Laying Cornerstone For New House Of Commons

A new House of Commons will rise in London from the remains of the old building bombed during the war. Col. Clifton Brown, speaker of the House of Commons, lays the cornerstone for the new structure. Among those present is Winston Churchill, extreme left.

Newlyweds

"Yes, yes, yes," said Mrs. Eliza Murray when a Moira, N.Y., minister asked her if she'd take 37-year-old Clarence McGee for her husband. Mrs. Murray is over 90, and became a widow when her 98-year-old husband died last February. This was Clarence's first trip to the altar.

Communism Is A Family Affair In Finland

Herta Kuusinen-Leino

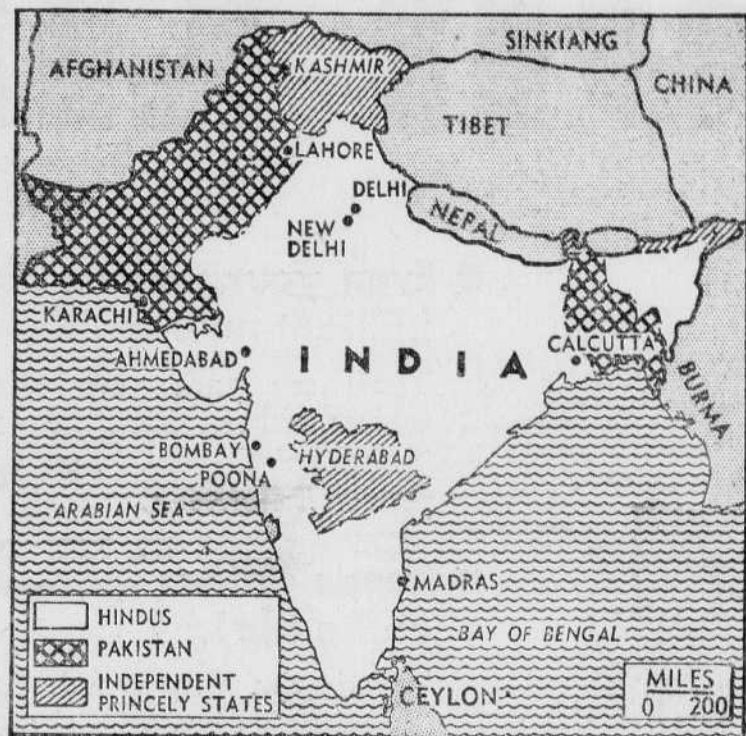

Otto Kuusinen

Yrjö Leino

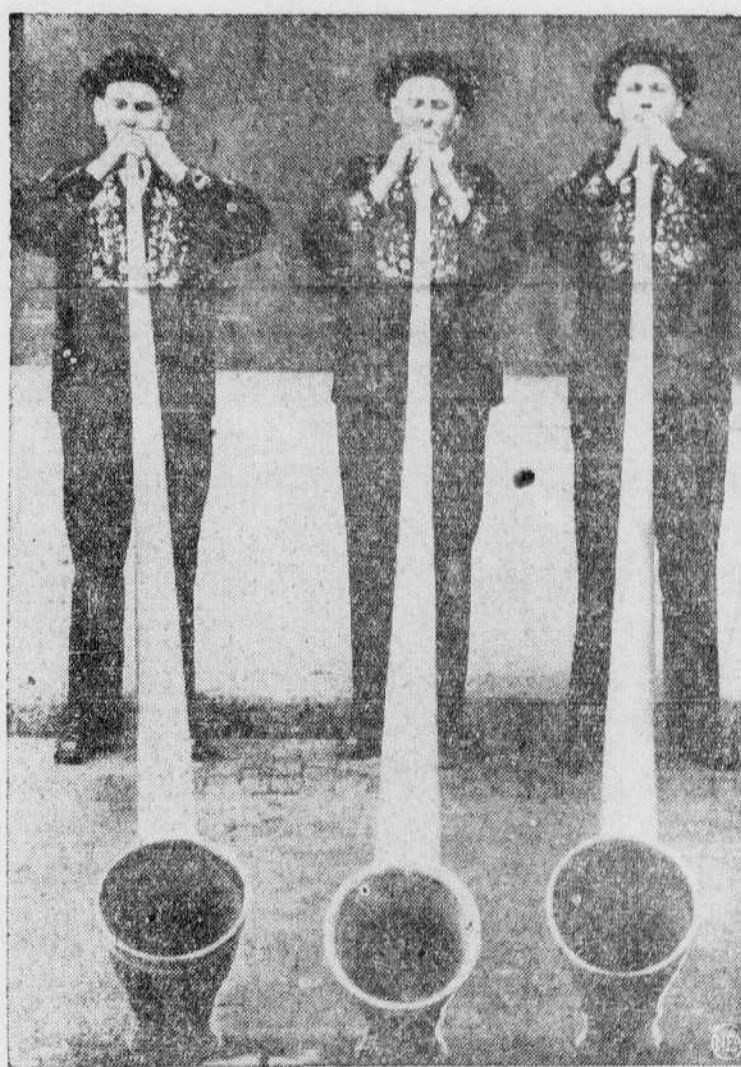

Dynamic Herta Kuusinen-Leino, real leader of Finland's Communists, is in the news spotlight following her appointment, in a cabinet shake-up, as assistant minister for social affairs. Known as the real "brains" of Finnish communism, she is a daughter of Otto Kuusinen, veteran Communist International official and president of the Karelo-Finnish republic of the USSR. She is also the wife of former Interior Minister Yrjö Leino, whose ouster brought on the crisis that threatened to paralyze the country. Left-wing dock and industrial workers struck, demanding Leino be replaced by a Communist. President Paasikivi appointed Eino Kilpi, of the Communist-dominated Popular Democratic Party, and the fiery Herta, whereupon the Reds' Central Committee ordered the strikers back to work.

