P. G. Delgado Stirs Fellow-Rotarians With Loyal Speech

Message on Behalf of Third Victory Loan Campaign Stresses Significance of Democracy's Fight Against Hitlerism

Westmount Rotarians held a "Service for Canada" meeting yesterday in Victoria Hall, where P. G. Delgado aroused the gathering to great enthusiasm with a vibrant, patriotic speech into which he incorporated the request of the Honorable J. L. Ilsley, the Minister of Finance, to the service clubs of Canada to carry on the Third Victory Loan campaign.

There was no mistaking the temper and the spirit of determination that was shown by yesterday's body of loyal Canadians to aid the Government to the limit of its power—collectively and individually—in Canada's war financing.

Mr. Delgado, who was introduced by F. C. Whitaker, president of Westmount Rotary and chairman of the meeting, said meetings similar to yesterday's were being held in service clubs from coast to coast. The Minister of Finance, the Honorable Mr. Ilsley, had been asked to address a special message to the business and professional men who comprise the membership of the service clubs in Canada—a message designed to give a fuller understanding of the problems of Canada's financing in wartime, to tell without mincing words what is required of the country, of each one of us, in finding the dollars to pay for our war effort; and to tell something of what has been accomplished with the money we have already contributed to Canada's war effort. We are fighting a war that is a people's war, said Mr. Delgado. It is being fought to preserve all the common things that make life sweet. It is our war because Canada has everything at stake. Canada has come to nationhood. Of our own free will, she stands shoulder to shoulder with Britain, the United States of America and all the other United Nations, fighting a common enemy. Our enemies regard us as a nation—should we regard ourselves as less? They want our lands, exclaimed Mr. Delgado, our resources, our homes. Should we value them less than they? he asked. We know what our answer will be. But, like the centurion in the Acts of the Apostles, we must be prepared to say: "With a great sum obtained I this freedom."

REV. DR. KERR WILL PREACH

St. Andrew's Congregation Will Render Thanks at Sunday Services

On Sunday, St. Andrew's choir, conducted by Fred Whiteley will render inspiring Thanksgiving music morning and evening in St. Andrew's Church. Rev. Dr. Kerr will preach at both services, and will show what a call has come to the people of Canada to render thanks unto the Lord for all the marvellous deliverances since the beginning of the war. In the morning the topic will be "Thankful we are not as other nations", and in the evening "The Danger of Ingratitude".

Last Sunday St. Andrew's Church School under the leadership of Mr. Maxwell Ford and Mr. A. Leonard Griffith, B.A., had the largest attendance of any Sunday in recent years. The afternoon high school department, meeting at three o'clock, doubled the record attendance of last year. The Alpha Omega Society is planning for a grand opening on October 25th.

St. James Literary Society Hears Address On Macbeth

The St. James Literary Society began its 45th Session on Tuesday evening when the President, W. J. King, addressed one of the best-attended opening meetings on record.

Mr. J. Armitage Ewing, K.C. and Mr. J. B. Thomson paid tribute to the late Hon. Chief Justice Greenfield and Dr. H. D. Brunt, by whose deaths recently the Society had suffered the loss of two of its most prominent and active members.

Several new members were admitted to membership, among them being Mr. R. C. Young, of Grosvenor Avenue; Mr. H. S. Hawthorne, Wilson Avenue; Messrs. Leo Cox and W. A. King, both of Mount Royal. In the course of his Presidential address on the subject: "Macbeth, A Study in Determinism," Mr. King dwelt briefly on the story of the Shakespearean tragedy and analyzed the character of Macbeth whom he described as morally weak and vacillating, and not, as

Sub-Lieut. Lewis Cited For Bravery

Twenty-two year old Sub-Lieutenant David James Lewis has been mentioned in despatches for "gallantry, daring and skill in the combined attack at Dieppe".

Sub-Lieutenant Lewis, who was attached to the Royal Navy at the time, was in charge of an E-boat, which landed 19 commandos at Berneval, re-embarked all of them after the attack. He is a son of Dr. Sclater Lewis, acting head of the department of clinical medicine at the Royal Victoria Hospital and professor in the medical faculty at McGill University, and a grandson of Maj.-Gen. James G. Ross of Montreal.

MAYOR MERRILL HEADS LOCAL LOAN GROUP

Eminent Citizens Will Marshal Their Forces in Victory Loan Drive

Westmount's Third Victory Loan committee will be captained by Mayor Walter A. Merrill, K.C., who is chairman of the committee made up of the following outstanding citizens: F. C. Whitaker, George Hogk, Aime Geoffroy, K.C., George C. McDonald, C.A., Samuel Bronfman.

Every district of Montreal will be represented in the elaborate program planned in support of the third Victory Loan, according to reports from metropolitan campaign headquarters. In addition to the main events in the drive, many of which are planned for central sections of the city, the Forum, Fletcher's Field and other gathering places, there will be almost daily parades and demonstrations in suburban districts.

The Reserve Army will play a big part in the forthcoming campaign, officials state, and local units will take an active part in local demonstrations. Tanks, jeeps and other mechanized equipment will make up this cruising caravan.

