RIOT ACT PROVISIONS LIFTED FROM ASBESTOS

World News In Brief

Rome, May 9.—(P)—Princess Margaret "probably" will be received tomorrow by Pope Pius, a spokesman for the British legation to the Holy See said today.

The spokesman, John Sebastian Somers Cocks, chief secretary of the legation, said "final details have not been completed, but the audience probably will take place tomorrow."

Washington, May 9.—(P)—President Truman observed his 65th birthday yesterday and told his pastor he is hale and hearty because he has worked hard and so kept out of mischief.

After church, Truman spent the day quietly with his family at Blair House.

Paris, May 9.—(Reuters)—The Paris stock exchange closed down today when employees went on strike for higher wages. Dealings were expected to be carried on for state bonds and certain securities, as well as on the gold market. These operations usually are made by the employers themselves.

Haifa, May 9.—(Reuters)—Sydney Stanley, key witness in the recent inquiry into alleged corruption in British public life, arrived here today aboard an Israeli ship from Marseille after being missing for more than a month.

His first act on landing was to cable Sir Hartley Shawcross, Britain's attorney-general, who questioned him during the inquiry: "Please inform House of Commons that I am not over Warsaw."

(Before he disappeared from London, British authorities had attempted unsuccessfully to deport the Polish-born Stanley to Poland.)

Moscow, May 9.—(P)—Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky today accused Britain and the United States of creating "artificial tensions" in international relations and declared only the "new type" Soviet army could win a modern war.

Sokolovsky repeated Soviet charges that the western allies carried out only "limited operations" against Germany during the war. He added that the western powers' attitude toward their Soviet allies was brought out even more clearly during the post-war period when, he claimed, they sabotaged the Yalta and Potsdam agreements.

Istanbul, Turkey, May 9.—(P)—Twenty persons were drowned yesterday when a truck plunged into a river near Bungal in eastern Turkey, press reports said. The dispatches said the truck's brakes failed and the vehicle smashed through a bridge railing into the river.

Town Quiet Over Week-End As 350 Provincial Police Continue To Patrol Streets

East Reports 20 Week-End Fatalities

By The Canadian Press

A father's decision to draw in one more netful of herring brought death to him and his son in the choppy waters of the St. Lawrence river at Baie Des Sables, in Quebec's Gaspé district.

George Berube, 47, and his son Aurelien, 19, were drowned when their fishing craft overloaded with herring capsized as the nets were thrown out again. A younger Berube boy, clinging to the overturned boat, was rescued.

The deaths were among 20 reported during the week-end in eastern Canada by The Canadian Press.

Seven persons, six of them pedestrians, were killed in traffic mishaps and seven others were drowned.

Another double drowning was reported in Quebec. Oscar Brosseau, 40, and Leon Bessault, 18, both of Montreal, were drowned when their canoe upset in a lake near their homes.

Lionel Gauthier, of Senneterre, Que., was drowned at Val d'Or, Que., when the Chococouanne river washed out a section of highway. Gauthier's truck plunged in the river. The body of Polydore Poiré, 48, of Lauson, Que., was taken from the harbor at Quebec city and at Montreal the body of Edward Pfeiffer, 19, of Verdun, Que., was found in the back river. Pfeiffer was drowned several months ago.

Mary Arnold, 12, was fatally injured at Stellarton, N. S., when she was hit by an automobile and police have charged George B. Fraser, identified as the driver of the car, with manslaughter. Others fatally injured by vehicles were: Mrs. John Eldridge, 50, of Chester, N. S.; George Dugas, 75, of St. Anne des Monts, Que.; Gerard Simon, 42, near Hull, Que.; Michelle Paquin, six, of Sorel, Que.; Donald Joseph Ladouceur, five, of Sudbury, Ont., and John Thomas Falkiner, three, of Woodstock, Ont.

Sydney Dunn, 57, of Freeport, Ont., was killed by a bolt of lightning while fishing at New Dundee, Ont. Noah Bowman, 79, of Listowel, Ont., was killed in the only fatal highway collision reported during the week-end.

Two-year-old Danny Sugarmann died in a Toronto hospital of burns suffered when he fell into a tub of hot water Wednesday and in Montreal, Mrs. R. Brown, 54, died of injuries from a fall in her bathtub.

Election Campaign Moves Into Full Swing This Week

Ottawa, May 9.—(P)—Hundreds of enumerators today begin the mammoth task of preparing voters lists for the June 27 federal election.

In 262 federal ridings across the Dominion, they will go from door to door, compiling lists of all persons eligible to vote. They finish the enumeration May 14 and turn the lists over to returning officers May 15.

That's just one of the signs that the election campaign is on in earnest.

George Drew, national Progressive leader, speaks today in Charlottetown, opening a two-week tour of Canada's four eastern provinces. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent moves east tomorrow, to be followed May 16 by M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C. C. F.

Conan Low, Social Credit leader, plans to start his campaign in the west.

Mr. Drew's Charlottetown speech is the first of 15 public meetings he'll attend between now and May 21 when he returns to Ottawa for two meetings in Carleton, his own riding.

He celebrated his 55th birthday Saturday by being unanimously nominated to contest Carleton—where he was elected to the Commons in a by-election last fall after resigning from the Ontario premiership to take over the party's national leadership. He told his audience one of the big election issues is the choice be-

Approximately 200 Placed Under Arrest As A Result Of Last Week's Disturbances.

Asbestos, Que., May 9.—(P)—The riot act has been lifted from this strike-troubled asbestos mining centre but 350 provincial police still patrol its streets today.

The act prohibits assembly, except for church services, of more than two persons under penalty of possible life imprisonment. It was read to the townspeople here early Friday morning following an outburst of violence the previous day.

The incidents Thursday, in which a number of provincial police officers were beaten, grew out of the bitter, long-drawn-out strike of 5,000 miners in Quebec's rich asbestos belt. The strike started February 13 when the men walked out seeking union security and an increase of 15 cents in their basic pay of 85 cents an hour.

Yesterday, hundreds of subdued residents of the town attended mass in the Roman Catholic church and heard their union padre, Father Philippe Camirand, deplore last week's violence. He added that the 2,100 strikers in Asbestos were "men of great piety and obedience."

A heavy detachment of police watched the proceedings. Shortly afterwards, it was announced that provisions of the riot act had been lifted. The announcement was greeted quietly, with no demonstrations.

Over the town of 6,000 still hung the shadow of the mass arrests made Friday when police took over Asbestos. About 200 men were arrested and the greater part of them still are in jail awaiting court appearance on various charges.

Last night a Montreal lawyer, Jean Drapeau, charged that police had denied him the right to see 60 of the men, who, he said, had retained him.

(Because of lack of space in the jails of Eastern Townships towns where the strike is located, some of those arrested were moved to Bordeaux jail in Montreal, more than 100 miles away. They will appear in court in Sherbrooke, 35 miles from Asbestos.)

Mr. Drapeau's charge followed claims by union leaders that police had used unwarranted brutality in making the arrests.

Rodolphe Hamel, president of the Asbestos Workers Federation, an affiliate of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, said the conduct of the police was being investigated by the union.

Meanwhile, the strikers are receiving financial aid for their families from other unions and from the Roman Catholic church in the province. Last week, Msgr. Maurice Roy, Archbishop of Quebec, announced that Quebec parishes would take up collections for strikers' families. It was learned in Quebec last night that 14 parishes had contributed $3,370 to buy food for shipment to the strike areas.

The church has officially stated that it is opposed to the strike—termed illegal by the provincial government—and has issued several pleas for both sides to submit their cases to arbitration.

Montreal, May 9.—(P)—Jean Drapeau, Montreal lawyer, yesterday released the text of a letter addressed to Premier Duplessis protesting the action of provincial police "who denied me the right" to see 60 strikers from Asbestos, Que., detained in jail here.

Mr. Drapeau has been retained as attorney for the men who were brought here Saturday night pending arraignment in Sherbrooke on various charges arising from strike disturbances in Asbestos last week.

"Such tactics are absolutely unqualifiable," said the letter, which listed in detail the efforts he claimed to have made to reach the men since 7 p.m. Saturday.

He claimed to have had no better luck in a call to the attorney-general's department at Quebec city. Mr. Duplessis is attorney-general. Mr. Drapeau said the assistant attorney-general told him he was powerless to act in his own department.

The letter recalled that all persons taken under arrest have a

Labor Party Prepares For Conference

London, May 9.—(Reuters)—Demands for more vigorous application of Socialist policies will be a keynote of the 1949 Labor party annual conference at Blackpool June 6-10.

The final agenda, issued yesterday, shows that the main interest still centres on domestic policies, particularly cost of living, the need for more houses, and future nationalization proposals.

Domestic and international problems sometimes are linked in the resolutions to come before the conference, as in an East Coventry local party suggestion that the cost of defence is responsible for the government's inability to cut the cost of living.

The resolution "recognizes that Britain must contribute her fair share towards collective security but urges the government to base its foreign policy on the two principles (A) that a decent standard of living is the best bulwark against Communism and (B) that the Atlantic treaty should reduce and not increase the military commitments of its signatories."

Several local Labor parties have tabled resolutions on Ireland. One wants Labor to promise to end partition in its 1950 election program. Two others seek a government inquiry into the present electoral system in Northern Ireland.

On domestic policy, there are 33 resolutions on housing, most of them expressing satisfaction with the government's achievement but calling for intensified effort in the future to increase the number built and to cut building costs and rentals.

The second largest group of resolutions concern the government's economy policy. It calls for freedom to seek fair wages but for heavier taxes on profits and continued price controls.

Fighting Moves To Within Seventeen Miles Of Shanghai

By FRED HAMPSON

Shanghai, May 9.—(AP)—Fighting around Kaiting today brought the Chinese civil war to an area 17 miles northwest of the heart of Shanghai.

Far to the southwest, Communist armies pressed a twin-pronged offensive along an irregular 200-mile front. This operation extended from the seaport of Hangchow on the east to Lake Poyang on the west. At some places the Red drive had carried 200 miles south of Yangtze.

A Shanghai garrison command announced seemed to indicate the fighting closest to Shanghai was on a small scale. Kaiting is on the Shanghai-Nanking highway seven miles north of the railway thrusting along the rail line were within 55 miles of Shanghai.

Inside the largest Asian city, the Nationalist garrison ordered Chinese and foreign business firms and some government agencies to turn over 950 trucks and 300 jeeps for "military purposes."

Foreign consulates, including the British and American, were interceding to try to keep the garrison from commandeering the foreign vehicles. Many British and American firms were hard hit by the order. Some were engaged in essential activities.

The garrison order told owners

Pope States Socialism Is Not Cure-All

Vatican City, May 9.—(P)—Pope Pius has told Roman Catholics that socialism cannot be the answer to the world's economic ills.

The answer must be found in contracts between employers and workers which preserve the authority of the employer while providing for "the prosperity of all the members of the people," the Pontiff said.

The Pope spoke Saturday night to delegations of Roman Catholic employers from Britain, Canada, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Italy. The text of his speech, delivered in French, was released by the Vatican today.

There is no "irreducible clash of interests" between employers and employees, the Pontiff declared. He quoted from an encyclical on labor and capital—quadragesimo anno—issued in 1931 by Pope Pius XI, which recommended "a public statute founded upon the community of responsibility among all those who take part in production."

"At present, this part of the encyclical seems almost to furnish us, unhappily, with an example of an occasion lost because it was not seized in time," the Pope commented.

The Pope pleaded for elimination of mutual suspicion by workers and employers.

He said "recent experiments in socialism" had underscored the difficulties in international exchange and from the lack of capital.

"Why not," he asked, "while there is still time, put things in order in the full consciousness of common responsibility in a way to assure the one (the employer) against unjust suspicion, and the others (the workers) against illusions which will not be long in becoming social perils?"

The Pope recommended that workers, through investments of savings, should "participate in the constitution of the national capital."

"The proprietor of the means of production, whoever he may be—private proprietor, association of workers, or a foundation—must always, within the limits of the public right of the economy, remain the master of his economic decisions. It flows from that that his revenue is greater than that of his collaborators."

