

$10 Million Announce Forestry Research

MONTREAL (CP)—Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton said Tuesday the federal government's new forestry department will spend $10,000,000 a year on basic research.

He made the statement in a panel discussion at the annual convention of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association. Other panel members were Forestry Minister J. W. Spooner of Ontario, Jacques Miquelon of Quebec, E. B. Haliburton of Nova Scotia, and N. B. Buchanan of New Brunswick.

Mr. Hamilton also said the new department will not encroach in any way on the rights of provincial governments. But would seek to co-operate with them, perhaps by establishing equipment pools across the country to combat such disasters as fires.

He was referring to a statement earlier Tuesday in which Hon. Jacques Miquelon, Quebec minister of lands and forests, expressed fear that the proposed federal legislation will encroach on provincial rights.

Mr. Miquelon said the British North America Act clearly gives the provinces jurisdiction over the forests and public lands and "the creation of a federal ministry of forests might incite the federal government to interfere in what concerns forests."

Half-Million Unemployed In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Canada passed the half-million mark at mid-January, rising 134,000 in the five weeks up to Jan. 15, the government estimated today.

Monthly survey figures placed those without jobs and looking for work at 504,000, compared with the post-war January high of 538,000 last year.

A simultaneous announcement from the National Employment Service said that at Jan. 14 there were 755,387 persons registered for work compared with 549,064 at Dec. 10 and 775,658 the previous January.

Ship's Captain Takes Stand At Murder Trial

BOSTON (AP)—Capt. Albert J. de Bruijn, skipper of the Dutch freighter Utrecht, was to enter the witness box again today to continue his account of the death voyage of a pretty passenger.

The Utrecht's radio man, Willem Van Rie, 31, is on trial charged with murdering Lynn Kauffman, 23, a divorcee. The prosecution alleges they had engaged in a torrid shipboard romance.

Captain de Bruijn testified Tuesday that the Utrecht left Boston for New York at 6:17 p.m. last Sept. 18, resuming a 44-day voyage from Singapore.

He said he left without a weather report, although there was a standing order requiring one. He said it was the radio officer's duty to provide the report.

Van Rie reddened perceptibly during this testimony.

The captain said the wireless man was off duty from 6 to 8 p.m.

Testimony has indicated Lynn Kauffman went to her death between those critical hours.

Bomb Threat Note Sparks Bank Panic

NEW YORK (AP)—She told them and she told them, but it took Mrs. Esther Breslau 5½ hours Tuesday to convince the police and the FBI that she didn't want to rob the bank. She just wanted to take $50 out.

But there it was, and no wonder the bank people, the police and the FBI got excited. Right on the back of her withdrawal slip were the words: "Give me all the money. I have a bomb."

Mrs. Breslau went into a savings bank in Brooklyn Tuesday morning with the slip, which her husband had filled out and signed the night before. She had got some withdrawal slips from the bank Monday for him.

On the front of the slip it showed that her husband, Martin, wanted to withdraw $50.

But when the girl teller turned the slip over for Mrs.

Claim Abuse Of Hansard

OTTAWA (CP)—Does unofficial publication of Commons debates, using the Canadian coat of arms and the name and title of the Commons Speaker, constitute a breach of parliamentary privilege?

After some initial disagreement, the Commons unanimously agreed Tuesday that the question should be examined by its committee on privileges and elections.

The issue arose when Murdo Martin (CCP—Timmins) complained that a breach of privilege and contravention of law was involved in a mailing campaign by a Toronto company designed to promote trading stamps. He drew attention to a four-page pamphlet sent out by Sperry and Hutchinson Company of Canada Limited which reproduced the front page of Hansard—official report of Commons debates—and the Hansard report of a Jan. 26 speech by Margaret Aitken (PC—York-Humber) opposing any move for a government ban on trading stamps.

The photostatic copy of the Hansard front page showed the Canadian coat of arms and the name and title of Speaker Roland Michener.

Mr. Martin's question of privilege produced disagreement between prime Minister Diefenbaker on the one hand and Speaker Michener, Opposition Leader Pearson and CCF spokesmen, on the other, the latter taking issue with the prime minister's statement that no precedent exists for taking action on the basis of a complaint such as Mr. Martin's.

Speaker Michener said Hansard report published under his authority and the public could use it freely so long as it was used fairly. But the Sperry and Hutchinson pamphlet seemed to be a breach of privilege.

Commission Cites Israel For Attack

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters)—A Syrian army spokesman said Tuesday night that a meeting of the United Nations mixed armistice commission condemned Israel for violating Syrian airspace recently and attacking the village of Khirbet el Twaffik in the demilitarized zone on Israel's north-east frontier with Syria.

The spokesman said in a statement here that the armistice commission Tuesday described the Israeli actions as a "flagrant violation of the armistice agreement."

Agriculture Programs Draw Provincial Fire

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Government agriculture programs—especially those concerning egg prices—came under fire Tuesday in Canada's provincial legislatures.

In Ontario, Ross Whitcher, Liberal member for Bruce, charged the federal and Ontario government with forcing down farm prices through inadequate policies. He said the farmer's price for Grade A eggs is about 19 cents a dozen compared to 30 cents in 1958. Chicken farmers were "going into the hole" at a rate of about 10 cents a dozen.

Agriculture Minister George Hutton of Manitoba said the federal government's new plan for deficiency payments on eggs has placed his province's egg producers in "an untenable position."

The plan, introduced last October, pays producers a subsidy amounting to the difference between a prescribed national average price and the support level of 33 cents a dozen.

Letter from OTTAWA

Mr. Hutton said federal Agriculture Minister Harkness had recently written the Manitoba government saying deficiency payments were started after two years of ignored warnings that production should be reduced drastically.

'I Was Frozen' Carole Says Of Gun Struggle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Carole Tregoff Tuesday ended her two-day ordeal under cross-examination erect and composed, unshaken in her denial that she and her surgeon lover murdered his wife.

She told of being in love with Dr. R. Bernard Finch. The state says they murdered his wife, Barbara Jean, last July 18. She was fatally shot.

Carole, 23, told of fleeing and hiding in bushes when Finch and his wife struggled over a gun he says went off accidentally.

"I was frozen . . . I was scared . . . I was completely horrified . . . It was like a nightmare," Finch, 42, studied her as she testified.

After her testimony, the defence all but officially rested its case. Because two of the state's rebuttal witnesses have not arrived from out of town, the case was adjourned to Thursday.

It is expected to go to the jury early next week.

Scout Jamboree

OTTAWA (CP)—The third Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree will be held in July, 1961, at nearby Connaught Ranges, scout headquarters announced Tuesday. The 2,700 acre army summer camp was the site of the previous jamborees—in 1949 and 1953. Some 3,000 scouts and leaders, selected on a provincial—quoia basis, are expected.

Obviously angry, he said Mr. Diefenbaker had been careful to make the disclosures after Opposition Leader Pearson had spoken so as to choke off useful debate, the fundamental reason for Parliament's existence.

Mr. Green denied the charges when he concluded a three-day foreign policy debate with a 70-minute speech Tuesday night. The Commons discusses minor government legislation today, and Thursday will debate the proposed abolition of capital punishment for murder.

Mr. Green said Mr. Cardin's uncle, the late Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, a member of Mackenzie King's cabinet, would have "hung his head in shame" at hearing his nephew's speech.

Tours Gift Projects

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—A not-so-bouncy Nikita Khrushchev discussed possible new Soviet economic aid to neutralist Burma in talks today with Burmese President U Win Maung and resurgent political leader U Nu.

A government source said the Soviet premier and the Burmese leaders also touched informally on relations between Burma and Communist China and the China-India border dispute.

Some Burmese observers felt that Khrushchev would not be in a handout mood on this visit, noting that the Communist National Front party lost 43 of its 46 parliament seats in the Feb. 6 elections. But others believed he would make a token offer of at least one aid project in an effort to show that Russian friendship is not based on Burma's internal politics.

Khrushchev today toured two Russian gift projects that resulted from his 1956 visit, a technological institute for 1,100 students being built just outside Rangoon and a 200-room hotel nearing completion in a Rangoon suburb.

QUESTIONS RUSSIANS

At the technological institute he fired sharp, critical questions at the Russian engineers and seemed impatient at their replies. He said "adjustments" were needed in the concrete work, perhaps because of the hot climate, and added that he had noticed "the same thing in India on Russian aid projects there."

Birth 'At Any Minute'

LONDON (CP)—Queen Elizabeth moved Tuesday night to the maternity suite in Buckingham Palace after doctors told her to expect her third baby "at any minute."

In what may have been their final prenatal examination, the doctors found the 33-year-old monarch in the best of health. They anticipated no complications.

The Queen moved from her own apartment to the ground-floor Belgian suite, at the back of the palace, which has been converted into a royal maternity ward.

The suite is so named because King Leopold I of Belgium used it on visits to Queen Victoria, a relative by her marriage to Prince Albert. It has accommodations for the father-to-be, Prince Philip, and a lounge next to the room in which Dr. John H. Peel, the Queen's obstetrician, will deliver the baby.

Meanwhile, the Queen was carrying on her normal duties. Prince Philip had one engagement today to open an exhibition of architecture in nearby Portland Place.

VISITED BY MACMILLAN

Tuesday night the Queen received Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for his customary Tuesday evening audience. He stayed for an hour and talked about his recent African tour.

Earlier, Queen Mother Elizabeth went to Buckingham Palace to have tea with her daughter and Prince Philip.

A small crowd has been permanently clustered outside the palace in the hope of seeing the royal birth proclamation posted on its gates.

Another Tuesday night event at the palace went on as usual, the meeting of Princess Anne's Brownie pack.

Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A movie with Marilyn Monroe is getting to be quite a project, as 20th Century-Fox is finding out. It now requires a two-platoon system.

The fabulous blonde's presence on the Let's Make Love set is unpredictable. For instance, last week her maid called the studio two days out of five and reported that Miss Monroe was not feeling well and could not report for work.

Even when she is on the set, her availability for shooting can be a question. Sometimes the company doesn't get the first shot until late morning or afternoon.

TWO SETS OF ACTORS
Two sets of actors stand by for duty. If Marilyn is present, her scenes are shot. If she is absent, scenes without her are made. The trouble is that the studio is running out of scenes without her.

Talk On Reading At Cowansville Home And School

COWANSVILLE.—An informative address on the part reading plays in a child's education was given by Miss Ruth Low, reading consultant of the Pointe Claire schools, at the regular meeting of the Home and School Association.

The president, Alex Pryde, was in the chair at the meeting held in the auditorium of the High School.

Three names were added to the Student Loan Committee, Mrs. Gilbert Brown, Richard Ingraham and Mr. Douglas Smith. The first food sale netted $36 for the group and thanks were extended to the parents who provided the food.

The program convener, C. Gustafson, reported that the speaker for the next meeting would be Robert Flood of Waterloo, whose topic would deal with the function of school boards.

Mr. Tyler, principal, reported on the interim reports and Mr. Peacock, chairman of fund-raising reported on the CJAD hockey match, as well as the food sales.

In her remarks Miss Low stated that reading is only one of the skills of communication as well as those of the eyes, ear, mouth and hand. New inventions during the past 30 years have given far more knowledge than ever before, she said, mentioning the greater number of specialists in all fields.

Education is everybody's privilege and has been developed by great studies. The speaker went on to say that sometimes pupils who are slow readers show pressure, strain and a sense of inadequacy, that adults often consider children as small adults and over-estimate them.

"In teaching reading we are not teaching a subject but rather tools or skills with which to carry on," Miss Low said. Word recognition means little without word meaning and this leads to comprehension and fuller thoughts. The next step is evaluation and then reaction.

Miss Low remarked that all good points in the child who does not read too well should be pointed out.

A vote of thanks was tendered Miss Low by Rev. Carl Gustafson, after which refreshments were served in the cafeteria. A buzz session followed when she answered questions.

