World News In Brief

South March, Ont.—(P)—Today is a big day for some 2,400 boy scouts camped at Connaught ranges 14 miles west of Ottawa attending the second Canadian Boy Scout jamboree.

The Scouts, with conferees from six other countries, will stand rigidly at attention while Canada's No. 1 Scout, Governor General Vincent Massey, drives through their ranks to inspect them.

Following the inspection, Mr. Massey will address the scouts and declare the 1953 jamboree officially open.

Miami Beach—(P)—A section of a multi-million dollar ocean-front under construction collapsed, sending 10 workmen to hospitals. The men fell 25 feet to the ground when a framework of concrete, steel and plank caved in under their feet.

Larisa, Greece—(P)—Jet fighter-bombers of four countries swarmed over Greece in tactical support to the first Greek national army, which "fought" a holding action along the Olympus mountain line against a simulated invader. For the first time since NATO's south Europe command was formed, Greek field commanders were able to call on F84 thunderjets based in Turkey and Italy.

Tokyo—(Reuters)—Russians seized 29 Japanese fishing boats and more than 80 fishermen in the first 18 days of this month, Japanese coast-guard authorities announced. They said the fishing boats were captured in Japanese waters around Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island, and around the Kuriles, the Soviet islands off Siberia.

New Delhi—(Reuters)—Three women and two children were killed and 22 people injured when a two-storey building collapsed in Old Delhi. Five of the injured were reported in critical condition.

Cairo—(AP)—The Middle East simmered in a heat wave that sent temperatures up to 120 degrees over the week-end. The thermometer hit 126 Sunday in Baghdad, Kuwait and other Persian gulf points. Cairo reported a one-point drop from Saturday's 105.

Allied, Communist Officers Work On Final Truce Draft; War May End Within Week

Japanese Flood Toll Reaches 273

Tokyo — (P)—Thousands of Japanese were rescued today from debris-littered floodwaters as ground, sea and air teams worked feverishly to cut the human toll in the nation's second great flood disaster in three weeks.

The sudden flood that started with cloudburst rains Friday swallowed whole villages at Wakayama on central Honshu island's Pacific coast about 200 miles southwest of Tokyo.

National police headquarters here estimated the toll at 273 dead, 433 injured and 2,033 missing.

Earlier, police said more than 6,000 were dead or missing, but a spokesman reported later those totals listed many duplications caused by chaotic communications.

More than 2,000 persons stranded on roof tops or trapped in flooded homes were plucked to safety by rescue teams searching the swirling waters.

U.S. air force planes crisscrossed the flood scene, dropping tons of food to stranded persons, while Japanese ships and ground forces scoured the area for survivors.

The rains stopped Sunday after two days of cloudbursts sent three mountain streams thundering down narrow valleys.

Flash floods hit valley villages, some before sleeping residents could flee.

Although skies began to clear and the rivers to recede on central Honshu, new rains hit in the Tokyo area and the rivers rose steadily. Thousands worked during the night to plug gaps at river dikes.

At Wakayama, Japanese wept as they were reunited with relatives they thought dead. One young couple, picked up after clinging to debris for eight hours, told how they lost their two children, Shizuo Morimoto, 31, said.

"We woke up and heard the roaring waters bursting the dike at 7 a.m. Saturday. Our house began floating toward the sea at 8 a.m. At the river mouth, surf engulfed us. When we came to the surface, my 4-year-old boy was gone."

Communists Give Go-Ahead To Preparation Of Last Details Of Armistice.

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
 Panmunjom — (AP)—Three teams of Allied and Communist officers, including for the first time the men who would oversee a cease-fire, worked today on final details of a Korean truce which seemed almost at hand after the Reds issued a go-ahead Sunday.

There was no official indication just when the historic document would be signed to end the three years of fighting. But some observers said it could be within a week. Fighting is to end 12 hours after the signing.

Three United States members of the military armistice commission flew here unexpectedly for the first time to join an Allied-Red staff officers session. The commission, which would be composed of top officers from the opposing armies, will control the buffer zone separating the opposing forces.

They met at 3:40 p.m. (1:40 a.m. EDT) and recessed an hour and 50 minutes later without setting a time for another session.

"We discussed suggested arrangements which they (the Reds) will consider and probably come back with their proposals," said navy Capt. B. M. Coleman, McLean, Va., one of the three.

The staff session then reconvened at 4:40 p.m. without the commission members.

Another United Nations spokesman said no truce meetings of any kind had been set for Tuesday, but they may be called by either side.

The main truce delegations presumably are awaiting a call from the lower level staff officers to set a date for the signing.

Both sides quickening the pace toward a truce signing in the wake of the sudden communist announcement Sunday that they were ready to go ahead with final preparations in return for Allied assurance that South Korea would abide by a cease-fire.

But South Korean foreign minister Pyun Yung Tai hinted more opposition from Syngman Rhee's government might be in the wind with a statement that the Communist agreement contained "many traps."

He said it showed the Reds intended to take "all South Korea by subversive activity and by liquidating the army which we have built so painstakingly and with so much expense."

An unnamed Republic of Korea spokesman said Allied assurances meant the UN "had lost the war."

In other developments:

1. The Peiping radio announced that Czechoslovakian and Polish delegates who would serve on a four-nation armistice supervisory commission arrived in the Red China capital. The Swedish and Swiss delegates are already in Tokyo.
2. The Reds sent 200 North Korean and Chinese troops to resume work on the "signing buildings" at Panmunjom. Construction was suspended a month after Rhee freed 27,000 anti-Red North Korean prisoners from Allied camps. Communist correspondent Alan Winington of the London Daily Worker said the buildings should be finished Thursday, but the signing probably would not be that early.
3. Gen. Mark Clark, UN far East commander in Tokyo, hailed the Red go-ahead as "most encouraging," and said it "should lead to an early signing." However he said some details remained to be worked out.
4. Peiping radio said the Communist agreement to go ahead with truce signing preparations came after "resolute efforts by the Red Korean and Chinese side in the past one month."
5. One group of Allied and Communist staff officers carried rolled up maps, presumably needed in fixing the new demarcation line for a 2 1/2-mile buffer zone which will separate the opposing armies 12 hours after a truce. It will reflect gains of the Communists in their giant Kumsong bulge offensive last week and territory taken by counter-attacking South Koreans. This team met in two morning sessions totalling almost an hour. The group was joined in the afternoon by the three U. S. military commission members.
6. Another staff group met with the Reds for 27 minutes, then turned its work over to interpreters, usually the final step.
7. Liaison officers, who have maintained the Allied-Communist contact during the recessed without setting another meeting date, also suggesting their work was finished.
8. A UN spokesman said the first trip of U.S. military armistice commission members to Panmunjom represented "planning against the day that an armistice is signed so there will be a minimum of delay in getting the commission into operation."

Truckers Quit Jobs In Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
 Upwards of 1,500 truck drivers are on strike in southwestern Ontario, tying up operations of 36 transport companies from Hamilton to Windsor.

Manager F. W. Murray of the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau said in Toronto early today that the drivers, seeking wage increases, took their big trucks off the road as a midnight deadline passed. The men set up picket lines in Windsor and elsewhere.

Officials of the drivers' union, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL-ILC), and company representatives are scheduled to meet in Toronto today with Labor Minister Daley of Ontario in an effort to work out a settlement.

Involved in the strike are 980 members of the Union's Hamilton local and 560 belonging to the local in Windsor. Affected are trucking companies in Hamilton, London, Kitchener, Galt, Brantford, Woodstock, Windsor, Sarnia and Chatham.

The union at Hamilton and Windsor turned down a conciliation board recommendation of a seven-cent-an-hour boost for drivers and 11 cents for mechanics. The Hamilton area local seeks 20 cents an hour more for drivers and 30 cents for mechanics while the Windsor local seeks a 52-cent general increase.

The hourly rates are for waiting time or breakdowns. Most pay is made up a basis of 5.2 cents a mile. Under this system, a driver on the Montreal-Toronto run makes about $100 a week for 2 1/2 round trips.

