Honourable Douglas Abbott Predicts Reasonably Heavy Consumer Buying

L.P.P. To Contest Local Constituency

Mrs. Louise Harvey, 93 Somerville avenue, was nominated Labour Progressive Party candidate to contact the St. Antoine—Westmount candidate constituency in the coming federal election, at a nomination meeting held in Victoria Hall last Tuesday evening.

The mother of three children, Mrs. Harvey was born in this city and received her early schooling in local schools. and is a graduate of Wellsley College.

In her speech of acceptance Mrs. Harvey said that she had a very keen sense of being a political pioneer, and that her nomination was a historic event, because it represented the first time in the St. Antoine-Westmount riding that the Labour-Progressive party had run a candidate.

She said that it was time that all the people of Westmount-St. Antoine—English, French, Jewish, Negro had a party and a candidate who would truly battle for them and added that she considered it the greatest honour of her life that she had been nominated as candidate by the Westmount organization of the Labour-Progressive Party.

Colour Films Are Shown At Stamp Club Meeting

At the Thursday, May 14 meeting of the Westmount Junior Stamp Club Mr. G. M. Desautels, Public Relations Officer of the Canada Post Office, showed the club two coloured film strips. One was entitled "Across Canada on Stamps" while the other was "How a Stamp is Made." The members of the club will tour the main Post Office on Saturday, May 23.

Aptitude Tests Are Valuable Says Speaker

The problem of placing the individual in a job where he is so happy that he feels like paying his employer an amusement tax at end of the day's work was the subject discussed by Mr. R. F. Clarke at the weekly dinner meeting of Westmount Rotary in Victoria Hall on Wednesday.

In illustrating the value of aptitude testing, the speaker related the story of a boy who had been destined by a family pattern to follow father's footsteps and who, as the result of attempting to follow this pattern, was a frustrated, unhappy youth, fully convinced that he was dumb in school, dumb at home, and dumb at business".

Simple aptitude testing revealed that the boy had strong mechanical potentalities and when position was found for the youth in a large garage which afforded scope for development of these traits an immediate change took place in the boy's outlook, his habits, with an increase in salary and a foreman's opinion that the new employee was "a bright boy".

Parents should remember, said Mr. Clarke that it does not always follow that because grandfather and father was an engineer, the son is also an engineer, it has been proven that a son with such a family background is often unhappy in such a vocation and happy as a poet.

St. George School Wins Approval

The majority of parents who have sent their children to St. George's School would repeat the experience "if they had to do it again."

This was the result of questionnaires sent last fall to former students and parents of students who attended the school anytime during the last 20 years.

The results were plotted and announced Tuesday night by Dr. John J. O. Moore, director of the McGill school of Social Work, at a St. George's School meeting.

It was reported that 68 per cent of former pupils and 76 per cent of the parents answered the questionnaire.

The majority of the pupils found that when they left St. George's and attended another school they were placed in grades where they expected to be, were ranked among the upper half of the class at the end of the year and did as well in the new school as at St. George's.

About 80 per cent of the parents thought St. George's had been helpful in the academic preparation of their children, that their social transition from one school to an other was an easy one and that the school contributed something to their children's social adjustment.

Finance Minister Gives Census Facts To Show Vast Needs Of Home Market

The Honourable Douglas Abbott, member for St. Antoine-Westmount, and present Minister of Finance was guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Canadian Retail Federation held at the Seigniory Club, Montebello on May 12.

The following extract is from the speech the member delivered at the meeting;

"You may recall that when I brought down the Budget in February, I drew attention to the fact that the most powerful and buoyant element in the economy during 1952 had been the growth in consumption expenditures.

After the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950, prices rose rapidly. There was a spurt of panic buying—but after that a good many Canadian consumers seemed to be prepared to hold back a bit and wait for easier prices.

The Korean War made necessary a considerable expansion of our defence programme. This meant a new call for goods and services from an economy already fully employed, and this additional pressure on the economy could easily have become the source of an inflationary spiral of prices and wages.

From many quarters, the government was urged to impose direct controls, but these would have been cumbersome to administer and onerous to bear, so we decided, instead, to strike at the root of the problem.

Policy Adopted

We adopted fiscal and monetary policies which were designed to increase production and finance the defence programme without inflation. Our fiscal and monetary policies were at the same time more equitable and more flexible than any effective system of direct controls could have been. They reduced the pressure on metals and on labour, and thus assisted the orderly development of new productive capacity. As new capacity came into operation, we were able to relax our post-Korean policies.

About a year ago, we were able to scrap the restrictions on retail instalment credit, and the chartered banks, who had agreed with the Bank of Canada that credit for the finance of many forms of expenditure ought to be limited, were able to abandon this credit ceiling.

Consumer Spending

I suggested in February that with income running well above the 1952 average, there was strong ground for assuming that there would be a high level of consumer demand throughout 1953. I see no reason to modify that judgment, but you will be aware that like other predictions of the economic weather, my judgment is merely a guest based on the best information we have, however, labour income has been rising steadily since February of 1952, and that seems to me to provide a sure base for predicting that 1953 will be a year of reasonably heavy consumer spending.

Census Facts

The behaviour of consumers during the past year suggests that there is still a very large unsatisfied demand for goods in Canada if the prices are set at what the buyer feels is a reasonable level. Indeed, the size of that reservoir of unsatisfied demand is perhaps not always realized, even in the trade. According to recently compiled information from the 1951 census, over half of all Canadian homes are without any electrical or mechanical refrigeration and without gas or electric stoves. It is perhaps easiest to measure the potential market in Canada in terms of hard goods, but I am sure that these figures are reliable signs of the potential demand in the country for a broad range of consumer goods. Potential demand, of course, does not necessarily mean immediate sales, but so long as consumers' income is sustained at high levels, the sales will follow.

Ottawa Paper Praises Drew

The appointment of Progressive Conservative leader George Drew to the Queen's Privy Council for Canada on the eve of his departure for Britain with Canada's official coronation party was received in political circles in Ottawa as a gracious tribute to his distinguished record of public service.

The Ottawa Journal said editorially:

"Forgotten it is sometimes or slured by political propaganda, that no other man in Parliament has had as long and varied a career of public service as Mr. Drew. Interrupted only by his World War I years, when he served in France, he has been successively alderman and mayor of Guelph, Master of the Rolls in Ontario, Leader of the Opposition and Premier of Ontario and Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons — an entire life devoted to administration and public service".

The Journal also pointed out that the appointment was in keeping with the honour bestowed on Mr. Drew when he and Mrs. Drew were included among the eight Canadians chosen as Her Majesty's "official guests" at the Coronation. The others are Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent, Deputy Prime Minister and Mrs. C. D. Howe and Chief Justice and Mrs. Rinfret.

No other man has ever been made a Privy Councillor while holding the position of Leader of the Opposition.

The Canadian Privy Council now consists of 75 members. Senior member, by date of appointment, is Sir Thomas White who took his oath of office in 1911.

Other well-known Progressive Privy Councillors are Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Hon. Earl Rowe and Hon. George Black.

Mr. Weingold represents an organization of some 25,000 members and devotes his full time to the activities of that organization. He is an authority on the subject of the care of mentally retarded children and has written several pamphlets and books on the various aspects of the problem. His topic for the meeting will be "A NEW WORLD for the MENTALLY RETARDED". The coming visit of Mr. Weingold should be of special interest to those groups and organizations of this city which are at present studying the problem of proper care and facilities for mentally retarded children. Admission is free.

Library News

May 1st was moving day once more, for many Montrealers — the biggest in some years, according to the newspapers.

Some of the newcomers to this city may not know about our free public library, a municipal service available to all who live in Westmount. The Library occupies a red brick building in Westmount Park, just east of Victoria Hall: it has departments for adults, teen-agers and children, and a fine collection of reference books for consultation within the building. Reading would seem like a pleasant occupation after the rigours of moving — and we have, books for every taste. Don't forget either our section on houses, household repairs, interior decoration and furniture: it is full of ideas for the "amateur."

Summer hours will soon come into effect at the Library and during June, the adult department will be open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and closed all day Saturday. During July and August, the same hours will prevail, with one exception: Wednesday, we will close at 6 p.m. The Library's winter working schedule amounts to sixty-eight and a half hours each week, which means that our staff work in shifts.

During the summer vacation period we reduce this weekly schedule to fifty-six and a half hours, so that we can still carry on normal library services during the staff holiday periods. Saturday, in the winter, is extremely busy, but with advent of fine, warm weather, becomes extremely quiet —hence our summer closing.

On duty at the Library during the past fortnight, have been three students from McGill University Library School, who hope to receive the degree of Bachelor of Library Service at the forthcoming Convocation.

This practice work is the final step in the training of the young librarian, and comes after four years in Arts or Science, and one year in specialized library training.

The Coronation is news these days and we would like to point out that the Library has on display, copies of the special issues of the Illustrated London News and similar papers. They cover the last three Coronations—Edward VII, George V and George VI — and with their many coloured illustrations and photographs, make for delightful browsing.

