World News In Brief

Rome, Nov. 13. —(AP)— Premier Alcide de Gasperi said in an interview published today by Rome's Il Tempo that any direct negotiations and agreements between Italy and Yugoslavia must be considered as complementary to the peace treaty and hence subordinated to guarantee by the Big Four.

Direct negotiations between the two countries, he said, should embrace the entire question of the eastern frontier but always with the understanding that "such negotiations do not place in doubt that which we already have acquired in our favor at the Paris conference.

Shanghai, Nov. 13.—(AP)— Wolfgang Schenke, former German newspaperman, and five other Nazis accused of helping Japan wage war against the Allies after Germany surrendered were acquitted today by an American military tribunal.

The tribunal ruled the prosecution had failed to prove a case against the six, but ordered the trial to proceed against 21 other defendants.

Schenke recently filed criminal libel charges against Walter Rundle, United Press correspondent, on the basis of Rundle's stories about the charges against him. The Chinese courts twice ruled for Rundle.

The others acquitted are Ernst Woermann, German Ambassador to puppet China; Wilhelm Stoller, head of the German Embassy's branch in Shanghai; Edgar von Randow, also of the Embassy; Johannes Otto, head of the Nazi Party in China, and Herbert Glietsch.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 13.—(AP) Peru counted at least 100 known dead today in interior towns wrecked by earth shocks which began last Sunday and feared a higher toll might become known with restoration of smashed communications facilities.

More than 60 persons were killed in Sihuas, a town of 11,540 and almost completely destroyed; 30 more perished at Pomabamba and several more were reported dead at Mollepata, a town of about 2,800 said to have been about half destroyed.

Other hard-hit cities included Mollembamba, 3,400 population, still out of communication with the outside world; Conchucos, Pampas and Palta Bueno.

Pasadena, Calif., Nov. 13. —(AP)—It may not be safe to bank on this as a legal precedent but—

Oswald G. Jorstad convinced a jury that he can stop a car faster after a few belts of beer and whisky than he can normally, so was acquitted of a felony charge of drunken driving.

A physician had testified that Jorstad was intoxicated when he examined him after an automobile accident. Then the defence produced a private investigator, William Harper, who testified that he had administered four beers and a whiskey to Jorstad over a four-hour period. This was the amount the defedant had said he had imbibed before the crash.

"His reaction to a brake test was 3/100 of a second faster after the drinks than before," Dr. Harper testified. The jury deliberated an hour.

Byrnes Impatient At Delay In Settling Trieste Issue; Russia Raises New Dispute

Situation Between Soviet and Western Powers Somewhat Eased With Possibility of Break in Italian Peace Treaty Deadlock Seen—Molotov Still Insists on Draft Changes.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

New York, Nov. 13 — (AP) — Several cracks showed up today in the time-hardened disagreement between Russia and the western powers over disposition of strategic Trieste, but diplomats were uncertain whether they foretold a real break in the Italian peace treaty deadlock.

They became apparent despite a warning by State Secretary Byrnes that the United States could not continue making compromises on the Trieste issue — and an assertion by Foreign Minister Molotov that Russia insisted on changes in some Paris Peace Conference provisions for governing the Trieste territory.

Mr. Molotov also raised one new dispute by asking a treaty provision fixing a deadline of possibly three or four months, after the treaty becomes effective, for removal of foreign troops from Trieste. The troops there are American and British.

Byrnes and Molotov joined argument several times during the 3½-hour session of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council last night, then called a halt until 4 p.m. E.S.T. today after they agreed, along with British Foreign Minister Bevin and Deputy French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville, to return to their showdown debate.

Diplomats who sat in on the session reported it was by no means all negative and had several results which might lead to a break in the main deadlock blocking completion of an Italian peace treaty.

Whether the Foreign Ministers would be able to accomplish this, however, depended on future developments about which responsible authorities were unwilling to make predictions.

These were the cracks apparent as a result of last night's meeting:

1. The Council left the door open for direct negotiations between Italy and Yugoslavia to settle the fate of Trieste by agreement if they can. Any mutually acceptable agreement which they can reach seemed assured of favorable council consideration.

2. Mr. Molotov backed down at least temporarily on a demand the Big Four send back to their deputies for rewriting a draft statute for the government of Trieste as a free international territory. He agreed instead to a proposal by Mr. Byrnes that the Foreign Ministers themselves should go over the statute, beginning today.

3. The Soviet Foreign Minister reiterated he objected only to certain provisions of the statute, which the Paris Peace Conference approved by two-thirds vote, and that other provisions were acceptable to him. This enabled the Big Four to get down to specific cases and try to work out formula of settlement which all could accept.

4. Despite the history of bitter dispute which has marked much of the Trieste discussion in recent months persons present said last night's discussion was notable for calm talk and a generally friendly atmosphere.

Soviet Clerk Again Called In Spy Trial

Hearing Against Former Editor of Government's Information Service Enters Second Day at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—Espionage trial of David G. Lunan, 31-year-old native of Scotland, will move into its second day today with indications that it will see the Crown call its one and only major witness.

Crown Counsel John R. Cartwright told County Court Judge A. G. McDougall yesterday that his case would be based primarily on the evidence of Igor Gouzenko, former Russian Embassy cipher clerk, on documents Gouzenko took from the Embassy, and the testimony of Lunan himself before the Royal Commission on Espionage.

The accused is charged with conspiring to communicate confidential information to Russia while he was an editor with the government's Canadian Information Services.

Mr. Cartwright expressed a wish to call Gouzenko yesterday but the judge granted defence counsel Joseph L. Cohen's request at noon for an adjournment until today.

There was no indication of when or for what purpose Mr. Cohen intends to call Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Reconstruccion Minister Howe and other high officials as witnesses for the defence although he said he had subpoenaed them. He merely said they would be called when they were needed.

They may be called for a trial within a trial involving the admission of Lunan's commission testimony or they may be called as defence witnesses in the trial itself.

If Mr. King appears—and a representative in court said both he and Mr. Howe were "entirely willing" to do so if their position

Food Rushed To Victims Of Blizzard

Denver, Colo., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Army vehicles bucked huge snowdrifts today to get food to hundreds of families and thousands of head of livestock as Red Cross headquarters was set up to relieve the suffering caused by Southeastern Colorado's worst blizzard in years.

Planes were ready to fly hay to snowbound cattle and sheep which could not be reached by army "weasels," trucks and bulldozers that plowed into drifts, some of them 10 to 18 feet high.

The Weather Bureau reported a foot-deep blanket of snow over most of the area four days after snow stopped falling in the week-long blizzard which has claimed 15 lives.

The Red Cross established headquarters at Colorado Springs to co-ordinate relief activities.

A seven-plane reconnaissance mission from Colorado Springs discovered many families in need of food and fuel in the Edison district 50 miles southeast of there. Sighting a distress signal—an X traced in the snow—a plane landed and learned of the district's plight.

Five army transport planes flew hay to a herd of 10,000 cattle reported "frozen in their tracks" in three feet of snow in Lincoln County. Another cargo plane dropped hay to starving antelope.

Controls At Ottawa Hit By Sabourin

Declares Canadian People Have Shown They Have Had Enough of Liberal Administration.

Special To The Record

Montreal, November 13. — Ivan Sabourin, K.C., leader of the provincial executive of the Progressive Conservative Party in the Province of Quebec, declared here last night that the results in the recent by-elections indicated that the Canadian people thought the period of usefulness of the Liberal party had come to an end.

Mr. Sabourin had difficulty in defining the Liberal Party and its doctrine. In fact, he confessed he had been unable to get information as to the existence of such doctrines and believed it was evident that the once-useful Liberal Party was drifting aimlessly about, and in no particular direction except towards the state socialism which made it akin to the C..CF. He did not mean that most of the Liberal members who represent this province in the House of Commons are socialists, and, in fact, they did not like being so labelled, but the whole pattern of events, and notably the alliance between Liberal groups and the C. C. F. leader, M. J. Coldwell, which had gone so far as the tenderig of invitations to Mr. Coldwell to become the Liberal leader, showed unmistakably how the Liberal boat had been drifting.

Mr. Sabourin admitted Mr. King, in his day, had been quite a leader, or at least an able navigator, with a keen scent, but all political parties, like individuals have their days of glory and days of aimless drifting, and the Liberal Party was now in the latter stage.

Mr. Sabourin did not doubt that the bureaucrats at Ottawa were men of ability and versed in economic matters, but the best test of continuing a policy of controls in peacetime was the efficacy of such controls, and there was no doubt that there was no efficacy to justify the excuse for their continuation. He exempted rent control from other controls since houses cannot be built overnight, but as to other controls policies which resulted in shortages of building materials at ceiling prices, while they were available at four or five times the prices in the black market, was the best evidence of the

Holy Land Blasts Kill 6 Policemen

Jerusalem, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Dawn dynamite attacks on Palestine railways today killed six police officers and wounded two other persons, officials announced.

Two British police constables and four Arab police officers riding in a police trolley dynamited at Beit Safafa, on the outskirts of Jerusalem at 5 a.m., were killed and two persons were hurt when a train hit a mine three miles from Jerusalem 15 minutes later.

The police trolley was demolished and several yards of track ripped up by the first blast, which apparently was detonated electrically. Rail traffic between Jerusalem and coastal points was halted.

V-2 Backfires In New Mexico

During tests at the Army's White Sands, N.M., proving grounds, something went wrong with this German V-2 rocket and it exploded about five miles from the group of observers (lower photo). Ordnance experts believe a structural defect of the same type encountered by Germans during war-time operations caused the explosion. Another V-2 tested set an altitude record of 104 miles. ## Britain And U.S. Draw Plans To Restrict Abuse Of Veto

Lake Success, N.Y., Nov. 13.—(AP)—The United States and Great Britain were reported working today on separate plans to restrict use of the veto in the United Nations Security Council.

Although details of the British plan were secret, it was understood to dove-tail into the American plan. An authoritative source said Britain hoped to effect Big Five agreements on limited use of the veto which might satisfy small-power opponents.

The American plan was understood to propose restrictions in at least three ways:

1. To broaden an existing rule against letting any Big Five power sit in judgment on council decisions arising from charges against itself. (The U.N. Charter allows any one of the Five to veto use of force against itself but not to vote on non-force measures.)

2. To allow any of the Big Five voluntarily to abstain from voting without having the failure to vote counted as a veto, as it might be now.

3. To classify as fully as possible Security Council decisions which are "procedural" (requiring only majority vote for decisions) and those which are "substantive" (requiring concurrence of the Big Five; that is the veto system.)

The important U.N. Political Committee is scheduled to tackle the veto issue tomorrow as the first of several major problems which include disarmament.

In this connection, the United States was on record today as welcoming the renewed Russian offer to start work on solving the world's arms problems at the current session of the United Nations Assembly.

United States Senator Tom Connally (Dem.-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and an American delegate to the U.N., said yesterday that the United States welcomed Russia's co-operation" in the matter of disarmament.

Connally's statement was made in writing to an Associated Press inquiry for comment on the speech Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov made at a Foreign Press Association dinner in New York in which he said the proposals of Russia and the United States on arms reduction "can be harmonized."

Windsor Fire Causes Heavy Factory Loss

Damage to Building and Stock of Three Firms Estimated at $150,000—Spontaneous Combustion Blamed.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 13—(CP)—A spectacular three-alarm fire gutted the three-storey Stewart building early today, destroying the stock of three firms and causing damage estimated at more than $150,000.

The blaze believed to have started in a chemical stock pile on the second floor of the brick and frame building, took hold rapidly and left a skeleton framework. Spontaneous combustion was said to have started the conflagration. The blaze was fed by chemicals in various parts of the structure and fanned by a stiff southwest wind.

As chemicals ignited, small explosions were heard and flames pushed through the building which stands at the corner of Church and Pitt streets in downtown Windsor. No firemen or spectators were reported injured.

Tenants of the building were Seeley Products Limited, Parisienne Perfume Company and Flexo Tube Company of Canada.

Courses Offered To Young Farmers

Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, Que., Nov. 13. —(CP)— Young agriculturists of the province began yesterday at the agricultural high school here a course in the protection of vegetables and fruits. The course is being given under the auspices of the Youth Aid Service and the Provincial Ministry of Agriculture.

Dr. Georges Gauthier, chief of the Plant Protection Bureau in the Ministry of Agriculture, inaugurated the course. Next Monday a new course will begin, with horticulture, destruction of insects and protection of fruit trees the subjects.