Gordon Is Mooted For British Job

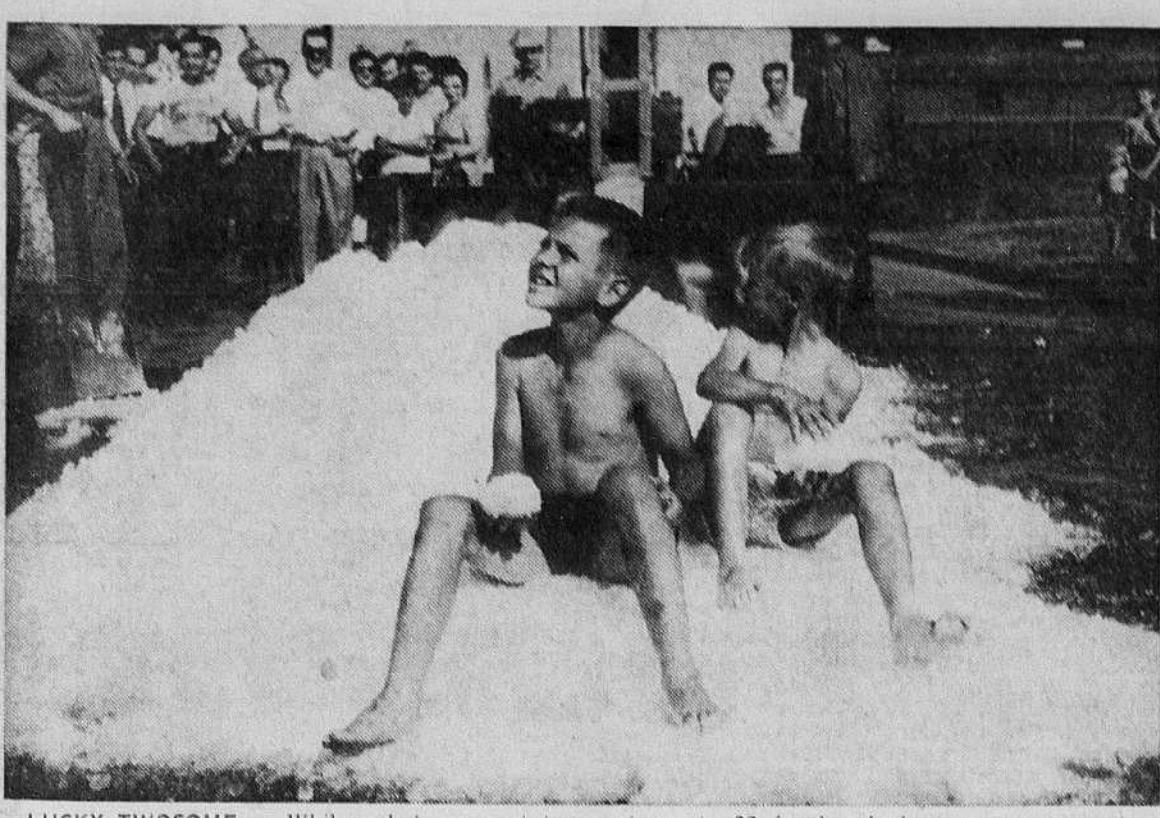

London — (P)—Published reports suggested today that the British government may invite Canada's Donald Gordon to succeed Viscount Hurcomb as chairman of the commission which runs the internationalized inland transport system.

The Daily Telegraph said Transport Minister Alan Lennox-Boyd may invite a Canadian to head the commission, and the Daily Express said it is believed the man in question may be Gordon, Scottish-born president of the Canadian National Railways.

A CNR spokesman here, however, said today the whole idea seemed "unlikely."

Lord Hurcomb retires next month. The commission, comprising a chairman and four other members, is the central executive body for Britain's inland transport system, publicly owned since Jan. 1, 1948.

Drownings Claim 25 Lives At Weekend As Record Heat Takes Toll In East

14 Marines Survived Red Attack

Seoul — (P)—Fourteen United States Marine survivors of a savage fight with Chinese Reds on two western front outposts staggered back to the first Marine division today after their unit was engulfed by 1,500 Communists.

Eight of the Marines were from outpost Berlin and six from outpost East Berlin.

It was not known whether any Marines still were dug in on bunkers atop the hills.

In their last desperate act Sunday night, the trapped troops called in their own artillery on top of them to get as many Chinese as possible. Then their radio went dead.

How the survivors got out is not yet known but it is presumed they worked their way back down the slope after the Reds left its shell-raked crest during the daylight hours.

Attacking behind ear-shattering artillery fire, two reinforced Red battalions battled up the twin hills northeast of the Panmunjom truce site.

The Red victory, won with staggering casualties, gave the Communists full control of a vital hill area.

Allied observers speculated the Reds grabbed the Berlin outposts in the belief no effort would be made to retake them with an armistice apparently imminent.

A burst of machine gun fire signaled the end of the marine resistance to the savagely-charging Reds, who drove up the slopes through their own shell-fire.

Allied warplanes roared off later in the day and pounded the outposts mercilessly.

The fighting on the western sector hills was the most violent along the 150-mile front, although smaller scale but equally fierce action flared along the tense Kumsong sector in east-central Korea.

There, South Korean troops attempting to regain ground lost in last week's massive Red assault were pushed back slightly.

A Chinese battalion, some 750 men, hit the RoKs as they advanced cautiously near the junction of the Kumsong and Pukhan rivers, just south of Lookout mountain.

It was the farthest northward penetration of the South Koreans in their slow-moving march in the 20-mile Kumsong bulge sector that was flattened out by the 80,000-man Red attack last week.

 Drownings took a heavy toll in Eastern Canada over the week-end, claiming the lives of 25 of the 38 persons who met violent deaths.

The hot weather that sent city residents to cottages and summer resorts also resulted in 11 fatal traffic accidents. One man, 52-year-old Anatole Pratte, was killed when he fell down the hatchway of a freighter in Montreal harbor and Robert Route, 34, died in the explosion of a tank of propane gas at Valcartier military camp near Quebec.

A Canadian Press survey showed the heaviest loss of life in Quebec, where 23 people died, 17 of them by drowning. Eleven lost their lives in Ontario, two in Nova Scotia and one each in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

A boating accident cost the lives of a brother and sister on the Nation river near Papineauville, Que. The victims were Mrs. Rheume Perrier, 18, and her 20-year-old brother, Rejean Rahey, both of Notre Dame de la Paix, Que.

There were two double fatalities in accidents involving automobiles in Ontario. Rene Chasse, 25, of Matane, Que., and a 32-year-old man named Savoie from Bathurst, N.B., were killed when their car was struck by a freight train at a level crossing near Montclair, Quebec.

Drownings—Gerard Arbour, 33, St. Johns, in Richelieu river near his home; Michel Seguin, 14, Rigaudi; in La Grasse river at Rigaudi; Andre Pepin, 19, Montreal, in Mille Isles river at St. Francois de Sales; Tadeusz Cyakor, 21, Montreal, in Mille Isles river at St. Eustache; Celestin Malo, 17, Farnham, in Yamaska river at Farnham; Jean Saisson, 18, Pointe Claire, in Lake St. Louis at Baie d'Urfe; Paul Lizotte, 20, Montreal, in Lac Maskinonge near St. Jovite; Benoit Gerard, 17, La Tuque, in Riviere la Cloche near La Tuque; Lionel Bourget, 37, Montreal, in a public swimming pool at Pointe Fortin; Jacques Pion, 20, Montreal, in Riviere des Prairies at bout de l'ile; Gabriel Lajoie, 21, Ville Jacques Cartier, in St. Lawrence river at Montreal East; Andre Drolet, 17, Montreal, in Mille Isles river near Ste. Rose; Stephen Moore, Longue Pointe, in St. Lawrence river at Montreal; Gideon Giroux, 19, St. Gedeon, in Chaudiere river; Armand Lachance, 20, Quebec, in a swimming pool at Quebec.

Traffic—Denis Belec, 16, Montreal, struck by an automobile on the highway at d'Abord a Plouffe; Rodolphe Lemay, 41, St. Donat, from injuries suffered in a four-car collision near Rawdon; Noel Simard, 30, Montreal, crashed into base of overpass in Pointe Aux Trembles; Emilius Ouellet, 26, L'Anjou, when his car struck a bridge railing.

U.S. Yacht Is Favored To Win Race

By GERRY MARTIN

 Halifax — (P)—Salmagal II, her white spinnaker billowing in the early morning breeze, crossed the finish line of the New England-to-Halifax ocean classic shortly after dawn today.

The cream-colored yawl, commanded by Arthur B. Homer of Bethlehem, Pa., and sailing out of Mount Desert, Me., is given a good chance of capturing top honors.

Her elapsed time of 89 hours, 13 minutes and 18 seconds for the 361-mile voyage from Manchester, Mass., has already eliminated 10 of the 14 competing yachts. The race was slowed by light winds.

Her closest contender seems to be the Sparhawk, a cutter owned by T. Banks, Jr., Manchester, with a handicap of 11 hours. The yacht and escort vessels do not radio progress of the race.

The schooner Reveller, sailed by J. W. Freitas, Beverly, Mass., carries a four-hour, 53-minute allowance of the Salmagal II and the cutter the Narvon, owned by Oliver Ames, Padanaram, Mass., 4:05.

Although Nova Scotia's three yachts have been eliminated, the province probably will have a share in the win. W. C. Chipman, a native of Yarmouth, N.S., now living in Hingham, Mass., is cooing on the 54-foot Salmagal.

Navigator and first mate of the Salmagal is Daniel Strohmeyer, New York. A. O. Villauer, Dedham, Mass., is second mate. Crew members are Stephen B. Homer, son of the owner, Samuel Wake-man, Hingham, Mass., Raymond Ferris, Hingham and Allan Bragdon, Northampton, Mass.

Homer will have a double triumph should the boat come through. He designed a major part of the yawl, built in 1950.

The Atlantic was as smooth as glass the greater part of the way, Homer said.

"We left Newcombe Ledge buoy off Manchester at one o'clock on Thursday and covered 111 miles in the first 24 hours. During this time the Canadian Navy's Oriol II and Ketch Zodiac, sailed by N. W. Rice, Gloucester, Mass., stuck fairly close to us."

"We lost the Oriol Thursday night and showed our heels to the Zodiac early Friday." The Salmagal covered 102 miles until noon Saturday.

The wind dropped to almost nil Saturday night and fog closed in while they were standing off the Nova Scotia coast.

