Reception Line Political Weapon

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The reception-line handshake is moving in alongside speech-making as a political weapon in the campaign for the March 31 federal election.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker for the fifth time in three days applied the technique Thursday. He and his wife shook hands for half an hour in a big municipal area at Kitchener, Ont., and in this way greeted almost half the 1,250 persons at the mid-afternoon meeting.

The technique, which brings a campaigner into more intimate relations with an audience than a speech usually does, is somewhat comparable to the informal question-and-answer sessions Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson has employed, especially with university audiences.

The Liberal leader Thursday night confined his campaign efforts to a television appearance from Montreal in which he defended his party for not cutting taxes while still in office last year.

CCF IN EAST AND WEST

While Social Credit Leader Solon Low continued his campaign in Northern Alberta, the CCF cause was being pushed both in the East and West by party Leader M. J. Coldwell and Deputy Leader Stanley Knowles.

At Hamilton Thursday night, the prime minister spoke to a standing-room only crowd of 2,300 about the results he said his government is getting in its efforts to have United States trade policies respect Canadian interests.

New Peace Committee For Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — A "national conciliation committee" has been set up with the backing of the Roman Catholic Church to work for peace in Cuba.

The committee, made up of two former vice-presidents, a banker and a priest, said Thursday night in a statement that it plans to conduct "the necessary interviews with the government and with all the opposition groups to get their respective points of view."

The statement did not say whether talks were planned with Fidel Castro's rebels, whom President Fulgencio Batista's government regards as outlaws rather than legitimate political opponents.

The two political figures on the conciliation committee are Dr. Gustavo Cuervo Rubio, vice-president in Batista's first government, and Dr. Raul de Cardena, vice-president under Ramon Grau San Martin. Grau is running against Batista's candidate in the June 1 presidential elections.

Batista had rejected a Church appeal to include opposition parties in his government. A new cabinet, named so that members of the last government could campaign for the election, was sworn in Thursday. Opposition parties said the new cabinet consists of Batista supporters, although many of its members are businessmen with no political record.

The Cuban Federation of University Students meanwhile report in their anti-Batista paper that Castro supporters have opened a second front in the central section of the island. The paper says 200 well-equipped men are conducting operations in the mountains.

A rebel detachment estimated at 400 men swept out of Castro's eastern bastion in the Sierra Maestra Thursday and battled a government garrison for four hours. They retreated only after government reinforcements arrived.

Runaway Train Sinks In River; Crew Were Eating

TWO RIVERS, Wis. (AP) — An apparently unmanned freight train moved out of the switching yards at nearby Manitowoc early today, roared through this community at speeds up to 80 miles an hour, crashed through the iron gates of a coal company and plunged into the local harbor.

The diesel engine and five loaded box cars sank immediately. A sixth box car, filled with empty milk cans, floated on the surface. Four other cars were left on the tracks.

The crew of the Chicago and Northwestern freight said the train started out of the Calumet switching yards at Manitowoc, seven miles from here, while they were eating. The engine had been left idling.

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS MINISTER HERE — External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith addressed a Conservative rally in East Sherbrooke last night. Construction Workers Clear Dam Wreckage To Recover Bodies

MONTREAL (CP) — Helmeted construction men worked through the night at clearing away debris so underwater rescue workers could resume attempts at day-break to free bodies of their companions from the wreckage of a collapsed coffer dam.

Floodlights played on the black waters of the Riviere des Prairies, swirling past the twisted shell of the coffer dam that took 11 lives when it caved in Wednesday under pressure of ice and water.

One body was recovered Thursday. A diver and three frogmen engaged in the grim and dangerous job of recovering the others said they located two pinned down by the steel beams that had formed the wall of the caisson.

In California It Rains Beans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rain, snow, hail and even beans hit Southern California in a windstorm Thursday.

In suburban Van Nuys, Miss Teto Emerson, 37, thought she saw hail pelting her office building. The pellets proved to be ice-coated navy beans.

The weather bureau said winds in the fields north of the Tehachapi Mountains could have swirled the beans aloft and carried them some 30 miles to the San Fernando Valley.

Red Book Taste

LONDON — (Reuters) — Moscow radio has deplored "an extraordinary liking for detective and adventure stories" by a section of Soviet youth. A commentator also warned parents against forcing their children to read serious books too early in life.

Kick Of A Million Mules

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — One day this fall a railway car will back up to a concrete house on Jackass Flats and deliver the kick of a million mules.

On the railway car will be a nuclear reactor, a device for making an atomic bomb go off slowly. This nuclear reactor or one like it some day may provide the power to take man to the stars.

The concrete house — Atomic Energy Commission scientists here call it a test cell — has already begun rising from the wastes of this desert proving ground.

From the "MAD" house a remote-controlled railway car will

Ban-Bomb Drive Opens

LONDON — (Reuters) — The Labor party, confident of powerful trade union backing, has launched a campaign for suspension of British hydrogen bomb tests and a world pact outlawing all nuclear weapons.

A mandate for the campaign by the socialists was secured Thursday at a conference with representatives of the 8,000,000-strong Trades Union Congress.

The conference produced a joint statement reaffirming official Labor party policy on nuclear weapons, and made no concessions to a new left-wing splinter group within the party.

The new group, calling itself "Victory for Socialism," demands closer adherence to basic socialist principles and calls on Britain to ban the manufacture as well as the testing of nuclear weapons.

But the party and union chiefs said production of the hydrogen weapon should continue during a "limited" ban on tests, during which Britain should press for a world disarmament pact outlawing all nuclear weapons.

HOLD RALLY — As the party - TUC statement was being issued, the dissident leftists staged a socialist rally to launch their drive to get Britain to step out of the nuclear weapons picture altogether.

The "Victory for Socialism" chairman, Stephen Swingle, told the rally there would be no "sensational splits." The aim of the group was to "focus attention on certain issues which we regard as absolutely vital but, of course, we intend to do so observing the

Missing US Satellite Met A Fiery Death

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A fiery death came to Explorer II, the United States Army's second space satellite, about 1,900 miles from home over the South Atlantic.

The announcement was made Thursday at Cape Canaveral, site of the vacant Jupiter-C pad where Explorer II left the earth Wednesday. Now a navy Vanguard rocket is ready to take off this week with its own pocket-sized satellite.

The army meanwhile is making plans for more satellites. It has another satellite just like Explorer II—but it may pass that one by to get some other satellite into space.

In Washington Thursday it said it was building Explorer III and will launch it this spring.

The blame for the failure of Explorer II was laid to the 50-pound rocket that carried the satellite as its pointed nose. The rocket failed to fire — why, scientists don't know and don't expect to find out. The satellite, lacking the added thrust, didn't get up anywhere near the gravity-defying speed of 18,000 miles an hour.

When the 80-inch satellite and rocket assembly plummeted into the earth's atmosphere again, its speed and the friction of the earth's atmosphere created its own fiery destruction.

Churchill Junior Gets Mad

NEW YORK (AP) — Randolph Churchill exploded verbally Thursday night on a television program when asked to discuss the drunkenness charge involving his actress sister Sarah in California.

Churchill, son of Sir Winston Churchill, appeared on the Dumont Network program Night Beat.

Asked about his sister, Churchill cut off John Wingate, who conducts the "tough interview" show by saying: "I never discuss matters affecting members of my family with total strangers."

Churchill said that when he was approached to appear on the show there was no mention of the subject of his family. He said he was told "it was to be brought here to speak of world events."

Churchill also told Wingate: "You didn't pay me to come; you're making money out of this and I'm not making a farthing out of this. Why should I let myself get kicked around by you?"

Wingate remained calm and the interview went on to other subjects.

One-Man Churchill Show Opens; To Visit Toronto

NEW YORK (CP) — A collection of paintings by Sir Winston Churchill, having his first one-man show, opened for public exhibition today at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The exhibits also will be shown at the Art Gallery of Toronto next month. From his villa on the Riviera Thursday night, it was announced that Sir Winston has accepted the freedom of Toronto and hopes to be able to travel to the Canadian city to accept it. It is not known whether he will try to be there at the same time as his exhibition.

Already the 83-year-old statesman has agreed to an invitation from President Eisenhower to go to Washington with Lady Churchill for a few days when the show is at the Smithsonian Institution there.

Churchill has always disclaimed professional status as a painter, has refused to allow his work to be sold and until the present exhibition had shown only a few pictures at galleries.

Thirty-five paintings are in the tour collection. For the New York showing, six additional canvases were lent from private collections.

Churchill has written that he "reached the age of 40 without ever handling a brush or fiddling with a pencil," and after experiments one Sunday afternoon in May, 1915, with a child's painting box, went out the following day to buy himself a complete outfit.

Deadlock In Earlier Exchanges

WASHINGTON — (AP) — United States officials are studying a new letter from Premier Bulganin for evidence that the Soviet Union may be prepared to modify its terms for setting up a summit conference.

An earlier exchange of notes published by the state department Thursday showed Washington and Moscow tightly deadlocked over major issues connected with a top-level meeting.

The new Bulganin message to President Eisenhower was delivered by Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov Thursday. The initial impression of authorities who have quickly reviewed the Russian - language version was that it left the basic Russian position unchanged. However, this impression was subject to possible later revision.

The notes published Thursday consisted of a memorandum from Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and a U.S. reply. It was in the Gromyko note that the Soviet government agreed to discussing the time, place, and participants of a summit conference and fixing the topics to be discussed there.

REJECTED BY U.S. — The U.S. reply, given to Menshikov in the afternoon, insisted that the Soviet agreement "falls short" of providing for the careful and detailed preparation necessary before a summit conference can be arranged.

Further, the U.S. challenged the Soviet government to say now what kind of summit meeting it wants to have—whether the purpose is "merely to stage a spectacle" or whether it is to reach "meaningful decisions."

The Gromyko note rejected again American proposals for summit consideration of the unification of East and West Germany and political conditions in Communist Eastern Europe. The U.S. said the Soviet government "seems to claim a veto power" over items which might be put on a summit agenda. It declared there must be "give and take" in the selection of such items.

But the Soviet government was told in effect that if it is prepared to agree that "substantive preparatory work must take place," then the U.S. is prepared to go forward with either a foreign ministers' conference or negotiations through diplomatic channels, or both.

Landslide Traps Train

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian National Telegraph officials said today two CNR diesel locomotives and 10 cars loaded with poles were trapped or derailed by a large landslide 17 miles east of Prince Rupert early today.

There were no reports of injuries.

Telephone and telegraph communications to Prince Rupert were cut off by the slide about 3 a.m. PST today. The government wireless station at nearby Point Gray was the only means of communication with Prince Rupert, on the B.C. coast just south of the Alaska Panhandle.

First reports said the side of a mountain slid off into the Skeena Inlet east of Prince Rupert.

Italian Deputies Exchange Blows

ROME (AP) — Communist and Christian Democrat deputies engaged in fistfights Thursday night as the chamber of deputies was winding up debate on a Communist motion against "clerical interference in elections and the Italian state."

Solid blows were exchanged before ushers intervened and the speaker banged a 30-minute recess.

After the recess, deputies trooped back to their seats and rejected the Communist motion by a show of hands.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Young Russ Tamblyn bears the distinction of being tapped by Oscar and the army at the same time. Recently the actor won an academy nomination for his supporting performance in Peyton Place. Almost simultaneously he received notice to report for military duty March 24.

This seemed like cruel timing, since the academy awards are handed out March 23. In view of this, Tamblyn's induction was postponed four days.

"I'm not complaining," Tamblyn said, "but it did come at a tough time. I'm 23 and I've been in this business 11 years. I feel as though I'm finally getting somewhere with my career. I'm a' my peak, so to speak, for the first time, producers are coming to me with pictures to do.

GONE TWO YEARS

"Now I'll be gone for two years, and I'll lose all the impetus that I have gained."

He came to MGM as a green, amazingly talented kid who could do most anything — act, sing, dance, tumble. As a result, the studio didn't seem to know what to do with him. He was put into a variety of roles and proved himself an expert performer.