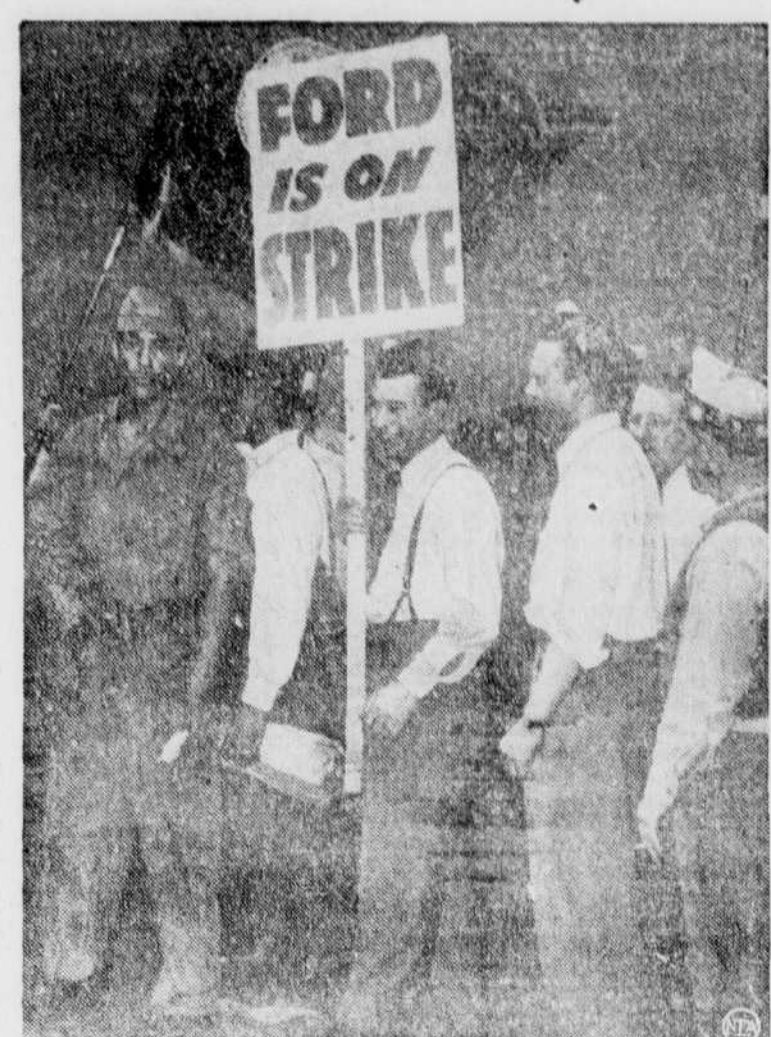

"But it follows that the material prosperity of all members of the people which is the aim of the social economy, imposes upon him (the proprietor) more than upon others the obligation to contribute to the growth of national capital."

"The doctrine of the church demands of all foresight and clairvoyance, a strong measure of common sense . . . above all a strong reaction against the temptation for each to look to his own advantage at the expense of others . . . and to the detriment of the common good."

With equal solicitude . . . we see come to us, one by one, the workers and the representatives of the industrial organizations.

Picket Lines Busy

Carrying a picket sign that tells its own story, Tommy Thompson, president of the UAW-CIO Local 600, joins striking Ford workers outside the company's River Rouge plant near Detroit.

Ford Refuses Outside Bids To Mediate Rouge Strike

Detroit, May 9.—(P)—Ford Motor Company refused outside offers of mediation today as effects of the five-day strike spread from coast to coast.

The company held to its position that the speed-up dispute should be arbitrated by an expert selected by the company and union. The United Automobile Workers Union (UAW) has rejected this suggestion.

With prospects for an early settlement of the 65,000-man walk-out growing dimmer, the union staged a mass demonstration yesterday. It was partly to arouse enthusiasm among strikers, partly to put on a show of strength, the union said.

UAW president Walter Reuther led the parade of 5,000 unionists. Mayor Orville Hubbard, of Dearborn, where the Giant Rouge plant is situated, marched too.

One of the offers of mediation came from Hubbard. The UAW said it would attend a meeting suggested by the mayor. Another offer was made by acting mayor George Edwards of Detroit, who tendered the use of this city's labor mediation committee.

Ford's rejection of both was set forth in a statement by John S. Bugas, vice-president in charge of industrial relations.

"This is a company-union dispute," Bugas said. "There is no issue in the current strike which cannot be quickly, promptly and peaceably handled by established procedure."

"Therefore, we see no need to turn the matter over to other individuals or groups outside the contract machinery."

The contract provides that such disputes should be handled to an arbitrator, Bugas said.

Today, the company said, another 5,000 workers would be laid off. They are employees at Ford plants in Los Angeles, St. Louis, Metuchen, N.J., Minneapolis-St. Paul and Iron Mountain, Mich.

Numerous small plants among Ford's 3,500 suppliers were also beginning to feel the pinch.

Mass unemployment was rapidly undermining business in Dearborn. The suburban community is built around the Rouge plant, and the shut-down had repercussions in every part of the town.

Thomas Thompson, president of Rouge local 600, said, however, that "no needy union members will starve." He said $3,000 was being spent daily for food at union soup kitchens. Strikers will be cared for, he promised, "regardless of the length of the strike."

It is the union's contention that Ford is requiring too much work out of too few men on assembly operations in the Rouge plant, and in the Lincoln-Mercury plant. Ford denies any speed-ups exist.

President Henry Ford II said the company plans to retain its "right to set work standards."

Elsewhere in the industry, 47,000 idle employees were due back at work today.

Man, Woman Saved From Mountain

By GEORGE BRIMMELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Vancouver, May 9.—(P)—A lumbering silver R.C.A.F. Lancaster touched down at dusk here last night and taxied to a stop.

Out stepped Bill Grant and Sheila Cure—home from a dramatic escape from death after a plane crash in the mountains of northern Washington state.

Canadian and United States fliers had braved countless dangers in six days of search and rescue.

But Miss Cure had another explanation for their safe return:

"I'm sure there was someone upstairs looking after us."

Fifty feet from the snow-capped peak of 8,080-foot Mount Hozomeen, three miles south of the international border and 135 miles east of here, sits their light Canuck aircraft.

Grant pancaked the plane on the mountain Monday afternoon in a blinding snowstorm on a flight from Miss Cure's Cardston, Alta., home to Vancouver. Its propeller was torn off and its left wing was damaged. But the two were unharmed.

Tuesday the R.C.A.F. started its intensive search for the couple. In all, 11 aircraft flew more than 25,000 miles, burned more than 17,000 gallons of fuel. All aircraft—162 men—and all ground crew—42 men—participated in the operation.

Friday morning the plane was sighted by Lac. Fred Hillier, 27, of Vancouver. Flying in an R.C.A.F. Canso piloted by F.O. J. H. Macleod of Prince Rupert.

The two survivors, who had trekked 14 miles from the wreck, were sighted shortly after by a civilian aircraft, one of five which participated in the search.

That afternoon, three R.C.A.F. para-rescue men plummeted into the crazy gorge to the couple's aid.

Their heroism was described by Group Capt. Z. L. Leigh, ranking search and rescue officer, as "beyond words."

A ground party of lumbermen set out from a lumber camp, 11 miles from the survivors. The three parties—the survivors, the para-rescue and the ground party—met Saturday morning.

Through the jungle-like country they slashed their way back to civilization yesterday and a United States coast guard helicopter, which has assisted in the operation since Thursday, brought the survivors out last night.

During their six-day ordeal Grant, 28-year-old Vancouver draughtsman and Miss Cure, 28-year-old student nurse, survived on five chocolate bars and water.

They were only light clothing and kept warm by wrapping themselves in a curtain Miss Cure's mother had made for her room. They had one book of matches and enough paper to build a fire each night.

Britain Plans Increase In Buying Here

Ottawa, May 9.—(P)—Trade Minister Howe announced today Britain is planning additional purchases of Canadian goods—including canned salmon, timber, flour, apples and fruit pulp—"provided agreement can be reached on prices."

He added "I have told the United Kingdom that there need be no doubt of the ability of Canadian suppliers to meet competition from any part of the world."

Mr. Howe, who returned yesterday from a visit to the U. K. broke down the details of the additional purchases this way:

Canned salmon—between 300,000 and 400,000 cases, depending on price, for delivery before the end of the year. A representative of the British ministry of food is coming to Canada to open negotiations.

Timber—special purchases to the approximate value of $10,000, 600 from the United States and

Constitution Completed For West German Government

By JAMES DEVLIN

Bonn, Germany, May 9.—(AP)—Germans at last have the constitution for a new west German republic—democratic, unarmed and pledged to peace.

Today it was in the hands of the western zone military governors for final approval. The 11 west German states' legislatures also must ratify it.

Despite opposition from states-rights, some centrist and the Communists, the German constitutional convention approved it, 53 to 12 last night.

German democracy was re-born on paper at least—four years to the day after Nazi Germany's openly conceded defeat.

The constitution leaves the door open for the Russian zone to join the new state—if free elections take place in Soviet-controlled east Germany.

France made at a Washington conference April 8 when they agreed to the proposed republic.

These are believed to include control over basic relations between Germany and the outside world as well as security against a revival of German militarism.

Each of the three western powers would terminate military government and appoint a high commissioner. The three high commissioners would be the top authority in Germany.

The fundamental law of west Germany, as set up by the new constitution, marks a historic change-over to democracy. However, it calls for a democratic federal republic to govern the western zones' 43,000,000 inhabitants until a government can be formed for all Germany.

2. Paves the way for general parliamentary elections in the three western zones. It is hoped the new government can take office July 15.

3. Makes the plotting of aggressive war a punishable offence. There is no provision for an army. No one—neither the president nor parliament—has power to declare war.

4. A bill of rights guarantees racial, linguistic and religious equality. Freedom of press, religion and assembly is pledged. Censorship is forbidden.

5. The death penalty is forbidden in the land where the headman's ax, the hangman's noose and town, rich, prosperous and still young. Al was afraid Mary might be sorry she had married him.

They got to the party rather late, having first got the children to bed. It was a good party. Conversation was humming and everyone was in a festive mood. The hostess came up to them and dragged them to the cocktail table.
And there was Don. He looked healthy and happy and very pleased with himself. And exactly the same, if not handsomer.

He grasped Mary's hand and made a big fuss over her. She smiled and seemed glad to see him.
He said, "You're better looking than ever, Mary," and she turned to Al and said, "Darling, I'd like you to meet Don Winslow. Don, this is my husband."

The two men shook hands and exchanged pleasantries. Then Al listened while Don spent some time telling of his business acumen and got a few unasked-for lessons on how to make his first million.

Mary sat down and made small talk with Nancy Adams, who had just moved to town six months ago. "Honestly, Mary," Nancy gasped suddenly, "have you noticed how much Al and Don Winslow look alike? It's amazing!"

And Mary stopped and contemplated the two men. "Why," she said slowly, "I guess they do somewhat. Except," and she laughed apologetically, "Al's so much better looking."

And Al, who had heard the conversation and Mary's answer, turned toward her. He looked at her and caught her smile and knew that she really meant what she had said. He smiled at his wife and felt wonderful.

No Room For Fear Servicemen Say

London, May 9. — Women often have a good deal more courage than men, judging by some of the anecdotes in "Fire Service Memories," a book of reminiscences recently published by Commander Sir Aylmer Firebrace,
chief of fire staff for Great Britain from 1941 to 1947.

He tells how a firewoman was asked "Were you ever badly frightened during service?"
"Yes," she said and went on to relate:

"During a bull in a raid I had opened my canteen van in front of the town hall at X. Suddenly a second wave of bombers came in and quite a lot of incendiaries were dropped all around. I couldn't leave the canteen van and there was nowhere to take cover."

"Why didn't you get under the van?" she was asked.

"I tried to," she said, "but there were 14 men under it, already and there wasn't room."

two women auxiliaries waited to hand around the vegetables as soon as the men resumed their chairs.

Finally Sir Aylmer tells of a letter he got from a friend whose farm had just been hit by incendiary bombs. The letter ended:
"The bulls were terrified. The cows took no notice."

Will Develop Ranch Lands Of Australia

By LESLIE BRODIE

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Sydney Australia, May 9. —
The Cindarella lands in the northern part of Australia are to be developed in to a gigantic beef-producing centre.

When Prime Minister Joseph B.
Chifley left for the prime ministers, conference in London he took with him a long-range plan to spend $160,000,000 on developing the comparatively empty tracts of arable land extending roughly over 500,000 square miles from West Queensland through the Northern Territory to the Indian Ocean on the west coast.

The Australian government proposes to meet the cost, but as part of the scheme Britain is expected to sign a long-term meat agreement that will guarantee a minimum price for all Australia's surplus beef for the next 10 years.

The minimum price the government is demanding will safeguard the ranch owners and the government's financial commitments in developing the area.

Twice in the last eight months Britain has agreed to an increase to encourage cattle production in Australia, but they have not been high enough to warrant big scale development.

Sir Henry Turner, head of the British Food Mission, after an inspection of the territory, conceded it was reasonable for Britain to pay a much higher price to cover the heavy outlay necessary to lift production.

So far, the British government has maintained the present price of $9.92 per 100 pounds of first grade beef is sufficient compensation.

Ranchers Active

However, ranch owners in the north see the present Anglo-Argentine dispute over meat prices as an opportunity to urge the Australian government to do minimise such a book of reminiscences recently published by
Commander Sir Aylmer Firebrace,
chief of fire staff for Great Britain from 1941 to 1947.

In the past a number of Royal Commissions have been held into ways and means of developing the neglected land but each report has been shelved through apparent lack of interest in the area.

Today after almost a century of occupation there are only 500 miles of railroad in the Northern Territory and only one road worth describing as such, the North-South highway constructed by Australia and United States as a military road during the war.

The present development scheme, which now appears certain of being adopted, will start with the establishment of thousands of miles of good roads linking the cattle ranches with export centres in Darwin and at Wyndham in West Australia.

The roads later will be extended to the Kimberley districts of the West and in as far as the Barkly Tablelands of Queensland.

Trucks capable of hauling up to 200 head of cattle in one load on their trailer wagons will be used to get the cattle to the abattoirs quickly. Already many of these huge trucks are in operation around the Alice Springs district.

