Douglas Jung, MP and president of the Young Progressive Conservative National Association, visited the Victoria Hall committee room of Ross Webster, Progressive Conservative candidate for St. Antoine-Westmount, Tuesday evening.

Mr. Jung was greeted by an enthusiastic group of supporters with whom he discussed the election campaign. During the discussion he said, "I know Mr. Webster from his long record of service in the community, and I know that he has the qualities that attract young people."

Stating that he was satisfied with results of the Progressive Conservative election campaign on a national level to date, Mr. Jung said that on the basis of capacity audiences which have attended speeches of PC candidates in all constituencies and nominating conventions, a working majority should be obtained on March 31.

Mr. Jung said that in the future he intends to visit Com- (Continued on page 2)

Interest rate up on overdue taxes

City manager Tom Hughes, announced a one per cent increase in the interest rate on overdue taxes, which was decided at council meeting, Monday.

The Cities and Towns act was recently amended by the provincial government permitting municipalities to charge a rate not exceeding six per cent. The rate was previously set at a maximum five per cent. The City of Westmount will change the full rate, Hughes said.

The increase will be effective May 1st, and the reason behind the increase, Mr. Hughes said, is to offset the new higher bank rate. "If our rate was lower than the bank's, then taxpayers would prefer to defer payment of their taxes to borrowing from a bank."

Liberals not 'Lost Tribe' says organizer

By POWELL SMILY

OTTAWA — One must maintain a balance.

Last week, a Tory organizer presented the picture in a True-Blue frame; this week, a different perspective is provided by girded-for-battle Grit.

"So they think us Liberals are the Lost Tribe, do they?" the gentleman snorted, riffling through a handful of red-edged booklets. "Well, kindly relay a message to the dreamers, will you? Tell them we've already made plans to move all the ex-Tory cabinet ministers out of their nice big office suites in the House of Commons. They belong down in the basement alongside the barber shop, and that's where they'll be. It's votes that count, not headlines."

The politico thumped his desk with a large hand. "Do they think we're going to have a fit of the vapours just because they growl at us? Let them get out their slide rules and figure just how many of the seats they held in the last Parliament can be taken away from them by a slight shift among the voters. Just about 70, that's how many."

"Wouldn't the same thing be true of a number of Liberal seats? I asked.

"Oh, I suppose you could make a case, if you went out of your way, but it wouldn't hold up," said the organizer. "The simple fact is, this country is fundamentally Liberal, just like the States is fundamentally Democratic. Wait till Mike starts coming down the stretch."

"Suppose," I said, "just suppose that the habit of defeating ex-Liberal cabinet members continues. Then what? You'll be like an army of privates and NCOs. For example, George Marler's majority in St. Antoine-Westmount was reduced by almost 2,000 last year."

"Does it matter? He could get in by one vote, so long as he gets in. What you forget," said the man, "is that St. Antoine-Westmount has been Liberal since 1910."

"Yes," I said, "but in 1945 Doug Abbott made it by only 60 votes."

"That's what I say. It doesn't matter how many votes you get. Just get more than the other fellow."

Skunk, falcon, even a deer

City slickers who look on the Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals operation in Montreal as one that deals largely with dogs, cats and the occasional horse are in for a surprise as a result of reports issued at the annual meeting recently.

No less than 17 different other species were brought into the Namur street shelter here during the past year. They included rabbits, pigeons, foxes, skunks, ducks, goats, hampsters, chickens, raccoons, guinea pigs, chinchillas, turkeys; to say nothing of a parrot, a budgie and, believe it or not, a deer. But this doesn't mean that the society didn't traffic in dogs and cats as well — far from it. In all, brought to the shelter during the twelve months were 26,032 dogs and 54,599 cats — (Continued on page 2)

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

March 8 to 15

Sunny periods with warm afternoons and near zero night temperatures, then clouding for icestorms or 2-5 inches of snow in the south, and blizzard conditions in the north. Skies clearing.

Changeable and warmer in the middle of the week, with some sleet, wet mists and fluffy snow. Roads icy. Sugaring-off now general, so the ski season is coming to an end. Improving generally for a pleasant, relatively mild weekend.

A short "false spring" would be normal during this week. Sunshine hours 35. Temperature range, high 40, low 10° F.

A PROJECT OF WESTMOUNT ROTARY CLUB

By Maurice Mariasine

CARD PARTY — MONDAY

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Unity Boys' Club since its formation several years ago has contributed valuable services and has donated funds for special projects. The most recent was a set of drapes for the Teenage Lounge. The only source of income that is available to this group is achieved through the organization of food sales, card parties, etc. and one of these projects has been organized for next Monday night at 8.00 p.m. March 10th.

Auxiliary President Mrs. Arthur Prevost and her Committee is extending an invitation not only to the parents of our Club members but to anyone in the Community. On Monday night, a card party will be held and there will be a large number of prizes and refreshments will be served.

BIDDY BASKETBALL

Saturday, the Dominion Biddy Basketball Tournament between Kingston, Ontario and Montreal will take place at the Unity Boys' Club with morning and afternoon games scheduled. The first game is at 11 a.m. and the second game at 2 p.m. It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand for the games.

JUNIOR GAMES ROOM

Sixteen boys participated in the Hockey Game Tournament conducted in the Junior Games Room during the past several weeks. Jean Paul Chartier was the winner and Jimmy Hotton was the runner-up. In the Pool Game Tournament with sixteen participants, Jimmy Hotton was the winner and John Galley was the runner-up.

UNITY (63)—HOLY CROSS (4)
In a regular scheduled inter-club basketball game, the Unity

Juvenile Girls swamped the Holy Cross Juveniles 63-4. Joan Driver was the top scorer for Unity with 29 points. Others scorers were: Jean Nye (12); Barbara Forbes (10); Mona O'Brien (6); Sandra Stone (6).