The Strange Case of Mr. Kelly

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

"Has anybody here seen Kelly?" We have heard that question put before, but the Kelly referred to in the song was an unidentified person, except that he was "from the Emerald Isle," and, as far as we know, he was never located and is still at large. The question is again posed in the title of an article in The Sunday Times (London) by George Schwartz, and it has reference to a real Kelly. He is described as, "A most immoral man. A knave, a rascally knave. For the past seven years, he has, without qualification, permit, licence or imprescriptible union card, been washing down paintwork at Westminster Hospital." Mr. Kelly is said to be the father of seven children and he will not wash paintwork much longer, in spite of his boast that he has learned all there is to know about paint washing and has earned only praise from the foreman painter.

The National Society of Painters has intervened and Mr. Kelly is on his way out of a job. The case against him has been presented by an official of the Society of Painters as follows:

"We must put our members first. Washing paintwork is in many ways a more skilled job than painting. Unskilled washing can lead to paint cracking, tidemarks and the removal of surface gloss. It is morally wrong for casual laborers to do this work while skilled men are out of work."

This leaves Mr. William Kelly no recourse but to retire gracefully and to fall back upon the Public Assistance. "Morally wrong!" exclaims Mr. Schwartz. "It does occur to me that the unnamed official of the National Society of Painters is himself doing a bit of blacklegging. What are his qualifications for entering the field of morals? Has he a degree in moral philosophy or only a surface gloss? Is he in succession to Plato, Aristotle, Hobbs, Locke, Kant, Rousseau, Hegel, Sidwick and T. H. Green?"

Mr. Schwartz is perhaps too hard on the union official, and he may be pushing him too far out of his depth in asking him if he has "explored the idea of unconscious rationality in a spontaneously self-ordering society." But Mr. George Schwartz is thinking about himself. He notes that the spring-cleaning season is at hand, and on this issue of paint washing he wants to know: "Do I or do I not at my age have to fetch step-ladders for irascible womenfolk?"

Unfortunately for George Schwartz, husbands are not unionized and are not protected by fixed rules as to what they should do or refuse to do in assisting wives in spring-cleaning or anything else. The rule is, "Let George do it", and he must not only fetch the step-ladder but wash the paint as well when he is told to—or else!

Mr. Schwartz is on safer ground when he gets away from domestic politics. "There is a popular belief," he says, "that it is the solitary man who goes off his head. On the contrary, it is the gregar-

DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH—Architect Roland Dumais, of Montreal, has made a broad stone chimney the focal point of the exterior appearance of this luxury-type bungalow. Full-length living room windows, a combination of exterior finishes and the boxed-in planting areas are other features which create eye-appeal.

All rooms are of generous dimensions. The living room, ample size in itself, receives added depth through the incorporation of a foyer in the plan. The dining room, which has its own outside entrance, adjoins a roomy, well-planned kitchen. Plenty of cupboard space, a breakfast nook and provision for good natural lighting add to the appeal of the kitchen layout.

A hall separates the living and sleeping sections of the house. In two bedrooms, full wall-length clothes closets are provided while the corner window is the highlight of the master bedroom which overlooks the front lawn.

The floor area of the house is 1,351 square feet while the cubic measurement is 27,890 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 51 feet by 26 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 200, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Untrammelled Freedom vs. National Welfare

The newly elected president of the United States is not an orator in the sense that Churchill is an orator, but in his first inaugural address he spoke with a conviction and good sense that lent an unchallengeable dignity to undramatic words.

"There is," he said, "in our affairs at home, a middle way between untrammelled freedom of the individual and the demands for the welfare of the whole nation . . . In every area of political action, free men must think before they can expect to win. In this spirit must we live and labor."

15,000 Witness Fireworks Show

The annual Benny Farm Victoria Day Fireworks display catered to an estimated 15,000 persons, police reported this week.

Visitors crowded the Benny Farm area south of Sherbrooke street west from early evening until the last sky rocket exploded at the end of the night's activity.

It was the only official fireworks display in Montreal.

As usual invited guests included the Quebec Society for Crippled Children, the McKay Institute for the Deaf, the Friendly Home, Lachine Children's Home, and the Military Hospital at St. Anne's.

The Strange . . .

ious man who goes crazy. Any joint action by more than a dozen persons, except for purposes of conviviality, tends to become an insensate conspiracy against the rest of humanity . . . No single individual wants to inflict hardship or injustice on Mr. Kelly, but 70,000 individuals in association would put him on the street." Mr. Schwartz cites the case of Robinson Crusoe who in isolation behaved as a rational being. "He didn't go about erecting obstacles so that he could trip himself up. But I wonder how long he would have got on amicably with Man Friday. The time would have come when he started bawling him out: 'Put that spanner down, you blackleg — in more senses in one. If I see you touching that tool box again I'll throw you off the island'."

That may be good humor, but I'm afraid it will not be appreciated in union quarters where the individual, within or out of bounds, has no separate identity or free will apart from the mass. We are coming to a time when society as a whole will be organized into a system of closed shops, and the only hope for Mr. Kelly is to organize a Paintwashers Union.

The Taxpayers Pay

Bureaucrats Just Can't Economize Citizen Has No Choice

Dr. Earl McGrath, the United States Commissioner of Education, has resigned because of a 10 per cent cut in his agency's budget. He said the cut from $88,0000,000 to $80,000,000 makes it "impossible for anybody to serve education in this country through this office."

This seems to be a typical attitude of the bureaucrats in Washington and in Ottawa. They find it "impossible to economize." Yet the individuals who support them are always doing it in one way or another, often because of tax increases.

What would happen to a U.S. or Canadian taxpayer, who found it "impossible" to pay higher taxes, therefore tendered his resignation to the Revenue Department?

Among the things the U.S. Government can do without is the top-heavy staff of its overseas informaion services. A total of 830 officials, most of them employed in "Voice of America" shortwave services, have been dropped from the federal payroll for reasons of economy.

Ottawa meanwhile isn't doing anything about its proportionately top-heavy and no less dispensable CBC International Service. The only conclusion that can be drawn from all this is that Washington means what it says when it talks about cutting the cost of government services, while Ottawa doesn't.

CORONATION III

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
Trinity Memorial Church

There is one definite change made in the Service for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. In the Coronation of King George VI the Holy Bible was presented to the King after the crowning.

Now the presentation has been moved to an earlier part of the Service, immediately after the taking of the Oath. A further change is that the Bible is presented to the Queen by the Moderator of the Church of Scotland instead of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

It is the Anointing, along with the Communion Service itself, that marks the Coronation as a religious ceremony. But the secular side of the whole ceremony is also emphasized, and yet given a religious significance — the secular is consecrated by the spiritual.

After the Queen has been anointed and has been robed in the Colobium Sindonis and the Close Pall of cloth of gold, with a Girdle of the same material, she returns to her seat. Then the Spurs of Knighthood are presented to her and returned by her to the Altar. It takes us back to the days of the first Elizabeth. When Sir Francis Drake returned from one of his exploits his friends asked that he be made a Peer of the Realm. The Queen replied: "What more can I do for him? I have already knighted him."

Then the Queen receives the Sword, rises and offers it upon the Altar. The peer who carried it redeems it for 100 shillings, and for the rest of the ceremony carries it naked before the Queen. The Armills, or bracelets, are then put on the Queen's wrists with greater ceremony than in previous coronations, with these words (in parts): "Receive the bracelets of sincerity and wisdom . . . and also for symbols and pledges of that bond which unites you with your Peoples." Then the Queen is robed in the Robe Royal and Stole Royal with these words: "Receive this Imperial Robe, and the Lord your God endue you with knowledge and wisdom, with majesty and with power from on high: the Lord clothe you with the robe of righteousness, and with the garments of salvation."

Then follows the investiture with the Orb surmounted with the Cross; the Orb signifying the earth and the Cross that which alone can override earthly things. The Archbishop's words are: "Receive this Orb set under the Cross, and remember that the whole world is subject to the Power and Empire of Christ our Redeemer."

Then the Archbishop puts the "Ring of England" on the fourth finger of the Queen's right hand with the words (in part): "Receive the Ring of kingly dignity, and the seal of Catholic Faith." The Sceptre is next presented with the words: "Receive the Royal Sceptre, the ensign of kingly power and justice;" then shall he deliver the Rod with the Dove into the Queen's left hand and say: "Receive the Rod of equity and mercy. Be so merciful that you be not too remiss; so execute justice that you forget not mercy. Punish the wicked, protect and cherish the just, and lead your people in the way wherein they should go."

A highly successful Informal Dance brought the current season's activities to a close. Over thirty couples attended the LagBa Omer Dance which was held in the Recreation Room.