More Trouble Looms In India

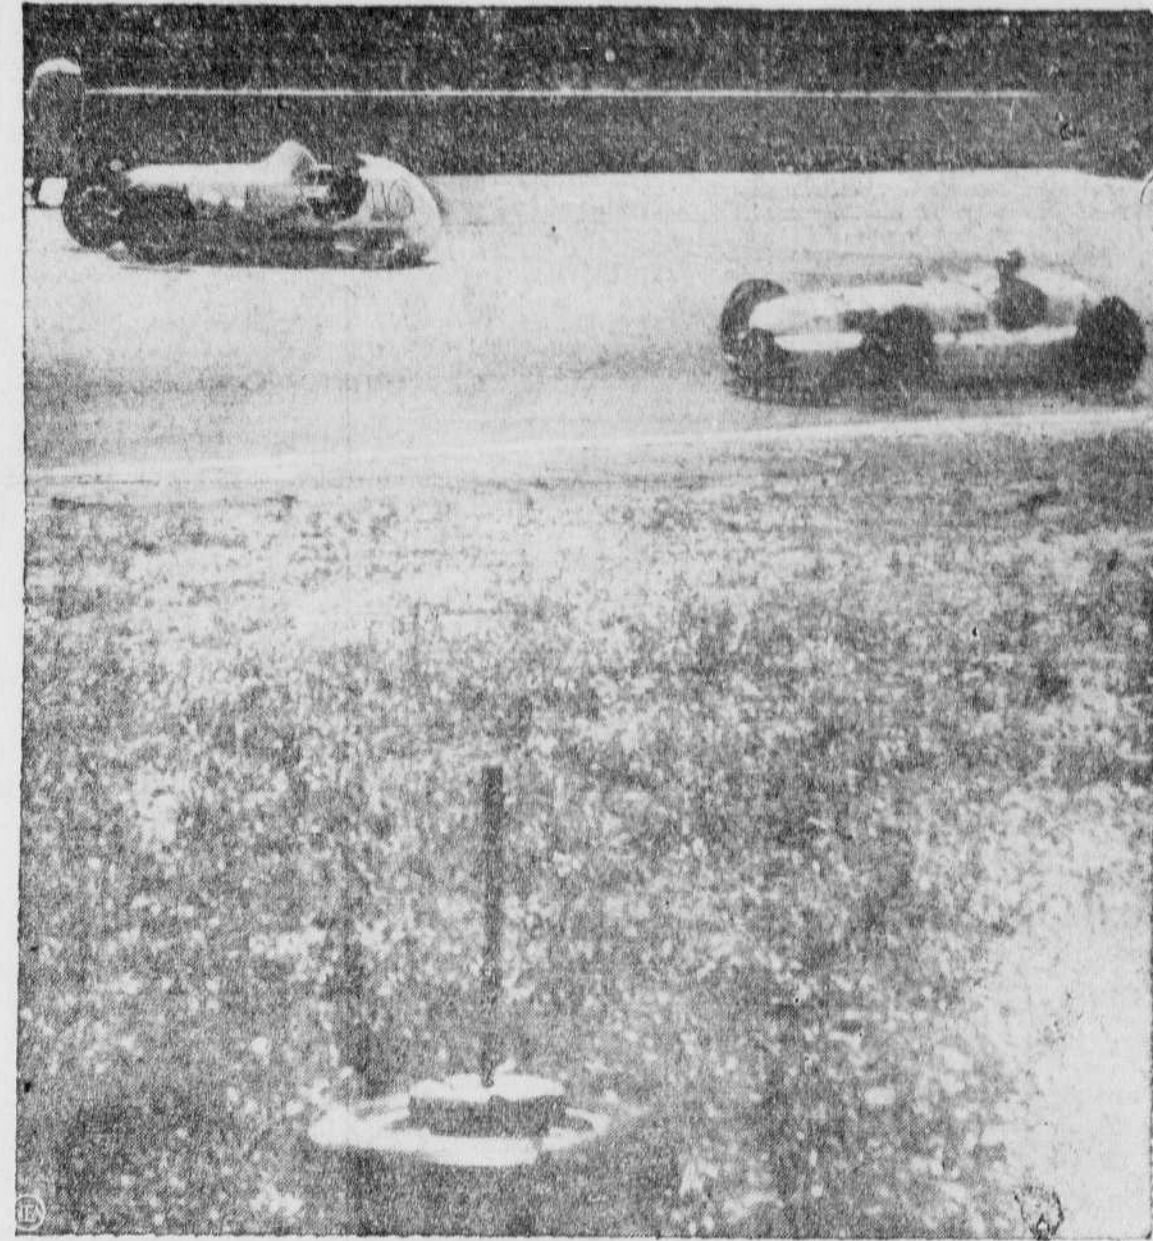

Ever since the division of India into a British dominion and independent Pakistan, the Nizam of Hyderabad, left, has determinedly refused union of his 126,166-square-mile principality to India. The latter has blockaded Hyderabad to force it to join up. The Nizam is now reportedly moving units of his army towards the border. Representatives of both states are conferring in New Delhi. Hyderabad has 49,841,810 inhabitants, mostly Hindus.

Music Goes Down, Down, Down

