TADOUSAC, a post village and watering place, the capital of Saguenay co. and district, Que., founded in 1599, by Chauvin at the east entrance of the Saguenay River, about 5 miles above its confluence with the St. Lawrence, on a semi-circular terrace at the top of a beautiful bay with a sandy beach, hemmed in by mountains of solid rock, 25 miles across the St. Lawrence from Riviere du Loup, 130 miles from Quebec. It has a good hotel and a number of handsome villas, and is much frequented by tourists and health-seekers during the summer months. Tadousac, apart from its pleasant situation as a watering place, is interesting from the circumstance of its having been at an early period the capital of the French settlements, and for a long time one of the chief fur trading posts, as well as the roadstead of French vessels, which anchored here and sent their imports by small boats to Quebec. In 1648, the fur trade of the post gave profits of 40,000 livres on 250,000 livres worth of fur. It is confidently asserted that here once stood the first stone and mortar building ever erected on the continent of America—the home of father Marquette, who subsequently explored the waters of the Mississippi. The oldest church in Canada is still standing here, and is visited by every tourist who comes to the place. It was built in 1747. Charlevoix, in 1720, thus speaks of it; most of our geographers have placed a town here, where there never was but one French house and some huts of savages, who resorted hither annually to trade with the French when the navigation was free. The missionaries made use of the opportunity, and when, the trade was over, the merchants returned to their homes, the savages to their forests and the Gospel labours followed the last. Tadousac contains 2 churches, 4 stores, and 3 hotels. Salmon and other fish are plentiful in the waters here. Pop. (1901), 511.

VALLEYFIELD LA CITE OR the CITY OF SALABERRY DE VALLEYFIELD is beautifully situted on the south shore of the river St. Lawrence at the head of the Beauharnois canal and the foot of Lake St. Francis. This city was but a few years ago a hamlet; but it now stands as one of the most important manufacturing centres of the Province of Quebec. Incorporated as a town in 1874, the first valuation roll was made in 1875, and it showed a total of $489,380, with but a population of only 3,000 inhabitants, which has steadily increased until it has now reached about 10,000 inhabitants.

Valleyfield possesses a magnificent water power and many industries of all kinds may be safely built around the city as it offers the capitalist all advantages possible. The city is lit throughout by electricity, and has a first-class water works as well as good local fire and police brigades. On account of the unlimited water power, large mills and manufacturing establishments have been located here. Among these are the "Montreal Cotton Company" which has been the great factor in the rapid increase and prosperity of Valleyfield. It now ranks with the best manufactories of the kind on the continent. The Montreal Cotton Company was founded in 1874, when they built a mill containing about 25,000 spindles and 600 looms, with a small bleachery. In 1881-2, the mill had to be increased to 50,000 spindles and 1,350 looms. This proved to be inadequate, for in 1888, the business was so prosperous, that improved machinery had to be purchased, thus increasing the works to 80,000 spindles and 2,350 looms. The bleachery has also been enlarged and it now turns out about 120 tons of work weekly. Among the other most prominent industries may be found the butter factory, which is so well equipped that it supplies all the local dealers with the very best of print butter. There are two carriage works in Valleyfield and both are doing a rousing business. There are several hotels and stores, including two departmental stores, where extensive local trade is done. Several lumber mills, gasoline engine works and yacht motors are in operation. The Custom House have large premises in Valleyfield. It is also the judicial seat for the civil and criminal courts for the Judicial District of Beauharnois. It also contains the jail for the same district. Electric plant and water works have been erected and are very prosperous. Among the other most important establishments to be found, are those of Belanger & Frere, door and sash factory, the Casmel Trading Co., who are doing an extensive business in steam and smelting coal and oils; Cossette & Clermont, door and sash factory, Eusebe Dion departmental store, Edouard Hebert's establishwho are large importers, M. Laurin, dealer in furniture, J. A. Masson, importer, the N. A. Ostigny fur establishment and the Canadian Bronze Works. It is the seat of the Roman Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Salaberry de Valleyfield, and it has a fine Cathedral which is known as L'Eglise de Sainte Cecile de Salaberry de Valleyfield. The church was erected at a cost of $140,000. It also contains a handsome classical and commercial college, several schools, an orphanage or a home for the aged, a kindergarten for the youths, the convent of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, an Ecole Normal, under the tuition of the ladies of the same order, the Hospice Saint Vincent de Paul, erected at a cost of $35,000, also Anglican, Presbyterian and Methodist churches. The Gault Institute, which is situated in Bellerive Ward, is a fine stone structure. It is used as a high school, and every attention is given to education. There are several social clubs, among these being Le Cercle Emard and the Montreal Cotton Co.'s Institute. Both these clubs have been founded for youths, and periodicals of all kinds, including newspapers (French and English), and other attractions may be found in these institutions.

The cause of temperance is also largely advocated both by the Catholic and Protestant clergy.

There are several insurance offices in operation, including the Metropolitan Life and all are doing good business. "Le Progres de Valleyfield" is published weekly and the residents do not lack of newspapers, for all Montreal newspapers have agencies here. There are two banks here, i.e., the Hochelaga and La Banque Provinciale du Canada, and their respective returns are very satisfactory.

The city of Valleyfield has good railway connections to all points by either the Grand Trunk or the New York Central, and in summer, market and passenger boats travel to and from Montreal and intermediate points. The Bell Telephone and the Canadian Express as well as the Great North Western Telegraph Cos. have offices here. The celebrated Soulanges canal, which is described as the best canal now in operation in Canadian waters, passes but a few miles from Valleyfield.

Civic affairs are well managed by an able body of business men and the 34th annual financial statement just issued shows the following statistics: total amount of real estate $4,401,575.00; non assessable properties $756,100.00 $620,400.00 are exempted by by-laws for different periods; sinking fund required by law, one and two per cent; municipal borrowing power twenty per cent.; ratepayers 2,253.

The permanent city officials for the current term of office for 1910-1911 and 1912 are: L. J. Boyer, city clerk and clerk of the recorder's court; L. J. H. Langevin, treasurer; R. S. Joron, auditor; Numa E. Brossoit, recorder; W. F. Lemieux chief of police and fire brigade; Oscar Langevin, road inspector; Emmanuel May, superintendent of aqueduct; Paul Trottier, market clerk. W. MONTREAL COTTON CO., J. Lowe manager, Dufferin and Bellerive. This company is and has been the great factor in the rapid increase and prosperity of Valleyfield, and ranks with the largest and best manufactories of the kind on the continent. Without in the least overstepping the bounds of strict veracity, it may be stated that the productions of its looms are second to none in the world. The ground area of the substantially constructed mills—three in number—is 247,616 square feet, giving a combined capacity of 180,000 spindles, spinning carded and combed cotton yarns, and 4,600 looms. Water is the motive power, part of it being transmitted by electricity. Steady employment is given to 2,900 operatives. The manufacture includes linings, dress goods, upholstery goods and draperies of all grades, in nearly 900 varieties of shades and qualities, while the output reaches the enormous quantity of 9,360,000 pounds a year, which reckoning 2,000 pounds to the ton, is equal to 90 tons a week.