Mary Churchill To Wed Guardsman

Four weeks after they met in Paris, Winston Churchill announced the engagement of his youngest daughter, Mary, right, above, to Capt. Christopher Soames, left, of the Coldstream Guards. Captain Soames, assistant military attache in Paris, fought in the African campaign and in Italy and France. They expect to marry in January.

CHURCHILL WARNS AGAIN OF RED MENACE

London, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Winston Churchill last night renewed his assertion that a vast Russian army is being maintained on a virtual war footing in Europe and promised an opening session of Parliament that his party would support the Labor Government's revolutionary proposal to continue compulsory military training in peacetime.

Mr. Churchill spoke in the House of Commons in reply to Labor Member H. C. Usborne's motion for the acceptance of the Speech from the Throne.

The King, sitting on a golden throne in the heavily-guarded House of Lords, had outlined the Government's socialist legislative program, including plans for nationalizing additional industries.

Police Battle Theft Wave In Montreal

Series of Robberies Involving Loot Worth $15,000 Keep Law Officers of Metropolis on Jump.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—(CP)—A series of robberies involving cash and merchandise valued close to $15,000 kept Montreal police on the hop today. The hauls included:

$3,000 cash grabbed from the safe of the Domestic Petroleum Company.

$3,000 in merchandise—mainly cigarettes and candy—from the Regina Tobacco and Confectionery Company.

$1,200 in jewels and watches from the E. L. Goldsmith store.

The $1,400 automobile of Jack Schneiderman. Two fur coats worth $400 were in the car.

Luxury goods valued at $850 from the parked car of Paul Hertle, Liston, N.Y.

Clothes worth $400 from the car of Earle Moss, Providence, R.I.

Merchandise valued at $400 from the parked car of an Outremont resident, and $200 from the automobile of a visitor from Quebec City.

Radios, fur coats and watches worth $500 from the home of Maxwell Notkin.

Sunday night Cecile Cyr reported theft of two rings valued at $1,200 and a $300 fur coat from her home. Morris Tunis told police someone stole $665 he had hidden under a mattress.

Smart work by police foiled a $25,000 job in a district post office. A night patrol car caught the safe-crackers on the job, gave chase. The thieves dropped $9,500 in cash and stamps, and $16,000 remained in the safe.

Chinese Taoists Burned By Priests

Peiping, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Chinese police reported today that 36 priests in the famous Taoist Temple Paiyunkuan (White Cloud) revolted yesterday and burned to death the temple's abbot and its Taoist laymen on a huge bonfire.

Police related this story:

The priests accused the two men of violating Taoist regulations. They smashed into the men's living quarters and dragged them to the temple gate.

The priests beat the two men with clubs, trussed them with the ropes, flung them on a pile of firewood, doused them with gasoline and fired the bier.

Twenty-seven of the priests surrendered and the other nine were turned over to police.

Antarctic Is Selected For Test Of Arms

South Polar Area Chosen to Allay Russian Worries and to Assure Some Degree of Secrecy.

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Nov. 13.— (AP) — The United States, aware of Russia's uneasiness over military manoeuvres in the Arctic, has picked the other end of the earth for a frigid zone test of naval ships and weapons.

A navy announcement giving details of a forthcoming expedition to the Antarctic defined it as "primarily of a military nature," preparatory for a possible "day in the future when the navy may be called upon to operate in cold weather."

REAR ADMIRAL RICHARD E. BYRD, who is technical director of the U. S. military expedition to the Antarctic.

Selection of the South Polar region for training naval personnel and test ships, aircraft and other paraphernalia of modern war presumably was dictated, among other things, by two United States desires:

1. To allay Russian worries over operations in the vicinity of Soviet territory.

2. To assure, by means of the remoteness of the area, some degree of secrecy.

However, the expedition under the technical direction of seasoned Polar explorer Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, will not be without neighbors.

Admiral Byrd told a press conference yesterday the Russians have announced an Antarctic expedition—"but we don't have much information" about it. In addition, a British expedition which went into the area two years ago may still have personnel in Antarctica.

The British base, however, is 1,500 miles from the probable headquarters for the navy venture —at the old location of the 1939-41 Byrd expedition in the Ross Sea, which faces toward New Zealand.

Naval officials were cautious in reply to questions about laying formal claim to territory. Vice Admiral Forrest Sherman, deputy chief of naval operations, said:

The primary purpose of the expedition is to train naval units "and any effects these operations might have on the balance of conflicting claims to territories will be incidental only."

Added Admiral Byrd:

"This nation doesn't recognize any claims down there—and hasn't made any itself."

US Administration Working To Avert Soft Coal Strike

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The government called on the "Big Five" operators of the United States soft coal mines today to come to terms with John L. Lewis and take back their federally-operated pits.

With only three days left for further negotiations—and eight days before the expiration of the Nov. 20 deadline set by Mr. Lewis—the administration thus sought to avoid a repetition of last spring's paralyzing coal strike.

Mr. Lewis has stated the present government-union contract covering his 400,000 miners would be "void" Nov. 20 unless his demands are met for a new pact. Under Mr. Lewis' formula, he would give five days advance notice on Friday of his intention to scrap the current agreement.

With time running out, an industry spokesman declared meanwhile that the country's major steel companies have been caught short on coal supplies.

The industry officials told a reporter that United States Steel Corporation had only a two-week supply, Jones and Laughlin 10 days, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube a week.

ILO Drafts Report For Brussels Talk

Montreal, Nov. 13—(CP)—Wide international differences in working conditions have been largely responsible for the difficulties in the world textile industry, the International Labor Office said yesterday in a report prepared for the first meeting of the I.L.O.'s industrial Committee on Textiles which begins a nine-day meeting at Brussels, tomorrow.

A reduction of these differences would result in an improvement of conditions for millions of lower-paid textile workers, and also contribute largely to ensuring more stable development in production and markets, the report said.

The universal character of the textile industry, according to the report, makes it particularly sensitive to the rapid economic, social and technological changes taking place today.

The burden of this instability, it said, is borne, both by the industry, in the form of reduced profits and poor business, and by the workers, whose means of livelihood are threatened.

Visiting Pilots May Skip Customs

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—William A. M. Burden, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, announced yesterday that arrangements have been made to permit United States tourist pilots to fly into Canada without prior clearance from United States customs officials.

Franco Holds Isolation Of Spain Heightens War Peril

By ALBURN D. WEST

Madrid, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco maintained today that United Nations isolation of Spain would greatly increase the possibility of war.

"Every action of violence and injustice always tends rather towards war than towards peace," he said last night in answer to questions handed him by the Associated Press.

He said a diplomatic break would bring about "disunion among nations and dissension in the interior of many" and cost the U.N. prestige, and "the undermining and disunion of the latter would greatly increase the possibility of war."

(The U.N. General Assembly, now meeting in New York, has on its agenda the question of what to do about the Spanish government. Poland has demanded the United Nations break diplomatic relations with Franco. Secretary-General Trygve Lie has urged action by which "democratic government may be restored in Spain.")

Franco said the U.N. Charter prohibited intervention in matters essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of any state.

"If those very nations which are members are not obliged to submit to agreements concerning essentially domestic matters," he said, "to a much lesser degree would there be submission on the part of one which is not under its jurisdiction and has not even requested to be admitted."

Franco added that the U.N. Security Council had been shown "that Spain had not caused a breach of the peace, and could in no case—through her population, industrial preparation or military power — constitute an effective threat to the peace with respect to the power and means of the United Nations."

He said Spain would "not accept any kind of reprehension" from the U.N., and would not seek to join the U.N. until that agency had attained what he termed "a degree of calmness sufficient to make possible its work in the cause of peace and until the passions provoked by the war have become extinct."

(Poland has urged that the Franco Government be barred from U. N. membership.)

Franco spoke of an "attempted plat of Soviet Communism to isolate Spain" and saw "an absolute cleavage between the calm attitude of the peoples who are represented in the United Nations and that adopted by some of their repre-

C.P.R. OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS TO UNIVERSITY

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Bringing to 76 the number of such scolarships granted by the Canadian Pacific Railway, two scholarships to McGill University are again being offered to employees under the age of 21 and to minor sons and daughters of employees, it has been announced by W. M. Neal, the vice-president.

The university scholarships committee will award the free scholarships on the candidate's matriculation results and school record. Renewable from year to year to cover a period not exceeding six years, they provide for courses in chemical, civil, mechanical or electrical engineering, architecture, arts or commerce. A course in household science is available at Macdonald College for women only.

Applications for certificates to enter the competition should be made to F. J. Curtis, superintendent of pensions and staff registrar, Montreal. Certificate holders must apply before July 1, 1947, to T. H. Matthews, registrar of McGill, from whom additional information may be obtained.

need of termination of controls. He regretted that one phase of the economic conditions into which the country had come was to create a bad moral condition, for a condition which made for an accepted universal black market was not a healthy condition.

The war was so much in our minds, said Mr. Sabourin, that perhaps too often it was forgotten that soon we will be entering the third year of reconversion, and where were the fruits promised by the Government?

By way of contrast with the present Liberal party, Mr. Sabourin pointed to the leadership of John Bracken, and the policies of the Progressive Conservative party and summed them up by saying that the latter party stood on the foundations of Confederation, with the wish and ability to be progressive.

Referring to the coming by-election in Richelieu-Vercheres, Mr. Sabourin said this would give another opportunity to test feeling towards the government. He made no prophesies of victory, but believed the event would be interesting.

In a radio address Monday, Mr. Sabourin said that within a few months Canada will have reached the third year of post-war reconversion but disruption, lack of coordination, scarcities of all kinds as well as high prices never were so flagrantly dangling over Canadians' heads—making it virtually impossible to plan or build with safety for tomorrow.

The buying power of Canadian dollar was not to be found in the official government cost-of-living index but rather in "that unpublished but implacable index. . . . the most powerful disrupting economic force in Canada today—the black market."

IN HOLLYWOOD

by Erskine Johnson

NEA Staff Correspondent

Hollywood, Nov. 13.—(NEA)—Veronica Dengel, the beauty authority, flew in to Hollywood the other day and paused long enough to sound off about stars who, she says, don't know beans about undressing properly.

Female stars, that is, Veronica blushingly amended.

The lack of know-how in the unzipping, unbuttoning department vexes vivacious Veronica, who wrote the book "Hold Your Man" and collects some fancy fees from women who bulge and sag.

She believes in charitably dispensing free advice, too, so we listened to what was roughly $5,000 worth of absolutely-no-obligation information on the art of undressing.

It's An Art

"Undressing properly is an art," Veronica said. "A woman should not undress as if she had just encountered a striped kitty in the woods. She should slip off her garments gracefully, with charming and intriguing ease."

We suggested that perhaps a movie studio wasn't exactly the place for a screen actress to undress without being self-conscious or ripping off a snap or two in her haste.

"But, my dear," Veronica interjected, "an actress should undress in front of a hundred cameramen exactly as she undresses at home. After all, there's a vast public watching every move she makes. I mean women, of course.

"Women mimic the big stars, and the result is that every time Rita, Lana or Paulette breaks the rules of undress, you have millions of American women who also undress incorrectly.

The trouble with most Hollywood glamor girls in undressing is that they forget to arch their backs and neglect to curl their feet and legs.

To the Lanas and Ritas, Veronica offers these little undressing tips free of charge:

"Keep your legs in a graceful position."

"For heaven's sake, don't stand up, looking as if you were trying to balance yourself on a tightrope. Sit on the chair or floor."

"Don't wriggle out of your dress or slip. It looks like you're playing tug-of-war with yourself. It looks terrible."

"Don't do a grunt-and-groan act in getting out of your girdle."

Here Come the Grades

We couldn't wait to hear the name of the glamor girl who had exceeded the speed limit in getting out of her clothes.

"Bette Davis," said Veronica, "in that picture 'Stolen Life.' When Bette undressed, she did with a let-me-get-rid-of-this-thing-quick gesture. It reminded me of a woman who tries on a dress and then discovers the $300 price tag."

Rita Hayworth "came off" a shade better, but not much.

Judging by the way she undressed in 'Gilda,' Veronica thinks Miss Hayworth took her own billboard advertising too seriously.

"She undressed in the lookie-what-I'm-doing-now manner."

Lana Turner is entirely too lethargic in taking off her clothes to qualify for Veronica's best-undressed list. Slow motion may be feminine strategy, she would have you know, but it's not art.

Veronica gave Paulette Goddard a passing mark for the way she disrobed in "Diary of a Chambermaid."

"In her undressing she showed the evolution of a lady."

Mothers and friends of Girl Guides and Brownies are cordially invited to meet the Divisional Commissioner, Mrs. Robert Boright, at the local Girl Guide Association meeting on Thursday, November 14, at 8.15 p. m., at the MacKinnon Memorial Building, on Montreal Street.