These wooden Alp-horns would be a bit unwieldy in marching band—they are 12 feet long. The Swiss blowing them are participating in the Swiss Folklore Festival in London, held to aid the Royal Air Force Benevolent Fund. They entertained at a command performance in Buckingham Palace garden.

500-Mile Memorial Day Classic's Only Mishap

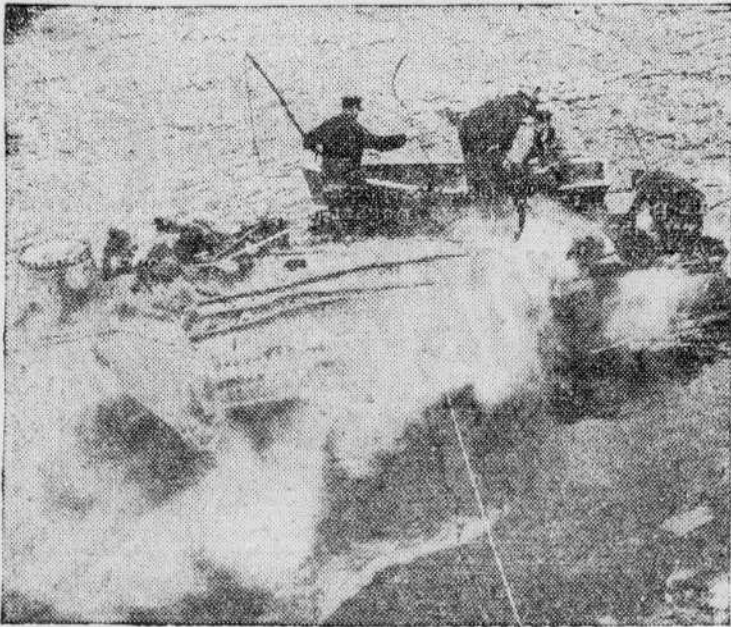

Duane Carter of South Bend, Ind., walks away unhurt from his Belanger Motors Special, which rests on the track after losing a rear wheel and axle in the 500-mile Memorial Day classic at Indianapolis. Duke Nalon whizzes past in his Novi Special.