Boundary Friends Bid Farewell To Mr. And Mrs. James Miller

STANSTEAD — Mr. and Mrs. James Miller were guests of honor at a farewell party held on Saturday evening at the Canadian Legion Memorial Home, prior to their departure for The Hague, Holland, this week.

On arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Miller they were greeted by the strains of For He's a Jolly Good Fellow, sung by about 75 co-workers of the Immigration and Customs staff and of the R.C.M.P., Rock Island detachment, and their ladies.

The evening was spent dancing

Ben Lapierre, head of the Rock Island-Beebe Immigration port, on behalf of the "boys" presented Mr. Miller with a leather travelling bag, saying it was an honor that he should be going to the land of wooden shoes and tulips to represent the Canadian Government.

Mrs. Miller was presented with a corsage of white carnations. Mr. Miller expressed appreciation of his wife and himself for the party and gifts.

After a midnight lunch, served by a caterer, many gathered around the orchestra to sing old familiar songs. Then the guests of honor were bid "Adieu" by their friends and wished every happiness in the new work and their new home across the sea. Mr. and Mrs. Miller, their two sons and a daughter will sail on February 20.

Mr. Miller served with the RCAF during World War II. For two years he was an immigration officer at Stanhope, leaving there in 1948, for duty in Germany Italy and Austria. He returned to Canada in 1952, later going back to Austria and coming home in 1956. Since then he has been at the Rock Island-Beebe port.

Mr. Miller is the son of Mrs. Leon Miller, Beebe, and the late Mr. Miller. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Georgia Packard) Bachelder, of Georgeville.

Parents To Become Extinct By Year 2260
Lennoxville High School Principal Wonders

Once upon a time there was a species of the human race called "parents" who were rulers of their homes and country, and one of each pair, the father, was head of his family, quoted J. Edward Perry last night at the Lennoxville Optimist Club meeting, from a chapter of an imaginary 2260 history book.

Mr. Perry, principal of Lennoxville High School, was guest speaker at the meeting when Ladies' Night was observed. "Something must be done immediately about this species which is disappearing at such a fast rate," Mr. Perry said, in a tongue-in-cheek discourse on the future of parents.

"Once a race is becoming extinct, there is no limit to how far we will go to keep the spark of life alive. A while ago the mating habits of the whooping crane were watched with anxiety because this race was becoming extinct.

Similar research was carried out concerning the North American Indian a few years ago and more recently the fight to preserve a race has surrounded the Eskimo.

In his imaginary quotation of a chapter in a 2260 history book entitled, "The Vanishing American," Mr. Perry cited the amazed impression of psychologists at the idea of parents telling their offspring to do something "because I say so" and then reverting to such "cruel physical violence" as the cane or even their own hand to make certain that the children carry out their orders.

"It has been said that way back in those deep dark ages, some 'parents' even had a torture chamber better known as a woodshed, where punishment was administered to the posterior of the child.

"They had some practices which make us smile now. They made their children attend church quite regularly and it is said that they even frequently accompanied them there.

INTERFERENCE

"They interfered in every department of their children's lives and sometimes the whole family was forced to go on holidays together.

"These so-called 'parents' were concerned over the education of their children, a zeal which is unknown now. They insisted that their children attend school regularly, be diligent in their work, listen to their teachers and even to respect them.

"It is rumored that they regulated the T.V.s in their homes to the point where they expected their children to go to bed before the late show came on. They were such a daring lot that some did not allow their teenage sons to use the family car whenever they wished it.

"Fortunately our own parents in this age are too concerned with their own affairs to bother about their children and become involved in such an autocracy."

"The fact that baffles sociologists in this age is that with all this interference and with these parents demanding obedience and respect from their children, these youths seemed to thrive on strict discipline and became normal happy citizens," Mr. Perry concluded.

DRUMMONDVILLE — A six-year-old girl, Charmelle Chagnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Chagnon, of St. Edmond, near Drummondville, died yesterday noon after being struck by a truck in front of her home.

Police investigating the accident, reported that the child must have suddenly dashed across the road into the path of the oncoming truck.

Driver of the vehicle, Jean LeComte, of Drummondville, told police he did not have time to avoid hitting the child.

An inquest is expected to be held shortly under district coroner Dr. Rene Millet.

Exercise Fence

New Experimental Snow Vehicle
Proving Versatility In North

BAGOTVILLE, Que. — Troops active in Exercise Fence are testing several new items of equipment as part of the scheme, but senior officers are paying extra attention to one piece of machinery — The Rat.

The Rat, according to Major General Rockingham, is an experimental, over-snow vehicle which may prove the most versatile and practical carrier in northern or Arctic warfare.

Built in two sections, both coupled onto the driving mechanism, the vehicle only weighs 1,500 pounds and is easily airborne in the C-119's or the Dakota, the military version of the DC-3. It is articulated (in army parlance split in two) and with both sections providing traction, steering is accomplished in much the same manner as that of a ship. The operator simply turns the wheel and the rear section wags like a rudder, changing the Rat's direction.

The general was loud in his praise of the Rat's performance thus far, and pointed out that the track pressure of the Rat upon the snow is less than that of a man on snow shoes.

Furthermore, he said, it is amphibious and capable of carrying a considerable weight for long distances. The Rat's power plant is an ordinary Volkswagen motor with gear specially adapted for use in the vehicle.

One other over-snow carrier is being used in the Exercise, The Penguin, a 2½ ton tracked vehicle, powered by a Cadillac engine, and used as either a troop and equipment carrier or an ambulance. Top speed of the Penguin in good going is about 20 m.p.h. Figures on the Rat's performance have not been released.

Each man dropping from the C-119's said the General is equipped with about 90 extra pounds of weapons, ammunition and personal gear.

The moment the jumper is out of the aircraft and his chute has billowed, he lowers a 15-foot line at the end of which is tied his extra equipment and weapons. The reason for this, he said, is in case the weight should fall on the man when he hits the ground causing serious injury. If the equipment is lowered first, it strikes the ground slightly before the jumper, slowing him down significantly at the moment of impact.

Commenting further on the Rat, General Rockingham pointed out that it was capable of carrying about 300 pounds of this extra equipment, not to mention towing some of the

American Soprano

Second Local Symphony Concert
Provides An Enjoyable Evening

The Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra under the direction of its eminent conductor, Sylvio LaCharité, last night gave concert-goers a most enjoyable evening.

The second symphony concert of the season was devoted to classical works and was highlighted by the appearance of the charming American soprano, Ginia Davis.

Miss Davis, a native of Philadelphia with a wide experience in the concert and operatic field, displayed the richness of her voice in the selections which she chose. Her voice is full and fluid, if not particularly powerful (at times lost in the sound of the orchestra) but was always under complete control.

Among her first group of songs, the selection by Henri Duparc, Invitation Au Voyage, perhaps stood out for its graceful melodic line, its rather haunting quality emphasized by the strings and harp. Miss Davis gave a delightful rendition.

She also sang a selection from the Gluck opera, Parnasso Confuso, and the Jewel Song from Gounod's Faust.

The sad lament, Adieu Ma Petite Table, from the Opera

Manon by Jules Massenet, was well done by the guest artist and was followed by the beautiful Depuis le Jour from Louise by Charpentier.

The orchestral accompaniment was exceptionally well done throughout the program. Conductor LaCharité had a firm hold on his players and their instantaneous response was clearly evident. It was in fact, some of their best work of the evening.

While the opening work, the Leonora Overture by (No. 3) Beethoven was a challenge to the orchestra and often fared quite well, it lacked clarity. The Symphony in D Minor by Cesar Franck, closed the program in fine style. From the opening slow movement through the Allegro where the second theme bursts forth to the sound of trumpets and on through the Allegretto where the horns and strings predominate to the Finale, it was a stirring and impressive rendition.

The orchestra was somewhat larger than usual but well balanced as far as strings and woodwinds were concerned. While the horn section did not appear overly large, it occasionally proved too powerful for the other instruments.

It was, however, a good evening's entertainment and both orchestra and artist are to be commended for their fine work.

The municipality has taken first position among municipalities in the province in Class E (municipalities under 10,000 population) awarded for fire protection work during 1959 by the Provincial Fire Commissioners Office, Department of Public Works.

The second, a safety award, is being made for a traffic fatality-free year, and is presented by the Province of Quebec Safety League.

Last year a similar safety award was made to the town and with it was an award ribbon which all members of the police force are entitled to wear.

The evaluation roll of St. Claude, a small municipality near Windsor was contested before Judge Redmond Hayes yesterday in Court of Sessions.

Contesting the roll is a St. Claude property owner, Joseph Girardin who claims that St. Claude properties have been underestimated.

Judge Hayes reserved his verdict for a later date after he took the case "en delibere."

Crocuses In Bloom!

The crocuses are in bloom at the Wales Home in Richmond. The delicate spring flower was first seen last week, pushing through the snow, by members of the staff. Hot air blown from a fan in the kitchen has heated the ground outside the building bringing forth the early arrival of the flower. When this photograph was taken there was a small cluster of purple and yellow crocuses showing.

Nature Of Time

Everyone A Clockwatcher
Local Rotarians Are Told

"We are all clockwatchers; we constantly watch time."

Speaking to the Rotary Club at the Sherbrooke Hotel last night, Douglas Clarke, Rotarian and Vice-Principal and Registrar of Sir George Williams College emphasized that time is everybody's business.

"Time is measured by events and it is only by convention that we can operate together in time," he said.

Mr. Clarke discussed the nature of time and its effect upon man, and expressed the belief that while space is reversible, time is not.

He said, "Time measures all things, but is itself immeasurable."

In concluding, he said that one must admire man who has always accepted only the promise of time, not the destruction. As a race, man has always built on time, and never allowed himself to be beaten down by it.

Mr. Clarke was introduced by Bob Webster and thanked by Bart Holtham.

Head table guests included President Lyman Tomkins, guest speaker Douglas Clarke, S. Ball, C. Bryant, B. Webster, B. Holtham, E. Duval, H. Rose, H. Clark and new members G. Scott, W. Lavallee, L. Thomson and T. Ball.

Thetford Mine Blaze
Leaves Five Homeless

THETFORD MINES — A fire of undetermined origin yesterday afternoon left a family of five homeless in Thetford Mines. Burned out were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Rodrigue, and their three children, of 151 Smith Street.

The alarm was first sounded by Mrs. Rodrigue who was home alone at the time with her four-year-old daughter.

When firemen arrived, flames could be seen shooting out the windows and at the corners of the building.

At the time of the fire Mr. Rodrigue, presently unemployed, was away from home. The two older children were attending school.

The mother and daughter were able to escape from the burning home without injury, but were wearing only light clothing. Damage estimates have been placed at about $5,000.

Murder Gun Requested

The attorneys of 13-year-old Andre Letellier, charged with the murder of Jean-Louis Lacroix have presented a demand to acquire the semi-automatic revolver used in the fatal shooting Christmas Eve in a Lake Megantic dance hall.

Defence attorneys say they want to run their own ballistic tests. The demand was made before Mr. Justice William Mitchell Monday but the judge reserved his decision until today.

Letellier was charged with murder following a Lake Megantic coroner's inquest.

The youth's trial will begin March 8 at the local Court House.

Damage Actions

Mr. Justice Louis-Philippe Cliche has taken on delibere testimony rendered in two damage actions amounting to $130,636.

The first action concerned damages amounting to $43,405 as the result of an automobile accident that happened near Disraeli Sept. 21, 1957.

Plaintiffs in this case were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fortier injured in the crash. Respondent was Eddy Thibodeau.

In the second case demands for $82,231 in damages were presented to the courts.

Plaintiff was Ovide Bourque of Disraeli. Respondent was the Champoux and Bellevance contracting firm.