BASKETBALL NOTES

Unity's Midget, Juvenile and Senior "B" teams are involved in playdowns this week. The Midgets are playing a semi-final series with Point St. Charles; the Juveniles are playing a final series with Point St. Charles and the Seniors are playing a quarter-final series with the East End Boys' Club. It is noted that all the clubs participating in the city playdowns are affiliated with the Montreal Boys' Association. Coaching duties will be carried out by John McDonough with the Midgets; Bob Neal with the Juveniles and Dick Schroder with the seniors.

It is now definite that the annual inter-club, inter-city basketball series with the Ottawa Boys' Club will take place. The dates are still tentative, however, it is expected that Unity will travel to the Capital City on Saturday, March 29.

Doug Potvin's senior girls cage squad will be at Three Rivers on March 14, 15 and 16 to participate in the Provincial Tournament. The locals are given a good chance of coping the title. If they do, then they will play hosts to the visiting Ontario winners with the Dominion Senior "B" Championship at stake.

and 325 of the cats had to be rescued from trees or poles. Handling of horses hit a new low during the year, the report shows. Only five were rescued by horse ambulance, 14 were destroyed for humane reasons, and a total of 130 were ordered off work because of illness of one kind or another.

In addition, the Society's staff did a number of things that one wouldn't ordinarily connect with a large metropolis like Montreal. In all a total of 5,564 cattle trucks were examined, 1,088 rail cars examined, 24,841 poultry crates examined, 52,303 animals inspected, 376 animals removed from kennels and pet shops, 1,377 cases of cruelty to animals investigated, 295 out-of-town complaints investigated, race tracks were supervised for 138 days or racing, 23 fairs and exhibitions were visited, 37 weapons were seized and 2,301 persons were warned for cruelty to animals and other offenses.

During the year the Society showed a deficit of $11,031, a total of $1,775 in deficit over that of the previous year.

William J. Holliday buried yesterday

Funeral service for William J. Holliday, 4849 Draper Ave., were held yesterday in the chapel of D. A. Collins. Mr. Holliday, for more than 40 years prominently identified with the Young Men's Christian Association of Montreal and one of the founders of the Beaver Club in London, England, during the Second World War, died in hospital in this city Tuesday at the age of 74.

Mr. Holliday joined the YMCA with the old Central division branch on Dominion Square in 1906 as boys' work secretary. He was one of the founders of Camp Kanawana and was active in the organization of Camp Otoreke. In 1912 he was appointed executive secretary of the North End (International) branch.

During World War I he was stationed in various "Y" centres in England, and in 1918 he accompanied Canadians on an expedition to Archangel in aid of the White Russians. Returning to Canada after the war he was appointed to the YMCA in Sydney, N.S., remaining there for two years before returning to the North Montreal branch.

Named religious emphasis secretary in 1945, he held that post until his retirement in 1948. In 1940 as counselling secretary of the Beaver Club, he acted as a guide and friend to Canadian soldiers.

Mr. Holliday is survived by a daughter, Phyllis (Mrs. J. Gordon Campbell); a sister, Mrs. Gordon Hannaford, two nieces, Edith and Doris Robertson, and three grandchildren. His wife, the former Ethel Watson, died some years ago.

Dr. Gerald Cragg, of Erskine and American United Church, officiated at the service. Burial was in Cushing, Quebec.

Heber H. Jones, 78, buried on Saturday

U.K. trade mission timing excellent says H. Crombie

Timing of the Canadian Trade Mission to Great Britain was "excellent" Hugh Crombie, vice-president and treasurer of the Dominion Engineering Works, and a member of the Mission told the Montreal Advertising and Sales Executives Club recently.

The picture in the U.K. is changing, he said. The sterling area market may not in the future be quite as attractive as it has been, and they are now prepared to take a really serious look at the Canadian market.

The Mission, Mr. Crombie said, did not go to Britain to sell unemployment in Canada. It did not go to buy. It did not go with orders in its pockets.

Some members of the Mission, he admitted, went over with preconceived notions about conditions in the U. K., but most of the preconceptions proved to be misconceptions.

The weather, he said, was good and the food excellent, the Welsh are not all thieves and 'some Scotsmen are generous'.

Housekeeping in the U. K. plants was impressive, Mr. Crombie stated, and the attitude of the workers excellent. There is, he added, excellent communication both ways between management and labor.

Four types of advice on the Canadian market were given to the British, said Mr. Crombie. First, for a British manufacturer looking for a Canadian market; secondly, for a group planning to combine to set up a sales and service organization in the Dominion; thirdly, for those making lines of capital goods not manufactured here; and fourthly, a word for those who were told frankly they would be wasting their time if they came to Canada.

Concluded Mr. Crombie, "We were businessmen, I feel our advice was good, and that it was appreciated."

Thomas H. Moore buried on Monday

Funeral service was held Monday for Thomas Howard Moore, of 709 Grosvenor Ave., who died Thursday at St. Mary's Hospital, in his 32nd year.

A native of Gadsden, Ala., Mr. Moore joined the Royal Canadian Naval Fleet Air Arm in World War II.

He later studied at McGill University, graduating in 1955 with a Ph.D. in Geology. For the past year he had been employed as a geologist with Cartier Mining Co. Mr. Moore was a member of Montreal Anglers and Hunters Club and of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

He is survived by his wife, the former Frances Lovell; a daughter, Elise, and his mother, Mrs. A. C. Taylor.

The funeral was held from Jos. C. Wray Funeral Home to service in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount. The burial was in Cote des Neiges Cemetery.

J. N. Featherstone funeral here today

Funeral service for John Nathan Featherstone, of 18 Selby street, Westmount, was held today in the chapel of Jos. C. Wray. Mr. Featherstone died Wednesday at the Bay View Nursing Home in his 75th year.

A native of London, England, he came to Canada in 1905, and was associated with the Sun Life Assurance Company for 26 years prior to his retirement in 1951.

He is survived by his wife, the former Kathleen Freeman; a son, John Joseph; three daughters, Catherine (Mrs. R. R. Welsh), Nora (Mrs. Lorne Bishop), and Marjorie (Mrs. R. Boileau, and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Montreal Memorial Park.