The Committee in charge of arrangements included Philip Greenberg, the President; Art Levitt, Social Chairman; Michael Cape, Publicity Chairman; Mary Unterberg, Mary Miller and David Shapiro. Valuable assistance was given to the youth in planning and conducting this event by Mrs. Fred Packer, Chairman of the Adult Committee on Youth; Mrs. E. Farewell Testimonial

The Board of Trustees announce with regret their acceptance of the resignation of Mr. Samuel J. Leibowitz, the Educational Director, and of Mrs. Leibowitz, Headmistress of the Foundation School. In view of the many years of service which they have rendered to the Congregation since their arrival in Montreal in 1937, and as an expression of the esteem in which they are held by the Community, a Farewell Restimonial Dinner has been planned in their honour. This function will take place in the Synagogue's Community Hall on Monday, June 8, at 6.30 p. m.

Michael Gordon Olenik Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolfe will this Sabbath morning be called to the Reading of the Torah in celebration of his Bar Mitzvah.

Distinctive Memorial Medal

Among the honors to be distributed at the Graduation Exercises on May 28th, there will be awarded the "Rabbi Herman Abramowitz Memorial Medal". This was established several years ago by Mrs. Judith Abramowitz Wacksman as a personal tribute to the memory of her beloved father, the late revered spiritual leader of the Congregation.

This award is the highest ranking honor in both Hebrew and Religious Studies. It also serves to symbolize the ideals and aspirations of the Hebraic-Religious educational system, which was moulded by the late Rabbi, whose ministry of almost half a century exemplified devotion to Torah and Hebraic learning.

Christian Science

"Soul and body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

This Lesson-Sermon teaches that God is the Soul of man and the universe, creating and including all identities and individualities; which is contrary to the more popular theory of many separate souls inhabiting perishable physical forms.

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians: "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

Bible citations include the following from Psalms: "My soul cleaveth unto the dust: quicken thou me according to thy word . . . Those that be planted in the house of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of our God."

Correlative passages from the denominational text book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following: "Our theories make the same mistake regarding Soul and body that Ptolemy made regarding the solar system. They insist that soul is in body and mind therefore tributary to matter. Astronomical science has destroyed the false theory as to the relations of the celestial bodies, and Christian Science will surely destroy the greater error as to our terrestrial bodies. Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit."

Better To Wash Up When Cleaning Wall

When you wash or paint a wall, do you mount a stepladder and start at the top? If so, you'd better mend your ways.

A tip from the General Services Administration coincides with advice from experienced wall painters. A wise housewife will start at the bottom!

This is not so unreasonable as it sounds. When you wash a wall from the bottom up, you just easily and neatly clean up the muss as you go along, never adding muddy trickles to soiled surfaces and never accumulating more dirt in streaks. If your lower surfaces are entirely clean as you operate on upper wall areas, dripping sponges will do less damage and any small trickles can be wiped off at once, with no remaining stains.

Similarly when you paint on an upward spiral there is little danger that too much thinning will occur at the top in contrast with heavy paint surfaces due to accumulation of downward dripping.

As much as $60 worth of gold has been recovered from one pound of dirt in a daily "housecleaning" chore at the Malton, Ont. plant of the Sheaffer Pen Company of Canada Ltd. Gold filings to the tune of $11,000 worth annually are recovered by burning off, in a special furnace, plant dust carefully collected in daily vacuummings of floors, walls and machines.

Pick Practical Fibers

The fashions that can go into a traveler's luggage and come out looking crisp and fresh are likely to be in one of the new and highly practical man-made fibers.

The fashion possibilities inherent in these fibers are tremendous. It means something for everyone: coats in lightweight fleece and herringbone, duvetyn and satin negligees, pleated winter-weight jerseys, functional shantung suits and dresses, bridal satins with a gleaming lustre.

Among the newest of the man-made fibers is orlon. Its makers claim that in addition to adapting itself to fashion, it has light weight, wrinkle resistance and easy washability. The convenience of these characteristics to the traveler, to the paycheck girl, to any woman on a limited budget, is obvious.

Daytime dress (left) is designed by Herbert Sondheim in an all-orlon pongee. It has the appearance of a fine silk pongee and is, its makers claim, both washable and wrinkle-resistant. A simple but elegant shirtwaist dress, it has natural shoulders, cuffed, bracelet-length sleeves and a tailored collar. Skirt is narrow.

Sports separates (right) are in basket weave orlon-and-wool. This is a wooly-type fabric that is washable and crush-resistant. Skirt pleats are permanent and remain sharp through laundering and packing.

Make it Yourself by Pauline Roy

If you would like to have a leaflet with directions for making this pretty CROCHETED BLOUSE in sizes 12, 14 and 16, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Make It Yourself Department of this paper and ask for Leaflet No. E-2761.

Mild spring days are here again reminding us that summer follows quickly and we must think about clothes for holiday wear. Gone are the days when it was necessary to pack a trunk for the usual "two weeks with pay". Instead, holiday wardrobes can be easily packed in one or two bags. The reason for this adds up to modern living. Women are busier travelling farther and faster than in previous years. Airplane travel has done much to cut down on luggage, and what is more noticeable, it has influenced our choice of all year-round styles. We can climb on a plane in Canada during a cold spell and be comfortably settled in a dazzling sunny resort in a matter of hours. The weatherman plays tricks and often we read in winter of chilly days in Florida and snow in California. New fabrics are so easy to care for that lighter colors are worn all year and not just confined to hot weather months. The effect of all this is younger, gayer costumes, and more women than ever are encouraged to make their own clothing.

Holiday Clothing

You'll find in your pattern catalogues some ensembles that have been designed to give two or three costumes from matching pieces. A sheath dress made with little jacket, overskirt panels, scarves, etc. can be changed about in such a way to give you a tailored dress for daytime or a pretty full skirt for dancing. Versatile costumes such as this can combine plain and printed fabrics for extra duty wear. For holiday garments choose materials that are wrinkle resistant to give you a minimum of ironing and pressing. The shorter length evening dresses seem to be favored for resort wear. Jersey, chiffon, nylon and summer cotton are all suitable for glamor occasion. Don't be afraid of color. There is a rich, gay shade becoming to everyone, and color adds so much to your holiday mood. A good basic suit and an assortment of blouses helps to stretch your costume changes. Stoles are attractive for cover-ups and evening wraps. And, don't forget to add a cardigan jacket that is sewn from some soft material or knitted in soft, pure wool. This sweater can be worn all day long and into the evening if it is planned to harmonize with the rest of your wardrobe.

Crocheted Lace Blouse

If you like to wear something utterly feminine, then you will enjoy having a lustrous crocheted cotton blouse. You can make it in sparkling white to wear with your suit or in a delicate pastel to wear with summer skirts. Rich, attractive crocheted blouses are easy to make and are practical to wear.

Coronation Guides Entertained Locally Prior To Sailing

Ten Girl Guides, from different parts of Canada, came to Montreal to sail for Britain to be present at the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth on June 2nd. After lunch, they went to St. Joseph's Oratory, and to the Wax Museum, then to the CBC Building, where they saw some programs being rehearsed. Friday morning, the party sailed on the Empress of Scotland. Miss Eileen Murphy, District Captain for the Montreal West District, and Captain of the 83rd Company, was one of those sailing.

On board the ship, the Guides were presented with blazers, having the crest of the province from which they came. It was announced that the Guides will have a special luncheon while in London, and will be presented to Her Majesty the Queen..

Your School, Your Child, and You

By Ann McCann

How the High School May Provide For Students Having Reading Difficulties

The high school teacher may logically approach the reading situation by giving entering pupils two tests: a mental test to determine the intelligence quotients and a reading test to discover the reading levels of the various pupils. Students who show evidence of reading difficulties will require individual help. An attempt to diagnose the causes of failure should be made at once.

First the possibility of physical handicap should be investigated. Physical handicaps that might be present should be taken care of by the schol nurse, who can see the parents and make the necessary recommendations. A student must be healthy to succeed in school.

The pupil whose reading problems are caused by other than physical difficulties should be given individual instruction in a separate class. The teacher of this class should attempt to discover the cause of each child's reading difficulty. Previous records sent from the elementary schools will be most helpful in this diagnosis. From these records a picture of the child's reading problems from the first grade through junior high school can be obtained. This information and additional data obtained by the teacher make it possible to determine whether the student's difficulty lies in correctable deficiencies in vocabulary, comprehension, speed, interest, attitude, or reading skills, or in other social or emotional adjustments which he must be helped to overcome.

The teacher must then find out to which kind of help each student will respond. This of course depends upon the individual child. Some will respond to one kind while others will show no effect from its application. Individual instruction is of primary importance. Hence the class must be small enough to provide for this. A variety of reading materials suited to the interests and needs of the various students should be provided in this classroom. Each student should be encouraged to choose books which appeal to him. This will help to stimulate his interest in reading. The development of a real interest in reading is essential to the improvement of reading ability. Newspapers and magazines, as well as books from the library, furnish interesting materials. The students can share their reading experiences with others on the material they have read. To know they can read with understanding and give purposeful information to other helps give students a feeling of security and success. Reading becomes much more meaningful to them, and it must be meaningful for them if they are to want to learn to read. The exchange of ideas through class discussions improves the interest students have in reading and in acquiring information.