Most suburban districts will also be represented in the great war worker demonstration on October 29 when thousands of workers from war industries will parade along St. Catherine street to the Forum. Worker heroes from each plant are now being selected and 20 of these will be awarded silk flags and will be honored as leaders in Canada's war production. Prior to the opening of the drive on October 19 a one-week aircraft exhibition will be held on Fletcher's Field.

so many believed, a brave man carried away by ambition.

Each of us, declared Mr. King, is a combination of complex, conscious and subconscious, conditioned by the influence of environment upon inherited potentialities, these in turn are conditioned by ancestry, the state of society and its current ideas in the country and in the age in which the individual man or woman has his or her being. We cannot always explain why things happen as they do, either to individuals or nations; often we can only see the surface results and try to appraise the causes that lead to consequences.

Dr. A. J. Martin thanked the speaker on behalf of the Society, and the usual debate on the paper was conducted by the vice-president, John Brooks.

The speaker on Tuesday will be Mr. John J. Hearne, High Commissioner for Elre whose topic is announced as: "A Character in search of a Play."

COLLEGE GRADS NOW PLANE MAKERS

Across Canada today girls and young women who never imagined they would ever see the inside of a factory have donned overalls and are helping build Canada's implements of war. At left above, wearing the white overall uniform of workers in a western aircraft plant, is Margaret Ramsay who gave up a school-teaching job at Sumnerland, B.C., to do this war job. She is an Arts graduate from the University of British Columbia. At the right, busy checking parts in an aircraft plant stockroom, is Betty Dave who graduated in Arts from University of British Columbia last spring. Almost immediately after receiving her degree Miss Dave tucked her curls under a bandana, donned overalls and went to work.

K. H. Murray Talks to Lions Sounds Warning to Parents

Children Need Guidance Throughout Their School Terms to Overcome Pitfalls

K. H. Murray, guidance councillor at the Intermediate School, was the guest speaker last Thursday at the Lions' Club of Montreal meeting in the Mount Royal Hotel.

Mr. Murray sounded a warning to parents and guardians against mass production methods in child guidance. For many years, everyone has taken for granted that a good education will contribute to the children's success, Mr. Murray said. "We have been led to believe that the more education a child receives, the more chance he has in later life. I believe that to a certain extent, but children are unable to go through this system of training without some assistance."

Mr. Murray said that in the past in many schools children were sent through a mass production factory. If they failed in later years, the blame was placed on the children and not on the school. But children were different, and schools and parents must take this into consideration.

"Guidance becomes necessary as soon as the school authorities and parents fully realize the possibilities of these differences. Parents know more about the training of their children today than ever before. They want these differences studied. They want the aptitudes developed. Guidance can be organized to look after this."

Jack Emo was chairman of the meeting.

ILLS OF WORLD PROBED IN TALK TO KIWANIS

Rabbi Dr. H. Abramowitz Accuses Mankind of Turning Science to Evil Uses

Dr. H. Abramowitz, rabbi of Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue, was the guest speaker last Thursday at the Kiwanis Club of Montreal, meeting in the Windsor Hotel. The speaker said there is nothing wrong with the world today, but there is something radically wrong with man himself, who has turned the world—a paradise—into a jungle fit only for beasts.

Continuing Dr. Abramowitz said: "Today man has mastered most of the things that made him a slave and he is a god in control. But if man is so wonderful, so progressive, why is he so miserable?" he asked. "If he is so smart why has he not used his intelligence to make the world a place to live in in comfort and peace? What joy can be taken out of life when all our ingenious machines are being used for terror and destruction?" he asked. "Science was our hope. It was supposed to be the panacea to cure all ills. With science people figured that we could relinquish religion. It was thought that science would succeed where religion had failed."

"They did not foresee the failure of science and the bankruptcy of education. We have education with free schools, but there is nothing to prevent criminal minds from using that very education. It was done in the totalitarian countries. The nucleus of those various fiendish groups was composed of college professors and students."

"The answer to what is wrong with the world today can be found in the words of the Indian philosopher. When some one was enumerating for him all the great modern scientific improvements enjoyed by people in some other countries, he listened until they were finished. Then he said 'Yes, you are right. They can fly through the air.'"

STOLEN GOODS PILED ON WAGON

Sergeant C. Baker Catches Up With Alleged Robber

With a suit case full of goods, a radio, ski poles, a bicycle, a fishing rod, and a pair of ski boots, the whole collection securely piled on a coaster wagon, all was going well with a juvenile—now making his getaway, until that alert police officer, Sergeant Charles Baker, caught up with the youth at 1:30 a.m. October first and proved his undoing.

Sergeant Baker, after a brief questioning, took the boy and his loot to the police station. On investigation it was discovered that the youth had got into the basement of an apartment house, where he gathered up the various articles that were on the coaster wagon when Sergeant Baker stepped into the scene.

In a check-up of the young fellow's record it was found that he was due to appear that very morning in Juvenile Court.

When the previous charges are duly disposed of, the accused will appear on the charge of robbery.

LIEUT. LINNELL GOES ACTIVE

Lieutenant V. A. (Vic) Linnell, president of the Canadian Progress Club of Montreal, is now on active service as a Lieutenant in the 28th Field Company of the Royal Canadian Engineers.

His Army life because of its many duties necessitates his resignation from the Progress Club, of which he has been an enthusiastic member since 1937.

