GERMANS FALL BACK TO FRESH MOUNTAIN LINE

Retreating Nazis Leave Scenes Of Vast Destruction

Huns Burn Houses, Shoot Civilians and Destroy Livestock as They Fall Back from Volturmo Valley—New Front Extends 27 Miles Northeast from Volturmo River Mouth to Venafro.

By NOLAND NORGAAARD, Associated Press War Correspondent.

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Oct. 20.—(P)—Threatened on their left flank by a swift Allied drive that cut forward five miles, the Germans fell back today from the Volturmo Valley to a fresh mountain line, it was announced, leaving behind them one of the war's worst scenes of destruction.

The Germans are retreating to establish a strong new mountain line anchored on the high Massico ridge and the town of Mondragone, six miles North of the Volturmo River mouth, and extending 27 miles Northeast to Venafro.

Official dispatches from 5th Army headquarters said the Nazis were burning houses, shooting civilians, destroying livestock, tearing up railroads, dynamiting roads and firing haystacks to provide smoke-screens to cover their retreat.

Driving forward five miles North and Northeast of Capua, the Allies eliminated the Germans' last hope of making a stand anywhere South of the Mondragone-Venafro line. The advance carried the 5th Army into the towns of Pignataro, six miles North of Capua, Roccaromana, five miles Northwest of Lodi, and the highway junction and town of Dragoni, two and a half miles Northwest of Alghero.

These advances put them eleven miles North of the Volturmo.

Attacking heavily along the Adriatic coast in the face of increasing resistance by reinforced Nazi troops, the British 8th Army captured Petacciato nine miles West of Termoli. Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's infantry made a successful attack on the village, capturing by the Germans into a heavily fortified zone, with the support of British tanks and artillery.

South of the Adriatic coast, other 8th Army units beat back a heavy enemy counter-attack on Montecilio, occupied Monday.

Sharp clashes occurred in the area of Bannoli three miles Northwest of Montecilio, where the enemy massed large reinforcements to hold the mountain heights controlling the main lateral road West and Northwest from Vianichino. The German Paris radio reported Canadians are fighting in the Vianichino area.

(Louis V. Hunter, Canadian Press War Correspondent with the 8th Army, reported today in a dispatch dated October 18th that resistance was increasing along the Canadian front with the Germans hurling counter-attacks at the steadily advancing Dominion forces.

(However, he said these attacks were held and that Canadians had penetrated three towns. The towns

British Have Post-War Air Control Plan

London, October 20.—(P)—Lord Beaverbrook announced today that Britain has an "extensive and complete" plan for post-war civil aviation ready to present to an international conference.

The newspaper peer, Lord Privy Seal in the Churchill Government, told the House of Lords the plan was adopted at the recent Empire Air Conference in London and awaited only approval of the Dominion Governments.

He said, however, that this estimate—which would be four times the number of commercial planes used in the United States before the war—"will not afford a great basis for production of aircraft after the war."

Submission of the Empire plan to an international conference, he said, "must wait upon the United States of America and particularly upon Russia."

Canada was represented at the Empire Air Conference by Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, Hon. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner, H. J. Symington, head of Trans-Canada Air Lines, and J. R. Baldwin, Assistant Secretary in the Privy Council Office at Ottawa.

Canadian Troops Repulsed German Counter-Thrusts And Seized Three Villages In Steady March Forward

By LOUIS V. HUNTER, Canadian Press War Correspondent. With the 8th Army in Italy, Oct. 18.—(Delayed)—(P) Cable)—German resistance stiffened today (Monday) along the Canadian section of the Italian front and several counter-thrusts by enemy forces fighting a slow, rear-guard action were successfully held by our troops.

There has been bitter fighting during the intense patrolling by both sides in the thickly wooded, hilly country beyond the last two objectives taken by the Canadian troops. Heavy artillery duels for the past two days have continued spasmodically and the enemy has reinforced his troops facing the Canadians, apparently in an attempt to slow up the satisfactory progress our troops have been making the last few weeks.

Canadians in the advance patrols encountered many snipers but they were picked off one by one. A few of them infiltrated behind the Canadian line and in one case succeeded in cutting a telephone line between a forward command and headquarters.

The enemy positions have been pounded consistently from the air throughout today.

Canadian troops yesterday (Sunday) penetrated three towns. A company of a Pacific Coast battalion went into one town out with the other two when the Germans shelled the spot heavily. Heavy fighting now is going on in that area and the infantry is being well supported in these attacks.

Men from an Eastern Ontario battalion engaged the enemy in the neighborhood of the other two penetrated towns have taken part in a number of skirmishes during the last forty-eight hours.

One of the towns was occupied by a company commanded by Maj. Clinton Nickle, of Madoc, Ont. His troops now are patrolling beyond the town.

A section from a company led by Capt. R. F. Dufour, of Madoc, Ont., was detailed to occupy another town. The men ran into heavy mortar fire from strong enemy positions across the river and engaged enemy patrols in the town. The entire area was controlled by a number of enemy observation posts which directed artillery and mortar fire on the town, forcing the Canadians to withdraw and prepare for a new assault.

During the fighting in this area

German Position Inside Dnieper River Elbow Menaced By Soviets

The vicinity of Dnepropetrovsk and Melitopol is the scene of bitter fighting as Russian forces threaten to cut off German troops in the Crimea. Broken arrows show possible routes of the Soviet drives.

Fresh Divisions of Men, Tanks and Artillery Hurlled into Fight in Attempt to Halt Russians' Flanking Drive to West of River.

By EDDY GILMORE, Associated Press Staff Writer. Moscow, Oct. 20.—(P)—The whole German position inside the Dnieper River elbow was threatened today as harassed Nazi commanders hurled fresh divisions of men, tanks and artillery into the fight in an attempt to halt the Red Army's flanking drive to the West of the river.

The Russians' major breakthrough Southeast of Kremenchuk has swept into 130 settlements and the railway junction of Pyatikhatka to outflank Dnepropetrovsk, 40 miles to the East, and Dnepropetrovsk, 70 miles to the East.

Pyatikhatka is at the junction of the main railway between Znamenska and Dnepropetrovsk and one running South of Krivoi Rog, its capture leaves the Germans but one line, through Krivoi Rog, to evacuate the whole Dnieper bend.

London, Oct. 20.—(P)—Unleashing a mass power drive which breached the "impenetrable" German defence lines Southwest of Kremenchuk, Red Army troops have captured the key

Value Of Bonds Sold In First Two Days Of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan $126,587,150

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—(P)—Subscriptions yesterday to the $1,200,000,000 Fifth Victory Loan totaled $68,857,700, raising to $126,587,150 the value of Bonds sold in the first two days of the three-week campaign. National Loan Headquarters announced today.

The cumulative total is $8,341,900 higher than the corresponding figure for the first two days of the Fourth Victory Loan last spring when the objective was $1,100,000,000.

"The Fifth Loan thus has yielded in the first two days an average of $68,293,575, against a required daily average of $66,666,666," said headquarters. "Tuesday's total was $4,000,000 higher than the corresponding day of the previous loan which yielded $54,949,500.00."

The first three-star loan award at Granby, Que., went to Aviv Textiles Ltd., where the complete staff of 53 subscribed 15 per cent of their total payroll, topping their objective by more than 50 per cent. Asbestos Corporation Limited, of St. Lambert, Que., reported its 175 employees subscribed 300 per cent of their $10,000 objective in a few hours.

"Early reports indicated that gold miners in Northern Quebec are giving strong support," said today's press statement from Loan Headquarters. At Arncliffe, 76 miners of a staff of 85 at Francoeur Gold Mines bought $10,000 worth of bonds, topping their $8,100 objective before the campaign opened. At Rouyn, 90 per cent of the employees of Stadacona Rouyn Mines over-subscribed their $17,000 target by $500.

Employees of Orpheus Theatre, Halifax, subscribed 175 per cent of objective the first day. In 20 minutes the staff of the Halifax Furniture Company topped their target with 125 per cent.

"An increasing volume of signals from Royal Canadian Navy ships and shore establishments showed them to be in close rivalry with Army and Air Force units," said Loan Headquarters. "Among the most liberal investors are sailors at sea and one destroyer flew both 'quota' and 'cock-of-the-walk' pennants, signifying she had passed her quota and was leading destroyer for the day. Her subscriptions totalled $10,700."