But his age was against him. Until recently studios didn't know what to do with players in their teens and early 20s. Now surveys indicate that a great percentage of movie goers today are under 23, and young talent is coming into its own.

The real break — through for Russ came with Peyton Place, which proved he is a sensitive actor as well as an entertainer.

He lives alone, dates occasionally, but spends much of his time by himself. I asked him what he does for kicks.

"All kinds of things," he replied. "Until recently, I had a house at the beach and I had everything there I wanted. I play the piano and drums, I do sculpture and I write. My life was so busy that I almost regretted leaving to go to the studio."

The army, of course will change his way of life, and he isn't looking forward to it.

Three University Students Plan Vigil To Picket Office Of Provincial Premier

MONTREAL — (CP) — Three University of Montreal students boarded a train for Quebec City Thursday night to begin a vigil before Premier Duplessis' office as a sequel to a boycott of classes.

Nearly 20,000 students, representing all but a fraction of student population of five of the Province's six universities, stayed away from lectures Thursday during the one-day protest move against Premier Duplessis' education policies.

Objections On Procedure Delay Boulet Hearing

The Court of the Queen's Bench trial of Gerard Boulet, a Chateaufort youth charged with criminal negligence in the death of Aurele Stringer, 19, also of Chateaufort, continued today.

Mr. Justice Gaston Desmarais adjourned the trial yesterday afternoon to study an objection raised by Defense Attorney Richard Crepeau over Crown Prosecutor Dugre's method of questioning his witness.

Mr. Crepeau maintained that Prosecutor Dugre contradicted the testimony of Gilles Lachance, 18, of Chateaufort, a witness for the Crown. He claimed the Crown was not permitted to take this procedure.

Wood Plant Fire

Heavy Loss At Windsor

WINDSOR MILLS — A $30,000 fire occurred this morning in the sanding department of the J. E. Lemieux woodworking plant early this morning.

The fire was kept from spreading from the sanding room on the second floor and only the roof suffered any other fire damage.

Considerable water damage, however, was to be seen on the lower floor of the 2nd ave. building, and Mr. Lemieux believed that a large amount of good flooring lumber was lost. He is covered by insurance.

The fire broke out at about 5:30 this morning according to Fire Chief Roger Longpre, and the flames were brought under control by about 7:45 a.m. The Chief said that most of the firemen were able to leave by 10 but that one or two remained behind to keep a watch over the plant.

Shortly before 10:30, smoke was seen coming from the roof, but the cause of the smoke, a smoldering raft, was rapidly drenched by hoses and no further signs of the flames were to be seen.

The fire was first noticed by watchman Emile Plante as he was making his rounds and he immediately put in the call to the fire department.

A few minutes later, 17 volunteer firemen, under the direction of Chief Longpre and Lt. Georges Paradis, arrived.

Mr. Lemieux, the owner, said the exact amount of damage could not immediately be ascertained, but that a conservative estimate would be in the neighborhood of $25,000 to $30,000. He said that the building contained over $30,000 worth of machinery alone and that much of it had been damaged by the fire and water.

The plant suffered a similar fire about six or eight months ago and much of the equipment was comparatively new. That fire began in the sawdust department, apparently caused by fermenting sawdust. After the first fire, it was found necessary to rebuild the roof completely.

This morning's fire also caused considerable damage to the roof.

None of the firemen were injured in the fire and the watchman was able to leave the building without difficulty.

Overcoming some unfortunate mishaps during the opening scenes, the Bishop's University Dramatic Society last night gave an enjoyable performance of Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer". The play will be repeated in the Memorial Gym tonight and Saturday.

Goldsmith was the forerunner to the comedy of manners perfected by Sheridan and this is his best example of the medium. The plot revolves around several social levels and the usual number of stage contrivances are introduced before the plot finally unfolds. In the playing these contrivances were dampened and several times it took the audience a while to react to the ingenious devices of Goldsmith's plot.

Briefly, the plot is that Marlowe and Hastings, two young gentlemen of London, venture to the country home of Equire Hardcastle. The Squire has a charming daughter, a gossip wife, a boorish son, and a collection of ill bred servants. So unnatural are these surroundings that both Marlowe and Hastings fancy themselves in an inn. This turns out for the better, because Marlowe, who is terribly bashful in the presence of "women of quality" is quite at home with barmaids. Kate Hardcastle, the charming young thing, "stoops" to this role, winning the love of Marlowe, and when all is revealed they live happily ever after.

The best performances of the evening were given by Ian Pemberton as the Squire, and Phil Johnston as his thoroughly obnoxious step-son, Tony Lumpkin.

Ian, who resembles Charles Laughton in physical stature, carried off the part of the pompous squire with gusto and assurance. Looking every bit the retired gentleman farmer, resigned to the frivolities of his women, he was a true lover of "old books, old wines, and old women" Phil, on the other hand, was a repulsive lout, who spent half his time bullying his mother, and the other half carousing in the local pub. The role gave him ample scope for buffoonery, which he capitalized on.

I never thought Tony Vincent was quite enjoying himself, but he was cast in a difficult part.

External Affairs Minister Says Pearson Policies Contradictory

Urging his predominantly French-Canadian audience not to listen to some of the "more strident voices" that had been heard in some House of Commons debates, Mr. Smith denied that Prime Minister Diefenbaker was working against the interests of this province and said he was seeking to develop Canada as a whole.

In the field of current politics, Mr. Smith declared the present election was necessary because the Government lacked a clear majority in the House.

The Liberals, he said, did everything in their power to prevent the passage of Government legislation—except vote against the measure. By their policy of extended delay, they hoped to prevent the administration from proceeding with its policies.

Despite this, nearly all the promises made by the Progressive Conservatives in the last election had been fulfilled in a matter of eight months.

"I cannot understand Mr. Pearson," said Mr. Smith. "First he gets up in the House of Commons and says the Progressive Conservatives should get out of office. When we call an election he says we should have remained in power to deal with the unemployment situation."

"During the last election, he said we could not reduce taxes. Now he says he is going to cut taxes even more than we did. His whole campaign is a mass of contradictions."

"Immediately after his selection as leader of the Liberal Party he came into the House of Commons snorting like a hard-boiled Haggerty hunting for a Tory to beat up. But before he was through his speech he meekly suggested we step over to the Opposition benches and let him take over the Government," Mr. Smith continued.

Presenting the Conservatives as the party of youth, he said that 37 of the new Progressive Conservative members elected to the last House were under 40 years of age and that 52 were under 50.

Mr. Pearson had admitted that the unemployment crisis could not be blamed upon the Conser-ervative Government, but was a bequest from the Liberals.

HON. SIDNEY SMITH

In concluding, he declared that the public works program of the Diefenbaker Government would be more effective in combating unemployment than the tax cuts proposed by the Liberals.

Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Finance, Lands and Forests and Hydraulic Resources in the Provincial Government, repeating his appeal of a week ago for the election of Mr. Allard, said the Progressive Conservative candidate had been the choice of a democratic convention and that he had shown the qualities of determination necessary for a successful representative.

Mr. Bourque said he had entered the federal arena in recent months to return the compliment extended to him by Maurice Gingues in previous provincial elections.

"Mr. Gingues is a Canadian citizen," he said, "and has every right to enter a provincial campaign. But I reserve the same right for myself."

"Mr. Gingues takes credit for the construction of the St. Francis Sanatorium."

"The facts are these," Mr. Bourque continued. "When the Union Nationale was in power from 1936 to 1939, we studied the project but rejected it because health experts were opposed to operating a TB Sanatorium in connection with a hospital."

"The Godbout Government, despite the opposition of their own advisers and such prominent Liberals as Senator Nicol, guaranteed a bond issue for the institution of $1,250,000, which the Union Nationale is paying for today. Later we had to float further loans to complete the project," Mr. Bourque said.

Discussing the reasons for the Liberal defeat, the candidate,

Maurice Allard, said the root was due to the fact that Howe and Harris had replaced federalism by a disguised socialism; that the tax burden was too heavy; that credit had been restricted unduly and because bureaucracy had gone mad.

Other speakers included Alphonse Trudeau, Miss Marthe Bourque, Wilfrid Caron and Claude Bateau.

Foreign Aid And Self Interest

In an election year colored by recession, the American Congress is not in a mood to vote much money to combat the Soviet Union's economic, political and psychological warfare on a big scale.

Whatever the arguments of President Eisenhower and others that the West must joust with Russia on these fronts, the evidence indicates that in 1958, at least, the lawmakers are reluctant to listen.

The President's proposal for 3.9 billion dollars in assistance to foreign countries partly reflects that hard fact. Two thirds of the request is for military aid.

Foreign aid has been a reality to the U.S. for more than a decade. Many are weary of it, even though they have accepted it as necessary to defense. Legislators conscious of joblessness at home are more inclined than ever to question its value.

Reports from Capitol Hill suggest that only arguments rooted in selfish, close-to-home interests may cut any ice at all.

Eisenhower will try to show Congress that heavy cuts in military aid abroad mean higher defense outlays at home, with a bigger draft of American youth, more taxes instead of less, and a progressive loss of internal freedom as the defense establishment bulks larger and larger.

The mood of Congress is so tough that even his heaviest pressures and most telling blows — on the selfish tack — may not batter down its resistance.

His biggest weapon, it seems, may be Congress' fear that the President might be at least partly right, that the cost of not helping to stiffen foreign defenses could be severe right in their home districts. In a troubled 1958, this alone might be persuasive.

Strengthening NATO

Britain and the United States have brought into concrete form an agreement made at the December NATO conference to supply the British with U.S. missiles capable of bearing nuclear warheads.

There has been a lot of misunderstanding of nuclear weapons and related matters among some members of Britain's Labor party. In the light of this furore, it is remarkable that the two countries were able to conclude this pact with such reasonable dispatch.

The five-year arrangement means the United States will furnish some sixty Air Force Thor missiles to be based at three sites in England and one in Scotland. As soon as the RAF learns how to use them, they will be handed over. But the nuclear warheads will be kept in U.S. custody and released to the British only if needed for actual defense.

Western defenses will be stiffer when similar pacts are concluded with other European nations in the NATO network.

The Narrow Look

American tailors have announced from their convention in Miami that the American male will look taller and slimmer this summer and autumn. Trousers will be tapered; jacket waists nipped in. Unpadded shoulders will continue; breast pockets and sleeve-cuff buttons will go. Even hats and shoes will be slender.

Stripes — vertical, of course — will be much in vogue. Anything to make a man look slimmer.

It's about time. If the Americans — and we Canadians are not so far behind — have decided that reforming their bodies is too difficult they can, at least, 'slim' their clothes. Otherwise, their laughs at Mr. Khrushchev's girth will continue to be transparently hollow.

It was a sweltering day two or three years ago in an oil town in Texas, the state where everything is big. Two Canadians of average proportions walked into a restaurant for a mid-day snack. The place was crowded and practically every patron was oversized. Those at the long, horseshoe counter overflowed so much that their stools seemed almost like inverted thumb-tacks. Even the waitresses, unusually buxom, were in keeping.

Hot soups, thick steaks with mountainous heaps of potato were pursued by coffee and slabs of pie two inches thick topped, in many instances, by generous scoops of ice-cream.

When the customers ambled out of the air-conditioned room to the street and their nearby cars the heat soon struck them and handkerchiefs came out. But they were laughing, most of them, and, come to think of it, practically all those in the restaurant had been in obvious good humor.

Yes, a good many people may be digging their graves with their teeth and may need slimming if only through the narrow look. But it is as true as ever that fat people are usually happy, or usually seem so.

And some of those who are long on table restraint may be short on being livable. Which leads one to the thought that a broad bay window probably does less damage in the world than a caustic tongue.

Letter To The Editor

The Editor,
Sherbrooke Daily Record.
Dear Sir:

Your correspondents, Messrs. Henderson and C.H. have contributed considerable matter for thought to your readers in their several letters to the Editor.