During his short term of office, Lieutenant Linnell has more than justified the confidence his fellow members had in him when they elected him to the highest office.

Every aspect of the club's life was influenced for good through the indefatigable efforts of President Linnell.

TALK GIVEN ON MISSIONS BY NATIVE

At their Tuesday evening meeting the Westmount Park Y.P.U. had the pleasure of listening to a most interesting talk on "Some aspects of the work of the church among my people" given by John Karefa-Smart a native of Sierra Leone who is at present studying at college in Montreal.

Mr. Karefa-Smart said that the first contact of Christian influences from the west was in the fifteenth century when Roman Catholic missionaries came from Portugal but because of the great distances the church did not grow. Beginning with the last century missionaries have gone in greater numbers and now the church has taken root, and where before it was regarded as the "strange" church it is now the "native" one. The missionaries were the first to establish schools—children used to be taught just their own native customs, tribal dances, homecraft, weaving, etc., but now their educational system compares favourably with other parts of the world. Their primary schools teach nature study, hygiene, geography as well as basic English and mathematics. Only about five per cent of the population, however, can avail themselves of this education. Fewer still have the privilege of a high school education. The high schools have a four-year course and teach government administration as well as printing, carpentering, bookkeeping, mathematics and even elementary psychology. Students who have the opportunity of this higher education make the best use possible of it as it is their last chance of getting education.

This educational system, brought first by the church confers a lasting benefit on the people of that part of Africa and gives them the hope and will to look forward to a new Africa.

The speaker was introduced by Frank McPhee and thanked by the president, Gordon Young.

Worship and recreation closed a pleasant evening.

Next week's meeting is in the form of a "Musical Evening".

Marler, M.L.A., vice-president of the Executive Committee, will now go to New York to discuss the refinancing of Montreal's municipal debt with leading American financiers.

It was his desire, he added, to interview representatives of the city's foreign creditors wherever possible. Accordingly, he meant also to journey to Ottawa to see federal authorities in connection with the $4,000,000 issue floated by the city in Holland a few years ago.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1942

THINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR

Monday is Thanksgiving Day. In the early days on this continent, the day was observed in a religious manner—a day of thanks to the Almighty for the successful harvesting of the crops. In those days there was good reason to be thankful when the crops were in, for the odds against a good harvest were great. There was drought, blight, and the Indians. The good Puritans, working in the fields, never knew but what the surrounding woods hid marauding bands of Iroquois from the French country to the north. Sometimes ripened crops were burned, as well as houses and barns. Sometimes children were taken away captive. When the harvest was all in, and the settlement safely nestled behind the stockades, the Puritans could give thanks with a full heart.

ALL-STAR GAME, MONDAY

The sporting public, especially football fans, will have a double-barrelled reason for going up to Molson Stadium Monday. First there is the game in which celebrities now in the armed forces will oppose a civilian all-star team. And second, but equally as important, the youngsters at the Children's Memorial Hospital and St. Mary's will benefit to the extent of the entire net proceeds.

Here is a grand opportunity for all to enjoy a top-notch game, and at the same time to help this worthy cause. Both teams will be studded with football stars who have been practising for a fortnight under coaches Glen Brown and Pop Kerr.

We believe that local residents can be counted upon to support this event enthusiastically and in large numbers.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Once again by Proclamation of His Excellency the Governor General of Canada, the week of October 4th to 10th has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week.

Why a Fire Prevention Week? Fire Prevention is a matter which needs attention fifty-two weeks in the year. It has been found desirable, however, for the past twenty-two or twenty-three years to designate a week in which the public consciousness may be impressed with the enormous cost of our waste in the hope that conditions may be improved and carelessness reduced.

Canada's fire waste in 1941 amounted to more than $28,000,000 in property loss and 323 lives lost. If we are to give of our best in this war against Nazism, Fascism and Japanese Imperialism, we must reduce our fire waste by many millions of dollars. We must realize that every fire is a national calamity, something that eats into our reserves of much needed material or slows down production. Fire is one of the means by which the enemy hopes to defeat us and it doesn't matter whether it is of accidental origin or set by a saboteur, the same purpose is accomplished.

Carelessness is the greatest saboteur to date in Canada. We can eliminate that threat to our war effort by being more careful with fire in our daily life. All fires are small in their beginning but they may develop into conflagrations. Our duty is to see that they don't start.

Every householder should regard it as a patriotic duty to prevent fires in his home during these critical times. By cleaning out his attic and basement of all old papers, broken furniture and other combustible material he will not only assist the salvage campaign but will be reducing the fire hazards in his home. Let every citizen realize that a fire today is a national calamity and that every fire prevented is a conservation of our resources which can be turned to our war effort.

JAPAN LOOKS AT SIBERIA

There is only one reason why the Japanese will not strike at Siberia. If Tokio can be sure that a Japanese blow at Siberia will not result in a severe kick-back in the way of bombings from Russian bases, then Japan will not hesitate to attack Russia in the rear.

If anyone still thinks there is a spark of honor or decency about the Japanese, he is living in a fool's paradise. Japan showed her true colors at Pearl Harbor by the sneak attack on the American base, while Japanese envoys were still talking peace in Washington.