At an Eastern port "Captain D" reported his destroyers and other ships had a two-day total of more than $100,000. The leading corvette and other ships had more than $8,000, or more than $100 a man. The armament depot will hold its quota pennant today, having bought $55,450 worth of bonds against an objective of $50,000. The base at Pictou, N.S., passed its $20,000 objective and reported one ship with 200 per cent of quota.

Fort William received a signal from the naval office at Pictou that H.M.C.S. Fort William had over-subscribed its quota by 40 per cent. H.M.C.S. Captor, Navy Operational Base at Saint John, N.B., passed its $23,000 quota by $2,500.

Northwest Atlantic Naval Command has challenged Eastern Air Command to a race in gaining their objectives. The naval goal is $1,400,000 and the R.C.A.F. is $1,300,000. The present standing: Navy $255,400 or 21 per cent; Air Force $16,650, or 32 per cent.

In New Brunswick at least four military units have exceeded their quotas. District headquarters staff subscribed 165 per cent of quota and the staff of St. James St. Military Hospital 125 per cent. Halifax received word an air force unit in Newfoundland passed its $40,000 objective and a bomber reconnaissance group topped its objective of $6,000.

60 More Planes And Two Warships Destroyed By Allies Near Rabaul

Allied Headquarters, The Southwest Pacific, Oct. 20.—(P)—Medium bombers, flying so low that pursuing Zeros inadvertently dipped wings in the sea and crashed, have destroyed 60 more planes and sunk two more warships at the Japanese key base of Rabaul.

This second air pounding within a week of the New Britain fortress to which the enemy's New Guinea and Solomon defenses are hinged was announced today by headquarters. But a spokesman also disclosed that Japanese troops have gone over to the offensive against Australians in the Finschhafen, New Guinea, area.

The attack Monday on Rabaul heaped new destruction on the 177 enemy planes demolished or damaged and the three warships sunk in the 350-ton bombing assault of

Oct. 12. In addition to blasting Rabaul, on the Northeast tip of the island, Allied bombers also struck the Cape Hoskins airbase midway along the North Coast and the Cape Gloucester field on the Western tip. Across narrow Dampier Strait from Cape Gloucester, Japanese troops achieved "some progress," an Allied spokesman said, in a drive Southeastward from Sattelberg toward Finschhafen, 15 miles away. Finschhafen was captured by Australians Oct. 2. Sunday the Japanese also tried to land from three barges near Finschhafen but two of the barges were sunk and today headquarters said the troops which succeeded in landing had been wiped out.

14,000 RESIDENTS OF KHARKOV WERE MURDERED BY HUNS

London, Oct. 20.—(P)—More than 14,000 "absolutely innocent" inhabitants of Kharkov were said in a Moscow broadcast recorded by the Soviet Monitor last night to have been killed during the Nazi occupation of that steel city, recaptured by the Red Army August 24.

Hundreds of men, women and children were herded into a tractor plant, "where a large ditch was previously dug out," for extermination, it said. Others were reported gassed to death in "death trap" trucks, described as hermetically sealed with the exhausts connected inside. Thousands were shot.

WAR BULLETINS

Madrid.—An exchange of German and British disabled war prisoners will take place at Barcelona October 28 or 29, the Barcelona correspondent of the Spanish news agency Cifra said today.

New York.—Selection of troops for the Brazilian Expeditionary Force will begin today at two medical centres in Rio de Janeiro, a Brazilian domestic broadcast recorded by the Federal Commission said.

Allied Headquarters, Algiers.—Two Royal Navy destroyers intercepted two German-manned Italian steamers in the Adriatic Sea off the Dalmatian coast Saturday, captured one and sank the other, it was disclosed today.

The action took place off the Island of Mijet, near Dubrovnik, where the Yugoslavs reported today they had repulsed a German landing attempt.

Moscow Parley Representatives Settle Down to Programme of Daily Conferences on Wartime Post-War Matters.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Moscow, Oct. 20.—(P)—Apparent satisfaction with the results of their first formal talk last night, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, United States Secretary Cordell Hull and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov settled down today to a programme of daily conferences on wartime post-war matters.

Their initial meeting lasted for two hours and 15 minutes, and while no details were announced it was understood the session was satisfactory.

The conferees disclosed that they will meet once a day in Spiridonovka Palace until their discussions are concluded. No formal announcement concerning the progress of the talks will be issued while they are under way.

Before last night's session, which started at 6 p.m., a spokesman said it would give the three diplomats a chance to share "frankly and freely" what's on another's mind. Eden and Hull conversed at the official residence of the U.S. Ambassador before the meeting.

The foundation for future vital discussions among United Nations leaders will be largely laid at this conference, which is not expected to hit any lasting snags, although urgent matters will be discussed for the first time. It is expected that the talks will iron out numerous issues before other leaders confer.

(Prime Minister Churchill has expressed hope for a Churchill-Roosevelt-Stalin meeting this year.) No military men attended the first meeting.

Meanwhile, the signing of the Canadian cities and towns to reach 100 per cent of their respective objectives in the combined general canvass and payroll savings division. Three Rivers had 18.6 of its objective.

Nearest competitor to the little Quebec city was Belleville, Ont., with 12.0 of its objective. North Bay, Ont., came close behind with 10.2 per cent, followed by Medicine Hat with 8.7 and Shawinigan Falls, Que., with 8.4.

Manitoba scored its biggest day of any loan when provincial sales Monday climbed $180,000 above the mark set on the opening date of the fourth campaign.

WAR BOND SALES IN STANSTEAD MOUNTING

Magog, Oct. 20.—Headed by the largest individual purchase yet made in Stanstead County during the Fifth Victory Loan campaign, with the Town of Magog purchasing $40,000 worth of the new Bonds, Stanstead County yesterday reached the total of $103,400 in subscriptions to date.

Among the larger communities, amounts recorded were: Magog, $73,750; Coaticook, $5,300; and the Border Communities, $12,300. Canvassing in the Textile Town will not get fully underway until next Monday.

German Position

At the end of the day's fighting the German garrison at Dnepropetrovsk left with but a single railroad line running Southwest to Nikolaev on the Black Sea, severance of which would isolate the large Nazi forces crowded in the pocket of the big Dnieper River bend.

Further Red Army progress was reported North and South of the Ukrainian capital of Kiev. Here Soviet troops "completed the annihilation of remnants" of motorized Nazi units striving to prevent encirclement of the great stronghold, the communists said.

South of Gomel, Southern anchor of the German defence lines in White Russia, the Russians swept more Germans from the Dnieper-Sozh triangle and further extended their bridgeheads on the West bank of the Dnieper below Rechitsa on the road to Poland.

Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press war correspondent in Moscow, said advances from the Ukraine indicated the Germans had started huge demolitions in Kiev. Tremendous explosions could be heard far East of the Dnieper, he said.

Forcible evacuation of Kiev's wartime population of 150,000 was also reported by Cassidy. According to the Russians, he said, civilians are being driven West along the road to Zhitomir in two groups, destined for slave labor camps in Germany.

At the end of the day's fighting the German garrison at Dnepropetrovsk left with but a single railroad line running Southwest to Nikolaev on the Black Sea, severance of which would isolate the large Nazi forces crowded in the pocket of the big Dnieper River bend.

Further Red Army progress was reported North and South of the Ukrainian capital of Kiev. Here Soviet troops "completed the annihilation of remnants" of motorized Nazi units striving to prevent encirclement of the great stronghold, the communists said.

South of Gomel, Southern anchor of the German defence lines in White Russia, the Russians swept more Germans from the Dnieper-Sozh triangle and further extended their bridgeheads on the West bank of the Dnieper below Rechitsa on the road to Poland.

Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press war correspondent in Moscow, said advances from the Ukraine indicated the Germans had started huge demolitions in Kiev. Tremendous explosions could be heard far East of the Dnieper, he said.

Forcible evacuation of Kiev's wartime population of 150,000 was also reported by Cassidy. According to the Russians, he said, civilians are being driven West along the road to Zhitomir in two groups, destined for slave labor camps in Germany.

TOWN COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING AT COATICOOK

Decide to Withdraw Support to Poor Because of Great Improvement in Unemployment Problem.