Haganamen Mop Up Arab Village

While the town of Jerusalem was in a state of siege and Tel Aviv was being attacked on three sides by the Arabs, Jewish forces were mopping up other towns the Arabs had deserted. Here an Haganaman wheels around to cover a second-storey window as Jewish troops mop up the deserted Arab village of Ramleh, Palestine. Other Hagana soldiers break in doors in background. The Jewish fighters found nobody left behind to defend the village.

Engine's Death Dive

Steam makes a shroud for the half-submerged engine of the Delaware and Western Railroad after its death plunge into Delaware River near Stroudsburg, Pa. Engineer and fireman went down with the locomotive as it plummeted down a 20-foot embankment with an empty baggage car. Other six cars of the train, with 76 passengers, stayed on the tracks.

Annual County Convention Of W.C.T.U. Is Held At Milby

Milby, June 3.—The forty-ninth annual county convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in Milby Hall, Milby, on Wednesday, May 26, with the president, Mrs. W. E. Hodge, presiding.

The hymn "Fight The Good Fight," with Mrs. W. H. Abbott, as accompanist, was sung, which was followed by the reading of the minutes by Mrs. F. Ingham, recording secretary.

The treasurer's report given by Miss R. Stevenson, showed all obligations had been met and that a satisfactory balance was on hand.

Corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. Henderson, reported an increase in membership. Huntingville having gained five new members will receive the five dollars award for increase in membership. Milby was reported to have gained four new members, and Sherbrooke Union, two new members. The loss of one honorary member was recorded.

Mrs. E. A. Orr, of Milby, welcomed the delegates and visitors to the meeting. Mrs. Sarah C. Emerson, of Sherbrooke, replied to the welcome.

The reports of superintendents followed. Literature convener, Mrs. R. S. Sutor, reported that temperance literature had been placed in schools.

Temperance in Women's Missionary Society, by Mrs. R. W. S. Nutbrown, showed good work had been accomplished in temperance work in the W.M.S.

The report of Mrs. L. W. Smith, White Ribbon Tiding's Superintendent, read by Mrs. W. Henderson, showed twenty-three subscriptions of Tidings had been received in the County.

Mrs. W. S. Andrew's report for Comfort Bags, read by Mrs. Henderson, showed that both Huntingville and Milby were carrying on with the work, and that bags were being sent to Merchant Marine.

Scientific Temperance report given by Mrs. Sarah C. Emerson, showed 121 essay papers written in the intermediate Sherbrooke schools, and poster work had been taken up in the Mitchell School. Children being successful in both essay and poster work were to receive awards from County, Provincial, and National W.C.T.U.

Lennoxville United Sunday School have written essays and received prizes, it was further reported.

Mrs. P. Pergau, Sunday School Department Superintendent, whose report was read by Mrs. Henderson, stated 18 papers were written in Sunday School, and instructions given to 60 other children in Lennoxville United Church.

The report of Mrs. R. S. Lipsey, superintendent of Flower Mission, showed that many flowers had been sent to the sick and shut-ins, and cards of sympathy and wreaths sent in bereavement.

Little White Ribbon Department, reported by Mrs. E. A. Orr, that a party had been held at Milby for babies and their mothers.

Local Temperance League, with Superintendent Miss Hamilton, reported a very active group with meetings held once a month.

Press Superintendent, Mrs. Hodge, reported all meetings, and executive meetings, had been reported in the press, and a great deal of space had been given to the Provincial Convention reports held in Sherbrooke last September. It was reported four parcels had been sent overseas: 2 from Huntingville, 2 from Sherbrooke, and one parcel sent from County W.C.T.U.

Mrs. N. MacLeod, of Lennoxville, conducted an inspiring devotional service, with Mrs. W. G. Cross, as accompanist.

Mrs. F. Ingham moved the adjournment of the morning session, after which dinner was served by members of the Milby Union.

The after-dinner speaker, Rev. Canon A. R. Kelley, of Compton, was introduced by Mrs. E. A. Orr, of Milby. Canon Kelley told of his stand for Temperance as a young curate under the ministry of Archbishop Scott, of Quebec, and how he had, through the years, tried to guide all young people under his care in that direction.

Canon Kelley read a clipping from the Leader of the Anglican Church and the Roman Catholic Church regarding the evils of intemperance. He urged the members to return to their separate churches and work among the young people in this respect and to continue the work among the school children with regard to poster and essay work, ever looking to God for guidance.