Safety Measures Continued In U.K.

London, Nov. 13—(CP)—An informed source said today that security precautions against threatened violence in Britain by Palestine underground organizations would be continued indefinitely, despite the fact that yesterday's royal opening of Parliament passed without incident.

The flow of rumors and speculation concerning any violence by the Jewish underground extremists subsided somewhat during the night but there were unconfirmed rumors a member of the so-called Stern Gang had been arrested at Liverpool and that the Daily Mail in London had been warned its building might be blown up.

Sir Harold Scott, metropolitian police commissioner, issued a call for 6,000 volunteers for part time service with his forces, badly depleted during the war, to grapple with an increase in the number of crimes as well as increased security duties.

San Bernardino county, Calif., with an area of 20,175 square miles, is the largest county in the United States.

Pole Treasure Is Discussed By Officials

Canada Officially Declines Any Responsibility in Case of Vanished Polish Property Worth "Many Millions."

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Whether the Canadian Government would take any official part in solving the mystery of the missing Polish treasures remained uncertain today with officials considering "whether any help could appropriately be given in this matter."

That, and a statement definitely declining any responsibility in the case of the treasurers—worth "many millions"—which the Polish Legation claims were taken from a Ste. Anne de Beaupre Church and an Ottawa convent, were the only developments yesterday.

In a 40-minute meeting, Polish Minister Dr. Alfred Fiderkiewicz yesterday laid his story before Lester B. Pearson, Under-Secretary of State. Last night, some hours after the meeting, the External Affairs Department issued a statement reviewing the Canadian Government's connection with the treasure.

In 1940, the statement said, Canadian authorities concerned with the storage of records agreed that certain treasures might be deposited at the records building at the Central Experimental Farm here for safe-keeping. However, they accepted no responsibility for them.

Last August Dr. Fiderkiewicz had been given access to the treasures on the understanding his Legation henceforth would be solely responsible for them.

The Polish Minister stated in his interview with Mr. Pearson that he had in his possession the treasures which were there at that time. However, he claims 32 trunks, filled with priceless antiques including tapestries, flags, goblets and other articles, were taken from the farm and stored at Ste. Anne and the Convent of the Precious Blood, from which places they now are "missing."

The External Affairs Department statement, understood to have been approved by Dr Fiderkiewicz before being released, said the Polish Minister had not suggested the Canadian Government had any responsibility in the matter, but had asked merely if it would be possible for Canada to help in locating the treasures.

BIGAMY CASE OPENS BEFORE ASSIZE COURT

Local Assize Court hearings continued in the Court House this morning with the case of Georges Benjamin, charged with bigamy, proceeding before a newly-sworn-in jury. Mr. Justice Dalma Landry was on the Bench.

One of the first witnesses to take the stand was the former wife of Benjamin who had also married again, and who gave the name of Mrs. Patton.

Ashton Tobin, appearing for accused, handed in a document purporting to be a decree of divorce obtained by the former Mrs. Benjamin from defendant and which was obtained in the State of Vermont.

Hearing is proceeding.

would allow them to give material evidence—legal circles thought it would set a precedent in Canadian courts. They could remember no Canadian Prime Minister ever being called to the stand.

The possibility that he would not appear, however, was seen because of the developments when a subpoena was served in a previous espionage case on Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada and a member of the Royal Commission. He was never called and it is considered possible that this could happen to Mr. King.

Mr. Kellock, Commissioner S. T. Wood of the R.C.M.P., Laurent Beaudry of the External Affairs Department and Inspector John Leopold, R.C.M.P. Communist expert were others served with subpoenas for the Lunan case.

Lunan, alleged head of a cell of agents in Ottawa, already has served three months for refusing to testify in another espionage case in Montreal.

And in our Saviour's loving care there is everlasting rest.

POLISH ELECTIONS FIXED FOR JANUARY 19

Warsaw, Nov. 13—(AP)—Poland will hold its long planned general election on Sunday, Jan. 19, 1947 the government announced last night.

The presidium of the National Council of the Homeland (parliament) set the date under an election law the council passed Sept. 22, despite an opposition Peasant Party charge that the law would deprive thousands of the ballott. In notes given Poland Aug. 20, the United States and Britain asked safeguards for a free election.

Bishop Whelan Describes Task Accomplished By Italian Monk

The inspiring story of Dominic Barberi, an Italian monk chiefly responsible for the renaissance of Catholicism in England during the early part of the nineteenth century, was told last night by Most Reverend Lawrence P. Whelan, Auxiliary Bishop of Montreal, in an address given under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League, Senior Sub-Division, in St. Patrick's Church Hall.

Beginning with Dominic Barberi's birth in Italy in 1792, Bishop Whelan stated that he was taught to read and write by a priest, and in 1814 became associated with the church as a dish washing brother. Soon, however, his love for things holy and his burning desire to spread the gospel became apparent and he was ordained to the priesthood in 1818.

From an early age Father Barberi had been consumed with a fervent desire to reconvert England to the Catholic fold and in 1842 the opportunity presented itself when he was sent to England as a replacement for one of four priests originally selected for work outside Italy. England at this particular time was acutely hostile towards any adherents of the Catholic faith and so severe was the persecution directed against the Pope's followers that they dared practise their faith only in the strictest privacy.

Arriving upon this scene, Father Barberi found himself confronted with seemingly insurmountable obstacles, not the least of which was his virtual inability to speak the English language. Undaunted, however, this unpretentious little individual quietly set about his task and at the end of three weeks he said mass at a service in his own home.

His greatest test in this his chosen task came some time later when he made a three-mile walk from Aston to Stone through a particularly anti-Catholic district to say mass in the latter town. Stones and other objects were hurled at this dauntless figure as he made the journey and, according to Bishop Whelan, he arrived at his destination with "apparently more blood than flesh on his face."

His courage undiminished, Father Barberi said mass and repeated this act, including the three-mile walk, three times a week for two years. Needless to say this display of courage and religious zeal constituted a tremendous example for other Catholic adherents, but Father Barberi did not stop here. He spoke in the centre of London and was the first since the Reformation to hold an outdoor procession of the Blessed Sacrament.

Probably the greatest single result of these actions was the conversion of Rev. John Henry Newman to the Catholic faith, in the opinion of Bishop Whelan, this act taking place in 1845. Once in the Catholic fold, the former went on to become one of the chief pillars of the revived Catholic movement.

In 1849 Fathe Barberi, who had once passed unscathed through a cholera epidemic in Italy, died in England of the same disease.

Chairman for the evening was Mrs. H. M. St. Louis, President of the Senior Sub-Division of the Catholic Women's League. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Wilfrid Drapeau and thanked by Miss Yvette Campbell.

At the conclusion of Bishop Whelan's speech a short address was given by Father J. R. Moisan, parish priest of St. Patrick's Church.

A two piano rendition, the Finale of the Suite for Organ by Theodore Dubois, was given by Mrs. L. E. Codere and Mrs. Octavien Leveque.

Seated in the front row were Father J. R. Moisan, Mrs. H. M. St. Louis, Father Lawrence Tierney, Canon J. N. Codere, Canon J. C. McGee, Brother P. C. O'Keef , Brother J. W. Whelan and Brother A. J. Dalton.

BRUSILOW AND SYMPHONY WERE GREAT SUCCESS

One of the fallacies of the day is to attend a concert of an under-21 with a lifted eyebrow. This practice was once again proved unsound last night after a full audience at the Granada Theatre heard the eighteen-year-old American violinist, Albert Brusilow, play with the Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra in its opening concert of the season. He played with precision and full understanding. The audience recognized a spark of genius.

Conductor Sylvio Lacharite had chosen a well balanced program, the first half of which was devoted to three pieces for orchestra.

The string section of the sixty-five piece orchestra was superb last night, opening with the overture to A Midsummer Night's Dream, by Mendelssohn.

Embodying many of the themes of the incidental music to the play, the overture opened with four lovely chords in the woodwind, faint and mysterious, then, swiftly and delicately, the music of the fairies followed in the violins.

Both movements of the well-known Unfinished Symphony, by Schubert, enthralled the audience. Universal in its appeal, its presentation at the concert brought heavy applause.

Just as well received was Chabrier's Espana-Rhapsody in which the melodies of the two Spanish dances were sparkling.

Albert Brusilow appeared with the orchestra immediately after the intermission for Edouard Lalo's Symphonie Espagnile for violin and orchestra. Best known of Lalo's works, the Symphonie is in five movements. Last night the third was omitted in performance.

Mr. Brusilow played brilliantly throughout.

The main theme of the first movement, allegro non troppo, has two divisions: the first a vigorous phrase given alternately to the orchestra and the solo instrument, the second a melody begun in the solo instrument with a string accompaniment. The movement ends in animation. The scherzando offers a gay and lilting rhythm, with the second theme a darkly passionate melody. Wind instruments introduce the fourth movement—andante—with a sustained melody. The violin presents a slow and pensive theme filled with the passsion of nostalgia and loneliness. The finale, rondo, is pervaded with the spirit of lighthearted happiness.

The guest artist appeared again for the deceivingly simple Gypsy Airs, by Saraste.

Here again, Mr. Brusilow played brilliantly, with fire and sensitivity. The audience was thrilled and demanded a recall. He played Caprice 13, by Piagannini.

100,000 American Cigarettes Seized By R.C.M.P. At Border

One of the largest recent seizures of cigarettes and other smuggled American goods made by Royal Canadian Mounted Police just outside of Rock Island at a late hour last night, resulted in conviction of two men before Judge J. H. Lemay this morning.

Denis Richard, 25, and Paul Yvon Ferland, 23, both of Roxton Falls, were apprehended in a car, owned by the former and were charged with being in illegal possession of some 100,000 American cigarettes and a considerable quantity of cigarette and pipe tobacco and cigarette papers, the total value being close to $1,000.

A further charge of smuggling American goods on October 4, last was laid against Richard.

Both men pleaded guilty this morning. On the October count, Richard drew a fine of $50 or one month and on the charge laid last night Judge Lemay sentenced him to a fine of $400 and costs or three months in jail. Ferland was given a fine of $200 and costs or three months in jail.

The arrests were made by Constables G. R. Mackenzie and T. H. Beech, attached to the Rock Island detail of the R.C.M.P. The two youths were seized after a long wait by the two constables on a lonely side-road four miles distant from Rock Island. It was pointed out by the officers that there are 22 of these by-roads crossing the boundary line in this vicinity and it requires considerable vigilance to patrol the area.

Richard's automobile was ordered impounded in addition to the smuggled tobacco.

Drive In Behalf Of Residents Of St. Malo To Be Held Nov. 16

Trucks to be used in gathering clothing and foodstuffs in the charity drive for the destitute population of St. Malo, France, will assemble at No. 3 Fire Station at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, November 16, it has been officially announced.

The drive, the object of which is financial assistance as well as donations of clothing and foodstuffs for these unfortunate victims of German brutality, is taking place throughout the city under the guidance of local welfare organizations. About thirty-five trucks in all, volunteered by a number of trucking firms, will make a door-to-door clothing canvass of every house in Sherbrooke, with school children supplying the manpower under the supervision of members of local snowshoe clubs.

In addition to aiding in the collection of clothing by truck, schoolchildren have been asked to bring foodstuffs to the schools for collection, while collection boxes will be circulated about the city for funds for the relief of the hardships being endured by the St Malo residents.

Ninety per cent of their town having been wiped out by retreating German forces, the St. Malo inhabitants are presently living in caves surrounding the town and are maintaining a bare subsistence on starvation rations. Accordingly, representatives of the St. Malo municipal government are in Sherbrooke to solicit aid for their unfortunate fellow-residents from local citizens and those in other parts of the Eastern Townships.

The gifts collected for the St. Malo people will be transported to France by a French ship docking at Halifax in December and it is hoped that these donations will arrive in time to provide that suffering population with the first happy Christmas it has experienced in a long time.

Net Profit From 1946 Edition Of Rotary Fair Totals $9,010

At a dinner and dance for Rotary Fair workers held last night at the New Sherbrooke, it was announced that the net profit from the 1946 edition of the Rotary Fair held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Belvidere Street Armory last week totalled $9,010.74.

Walter Sutherland, Sherbrooke Rotary president, was in the chair and Gerald M. Wiggett, general chairman of the 15th annual fair, announced satisfaction in the result, which was $1,000 short of last year. Mr. Wiggett expressed thanks to his committee, their helpers, to the police and fire departments, the military and St. John Ambulance Brigade detachments, the Boy Scouts, the press and to the general public. He mentioned particularly Rosaire Peterson, of Canada Packers, who did the decorating.