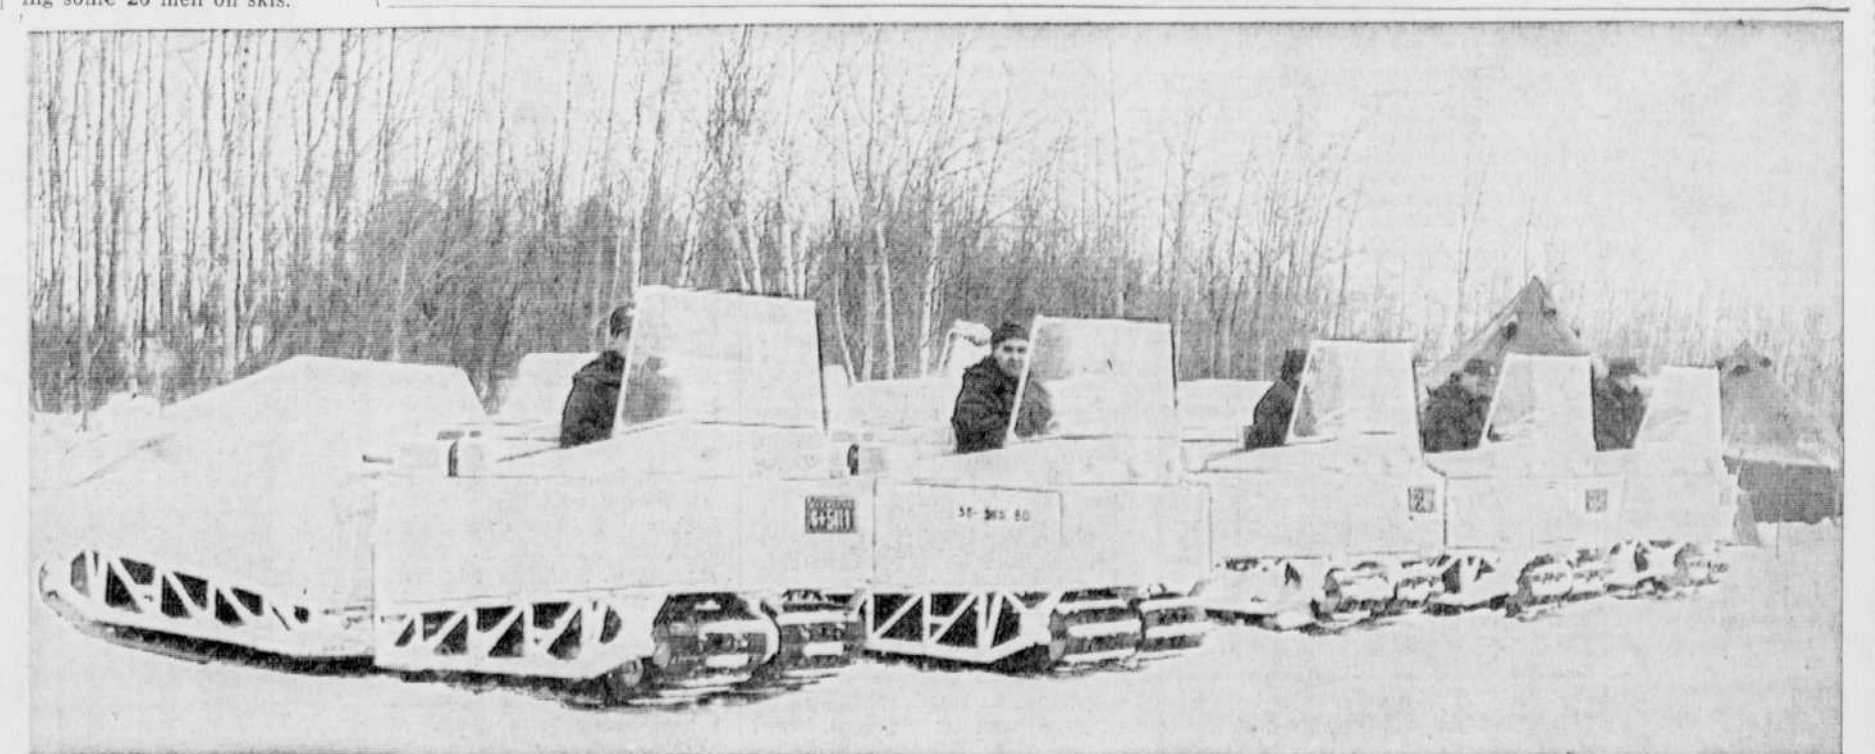

The accident happened Sept. 28, 1957 on the road near Disraeli, when Bourque, riding a bicycle, was struck by a truck belonging to the contracting firm.

Canada And Disarmament

The seeming paradox by which the Canadian defence department gives advice to the Government on defence strategy and disarmament at one and the same time is not so strange after all. After all, only the military can analyze properly the implications of disarmament to national security.

Thus we find the chiefs of staff committee recommending to the administration just what new weapons should be acquired to carry out defence policy and at the same time telling them how to get rid of these weapons to carry out a disarmament policy.

Recently, the ministerial council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization adopted a Canadian suggestion that NATO's military experts prepare studies on the implications of disarmament an idea which Canada has followed up at home.

The Olympics And Nationalism

When Avery Brundage, chairman of the International Olympic Committee urges politicians to leave the Olympic Games alone he makes good sense.

But when he suggests that national flags and anthems be dropped from future Games he's talking nonsense.

Mr. Brundage told the 56th Session of the committee, meeting in San Francisco this week that contestants should come to the games "simply as sportsmen" and not as representatives of any country.

Mr. Brundage conceded that a certain amount of national pride in sports accomplishments might be "legitimate" but he warned, somewhat unnecessarily, that Olympic victories are not a measure of the strength of nations nor of political systems.

No thinking person would suggest that they are. But most people would also concede that the country that produces a champion has every reason to feel pride in his or her success.

It Started With Raleigh

Ever since gallant Sir Walter Raleigh introduced tobacco to the white man, smoking the stuff has become one of our main activities, and the activity has become one of our main conversation pieces.

Today, there is probably more hot air coming out of people's mouths about cigarettes than there is going in from the fags.

Some of this cigaret talk is very much to the point.

The link between cigaret smoking and some forms of cancer is an example. It has not yet been definitely proven that cigaret smoking does in fact, cause cancer. Health Minister Monteith this week was careful to point this out. But he did say that lung cancer in males "clearly seems to be on the increase." Why, he said, is not known.

Other scientists have gone so far as to say there seems to be a connection between the incidence of lung cancer and cigaret smoking.

By and large the whole question, like a room in which everybody is smoking a cigaret, is pretty hazy right at the moment.

External Affairs Minister Green said in the House of Commons last week that Canada, as a member of the 10-nation East-West disarmament committee which will begin work at Geneva next month, will submit its own proposals which will be based on highly secret advice obtained from the Department of National Defence.

By proclaiming her own disarmament suggestions, Canada may be placing herself in a strategically important position in which to influence an undecided United States on the final course to follow.

Although Britain and France have definite ideas on the policy to be adopted during the ten-power talks with the Communist bloc, the U.S. still has no firm proposals of its own. However, with Canada coming forward with a firm stand, Washington may be prepared to accept some compromise stand on the troubled issue of disarmament and inspection.

Here, it would seem, is one field where nationalism is a good wholesome sentiment and expression of that sentiment by display of flags and playing of anthems is certainly in order.

One other member of the committee, John J. Garland of Los Angeles expressed it this way: "I know every athlete gets a thrill when he steps on the victory stand for his medal and hears his national anthem played."

Everyone in the world can't attend the Olympics in person. But people can identify themselves in some way with the contestants that go to the Games from their own country.

It is this identification — not at all dissimilar to what we often call 'school spirit' — that creates continued interest in and support for the Olympic games.

Remove or even lessen the nationalism that has become a part of the Olympics and you lose the biggest selling point that the Olympic Games possess.

ent.

And the veritable buzz of conversation about the subject, most of it pretty unsubstantial, is doing little to clear the haze.

Out of it, however, are coming other interesting and odd facts.

For those interested in collecting cigaret butts, for example, recent research shows that pickings are likely to be longer on the average in Montreal than either Toronto or Vancouver.

Doctors conducting the research say they hope to show that the length of the butt had something to do with the incidence of lung cancer among cigaret smokers.

Another interesting development is the growing popularity of filter and king size cigarettes. They now claim the lion's share of the smokers' market.

And still another development is the appearance on the market of a cigaret with a fine tobacco filter.

Added to these are a host of colored, gold, and even black cigarettes, along with a variety of new smokes that are neither cigarettes nor cigars, but a little bit of both.

CEYLON GIRL PICKING TEA

New Hope For Ceylon

Stabilized Democracy In 1960's

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters) — Ceylon today is a nation bewildered by a year of high political drama but hopeful of a new leaf for the decade of the 1960s.

Many see elections to be held in March as the crucial point in Ceylon's history as a modern independent state, a test which will decide whether democracy can be stabilized on this troubled island of 9,500,000 people.

The present troubles culminated in the assassination of Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike last Sept. 26.

During the last 3½ years, through several experiments with socialism the machinery of law and order went out of gear, and as a result of conflicting forces within the cabinet, democracy itself hung in the balance.

Prime Minister Wijayananda Dahanayake, who took over on Bandaranaike's death, dissolved Parliament and called a general election for March 19. He fired 10 cabinet ministers.

The decision to hold an election had almost universal approval but it resulted in the sudden sprouting of a large number of mushroom political parties. There are 23, many with vague policies and few supporters.

The six leading contenders are the Democratic party founded recently by Dahanayake himself, Bandaranaike's Freedom Party, the former ruling United National Party and three on the left: the Trotskyites, the Marxist United Front and the Communists.

Though the three right-wing parties profess to favor parliamentary socialism, all are against further nationalization and the prospect of them gaining a joint majority heartened the business community.

Ceylon's major exports — tea, rubber and coconut — were favored in the last year by higher prices in the world market, but the quantity of exports declined.

poor. Investment in tea machinery in some cases went down to 30 per cent.

By October of last year there was an overseas trade deficit of 212,000,000 rupees ($42,720,000), an all-time high. Facing a thumping budgetary deficit, the government slapped taxes on a number of items. Even arrack, the potent local brew made of fermented coconut milk or rice mash, went up by two rupees (27 cents) a bottle. One of the few bright spots was in earnings from dollar tourists, running at their highest in 10 years.

While unemployment reached its peak figure labor was restive during the year and the loss of man-days by strikes proved to be the highest since 1947, the most costly being waterfront stoppages in Colombo's harbor.

The cost of living went up mainly because of the strikes and the loss of large food cargoes. Delays in the port led to higher freight charges.

The 1959 homicide rate reached a new high with 560 murders reported to the police and the government promptly reintroduced the death penalty suspended three years earlier.

However black the picture, the fact that Ceylon is on the threshold of important changes gives rise to optimism.

A new Parliament and a new government is expected, if all goes well, to re-establish confidence and restore law and order which have suffered in recent years. There are signs that the country is alive to the vital importance of stability and discipline in the coming year and the trends are that economic development may get under way again.

BULGARIAN BABIES
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters) — The Bulgarian government is planning to increase children's allowances for families with more than one child to encourage a higher birth rate, according to newspaper reports from Sofia.

The rate at present reaches about $51.80 a month for five children.

Dear Sir,

I would like to express my views of this "Laramie Bus" service situation, particularly in the West Ward and the impending fare hike. I agree with Mrs. Dewing in her letter of February 13 that parents of children traveling to and from school on the bus, and coming home for lunch really will feel the pinch, although mine never came home for lunch as the bus service was never good enough to accommodate them.

Then there's the question of these children who have to travel to the High School. As anyone knows this is an hour's journey taking into account the transfer down town, and some of these bus drivers have the audacity to refuse entry to these students even though they pay their fare like any one else.