FUNNY BUSINESS

PITCHING HORSESHOE

By BILLY ROSE

While we were in Honolulu, I heard a story which has been making the rounds for several years and seems certain to wind up as one of the legends of the island...

Some years ago, the Hawaiian Government set up a school on the western tip of Oahu, and among the youngsters who enrolled was a kid named Biluki Olakaka. Biluki took to the 20th Century like most boys take to a sling shot and, a few months after he started studying English, changed his name to Bill.

By the time Bill was 20, he was smoking cork-tips driving a $25 jalopy, and carrying a picture of Betty Grable in his wallet.
And, what's more, he was always telling anyone who would listen that diseases are caused by viruses, not voodoo, and that the ancient system of tabus and temples was so much mumbo-jumbo.

It happened that around that time a friend of Bill's folks—an overseer of a plantation—approached his employer and asked for the hand of his daughter in marriage. When the rich man laughed at him and ordered him off the plantation, the overseer invoked the curse of "kahuna anaana" on him, and in Hawaii
"kahuna anaana" means literally,
"praying one to death."

The "kahuna" make a doll-size image of his victim, sticks pins into it and then spends most of his time in the temple concentrating on the death of his enemy.

A week after the curse was invoked, the plantation owner began to be troubled by violent stomach disorders and, realizing what had happened, retaliated with a "kahuna" of his own against the overseer. What the natives call "double kahuna" was now at work, and three months later both Hawaiians were dead.

Well, to the people who lived at the foot of the volcano where Bill had been raised, it was the ancient magic working again, but the young scoundrel had a civilized and logical explanation for it.
Each of the two men, he said, had complete faith in his own praying and, consequently, it never occurred to either to doubt the efficacy of his enemy's. Certain that the only cause was to outstep the other, each had worked himself into a state of hysteria and, completely absorbed in this irrational process, had neglected the usual physical and material precautions. And so, according to Bill's theory, each had had literally prayed himself to death in the belief that he was inflicting that fate on his enemy.

The young man's parents were shocked at his irreverence and made several trips to the little temple to propitiate the God of the Mountain who, in his anger, might rain fire and destruction on them as he had in ages past, but Bill, only grinned and told them to get wise to themselves.

Then another incident. A few weeks later, a guide named Paaliki, bribed by an extra large tip, walked half a dozen tourists into a temple where "holes," or white men, were not welcome. As they entered a ritual was in progress and one of the tourists flicked the ashes of a cigarette into a sacred urn. The priest, horrified at this blasphemy, pronounced a curse on the audacious guide and predicted that within seven days of the profanement he would meet with violent death.

The terrified guide returned to his hut and stayed there and,
as the end of the seventh day approached, his friends began to wonder if he might not beat the curse.

But a few minutes before sundown, Paaliki's neighbors saw a puff of smoke from the thatched roof and, by the time they got to his hut, the guide had been burned to death.

Well, Bill had an explanation for that one, too. As he saw it, Paaliki, crazed with fear and afraid of being taken unawares, had been unable to sleep the night before.
To keep awake during the last day of the curse, he had chain-smoked, but finally, cigarette in mouth, he had dozed off. And, grass huts being what they are, the rest was simple.

Vancouver Analyst Solved Many Crimes

Vancouver, May 9. — Inspector J. F. C. Vance, Vancouver's "Sherlock Holmes," has retired after 42 years as city analyst during which he solved many crimes though never officially connected with the police department.

The white-haired, dynamic man looks more like a successful businessman or school principal than a criminologist. His title as inspector was purely honorary, in recognition of distinguished services.

For 14 years, ever since a series of attempts were made on his life, he has worked quietly behind the scenes in his laboratory containing $100,000 worth of scientific equipment—spectroscopes, microscopes and ballistic testing apparatus.

Along two walls he has arranged his museum, a record of almost all the major crimes back through the years.

He once reconstructed the events of a murder so convincingly that four Indian suspects claimed
"black magic" and confessed.
Tiny shreds of fabric near the death scene were the only clues.

Official Job—Food
His official job was to examine foodstuffs for possible impurities.
But Inspector Vance answered police calls to the scenes of most major crimes in Vancouver and has assisted authorities in almost every part of the province.

He developed a mechanism for photographing odors with the aid of the spectroscope. No two individuals have exactly the same odor. Perfection of this device so that its findings will be accepted in court on the same basis as fingerprints is one of his retirement projects.

"The most satisfactory phase of our work," he said in an interview,
"has often been to establish beyond all doubt the absolute innocence of men who might otherwise have been convicted on the strength of overwhelming circumstantial evidence."

SOMETHING FOR THE ELECTORATE

In studying the records of those Members of Parliament who are seeking re-election, the electors might well review the attendance of their representative during the past session and balance it against one basic parliamentary rule. Before these members get their monthly pay checks, they have to sign a declaration, a sworn declaration at that, of their daily attendance in the session. For every day over fifteen which they are absent they are docked $37.50. However, this rule is respected rather in the breach than in the observance, for during the 1945-1946 session, only seventeen of the 245 members recorded they had been absent those fifteen days.

An examination of the recurring votes in the Commons shows there is considerable absenteeism in parliamentary attendance and most of the well-known delinquents swore to less than fifteen days of absence. One honorable member did not show up until the last week of the session; another appeared regularly each Wednesday afternoon for the first time in the week, disappeared as regularly each Thursday afternoon; a third ran his law business in a town close to Ottawa, turned up only when vigorously prodded by the party whip; dozens took Thursday to Monday weekends. All took full wages.

The taxpayers are pretty generous to those members who are elected to Parliament and are generally tolerant employers but it is a decidedly poor example to the Civil Service and to workers everywhere when elected representatives defraud the taxpayers, for the honorable members do abuse the "honor" system involved in checking house attendance. Maybe the promise of better members that was made when the increased wage was broached by the Liberals, and assented to so quickly by every member, could be accomplished in the coming general elections. That however, depends on the nominators, who may merely act politically, just as most of the voters do.

THE NEW GERMAN STATE

The formal acceptance of the plan for the establishment of a West German republic is an important and inevitable move towards the restoration of a degree of normalcy to continental Europe. Ever since the Nazi Government of Germany collapsed in the dying days of the Second Great War, it has been obvious that sooner or later a new government must be created for Germany. Making all due allowances for the feelings of those neighboring countries who have frequently felt the weight of German invasion, it has been apparent that Germany could not be long administered by a military government and still play its important role in European recovery.

The Germans are a people with a keen sense of nationality. To them the glory of the Fatherland far surpasses their personal wants and desires. And such a people cannot be held long as a vassal to a group of foreign powers without displaying some reaction which is bound to reflect unfavorably on the occupying authorities. Thus it is necessary that they be given some say in the government and development of their own country and this is accomplished by the establishment of the new republic.

The general record of the German state, however, makes it certain that there must be many reservations insofar as the operations of the new government are concerned. For a generation at least, the relations of Germany with other powers must be subject to some form of international control. In the meantime it might be possible to effect a change in the mentality of the German people as a whole. Strict control is also required for German industry which formed the nucleus of its earlier military aggressive actions.

Germany has important natural assets which are required for the re-creation of Europe, but it is essential that they be used for peaceful and productive purposes rather than for the re-establishment of militarism within the Reich.

It will be interesting to watch the immediate reaction of Russia to the new republic. For many reasons, which are not thickly veiled, the Russians have been opposed to any move which would restore a comparative degree of prosperity to Western Europe and for this reason have done everything within their power to prevent such an eventuality. From surface indications, the Reds have come to the conclusion that their present tactics have proved fruitless—if anything reacting against the Soviet interests—and are lifting the Berlin blockade. However, it may be assumed that they have some further move planned to embarrass the Western Allies in carrying out their rehabilitation policies.

PRESS COMMENTS

THE HAND IS OUT

Windsor Daily Star
Progressive Conservatives in Newfoundland have indicated that their provincial platform, when drafted, will not have an anti-confederation slant. Instead it will maintain that the terms of union are unfair to the island, and will undergo an upward revision under a federal Progressive Conservative administration.

This is all to the good. It is better to have the Newfoundlanders ask for more than to band together in a secession movement. There is nothing new or radical about having a province clamor for increased federal aid. Just the same, a platform asserting that the terms of union are unfair could cause the Progressive Conservatives some embarrassment in the other nine provinces.

The federal Government, for a good many years to come, will pour millions of dollars into Newfoundland under those terms. In the current fiscal year federal expenditures there will exceed $55,000,000, and revenues will not whittle down that sum appreciably. In the first 12 years of union, federal transitional grants will total more than $42,000,000. The federal authority, too, has assumed $63,000,000 of Newfoundland's $72,000,000 public debt.

These financial terms hardly can be called ungenerous. Newfoundland, as a matter of fact, promised considerably less. At any rate it may be good business for island politicians to ask more, but the national party which promises to satisfy that demand if elected will be inviting trouble in the other nine provinces.

Incidentally, the terms of union provide that within eight years a Royal Commission will be appointed to learn if the financial assistance extended to Newfoundland has been adequate. This should be all the safeguard the island requires.

MR. MASSEY'S CULTURAL QUEST

Ottawa Journal
The Government being determined to have its Royal Commission in Arts, Letters and Sciences, there could not have been a better choice of chairman than Mr. Vincent Massey, present Chancellor of the University of Toronto, a former Canadian High Commissioner in London, a gentleman whose own acquaintance with arts, letters and the sciences is far more than casual.

Mr. Massey was quick to see the danger (which The Journal emphasized when decision to appoint the commission was announced) that this might be a sort of cultural omnibus, that the commission would be dominated by high-brows remote from the common man and woman. And the chairman assures us that the commission will not be a high-brow affair, that it isn't to try to impose tastes and standards on the Canadian people, that in fact the word "culture" has small place in his plans.

Those plans are broad, and the commission will be at work for at least a year with its public inquiries into, television radio, music, literature, the sciences, into such questions as a national gallery and a national library, the general purpose being to assist the Canadian people to the fullest enjoyment of these aspects of national life.

On that realistic basis, and under Mr. Massey's guidance, the commission ought to be able to accomplish something of value to this country.

IT'S HARD TO FOOL A CROW

New York Sun
The long series of tales illustrating the sagacity of crows has been enriched by the efforts of the Falcon Sportsmen's Club of Montezuma, New York. Its members, with the approval of the State Conservation Department, planted 500 charges of dynamite in 1,000 acres of wasteland used as a rookery by thousands of crows. One blast, they believed, would rid the region of the feathered marauders with designs on the seeds which shortly will be planted and would provide Cornell University with several hundred dead birds for experimental purposes. The only trouble was that on the night the earth-shattering blast was fired, the crows roosted a mile away from their accustomed perches. The crows needed no fifth columnist in the ranks of the Falcon Sportsmen's Club to bring the news of this gunpowder plot. The minute that men started planting things under their perches instead of in the open, with a scarecrow to give notice that here was a proper eating place, they naturally became suspicious. The incident illustrates again that the crow of which Aesop wrote — the bird which dropped its cheese at the blandishment of the fox — was a different kind of crow. There certainly is nothing silly or stupid about the American species.

TRUSTEES OF THE SOIL

Calgary Albertan
Alberta farmers are rapidly acquiring an attitude of trusteeship toward the soil. The agricultural service board movement is a powerful aid in that direction. It is based on the idea of guidance and encouragement to farmers with a minimum of compulsion. If it fails, municipal and provincial governments will have to step in with a big stick and compel strict observance of soil conservation practices. But such compulsion should be only a last resort. Farmers should be given every chance to tackle this gigantic problem themselves. It will require 100 per cent co-operation from every landowner. The stakes are big: the permanent existence of agriculture as an industry.

THE DEAL'S OFF

Letters To The Editor

MORE ANENT ARENA

The Editor.

Sir—I opened my paper this Wednesday evening and found the editorial page suspiciously quiet. Turned to the sports page, there was something terrific. I finally got the paper straightened out and a brick on it and lo, I find I am mentioned in dispatches. The first question from Mr. O'Donnell, (who is an old or perhaps not so old friend of mine, sure, in the days of my youth I used to buy cars from him), "I wonder how many hockey games Mr. James attended this winter?" Unfortunately I've been under the weather all the winter but not so sick as to warrant the funeral type in which my name appeared so frequently.

No, I don't think the present Arena Building so wonderful except that they got the best building value Sherbrooke ever had. The instructions that I received from Colonel Francis, the manager at that time, were, "That nothing was to appear on the plans that would indicate that it might be used as a skating rink." It was labelled "Agricultural Building." When the Hon. Mr. Motherwell opened it at the first Winter Fair, he said, "This is my ideal of an Agricultural Building and it looks to me as though it would make a very good skating rink, too." Anyway Mr. Francis' instructions were followed.

No royal boxes were included nor yet housegods or whatever the place is called where delinquent hockey players are sent, for a time. Consequently, the number of seats were stepped up a bit.

I knew what I was writing about and the sort of comment that would be forthcoming. I like a man that hits straight from the shoulder, and misses.

When I mentioned that ten seats or rather rows of seats could take the place that seven now occupied, I had my original plans before me. The first plan submitted had the columns outside the seats which made the structural steel cost amount to upwards of $30,000. We had to hedge on that and bring the columns to the ice edge, and the ultimate cost of the steel was around $10,000.

