Death Toll Hits 71 As Freak Cold Wave Continues In Europe

LONDON — (AP) — West Europe's worst cold wave of the century continued today with at least 71 persons dead and hardship spreading from the British Isles to Turkey.

Forecasters said little relief may be expected for the next few days.

Exposure, fires or storm-caused accidents accounted for the death toll as temperatures ranged down to 37 degrees below zero.

Blizzard-swept France counted the highest number of dead — 26. The temperature in usually mild Paris dropped to five above Thursday for a 75-year low.

After four consecutive days of freezing temperatures, most rivers of the continent today were sheets of ice. Boat traffic was halted, crippling movement of fuel and food. Water and gas mains split in the intense cold. Electric power stations broke down under abnormal demands for heat in homes and factories.

A 37-below reading was reported at Kalenbrunn, West Germany. Mediterranean resort towns along the French and Italian Riviera were covered by snow, which fell as far south as Naples.

Across the Mediterranean, Bone, Algeria, reported its first snowfall in 10 years. Snow mixed with rain fell in normally balmy Tunis.

Wind gusts of more than 95 miles an hour added to the misery of the shivering population in Trieste.

Budapest radio reported the Danube river frozen over its entire reaches and said all rail traffic in Hungary was halted by deep snow.

Torrential rains and heavy snow hit Turkey.

The temperature in Britain sank to five above, the coldest day of the century. Along Denmark's coast scores of vessels were trapped by ice.

Many factories over the continent shut down, and authorities organized extra distributions of coal to needy families.

London — (Reuters) — James Griffiths Thursday night was elected deputy leader of Britain's Labor party by a close margin over left-wing leader Aneurin Bevan.

Bevan, party "rebel" and past opponent of the party's moderate leadership, which Griffiths represents, made a surprisingly strong showing in the vote. He gained 111 votes to Griffiths' 141 when postal ballots from Labor Parliament members were counted.

Fredericton — (C) — A spokesman for the attorney-general's department said Thursday night it "might be months" before Clifford Ayles is returned to Canada from Arizona on a murder charge, if his attorney used every legal weapon to delay extradition proceedings.

Quebec — (C) — Rachel and Jocelyne Tremblay, aged six and seven, respectively, died in hospital Thursday night after being struck by a truck in the suburban parish of St. Rodrigue.

The sisters were on their way to school at the time of the accident.

Toronto — (C) — "Little Black Sambo," a children's book circulated in many countries since it was written in 1889, will be withdrawn from Toronto public schools.

The action followed presentation of a brief by a Negro parent delegation which described the story as a cause of anguish to all Negroes. Trustees were asked to consider the reaction if books appeared entitled "Little Wop Tony" or "Little Mick Paddy."

Belgrade — (AP) — The Soviet Union Thursday granted Yugoslavia a $30,000,000 cash loan and credit of $54,000,000 for the purchase of Russian goods. The official news agency, Tanjug, reported the governor of Yugoslavia's National Bank, Vojin Guzina and the Soviet minister of foreign trade, I. G. Kabanov, signed the two agreements in Moscow.

A. V. Roe Head Predicts Flight At 1,600 mph

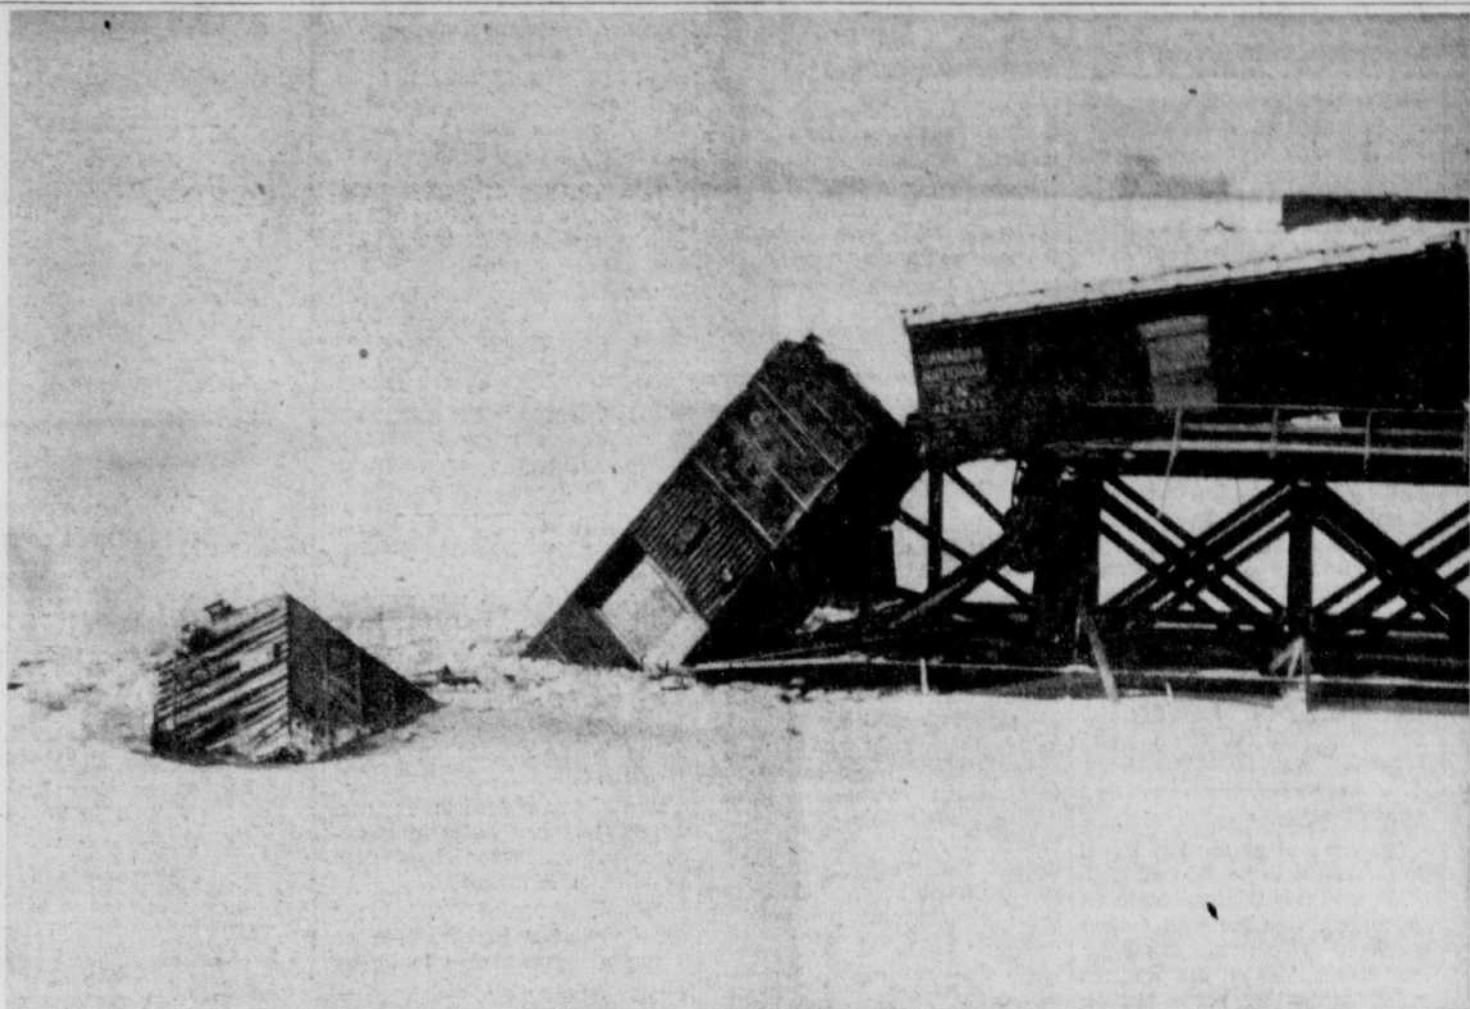

Toronto — (C) — Military interceptor aircraft will be flying at 1,600 miles an hour within 10 years, Crawford Gordon, Jr., president of A. V. Roe Canada Limited, predicted today.

"The use of atomic power in military aircraft also probably is not far off," he told the Gordon economic commission, but added that because of the heavy weight of atomic power plants, they will be used at first only in the largest planes.

Within a few years, he said, passenger airliners will be flying at about 550 to 600 miles an hour, increasing speeds to 900 miles an hour by 1970, and then to about 1,600 miles an hour by 1980 or 1985.

And on the basis of growth so far, the aircraft industry may well become the foremost in Canada and the world in the next 25 years, he said.

Canadian aviation has made great strides in the last decade, he said, but its most urgent need

Cold Storage For Grain — Six thousand bushels of grain sank beneath the ice on Lake Superior when three box cars jumped a trestle at Pool Elevator 9. The mishap was caused by a broken draw bar which sent 15 cars speeding back down the right-of-way to hit five other cars standing at the end of the trestle. (CP)

UN Says 25 Million Red Chinese Slaves

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — (AP) — The UN published Thursday a Nationalist Chinese estimate that 25,000,000 persons have been held in slave labor camps in Communist China.

It also issued charges by the United States and two international organizations that other Communist countries use slave labor, and similar allegations by a third organization against Portugal and South Africa.

The charges against Portugal and South Africa were presented by the Anti-Slavery Society of Britain. It said government files in the Portuguese African colony of Angola showed 379,000 Africans the government had forced to work for private employers.

Newsprint Bill Comes Into Force

Quebec — (CP) — Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fautoux gave royal assent yesterday to legislation imposing controls over the production, distribution and sale of newsprint in Quebec province.

The final legislative formalities bring into force legislation freezing the price of newsprint in the province and guaranteeing a continued supply of newsprint to Quebec's 140 publications, including 16 dailies.

The government measure was given third and final reading in the Legislative Council, provincial upper house, only a few hours earlier, in one of the appointive body's rare recorded votes. The vote was 10 to 7.

Rubbermen Fear Flood Of Imports

Toronto — (C) — A big, bright future for Canada's rubber market was predicted by the industry today, but it expressed fear that much of the market may fall to low-wage foreign competition, forcing Canadian plants to close and throwing workers off their jobs.

Part of the market has already been damaged by a flood of rubber footwear imports from Hong Kong, produced by six-cent-an-hour labor, the Rubber Association of Canada said. Canadian producers felt that if the flood continues, their plants, employing 5,000 workers, will be forced to shut in two or three years.

The association, in a brief before the Gordon economic commission, blamed the trend on a "too liberal" federal foreign trade policy. It said it could be only a matter of years before "everything we can manufacture will be offered to us cheaper from abroad."

It called for a complete overhaul of foreign trade policy to lay the basis for regulations which will protect Canadian manufacturers from the inroads of low-wage producers.

It urged also that federal anti-combines laws be reviewed in the light of the changing pattern of trade and industry since the original legislation was enacted 67 years ago.

Late Bulletin

Quebec — (CP) — Finance Minister Gagnon, in a pre-election budget, today forecast record revenues and expenditures for the fiscal year now ending and said there will be no tax changes for Quebecers in the coming fiscal year.

Truckers Answer Railmen

Quebec — (C) — Quebec's trucking industry has become essential because of the lack of railroads in newly-developed areas, Labor Minister Antonio Barrette Thursday told a delegation from the province's truck-drivers' union.