Why not a bus across the Jacques Cartier Bridge to accommodate these students? After all, there is a bus placed at the disposal of sometimes ONE STUDENT from the University each noon hour. To my horror on Friday morning at 10:05 I discovered the No. 39 which we could

Six Horse Team Was Pipeline For Oil Industry

CALGARY (CP) — Sam Johnson's six-horse team of black percherons was one of the pipelines of Alberta's early oil industry.

The team strained at its traces hauling heavy well-casings or steel drums of naphtha on the route between here and Turner Valley, 22 miles south, then the site of the Commonwealth's largest oil field.

All the supplies and machinery needed for oil production were freighted in and out of Turner Valley from Okotoks by horse.

Sam Johnson's era in the oil fields lasted from 1914 to 1929, when a naphtha pipeline was connected with a refinery in Calgary.

At the peak of the horse era, as many as 25 teams were in the field. Barrels of raw naphtha were loaded three-tiers high on the wagons.

Boilers, storage tanks, well-casings and diamond drills were freighted into the drilling area. Johnson, who hauled in the first diamond drill, says mud was the toughest enemy the teamsters faced. Sometimes stoneboats replaced wagons during spring break-up.

There were other regular teamsters. Slim Morehouse, a skinner of 40-horse fame, was one. It was said that Slim could rein 40 horses with ease. Nick Ford, who later led Dad Ford's Old-Time Band in Edmonton, was another.

The annual Okotoks fair always decided which teamster was the best as he drove a straining team to pull a stoneboat loaded with rocks.

Sam Johnson came into the Okotoks area as a boy in the 1880s with his father, Wildhorse Johnson.

Horses are still a big part of his life. He raises thoroughbreds at a farm in High River, Alta.

count on once an hour all day Friday, had been taken off. To my knowledge it had never been made known that even this small service had been discontinued.

As for Sunday morning, there is just no way of getting to church unless we organize car pools. Tell me, is there one other city of this size that has no bus service Sunday morning? In view of the many discrepancies in the present bus service I feel Mr. Laramie has great courage and nerve in asking for fare hikes.

JACOBY On Bridge

FAITH IN WEST AIDS BIDDER

When you can depend on your opponents you can frequently play a hand as if you are looking at all 52 cards.

West happened to be one of those players who usually led low from three or more small cards in a suit. Hence, when West opened the eight of hearts and East played the ten, South marked him with only two hearts.

This made the rest of the play very easy for J. M. Ricker of Bridgeport, who sat South.

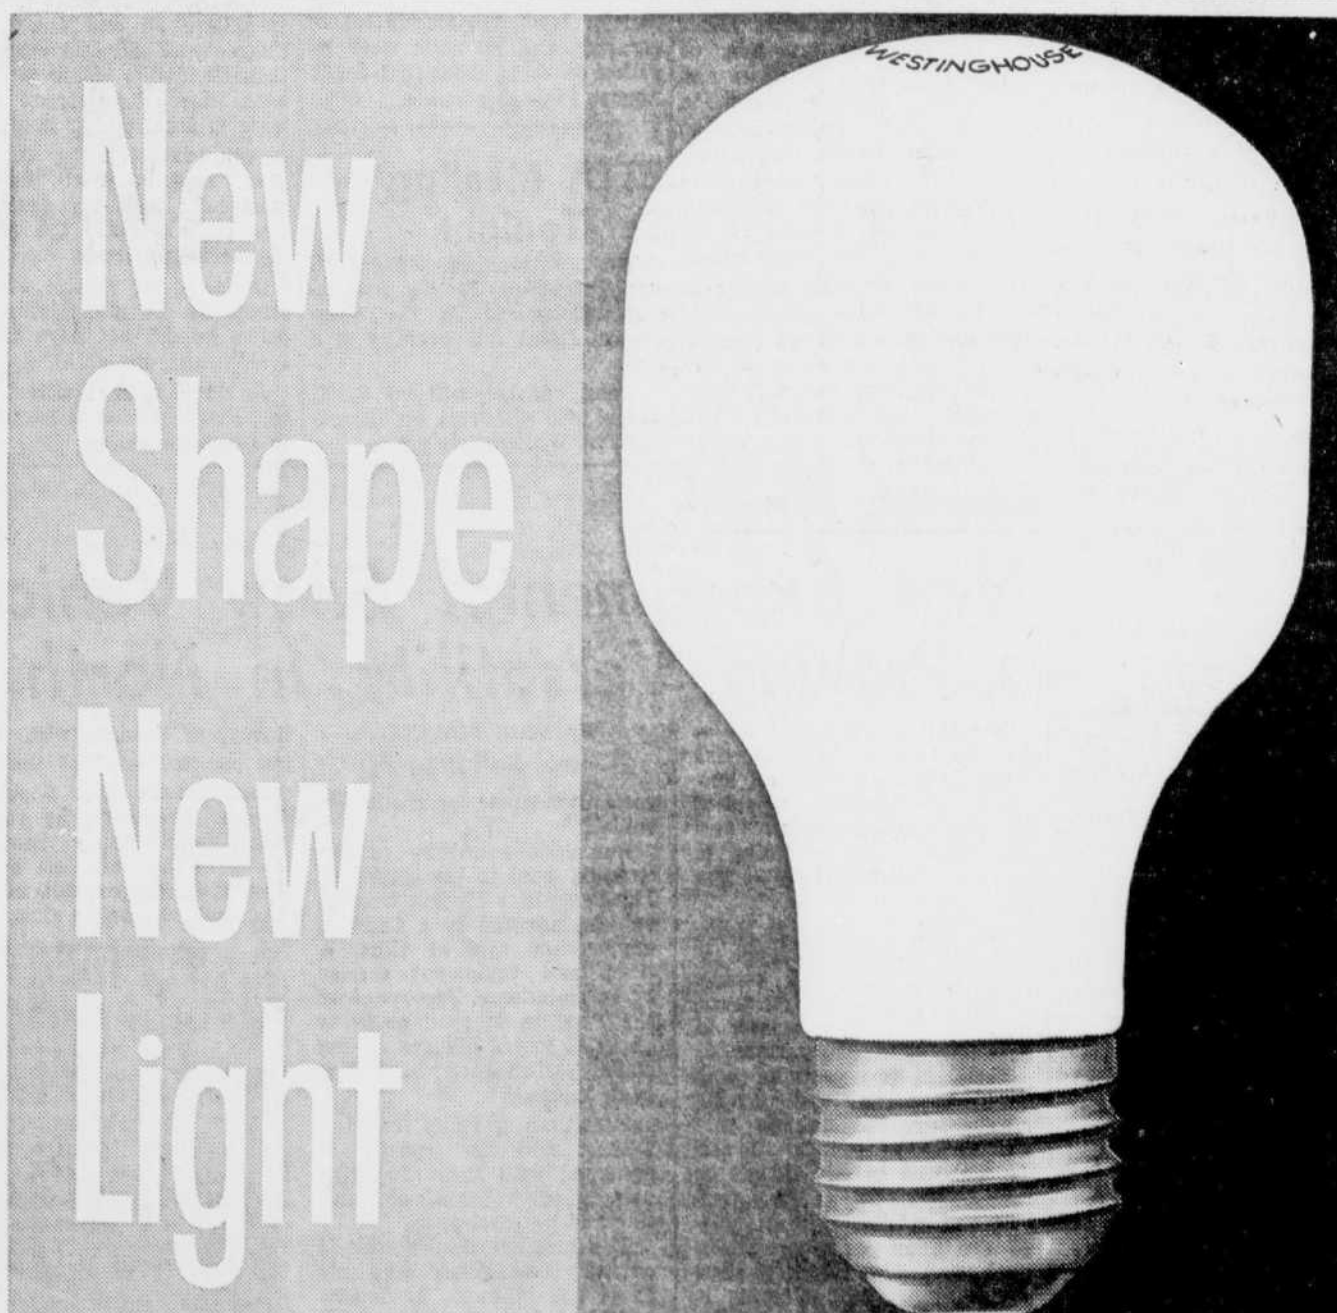

He simply won the heart in his own hand, played dummy's ace and king of spades, returned to his own hand with a diamond, ran the rest of his spades; discarding three clubs from dummy, cashed his other two high diamonds, entered dummy with the ace of hearts and threw West in with the jack of diamonds.

West was left with the king and one club and had to give South the last two tricks.

Of course, if West had opened from a three-card heart suit, South would have wound up in the soup, but South had complete faith in West.

TOURTIERE FOR LUNCH

(The Ottawa Journal)

The president of the Parish chapter of the famous Prosper Montagne Club for gourmets, one Monsieur Tedard, is going back to France all praise for a "Canadian-style" meal which the Montreal branch of the club whipped up for him. It must have been a fine repast indeed with the pepper buffalo steak, the Quebec tourtiere, dore fillets and the apple pie laden with maple syrup.

The only trouble with this "typically Canadian" menu is that it is a fraud. You have been deceived M. Tedard, just as badly as the tourists who come here in July expecting snow. Try ordering buffalo steak or tourtiere at any Canadian restaurant. You will search far before you will find maple syrup or Nova Scotia smoked salmon on a Canadian menu. Your brothers-in-gourmet have covered up well for our gastronomic deficiencies. But you mustn't tell them in Paris that this is how Canadians eat. Buffalo steak indeed!

there had never been any question of either repudiating the other, Mr. Green added. Both had a deeply ingrained belief in Parliament.

The prime minister had given the general concepts of the government's thinking on disarmament but not any details, he said.

CCF House Leader Hazen Argue said Mr. Diefenbaker had cut the ground from under Mr. Green. The prime minister was a "headline-seeker" who had "jotted down a few headlines" on an envelope and then said to himself "it was a good day for me in the Commons."

Nicholas Mandziuk (PC-Marquette) said Canadians are confused and distressed over world issues because of lack of unity being displayed by Canadian party leaders. He asked for an end to "political back-biting."

Richmond-Melbourne Trade Board Holds Annual Gala Ladies' Night

RICHMOND — (Special) — It was "Ladies' Night" at an evening put on by the Richmond and Melbourne Board of Trade over the weekend and members' wives and friends were the invited guests.

But the heavy snowstorm slightly marred proceedings in that the guest speaker, Miss Doris Clark, Women's Editor at Radio Station CJAD, Montreal was unable to appear.

However, the evening's activities went on as usual. Mr. Paul Labrosse was chairman on this occasion with board president Russell Bedard and it turned out to be a gala affair as everyone enjoyed the cocktails, buffet and dance held afterwards.

Gilles Marcotte acted as master of ceremonies putting everyone in a jovial mood and called on Rev. Hugh Apps to propose a toast to the ladies. The Anglican minister did so commenting on the importance of women in this man's world, that they could not live without the men and vice-versa.

Following this, a special treat was in store for some of the women present holding tickets on door prizes. Eight of them had winning numbers and a ninth prize was a special. The winners were: Mrs. Peter Cochrane, Mrs. H. Forster, Mrs. B. Moffat, Mrs. P. M. Dallaire, Mrs. P. V. Delaney, Mrs. H. C. Griffiths, Mrs. G. McKeage, Mrs. G. M. Alexander, Mrs. R. Cameron and final prize to Mrs. George Ewing. Mr. Marcotte called out the winners and presented the prizes.

At the head buffet table were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Geoffroy, pro-mayor; Rev. and Mrs. H. I. Apps, Mr. Russell Bedard, President of the Board and Mrs. Bedard; Mr. Gilles Marcotte, Vice-president and Mrs. Marcotte. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brouillette, Mr. and Mrs. J. Barrington, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Alexander, Mr. A. Lampson, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brouillette, Mr. and Mrs. C. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. G. Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. R. Trudeau, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Nourse, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. L. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. L. Rattray, Mr. and Mrs. R. Belanger, Mr. and Mrs. M. Roy, Mr. and Mrs. C. Savoie, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lupien, Mr. and Mrs. H. Beaubien, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morin, A. Grogier, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lyster, Mr. and Mrs. F. Fanjoy, Mr. and Mrs. R. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. L. Delaney and others.