Opportunity should be given students to express in writing information obtained from reading. Reading classes are part of the language arts program. Sentence construction, punctuation, and spelling are integral parts of the program. Retarded readers have difficulty with all the language arts, and the teacher of the special classroom should develop ability in all these fields.

A close check should be kept on the progress of the individual student. Various types of tests should be given when the need arises. The teacher should not only evaluate the students' work regularly but should also help him to evaluate himself. Each student may keep charts and graphs to note his daily progress. After students begin to be successful in their reading, they are eager to see the progress they are making.

Children who have had repeated reading failures often lack interest in school as well as in subject matter. Every effort should be made to re-interest these children not only in reading but in school as well. They should be encouraged to take part in school activities and to feel that they are a real part of the school. The reading teacher will find her students much more ready and more able to learn if their interest in school itself is rekindled.

Four Clubs Sponsor Educational Project To Feature 50 Varied Displays, Demonstrations, Fashion Shows

Four of the largest women's service clubs in the Montreal area, with a combined membership of 1500, will co-ordinate their efforts for the first time to sponsor "M' Lady Fair Fashions and Canadian Home Makers' Exposition" for a complete week, November 16 to 20, in the Mount Royal Hotel.

The entire ninth floor of the hotel is reserved for this educational project, and it is estimated that an average of 2,500 will attend nightly. Plans have been approved for some 50 varied displays and demonstrations, identifying nationally-known products. In addition, fashion shows will be presented nightly by Henry Morgan and Co. Ltd., under the direction of Mrs. Eve Trill, fashion director.

The four clubs, combining facilities to make this a truly outstanding event, are the Montreal Women's Club, Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club, Town of Mount Royal Women's Community Club and St. Lambert Women's Club. Each club will act as host on a separate evening and will retain the proceeds from the sales of tickets to further philanthropic and community welfare work.

The Montreal Women's Club sponsored this project alone last year and attracted such widespread, favorable attention that the three other women's groups suggested they unite and plan a more extensive exposition and fashion show. Plans this year also make provision for valuable door prizes to be drawn for every evening, promoting well-known Canadian products, including TV sets, washing machines and women's wear.

The project will be co-ordinated by Miss E. R. Nugent, assisted by Mrs. H. Shoobridge, Montreal Women's Club; Mrs. J. M. Purcell, Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club; Mrs. F. H. Cregeen, Town of Mount Royal Women's Community Club; Mrs. G. A. Smith, St. Lambert Women's Club.

On Fashion Menu

Would you say this hat trim is a peach of an idea? The bonnet itself is a bright blue. Fruit and vegetables trimming is seen on several millinery creations from Rome, Italy.

Fashion Hints

Simple and easy to wear, yet blessed with an important air is this outfit that has the appearance of a coat and dress ensemble. The low round neck and short sleeves are bordered with white and navy polka dots for a crisp contrast to the navy shantung of the frock which buttons from top to hem. A smart notion indeed is that the dress when opened reveals an underskirt of polka dotted print for a redingote effect.

White cotton curtains being tubbed for the first time should first be soaked in cold water for two hours to remove the dressing. If the curtains have been washed before, such a soaking will remove the starch from a previous laundering.

Humble Scuttle Takes New Roles

Some hardware shops still carry galvanized coal scuttles, though there's much less use for them in these days of more convenient oil heat. However, like many another article of an earlier day, they are being put to uses far removed from their original function, says a reader.

Some young friends of mine, starting housekeeping on the proverbial shoestring, needed a kindling container for their fireplace but couldn't afford to pay much for it. Then one day, while making other purchases in a hardware store, they chanced to spy a coal scuttle. "Why not paint it and use it for the fireplace," said they. So they bought it, washed it with vinegar and painted it a warm yellow to harmonize with the other furnishings of the room.

And, not long ago, I saw one of these coal scuttles serving another useful purpose — as a magazine holder in an informal living room. In this case, it had been painted a dull black and decorated with a simple stenciled design in gold and dull red and, believe it or not, it added a smart note to the room.

In case a new one isn't available, these scuttles can usually be picked up at country auctions and in secondhand shops anywhere. Wher cleaned and painted, they serve their purpose as well as new ones.

Rip In Sheer Curtain May Be Camouflaged

Laundering curtains and draperies sometimes seems a delicate or even difficult job. Here are a few hints which may make it easier the next time:

If a sheer curtain has a hole or rip that would be noticeable if mended, it may be camouflaged this way: Dip a small piece of the sheer fabric in a cold starch solution and iron it onto the back of the curtain hole.

A few tablespoons of ammonia in a tub of rinse water brightens dull colors.

Use salt as a color fixative only if absolutely necessary to stop color from running because salt is alkaline and causes hard water to scum, preventing the formation of good, frothy suds.

Three sheer curtains may be dried at once on the stretcher, one over the other.

Use warm water for sprinkling. Smooth and roll curtains firmly so dampness will penetrate evenly. Never sprinkle silk or synthetic materials.

All cotton curtains, except soft woven fabrics, are improved by a little starch. It prevents a flimsy look and makes them slightly more dirt-resistant.

Reddy Auxiliary Reports On Year, Re-Elects Mrs. M. B. Mackenzie

Mrs. M. B. Mackenzie was re-elected president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Reddy Memorial Hospital at the third annual meeting, held recently in the Auditorium of the Y.W.C.A. A cheque for $2,000 was presented to Col. Wilfrid Bovey, M.L.A., president of the hospital, to be used to buy new hospital equipment.

In her report, Mrs. Mackenzie said "we have come a long way in a short time. From a handful of women timidly gathered to discuss the possibility of a women's auxiliary for the Reddy Memorial Hospital, we have grown to a flourishing organization with approximately 120 members. Three years ago we were thrilled when we had our first ten dollars in the bank, now we are glibly talking about a bank balance of several thousand dollars."

Treasurer's Report

Following Mrs. Mackenzie's report, the treasurer, Mrs. Maurice Berne reported total receipts for the year as $3,663 and disbursements $1,566 leaving a balance of $3,600. Proceeds from the recently held Theatre-Fair, reported by the convener Mrs. H. E. Devitt, were $2,500.

Mrs. H. L. McKee convener of the sewing committee reported the work of her group.

Miss Isabel Hurst was made the first Honorary Life Member of the auxiliary. Miss Hurst was one of the first members when the auxiliary was organized, and up until last winter never missed a meeting or a Wednesday afternoon sewing.

The sudden death of the honorary president, the late Mrs. J. S. Cameron was noted. At the time of her death several donations were sent to the auxiliary in her memory, thus starting a Memorial Fund. At a future date this money will be allocated for some hospital need.

Officers Elected

Mrs. J. D. Fieldman, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers for the year 1953-54, as follows:—

Honorary President, Mrs. Roy Campbell; Honorary Vice-Presidents, Mrs. C. F. Shearer and Mrs. Wilfrid Bovey; President, Mrs. Malcolm B. MacKenzie; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. J. C. Schwartzman and Mrs. H. E. Devitt; Recording Secretary, Mrs. J. C. Dickison; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. R. Goldner; Treasurer, Mrs. Maurice Berne; Membership Chairman, Mrs. P. Eibel; Program Chairman, Dr. Margaret Kunstler; Publicity Conveners, Mrs. J. Christie and Mrs. Hugh H. Johnston; Social Chairmen, Mrs. E. Copland and Mrs. Leo Vezina; Telephone Convener, Mrs. Fraser Gurd; Travelcart, Mrs. Oscar Nutik and Mrs. N. Grossbaum; Sewing Conveners, Mrs. H. McKee and Mrs. W. Gamble, and Librarian, Miss Ellinor Brown.

$2,000 GIFT: Mrs. M. B. Mackenzie, who was re-elected president of the Reddy Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary recently, is pictured as she presents a cheque for $2,000 to Col. Wilfrid Bovey, M.L.A., President of the hospital. The money will be used to acquire new hospital equipment.

Increase In Bursaries At The McGill University School Of Social Work

Dr. John J. O. Moore, Director of the McGill University School of Social Work, announced today extenson of bursaries available for first and second year students for the coming year at the McGill School of Social Work. There are eight new bursaries of $500 each for first year students now available as a result of Mental Health Grants, as well as six bursaries of $900 each for second year students, an increase of two additional bursaries for the coming year in this category. By Federal-Provincial grant, four $100 bursaries are available for second year students, increasing by two the number of bursaries in this group.

Two Memorial Funds have recently been established — the J. A. Klein Memorial Fund, which provides a bursary as a memorial to the late J. A. Klein, O.B.E., and the Celia Amdur Isaacs Memorial Fund, providing a bursary from a foundation of $5,000 established by I. Sydney Isaacs in memory of Celia Amdur Isaacs.