STOP ME If—

Returned With Thanks
Cooking was the young wife's hobby, and what she lacked in skill she made up in zeal.

One day, when a neighbor's small boy ran an errand for her, she rewarded him with a generous helping of jam tart which she had made with her own fair hands.

A few minutes later the youngster was back again.
"Thank you very much for the jam," he said, with shy politeness. "Here's your bit of board back!"—Answers.

A Twing Taster?
Miss S., a clever secretary, though rather intolerant, was taking up tating as a hobby. Entering the needlework department of a smart Washington shop, she said crisply, "I am looking for a shattin tattle."

"A what, madam?" asked the young clerk politely.
"Why, you know," answered Miss S. tartly, "a shattin tattle."

"Shattin tattle?" repeated the clerk, now completely bewildered little clerk.
"If you were an alert and intelligent employee," continued Miss S. icily, "you would know very well that what I am looking for is a tuttin shattle."

Poor Distinguished Guest
Master of Ceremonies: "And now, before I ask our distinguished guest to give his address may I remind members that our next meeting will not be held in this room, but in view of the popularity of the speaker, in the very much larger Lecture Hall downstairs.—Punch.

Nurse: "Certainly not! I'd hate to have a doctor's bill thrust in my face."

"Er—lady in waiting."

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Emile Ludwig asked Stalin what had become of the theory of equality which Marx had once preached and which he, Stalin, had recently ridiculed. He answered: "A complexly socialized state where all receive the same amount of bread and meat, the same kind of clothes, the same products and exactly the same amounts of those products—such a Socialism was not recognized by Marx. Marx merely says that so long as the classes are not entirely wiped out, and so long as work has not become a pleasure—for now most people look upon it as a burden—there will be many people who would like to have others do more work than they. So long, then, as the distinction of class is not entirely obliterated, people will be paid according to their productive efficiency, each according to his capacity. This is the first stage of Socialism. When Socialism has reached the completed stage, everyone will do what he is capable of doing, and for the work he has done will be paid according to his needs.

It should be perfectly clear that different people have different needs, great and small. Marx himself attacks the principal of equalization. That is a part of primitive peasant psychology, not Socialism.—From an article in Liberty on Stalin by Emil Ludwig.

The death rate in G.B. for the June quarter is the lowest for any June quarter except in 1927, 1930 and 1933, and the infant mortality rate would be the lowest for any June quarter except that of 1940. The Caucasus has a population of about 12,000,000, about seven per cent of the population of the U.S.S.R. The region is traversed diagonally by mountains whose peaks rise to a height of 18,470 feet. North of the mountains lie flat wellwatered steppes, comprising one of the richest agricultural districts in the Soviet Union. South of the mountains the climate is sub-tropic and abundant rainfall makes it possible to raise many types of exotic plants and fruits.

From the Caucasus comes 80 per cent or more of the crude oil production of the Soviet Union amounting to 212,000,000 barrels annually. Soviet geologists estimate that the largest oil reserves in the world lie in the Caucasus. The wells have been producing for over 80 years but as yet there is no evidence of depletion.

Loyal Address Stirs Rotary

1939, Canada declared war. For the second time in a generation, said Mr. Delgado, Canadians took up the German challenge to liberty. But, we were prepared neither in men nor weapons of war. Our armed forces numbered only 11,000. There were few weapons and few machines for making them. Today three years later the scene has undergone vast and radical change. Our active Army, Navy and Air Force have a combined strength of over 500,000 persons, with well over 100,000 more in reserve units.

Huge new industries have been created, said Mr. Delgado, existing establishments have been greatly expanded. Such weapons as tanks, artillery, and machine guns are being made for the first time in our history. Explosives, chemicals and ammunitions are being produced in new factories.

Situation Changed

Today, Canada is producing vast and ever-increasing quantities of war weapons and munitions — weapons and munitions that are being used by the armed forces of the United Nations in practically every theatre of war in the world.

In the three years of war, Mr. Delgado said, Canadians have accomplished what seemed impossible. For a country with a relatively small population, Canada's record is impressive, but in the light of what remains to be done, the task is far from accomplished. Victory is still to be won.

Mr. Delgado said that Mr. Hiley had expressed the objective for Canada's war effort in the following terms: "I think we should aim to make a reputation for Canadian achievement in this war that will be the talk of the world for generations, that will be the pride of ourselves, our children and our children's children. I want the allies — I want the people of the United Nations to ask themselves: 'How can 11,500,000 people in the northern part of the North American continent do so much and do it so well?'"

After giving a realistic word picture of Canada's war work, Mr. Delgado said that on the 19th of this month, Canadians would be invited to subscribe to the Third Victory Loan. It has been announced that Canadians will be asked to lend their country 750 million dollars.

That money must be forthcoming, Mr. Delgado added, but there will be some who, through lack of understanding, feel that with the payment of income taxes, their responsibility is at an end and that they cannot and need not buy Victory Bonds.