Coaticook, Oct. 20.—Reaching the decision to discontinue further assistance to the poor, and cancelling the contract with Dr. L. T. Lemoine as Municipal Physician, who has given free care to poor cases, the Coaticook Municipal Council held a very active October meeting under the chairmanship of Mayor D. Brown Hopkins.

The decision to do away with municipal responsibility in the case of poor folk was made after a survey indicated a complete lack of such cases in the community. Alderman A. Pilote indicated that the measure was passed at the time when Coaticook had over 150 poor cases on the town lists, but that the situation had changed completely today, there were no unemployed and the aged and blind did not require municipal assistance as they received government pensions, permitting them to look after themselves.

Dealing with children's playgrounds, the Council passed a resolution authorising the Coaticook Catholic School Commission to close off Pleasant Street, between Cutting and Union, at certain hours of the day, to permit students at St. John the Evangelist school to enjoy their recreation periods. This was deemed necessary as the school has no arrangements for playgrounds in its present location.

With a thought to the coming winter, the Council also granted $35 to the J. O. C. St. Emord unit, to permit them to erect a skating rink on the St. Jean Baptiste street lot as in the past years.

Due to the lack of available parking space on the main streets on busy days, the Council passed a resolution discontinuing the exclusive use of the present reserved space for taxis in front of the Rex Cafe, and in future this space will be available for all motorists.

Members of the Council present at this important session were Aldermen Joseph Cameron, E. Ruei, Denis Grien, A. Pilote, O. Marcoux and Charles E. Akhurst.

RED CROSS SOCIETY PLANS FOR CLINIC

At a fairly representative gathering of Red Cross Society members, under the chairmanship of President Mrs. Stuart Riley, a brief business session discussed a letter which Blood Donor Clinics in Coaticook, and volunteers were asked to submit their names to be ready when the mobile unit arrives shortly from Sherbrooke.

In a drive to secure more knitting from local branches, Headquarters submitted a letter which was read at this meeting, asking for a greater supply of knitting as the demand now increased from overseas.

Several donations were recorded at this meeting, including five cartons of magazines for reading in the army and air forces, for which the demand now more urgent than ever, and the public response is being especially

Eastern Townships Have Subscribed $1,012,450 To Date

This Figure, However, Does Not Include List Of Special Names

Division Five, with 14.3 per cent of its objective, today maintained its lead over Division Six, which has achieved a percentage of 11.5 of its quota, as the Fifth Victory Loan entered its third working day of the campaign. The leading zone has raised $404,350 in its six counties, while subscriptions in the six districts in the other zone have subscribed a total of $608,100 in general sales and payroll savings plan.

Ahead of the eleven counties in the two Eastern Townships zone was Arthabaska with 30.7 per cent, and Shefford was next with a percentage of 26.0. Sherbrooke and Nicolet counties were tied for third place honors by having registered 11.8 and 11.2 percentages of their goals, respectively.

However, special names subscriptions told a different story. Sherbrooke County has a total of $1,465,000 in this department. Shefford County has raised $110,000 in special names, with Arthabaska and Stanstead Counties having $20,000 and $10,000, respectively.

Of the drive explained that special names have no bearing on the percentage of the objectives, based on the general sales and various payroll savings plans.

INSTITUTE AT LENNOXVILLE HELD SESSION

The regular monthly meeting of the Lennoxville Women's Institute was held in the club room, Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie presiding. After the usual opening and routine business reports from the various departments were heard.

A good report of the School Fair was given by Mrs. H. Burroughs and Mrs. R. E. Mosher, stating that this year's exhibits surpassed all previous years, which is very encouraging both to the young exhibitors and the sponsors.

Mrs. Fred Glass reported that of the sunshine bags brought in to date the sum of eleven dollars and twenty-seven cents had been received for the Ways and Means. A report of the war services and welfare and health was given by Mrs. H. L. Wallace which showed a great interest in Red Cross work taken.

During the past three months nine members have been sworn and knitted for this branch have made five hundred and twenty-six knitted garments, a total of six hundred and nineteen. Several other members help with hand-finishing and clerical work in the work-room.

During the time the Branch also received a prize of six dollars for having made the most leather vests for the Norwegian seamen. Fifteen vests were made here and the six dollar prize received was returned to the Norwegian Relief Fund for the seamen and five ditty bags for the Navy were filled.

The Room Convener, Mrs. R. W. S. Nutbrown, reported that the club room is now being used for the making of surgical dressings by the Red Cross workers, and it was decided that owing to the demands made to rent the club room, it was now only to be let to women's organizations until further arrangements are made, as no janitor service is available.

The Convener of National and International Relations, Mrs. J. H. Prime Minister Churchill had passed through Lennoxville recently while in Canada to attend the Quebec Conference.

An appeal from the Red Cross headquarters in Montreal for James, Jellies and honey to send Overseas was received and it was decided to send money if a permit were granted to buy same.

The sum of five dollars was voted for prizes for the local High School to be given in War Savings Stamps.

It was also decided to hold the regular meeting in the evening and to give further notice and Mrs. Hartley invited the members to her home on Main Street for the November session.

A number of pieces of print were distributed to be made into aprons, and a tea and sale of food, aprons and small articles was arranged for.

At the conclusion of the business an interesting talk was given by the President, Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie, in which she told of the conference at Macdonald College which she attended in September. The discussions were on "Education for Rehabilitation" and every province was represented.

She also stated that broadcasts are to be heard soon on this subject and urged the members to listen in and that they be done and that members would be called on to do their share and must be prepared.

A word contest was then enjoyed and the winner, Mrs. C. A. Prince, was presented with a War Savings Stamp, after which the hostesses, Mrs. J. Stafford and Mrs. M. E. McCurdy, assisted by Mrs. W. Stafford, served a delicious lunch.

Eighth Annual Fat Stock Show Gets Under Way Here Today

The eighth annual fat stock show for the Eastern Townships will begin at 2:30 this afternoon when one of the largest fields of exhibits ever seen at the show will go on display. Officials announced this morning that there have been more entries than ever before and stock was still coming in at a late hour. A total of 133 market cattle will be on exhibit, while there will be 41 head of breeding cattle, 206 hogs and 232 lambs on display.

The judging of the various classes will begin this afternoon at 2:30 when the breeding cattle will be inspected and judged. This will carry over until tomorrow morning and then tomorrow afternoon the judging of the market cattle will begin at 1:30. All judging is expected to be finished by noon on Friday and the fat stock sale will be held at 1:30 on Friday afternoon. At this time it is expected that the Hon. Adolphe Godbout, Prime Minister of the Province, will be present.

Among all the reserves have been exhausted. The only hope of keeping up the work now will be through the contributions that are expected from the towns and villages when the mobile unit starts campaigning. The results of this last session are disappointing to all those who have been working to make this undertaking a success, and when the number of donors becomes smaller than the number of voluntary workers, then the time has come for more urgent appeals. If doctors and volunteer workers can find the time to attend the clinic and offer their services purely out of their own pockets, then the clinic will be able to keep the clinic functioning. Tomorrow night another clinic will be held at the headquarters, and it is hoped that the full quota will be reached.

Among the doctors who were present at the last clinic were H. E. Einbinder, J. B. Winder and S. Marcus, while the voluntary workers present included: Mrs. C. E. Soles, Mrs. C. Ives, Miss P. Armstrong, Mrs. H. Moffatt, Mrs. D. Stevenson, Miss Blanche Darche, Mrs. W. Varney, Mrs. S. Jameson, Miss St. Jean, Miss K. Cross, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. C. Campbell, Mrs. G. Bryant, Mrs. C. Wright, Mrs. T. Saunders, Mrs. J. Vincent, Mrs. J. Meagher, Mrs. T. Harbert, Mrs. G. Dunmore, Miss A. Armstrong, Mrs. C. Wright and Mrs. C. Bryant.

Among the donors were: Lewis W. Temple, Neil Tracy, St. Major Smith, R. M. S. Green, Lt. M. D. Brundage, T. A. Bagley, F. E. Webb, K. Earley, L. MacLeod, East Angus, Mrs. Winifred Stetson, R. Badger, Mrs. Emily Roy, Col. E. Elliott, Frances Taylor, Mrs. M. Wilson, Mozart Vallee, Charles Taylor, G. Burt, H. Robitaille, Donald MacIntyre and Dr. Loomis.