Mrs. W. E. Hodge thanked Canon Kelley for his inspiring address.

A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Evans, of Milby Union, for two members, Mrs. N. L. Cameron, of Huntingville Union, and Mrs. N. White, of Lennoxville Union. A white flower was placed reverently in their honor while the members stood in silent tribute.

Mrs. Hodge announced the Provincial Convention would be held in the First Baptist Church, Montreal, on June 3 and 4, and urged all reports be sent in and hoped that many members could attend. Mrs. Hodge also stressed the importance of finding out what laws were passed in Temperance lines and what action could be taken to have these laws enforced, especially in regards to minors attending grills.

It was announced that a protest be sent to Honorable Mackenzie King, in view of the paper shortage, undesirable literature be banned from sale, and that with thousands of people starving in Europe, grain be omitted from the manufacture of alcohol as a beverage.

The election of officers resulted as follows: County president, Mrs. W. E. Hodge; vice-president, Mrs. P. Pergau, recording secretary, Mrs. F. Ingham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. Henderson; treasurer, Mrs. R. Stevenson; flower mission, Mrs. A. R. Lipsey; Little White Ribbon, Mrs. L. Bowers; White Ribbon Tidings, Mrs. W. H. Abbott; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Sarah C. Emerson; and Miss E. Horton; Sunday School Department, Mrs. P. Pergau; Literature, Mrs. R. S. Sutor; Local Temperance League, Miss Hamilton; Evangelistic department, Mrs. Vaudry; Comfort bags, Mrs. W. S. Andrew; Temperance in W.M.S., Mrs. R. W. S. Nutbrown; press, Mrs. W. E. Hodge.

A discussion group followed, which was led by Mrs. Ethel Seale, of Lennoxville, the topic being, "Social Drinking." Those taking part were Miss E. Horton, Mrs. E. A. Orr, Mrs. W. H. Abbott, Mrs. W. Henderson, Mrs. W. G. Cross, Mrs. N. MacLeod, Mrs. F. Ingham, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. J. Wright, Mrs. O. Williams, and Mrs. Hodge. The discussion resulted in the decision that the temperance stand of members regarding taking beverages at social functions might help some one else there to abstain.

Miss Stevenson read the resolutions, after which a new resolution was passed in appreciation to the press for their services in printing the W.C.T.U. articles.

Thanks were also expressed to the Milby Union, to the board of English Church Hall, which was used for the convention, and to all who had helped in any way to make the convention a success.

It was announced that a letter of appreciation will be sent to the school boards and to the Lennoxville United Church Sunday School for allowing Temperance work to be carried on in these places. A request was made that this privilege be extended.

Nine Stanstead County W.I. Branches Meet At Dixville

Dixville, June 3.—On May 21, a delegation representing nine branches of the Stanstead County Women's Institutes met in the Baptist Church of Dixville for their annual meeting. Mrs. Grant LeBaron of North Hatley, presided.

After the usual opening exercises, a minute's silence was observed as a tribute to those members who had departed during the year. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Sargeant, the minutes of the past meeting and the past annual meeting were read by Mrs. Whitcomb.

An address given by Mrs. McIntyre, of Dixville, extended a hearty welcome to all delegates. She mentioned the achievements of the W.I. throughout the country and small towns who, by their united efforts, carried out such excellent work during the difficult war years. Mrs. E. Woodard, of Beebe, made a fitting reply.

The secretary's report showed a county membership of 231 members. Total receipts in all the branches amounted to $2,589.15, while the expenditures were $2,088.12. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $150.55 in the county treasury.

Following is the report of each of the conveners. In the absence of Miss MacKenzie her report on Education was read by Mrs. LeBaron. During the year a number of addresses were given at the meetings; Mr. Farquhar spoke on a previous meeting; films were shown; prizes given in schools; hot lunches provided and assistance given to the school fair and libraries. At this point a discussion followed as to whether the county was in favor of undertaking the project of donating a scholarship to a student to enter normal school training. This matter was left in charge of a committee.

Dealing with agriculture, Mrs. MacIntyre mentioned that roll calls had been held and plants exchanged. One branch had studied the Veterans' Land Act and a contest held on the best arrangement of wild and cultivated flowers.

Mrs. Norris, speaking of the National and International Committee, stated that much interest had been displayed by members. During the year Viscount Alexander visited the county. "Peace" and "How to Fly the Flag" were topics studied while of the various activities mentioned, the sale of poppies, the organizing of a Brownie troop and a contest on Canadian slogans were especially noted. Each branch also sent over numerous parcels of food and clothing.