Four principals outline district-type problems

Westmount Rotarians hosted four elementary school principals who spoke on education problems Wednesday. Representing four entirely different school conditions were Bill Barrie, principal of Royal Arthur School in a fairly impoverished district; Ernie Hall, principal of Bancroft School in a Jewish area; Andy Pitcairn, principal of the old Carlyle School in the Town of Mount Royal; and Roy Saunders, principal of the new Russell School.

Mr. Barrie said environment plays a far greater part in a child's development than most modern psychologists will admit. "I draw this conclusion from my own teaching experience."

Having taught and held principalships in many types of areas, Mr. Barrie said he has come across all sorts of home and social conditions that make unco-operative and even delinquent pupils. "Because of poor environmental conditions — poverty and disinterested parents — many of these children will think nothing of lying, cheating and stealing," he said.

What type of teacher can cope with these parents and children?

"They must be keen and alert, possess love and understanding, and at the same time be determined and dedicated," Mr. Barrie said. "With more and better qualified teachers many of today's education problems would be eliminated."

HEADMASTERS GROUP

Mr. Hall told the Rotarians the purpose of the Headmasters Association of Montreal, of which he is a member. He said it is an organization of elementary school principals under the Protestant School Board, with 50 active members and an additional membership of retired school principals. "Its purpose is to improve the education standard and to foster a spirit of co-operation amongst school staffs. In addition, it deals with problems of staffing, curriculum, building maintenance and administration. He said education is more than teaching the three R's. "Education should teach proper behavior and habits; it must teach a child to think for himself, and it must teach respect, consideration and discipline." He advised educators and parents to aim at strengthening of character and fostering a taste for the Christian virtues.

Mr. Pitcairn told Rotarians "We too often hear a very time-worn cliché—'schools are inept'. There is a slight crisis in education, but educators are doing their best to alleviate it, and our schools are far better now, and students have far greater opportunity than they ever had before," he stated. "We still teach the 3 R's, but whereas 50 years ago inept children were dropped, we now have remedial education."

MORE PHONETICS

"The cry used to be 'teach more phonetics'—now the crisis seems to be a lack of scientists", Mr. Pitcairn said. The peoples of the Western world are afraid that the Communist world is going to outstrip them, he said. "From my observations and study and according to qualified Canadian educators, the Russian education system is not a suitable model for our society. However, he noted, there are two lessons Canadian education authorities can take from the Russians — higher pay for teachers and less pupils per classroom.

Mr. Saunders contrasted the Canadian and Russian systems. "In Canada there is equal opportunity for all citizens to obtain an education and be developed to the maximum of their ability," he said. "This is not the case in Russia, where only the mentally superior pupils are given a chance to get a full education."

Canadian students have some choice in the courses they will follow, he noted, but not to the extent that they can pick an easy course. "Under Communism here is no choice."

"Let us not concentrate exclusively on producing scientists — let us maintain a proper balance between science and the humanities — for who can tell where the greatest contribution to the world will be found."

Richard Tucker sings for Temple Emanu-El

Richard Tucker, whose voice has been compared to the great Enrico Caruso's, will be the guest artist at a dinner-concert, sponsored by Temple Emanu-El on Monday at 6.30 p.m. in Windsor Hall, Windsor Hotel.

The Restoration Fund Dinner is Temple Emanu-El's unique contribution to the cultural and religious life of the community.

The proceeds will be applied towards the rebuilding of the Temple sanctuary at 4123 Sherbrooke Street West, which was destroyed by fire a few months ago.

Straight talk

by

GEORGE MARLER

What does this election mean to you?

Less than a year ago, you the electors of Westmount gave me a clear mandate to represent you in the House of Commons. Dissolution of parliament on February 1st by the Conservative government, without it having been defeated in the House of Commons, has forced another general election upon the Canadian people. I think you will agree that dissolution was an ill-advised and ill-timed action because it prevented the representatives of the people assembled in Parliament from dealing immediately and effectively with the serious state of affairs which has developed in recent months.

Never before in our political history has there been a fuller realization by so many Canadians of the importance of their votes in deciding the choice of a new government. This was brought about by the closeness of last year's election, which emphasized particularly the need for concern by the electors of the issues before them at this time.

The electors in Westmount will, I think, question the sense of responsibility — or should I say the lack of responsibility — shown by the Diefenbaker government in calling a general election without having first submitted to Parliament measures to deal with unemployment and the whole state of our economy. They will ask themselves why the Conservative program of public works was not presented to Parliament itself. They will ask themselves why did the Conservatives not submit their program to Parliament. The answer to these questions is obvious. An examination of their so-called program of public works by Parliament would have revealed immediately that a large part of the proposed expenditures were included in the Liberal project presented to Parliament early in 1957; they would have seen that a large number of the projects are merely a continuation of projects already started by the previous Liberal government, and it would also have become clear that the total amount to be spent by the federal government and its agencies is of the same amount as the federal government and its agencies spend in an ordinary year when unemployment is no problem. Public examination in Parliament of the Conservative program would have revealed that it would not provide additional jobs, and that many of the projects could not get started for months.

The electors of Westmount will ask themselves how money can be spent in the first three months of 1958 in building the trans-Canada highway during the winter. Public reports show that, included in the program, are expenditures for the St. Lawrence seaway, for the pipeline across northern Ontario, for the development of national harbours — all projects already underway when the Conservatives took office.

The electors of Westmount, many of whom remember the public works programs of the depression days, will compare Conservative proposals with the Liberal plan for immediate action. The Pearson plan, following along established Liberal policy, proposes to increase consumer spending by reducing taxes. It has been Liberal policy in good times to budget for surpluses and to reduce the national debt so as to fight inflation and a rising cost of living; in bad times to budget for deficits by reducing taxation and increasing government spending; both of which mean more jobs. This is just plain common sense.

In the weeks ahead I intend to discuss other issues with you in the same corner of this newspaper, but I would like to conclude my remarks at this time by expressing my thanks for the loyal support and unwavering confidence you have given me during all these years I have represented you, either at Quebec or in Ottawa.