It would be futile to hold elections for people like Mr. Henderson and myself, because we are party-liners and politically bound, for reasons better known to ourselves.

However, in regard to C.H. and those many other thousands of Canadians who have, and enjoy, political independence of expression, an election is important for Canada and its people.

THAT LEVEL CROSSING.

(London Free Press.)
Of all automobile accidents which continue to take human life the level crossing tragedy is the most easily preventable.

It is the one sort of crash for which the driver of the car hit is entirely responsible. Signal lights are warnings, but in bad weather or even if there are no lights, no one has to cross a railway line without first stopping to look and listen.

If a motorist cannot make this infinitesimal sacrifice of time and effort he ought not to be driving a car.

It has been my privilege and honor to have intimately known and worked for the late Senator Hackett, and by the same token, for Mr. Diefenbaker, and the National Union Party in Stanstead County, for many many years, and in all instances and under all circumstances, our County has fared well under their representations.

Mr. Roberge is highly concerned and would appear to be disturbed about the ancestry of Mr. Diefenbaker, and many other Liberal candidates, such as Mr. Gingués, are questioning certain aspects of some of our minority groups in Quebec and elsewhere. These tactics have been long since relegated to the Stone Age, and have no further appeal with an enlightened electorate such as the type of Mr. C.H. and many others.

What concerns me just now is the Province of Quebec and the Right Hon. Louis St. Laurent. Last June 10, we were assured of the health and ability of Mr. St. Laurent to carry on, and because of his nomination and established reputation as a statesman, he alone carried Quebec to a singular victory, which will follow him as one of the greatest political strategists of our time. When one considers that most of his ministers were defeated throughout the country, Quebec was traditionally faithful to one of its most illustrious sons, until they were induced by outside political connivance to sit in judgment against him, and to witness one of Canada's most disgraceful betrayals of a noble man and gentleman, who had and will always enjoy the highest respect, not only of every Canadian but of most people of the world. I am not asking Mr. Roberge to explain himself out of this situation, but would like to have had a Laurier, a King, a Lapointe, a Cardin, or other noble sons of Quebec give their reactions—perhaps we may even find something of this tragedy in the living memoirs of our own Louis St. Laurent.

Sure, Mr. Henderson, like myself, everyone knows how we'll vote, but in our appeals to that independent voter who changes the government of a country, let's be honest with ourselves in admitting that he knows the facts and the records, and is quite able to appreciate the value of those seeking a mandate.

A FRESH APPROACH

(North Bay Nugget)
It is gratifying to note one large manufacturing plant has achieved the enviable record of having worked 1,000,000 man hours without suffering a single lost-time accident. However, this in itself is not unique. What is commendable is the fact just one year ago this same plant had an extremely poor safety record. In 26 accidents a toll of 1,881 lost hours was taken causing much pain and hardship to those involved not to mention financial losses to all concerned.

Management at the Canadian Johns-Manville plant in suburban Toronto decided to "put some guts" into their safety program. Contests and "terrifying" films, a part of the former program were abolished. A daily ten-minute group safety talk, which had become nothing more than a "safety-break," was abandoned.

Instead, strict instructions were issued to supervisors that increased output and lower costs were not wanted at the expense of injured workers. Regularly, brief on-the-job safety hints were given and dangerous practices pointed out. Management bulletins followed up these tips. Poor safety practices, employees were told, just as poor quality and poor workmanship, would not be tolerated.

Says Plant Manager J. D. Lowry: "For the first time the emphasis was placed on the individual recognizing the hidden danger and exercising the necessary caution. We took the stand that until we had each individual running his own safety campaign in his own mind we wouldn't be successful. We attempted to have the worker guard himself from injury rather than place the onus on management."

As a result of a fresh approach to a serious and ever-present industrial problem an extremely successful record has been attained. This CJM Toronto plant has set an example which might well be studied by others.

Little Interest In Federation

West Indies Have An Election Too

By E. P. SMITH

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (Reuters)—The first federal general election being held on March 25 in the 10 territories of the West Indies Federation is arousing little excitement in Trinidad.

The supervisor of elections has issued party symbols to five parties, but the contest will be largely confined to two of them—the Federal Labor party and the Democratic Labor party. The others are: The People's National Movement, which is affiliated with the Federal Labor party; the People's Popular party, a splinter group; and the Butler (home rule) party, which recently was described in the legislative council as "a one-man affair."

The Federal Labor party and the Democratic Labor party are each expected to put up 10 candidates — one for each Trinidad constituency. The successful candidates will sit in the federal House of Representatives, which is to be inaugurated in Port of Spain April 22 by Princess Margaret.

Jamaica will send 17 members to the federal house, Barbados five, and each of the other islands two, except the tiny island of Montserrat, which is to send only one. The six territories with two members each are Antigua, Dominica, Grenada, St. Christopher-Nevis-Anguilla, St. Lucia and St. Vincent.

In all, the House will have 45 members. The lack of enthusiasm for the election in Trinidad has been ascribed in the press to the decision of several prominent political leaders not to run for election.

Norman Manley, the chief minister of Jamaica, has disappointed many people here, as well as on his own island, by announcing he will not be a candidate for prime minister of the federation, but will stay on his own island. As federal prime minister, he would have to spend most of his time at Port of Spain.

He told a political rally in Jamaica recently that there was a conspiracy to wreck the federation and take Jamaica out of it, and that he had to stay at home to defeat it. Manley's cousin, Sir Alexander Bustamante, the Opposition leader in the Jamaica House of Representatives, also is staying out of the election. Political circles in Port of Spain believe each is afraid of the local political consequences for his own party should he leave Jamaica. That, they say, is the real reason they are not contesting the election.

Dr. Eric Williams, Trinidad's chief minister and political leader of the People's National Movement which controls the government, also is keeping out of the election. His party is reported in the Trinidad press to have refused permission to any of its members in the Legislative Council to run for election, and even to party members of the municipal councils.

Sir Grantley Adams, premier of Barbados, has been quoted here as saying he will not run, though some political circles believe he may change his mind. Next to Manley, he is favored by many people for the post of prime minister of the federation. The effect on the public of the lukewarm attitude to the federation displayed by so many leaders is deplored by the newspapers. In an editorial captioned "Disaster for Federation?" the left-wing weekly Clarion called this attitude "distinctly selfish and insular" and added that the federation was heading for disaster if the leaders stayed at home and tried to dominate the new West Indian nation from behind the scenes.

The independent Trinidad Guardian commented that the barometer of public opinion in the West Indies indicated cloudy weather for the federation which might suffer through lack of talent and experience, especially as some party circles in Trinidad were insisting, in effect, that only untried and inexperienced candidates should enter the federal arena.

The Democratic Labor party is taking advantage of this situation to whip up interest in local issues such as the increased taxation recently imposed by the government on rum and tobacco, as well as the new purchase tax on automobiles and the increased licence fees payable by taxis as well as private cars.

It hopes, by this means, to score a point against government party candidates, representing the Federal Labor party.

and some people believe it is likely, as a result, to capture a number of country seats in the federal election.

The Democratic Labor party also is circulating for signature a petition asking Britain's secretary of state for the colonies, Alan Lennox-Boyd, to oppose any handing over by the United States government of the naval base at Chaguaramas for use as the federal West Indies capital. The Federal party, on the other hand, supports the request to the Americans to give up Chaguaramas.

The Democratic Labor party also claims the Federal Labor party will impose further taxes if successful in the election. Sir Grantley Adams, a prominent Federal party man, said during a recent visit to Trinidad that the public must be prepared for more taxes, because the federation could not exist on its present limited budget of about 10,000,000 West Indian dollars (about $5,600,000).

BRIDGE ODDS ARE SIMPLIFIED MATH

There would be nothing to write about if this were a rubber bridge hand. South would win the opening heart lead and take nine tricks off the top.

The game was match point duplicate and South noted that four spades was a logical contract. He also noted that at four spades the chances were that declarer would make four-odd so that while three no-trump bid and made would be a nice rubber bridge score it wouldn't be worth a barrel of spoiled apples in duplicate.

After these considerations South decided that it was up to him to make four no-trump. There were two ways to do this. One would be to play West for both diamond honors but a better way would be to play him for the queen of clubs.

South now led the deuce of clubs from his own hand. It did not matter what West did. Actually he ducked and South grabbed dummy's jack of clubs and proceeded to run out 10 tricks for a top score.

Why was the club play better than the diamond play? South only had to find one card right for the club play to win but he had to find two cards right for the diamond play to work.

HOUSE DEBATES.

Simultaneous translation in the House of Commons means simply that for the vast majority of English-speaking MPs it will be sheer waste of effort to learn French. If they were slow to do it before, they'll never do it now.

The slight short-run advantage of simultaneous translation is almost certain to rebound to the long-run disadvantage of a nation of two tongues.

Matter of FACT

The parachute is probably the oldest idea for man-carrying "aircraft." Leonardo da Vinci sketched one in his notebook in 1514. Fausto Veranzio published a description of a workable parachute in 1595. It was Andre Jacques Garnerin who made the first "live" parachute jump from a balloon in Paris in 1797. Modern parachutes are simply improvements on the Garnerin designs.

FINE PERFORMANCE

which required sudden shifts from bashfulness to bravado. He succeeded in the bravado, but was a bit weaker in a rather long scene with Kate, where he plays the timid suitor.
John Whitman, as Hastings, was a dashing young fop, carrying himself with studied elegance.
Among the girls, Elaine Clarke's portrayal of Constance Neville appeared the best, although Sylvia Gentry ably handled the difficult part of Mrs. Hardcastle. Elaine was pure innocence on one side of the coin, and a scheming wench on the other, as she feigns love for Tony while planning to elope with Hastings and a collection of 'stolen' jewels. Sylvia has played several fiftyish roles in her career at Bishop's, but none as demanding as this one, and she gave a convincing performance.

Tanya Garmaise gave her usual very competent performance, this time as Kate Hardcastle, the lady turned maid. Unfortunately, neither she nor I warmed to the part, and she was a bit stiff, with too large a collection of mannerisms, after the manner of Francis Hyland.
Many of the minor roles were well played, especially that of Diggory, an incorrigible servant amiably acted by Tom Wilson. Bruce Stavert, as Marlowe's servant, was an effective inebricate, while Peter Wilson was an aristocratic Sir Charles Marlowe.
The real stars of the piece were the stage designers, the costumers, and the make-up crew. The sets were among the best ever seen at Bishop's and the actors seemed quite at ease in their 18th century dress, which was properly ornamental.
Catharine Besley, of the Montreal Repertory Theatre, supervised the make-up crew.
There were the expected technical flaws, missed cues, poor entrances, and awkward pauses, but the Society have done a very capable job with a new style of comedy, written for an age to which they were not accustomed.

Bank Rate Goes Down

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate has dropped sharply, pointing toward an easier money situation and a prospective decline in interest rates generally.
The rate — the central bank's charges on loans to chartered banks and other lending institutions — dipped this week to 2.91 per cent from 3.11 a week ago.
The all-time high of 4.33 per cent was reached last Aug. 22 during a tight-money period. The record low was 1 1/2 per cent in 1955.
The bank rate is fixed at one-quarter of one per cent above the week's average yield on the government's 90-day treasury bills. This was 2.66 per cent, down from 2.86 last week.
Meanwhile, the United States also appears to be paring rates downwards in an easy-money policy. The U.S. three-month treasury bill rate dropped from 2.86 per cent Jan. 8 and dropped to 1.20 last week. This week, in a reversal of the 1958 trend, it rose slightly to 1.35 per cent.

Cattle Prices Ease Down In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Cattle prices were steady to $1 lower than last week on the Montreal livestock markets this week.
Receipts: 2,010 cattle, 2,271 calves, 1,638 hogs and 48 sheep and lambs. Cattle receipts were comparable to last week and about 400 head more than the corresponding week a year ago. Included were 366 receipts from Ontario and 254 from the Maritime provinces.
In spite of light receipts, trading was slow and choice steers sold 22.25-23.75 (with two at 24), good 21-22.25, medium 18.50-20.75, common 15.25-18.50 with light common down from 12.25. Good cows 16.50-17.25 (few to 18), medium 15-16.25, common 14-15, canners and cutters 10.50-14, with a few bad canners down to 7.25.
Heifers of good quality sold 18-19, medium 16-17.75, common 12-13.75 with a few down to 11. Good bulls were 18-20.25 (few to 21), common and medium 15-25-17.75 and light common down to 12.