"We practically lay in one spot all day Sunday, about 14 miles off Point Mouton," said navigator Strohmeyer. "The wind freshened just before sundown and we broke out the spinnaker. We used the spinnaker again in coming up the harbor, running before a south wind."

Homer and three of the crew raced in the classic in 1951. "Had we not seen the spinnaker earlier that time, we might have made a better showing," said the veteran skipper.

Government's Trade Policy Criticized By Opposition

By Canadian Press Staff Writer
 The leaders of the Progressive Conservative and CCF parties fired broadsides at government trade policy during the week-end. Instead of firing back, Mr. St. Laurent made a speech in which he said he hopes for greater Canadian autonomy.

In speeches at Cambridge and Amherst, N.S., Hon. George Drew blamed Liberal government trade policy for an "alarming" import surplus in the first five months of this year. At Kirkland Lake, Ont., Mr. J. Caldwell said Canada should promote British buying by accepting some payment for her goods in sterling.

Mr. St. Laurent didn't discuss government trade policy, already fairly well explored in the earlier weeks of the Aug. 10 election campaign.

Instead, at Mont Joli, Que., on the upper St. Lawrence river, he drew a picture of a Canada which would have the constitutional authority to settle all its affairs without reference to another country.

Meanwhile at Cap St. Ignace, Que., 140 miles southwest of Mont Joli, Finance Minister Abbott made an announcement which confirmed rumors drifting about government circles for many months.

He said that if elected he would no longer occupy the finance portfolio. That would be filled by Jean Lesage, Liberal member for Montmagny-Islet riding in the last House of Commons, if Mr. Lesage were re-elected.

Mr. Abbott was speaking in support of Mr. Lesage, his parliamentary assistant in the last House.

Mr. Drew wound up his week-long tour of the Maritimes Saturday. He moves into Quebec today and will spend the next three weeks there and in Ontario where 16 of the Commons seats are at stake.

Besides criticizing government trade policy, he took a shot at what he termed federal government "snoopers." Tax investigators were "hounding the small taxpayers and going back 15 or 20 years demanding records they can't possibly produce."

The question was not one of investigating those persons who made false tax returns, but of requiring persons who made honest returns to give explanations of the earnings several years later.

"They are acting as if they were your masters, not your servants," said Mr. Drew. "You have a far greater right to demand an accounting from them than they have to demand it of you."

Of government trade policy, the Progressive Conservative leader said:

"The fact is that this government exploited Europe's post-war needs for our products in exchange for American dollar aid without any serious attempt to establish firm long-term markets.

"Now when those long-term markets are disappearing and competition is the order of the day our exports to the sterling areas are falling in the most alarming manner while many of our products are being barred by the United States."

Mr. Caldwell, who campaigned last week in the Maritimes, spoke of falling farm prices in his Kirkland Lake speech.

He said there is an accumulation of 30,000,000 pounds of cheese in Ontario and Quebec. In eastern Quebec some farmers were offering hay at $1 a load to anyone who would harvest it. There was no adequate outlet for the wheat crop of the Prairies.

He urged that Canada supply what he termed her natural markets in the United Kingdom and western Europe which did not produce enough food of their own. Canada could accept sterling for British purchases and invest it in Africa, India, Pakistan and other undeveloped areas.

Mr. Caldwell moves through Ontario until Thursday. Then he will campaign in Manitoba.

Mr. St. Laurent said at Mont Joli he hopes Canada will soon be able to settle all its affairs without asking the permission of another country. He was referring to the existing legislative process which requires that an amendment to the British North America Act—which sets the Canadian constitution—be passed by the British Parliament.

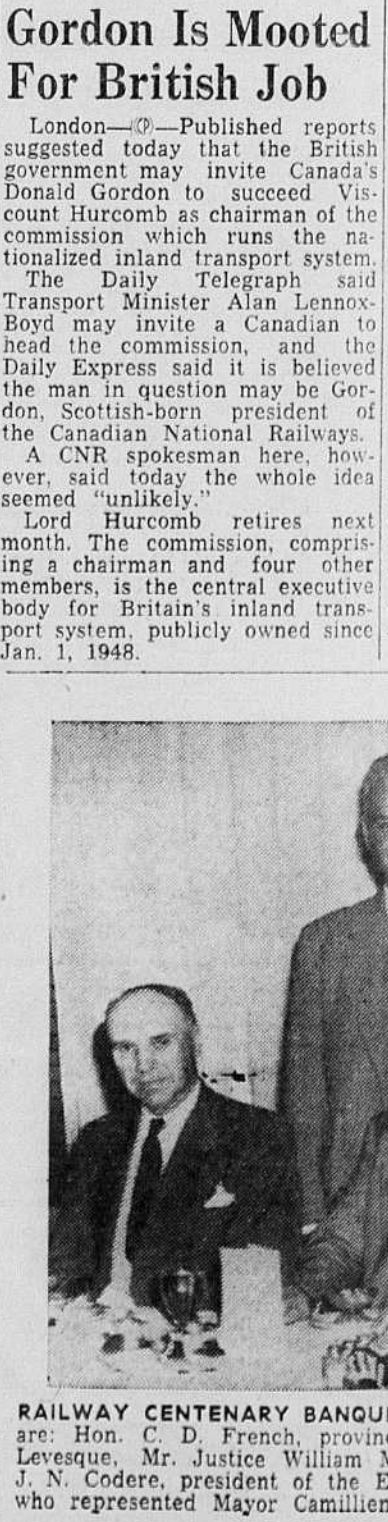

He said that Canada should be able to amend its constitution without asking British permission and declared that he hopes that "my grandchildren... will see the day when all that concerns Canadians will be settled within Canada."

This would not mean that Canada would be outside the Commonwealth. "I want Canada to remain in the Commonwealth but with all the privileges of the United Kingdom itself," said Mr. St. Laurent.

He referred—as he has often done before—to the government's record.

It was apparent, he said, that the people of Canada seemed "fairly well satisfied" with the Liberal administration. Although there was prosperity in Canada, the government did not claim credit for it. It was the result of work done by everyone.

Mr. St. Laurent said work moves about Quebec, with a brief plane trip to the Maritimes.

New York—(NEA)—Why don't Broadway singing stars make successful recording artists? "It's a completely different technique," says Dolores Gray, who is the exception. She does both, and well. "You really have to belt on the stage," she says. "Compared to the voice you use on the stage, you practically whisper when you make a record. It's hard to make the change."

Miss Gray says she can do both because her voice is "adaptable." She's proved it by her successful shows—like "Two on the Aisle." She's in the new musical, "Carnival in Flanders," now on tour in preparation for a New York opening in the fall.

She likes both. "You reach a public with records," says the tall blonde star, "that you couldn't reach any other way in 50 years."

The only drawback she finds is that the kind of songs she really likes to sing—dreamy ballads—don't sell too well. So she's making the faster-paced, faster-selling novelties.

"I learned that the hard way," she says. "I've made several collectors' items—the only person who bought them was me."

THE POPULAR SIDE: The hit instrumentals have spread out—Le Roy Holmes' orchestra swings "Anna" and "Ruby" on MGM, and Noro Morales has a rumba version of "Song From Moulin Rouge" on RCA-Victor.

On the CLASSICS: Hector Villa-Lobos has transcribed 16 Brazilian folks songs for the piano.

J. A. Archambault Dies Suddenly While On Fishing Trip At Rimouski

Word has been received here today of the death over the weekend of a prominent and much respected Sherbrooke citizen, J. A. Archambault, who passed away suddenly while on a fishing trip in Rimouski. He was in his 65th year.

Born in Montreal, he was the son of Alberic Archambault and his wife Melina Marsan. He was educated at Plessis Academy, Montreal, and the Hayes Institute in Chicago, beginning his business career as clerk for the Montreal City and District Savings Bank, in Montreal. He became manager of the Superior Automatic Heating Company, also in Montreal, in 1926, and in 1935 was appointed branch office manager for C. A. Dunham Company Limited, in Sherbrooke, which position he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Archambault took a keen interest in all civic affairs and in spite of failing health in the last few years still continued to give unstintingly of his time and talent to a number of causes. He served as Flight Lieutenant, R.C.A.F., Commanding Officer No. 67 Sherbrooke Rotary Squadron Air Cadet Corps, 1943-1947, was a past president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, immediate past president of the Provincial Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers.

A past president and valuable

member of the Rotary Club, he was also a Knight of Columbus, a member of the Social Club and Club des Apalaches, in Rimouski. The various musical and cultural organizations in Sherbrooke received consistent support and encouragement from Mr. Archambault, whose untimely death will be mourned by a host of friends.

In 1919 he married Heloise Maher, of Ste. Anne des Plaines, who survives him.

At press time information concerning date and hour of the funeral service was not available.