WE SAY

Westmount puts Montreal on spot

MANY who view the no-man's-land condition of Montreal's streets since the season's snow began to gang up on us might come to the conclusion that conditions were almost beyond any snow-cleaning crew — except for one thing.

That one thing is the condition of the streets in Westmount.

Westmount has had just as much snow with which to cope as any other municipality in the same general area, and it has been forced to resort to piling the snow in Westmount Park again — a circumstance that will doubtless bring down the wrath of the populace on the aldermanic pates when melting time arrives. Yet Westmount's snow-clearing crews get busy with the fall of the first few flakes, and keep at it until the job is done.

Westmount proves that streets can be kept clear — by the municipality that gets there "firstest with the mostest."

By comparison many of the streets in Montreal are a disgrace.

We say, "Well done Westmount," and make a small reservation about piles of snow on Melville avenue between Sherbrooke street and Western avenue, but even taking that into consideration, citizens would far rather have snow-cleaning of the Westmount quality.

Election locally promises action

THERE is evidence here that the Federal election, as far as St. Antoine-Westmount is concerned, will be interesting.

Hon. George Marler, speaking in the Young Liberals in Victoria Hall last week, endorsed Liberal Leader Pearson's tax cut plan. With the question of trade, Mr. Marler lumped world peace and unemployment as issues which he expected would play a part in the decision of the electors when they came to make a choice between the candidates and the parties they represented.

PC Candidate Webster indicates that he will go along with the Diefenbaker plan for increased spending, and reiterates the party stand that the Liberal government, so long in power, must bear the blame for what lack of jobs there is in the country today. He also doesn't believe the Liberals have any monopoly on world peace.

Firmly settled in the seat, which he has held both Federally and provincially, Mr. Marler at first glance appears to be difficult to dislodge, but Mr. Webster put up a brisk battle in June and narrowed the gap between the Liberals and Conservatives when the votes were counted, and is away to a flying start in the current campaign, getting his committee rooms opened first and firing a few shots at his opposition before most ridings had named a full set of candidates.

Westmount, until the advent of former Liberal Member (now Mr. Justice) Douglas C. Abbott, had been a safe Federal Conservative seat for years with the late R. S. White as its representative. Mr. Abbott's victory over Mr. White was one of youth over experience, while Mr. Marler won and held the seat largely on his personal ability and on the fact that the Liberals were in power.

With Mr. Webster gaining in campaign experience and the PC Party asking not an opportunity to try their hand but a renewal of a mandate, it will be interesting to see which way Westmount voters go.

He's a public defender

By CYNTHIA JONES

Cause for jubilation in the law offices of Jacobs and Jacobs, a father and son partnership, is the winning after a two years' fight the highest award ever for damages in an auto mishap in the Montreal district, $88,953, on behalf of their client, a 16 year-old girl who is permanently paralyzed. "It's one of the greatest thrills of my life," said dun where the needy could seek legal aid gratuitously. A shortish man of 70 with silvery white, curly hair, sharp brown eyes, quick witted and voluble as ever, he likes to recall those days.

"In 1935 I was asked by the Mayor of Verdun to act free of charge as the public defender of the people," he said. "During the next three years I appeared before the Private Bills Committee at three sessions of the Quebec Parliament at the request of the Verdun Citizens' League to fight against the disfranchisement of 18,000 electors because they were only tenants."

says that Stella has been trying to pay off her lawyers' fees and costs of trial.

Fond of biblical quotations which he sprinkles liberally through his conversations, Mr. Jacobs said: "You know the prophecy 'Cast thy bread upon the waters and it shall return to thee.' Well, it's worked out in my case. Any number of the underprivileged people I helped out years ago are now affluent and repaid me, in some instances giving me legal work."

Today many sailors troop to the office on Craig street Mr. Jacobs has shared with his 38-year-old son for the past 14 years since the latter's graduation from McGill. Mr. Jacobs senior is legal adviser to the Montreal Ex-Naval Men's Association. "When the boys get in a jam, I charge them no fees," said Mr. Jacobs.

DOMESTIC RELATIONS

Mr. Jacobs, who says he works harder than ever, started out as a criminal lawyer but decided in 1945 to specialize in domestic relations because they deal with the home. "No other enterprise can compare with this in importance to the individual and to society," he remarked.

K.C. in 1923

The son of a livestock exporter, William A. Jacobs, and Fanny Gittleson, Mr. Jacobs said that as a boy he didn't enjoy the freedom, comfort and conveniences of this modern age but he had good parents who inculcated him with the ideals of education and good citizenship. He attended Aberdeen and Montreal High schools, graduated from McGill law school in 1911, was appointed King's Counsel in 1923. "I had only been at the bar 10 years," he said. "Sometimes a lawyer has to wait 15 or 20 before being appointed this honor."

The following year he was appointed a judge but never was able to take his seat on the Bench because his appointment was not "gazetted." "A cabinet minister told me if I were not a son of Israel I would not only have taken my seat but I would have been made a chief judge," Mr. Jacobs commented.