The Doctor Says

UREMIA IS FAILURE OF BODY TO ELIMINATE TOXIC WASTES

H. F. asks for a discussion of uremia, from which he says he is a sufferer.

This term, or "uremic poisoning," is used to describe a condition in which waste materials are accumulated in the blood and body tissues because of the failure to eliminate them normally through the kidneys.

Usually uremia is the result of some kind of kidney failure, such as a long-lasting Bright's disease or nephritis. Occasionally it results from shock, severe loss of fluid from the body as in long-continued vomiting or watery diarrhea, or from some other unusual condition.

A diagnosis can be made only after the blood has been examined chemically to find out whether the poisonous substances are actually increased there. This chemical examination of the blood also helps to decide what treatment to use and what the outcome is likely to be.

Tests of the urine and careful examinations of the functioning of the kidneys are also necessary before a complete diagnosis can be made and proper treatment started.

The symptoms cannot be easily described. A vague "toxic" condition is the rule. Uremia usually develops slowly, however. Victims of uremia are especially susceptible to infections.

Treatment depends on what is preventing the elimination of poisonous wastes and how far it has progressed.

The best time to attack uremia of course, is long before the uremia has developed. If the Bright's disease or other cause of uremia can be prevented the condition will not develop.

Some cases of Bright's disease leading eventually to uremia are the result of acute infections, such as pneumonia or scarlet fever. Hence prompt attack on such infections by sulfa drugs or antibiotics ought to prevent some cases from developing at all.

Uremia is really a late complication resulting from one of several disorders and is not a disease of itself.

In recent years many studies have been made of mechanical devices going under the name of "artificial kidney."

Several kinds of apparatus have been employed, but they all have the purpose of removing from the blood those toxic or poisonous substances as barbiturates, bromides or salicylates.

They cannot, of course, be considered as substitutes for a normally functioning kidney, but their development has proved a real boon for some critically ill patients.

MAPLE HILL —

Mrs. Russell Little of Thetford Mines, was a weekend guest of her mother and brother, Mrs. J. Allan and Mr. Lawrence Allan.

Mr. Arnold Nugent spent a weekend in Montreal.

Mr. Lyle Cruickshank went to Richmond with the A.S.J. High School basketball team.

MANSONVILLE —

Members of the Boy Scouts, "Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies with their leaders attended divine service at St. Paul's Anglican Church. Rev. E. F. Macklin conducted Morning Prayer and delivered an address suitable for young people. Mr. W. R. Langley, one of the assistants in the Boy Scout group, and Mrs. Mary Magoon, leader of the Cubs, read the lessons. The service was well attended by the young people and many of their parents were also present.

The Woman's Association of the United Church met in the Town Hall, with Mrs. John Young and Mrs. Paul Lamoureux as joint hostesses. Mrs. Guy George, vice-president presided at the business meeting. A sunshine box was sent to a shut-in and a gift to a new arrival at the home of one of the members.

New System Developed For Forest Fire-Fighting

TORONTO (CP) — Forest-fire fighting is due for a new twist in Ontario this year—airplanes will be used to pour water on fires from rotating tanks.

The process, developed during tests last summer, uses two tanks carried on the outside. The planes, equipped with floats, can refill and take off again in 18 seconds.

The tanks are being fitted on the department of lands and forests' Otter and Beaver aircraft and will be used in the spring fire season.

The department has used 3½-gallon water bombs in lined paper bags for several years to contain fires until ground crews arrive. In recent years, a helicopter was fitted with tanks and water was pumped under high pressure.

Officials said the rotating tank system is the first effective means of raining enough water on a fire to put it out.

The department's air services went to work on the problem last summer at its Sault Ste. Marie headquarters.

The quarter tanks, six feet long and 22 inches wide, are rotated by a lever at the pilot's right hand. They weigh 175 pounds, are easily removed and can be carried in the plane.

They can be filled in 40 seconds at an air speed of 40 miles an hour and total time to land, refill and take off is 18 seconds under calm conditions.

Experimental drops from about 100 feet wetted areas as large as 285 by 135 feet.

In a coniferous stand averaging 460 trees to an acre, humidity rose to 87 per cent from 65 and after four drops the effect was that of a brisk rain shower, officials reported.

The department said the tests indicated that the lower the plane flies, the greater the density of the water and the smaller the area covered.

The department said the value lay in the speed of the tank refill, its operation by the pilot alone, use with other control measures without danger to fire-fighters, and ability to be carried in the plane at all times without hampering operations.

BROME —

The 500 Club met at the home of Mrs. Ida Robinson with Mrs. J. E. Sales co-hostess. Cards were played at four tables and the prize winner was Mrs. G. W. Woodgate. The Club will meet next at the same home with the same two ladies entertaining.

KNOWLTON —

The K.H.S. boys and girls basketball teams were at Richmond to participate in games there.

Mr. W. S. Lecky has been confined to his home with illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Parker of Sherbrooke, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Plunkett and son Peter of Montreal, spent a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Taylor, Mr. Dore and Mr. and Mrs. C. Dillon, of Montreal were guests at the same home.

We Could Never Do Without Men --- That Is, Sometimes

Men are wonderful — except at times like these —
You show your husband something you picked up for a song, a bargain that would impress any woman, and when you triumphantly point to the price tag he asks innocently, "Is that good?"
The painter just misses getting the shade of paint on the wall that will pick up a subtle accent color in the drapery fabric. As far as you are concerned the whole effect you are trying to achieve is ruined, but your husband says, "What's wrong with it? It looks fine to me."
You are expecting guests for dinner and are up to your elbows in cooking. So your husband comes home from the office early and decides to clean the garage, calling for you every five minutes to ask: "What do you want me to do with this?"

How Can You Explain It?
You are barely on speaking terms with a woman who has more than once given you reason to resent her. After a few minutes of oh, so polite chatting with her at a party your husband says, "I don't see why you don't like her. She seems like a real nice person."
You tell your husband you haven't a thing to wear to a party, meaning you haven't anything that is suitable. He wants to know why you don't wear "that blue dress" that no longer has anything to recommend it except that it is still the color of your eyes.
You drag your man to a party he doesn't want to go to on your promise that you'll leave early. Then when you tactfully tell your hostess that you have to leave to get the baby sitter home he looks surprised and says, "It's not that late."
Men are wonderful — except at times like these.

Adaptable Furniture Fits Changing Floor Plans

By KAY SHERWOOD

Adaptability is a factor of furniture design that young couples might profitably consider along with pleasing styling and sturdy construction.

If you're just beginning to keep house, it's fairly certain that you'll move at least once and probably several times in the next 10 years. Perhaps, too, you'll be raising a family.

Furniture that can be adapted to changing floor plans, differing needs and the rigors of little children while retaining its look of quality and style is a treasure to be prized.

THERE IS A SELECTION of such furniture this spring. It's not surprising that much of it tends to simple, Scandinavian styling or a contemporary version of Early American.

They're basic, easy to live with and care for; they'll fit into a variety of backgrounds and blend well with other informal styles.

A good example is found in a moderately priced collection designed by Lawrence Peabody. It's Danish in inspiration, but made in America. The wood is oak with a warm, amber finish.

Flexibility of function is incorporated where possible. A flat-topped desk has a drop leaf and a removable file drawer on runners under the top.

Remove the drawer, slide the drop leaf into position and you have a dinner table to seat eight.

An accessory is a small, table-top chest with two trays which could hold work papers or fileware with equal grace.

A serving cart does double duty as a mobile buffet. It has drop leaves, an open shelf, closed cabinet storage and a warming compartment concealed under its top.

CART, CHEST and dining tables in the collection have plastic laminate tops that are resistant to practically everything. The tops are identical matches in color and grain to the wood frames. Even experts have to touch and examine the surfaces in order to tell the difference.

Representative of adaptable, practical, clean-lined contemporary furniture is the drop-leaf desk, above, which converts to a dinner table. File drawers can be removed and top is a plastic laminate which matches oak frame. Serving cart, left, extends to buffet length and has a hidden warming compartment.

VERSATILE, too, are the several, multipurpose type of cabinets with wood or cane doors now in the market. They're proportioned for stacking on server bases, to stand alone or to be fastened to the walls.

Interiors are fitted with adjustable shelves and are deep enough to take dinner plates, books or what-have-you.

Modern versions of Early American chests and cabinets gain a new addition to their ranks this spring. Open bookcases with adjustable and compartmented shelving can be placed on chests to give greater height and storage capacity.

Marriages

RYAN — DUSTIN

MONTREAL — The marriage of Miss Gwen Lois Marion Dustin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dustin, of Magog, to Mr. Myles William Ryan, of Montreal, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Ryan, of Dublin, Ireland, took place at eleven o'clock on Saturday, February 22 in St. Kevin's Church Montreal. Father H. Hall officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pale grey lace over taffeta street length dress with matching head-dress, and carried a bouquet of red carnations.

Miss Sue Dustin, as maid of honor for her sister, was in a street length dress of blue silk with matching headress and carried a bouquet of white pom-poms.

Mr. Anthony Carroll acted as best man for the groom.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Dustin, chose a brown and white printed silk dress under a brown velvet coat, with which she wore a beige hat and accessories and a corsage of yellow and bronze mums.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party travelled to Magog, where a reception was held at the Chateau du Lac.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Ryan left for a wedding trip to the United States, the bride wearing a blue wool dress with matching coat and white hat and accessories. On their return, they will take up residence in Montreal.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hayden, Miss C. Connor, Mr. R. Cartier, Miss M. Langtin, Mr. and Mrs. L. Delaney, Miss N. Delaney, Mr. H. Lyster, Miss D. Black, all of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. K. Patrick and Mrs. L. Brady, of Sherbrooke.

Girl Soldiers At Home In Canada's Sub-Arctic

OTTAWA (CP) — Fort Churchill in Canada's sub-Arctic may be considered by many people as "man's country," but a handful of "girl soldiers" make themselves right at home there.

Members of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, they are nursing assistants serving with the military hospital at Fort Churchill, on Hudson Bay.

For most of them, their one-year posting to the cold, barren spot ends all too soon. Some ask for an extension.

But Capt. M. F. Bird, matron of the hospital, denies the requests because she feels a year at the isolated camp, about 600 miles north of Winnipeg and above the tree line, is enough for any single young woman.

BUSY CENTRE
The one-year posting has its attractions for some of the girls, far outnumbered by men at the camp.

In recent months, two were married to servicemen stationed at the camp.

The nursing assistants help nursing sisters at the hospital and spend much of their time in the paediatrics ward, caring for newborn infants and children up to 12 years of age.

The girls are always busy, since the hospital is the only one for hundreds of miles in any direction, and it cares for Eskimos and Indians as well as Canadian and United States troops and civilians at the camp.

They take turns serving as escorts for female patients evacuated by air to hospitals at The Pas, Man., and Winnipeg.

Personal

New arrivals of St. Peter's Church Parish were entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Smith, Moore St., with Mrs. R. D. Wells as joint hostess.

The afternoon was spent in getting acquainted with members of the Parish and tea was served from the attractively appointed lace covered table centered with daffodils and pale yellow tapers.

The hostesses were assisted in serving the many guests by the Misses Mary Wells and Kathleen Smith.

Mr. Douglas Spalding and Mr. Warren Spalding have returned to Toronto, Ont., after being guests for a few days of their mother, Mrs. Alired Spalding, Decoleau St., while here to attend the funeral services of their father, which took place at R. L. Bishop Funeral Chapel on Monday afternoon.

Record readers are invited to submit suitable items of interest to the Social and Personal column.