He said that this was not so. But that message needs to be passed on. And this was the task for service men like the Rotarians, most of whom were family men. Make sure your family is told of the importance of the individual contribution — no matter how large or small. Self-denial and money-saving is so often more of a family affair than it is an individual one, and so he urged upon all the duty of passing along the vital spark of understanding to their households. In conclusion Mr. Delgado urged upon all to hold fast to the supreme worth of our Canadian tradition. "Dark days" he asked, "No! Say rather that these are days which shall be heartened us toward a greater Canada than has yet been—a proud, free, country at peace with all men. The bugles of war sound a clarion call to duty for every one of us. Let us then seek the grace that we may not be found wanting. And concluding he said paraphrasing the

MOVIES TO HELP IN VICTORY LOAN

Motion pictures will again be given an important part in aiding the success of the forthcoming Victory Loan campaign. Canvasers will be shown a special film for instruction prior to campaign work. Theatres will screen War Loan trailers to encourage subscriptions. A special two-reel subject is in production at Associated Screen Studios for the use of Victory Loan committees throughout Canada. "We March Together" is an inspirational message to the people of Canada showing the tremendous task that faces the country in financing a modern war. It points up the danger of inflation from excessive civilian spending, shows the need for voluntary savings to ensure that Canadians serving in the armed forces will be properly equipped.

1933 Turns Up Again

A lad of twelve presented himself at Associated Screen Studios to ask if he could get a 16mm copy of a sequence in which he appeared. He has a projector at home now, and thinks it would be fun to show how he performed for the movie cameras. It turns out that Stanley Rosenthal did his stunt ten years ago — as Little 1933 bursting forth in a New Year Greeting trailer made for theatre screens in Canada.

Newsclip Fights Fire

Latest newsclip in production at Associated Screen News for the National Film Board is on fire prevention: "Fight Fire; Fire Blocks War Output." Corey Thomson handles narration.

Sgt. WAG. J. S. Jewett Is Killed In Action

Word has just been received by his parents of the death in action of Sergeant WAG. J. S. (Jim) Jewett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jewett, 5068 Westergrove avenue.

Sergeant Jewett was a graduate of Montreal High School and a student of Sir George Williams College when he joined the R.C.A.F. two years ago. He was then employed by the British Coal Corporation. For the past 18 months he has been serving overseas.

words of our great leader Churchill, let us so carry on that if our Canada shall last 1,000 years, those who then inherit it will turn back the pages of history to this our testing time and say this was our finest hour.

The Oak Room, which was filled to capacity, was gaily decorated with flags and bunting, and there were four representatives of the armed forces. These were Ordinary Seaman McFarlane, R.C.N.V.R. Headquarters, Private Kousik, Provost Corps, Private R. Routley, C.W.A.C., and Sergeant Henry, a wireless operator and air gunner from No. 1 Wireless School, R.C.A.F. Sergeant Henry has been overseas and reference was made to his service. J. Newman Pierce sang: "There'll Always Be An England" with the whole meeting joining in the chorus. Dave Kerr, chairman of the program committee, received the thanks of the chair for the excellence of the day's program.

At the head table with President F. C. Whitaker were Albert Boire, C. E. McKenna, P. G. Delgado, Gordon Brownlee, D. M. Brophy and Bill Girard.

Many Useful Subjects On Study Program At Montreal Y.W.C.A.

Realizing that the field of work for women of 1942-43 is larger than ever, the Montreal Young Women's Christian Association holds classes in such subjects as will give girls and women valuable lessons in poise, and the confidence which comes with knowledge.

To help in their business and social life, the Y.W.C.A. holds classes in French and English Conversation. Classes in French are held once a week under the leadership of Mrs. Erin Robert, and will begin on Thursday evening. Instruction in English conversation is given weekly under the supervision of Mrs. W. P. McVie, and will start on Thursday evening, October 15.

Club women have found that the classes in Public Speaking and Parliamentary Procedure at the association are helpful, giving them a good grounding for their club work. In these classes, women learn how to preside with confidence at meetings, since the instruction is based on democratic parliamentary procedure; they acquire assurance and poise in speaking before an audience. Miss Margaret Sutherland teaches these subjects on Tuesday evenings.

Further information about any of these classes may be obtained at the Young Women's Christian Association, 1124 Dorchester street west.

"I'M A FREE MAN!"

"I'm glad I live in Canada. My family is safe here. There is no Gestapo, no hunger, no brutal aggression. I have a good job, and I am free, and unafraid."

"In many lands, the people have been robbed and beaten, their money and possessions forcibly taken from them. Here in my country, I can lend my money and know that it is safe, backed by all the resources of Canada, and that I will get interest on it, too. I am gladly doing without some things so as to be ready to lend every dollar I can to the country that has been so good to me and my family."

Every dollar you lend to Canada helps to protect you . . . gives you the right to work in personal freedom instead of under brutal dictators . . . enables you to live your own life, for yourself and your loved ones.

Victory Bonds are a good way to save . . . this country has always paid back every penny loaned to it, with interest. Plan now how you can lend your money . . . figure how you can save to lend more. Back up the men who are fighting for your freedom . . . let your self-denial show your loyalty to Canada.

WEDDINGS

Hirschberg-Myerson
The marriage of Shirley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Myerson, of Beverly Hills, California, to Jack Hirschberg, U.S.N., of Los Angeles, eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. I. B. Hirschberg, of 4994 Victoria avenue, Montreal, took place on Saturday evening at half-past seven o'clock at Hillcrest Country Club, Los Angeles, Dr. Edgar Magnin officiating.