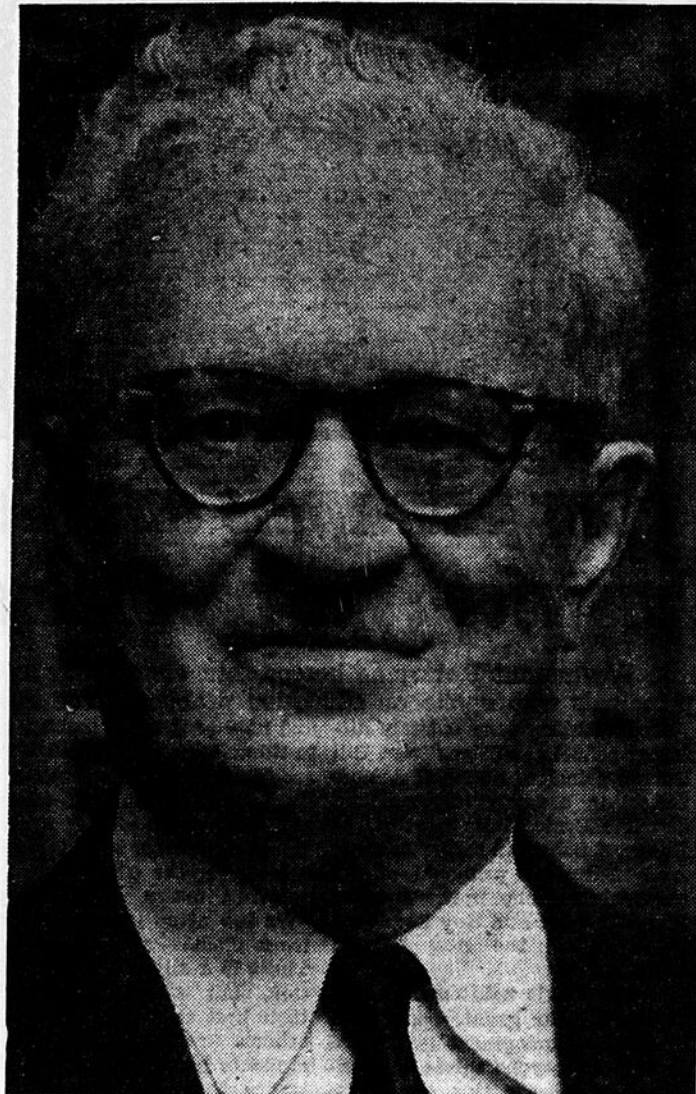

Thirty years later Ottawa appointed Harry Batshaw a judge of the Superior Court in the province of Quebec. "There isn't a Jewish clerk or Jewish crown prosecutor in court," said Mr. Jacobs. "This seems strange when England had Lord Reading as chief justice of the highest court in England and the United States has had two Jewish judges in Supreme Court," he said.

Mr. Jacobs served as a city alderman for St. Louis ward from 1918 to 1924. He was elected acting mayor of Montreal on Armistice Day, November 11, 1918. For three years he was chairman of the law committee of Montreal and vice-chairman of the police and firemen's committee.

A feminist, Mr. Jacobs said that he has fought the tough battle for women's rights and privileges in Quebec. An author, he has written a treatise on Law and Marriage in this province, a complicated subject, indeed. He is at the moment writing a book entitled "Golden Stairway to Successful Marriage."

He has enjoyed a successful marriage himself. In 1912 he married Sarah Florin, a New

Lyon William Jacobs, QC, bubbling forth the details like a small machinegun. "My son, Alvin, who has a great legal talent, pleaded the case for four days before Mr. Justice Charbonneau in Superior Court and the jury handed down its unanimous decision at 11 o'clock last night. The girl's name is Dorothy Johnson. She's 100 per cent incapacitated, still in hospital. The transport company and its driver were held jointly responsible for the accident."

The French counsel was Roland Lafontaine, QC, and Mr. Jacobs senior acted as consultant in the case and it was right up his alley. Through the years Mr. Jacobs has been noted for his strong sense of social justice. He likes to feel that he is the lawyer of the local masses. His career has been devoted largely to the underprivileged. He tries to get the poverty-stricken fair deals when they've made mistakes or are plagued by misfortune.

PUBLIC DEFENDER

Throughout the depression years Mr. Jacobs ran a one-man legal clinic in Ver-

Needless to say persistent Mr. Jacobs won in this instance, too. In those depression years he defended hundreds of people — murderers, juvenile delinquents, "good people who had been evicted from their homes for non-payment of rent."

CASE IN POINT

One case stands out in Mr. Jacobs' mind. An unemployed father of 10 children was arrested for obtaining money from the Relief Commission under false pretences. It seems that he was given $10 a month for rent and $15 a week for food and other essentials. He had neglected to inform the commission that his 11-year-old son was contributing the $3 per week he earned as a messenger boy to the family budget. The man's wife appealed to Mr. Jacobs, who pleaded his case and got him out of jail and acquitted.

In the 1940's Mr. Jacobs pursued his fight against social injustice on the committee of legal aid to war veterans. His outstanding case during that decade was his defence of Stella Bean who was charged with the murder on Centre street of her hard-drinking soldier-spouse during a scuffle over a knife. Stella was imprisoned for six months awaiting trial. She pleaded self defence and was honorably discharged. Mr. Jacobs

Florists lauded for Red Cross aid

The florists competition organized to promote the Red Cross fund campaign has met with great success for the third year. Some fifty florists have decorated their windows in Red Cross motif using red and white flowers as a main decoration or background material.

This competition has been organized by Sam Gershenson, vice-president of the Red Cross publicity committee.

"This is the third year florists have supported the campaign by dedicating their windows to the Red Cross. These windows are beautiful and the three judges who will examine them this week, will have a difficult time selecting two winners," Mr. Gershenson says.

Mr. Jacobs describes himself as a lawyer, author, lecturer and father confessor. "I am not exactly a conformist but I believe that I have the courage of my convictions in that I cry out for social justice."

In the opinion of Mr. Jacobs, "the three essentials for good character are self control, self confidence and self respect."

Retiring nurse is given TV set

Miss Margaret Darroch, oldest employee of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital was presented with a TV set at a tea given in her honor, at the Nurses' Residence last week. She is retiring after more than forty-one years as the hospital housekeeper.

Dr. Harold Griffith, medical superintendent, in making the presentation, observed that during her long years of service with the hospital, Miss Darroch had won the love and admiration of all those who had worked with her.

Miss Darroch came from Maryhill, Glasgow, Scotland in 1912 and became housekeeper for the Homeopathic Hospital at its old location on McGill-College st., on June 11th, 1917.

She recalls how Dr. A. R. Griffith would bring his two sons Harold and Jim to visit the hospital on Saturday afternoons and later how both boys returned as internes.