My plans show the seating in section as seven steps, each 18 inches above the other, and the aggregate for the whole in a horizontal plane 18 feet. I also have before me the 1949 edition of American School and University.

Pages 623 to 641 are devoted entirely to illustrated advertisements of stadium and gymnasium seating. I think you will agree that in a business of that type the space that seats take up cannot vary very much or one could easily be right out of the competition. To quote Horne Bros. Mobile Bleachers ten rows in use, occupy 17'-7" closed, 3'-8 1/2" Medart telescopic stadium or gym seats ten rows 17'-4" Universal Bleacher Company ten rows 17'-6" closed, 3'-8". The Medart seats only occupy 2'-8" when closed.

Do not let the remarks of certain men on the subject worry you. I am an architect as good as any around here, probably better than the imported ones but not given an opportunity. If it became my duty to install those seats their proper support would be a foregone conclusion. The present supports do not enter into the picture. "How would we get into them?" The same as you do in most stadium and grandstand seats, you walk up the aisle until you come to the row having the letter your ticket indicates then you pass along the foot board, being careful not to tread on the toes of anyone bigger than yourself, until you come to your number, and there you are.

The City had sixteen thousand people when I came here, now it has nearly 50,000. Is not that getting along splendidly? If you are presenting a gold mine to the E.T.A.A., why deprive them of it. It seemed to me very much like "Biting the hand that fed you." The play at the Arena immediately preceding this year paved the way for you to become a Senior team. Why, because you overload the seating a few times, do you want to throw the present Arena overboard without going into the possibilities of increased seating?

I forgot to mention that $10,000 was probably on the top of bank loans and bank over-drafts.

On the $25,000 of ice machinery I stand corrected but would rather think it was through the Hon. J. S. Bourque and from the Provincial Government than the way you put it. It's nice to have a Provincial Government. I wish I had a Provincial Government.

We note what you say in regard to capacity houses especially in connection with Allan Cup, but you can consider the size of the population in the immediate vicinity of the game. We also noted in this morning's Gazette the apology for the small crowd attending the Allan Cup game at Toronto, Regina vs Ottawa Senators. The excuse in part was the opening day for baseball, the other part though not mentioned, that people were getting fed-up with hockey. You can become satisfied with anything except money. What earthly good was Sherbrooke's name in every newspaper? It didn't bring $46,000 worth of prize meat on the hoof. That meat used to come when meat was very good to look at.

I agree with your argument of looking to the future, but you are looking too far. How large is 10,000 seat capacity? If the perimeter is 600 feet you would have to set up 25 rows of seats similar to those mentioned above which would be 14 more rows than the exhibition grandstand has. As to using such a building for concerts, artists positively do not like an audience all round them and 900, which would be a good crowd for a concert, would look very small among 10,000 seats. Furthermore, people would not care to sit in that type of seat for a concert. Of course there are occasions, word might get around that I was going to make a speech in which case the use of the Arena would be indicated with loud speakers to look after those outside that could find no seats.

I like your conclusion—the majority rules. Suppose we take our immediate population as 65,000, including outlying towns and villages. I have to admit that 6,000 attended one match and you have to admit 59,000 didn't.

I'm a minority man, the only Protestant architect here, but 96 per cent of my living is denied me by the decisions of Institutional Committees, who should know better, two per cent Provincial sales tax, one per cent school tax. Now I ask you, Mr. Editor, if I must buy a new Arena with the remaining one per cent. How do I come off for groceries?

I am not opposed to a new arena, but considering the seating capacity can be extended to meet our needs for a tenth of the sum suggested for the combined arena and Civic centre. I feel that the latter could be built without the arena, saving the taxpayers $500,000. Otherwise I believe we shall be investing in an elephant, a white one.

Q—Do moths eat clothes?
A—Adult moths do not eat, eat woolens, furs and other fabrics, as popularly supposed. They do, however, lay their eggs in such materials and the fabric provides the larvae with their food supply.

The Record Short Story

HE REMINDS ME OF YOU

By CONSTANCE CLARKE GREENE

Mary had met Al on the rebound. The only reason she paid any attention to him was that he reminded her of Don. His eyes were the same color and shape and he was the same build, although not as tall as Don. Of course, he was not as good looking either. But there was something about him that was a awful lot like Don.

There were introduced over a tray of little sardine sandwiches. Al said, "Hello, Mary," and you could see the interest quicken in his eyes. Mary often brought about that reaction in people, especially men. She was compact and neat and well scrubbed and sometimes she was pretty. But she had a quality about her which made her extremely successful and popular wherever she went. A lot of Mary's friends thought that was why Don had given her the mitten. He liked to be one that people made a fuss over. He liked his women meek and good looking in an inconspicuous way. Don didn't like it when groups of people gathered around Mary, when Mary was the center of the stage.

And even though Mary was in love with Don, she realized his failing. She tried to get him to stay away from parties, to go for walks or to the movies. She wanted to be alone with him, talk to him and laugh and plan their future together. But Don was the kind who had to have people around him. If he didn't, he was bored. So they went to parties and Mary shone and Don sulked.

All of Mary's friends were glad when Don called the whole thing off. None of them thought it would work, even though Don was charming and attractive and had a pretty good job. But try to tell Mary that! She was crazy about him. No one could say anything damaging about him in her presence.

So it came as a pretty bad blow when he told her one night that he'd had an offer of a job which would pay him a lot more than his present one. The only catch was that the new job was in a city two hundred miles away.

"And," he said hastily, before she could speak, "I think it would be better if we waited a while, got around a bit more on our own, meet other people, before we settle down. I wouldn't want you to feel you could have married some other guy richer and more important than I because you didn't have a chance to meet different people." He laughed and tried to toss the whole thing off as a joke. But Mary knew it was the end. Luckily she still had her pride, though. She didn't argue at all. She let him go and her heart broke many times over.

She didn't go outside the house except when it was absolutely necessary. Her friends came to call and tried to persuade her to come to the movies or to go dancing with them. Finally, her heart began to mend itself and the constant pressure and urging put on her by her family and friends, forced her out.

She liked him a lot, right from the first. And it was a sort of pleasurable torture to be with him, he reminded her so much of Don. He even laughed like him. Mary could close her eyes and pretend she was out with Don, that it was Don who was holding her hand. They had fun together. They spent a lot of time alone, talking and discussing ideas. And when they went to parties, they complimented each other very well. Al was glad everyone liked Mary so well. And all of Mary's friends were extremely glad about Al. He was taking Mary out of her doldrums. No one ever said anything to Mary about how much Al was like Don.

Eventually, Mary grew to feel real affection for Al, even though she really believed she could never love anyone as she had loved Don. And Al had been in love with Mary almost from the first moment he saw her. He knew about Don and felt when he was with Mary that some little part of her was missing. But he hoped that time would make her forget.

They were married in March. It was a bitter, windy day. Mary's cheeks were red and her eyes sparkled. Even though they had never seen a prettier bride, and it was true. She was perfectly lovely.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Tense scenes were reported from Versailles where the text of the Allied peace proposals were offered to the German delegates. The latter claimed to be stunned at the severity of the terms.

Taking part in an entertainment at Danville were: Miss Hazel Olney, Miss Campbell, M. Campbell, Mrs. A. C. Anthony, Jack Dixon, Miss Chagnon, Miss Villandre, M. Porter and A. G. Grogan.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Sweeping increases by the United States on a wide list of Canadian natural products feature the new tariff proposals tabled at Washington.

Officers named at the annual meeting of the East Farham Cemetery Company were: Percy Taber, Will Hawke, M. Stevens, D. Collins, Charles Buck, B. Allen and A. F. Byers.

TEN YEARS AGO

Large increases have been voted in appropriations for pay of the British armed forces as the government plans to press through its peacetime conscription measure.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Nazi forces have staged a surprise withdrawal on the Italian front, permitting the Allies to advance nine miles on certain sectors.

The following officers were named for the Ladies' Guild of the Sand Hill Church: Mrs. Gordon Robinson, Mrs. G. Blodgett, Mrs. Milton Laberee, Mrs. B. Brazel, and Mrs. E. Warner.

China Wants U.S. Moral Support

By
DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst.

Your columnist has encountered an unusual analysis of China's crisis, by an interesting personality—Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese philosopher, educationist and diplomat who was ambassador to Washington in 1938-42.

Dr. Hu has just arrived in New York from his homeland on a tour to study the world situation, and I had a chat with him in his apartment over a cup of tea. I asked him what he thought of the testimony before the United States senate armed services committee by Gen. Claire Chennault, who said the United States still could save China (and Asia) from Communist control by assistance costing about $1,000,000 a day.

"I'm not a military expert," replied Dr. Hu, "and I am not qualified to pass judgment on that estimate. Of course material aid is needed but I don't believe the exact amount of help matters nearly so much as would the moral support of America."

"That's the great thing—the assurance that the United States is with us."

"The greatest weakness of Nationalist China now is low morale due to the belief that she has lost American support. I can tell you now that the collapse of the Nanking government resulted from the reports that the United States could do nothing more for China."

"Such news spreads rapidly in my country. You mustn't forget that at least 50,000 of our intellectuals were educated in the United States. Naturally they keep in close touch with the United States and any reaction here towards China is quickly recognized and the news spreads."

The doctor emphasized all this with never-ceasing gestures of his expressive hands. I pointed to the grave military position of the Nationalist forces in face of the great Communist drive, and asked Dr. Hu if he felt the Nationalists still had a chance to win. He nodded, and said:

"As I see it, our position is no worse today than was that of France and Belgium after they were invaded by the Germans in the late war. Both those countries were overrun by the enemy. Their positions were as desperate as could be. But the people didn't lose their courage. Why? Because they knew the allied powers would stand by them and in due course the Germans were evicted."

"I believe the Nationalist cause isn't lost. We still can win."

I asked Dr. Hu if he subscribed to the idea that the Chinese Communists are hooked directly by Moscow.

"Of course they are," he exclaimed, and raced into an adjoining room to return with a copy of the Chinese Communist party's constitution. He read an extract which committed the party to the Moscow line.

"Because of that," said the doctor, "the fate of all Asia is involved in the Chinese civil war. If China should be taken over then the rest of the Orient would fall under control of Russia."

700 Workers Reported On Job At C.J.M.

Special to the Record

Asbestos, May 9.—A full shift is working again at the Canadian Johns-Manville Company's mine, mill and factory, with more than 700 employees on the job, G. K. Foster, vice-president and mine manager, said today.

Foster added that about 50 applicants are seeking work daily. "Production was resumed last Friday after a one-day suspension of operations when 800 imported agitators spearheaded an attempt to halt production by setting up road blocks to prevent employees from entering the plant," the mine manager declared.

"The outbreak of violence last Thursday by strikers was unnecessary and uncalled for. It was ill-advised and jeopardized human life. Nothing was gained by it."

"Why cannot reasonable men sit down at a table to straighten out their differences? That is one way to avoid hardships, sufferings and futile recommitments."

"Because the issue in this dispute is neither wages nor working conditions it is not fair to use people as pawns or to use Canadian Johns-Manville as a battle-ground for ideologies simple to advance the prestige and power of a few leaders of the syndicate."

"I know that most of our employees are anxious to get back on the job. Their wages and working conditions are acknowledged as being the best in this area. Unskilled employees receive 25 cents an hour. Average wages amount to $1.15 an hour."

"It is distressing to realize that our community and employees have lost more than $1,300,000 because of a work stoppage that has really nothing to do with the welfare of our employees."

said 25,000 workers, laid off last week due to a shortage of brakes, would be back Briggs Manufacturing Company recalled 16,800, made idle Friday by a small walk-out. And Chrysler Corporation planned to resume operations at its Plymouth plant, where 5,800 were made idle by a shortage of Briggs car bodies.

Bogota, Colombia, May 9.—(P)—Floods in Ciudad Garzon caused "about 10" deaths and injuries to 50 other persons, a dispatch to the newspaper El Liberal reported yesterday. Damage was estimated at $500,000.

Joseph Labrecque Is President Of Plumbers' Body

Montreal, May 9.—Joseph Labrecque of Sherbrooke, Que. was elected president of the Quebec Branch of the Canadian National Association of Master Plumbers and Heating Contractors here Saturday.

Other officers: F. N. Parizeau, Montreal, vice-president; Donat Desile, Quebec, secretary; Walker McArthur, Lachute, treasurer.

right to have legal counsel, also that they should be arraigned on some charge within 24 hours after arrest. In the case of these men, he said, 48 hours already have elapsed.

Mr. Drapeau said he proposed to make a formal report of the affair to the Montreal Bar Association, the Quebec Bar Association, the executive of the Canadian Bar Association and the United States Bar Association.

Quebec, May 9.—(P)—Leopold Desilets, assistant attorney-general of Quebec, said Sunday night that he had no comments to make regarding the claims of Jean Drapeau, Montreal, that he was unable to see 43 Asbestos strikers now in Montreal jail.

"However," Mr. Desilets said, "I might say that I told him to get in touch with L. P. Lamarche, director of the Provincial Police force in order to gain an interview with his clients."