GOOD SLOGAN
HALIFAX (CP) — "Looking for ward from yesterday" is the theme chosen for the provincial convention of the Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia, to be held July 23-24 at Wolfville, N.S.

Canada's Youngest Grandmother?
TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — Canada's youngest grandmother may be Mrs. Gailan Tremblay of Timmins who first became a grandmother at the age of 32 on Sept. 1, 1955 and now at 35 has three grand-daughters.

Her grand-daughters, Mary Jane, 2, Christine, 1, and Susan, a little more than a month old, are all children of Mr. and Mrs. Tremblay's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ouellette of South Porcupine, Ont., three miles east of Timmins.

Mary Jane made Mrs. Tremblay one of Canada's youngest grandmothers Sept. 1, 1955 when she was born nine days before Mrs. Tremblay's 33rd birthday, Sept. 10.

And Mr. Tremblay is a possible youngest grandfather. He won't be 39 until May 16.

The couple have lived in Timmins since their marriage at nearby Connaught, Ont., on July 3, 1937 when Mrs. Tremblay, the former Fortune La Praette, was 14 years old. They have two children, their daughter Rachel, Mrs. Ouellette, and a son, 16-year-old David who lives at home.

LEEDS VILLAGE — Mrs. Leonard Ross has returned home, after being a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robertson and Miss Leblanc were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Nutbrown.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nadeau and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warcup and family of Lemesurier, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Fortier during the weekend.

LEARNED PLAIN — Friends of little Miss Pamela Westgate are sorry to hear she is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson and little son Bobby of South Coventry, Conn. were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McVetty.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Braznall and Master Teddy Coates visited Mrs. Annie Harper and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stoddard in Hatley recently.

Mrs. Lloyd Hume, Darrell and the Linda Hume were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blair in East Angus.

Huntingville WCTU Entertains White Ribboners

Mrs. A. Fairbrother, superintendent of the Little White Ribboners and members of the Huntingville W.C.T.U., recently entertained the children and their mothers in the Huntingville Hall.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Fairbrother and the meeting opened with the singing of "Jesus Loves the Little Children," with Mrs. M. C. Sewell at the piano.

The guest speaker, Mr. Andrew Patton, led in prayer and gave an inspiring temperance message, using the story of Daniel as an example.

A duet, "Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us" was sung by Misses Ruth and Mary Crosby, who also joined Mr. Patton in the trio, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

Twenty-two White Ribboners and twenty mothers were present and six new members were presented with White Ribbon bows and certificates.

Refreshments were served by the W. C. T. U. members assisted by the Misses Ruth and Mary Crosby and Carole Robichaud.

Those in charge extended a vote of thanks to the guest speaker and musicians and all who had assisted in the enjoyment of the afternoon.

Homemaking

Beginner cooks may wonder what causes cheese to turn tough when they include it in cooked dishes. This occurs when a high temperature is used in cooking. For best results with cheese, use low heat.

A washable plastic seat cover for the car is a good investment when there are many little children in the family. Sticky fingers and dusty feet leave many impressions on a car interior. Washable covers take a sudsy cloth to wipe away smudges.

Children's rooms often show the battle scars of an indoor winter siege. One way to avoid this next winter is to use rubber tile or rubber sheeting at the strategic levels. The material resists scuffs and dirt and works well both on walls and floors.

Beauty Tips
Models and actresses know many make-up secrets. But one of their best ones isn't a secret, really. It is proper removal of make-up and cleansing the face and neck so pores won't become clogged. Use a cleansing cream to remove all makeup and then wash with soap and water.

Besides making a girl pretty, proper make-up also protects the skin during harsh weather. But be certain to remove thoroughly all make-up when you are home. This allows the skin to breathe.

DREAD AILMENT
Leukemia, a blood disease considered a form of cancer, affects twice as many boys as girls.

GROUP IV WOMEN'S FEDERATION

Group IV of the Women's Federation of the United Church met in Douglas Hall, Queen St., Lennoxville, with Mrs. Edna Francis in charge.

Mrs. Persis Lipsey conducted the devotional period and took as her subject "Dorcas," a timid and retiring woman, but one noted for her kindness and good deeds.

Mrs. Walter McMann gave a review of the book, "This I Remember," by Eleanor Roosevelt, portraying her life as a president's wife, her work at home and abroad.

Notices were given of the At Home held at the Grace Chapel on Monday and the C. G. I. T. affiliation on March 25.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. W. J. Lane and Mrs. H. L. Wallace. Mrs. Edna Francis presided at the lace covered tea table centered with a basket of red tulips.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

If you are invited to a wedding and the reception following, you should answer the invitation and also send the bride a wedding present.

If you are invited to the wedding but not to the reception, whether or not you send a gift is up to you.

Fashion

The messy look haunts many women. It comes from too much jewelry, fussy accessories, bad handling of color, hats full of feathers and bows and veiling. To look chic and neat, keep things simple.

There's a sound reason for having a wardrobe of shoes. They give you better service and longer wear if they're given a day's rest after each wearing. And, of course, you'll want many heel heights and colors.

How do your closets look? Clothes jammed into each other every which way? That's hard on fabrics. Give them room and air and if they're delicate fabrics, a padded hanger.

points. The next exhibition game to be played in Theftford will be the game between Quebec High School and Theftford High School on Saturday March 8. Richmond will be guest of T.H.S. on March 15th.

Through fire and flood — always the Red Cross

The grim spectre of Disaster is no respecter of time, place or persons. In 1952, it was the "Noronic" Fire. In 1954, it was Hurricane Hazel. In 1956, Budapest and the Hungarian Revolt. In 1957, Beauceville and Springhill. In each case the Red Cross heard the call, and immediately mobilized for the work of comfort and mercy. It is the same story whenever and wherever disaster strikes. The Red Cross always stands ready for action. So remember — You Also Serve By Giving. So please give generously when your Red Cross Volunteer Canvasser calls.

Beavers Rally To Nip Aces 5-3; Meteors Stop Rockets For First Win

Locals Forced To Come From Behind To Post Victory; Lionel Robidas Notches Winner In Wide-Open Tilt

Rallying in the late stages of the game Sherbrooke Beavers rolled to a 5-3 verdict over the Magog Aces in their best-of-nine semi-finals of the Massachusetts Valley Hockey League playoffs before 1,674 fans. The Sherbrooke squad leads the series 4-2 with the next tilt slated for Sunday afternoon at the local arena.

The Aces, who at one time held a 3-1 advantage in the game wilted in the last half of the fixture as the Beavers potted two goals to wrap up the decision. Magog failed to give the same performance they did Tuesday evening when they posted a 2-1 victory over the locals.

Coach Theriault's squad commenced strong and one time it looked as though they would run away from the Beavers. Pierre Langlois notched the first tally of the game but a few seconds later Gaston Thibault evened the count on a high corner shot which eluded Labossiere's hand.

Cubby Smith was the next to beat the local net-minder when he rifled a hard shot through Labossiere's legs from 10 feet out. It was a nice passout from Mar-to fool the Magog net boy and beat him neatly to even the count. It was the only goal of the period.

Bert Bourassa, who was playing a good game on the blueline for the Aces, gave Labossiere and company a real scare when he snared a pass at centre to break in alone but the local net-minder came up with the save.

Lionel Robidas tallied what proved to be the winner when he rushed in to belt one from just inside the blueline to beat Lavoie the whole way. The locals were forcing the play when the disc rolled out and Robidas rifled it right back.

Bob Bedard went off for cross-checking but during his absence the Aces just couldn't get a clear shot on the goal. The Beavers tossed up a strong defense and kept the puck under control.

Ray St. Cyr came up with his second tally of the evening when he teamed up again with Gilles Dube. It was the insurance marker and gave the locals a little more breathing space. It was a nice play by Sherbrooke's two top marksmen.

Beaudoin got tagged with the game's third penalty for interference with only a few minutes left but nothing happened during his enforced rest.

The officials decided following the game that Sunday they would be refused admission to the game and also if anyone is caught tossing things on the ice he will not only be taken out of the rink but will be taken to the Police Station where he will be fined.

ius Goyette from the corner. A few minutes later the Aces potted their third goal when pounced on a loose rubber in front of the Sherbrooke net and bang the red light was on.

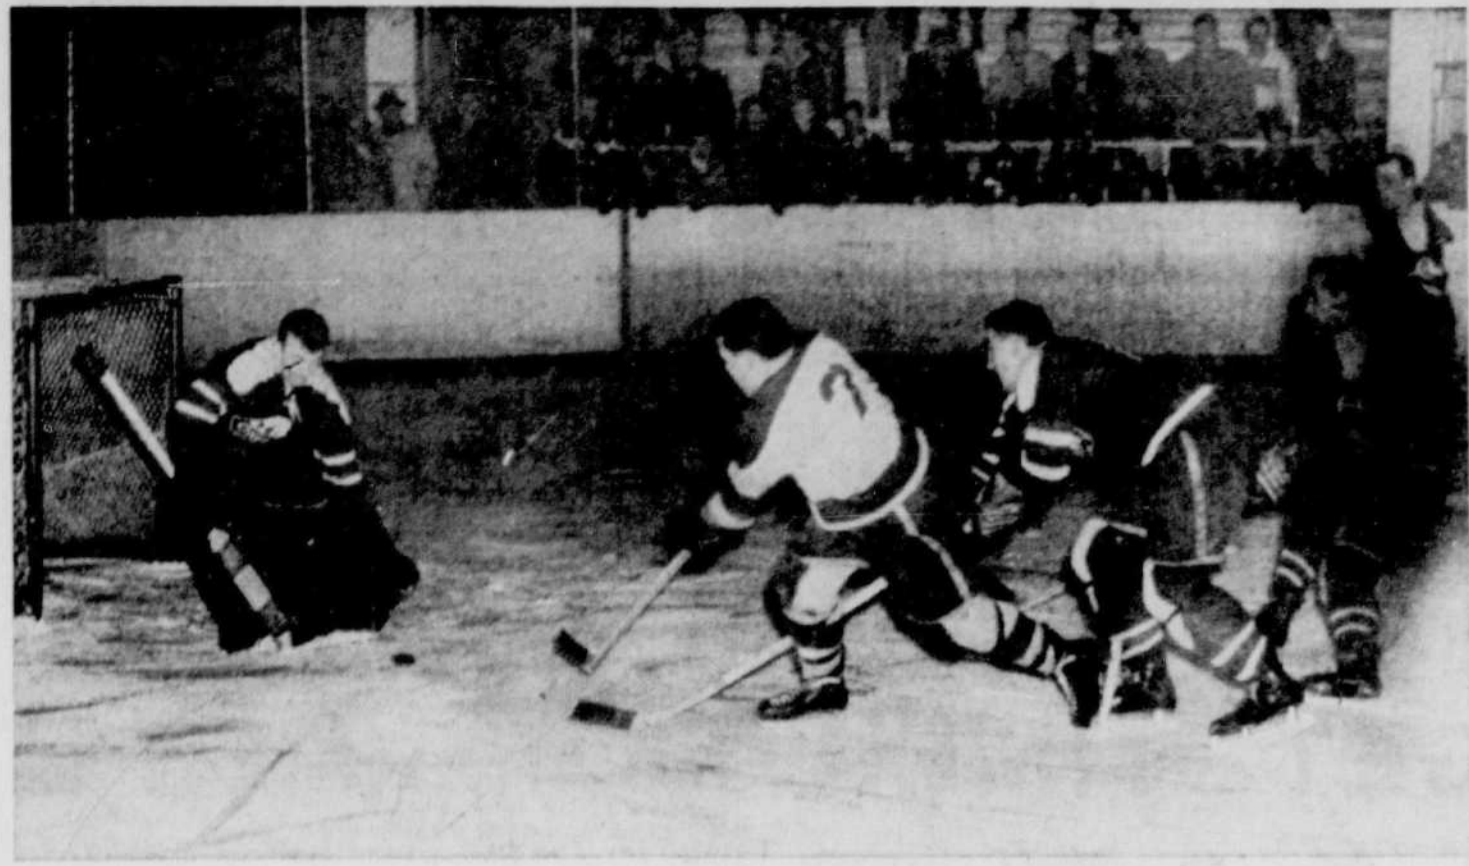

The Beavers were having trouble to get untracked as the Aces were just simply fore-checking them to a standstill. Despite their advantage in the play the Aces weren't getting too close on their drives but a few were close calls and forced Labossiere to extend himself.