Staff doctors like to tell how, at the old Homeopathic Hospital it was sometimes necessary for Miss Darroch to fill in on the cook's day off. This was a most welcomed event. Her Scottish cooking was most appreciated and her cakes would often vanish to the internes' quarters rather than the dining room for which they were intended.

Miss Berry, operating room supervisor, points out that throughout the years, Miss Darroch has won the love of the nursing staff and students by her kindness and willingness to help any way possible.

When the old Homeopathic Hospital was moved in 1928 from its former site to that on Marlowe ave., Miss Darroch was on hand to get the staff settled in their new building.

The retiring housekeeper, commented that the changing of the name from Homeopathic Hospital to the Queen Elizabeth Hospital under the patronage of the Queen Mother, was almost the beginning of a new chapter in its history and she looks forward with great interest to seeing the construction of the new wing.

Miss Darroch observed that the tea given for her in the nurses' residence was a typical demonstration of that wonderful family spirit of which the Queen Elizabeth Hospital is so proud. Every department, as well as the Board of Governors and Ladies' Auxiliary, was well represented.

Even a leg cast couldn't keep Miss Currie, admitting officer, from being present and wishing Miss Darroch "Many more happy years with her numerous friends." Miss Darroch will reside in the Vendome apartments nearby the hospital.

Pre-election period has lighter moments

Many a prim and proper member of the so-called weaker sex may be seen these twilights leafing her way warily through the enumeration list attached to a corner telephone pole.

She is probably ankle-deep in snow, her hair windblown, holding her hat with one hand and thumbing the pages with the other.

She wants to know if she is on the list—she'll be angry if she isn't — but she wants to know something else as well: did they dare put an age down on the list for her?

And she wants to look up a few of her neighbors — especially one who has been 39 on the list for the past 10 years.

One enumerator reported that he was sent flying from a door when the housewife took exception to him prying into her affairs. Poor fellow, he was only following instructions.

Another enumerator had an amusing incident to relate. He visited a local home and was happy until he entered it with his sharpened pencil.

In answer to the question on employment, the man of the house replied that he was with the Public Works Department.

His wife put in an aside: "He's a garbage collector."

One thing started to lead to another and the enumerator left in a hurry, before they turned on him as the usual 'out' in such cases.

And one man found himself listed as a bookie. He's really a librarian.

The Drama of Salvation
Act. II. Mark 3,7 - 7,23
 By The Venerable R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
 Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

Act I has set the pattern and has declared that the drama is to be a tragedy. Act II does two things: it emphasizes the separation between Jesus and the leaders, and it draws the disciples closer to Him; incidentally it reveals to us a multitude consumed with curiosity and wonder, but with no stability.
 The act opens with the withdrawal of Jesus from the town and the gathering of a multitude from Idumaea in the South to Sidon in the North. There are many healings. Then comes a step, crucial for the age-long future—Jesus chooses Twelve and names them Apostles or Missionaries and gives them at least a temporary commission to do exactly as He is doing. It is at this point that Matthew recounts the Sermon on the Mount. Jesus returns from the open country to a house and a new situation develops. The authorities in Jerusalem send Scribes down to Galilee and they declare that Jesus is in league with the devil. It is the sort of claim that frightened religious authority tends to make against a reformer—Jesus warns them that to confuse good with evil is to sin against the Holy Ghost.

 Now His family feels that His notoriety has gone far enough. They come to put Him under restraint and to take Him home. Jesus repudiates them. Even family ties must not interfere with the Kingdom. The breach is not healed until the Cross.
 Now a new phase opens: Jesus changes His style of teaching from the direct to the indirect, from the sermon to the parable, beginning with the sower and going on to the seed growing of itself, and the parable of the mustard seed. It is the time for a change. The Scribes have practically declared Him a public enemy by asserting that He is in league with the devil. He replies by saying: Unto you, the disciples, those who accept Me for what I am, unto you it is given to know the mystery of the Kingdom of God, but unto them that are without; that is, to all those who reject me, who will not come within my band of disciples, all things are done in parable. If you want to understand you must come inside.

With this great day of teaching over He seeks refuge by crossing the Sea of Galilee in their little fishing boat, bringing the rising storm under control, deepening the growing faith of the disciples. However, the day's activities are not quite at an end. When they leave the boat they are confronted by the demoniac. He is healed at the cost of the herd of swine, and the villagers find the price of the salvation of one soul too high for them and they ask Jesus to depart.

Back on the western side of the Sea, Jesus is met by Jairus seeking healing for his daughter. The journey is interrupted by a woman seeking healing for herself; a healing which draws power from Jesus; the scene ends with the restoration of the child to her parents, with the three chosen witnesses to record the events. It is at this point that Mark records the rejection of Jesus at Nazareth; a rejection due to their small jealousy of one of their fellow-townfolk. He now makes effective the choice and commissioning of the Twelve, with especial reference to their power over unclean spirits; and He requires them to travel as lightly as He does. Their mission is effective. Mark uses the occasion to tell the story of the martyrdom of John the Baptist. But on the return of the Twelve Jesus takes them out to the open (Continued on Page 9)

Former moderator speaks in Life and Lent series

The fourth in a great series of Life and Lent Services will hear one of Canada's outstanding church leaders and preachers, Very Rev. C. M. Nicholson, principal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax, N.S. and former Moderator of the United Church of Canada.

Dr. Nicholson began his adult life as a coal miner, fell ill with T.B. (eight months of hospital which he describes as "the most important of my life") and after his recovery entered upon his studies for the Ministry.

He was to become the first Maritimer, the first man ordained after Church Union and the youngest minister ever to be elected Moderator of the United Church. He is the possessor of three honorary DD degrees and one LLD, a member of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches. But his proudest title was that featured recently in an "Observer" article "Big Nick of Pine Hill". He is proud, too, that he was once a dues-paying member of the United Mine Workers' Union. His topic will be, "The Deliverance of the Cross".