Quebec, May 9.—(P)—Financial support for Quebec's striking asbestos miners was recommended yesterday by J. Rene Dumais, president of Quebec City's club for officers of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Transport Organizations.

Dumais said help for the strikers was a "duty of Christian charity," and he said that "set-back in this strike would put in danger the whole C.N. 22-23 movement."

Quebec, May 9.—(P)—Quebec local of the Canadian Seamen's Union (T. L. C.) yesterday addressed a telegram of protest to Premier Duplessis against what it called "acts of provocation and violence" by Provincial Police in Asbestos, Que., last week.

The telegram called for release of arrested strikers and an investigation of the conduct of Provincial Police.

Britain Plans

Canada: the contracts to be awarded on the basis of commercial considerations. Specifications are already in the hands of the trade. These purchases will be over and above the amount of west coast lumber to be bought by the United Kingdom in the last half of 1949, arrangements for which will be settled in the near future.

Flour — a quantity of 400,000 tons during the crop year 1949-50. This amount, somewhat less than that supplied by Canadian mills, is the minimum amount provided for in the Canada-United Kingdom wheat agreement. It is in fact about double the pre-war level of Canadian flour shipments to the United Kingdom.

Apples — the United Kingdom have agreed to make a token purchase of Canadian apples, the details of which are still to be worked out. The United Kingdom would of course like to obtain substantial quantities of Canadian apples, but with dollars necessarily being allocated to various foodstuffs in order to priority it is not possible for them to make more than a small purchase. "This," Mr. Howe said, "will provide some measure of assistance to the Nova Scotia apple producer."

Fruit pulp—the United Kingdom have offered to buy a small quantity of fruit pulp now held by the Canadian government.

In a statement, Mr. Howe said he had discussed "a number of trade matters of immediate concern to Canada" while in Britain.

He added: "I found on all sides the desire to purchase Canadian products. The difficulty is to find the means of payment. Any real solution toward providing the means for greater purchases in Canada must depend upon greater purchases of British goods by dollar countries. I have assured the United Kingdom government that we in Canada will lend every ounce in support of the vigorous export drive which the United Kingdom are now undertaking."

"Despite their serious dollar difficulties the United Kingdom are planning additional purchases, provided agreement can be reached on prices. I have told the United Kingdom that there need be no doubt of the ability of Canadian suppliers to meet competition from any part of the world."

Berlin, May 9.—(P)—Foreign Secretary Bevin, of Britain, said today that at the forthcoming big Four conference in Paris "we hope to plan the peace of the world."

He made the comment at brief ceremonies at the United States air lift terminal, Tempelhof, where Gen. Lucius D. Clay saw him off for the British zone of Germany.

There the foreign secretary will talk with German leaders who yesterday finished drawing up a constitution for the three western zones.

hit by a truck at 7:20 Saturday evening while riding her bicycle near her home at 35 7th Avenue. She suffered scratches on the leg.

The child was riding her bicycle at the corner of Mercier Street and 7th Avenue when the truck, driven by Alfred Riendeau, 23, of 23 St. Paul Street here, hit her.

Constable Ovaure Denault, who was in charge of the investigation, stated in his report that the truck was turning into Mercier when it struck the little girl.

Two women were injured slightly Saturday morning when the car in which they were riding swung too sharply onto the Montreal road from the St. Paul road and struck a telephone post guy wire. The vehicle skipped into the nearby field and rolled over.

The injured women were Mrs. J. C. Gagnon, 25, of St. Isidore d'Autland, and Mrs. Carmen Brisebois, 27, of Actonville. Mr. Gagnon was driving the car.

Control was evidently lost when the car hit the wire, Constable Jean Donahue stated in his report.

Cleveland, May 9.—(P)—Three young men were stabbed to death and a fourth wounded critically Sunday in a street riot involving eight persons.

Dead were William J. Kresen, 21; Clarence Kresen, 21, his brother, and Robert Hrdy, 18. Joseph Vales, 22, was in critical condition in a hospital.

Police said the four, together with Richard Kowalski, 21, and Elmer Tomazin, 28, engaged in a fight with two "strangers" now being sought by police.

ADDRESS

Notice To Softball And Baseball Clubs

A meeting of the Municipal Recreation Committee shall be held at the City Hall, on Tuesday, May 10th, 1949, at 8:00 P.M. to draw up the schedule of softball and baseball games in City Parks during the 1949 Summer season.

All clubs interested are requested to send representatives.

THE MUNICIPAL RECREATION COMMITTEE

ALPHONSE TRUDEAU to RUN as LIBERAL CANDIDATE for SHERBROOKE COUNTY in ELECTION of

JUNE 27 NEXT, as REPRESENTATIVE of the RIGHT HONOURABLE LOUIS ST. LAURENT!

To keep faith with the large delegation which gathered in the City Hall Auditorium on Wednesday, April 27, 1949, and presented a request, signed by 5,800 county voters that my name be presented to an open and free convention only, I must make a decision.

We have requested the Liberal associations of the County of Sherbrooke to afford us such a convention, one which will treat all interested parties with justice and fairness. We are convinced that the Liberal representative of the people should be chosen by the representatives of the people, by the people and for the people. The Liberal Association of the County of Sherbrooke has seen fit to foist their own candidate on the people. It is simple enough to choose a candidate, but rather more difficult to get him elected by the people.

I wish to make clear to those who pledged me their full support, either in person or in writing, at the meeting on April 27, that I will definitely run as Liberal candidate, and as representative of the Right Honourable Louis St. Laurent at the June 27 election.

Allow me to explain the difference between an official and unofficial candidate. I wish to make clear that I do not want to run as an independent candidate, and that I will not be an independent candidate; I will be the Liberal candidate representing the Right Honourable Louis St. Laurent. If I am not an official candidate, it means that I will run without financial support of the local organization, and will, therefore, be free to defend the opinions of my electors, and not merely a figure-head to obtain votes.

I have been asked if I must resign as Mayor if I am to represent you at Ottawa. The answer is in the negative, for there are a great number of mayors who are members of Parliament. When I am elected, on June 27, there will still be one year of my mayoral term to run. I will, therefore, be in the advantageous position of being able, in complete co-operation with my fellow council members, to obtain for Sherbrooke, all the benefits we should be getting from the federal government.

I, as a citizen of Sherbrooke, want Sherbrooke to obtain the benefits enjoyed by other municipalities from the federal government. I refer in particular to the arena, the civic centre, the bridge, etc. These are projects the federal government can help us with, in a measure proportionate to our own efforts. The very least your representative can do is to try to bring these improvements to his district. If he does not succeed, he has at least acted in good faith, and has done everything possible under the circumstances.

A Vote for Me is a Vote for the RIGHT HONOURABLE LOUIS ST. LAURENT!

(Signed) ALPHONSE TRUDEAU,
LIBERAL CANDIDATE, COUNTY OF SHERBROOKE.

EATON ROAD

The Eaton Road Farm Forum Group held its last meeting of the season, with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wingate, with twenty-two members present. The broadcast "Summer Fallow" was heard, after which each and five hundred were enjoyed. On behalf of the Farm Forum members, Rev. Mr. Denton, of Sawyerville, presented Mr. and Mrs. Church with a lovely electric lamp. Mr. Church thanked the members for the nice gift, after which the hostess served refreshments.

Opens Office in Sherbrooke

READY TO MAKE LOANS $50 to $1,000

The Personal Finance Company of Canada has opened an office in Room 103 of the Continental Building, corner of King and Wellington Streets. The telephone number is 4513. Under the direction of John L. Carriere, manager, this modern financial office provides facilities for quick, private, courteous service to all who make application.

Loans are made to employed people, married or single, in amounts from $50 to $1,000.

We make loans on a variety of plans, some with and some without security, but asking any one else to sign your note is something seldom required to complete your deal. So, if you want to:

● Consolidate bills with only one place to pay each month.
● Take care of needed medical and dental work.
● Purchase furniture or appliances.
● Finance an auto with lower down payments or get a loan on your car.
or any other good purpose that will be of benefit to you just phone, write or call at our office today and place your application. It will be acted on quickly, and we will make every effort to grant your request.

ARE "NERVES" A SIGN YOU'RE GROWING OLD?

Often as a woman approaches middle life, her nerves get bad, and she accepts this as a sign of age. But why let yourself become edge, run-down—or so nervous you cry without cause—at any time in life? For nearly fifty years wise women have been meeting this situation happily — by getting plenty of rest, fresh air, wholesome food and by taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to build them up. For the Vitamin B₁ from other needed minerals in this time-tested tonic help build up your vitality and aid in toning up the entire system—so you can face the future with confidence.

Give Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a chance to help banish nervous fears and doubts. It helps you rest better, and feel better. The name "Dr. Chase" is your assurance. 10

The Young Women's Association Of Ayer's Cliff Made Plans For Its Work

Ayer's Cliff, May 9. —Mrs. school were on display, and were admired by all. The expenditure for these did not take the twenty-five dollars voted to be used for the project.

Mrs. Arnold Wheeler agreed to report at the next meeting, what could be purchased with the balance of the gift money.

Mrs. Sidney Baldwin was given the power to contact, "any play" directors, regarding presenting their play here under the Y.W.A. auspices.

A letter was read from the secretary of the "Meridians," stating that they will come with their Concert on May 11. This will be given in the new school auditorium, and the admission will be 50 and 35 cents. In connection with sponsoring this the following committees were named: Sale of tickets, Massawippi, Mrs. Gordon Shipway; Way's Mills, Mrs. Tyson and Mrs. McHarg; Ayer's Cliff, Miss M. Gill, Mrs. G. Clough, Mrs. Saunum, Mrs. M. Thompson, Mrs. G. Little, Mrs. True, and Mrs.

The society has been given some quilt blocks, and these are to be made up into a quilt. Mrs. Saunum and Mrs. Bert Little were appointed to purchase material for the lining.

Mrs. Tyson, who is convener of the "Aprons" gave out material to be made up, and Mrs. Clough agreed to donate some new patterns to be used by these sewers.

Copies of the new Bibles, which have been purchased for the new Goode; Hatley, Mrs. W. Dustin and Mrs. Smith; Advertising Posters, Mr. Wallbridge, Mrs. McHarg is to take charge of having tickets printed, and Mrs. Tyson is to choose the ticket man. Guards for staircase in auditorium, Mrs. G. Little and Mrs. Wallbridge.

It was requested that members send cards to two patients in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Correspondence was read from Miss Martin, brush demonstrator, and from Mrs. Berwick. It was decided not to hold a brush demonstration at present. A new dust pan for the vestry was donated by Mrs. Glen Little. This was gratefully received.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by the Misses Ruby and Rita Clough, and a social hour was enjoyed.

AT BETHLEH CHURCH

Sunday, May 1, in Bethleh United Church was special Women's Missionary Day. The attendance was very good and a ladies' chorus, "Speed Away," was much enjoyed.

The pastor, Rev. T. W. Tyson, preached a forceful sermon on "Missionary" work in its broader sense, and he also touched upon the Missionary and Maintenance work of the United Church.

A TEA

The Women's Missionary Society held a very delicious Easter salad tea in the Church Hall, one which was well attended. Potatoes planted brightened the hall, and tea was served at small tables by Mrs. G. H. Clough, and former Ayer's Cliff girls, who were visiting their respective homes, Mrs. Angus Hanson, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Mrs. Harold Cass, of Stanstead, and Mrs. Earle Templeton, of St. Lambert.

On the refreshment committee were Mrs. E. E. Crook, Mrs. R. G. McHarg and Mrs. W. P. Berwick.

A very pleasant time was enjoyed around the tea tables, and the spirit of Christian fellowship was very much in evidence at this time.

EATON

Friends of Miss Betty Lou Kingsley will regret to know that she is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where she underwent an appendectomy.

Mr. and Mrs. James Currier and family, of Sawyerville, have taken up their residence here in their new home, recently purchased from Mr. Albert Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Parker spent a few days with their daughter, Mrs. Lennis Ewing, and Mr. Ewing, in Island Brook.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. John Winslow in the loss of their property by fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Aytan Hodge, of North Hatley, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Picard. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilles and children were callers at the same home.

R. D. A. SCHOOL REVIEW

Weekly news, views and reviews of the schools in Richmond - Drummond - Arthabaska and information on education in general

GENERAL:

Career Conference—The first Career Conference to be held for the R.D.A. pupils opened with an assembly in the gymnasium of St. Francis College, High School, Richmond, at 10:00 a. m. Friday, April 29th. Grades IX, X and XI pupils representing Asbestos, Drummondville, Richmond, South Durham and Windsor Mills were present. On the platform for the opening session were Dr. C. E. Manning, Chairman of the R.D.A. Central School Board, C. W. Dickson, Supervisor, Rev. T. Mitchell, L. F. Somerville, Principal of St. Francis High, Miss M. Brayne, Miss A. Brady, Miss M. Fletcher, Mr. Eastwood, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Turcotte, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Annett. Mr. Somerville extended a welcome on behalf of the school. Rev. Mitchell led the assembly in prayer for the success of the conference following which O Canada was sung. Dr. Manning spoke of the gathering as an evidence of progress made under centralization and on behalf of the Board thanked all who had so generously devoted time and effort to the project.