Mrs. Dobb, in reporting for Home Economics, stated that demonstrations and discussions on handicrafts and proper meals had been held. In North Hatley the school had run a course in domestic science and a wedding gift for Princess Elizabeth had been assembled. In Ayer's Cliff an ex-

RANDBORO

Mrs. Charles Montgomery entertained St. Matthew's Guild at her home. There was a large attendance of members and visitors. The work consisted of fancy work and knitting. It was decided to hold a food sale in the near future. The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Loveland.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. B. Shaw and daughter, Margaret, of Shawinigan Falls, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Seale and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Seale. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCallum.

Dr. S. Montgomery, of Newport, N.H., and Miss Edna Day, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., are spending a week with the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Laberee and four children, of Bulwer, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McCallum.

Mrs. Alex Seale is spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. G. T. B. Shaw and Mr. Shaw, at Shawinigan Falls. She also plans to spend a week with her son, Mr. Clifford Wyman, and Mrs. Wyman, at Portneuf.

Several of the women met at the United Church to clean the church.

A habit of thrift articles was displayed at the Fair.

The Welfare and Health report, given by Mrs. W. Dustin, showed that a great deal had been accomplished in this department. Medical examinations and demonstrations in home nursing had been given in the schools as well as talks on cancer and the distribution of health pamphlets. Other activities listed in this report were the assistance given to the Health Unit, the sending of girls to camp and the remembrance of shut-ins.

Activities dealing with Publicity included the reporting of meetings to the press and Macdonald College, various roll calls, articles read and speakers from the County Institute broadcast. It was noted that a new branch at Fitch Bay had been organized during the year to bring to ten the total in Stanstead County.

At this point Mrs. Roswell Thompson, who is acting as provincial president, was introduced. She brought greetings from Mrs. Conley and in her message outlined the work for the coming year. She urged that interest be continued in the Service Fund, the Personal Parcel scheme, the Peace Garden and the Save the Children Fund.

She expressed her hope that it might be possible to organize junior institutes, seek assistance through the Junior Red Cross for hot lunches in schools and take advantage of the course given by the St. John Ambulance Corps.

Mrs. Thompson also mentioned that any branch owning real estate can be incorporated by the Quebec Women's Institute, in trust.

A very instructive talk on the "Care of House Plants" was given by Miss Joy Guild, of Macdonald College, who dealt chiefly with the Geranium and the African violet.

Points were given on humidifying the air, watering, potting and selecting of soil. The control of insects was also touched upon.

A very vivid description of the short course held at Macdonald College was given by Mrs. Boldue, of Tomifolia. She displayed a slipper of sheep wool that she had made in the handicraft department. Highlights of the course were the model kitchen, a fashion show, quick freezing demonstration, the studying of home plans and interior decorations, demonstrations on selecting, preparing, cooking and serving fish. This program was interspersed with a "welcome tea," discussion groups on publicity, education, fabrics, food and nutrition as well as a talk on how to conduct a meeting, the dollar problem and household management. A visit to the Information Centre and the various forms of recreation completed the five days of the short course.

Miss Kezar was authorized to have the necessary repairs done to the Women's Institute room.

Mrs. LeBaron brought several other business items to the attention of the meeting. She hoped for more interest in the School Fair, the Tweedsmuir Competition and the Canadian Consumers Association. She reported also that the federal government has a Health Insurance Plan drawn up which would be effective as soon as each province is ready to co-operate. It was decided to give the same amount as usual for prizes to the Ayer's Cliff Fair.

Mrs. Drew then delighted the delegation with an organ solo which was followed by an address by the president who gave an account of her work during the past year.

Mrs. Willis Dustin presented the following slate of officers for the coming year: Honorary-president, Mrs. Howard Cass; president, Mrs. Grant LeBaron, 1st vice-president, Miss M. L. Kezar; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Ezra Woodard, secretary, Mrs. Reginald Connor, treasurer, Mrs. Harry Whitcomb.

The conveners are as follows: Agriculture, Mrs. William Thompson; education, Miss C. MacKenzie; health and child welfare, Mrs. Murray Thompson; national and international relations, Mrs. Norris; home economics, Mrs. W. Dobb; publicity, Mrs. Albert Embury.