The union delegates presented Mr. Barrette with a brief, requesting the provincial government to retain its authority over the trucking industry. The brief was in reply to a request by a railway workers' organization in December, asking that the use of the province's roads be prohibited to large transport trucks.

Mr. Barrette told the trucking delegates that Premier Duplessis had agreed with the railwaymen's brief on only one point—the harmful effects of diesel transports which broke up roads with their excessive weight, and brought in no profits for the province.

Mr. Barrette declared taxes from the sale of gasoline do not nearly make up for the amount which the province spends every year on road construction and repair.

"We need roads everywhere and we need the trucking industry to carry merchandise on these roads," the labor minister said. "It is in your interest as much as ours to protect these roads."

Capital Hill Roundup

Won't Limit Small Loans Interest; Corporation Income Stays Secret

Ottawa — (C) — The CCF party went down swinging twice in succession in Commons votes yesterday.

It stood alone for a bill of Stanley Knowles (CCF - Winnipeg North Centre) aimed at removing secrecy from corporation income tax returns. It lost the vote on second reading—approval in principle—by 159 to 18.

A bill presented by Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) which would have set a maximum 12 per cent interest on all loans won support from Social Credit and Progressive Conservative members and Ross Thatcher (Ind.-Moose Jaw-Lake Centre).

But it went to the bottom of the list of private members' bills on a 131 to 72 vote favoring a government motion to adjourn debate on it.

Plugging for his bill, a perennial presentation by the Winnipeg member, Mr. Knowles said it is time the "iron-clad secrecy" surrounding corporation income tax returns is removed. It should remain for personal income tax returns, however.

Britain's PM Ends Washington Talks; Heads For Ottawa

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sir Anthony Eden winds up his five-day Washington visit today and goes on to Ottawa, leaving this advice to the American people: Never be afraid to meet and argue with the Russians.

The British prime minister made this suggestion in a 15-minute radio-television report last night on his three-day conference with President Eisenhower.

Following up those talks, plus yesterday's three public appearances, he arranged to hold a press conference before flying to Ottawa this afternoon.

The British leader emphasized Anglo-American unity in his radio-TV speech, just as he had in his previous midday talks to the United States Senate and House of Representatives.

Calling his conversations with Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles "the most encouraging conference I have ever attended," Eden said the real accomplishment at them was hard to describe. He called it "a spirit of unity" and said holding to it "can mean peace for the world forever."

"I know of nothing like it in the world today," he said. Then he said he wanted to talk to those Americans who might object to any more talks with the Russians.

"To those who may feel amongst you that you should never have contacts with those whose faith is the antithesis of your own, to those I would say, I wouldn't myself take up that attitude."

"If you have confidence in yourself, if you believe in your own convictions, if you trust to your own faith, you needn't be afraid, you shouldn't be afraid, to meet and argue with others," he said. The U.S. and Britain should continue their no-strings-attached program of economic aid to less-developed areas.

"Self-government and economic stability are the strongest antidotes to communism."

In referring to his talks with Eisenhower, Eden made no specific mention of differences which developed over such Far East questions as the West's trade embargo on Red China. Britain sought a relaxation but won only a U.S. agreement to review the situation.

But Eden did acknowledge that some differences exist. He asked that these should not be ballooned out of proportion into big headlines because essential Anglo-American unity was genuine and "so much more important."

New Bulganin Bid For Friendship Pact

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A new appeal from Premier Bulganin failed today to melt United States opposition to a Soviet-American "friendship treaty" which the U.S. government holds to be needless and perhaps risky.

In a 2,800-word message made public by the state department here late Thursday night, Bulganin urged President Eisenhower to reconsider the 20-year pact proposed by the Russian premier last week and promptly turned down by Eisenhower.

U.S. officials called Bulganin's new message mainly a reshuffle of previous arguments for the treaty, and said he had not advanced persuasive new ideas.

Eisenhower, in a letter last Saturday, had told Bulganin such a pact could create "the illusion that a stroke of a pen could achieve a result which in fact can be obtained only by a change of spirit."

Bulganin picked up Eisenhower's argument that "deeds not words" are needed to ease East-West tensions, and sought to turn it back on Washington.

Without naming State Secretary Dulles, he called the secretary's "brink of war" statement provocative, and said American moves to build up air bases around the Soviet Union create "fully understandable apprehension" among the Russians.

Officials said his letter would be answered in the same courteous vein which has characterized the exchange of almost half a dozen personal messages between the two leaders since the Geneva "summit" conference last July.

Bulganin told Eisenhower Russia would be prepared to make friendship treaties with Britain, France and other countries.

The offer to make treaties with Britain and France was a new element in the latest message.

So was a statement by Bulganin that a U.S.-Soviet friendship treaty "would be of great positive significance in establishing the necessary prerequisites for the solution of the German problem."

Another new element was an invitation by Bulganin for Eisenhower to submit his "thoughts" on provisions of a friendship treaty. He gave assurances that they would receive "the greatest attention."

This was a clear bid for the president to enter into active negotiations on a treaty.

Conference Ends — As British Prime Minister Anthony Eden (left) looks on, President Eisenhower signs a joint statement on their three-day talks which ended in Washington. The President and Prime Minister, in a joint communique, declared that they will use their full influence to keep Russia "from breaking the peace." (NEA)

CAUGHT RED-HANDED
Ooofie-Gooofie, Terpsi-Cora,
the dancing bear, and her cub Upsa-Daisy, and Mrs. Sillie-
Bird and her son Flyin'-Sasser, were all making strange sounds as Dollie, Gussie, Hammie and Sammie moved cautiously toward the old shack. It was more than a mile from Dooferville, 'way out in the woods.
Of course, the children didn't know the animals and birds were talking. Or that Ooofie was telling his friends exactly what to do.

Suddenly Ooofie leaped toward the shack, very fast. Ter-psi-Cora and Upsa-Daisy followed him. Mrs. Sillie-Bird made for the shack squawking and screeching. You've never heard such a racket. Oo-fie-Gooofie was roaring like a lion from his far away jungles of Gunga-Dinga. The bears were growling as loudly as they could growl. It would have made the hair stand right up straight on your head.

Of course the children weren't afraid of their animal and bird friends, but they were all pretty scared about what they would find in the shack. Naturally Hammie and Sammie didn't admit it—before the girls. And so Gussie and Dollie followed behind the rest of the "posse," with their hearts in their mouths. Gussie was sorry she had forgotten to bring her pup Sorry-Lookin' along in all the excitement. He could have made a lot of noise too!

Ooofie and the animals and birds reached the shack door ahead of the four children and Ooofie and Terpsi-Cora gave it a hard push. Then they heard a lot of yelling. It was two men and they were screaming:

"Go 'way! Don't come in here! Help!" Hammie and Sam looked in the door first, white and scared. And there cornered like rats were—Sidewinder and Varmint Woofie, Dooferville's twin crooks. They were uncles of Woofie Woofie, the boy who wasn't kind to animals, and were the only real troublemakers in all of Doo-fer County.

Sammie yelled, "Stay where you are, you burglars!" And Hammie yelled, "We mighta known you Woofie twins robbed Aunt Millie's house and framed old Dan." Dollie cried,
"Look! There's a lot of Aunt Millie's things in the corner." Gussie, shaking like a leaf,
chattered, "Oh—oh, mercy Daisy. Oh, my goodness." And Sidewinder and Woofie, being yellow cowards and very afraid of animals, begged the children not to let the bears and Ooofie Gooofie eat them.
Mrs. Sillie-Bird and Flyin'- Sasser peeked at them and scolded.

Compton County Seed Fair To Be Held February 20

Cookshire — The committee in charge of the sixth annual recently to draw up plans for the event.

Sponsored by the Compton County Agricultural Society, the fair will be held in Victoria Hall, Cookshire, on Monday, Feb. 20th.
The closing date for entries will be Saturday, February 18th, and all exhibits must be in place at 10:00 a.m., Monday morning, the

There will be classes for oats, barley, other grains, grasses and more important, there will be classes for both silage and hay, as well as for roots. In several of the classes the number of prizes has been increased.

For the boys and girls, there is a judging competition, which starts at 1:00 p.m. The contestants will be asked to judge four classes.

The Evening Program is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m., with films, as well as remarks by the judges and the invited guests. It is expected that the distribution of prizes will take place about 9 p.m.

The committee of the fair is composed of the president, Col.

skaters also appeared in solo numbers. Andree Dubois and Ann Goode held the audience spellbound with intricate and dazzling numbers.

The star of the show was Dick Nutter, the comic on skates. Dick appeared in three roles. His solo of a drunk was hilarious and kept the Arena crowd in stitches. Then the comedian did a duo with Claude Dubois. Following this he appeared with the lovely Bishop's "Carnibelles," fifteen beautiful Bishop's co-eds, who were also featured in a chorus

After the ice show there was a short exhibition broomball contest between the Students' Councils of Bishop's University and the University of Sherbrooke. The game was full of foolish antics with both squads costumed gaily and wearing one skate and one boot. After a flurry of action the game was halted and declared a draw.

For sports fans there was the hockey game between the University of Sherbrooke and Bishop's for the Skinner-Nadeau Trophy, donated last year for annual

After the game the Queen was driven onto the ice wearing her regal gowns and Mayor Nadeau crowned her, marking the finish of Icecrama.

Citizens are invited to come out to Bishop's this week-end and see the wonderful snow sculpture which the students have erected for Carnival competition. There will also be a woodsman's contest and basketball game on

Despicable Dog-Poisoner

There are more despicable deeds than dog-poisoning, but not very many.

There's a dog-poisoner at work in Sherbrooke's North Ward and according to reports he or she is a psychopathic type of poisoner who operates indiscriminately against any particular dog and against any number of dogs.

Admittedly, this type is the most difficult to apprehend, but certainly the police department should make every effort to put a halt to this business before it becomes even more serious.

In one instance, a newsboy tried to take a poisoned piece of meat away from his dog. Before he could grab it, the dog had swallowed it and subsequently died.

But what if the youngster had managed to take it away from his pet? A considerable amount of strychnine could have rubbed off on his mit and later reached the child's mouth. An indiscriminate dog-poisoner is a threat not only to dogs, but to children who could come in contact with the poisoned meat.

Beyond this, there is a touch of insanity in a person who would deliberately kill a youngster's pet. For dogs, after all, belong to the kids. They are tied together with a fierce love and loyalty that only a youngster and his dog can truly appreciate.

It takes no courage to poison a dog. It is a cowardly, callous act and its seriousness should never be passed off with a shrug that "It's only a dog."

Yes, "It's only a dog," but the act is a serious and dangerous offense against our dog-loving society.

An Unfair Attack

The policy of The Record is to publish letters to the editor even when the opinion of the writer may differ with that of the newspaper and even when the contention of the writer may seem incorrect or unreasonable.

The right is reserved, of course, to decide that a letter is incoherent or libellous or is the product of someone who would use the Letters-to-the-Editor section as a sounding board or for personal gain. Signed letters, with these restrictions, are published with or without revealing the writer's identity.

The Record does not, however, feel compelled to sit silently after it publishes a letter which it considers grossly unreasonable.

Such a letter appeared yesterday. The writer objected strenuously to the operation of a skating rink during a funeral held in North Hatley last Sunday afternoon. This in itself was not objectionable, but the writer continued with a tirade against Mayor Clifford Reed, laying full blame on his shoulders for the "disrespect" that was shown the deceased. (The family has raised no objections.)