His Worship Mayor Guy Bryant spoke briefly, thanking the public for supporting the fair, and the workers for contributing towards its success.

Fair Treasurer R. L. Curphey presented the financial report, which showed gross receipts of $16,439. The cost of merchandising was approximately $7,447. The net profit on the raffle was $3,143, with a donation of $15 for a gross profit of $12,150. $3,140 was marked for general expense, for a net profit of $9,010, against a 1945 total of $10,149.

Total gross receipts at the various booths follow :

Superfine, $2,408; blankets No. 2, $2,183; bingo, $2,133; blankets No. 1, $1,899; horse race game, $1,404; fruit No. 1, $1,227; hams and chickens, $1,214; fruit No. 2, $1,092; hosiery, $713; candy, $601; double-double, $518; hoop-la, $283; contact, $273; jubilee, $231; check room, $40; restaurant, $181.

Outlook Of Industry Reported "Optimistic" As Strikes Over

Unplaced applicants in Sherbrooke number 259 and unfilled vacancies 326, it was indicated today in a Labor Department statement that at the end of October there were 133,000 unfilled vacancies in Canada, a 9,000 reduction from the total of 142,000 at October 3.

The Department said that in the wake of recent strike settlements the outlook of Canadian industry is "optimistic" and predicted early "stimulated" increases in steel, electrical apparatus, automobile, rubber, chemical and brass production.

Of 26,000 workers involved in disputes at Oct. 1, all but about 700 now had returned to work.

"An extensive flow of goods (soon) will close the general demand-supply gap and relieve inflationary pressure," a department statement said. "The heavy consumer demand for all types of goods will probably maintain manufacturing employment in the next few months, thus offsetting its normal seasonal decline."

The over-all situation had changed greatly since October, 1945. Since then the Dominion's economy had absorbed "thousands" of war workers and more than 600,000 veterans. Unemployment now was "less than three per cent of the labor force."

"In the industrial regions of Quebec and Ontario, employment conditions show a marked improvement over those of October, 1945. The trend of activity in the seasonally-affected Prairies and Pacific regions shows a steady recovery from the postwar low in the spring of 1946 to a level slightly above that of October, 1945.

"The Maritime region has not yet regained its position of a year ago—unplaced applicants totalled 10,000 at Oct. 31, 1945: 30,000 at April 30, 1946, and 19,000 at Oct. 31, 1946."

"Unplaced applicants" registered with the national employment service Oct. 31 totalled 134,000, a decrease of 8,000 from the Sept. 30 total. The latest figure was 26,000 less than at July 31.

Most jobs were found in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes, due to strike settlements and expansion in the logging industry. Unemployment increased in the Prairies during October and remained stable on the Pacific Coast.

GIVE IT TO HIS OLD HOME TOWN!
The reason why the town of St. Malo is seeking outside support more so than other European cities is because ninety per cent of the town was deliberately levelled on the orders of the German general at the head of the army in that sector. Incendiary bombs were placed in every house and set off shortly before the arrival of the American liberation forces. For four days and four nights fires raged unchecked, destroying not only the homes but all the possessions of the townspeople and today, more than a year after the holocaust, many of the people are still living in caves which surround the town, without food, clothing, accommodation and as yet no prospects of being rehabilitated for some time to come.

ENCOURAGING WORDS FROM MOLOTOV

The declaration of Russian Foreign Secretary Molotov that Russian and United States arms reduction proposals can be "harmonized" is a distinct forward step towards the establishment of an effective and lasting peace, providing that the Soviets are willing to grant some real concessions—such as the establishment of an international inspection authority to enforce disarmament.

Such a body is an absolute necessity if the western nations are to avoid the pitfalls into which they fell in the years after the First Great War when they embarked on a grand program of unilateral disarmament. In the years from 1920 to the end of 1937, Great Britain and the United States reduced their armed forces to the level of almost token armies and navies, while the plants for the production of armaments fell into disrepair to the extent that they were almost valueless. Today the desire of these nations for a reduction of the defence burden is as great as ever, for there can be no denying that the burden of large standing armies and heavy production of armaments undermines the economic position of any nation, but the tragic lesson of experience has shown that the levies must be met until such time as assurance can be received that all major powers are adopting the same course.

Mr. Molotov would have the western world believe that Russia is ready to support some such move and probably he is expressing his own sincere personal hopes in this respect. One thing must be remembered, however. There has been a sharp difference in recent weeks between the words of Mr. Molotov and those of Premier Joseph Stalin, with the latter frequently repudiating or at least modifying the opinions expressed by the Foreign Minister. With the Premier still the dominant figure on the Russian scene, his reaction to the statements of his associate must be awaited before the world can form any effective opinion upon the value of the Russian suggestions.

Then, again, the meaning the Russians are willing to put on the word "harmonize" must be interpreted in the light of future developments. It remains to be seen whether this harmony can be obtained by mutual concessions or whether it depends on the complete surrender of the western powers to the Soviet ambitions.

TRUMAN SEEKS A POLITICAL TRUCE

Preliminary Republican reaction to the appeal of President Truman for a political truce during the next two years so that the United States may progress along the path towards economic rehabilitation indicates that the majority group in the Senate and House of Representatives look for the President himself to give them an effective example of political moderation. For the benefit, not only of the United States, but of Canada and the world at large it is to be hoped that the coming Congress will be comparatively free of petty political bickering that only serves to retard recovery.

With a Democratic President and a Republican Congress there will be an even greater temptation than before to play a furious game of partisan politics with an eye on the 1948 presidential campaign. It is discouragingly easy to foresee what might happen—a running battle of vetoes and overriding votes between the White House and the Eightieth Congress.

Nothing, of course, could be less desirable. A division of partisan control in the government's legislative and executive branches is an intrinsically uneasy and unproductive arrangement. It will require the greatest responsibility and forbearance by all concerned if the country is to recover from the state of confusion and contradiction in which it went to the polls.

To obtain the co-operation which he seeks, President Truman will have to exhibit a little more consistency and judgment than he has in the past. Naturally a mild-mannered individual, the President has the unhappy faculty of failing to weigh his words, expressing passing opinions on subjects which later cause trouble and which he then seeks to repudiate. One such instance was his endorsement of the speech of Commerce Secretary Wallace whom he was forced to eject from the cabinet later over the same talk. There are numerous other instances.

With a hostile majority in both Houses of Congress, Mr. Truman will find his position even more difficult in this respect, with even a comparatively minor misstep producing a condition where the business of the country may be stymied.

MODERNIZING THE COAL INDUSTRY

The crisis now facing the British coal mining industry, once the basis of the country's economic prosperity but now the black spot on the picture, lends special interest to the report of the development of a new coal-cutting and loading machine which promises to virtually revolutionize mining practices. Developed by Matthew S. Moore, a Glasgow mining engineer, the machine has been loudly praised by Fuel Minister Shinwell in the House of Commons.

Mr. Moore conceived the idea some sixteen years ago and it took him several years to bring the machine to the state of perfection he aimed at. Various engineering firms would have nothing to do with his machine, but at length a factory in Worcester, England, had faith in it and produced it. But still the mining operators rejected it, and last August a judge of the High Court took the unusual course of extending the patent rights for ten years because of what he considered "its exceptional merits."

During the short interval the Moore machine has come into its own. Machines of various sizes can be made, but the essential facts are that the large sixteen-feet-long machine weighing ten tons, operated by electric motors, cuts 300 tons of coal per shift, a crew of fourteen doing the work of thirty-six by hand, doing it much easier so that even boys or old men can operate, and on piecework rates, each earn $15 per day. Not only does the machine cut the walls so smoothly that a Scottish miner remarked they could be papered, but it breaks up the coal, and a loading device which is part of the machine puts the coal into a conveyor. The Bolsover colliery in Derbyshire has produced 1,000,000 tons with these machines, with only one accident.

The authorities may be over-enthused with the possibilities of this new device, but if it comes up to expectations, the sorely-troubled British coal industry may be restored to a degree of prosperity which will permit it to take the lead in the economic rehabilitation of the nation.

Washington Column

BY PETER EDSON

OUTLOOK FOR SPRING FINERY

Best guesses in Washington are that if all remaining controls on wearing apparel were removed, prices would go up another 15 to 20 per cent above the pre-war levels. They would level off at these new highs until the Easter trade is taken care of, then go down to seek more proper levels.

Clothing makes up about 11 per cent of the Bureau of Labor Statistics' index of consumer prices, commonly referred to as the cost of living. Clothing is now 60 per cent higher in price than it was in 1939. Another 15-point increase on top of that would mean that it would cost you $175 to get the equivalent of every $100 worth of clothing you bought in 1939.

Today wool clothing is 50 per cent higher, cotton clothing 92 per cent higher, natural and synthetic silks 45 per cent higher, and footwear 42 per cent higher than 1939 averages. The percentages will be above these figures when October prices are reported by BLS.

Wool is probably in better supply than is any other material. An average year's production used to be 20 million men's suits. This year 28 million suits are being made, and it's still not enough. The shortage is caused principally by a lack of labor in the men's clothing industry.

ABNORMAL DEMAND CREATES SHORTAGE

The supply of summer clothing now being made won't be normal. That is, you still won't be able to go into the stores and buy what you want when you want it, for prices you are willing to pay. Production is away up, but it may not meet the demand unless buying habits of consumers change.

While the average male shopper used to be content with a few white shirts, now he wants a dozen or more. And the average woman who used to be satisfied with one topcoat now has to have three or more.

High wages are said to be responsible for that. If there were an adequate supply of radios, automobiles and such consumers' "hard" goods, they might soak up some of this purchasing power and relieve the pressure on "soft" goods like clothing.

Actually, there are few effective price controls left.

Taking off the MAP, or Maximum Average Price, order last June 30 tended to encourage production of better qualities, but at naturally higher prices. When the Civilian Production Administration recently took off its style-limitation order, this condition was accentuated even more.

SOME CONTROLS REMAIN ON

OPA's low-cost-clothing production program is still on, however, and OPA is authorized to offer a 5 per cent incentive to encourage manufacture of lower-priced lines. Also, OPA's priorities control is still in effect, and all textiles under allocation must go into low-cost clothing. About half the clothing made comes under this low-cost-line control.

The basic shortage in the apparel industry is shortage of textiles. Removal of OPA's loom-freeze order may help some.

Wool fabrics are in best supply, but the wool industry has not asked for decontrol. Rayon and hosiery industries have likewise not asked for decontrol, though both have considered it.

Cotton is completely unpredictable. On paper there is a shortage of raw cotton, a shortage of textiles for both apparel and domestic cottons like sheetings and towels. When the raw cotton market took its October nose-dive, there was a possibility for lowered cotton goods prices. Today, nobody knows.

Shoes will apparently continue scarce for some time. But the low-cost shoe industry, which normally makes three-fourths of America's footwear, wants to keep its pre-war market and may not try to cash in by raising prices for a temporary clean-up, taking advantage of the removal of ceilings on shoes, hides and leathers.

In hats, neckties, bathing-suits and all such non-basic apparel lines the controls have all been let go.

Press Comment

Following is the second of a three-part article entitled "Canada the Link—U.S.A. to U.S.S.R." written by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, author and explorer. The article appeared in "The Rotarian," publication of Rotary International, and should be of intense interest to every Canadian who is concerned about the development and protection of his country.
EDITOR.

Two such cities are the lumbering center of Igarka, 50 miles north of the Arctic Circle on the Yenisei River, and the mining center of Norilsk, 200 miles within the Circle and 100 miles from a navigable stream. Igarka has more than 20,000 people. The population of Norilsk has been a military secret, but it is thought to have at least 20,000. Under the new Soviet Fifteen-year Plan, those northern cities already established will grow and expand, and additional ones will be started in various other Arctic locations as conditions change.

If Canada is to weld itself into a strong U.S.-Soviet link, she must develop her northern frontier as the Soviets have theirs. Today the southernmost fifth of Canada has 11 million people, but the northern four-fifths is a vast region of little-known forest and prairie populated by less than 100,000. No cities comparable to Igarka and Norilsk exist. Fairbanks, Alaska, with 6,000 population, is 100 miles south of the Arctic Circle. In Canada, Yellowknife, with a little over half that population, is about 150 miles farther south. North of the Circle neither Canada nor Alaska has a town of more than 300.