In pleading the case the plaintiff claimed that the liquid was no good and that it contained ingredients harmful to the automobile. In the second place he claimed that the defendant had guaranteed the quality of the product, and thirdly he claimed that the company was obliged to keep the guarantee.

The judgment declared that the company tried to recall the product and pay back the purchasers who were using it. This was quite justifiable in the eyes of the law, the judge said.

Two Dismissals Handed Down By Justice Gibsone In Local Court

A case of assault and provocation involving Philippe Brochu and Henri Vachon was dismissed by Hon. Justice G. F. Gibsone in Superior Court. Brochu was suing Vachon for $100 damages as the result of a fight which took place between the two men on the Dube farm at St. Isidore d'Auckland.

According to testimony given at the trial both men got into an argument which resulted in Brochu's receiving a blow from Vachon. In testifying that Vachon hit him, Brochu said that he was asking for $50 damages and an additional $50 for having been injured. When questioned about the fight the defendant said that he had been insulted and that it was for this reason that he hit him.

In rendering judgment, Justice Gibsone said that it was a question of whether or not the plaintiff deserved the blow which he received. He said that it was a little difficult to decide just which party was at fault but that he thought one thing was certain and that was that of the two parties involved in the argument at the auction only one had caused the trouble and that was the plaintiff. He said that it was up to the plaintiff to see that he furnished sufficient proof of the damages which he received in this unfortunate affair and that he had failed to do it.

In another case handled by the Hon. Justice Gibsone he dismissed the action of Joseph Blais against the United Auto Parts Ltd. of Sherbrooke in which Blais was suing the company for damages caused to his automobile through the alleged use of an inferior anti-freeze.

Blais testified in the case that he bought a quantity of this anti-freeze from the company and that he had sold some of it to a man by the name of Couture in St. Evariste. Couture took action against Blais, who is a mechanic in the same town, because of the inferior quality of the product, and he was obliged to pay Couture the costs and damages. Immediately following this Blais then took action against the United Auto Parts Limited from whom he had purchased the anti-freeze.

This anti-freeze which is manufactured by an American company was brought to Canada and put on the market at Montreal and Sherbrooke and it was not long after it had been sold that reports and complaints came in to both distributors about its inefficiency. After several people had been given their money back and the damages to the cars paid by the two Canadian retailers they wrote to the company in the States and after looking into the matter they decided to stop the sale of it. The company then bought back what the owners had in stock and at the same time advised any garage owners who might have any in stock to turn it in and not to sell it. All garage men were advised to have their clients return to the garages and to have their radiators drained and the full cost of the anti-freeze returned to them.

Testimony further revealed that it was in October of 1941 that Blais purchased thirty gallons of the liquid from the local distributor centre. A little later the officials of the company called on Blais and purchased fifteen gallons of the liquid that he had remaining. They explained the reason to him and also gave him the money for the fifteen gallons that had been sold so that he could return it to his customers.

In pleading the case the plaintiff claimed that the liquid was no good and that it contained ingredients harmful to the automobile. In the second place he claimed that the defendant had guaranteed the quality of the product, and thirdly he claimed that the company was obliged to keep the guarantee.

SHARP DECLINE REGISTERED AT BLOOD CLINIC

Only twenty-one donors were present at the last blood clinic, according to reports issued by officials at the headquarters today. This is a sharp drop off in the number expected at these clinics and something definite will have to be done if the clinic is to continue to operate and function as it should. The number has now fallen to thirty below the mark requested by the authorities for each clinic and all the reserves have been exhausted. The only hope of keeping up the work now will be through the contributions that are expected from the towns and villages when the mobile unit starts campaigning. Contribution Of Canadian Farmers To War Effort Has Won Praise From All Sources, Says Rotary Speaker

Prof. Lattimer, Department of Economics, Macdonald College, maintained last night that it is hard to harmonize urban and rural relationships. He was addressing the annual rural-urban meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club held at the Brompton Community Hall in Bromptonville.

This is due to the specialization in different lines, the speaker held, as business becomes more specialized, the exchange of goods, known as trade, must increase. The struggle between groups of specialists for what they consider they should get as their reward for effort becomes more important and more keen, he said, adding that the present race between rising prices for some goods and rising wages of some workers is an example.

Lauding the farmers of Canada for the splendid job during the war, Prof. Lattimer stated that for the first three years of the strife nature assisted crops. During the present year such was not the case, yet contributions of Canadian farmers to the war effort have merited and received unstinted praise from all sources.

Yet the providers of these goods require more than praise, and a comparison of prices of farm products locally with some other parts of the world is necessary to keep the record straight, the speaker continued. Prices of Canadian farm products are not today quite as high as in 1926, prices are not as high here as in the United States, nor are they anything like those in Britain where the farm price of wheat is approximately two dollars a bushel at the present time.

Comparing prices prevailing in this war against the last, he asserted that prices of farm products are quite different locally from those existing in 1918, the fourth year of the previous world conflict. At that time wheat was $2.02 a bushel and butter forty-five cents a pound, according to him.

This being a different kind of a war from the previous one and partly due to price ceilings. However, Mr. Lattimer pointed out that this background is necessary in order to intelligently discuss improved urban-rural relationships. There is at present much complaint at the high cost of living on the part of the urban dwellers, and at the same time there are repeated and insistent claims by producers that prices of farm products are not high enough. He said how to reconcile these two opinions is the problem facing all who seek to improve urban-rural relationships.

One of the reasons for the difference of opinion is the lack of understanding of each group's contribution to society. "Those who feel that food prices are high today are apt to forget how much 'too low' they were in the thirties," Prof. Lattimer told his listeners. "They even forget how low they were at the outbreak of the war in September, 1939, when they were actually lower than in 1914. Another thing that is forgotten usually is the low wages in farming at the outbreak of war, and it is recorded that wages in farming have doubled since 1939."

He next dealt with consumer subsidies, saying that the policy of consumer subsidies should not be confused with that of free food to those who are unable to pay for it. These are two separate things. Declaring that farmers oppose subsidies on principle, he said that they fear what may happen in the post-war years.

"Farmers fear that when the war is over subsidies will cease. They do not expect that after the war will be a good time to raise the price of food to the consumer. With present retail food prices and no bonuses

LOOSE TALK CAUSES TROUBLE

Strong emphasis of the dangers which can arise between nations, supposedly fighting a common cause, when an individual or group of individuals in a semi-public position start to shout their heads off about something of which they have little or no knowledge is given in the current exchange between the British press and a group of United States politicians. The friction is a direct result of statements made by five United States Senators following a tour of the war-fronts, statements which implied a degree of bad faith on the part of Great Britain in carrying out the terms of the Lend-Lease agreement. These declarations brought repercussions in London and have led to demands that greater publicity be given to exchanges under Lend-Lease agreements.

Now it appears that the Senators in question, or at least three of the five, did not really mean to cause any harm and have voiced disappointment that their report to the Senate has been interpreted by some British newspapers as a reflection upon the British people.

Democrat Senator Richard Russell, of Georgia, Chairman of the group, expressed a conviction that British and American interests now and in the post-war period are "inseparably linked." Russell, long an advocate of Anglo-American collaboration, asserted he and his colleagues on the tour shared a warm affection for Britons and added that whatever criticism was voiced at the executive session was directed at correcting "situations we felt needed correction."

"We're not mad at anybody, except Hitler and Hirohito," remarked Senator Ralph Brewster, Republican, Maine, another of the group. Senator James Mead, Democrat, of New York, called attention to an address he made to the Senate last Tuesday in which he asserted "No one levelled one iota of criticism at the British war effort," and "We have a huge appreciation of the courage and heroism of the people of England."

These statements are to a great degree borne out by the attitude of Prime Minister Churchill in the British House of Commons yesterday, who declared the trouble lay in the way which the report was misconstrued.

But, be that as it may, the fact remains that every public man should show greater care in the views he expresses if he really desires to maintain the common front against the Nazi menace.

THE CANADA MEDAL

Filling a need that has long been apparent in this country, the creation of the Canada Medal, a distinctly Canadian decoration for merit, removes one of those inconsistencies which have long been apparent in the Canadian national set-up. Almost every country in the world is privileged to reward its nationals and citizens from other countries for valuable services performed for the nation in any one of a number of fields. But in Canada, even the greatest act of bravery undertaken at the risk of one's own life must go unrewarded insofar as the Canadian Government was concerned, but any award must come from the Old Country and in many cases involved almost impossible formalities. And the suitable rewarding of foreigners was out of the question.