This is certainly small thanks for a man of Mr. Reed's calibre, who gives of his time and effort, without remuneration, in the interest of his community. There is some difference of opinion on whether all activities should cease on the death of a respected citizen, but beyond this there are a few other considerations.

Was the Mayor aware, had he been informed that this was objectionable to some citizens? How serious was the noise? Why did the writer ask that her name not appear? What had she to be ashamed of?

Every Four Years — Nothing!

Randolph Churchill, in Washington for the Eden-Eisenhower talks, probably hasn't endeared himself to some Americans by his gruff, indelicate criticisms, but like his father, he finds it difficult to mince words when on a favorite subject.

Moreover, the fact that he has labelled criticisms in the direction of England as well as the United States will likely soften the blow a bit.

A truly outstanding comment from the visitor was his concern over the tendency of the United States to avoid making controversial international decisions in an election year.

This he labelled a prime fault of the U.S. democratic system, if an election could stall decision on issues vital not only to the United States, but to the rest of the world.

In other words, said Mr. Churchill, why cannot a government do what it considers to be right during an election year just as readily as in any other year? Does the government not have faith in the people? Does it not believe that it can show the people that what has been done was right and just?

Certainly, there would seem to be something inherently wrong with a system that puts a government on the sidelines, internationally, one year out of every four.

CBC Rebuttal

Since this newspaper takes rather keen delight in harpooning the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, which it believes to be stuffy, dull and ignorant of the Canadian taste, it seems fair enough to give the much-maligned CBC an opportunity to reply.

A. Davidson ("Davy") Dunton, chairman of the CBC board answers his critics through the medium of Liberty Magazine.

He starts well by suggesting that Canadian newspapers should campaign for more tax money to be given the CBC if they expect more Canadian talent to be used on CBC-TV shows.

In summary, this is what he says: 1. The Canadian TV public have got to pay for — or "subsidize", if you will — Canadian talent, if they want it.

2. The number of U.S. performers imported weekly at $700 to $1,000 a performance to the CBC-TV shows — "Cross-Canada Hit Parade," "The Denny Vaughan Show" and "The Jackie Rae Show" — while Canadian TV performers were neglected, was a situation "causing us concern. Something will be done about it."

3. All CBC employees are compelled to swear to an oath of allegiance over a Bible not to disclose confidential matters, but the oath does not prevent them from communicating hostile opinions against the CBC to newspapermen. A CBC executive committed a "pure mistake" in reprimanding a CBC producer of "TV News Magazine" for talking to a Toronto "Telegram" reporter.

4. There is no plan for a second network of private TV stations across Canada. It could not exist economically.

5. Newspapers and magazines should not be controlled by the Government, but broadcasting has to be controlled, because it tends to be a monopolistic medium.

6. The CBC is not trying to "spoon-feed pseudo-culture TV programs" to viewers. It does not lack a balance of "solid, meat-and-potatoes Canadian programs," as has been charged.

He denies that he is "a publicity man" for the CBC, and says the CBC was in "communications" rather than in "show business."

He defends the opera and ballet on the CBC-TV "Folio" program, saying, "I say it is not freedom when you let the tastes of a large group dominate the tastes of a smaller group."

Famous Canadian Publishers

George McCullagh

A lifetime of only forty-seven years is a short period in which to leave a lasting impact on men and affairs. Yet George McCullagh will not be soon forgotten. His dynamic energy carried him in those few years over hurdles of humble birth, poverty and limited schooling to the position of Publisher of two great Canadian daily newspapers.

George McCullagh was born in London, Ontario, on March 16, 1905, and died in Toronto on August 5, 1952. At the age of nine he was selling newspapers. At sixteen he topped all the boys in town on sales. At seventeen he had, in conjunction with a Toronto Globe campaign, enrolled three hundred thousand children in a safety club.

From newspaper reporter to a job in a Bay Street brokerage firm, to his own manager in 1932, and director of The Mining Corporation of Canada, Limited, one of the country's largest mining companies, in 1935, illustrates his meteoric rise.

His idealism and enthusiasm for the common good were to attract William Henry Wright, the mining magnate who gave him his opportunity to become a newspaper publisher. In 1935, Mr. McCullagh became manager of Mr. Wright's financial affairs. By 1936 these affairs were in order. In October of the same year, William Wright authorized George McCullagh to purchase The Globe, then in November came the purchase of The Mail and Empire. In a matter of days these two newspapers were amalgamated to form The Globe and Mail, with Mr. McCullagh as Publisher — this newspaper being housed in the William H. Wright Building, one of the finest in North America.

In 1948 Mr. McCullagh assumed full control of The Telegram. At that time he said, "This is a noble profession carrying with it a sacred trust. Let's make it a vigorous part of the fabric of democracy." Shortly after this, illness, which had plagued Mr. McCullagh, laid its hand heavily upon him.

Mr. McCullagh's many abilities and talents were publicly recognized. He was a Governor of the University of Toronto, and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Toronto General Hospital.

In a series of radio broadcasts he called for a cleansing of Canadian politics. Through his newspaper he undertook campaigns for the Toronto General Hospital and the Hospital for Sick Children. Trinity College School at Port Hope, Ontario, will remember him for his donation of their rink. He was a man of great human understanding and generous heart.

In forty-seven years, George McCullagh lived the equivalent of many lives and attained many successes, but it was as a newspaper publisher and for his passionate devotion to truth and freedom that he will be best remembered.

With Billy Graham

By GEORGE BURNHAM

Kottayam, India—Indian people who gathered to hear Christ preach the Sermon on the Mount must have looked something like the thousands who sat on the hillside at Kottayam to hear Billy Graham. This is not an attempt to compare the two speakers. The people are the story.

Billy stood on a platform in the center of a clearing. People covered the hillside all around him. Almost as far as the eye could see it was a sea of white, dotted with splashes of color, that rose and fell with the levels of the hills. The women were dressed in their billowing white robes and the men attired in loose fitting clothes that defy description. It appears that men get tangled up in a sheet while getting out of bed and then wear it that way the rest of the day. Americans would be more comfortable if they dressed like the people of India. They dress for weather, not to impress people.

The listeners had come from miles around. They were of all ages—young boys who couldn't sit still, teen-agers whose eyes followed shapely Indian girls, mothers with little children, aging parents whose faces reflected hard years of working fields. There were Jacobites with long beards.

They had heard of this outstanding young preacher from the other side of the world and had been planning for many months to hear him speak. It was a mood of expectancy as they looked toward the platform.

Billy began to speak through a Malayan interpreter. A few days before it was in Tamil and Telegu. He said, "God is going to do big things at these meetings in Southern India. He is not going to do them because I am a great preacher. I am not a great preacher. He is going to do these big things because Christians in India and your friends around the world have been praying. God answers prayers.

"The message I am going to preach is 2,000 years old, but it is as modern as tomorrow's newspaper. I will preach Jesus and Him crucified."

And that is what he preached — with simplicity, conviction and power. It touched a lot of people in a lot of different ways. Preachers were brought together in a spirit of unity never before known in India. Missionaries from abroad said they were going back to their remote outposts with new zeal and a sense of urgency. Non-Christians responded by the thousands to the message of peace for the present and hope for the future.

"Only God could have done this," Billy commented. His thoughts, too, had drifted back to the Sermon on the Mount as he looked out over more than 30,000 people. Christ could not be seen but many said they had felt His presence.

SHIFT IN COLD WAR

(Vancouver Province)

We are confronted by a clear shift in the cold war in which economic and social problems have moved to the forefront. No matter how much we despise Communism and fear its aim to rule the world, we North Americans are not going to advance our cause by believing only what we want to believe about Russia.

Because Russian ways are deplored we should not belittle Russian achievements. Against the dark facts of Russian purges, prisons and oppressions we must recognize Russian accomplishments in atomic energy, agriculture, weapons and armies.

Before we can grapple with the problem we must see and admit the problem.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

TALE OF TWO BRIDGE SIGNALS

In today's hand West signaled twice, but his second signal was based on more information and therefore meant more.

West opened the four of diamonds even though South had bid the suit. This particular South was known to be a deceptive bidder, and it was quite possible that the diamond suit was his weak spot.

East put up the jack of diamonds, and South won the first trick with the king. Declarer next took the ace of clubs and led another club, upon which West discarded the deuce of spades.

West didn't want to betray the location of the ace of spades by a signal, and he wanted a diamond return anyway. East won the second round of clubs and returned the five of diamonds.

South finessed the seven of diamonds, and West won with the eight of diamonds. West had to shift to a different suit since it was unsafe to lead diamonds up to South. When West led the three of spades, South put up dummy's king without tell-tale hesitation. The fall of the ten of spades from the South hand was clear indication of how the land lay.

Declarer led another club from dummy, and East won with the king. This time West discarded the three of diamonds. This signal said "Don't lead diamonds," just as his earlier signal had said "Don't lead spades." Which signal was East to believe?

East properly believed the later signal. A switch to spades now produced two spade tricks,

Answer to Today's Puzzle

What Other Papers Say

THE BOOM MISSED THE FARM

(Ottawa Citizen)

This has been another year of prosperity for Canada. The record is all the more impressive when it is recalled that at the close of 1954 the economy was hesitant. By early spring the upward march had already been resumed, but few could have guessed it would proceed at such a pace. But there is one significant exception. Farm income lags behind. It has been declining for about four years, although little further change has taken place during 1955.

Canada is by no means unique in this contrast between the position of agriculture and that of the rest of the economy. In the United States, in spite of a price support program for basic commodities at much higher levels than in Canada, prices of farm products are steadily slipping. The last conference of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) reported that producers were in some degree of difficulty in nearly all farming regions, especially in countries which are important agricultural exporters.

The problem is not one to be lightly regarded, for a country like Canada cannot remain prosperous indefinitely if its agriculture does not prosper. It is basically an international problem, involving the distribution of surpluses which in the main are not really surpluses at all—for all this production of food and fiber is needed somewhere. The nations come perceptibly closer to a solution in 1956, the year will indeed be a memorable one.

EXTINCTION OF WILD TURKEY

Sudbury Daily Star

Two news stories that appear in the newspapers each year deal with the migration of the whooping crane. Their migration flight to Canada in the spring is faithfully reported; their return to the southland in the autumn is likewise recorded.

This is because less than 30 of these birds are now known to be living. Man has almost succeeded in making the whooping crane as extinct as the passenger pigeon.

The famous wild turkey also seems to be headed down the road to extinction. When the Pilgrims came to America it was possible for four men to kill enough wild turkeys in one day to feed the whole Pilgrim colony for one week.

If the Pilgrim hunters went out today they would not find a single wild turkey in Massachusetts. In fact, they could traverse the entire United States with little better success. A few birds can still be found in Texas, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Florida and Wisconsin.

Hunting of wild turkeys is still permitted in the United States. It should not be many more years before the wild turkey becomes something of a legend associated with the Pilgrim Fathers.

May we suggest that the museums pick up some of the remaining birds so that proof will exist that the wild turkey is not believed to be the figment of someone's imagination.

FLUOROPHOBES

(The Windsor Daily Star)

It has been said facetiously that a drop of nicotine on the tongue of a dog will kill a man. Now it can be added as a hard fact that a drop of fluorine on the imagination of a few dozen fluorophobes is enough to block a water treatment program for prevention of tooth decay.