Mr. Dickson remarked that the first such gathering of senior pupils from unit schools could have assembled for no finer motive than career planning. The guest speakers were then introduced by Mr. Annett before the assembly closed and groups dispersed to various classrooms for career studies.

At the noon hour Dr. Manning and Mr. Dickson entertained the guest speakers at luncheon. An hour of sports was enjoyed by pupils on the school playground following their lunch.

Two rounds of career conferences were held in the afternoon. Groups then assembled in the gymnasium for the closing session. On the platform with the guest speaker, Mr. Ironside, Guidance Officer of the Verdun High School, and Mr. Annett were Kenneth Cowdrey, Dorcen Reilly expressed thanks to the north Ward, Presidents respectively of the Students' Councils of Asbestos, Drummondville, Richmond and Windsor Mills.

Mr. Ironside gave an excellent talk on "Attitudes." He pointed out several attitudes which tended to prevent high school pupils from achieving maximum development as students and citizens and suggested remedial action. Mr. Ironside was thanked by Herbert Coles, Dorcen Reilly expressed thanks to the guest speakers at the career groups. The conference then closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

Track and field athletes are locating spikes and field equipment and preparing tracks and pits as training for the annual R. D. A. Spring Track Meet gets underway. With the date of the Y. M. C. A. Sherbrooke meet set for Saturday, May 28th, the R. D. A. meet will, most probably, be held on May 21st. The Teachers' Association which sponsors the Meet will finalize plans at a meeting of the Athletic Committee on May 6th. To

The school cadet corps was represented by all the cadet officers and non-commissioned officers and a group of cadets to a total strength of 24, at the inspection of its present unit, the 7th, 11th, Hussars (18th Recce. Regt) Armourcd, at Memorial Park, Bury on Saturday, April 30th, at 10:30 hours. Warm sunny weather favored the event. During the tour of inspection by Brigadier Allard, Army Commander, Eastern Quebec Area, the band of the Royal 22nd Regt provided the music.

Following inspection of the cadet detachment Brigadier Allard congratulated the Cadet Officer Commanding H. Coles and staff instructor Lt. K. H. Annett, C. S. of C. on the showing of the group. After the ceremonial march past the cadets participated in simulated range practice under the command of R. S. M. Fearnly. Following the break-off from the parade square Brigadier Allard addressed the regiment in the Armory and spoke appreciatively of the cadet participation. Lunch was served before the cadets embarked for the return to Richmond at 1:30 hours.

The movie project... undergone complete renovation and is now in good working order. The Canadian Legion projector was in use at the school in the interval so that the film program was not interrupted.

A. R. M. Roy visited the office of the Uptown Multiphraphing Co., Montreal, during the week-end to complete arrangements for the publication of the Tattler Annual. It is hoped that the magazine will be on sale by June 1st.

M. J. Butler, staff instructor in charge of training for the track meet has started preparation for the various track and field events. It is hoped that all classes of entrants will be well represented in the inter-school meet.

The Annual Basketball Banquet which winds up the Eastern Township's League activity for the season was held in the Mackinnon Memorial Building in Sherbrooke on Friday evening, April 29th.

Those who attended from Richmond included Barbara Campbell, Sheila Fee, Margaret Pope, Jane Ann Pye, Bill Hanson, Walter and Weldon Stevens and Mr. Somerville.

After the banquet, the President Ken Jackson, as master of ceremonies, reviewed the year's activities in the three leagues operated by the Association. Then the various trophies were distributed to the winners. Among them was the Young Trophy awarded to the winners of the Ladies' Basketball League. This trophy was won by the St. Francis College High School girls for the third year in succession.

The address of the evening was given by the Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Sherbrooke who took as his topic, "The Importance of Being Dependable." His interesting talk was much appreciated by all present.

Miss K. Brown, Household Science specialist, has purchased 55 pieces of silverware in King's Plate, "Inspiration" pattern, service for eight, with proceeds of the food sale held recently. This is felt to fill a definite need for Household Science classes.

A very interesting film entitled "Kitchen Come True" was screened recently for Household Science classes at Richmond High. The film demonstrated ideas for remodeling a farm kitchen.

Brian Morrow, Grade 4, who was a student here during his father's illness has returned to Montreal.

Christine Aspinall, Grade 4, has sailed for England with her parents for an extended vacation.

Irwin Lariere is welcomed as a new pupil in Grade 4 and his sister Vera is a new student in Grade VI.

WINDSOR-BROMPTON CONSOLIDATED

On Thursday April 28th, Grades VI and VII gathered in Mr. Cooper's classroom to hear Grades VIII and IX debate the resolution, "That Television should be Permitted in Canada." Muriel Ward and John Philip upheld the affirmative. Ellen Wheeler and Richer Talbot the negative. Many interesting points about television were brought out. The judges' decision was in favor of the affirmative. A second debate followed on the topic, "That June examinations should be abolished." Greta Ewing and Ronald Desrochers maintained the affirmative, Mervyn Aldrich and Ernest Robinson the negative. The decision this time went to the negative side. The judges were Reta Dole, Vivian Muir, Shirley Robinson, Marvis Dole and Norman Allard. Another debate has been planned for May 13th; this will decide the School Championship.

On Friday morning, April 29th, Dr. Hill and Mr. Welch, from Sherbrooke, distributed Gideon Testaments to Grade V. Both gentlemen gave short talks on the work the Gideons are doing throughout the world. They Rev. Mr. Dovey gave a short explanation of the value of the New Testament to mankind.

Mr. Cooper thanked Mr. Dovey, Dr. Hill and Mr. Welch for their kindness in coming to the school and for their donation of Testaments, which the children were very pleased to get.

CATARRH and SINUS trouble ... Splendid Results from treatment

Sufferers from the distressing symptoms and wretched discomforts of Catarrh, Sinus and Antrum troubles may now win real relief as thousands of others have done — thanks to Lantigen "B". Letter after letter received in the offices of Lantigen Laboratories Limited tell of the splendid results obtained from the Lantigen "B" treatment. Lantigen "B" is the modern oral way of obtaining relief from Catarrh and Sinus (including Antrum) infections, also common types of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. As many sufferers know, catarrh and sinusitis are due to a bacterial infection of the air passages of the head. This may extend down the trachea ("windpipe") to the bronchial tubes and may cause Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. To raise the defenses of the body, against this bacterial infection a special dissolved vaccine for oral administration — Lantigen "B" — was prepared. Lantigen "B" is taken by mouth. Full directions, including reduced dosages for children, are given with every bottle and when taken as directed Lantigen "B" will help to bring welcome relief from the discomforts of Catarrh, Sinusitis and common types of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. Sufferers from these complaints should also take care to secure adequate rest; maintain proper eating habits, avoid constipation, wet feet and chills. Start on the road to relief immediately — with the widely acclaimed Lantigen "B" treatment. Get a bottle of Lantigen "B" from your druggist today. For further information write to Lantigen Laboratories Limited, 12 Richmond Street East, Toronto.

Lost Confidence

WIFE FORGIVES BUT CAN'T FORGET
REPENTANT SPOUSE'S INFIDELITY

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been married for 30 years and have had a happy life except for the past three years when I learned that my husband, who had always been wonderful to me in every way, was having a very serious affair with a young woman in his office. I was completely crushed and offered him a divorce, but he would not agree to it. Said he loved me and would put the other woman out of his life.

I have tried very hard to get back my confidence in my husband, but to no avail. Something has happened to me inside and all the joy has gone out of my life. My husband tells me that I should forget it, that other wives have forgotten their mates for stepping off of the straight and narrow path, but I simply can't forget it.

Do you think I should leave my husband? We are both 55 years old and have no children.

A LONELY, SAD WOMAN.

Answer: I do not think you will be happier if you divorce your husband. It will only leave you more lonely and with no home on which to expend your energies. Better by far to accept the situation and make the best of it. Get what pleasure you can out of his companionship and remember that time is a great healer. Inevitably we grow used to suffering. Our backs straighten to the burden and somehow we go on and learn to smile again.

When your husband tells you that he still loves you after his fashion, it is doubtless true, and you can accept it for what it is worth. The average man looks at a flirtation as a mere episode, and he doesn't see what his wife goes all to pieces over. He thinks she should have sense enough to know that he is merely amusing himself with a pretty young girl. And the curious part of this, and the thing that we women can never understand, is that it is true.

WOUND NEVER HEALS

But when your husband says that women whose husbands have betrayed them forget it, he doesn't know what he is talking about. No woman ever forgets even for a minute that her husband has been false to her. The memory of that wrong is like a stab in the heart that never heals. She may technically forgive, that is, she may condone it to the extent of not leaving him, but she never forgets, and she never again has any confidence in him.

I often think that in the end it is the philandering husbands who suffer most, because they throw away the love and respect of their wives for mercenary kisses.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a man 40 years old, desperately in love with a girl of 17. She loves me, but her family does not want her to marry me because they say I am too old for her. They have no other objection to me. What is your advice?

A MAN IN LOVE.

Answer: I think that 17 is too young for a girl to marry. She has no stability of character. Her tastes change every day. She is crazy about a thing one minute and tires of it the next. She is full of fits and tempers and moods. She is at the playtime of life and she wants to run around and enjoy herself. All of which is perfectly natural and right.

But these are not the things that make for happiness in marriage. They are not the things that a man of 40 looks for in his wife. So, looking at it from the man's standpoint, I can think of nothing more reckless than he can do than to marry a girl of 17. If she stay in love with him, it is a mere chance. If she is contented with domesticity, it is a miracle. The odds are overwhelmingly against it; it is more likely that she will come to consider her husband an old fossil and tire of him and fall in love with some boy of her own age.

So my advice to you is to give the girl a chance to grow up. Wait until she is older. Then she will be better fitted, mentally and physically, to make you a good wife.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a widow, fairly well off financially. I have a son who is 18 and I am most anxious that he should have a good education, but he refuses to go to school. He is a good boy, but he has such a restless disposition I am afraid he will get into trouble just loafing around.

What would you advise me to do?

A WIDOW.

Answer: Why not suggest to him that he enlist in the Marines? That would give him the discipline he needs and, besides, it would afford him the opportunity to travel the world over.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

The committee and Mrs. Percy Rawlings, president of the Ladies Guild of the Plymouth Church, received the guests.

Miss Evelyn Bradley, treasurer, acted as cashier and was also responsible for the tasteful arrangement of the hall. Conspicuous in one corner, was a large basket of spring flowers of every variety and color intermingled with fern and topped with loops of satin ribbon in pastel shades. The individual tables, placed around the room, were perky with cocked-up serviettes at each place and daffodils and parcels in the centre. Red tulips decorated the food table which was supervised by Mrs. A. H. Cross and Mrs. W. J. Nutbrown. The attractively served salads were looked after by Mrs. George Lohrhop and Mrs. Wesley Elliott and the rolls and cake by Mrs. S. H. Bachelder. Mrs. Edna Markey and Mrs. Violet Somers.

Mrs. Milo Lohrhop, past president, and Miss Winnifred Farmer, librarian, presided at the lace-covered table, centered with a silver basket of daffodils, flanked by pale green tapers in silver holders.

Hat Trims Make Smart New Neckwear

Roses, ribbons and other trimmings snipped off dated hats by New York singing star Lorraine Browning (above) are put to new use as neckwear. Pink silk rose brightens white ascot (top right). Velvet leaves are used to ornament string of pearls (bottom right).

Snip off those French silk roses, violets, velvet leaves and good millinery ribbons from dated hats before you discard them and put those choice millinery trimmings to new use as smart neckwear.

Tuck the colorful silk rose which is worth salvaging into a velvet ribbon neckerchief which you tie at the opening of a collar. Or pin the rose to a fur scarf or to a white pique ascot.

Crushed roses or violets snipped from an old hat can be freshened up by fingering pearls over a kettle's steaming spout. Violets can be grouped into a more charming nosegay if you will frame the cluster with loops of matching velvet ribbon.

Velvet foliage with wire stems will make effective ornaments for any old string of pearls. If an old hat will yield as many as six velvet leaves, wind these, one at a time, by their individual wires to a string of pearls. Attach velvet leaves to necklace at well-spaced intervals.

Since millinery ribbons are apt to be good ribbons, they are well worth salvaging from old hats. These can be freshened up by pressing with a hot iron shielded by a slightly damp cloth placed over the ribbon, and can be used as hair ribbons and ribbons to lace through eyelid neckties and petticoat flounces. Little odds and ends of ribbons rescued from millinery bows and fancy loops can be used to tie on broken-down strands of pearls and other necklaces that need new fasteners. So think before discarding old hats.

KING GEORGE V CHAPTER
I.O.D.E.

The regular monthly meeting of the King George V Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held in the I.O.D.E. House Moore Street, on Monday, May 2.

The regent, Miss May Mitchell, was in the chair and the meeting opened in form.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. William Eaves, Mrs. R. Havard, the assistant secretary, read the minutes which were approved. The treasurer, Mrs. George Hall, gave a very satisfactory report.

Mrs. Havard reported that eight parcels of food had been sent overseas since the last meeting and it was decided to continue sending parcels to those whose names had been given to the chapter.