After the buffet lunch was served and door prizes presented, the guests enjoyed dancing to organ music provided by the two-man orchestra.

Asbestos Discovered In Ungava

QUEBEC (CP) — Mines Minister Cottleham said today he has been informed of an important discovery of asbestos deposits in Quebec's Ungava region.

Mr. Cottleham said he was informed of the discovery Monday by Murray Watts, president of a Toronto mining company which bears his name.

Mr. Watts, accompanied by Lord Tweedsmuir, son of the former governor-general of Canada, called on the mines minister and Premier Antonio Barrette at the legislature. Lord Tweedsmuir was understood to be examining the discovery on behalf of companies he represents.

The deposits were estimated to contain at least 7,000,000 tons of asbestos, comparable in quality to that now produced in Quebec's eastern townships. Prospecting is continuing.

Mr. Watts said reserves of 9,000,000 tons would warrant a long-term production program of at least 2,000 tons a day.

Okinawa Base A Service Man's Bargain Heaven

NEW YORK (AP)—Life on Okinawa is a service man's dream, Time magazine said Tuesday.

In an article describing the airman's club at Kadena air base—one of 50 on the island—it lists these features: "Nightly dances attended by 'pretty Okinawa hostesses' . . . costs: 75 cents. Slot machines with jackpots up to $1,500. Bingo games with prizes up to $1,000, 'plus free trips to Hawaii with all expenses paid.' Cocktails and high balls. Price: Five cents. Once a week: Free pizza pies. Once a month: All drinks on the house. On a member's birthday: Free 16-ounce steak and champagne. On completion of his tour of duty: The same. Time says Kadena's 4,447 members pay $1 a month dues, but estimates the revenue from slot machines alone at Kadena and 49 other servicemen's clubs on the island—bloody Second World War battlefield, now a key U.S. defence link—at $2,500,000 annually.

Auto Executive Romney Explains Stock Sale

DETROIT (AP)—George Romney said Tuesday he has sold American Motors stock in an effort to make money and pay his debts and not because of any lack of confidence in the company.

The president of the thriving independent auto manufacturer laid bare his financial aims as he discussed his sale last month of 10,000 shares of AMC stock for about $900,000, or a gross profit of some $700,000.

News of this sale was said by some brokers to have contributed to the continuing skid of prices on the New York Stock Exchange where American Motors stock has fallen $9.45 a share in two days.

Romney said he will not sell further stock this year and plans to increase his holdings.

Fire Sweeps Glamis Castle

GLAMIS, Scotland (AP)—Fire swept Tuesday through a ghostly wing of Glamis Castle, one of Britain's oldest stately homes with a history stretching back to Macbeth.

Six rooms were burned out in the uninhabited northeast wing of the nine-century-old castle where Princess Margaret was born.

It destroyed a lot of old furniture in the six rooms but the apartments occupied by the owner, the Earl of Strathmore, escaped damage.

Firemen said they had no idea what started the fire.

Home And School Holds Meeting In Bedford

BEDFORD — The Home and School Association met in the High School, with the president Edward Forcha in the chair. Minutes were read by the secretary, Gordon Bishop and the treasurer, Lee Martin gave the financial report, showing balance of $245.33.

The second term examinations commenced on Feb. 8 in the lower grades. To take the place of the usual open house with tea during Education Week, parents are requested to meet the teachers, at the next meeting to discuss any questions arising from the examinations.

A new feature of Education Week will be a fashion show, when the members of Mrs. Westcott's sewing class will model their work of the past months. A tea will be held in connection with the fashion show.

Grade XI was again the winner of the prize for attendance. Mrs. E. Wood, membership convener, reported a membership of 114.

Mr. Forcha reported that through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kirwin a TV set had been placed in the school, and that Kenneth Best had kindly donated the aerial. Mrs. George Wilkinson, library convener, asked that parents see that children return books on time to the library; there is a small charge for overdue books. Parents were also asked that books purchased for the children at the Book Fair, be given to the library as soon as possible.

Mr. William Jackson, parent education convener, was in charge of the program, which consisted of three skits, dealing with various problems of every day family life; TV Invades the Dinner Hour, with the following as members of the cast, Mrs. Kenneth Best, Mrs. Proctor, Lee Martin and Edward Forcha, Teen-Time Troubles had as the cast, Mrs. Near, Miss Joan Northorpe, R. Johnson and R. S. McIntosh. The final skit was, Let's Eat Supper, with Mrs. R. Cruise, Rev. Mr. White, Mrs. Alex MacArthur and Principal Kirwin, showing how spoiled and badly brought-up children can disrupt a household with never-ending demands and bickerings.

Following the skits, the audience was divided into discussion groups to evaluate the lessons to be learned from the plays, and a general discussion followed.

Mr. Forcha on behalf of the meeting, moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Jackson and the members of the casts. Grade 4 mothers were hostesses at the social hour after the meeting. The program for next month, will be the annual public speaking contest by the High School students. The annual art exhibition will also be on display.

The Doctor Says

PLEA FOR CONSIDERATION OF HANDICAPPED

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Volumes have been written on the need for consideration of the handicapped by those of us sound in body, limb and mind. At the risk of stirring up a few hornets, I'd like to address this column to the need for a little more consideration of the healthy BY the sick and maimed.

In our enlightened society, the obligation to care for unfortunate in the family is accepted with grace by the vast majority. And in most instances the good offices of kinfolk are accepted gracefully by the handicapped, who no doubt would act with equal generosity if the tables of fate were reversed.

Unfortunately, there are exceptions where an inconsiderate patient "takes out" the frustrations of his disability on the healthy good Samaritan.

Sometimes the Samaritan's children are the target. Or again, an embittered invalid or semi-invalid sometimes accepts sacrifices with such poor grace that the unselfish donor is driven into saying something unkind in a moment of exasperation.

Here are some of the examples I've seen:

—A crippled person refuses to be trained for an easy job.

—A hypersensitive neurotic refuses to tackle the serious job of earning his way; a husband with nothing worse than high blood pressure or an ulcer uses this as excuse to knock off bread-winning entirely.

—A housewife with a minor ailment goes into a "blue funk" and neglects her home.

—I've also seen some old folks who while regarding themselves as too arthritic to help around the house managed to act pretty lively away from home.

As the none-too-successful mediator in some of these situations, I can only urge upon families where these little dramas are being played to consider together the examples of President Eisenhower, President Roosevelt, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Secretaries of State Dulles and Herter, and of Roy Campanella; the gallant handicapped who have managed to do not only their own work but work for others.

And in patience and good cheer.

It's amazing what we can do if we call upon our inner strength.

Mr. Milton Leet and family of Danville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davidson.

Mrs. Holland Burrill and Mr. F. H. Burrill motored to Shawinigan, where they visited their daughter and sister, Mrs. Alan M. Lambert and Mr. Lambert.

Mr. A. Wm. Burrill of Montreal, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Burrill and while here presided at the organ in St. Ann's Church, substituting for Mrs. L. M. Fee, who was visiting relatives in Town of Mount Royal.

Mr. H. W. Dapp spent the weekend in Montreal visiting relatives. Mr. M. B. Fleming visited Mr. J. O. L. Michaud at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Sherbrooke, and also a number of friends at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Miss Rosalie A. Burrill was a weekend guest of friends and relatives in Montreal.

Fellowship, Key To Y's Success

Fellowship is the key to the successful accomplishment of all Y.W.C.A. endeavours, whether they are carried out within the Y.W. building or without, or whether the program is a Canadian one or a World-Y project, Mrs. Arthur Colman said in an interview yesterday.

Mrs. Colman who is the national Y.W.C.A. representative in the Province of Quebec, gained wide experience in various organizations before beginning her career with the Y.W.C.A. five years ago as a vice-president of the Montreal Board. She was in Sherbrooke to address the annual meeting of the local Y.W.

She helped to organize a community library for the children of Notre Dame de Grace where she lives and was active for some years in Home and School work, both locally and provincially.

"I have found that many of the same people are deeply interested in both the Home and School Association and the Y.W.C.A. Both associations work toward the same end of freeing children from prejudice and giving them a firmer foundation on which to stand as citizens," said Mrs. Colman.

"Women of the world work together in the Y.W.C.A. for a better understanding for world peace. We are all basically the same people with the same desires in life and working towards the same goal the world over," Mrs. Colman stressed.

"The more we understand each other the better we get along," may be a hackneyed expression but it is true," she said. "For this reason we have recently organized a Canadiana class in conjunction with the Montreal Y.W.C.A., where women may come together to discuss current events. Guest speakers such as Hugh MacLennan have been present to speak to the group."

As international affairs chairman of the Montreal Council of Women for some years, Mrs. Colman is well prepared to help in the organization of this current events group.

MRS. ARTHUR COLMAN

"An important development has arisen through an extension plan to spread the 'togetherness' concept of the Y.W.C.A."

"In British Columbia, Y.W. classes are held extensively in conjunction with the High Schools as there are no actual Y buildings there except in Victoria and Vancouver."

"Even if there are modern Y.W.C.A. headquarters in some centers, it is not always feasible for groups to meet in them," Mrs. Colman emphasized.

"For example Y workers in Toronto have organized Take-A-Break clubs when young mothers come together and meet in one home while their children congregate for nursery school. Without the help of a Y.W.C.A. worker, these women would miss this opportunity of discussing topics of interest together."

Mrs. Colman, who is an executive member of the Montreal branch of the United Nations Association, spoke at the annual meeting of the local Y.W.C.A. which was held this week on "World Refugee Year," a topic of particular interest to the members.

With the general aims of encouraging financial assistance and additional opportunities for refugee solutions on a purely humanitarian basis, each country is free to plan its own course. Some 68 countries agreed to take part, Mrs. Colman said in her address.

She spoke of the work which the Y.W. is already doing in refugee camps in Austria, Trieste and Jordan, chiefly in educational and recreational fields.

Part of the money designated for World Service by the Y.W. goes to work with refugees, Mrs. Colman stated, but at both the World Council meeting and National annual meeting, Y.W.'s were encouraged to support World Refugee Year in every way possible.

While the number of refugees has decreased to 15 million from the 40 million at the end of the Second World War, the problem is still a great one, four million of these people being in dire need.

There's No Law Stating Homemaker Can't Be Single

Ten years ago, she bought a lot and announced that she was going to build her dream house. Most of her friends tried to talk her out of doing anything so foolish.

Their arguments were the arguments any unmarried woman gets when she talks wistfully of becoming a homemaker.

"Why tie yourself down to a house when you don't have to?" they asked. "An apartment is so much easier and you don't have all the responsibility for keeping up a yard, seeing to repairs, redecorating—and so on. You can just let the landlord take care of such things."

And, of course, they brought out the fact that homeowning is an expensive luxury for a woman living alone. They were sure, too, she would be lonely rattling around in a house all by herself, when she could be safe and secure in a small apartment with only walls to separate her from her neighbors. The final argument was that a woman who has to earn her living hasn't time to be a homemaker, that she should make living as easy for herself as possible.

Fortunately, none of the arguments hampered this woman's determination to have a home of her own. She built her dream house.

Ten years later it is obvious to anyone who knows her well that she made no mistake. She loves the home she put so much thought into planning.

Furnishing it got her interested in decorating and she set out to learn all that she could about fabrics, furniture, color schemes, and so on. It has been a continuing and absorbing interest and one that she shares with housewives with whom a career woman sometimes has little in common.

Keeping up the yard, which was supposed to be pure drudgery, has opened up the world of gardening to her and making things grow has become one of her major pleasures.

She has increased and strengthened her friendships because she has a home in which it is easy and pleasant to entertain.

But most important of all, perhaps, she has put down roots. She is not just a career woman, she is a homemaker with a very real place in one particular neighborhood. That isn't true of lone women who move restlessly from one apartment to another.