Admittedly the Canada Medal will be of more sentimental than practical value, as it confers nothing but honor on the recipient, but, as in the case of every other award, the medal will be the result of any particular action rather than the cause of the action. Few men, if any, undertake a particularly meritorious operation for the sake of some medal which may be handed out to them. On the other hand, the doing of the action is in itself almost sufficient reward. But this does not provide any reason why the Government should not be able to show some suitable token of esteem for those persons whom it deems worthy of honor.

The new decoration may be won by any citizen, civilian or military, in recognition of "meritorious service above and beyond the faithful performance of duties" and as far as can be learned may be won in the most prosaic occupations since it does not essentially require gallantry in action or risk of life.

The award fills a definite need and is not in any way designed to replace those awards for exceptionally gallantry, such as the Victoria Cross, the Distinguished Service awards for the armed services and the George Cross, which still remain the prerogative of His Majesty to be given to any citizen of the Empire whom he deems worthy. These decorations have earned for themselves a sentimental place in all British hearts which can never be removed and it is to preserve their value that such auxiliary awards as the Canada Medal have been created.

IMPROVED VALUATION SYSTEM NEEDED

The decision of the local City Council that increases in valuation of real estate should not be effected while the Federal restrictions on the raising of rentals remains and the recommendation that the simple embellishment of a property through painting or planting a few trees should not be the cause for a valuation hoist will be welcomed by all property-owners in the City as reasonable rulings and decisions that are long overdue.

But welcome as the changes are, they only serve to emphasize one basic fact—the entire method of property valuation requires some drastic revision. It is generally conceded that the valuers are doing an efficient task under the present system or lack of system, but they are hampered by the customs of the past which can only be removed if the whole scheme of property taxation is overhauled.

One of the difficulties inherent at present is determining just what is the value of a particular property. The question facing the valuers is: Should the property be valued at its replacement cost, its replacement cost less depreciation, or should the rental value of the structure determine the rate at which it is inscribed on the municipal books? From some of the protests received against the 1943 roll, it is apparent that the local valuation board is endeavoring to make the first alternative the basis for their work—the replacement cost of the building plus the value of the land. But it is also obvious that rentals also play their part in that the reason given for one or two hoists was that the proprietor was getting an exceptionally high return on the valuation.

Just what would be the most efficient system is a matter which should be determined by some competent commission, perhaps created by the Province so that all municipalities would be affected equally, for Sherbrooke is not the only place suffering from valuation pains.

One good suggestion made by the Chairman of the Valuation Board, and one which should be adopted without delay, is the appointment of an expert on machinery to assess the plants of local industrial concerns, for it is obvious to almost anyone that the real value of industrial equipment can only be determined by somebody who is conversant with the technical details.

INDUSTRY IN PEACE TIME

Laymen were impressed once more with the marvels of modern science when they read about the Flying Fortress which flew home safely from a bombing raid after bullets from a Messerschmitt had cut the plane almost in two and severed the pilot's manual controls.

Now we learn that this achievement was possible because of what the Minneapolis-Honeywell Company, with pardonable pride, describes as "one of America's best-kept military secrets." It was an electronically-controlled automatic pilot, accepted by the Army Air Forces in October, 1941, and now standard equipment for months on heavy bombers, that brought the Fortress home.

It must be assumed that this secret, carefully kept for virtually two years, until it is reasonably certain the Nazis have learned it from downed planes, is only one of dozens which conceal enormous strides that the war has brought to technology.

Some of them presumably have no peacetime application. Yet who can tell? The Minneapolis-Honeywell principle of electronic control was not intended for the use to which it was put. It was worked out to provide a more efficient method of controlling heat. But the Material Command at Wright Field foresaw need for a different and better automatic pilot. The Company adapted its peacefully intended research experience to the needs of war.

There seems no good reason why, if such an innocuous device as a heating control can be diverted to the business of destroying Germany, it will not prove equally feasible to convert at least some of the unpublishable new devices of war to peace uses.

This will enable us to live more comfortably, more happily, perhaps more cheaply in the post-war age. Also, and of prime importance, it should help to take up some of the employment slack after the war is over.

We have a right to expect that industry will show the same skill, aggressiveness and ingenuity at re-converting to civilian production that it has shown at converting to war needs.

PRESS COMMENTS

KIEV: "MOTHER OF CITIES"

St. Thomas Times-Journal
To the Russian people there is a far more at stake in the fierce fighting surging around Kiev than the city's strategic advantages, great though these undoubtedly are. For Kiev is the oldest of Russia's three capitals—the oldest, and probably the one that is held in deepest affection. And as the Russians, in their hour of greatest trial, turned to their national heritage for strength and will, the city on the Dnieper took on a never greater symbolic importance.

Although Kiev has often been in alien hands and although political predominance passed from her long ago—to Moscow and to St. Petersburg (the present Leningrad)—she retained her air of ancient matriarch among the cities of Russia. St. Petersburg, that artificial creation on the marshes of the Neva, had few links with the Russia past. Moscow, as one Russian historian has observed, it was respected but not loved. Kiev, the "mother of cities," was respected and loved. Her traditions were predominantly Western and Christian, which meant much in a land which for centuries fought against the pagan tribes that swept across the steppes from the East. Kiev was the core around which Russia was formed from the chaotic elements that marched and counter-marched across her vast spaces.

It is a curious coincidence, as the New York Herald Tribune observes, that two cities, diverse in meaning and character yet each in its way typifying Russia, are now the goals of Russian armies. One is Kiev, the ancient; the other, Dnepropetrovsk, noted as a modern industrial community, near the great dam which was one of the proudest achievements of the Soviet regime and the one which has been taken by the Red Army in its retreat. Both of the cities have deep meaning for the Russians; the recapture of either would mean special rejoicing. But when the guns of Moscow mark the departure of the Nazis from Kiev, the Russian pride will stem not only from a military victory, but from a sense of material accomplishment, but from the knowledge that the "mother of cities" has again been redeemed from the barbarians.

RUSSIA AND THE JAPANESE

Chicago Daily News
American senators, generals and a section of the American press are proving that Russia has no monopoly on the use of propaganda to make you ally fight the war the way you wish him to fight rather than as he wishes to fight.

For two years Russia has used every available propaganda device to induce the United States and Great Britain to invade Western Europe, regarding the feasibility of such an invasion so long as German and Allied strength in that theatre remains at existing proportions.

Last week a group of American senators, purporting to speak for Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gen. Claire Chennault, turned the propaganda guns on Russia. The object is to induce that ally to permit use of its Far-Eastern territory for American air attacks on nearby Japan and obtain Russian assistance in the war against Japan which inevitably would follow such a departure from neutrality in the Far-Eastern war.

A number of American newspapers and publicists have been clamoring for such Russian collaboration for many months. The opinion that "the lives of a million American fighting men would be saved by Russian assistance," attributed to MacArthur and Chennault by senators recently returned from a tour of the fighting fronts, has given great impetus to this propaganda.

The newspaper and senatorial propagandists work under severe handicaps. Whereas Russian propaganda for the immediate invasion of Western Europe has been freely published in American and British newspapers and vigorously championed at public meetings by American and British speakers, the American agitation for immediate Russian assistance in the war against Japan will not be heard in Russia until Stalin wishes it heard and even if it should be heard it wouldn't cut much ice.

Stalin permits the Russian press and radio to diffuse only such foreign news and opinion as suit his purposes. Stalin makes Russian public opinion rather than accepts its guidance in such matters as Russian relations with Japan.

Despite two years' pressure from within the United States and Britain, as well as from Russia, American and British armies have not yet invaded Western Europe. When they do invade it will be at places and at times chosen by the American and British high commands rather than by our Russian allies.

By the same token Russia will join in the war against Japan at the time and in the degree deemed most advantageous to Russia, regardless of agitation, senatorial or otherwise, in the United States.