The bride was given away by her father, and was attended by Mrs. Gerald Pauly, as matron of honor, and by Miss Billy Ann Weber, as bridesmaid.

Mr. Lionel Hirschberg, cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

The bride couple left to spend their honeymoon in Del Monte and San Francisco.

A telephone "hook-up" carried the ceremony to the groom's father, Dr. I. B. Hirschberg, in Montreal. Mrs. I. B. Hirschberg was present at her son's wedding and other out-of-town guests were Lieut. Justin May, U.S.N., of New York, and Lieut.-Commander G. S. Perkins, U.S.N., of San Francisco. Also among the guests was Sydney Cullaroff, M.G.M. Studio's hairdress designer, formerly of Montreal.

Cree-Green

The marriage took place on Saturday, of Charlotte Elizabeth Shirley Green, daughter of the late J. J. Green and of Mrs. Green to Lance Corporal Walter George Cree, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cree, in Westminster Central United Church, the reverend

MOTHER SERVES MUFFINS

EVERYTHING CONSIDERED

by GERALDINE BRIETZCKE

"Ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience!" chirps the announcer, excitedly.

"Gentlemen," intones the president of the company, standing at the head of the long mahogany table in the board room.

"And now, ladies," says the women's club chairman, from amid the potted palms on the platform—

Strange, isn't it? Those two old, old words, "lady," and "gentleman," are still in common use, in an age when so much harsh laughter has drowned out the sound of so many gracious old phrases. When we want to stress quality, there are no modern words that quite take their place.

Mulvaney does odd jobs in our house. He is old, so we don't let him work too hard. He is a gentleman. His English is not faultless, his clothes are ancient and wrinkled, his white hair is long and straggly, he slouches along the streets wearing a peculiar old hat—but he is a gentleman. We've known him pretty well for ten years or more, and in all that time we've never de-

Donald Morrison officiating. Mr. Dave Brown was at the organ, and during the signing of the register, Mrs. Frank Taylor sang, "O Promise Me." The church was decorated with autumn flowers.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John Charles Green. She wore a gown of Duchess taffeta made on simple lines and a veil of tulle illusion held in place by a cluster of white feathers. She carried a cascade bouquet of gladioli with a sprig of white heather.

She was attended by her two sisters, Mrs. Walter Adams, as matron-of-honor, and Mrs. T. Gordon Wildman. They were dressed alike in triple sheer, Mrs. Adams wearing shell pink trimmed with gold, and Mrs. Wildman in powder blue trimmed with silver. They wore matching veils of bridal net, held in place with a cluster of feathers and carried cascade bouquets of pink gladioli.

The best man was Mr. Percy Cree, brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Messrs. Stanley and Clarence Cree, also brothers of the groom, Mr. Walter T. Adams and Mr. T. Gordon Wildman.

After a reception held in Bank Chambers Hall, the bride couple left for Ottawa, the bride traveling in a suit of brown Alpine cloth, over which she wore a brown topcoat with accessories to match, and a fitch fur, the gift of the groom.

ted anything mean or brutal or even mildly unkind about him.

It may be a bitterly cold day but Mulvaney never complains, about that or about anything else. He always wants to know how we are standing up to the weather, instead; and if we're "keeping well." He takes an interest in everything; he is touchingly grateful for pleasant little food surprises served with his meals; he always says good-bye to every member of the family with ceremony.

Mr. Trenton is quite different. He always gets a haircut when he needs one, and never slouches, and his clothes are good. He has an honored position which precludes him from doing odd jobs for people; he is comfortably off, with enough money to keep him well dressed, well fed and well read. We have known him for many years, too. But we are unable to greet him with the same warmth and pleasure we experience when old Mulvaney comes to the house. Mr. Trenton likes to say things that hurt, believing that in this way he is laying naked the Truth.

Mr. Trenton is clever. Don't ever misquote Shakespeare, or even Aldous Huxley, when he is near. Don't make a harmless conversational venture into the realms of science, about which you are rather timid, and expect to come out of it the same carefree soul you went in. Mr. Trenton will swiftly show you where you belong intellectually.

V-BUNDLES WORKERS RESUME ACTIVITIES, NEED MORE HELPERS

V-Bundles of Montreal and District is resuming its fall activities. It is announced, and needs helpers to keep up the good work of preparing clothes for overseas civilians.

The first yearly report of this organization shows that 705 cases were shipped to Britain, weighing almost 70 tons, and every case has arrived safely.

V-Bundles is in urgent need of workers, for cutting out and making up of children's garments; parcels of repairs freshly laundered can be taken home, or small garments made up.

Evening groups are now being formed for business girls who feel they want to help the war effort, at all three branches, 4979 Queen Mary Road, 4141 St. Catherine street west, 1547 Van Horne avenue.

Clothing is desperately needed in England, V-Bundles officials point out, as due to a further cut in rationing it is most difficult to make the coupons last, especially where there is a family of small children who wear their clothes out quickly. Garments that cannot be repaired are sent to be cleaned, and cut down into children's garments by the workers.

Everything given to workers is clean, and in sanitary condition.

You will never cure worry by pretending there is nothing to worry about. Look at your difficulties, measure them up, and get them into proportion. Then you will be fit to deal with them.