Railway Centenary

These pictures were taken Saturday at the railway centenary celebrations at Richmond. Three of the floats in the mammoth parade are shown at the top. The first picture shows a typical French-speaking family in a sleigh, the second a pioneer bush sled used for transportation in the forest and when clearing land, and the third the family of Henry Bernard, travelling in an old type sledge. In the fourth picture Donald Gordon is shown greeting CNR employees in the old-type engine that was in the parade. Mayor Gaston Desmarais of Richmond is at the extreme left. The bottom picture shows Mr. Gordon greeting Richmond officials on his arrival at the station.

forms and the Windsor Band, smartly dressed in dark blue, was led by the earliest means of transportation, a sturdy voyager "totting" a crude head pack, and terminated with some of the most modern conveyances, including two snowmobiles. Cavorting in and out of the parade line were ancient-looking Indians on horse-

Tucker Band Is Given Top Rating

"It's Tommy Tucker Time," the familiar phrase that heralds an evening of splendid musical entertainment, will introduce one of America's outstanding orchestras when Tommy Tucker appears at the Sherbrooke Arena on July 25. Tommy Tucker and His Orchestra, one of the best show units, has delighted audiences the country over in hotels, theatres, ballrooms and clubs. Top engagements at the Hotel Astor Roof in New York, the Roosevelt Hotel in Washington, Copley Plaza in Boston, The Essex House in New York, Statler in Cleveland, Washman Park Hotel in Washington, El Patio Ballroom San Francisco and Elites Garden in Denver among many others have brought world wide acclaim. Theaters where Tommy Tucker and his crew have delighted the fans include the Roxy, Capitol and in New York, the Oriental and Chicago Theatres in Chicago, the Earle in Philadelphia, Stanley in Pittsburgh and the Riverside in Milwaukee.

On the air Tommy has been heard innumerable times on each of the major networks on dance and music pick-ups. He has also appeared on the Fitch Bandwagon, the Coca Cola "Spotlight Bands" program; completed a long period on the New York "Pot O' Gold" show for Tums.

As record sellers, the Tucker group have few equals. They have long been one of the nation's biggest platter attractions in coin machines and in the home. Two recordings alone, "I Don't Want To Set The World On Fire," and "The Man Comes Around," have sold more than 600,000 discs and are still going strong.

Prime Minister St. Laurent Speaks In Thetford; Drew Here Wednesday

The first big guns of the political campaign in the Eastern Townships are being fired in Thetford Mines this afternoon when Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent will address a rally in support of Joseph Lafontaine, veteran Liberal representative for the constituency who is seeking re-election in the federal general elections on August 10, three weeks from today.

In addition to his Thetford Mines address, he will appear at Black Lake, at East Broughton, Valley Junction and St. Anselme this evening.

The Progressive Conservatives will open their campaign in this district on Wednesday, when Hon. George Drew will open a two-day speaking tour, the highlight of which will be a regional rally at Dufresne Park in Sherbrooke on Wednesday night.

Leaving Montreal Wednesday morning he will make his first address at St. Johns, following which he will visit Farnham, Cowansville, Granby, Waterloo, and Magog before his arrival in Sherbrooke.

At the local meeting he will be supported by Antonio Paard, Progressive Conservative candidate in Sherbrooke, and other standard-bearers in the district. In the event of rain, the meeting will be held at the Belvidere street armories.

After spending the night in Sherbrooke, Mr. Drew will travel to Three Rivers on Thursday, making brief stops at Bromptonville, Richmond, Asbestos, Danville, Victoriaville and Nicolet.

The Liberals will regain the spotlight in Sherbrooke on Thursday when Hon. Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport, addresses a rally at Dufresne Park in support of Maurice Gingues, retiring Liberal member who is seeking another term at Ottawa.

Despite the extreme heat of the week-end, candidates in the outlying districts were active with local rallies, the highlight being the opening of Albert Nicol's campaign in Richmond-Wolfe. The Bromptonville farmer, representing the Progressive Conservatives, spoke in St. Praxede Church hall, Bromptonville, on Saturday evening.

This week the revision of the urban electoral lists is taking place through the City of Sherbrooke, six revision offices being established.

Railway Centennial Celebrations Held In Richmond, Coaticook And Sherbrooke

By HUGH DOHERTY

A fiercely blazing sun and searing temperatures failed to wilt the enthusiasm and glitter of centennial celebrations commemorating the running of the first train on the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railway held in Richmond, Coaticook and Sherbrooke on Saturday.

Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways which absorbed the smaller line as part of the Grand Trunk in 1923, attended the ceremonies, travelling on a special four-car train from Montreal over the same route followed by Lord Elgin when he officiated at the first railroad celebrations in Sherbrooke in 1852. The railroad, linking Montreal with Portland, Maine, was completed in 1853 after almost eight years of construction and was instrumental in opening up the areas of the Eastern Townships for both economic and cultural development. Head of the Canadian company which built the railroad to the border was Alexander Galt, of Sherbrooke.

At Richmond, thousands from the town and surrounding localities jammed the streets to watch what was undoubtedly one of the most gala celebrations seen in the Eastern Townships for many years. Mr. Gordon's train, with a contingent of almost 120 persons, consisting of federal, provincial and municipal dignitaries, as well as members of the press arrived at Richmond station at 11.30 to be greeted by Gaston Desmarais, Mayor of Richmond, accompanied by Roger Trudeau, chairman of the Richmond Centennial Committee, Lt.-Col. Emile Levesque, Mayor of Sherbrooke, and Dr. Raoul Laurence, Mayor of Coaticook. After personally greeting more than 45 pensioners of the C.N.R., Mr. Gordon officially opened the festivities.

Father Maurice O'Brady, secretary of the Eastern Townships Historical Association, gave a brief historical outline of the town of Richmond, and acted as narrator for the mammoth street parade in which many picturesque floats, traced the development of transportation in the Eastern Townships, dating back a century to the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad. Floats in the mile-long procession were donated by local merchants and represented more than a week's intensive work by the citizens of Richmond.

The procession, proceeding down the Main Street to the marching music of the Asbestos Harmony Band in their bright crimson uni-

Answers to more difficult clues:

ACROSS:

- SINGING is best. You won't approve of them SINGING, but you might well approve of them RINGING, for instance, to give you an important message.
- SLAP is best. It is not the soap as such, but rather the application of it which is sometimes liable to make a small child cry.
- GIFT is best because it is perfectly true of GIFT. GILT VIEWED AS GILT will naturally look no more expensive than GILT.
- SEAT is best. It will normally have very little appeal for a youngster EXCEPT at some place of entertainment, such as a circus. A SEAL would appeal WHEREVER seen.
- DIE is best. The clue implies: "they don't WANT to, but nevertheless they HAVE to." This is true of DIE, but not of LIE.
- SWELTER is best. "Tropic sun" links very strongly with SWELTER. They may equally have to SHELTER from rain, etc.
- DROP is best. It is more apt to say that COFFEE will DRIP, and a coffee POT will DROP.
- PAY is best since the words "too much" favors PAY. For PRY they are quite superfluous, also they MAY not necessarily PRY where their husbands are concerned.

DOWN:

- SWAGGER is best. They may well store if you SWAGGER. If you STAGGER, as if ill, you will invite some more positive action than a mere stare.
- ENRAGED is best. This can certainly look different to a man when he's ENRAGED, and this answer is preferred to ENGAGED, and "in love" would be much better.
- REVELS is best because REVELS will be frowned upon. REBELS, a direct threat to peace, will be hated.
- TIMED is best because runners are TIMED occasionally. We ALL get Tired occasionally.
- CAMP is best. The phrase "a SUPPLY of electricity" suggests power in quantity, as may be needed by a CAMP. It seems a little feeble to say a LAMP "may need a supply of electricity"; it might be an oil lamp anyway.
- WAD is best. Loss of a wad — rolls of bills — yes, but WAR means a financial setback whether won OR lost.

BEN HOGAN CHARACTERIZES BEST PROFESSIONAL MEN

A lot of words have been written recently, and a lot more are going to be written, about a fellow named Ben Hogan, who plays golf for a living.

The reason for all the prose is that just this summer, at the not-so-tender age of 40, the jaded little Texan emerged as probably the best man at his trade the world has ever seen. And by trade, we mean trade. Long ago golf, for Hogan, became more than just a game, which is why he's so good at it.

Just how good he is was shown this month when he packed the tools of his trade — beautiful precision-made instruments of shiny steel and leather and persimmon wood — into a long, round leather bag and betook himself to Carnoustie, Scotland to turn out a job of work before the critical eyes of the fathers of the game in one of the world's great competitions, the British Open.

In a manner brilliant, if it weren't so methodical, Hogan went to work and took famed old Carnoustie apart. Toiling in high wind, rain, and hail which make Carnoustie both famous and fearsome, Hogan not only won the British Open but he broke the tournament record for the course by eight strokes.

And he capped the whole thing off with a well-known Hogan finish. Gray-faced and shaken with influenza which nearly laid him low, he came from behind to shoot the last round in a blazing 68, which broke the competitive course record for 18 holes.

Hogan's triumph at Carnoustie came after he had already won this year the other two top tournaments of golf, the U.S. Open and the Masters. And, as at Carnoustie, he set new records in both. It was the fourth time he'd won the U.S. Open, top tourney in golf.

Hogan got where he is by a single-minded devotion to his trade that is the mark of a champion in any line — doctor, die-maker, scientist or artist. As a result of amazing skills painfully acquired over the years, he has that extra something to put forth in the clutch which is the invariable quality of the champ.