It was further pointed out that Canadian students applying to the McGill School of Social Work may arrange with the province of their residence for help with training. In addition, the McGill School of Social Work is provided two bursaries directly by the Province of Saskatchewan, at $900 each for first year students or at $1100 each for second year students.

Dr. Moore stated that there is increased recognition of the need for professional social workers throughout Canada, especially with the extension of federal and provincial welfare programs. Urgent requests for trained workers to fill excellent positions are more numerous than at any previous time.

The McGill School of Social Work, said Dr. Moore, is currently training students of social work on United Nations scholarships, and an expansion of this program is being considered for next year in view of the need of professionally trained leadership for under-industrialized countries.

Friends of the McGill School of Social Work have also provided facilities for loans for needy students, through the Southam Loan Fund and the Social Work Alumni Fund. Other bursaries are provided through the Maritime Women's Club the Municipal Chapter of the I.O.D.E., the Ministry of Welfare and Youth of the Province of Quebec, and McGill University.

Interested candidates with an undergraduate degree are welcome to contact the School for an exploratory interview.

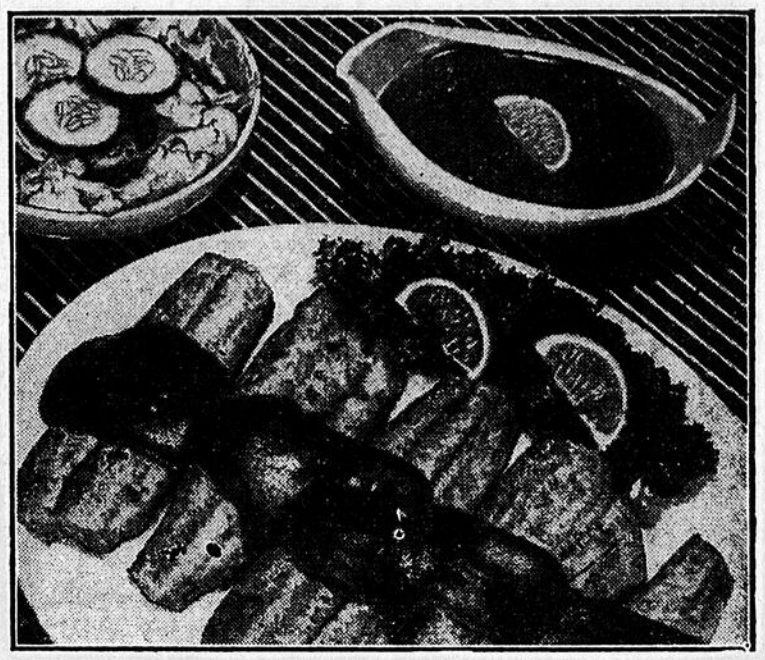
Fish Dressed Up In Tomato Sauce Is Different

The French had a word for it about fish: "It's the sauce that makes the fish." One fish sauce to sing about—tomato soup pointed up with lemon juice and mustard.

What could be easier than making this simple blend! And you'll say, "What could be better," once you've tasted! Pour sauce over a platter of golden broiled fish. Sit back and prepare for a fish feast.

Fish glorified with sauce comes into its rightful place in Springtime. A good time to remind yourself of all the advantages of these gifts from ocean and lake. Fish can be simply prepared, to taste like the fanciest fixings. And usually your market carries a kind or two at a bargain price. So plan a fish platter for dinner tonight. The Royal Red Tomato Sauce gives a deluxe touch.



Broiled Fish in Royal Red Sauce

1½ pounds flounder fillets or other white fish
Salt and pepper
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons prepared mustard

Brush filets with melted butter; sprinkle with salt, pepper. Broil about 15 minutes or until done and golden brown; thick fillets may need to be turned and broiled on other side. Serve on hot platter with sauce made this way; Blend together soup, lemon juice, and mustard; heat. Pour over fish.

Serve Frozen Vegetables Tonight For Dinner, Quick, Easy To Prepare

Much of the color for meals comes from vegetables, and in planning menus it is a good idea to consider which red, which green and which yellow vegetable will add beauty to the over-all picture of the dinner table.

If you haven't time to cook vegetables from the colorful rows upon rows of fresh ones in your grocery store, there are always plenty of quick-frozen ones in grocery refrigerators. Each package has a printed chart giving the cooking time for that particular food, and then you have an opportunity to provide whatever sauce you like for your vegetable. If you are using one white vegetable, an attractive platter may be made by combining it with a colored vegetable. A cauliflower bordered by bright green peas is suggested. It is served with butter and paprika (giving a needed touch of red to the picture). This is particularly good served with fish or fried eggplant.

Il your would like to substitute wilted spinach for a salad at dinner some evening, you can make it with frozen spinach defrosted but not cooked. By adding crisp bits of bacon, onion and vinegar you get a winning flavor.

Corn and Celery

1 can cream-style corn (No. 2)
1½ tablespoons sugar
½ cup finely chopped celery
Salt and pepper

Combine corn and seasonings with the sugar; heat slowly. Just before serving add celery.

Almost any canned vegetable may be fixed up with the addition of the raw rings of sweet Bermuda onions. Carrots, beans, beets, peas, asparagus, etc. may be heated, buttered and seasoned and then served with onion rings. Use this recipe for a basic one, substituting any vegetable you desire for the lima beans.

Wilted Spinach

1 package frozen spinach
3-4 strips bacon
¼ cup diced onion
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Defrost and drain spinach (if whole leaf spinach is used, chop). Fry bacon crisp; remove from pan and crumble over spinach. Add onion. Add vinegar, sugar and salt to 3-4 tablespoons of the hot bacon fat. Bring to boil and pour boiling hot over the spinach. Serve immediately. Makes 3-4 servings.

Another short-cut method of cooking vegetables is in your pressure cooker and the directions for time and pressure came with it. If you'd like to serve onions with a Brazil nut garnish that looks and tastes extra special, peel onions and cook (it takes only 5-7 minutes in pressure cooker). Mix one tablespoon sugar in your melted butter for sauce and coat onions with this. Sprinkle with sliced Brazil nuts and serve.

If you have fresh green beans, why not serve them in bacon bundles for a change? Cook them in your pressure cooker (it takes 3-4 minutes). In the meantime cook bacon until it's almost done but can still be bent. Arrange beans in bundles with a strip of bacon around each bundle. Fasten bacon with toothpicks.

Still a third short-cut to vegetable cookery is the use of canned vegetables which you "dress up" before serving. Any one of your favorite sauces may be added to these canned vegetables which you drain before adding to the sauce. Or, you may add spices, onion, garlic or any other new taste that you like. A simple shortcut is to add diced raw celery to another vegetable just before serving it hot. If you like this added to corn try this dish.

Lima Beans with Onion Rings

1 can lima beans (No. 2)
1 large Bermuda onion
1 tablespoon butter
Salt and pepper

Simmer liquid drained from the beans until it is reduced about one-half. Season and add beans. Add butter. Peel and cut onion in rings. Serve in silver or crystal dish with rings scattered over top of beans.

Still another quickie way to prepare vegetables is by using canned soup for your sauce. Here is an easy method of scalloping potatoes that you have boiled in their jackets earlier and peeled.

Scrumptious Scalloped Potatoes

5 cups sliced, cooked potatoes
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon minced onion
Dash pepper
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 can cream of mushroom soup (or celery, if you prefer)

Stir soup well; blend in milk and heat. Add salt, pepper and onion. Arrange layer of potatoes in greased 2-quart casserole; pour on half sauce; repeat layers. Dot with butter; cover and bake 30 minutes at 375 F. Serves 6.

le mot juste

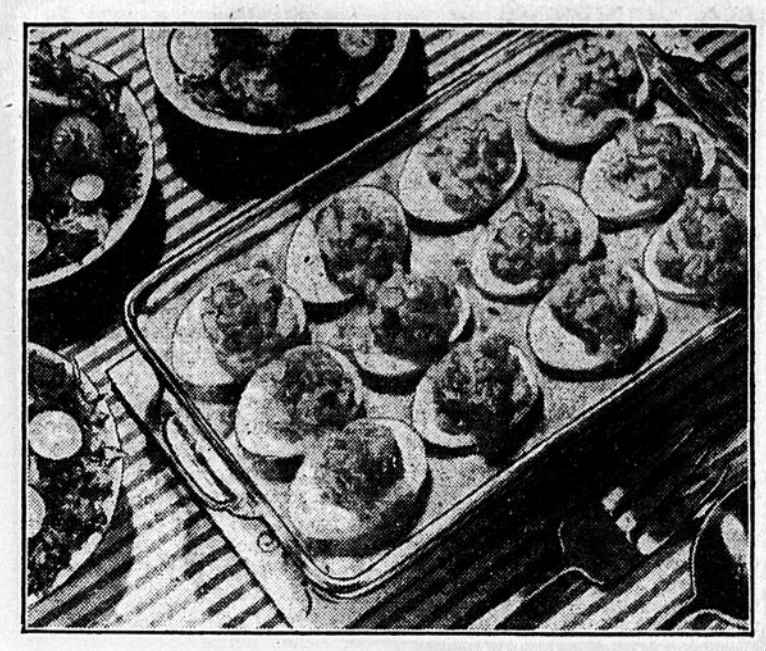
"I really do believe that I was very funny, at least I know that I laughed heartily myself." So wrote Charles Dickens about his own performance on the stage in Montreal.