Young Real Rousseau came up with the next marker on a play with his coach, Gilles Dube. The local pilot drove into the corner for the disc and relayed it out in front and the youngster made no mistake batting it by Yvon Lavoie into the net. It completed the scoring for the first frame.

In the middle stanza the Beavers commenced to drive much better and looked as though they might overtake the Aces. The Magog crew seemed content to let the locals force the play and were watching for a break.

Maurice Parr rifled a hard one which jumped over Lavoie's stick but it was wide of the cage. Gilles Dube then pulled the trigger on what looked like a sure goal but Mireault pulled it out of the goal mouth just in the nick of time. It was a close call.

Gilles Dube set up Sherbrooke's tying rally when he snared the disc in his own end and lifted a beautiful rink-wide pass to Ray St. Cyr and the Beavers' sharpshooter coasted in alone on Lavoie. He picked the near corner

LAVOIE SAVES — Ray St. Cyr, number seven, is seen just after he let go with his shot on the Magog net but Lavoie came up with the save and smothered the disc. In the rear are Marius Goyette and Bert Bourassa while in the foreground is Gildor Levesque, hard-hitting rearguard.

Nino Valdes To Meet DeJohn In TV Bout April 23

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Cuban heavyweight Nino Valdes will meet unranked Mike DeJohn in a 10-round nationally televised boxing bout here April 23, it was announced Thursday. Promoter Norman Rothschild said Valdes' manager, Bobby Gleason, had forwarded a signed contract for the meeting.

Junior Players On Rampage In Canadian Badminton Championships

VICTORIA (CP)—With junior players running rampant through the official predictions, it remained for the older players to introduce an element of stability in Thursday's action in the Canadian badminton championships.

The juniors raced through up to four rounds in the one day, disposing of ranking players at almost every turn as they plunged towards the finals.

The seniors took it easy during the daytime after Wednesday's hectic opening day, then went their semi-finals in the evening. All hands take a rest today from their championship competition as consolation events take over.

Bespotted Jim Carnwath of Woodstock, Ont., seeded second, eliminated an upstart from the junior ranks, 18-year-old Ed Hreljac of Creighton Mines, Ont., 6-15, 15-4, 15-5 in the senior semi-finals.

In the junior men's singles, Maritime hopeful, 17-year-old John Macdougall of Saint John, N.B., combined his hefty size with control and power to reach the semi-finals where he was eliminated by Hreljac in a gripping battle. The scores were 13-15, 15-9, 15-12.

Farmos Upsets Burke Emery

REVERE, Mass. (AP)—Undeclared Cardell Farmos of Boston unleashed a savage body attack Thursday night to score an upset unanimous decision over Burke Emery of Sherbrooke, Que., in the eight-round feature boxing bout at Rollaway Arena.

Farmos, who registered his eighth victory against a draw, weighed 170, and Emery 163.

Farmos scored heavily during the early rounds and finished strong to earn the verdict over his more experienced opponent.

Emery, fighting his first battle since last November, appeared a bit rusty on his timing and combination punches.

There were no knockdowns although Emery had Farmos in trouble when the bell ended the fourth round.

Revere, Mass. — Cardell Farmos, 170, Boston, outpointed Burke Emery, 163, Sherbrooke, Que., 8.

Los Angeles — Davey Moore, 127, Springfield, Ohio, knocked out Vince Delgado, 127, Los Angeles, 3.

Canadians Beat Sweden 10-2 For Undisputed Lead In World Hockey Tourney; Plan Protest Over Refs

OSLO, Norway (CP)—Canada, undisputed leader in the world hockey tournament after its explosive 10-2 victory over Sweden, faces tough Czechoslovakia at 12:30 p.m. AST today in the hopeful vein that the officiating — labelled by Canadian team manager Wren Blair as "terrible" — won't get worse.

The Canadians are in the enviable position of leading the eight-country round-robin tournament with four victories in four starts — the only nation left with a perfect mark. After the Czechs, they play the Americans and the Russians Saturday and Sunday.

A donnybrook Thursday with the Swedes cost Canada's Whitty team honors as the club with the least penalties in the tournament, minutes.

Team officials and players on both sides felt the referees — a West German and a Russian — let the game get out of hand after the Canadians piled up an unbeatable lead with six goals in the first period.

Quiet prevailed through the second period when the Canadians got another goal but pandemonium broke loose in the third period after a huge Swedish defenceman fouled usually mild-mannered Jack McKenzie and got away with it as the officials missed the infraction. One brawl after another followed and before the period ended 13 penalties had been handed out with nine to the Canadians. In all, Canada got 13 of the 19 penalties in the game.

"The officiating was terrible," said Blair, adding that he plans an official protest to J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation. Sweden's team manager, Folke Jansson, also blamed the referees for the trouble but he was not happy with the Canadian brand of hockey. He accused the Canadians of playing dirty, saying "They used a lot of dirty tricks — stick hooking, elbowing and so on."

The Canadian players didn't see it that way. McKenzie, the tournament's leading scorer with 11 goals, complained: "I got a stick in the face and then a big Swedish elbow."

Player coach Sid Smith, who scored two goals against the Swedes, said some of his players were "elbowed, hooked and hit over the heads with sticks. The referees completely lost control of this match."

The Canadian win dropped Sweden out of the unbeaten and united class into fourth place while the Canadians took over the top spot with eight points, one should be a very good game.

Following this game, Granby and Thetford Mines will meet in a Bantam sudden death game. Both towns claim to have strong bantam clubs and should give a very good exhibition of hockey.

Granby and Thetford Mines will meet in a Midget elimination game following the bantams. Both clubs will go all out to win which will be a sudden death game. All games should be fast and furiously fought as they are sudden-death and each will be trying to get an early lead. It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand at the Richmond Arena.

This is the first year that Minor eliminations are held outside of Sherbrooke on such a large scale and Richmond has been privileged this year owing to the fact that they have installed an artificial ice plant. With the interest shown in Minor hockey this year, this may advance the installation of artificial ice in other centres in the E. T.

Minor Hockey Playoffs To Continue In Richmond Sunday; Four Games On Agenda With First On Tap At 1.00

Minor hockey eliminations will continue Sunday afternoon at the Richmond Arena when clubs from Thetford Mines, Granby, Richmond and perhaps East Angus will meet starting at 1.00 o'clock.

The first game will send the Richmond Mosquitos against the Mosquito champions of Thetford Mines at 1.00. Richmond just eliminated the St. Patrick's Academy of Sherbrooke in a two-game total-point series 4-0, winning 1-0 and 3-0. These kids, who the coming stars of tomorrow, always put up a good exhibition of hockey and Richmond have proven themselves prospective champions. This will be a sudden death game.

The second game will be between Thetford Mines, Pee-Wee champions and either Richmond or East Angus. East Angus has a one-goal advantage having won the first game Wednesday by 4-3. The second game will be played Saturday morning in Windsor Mills with the winner playing Sunday against Thetford. This

Royals Hold Cats To 5-5 Stalemate

SHAWINIGAN, Que. (CP)—Montreal Royals scored four times in the third period to earn a 5-5 tie with Shawinigan Cataracts Thursday night in a Quebec Hockey League game that went into a scoreless overtime frame.

Goals by John Kowalchuk, his second of the game, and Cec Heokstra, Gene Achymichuk and Ernie Roche squared the count for the Royals to force the extra period.

Jean Paul Denis counted twice for the Cataracts. Al Johnson, Dick Wray and Gerry Desaulniers scored the club's other goals.

It was the night's only QHL game.

The tie advanced the Royals into a third-place deadlock with Quebec Aces, 12 points back of the second-place Cataracts and 16 behind the leading Chicoutimi Saguenens.

Asbestos Comes Up With 3-1 Victory; Richard Champagne And Jack Illick Out; Meet Sunday In Drummondville

The Asbestos Meteors proved that they had not conceded victory, to the Drummondville Rockets in the semi-finals by winning 3-1 in the Asbestos Recreation Centre last night before a crowd of 1,761.

This was the third game of the series between the two teams that ended by the same score.

The fourth game of the series is scheduled Sunday at Drummondville. The Rockets have a 2-1 lead in the three-off-five series.

Meteors' coach Percy Glaude used two forward lines for the game with substitute player, Richard Champagne Jack Illick are no longer with the Asbestos team. Mac Coates also played but Russel Malone who hasn't yet participated in the semi-final still was absent.

The Meteors dominated the play in all periods. Joseph Lacoursiere's spectacular goaling in the Rocket nets stopped their winning margin.

Claude Bergeron stopped 24 shots for the Meteors compared to 35 for Lacoursiere of the Rockets.

Twelve penalties were handed out in the game, seven of which went to the Meteors. Five penalties were doled out in the first period alone.

Maurice Vachon, Paul Perron and Laurent Drouin counted the Meteors' goals while Jacques Boivin tallied for the Rockets.

Defencemen played an important part in the scoring for their respective teams: Marcel Forgues assisted on two of the Meteor goals his team mate Jacques Heon on the other. Jean-Paul Michelin for the Rockets assisted on the team's single goal.

The Meteors took 1-0 lead in the first period on a goal by Vachon. There were no goals in the second period. In the third frame, Paul Perron accepted a pass from Jean-Paul Michelin in front of the goal after Marcel Forgues had intercepted a pass.

During a Meteor penalty Jacques Boivin broke away with his brother, Maurice, to score the Rockets' single goal.

With only three minutes to go, Laurent Drouin took a pass from Jacques Heon to escape and to score single handedly.

Much-Traded Jerry Toppazzini Scores Two Goals As Bruins Rally To Tie Hawks; Evans Took Over For Lumley

National Hockey League teams gave up three times on Jerry Toppazzini before he finally clicked with Boston Bruins. Now Boston's patience is paying off.

Toppazzini scored two goals Thursday night, boosting his season's total to 22, as Boston tied Chicago Black Hawks 4-4 and moved into a third-place tie with Detroit Red Wings, seven points ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Chicago moved within five points of Toronto. It was the lone game scheduled.

The 22 goals are the same number the 26-year-old Toppazzini scored in almost three full seasons from 1953 through 1956. Boston apparently gave up on Toppazzini after the 1952-53 season but brought him back from the minors next year, then traded him to Chicago. He stayed with the Hawks a year, then went to Detroit who swapped him back to Boston.

Thursday night Ian Cushman and Ed Litzenger gave a 2-0 Chicago a 2-0 lead before Toppazzini put Boston in the game. It was Litzenger's 26th.

STREAKS BROKEN
Boston's Doug Mohns and Chicago's Lorne Ferguson traded second-period goals and Eric Nesterenko gave the Hawks a 4-2 lead in the third period.

Then the Bruins went back to work with Buddy Boone and Toppazzini scoring for the tie. It broke a seven-game Chicago losing streak and three-game Boston winning streak.

Harry Lumley, Boston's regular goalie since mid-January, was out with a foot infection and was replaced by Claude Evans of Springfield Indians. Evans stopped 31 shots, Chicago's Glenn Hall 25.

CHINOOK PARK, ONLY ONE-MILE TRACK ON PRAIRIES, IS JUST A MEMORY AS LAND IS SOLD TO REAL ESTATE FIRM

CALGARY (CP)—Chinook Park, the only one-mile race track on the prairies, is just a memory.

The last race was run there in May, 1942, but since then racing fans have hoped the plant, five miles from downtown Calgary, might be revived as a turf centre.

Now it is definite the 78 acres of prairie land will be used for something else. The Chinook Jockey Club sold the land to a real estate corporation which plans to develop the area into a housing subdivision.

