husband chooses to have a residence which exposes the family to dangers of a physical or moral nature, a wife may obtain judicial authorization to choose another residence for herself and the children.

The married women is no longer classified by law as incapable, along with minors and the interdicted. She is now considered closer to a position of equality with her husband. This new law has retroactive effect, the fruit of many years of struggle.

Bill 16, quite lengthy in its report, was discussed quite thoroughly.

After the meeting closed Miss Wing and Mrs. Wallace served refreshments.

The president, Mrs. Larry Withrow conducted the devotional, with Mrs. Bernice Duperron also offering prayer.

It was decided to donate $20 to the Canadian Bible Society, to fall clean the church on Oct. 24, and to buy the new mission study book.

Mrs. Laura Webb volunteered to write the monthly article of the mission meetings for the Sherbrooke Record.

The financial project for the meeting was Bring One and Buy one, when several articles of home cooked food, jams and fudge were sold.

The financial project for next month is the Forfeit Calendars. Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Perkins.

Following the fellowship supper, an interesting program, under the direction of Mrs. Ardice McCoy, was enjoyed. Several readings were given by various people and prayer offered by Rev. L. Withrow. ELECTION WILL TELL — When Sir Richard Luyt, governor of British Guiana, returns to Georgetown from London, it is expected he will announce whether elections will take place this year. The top candidates, Cheddi Bharrat

Racialism undercuts Reds in tense British Guiana

As long as British Guiana remains a hotbed of racial violence, it is unlikely to receive full independence from Britain. In this story, Paul Kidd of the Hamilton Spectator, writing for The Canadian Press, tells of the effect of the British presence, especially on Communism, in the South American colony.

By PAUL KIDD

GEORGETOWN (CP) — The tenuous toehold the Communists have struggled to get on the mainland of South America is becoming increasingly precarious.

In the tiny crown colony of British Guiana, Marxism is being undermined by racialism. Some 300,000 East Indians and 200,000 Negroes living under a state of emergency—and the watchful eye of 1,200 British troops—are more concerned about their separate ethnic interests than political ideologies. British Guiana, tucked away in the northeast corner of South America, has often been projected as a second Cuba in the making.

Under the government of Premier Cheddi Bharrat Jagan, it has travelled part way along the Red-paved road to Marxism.

But until British agrees to give the internally self-governing colony full independence, there is little hope of B.G. becoming a Communist beachhead in South America.

Britain, which continues to have control over defence and external affairs, would like to give the colonial problem child its freedom as soon as possible.

BRITAIN HOLDS FAST

Until British Guiana has shown that it can behave without ugly racial tantrums, however, the mother country will almost certainly refuse to release its constitutional grip. The United States, unquestionably, approved of the firmness being displayed by the British colonial office.

Washington, petrified that British Guiana could go the way of Cuba, has asserted constant pressure on the United Kingdom not to grant independence until the Red sunset has faded from the colony's political horizon.

The United States appears much more concerned about the strategic importance of British Guiana as a base for exporting communism than Britain.

In questioning the colony's potential usefulness to international communism, the British emphasize that B.G. has nothing in common with the rest of South America either through language, politics or culture. Further, there are no roads covering the vast distances through dense jungle to the Brazilian and Venezuelan frontiers.

SEEN AS SPRINGBOARD

But the Americans see the colony, in this jet age, as a powerful springboard to other countries in the hemisphere. And with massive technical aid from the Eastern bloc, it has been argued, communications difficulties could be overcome.

While one might question the extent of Washington alarm about the physical usefulness of British Guiana to the Communist cause, the loss of the country to the Reds would certainly be a blow to American prestige in the Americas.

With two nations in the hemisphere Communist, there could be a certain psychological chain reaction on other underdeveloped countries.

Strategically, British Guiana would probably have little impact on Latin America. But it could have an influence on the Progressive Party captured 20 of the 35 seats in the legislature with some 42 per cent of the vote.

Raising the cry of "Apan-Jhatti"—Hindi for "vote for your own"—Jagan won the solid support of East Indians who are scattered throughout the country more evenly than Negroes.

The Negro-oriented People's National Congress, led by Forbes Burnham, got 41 per cent of the vote but only 11 seats. This was because the Negro population, though heavy in Georgetown and other towns, is sparse in the rural areas.

The conservative-leaning United Force Party of Peter d'Aguiar, a brewery and distillery owner of Portuguese descent, captured four seats with more than 16 per cent of the votes.