The service will be conducted by the Rev. Eric Errey of Queen Mary road Church assisted by the Rev. George Morre of St. Lukes Church. The combined choirs of Queen Mary road and Westminster-Central will be directed by Kenneth Gilbert. Ten west and United Churches cooperate in these services. A cordial invitation is extended to all. country east of the Sea of Galilee, only to be followed by a wonder seeking crowd. As usual He responds by teaching them by the Feeding of the Five Thousand, pitying them as sheep without a shepherd. He dismisses the satisfied crowd and the disciples and retires to the mountain to pray, presently coming to the storm stayed disciples, walk on the water. On the west side of the Sea there is another period of healing. This is followed by another clash with Pharisees and Scribes, this time on a question of the washing of hands. They demand a following of the tradition: He counters with a quotation from their own Old Testament Scriptures demanding cleanness of heart. But now Jesus carries the war to their camp. The breach becomes wider when he denounces their way of allowing the pretended dedication of property to override the necessity of caring for parents. The climax of the teaching is in Mark's comment, after a discourse on clean and unclean meats: "This He said, making all meats clean." One feels that a chapter in religious history has closed. But it should also be said that the breach between Jesus and the leaders of His people has

St. Andrew's United Church

"Jesus' Death Was Different" is the sermon subject at the morning service in Saint Andrew's United Church, Westmount, Sunday. The sermon will be preached by Dr. D. M. Grant. Rev. Robert Mumford's sermon subject at the evening service is "Invisible Means Of Support". Music at both services will be directed by Mr. Eric Adams, organist and choir director.

The church school meets Sunday morning, the seniors and intermediates at 10:00, other departments at 11. The communicants class meets on Sunday at 6:30.

The Evening Group of the WA will meet at 8, Monday. Tuesday the WA meets at 2, the Scouts at 7:15, the Bible Study Group at 8 and the board of managers at 8:15.

Very Rev. C. M. Nicholson, principal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax, a member of the executive of the World Council of Churches and a former moderator of the United Church, will be the speaker at the Life and Lent Series of Devotions Wednesday. This series, sponsored by ten United Churches in the West End meets each Wednesday in Lent at Wesley United Church at 8:00.

been widened in His flouting of the tradition. He has freed those who will accept the freedom but He has made more bitter enemies of those who will not.

Christian Science

How spiritual understanding of true manhood brings new health and freedom will be explained Sunday at Christian Science services.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man" will include the following passage from the Bible (Psalms 16:5,6): "The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup; thou maintainest my lot. The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (317:18)

"The understanding of his spiritual individuality makes man more real, more formidable in truth, and enables him to conquer sin, disease, and death."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (37:37): "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace."

Women's Art Society hears Toronto curator

Dr. William Dale, curator of a bishop's crosier now in the Toronto Art Gallery, addressed the Women's Art Society Tuesday on "English Mediaeval Ivories". In stressing the symbolism of this material to the early Christian Church, he took of a bishop's crosier now in the Victoria and Albert Museum, as the theme for his lecture.

On this crosier, in minute carving, is depicted the Nativity, with angels, shepherds, and animals. Another group of figures, long thought to be also from the Gospels, proved to be the life history of St. Nicholas, whose relics had been discovered in the twelfth century. Linking this carving with related pictures from the great windows of Chartres Cathedral, Dr. Dale had discovered this fact and established the date of the crosier, which had been made in Canterbury, in that century.

The lecture was beautifully illustrated with his own slides.

St. Antoine-Westmount Conservatives organize

A large and enthusiastic group of women workers from the Westmount District of the St. Antoine - Westmount Conservative Organization met during the week and heard Ross Webster and other district representatives speak on the forthcoming election.

"The support being displayed for the Conservative party is beyond anything I had anticipated," said Webster in a short but driving talk. "The numbers rallying to the assistance of our party in this area indicates clearly that the people of this constituency want representation on the Government side of the House of Commons".

Plans are just about completed for an all-out campaign to get under way and other sections of the riding have their plans well in hand. In the Westmount district Mrs. Theodore Meighen and Mrs. A. K. Glass-Ford have been chosen co-chairmen of the Women's committee, and, although the response from workers has been outstanding, they are still interested in hearing from additional numbers who can devote some time to promotional work.

Mr. Webster pointed out the great respect shown by the Conservative Party, under John Diefenbaker, for the women of Canada. "The fact that, for the first time, a woman, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, has been appointed to the cabinet is complete indication of the understanding and appreciation of the Conservative Party for the part women are playing in Canada today".

Mr. Webster announced that the campaign headquarters will be opened next week in Victoria Hall and other district offices will be operating about the same time.

Everything seems set to go in to high gear, reported Webster, with the men, women and young PCs in all districts operating effectively. He promised that MRS. E. G. PATTERSON (left) was named chairman of the Women's Division of 1958 Combined Appeal for the Blind. Her vice-chairmen are: Mrs. Jean-Paul Carriere, Miss Elizabeth Fisher and Mrs. Harold A. Satim. Mrs. Patterson announced that all workers in the Women's Residential Division will redouble their efforts this year to attain the increased objective of $250,000. "The six associations joined in this 'One Appeal' for the blind cannot continue their vital services to our sightless unless all give as generously as their means will permit," stated Mrs. Patterson.

Mrs. E. D. Errey elected head of Montreal Presbyterian WMS

Mrs. E. D. Errey was elected President of the Montreal Presbyterian of the Woman's Missionary Society of The United Church of Canada at the 32nd annual meeting held recently in Dominion-Douglas United Church. She succeeds Mrs. J. Lovell Baker, who chaired the conference.

Rev. Hilda Johnson was guest speaker and took issue with the "I couldn't care less" phrase of common usage.

"Caring, sharing and a revitalized declaring are vital requirements today," she said.

At another session, Miss Johnson spoke of her work at Indore in India and a panel discussion was held on church vocations for women.

Panel members included Mrs. G. H. Houston, Miss Marion Millar and Miss Judy Coull. Moderator was Miss Daisy McNeill.

Mrs. J. P. Atkinson, treasurer, showed in her report that givings in 1957 were $56,600, $6,100 more than allocation. There are 93 auxiliaries with a membership of almost 3,000.