In Windsor, at any rate. When a City Council majority scuttled for cover the other night before the propaganda barrage of the fluorophobes it made no contribution to science, or safety, or the art of government.

It simply yielded to a mass of distortion and misrepresentation, exposed and exploded a dozen times over, and the asserted "expert" evidence of a lone doctor from Detroit.

In its fight from this "Boo!" in the night it ignored the finding and opinion of just about every top level medical and dental association on this continent.

BYGONE DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO

From the Record Files of Wednesday, Feb. 3, 1926.

His Majesty the King at noon today opened the second session of the present parliament with all the state ceremony and color which makes the event one of the most fascinating of Great Britain's pageants. There was the usual display of warm competition among members of the House of Commons for choice seats.

Two determined members waited at doors all night to be sure of securing seats they desired. Steps to rid the country of all railway level crossings on provincial highways were urged upon the Government in the House of Commons last night by C. B. Howard, Liberal member for Sherbrooke. He would have the Federal and Provincial Government along with the railway companies make a three-way split of the cost of the bridges or tunnels, as the case may be.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Record Files of Monday, Feb. 3, 1936.

French authorities pursued negotiations with Balkan rulers and statesmen today, authoritative sources said, in an attempt to raise a wall against any German expansion in Eastern Europe.

The Supreme Court today served judgment in the reference concerning validity of the federal unemployment insurance law. It then took up the Natural Products Marketing Act.

Laurence Degre, one of Magog's younger businessmen, was elected Mayor of the Town of Magog on Saturday, succeeding Edward Kingsland. He defeated Alphonse Girard by a majority of 212 votes.

RICHMOND—

"Scols" Evening Well Attended

Richmond.—The annual "Scols" evening of song and story, celebrating the birthday of Robert Burns was held in the Legion Hall.

The evening began with a sing-song followed by solos by Mrs. Rattray, Mrs. Lovett and Mr. Townsley. Mr. Ross McDonald, of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, was the guest artist, and gave several duets on the mouth organ and piano which were enjoyed.

Slides on Scotland were appropriately shown and Miss Frances Thompson danced the Highland Fling. Each item received well deserved applause by the well filled hall.

The evening was brought to a close by refreshments prepared by the ladies of St. Andrew's Church, Upper Melbourne.

Parent-Teacher Co-Operation Is Stressed In Talk

Richmond — Rev. Brother Theode, professor at the University of Sherbrooke and assistant director of the Sherbrooke Superior School, delivered an interesting address at the Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet held at the Brunswick Hotel, at which some 80 members, guests and ladies were present.

The value of co-operation between parent and teacher was the theme of the professor's address. He emphasized that such a contact was helpful to the student and a guidance in his education. Many problems could be solved at such meetings.

Ex-Mayor H. P. Stone spoke of the progress being made in the municipality and the friendly relations that existed amongst the various societies in their community activities.

Of interest was the presentation of a diploma to Marcel Roy, appointing him a senator of the Provincial Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Roy, one of the founders of the Richmond Junior Chamber of Commerce established in 1941, expressed his thanks for the honor conferred on him.

A presentation was also made to ex-president G. H. Poulin in recognition of the work he had done for the group during his term of office. The presentation was made on behalf of the executive by the president, Paul Delaney.

Bridge was enjoyed at thirty-five tables. The prizes distributed at each table evoked much interest, being given by various donors and attractively packaged with individual taste.

Mrs. Huntley Gordon convened the annual affair and was assisted by Mrs. Lindley Pinkham and Mrs. Don Sanders. All the members of the alumnae co-operated generally and assisted in serving refreshments.

The door prizes were won by Miss Thelma Wright, Mrs. Henri Delorme, Mrs. W. M. Bradshaw and Mrs. Robert Pearce.

Miss Aitkenhead and Mrs. Lebrun poured at the lace-covered tea table, arranged in a Valentine motif, with deep red tulips in a silver bowl, flanked by white candles in silver holders forming the centrepiece.

TASTY DISH

Tuna and rice stuffed green peppers make an easy-to-prepare and tasty main dish. Make the filling for the peppers by mixing together 2 1/2 to 3 cups cooked rice, 2 tbsp. grated onion, a 6 1/2 oz. can tuna, 1/2 cup grated American cheese, salt, pepper, dash of Tabasco sauce and 3/4 cup milk. After scooping out the seeds and membranes of 6 green peppers, cook in boiling water 10 minutes, or until tender. Fill the peppers with the rice-tuna mixture. Place in some water in a shallow baking dish. Bake in a 350 F. oven until heated through, about 30 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce.

Homemaking

To remove rusty water stains from bathtubs, sinks, ranges and refrigerators, rub the spots with lemon and rinse well.

Socks which are too short in the foot may be responsible for sore and tired feet. If they can't be pinched up about one-half inch at the toe, they are too short.

Is your washing machine stained from dye jobs? Give it a couple coats of a good kitchen wax that cleans and polishes. Repeat often to keep the machine clean.

Remove onion odors from your hands by rubbing hands with a paste of baking soda and water.

Be sure wax is thoroughly dry before polishing if you use an electric floor polisher.

Looking for a nice holder for your recipe books? Try a rubber-coated dish rack. The books won't slide down.

Old knit cotton T-shirts are excellent dust cloths. Lengthen their lives by washing them in the machine with bleach and strong soap.

Don't neglect the plumbing under the sink. Scrub pipes with hot soapsuds to keep them clean.

Ink stains come off finger tips easily when rubbed with the well-moistened head of a match.

The Clubwoman's Guide To Efficient Food Service

In spite of slimming diets, Dior fashions or husbands' frowns, the social or refreshment hour has become an accepted and expected part of club and group activities. It may be a luncheon or dinner meeting, an afternoon tea or a refreshment half hour following an evening meeting. Whatever the occasion or number of people involved—service of food to a group, in a private home or in clubrooms or church halls, means considerable planning and work for those who are responsible.

Who plans the refreshments? Where does one go for helpful ideas and suggestions? How does one estimate quantities and costs? What services are available in any city or town or rural area to assist in the planning, preparing and serving of an attractive, economical meal or mid-meal snack? Here are a few of the answers:

A PLAN OF ACTION

Whether you're entertaining in your own home, or acting as social convener of your club, you'll first want an organized plan of action. Sit down, well in advance, and plan the meal or the refreshments from start to finish. Even though you have a committee working with you, put your own ideas on paper before you discuss them with committee members. Suggested headings might include: menu, division of work, (under two headings, advance preparation and last-minute preparation); food order; invitations and special guests; table setting and decorations; serving; clean-up; and costing. Once the final plans have been discussed and approved, and the work divided fairly among members of your "food" committee, don't be afraid to give each person a slip of paper containing concise but clearly written instructions. You'll be surprised (and pleased!) how much confusion and misunderstanding this will avoid.

BE BUSINESS-LIKE

A good convener delegates responsibilities and supervises activities in a business-like manner. Keep track of all expenses, and encourage everyone to turn in receipts for purchases or services. If there is to be a nominal charge for the meal, the total number of servings (including guests who will not be asked to pay) should be divided into the total estimated expenses.

KEEP RECORDS

Permanent records of all stages of the planning and preparation, as well as details of the event itself, will be valuable for future reference. Make brief notes about quantities ordered, general organization, number served, leftovers and total cost, for the next convener.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LOCAL HELP

If you're not aware of the many places and persons to whom you can go for expert assistance in planning a big tea, luncheon or dinner, here are some suggestions:

Talk over your plans with your local baker. The most common refreshments at any social occasion are probably sandwiches, cakes and cookies. If you let your baker in on your plans early, he'll suggest the most suitable type of bread, rolls and other bakery foods—and he'll be glad to offer extra services, like slicing sandwich bread, icing cake, even roasting meat or turkeys in his good sized oven!

Visit your local grocer or the manager of your food market. He's accustomed to dealing and thinking in large quantities, and he's familiar with the best buys in seasonal foods and staple articles.

The dietitian in your local hospital or health department will be pleased to advise and guide you on difficult matters of quantities, preparation and service. And she's sure to have large quantity recipe books and suggestions which you may borrow for a limited time. And, don't forget your reference library. Books of ideas, recipes and even menus are there for the asking. (Next — Menu suggestions and planning rules).

Kitchen Beauty Kit Aids Hurried Wife

By ALICIA HART

Women who manage their whole home, plus a baby or two, without outside help find that the nearest trick of all is looking collected and pretty for the company dinner that's taken all afternoon to prepare.

The whole effect of the clean and spruced-up home, the perfect dinner and the good-night of the washed kiddies is spoiled if mother comes out looking as though she's had the kind of afternoon she really did have.

Most of these spunky women succeed in their aim and look as cool as butter and pretty as hors d'oeuvres when they sit down for dinner.

And the ones that succeed have tips to pass on to the ones who still gasp with the effort. The mirror in the kitchen is the first big help. It means that a gal can catch a glimpse of herself before trotting on with the roast.

The next big help is the kitchen beauty and safety kit. Many women use a flat cake pan to hold it and place same on a cabinet shelf. Others have a special shelf under the mirror.

It should contain: lipstick, cotton pads or tissues, disinfectant, petroleum jelly, bandages (these three for minor burns and scrapes), jewelry that you want to wear after cooking, an extra handkerchief for show and any other gadgets you may want at hand.

A comb should not stay here because of the danger of shedding in the sink. It can go in the apron pocket for out-of-the-way combing.

Another help is keeping the hair tied up while cooking. A bicycle-clip headband can do it; so can a scarf. The scarf can come off when the meal's on the table.

gestions which you may borrow for a limited time. And, don't forget your reference library. Books of ideas, recipes and even menus are there for the asking. (Next — Menu suggestions and planning rules).

Tight Pumps Will Wreck Healthy Feet

By ALICIA HART

Most lucky teen-agers have little trouble with the looks of their feet. Teen-age shoe styles are made in sizes plenty big for big feet. Athletics, swimming and long hours of going barefoot keep down blisters, callouses and toes grown under each other.

Paradoxically, it is for this very reason that when the trouble arrives, it really arrives in force. Feet that have been well cared for have grown in their full size rather than being turned under and cramped, Chinese-style. So when teen-agers move into pumps, they may find them miserably uncomfortable.

Particularly is this true in the inexpensive lines that are the budget-bound teen-ager's favorites. Some of these lines don't come in A, B, and C widths, but only narrow and medium. Such a shoe is no fit for a wide, healthy teen foot.

Feet used to comfortable loafers and wide-heeled tennis shoes scream in anger when poked into an ill-fitted pump made for a more dainty foot.

There's no point in trying to "break" the feet into the shoes. Those feet are not going to get any smaller for some years. They will only get "pump heels," blisters, callouses, infections and trouble. If there are no pumps of a decent cut and fit available locally, stay with oxfords or saddle shoes until they can be found.

Keep Rooms Cool While Entertaining

Overheating is an often ignored entertaining hazard during the winter months. It's wise to protect the comfort and health of your family and guests while the festivities are going on by keeping your home well ventilated and pleasantly warm, not hot.

If you're expecting a group for a party, turn the thermostat setting down a few degrees as soon as the numbers begin to increase, warn the heating experts.