Warming up for the U.S. Open at Oakmont, Pa., this summer, he hit three shots from each tee as he went around the course. The first he deliberately faded into the rough to the right of the fairway, the second he deliberately hooked into the rough at the left, and finally he laid one straight down the middle. Then he played all three and in so doing probably knew the course better than the greenskeeper did by the time the tournament started.

Without such preparation over the years, Hogan almost certainly would never have been able to come back after the automobile accident in 1949 which nearly killed him.

His injured legs still aren't what they should be and when he's tired he begins to walk heavily on his heels. But even then the little figure in the white cap and button sweater, with an odd-looking black cigaret holder clamped in his teeth, walks like a champ who knows his business so well he doesn't have to worry.

He doesn't have to worry about money anymore. He's made a pile of it. But he's a guy in love with his work, and he'll keep working at it. The Hogans of the world just don't turn out a shoddy product.

WALTER ROBERTSON IS MAN TO WATCH IN U.S.-CHINA AFFAIRS

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Walter S. Robertson, Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, returns to Washington something of a hero.

He has apparently persuaded Korea's President Syngman Rhee to accept a cease-fire agreement with the Communists, though the exact terms of this acceptance may not be made public. This is to save President Rhee's face with his own people for having to bow to the inevitable.

There remains, however, a six months' period of watchful waiting with fingers crossed, to see if the proud old patriot and father of his country will stick to the bargain he made with Secretary Robertson. There remains, also, this same six months in which it will be seen whether the United States lives up to its share of the bargain. The fact that Congress may adjourn before any mutual defense treaty with the Koreans can be ratified is not considered too hopeful a sign.

Secretary Robertson, with great patience and fact, did the best that could be done under the circumstances. He salvaged the most that could be got out of an impossible situation.

He's An "Eisenhower Democrat"

Not widely known outside his native state of Virginia, where he is an investment banker, the 60-year-old Robertson is a somewhat unusual figure in Washington. He is a Democrat — an Eisenhower Virginia Democrat, that is.

He was a wartime American diplomat in China. When he quit in 1946 he had risen to be Minister-Counsellor in Nanking. He was charge d'affaires in periods when the U.S. had no ambassador in Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist capital.

To cap all this, Mr. Robertson was principal aide to Gen. George C. Marshall when he was postwar ambassador to China. General Marshall chose Minister Robertson to head up the three-man truce teams of American, Chinese Nationalists and Chinese Communists who tried to work out a coalition government for China. It was General Marshall who recommended Robertson for his Medal of Merit.

Records such as this have come near running the careers of numerous American diplomats. Anyone who had anything to do with China during the period of National downfall and Communist takeover has been suspect in the eyes of many congressional investigators. As soon as they got out of Far Eastern affairs, their troubles ceased.

The interesting question is how did Mr. Robertson go through this same mill, survive, and live to come back strong as the head of Far Eastern affairs in a Republican administration dedicated to change past policies and reverse the trend of history in that area?

There is no question about Mr. Robertson having given loyal service to General Marshall while he was ambassador to China. The general's orders and the policies of Washington at that time were faithfully carried out.

Not A Career Diplomat

Mr. Robertson was not, however, a career Foreign Service officer and diplomat. He had been a second lieutenant pilot in World War I. He was too old for the Air Force in World War II. So he took a job as Lend-Lease Administrator for Australia, under the late Ew Stettinius. He went to China from there.

He saw, almost as soon as anyone, that the idea for a coalition of Nationalists and Communists in China was not going to work. Mr. Robertson got out while the getting was good.

Coming home, Mr. Robertson allied himself with the China thinking of Gen. Albert Wedemeyer, of Rep. Walter Judd, and of Sen. William Knowland. "If we had paid attention to the reports of Walter Robertson," says Senator Knowland, "we wouldn't be in the mess we are today."

This accounts for the backing that Mr. Robertson got for his appointment as Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs in the Eisenhower administration.

All his experience in dealing with Orientals during the war stood in good stead for his negotiations with President Rhee. All this experience and his success with President Rhee marks him as an official to watch, and as an official who may play an increasingly important role in developing future foreign policy.

VOTE — AND THINK BEFORE YOU VOTE!

Financial Post
With August 10th, the date of the federal election, now only a little more than three weeks away public spirited organizations and individuals once more are concerning themselves with getting out the vote. The time of year, on this occasion, is not an auspicious one for a heavy vote, and critics of the government have not been slow in emphasizing the fact. A mid-August election, it is reasonable to assume, will find many electors, particularly in urban constituencies, away from home on vacation. It is of more than usual importance, therefore, that those who are in a position to vote should do so.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce has announced the launching of a national non-partisan get-out-the-vote campaign and is calling upon its members boards of trade and chambers of commerce across the country, and about 2,350 companies which are members thereof, to co-operate in an effort to encourage voters to go to the polls. It is pointed out, in making the announcement, that in the last federal election in 1949 more than two million Canadians failed to exercise their franchise.

Such efforts as this are praiseworthy. It is not easy, however, to realize why they should be necessary. In the light of the many issues of prime importance, both in the national and international arenas, with which governments are today faced, and particularly in view of the heavy burden of taxation which is being borne today by most Canadians, failure to exercise the vote where at all possible bespeaks an abysmal lack of responsibility on the part of the elector.

A leading daily has deplored editorially the time-worn slogan which is revived at the time of every election — federal, provincial or municipal — "vote how you like — but vote!" The point is made, and it carries more than a modicum of logic, that such a plea suggests that the elector is fulfilling his duty if he merely goes to the poll and puts a cross against one of the names on the ballot. It is recognized, of course, that such organizations as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association etc., or the personnel department of larger industrial or business corporations would be stepping out of their province if they attempted to suggest in which direction the vote should be cast.

A much better, and more intelligent election slogan would be: "vote — and think before you vote."

50 MPH TOO LOW

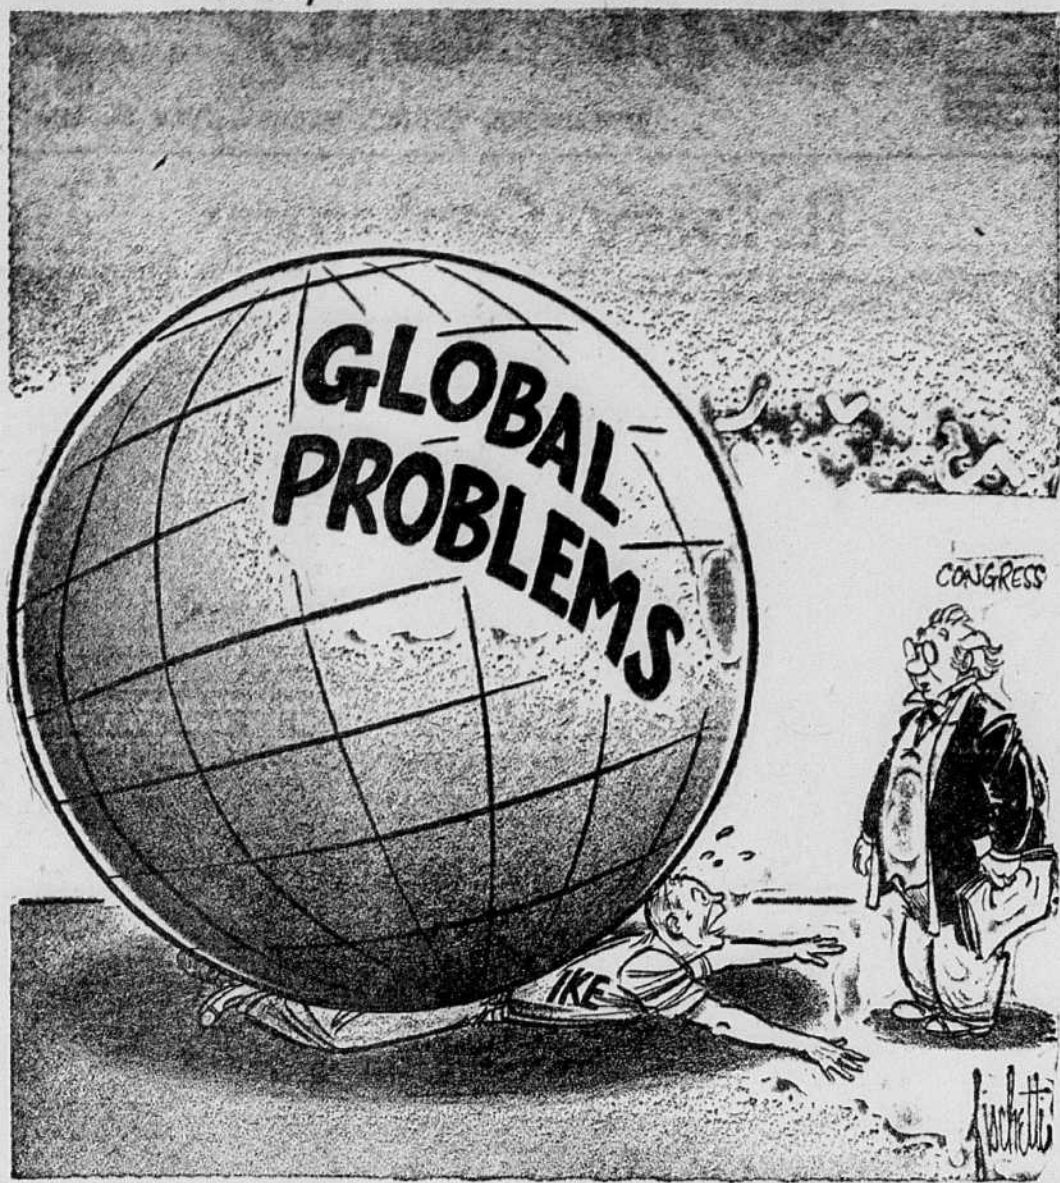

Toronto Telegram

The existing legal speed limit in Ontario is unrealistic. It ignores conditions that permit, indeed invite, safe driving at higher speeds. Consequently, the limit is also ignored. Though it is a law, motorists ignore it and the police allow a tolerance which also violates it.