Such kindly criticism, however, is seldom remembered as long as the words of reviewers who have dipped their pens in acid. The late Heywood Broun, for instance, who described a certain actor as "the worst in the world", and got sued for libel. Next time he simply noted that the thespian was "not up to his usual standard". Then there was Alexander Woollcott who wrote that one play "left a taste of lukewarm parsnip juice".

Speaking of taste recalls a name that is also important in theatrical history. The Theatre Royal, Montreal's first real playhouse, was built where Bon Secours Market now stands by a company headed by the first John Molson in 1825. In 1839 his son was the sole proprietor. Beneath its Doric colonnade Montreal playgoers gathered to see distinguished actors from across the sea. Charles Dickens acted there in May of 1842, and a Parisian company sang the latest operas.

When Dickens played in "High Life Below Stairs" the reputation of Molson's Ale was already 56 years old. Apparently it was then "up to its usual standard" and has been ever since. For, through the years since 1786, the phrase used by most discerning critics of ale has been "Make Mine Molson's". Today these immortal words are used by more people in this province than ask for all other brands combined.

Eggs Are Palatable Baked In Mushroom Sauce



For lunch on a May day, spread the sunny atmosphere at your table. How? With peppy deviled eggs, baked in a sauce of cream of mushroom soup.

This is a luncheon dish you can practically fix while you prepare breakfast. That is, you can cook the yolks with zippy seasonings. Some tips on the eggs will help to give best results. Have the water simmering instead of boiling as eggs cook. Otherwise they may be tough. Cool the cooked eggs quickly by running cold water over them; this helps prevents yolks turning dark. And cool eggs are easier to shell and to cut.

Eggs baked in a mushroom sauce, with a generous sprinkling of cheese have real melt-in-your-mouth flavor. A crisp salad of greens, radishes and cucumber accompanies the eggs nicely.

Baked Deviled Eggs With Mushroom Sauce

6 hard-cooked eggs, cut in half lengthwise
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash salt and pepper
Dash Worcestershire sauce
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup milk

Blend egg yolks, mayonnaise, mustard, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce; stuff into egg whites. Place eggs in a small shallow baking pan. Blend soup and milk; pour over eggs; sprinkle cheese on top. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) about 30 minutes or until lightly browned, 6 servings.

British forces fighting in Korea will soon have a new medal to pin on their tunics. The obverse side, top, bearing a likeness of Queen Elizabeth II, was done by Mrs. Mary Gillick, while the reverse side, below, showing Hercules slaying the Hydra, was created by Carter Preston.

Linen Closet Straps Keeps Towels Tidy

Fabric straps to go around the piles of sheets and towels in the linen closet are easy to make, and so useful. They keep the piles so neat. All women like them but they seldom have time to make them for themselves.

To make these straps, you will need: White cotton belting, 1¾ inches wide; white bias tape; white elastic, ¼ to ½ inch wide; colored embroidery cotton.

Cut belting about 14 inches long. This is the average length, but you can make it longer or shorter, according to the size of the pile it is to go around. Cut the ends to a "V" shape so they will not ravel, or bind them with bias tape. Two inches in from one end of the tape, sew a piece of elastic tape around the belting, attaching it on one side. This makes it form a kind of loop to hold the opposite end securely.

A thumb tack helps when hanging freshly laundered ruffled curtains. Draw the selvage side taut with the window frame and place the thumb tack under the tie-back.

For Swifter Sewing

All sewing materials are still expensive, so it pays to take care of them. These hints will help you to avoid waste:—

1.—Prevent needles getting rusty by running them through a piece of flannel and then putting them into a tin box with tight-fitting lid.

2.—Thread reels of silk or cotton on to a knitting needle and pass the points of this through either side of a cardboard box. They will never become entangled and lengths can be drawn off as required.

3.—When pulling out tacking threads re-wind them on to an empty reel for use again.

4.—Never use cutting-out scissors for any other purpose and keep them rolled in a piece of flannel or baize to protect their cutting edges.

5.—After using tape, binding, braid or ribbon, wind up carefully again and run a small pin into the loose end to prevent unravelling.

ROMANTICALLY UNITED: The co-stars of "King Solomon's Mines," Stewart Granger and Deborah Kerr, are romantically reunited in the new Technicolor version of "The Prisoner of Zenda," which opens Saturday at the Monkland Theatre.

WEDDED BLISS: Robert Taylor and Eleanor Parker, as the young couple of "Above and Beyond," new M-G-M drama which tells the love story behind a billion dollar secret. This excellent film opens a week's run at the Westmount Theatre on Sunday.

HOLLYWOOD, May 21 — In a few weeks Canadians and Americans will watch a queen crowned through the miracle of video. Actually, however, we'll be several hours behind the news. The event will have to be filmed, then rushed to waiting airplanes and developed out over the Atlantic while the planes are en route to New York. In Manhattan the pictures will be put on all major TV networks.

It won't be long, however, before such methods will be considered outmoded, for new electronic developments now permit the beaming of bisual broadcasts all around the world.

About the only thing holding up worldwide TV transmission is the little question of who'll pay the bills. Three methods of transoceanic transmission are underwater coaxial cable; microwave relay stations on Labrador, Baffin Island, Greenland, Iceland and ships at sea; or repeater stations in blimps which would boost the signal from station to station until it crossed the ocean.

Such a network to circle the globe would cost close to $100,000,000, according to present estimates.

There's little doubt that sooner or later television will go everywhere radio now travels. The United Nations visualizes an international video hookup which might promote world understanding more quickly and thoroughly than anything presently feasible.

Walter Watts of the Radio Corporation of America says the key to new long-range telecasting is an invention called a transistor. Little bigger than a thumb tack or bobby pin, the transistor does the work of a vacuum tube and more.

Whatever the cost, international television on a global basis is something worth waiting for. The better individuals and nations get to know one another, the better they understand each other. The less the mystery the greater the friendship. And TV, while it can hardly be a cure-all, could certainly do much to spread the gospel of brotherhood.

While we're on the subject of television let's devote a line or three to the question of first-run movies in your living room.

Over in Britain, where the BBC has full control of broadcasting, efforts have been made to secure new feature films for telecasting. But the top fee offered by the BBC to movie makers as rental for their product is $2,800 every time a new movie is telecast.

The BBC says it cannot afford to pay more. The producers, obviously, cannot afford the BBC offer. An average movie costs close to $1,000,000 to film, with many costly epics eating up budgets of two or three millions. Unless and until television devises a system whereby the producers can recoup their production expenses plus a profit there will be no first-run pictures on the air.

Here in Hollywood an experiment is currently in progress with Telemeter, a pay-as-you-view gadget which can be easily attached to any TV receiver. It automatic-

Pupils To Give Dance Recitals

The 1953 Dance Recitals will be presented by Mary Beetles at the Gesu Theatre, Friday, May 29 and Friday June 5, at 8.15 p.m.

Happy Holidays, a gay presentation depicting the various holidays through the year, will be directed by Barbara Ashen, assisted by Milenka Niederlova and Carol Thomas. Pupils from three years of age, up, to advanced students, will be seen in ballet and Tap dances, on Friday, May 29 the first of the two recitals.

The second recital will be presented Friday, June 5 when Cinderella, a ballet in three acts, will be directed by Jeanne Rodier, vice-principal and ballet mistress of the school. This ballet will include only pupils from third year training to advanced students. It was written and modernized by Shirley Cook, a member of Junior Ballet Entre Nous.

The proceeds of these recitals will be given to the Kinsmen Club of Montreal, for their youth work. This work takes many forms but is reflected in the support of the Rosemount Boys' Club, where a varied program of healthful and recreational activities are conducted under the supervision of trained instructors. This will be the 10th consecutive year that The Mary Beetles School has donated the proceeds of these dance Recitals to the Kinsmen Club.

'Red Riding Hood' Proves Popular

"Red Riding Hood," presented by the Children's Theatre, under the direction of Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, was an outstanding success, judging by the enthusiasm of several hundred youngsters who witnessed the presentation Saturday afternoon.

Sheila Mittelman played the lead role of Red Riding Hood; Ellen Joy Lewis was the Emerald Fairy and Marilyn Rodin danced in a solo number. Judy Smiley played The Witch; Ellen Chinks, The Wolf, and Eleanor Rubin and Gissa Israel, the mother and grandmother and Sheila Stober, Topsy.