Edmonton and Prince Rupert, Canada's most northerly big cities, are only about 350 miles from the U.S. border, yet mainland Canada stretches some 1,200 miles farther north, and Canadian islands, some larger than Ireland and Great Britain, step northward another 800 miles. Every mile of this is toward the Soviet Union. Flying from Vancouver to Moscow, or from Toronto to Vladivostok, you'd be over Canadian land or territorial waters for 2,500 miles. From Windsor, Ontario, to Krasnoyarsk or Novosibirsk, Siberia, it's Canada for 2,800 miles.

Each year, as settlements approach each other on both sides of the Arctic, fliers on such routes will have fewer and fewer miles of uninhabited Canadian lands to traverse. The Soviet Union is taking it for granted that in the first postwar decade the northward push in Canada will parallel hers.

New resources—the same stimulus spurring colonization of the Soviet northland — will be the magnet that attracts settlers to the North American Arctic. Large uranium deposits at Great Bear Lake on the Arctic Circle have taken on world-shaking importance because uranium is used as a source of atomic power. North of Great Bear Lake is Coppermine, a 40,000-square-mile district of some of the world's richest copper. Geologists say the entire Mackenzie River valley may be rich in oil. In the Point Barrow and Colville River region of Alaska, other large oil deposits are already being explored.

You may wonder what Arctic colonists are going to live on. Forget it! Wheat and mixed farming are successful in the Tanana River valley 100 miles south of the Arctic Circle in Alaska. Wheat can be grown equally far north in Canada and Russia. Plants work two 12-hour shifts very day in the Arctic, for the Summer sun shines 20 to 24 hours daily. That explains why potatoes in the Yukon valley mature about the same time as they do in Maine or Michigan.

The musk ox, reindeer, and perhaps horse, could produce as much meat, wool, and hides on Arctic and sub-Arctic prairies as can be produced on Temperate and Tropic zone grasslands too dry for cereal farming, but not too dry for stock ranching. The whale, walrus, and seal have abundant red meat which is considered as good as beef or mutton by those who know it. In lakes like Great Bear and Slave, larger than Lakes Erie and Ontario, fishing resources exceed those of more southerly waters of like area.

Winter temperatures are not unbearable in the Far North. At the very North Pole the thermometer probably never descends below 55 or 60 degrees. On the whole Arctic coast of North America no weather bureau has recorded cold as low as 55 degrees below zero. Yet five States in the U.S. have records of 55 degrees or colder. The coldest known spot in North America (79 degrees) is Fort Good Hope, 20 miles south of the Arctic Circle. The coldest recorded temperature in the world is 90 below zero at Oimekon, Siberia, 150 miles south of the Arctic Circle. Conversely, many a Summer tourist trying to escape the sizzling heat of the Mississippi Valley, has sweltered in 90 to 100 degree heat in the Yukon valley and wondered whether those who advised taking woollen underwear along had ever journeyed to Alaska in Summer.

PLANS STILL VAGUE

Windsor Daily Star

Prime Minister Mackenzie King now hints that he may not retire, after all, before the next election. He says he has plenty of time, between now and 1950, to consider whether he should lead the Liberal Party through another campaign.

Everyone certainly interpreted his words some time ago as a definite statement of intent to quit. But Mr. King is adroit in the use of language. It appears now that his attitude is, "Retirement if necessary but not necessarily retirement."

NO ECONOMIC ISOLATIONISM

Christian Science Monitor

All the world is guessing whether the Republican landslide will send an eventual tidal wave through the seven seas of diplomacy. Americans, firmly planted on the rock of their bipartisan foreign policy, anticipate no disturbance greater than the local squalls that have been plaguing all seven seas to date.

It is obvious that Senator Vandenberg's hands will be strengthened by the election, and that this may well mean a stiffening of the attitude toward Russia. The important question here is what form this opposition to Russia will take. Will it involve a retreat to economic—not to political—isolationism, with an abandonment of any positive attempt to combat Russian influence by economic co-operation with friends or potential friends of democracy?

Senator Vanderberg will be under heavy pressure from the Taft-Bricker wing of the Republican Party, with its record of opposition to the British loan, the reciprocal trade program, and the Bretton Woods agreements. On the other hand, the Dewey-Stassen internationalist wing will support the general objectives of present policy.

Whatever modifications of policy take place, no decisive change is likely unless the economic isolationists take aggressive action in Congress. Even then the presidential veto can have a restraining influence, as in the case of any attempt to repeal the existing Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. The new importance in Congress of high protectionists like Representative Harold Knutson, however, indicates the severe struggle that may lie ahead to maintain a policy of international economic co-operation.

PRACTICE FAILS THEORY

Montreal Gazette

A fresh opportunity for Canada to assume some measure of the internatinal obligations consonant with its status and with the Governmen's consistent demands for a voice in international decisions has arisen in Japan. So far Allied occupation troops have been provided by the U.S. principally, with British and Australian units sharing the duties. Originally, both China and the Philippine Commonwealth had proposed to send a division each to relieve the unequal burden of Allied military responsibility. Circumstances, partly domestic and partly local supply, now make it unlikely that either of the additional forces will be sent to Japan. The entire Allied occupation must continue to be supplied by Britain, the U.S. and Australia, therefore, unless assistance is given by Canada.

The Canadian Government's visible reluctance to underwrite in practice the international status it claims in theory is incomprehensible. To talk glibly of internationalism while it restricts its activities to the narrowest hemispheric provincialism does nothing to enhance Canada's authority abroad.

Whether Ottawa recognizes the facts of geography or not, Canada is a Pacific power. It has economic interests in that area; it has obvious defence responsibilities there. As one of the Allied nations that won the victory, it has a duty to its allies. Above all, it has a duty to the Canadian people to maintain Canadian prestige everywhere. These commitments, however intangible, involve practical obligations which cannot be denied.

The Government must reverse its Pacific policy if it is to keep faith with Canada. The Government should be one of the original participating members in the new Pacific Social and Economic Council that Australia is organizing among the states with interests in that area; it should, particularly, insist upon Canada sharing garrison duty in Japan, in peace as in war, at the side of the Pacific Dominion, Britain and the U.S. No other policy is possible if Canada is to take its equal undisputed place among the nations of the world.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

FIRST TRICK OFTEN KEYS ENTIRE HAND

L. R. Robertson, president of the Texas unit of the American Contract Bridge League, writes that the Dallas delegation will probably charter a plane to fly to Hollywood, Fla., for the Winter National Tournament Dec. 8 to 15. Dallas players have done a lot of winning at important tournaments throughout the country and were represented by Capt. Mark Hodges of that city on the team winning the world championship Masters team-of-four title last August.

"Robbie," as the Texas president is known, is quite a player himself. While the play he made in today's hand is an old one, nevertheless few players recognize it when it comes up. "Robbie" played the ten of clubs from dummy on the opening lead, and East made a nice defensive play by refusing to put on the king.

Now the average player would allow the ten to hold, but not "Robbie." He went right up with the ace of clubs, laid down the king of spades and overtook it in dummy with the ace. Then he led the jack of spades, East won and shifted to a diamond. "Robbie" won with the king and led a club for entry into dummy to cash the good spade suit. Thus he made five spades, two diamonds and two clubs, the nine tricks needed for his contract.

Many game contracts are thrown away by a careless play to the first trick. You cannot let the first trick take care of itself, and then start to count. Plan the whole hand before you play the first card from dummy.

DOROTHY DIX

Broken Engagements

Affairs Severed Before Marriage Save Post-Ceremony Misery

Dear Miss Dix: I have gone with a girl for three years. During this time we became engaged. Recently she broke off with me and it took the light out of my life. Since then I have not been able to do a darn thing. I have tried going with other girls, but cannot have a pleasant time. I can't even have any fun when I go out with a bunch of boys. I can't keep my mind on my work.

What do you think of a girl who will go with a fellow for that long and then drop him?

BORED.

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: Well, I wouldn't think you would be bored with all of that trouble on your mind. I should think you have plenty to worry over. There is nothing like a fickle sweetheart to keep a chap on his toes in trying to figure out what she is going to do next and which way the cat is going to jump.

But, see here, son, you know that sometimes a trouble is a blessing in disguise, and the things that happen to us that seem at the time to be a great misfortune turn out to be the very things that make us. And this is particularly true of love affairs, especially boy and girl romances.

WOMEN CHANGE

Apply this to your own case. You have been going with Mary Jane, or whatever her name is, for three years and you were engaged to her. No doubt at first she loved you, but in three years a bobby-soxer grows up and develops into being a woman. Her tastes change in boys just as they do in hats or dresses. She gets emotionally mature just as she does bodily. And, without her intending it or wishing it, she finds that she no longer loves you, and she does the only honest and honorable thing in the circumstances. She breaks off the engagement.

Of course, you are wounded in your heart and in your vanity, but think how much worse you would be hurt if all of this happened after marriage and you found that you had a wife who had ceased to love you. You would have trouble for sure then, and after you had stood it for a little while you would probably get a divorce, and maybe there would be a little child for you to have to give up, and that would be a heartbreak.

I think that any man and woman who find out that they no longer love the person they are engaged to should call the wedding off, even if they are on the very steps of the church.

You can keep yourself from thinking about this girl, who is really doing you a kindness instead of a wrong, if you will only use some will-power. Concentrate on your work. Work is the best remedy for any sort of trouble.

Dear Miss Dix: I have a sister 20 years old who hates all housework and will never do a lick of it if she can help herself. She is considering marrying a widower who has two children, 8 and 4 years old, and before she does it I want her to realize what a job she is assuming in undertaking to do the cooking, washing and ironing for such a household.

I fear she will be very unhappy.

OLDER SISTER.

Answer: Unless marriage works some miracle in her that changes her tastes and habits, she certainly will not only be unhappy but tired, and so will her husband and the poor little children. No girl of 20, especially one who is allergic to housework, should marry a man with a ready-made family because she is not fitted for the responsibility she assumes.

Little children are not the pin-feathered angels that they are represented as being in song and story. They are noisy, mischievous, dirty, fighting, howling little bundles of energy that require incessant care and that would try the patience of Job himself. Only a mother's love can make the task of rearing them anything but a life of slavery, and no young girl should undertake it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a young man recently discharged from the air force. Have obtained a job as boss in a canning factory. I have fallen in love with one of the girls who works there, but I have a wife who has always been good to me, and a small daughter I love very much. Because of this I am unable to decide whether or not to obtain a divorce.

What should I do?

DEAN S.

Answer: My advice to you is to can your romance and stick to your good wife and little daughter. You will be happier living with a clean, faithful woman who has been true to you than you will be if you start out to be a wolf who pursues every skirt that flutters across your path.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

REBEKAH GROUP HELD MEETING AT COATICOOK

Coaticook, Nov. 13.—The Rebekahs of this district, which includes Sherbrooke, Lennoxville and Coaticook, held their annual District meeting in Coaticook, on Saturday evening, November 2, under the direction of Sister Edith M. Elford, the District Deputy President.

The proceedings opened with the reception of the visitors in the Guild Hall, at six p. m., followed by a banquet, which was prepared by different members of the Ladies' Guild, under the convener, Mrs. Fanny Wallace, who and all who helped in any way deserve much credit for the banquet and the artistic arrangements of the different tables, where over one hundred were seated.

The Rebekahs then repaired to the I.O.O.F. Lodge rooms, where an exchange table provided many articles for sale. A large, attractive box of homemade food and a large homemade cake were won in the drawing Sister Ada Neiley, of Lennoxville, and Sister Annie Waide, of Stanstead, respectively.

At the Banquet in the Guild Hall Sister Emma White, was presented with a corsage of red roses in honor of her presence. She is the only charter member of the local lodge. The presentation was made by the president, Sister Agnes McClay.

The meeting was opened by Harmony Lodge, No. 7, of Coaticook, followed by the introduction of the Assembly, Grand Lodge and Grand Encompment officers, Sister Edith M. Elford, D. D. P., Harmony, No. 7; Sister Agnes McClay, president of Colfax Lodge, No. 29, Knowlton; Brother S. H. Bachelder, grand treasurer, of the I.O.O.F., of Sherbrooke; Sister Elizabeth Morgan, A. I. G., of Princess, No. 4, Sherbrooke; Sister Myrtle Lane, P. P., of Myrtle, No. 28, Lennoxville; Sister Annie Waide, P. # "GOLD SEAL" PRESENTED TO HIGH SCHOOL

Cookshire, Nov. 13.—A very impressive ceremony was held in the High School on Firday afternoon, when the school was presented with a "Gold Seal" from the Junior Red Cross for their twenty years of continuous work.

Miss A. Macdonald, one of the founders of the Junior Red Cross Society in Cookshire, was present.

Charles Harbinson, president of the Student Council, acted as chairman.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O God Our Help in Ages Past," followed by responsive reading from the School Hymn Book. Then the singing of "O Canada," and a salute to the flag.