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

A truly great modern love story has been magnificently brought to the screen by Darryl F. Zanuck in his production of 20th Century-Fox's "This Above All" which opened at the Westmount Theatre yesterday.

suited to their parts, and both of them bring to the screen all of the romance and beauty which made the novel such a best-seller. Featured in the cast of the film are Thomas Mitchell, Henry Stephenson, Nigel Bruce, Gladys Cooper, Philip Merivale, Sara Allgood and Alexander Knox. Anatole Litvak directed the film from a screenplay written by R. C. Sheriff.

At The Snowdon

The show business background to "Maisie Gets Her Man" now showing at the Snowdon theatre was easy-as-pie to the stars and principals of the great laugh-show. Ann Sothern spent a season on the Broadway stage as one of the leads in Flo Ziegfeld's "Smiles" besides a long period in vaudeville. It didn't take much effort on Red Skelton's part to pretend to be a vaudevillian as thousands of Montrealers know after seeing "Red" for many seasons on the stage of this city's largest vaudeville theatre.

Allan Jenkins came to pictures from the New York stage as did Donald Meek. Walter Catlett used to be one of Broadway's more popular comedians starting in burlesque, graduating to vaudeville and finally into long-run musical-comedy hits. And Leo Gorcey got his start as being one of the original "Dead End" kids on the stage.

About the only stranger to the footlights was Roy Del Ruth the director but Del Ruth has directed so many musical pictures with a behind-the-scenes flavor that he had as much stage "savvy" as the players.

The added feature in this new program is "Dr. Broadway", a real exciting murder-mystery starring a newcomer, Macdonald Carey. As its title implies the picture deals with New York's Main Stem in a new and novel manner

At The Monkland

Combining their talent for the first time since their remarkable triumph in "Escape," Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor again co-star in "Her Cardboard Lover," which began a four day showing at the Monkland United Theatre yesterday. Their reunion is a worthwhile screen event. As a demonstration of their versatility, this comedy from the play by Jacques Deval is an ideal vehicle. The story has been lavishly mounted, with spectacular backgrounds placed in a smart Florida winter resort. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer art department went the limit, as did the costume designers and photographers. The direction by George Cukor is further evidence of his suave ability in sophisticated material.

Frank McHugh and Elizabeth Patterson have rich comedy roles in support. McHugh and Taylor form a song-writing team which composes a number called "I Dare You," that becomes a hit. Actually it was written by Burton Lane and Ralph Freed, and is a charming melody.

At York Theatre

Based upon the colorful, imaginative and emotional lives of Amy Johnson and Jim Mollison, outstanding figures in the field of aviation, and with Anna Neagle and Robert Newton recreating these two famous people on the screen, "They Flew Alone" comes as the year's distinctly unique and inspiring dramatic action picture. The film opened yesterday at the York United Theatre playing until Friday night.

Using the great aerial achievements of "Johnnie" and Jim Mollison as links in re-telling the great story which brought them together only to see their marriage shattered by clashing temperaments, the new film goes in for vivid delineation and authenticity of background. "They Flew Alone" is concentrated on the personalities of the two flyers rather than their aerial exploits. "Johnnie's" early disappointments and successes leading to her Australian flight; her meeting with the courageous, intrepid Mollison; their stirring and turbulent romance ending in disillusionment and divorce, are episodes in a photoplay bristling with breathtaking drama. Amy Johnson dreamt aviation. With grit and application she studied engineering and navigating. A young girl without experience, she approached Lord Wakefield, famous patron of aviation, and obtained his backing. Armed only with a school Atlas she astounded the world with her epical flight from England to Australia, and with other startling feats concluding with her tragic death as a member of the A.T.A.

Rejected by the RAF because he was unable to "hunt with the pack," Jim Mollison is today serving his country in no less a way by flying with the male side of the A.T.A. Newton enacts the role of the famous aviator in "They Flew Alone" with his customary excellence, bringing to the portrayal all the dash it demands.

We should offer to God both service and song.

At The Kent

As has always been its policy, the management of the Kent Theatre has made special arrangements for the showing of "Fantasia" on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Extra amplifiers and loudspeakers have been placed in the auditorium in order that the full volume and total range of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra may be reproduced in a more lifelike manner. In addition to the above they have also had their standard sound and projection equipment specially prepared and the projection light has been increased in order that the full beauty of the Multiplane Technicolor will be shown.

WESTMOUNT CLUB ELIMINATED FROM PROVINCIAL TOURNAMENT IN SOFTBALL SEMI-FINALS

North-enders Qualify to Meet Maisonneuve in Final Round With Two Convincing Victories, 10-6 and 14-5, Wiping Out Local Squad's One-game Lead

The Westmount All Stars were eliminated from the provincial softball tournament last Sunday afternoon when they dropped a double-header to the Ahuntsic team, the northenders won the first game 10-6 and the night-cap 14-5.

This was the semi-final round of the tourney and the Ahuntsic team will now play Maisonneuve for the championship of the province.

Going into Sunday's games, the Westmounters held a one-game lead in the series and it looked like they would be the team to meet Maisonneuve but unfortunately it was not so.