G. H. Webster had dreams of a racing centre and in 1914 planned construction on the outskirts of Calgary. Just as the grandstand was to be erected, war was declared and the deal fell through.

But Chinook Jockey Club officials retained control of the property. In 1925 it was decided to complete construction of the track, grandstand and stables.

The group which got behind the club financially and made completion possible consisted of the late senator Patrick Burns, the late A. E. Cross, the late John I. McFarland, the late Pete Pallesen, the late N. J. Christie and E. D. Adams, dean of prairie racing officials.

UNTIMELY SNOWSTORM
The late R. James Speers of Winnipeg and Charles F. Roe were in charge of the first meeting slated for seven days. Four days after the opening Sept. 23, 1925, the meeting was cancelled because of a September snowstorm.

Each year that followed Chinook Park was the mecca of southern Alberta racing patrons until 1942 when a gasoline shortage resulting from the Second World War caused Chinook Park to shut down.

The track holds many memories for turf patrons.

One mark that stands out was set Sept. 2, 1940, when Mel Lambert's Knack with Freddy Solomon in the saddle held on in a furious stretch drive to record a time of five minutes, 33 4/5 seconds for three miles, a time that has never been equalled on any other Canadian track.

Some of the horses that ran at Chinook were the sprinters Epernay and Crack Mortgage. The top routers included Balancer, Hainault Maid, Craig McGee, Hi Mont and Knack.

Other stars of the one-mile oval were Roman Marcus, Contributor, Messenger Maid, Silent Messenger, Joeey, Yorkhome, Broadway Breeze, Duchess of York and Moonsan.

Lumley Taken To Hospital
BOSTON (AP)—Boston Bruins' goalie Harry Lumley was taken to hospital Thursday with an infected foot.

Lumley was in Carney Hospital where team physician Dr. Edward R. Brown said he had an infected tendon in his left foot.

Saskatchewan Upsets Baldwin In Curling Championships, First Loss In Last 17 Games; Could End In Tie

VICTORIA (CP) — Winnipeg's curling team-agers who gave Matt Baldwin such a bad scare in the second round could be back again to haunt the Alberta skip before the 1958 Canadian curling championship is decided.

The Manitoba kids helped set the stage for that possibility Thursday night by defeating Ontario 13-7 in the ninth round. It gave them a 6-2 record, the same as Ontario's, in the 11-round, round-robin tournament.

An important cog in this wheel of chance is that Ontario today meets the kingpin of the whole business—Baldwin, who carries a 7-1 record into the final two rounds. If Ontario beats Alberta, all three rinks could end up with eight wins and two losses and a playoff would result.

The won-lost standings going into today's 10th round, which starts at 12:30 p.m. AST: Alberta 7-1, Ontario and Manitoba 6-2, British Columbia 5-3, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island 5-4, Newfoundland Quebec 3-5, Northern Ontario and Nova Scotia 2-6, New Brunswick 1-7.

UPSET BY SASKATCHEWAN

Besides the Ontario- Alberta tilt, the other pairings today sent Manitoba against Nova Scotia; Northern Ontario met Newfoundland; British Columbia faced Quebec and Saskatchewan took on New Brunswick.

Saskatchewan posed the playoff possibility by dumping Alberta 11-8 in Thursday's seventh round for Baldwin's first loss in the last 17 games he has played in Canadian curling championships.

Manitoba gave Baldwin a scare early in the tournament by piling up a 6-0 lead in two ends but he came back for a 13-11 victory.

The eighth round provided no upsets. Manitoba beat Newfoundland 15-6; B.C. trounced New Brunswick 15-6; Saskatchewan defeated Northern Ontario 13-9; Alberta beat Quebec 12-4 and Ontario defeated Prince Edward Island 9-6.

Saskatchewan had a relapse Thursday night after performing so spectacularly against Baldwin. B.C. skip Tony Gutoski had things his own way for a 14-6 victory over the wheat province foursome.

In other ninth-round games, Alberta downed Newfoundland 10-5, P.E.I. trounced Nova Scotia 17-5 and Quebec edged Northern Ontario 9-8.

The P.E.I. victory, the islanders' fifth, is their best showing since they began to compete in the championship in 1939.

The Colts Competition, a Branch Competition, will be staged at the Sherbrooke Curling Club this evening and tomorrow. The event is open to any curler who is a member of the Canadian Branch and who has not had more than seven years curling experience.

This is a new event, started last year, with the finals being played in Montreal. This year to create a more general interest in Branch Competitions as well as curling in general, the Colts Trophy will be played for in Sherbrooke. Evidence of the trend to circulate the Branch Events is noted in the fact that the Jubilee was played in Quebec City and the Edinburgh in curling centres around the Province. The Elgin will be played in Montreal as before and the Governor Generals was played in Ottawa and will doubtless remain as an Ottawa attraction.

Four regions will be represented in the finals in Sherbrooke. T. Clough of the St. John Curling Club earned the right to represent the Southern Quebec region. The Ottawa region will be represented by E. Martain of the Ottawa Curling Club, E. A. Turner of the Victoria Curling Club in Quebec will carry the St. Maurice Valley colours, and Montreal West's L. Charleston will try for honours for the Montreal district.

Play will commence at the Sherbrooke Curling Club this evening at 7:30 and will continue tomorrow with games at 10:00 and 2:00. In the event of a tie in the round-robin competition a playoff will be held Saturday night at 7:00 and if necessary Sunday afternoon. Medals and a Trophy will be awarded to the winners.

The Magog Mixed Bonselpiel winds up tomorrow night with the finals in the week long event scheduled for 8:00. There will be a supper before the finals.

The Industrial Specialties Trophy is at stake in the main event with prizes awarded in the consolation.

Monday evening will see the opening of the 26th Annual Lennoxville Bonselpiel at the Lennoxville and Sherbrooke Curling Clubs. Bonselpiel President Richardson reports a full entry of 56 rinks in the 'Spiel. Sherbrooke has the largest entry with 18 rinks followed by the host club, Lennoxville, with 16. Magog have 6, Windsor Mills 4, Border 2, Sutton 2, North Hatley 2, Richmond 2, Danville 2, and Thetford Mines 1.

There are three shifts every night starting at 6:00 followed by games at 8:00 and 10:00. The finals are slated for 8:00 Saturday. The customary banquet dinner will be held at 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Sherbrooke Curling Club won back the C.N.R. Trophy from the defending Lennoxville Club last night by way of a 134-129 total points win.

The Sherbrooke Club led 85-75 going into last night's final round. Despite a 20-4 win by Bob Blake and a 14-6 victory by Stan Hamilton of the Lennoxville team the Trophy went to Sherbrooke. Bud Jackson of Sherbrooke aided their cause by way of a 14-1 win over Wes Nichol.

Bob Blake's 20-4 win from Herb McCallum was the highest plus registered in the event.

A possible three way tie for first place looms in the Macdonald Brier today as the 11 rinks enter the final round of play in the Canadian Championship.

A win by the Murray Roberts rink from Unionville, Ontario over Matt Baldwin would square the series for first place—each rink would have 8 wins and two losses apiece. The 'Kids' from Manitoba are not out of the picture yet either as they now have a 7-2 record and a win in their final game coupled with an Ontario win would bring about the three way tie.

One thing has been decided at the 1958 Brier—that being the site of the 1959 Curling Championships. Quebec City has been named with the Quebec Coliseum the most probable location in the city. Mr. Curling, Jim Weymen, announced that the Tankard Event would add a great deal of color to the 350th Quebec City Anniversary, as well as doing a lot to create more interest in the game in the province.

Rimouski Tops Amqui In First Tilt Of Finals; New Glasgow Rangers Dump Amherst For 3-0 Lead In Series

A 5-4 win by Rimouski Maple Leafs over Amqui Reavers Thursday night opened a best-of-seven final series in the Quebec-New Brunswick Hockey League. The second game is slated for Amqui Sunday.

At New Glasgow, the Rangers took a 3-0 stranglehold on their best-of-seven Allan Cup series Thursday night by downing Amherst Ramblers 6-3.

Amherst bolstered their squad with veteran Shermie White and Dick Vansnick. The only effect was a closer score than in the two previous games.

Leo Fahey and Eugene Swartzack were top producers for the Rangers with two markers each. Jim McDonald and Bill Billock collected one each. White notched two for Amherst with the odd one awarded a penalty shot. Stuart going to Roger Legere. Sydney Millionaires Thursday asked the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association for a ruling on a Cape Breton Senior League decision to hold the 10th and deciding game of an extended semi-final series in Glace Bay.

A winning goal by Jim Pike at 19:06 of the third period gave Fredericton Capitals a 4-3 decision over St. Thomas Thursday night and a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven North Shore Hockey League semi-finals.

PENALTY SHOT FAILS

The Tommies pulled their goalie in the dying moments of the game and Capitals' Bud Stuart broke through. Walter Mills was handed a penalty for throwing his stick and Capitals collected one each. White notched two for Amherst with the odd one awarded a penalty shot. Stuart failed to beat the St. Thomas goalie on the shot.

The provincial Junior A title went to Campbellton Tigers when they whitewashed Southern New Brunswick Combines 5-0 in Sussex. The powerful Tigers took the best-of-three series 2-0.

Windsor Maple Leafs took the Valley League crown by belting Wolfville Falcons 9-5. It was the fifth and deciding game of the hard-fought series.

The Maple Leafs go back into action tonight when they host Chester in the opener of the Nova Scotia Intermediate playoffs.

Truro Bearcats eliminated Halifax Fords from Intermediate play at Dartmouth by a 10-5 score.

MONTREAL (AP)—All major ski areas in Quebec Thursday reported continuing excellent conditions, the provincial meteorological bureau announced in its ski report.

Worst Thing That Ever Happened To Me Was Being Traded To Yankees, Says Pitcher Mickey McDermott

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Mickey McDermott says the worst thing that ever happened to him was being traded to the New York Yankees.

"I didn't show them what they wanted to see right away—so I haven't done much pitching since. (McDermott was 2-6 with the Yankees in 1956 and 1-4 with the Athletics last season).

That's an unusual statement from a veteran who wears one of the New York Yankee world championship rings on his finger.

"I mean it, though," says the 29-year-old southpaw. "From an overall standpoint, I wish I had never been traded to the Yankees."

"If you don't win right now, you've had it. You're out and that's it."

McDermott is one of six players who came to Detroit Tigers in the 13-player deal last November with the Kansas City Athletics.

Five seasons ago McDermott won 18 games and lost 10 for Boston Red Sox. Since then his best

Windsor Juveniles Down Granby 8-1 While East Angus Pee Wees Win Title And Windsor Midgets Edge Bishop's

RICHMOND — The Richmond Coliseum, with its artificial ice, was the scene of four hockey games in the Minor Hockey League, playoffs, Mosquitoes, Pee Wees, Midgets and Juveniles were engaged in elimination play-downs.

The afternoon tilt had St. Pat's Sherbrooke Mosquitoes against Richmond in the second game of a two-game total-goals series with Richmond coming out on top 3-0. They had won over St. Pat's Sunday afternoon 1-0 and Claude Beaubien of the Richmond team racked up his second shutout to give his club the championship in this series.

In other games, East Angus Pee Wees edged the Richmond crew 4-3; Windsor Mills edged Bishop's Abenakis in the Midget game 2-1 while in the Juvenile game, the Paper Makers came out on top to eliminate Granby Christ-Roi 8-1.

Claude Major, with four goals, paced the Windsor team to the victory over Granby while teammate Claude Dupuis scored twice. Windsor took a 1-0 lead on Major's goal at the 11:30 mark of the first frame on a pass by Dupuis. Then at the 19:03 mark, Leroux tied it up on a play with Hardy and St. Laurent. With about three minutes of the game gone a Granby player was injured when boarded by Major, who drew a five-minute penalty by referee Carl Healey.