It was decided that the County Meeting will be held in Stanstead North in August, Tomifolia in November and Way's Mills next May.

With Mrs. Bernard Holmes as convener, a committee was formed to put on a Women's Institute exhibit at the Ayer's Cliff Fair this fall.

The meeting adjourned by singing of the National Anthem. At noon time all enjoyed a most delicious lunch served by the ladies of the Dixville branch.

Yes, Engineine is a good thing to have around... just "in case". It's "death" to grease stains and, at the same time, so wonderfully gentle with fabrics of all kinds... cleans dresses—hats—handbags—rugs—without leaving tell-tale rings! That's why I urge you to keep ENGINEINE on your handiest shelf—at home or in the office... it will help keep your furniture and clothes spot-free—spic-n-span and looking like new!

Israel's Draftees: An Army Minus Brass

Jewish Army strives for officer-soldier equality, but there are plenty of M.P.'s. These are military police recruits being drilled in traffic signals. They also get battle training.

through the nose. Ex-soldiers of British, American and other armies, particularly those who are now officers, are pressing for an increase in disciplinary regulations and for more officer privileges in the Jewish army.

Until now, however, there is no required saluting, either on the street or in military camps. Soldiers on duty stand at an easy attention when addressed by officers. When they salute, it is purely voluntary, and usually indicates a strong measure of respect felt by a man for his officer.

In addition to base pay, and family, rental and utility allowances, Jewish men and officers alike receive free uniforms and a free cigarette ration.

In most front line units, officers and men eat at the same mess, even share cook house duties. At some base camps, officers are served by soldier-waiters in officer dining halls. Whether a soldier eats under fire in a 10-man dugout or from Dresden china in general headquarters in Tel Aviv, he eats the same food as his officers.

The May meeting of the Busy Bees Society was held in the Orange Hall, Sawyerville, with Mrs. W. E. Bellam, Mrs. T. C. French and Miss Mildred Waldron, the joint hostesses. There were ten members and over sixty visitors. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in playing bingo, prizes being donated to the winners. A short business meeting followed. A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. French and Miss Waldron for their kind assistance in entertaining the Society. It was decided to hold the June meeting in the schoolhouse with a committee in charge namely, Mrs. W. E. Bellam, Mrs. Desmond Bain and Mrs. Irwin McBurney. At the close of the meeting a delicious supper was served by the hostesses, assisted by the Misses Mary Bellam, Patricia Waldron and Rita Dempsey. The table receipts amounted to upwards of thirteen dollars.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of Mrs. Barbara Blair in their bereavement.

Mr. Rufus Percy, of Newport, Vt., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Waldron.

NEW MEDICAL GROUP BATTLES ELUSIVE MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Multiple sclerosis is a disease of the nervous system. It may attack one or several parts of the nervous system and for this reason the term "multiple" is used. The symptoms depend, therefore, on what part of the nervous system is involved. There are no completely typical symptoms, though seeing double, a trembling or tremor when trying to pick up some object and a gait which looks somewhat like that of a drunken person are probably the most common. One or all of these may be absent and consequently the diagnosis may be difficult to make or long delayed. The cause of this disease is not understood. Many theories have been suggested and studied but so far no one cause has been accepted by all authorities. Many methods of treatment have been tried. These have included fever treatment, the use of drugs to delay blood coagulation, attempts to desensitize to allergies, vaccines and a great many different drugs.

Rest, Warmth Help
It is generally agreed that prolonged rest is the best form of treatment during the acute stage. The disease tends to go through periods in which the victim is greatly improved. If these good periods can be lengthened and the bad ones shortened, it is a good sign. A warm climate and freedom from colds and other infections of the nose and throat may help to prevent the downswings. A group of doctors and citizens has been formed to fight this serious nervous disease. This group is the National Multiple Sclerosis Association, Fifth Avenue and 103rd Street, New York. It is started by patients themselves together with their friends and relatives, in co-operation with some of the country's leading physicians. It is to be hoped that the added interest and support provided by this association will lead to a more rapid increase in our knowledge of the causes and treatment of multiple sclerosis.

Q—Is it true that when ether is used as an anesthetic, the patient loses hair?
A—This has been reported from time to time but is unusual. It seems unlikely that there is any connection between the use of ether and loss of hair. Perhaps the illness for which the operation was performed was at fault.

A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our water-fowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservation practices are neglected.