Master Ronald Harbinson, president of the Junior Red Cross Society, introduced the speaker, Mr. C. M. MacRae, past president of the local Senior Red Cross Society. Mr. MacRae spoke of the wonderful work done by the Junior Red Cross in helping others, which taught the lesson to be unselfish. He read a letter from Mrs. Ruth B. Shaw, director of the Junior Red Cross Society, Quebec Division, in which she said, "There are 184 branches receiving this reward in our province. The fact that your school has carried on for so long without a break means that you have had a large part in making the Junior Red Cross Society what it is today, an organization which is known for its health program and its wide spread service to boys and girls of many races."

Mr. MacRae then presented the "Gold Seal" to Miss Elliott, who thanked the pupils and staff for their help in carrying on.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

In reporting on the dedication of a plaque placed in St. Peter's Anglican Church in memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice, Colin Pope's name was omitted.

W.A. MEMBERS HOLD MEETING AT RICHMOND

MacNaughton, Mrs. W. D. Ross, Mrs. C. Spence and Mrs. C. R. Boast, with the following members on the supper committee: Mrs. H. C. Tozer, Mrs. W. Boa and Mrs. Percy Frazer. Two members from each group will be appointed for the Food Table.

The members of the buying committee, Mrs. K. G. Nourse, Mrs. A. A. Macairtney and Mrs. W. J. Ewing were requested to buy curtains for the windows in the lower hall, of the United Memorial Hall.

VACCINATION CURBS INFLUENZA THREAT

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.

In view of the outbreak of influenza which is anticipated this month and next, there is widespread interest in the possibility of preventing the disease by vaccination with inactivated influenza virus A and B, which is now available for civilian use.

Dr. O'Brien.

Infection with influenza virus A starts suddenly with fever, headache, dry throat, and generalized aching pain, usually lasting three or four days.

B-type influenza virus infection usually is milder in onset, less severe in its effect, and shorter in duration.

Neither type can be treated with sulfa drugs, penicillin, or streptomycin. In November and December, 1943, however, the influenza vaccine A and B proved successful, in the majority of cases, in preventing the infection.

Hits Respiratory Lining

Influenza virus attacks the lining membrane of the respiratory system from the tip of the nose to the bottom of the lungs, and the surface cells are destroyed in the severe inflammatory reaction. Bowel or intestinal "flu" does not actually exist, for the virus does not attack the stomach or intestine.

Outbreaks of influenza start at approximately the same time every two or three years and last about two or three months. Between epidemics no trace of virus can be discovered in persons ill with infections of the respiratory tract.

In recent years, most of the cases have been mild and not complicated by pneumonia.

Influenza virus vaccine A and B is manufactured by inoculating incubated chicken eggs with a small amount of virus. Large quantities of virus can be grown in this way.

The virus is treated in such a way that it is harmless while still retaining its power to produce immunity when inoculated into man.

To vaccinate against influenza, 1 c.c. of vaccine is injected under the skin. This must be given well in advance of a possible outbreak.

The vaccine protects for only a short time, about six months to a year, but further protection can be developed later by injecting a booster dose of the vaccine.

Vaccine on Trial Now

Because the vaccine has not been tested under severe epidemic conditions, and because of the possibility of sharp reactions from its use, some public health authorities hesitate to recommend it.

This year, however, it will be used on large groups of persons in schools, colleges, and industry, to prevent loss of time from illness. Most of our educational institutions are so crowded they would find it difficult to care for their students should many of them become ill with influenza at the same time.

Influenza is a specific disease caused by virus. Many of the infections called "flu" are not influenza at all.

The proper influenza treatment involves bed rest, light diet, plenty of water, and analgesic drugs for relief of pain.

Fatalis e rtislutoremf shrdlu tions, and it is well that we will be able to control this disease in the future.

Question: My 19-year-old son has suffered convulsion seizures since he had measles at the age of 9. He has attacks every two or three weeks, even though he takes medicine. How do you account for this?

Answer: Many patients who continue to have convulsive seizures often over a long period of time either are not taking their medicine regularly or are being made more nervous by the anxiety others display about their condition.

Danube Boats To Be Freed U.S. Declares

Franfurt, Germany, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States commander in Europe, announced today that the United States would release to their owners in Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslavakia nearly 600 commercial Danube river boats whose status had become a major international issue.

Simultaneously with Gen. McNarney's announcement came a statement by Gen. Mark W. Clark, United States commander in Austria, saying "the United States had taken the initiative in riding the economy of Central Europe and the Balkans" by releasing the impounded craft.

"The restitution of these craft to the nations concerned is to be accomplished as rapidly as possible," Gen. McNarney's announcement said. "At present the craft are manned by skeleton crews and are at anchor in winter harbors."

The vessels involved were captured when United States forces entered Austria last year. Most had been brought up the Danube by their owners in the closing days of the war. Since then Balkan states have requested the release of the vessels. Along with the freighters, barges and passenger boats are several small warships, such as gunboats which once belonged to the Hungarian Navy.

Q—How is the "Bat," U.S. Navy's automatic glider bomb, guided?

A—By radar, from the plane which releases it.

College Trustee Board Names New Officers And Committees — Add To School's Residential Accommodation

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of Stanstead College Leslie N. Buzzell of Montreal was elected chairman replacing Dr. Charles W. Colby who has been in office since 1940. Dr. Colby becomes Honorary Chairman. Fitting tribute was paid Dr. Colby by D. J. Salls who stated that the survival of Stanstead College following the disastrous fire of 1938 was due almost entirely to Dr. Colby.

Other officers elected were Vice-Chairman, Senator Charles B. Howard of Sherbrooke, J. D. Ferguson of Stanstead and H. Gordon Hanson of Montreal. Colin W. Webster of Montreal was named Honorary Treasurer.

The Executive will consist of the Honorary Chairman, the Chairman, the Principal, J. D. Ferguson, A. M. Irvine, D. J. Salls, Rev. C. M. Stewart, Clinton E. Soles and Colin W. Webster.

The Staff Committee: The Principal, A. L. Fuller, A. E. Curtis, Rev. C. M. Stewart.

The Property Committee: H. F. Baldwin, L. W. Hill, A. E. Curtis, Dr. A. R. V. White.

Mr. J. H. Andrews was re-elected Chairman of Stanstead Associates.

The Principal, Errol C. Amaron, reported increased registration in all departments with the residential accomodation taxed to capacity. The property formerly owned by the late Dr. R. O. Ross has been acquired by the College and is now being operated as an additional residence.

The Alumni Association reported on the completion of the Alumni Memorial Gate which was turned over to the Board of Trustees on Sunday and fittingly dedicated.

The Treasurer reported that the budget had been balanced with the aid of a number of contributions. These and certain bequests received during the year amounted to more than $6000.

Following a very successful meeting the Trustees retired to the reception room for tea served by the ladies of the College.

BOOK CHAT

AND REVIEWS OF NEW BOOKS

by

Patricia J. Carroll

Librarian at Haskell Free Library.

Those among you who have been in the Library during the last few days have already had a chance to see our display of children's books, while many more of you have, I am sure, noticed the window displays featuring Book Week which have appeared in the store of Caswell and O'Rourke in Derby Line and in Cowan's store in Rock Island.

Here in the Library we have tried to show you just how "books are bridges" to all kinds of new experiences. It is sometimes difficult for adults to remember that children are creatures of the imagination, however, cannot live by itself, it must be fed with pictures, with stories with books all of which can open up exciting new vistas. Few parents can hope to supply those in adequate variety these things which serve to bridge the gap to the land of make-believe so important to childhood, but the Public Library can at least make some attempt to do so.

For children who seek romance in tales of long ago there are books such as Marion Flexner's "Drina" or for those who love to hear about children of other lands there Dola de Jong's story of a Dutch family, called "The Level Land" or perhaps your child is reaching the age where the problem of what he would like to become is being discussed; for these boys and girls we have career stories such as Mary Rebecca Lingenfelter's "Books on Wheels" or in more serious vane "Twenty Careers of To-morrow" by Darrell and Frances Huff.

These and many others from our own collection appear in our Book Week display, and on Saturday we will have the special display borrowed from the Free Public Library Commission, which will give you some idea of the books which we hope to add to the Library.

The Book Wagon from St. Johnsbury paid us a visit last Thursday, and among the many new books which they left are two which I am sure will be of interest to those parents who take an active interest in the books their children are reading.

Paul Hazard's "Books Children and Men" will appeal to all who are interested in the combination of child and book, while Anne Thaxter Eaton's book "Reading with Children" helps you to understand just which books, both old and new, will appeal to a child, and in addition there are lists of the various types of books mentioned conveniently placed at the end of each chapter. Not only parents but aunts and uncles as well with Christmas shopping in mind would do well to spend a few moments glancing over these lists if they want their gift to receive a warm welcome.

Just before we leave the subject of Book Week I would like to draw your attention to the poster which we are using in our displays. It was designed by Maud and Miska Petersham who are particularly well known for their beautifully illustrated Bible picture book "The Christ Child." Their work is indicative of the present trend toward really fine illustrations in the better class of children's books.

Miss Jessie Colby of Stanstead has very kindly presented the Library with several very interesting books. Among them is "French Canada in Transition" by Everett Cherington Hughes which will be of particular interest to readers on the north side of the border, for it is the story of "Cantonville," a small French-Canadian town which has recently been enlivened and disturbed by the establishment of a number of large new industries, managed by English speaking people sent there for that purpose. The prototype for "Cantonville" is said to be one of the cities of the Eastern Townships which has recently more than doubled its population.

RAMBLING 'ROUND THE BORDER

Returning to the Boundary for his first extended visit in 42 years, Paul Limoges, now of St. Jerome, is visiting his old friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McNally. At the time he left Rock Island, back in 1905, Mr. Limoges was an employee of Mr. McNally at his farm in Smith's Mills. Encountered in the lobby of the Del Monty Hotel, Mr. Limoges paid high tribute to the management of this popular hostelry, stating that in all his travels "it is one of the best hotels in the Province," and complimented Mrs. Monty and her sons on the excellent service and spendid hospitality.

Lack of an arena is more and more deplored in the Boundary since the demolition of the Olympic Rink several years ago. With the old rink, scene of many a hectic hockey game, now only a memory, hockey in the Boundary seems of a doubtful future, the coming season even bringing the report that the Butterfield club will not operate this year and only a town team seems certain to be in the running with the College hockey team, unless something happens soon. Players just do not care for outdoor hockey, especially 'way up on the distant, windblown open-air rink operated by the Frontier Community Centre, and many a hockey player has been heard to long for the "good old days" of Olympic Rink hockey. Too bad that the rink had to be torn down. . . . in fact this reporter thinks more than one person is sorry about it today.

With agitation for a covered rink and a modern hospital to serve the needs of the Boundary District, citizens of the communities concerned have plenty to think about for the future, and with Rock Island and Beebe especially out for more industries, and prospects for considerable growth in the years to come, these two topics should be both strongly discussed, fully supported and some action brought to bear immediately.

* * *

Last Thursday evening, dining-room patrons of the Del Monty thoroughly enjoyed a delightful interlude of dinner music rendered in an impromptu manner by Maurice Fregeau, the well-known local musician, at the piano.

Tourist travel seems to still maintain its peak load through the Rock Island and Derby ports of entry, with heavy traffic experienced over the Remembrance Day week-end. According to reports from the offices this summer has been one of the heaviest travel seasons in years.

Recent guests registered at the Del Monty Hotel included Mr. and Mrs. L. P. R. Thibodeau and children of Quebec City, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Desrochers also of Quebec, Mrs. C. A. Boright of Irasburg, Vt., and Mr. J. McCrea of Montreal.

Curious sight noted by your reporter last Thursday, and one that is rather unique, it must be admitted, was the presence of seven, that's right seven baby carriages parked all at the same time outside the Daylight Store operated by Caswell and O'Rourke in Derby Line.

Current interest is noted in Book Week in the Boundary Communities due no doubt to the desire of the library staff to develop greater reading interest among local citizens and encourage greater use of the library facilities.

To emphasize the importance of Children's Book Week two very interesting displays have been arranged by Mrs. Carroll, with the co-operation of local merchants, and many passersby have stopped to look at the groups of books and accompanying posters in Caswell and O'Rourke's and Cowen's store windows, which carry out the theme of the week: "Books are Bridges."

COLLEGE COLUMN

The most important event at Stanstead College this past week was the dedication of the Memorial Gate.