A law such as this that for sensible reasons is neither observed nor enforced by the constabulary becomes absurd and cries for amendment.

The 50 mph limit on the super-highways is obsolete, an anachronism that disregards the mechanism of the modern automobile and the character of the modern highway. By raising the limit to at least 60 miles an hour the provincial government would be taking these relevant factors into consideration.

IN PASTURES GREEN I ROAM

— Far out in the country
Where rippling waters flow,
Stands a grove of spruce trees
In a pasture I well know.

There's a wealth of natural beauty
When we carefully have checked,
All around this tract of country
Which the casual scarce detect.

Here our song-birds trill the sweetest
When the sun is sinking low,
And shy squirrels engage in chatter
As they scamper to and fro.

Shafts of golden sunlight lengthen
As King Sol drops out of sight,
Then fade, and shadows gather;
And we know it is Twilight.

There is a well-defined old path
Through this enchanting glade,
Winding closes to waters' edge
Which other feet have made.

Damp moss is clinging to each side
And lends an emerald hue;
— Fine place to shelter creeping things
Should danger pop in view.

A rare perspective of quiet life
This little nook provides,
And freely offers much of hope
To stem its adverse tides.

So often I now seek it out
When days are fair, and long;
It gives me much to think about
And courage to be strong.

And in that wooded country spot
My thoughts soar fancy-free,
And welcome Muses like as not
There bear me company.

Much less there seems to thwart the Soul
As I traverse that sod,
For walking near to Nature there
Seems walking close with God.

PLAYER HAS TIME MAKING CONTRACT

The bidding was energetic in today's hand, but not unreasonable. North really should have had slightly greater strength for his free raise to three hearts, in which case South's game contract would have been easily fulfilled. As it was, South had his work cut out for him.

West opened the king of spades and continued with the queen and then the ace of spades. South ruffed the third round of spades and deliberated carefully about his next move.

The bidding made it clear that West had at least 10 cards in the black suits. Hence South could not expect either of the red suits to break reasonably. Moreover, West could not hold the ace of clubs since he had failed to open the bidding even though he had good distribution and a spade suit headed by the three top honors. On the basis of all this information, South was ready to proceed.

Declarer led the seven of hearts to dummy's queen and returned the jack of clubs towards his own hand. East put up the ace of clubs at once, it was obvious to him also that he was marked with this card, and returned a low trump.

South won with the ace of hearts, not wanting to risk an immediate finesse. When West showed out, the situation was, of course, clear.

Sound Collectors Enjoy An Unusual But Useful Hobby

By RICHARD O'REGAN

Vienna — (CP) — Here's a new hobby that is catching on in Europe. It's called "sound hunting."

You collect strange sounds, peculiar voices, queer cadences and chance events, mix them up, juggle them around and produce "sound creations." You exchange your creations with other amateurs and gradually build up a library of them. Something to entertain your friends with on a dull night.

It amounts to imaginative use of a tape recorder, not merely recording for posterity the howls of the baby or the family's Christmas carols.

The creative use of the tape recorder is an art like the use of the camera and is more fun," claims Fredy Weber, a Swiss from Geneva, who is general secretary of the International Sound-Hunters Federation. "In fact, we believe that sound-hunting will soon be as popular as stamp-collecting, or photography."

Everyone who owns a tape recorder (a cheap one costs about $120) is a potential sound-hunter, says Weber.

The sound-hunter looks for unusual variations of customary sounds. These are from basic street noises, the hum of factories, the whispering of forests, the roar of the sea, the chattering of birds. They are skillfully blended to make a documentary, a words-and-music narrative, a lively show or a musical symphony of sounds.

In Europe, says Weber, some amateur sound-hunters are producing programs so good and so unusual that radio stations are clamoring for their tapes.

Chance recordings can produce choice collectors' items. Like that of the amateur who hung a sensitive microphone from his balcony one moonlit night, expecting to hear nothing but the crickets. Next morning, he found on his tape the voice of an unknown young man proposing marriage to his love and her refusal. Apparently they were on a park bench 600 feet away.

Sound-hunters on occasions have helped the police. A Paris amateur

15-Year-Old Gold Mine Pours Gold Brick No. 1,000

Yellowknife, N.W.T. — (CP) — Gold brick No. 1,000 was poured in late June at the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's Con mine here.

The event was of historic interest. A new chapter in Canadian mining was opened 15 years ago at the same mine with the pouring of the first gold brick in the Northwest Territories.

Mrs. O. L. Stanton, wife of the doctor at the mine, was present at both events.

The 1,000th brick was poured by Neil Kerr, the mill shift boss, and Ed Thornton, the testing engineer. It weighed 810 troy ounces or about 40 pounds.

Conminco first became interested in exploration in the Great Slave lake area of the Northwest Territories nearly 30 years ago. For many years company men combed the district, using the then revolutionary flying-pro prospector technique.

In 1935, on the heels of the first discovery of gold in Yellowknife, Conminco staked the Con group of claims. A prospect shaft was sunk and later the property was diamond drilled. By 1938 it was in production. Except for a three-year wartime shutdown, the mine has operated ever since.

It employs about 300 men and is the oldest producing gold mine in the Northwest Territories. Production last year was 128,824 tons of ore, averaging 0.57 ounces of gold a ton.

was recording the songs of birds in the Bois de Boulogne. When he got home, he heard in a playback the whispers of two men plotting a crime. He turned over the tape to the Paris police, and they were on hand when the criminals arrived to carry out their plan.

CHARLEMAGNE'S CATHEDRAL

Tile setting was introduced into northern Europe in the 9th century, when Charlemagne brought Italian artists from Ravenna to pave his cathedral at Aix-la-Chapelle.

VEGETATION VAPOR

A blue flame appearing on certain pieces of land probably is due to methane, also called marsh gas or fire damp. If there are mines in the vicinity, it may be escaping from them, but also is forced by the decay of vegetation.

China proper, covering about 2,279,000 square miles, is one-third larger than the United States.

SHOOT STORY

Birthday Gift

By MAUDE NORMAN

The sound of a ragman's horn came in the open window of the room, where, with housewifely zeal, Nancy Winters was busy with spring-house-cleaning.

A steam came into her eyes. She thought, "I'll give him that pile of magazines Ted has in the garage and all those pop bottles he is always promising to take away, but never does. I'm tired of having them around."

The ragman looked around hopefully as he loaded the bottles and magazines on his rickety old truck.

"Any olda clothes, Ma'am?" he asked. "Any olda rubber or iron?"

"No, that's all. . . wait a minute." She darted into the garage, returning with a pair of old grey trousers. "Here, you may as well take these, too."

She gave her husband a particularly warm kiss when he came home that evening. "I'm almost dead," she sighed as they were eating dinner. "At first I thought I would open a can of soup or something easy to prepare, but then I remembered how nice you were, so I made you this meat pie and up-side-down cake." Thus she tried to pave the way to tell him what she had done.

"You meant why you have to kill yourself, trying to do everything in one day," Ted answered. "The house always looks all right to me without you having to tear it apart every so often. Thanks for the swell dinner. Honey, Guess I'll work on the car for awhile."

"That reminds me," she interrupted hastily. "A ragman came by today and I let him take those pop bottles and magazines out in the garage."

"You meant?" Ted shouted.

"And I let him take those dirty old pants out there, too," she rushed on.

"You mean you gave those pants away?" Ted shouted. "Those pants had fifty dollars in the pocket."

"Ted! They didn't!"

"They did unless you took it out. Did you?"

"Of course not. It never occurred to me. . . Oh, Ted! What have I done?"

"Gave away your birthday gift, that's all. I've been saving all year to buy that wrist watch you wanted. I thought I had found a safe hiding place in those pants. Perhaps we can get it back. Did you notice a name on the truck?"

Nancy shook her head despairingly. "There wasn't any name, but there was a phone number. I noticed that because it was the same number as our house. Main 1152."

"That's a lot of help. We can't look through the whole book."

"We could look under 'Junk Dealers,'" she cried.

First Canadian-Built Locomotive Is Recalled In Museum Train Exhibits

A photograph of the first locomotive built in Canada, "Toronto No. 2," is among the displays on the Canadian National Railway museum train which will be on public view in Coaticook on Thursday and Friday.

A wood-burning engine, this first locomotive was built in 1853, and made its debut on a journey from the Queen City to Machell's Corners, now Aurora, Ont., that year.

Canada's locomotive engineering techniques have improved greatly since the building of this engine by the James Good Foundry on Queen Street, Toronto. Following its completion in April, 1853, it was moved down Yonge Street to Front Street on temporary wooden rails.