While normally you may prefer a temperature setting of from 72 to 78 degrees, the body heat provided by the guests will contribute plenty of warmth—too much if the room is hot at the start. By just standing around chatting, they point out, a person generates almost as much heat as a 200-watt bulb, and in a stuffy room the heat literally has no place to go. The results: a feeling of lethargy and fatigue.

Keep the thermostat setting at 68 degrees while the party is in progress, then as the crowd dwindles and finally departs, reset the dial to the degree you find most comfortable for relaxing.

Fresh, sufficiently moist air is also a must if you're entertaining a large group, according to the experts. Open the window wide for a moment or two to let the clean air in. To keep it healthfully moist, placing pans of water on a radiator top will help or arrange flowers and green leaves in deep bowls of water.

Frosted Date Balls

1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup sifted confectioner's sugar, 1 tsp. milk, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1/2 cup chopped dates, 1/2 cup chopped nuts, confectioner's sugar.

Combine flour and salt, sift twice. Cream the butter and gradually add sugar. Stir in milk and vanilla and stir in the sifted flour. Blend in dates and nuts. Roll in 1 inch balls.

Place about 2 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a 300 F. oven about 20 minutes or until set and not brown. While still warm, roll in confectioner's sugar. (Yields 3 dozen date balls).

Red Cross Work Described To CWL By Local Head

Mr. B. C. Howard, president of the Sherbrooke Branch of the Canadian Red Cross, gave a very timely and informative talk to the members of the Catholic Women's League, Wednesday night, in St. Patrick's Church Hall.

Introduced by Mrs. B. W. Murray, Mr. Howard's first remarks pointed up the coming campaign and expressed the hope that the amount, $10,000 would be realized. He mentioned that the sum of $12,000 was attained last year and emphasized the many reasons why the public should be generous in subscribing to the campaign, as well as in donating blood, which is an easy matter and takes very little time.

The speaker stated that all hospitals in Sherbrooke had blood banks the aggregate being 2,200 bottles of blood and when the amount diminishes, it is replenished from the Montreal bank.

Another point brought up by Mr. Howard, was should a Sherbrooke citizen require a transfusion in a Montreal or Quebec hospital, having no blood bank, the transfusion would be provided and the amount of blood used would be reimbursed by the Sherbrooke blood bank, free of charge to the patient.

The speaker mentioned the fact that from the $12,000 raised last year $7,300, at least, was spent in Sherbrooke, covering maintenance of the office, a permanent secretary and relief in disasters, the supplying of beds, wheelchairs, crutches and other equipment to add comfort and to assist to recovery persons who had been afflicted by disasters.

In conclusion, Mr. Howard praised the work accomplished by about ten women who meet once a week in the Red Cross rooms, to sew, knit, make bandages, nightgowns, sweaters, etc. ready for the homeless and destitute following disaster and invited the members of the Catholic Women's League to lend assistance, if possible, to this worthy cause.

Following answers to questions asked the speaker, Mrs. J. W. Drapeau voiced the appreciation of the Catholic Women's League, to Mr. Howard, for his very interesting address.

This Code For Quarreling Can Hold Down Damage

By RUTH MILLETT

Couples don't have to agree all the time in order to have a happy marriage. But if they are going to quarrel they ought to abide by a few gentlemanly rules.

One. Any quarrel should be confined to the incident that starts it. Dragging old arguments, disagreements, and disappointments into a new argument is what leaves a bitter taste and a sense of disillusionment.

Two. Traits of character should not be attacked. While you may get by with telling a man you think he is making a mistake in a certain instance you won't get by with telling him he has poor judgment.

Three. Neither the husband nor the wife should drag the other's family into a quarrel. It isn't easy to either forget or forgive unkind things said about one's family however true they may happen to be.

Four. It is better to say exactly what you mean than to use sarcasm. The sting of sarcasm lasts much longer than plain and honestly angry reproaches.

Five. A couple should never quarrel before a third person. It is harder to forgive harsh words that have been overheard by someone else.

Six. Neither husband nor wife should be ashamed to say, "I'm sorry," and try to make up a quarrel. It doesn't matter who started it or who is in the wrong. The one who calms down first should say, "I'm sorry."

Seven. This is, perhaps, the most important rule of all. Once it is over, a quarrel should be put out of the mind and never mentioned again. It isn't quarrelling that ruins marriages—but nursing grudges afterwards.

Whether or not a quarrel clears the air or leaves a lasting hurt depends largely on whether or not a couple follows these rules for fair fighting.

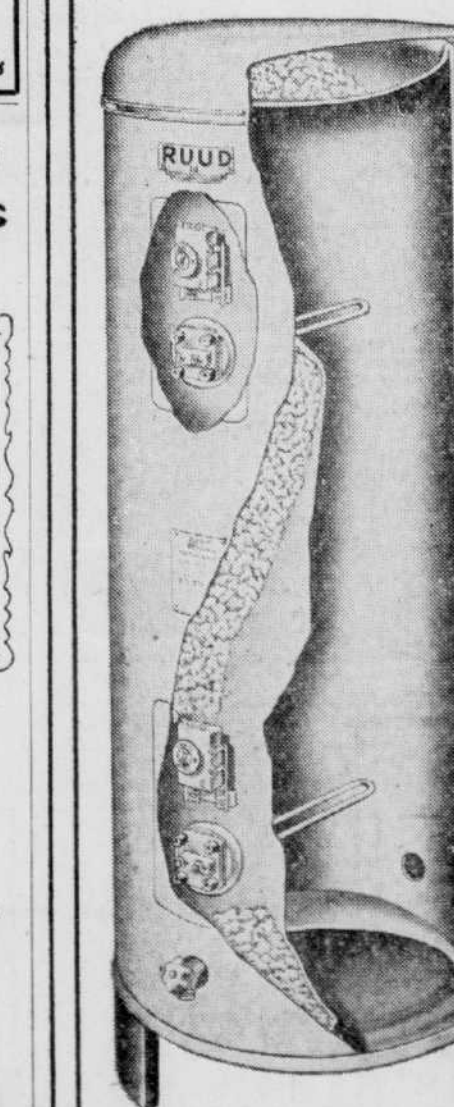

ELAINE MARTHA, seven-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Cooper, of Ayer's Cliff, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cooper, of Boynton and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bliss, of Stanstead, and great-granddaughter of Mr. A. B. Sargent, of Rock Island.

Canon Dunn gave a vote of thanks to the wardens, officers of all organizations and to all Church workers. In his survey of the work done during the year, he stated that in November there had been a successful financial campaign under the Quebec Anglican Advance, and that this would be followed in Lent by a campaign of evangelism and spiritual advance. There was need for strengthening the work of the Sunday School and for improvement in number in the teaching staff; there is need for a better system in caring for the rectory building.

Stanbridge East Thieves Steal Cash, Cigarets

Stanbridge East — (Special) — Thieves who apparently made a quick exit and forgot their tools in leaving, broke into the IGA store here last night and escaped with cash and cigarettes valued at almost $1500.

The robbery was discovered this morning when employees of the store, owned by T. Loisel, arrived for work. It is believed to have occurred between midnight and six this morning.

Apparently familiar with the building the thieves bypassed all the burglar-alarm wired windows and cut their way through a back wall of the wooden structure.

Tipping the safe over, they smashed in the back with a sledge hammer and axe, which they left behind, and made off with between $800 and $1000 cash. A shipment of cigarettes had been received in the store yesterday and about $500 worth were taken along with the money.

Provincial Police are investigating.

Mount Orford skiers learn the intricacies of the snow plow turn as Dow-Kingsbeer instructors conduct a ski school on the mountain run. The schools are held at different slopes every weekend and instruction is free. As well as increasing the popularity of the sport instruction is also a safety measure as it helps beginners to avoid injuries by teaching them the difference between the right way and the wrong way.

Skiing Increasingly Popular With Teenagers; Hillcrest, Mt. Orford Offer Fine Facilities

Mount Orford skiers will be the first in the Eastern Townships to benefit by a fully-trained, recognized ski patrol which started patrolling the Orford runs this winter.

Known as the Mount Orford Ski Patrol for the Quebec Division, it is the first branch of the Canadian Ski Patrol system to be organized in this district and provides a group of 12 top notch skiers, all equipped with first aid equipment and trained in its use, to look after injuries which may occur on the slopes.

Skiing is becoming an increasingly popular sport with teenagers, and schools have put it on their curriculum of competitive inter-school activities. Each year an inter-scholastic ski meet is held at Hillcrest and for older and more advanced skiers, Eastern Townships open meets are also held at Hillcrest.

For the benefit of the thousands of beginners who swarm to local resorts and up north every weekend here are a few useful "dos" and "don'ts" which may help avoid unnecessary accidents:

Do let your presence be known to other skiers near you on the slopes by the familiar shout, "track."

Do allow yourself ample space for turns.

Do learn the proper method of gripping the tow.

And, most important of all, do buy the proper equipment. Heading this list are boots which experts say are the most important part of your skiing equipment. Harness comes next and a safety cable harness is the best type as it will give under stress and prevent broken ankles. Poles should be the proper length. If too long they get tangled, if too short they throw the skier off balance. Clothing should be streamlined. No fashionable sleeves or decorations which might catch in something.

Now for the don'ts.

Don't try the high slopes unless you're experienced.

Don't be overconfident and try feats that "look" easy when executed by experienced skiers.

Don't turn into the path of another skier.

Don't try to stop amidst a crowd.

Don't grasp the tow too close to the person in front of you.

Skiing has been termed a dangerous sport. It isn't if you follow the rules.

Poma-Lift Starts Hillcrest Operation This Week-End

Eastern Townships skiers no longer need to leave the picturesque hills of their surroundings to enjoy what is rapidly becoming Canada's most popular winter sport.

You may not be able to ski in your back yard, but within a few miles of your community the best of hills, chalets, and skiing facilities await you whether you be the effortless skier who takes perpendicular drops with ease or the timid type who is content to stick to the gentler slopes.

Hillcrest draws many of Sherbrooke's skiing enthusiasts and is the second resort in Canada to install the French-designed ski tow known as the Poma-lift. The skier straddles a moveable seat holding on to a perpendicular pole in mounting the hill the Poma-lift. It eliminates the danger of other types of lifts and tows as each seat can be handled individually and won't start up the cable until the attendant releases it. Hence there is no danger of falling while trying to grasp a moving tow or bar.

The Poma-lift is manufactured in France. Parts of it arrived at Hillcrest several months ago, however the final pieces did not get here until last week and the lift will officially start running this weekend.

Last year's crisp wintry weather which sent young and old routing out the old hickories, was a boon to struggling winter resorts in the district. This year, in the wake of last year's prosperity, these resorts have expanded, polished, redecorated, modernized and become licensed in order to provide weekends of fun starting on the morning slopes and ending on notes of gaiety in the evening.

Among the popular winter hotels which are drawing more and more skiing enthusiasts both from the Townships and from cosmopolitan Montreal and other Quebec communities, are Pleasant View, Connaught Inn, Brae Manor and Hovey Manor in North Hatley, and Beau Site, Manoir Orford, Chateau du Lac, and Lantern Inn around Magog. Hillcrest, the Manoir Orford, and the Lantern Inn all have their own runs and tows, while the other resorts provide transportation to and from the slopes.

Skiing in the Eastern Townships is not confined to the Sherbrooke area. Clubs have been organized on Sutton and Shefford Mountains and ski tows have been built at these runs.