Nobody Loves Forever

THE STORY: Jessica Gordon, aristocratic southern belle, eloped with Yankee soldier Tom Blake in defiance of her father and in spite of her own qualms. At Tom's insistence, she is living with his mother and sister, Lucy, while he is overseas. They are working people and Jessica, accustomed to luxury, tries in vain to accommodate herself to their kind of life. Tom's sister is cool to her and his mother openly antagonistic. Jessica goes to the airport for an outing one Sunday afternoon and an attractive man picks a conversation with her. Jessica is flattered but discourages him. Determined to seek independence for herself and her two-year-old daughter, Betsy, before Tom's return, she takes a valuable ring that had belonged to her mother downtown and leaves it at a jeweler's for appraisal and sale. Feeling extravagant on the way home, she steps into a fashionable hotel for lunch. A voice says: "Hello! What luck to find you here." It is the man from the airport. He insists she have a drink with him.

CHAPTER XII.

The drinks came. Cigarettes were lighted. He asked, "How's Betsy?" which put the conversation on a good firm basis. She talked about Betsy. How old she was and whom she resembled. "She's like her father." That was a safe subject, too. He said, "My name's David Gregory," and ignored the reference to her husband.

After a bit of hesitation she said, "Mine is Jessica Blake." He laughed. "I remembered that. You knew that I would try to see you again, didn't you, Jessica?"

She thought. This must end right now. Lucy was right, in spite of all her prissiness, and it is dangerous to trifle with men like David Gregory.

David Gregory. She liked the name and she liked the man who bore it in spite of the fact that she determined to discourage any further meeting.

She pushed aside her glass and declared she must go. "Without a dance?"

The music encouraged dancing. The soft low beat drummed in her ears. She shook her head and picked up her gloves and purse.

David said, "Why not? Why won't you dance with me?" Silly to refuse, of course.

She was in his arms drifting across the floor and aware with a sudden suffocating guilt that she was terribly happy. Light-hearted and free. She smiled up at him and he smiled down at her and his arm tightened slightly.

The dance ended and they returned to their table. "Now I must go."

He did not try to persuade her to linger, but there was something triumphant in his blue eyes as she met his glance. Something which made her lower her dark eyes quickly.

Later, as they stood together outside the Mayflower, he said,

"My car's down here." He nodded toward the parking lot a block away. "Of course I'll take you home."

His car was a convertible with red leather upholstery. A magnificent car which carried them smoothly and swiftly through the traffic and out to the Blake house.

He reached across Jessica to unfasten the door and his arm held the door catch and imprisoned her for a moment. "I want to see you again," he said firmly.

Jessica said, "I'm sorry."

She pushed through the door and ran up the walk without a backward glance. Without thanking him, she remembered later. It was better that way. Better to discourage him. Better to be rude.

Not even to herself would she confess the stab of regret she felt as David Gregory drove away. Probably he will not care to see you again, she thought, and sternly closed her mind to the determined glint in David's blue eyes and the charm of his disturbing smile.

David Gregory telephoned the day following the meeting at the Mayflower. He called several times and always Jessica told him that she was busy, unable to make any engagements. Two weeks passed with no further attempt upon his part to get in touch with her and she felt a certain relief.

Mrs. Blake answered the telephone upon two occasions and viewed her afterward with something closely akin to horror. Lucy told her that her mother was completely upset by the idea that Jessica would converse with a strange man. Why had the man called her? Who was he?

The fact that David was the man who spoke to her at the airport only aggravated Lucy's disapproval. She had met him again?

Jessica explained. On a shopping trip downtown she had met David Gregory and he had brought her home in his car. Nothing more.

Lucy persisted. "He stopped you on the street?"

"No." Flatly. "I met him at the Mayflower."

"What's wrong with that?" Jessica was impatient now and ill at ease remembering how startled she had been when David appeared so unexpectedly, remembering the dance and her own reaction to his touch, but determined to give the meeting no significance whatever.

She picked Betsy up from the floor and started to leave the room, then paused and, over her shoulder, said indifferently, "I'll never see the man again and I've told him so repeatedly."

"Tom will be home soon," said Lucy.

As though that would solve everything, thought Jessica as she wearily mounted the long stairs. She could not explain the restlessness which dogged her constantly ever since the day she met David Gregory. It was unwise to have caught a glimpse of a different life, for her own would not be too changed with Tom's return. For a while at least they must remain with his people and she would be one against three, for Tom would agree at all times with his mother and Lucy.

The prospect was disheartening.

To Be Continued.