The report of the supply secretary showed that interest and support of clothing relief for Canadian missions has increased to an all-time high with 3,750 pounds being donated last year.

On the other hand, support of clothing relief for overseas has decreased by almost two-thirds to 5,831 pounds from 13,628 pounds in 1956.

"This is an unfortunate trend," stated the report, "for while the need for free clothing decreases in Canada due to our continued prosperity, we are forgetting our sisters and brothers overseas who are still in need of help."

Approximately $1,200 worth of books were sold in the literature department during the year.

Officers elected include: past president, Mrs. Baker; president Mrs. Errey; vice-presidents Mrs. L. A. Van Duzer, Mrs. J. M. McNicoll, Mrs. Jacques Beaudon, Mrs. G. E. Cross, Mrs. W. Stirling and Mrs. E. G. Knowles.

Sectional vice-presidents are: Mrs. John Hole, Mrs. J. W. Rennie, Mrs. J. R. Watson, Mrs. H. T. Owens and Mrs. A. D. Turnbull.

Mrs. E. T. H. Seely re-elected head of MCH Women's Auxiliary

At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Montreal Children's Hospital, March 5, Mrs. E. T. H. Seely was elected president for a second year. Mrs. Seely in her report pointed out that this is the first complete year in the new hospital, and the work of the auxiliary has been marked by a greater number and greater variety of services, the result of which, over $20,000 was raised from various money making projects.

The Snack Bar fills a dual role, giving service to the staff and patients. The efforts of Mrs. Yull and her forty volunteers resulted in $7,000.00 being turned in to the Auxiliary.

Much of the credit for the success of the Tiny Tim Toy Shop goes to Mrs. Cameron Hough, her board and her volunteers. $1,000.00 was presented as a result of their hard work.

The Nearly New Shop operated jointly by the Women's Auxiliary of the Royal Victoria Hospital and by this Auxiliary had another remarkable year, during which $20,000.00 was divided between the two hospitals. Virtually all the clerical work for the Tiny Tim Annual Appeal was handled by the members, over an eight week period. Over $1,000.00 was realized from two rummage sales. Mrs. Donald Stewart and Mrs. A. G. Racey were the chairmen for these events.

Dr. DeBelle was presented with a cheque for $9,000.00 to be used where it is most needed. Dr. David Murphy, surgeon-in-chief, a cheque for $3,000.00 for special surgical equipment, and to Dr. Alan Ross, physician-in-chief, $3,000.00 for medical research in Vitamin E. This $15,000.00 in addition to the $5,000.00 already spent or contracted for constitute the Auxiliary's donations for the year.

and sound-alikes in opera history are Metropolitan Opera tenor Richard Tucker and the late great Enrico Caruso." It has always seemed natural that they be compared.

Further similarities may be found between the two. Both came from families in moderate circumstances and had to work hard for the training necessary for them to perfect their voices. Like Caruso, Mr. Tucker never stints on his great gift. Unlike many singers who do not sing full voice many performances, he gives his all because he feels he owes the audience his best at all times.

But the greatest comparison is in the voices of the two. Louis Biancolli of the New York World Telegram and Sun summed it up when he wrote, "Mr. Tucker has been called the Brooklyn Caruso.

Liberals play up Tory differences

By POWELL SMILY
(Special to Montior)

Ottawa—There are signs and portents that, in spite of all the headlines in the newspapers, Mr. Diefenbaker and his Progressive-Conservative Party are not coasting along on a cloud of undiluted confidence.

The breaks in the cloud have been generated in quite a number of individual constituencies, where it would seem that internal dissension has reared its ugly head. Starting in the riding of Ottawa West and spreading both ways to include Quebec, the Maritimes, other parts of Ontario, the Prairie Provinces and B.C., there are strong indications of strife and turmoil in the Tory ranks.

An excellent example is provided in the Montreal electoral district of Mount Royal. A great delegates to the Tory nomination convention were in favor of Harold Landy as the official PC candidate, and it has been said that these citizens feel the convention was rigged in favor of Town of Mount Royal Mayor Reg Dawson.

Here in Ottawa, I have heard it suggested that Tory headquarters preferred Dawson to Landy, and that the word was passed along.

The Liberals, of course, would like to take all these separate

Westmount Stars, Royal Pharmacy lead Saint Laurent loop playoffs

The St. Laurent Intermediate Hockey League playoffs got away to a fine start. Westmount Stars defeated Le Prevost 6-3 and Royal Pharmacy upset St. Laurent T.P.'s 2-0.

Westmount, who edged St. Laurent T. P.'s from first place in the last game of the schedule had little trouble with the winless Le Prevost team.

The Stars struck early when Bob Brown combined with McGowan for 3:42 of the first period. Two minutes later Craig slapped in the rebound after Cleroux had made a fine stop from Pat Lomasney.

Westmount continued to roll in the second period when Mitchell, Lomasney, Painchaud and MacDonald all tallied. Le Prevost continued to amaze the on-lookers by their lack of scoring punch. Although controlling the play a good part of the two periods, it was not until the third that they finally scored.

Claude Vezina, their only scoring threat, bagged a hat trick in the third period to make the final score 6-3. However, unless Le Prevost makes better use of their scoring chances this series should wind up next week.

The game between the runner-up T. P.'s and the third place Royal Pharmacy was a thriller with both teams going all out from start to finish.

Rich Bell gave the Pharmacy the lead at the 8:00 minute mark of the first period when he took a perfect centering pass from Ron Kenwood and beat Kerr with an ankle high shot to the corner. T. P.'s controlled the puck most of the game but their vaunted scoring punch was missing. The Pharmacy defence broke up one T.P. attack after another and if they failed Pete Jodoin in their nets just wouldn't be beaten.

Late in the third Jim Campbell split the T. P. defence, beat Kerr to a rolling puck and scored into the empty net to make the final score 2-0.

Saturday, Westmount meets Le Prevost in the first game while the T. P.'s clash with the Royal Pharmacy in the nitecap.