Meantime the defeat of Germany is being hastened by the safe shipment of American war materials to Russia through Japanese-controlled waters in steadily increasing volume. The Russians move these supplies in ships flying the Russian flag past the unhappy Japanese to the Russian Far Eastern ports, whence they go by rail to the Russian fighting fronts. So long as the present pact of Soviet-Japanese friendship remains in force the Japanese cannot halt this traffic or the flight of American-built planes from Alaska to Siberia. Russia gets what it needs without the Germans being able to destroy it en route as they used to do over the hazardous Arctic convoy route.

Apprehension that Russia may not help against Japan may prompt some Americans to demand curtailment or cessation of American assistance to Russia. Such a move would gain us nothing and probably would cost us much. We would have to expend a great many more American lives and much additional American war material to defeat Germany and the longer time getting around to all-out war against Japan if we shut off assistance to Russia which is still engaging many times more German troops than we and our British allies are engaging.

MR. BLACKWELL'S GOOD BEGINNING

Toronto Star

In the two months prior to the Drew Government taking office, the provincial police seized thirty-one slot machines, or an average of less than four per week.

On Thursday it was announced that under the new administration 160 had been seized, an average of twenty-two per week. The police got twenty-six one night at Niagara Falls alone.

This is good work and Hon. Leslie Blackwell is to be congratulated upon such an auspicious beginning for his regime as attorney-general. It apparently means an end to the idea that municipalities can protect by a licence the machines which a federal law declares to be illegal. That process may work when no one acts unless local police do, but with the provincial police making systematic raids with tip-offs barred, the municipal licence avails nothing.

Municipalities can raise revenue in better ways than licensing machines which are illegal under the Criminal Code and which take money from people who can ill afford to lose it. The odds are always heavily in favor of the machine; how heavily may be judged from the fact that the machines pay for themselves—and they are costly—and yield handsome profits, even by seizure. But if seizure is made when a percentage of them are lost reasonably certain, and fines reasonably punitive, the risk of installing these devices in Ontario will be too great.

KNOLE FOR THE NATION

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Lord Sackville has intimated to the British Government that he is making a gift to it, on behalf of his nation, of his country residence Knole, near the village of Sevenoaks, Kent. Lord Sackville is 76 and has no male heir, and perhaps he feels that this vast home can be put to better use by the Government instead of being an incubus upon his only child, Mrs. Harold Nicholson, better known as Victoria Sackville-West, who is justly famed as poet and novelist, and whose husband has a stately home nearby, also one in London.

Knole is one of those historic and immense homes which are found all over the British Isles. The original Knole was built 600 years ago by the Earl of Pembroke, then up to the time of the Reformation it was the chief residence of the archbishops of Canterbury. The last Archbishop to live there was Cranmer, when Henry the Eighth took it away from him. The present structure was erected 300 years ago, but some of the original building remains including a chapel named for Archbishop Boucher who lived there from 1454 to 1488.

The "new" Knole is a vast place with about 350 rooms and halls, and has one of the most famous gardens in England. Obviously the maintenance of such a home with the great burden of taxation imposed by Lloyd George heavily increased by the present war, has become impossible. It stands on rising ground in the heart of a county that is called "The Garden of England" and will make an ideal hospital or convalescent home for officers, or for some such purpose.

WAS IT MILITARY?

St. Catharines Standard

The Germans have done so many things in this war without regard to any military objective, but for sheer terrorism, that the setting of a time bomb in the post-office at Naples, which killed a large number of people, should occasion no surprise. On this Dave Boone in The New York Sun has the following comment:

"Few acts of barbarism have given a better idea of what we fight when we fight the Nazis, than those delayed bomb outrages in Naples. It takes a particularly savage mind and hellish nature to hide a bomb where it will catch people in a post-office. 'Any normal person thinks of a post-office as a place where mothers mail letters to their sons, where lovers drop notes to one another and where all the happier moods of humanity are reflected.'"

"The mind capable of planning death and destruction there is indeed a devilish one. And it is such things that steel the determination of all decent men and women in the war on Nazis."

The blame for all the inhumanity of German soldiery rests on Hitler. But even Hitler must have his accessories, in their thousands all over Europe, and from eye-witness reports of massacres and mass hangings, they are willing accessories, the officer class, the non-commissioned brutes and the men under them. Recently Yugoslavians in their hundreds were put to death. It took some hours for this massacre and it took many brutes to carry it out. One thing we do know, that the officers and men of no British, Canadian or American army would be contributors or accessories to massacre of helpless people. It is the old, old story.

It is impossible to dissociate German people from German rulers, and German people mean the German army as well.

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS

L'Action Catholique

The adaptation required for the system of education are no more numerous here than elsewhere. It would be difficult to show us a single country in the world where, at the present time, the question of education is not acutely pressing, considering the new order of things. We are, therefore, no worse off than other people. It merely remains for us to make our education keep pace with the rhythm of the general evolution of civilization, taking into account the interest we, in common with all other humans, have in the intellectual development of our innate qualities.

CARELESS RETURN OF OPENING LEAD COSTLY

Today's hand brings out a point in play that I have written about often because I see it overlooked again and again. Many players do not pay sufficient attention to their partner's opening lead.

In today's hand, when the dummy goes down, West should realize that his partner must have at least three or four trumps. The declarer has not bid the hand as if he held an eight-card spade suit. So why does East lead the jack of clubs?

Of course if the declarer makes the mistake of putting the king on this trick, there isn't any problem. West wins with the ace, cashes the queen of clubs and gives his partner a ruff. But the declarer plays low on the first trick, and now the careless West player puts his seven-spot on, asking his partner to continue clubs—and the party is over. West has to shift and naturally he will shift to a heart, hoping his partner can ruff it. But the declarer plays low from dummy and ruffs the heart, lays down the ace of spades, then the queen, which East wins. Now it is immaterial what East returns; the declarer is bound to make the rest of the tricks.

If West overtakes the jack of clubs with the queen, plays back the ace and gives his partner a ruff, the declarer will go down one at four-odd, instead of making five-odd.

MARRIAGES

THOMPSON-REIKIE

Montreal, Oct. 20. — A wedding which took place at four o'clock in the afternoon in the Chapel of Erskine and American Church, in Montreal, united Miss Eleanor Catherine Thompson Reikie, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomson Reikie, of Edmonton, Alta., and Dr. A. Lloyd Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Thompson, of Kinnear's Mills, the Rev. Thomson Reikie and the Rev. Andrew Reid officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, the Rev. T. Reikie, and wore a pale blue sheer, with hat and shoes to match, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white roses with maiden hair fern. Her only ornament was a large gold brooch set with diamonds and rubies, which had belonged to her grandmother.

The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Kilgour, of Cornwall, Ont., was in rose color with navy hat and shoes. She carried a colonial bouquet of bachelor's buttons and bouvardia in blue and rose with maiden hair fern.

Mr. Bruce Baker, of Quebec City, a college mate of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Hilary Bourne and Frank Farmer, of Montreal.

The reception following the marriage ceremony was held in the drawing room of the University Women's Club. The table was decorated with gladioli and roses. Later the bride and groom left for their wedding trip to St. Agathe, the bride travelling in a brown suit with hat, shoes and accessories to match and a red fox fur. Her topcoat was of sand color.

The bride and her bridesmaid are both graduates of the University of Alberta. The bridegroom is a graduate of Bishop's University, Lennoxville, and of McGill University, Montreal.

Upon their arrival in Kinnear's Mills a reception was given by the groom's parents, when 200 guests were invited to a supper in the United Church Hall, after which the guests were entertained in the I.O.O.F. Hall, where music and dancing were enjoyed.

Those who attended from a distance were Rev. and Mrs. T. Reikie, of Edmonton, Alta., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hall and Miss Elaine Hall, of Kitchener, Ont., Mr. James Allen, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hall, and Mrs. Sarah Swail, of Oshawa, Ont., Mrs. Minnie Beattie, Miss Ruby Beattie, Lawrence Waldron, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilkin, and Mr. and Mrs. David Byrne, of East Angus, Mrs. Sarah Wilkin, Mr. and Mrs. J. STEVENS-PEAVEY

Sutton, Vt., Oct. 20. — A wedding of interest to friends in Derby Line was solemnized at the Baptist Church in Sutton, Vt., when Phyllis Edith Peavey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peavey, became the bride of Dale Wellington Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stevens, Rev.

Chester Jump performing the single ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the couple were attended by her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Peavey, of Beebe, formerly of Derby Line.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Gladys Greene.