Prior to this ceremony the College and the College Cadets attended the Remembrance Service held in the Haskell Opera House under the auspices of the Canadian and American Legions. The Rev. Dr. George G. D. Kilpatrick, D.S.O., addressed a large gathering of service men, veterans, and other citizens. He took for his theme the symbolism of the gate, and although he spoke especially to the students and young people, everyone listening to him must have been inspired by the fine ideals he revealed, as he pointed out the privileges Canadians enjoyed, and the resultant responsibilities that went with them.

The dedication service was opened by the Principal of the College, Rev. E. C. Amaron, M.A., who introduced Mr. F. Wilson, president of the Alumni Association. Mr. Wilson spoke of the long-felt desire of the Alumni to commemorate the names of former students who fell in both World Wars in some fitting monument, and he offered the gate in the name of the Alumni Association to the Trustees of the College.

Mr. Wilson was followed by Capt. Cecil Millar and Mr. Howard Wells, who read the Roll of Honor for the two wars, to whose memory the gate was erected.

Dr. C. W. Colby, representing the Board of Trustees, accepted the gate from the Alumni, and in a stimulating address he spoke to the present students of their opportunities and duties. At the close of Dr. Colby's address wreaths were placed at the base of the pillars by representatives of the I.O.D.E., Stanstead College Staff, the Alumni, Stanstead College students, and the Canadian Legion.

Dr. Kilpatrick, the speaker at the Remembrance service, formally dedicated the gate, and as the dedication finished, the lights on the gate were turned on. A hymn, "O God of Love, O King of Peace," followed by the National Anthem and the Benediction, pronounced by the Rev. F. W. Mitchell, completed a most impressive ceremony.

Following the dedication service tea was served to the visitors in the College reception room.

At the end of the service Principal E. C. Amaron announced that the Melville Kearns Memorial Scholarship for this year had been won by Bruce Johnston. ## Radio-Directed Freight Operations:

Rail shippers are receiving the time-saving benefits of Canada's first successful "F-M" two-way radio train crew directing system. This frequency-modulation communication equipment is installed in four of the 15 Canadian Pacific diesel-electric switch engines which give smoke-free service on the 166 miles of lines and sidings in the Toronto area. Under the old system, new orders were sent out by messenger on foot. Now a yardmaster can reach switch engine crews working in any part of the metropolitan area at a moment's notice over the radio setup. Top: Arthur G. Moore, general yardmaster for the C. P. R. at Toronto, talks to an engine crew. The radio-equipped switcher can be seen in the background. Lower left: N. J. Dake, yardmaster at Parkdale, reports on disposition of engines working in his sector of the Toronto area. Lower right: Fireman Spencer Montgomery acknowledges new orders from the cab of his engine.

ROCK ISLAND COUNCIL WILL REDEEM BONDS

Efforts of the Municipal Council of Rock Island to show continual progress are indicated in the report from the Town Secretary-Treasurer, Maurice Fregeau, that the town plans on redeeming some $2000 of its Road Resurfacing Bonds by the end of December.

Originally issued under By Law No. 99 calling for a $25,000 issue to cover needed and extended public works in the community, the council deserves a great deal of credit in being able to redeem approximately one-tenth of the obligation this year. Citizens, as well as visitors to the community, have expressed great satisfaction with the splendid asphalt covering which the principal streets of Rock Island have been provided with this past summer.

The council also plans to add several new street lights in various parts of the community, and in every respect the municipality is showing a growing trend towards greater expansion and development of both business and residential areas.

BUGBEE BUSINESS COLLEGE NOTES

The Literary Society this week was in charge of Garth Dean, vice-president, in the absence of Joseph Bonnette.

A spelling match quickly got under way with Maurice Perkins and Dorothy Carmichael, the captains. Mr. G. Hynchey gave out the words. Only one error was allowed. The person to remain up longest was Willie Pope, a member of Dorothy's team. Our director, Mr. McFadyen, later commented that he had not witnessed a better spelling match for some time. We were very grateful to hear this encouraging word, as it helped to boost our morale.

Nearly all of B.B.C. were present at the Remembrance Day service on Sunday afternoon and at the dedication of the "New Gates" to the college. The gates are the result of the efforts of the S.W.C. Alumni, with Mr. Frank Wilson, an old college boy, the president.

There were a good number of old students present to take part in or to witness one or more of the important events of the week-end.

Bugbee is proud of the leading part taken by one of her students in the Rugby game against Mount Royal. Murray accounted for a big share of the touchdowns that ran the score up to around 40 for S.W.C.

Peter Thomson, our pianist, was missed at our Literary Society meeting as he was in Montreal attending the wedding of one of his cousins.

B.B.C. with the rest of S.W.C. will enjoy a long holiday week-end beginning on November 15. The following week-end will include International Night, one of the big events of the college year.

TRADE MARK

CALL ME LIZ

by Rene Ryerson Mart

THE STORY: Red McFan, army pilot, comes home with a chestful of ribbons and a cocky swagger. When Russ Condon, his closest friend, asks Elise Varney to find a date for Red, she invites Sally Clark—beautiful but cold. Red needs deflating, Elise thinks, and Sally is the girl to do it. Red thinks the evening a flop, starts to reminisce about the wild times he and Russ had in Paris. Russ tries to stop him.

CHAPTER VII.

Russel's abrupt action had the desired effect. It broke up Red's reminiscences. Red began to clamber to his feet.

"Yes," he said. "Come on—let's dance."

Elise stood up, and they waited for Sally and there wasn't much Sally could do but accept the situation. She went gingerly into Red's arms.

Russ' eyes followed the other couple worriedly as they moved around the floor.

"I don't know what got into Red," he said apologetically. His face was still crimson with embarrassment.

Elise felt her own guilt too much to blame Red unreservedly. "I'm afraid it's Sally," she acknowledged. "She's given him an inferiority complex—she usually does."

Russ looked at her sharply. "Why did you ask her? Wasn't there anyone else?"

Elise was driven to a small lie: "I—I thought Red might be good for her."

Russ tucked her closer into his arms. "Well, forget it, honey. This is our dance." His lips brushed the dark hair above her forehead.

Elise looked up at him happily and his arms tightened about her. "You're sweet," he said.

The music stopped before they were aware of it and suddenly they felt a little foolish alone there on the floor in each other's arms. Russel laughed and disengaged her and they went back to their table.

Red was there, alone. He had another whisky before him and he was scowling darkly at the glass.

"Where's Sally?" Elise asked quickly.

Red nodded vaguely.

Elise met Russel's puzzled eyes. "I'll go find her," she said. She picked up her little beaded purse and went in the direction of Red's nod.

She found Sally in the powder room, repairing her make-up.

Sally saw Elise in the mirror and said without turning her head and with cool firmness: "I'll not dance anymore with your Mr. McFan. He must have thought I was his 'Margie' the way he tried to wolf me. Disgusting!"

"He's not my Mr. McFan," Elise said weakly. "He's a friend of Russels. And — and Sally you might try to be a little more friendly."

Sally had finished her perfect mouth. She dropped the lipstick into her bag. "You know how I feel about these things," she said.

There wasn't anything Elise could say. Of course, she knew how Sally felt about these things . . . that was why she had asked her.

No, there was no use in feeling angry at Sally, Elise admitted to herself. It was her own fault entirely.

Red was still drinking when they went back to the table. And he was beginning to get ugly. "Might as well get drunk," he said thickly. "Katy Hepburn won't dansch with me."

"I'll dance with you, Red," Elise said.

She waited while he got clumsily to his feet. She saw that he was really a little drunk and she half regretted her impulse.

But she forgot that when Red put his arms about her. There was a magnetic vitality about the man that was like an electric charge. Elise's bare skin tingled under his touch. She tried to draw away from him a little. He held her closer.

The uncertainty of Red's movements vanished the moment they started to dance. He was light and smooth on his feet. Their steps matched effortlessly.

"Say, we do all right together, baby," Red said. He seemed as surprised at it as she was.

He held her very closely. Around and around they circled with the hypnotic rhythm of the music welding them together.

Elise pulled herself sharply from his arms when the music ceased. She was breathless.

Russel looked up and shrugged when they got back to the table. "Sally wants to go home," he said.

Elise was conscious of a sharp relief. "I think we had better go," she agreed.

* * *

They drove Sally home first, and then a definitely groggy Red. Russel went in with him and put him to bed. When he came back he got in the car and drove for awhile without saying anything.

Elise thought, "He is angry with me for inviting Sally."

Her hand stole out and touched his on the steering wheel. And suddenly the fevered nightmare of the evening fell away. There was no Red McFan, no Sally Clark, no complications. Just she and Russel and the sweetness of complete understanding.

He stopped the car and took her in his arms. "Oh, Elise—Elise—"

For a moment she felt his heart throbbing close to hers. She waited. She knew what it was he wanted to say.

But some fear, some lack of courage held him back.

He kissed her again and let her go. "It's late, dear. I'd better take you home."

She thought of that moment many times afterward. She thought of how different everything would have been if Russel had said he loved her and asked her to marry him, then.

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Hard To Beat

Very Easy to Make. No Cooking. Saves Money.

No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, is hard to beat, for real results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—anyone can do it. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a 16 oz. bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes 16 ounces of excellent cough relief—about 4 times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.

You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases soreness and difficult breathing, and lets you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial irritation. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL HOLDS FALL OPENING

North Hatley, Nov. 13.—North Hatley held its annual School Opening on Thursday evening, November 7, and the entire town turned out for the event. Children, parents and friends of the North Hatley Consolidated School packed the Town Hall to witness a series of plays, dances and the prize awards.

First on the program was a series of songs by the entire student body. Then after remarks by the chairman of the School Board, Mr. John MacKay, Grades VIII and IX presented a play called "Aunt Susan Changes Her Mind." Grades I and II presented an operetta called "Perfect Little Parasol." This was directed by Mrs. Nelson Pike. Grades III, IV and V were combined for a series of Mother Goose Shadow Plays, which were directed by Miss Mary Chamberlain and Miss Muriel Riley. Grades VI and VII, under the direction of Mrs. Wendall Hamilton, gave "The Joke on the Jokers." Mrs. Hamilton also directed the "Aunt Susan" play, presented earlier in the program. A beautiful Gipsy Ribbon Drill was danced by sixteen of the girls of the school, who had been carefully trained by Miss Leona Stark.

After a report of the school, its varied activities and raised standards, by the new principal, Mr. Burton Hersey, there was an intermission. During this an offering was taken for the Red Cross Society. This was followed by a play presented by the older pupils of the school. The play was a fantastic ghost story entitled "A Ghostly Evening," and it provided the audience with many laughs and thrills. In the cast were Betty McCrea, Beverly Reed, Shirley Coates, "Bud" Taylor, Pauline Stone, Russell Bassett, Stewart Deacon and Margaret McVittie. They were directed by Rev. Albert Q. Perry.

The prize awards were announced by Principal Hersey and were given out by Mr. John MacKay, assisted by Miss Mary Chamberlain. In each case they were for work done in the previous year. For first and second ranks in the First Grade were Elizabeth Little and Gary Kezar, respectively. Others receiving awards were Norene Reed, Fay Meigs, David Hunt and Donald MacKinnon. First and second ranks for Grade II were won by Connie Knutson and Margaret Taylor. Other prize-winners were Lewis Perry, Gordon Humphrey, and Nyla Pike.

In Grade III, Janet Little and Ann Little received the Commissioners' prizes for high grades. Lynnwood Taylor, Ronald Knapp, Lillian Fletcher, Wright Burnell, James Stewart and Patricia Danforth received the special prizes. Frederick Deacon and Thelma Hawse won the Commissioners' prizes for Grade IV. Mary LeBaron and Royce Kezar also received awards.

In Grade V, Margaret Banfill and Gwendolyn Conner were the two leading students. Other prize-winners were Donald Taylor, Violet Knapp, Lawrence Burnham and Cynthia LeBaron. Glenn Warner was first in Grade VI, followed by Barbara Taylor. Richard Little, Robert Little, Jean Kennedy and Donald Little received other prizes. Jack Barratt and Bobbie McVittie were first and second in Grade VII, and Beverley Morrissette and Kathleen Mosher were also prize-winners.

In the High School, the Commissioners' prizes for first and second ranks in each grade went to the following: Grade VIII, John Sprigings and Judith Cate; Grade IX, Betty McCrea and Beverley Reed; Grade X, Margaret McVittie and Gerald Taylor; and Grade XI, Nina Banfill and Imogene Kezar. Other special prize-winners in the High School were Norris Wilson, Margaret Hawse, Rita Knapp, Joan Taylor, Albert Humphrey, Marjorie Cairns, Doreen Russell, Keith Kennedy, Janice Stewart, and Maurice Perkins.