These rails were made in sections and designed so that once the engine rolled over a section of them, they could be picked up and put in front of the locomotive again to continue the journey.

On April 26, the engine was placed on a permanent track and on May 16 made her first official journey, pulling four yellow-painted passenger cars to Machell's Corners.

Business is said to have picked up rapidly following her initial run on the Ontario, Simcoe and Huron Railway, and it is reported that often 40 or 50 passengers were waiting at the station platform in Toronto each morning to make the trip to Aurora, Ont.

The first application of diesel-electric power in North American railroading took place in August, 1925, when C.N.R. diesel rail cars were separated and operated individually as Nos. 9000 and 9001 until 1939 when both were retired from service.

In 1941, one of the units — the 9000 — was rebuilt at the C.N.R.'s Transcona shops and armour plate and a new motor installed. Then it headed for the Pacific Coast where it hauled an armoured train as a defence measure . . . the first armoured train in North America. Following the armistice, No. 9000 was returned to the C.N.R. and in January, 1945, was stripped of its armour at the railway's Point St. Charles shops. It was then assigned to passenger service between Quebec City and Edmundston, N.B., from February, 1945, to May, 1946, when it was retired from service.

The C.N.R.'s first diesel-electric switcher, No. 7700, made its appearance in May, 1930. A 400-horsepower engine, it is still in service at the company's Point St. Charles yards in Montreal.

The man whose foresight gave Canada the honor of being the first North American country to develop and use diesel-electric motive power, C. E. Brooks, was born in Turkey of Canadian missionary parents. He received his education in Canada, graduating from McGill University in 1900 with a Bachelor of Science degree, and afterwards joined the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, now part of the Canadian National System, as a machinist. He died on April 10, 1933, at the age of 46.

Today, the diesel-electric locomotive has attained the importance that only Brooks and his associates foresaw in the early 1920's. By mid-February, 1953, the Canadian National had more than 420 diesel-electrics in service across the system. These included powerful road freight units of 1,500 and 1,600 horsepower per unit; yard switchers and road switchers.

The road freight units are operating in through freight service and are handling up to 60 and 70 per cent of the total freight traffic between Montreal, Toronto and Sarnia; between Toronto and New London, Conn.; Montreal and New London; Montreal and Chauvigny; Montreal and Halifax; Moncton and Saint John; Montreal and

Indians Back In First; Quebec Braves Here Tonight

Sherbrooke Takes Two From Theftford, Drops One; Cerbo And Osinski Have 10 Wins Each; Bowes Hurls Tonight

Sherbrooke Indians climbed back into first place of the Provincial Baseball League by winning two of three week-end games from Theftford Miners while the contending Granby Phillies lost twice to Quebec Braves.

Indians lost here Saturday night, 9-6, won locally Sunday afternoon, 4-1, and downed the Miners in their own balliwick Sunday evening, 7-5, in a rain-abbreviated encounter.

Johnny Cerbo won his 10th game of the campaign in yesterday afternoon's contest and Danny Osinski made it win No. 10 in Theftford at night, although he needed help from Clyde Thomas in the seventh. Cerbo has lost two games to date while Osinski has lost five.

"Major" Jack Bowes will try to become the third local hurler to win 10 games this season when he takes to the hill here tonight against the Quebec Braves. The game tonight starts at eight o'clock.

Tomorrow evening, Indians are at home to St. Hyacinthe and there will be pre-game entertainment by baseball's ace comedian Max Patkin. Patkin starts his stuff at 7:30 Tuesday evening.

In the Saturday night game, Sherbrooke manager Pinky May sent righthander Bill Dailey to the mound for his second start. The youngster didn't have it that night and left for a pinch hitter in the second inning after yielding four runs. Gerry Underwood relieved and was the eventual losing pitcher as Sherbrooke went ahead in the fifth, went behind in the sixth, tied the game in the eighth and lost it in the ninth.

The locals reached started Fred Courke and winner Bill Beverley for 13 hits and six free passes but left 13 runners stranded on the base paths.

Sherbrooke scored a run in the very first inning when Pollard doubled into right, advanced to third on a bad throw in from Theftford right fielder Sonny Smith and scored on Clell Hobson's single. Theftford scored four in the second. Bill Milligan singled, Bob Kurtz doubled off the left field fence and Vic Fassero was hit by a pitch to load the bases, with none out. Jim Randolph hit into what should have been a force at second but there was no one covering the bag. Milligan scored and Randolph was safe at first but Kurtz was nipped at the plate when he attempted to come home. Pinch hitter Jim Givens socked a home run, scoring Fassero and Randolph.

Sherbrooke scored runs two and three in its own half of the second. Windy Hall led off with a single into right, John Cerbo, pinch hitting for Dailey, singled, and both runners advanced when playing-manager Bill Krueger bobbled the throw in from right. Jack Waters singled to score Hall and Cerbo came home when Al Pollard was out, second to first.

Indians tied the game and went ahead with two more runs in the fifth, making the score 5-4. Bob O'Donnell reached first on a bobbie by Theftford shortstop Dave Mann, stole second and advanced to third when Krueger threw badly in a pick off attempt. Hall walked and O'Donnell singled in Gerry DelGaudio's long fly ball to left. Two successive scratch hits by Cerbo and Waters scored Hall.

The Miners went ahead 6-5 with two runs at the top of the sixth, a single by Bill Milligan and Fassero's home run. Sherbrooke tied the score at 6-6 in the eighth when Bob Diers smashed a tremendous liner which went over the centerfielder's head for a triple and scored on Jack Castro's two-base blow. Theftford made three runs, their margin of victory in the ninth. Successive singles by Kurtz, Fassero and Randolph filled the sacks, one run scored on Krueger's fly to left and Smith singled home the other two men.

The Sunday afternoon game here was a pitching duel between Cerbo and Theftford's Bill Satory who the locals reached for only eight hits but six were extra-base blows, home runs by Diers and Hobson, double and triple by Don Harper and doubles by Castro and DelGaudio.

The game was scoreless until the bottom of the fifth when DalGaudio doubled, advanced on a hit by Waters and scored on Pollard's long fly to center. Sherbrooke added another run in the sixth, Bob Diers' 16th home run of the campaign which, surprisingly for Diers, went over the right field fence, instead of his favorite left wall.

Theftford scored its lone run in the seventh. Krueger singled, advanced to second on a single by Mann, after Satory had struck out, and scored as Smith forced Mann at second on a play which the fans objected to, since many thought that Hobson's relay from O'Donnell was in time at first for a double play on Smith on what would have been the third out and preserved Cerbo's shutout.

Sherbrooke scored two more runs in the eighth. Hobson homered. Diers walked, advanced to second on a sacrifice by Castro and scored on Harper's triple to center field.

In last night's game at Theftford, six errors by the home team contributed greatly to Sherbrooke's win. Indians scored two runs on two wild pitches in the sixth. In the fourth they had made three runs on five errors.

Daily Doubles Return $84.85 And $17.10 As Week-End Prices High At Track; Jean Harvester Pays $42.50

"The horses paid well" at the local race track this week-end. Some 1800 wagered on Saturday night while another 1500 tried their luck last night.

Last night in the third race J. T. Brooke, owned by Dominion Lime Ltd., Lime Ridge, Que., dropped dead near the finish line in the third race. The horse, driven by O. Beaudoin, was heading for the wire when she suddenly stopped and fell to the ground. Seconds later she died. The horse was dragged from the track and the races continued.

On Saturday the daily double returned $17.10 and the quinellas paid $15.50, $80.40, $18.30. The top price paid for a straight bet on Saturday was $42.50 when Jean Harvester won the 8th race.

New York Yanks Cool Off Chicago Before Record Comiskey Park Crowd Of 54,215; Cleveland Drops To 4th

New York Yankees, always there in the clutch, cooled off the pennant-hopeful Chicago White Sox with a double victory Sunday that disappointed an all-time Comiskey Park record crowd of 54,215.

Ed Lopat and Vic Raschi, veteran Yankee front-liners, administered 6-2 and 3-0 beatings to the Sox, who had hoped their Yank Series would pull them right into contention for the American League lead.

Lopat limited Chicago to Sam Mele's home run and seven other blows in winning the opener—his 10th victory in 11 decisions. Raschi got the second game shutout on a deft two-hitter.

Mickey Mantle, back in action after a two-day layoff, got two doubles that accounted for three runs.

At Cleveland, Boston Red Sox took two from the Indians, 2-0 and 7-5, to take over third place, half a game in front of the Tribe.

Maurice McDermott gave Cleveland only one hit in the first eight innings of the opener, a fourth-inning single by rookie Al Smith. McDermott himself homered to lead off the eighth. In the second game, George Kell's three-run homer in the eighth gave Boston the decision.

In the National League, Cincinnati Redlegs surprised the Dodgers by taking a 4-1 triumph in the opener with the help of Fred Baczewski and Ted Kluszewski. But in the second game Brooklyn got five runs in the eighth inning on sloppy Cincinnati fielding and held off a ninth-inning threat for a 7-5 victory.

The second-place Milwaukee Braves shaded New York Giants' rookie flash, Allan Worthington, 2-1 in the second game which was called by darkness after five innings. Hank Thompson's two-run homer in the ninth gave the Giants the first game, 7-5.