The twentieth season of the Children's Theatre will conclude this Saturday afternoon with the final presentation of Red Riding Hood, in Victoria Hall.

Most Industrial Concerns Provide Service For Diagnosing Skin Disease

Industrial skin diseases are an occupational hazard that has been the subject of research for many years. Since different individuals react differently to various substances, it is always wise to report any skin reaction to the health unit in the plant or to the company doctor, who will be familiar with the condition and its cause. Modern industrial concerns usually provide a health unit or the services of a doctor who can diagnose and prescribe treatment for skin diseases pecular to that particular industry.

Canadian Manufacturers' Group To Hold 82nd Annual Meeting

From May 27 to 29, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association will hold its 82nd annual general meeting at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto. Leaders from practically every branch of this country's economic scene have undertaken to contribute their time and talents to its success and statesmen, scientists, economists and industrialists will all be speaking on important and timely subjects at the various sessions.

The program will include conferences on industrial relations, economic trends, scientific research, transportation, public and community relations, industrial design, fire prevention and many other subjects of vital concern to those engaged in the manufacturing industries.

During luncheon on the first day, May 27, the president's annual review, the treasurer's report and the general manager's report will be given. The chief speaker at dinner on the first day will J. R. White, of Toronto, recently elected president of the Imperial Oil Company Ltd., who will discuss the development of the Canadian oil industry.

"The Water Problems of the Canadian Boundary" will be the subject of the address at the annual dinner, May 28, by General A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian Section of the International Joint Commission and chairman of the Canadian Section, Canada — U.S. Permanent Joint Board on Defence.

At luncheon on the third day, the speaker will be Frederick G. Gardiner, Q. C., chairman of the Council of the Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto. Toronto has undertaken an important experiment in creating a government of a huge metropolitan area consisting of a central city with twelve bordering municipalities and the whole problem, which is also facing other growing Canadian cities, will be discussed by Mr. Gardiner.

An innovation this year will be actors of the radio program "What Do You Know About Business?" This was originally broadcast across Canada by the 37 stations carrying the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's "Cross Section" series and it presented in dramatic form some of the varied means by which the CMA can be of assistance to businessmen. It has been included as a luncheon feature for the second day of the conference, May 28.

Up to 2,000 manufacturers are expected to attend the three-day convention.

ally unscrables both sound and image a coin or token is inserted in its slot—much as you pay to use a coin telephone. A special tape printer inside the Telemeter box records the date, hour and title of the program viewed—whether it be movie, opera, football match or drama. Then, once a month, an independent collecting agency comes around to read the meter, pick up the coins and distribute them to the proper companies as indicated by the tape.

Telemeter well may be the answer to video woes. It requires no telephone lines, as does phonevision, another form of subscription TV. For maybe 50 cents a whole roomful of folks can see a brand new movie or top entertainment or sports attraction. With millions of homes turned in simultaneously the producer or promoter actually might recoup his investment in a single evening.

When Telemeter becomes accepted on a national scale the big movie palaces might as well shut up shop.

THE GYPSY IN JUNIOR

Even the most carefully guarded youngster may occasionally suffer from wanderlust and stray from home. In order that anyone finding him may be able to restore him to his home as soon as possible, he should be taught to say his name clearly and, as soon as possible, his address. Later, he should memorize his phone number. When a child is able to give this information, he may save his family much anxiety and the police much trouble in identifying him and returning him to his home.

CERAMIST IN PARIS: Jean Cartier, left, examines some pixie-like figures with well-known sculptor Ary Bitter in the Paris studios of Jean Besnard, noted French sculptor. Montreal-born Mr. Cartier is presently sharing an exhibition with these two fellow artists at the Waldorf Galleries on Sherbrooke street.

Ceramics By Jean Cartier Are Highlight Of Waldorf Exhibit

Ceramic Works by a Montreal artist, Jean Cartier, highlight the latest exhibition at the Waldorf Galleries on Sherbrooke street, just east of Guy.

The show, which also includes works by two French artists, Jean Besnard and Ary Bitter of Paris, is under the patronage of Dr. Jean-Marie Gauvreau D.Sc.P., M. S.R.C.

The exhibition has to date proven to be one of the most popular held recently in Montreal. The interest of the public is well deserved since these ceramics add a freshness to the city's current art displays. All pieces show a high degree of originality and many illustrate that ceramics can be as functional as decorative.

Mr. Cartier was born at Saint-Jean in 1924. On leaving college he entered the Ecole du Meuble in Montreal, where he studied first under M. Louis Archambault, and, during his last two years at the school, with M. Pierre Normandeau.

Awarded a scholarship by the Provincial Government, Mr. Cartier went to France to continue his studies. There he studied drawing at the Academie Julian and the Grande Chaumiere. At the same time, he continued his work in cereamic art, perfecting his technique under the guidance of Jean Besnard and Ary Bitter — with whose works his own are now being shown at the galleries.

Mr. Besnard is a ceramist of world repute. His work is on display in many museums in Europe, America and Asia. The Montreal Museum of Fine Arts owns a fine example of this artist's work which is now in great demand.

Mr. Bitter has been working with Mr. Besnard since the war. An able sculptor, he has, since the end of the war, done several monuments on commission from the French government and various other sponsoring associations.

The small pieces which he is exhibiting this week reveal another, more delicate aspect of his talent —the grace associated with his native country.

When Mr. Cartier completed his studies in Paris in 1951, he was invited to exhibit at the Salon du Printemps in the Grand Palais, under the auspices of the Société Nationale des Beaux-Arts. A few weeks later, at the Ecole Boule, where M. Jean-Marie Gauvreau, a former student of the school, had organized an exhibition of graduates of the Ecole du Meuble in Montreal, Mr. Cartier's works were seen again.

On his return to Canada, Mr. Cartier exhibited at the Centrale d'Arisanat the work he had produced in Paris and shortly afterwards, the same pieces were shown at McGill University.

In August, 1952, at the request of the ministry of Industry and Commerce of Nova Scotia, Mr. Cartier gave a lecture in Halifax on Modern Trends in Ceramics. Later, he lectured at the Canadian Handicrafts Guild in Montreal, and more recently, in Toronto, where he was the guest of the Canadian Guild of Potters and talked on contemporary French ceramics.

The present exhibition was preceded by an exhibition in Granby.

The increasing number of students at the Ecole du Meuble, where Cartier teaches ceramics, forced him to give up his private teaching and his courses at the Canadian Handicrafts Guild, and restrict his teaching to the Ecole du Meuble, where he has this year been directing a class of about one hundred students.

Salvation Army Expects To Reach Objective In Current Fund Drive

No one knows better than the Salvation Army officer who works answering the people of a city at all hours of the night and day just how true is the saying "one half of the world does not know how the other half lives."

For these are the men and women who know intimately the short and simple annals of the poor, the dreary, backstreet pages, and seamy side.

Misfortune, however, is not a monopoly of the poor. Increasing cases of those who live above the poverty line are bing reported. They need sympathetic counsel and assistance, administered by qualified welfare work specialists.

For the Salvation Army, this consciousness of need is not merely the result of gazing upon misery whenever it occurs. It is the result of a deep-seated desire to bring into action the best qualities of mind and heart so that distress might be alleviated and unwanted conditions corrected.

John Ruskin had a piece of stone on which was written the single word "Today." It was a constant reminder to the essayist that whatever the past may have held whatever the future might hold, the present is always of vital importance.

"Today" might well be one of the mottoes emblazoned on the banners of The Salvation Army — for they make the most in service out of each passing day.

The urgency of the present lies heavily on all whose efforts affect other lives. The Army's welfare workers take up self-imposed responsibilities with the same earnestness whether their charge be a highly-organized city centre or a remote village outpost.

These and many other services— emergency aid, clothing and food, shelter, friendly assistance, rehabilitation an hospitalization— are all part of the "Open Door" policy of The Salvation Army which is at present in the midst of its 1953 Red Shield Appeal for $165,000.00.

Support of the public in this city-wide campaign for funds to maintain the essential 24 Red Shield Services in Greater Montreal was asked by Lt.-Colonel D. W. McLean, M.C., general campaign chairman.

"The Salvation Army is based on the soundest of foundation principles—love to God and love to man—and this is sufficient recommendation for support in the current Red Shield Appeal which will ensure the Army having sufficient funds to carry on its beneficient activities," Lt.-Col. McLean said.

Canvassers and supporters were urged to "go all-out in this final push to reach our objective," by Campaign Director Senior Major T. L. Carswell,

MENTAL ILLNESS

Mental illness is gradually becoming understood as an ailment comparable with physical illness and is no more a matter for shame or secrecy than any other disease. The mind, like the body, is susceptible to illnesses, many of which are curable if treated in their earliest stages. For this reason, any symptom of mental disturbance should receive early medical attention.

The City of Westmount Recreation Department at 4350 St. Catherine St. West has been open until 6.00 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays since May 1st for business residents to obtain tennis permits. These hours will continue throughout the rest of May.