Windsor made it 5-1 on goals scored in the second period by Dupuis, two, and others by Coderre with Major getting his second. Dupuis scored his first at the opening 35 seconds of the frame and Coderre, on a play with Major and Pete Doucet, tallied on a rebound. Major his second goal on a rebound halfway through the period. Dupuis scored his second with Doucet helping with Lessard.

At the start of the third period Granby was close on a few occasions but the agile Windsor goaltender held them at bay. Then at 3:30, Rousseau raced down the ice with Dupuis and Coderre and beat Menard for his club's sixth goal. Three minutes later, Major scored on a play with Doucet and Dupuis, got his third goal of the game, in alone on Menard.

Gendron got an interference penalty and six minutes later Tetreault of Granby was sent off for cross-checking. Play started to get rough after. At the 17:30 mark, Rousseau was tagged with a similar infraction and protested to referee Healey, who tugged him with a misconduct. Rousseau didn't seem to like this and started to swing his stick, so the referee threw a match penalty at the Windsor Mills player. But this did not help the Granby cause as Major came up with his fourth goal to give Windsor the 8-1 win at the 19:00 mark.

Windsor had to win by seven goals and Major's did the trick. In the last seconds of the game, Menard was pulled out for a sixth attacker but the strategy was short-lived as time ran out and the game was in the bag for the Paper Makers.

Marcel Belanger scored the winning goal in the game over Bishop's Abenakis team in the Midget class. Larry Finley got the other Windsor goal in the 2-1 win while Cluny Macpherson saved Bishop's from a shut-out.

Claude Turcotte scored four goals. . . in the win over Richmond in the Pee Wee game. Plante scored two with Thibault getting the other Richmond goal. A. Bergeron assisted on Turcotte's first two goals for East Angus with Palmer helping on Turcotte's third marker in the initial period. Turcotte got his fourth at the 2:45 mark of the second period with Rene Thibault getting the Richmond goal from Simon Plante at 6:10.

Phillies' Ed Bouchee Placed On Probation And Wins Court's Help To Undergo Psychiatric Treatment

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—First baseman Ed Bouchee of Philadelphia Phillies Thursday was placed on probation on a charge of indecent exposure and won the court's permission to undergo psychiatric treatment sponsored by the Phillies.

In Clearwater, Fla., the National League baseball team announced that Bouchee, who starred as a rookie last season, will be sent to the institute of living in Hartford, Conn., for psychiatric treatment.

Bouchee will be 25 years old today. He and his wife are expecting a second child.

MEDICAL CASE
In placing Bouchee on probation for three years, Superior Judge Ralph P. Edgerton said the player's case "is more medical than legal."

Bouchee pleaded guilty to indecent exposure charges involving girls aged 8 and 10. He was also accused of luring the girls into his car and showing them indecent pictures. He has been free on $500 bond.

He could have been sentenced to a maximum of 20 years in penitentiary.

Dr. Robert M. Phillips, a psychiatrist, testified Thursday that Bouchee has a condition of "compulsive exhibitionism" that can be cured.

Dr. Phillips said he has been treating him. Judge Edgerton, who ordered a presentence investigation after Bouchee pleaded guilty last month said he found the ball player was not anti-social, had an excellent reputation and was assured of employment.

ELIGIBLE FOR PROBATION
"He appears eligible for probation and merits it," the judge said.

Bouchee, who works here in the off season, batted .293, hit 17 homers and drove in 76 runs for Philadelphia last season. The club mailed him a contract this year with a "substantial raise."

Bob Carpenter, president of the Phillies, said at Clearwater that he is more concerned with Bouchee's health than when he might again be ready to play baseball.

Loren Babe Inks Contract With Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—General Manager Rudy Schaffer of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League Thursday announced the signing of third-baseman Loren Babe. Schaffer said Babe's salary was cut from last year. No figures were disclosed.

Two other third-base candidates Milt Smith and Stan Jok, are still unsigned.

Adams Memorial Race At Mt. Orford This Weekend

Over 75 Contestants Ready To Participate

More than 75 skiers will compete in the two day Adams Memorial Event this weekend, March 8 and 9 at Mount Orford.

More than a dozen of Canada's top skiers will participate. Art Tommy of Ottawa and Andre Bertrand from Quebec City are the two favorites. Both were members of the Canadian Olympic team in 1956 at the trials in Cortina d'Empezzo, Italy.

Bertrand will be challenging last year's all-time downhill record set by Sherbrooke's Jean Lessard racing under Hillcrest colors. Also competing will be Tom Monaghan; Jim Quarles, a former Bishop's University student, J. M. Leonard, Maurice Cote, Glen Frazer and Bob Irving.

Some of the juniors who will be competing in teams for the Dow Trophy for the Divisional Championship are Francois Jobin, Claude Leblond, the Leonard brothers, Tony Blair, and Eastern Townships Junior Champion, Guy Thibault, Victoriaville. Linda Krutcheff, last year's winner of the Ladies Class, should see some stiff competition from Claire Monaghan and Faye Pitt.

Ralph DeVeraux of Lyndonville's Burke Mountain Ski Club, who placed tenth out of 110 in the United States Junior Championships, will also be competing. He says he is anxious to meet Canadian competition. Next week he is going to race in Colorado.

Adams Memorial day, Mount Orford's Annual classic is sponsored by Dow Brewery Limited and is sanctioned by the Canadian Amateur Ski Association. It is considered to be one of Eastern Canada's major ski meets.

The program of the week end activities includes: DOWNHILL, Saturday, March 8 11:00 AM, Three Creeks Run SLALOM, Sunday, March 9 11:00 AM, Mount Giroux Trail COMPETITION.

Individual For the Adams Trophy, open to all amateur skiers. Team For the Dow Trophy. Open only to teams of the different zones of the Quebec Division. Only the times of two seniors and two juniors will count in computing the points of a team.

TROPHIES, Adams Trophy to the best individual performer in the combined. DOW Trophy to the best team in the combined. Every competitor is requested to bring his amateur card of the C. A. S. A. or of the U. S. A. S. A.

Three Village Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Green entertained ten couples of the 35 Club of Stanstead South Church, at their home in Rock Island. The evening was pleasantly spent playing games and a whist. Lunch was an old fashioned box social, the attractively decorated boxes auctioned to the men, were shared at small tables with the women who had prepared them.

Mr. and Mrs. U. E. Cargill have returned to their home in Derby Line after spending a week at the home of their son, Rev. David Cargill, Mrs. Cargill and family in New London, N.H.

Mr. Warren Stevens, Rutland, Vt., spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stevens, Sr., Derby Line.

Mrs. M. K. McLean, Derby Line, has been named chairman of the American Red Cross campaign in the village. Letters are being sent to local organizations and a canvass arranged of the homes and business establishments. Mrs. McLean would appreciate the usual generosity of the public as the Red Cross needs are great to carry on their good work.

Rev. F. Matthews of Plymouth United Church, Sherbrooke, was the guest speaker at Stanstead South Church on Sunday morning.

LOOKING DOWN THE SLOPE

Tourist Industry

Mt. Orford Tops For Skiing

By CHARLES CATCHPAUGH
Sometimes when progress is mentioned in developing the Eastern Townships tourist industry, skeptical citizens reply, "What progress?" Their skepticism usually results from a comparison between this region and other holiday centres such as the Laurentians.

It is to be expected that those who have unconsciously seen this district's tourist industry develop, will discount the accomplishments of the past quarter century. Skiing, for instance, is now one of the region's most popular winter recreations, but when pioneers such as the late Dr. Marston Adams predicted its climb in popularity 20 years ago, few believed that it would be so rapid.

Looking back only 25 years, skiing was still a novelty and when it did catch on here, it was practically all the cross country type. Some did brave the slopes, providing they were well cleared. It was the arduous task of climbing for that short, but thrilling descent that discouraged many. Nevertheless, there were those who saw skiing as a more promising sport, and because of their enthusiastic efforts, others became interested.

In a few years, rope ski tows began appearing throughout the Townships, and with climbing the biggest drudgery of all, gone, the number of skiers doubled, tripled and quadrupled. No sooner had skiing come into its own, than did keen competition. Irresistible challenges started a trickle of outside competitors, and this developed into the flow of thousands who come to this region every winter.

One of the most notorious challenges of all is the slope of 2,800-foot high Mount Orford, today, unquestionably, one of the Townships' greatest winter attractions. At the turn of the century, no one ever dreamed that thousands would make this their recreational retreat.

When lumber operations, such as conducted by the Williams-Crombie and Prouty-Millar firms, were the only activity seen on Mount Orford, the lumbermen could never imagine a worthwhile use for the slopes that caused them so many hardships. In fact, after lumber had been stripped from the mountain, it wasn't used for much more than hunting, and even as a hunting ground, it compelled the skill of agile and experienced woods men.

About the time that attention was turned to cross country skiing, thirty Magog men decided they would try to ski to the top of Mount Orford. Though their ascent was to entail more walking and climbing on their hands and knees than skiing, nine of the group reached the top. This started a fad among young men in Magog, and despite the fact that that first party suffered several injuries and broken pieces of equipment, more were to prove they could do it too. Eventually, the narrow summer pathway, leading up the mountain from Orford station, was widened. This was the beginning of skiing on Mount Orford.

To counteract the unemployment of 1936 and 1937, the provincial government, constructed a road north of Cherry River, in Sherbrooke County, to the top of Mount Orford. The project was to serve as a tourist attraction. The project was dropped with the change of provincial government, but not until the base of the mountain had been reached and the foundation to the top partly laid. For several years the Orford project lay dormant, the war calling up all but a few of the ski enthusiasts.

The late Dr. Marston Adams was determined to develop this ski centre and worked tirelessly with a few friends, cutting trails and trying to create interest in his goal.

Under the direction of Dr. Adams, the Mount Orford Ski Club was formed in 1941. By the end of the war, it was a thriving organization. A tow was built, with the capital invested by Dr. Adams and other interested skiers, then a ski shack. Later the provincial government built a larger hut.

By 1950, other enterprising groups in the vicinity recognized the potential offered by the large skiing population. They too built tows and offered attractive accommodation.

Mount Orford was three miles from the highway, and skiers were obliged to ski cross country. Opening the mountain road was impossible because of the cost. For a while, it looked as if Dr. Adams' dream would never materialize, then, means to open the road were acquired. The ski club was re-organized as the Magog-Mount Orford Ski Club. A new tow was built, and a new

An enjoyable social hour was spent and Mrs. Piercy served lunch.

The February meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of the president, Mrs. E. E. Temple, who also presided. The meeting had been postponed a week due to sickness and other reasons. Two new members, Mrs. J. E. Walker, and Mrs. D. Brown, were welcomed. The next meeting will be on March 11th at the same home.

interest was shown by the provincial government. Again skiers began flocking back to the favorite area. Their number is ever increasing.

As Robert (Bob) Richardson, 1955 Olympic star and formerly of Magog, said last winter at the Adams Memorial Race, "It's one of the best places I've ever skied."

has become one of Canada's most popular sports, and particularly throughout the Eastern Townships. We of Magog are fortunate in having such excellent facilities as offered at nearby Mount Orford. Thanks to the conveniences at this ski resort, our city and the surrounding communities are benefitting yearly. As the major projects of Regional Mount Orford Development Committee is to promote the use of Mount Orford and such events as this week-end's ADAMS MEMORIAL RACES, we the officials of the City of Magog, sincerely hope that the citizens of this district will take an interest in this sport classic, and if possible journey to the resort to witness these important competitions.

SKIING is a good and wholesome sport, one which allows the skier plenty of exercise and social recreation. By encouraging skiing, we feel we are helping promote better health, and the best of social life.

is important to every community in the Eastern Townships as a tourist attraction. Here regional citizens and visitors from outside this area can come and enjoy themselves, and as this park and its holiday and sporting facilities are improved, greater benefits will be derived by the citizens and communities of our district.

We the organizers of The Regional Mount Orford Tourist Development Organization extend our best wishes for the success of this week-end's and to the organizers we extend our congratulations.

From our group, a special vote of appreciation is extended to the