The next election will be held under proportional representation, which means the whole country will be one constituency with candidates seated according to the percentage of votes polled nationally by each party.

Under proportional representation, it is doubtful whether any single party will gain control. This could result in multi-party government, but in what form remains to be seen.

For and about Women

Sure and certain Elizabeth

Looking more matronly, the Queen arrives in Charlottetown

CHARLOTTETOWN — The Queen looks a little more matronly — but it becomes her. If anything she is lovelier than when she last came to Canada five years ago. I thought this as I watched her gracious greeting of VIPS and VLPS at nearby Summerside RCAF Station Monday.

The very little people, like the 220 children of station personnel to whom she gave a special wave and the Brownie who gave her flowers, undoubtedly brought out the mother in her.

Elizabeth II had to leave behind her own two little ones born in those intervening five years to double the size of the family of herself and the tall, easy husband who shared the fine start of this visit and will be at her side to continue to share whatever it may bring.

The matronly impression probably comes from Her Majesty's settled, "Old Pro" manner and from knee-covering skirts when high fashion has accustomed us to shorter ones.

The Royal blue costume in which the Queen stepped from a silver BOAC jet (she had decided on it and donned it only just before landing), glowed under half-clouded skies — but you'd hardly call it chic. Of course we couldn't see the dress — except a bit of lighter blue — for it was covered by the slightly fitted plain wool coat topped by high toque-like feather hat. The good-sized leather purse over her arm was dark blue and so were her plain pumps with heels that added 2½ inches to her five foot four. She wore her favorite triple string of pearls and a sapphire and diamond pin sparkled on her shoulder.

The Old Pro manner was manifest from Her Majesty's first wave from the doorway of the great aircraft, her steady smiling descent of the ramp, her relaxed greeting of the Vaniers and the Pearsons and other dignitaries.

I had a mental flashback to the Princess Elizabeth of 14 years ago on her first Canadian tour when she was often weighed down with concern over doing the right thing. Now there is no strain — certainly no worry over protocol and procedure.

The sure and certain Elizabeth showed in the way she slowed her pace up the red carpet to that of our Venerable, limping Governor General Vanier, who lost a leg in World War I, and in the relaxed way she chatted with him. I thought: She is getting more and more like her mother — our Queen Mother.

It struck me that through all our forebodings because of Quebec extremists' threats — death at worst, insults at best — none of us have ever doubted the courage of Elizabeth II.

I gazed at her as she stood straight and sure on the dais through God Save The Queen and the Royal Salute, and as she inspected the guard of honor, looking directly at every man. If she is afraid, it will never show. She too is a soldier. (TNS)

Polly's pointers

by Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — Did you know that a "plumber's friend," the rubber plunger used to unstop drains, is also a friend of the birds? This past spring we filled one with straw and tied it to our old apple tree, upside down like a cup. A pair of robins made it their nest and it has been fun watching the robins sit in the plunger and hatch the eggs. Now they fly back and forth and rest on the edge of the rubber cup as they feed their little ones—MRS. J. B.

It seems even the youngsters know how to meet any emergency.—POLLY

Off the Beam

By PROF. WILLIAM J. TOTH
The Center for Safety, New York University
Director of Driver Information, California Oil Co.

Q-While driving with your family at night on a country road, a motorist approaches from the opposite direction and refuses to dim his lights. What should you do?

- Flash your headlights up and down; then concentrate on the right-hand side of the road, looking away from the glare.
- Put your high beams on and leave them on until he dims his.
- Flash your headlights up and down; then leave the high beam on and drive close to the center lane to scare the other motorist for being so rude.

A-(a) Headlight dimming is not only dictated by courtesy, but also dictated by law. Also, you are required to dim your headlights when driving close enough behind another car to cause your high beams to glare in his rear-view mirror.

Certainly, you should never fight discourtesy with discourtesy, as suggested in (b) and (c) above.

On the other hand, it is permissible to flash your high beam of an approaching motorist who has not dimmed his headlights; he may just have forgotten to dim, and this will remind him.

Never stare into glaring headlights, because they will temporarily blind you. You should drive at night with your foot on the ready beside rest-resting on top of the dimmer button. (Some modern cars dim lights automatically.)

A red light on your instrument panel indicates when your headlights are on high beams.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES' GUILD

The regular meeting of the St. Paul's Ladies' Guild was held in the church hall on September 30, with nine members present.