Workmen near completion on the erection of Hillcrest's new "Pomagalski" ski-lift which is to start running this weekend. The French-designed lift will have over a mile of rope and has a capacity of carrying 700 people an hour.

Windsor Edges Magog 4-3 While Waterloo Holds Asbestos To 4-4 Tie; Maroons Here Tomorrow Night

Upsets seemed to be the main item last night in the Massawippi Valley Hockey League as the underdogs in the circuit knocked over the top boys. Windsor Paper Makers edged out Magog Aces 4-3 in a close tilt while the unpredictable Maroons of Waterloo held the league leading Meteors of Asbestos to a 4-4 stalemate.

No games are listed this evening in the Mac Wilson loop but tomorrow night two tilts are booked. Waterloo Maroons will tangle with the Murphy clan at the Arena while Windsor travels to Asbestos.

The Paper Makers were forced to come from behind in the third period to earn their win. G. Goyette sent the Aces out in front in the opening period with Cloutier sitting out a cross-checking penalty and Houde was in the sinbin for boarding when Cotterell made it 2-0 for the visitors.

Cloutier teamed up with Bachand and Spendar to register Windsor's first marker to complete the scoring in the first. Seven penalties were handed down, two of them being doubles. In the middle session it was another repeat with nine infractions being called. Each team battled once with Godhuc and Lapierre the marksmen.

In the final frame the teams went all out but Windsor made the most of their opportunities when Houde notched the equalizer and then Guillemette potted the winner. L'Heureux and Theriault followed each other off but the Paper Makers just could not do anything about it.

At Waterloo it was another battle right to the wire. The Meteors opened the scoring but the Maroons rallied to even the count 2-2 at the end of the first frame. In the second it finished in the second draw with each club getting one goal. In the third they came up with another even basis.

Pelletier tallied but Smith evened the count and then Champagne put the Meteors out in front again. Brodeur squared it off again. In the second it was another repeat but this time Waterloo broke the tie when Bazez scored but Tessier balanced it off again as the frame finished 3-3.

In the third stanza Pelletier potted his second goal of the evening to send the Meteors out in front but Smith did likewise, getting his second, and the score was tied for the third time. In the overtime they failed to break the deadlock and each club picked up a point for their work.

Finals For Seven International Bonsel Trophies Begin Tonight; Only One Rink Still Undeclared

Quebec — (P) — The winners of seven of the 15 trophies at stake in the 43rd Quebec International Bonsel, in which 600-odd Canadian and American curlers from a record 128 clubs are competing, will be decided tonight.

Finals in those events are scheduled to begin at 9 p.m. A.S.T. Meanwhile, competition for the main prize in the week-long bonsel, the Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy, has reached the quarter-finals stage with five Quebec City rinks, the sole Saskatchewan entry, a Maritime rink and one from Ontario surviving.

Thursday night's program saw the semi-finals in three of the main contests decided. At stake were the Chateau and Omega International Trophies and the Francois Jobin Gold Cup. These competitions are important at every Quebec international because only rinks that reach the quarter-finals in the events are eligible for the Governor-General's prize, emblematic of the bonsel championship.

Matched in today's Lieutenant-Governor's quarter-finals are:

Gaston Amyot's Quebec Jacques Cartier rink, last year's champion, against Ed Richter's Regina Caledonians; Dr. R. M. Pendergast's foursome from the Carleton Club of Saint John, N.B., and Robert Monast's Quebec Winter Club entry; Rudolph Huot's Quebec Jacques Cartier rink and Yvon Tasse's Quebec Winter Club team, and C. W. Cassels' Hamilton Thistle rink and A. F. Muth's Quebec Victoria aggregate.

Huot's foursome, with seven victories so far and four more games to play, is the only unbeaten rink in the bonsel and leading contender for the grand aggregate award.

Matched in the Omega final are Nazaire Lemelin's rink from the Quebec Etchemin Club, last year's winners of the Chateau Trophy, and Huot's Jacques Cartier rink.

In the semi-finals, Huot's team defeated Herb Hatch's Quebec Victoria rink 13-4 while Lemelin downed E. D. Woodcock's Hamilton Thistle curlers 9-4.

C. T. Bastedo's Hamilton Thistle rink and B. Delany's Quebec Curling Club team will compete for the Chateau Trophy.

The Quebecers gained the final by defeating R. Metcalf's Toronto Royal Canadian team 8-7 while the Hamilton team posted a 9-6 victory over Charlie McElduff's Bathurst, N.B., rink last year's winner of the Omega Trophy.

The Regina Caledonian rink, skipped by Ed Richter, made the Francois Jobin final. It will play against Yvon Tasse's rink from the Quebec Winter Club.

In the semi-finals, Regina defeated C. W. Cassels' Hamilton Thistle rink 9-6 and Tasse's team defeated M. D. Earle's St. Andrew's Club from Saint John, N.B., 9-8.

Shawinigan Wins Over Quebec 6-2

Shawinigan Falls, Que. — (P) — Shawinigan Falls Cataracts continued their march toward the Quebec Hockey League championship Thursday night with an easy 6-2 victory over Quebec Aces.

The scoring was split among six players, with Dick Bouchard, George Faulkner, Gilles Dube, Erwin Grosse, Albert Langlois and Len Thomson each getting one goal.

Gene Achtymichuk figured in both Quebec goals, scoring one in the first period and assisting on a counter by Orval Tessier in the third.

Royals Defeat Chicoutimi 4-1

Montreal — (P) — Montreal Royals struck for unanswered goals in each of the first two periods and then coasted to a 4-1 win over third-place Chicoutimi Saguenays in a Quebec Hockey League fixture before 2,811 fans Thursday night.

The victory moved the Royals 11 points up on the Chicks, who have three games in hand, but failed to draw them nearer to high-flying Shawinigan Falls who defeated Quebec Aces 6-2.

Russians Praise American Win

Moscow — (P) — Two American hockey sticks Thursday evoked the warmest comments from the Soviet press about the United States since the days of the Second World War. But even this warmth couldn't thaw out Russian confusion about American names.

Trud, Komsomol Pravda, Soviet Sport and Pravda all had high praise for the U.S. hockey victory over Canada at the winter Olympics and particularly the American goalie "Rigazio" and forward "Meiasich."

The American goalie was Willard Iola of Eveleth, Minn., while Johnny Meiasich of Eveleth scored three goals in the 4-1 U.S. victory. Donald Rigazio, American sub goalie from Cambridge, Mass., didn't play.

Komsomol Pravda praised the American tactics, which it said were more varied, and the work of "Meiasich" and "Rigazio." Pravda said: "The American hockey team proved worthy adversaries. Their solid defense and sharp counter-attacks offset the dashing sallies of the Canadians."

Tenley Albright

Plucky Tenley Albright Cops Olympic Figure Skating Crown; Canada's Carole Pachl Is Sixth

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
CORTINA d'AMPEZZO, Italy — (CP) — Plucky Tenley Albright, refusing to let up despite an intense pain in her injured right ankle, whirled through a brilliant free-skating exhibition Thursday to win the Olympic figure-skating championship.

The 20-year-old skater from Newton Center, Mass., edged Carole Pachl, 16, of Ozone Park, N.Y., by 1 1/2 points in the bitterly-contested free skating as she added the Olympic title to her Canadian champion from Montreal.

Carole Jane Pachl, 17-year-old Canadian champion from Montreal put together a beautiful program to finish sixth in the field of 21.

Ann Johnston, 19, of Toronto, with a somewhat more conservative performance, took ninth place, slipping two notches from the seventh spot she held after the school figures earlier this week.

There was some apparent ill-feeling between Tenley and Miss Heiss during the competition and immediately after completing her exhibition, Carole avoided photographers' attempts to get her to pose for pictures with Miss Albright. She relented later, however, and finally agreed to pose briefly.

Her coach, French-born Marcel Brunet, was displeased with the outcome. "The judging was unfair," he said.

The courageous Miss Albright, who had infantile paralysis as a child but fought back to become the queen of figure skaters, admitted that her ankle was throbbing all through the competition.

"It is all over now and I can say that my leg has not stopped hurting once since I cut it two weeks ago," she said.

Miss Albright, who gashed her ankle in practice Jan. 19, turned it at the start of her free-skating performance Thursday but kept on skating superbly.

Tenley became the first American to win the Olympic women's title, succeeding Jeanette Altwegg of Britain who won at Oslo in 1952 and following in the footsteps of such greats as Canada's Barbara Ann Scott, 1948 winner, and Norway's Sonja Henie.

Rollins Floored Twice But Returns After 11-Stitch Job And Hawks Tie Bruins; Canadiens Blank Red Wings

It's spelled g-u-d-s. It's the particular brand of courage Al Rollins had Thursday night.

Rollins refused to leave a National Hockey League game although he was twice struck on the head with a puck, was knocked unconscious, suffered a mild concussion and needed 11 stitches to close bloody wounds.

When he wasn't getting first aid, the 29-year-old goaltender was performing for Chicago Black Hawks. He was so good that Hawks were able to salvage a 2-2 against Boston Bruins.

While the doctor at Boston Garden was kept on the run looking after Big Al, Montreal Canadiens claimed their first victory in 13 starts in Detroit ice with a 2-0 shutout over the third-place Red Wings. The win lengthened Canadiens' league lead to 13 points over the second-place New York Rangers.

Rollins was amazing. He ignored a doctor's advice to retire for the night and stuck to his post, showing no ill effects from being knocked.

Don Jordan Whips Paddy DeMarco
Los Angeles — (P) — Don Jordan, 139, Los Angeles, cut down the favored Paddy DeMarco, 140 1/2, Brooklyn, with a technical knockout at 1:45 of the fifth round Thursday night at Olympic Auditorium. The former world lightweight champion was floored twice and suffered a broken jaw. In the fifth, DeMarco went down for a one-count from a smashing one-two combination by Jordan. California's state lightweight champion was floored again with a stiff left-right and DeMarco went to his knees and crawled toward his corner.

Trainer Joe Buonoconc took out DeMarco's mouthpiece and the former champ stood up and raised his arms, as if to apologize. Jordan stepped in with another right to the jaw and referee Tommy Hart called a halt.

The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Swiss Driver Sets Record

Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy — (P) — Max Angst piloted Switzerland's No. 2 sled into the lead in the four-man Olympic bobsled championships today with a record run down the dangerous, ice-coated Mt. Tofano chute.

The record of 1:18.18 was broken four times in the first heat of the four-heat championship as the sleds hurtled down the icy slide and rocketed off the walls at more than 70 miles an hour in some stretches.

Angst was timed in 1:17.41 as he bettered the 1:17.75 performance of the No. 1 U.S. sled, piloted by Art Tyler, 40-year-old Rochester, N.Y., physicist. First to crack the record in the 11-degree temperature was the No. 2 Swiss sled, driven by veteran Franz Kapus. He was timed in 1:18. Italy's Eugenio Monti, winner of the two-man title, was second in 1:17.69.

Two runs will be made today and two Saturday. Total time for the four heats will decide the championship.

Salkeld Downs Buddy McDonald

Vancouver — (P) — Johnny Salkeld of Calgary outboxed Buddy McDonald of Edmonton Thursday night to win the Pacific northwest welterweight boxing title by a unanimous 12-round decision. Salkeld weighed 143 1/2 and McDonald 146 1/2.

The judges scored the bout 58-53 and 60-50 for Salkeld and the referee 60-53.