Please make an effort to pick up your permit, which will be given to those showing proof of residence in Westmount in person.

Tabloid Sports

The third Tabloid Sports Meet for boys 10 and 11 years of age was scheduled for Thursday evening, May 14th, however, only fourteen boys were present to take part in the competition. The meet was therefore cancelled, and Rocky Rothwell, Recreation Supervisor, immediately organized a few events for those present so that they would not be completely disappointed. We do hope that more boys will turn out in the future.

Track and Field

The Midget Track and Field team will be in competition this Saturday, May 23rd, at the Verdun Track.

This Track Meet is an intercommunity effort in which the City of Westmount, Town of Mount Royal, Ville St. Laurent and City of Verdun compete against each other for aggregate points.

Some of our team representatives entered the Canadian Legion Meet at Valleyfield on Saturday, May 16th, and made a very creditable showing. Fourteen-year-old Ian Forrest won the 75 yd. and 100 yd. dash to show his supremacy in the School Juvenile Sprints. These wins gave Ian enough points to win the aggregate in his classification. Bobby Hamilton had to run in the Junior class, and even though he was competing against boys at least one year older than himself, he did exceptionally well by placing third in the Running Broad Jump with a leap of 17'2".

Bobby also placed fourth in each of three other events:- the 100, 220 and 440 yd. dashes. John Peachey was our only entrant in the one mile run and although he did not place, he ran a fine race for his first of the season. Gary Osborne and Paul Taylor were our other representatives. The relay team of Peachey, Hamilton, Osborne and Forrest placed third in the 440 relay.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Learn-to-Swim

The second Course of Learn-to-Swim lessons for youngsters commenced on Tuesday with all registrations completely filled. The girls and boys taking part showed real enthusiasm and are looking forward to their weekly classes.

Weight Room

The physical committee take pleasure in announcing the reopening of the weight lifting and special exercise room. A specially constructed floor has been installed, designed for weight lifting. Exponents of body building and special exercise programs are welcome to use our facilities and may confer with our staff on their individual problems.

Locker Rooms Repainted

Hard working Mr. Bob Drain and his staff surprised the membership with new paint jobs on boys, ladies and men's locker room floors over the long week-end.

Marathon Swim

Boys groups begin the annual "Y" Marathon Swim" this Saturday when swimmers commence to swim to Camp Perrot. There are three sections this year, one for juniors, intermediates and seniors. Boys will compete against those of their own age group. Purpose of the swim is to stimulate interest in swimming, to improve style and stroke, and to build endurance.

The "marathon" will continue for three weeks and Crests will be awarded.

Westmount Meet Brantford 15

The Westmount Scottish play hosts to the colorful Brantford Harlequin team this Saturday. The game will be played at the Westmount Athletic Grounds with the kickoff at 3:00 p.m.

The Brantford crew have a strong tea min the field this spring and they hold decisions over some of the best teams in Ontario. This will be the Scottish's first game against an outside club and they are confident of making it a winning one. Their only previous encounter was against close rivals Westmount Barbarians when they came through with a 10-8 victory.

If the Brantford team are agreeable they may play a second game on the Sunday against the Barbarians. Ground and kick-off time will be announced at Saturday's game.

Large Entry List Expected For Caledonian Games

A. R. W. Young of the Caledonian Games Society committee said last night they expected one of the best entries in the history of the meet on Saturday May 30. Entry blanks have gone out to clubs and schools interested in competing in the track and field portion of the 94th Annual Games.

A heavy influx of dancers and pipers will also pass the Lachine CNR recreation grounds on meet day. Competition in these Highland events is always keen and friendly.

Featuring the track card is the Montreal Star Trophy three mile classic, a team struggle. Events are on the card for registered women athletes in juvenile, junior, intermediate and senior sprinters. However, the field events are labelled open, allowing no age grouping for the younger girls.

Montreal Track and Field Club, and Montreal Olympic Club will likely field strong men teams. The MOC will also have their leading girls on the mark in all divisions.

There is only one girls relay on the program, an open 440 yards baton event. A 220 yard race for girls marked "special" is also evidently an open event.

In the first game the Wildcats got off to an early lead and stayed in front all the way to win 9-3. The Yanks, however, came back to win the second game 11-7.

In the only other game last week John Dubinka's Boston team jumped from last to third place by virtue of its 7-4 win over the Dodgers. This was the third straight loss for the Dodgers.

Red Feather Financial Pictured Is Reviewed By Campaign Leaders

The problem of how best to pull Montreal's Red Feather from off the horns of a financial dilemma was discussed by leaders in the 1953 campaign of Welfare Federation of Montreal.

Most of the 26 health and welfare services of Red Feather in this city have been running on a curtailed program; many of them have had to turn away worthy cases and all of them have had to turn a blind eye and a deaf ear to representations for many much-needed improvements in service, the leaders were reminded.

E. C. Wood, president of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, who is general chairman of the 1953 Red Feather drive, reviewed reports showing that Welfare Federation is being financed at about $200,000 less than its annual requirements. The requirements are approximately $3,000,000 a year, of which approximately $1,500,000 comes from general-public contributions to Red Feather's campaign each autumn. The remainder comes mostly from government subsidies in various forms and partly from nominal service charges where they can be imposed on persons receiving health or welfare benefits, the reports show.

In a reminder to firms or employee-chests who might now be budgetting their welfare donations for the remainder of the year, Mr. Wood said that although the 1953 objective for Red Feather cannot be fixed until budgetting for next year is completed by the voluntary budget committee under A. H. Rowland, it is nevertheless painfully apparent that nothing short of substantial increases over last year's contributions can assure Welfare Federation of a close approach to the total it needs in order to carry on. Meantime, he said, hundreds of Red Feather workers, professionally trained and voluntary, struggle to make both ends meet on deflated dollars in an inflated economy.

Reports from larger American and Canadian cities indicate, said Mr. Wood, that "with a whole raft of new organizations coming into existence, the combined appeals of chests and federations haven't been getting a fair share of the givers' dollars. This is true likewise of Red Feather in Montreal, where annual returns have no more than kept abreast of the rise in the cost of living and have not provided the additional funds needed to meet rapid population

Westmount Rugger Club Outclassed By Yale

By JIM ADAM

The Westmount Rugger Club suffered their worst defeat in three years against Dartmouth College who beat them 26-0 in Hanover, N.H., last Saturday.

The fitter and stronger college crew never gave the Westmount boys time to settle down and had scored a touchdown within five minutes of the opening whistle. The Westmounters held their own until half-time when they turned round only eight points down. After the interval woefully weak tackling by the entire Westmount team allowed Dartmouth to run in four more touchdowns.

The speedy Dartmouth backs, who handled the ball beautifully throughout the game, gave the Montreal defence a worrying afternoon. However, had Westmount's tackling been better they could have kept the score down to reasonable proportions.

BACKS OUTCLASSED

The Westmount forwards although outplayed in the loose and the line-out were masters in the tight scrums but their backs could do nothing when in possession of the ball. Only once did the black and white shirted visitors come near scoring when Taffy Morgan was pulled down near the line after a long broken field run.

Westmount were unfortunate to spring lose forward Murdo Murchison near the end of the game with a bad cut on his head which needed seven stitches to close. Murchison will be out for the remainder of the season.

The game was watched by a splendid crowd of over 1,000 in excellent weather on Varsity Field. The match was one of the highlights of the Dartmouth Spring "Green Key" weekend. It is hoped that the green shirted college crew will appear in Montreal next

Shoes And Hose Often Cause Much Discomfort

Swelling of the feet may be a symptom of certain diseases such as heart or kidney trouble. Or it may have a mechanical cause — long hours of standing or walking in unsuitable footwear may account for the swelling and discomfort, and hose may be as much to blame as the shoes.

Stockings or socks that are too tight, perhaps through having shrunk in laundering, can constrict the foot or the toes and cause trouble, especially to children's feet.

A baby's woollen socks are particularly susceptible to shrinkage and if too tight, can cause permanent damage to the delicate little footbones. Adults, as well as children, should always have their feet measured when buying shoes and hose should be selected with a thought to shrinkage.

Black and white tableware is popular in France, some white plates with black silhouette figures in their centers, others garlanded around their edges with black ivy leaves.

FIRE!

In rural areas or at the summer cottage, there are many uses for coal oil; gasoline too, is essential for various purposes. But neither of these liquids should ever be used to kindle the kitchen stove. Many of the disastrous and tragic home fires that make the newspaper headlines are caused through coal oil being poured into the stove to make the fire blaze. It usually succeeds in this — with unfortunate results. There are safe ways of making a stubborn fire burn, by adding a few bits of candle or waxpaper to the kindling or by dipping a few thin sticks into coal oil and including them in the kindling materials before the match is applied. Not only should gasoline never be used to help make the fire but the container should be kept well outsideside the house.