The local team's hopes were raised when their opponents started Nick Borzelli in the box as it seemed almost certain that Allen Dyke who had hurled two hit balls in the first game of the series at Ahuntsic would be able to out-pitch his rival but Dyke, who rarely pitches a poor game, allowed the Ahuntsic team nineteen hits.

The local team hit well and seemed capable at any moment of gathering in a win but each time they caught up with their opponents, they in turn would score another run or two.

The Ahuntsic team scored six of their ten runs with two out. Williams in right field led his team at bat with four hits including a triple.

Dougie Maher led the local team at bat in the first game with a pair of hits while Tom Brennan and Allen Dyke each connected for circuit clouts.

The result of the second game was a foregone conclusion when Ahuntsic scored six runs in the second frame off Andy O'Connor to win out 14-5.

Belmore, Lapalme and Lavole were the best for the Ahuntsic team gathering ten hits between them, Lapalme, Groux and Laurin hit home-runs.

Doug Maher, Smiley Meronek and Noel Romney got to Laurin for two hits each with Meronek's both being home-runs for the only bright spot in the game from a Westmount viewpoint.

FALLEN FROM GRACE (Leeds Yorkshire Post)

BEAVERS AND PANTHERS WIN FIRST OF SENIOR GAMES IN SIX-MAN RUGBY CONTESTS

Dragons Win Over Tornados in Old Tussle of Junior Section of Municipal League — Keenly Contested Struggles Mark Growing Popularity of Amended Type of Play

Games in both senior and junior section of the Westmount Municipal Six Man Rugby League, marked the opening week of play in this popular loop. The Beavers and Panthers racked up wins in the senior section while the Dragons won the only game played in the lower bracket. The Beavers defeated the Rovers 24-5, the Panthers shut-out the University School entrants 10-0 while the Dragons won their junior tilt 5-0 over the Tornados.

The Beavers started off with a great rush in their game with the Rovers and scored three converted touches in less than ten minutes of play in the first half.

but from then on the Rovers improved and held the winners down to a lone try in the last half. This was also converted.

Albany Moore gathered in eleven points to lead the scoring brigade of the Beavers while Dave Harvie and Ross Miller scored five and seven points respectively.

Basil Boxer tallied the five points for the Rovers when he galloped 70 yards for a touchdown in the second half after receiving a forward pass from Binmore.

Bill Coles was the hero of the Panthers 10-0 victory over the University School team. Coles got away twice for long runs that ended up in touchdowns, one in each half. Neither of the tries were converted.

Bill Murray and Hugh Brodie were the best for losers who need more practice.

McDonald Gets Touchdown
Donnie McDonald's scored a touchdown for his Dragons in the last couple of minutes of play in the game with the Tornados and this was the only score of the game. The Dragons were in possession of the ball well in the Tornados territory for the last five minutes of the game but each time Earl MacDonald, who did the booting for the winners, kicked the ball over the Tornados' goal-line it would be returned. Finally one of the returns did not travel far enough and Donnie McDonald pulled it in just inside the goal-line to give his team the all important five points.

Ronnie George, Dave Binmore and Cam McFadden starred for the losers while Earl MacDonald was the best for the Dragons.

Tuesday's game between the Red Wings and the Eagles was postponed and was to be played this morning.

Another team, the sixth, was accepted into the junior section of the league. The sixth team is the University School and they will see action for the first time to-morrow afternoon when they hook-up with the Tornados, while on Saturday morning they will meet the Red Wings.

The revised schedule in the junior section is as follows:
Friday, Oct. 9: Tornados vs. University School.
Saturday, Oct. 10: University School vs. Red Wings.
Tuesday, Oct. 13: Eagles vs. Tornados.

HOCKEY TILT DUE TOMORROW

Canadiens Face Army in Exhibition Game at Verdun Auditorium

Hockey will be ushered in for the 1942 fall and winter season by an attractive exhibition game in Verdun Auditorium tomorrow night when Dick Irvin's Canadiens and Canada's top flight army hockey team will clash. It is announced by T. P. Gorman, general manager of the Forum. Canadiens have been drifting into Montreal one or two days for the past week and Irvin is confident that he will put on the ice a team potentially as strong as that which finished up last season with a bang.

Both teams have been hard at practice. The soldiers are likely to have two goalies, Sugar Jim Henry is likely to start the game with "Leaky" Boates, who was a sensation with Glace Bay last year, relieving him.

Ticket sale for the exhibition tilts opened at the Auditorium and the Forum this morning.

HOME POWER OR WAR POWER?

I NEED YOUR POWER!

"In making fighting equipment, we've got to turn this stuff out fast . . . and plenty of it . . . if we're going to beat that fellow Hitler. It takes a lot of electricity to keep a plant like ours going night and day, and we're going to need still more. We're having trouble now in getting all the power we need. They tell me that Canadian homes are using power that should be flowing into our war plants . . . that there isn't enough for our homes to get all they want and for our factories to get all they must have. We've got to use less electricity in our homes from now on . . . if we are going to keep turning out war equipment in the quantities needed."

The use of electricity for commercial purposes has already been restricted. Further restrictions are planned. But we need more power than can be saved from these sources. The voluntary co-operation of the public in the conservation of power is absolutely necessary.

Unless you cut your power consumption by at least twenty per cent—you are not saving enough.