Frances Dafeo And Norris Bowden Are Listed Favorites To Repeat; Carole Pachl Picks Up A Point

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
CORTINA d'AMPEZZO, Italy — (CP) — Modest in its ambitions and satisfied with small successes during the first eight days of the winter Olympics, Canada's team today confidently set its sights on a gold medal.

Frances Dafeo and Norris Bowden of Toronto, the defending world champions, went after the figure-skating pairs title. And they were generally agreed to be the favorites.

With another Toronto pair, Barbara Wagner and Bob Paul entered in the event, the Canadians hoped for their first big point cleanup of the Games.

Also in the fight for an Olympic title but at somewhat longer odds, Canada's Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen beat Sweden 6-2 in an effort to catch the unbeaten United States and Russian hockey teams, two points ahead of them.

Canada had no entry in the four-man bobsled competition, which began its two-day run with Italy favored to repeat its victory in the two-man event.

Canadian figure-skating champion Carole Jane Pachl of Montreal broke skier Lucille Wheeler's monopoly on Canadian point-scoring Thursday by finishing sixth in the women's singles competition.

While world champion Tenley Albright of Newton Center, Mass., took the title despite the pain of an injured ankle, the 17-year-old Canadian girl finished Thursday's free-skating in the same position she held on completion of the compulsory figures earlier in the week.

Toronto's Ann Johnston was the victim of a brilliant free-skating performance by Catherine Machado of Fresno, Calif., and Hanneli Walter of Austria, who passed her in the standings, moving her down to ninth place from the seventh position she held after the school figures.

Twenty-eight-year old Clarence Servold of Camrose, Alta., who entered the event only as an "experiments," finished 22nd in a field of 39 in three hours, 21 minutes and 50 seconds, the fastest recorded time for a North American skier in the 50-kilometre cross-country, won by Sweden's Sixten Jernberg. The winner's time was two hours, 50 minutes and 27 seconds.

Canada's Kitchener-Waterloo Keep Themselves In Running For Olympic Title By Downing Stubborn Swedes

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy — (P) — Canada's Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen kept themselves in the hunt for the Olympic hockey title today by downing a stubborn Swedish national team 6-2.

Then the Canadians waited for the outcome of the crucial Russian-United States game tonight. They found themselves in the strange position of rooting for a Russian victory, necessary to keep the Dutchmen in contention.

If Russia defeats the Americans, the Canadians will have a chance to beat the Russians themselves in the final game of the tournament Saturday night. This would result in a three-way tie—assuming the U.S. beats Czechoslovakia Saturday — and the Olympic title then would be decided on goal averages.

Canada, which now has a 3-1 record, improved its goal average against Sweden. It stands at 2.56. However, both the Americans, with 4.25 and a 3-0 win-loss record, and the Russians, also undefeated, with 3.80, lead Canada in the goal-average department.

The Dutchmen, touted as the best team Canada had sent overseas since the 1920s, looked anything but champions against the Swedes.

Apparently over-anxious, the Canadians passed badly and on several occasions were well wide of the net from close range. Two glaring Canadian defensive lapses set the stage for both Swedish goals.

The Canucks also had some tough luck, hitting the posts five times.

Big Jack McKenzie, Dutchies' captain, led the Canadians with two goals. Jim Logan, Don Rope, George Scholes and defenceman Floyd Martin got one each.

Sports Greats Talk Over Old Times At Dinner Which Raises $20,000 For Crippled Kids In Annual Feature

Toronto — (P) — Moments of glory were relived Thursday night by sports greats of past and present.

Stars of bygone years, like hockey's Lester Patrick, and others just reaching sports fame swapped yarns at a $25-a-plate dinner to raise funds for Ontario's crippled children.

They talked so that kids might walk. A sell-out gathering of more than 800 persons packed a downtown hotel banquet hall for the event, sponsored by the Ontario Sports Writers and Sports-casters Association.

About $20,000, including donations, was raised. The dinner started the annual Easter seals campaign across the country.

At the head table with the 17 celebrities was a 12-year-old boy who needs canes and braces to walk. He was Chris Martin of nearby Markham, Timmy of 1956. Timmy is the symbol of Canada's crippled children.

The sports stars were many. Patrick recalled the early days of hockey in the late 1890s.

His sons—Lynn, general manager of Boston Bruins, and Muzz, general manager of New York Rangers—provided the yackety-yack of the present-day.

Then there were Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn Dodgers, horse racing's Frankie Merrill of Toronto, tennis star Jack Kramer, golf's Al Balding of Toronto and swimmer Cliff Lumsdon of Toronto.

Since the celebrities' dinner was started five years ago, the association has raised nearly $111,000 for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Thursday night an anonymous donor gave $4,000 and the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association contributed $1,500.

The man who provided most of the laughs was Paul (Dizzy) Trout, former Detroit Tigers pitcher. He came up with some rollicking tales. Robinson, on the other hand, spoke in a serious, grateful vein and said that "being a part of this affair has made my life richer."

One of the highlights was the introduction of a song called "Timmy." It was composed by New York screen writer Sid Silvers. Silvers said he will donate any Canadian royalties of the song to the society for crippled children.

Barbara Wagner Is Just A Tourist At Heart, Says Coach Galbraith; Not Interested In Winning Medal

By KEN METHERAL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy — A little bundle of energy from Toronto, who doesn't want to win a gold medal this year, is proving one of Canada's top good-will ambassadors at the seventh winter Olympics.

Barbara Aileen Wagner, who is just one inch over five feet, takes to the ice at Cortina's plush stadium today with her partner Bob Paul, also of Toronto, to compete for the pairs figure-skating title.

A win by the 17-year-old blonde and her six-foot partner would be popular with this Olympic village's Italian population, who call the Canadian "Little Mees Canada." But Barbara and Bob are aiming for second or third place, not first.

They want to see another Toronto couple—Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden—crowned Olympic champions. The Dafoe-Bowden team, holder of the world pairs title for the last two years, is the favorite.

"Franny and Norrie are retiring at the end of the year and it will be a shame if they don't win," says Barbara.

It has been Barbara's off-ice activities that have won the hearts of the Italians.

"Barbara is just a tourist at heart," says her coach Sheldon Galbraith of Toronto. "She seems to be on friendly terms with just about everyone here and knows more about the village than some of the inhabitants."

Speaking of a "pretty awful mixture" of Italian and English, Barbara discusses the day's headlines with newsboys, bargains for a new article of clothing with a shop assistant, or talks about the history of this Alpine resort with the town clerk.

In her two weeks in Cortina the Toronto miss visited the town hall, churches, historical sites and the modern Codivilla hospital.

"It is a wonderful place," says Barbara. "I wouldn't mind living here."

HOCKEY'S BIG SEVEN
Jean Beliveau and Maurice Richard, Montreal's two sharpshooters, picked up a goal apiece Thursday to gain ground in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Beliveau became the first player to score 30 goals this season and advanced to within a point of Gordie Howe of Detroit for the league scoring lead. Howe has 57 points.

Richard's goal gave him 27 for the season. He took over undisputed possession of third place in the standings with 51 points, one more than Andy Bathgate of New York.

Bert Olmstead boosted his league-leading assists total to 39. He has 48 points and holds sixth place.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts.
Howe, Detroit	28	29	57
Beliveau, Montreal	30	26	56

OLYMPIC NOTES

By STAN SWINTON

Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy — (AP) — U.S. Olympic hockey players carry more than determination into their crucial game against Russia tonight.

A Roman Catholic priest "adopted" by the Americans will be praying for their success.

The priest — Rev. Schwab of Chicago — was spotted by a group of curious Russians outside the American's dressing room Thursday night following the Yanks' 6-1 victory over Sweden.

One of the Russians asked Father Schwab: "Do you think it helps them?"

The priest grinned and replied, "Well, they've defeated Canada and Sweden since I came here — but I don't claim I'm the reason."

Sir Arnold Lunn, father of the slalom, says the Olympics are "part of the cold war to the Russians."

"I live in the same hotel as the Russians and they have sports posters all around," he said. "They spend a lot of money to make a good showing in the Games. Our boys are holiday skiers like yours in America."

Lunn, a Briton, came up with the idea of making the slalom a competitive ski event in 1922.

"The Norwegians had something they called a slalom," he recalled. "It was a downhill event with judges giving you points on form — not a race."

"We suggested flags and turns and making it a race. It was a hard fight and took eight years before the International Ski Federation made slalom an event."

Carol Heiss, the schoolgirl from Ozone Park, N.Y., didn't quite match the performance of Tenley Albright in the figure skating championships. But she did bring back memories of Sonja Henie.

Carol, with much the same build as Miss Henie, five-foot-two and slender, leaped, whirled and twirled to the cheers of the spectators, some of whom had seen the blonde Norwegian perform in the Olympics 20 years ago.

HUNTINGVILLE
Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Carr returned from Montreal on Friday, Mr. Carr leaving for Fredericton on Sunday.

Mrs. C. H. Hunting and Mrs. Sydney Carr went to Montreal to accompany home little Brian Carr, who has been a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital for the past week.

Miss Ruth Evans, of the MacDonald High School staff was a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Wark and children were recent guests at the home of Mrs. Wark's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Dustin in Cowansville.

RETAINS SKINNER-NADEAU TROPHY — Ron Fortier, of the local firm, is seen presenting the trophy to captain Blair Whittemore of Bishop's following the hockey game between Bishop's and University of Sherbrooke played last night. Bishop's won the tilt 6-2 and retained possession of the trophy.

Bishop's University Gaitors Down University Of Sherbrooke 6-2 To Retain Nadeau-Skinner Trophy

Bishop's University Gaitors picked a good time for their first win of the year. Last night they blasted the University of Sherbrooke 6-2 in the annual contest between the two clubs for the Skinner-Nadeau trophy.

For the 2,000 fans present the game provided more than its share of thrills. It was a closely fought duel until the final period when Bishop's counted three of their markers.

The game was part of Bishop's University's mammoth "Icearama", a night at the Arena which included an ice show featuring many of Sherbrooke's top skaters, including Dick Nutter, a broomball competition between the students' councils of both Universities and the crowning of Bishop's first Carnival Queen, pretty brown-eyed Denise Narizano.

His Worship Mayor Lee Watson of Lennoxville got the game officially under way by dropping the puck for the opening face off.

Bishop's drew first blood at 1:56 of the first period when Stu Clarke took a pass from Blair Whittemore and fooled goalie Richard Fabi in the Sherbrooke nets. The U. of S. team tied the score at 4:26 with Laval Rondeau the marksman, assisted by Louis Page.

The Sherbrooke team went ahead a minute later when Gilles Desrosiers took a pass from Richard Gagne and drove the puck into the upper corner of the Bishop's nets past the prostrate form of the Gaitors goalie, Stan Alexander. Fifteen seconds later Lou Abbott hooked up on a neat passing play with linemates Hinich and Jolly to knot the count 2-2. This ended the scoring for the first period. Referee Bob Bedard called four penalties but none of them figured in the scoring.

In the second period there was only one goal scored. Midway through the frame Brad Mitchell picked up his own rebound to put the Gaitors in the lead 3-2.