So, for any lone woman who is considering building or buying a home, here is this contented career woman's advice:

"A woman doesn't have to be a housewife to be a homemaker."

First Woman Game Officer In N.W.T. Tiny Northerner Knows Her Trappin'

By JIM WHELLY
FORT SMITH, N.W.T. (CP)—"You don't know nothin' about trappin'," challenged Gabe Burke, a Metis trapper from the Fort Smith area.

Gabe then hurled a volley of questions on everything from beaver to birds at the diminutive new game officer.

Mary Fitzgerald, four-foot-three, replied with an engaging grin and a flow of answers that left Gabe satisfied she knew what she was talking about.

Miss Fitzgerald, 28, has picked up her experience in three years with the northern administration branch of the Northern Affairs department.

She came to the Northwest Territories-Alberta border community in 1956 as a stenographer. Recently she became the first woman game officer in the N.W.T., also receiving appointments as a commissioner of oaths and a fur export officer.

The duties of the game warden patrolling the district would be more exciting," the tiny brunette said in an interview, "but I don't think they can find a uniform my size."

As a game officer, she issues bird, beaver and general hunting licences and beaver seals. After issuing export licences, she seals the packages of fur to prevent tampering with the contents. "LITTLE OTTAWA" Fort Smith, a community of 1,500 some 450 miles north of Edmonton, is the administrative centre of the N.W.T.'s Mackenzie District and is sometimes known as "Little Ottawa."

When Miss Fitzgerald took a vacation last year, like most northerners she decided to take in a man-sized bite of the "outside"—any area below the 60th parallel.

She visited France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland, England, Wales and Ireland.

"I like Ireland best, being a Fitzgerald," she said on return. "But this is the country where I want to live."

One-Time Machinist

Purchase Of Many Books With Overtime Pay Helped Premier Barrette's Education

(SPECIAL TO THE RECORD)

A steady procession of books purchased with the help of overtime pay as a machinist enabled a studious young man in a small Quebec town to build himself an education on the foundation of a seventh grade schooling. The cultural structure he so erected has opened many doors for the Honorable Antonio Barrette, the new Prime Minister of La Province de Quebec.

The onetime messenger boy and railway shop machinist was interested in politics as early as the age of 18, has represented his home riding of Joliette in the Quebec Legislative Assembly since 1936, was appointed Minister of Labor in the cabinet of Hon. Maurice Duplessis in 1944. On the death of Mr. Duplessis last September, Hon. Mr. Barrette retained the labor portfolio in the cabinet of Hon. Paul Sauve. When Mr. Sauve died on the second day of this year, a caucus of cabinet ministers and legislature members of the majority Union Nationale party selected Mr. Barrette as the new leader, and Lieutenant-Governor One-sime Gagnon invited him to form a new government for La Province de Quebec.

Aged 60, a slim, silver-topped figure of 165 pounds and just an inch under six feet, Hon. Mr. Barrette has won many distinctions other than that of the first Quebec premier to hold a labor union membership card. The University of Laval, University of Montreal, and Bishop's University have all capped him with honorary degrees. He represented his province officially at conferences of the International Labor Office at Geneva in 1945 and 1951. He was Quebec's official delegate in Rome for the opening of the Holy Year, again for the 60th anniversary of the Rerum Novarum Encyclical, and also on the occasion of the 17th anniversary of the pontificate of Pius XII. As an acknowledged expert on labor affairs and industrial relations, Mr. Barrette has been a sought-after speaker for public functions and the service clubs and community groups. He is armed with the knowledge of the theoretician and at the same time has the experience and resourcefulness of the practical man of action.

His personal background illuminates the facets of his personality. Still known to his intimates as "Tonio," the Hon. Antonio Barrette was born in Joliette, 40 miles northeast of Montreal, May 26, 1899. His father, a civil servant, was a graduate of the military school at St. Jean, Que., a highly-educated and cultured man. When he was 14, Antonio Barrette decided to quit school at seventh grade in favor of the "cash in hand" provided by a proffered job as night messenger boy in the Canadian National Railways shops at Joliette. "I was a real bronco," he smiles. "I had no use for schooling when I was 14 years old. But soon the urge to learn overpowered me, and I became as stubborn about education as I had been about getting the nickel-an-hour job. Working 12 hours a night, seven nights a week, I earned as high as $20.15 for a month of 31 days." He remained a messenger for 18 months, then became an apprentice in the railway's machine shop. His work day was shortened to 10 hours, only 9 hours on Saturday, and his pay went up to 9 cents an hour. He had more time to study and more money to buy books. An attempt to enlist in the tank corps in World War I when he was 16 was frustrated by his father's behind-the-scenes revelation of his actual age, so Antonio turned all his considerable energies to work and learning. There was plenty of overtime available in his trade, which meant more money for books. His studies and his powers of application enabled him to trim 19 months off the normal time for him to qualify as a full-fledged machinist, at which he eventually earned up to 70 cents an hour before he left the trade.

In his self-directed study course as a boy and young man, Mr. Barrette laid the foundation for a personal collection that now stands at around 5,000 books housed in a special library built onto his ten-room brick house in Joliette. His first goal was mastery of his French native tongue, and when he considered he knew all the accents and nuances, he tackled English, then history, biography. Later, he went into economics, political science, philosophy, mechanical engineering, sociology, architecture. He also studied the arts and music.

"I not only fell in love with him for his own sake. He has a fine mind, and I knew he would make his mark in life," says Mrs. Barrette, the former Estelle Guilbault, whom he married 36 years ago. They are fishing trip partners, and have worked together on their summer camp at Lac Rouge. Mrs. Barrette weaving the drapes and coverlets and Mr. Barrette fashioning the furniture by hand in two winters of sparetime labor. In addition, Mrs. Barrette has handbound 3,000 of her husband's books in leather. They have three grandchildren, two of them belonging to their daughter, Lise, 28, and her husband, a Montreal architect; and one to Nicole, 25, and her husband, Guy Barrette, a Berthier pharmacist. There are two sons, Alain, 31, runs the family insurance office in Joliette. The other, Serge, is a law student at McGill University in Montreal.

Spokesmen for organized labor have applauded the selection of Hon. Antonio Barrette as prime minister, for many of his personal contributions to labor legislation and regulations have been either praised or copied beyond Quebec, including the Vacation Stamps system, Reh-a-bilitation Clinics, a Hygiene Department for the Workmen's Compensation Commission, an Employment Bureau for Tuberculars and the Infirm, and creation of Apprenticeship Centers under the Barrette Formula through co-operation between labor and management.

ister has said: "We are fast building an industrial empire in Quebec. We must make sure that its progress is matched by advances in health and education, and that we go forward socially and culturally as well as industrially."

Barrette Reports Fleming In Agreement On Grants

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Antonio Barrette said Monday night he and federal Finance Minister Fleming are in agreement as to the method of transferring $25,000,000 in accumulated federal aid rejected by Quebec universities.

"We now must submit our views to our respective administrations," Premier Barrette said in a statement.

SUTTON

Work is proceeding at a good rate on the addition to the post office building.

New shelves and other improvements are being made at the library. There have been recent generous donations of books.

Mr. William Miller and Miss Madge Bulmer motored to Beebe, where Mr. Miller left the Beebe to visit relatives while he went on to spend some time with friends and relatives in his home town of Megantic.

LAWRENCE —

Service will be held in the St. Lawrence Church on Sunday, Feb. 21, at 11 a.m., Rev. Mr. Michell officiating.

Mr. Everett Young has returned home from visiting his brother, Mr. Vincent Young, at Sawyerville.

Miss Heather Burwash of Montreal, spent a weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Burwash.

TO INFORM SCHOOLS

Mr. Barrette said he wanted to inform the universities and the classical colleges of the proposed method of transfer of the funds now held in trust.

"Quebec's traditional stand must be maintained and safeguarded and must receive the approval of the universities and the classical colleges."

The premier declined to comment further.

Quebec universities accepted federal aid in 1952 when the federal program was inaugurated, but thereafter refused the grants on grounds they encroached on provincial jurisdiction over education.

The Quebec government already has drafted legislation providing that once the $25,000,000 is transferred to Quebec it will go into a sinking fund set up to finance university construction projects.

LYSANDER —

Mr. and Mrs. Kingley Bullard, of Danville, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Patterson and family.

Presbytery Of Quebec Meets At Melbourne

MELBOURNE.—A meeting of the Presbytery of Quebec of the Presbyterian Church of Canada was held at St. Andrew's Church here. The Moderator, Rev. S. G. Garland of St. Andrew's Church, Sherbrooke, presided and the clerk was W. G. Clark of Asbestos.

The following ministers and commissioners were present: Rev. Ronald Rowat of Montreal; Rev. Owen Channon, Valcartier; Rev. Hugh Nugent, Scotstown; Rev. J. Voelkel, Port Cartier; James Leckie, Melbourne; Roland Perron, Richmond; Norman McCartney, Quebec; D. McLeod, Scotstown, and Hugh S. Rose, Sherbrooke.

Others present were George Ewing, Leslie Brooks and Robert Allen.

One of the ladies' groups provided the dinner and tea in the afternoon. Considerable routine business was discussed and acted upon during the two sessions.

Rev. Graham Barr was guest speaker following the dinner. He reviewed the great strides made by the Sector Plan in the last five years, the number of churches taking part increasing from 16 in 1955 to over 2,000 in 1959.

While all these made great financial gains, the most important result was the enhanced spiritual life of the churches participating, the speaker said. A discussion period followed and Mr. Barr was thanked by the Moderator.

The Presbytery adjourned, to meet in Valcartier in September.

Mrs. J. Robinson Entertains W. A. At Cookshire

COOKSHIRE. — The Senior W.A. of Trinity United Church was entertained at the home of Mrs. J. W. Robinson, with Mrs. Butler in the chair.

Mrs. Robinson and Miss Nelson were in charge of the devotional period, Mrs. Robinson reading the Scripture lesson and Miss Nelson reading a poem entitled, Let's Be Sensible.

In the absence of the secretary, Miss Nelson read the minutes and Mrs. Butler gave the treasurer's report. The recent tea and food sale at the home of Mr. C. MacRae netted about $46, and the treasurer reported a fair bank balance.

It was decided that piano duets would be the group's contribution to the concert which the church organizations will present in April.

The work committee had donations of material on hand which will be made up into articles for sale.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Robinson, assisted by Mrs. Stevenson and daughter Patricia.

ST. CYR —

Mr. Bernard Boreham, of MacDonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, was a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Boreham.

St. Philip's Anglican Church

Reports Year Of Steady Progress At Annual Meeting In Sawyerville

SAWYERVILLE — The annual vestry meeting of St. Philip's Church opened with a pot-luck supper arranged and served by the Guilds and W.A.

Canon Dunn opened the meeting with prayer and a period of silence in tribute to the parishioners who had passed on during the year. Frank Chase, G. Hume, Hugo A. McCafferty, and Robert Statton.

Canon Dunn also gave a survey of the work of the Parish with a report of services held, and the average attendance. There had been eight baptisms, one marriage and four burials.

The chairman mentioned some things still left to be done. The minimum stipends had been raised this year and the question of raising the extra share of the assessment would have to be decided, if we are to stay a self-supporting Parish. The question of the cost of repairs which we share, to the rectory at Cookshire, must also be faced. The new edition of the Quebec Diocesan Gazette was brought to the attention of the meeting, also the question of using the Sector Plan should be enquired into. It was pointed out that this is World Refugee Year and the Anglican Church pledged to give substantial help.

The rector's warden, L. Hunt was re-appointed and the people's warden, E. Hurley, was also re-elected. Sidesmen were all re-elected with the addition of H. Langworthy; and auditors, Mrs. L. Hunt and G. Hurd were re-elected as well as delegates to the Synod, with the provision that a warden could substitute, in the event of a delegate being unable to go, since this will be the Synod for the election of a new bishop following the retirement of Archbishop Carrington.