The bride was very attractive in a pale blue street-length silk gown and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The bridesmaid wore a gray crepe dress with dusty rose hat and accessories and carried a colorful bouquet.

After the ceremony the relatives and friends went to the home of the groom, where ice cream and cake were served and a beautiful wedding cake was cut by the bride.

The happy young couple received many beautiful gifts.

In the late afternoon they went with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stevens, to Charlestown, N.H., and will also visit in Manchester, N.H., returning to Sutton to live with the groom's parents.

Those from out of town attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Peavey and daughters, of Beebe, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Haskell and children, of Manchester, N.H., Mr. and Mrs. H. What Does The Future Offer?

The shape of things to come will be determined by what we do now.

We, of this generation, are engaged in a struggle of barbaric cruelty. We are fighting that our way of life may survive—that the coming generation may enjoy freedom of speech—freedom to worship God as they will—freedom to determine their own destiny.

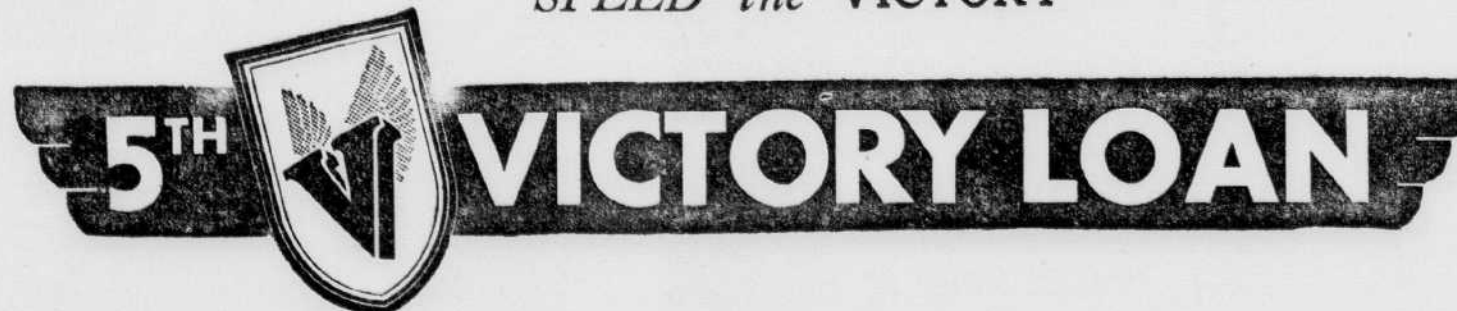

There must be no compromise—no appeasement—nothing less than unconditional surrender is our goal if the succeeding generation is to be spared the horrors of war.

All post-war plans for a better world are but visionary dreams unless we smash through to victory.

For over three years our men in the armed forces trained faithfully for the day of attack and now the time is at hand. We dare not deny our fighting men one single cartridge that may be needed to do the job.

It's our job—yours and mine—to supply the millions of tons of war materials that are essential to Victory. Let's buy Victory Bonds to the utmost of our ability—two ways—put our savings into Victory Bonds and buy all we can on the 6-month installment plan out of income.

Try This Old Home-Mixed Cough Relief. Surprising!

Anyone Can Make It. No Cooking. Big Saving. You may not know it, but in your own kitchen and in just a moment, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it is hard to beat.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. No trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in throat and bronchial affections.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make sixteen ounces of really splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love it.

And for quick relief, it's splendid. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

VICTORY LOAN

WHAT'S YOUR SCORE?

This is the score of Harry Wichtacz, D.C.M.

At 22, he is a veteran.
He was at Dieppe.
He killed 14 Nazis.
He captured others.

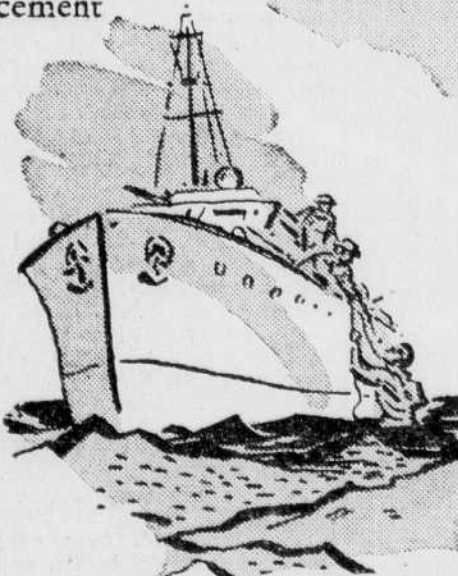

He blasted a German machine gun emplacement out of the path of advancing Canadians.

Wounded 18 times, he was under murderous fire for 8 hours.

Three landing barges were shelled and sunk under him.

Three times he floundered in the oily, bloody, cold channel.

He was finally rescued by a motor torpedo boat.

Invalided to Canada, he helped the Third Victory Loan by touring war plants in Ontario and Quebec.

He helped put the Fourth Victory Loan over too.

You might think Harry had done enough for his country.

You might. Harry doesn't. He's not the kind of a man to rest on his laurels. He'd like best to go back with a Bren and finish the job he so bravely started.

Harry knows a one-legged soldier can't do that . . . but he knows he can still fight.

He's a wage earner now and he can still fight as every wage earner can . . . by buying Victory Bonds. And that's how Harry will be fighting from now on . . . with Victory Bonds.

How about you? What's your score?

AT THE LOCAL THEATRES

At The Granada

"The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," which begins today at the Granada Theatre, was perhaps one of the most ambitious and costly spectacles that Hollywood has ever attempted.

Featuring Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell and Sir Guy Standing in the principal roles, "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is a stirring, colorful and action-packed story of the exploits and adventures of England's Colonial soldiers in India.

The author, Francis Yeats-Brown, was himself an officer of the Lancers, while Achmed Abdullah, film adapter, and four British army officers served technical advisers during the production of the film.

The story of "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is that of the extraordinary bravery, discipline and skill that has enabled a mere handful of English officers to hold sway over the teeming millions of India.

Cooper is a captain of the 41st Bengal Lancers, commanded by Sir

Guy Standing, when Sir Guy's son, played by Richard Cromwell, arrives as a raw recruit.

Cooper and Tone, also an officer of the regiment, take over the training of the young lad, but, on a visit to an adjoining province, Cromwell becomes involved with a beautiful girl and is kidnapped by Mohammed Khan, a hostile leader, who hopes that his father will pursue him and thus lead the Lancers to disaster.

Cooper and Tone follow and are caught when they attempt to free Cromwell. Under torture, Cromwell discloses the whereabouts of a tremendous cargo of ammunition. Mohammed Khan captures the ammunition, brings it back to the fortress and prepares to lead a revolution against the British.

The Bengal Lancers ride on the fortress, prepared to face destruction, if it will stem the revolution until reinforcements arrive. The needless sacrifice is prevented by Cooper, who, by a daring maneuver, single-handedly destroys the fortress, effects the release of the prisoners, and saves the Bengal Lancers.

FIRING INSTRUCTIONS

For the burning of BITUMINOUS (SOFT) COAL in domestic Furnaces

HOW TO STOKE

Important things to do

1 Use the side-bank method of firing, alternating the firings to left and right sides, or front and back.

2 Avoid covering hot coals with fresh coal. Fresh coal, as far as possible, should be added to the side of hot coal.
Move hot coals from area of the grate which is to receive the fresh coal. Do not fire fresh coal until at least one-fourth of grate area can be cleared of hot coals.
Break up clinkers and work fine ash through the grate area which is to receive fresh coal. Place fresh coal at one side of fire pot, put coarser pieces on bottom and finer particles on top next to the wall of fire pot. After placing fresh coal use oblique-angled poker to break up the hot coke from the previous charge so that it will burn uniformly and not form a hole in the center of the fuel bed.
Make certain that the hot coals have ignited the gas before leaving the heater.
Light tightly crumpled papers if necessary to start the gas flame.

3 Leave the vent in the fire door open.
The gas given off by soft coal contains one-third to one-half of the heat value and must be mixed with air to burn. This air enters through the vent.