Miss Ina Cobleigh, educational convener, reported that the books to be given to certain rural schools on Empire Day had been received and moved that money be donated by the Chapter for prizes to be given at those schools in June. The motion was carried. Miss Cobleigh read very instructive and interesting articles on our New Province, Newfoundland.

Mrs. S. MacLean announced that a parcel of clothing will be sent to headquarters in June. She reported she already had an afghan and articles of children's clothing ready for shipment and appealed for further articles from the members.

It was decided to donate three gift subscriptions of "Echoes" to the local schools.

The regent announced the tag days were set for May 27 and 28, and a rummage sale for June 10. She then gave a resume of the Provincial meeting, I.O.D.E., which was held in Quebec City at which event she acted as delegate. She reported a delightful time spent there.

Two new members were received into the chapter, Mrs. Murray Smith, and Mrs. W. Cochrane.

The meeting was adjourned by the singing of the National Anthem, after which the hostesses, Mrs. Fred Povey and Mrs. George Povey served refreshments.

MONT NOTRE DAME
ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

A meeting of Mont Notre Dame Alumnae Association was held at Mont Notre Dame on Friday, May 6th. Miss Geraldine Hebert, president, presided and called on Rev. Mother Superior to open the meeting with prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Miss Owenie McKeon, secretary, and were adopted. Miss Yolande Renaud, treasurer, presented the financial statement and all outstanding accounts were approved for payment.

Miss Hebert in extending thanks to Mrs. Raymond Provencier, general convener, of the Valentine tea held in February, for the benefit of the "Monte Dame" Scholarship Fund, said this enjoyable event was a great success and the financial results exceeded all expectations. To Mrs. Octavien Leveque, who convened the delightful musical program, to Miss Helen Slatery and Miss Eva McConnell, who were responsible for the artistic decorations, and to all those who had assisted in any way, Miss Hebert expressed her gratitude.

Plans were made for the dedication of the stained glass window to the memory of Mrs. Clara Lloyd-Felton, who was the prime mover in the project of founding the convent in Sherbrooke in 1857. The unveiling of this magnificent memorial which has been installed in the hall opening from the auditorium, will take place on Ascension Thursday, May 26th, at 4 p. m. The program will open with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in the Chapel at 4 p. m. The guests will then proceed to the auditorium for the dedication ceremonies. A short address on the circumstances attending the founding of the convent will be delivered. This very interesting data has been compiled from records in the archives at Mont Notre Dame. The unveiling of the memorial will be followed by an Act of Consecration to the Blessed Virgin Mary and hymns sung in French and English. A most cordial invitation is extended to all former pupils and friends of Mont Notre Dame to be present on May 26 for this interesting and historical event.

The annual rally of the Federated Alumnae of the Congregation of Notre Dame will be held at the Mother-house, 3040 Sherbrooke Street West, Montreal, on Saturday, May 14. The program is as follows:

Holy Mass, 8:30 a. m.; breakfast in the Novitiate; Study session 10 a. m.; Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament 2:30 p. m.; Pilgrimage to the tomb of Venerable Mother Marguerite Bourgeoys.

The honor of placing the wreath on the tomb of Venerable Mother Bourgeoys has this year been conferred on the Mont Notre Dame Alumnae, Sherbrooke, due to its outstanding contribution during the past year in the advancement of higher education. Miss Geraldine Hebert, president, will deposit the wreath. Miss Owenie McKeon, secretary, and Mrs. Raymond Provencier, councillor, will also attend this rally.

All members of the M. N. D. Alumnae Association are most cordially invited to attend and it is hoped in view of the distinction accorded Sherbrooke, that many will make a special effort to be present.

Have you read the Went Ad lately? Perhaps there is something advertised you would like to buy!

CALL'S MILLS

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Murns in honor of Mrs. Murns' birthday, on Saturday evening, April 30. "500" was played at three tables. HISTORIC MEDICAL HIGHLIGHTS—No. 36

HAPPY ACCIDENT!

"WHAT did you think when you discovered the X-ray?" a fellow scientist asked Wilhelm Roentgen, a German physicist. He replied, "I did not think . . . I experimented!" His discovery of the X-ray in 1895 was semi-accidental but there is no mistake about the far-reaching effect of the X-ray on the fields of science and medicine. The X-ray is best known in the treatment of cancer. As for its effect on science, the X-ray made physicists revise their ideas on the composition of matter, and led them to undertake experiments which resulted in the release of atomic energy in 1945.

Your pharmacist can read a prescription the way your physician reads an X-ray plate . . . sees not only what you see there but also its medical significance. It is this awareness that stands you in good stead, and insures proper handling of drugs.

Rev. Canon Cook, Dept. Of Indian Affairs, Ottawa, Was The Guest Speaker At Bedford's Senior W.A.

Bedford, May 9.—The bi-monthly meeting of the Senior W. A. was held in the High School hall. The guest speaker for the evening was the Rev. Canon Cook, of Ottawa, head of the Department of Indian Affairs, who delivered a very interesting and instructive address on the work being done among the Indians and Eskimos of this country.

Preceding the address a short business meeting was held. The president, Mrs. W. B. Bradshaw, opened the meeting with the W. A. Prayer, after which the minutes of the preceding meeting were read by Mrs. M. S. McCaw in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. John Ewing. The evening was devoted to a food shower of articles to be sent to the missionaries at Penetang. The response to the appeal was most gratifying. The arrangements for the sending of the food stuffs are in the hands of the committee, Mrs. H. Derrick and Mrs. Grisdale Gould. The president announced that the final meeting of the W. A. for the present season would be held on Tuesday evening, May 10th, at the home of Mrs. D. J. Reid, to receive the report of the rummage sale. The guest speaker was introduced by the education secretary, Mrs. Sinclair McIntosh.

In his opening remarks, Canon Cook paid high tribute to the wonderful support given missionaries among the Indians and Eskimos by the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England. As a former missionary, Canon Cook was able to speak from experience. The work carried on by the Women's Auxiliary amounted to a large sum, in 1948, the value of clothing supplied to all girls and to boys up to 12 years of age in the schools amounted to $62,000, in addition a grant is made to the children of the school principals to assist in their education. Also the cost of a two-year course to fit persons to work in the schools be defrayed from W. A. funds, contributions to persons are also made to W. A. missionaries who retire after a certain number of years of service. An appeal for help to the Diocesan Board of the W. A. always meets with a ready response.

The government schools for Indians and Eskimos were started some 50 or 60 years ago and at the present time there are 16 schools in operation scattered from northern Quebec to 300 miles within the northern Arctic Circle, with an attendance of 1,700 boys and girls, who enter school at the age of seven and leave usually between the ages of 15 and 18. The students are taught the school curriculum of the province in which the school is situated. The training received in out of class hours varies, and is considered very important as regards character building, these hours are spent with supervisors. The younger children are trained in the give and take of games, while the older students are instructed (the girls) in sewing and trained to cook under the same conditions which they will find on returning to their homes. Training is also given in knitting and the renovating of clothing. The majority of Indian girls marry at the age of 18. The boys are trained along lines that will fit them to earn their living on leaving school.

The training varies in different sections of the country, for instance, at Moose Factory, students on leaving school, usually go into the employ of the Hudson's Bay Trading Company, or take up trapping. Training for the hunting of beaver which is plentiful in this region is given the boys, who are taken to the bush under the supervision of a skilled trapper, who initiate the boys into the art of trapping, and of living in the forest for a time. The treatment of beaver skins is very important, as a good skin may be ruined or the value greatly lowered by improper curing and in this, the boys are instructed. The boys who wish to be sailors also receive instruction and training on boats along these lines, and under a marine engineer are taught the care of boats, lubrication, combustion, etc.

On the prairies the boys receive agricultural training at the school at Brocket, where the school has a large farm, 600 acres of which is in wheat. Here instruction is given by skilled farmers, in the work of keeping the farm equipment in order and in the raising and marketing of grain.

At the school at Alert Bay, B. C., the training is again different, many of the boys taking up fishing. They are proficient in manual training, and have a natural aptitude for wood carving, the wood used, is yellow cedar.

In all the schools there is excellent equipment to do the work of sewing, laundry and cooking.

The majority of the students on leaving school return to their homes, where they are of great help in the community, owing to the excellent training, which they have received in the schools. These graduates tend to lift and elevate their neighbors and in many cases the religious training which they have received breaks the way for the coming of the missionary and helps him in his work.

Owing to the nomadic way of life of many of the Indians it is impossible to have day schools in certain districts, as with the change of season the parents go to the trapping grounds, in the summer to fish, in the autumn, they migrate to the bush, then in the winter caribou and moose hunting. Under these circumstances it is advisable that the children be sent to the residential schools.

On the Pacific Coast where the fishing industry formerly carried on by the Japanese has been taken over by the Indians, many under present day conditions are living in small communities, where day schools are found to be very satisfactory.

There are about 60 Indian languages found throughout Canada, but English is taught in all the schools. Many years ago an Indian dictionary was prepared by a missionary, Mr. Evans. The Indians have their own Bibles and hymn books. For many years the Mohawk school, at Brantford, Ont., was supported by funds sent from England by the East India Company, but this support had to be discontinued owing to English government restrictions, regarding the amount of money allowed to be sent out of the country. This school has now been taken over by the Department of Indian Affairs.

Even at the present day there are a small number of Indians, who still follow the old Longhouse religion of their forefathers, the greater number of which are found in central Saskatchewan.

Following Canon Cook's address a question period was conducted, which was most interesting. A vote of thanks on behalf of the Senior W. A., was moved by Mrs. Hewitt. The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments, the hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Hannibal Sheltus, Mrs. Greenwood, Mrs. George Abdallah and Mrs. William Taylor.

Missisquoi Chapter Meeting. One afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the Missisquoi Chapter, I. O. D. E., was held in the Masonic Hall, with the regent, Mrs. F. E. Best, presiding. The meeting was opened with the Prayer of the Order. The flag was carried by Mrs. Henry Shaffer. The minutes of the preceding meeting being read by the secretary, Mrs. F. N. Williams, and were approved as read. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. William Taylor, showed a balance on hand of $159.65. The report of the recent "Violet Tag Day," showed that $69.55 had been taken in, which will be used for the carrying on of Chapter activities. The regent thanked all those who had helped to make the event such a success.

The main business before the meeting was the discussion of plans in connection with the holding of a tea on Thursday afternoon, May 12, in the Masonic Hall, when a demonstration of Wear-Ever brushes will be held, at which a door prize will be given, after which tea will be served. The arrangements for the serving of the tea are in the hands of the committee, Mrs. F. N. Williams and Mrs. Richard Craighead, while the soliciting of food is being done by Mrs. Hannibal Sheltus. The advertising of the tea will be looked after by Mrs. William Taylor. The proceeds of the afternoon will be used for Chapter work.

The report of the Post War Service convener, Mrs. Richard Craighead showed that a shipment of 35 articles had been sent to Provincial Headquarters of the I. O. D. E. during the past month, and that a shipment of books and magazines totalling 250 had been sent to the Naval Hospital at St. Hyacinthe.

Following the business meeting, material was given out to be made up into the articles to be sent to

Baby Shetland Weighs In... Dog Passes "Loyalty Test"

KIRKDALE

Mr. F. E. Davidson and his assistants have put a new aluminum roof on the south side of Holy Trinity Church, and painted the belfrey and spire. This, together with the renovation of the "Parsonage" has added much to the beauty of the church buildings. The cemetery is being carefully cared for by Mr. J. S. Lyster and Mr. Harry Cross. Now the Church Hall is the only neglected corner. If this was taken in hand and the ramshackle horse sheds removed, Kirkdale would once more be a corner of beauty and a joy to all.

W. A. Holy Trinity Church, was very successful. Upwards of $40 were taken in from all sources. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cross and Master Arnold, of Richmond, were tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cross.

Several from here attended the reception for Rev. T. Beattie and family, held at South Durham, on May 4.

General Notes

Mrs. A. S. Orr, of Montreal, was a guest of her sister, Mrs. W. B. Bradshaw, and Mr. Bradshaw. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gilman together with their son, Mr. Arnold Gilman and Miss Judy Loder, of Montreal, spent the week-end in Bedford with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilman.

On Friday, the annual spring rummage sale, held under the auspices of the Senior W. A. of St. James Church, in the parish hall. The arrangements for the sale were in the hands of the president, Mrs. W. B. Bradshaw. The members and those who assisted in the sale were Mrs. M. S. McCaw, Mrs. D. J. Reid, Mrs. L. Miller, Mrs. George Abdallah, Mrs. Greenwood, Mrs. Ross Preston, Mrs. George Moody, Mrs. F. N. Williams, Mrs. Allan Palmer, Mrs. W. J. Baglow, Mrs. Grant Lauer, Mrs. Richard Craighead, Mrs. Douglas Ross, Mrs. Gordon Stewart, Mrs. Roger Campbell, Mrs. George Harland, Mrs. H. Derrick, Mrs. B. W. Draper and Mrs. Richard Craighead. The proceeds of the sale amounted to upwards of $230.00 and will be used to carry on the work of the branch.

Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor were in Waterloo on Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mr. Taylor's aunt, Mrs. Samuel Taylor.

Mrs. John Ewing was in Sweetsburg to visit her mother, Mrs. Salsburg, of Bromo, who is a patient in the B. M. P. Hospital.