The Braves ended Worthington's scoreless-inning streak at 192/3 by scoring in the second inning. The young right-hander won his first two major-league starts by shutouts.

At Pittsburgh, Stan Musial batted across three runs with a double and his 11th homer of the year, and Solly Hemus banged out four singles to snap a six-game losing streak for St. Louis Cardinals with the first game of a twin bill. The 8-2 victory over the Pirates in second contest was called by Pennsylvania's curfew law with the pirates leading 6-4 and one Cardinal out in the top of the sixth. It will be played from the point of interruption before today's scheduled single game between the clubs.

Willie Jones' ninth-inning single drove in the winning run at Philadelphia as the Phillies pushed over three in the bottom of the ninth to beat Chicago Cubs 6-5 in the nightcap of a twin bill. Homers won the first game for the Cubs 5-3 as Dee Fondy and Hal Jeffcoat connected.

In the American League, Washington Nationals turned five walks and seven hits into 11 runs in the third and fourth innings to take a 13-4 second-game decision over St. Louis Browns after dropping the opener 5-4 in an exchange of home runs.

Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit Tigers tied after 11 innings in the second game of a Sunday marathon. The score was 8-8 when darkness called the game. In the opener, big Ralph Branca won his first American League game for the Tigers, stopping Philadelphia 13-3 with a seven-hitter.

Brooklyn bombed St. Louis 14-6 in the National League Saturday with 17 hits including Wayne Bledsoe's grand-slam homer. Enos Slaughter's 2,000th hit was a bright spot for the Cardinals.

The Giants defeated Chicago 12-7. Whitey Lockman, Hank Thompson and Bobby Thomson hit homers for the Giants in the five-run first inning.

Milwaukee shaded Pittsburgh 4-3 with the help of homers by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock, and Cincinnati smothered Philadelphia 11-0 on a three-hitter by Jackie Collum. Ted Kluszewski, Bobby Adams and Willard Marshall hit homers to tie the Red Sox season record of 110 set in 1938.

In the American League, the Yankees rapped a 13-2 victory over the Browns with six runs in the third as Yosi Berria hit a homer with two men on.

The White Sox topped Washington 10-6 with the help of five successive singles by Ferris Fain. Philadelphia knocked out Bob Feller to whip Cleveland 9-3.

The Red Sox came up with five in the ninth to top Detroit 5-3.

Valleyfield, Que. — (CP)—J. P. Clermont of Montreal, piloted his Jay-Pee around a five-mile course Sunday in four minutes and 23 seconds to capture the Schenley Trophy at the Valleyfield speedboat regatta.

Bernard d'Amour of Lachine, Que., won the 266 open class at 74.42 miles an hour.

In the Canadians Only race, George Reynolds of Brockville, Ont., sent his What's left over the course at 57.29 miles an hour to win.

Marlene Stewart, Golfing Sensation, Comes Home To Thrilling Welcome

Toronto.—(CP)—Marlene Stewart, the quiet, small-town girl who won one of the world's biggest golf tournaments, came home Sunday to the "most thrilling home-coming a gal could get."

Tanned and beaming, the 19-year-old golfing sensation from Fonthill, in the Niagara district of Ontario, stepped from a Trans-

Canada Air Lines plane at nearby Malton airport to be met by her parents, her youngster sister and scores of well-wishers.

Marlene won fame by winning the British open amateur golf title at Portcawl, Wales, last month. Camera flashed bulbs popped and the crowd gathered around the plane as Marlene, dressed in a green blazer and a grey skirt, chatted with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stewart. Dolly, Marlene's 14-year-old sister, got right up there for a hug.

Gordon McInnis, the pro who taught Marlene the fine points of the game, was there, too. That's when Marlene exclaimed:

"I did it. I did it. I did it for everyone."

Those words just about summed up her performance at Portcawl when she defeated Ireland's Philomena Garvey 7 and 6 for the crown.

What is she going to do now? "I'm going home for a good rest. I had nothing but golf for the last two months. In a few days I'll start warming up for the Canadian women's open and closed championships at London, Ont."

The Canadian tournaments start early next month. Marlene will defend her closed crown and try to regain the open title she won two years ago.

"I intend to finish school before I think seriously about a career in golf," she said. "I hope to defend my British title next year, too."

GM DIESEL POWER AND MUSSENS SERVICE FOR UNGAVA ORE TRUCKS

The Iron Ore Company of Canada needed hard slugging power that could pull a 34-ton payload of iron ore at around 30 miles per hour. They also needed service to keep the loads rolling day after day under adverse conditions. They chose General Motors Dieselpower and Mussens service.

Model IFDD Dump Trucks, shown above being serviced by Mussens Canada Limited, are powered by two GM 6-71 engines. Each drives a rear axle through torque converter and Torquatic transmission. And of course, the GM 2-stroke principle makes the engines smaller than any other diesel of equal horsepower.

This is just one of the hundreds of jobs which the GM Diesel-Mussens team does better, more economically, and more profitably. If you are interested in making higher profits through the use of efficient power and experienced service, write for our free literature today.

Bookies Refuse To Pay Wagers

London.—(Reuters)—Scotland Yard men Sunday night nabbed Francascal, the mysterious French colt which vanished after a $700,000 racing scandal last Thursday.

With Francascal in a barn 50 miles from London was a "twinn"—a horse strikingly similar to Francascal in color and markings.

Francascal won the first race at Bath Thursday, half an hour after the phone call to the track was cut, frustrating bookies throughout Britain from warning track agents that huge bets had been placed on the colt.

Francascal went to the post at 10-to-1 odds, but if the cable had not been cut the bookies, legal here, could have whittled the odds down to about three to two.

The result was one of the biggest coups in British racetrack history, and bookies have refused to pay off some $700,000 in bets on Francascal until Scotland Yard prove there was no fraud.

Waterloo Legion & The Kiwanis Club Feted Rev. E. Dan. Mitchell in Farewell

Waterloo, July 20 — Several members of the Waterloo Branch of the Canadian Legion led by their president, Comrade Windsor Holloway, met with the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday night to pay their respects to a Charter Member of the Kiwanis Club and a faithful member of the Legion, Rev. E. Dan Mitchell, who leaves Waterloo shortly following his retirement from active work in the United Church of Canada.

Also present were President Les Roach, of the Granby Club, and three other members, and one other guest, Abe Norris, of Waterloo, was on hand.

President Butch Bouchard was in charge of the meeting, and he called on Charter President Pete Gunter for a few words. "When Rev. Dan leaves us," Kiwanian Pete said, "the Waterloo Club is losing one of its most valuable members. We do not know what it means to have Rev. Dan say 'no' to any favour we ever asked him to do. The people of Waterloo as a whole, whether they be United American or Roman Catholic, all wish to join me in saying, 'bon voyage, Rev. Dan, and may God be with you.'"

On behalf of the members of the club, Pete Gunter presented the guest of honor with a leather wallet as a memento of his stay with the Waterloo Kiwanians.

In a response, Rev. Dan stated that he always received much more out of Kiwanis than he ever put into it, but it was his fortune and his pleasure to have had an opportunity of taking an active part in such a fine organization as the Waterloo Kiwanis Club. Briefly he singled out several members for comment, and in closing Rev. Dan asked that if it were possible next year, he would like to be asked to come and speak to the Waterloo Kiwanis Club and give them their Easter Message, a distinction he has held since the formation of the club. Rev. Dan Mitchell was given to understand that he would be asked back next Easter.

President Windsor Holloway of the Legion was then asked to say a few words. "Rev. Dan, who has always been on the job for us has won the nick name of 'Old Faithful,'" President Windsor stated, "and his departure will be keenly felt by our branch. He is much loved and respected, and no one will hesitate to say that here goes a gentleman, a man's man, and a true soldier."

Rev. Dan was presented with a scroll of merit from the Waterloo Branch of the Canadian Legion for the fine work he has done while being a member. He was their Padre for several years, and never did he hesitate to further the work of the branch.

President Les Roach was then called upon to give a report to the Waterloo Club on the New York Convention, which he did very well. He gave portions of the better talks, and read off some of the decrees passed at this convention, two of which were dealing with Communism and obscene literature. The one dealing with Communism was that Kiwanis clubs all over North America should pledge themselves to join with all the free countries all over the world in combating Communism as we know it, and the second one that Kiwanis Clubs should join forces in keeping obscene literature off the air news stands, where it will not fall into the hands of young people. President Les gave a fine report of the happenings at New York, and brought the Waterloo Kiwanians a clear picture of the panels, the talks, and the entertainment provided them while at this Convention.

Next week the Kiwanians and their wives will be attending Brae Manor, in Knowlton, when the play is "Act Your Age."

While not many meetings of the Waterloo Club are held at the Legion during the summer months, the work of the members continues just the same. During the past two or three weeks, the beach has been cleaned up, the tables painted, the fence painted and new tables have been constructed and erected for the use of the general public at the beach. A telephone is being installed for their use as well. The picnic grounds on the Granby road have been greatly improved this year, and the grounds are in constant demand by tourists and people, who now realize that these tables and grounds were prepared for their use.

The work of Kiwanis continues twelve months out of the year, and if at any time a demand is to be made upon them, the opportunity presents itself through any member of the club.