The financial report was read with mention of a completely new heating system that had been installed in the church. Receipts were $2,153.54 and expenditures, $2,076.24.

The Guilds and W.A. reported a busy and successful year, with all W.A. pledges met and a complete renovation of the church basement and kitchen, all of which was paid for. This included new stove, sinks and hot water tank, as well as cupboards to modernize the kitchen.

Money had been raised with suppers, sales, card parties, etc., and finally a successful bazaar. Contributions had been made to the Sunday School, whose report showed an enrollment of 38 divided into four classes, with four teachers and a secretary-treasurer. Thirty-three sessions had been held with an average attendance of 21. Mite boxes were filled during Lent, a joint picnic was held with the Cookshire Sunday School in the Spring, and a Christmas party with gifts and candy for every child on the church roll was held in December.

The Girls' Auxiliary report was brief since this is a new venture, organized in October.

The Junior Auxiliary reported a successful year with 11 members accomplishing a great deal of work. The annual festival was attended in Cookshire in the Spring. The girls, in uniform helped at the Women's World Day of Prayer service and also the candle-lighting service. They raised money to help send six Juniors to Quebec Lodge Camp during the summer.

The report on the Reserve Fund, a fund set up by the Guilds to cover the renovation of the basement, was read. Receipts were $932.68 and expenditures, $876.38. It was decided to keep this fund in operation for further work.

Canon Dunn expressed thanks to all the organizations, officers and individuals who had contributed to the church's work and Mrs. Matthew moved a vote of thanks to Canon Dunn for his services in the Parish, also to the lay organist, teachers, and leaders, who had helped make it a successful year.

Draper, Austin Campbell, Ralph Van Horn, Eric Kemp, Adolphe Greenwood, Percy Terrill, George Harland and T.G. Shepherd. Grace was said by the rector, Rev. W. J. White, who also proposed the toast to the Queen. Guests at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. White, J. Davidson, John Pope, Harold Deming, Macolm McCaw and W. H. Baglow.

The vestry clerk, Macolm McCaw, read the minutes and the treasurer, W. H. venor, and to Grisdale Gould for printing.

Emery, Baldwin To Fight For Championship

Terry Sawchuk To Miss Next Three Games

DETROIT (AP) — Goaltender Terry Sawchuk apparently will be on the sidelines for Detroit Red Wings' next three games.

Doctors putting the 30-year-old netminder through a long series of tests in hospital at nearby Ann Arbor have not learned why Sawchuk tires easily and suffers leg pains.

"One doctor said they don't even know what they're looking for, so that makes their job even tougher," Sawchuk said in an interview Tuesday. He was knocked out for 36 games three seasons ago with infectious mononucleosis. Earlier this year he missed three games with leg pains.

Sawchuk complained again of the pains two weeks ago and agreed with coach Sid Abel that a three-game rest would help.

The Wings aren't counting on him for the crucial National Hockey League grind ahead.

Rookie Dennis Riggan of Edmonton Flyers in the Western League is taking Sawchuk's place. The fourth-spot Wings have won only one of their last 11 games.

"It's not Riggan's fault we're losing," Abel said. "We're just not scoring."

Sawchuk still has leg pains and has come down with a severe cold. He said doctors are trying to determine whether old injuries to his back, hips and knees may be causing the trouble. The tests likely will be concluded this week.

Seven Countries To Compete In American Zone

MELBOURNE (AP) — The United States, Canada, British West Indies, Mexico, New Zealand and Venezuela will be competing in this year's American zone Davis Cup competition.

They were the only countries nominated when entries were declared closed today by the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia. The draw will be made Monday.

Boxing World Seems Headed For Another Era Of Double Champs; Archie Moore Wants Good Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — Anyone have a good offer for Archie Moore, deposed by the National Boxing Association as world light-heavyweight champion? Old Arch is willing to listen.

Moore, stripped of the NBA title Monday for inactivity, hasn't pushed the panic button to get the crown back. He wants the right offer.

Harry Markson, managing director of boxing at Madison Square Garden, said Tuesday that unbeaten Von Clay of Philadelphia had agreed to fight Moore but Archie isn't biting—not yet.

Moore and his manager, Doc Kearns, said they still hope heavyweight king Ingemar Johansson of Sweden will bypass a title rematch with Floyd Patterson of New York and fight Archie.

If Moore is ignored by Johansson, he has the choice of several contenders. Included are Harold Johnson, No. 1 NBA contender, German Willie Schoepner and Willie Pastrano of New Orleans. Moore's failure to fight Johnson for the title within the prescribed six months cost him the NBA crown.

INTERESTED IN OFFER
Moore, who said "I am naturally interested in the financial angle and want to make the best bargain," expressed interest in a $300,000 guarantee by New York promoter Jack Guzagay to fight Schoepner.

Meanwhile, the NBA's withdrawal of Moore's title pointed to a possible return of the age of double champions which started in 1930 and wasn't cleared up until 1957.

The middleweight division had two titleholders 1931-36 and its tangle became more complex before it was settled in 1941 when Tony Zale defeated George Abrams.

The light heavyweight class was ruled by Maxie Rosenbloom, recognized by New York in 1930, and George Nichols, the NBA's champ. This sector reverted to the one-champ system in 1941 when Gus Lesnevich whipped Antonio Christoforidis.

Ike Williams, NBA champ, knocked out Bob Montgomery, New York champ, in 1947 to end a years-old squabble among the lightweights and Willie Pep beat Chalky Wright and Sal Barbo to end the double-reign system among featherweights.

BANTAMS HAD TROUBLES
The bantam mixup after Jimmy Carruthers retired wasn't straightened out until 1957, when Alphonse Halimi, New York King, beat Raton Macias, NBA champ.

Now the cycle may be starting again.

The NBA's move against Sugar Ray Robinson last summer and its subsequent recognition of the winner of the Gene-Fullmer-Carmen Basilio match as the new middleweight champ, started the ball rolling. Fullmer emerged as the titleholder and Robinson still ruled in New York and Massachusetts until he lost to Paul Pender last month.

Moore still is champion in New York but the NBA is to meet in New York March 5 to work out details on finding a successor to its title.

The welters came close to the same situation, but Don Jordan announced Monday night, a few hours before the NBA deadline, that he would defend against Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret next spring in Las Vegas. If the NBA had taken away Jordan's title, another dual championship might have resulted.

A riot at the Scottish Cup soccer game between Glasgow Celtic and Motherwell resulted in hundreds of fans nursing broken heads and dozens being taken to the police station 28 years ago today. CBC To Carry Limited Report On Olympics

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC has been unable to get full television coverage of Olympic hockey games at Squaw Valley, Calif., late this month, Revenue Minister Nowlan reported Tuesday.

He told the Commons that the Columbia Broadcasting System in the U.S. has obtained exclusive North American TV rights for coverage of the games. But the CBC would get 15-minute television resumes of Olympic games activity from the CBS starting Feb. 19.

The hockey game between Canada and Russia Feb. 28 will be carried live on the CBC-Trans-Canada radio network, Mr. Nowlan said.

Hull-Ottawa Dump Royals

Hull-Ottawa Canadiens climbed into a fifth-place tie with Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Tuesday night by defeating Montreal Royals 6-3.

Montreal is second with 58 points, four behind Sudbury Wolves.

Canadiens ran up a three-goal lead early in the first period. Bob Courcy led Hull-Ottawa with two goals. Bob Ellett, Gilles Tremblay, Bill Carter and John Anable scored one apiece.

Kelly Burnett, Lulu Denis and Reggie Grigg scored for Montreal.

The win was Canadiens' first of the season in Montreal. Previously they lost three and tied two.

Canadiens had some other good news as Bob Boucher, their high-scoring forward, was released from hospital where he was treated for an injured eye. He said he will be able to rejoin the team for the playoffs—if they make them.

Bout Slated For Sherbrooke Sunday Afternoon, May 1st

Canadian Light-Heavyweight Title At Stake

Burke Emery, Sherbrooke light-heavyweight ranked No. 1 in the country for Yvon Durelle's vacated title, is scheduled to fight Gordy Baldwin, of Toronto, for the light-heavyweight championship of Canada on Sunday, May 1, it was announced yesterday morning.

Baldwin, ranked No. 2, has been on the listings of ranked fighters for the past eight or nine months. Emery has been ranked No. 1 challenger for the Canadian light heavy title for the past year and a half.

The fight, scheduled for 12 rounds, has been sanctioned by the Sherbrooke Athletic Commission and the Canadian Boxing Federation. Gene Letourneau of Quebec City, commissioner.

This is the most important bout ever held in the city of Sherbrooke and is also the first time a local fighter has ever had a chance to win a Canadian title in his home town.

The bout will be held at 2:30 p.m. to give out-of-towners a chance to come in to the fight at the Arena, located on the Sherbrooke Fair Grounds.

H. O. Routhier, secretary of the Sherbrooke Commission, made the fight announcement following a meeting Tuesday morning.

For the fight, Emery is expected to give away about eight or nine pounds to Baldwin.

Promoter Warren "Pee Wee" Berwick stated this morning that Baldwin is very big for a light heavy and has been fighting heavyweights during the past year or more. He outweighs Emery by eight pounds or more.

Tickets for the fight are expected to go on sale during the middle of March.

Managing Emery is Al Bachman of New York and managing Baldwin is Earl "Sully" Sullivan, of Toronto.

Troubles Pile On Troubles With Opening Of Winter Olympics Two Days Away

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (CP) The hockey tournament of the eighth Winter Olympics is back on today, with only a couple of points still in dispute.

With the Games due to start Thursday, a threat by the International Ice Hockey Federation—to pull its teams out of the Olympics because of a squabble over the number of playing days—melted like the ice on the rinks Tuesday night when IIHF officials finally sat down with directors of the Olympics.

After three hours they emerged and said they had reached full understanding.

Among other points settled at the meeting was setting up a meeting between Canada and Russia, favorites for the tournament's gold medal, Sunday, Feb. 28—the final day of this year's Games—taking for granted that both countries win through an earlier elimination series.

The other points still causing friction are the lack of proper practice opportunities and the condition of the ice surfaces.

TWO COUNTRIES MISSING
The opening of the dissension-plagued Games approached with Nationalist China and India still on the sidelines.

The International Ski Federation, which controls ski competition, Tuesday night referred back in the International Olympic Committee the question of allowing Taiwan's lone skier, Cheng Hung Loo, to compete. There seemed little chance he would be let in.

The federation also rejected another one-man national team, Jerry Bujakowski, Polish-born citizen of India.

With India and Nationalist China out, there are 31 countries represented by 850 athletes.

Weather conditions appeared perfect for the $20,000,000, 10-day festival but there were indications it would be a financial flop. Only about 15,000 spectators are expected Thursday in the picturesque valley ringed by mountains. It can accommodate 35,000.

Hockey, which has rivalled skiing as a centre of controversy here, appeared to be calming down. The IIHF submitted to a 10-day rather than an 11-day schedule with the first games Friday.

But Ernie Goman, manager of Canada's Kitchener-Waterloo team, joined the international protests that have arisen over the allotment of practice time Tuesday when his team arrived at the rink for a workout and found Russian figure skaters firmly entrenched.

"This is the first time we've had a chance to practise on the indoor rink and everything's loused up," he complained. "No one hockey team has prac-

Old Stratagem Helps N. Ontario Rink Advance In School Boy Curling Event, Quebec Still Hunting For A Victory

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—An old curling stratagem involving an empty house and the last rock paid off Tuesday night for undefeated Northern Ontario in the Canadian high school curling championships.

The stratagem—whereby a skip throws his last rock through an empty house in order to have last stone on the next end and try for more than a single point—gave the Dryden High School rink a 7-5 win over Ontario in fourth-round play.

It was the second win of the day for Northern Ontario, which defeated Prince Edward Island 8-4 in an afternoon match. Northern Ontario and Saskatchewan are tied for first place in the 10-round tournament, each with four wins and no losses.