4 Always keep a large glowing surface of hot coals exposed to burn the gas and smoke.

5 Keep the ashpit clean. A clogged ashpit will warp or BURN OUT THE GRATE BARS.

6 Keep a fair depth of ash on the grate.
The fire will hold better and will be more readily controlled.

7 Do not shake the grate unnecessarily.
Use oblique-angled poker GENTLY to break up clinker and work fine ash through the grate leaving the heavy ash and broken up clinker as a base for the fresh coal. Clinkers too hard to break should be removed with hooked poker or tongs.

8 Handle the dampers carefully. As soon as the gas continues to BURN FREELY above the freshly added coal, check-off the chimney damper and ashpit draught so as to control the rate of burning and prevent waste.

CHIEF FURNACE CONTROLS AND HOW TO USE THEM

A. Ashpit Damper. Open to speed up fire, close to check.

B. Fire-door Damper. Leave wide open for these fuels.

C. Main Check Damper. Close to speed up, open to check.

D. Key Damper. Leave partly closed except when building new fire.

E. Direct Damper. (on some furnaces) Open when attending fire.
Close at all other times.

N.B. BEFORE OPENING THE FIRE
DOOR CLOSE C AND OPEN E
AND/OR D.

In firing a mixture of 25 per cent soft coal and 75 per cent hard coal, the usual firing practice for hard coal may be used, provided that the soft coal is relatively free of fine coal and that the coals are well mixed in the proper proportion.

The householder is urged to accept any fuel suitable to his equipment, which may be available through his dealer, thus assuring himself a supply of coal before the cold weather sets in.

CAUTIONS

Important DON'TS to remember

1 DON'T let the fire "roar."

2 DON'T let the chimney pipes get overheated.

3 DON'T wet the coal. It quenches the flame and gives chimney pipe condensation.

4 DON'T burn garbage or place any foreign material in the heater. Clinker trouble will result.

5 NEVER leave the heater unattended:

(a) while the draughts are fully open,

(b) after firing fresh coal, until the gas is burning freely. Should the gas stop burning, open chimney pipe damper and fire-door, then insert a piece of burning paper to ignite the gas. After the flame is self-supporting close the fire-door, then check as described above.

6 ALWAYS open the chimney pipe damper before opening the fire-door so that smoke or gas will not escape into the room.

7 ALWAYS have a glowing spot of hot coals exposed.

8 Remove soot regularly and frequently, keeping the heating surfaces and passages clean. Soot accumulations clog passages, reduce draught and prevent the useful transfer of heat from the heater to the room.

9 If for any reason the method of firing illustrated above cannot be strictly adhered to and the hot coals cannot be completely moved to one side, THEN FIRE LITTLE AND OFTEN until the proper depth of fuel bed is obtained.
Filling the heater with a large amount of fresh coal will not produce a hot fire, but will create gas and fire hazards, waste coal and increase smoke.

CUPS AWARDED TO CLUB TENNIS TITLISTS

Tennis Season At Mt. Pleasant Officially Closed Last Night

The 1943 tennis season at the Mount Pleasant Club was officially brought to a close last night when the presentation of cups and trophies was made to the winners of the club tournament.

Included in the evening's entertainment was a dance for which Belle Willard and her orchestra furnished the music. A large number of tennis fans from Sherbrooke and district were present at the presentation which took place during the dance intermission.

During the course of the presentation a few brief remarks were made by Joseph Salvail, the club President, who congratulated the tennis committee on the fine job they had done this year and also gave a brief summary of the activities carried on by the tennis club during the past season. He said much of the credit for the success of the season was due to the President, Henri Paul Lemieux, and to his two assistants, Gerard Proulx and Marcel Darche, who had given much of their time to promoting this popular summer sport.

Several remarks were made by Henri Paul Lemieux, President of the Tennis Association, who expressed his thanks to all of those who helped to make the activities a success. In closing he said he hoped everyone would be back on the courts again next year and that whoever took over the management of this section of the club would have as much co-operation as he had received during the past season.

The cups and trophies for the men's doubles were presented by Paul Lemieux and these awards went to Ivan Boisvert and Marcel Darche. Each of the individual cups for this championship was donated by Lorenzo Desruisseaux and Gerard Proulx, while the club cup donated by W. Olivier will become the property of the winners who take it for three seasons in succession.

The women's doubles cups also presented by Paul Lemieux were given to Miss Therese Boisvert and Miss Ida Goyette and were donated by the tennis committee. The Jean Paul Perrault trophy, to go to the team winning it for three successive years, was presented to the Boisvert-Goyette team. The men's singles trophies were presented to Marcel Darche by Paul Lemieux. Darche also won the Rosenbloom Trophy which he must hold for three years in succession before it becomes his property. Therese Boisvert, the women's singles champion, was presented a trophy donated by J. A. Salvail and was presented by Paul Lemieux. The mixed doubles cups were presented to Marcel Darche and Marthe Robert, the winning team, by Mr. and Mrs. A. Poliquin, who donated the two cups for the tournament. The Mathurin trophy which is up for competition was also won by this team.

Suggestion Box:
The Canadian Rugby Union rejected Halifax Navy's application for entry in the Grey Cup competition because the application was not received until after the October 1 deadline. It's too bad the Halifax team is not included in the playoff scheme because the Canadian game is just taking hold in the Maritimes and a little C. R. U. encouragement right now would help. It would be too bad to lose the foothold which war conditions have gained for football in the Maritimes.

Sport Scents:
Centrals of the Toronto Major Ladies Five-Pin League rolled a three-game team score of 3,811 last week-end. They claim a world record for teams of five women.

Chick Appel of Stratford Beacon-Herald says Montreal Canadians still hope to coax Ray Gelliffe out of retirement. Appel says Dick Irvin telephoned Gelliffe offering a substantial pay boost over last season.

MEET AT BURY TAKEN BY EAST ANGUS SCHOOL

Bury, Oct. 20.—Leading a field of eight schools in the Compton County inter-school track meet held at Bury, the East Angus school registered a total of 91 points as compared with 43 for Bury who was their nearest rival.

Several cups and prizes were awarded for the various classes and events, and once again East Angus walked away with the largest number of prizes. The cup for boys' and girls' events in the middle and junior classes went to East Angus and they also won the cup for the most points in the girls' events. In the intermediate school competition the cup was won by the Island Brook boys and girls and this was the only trophy that did not return to Angus.

The track meet which has become an annual event in the county is now one of the feature events of the year, and as time goes on its development is increasing and more interest is shown. A large number of boys and girls from Cookshire, Sawyerville, East Angus, Bury, Scottstown, Brompton, Island Brook and Megantic took part.

There were no indications yet who will take Frankie Brimsek's place in the pool but Maurice Courteau, Jean Renaud and Harvey Bennett—three young netminders who played with senior and intermediate teams last year—are turning out daily.

Hockey Notes

By The Canadian Press

Art Wiebe has been too busy making dough to join the Chicago Black Hawks' training camp at Minneapolis to date. The rugged defenseman is missing for the same reason he missed half of last season—he can't find anyone to look after his bakery. But he's expected to show up in the next few days.

The Black Hawks now have six veterans in camp. Doug Bentley, Bill Thomas, Johnny Gottselig, Fido Purpur, Mash March and William Mitchell. Four more are expected any day—Art Wiebe, George Allen, Joe Paplike and Cully Dahlstrom.

Coach Paul Thompson claimed the Hawks were "really flying" yesterday. Bill Mosenko of Winnipeg, may make a first-string forward berth. Vic Heyliger, hockey coach at Illinois University, will play in Chicago home games.

The Toronto Maple Leaf camp at St. Catharines has been strengthened by arrival of Babe Pratt and Mel Hill. Pratt worked in three practices yesterday and Hill starts today. This helped to offset the loss in manpower caused with rookie Ted Kennedy being laid up with illness and rookie Roger Giescke of Toronto being out with a broken collarbone.

Harvey Bennett, of the Oshawa Generals and Maurice Courteau, formerly of the Washington Lions, are still fighting it out for the goalie's berth with the Boston Bruins in their training camp at Quebec. Art Ross also has a third candidate for the nets, Jean Paul Renaud, formerly of the Quebec Senior League Royals.

Lester Patrick announced last night signing of a forward and three goalkeepers to Ranger contracts at Winnipeg. The forward is 17-year-old Don Raleigh from Winnipeg Monarchs juniors. The goalies are Ken McAnway, 21, and Don Murray, 17, both of Edmonton, and Elwin Rollins, 17, of Moose Jaw.