Mrs. A. T. Gould, who has spent the past months with her daughter, Mrs. L. Berkley, in St. Albans, Vt., is in Bedford to visit her son, Mr. Grisdale Gould, and Mrs. Gould.

Miss Evelyn Saunders, of Montreal, was a guest of her grandmother, Mrs. F. C. Saunders.

MANSONVILLE

Miss Mary Cowan celebrated her twenty-first birthday on April 23, with the Young People's Group present. Carus were played at three tables. Refreshments were served. Mary was the recipient of many fine gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward White have returned home from Montreal, where they spent two weeks.

Mrs. H. W. Sullivan entertained the United Church Women's Association on April 27, with an attendance of thirty. It was decided to hold a supper and sale of work on May 11.

Miss Marthe Gendreau was in Beauharnois for a few days. Mr. W. G. Smith and two sons, of Joliette, visited at the home of R. F. Cowan on Sunday May 1.

Mrs. Madeleine Schoelcraft, of Watshio, spent a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred J. Hamelin, owing to the illness of her mother.

A bus load from here attended a Farm Forum Rally in Sutton one evening.

Mrs. Dora Greaves, grand instructor, for District No. 2, paid her official visit to Owl's Head Chapter, No. 35.

Maurice Moore Was Elected President Of The Boundary Rotary Club

Derby Line May 9. — Maurice L. Moore was elected president of the Rotary Club of the Boundary for the year 1949-50, at a meeting of the newly elected directors, following the regular Monday evening meeting of the club, held at the Del Monty Hotel.

A speaking contest with five boys from Stanstead College taking part was the special feature of the evening, and Roy Amaron was selected as the winner.

Maurice Moore has been the vice-president of the club this past year, and with the other officers and directors will take over his duties the first of July. C. R. Darby, of Derby Line, was elected vice-president, with Vincent Davis and William Greer continuing as secretary and treasurer, respectively. The other directors elected at this meeting were Archie Grady, Jack Kirwin, Rene Monty, Elwin Chadsey, Allen Pocock and the present president, Earl Heath. The nominations were made by J. D. Ferguson for the nominating committee, and the directors were elected by acclamation. Following the regular meeting of the club, the newly elected directors met and elected the above listed officers.

Roy Amaron was selected as the winner in the speaking contest, and will represent the club and Stanstead College at a further contest to be held in Sherbrooke soon by the Sherbrooke Rotary Club. His topic was "Canada: A Reservoir of Great Men," and dealt especially with the late Sir Frederick Banting and others of the medical profession. His talk was very well planned and expressed, and he stated that it was quite possible that discoveries that would cure other dangerous diseases could well come from Canadians.

The judges for the contest were Rev. McKinley Rose, Messrs. Donald Hackett and Frank Stanton, and the speakers were introduced by Rev. E. C. Amaron, of Stanstead College.

Orvald Norby was the first speaker, and described a visit to a Canadian glass factory, telling how bottles were made and other interesting facts about the making of glass. Lyman May spoke second, and gave a most interesting description of Lister Sinclair, impresario of "Stage 49," one of the finest dramatic programs on the C.B.C. Roy Amaron, was the third speaker, and he was followed by Gordon McGilton, who spoke of "Canada: A Country with a Great Future." The final speaker was

Spring came to the Fraser Valley in a blaze of glory, these daffodil fields with Mount Baker as a backdrop reveal. This photo shows the Paridon farm at Brander, B.C., 30 miles southeast of Vancouver. John von Paridon gathers the yellow flowers for shipment to B.C. and eastern markets.

Kaleri And Birom Prized Articles In Curious Hobby

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 9. — The world's strangest collection of musical instruments belongs to Mrs. Mercedes MacKay, back in England after 15 years in West Africa.

Mrs. MacKay's unusual hobby cost her much hard bargaining, in addition to the miscellaneous spells and curses she inherited with some of the instruments.

"It wasn't so bad in the towns," she said, "but in the wilds the native regards his musical instrument as a ju-ju—something personal to himself with which he must not part. It is those instruments I prize most."

A grubby-looking cow's horn cost her a day's trek through unknown country—with a packet of trouble at the finish. In search of a kaleri, as the horn is called, she visited a tribe of 200 located in the heart of the Nigerian jungle.

"I was probably the first white woman they had ever seen and there was a terrible roar as one of them blew through a cow's horn with the end covered with spiders' membranes."

"My boys arranged to purchase the horn, but when I blew through it the natives almost turned pale with horror and demanded it back. They said if their womenfolk saw me take it away they would come to a violent end. I got it on condition I kept it out of sight till I was clear of the colony."

Cactus Instrument
Elsewhere Mrs. MacKay acquired a birom — a long hollow, knobby-brown stick with notches cut in it. Notes similar to those of a xylophone are produced by running a drumstick over the notches. The birom is made from a cactus plant and the stem, dried in tropical sun, is hard as iron.

Also in her collection is a harp of the type played at the court of King Nebuchadnezzar.

"In Biblical times," she said, Lorne Molot, who told about "Our 10th Province."

In thanking the boys, President Earl Heath said that this was always one of the most interesting and valuable meetings of the year, and that the quality of the talks steadily improved from year to year.

Rene Monty, in speaking of the talks, said that he had been impressed in school by one man, whose idea was that knowledge wasn't much good unless you could pass it on to others, and that he thought the college deserved congratulations for teaching the boys to be such fine speakers.

Ernest Martin of Newport was the visiting Rotarian, and the music for singing was played by Paul Morel.

The meeting next week will be held at the Del Monty Hotel, and A. B. Farquhar will be the speaker.

NEW STAFFORD APPOINTMENT
D. G. MCCARTHY
Mr. J. H. Stafford, President of Stafford Industries Limited, announces the appointment of Mr. D. G. McCarthy as salesman for the Eastern Townships of Quebec with headquarters in Sherbrooke. The appointment became effective on April 25th.

BOLTON CENTRE

Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald, of Montreal, spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Miller.

Mrs. Alan Shufelt, of Iron Hill, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Patch. Mr. Shufelt was a Sunday guest at the same home.

Misses Mary and Geraldine Vesal have returned to Montreal, after spending the Easter holidays with their mother, Mrs. G. E. Vesal.

Miss Jacquelin Miller spent a few days in Sherbrooke and Lennoxville during the Easter vacation and was accompanied home by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Pearson, and daughter, Ann, of Lennoxville, who were tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Miller.

Mr. Draper Vail, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gebbie and children, of Bromo, spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Frizzle and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Beerwort spent a day in Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Robinson and children, of Waterloo, were tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Miller.

It probably crossed the deserts and jungles of Africa until the idea reached Nigeria. The frame appears to be of hard cherry wood, while the base is of cowskin.

"When you get 20 native musicians playing these simultaneously and singing as well there is plenty of sound."

Mrs. MacKay's curious hobby started when she first visited West Africa with her husband, a geologist. She was impressed by the unusual variety of native instruments, attributing this to the fact that a different instrument is used for every occasion, including births, weddings and funerals.

Church services in the United Church have been resumed again for the summer, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Leonard Mount, of Iron Hill, was a caller at the Mount home.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Osborne and sons were guests of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Cedric Stone, and Mr. Stone, Knowlton.

Mr. Douglas Miller, of Sherbrooke; and Mr. Lewis Stockwell and Misses Nellie and Christina Stockwell, of West Lebanon, N.H.; and Miss Madeline Stockwell, of Montreal; were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Frizzle and family were guests of their sister, Mrs. George Tetrenault, Jr., and Mr. Tetrenault, Waterloo.

Miss Besla Thomas, of Montreal, spent the week-end with her friend, Miss Christine Miller, R.N.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Worden, of Foster, with their guests, Mrs. Leo DesRochers and daughter Cathie, of Montreal, called at the Verrill-Beerwort and Miller homes one Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Beerwort, of Clarenceville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Beerwort.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller and children, of Sutton, were evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Miller and family.

Mrs. M. W. Miller and son, Grant, and daughter, Christine, with their guests, Miss Berla Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald, of Montreal, motored to Lennoxville on Sunday and were guests of Mrs. Miller's sister, Mrs. William Pearson, Mr. Pearson and daughter, Ann.

SHERBROOKE DROPS BOTH GAMES TO CUBS 3-2 AND 10-5

Locals Outthit Drummondville In Wide Open Hitting Contest But Drop Both Games In Loop Opener

Sherbrooke Athletics, although out hitting Drummondville Cubs in both games yesterday afternoon, dropped the tilts by the scores of 3-2, in the afternoon, and 10-5, in the twilight fixture, in the opening series of the Provincial Baseball League.

At Drummondville Adrian Zabala gave up four hits to the Cubs, while the A's nicked Max Lanier for seven safeties, including a circuit blow by Paul Dyke. Errors proved the downfall of Manager Gladu's squad as they committed five, four by Henerto Blanco and one by Claro Duany. The Cubs made one miscue S. Beard the guilty person.

At the local park, before 4,100 home town fans, the A's moved out in front in the initial frame as Blanco came up with a triple. Duany singled him home, and Silvio Garcia banged out a double. In the fourth Paul Dyke connected for a circuit drive, his second of the day, to put his team out in front 2-0. While his mates had pounded Lou Poliquin for five hits and two runs, Fred Martin had given up only one hit for the first four innings.

In the fifth, Martin set them down in regular order, but in the sixth Roger S. Beard singled, and when Danny Gardella was trying to stretch a single into a double, Garcia cut off a throw in from centre field to nip him at second. Roy Zimmerman, the Cubs' husky first baseman, then poled out a double driving.

Thomas Homers The A's got one hit in the fifth, as Roland Gladu hit a double but was left stranded. In the sixth Eddie Thomas poled out a double home run over the field fence to extend the locals' lead to 3-1 at the end of the sixth.

Harry Feldman relieved Martin in the seventh, but before he could get settled the Cubs had got to him for three runs on three hits, including a home run by Roger Beard. Coco Tarte then stepped in and the locals came through with a double play to ease matters.

In lower half of the frame Dussault started off with a single, after Tarte had fled out to short. Sal Maglie took over from Poliquin and Gladu hit a fielder's choice, but Blanco was caught at second. Duany then poled out a single with Dussault coming home, and Garcia kept the ball rolling when he banged out a singleton, but Thomas was thrown out at first. Sherbrooke had scored two runs on four hits and were out in front again 5-4.

Cubs Talk 3 To Lead The Cubs took over where they had left off, and pushed three runs across the plate when Perez homered, Stan Beard and Maglie doubled, with Ste. Marie's single, and two free tickets accounted for their runs and they took the lead for the first time in the game. In the lower half the locals failed to tally.

In the ninth Stan Beard's men continued their hot pace and when Bill Brandt, who took over from Tarte when Zabala pinch hit for him in the eighth, gave up two free passes to start matters they coupled a sacrifice, and a single, to tally three runs to account for their ten runs. In the lower half the A's threatened for a moment as Gladu walked. Dube fled out to short but Garcia hit into a double play to end matters.

Ed Pilgrim Sets New Record In U.B.C. Race

Ed Pilgrim marked up a new record on Saturday when he won the Mrs. McGreer shield and the annual Bishop's University 5-mile road race for the third year in a row.

Pilgrim had previously won the shield in his freshman and sophomore attempts, and Saturday's victory marks the first time a student has taken the race in each of his three years.

Pilgrim's time of 29:15, was almost two minutes slower than on his last outing, but was still good enough to beat sophomore Tony Price by 1 minute 47 seconds.

A freshman, Jack Lees, took third place in the event with a time of 31 minutes 43 seconds, eight seconds better than Jack Steeves who placed fourth.

Following are the final results:
 Ed Pilgrim 29:15
 Tony Price 30:58
 Jack Lees 31:43
 Jack Steeves 31:51
 Gardie Bennett 32:37
 Graham Knight 33:27
 Pete Johnson 34:42
 Ross McMaster 38:38
 Bob Birch 41:50

The Calumet Farm colt cooled off 13 rivals in the Diamond Jubilee Derby, including the heavily-favored Olympia. Now the big question is whether the young colt which never did anything until May 7, 1949, can help keep the wolf away from owner Warren Wright's door from here on.

That $91,000 Ponder collected for his Derby romp helped, of course, and the gross value of the famed Preakness already is more than $100,000. Four or five other Derby horses are heading Pimlico-ward, where several others are waiting for Maryland's biggest race.

Around the barns at Churchill Downs there is a general opinion that Capot will be a large number in the Preakness.

Ponder Wins Kentucky Derby In Surprise Victory And Considered Horse To Beat In Preakness Stake

Louisville, Ky., May 9.—(P)—Crafty Old Ben Jones, the Missourian who showed 'em with Ponder in the Kentucky Derby, got ready to take off for Baltimore today with his latest pride and joy for a crack at the $75,000-added Preakness.

This second "Jewel" in racing's triple crown is set for Pimlico Saturday, where Ponder is going to have enough equine company to keep things interesting.

The Calumet Farm colt cooled off 13 rivals in the Diamond Jubilee Derby, including the heavily-favored Olympia. Now the big question is whether the young colt which never did anything until May 7, 1949, can help keep the wolf away from owner Warren Wright's door from here on.