The Saskatchewan representative from Saskatoon found stiff opposition in David Sullivan and his New Brunswick rink in the fourth round. However, with New Brunswick laying shot, skip Dale Hoffman drew to the four-foot ring with his last rock on the 10th end for an 8-6 win. In the tied in the arena and it's about time the hockey federation officials arrived here to straighten a few people out."

Some of the officials arrived after that, but there was no indication of what solution, if any, could be reached.

Jack Riley, coach of the U.S. team, said that six different teams showed up Tuesday morning at the same time, expecting to practise.

ALSO BLASTS RINKS
Goman also described the rinks as "barnyard."

"We've got better rinks in many small villages in Canada," he said. The ice was so bad it could upset the play of a team, especially one that relied heavily on passing.

Eduard Farda, coach of the highly-rated Czech team, called the rinks "atrocious."

The dispute over the number of playing days broke out Monday night when a Swedish member protested against the Olympic committee's plans to squeeze all the hockey games into 10 days, instead of using the 11-day schedule the IIHF had drawn up earlier at a meeting in New York.

The nine teams entered in the competition have been divided into three groups. After a round-robin elimination, the top two teams of each group will meet in a final round-robin series to decide the championship.

Meteors Stop Beavers 4-1 While Granby Rallies To Down Victoriaville

Real Trepanier Leads Attack With Two, Bob Bedard Gets Lone Tally For Beavers; Laliberte Gets Winner

Asbestos Meteors, inspired by the outstanding performance of Claude Bergeron, rolled to a 4-1 victory over the Sherbrooke Beavers before 750 fans in the Civic Centre. In the other tilt Granby Vics edged Victoriaville 3-2 in overtime with Spike Laliberte getting the clinching tally before another record crowd of 1,750 fans.

The win for the Meteors allowed them to retain their three point lead over Granby Vics who are struggling to overtake the Miners for the final playoff berth. Tomorrow evening Granby will be at home to Drummondville while the Canadiens will receive Asbestos.

Bergeron came up with a sterling job for the Miners, especially in the first period when he blocked 21 shots as the Beavers blasted him from all angles. Andy Pratte had seven while in the session Bergeron had only six compared to 13 for the Sherbrooke netminder. In the final stanza the lanky Asbestos netboy had 12 compared to nine for Pratte.

It was Asbestos' first win over the Beavers in five games this year. The same two teams will clash Sunday in Sherbrooke and the battle will end for the season. Bob Bedard tallied the lone marker for Sherbrooke to save them from the shutout. Real Trepanier paced the attack with two goals while Bob Leger and Edgar Gendron got the others.

Trepanier opened the scoring in the first period while in the second Bob Leger got the only tally to give the Meteors a 2-0 lead after two frames. In the final Gendron extended the lead and Trepanier notched his second for a 4-0. The Beavers bombarded Bergeron but he held until the closing minutes when Bob Bedard beat him for Sher-

NHL Defencemen Who Score Goals Are Scored Upon In Return, Canadiens Have Been Scored On Less Than Others

Some law of natural compensation seems to work in the National Hockey League. The more goals defencemen allow into their own nets, the more they score on their opponents.

It almost appears that the defencemen, when they start feeling guilty about all those goals scored against them, rush out to help their forwards.

Montreal Canadiens, for example, have been scored on less than any other team. Their defencemen have scored fewer goals than any others. Chicago Black Hawks have the next best goals - against record, and the next worst crew of scoring defencemen. Toronto Maple Leafs are third both ways.

RANGERS EASIEST
Boston Bruins, with the league's highest-scoring defencemen, until recently were the most scored-on team. Only New York Rangers are easier to score on now, and they have a fine set of offensive defencemen.

In order of goals against, going from fewest to most, here is how the teams line up: Montreal, Chicago, Toronto, Detroit, Boston, New York.

In order of goals scored by defencemen, again going from fewest to most: Montreal, Chicago, Toronto, New York, Detroit, Boston.

The Bruins' defence has accounted for 24 goals. Doug Mohns alone got 13, of them while playing forward for a short spell.

With 20 assists he leads defencemen in total points as well as goals.

DETROIT'S DEFENCE has 21 goals, six by Red Kelly, recently traded to Toronto Maple Leafs. Marcel Pronovost has seven.

Among active NHL players only Kelly and Bill Gadsby—who has eight goals this year—have scored 100 or more in regular season play. Rangers' total is 20.

STANLEY SECOND
Allan Stanley of Toronto Maple Leafs, with nine goals, is second to Mohns as a scoring defencemen. Bobby Baun has six while, the team total is 19.

Horton has set up 22 goals and ranks next to Pierre Plante of Chicago Black Hawks as a play-making defenceman.

Plante, besides contributing five goals toward the Chicago defence's total of 11, has assisted on 26 others.

Montreal's defencemen have managed only 10 goals, six of them by Doug Harvey.

Tonight, Boston plays the Leafs in Toronto and Chicago goes against the Rangers in New York.

Richmond Braves Down Windsor 5-3 To Win Series 4-1; Meet Cookshire Sunday For Title In Richmond

RICHMOND — Gilbert Gagnon sparked the Braves as they eliminated the Windsor Mills Papermakers in their best-of-seven semi-final series. Gagnon fired his second hat-trick in two games, having posted one Sunday as Braves came up with a similar 5-3 score.

Braves will go against Cookshire Sunday afternoon at the Richmond Coliseum in a best-of-seven final series for the St. Francis Valley Hockey League championship. A crowd of 750 fans saw the game which was played close for two periods until the third when Windsor yanked their goalie in favor of a sixth attacker which back-fired. Jacques St. Laurent was injured in the first period when he collided with Smith. St. Laurent suffered a dislocated shoulder and was sent to hospital after being treated by a local doctor in his dressing room.

The other Richmond goals were scored by Houde and Crack, the latter getting his into an empty net in the third period. Gagnon collected two assists with his three markers and it was his goal in the first period that sparked the attack. Daigneault of Windsor snared a loose puck to beat Beauchemin for the tying marked. Daigneault added a second at 11:23, just 19 seconds after his first goal with the two Codere boys assisting. This gave Windsor a 2-1 lead in the game and at 14:34 St. Laurent was injured. He did not return and Jean Paul Dumas, Windsor's sub-goaler replaced him. Houde scored for Braves at 18:03 of the period to tie the game at 2-2 with Gagnon earning an assist.

Gagnon fired two goals in the second period to give Braves a 4-2 lead. His first came at 6:44 with Frank Bergeron and Desrosiers assisting. Claude Couture of Windsor was sitting out a holding penalty at the time.

Gagnon got his second marker at 17:07 while J. Codere was in the sin-bin for elbowing. Smith took a penalty for high-sticking but the Braves staved off the Windsor team. Houde was also penalized in this second frame but expert clearing by Braves' penalty-killers saved the day.

In the third, Grenier was sent off for interference and Beauchemin in the Richmond cage, had to come up with five straight saves while he was off. He made 12 saves in the third period, having stopped seven in the second and five in the first.

G. Spenard put Windsor short on the scoresheet at 17:36. Shortly after, with about two minutes left to play, Dumas was taken out of the nets and Wayne Crack scored into the empty net. The fifth goal came at 18:58 and Braves held on to their two-goal lead to the end.

St. Laurent stopped four shots in the first period before his mishap and Dumas grabbed eight in all, making it 12 for the Windsor netminder to 24 for Beauchemin.

Barons Edge Quebec Aces

Cleveland Barons figure they're back in business in the American Hockey League race. Earl Ingardfield seems to have regained the scoring touch after a two-week drought.

Ingardfield scored three goals Tuesday night—the third coming in the final 33 seconds—to give the Barons a 4-3 victory over Quebec Aces and move them within three points of fourth spot, shared by Providence Reds and Buffalo Bisons. It was the only game of the night.

Ingardfield was a ball of fire when he went to the Barons from Springfield Indians last month, scoring seven goals and 12 assists through Jan. 31. He had failed to score since then.

Linemate Fred Glover assisted on all three goals and Don Hogan got the fourth. Bob Barlow scored twice and Obie O'Brien once for the last-place Aces.

US State Dept. Stands Fast On German Writers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department Tuesday stood fast on its refusal to allow East German sports writers to cover the winter Olympics, despite a complaint from the International Olympic Committee which Monday night adopted a resolution favoring "freedom of the press."

State department press officer Lincoln White noted Tuesday that the law forbids entry of persons from Communist countries into the United States unless it would be in the best interest of the country.

Macdonald College Girls Romp To 37-14 Win Over Bishop's; Next Local Tilt Tomorrow Night Against YWCA

Macdonald College girls basketball team romped to a 37-14 victory over Bishop's University girls in a lopsided tilt played in Montreal last weekend. The hosting girls displayed superior skill in handling the ball to down the local squad in the exhibition battle.

The University girls from Lennoxville had trouble in all sections of play throughout the fixture and couldn't seem to drive through Macdonald's superior lines. All in all, Mac proved too much for the local girls who trailed from the opening whistle of the struggle.

Starring for the victorious hosting Macdonald club was Margaret Orser who dumped in 11 points. Following her up were S. Porter, Sally Sandler and D. Pryde with 10, eight and eight respectively. All four girls were backed up by a well-organized squad who excelled over Bishop's in all departments of play and had little trouble in disposing of them.

Topping the losing Bishop's squad was Betty Denison who racked up seven points for the honor. On guard duty was Bertie Langford who proved to be the defensive leader of the Bishop's team and deserves a word of praise for her efforts.

Next game for the Bishop's girls is this Thursday evening when the YWCA girls visit Bishop's at the Memorial Gymnasium. The 'Y' girls are currently heading the local girls league while Bishop's has a firm grip on second position. In third spot at the present moment is the Sherbrooke Hospital Nurses squad while, occupying the cellar, is Magog.

In a total of eight games played, Bishop's girls have posted six victories and two losses. They have scored a total of 409 points as compared to 260 racked up by their three opponents.

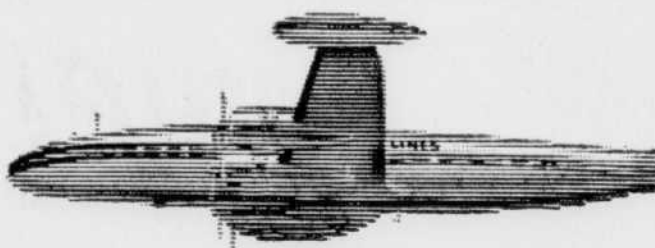

Coach Toe Blake Gets Good News; Henri Richard And Marcel Bonin Are Back In Harness Once Again

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens coach Toe Blake got some good news Tuesday: Some of his injured players are back in harness.

Centre Henri Richard and left-winger Marcel Bonin definitely will play here Thursday night when Detroit Red Wings visit Canadiens.

There is a better than even chance that star centre Jean Beliveau will return to action, but left-winger Dickie Moore still suffers dizzy spells from a concussion he suffered Feb. 6.

All four players were at Tuesday's practice. Richard lost four teeth last Sunday night in Chicago. There was never much doubt that this would keep him out of action.

YOUR VALIANT DEALER'S GOT A VERY CONVINCING LINE

Only you'll do all the talking—not him —after you've seen his beat-the-pajamas-off-'em Valiant line. You'll gab your head off. About Valiant's smart, nobody's-kid-brother good looks. About how big and roomy Valiant is (even though it parks as easy as you do inside). About how hard it is to decide between a Valiant sedan and a fresh-off-the-line, new Valiant Suburban with 72 cu. ft. of hauling space. About how soon you can trade the big car you're probably driving now for a penny-pinching, gas-stretching Valiant. Your dealer may have trouble squeezing a word in edgewise about his low Valiant prices. By the way, he'll be happy to give you a home demonstration. But any way you can, be sure to see Valiant. It's the economy car you'd want at any price.