The final period provided the most excitement. Big Duke Hinich gave Bishop's their insurance tally at 3:30 when he banged the puck in the open side of the University of Sherbrooke net. With the score 4-2 both teams began to lay on the weight. Bob Bedard kept the game firmly in hand until 17:30 when a fight between John Matthews of Bishop's and Bob Hamel threatened to break into a team free-for-all. Players on both squads milled about with gloves off and sticks waving menacingly but order was quickly restored and the debris which had been thrown on the ice by irate fans was cleared away.

The Gaitors sewed up the contest in the final two minutes when Dexter Jolly blasted in two quick goals, the first at 18:40 and the second at 19:30, both on passes from Hinich.

The individual stars of the evening were Duke Hinich of Bishop's with one goal and three assists, and goalie Richard Fabi of the U. of S. Fabi was sensational at times and except for his lapse in the dying minutes he kept the Gaitors off the score sheet on numerous occasions.

The game was a rough one with 16 penalties including two majors. However Bob Bedard, in spite of the handicap of having to referee alone, kept the game under firm control.

Following the final siren, Mr. R. Fortier, representing Skinner-Nadeau presented Bishop's captain Blair Whittemore with the Skinner-Nadeau trophy, which the two teams compete for annually.

Lionel Hebert Leads Phoenix

Phoenix, Ariz.—(AP)—The golfing Hebert brothers, Lionel and Jay, are something of a mystery to their professional brethren.

Both are exceptionally fine players, with picture form and competitive instincts, but neither has won a major tournament.

Well, today Lionel stood atop the heap as the field of 150 or so players entered the second round of the $15,000 Phoenix Open.

The husky Lionel put together a 35-33-68 round Thursday, the best of only nine scores under par. Jay was one over par at 72.

Such professionals as Cary Middlecott 72, two-time winners Jimmy Demaret, 73, and Lloyd Mangrum, 74, 1955 winner Gene Littler, 74, and U.S. Open champ Jack Fleck, 79 were taking a backseat. But the tournament picture was still uncertain.

Ten players were within three strokes of the leader. Most of them were darkhorses, while a scattering, such as Bo Wininger at 69, Jack Burke and the non-related Palmers, Johnny and Arnold, at 70, could be regarded as definite threats.

Bob Wylie of Calgary and Stan Leonard of Vancouver each scored 72 and were tied with 11 others in fifth place.

Other scores included: Murray Tucker, Toronto, 38-36-74; Rudy Horvath, Windsor, Ont., 37-38-75; Jack Kay, Montreal, 39-38-77; Jerry Kesselring, Kitchener, Ont., 40-40-80; and Bob Loftus, Calgary, 38-42-80.

Canada's Andre Bertrand came to grief on the downhill run with a fall, as did several of the other 85 competitors from 27 countries. But the Quebec City skier picked himself up and finished with a time of 3:31.2.

Roland Blaes of Switzerland finished second with a time of 2:55.7 and Austria's Andreas Molterer was third with 2:56.3.

In fourth place was another Swiss, Roger Staub, who came down the run in 2:57.1. Fifth

Austria's Tony Sailer Makes Clean Sweep Of Men's Downhill Skiing; Wins His Third Olympic Gold Medal

Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy. — (AP) — Austria's daring Toni Sailer completed an unprecedented Olympic skiing triple today by capturing the downhill championship with a dazzling descent of treacherous Mount Tofana's ice-crusted course in two minutes, 52.2 seconds.

He had won the special slalom and giant slalom gold medals earlier with spectacular performances.

"This is the event I like best," he said before he made his dash down the 3,461-metre (one mile, 1,020 yards) strip which drops sharply through 986 yards. This event is a straight downhill drop, with no gates to ski through as in the slaloms.

"I don't have to brake in the downhill," said the handsome, six-foot, 21-year-old plumber. And he didn't as he brought roars from the packed crowds with his brilliant, almost reckless dash. The course was icy and the weather was bitter cold — three below zero.

"I'm glad this one is over," said Toni. "It was the toughest of all races here."

Canada's Andre Bertrand came to grief on the downhill run with a fall, as did several of the other 85 competitors from 27 countries. But the Quebec City skier picked himself up and finished with a time of 3:31.2.

Roland Blaes of Switzerland finished second with a time of 2:55.7 and Austria's Andreas Molterer was third with 2:56.3.

In fourth place was another Swiss, Roger Staub, who came down the run in 2:57.1. Fifth was Germany's Hansper Lanig with 2:58.8, Italy's Gino Burini, was sixth in 3:00.2.

The United States made a disappointing showing: Ralph Miller of Hanover, N.H., and Marvin Melville of Salt Lake City were among the many who fell and were out of it. Wallace (Bud) Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., was well back in 3:05.8.

Never before in Olympic history have the three men's downhill events been won by a single man. Only once before was there a triple winner in skiing — in 1924, when Thoralf Haug of Norway won the 18-kilometre and 50-kilometre cross-country and the nordic combination of jumping and cross-country.

Reports Presented At St. Stephen's Vestry Meeting At Coaticook

Coaticook — The annual vestry meeting of St. Stephen's Anglican Church, was held in the Guild Hall and attended by some 30 members of the congregation. The meeting was presided over by Rev. Nevil Tucker, who opened the meeting with a prayer. Mr. Wilfrid Lepitre was unanimously elected vestry clerk.

The wardens report was given by Mr. Roland Racicot on behalf of himself and Mr. J. C. Barron. The treasurer, Mr. C. W. Adams, gave the report on the financial status of the church and recommended that a vote of thanks be extended to members of the select vestry for their renewed efforts to raise the subscriptions of the congregation.

The election of officers resulted as follows, rectors warden, appointed by Rev. Tucker, J. C. Barron, the people's warden, Roland Racicot; treasurer, C. W. Adams; auditors, J. K. Goodfellow and A. N. Fraser; envelop steward, G. A. Sarasin; clerk of the vestry, Wilfrid Lepitre.

Following the reports of the various committees and organizations, the rector expressed his thanks to each representative and wished the organizations continued success.

Mr. Tucker reported that a total of 201 services were held in the church of which, 90 were celebrations of the Holy Communion. There was a total of 1392 communicants which was an increase of 392 over the previous year. St. Stephens suffered losses by death of six of their members. During this same period, six new members were welcomed into the congregation. Eight children were received into the church by baptism and sixteen members of the congregation were confirmed.

His Grace confirmed thirteen members in May and in September he ordained Louis Elias to the Priesthood. Matins was conducted by the children and a layman's service was held at which time the guest speaker was Dr. J. D. Jeffers. The Massons were welcomed to the church for their annual church parade.

There are 72 families and 39 individuals registered on the roll, a total of 261 members, of which 77 are children under the age of sixteen.

MISSION CIRCLE

The Mission Circle of the Coaticook Baptist Church met with Mrs. W. A. White at the parsonage. There was a good attendance and plans were made for coming activities. The president, Mrs. C. Drew, opened the meeting and readings were given by several members, followed by a prayer by Mrs. White.

The Circle members raised a substantial amount for the missionary effort during the past year and hopes are held for an even greater effort this year.

The topic, "India," was given by Mrs. Ernest Parker in an account embracing both the work done by missionaries years ago and the present day methods with the help of their Indian colleagues.

A pleasant social hour followed and refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Drew and others.

YOUTH SERVICE

A Youth Parade service was held at the Coaticook United Church with members of the C.G.I.T. TYRO group, Brownies, Mission Band and Sunday School taking part. The service opened by the processional with all the youth groups taking part and the dedication of the flag, which was carried in by Robert Beerworth.

Special hymns used were, "Lord of the Lands," "When Morning Glories the Skies," "Onward Christian Soldiers," and "Take My Life and Let It Be."

The service was led by Rev. Frank Cant, who delivered a message directed to the boys and girls on the subject, "On Offering What I Have." The choir, under the direction of Robert McAlpine, rendered the anthem, "Be Joyful in the Lord." The first lesson was read by Shirley Williams of the C.G.I.T. group and the second by Donald Patenaude of the TYRO group. The girls sang their C.G.I.T. hymn with Mrs. P. Brunet at the organ, and the boys recited together the TYRO prayer. The Brownie prayer was read by Wendy Potter and the service closed with the singing of the Queen.

Richmond W. A. Sponsors Variety Show, Concert

Organized by the Woman's Association of the Richmond and Melbourne United Church, a most enjoyable variety show and concert was staged in the Church Hall.

A large and enthusiastic audience showed their interest and appreciation of the entertainment by their hearty applause and their laughter at the comedy skits. Presented by the various church groups, the songs, music and plays won favorable comment and the performers were congratulated for their fine work.

The singing of "O Canada" and a short address by the Rev. J. Leslie Dean opened the concert. Mr. Dean mentioned that the aim of the entertainment was to bring the members of the congregation together and he took the opportunity to welcome them. The proceeds of the concert, he said, would be used to assist in financing the purchase of the new electric organ.

It is difficult to single out items meriting special attention, where all were good. The department and singing of the C.G.I.T. girls, in uniform, as some 20 of them formed a circle around a camp fire, was particularly pleasing. Good lighting effects added to the reality of the scene.

Mr. Dean, in his monologue "How the Family Man Puts up with it," evoked laughter and applause as incidents in Jerome K. Jerome's "Three Men in a Boat" were related. A quiz show "Who Am I," conducted by Miss E. McCourt and Mrs. F. Fanjoy was participated in by the audience who had no difficulty in penetrating the disguise of the two ladies.

An item "Beauty Shoppe Quartette" contributed by Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. Healey and Miss Pope, members of the Marjorie Group, was enjoyed and was followed with an amusing skit, "Bargain Cure" by members of the Melbourne Group.

Freddie Gagnon treated the audience to some violin music. Instrumental music was also contributed by Gordon Irwin, Malcolm Knowles and Mrs. B. Roberts.

A skit which evoked much laughter was performed by Mr. Claire Horne and Helen Armstrong. Claire Horne represented a lawyer and proceeded to write details of a will which the elderly lady wished prepared. The last $1,000 of a large sum was to be paid in return for a little love making. The lawyer was so good that he earned the $1,000, plus $25,000 intended for the Y.W.C.A.

A minuet dance by a group from the staff of the Wales Home was well received, as was a skit by Claire Horne and Donald Chamberlain, of the Young People's Union. The Ruby and Emerald Groups staged a make-believe sitting of the Richmond Town Council, which brought forth repeated applause.

The closing items of a very enjoyable concert were songs by the choir and the singing of God Save the Queen.

Club Magazine Is Described At Boundary Rotary

Rock Island. — "The editorial staff of 'The Rotarian' sift and winnow all the material that comes in, and each month gives the readers a symposium of the best that is available," said Earl Heath, in the course of a talk about the magazine at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary, held at the Del Monty Hotel.

The first issue of the magazine had a circulation of 5,000 copies when it was published in January, 1911, according to the speaker, and has a circulation now of 350,000 copies per month, plus 39,500 copies of the Spanish edition, "Revista Rotaria."

"Many times when the news of the day is depressing, it is a real pleasure to pick up 'The Rotarian' and to find that someone somewhere has done a little something to increase the amount of good will and understanding that seems to be in such short supply," said Mr. Heath, and stated that the magazine was available at the local library, and urged the club and the members to help increase the number of readers through loans and gifts of copies.

The speaker was introduced by Roland Roy and thanked for his talk by Fred Gilman, George Benware, Jr., of Newport, was present as a visiting Rotarian. Miss Aline Ricard played the music for the singing, which was led by C. R. MacLean. President Beverly Haselton presided at the meeting.