A special award to the whole school was announced by Chairman John MacKay. It was a gold seal given by the Junior Red Cross Society in recognition of twenty years continuous membership. The award was received for the school by Frederick Deacon. Health prizes, given by the Women's Institute, were also awarded to a number of pupils.

The entire program was developed by the principal, Mr. Burton Hersey. Assisting in "make-up" were Mrs. Anne MacKay and Miss Emily LeBaron. Mr. Douglas Gerrish prepared the lighting for some of the plays. Printed programs for the event were donated by the First Universalist Church.

Cost Of G.M. Cars In U.S. Boosted $100

Ottawa Prices Board Officials State It Is "Too Early" to Decide Effect of Increases on Dominion.

Detroit, November 13. —(AP)— General Motors, the automobile industry's biggest producer, raised the prices of its passenger cars $100 yesterday.

(At Ottawa, Prices Board officials said it was "too early" to determine whether the General Motors increase would have any effect on Canadian car prices, which are independent of American rates and come under the board's price ceiling policy.)

The not unexpected announcement, coming after a day-long meeting of General Motors executives, said the increases would place G.M.'s price "in a more reasonable relation to greatly increased costs of production."

Asked for comment on the G.M. action, the Ford Motor Company which earlier had announced no price increase was contemplated, quoted from a letter sent to 3,200 major Ford suppliers which said in part:

"There is plenty of justification for our raising prices at this time. . . however, we feel that it is vitally necessary during this critical period of adjustment that all industry co-operate to avoid precipitous or unjustified increases in prices."

The letter was signed by Alfred J. Browning, vice-president and director of purchases, who said the company already had been assured by a number of its suppliers that they would maintain present price levels "until and unless substantial future cost increases make such a position impossible."

From the third member of the auto industry's "Big Three," Chrysler Corporation, there has been no word on possible pricing action.

There was no immediate comment from the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) on the G.M. announcement.

President C. E. Wilson of General Motors ascribed three reasons for the price increase:

1. G.M.'s dollar volume of business in the third quarter of 1946, although "about the same" as the previous peacetime quarterly peak of 1941 was "not on a satisfactory basis."

2. G.M.'s prices as set by the Office of Price Administration "discriminated against General Motors."

3. O.P.A. had "assumed" production would equal that of 1941 but because of basic materials shortages General Motors finds it "impossible" to achieve "any such rate of production at least during the next six months."

General Motors manufactures Cadillac, Pontiac, Chevrolet, Buick and Oldsmobile cars.

The corporation said prices of all Chevrolet trucks also would be increased $100. Prices of larger trucks and coaches had been previously adjusted and "no general change" was contemplated at this time.

The automobile industry long has complained of shortages in basic raw materials, one of the points cited by General Motors for its price-increase decision. These materials include lead, copper, zinc and steel.

Total volume production of cars for the current year probably will no go far above 2,000,000 units, or about 50 per cent. of the volume hoped for when 1946 production plans were made.

U.K. Refused Entry Rights By Albanians

Any Attempt to Clear Mines from Territorial Waters by Royal Navy Would Be Considered "Sovereignty Violation."

Belgrade, Nov. 13.—(Reuter)—The Albanian Government has warned Britain that any attempt by the Royal Navy to clear Albanian territorial waters of mines will be regarded as a "premeditated violation of Albanian sovereignty," according to information from the Albanian Legation in Belgrade, quoted by the Yugoslav news agency today.

The Albanian Legation stated that on Nov. 10 the British Government, through the Albanain Legation in Belgrade, sent a note to the Albanian Government to the effect that Britain would proceed to clear the mines in the Corfu Straits Nov. 12.

On instructions from its government, the Albanian Legation here informed the British Embassy that it protests against the unilateral decision of the British Government with regard to Albanian territorial waters in these straits, the statements added.

Albania saw no obstacle in the way of the British fleet clearing the straits but it proposed that a joint commission be set up to discuss this question.

The Albanian Government asked the British Government to limit its operations to clearing that part of the straits not forming part of Albanian territorial waters.

Gen. Enver Hodja, Prime Minister of Albania, has sent a telegram to Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, informing him of the British note and of the Albanian reply, the Yugoslav news agency said.

ABRAMOVIC TOP SCORER

New York, Nov. 13.— (AP) — Brooms Abramovic, former Salem (W. Va.) college star now playing with Pittsburgh's Ironmen, is pacing the Basketball Association of America's scorers with 80 points in five games.

A 26-point splurge against Providence Monday night enabled Abramovic to hold a five-point edge over Landy Chuck Halbert of Chicago's Stags. Halbert tallied by 20 points against New York Monday for a five game total of 75, according to official league figures released today. Max Zaslofsky of Chicago is third with 68.

The Other Side of It

Army game in Philadelphia, Nov. 16, is farthest from Skippy Minisi's mind as Pennsylvania's great 190-pound, left-handed passing right halfback bones up between classes in training house adjacent to Franklin Field.

FOREST KEENE IS APPOINTED TO GAME POST

Quebec, Nov. 13.—(CP)—Recommendations asking full co-operation of member clubs and associations to further the Quebec Government's campaign against illegal fishing and hunting and imposition of severe penalties on offenders today highlighted closing sessions of the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Association's first convention.

Bernard Castonguay, president of the Quebec Casting Club and provisional president of the Federation, was elected president for 1947.

The convention endorsed at a plenary meeting the drafted constitution and various committee reports.

The plenary session suggested to the Quebec Government that fish and game wardens be thoroughly briefed and given greater scope in the carrying out of their duties.

Hunting and fishing seasons should be co-ordinated with neighboring provinces and hatchery facilities should be increased to provide an adequate system of distribution.

Delegates recommended that a conservation day be set aside each year when wild life preservation could be explained in schools and youth organizations. In order to guard against wastage, it was recommended that a fisherman be allowed to carry home only one day's catch, instead of the two-day catch as at present.

Other offcers elected were: Vice-presidents, Lee Cassidy, Montreal, Omer Bernier, Ile Maligne, Que., Forest Keene, Sherbrooke, Que.; treasurer, Phil Bruneau, Montreal; secretary, J. A. Legendre, Montreal.

Penn Hopes It Will Catch Cadets In Letdown Mood For Traditional Tilt

Philadelphia, Nov. 13.—It will be like old times here Saturday, Nov. 16, when, for the first time since 1941, the Cadets of West Point go marching down the streets to herald the arrival of Army for its traditional football battle with Penn.

Because of transportation troubles during the war, the cadets stayed on the Plains and took this one in by radio. But not now. Close to 500 of them, including the celebrated Army band, will parade their way to Franklin Field. And all of Philadelphia, hoping the Notre Dame tussle has left the future-generals vulnerable, will close shop to either witness the classic or listen for the results. Almost 80,000 fans will see it in person, every seat having been sold before the season opened. More than 200,000 fans requested tickets.

Army-Penn is one of the time-honored duels of American football, starting 'way back in 1901. It used to be more or less nip and tuck until the super Army teams of 1944 and 1945 ran wild to score 123 points against Penn's mere seven. There is great optimism here that the scales are about to return to balance.

Despite its decrease in linepower this year, Army still has five of the nation's top football stars in Davis, Blanchard, Tucker, Foldberg and Poole—and so, even with Fuson injured, the cadets rule heavy favorites. Penn's faithful stubbornly hope for an Army letdown after last week's high-pitched engagement with the Irish.

For Glenn Davis it will be his third appearance against the Red and Blue. He failed to score in 1943 when Bob Odell and his teammates tied Army at 13-13. A year later he ran for two touchdowns and snared a pass for a third. Last fall he repeated that performance.

Nor has Blanchard been a cousin to Penn. In 1944 he scored twice, on a pass and run, and last year he galloped through Penn's broken defenses for three touchdowns.

But this time Army faces a much stiffer Penn line and, of equal importance, will not bring to Philadelphia the same robust forwards it possessed during the war years.

It has been a year of upsets and coach George M ger would like to top it off with his first triumph over an Earl Blaik coached team.

EAGLES SIGN THREE NEW MEN

Verdun, Que., Nov. 13.—(CP)—Verdun Eagles of the Provincial Hockey League today announced the signing of defenceman Don Tomalty and Edgar Mott and leftwinger Bobby Burr.

Tomalty formerly performed with Montreal Royals in the Q.S.H.L. while Mott is a graduate of the junior Royals of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association. Burr played with Lachine Rapides of the Provincial League last season.

Bruins Have Chance To Tie Maple Leafs For Leadership With Win

In the flurry of off-season trading that saw Detroit Red Wings start this National Hockey League season with a revamped lineup, Manager Jack Adams could take bows today for at least two deals —those that brought centre Billy Taylor and leftwinger Roy Conacher to the Wings.

Together this pair added up to 25 scoring points in Detroit's first 10 games, which means Wings could have been in a lot sadder plight than their present fourth position without them.

Oddly enough, Toronto Maple Leafs have expressed themselves well pleased with the deal that sent Taylor to Detroit for big Harry Watson. There have been no complaints from Boston Bruins about Joe Carveth, the rightwinger for whom they parted with Conacher.

In each case, Adams gave up younger players for two veterans he needed to balance an inexperienced team, which may partly explain why, as in all good horse-trading, all sides went away happy.

The 23-year-old Watson, on the injured list at present, is four years younger than Taylor. At 28, Carveth has two years on Conacher, but Boston's main interest in this deal probably was in gaining a rightwinger for left-handed Conacher.

Fans in Boston will get a chance to pass judgment on the Carveth-Conacher exchange tonight when both take the ice in one of two N.H.L. contests. Bruins will be shooting for a victory that would tie them for the top with the idle Toronto Maple Leafs.

In the other contest, the third-place Montreal Canadiens are at New York against Rangers, tied for last place with Chicago Black Hawks.

Red Wings, while five points off Toronto's leading pace, have outscored each of the other five clubs with a total of 32 goals.

Offsetting Detroit's prolific goal-getting, however, is the fact that they have also shown up as the weakest defensive club—with 40 goals scored against them.

HULL VOLANTS RESIGN FROM Q.S.H. LOOP

Montreal, Nov. 13. —(CP)— Hull Volants have resigned from the Quebec Senior Hockey League and the loop will operate for the remainder of the 1946-47 season with five teams, it was announced tonight at an emergency meeting of Q.S.H.L. officials.

President Slater accepted the withdrawal of the Volants and it was agreed to split the Hull players between Shawinigan Falls Cataracts and Valleyfield Braves to strengthen the two clubs at present trailing in the league race.

Hull decided to leave the league mainly because of the club's financial situation. A pre-season boost in the gate cut of visiting clubs had failed to ease the financial strain.

The Volants also were faced with the problem of injury replacements when an unexpected threatened suspension of three of their players by the National Hockey League came up. The players in question had failed to report to training camps in the American Hockey League.

The league decided to delete all Hull games from the schedule with President Butler revising the agenda by adding an extra round, whereby teams will play each other an extra game.

Among those attending the meeting were George Slater and Roy Mckenzie of the Q.S.H.L., Norman Dawes and Azaire Choquette of the Q.A.H.A., Tommy Gorman and Jimmy McCaffrey of Ottawa, Ernie Hamilton and Gus Ogilvie of Royals, Lucien Leduc and Arthur Vinet of Valleyfield, Theo Racette and Lucien Guertin of Shawinigan Falls and Bob Guertin and Lucien Masse of Hull.

DUROCHER MISSES "MEN OF THE YEAR"

Brooklyn, Nov. 13.— (AP) —Ten Brooklyn "Men Of The Year," chosen by a poll of borough leaders, were named today in the official publication of the Brooklyn Rotary Club . . . and surprise, surprise, no Leo Durocher, the manager of the Dodgers lost out.

The awards will be made each year, it was announced, to prevent Brooklyn's leaders from being "lost in the shadow of Manhattan's gay white way."

Rightful Owner Of Dog-Derby Award May Be Determined By 200 Mile Race

By ALAN VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Winnipeg, Nov. 13.—(CP)—When Roy Vickers, The Pas, Man. jeweller, was cleaning his basement and found the Grantland Rice-Walter Goyne Memorial Trophy, he started a controversy about ownership of the dog-derby award which may result in four previous winners holding a 200-mile, non-stop race for permanent possession.

At any rate, no one as yet has come up with another solution to his query: "What am I going to do with the cup?"

The trophy was put up in 1924 by A. L. Mattes, manager of a lumber firm at The Pas, for competition among dog mushers in Northern Manitoba. It commemorates a famous dog racer, Walter Goyne who, before he was drowned in 1922, introduced into the Eastern Arctic the Alaskan racing sleigh and the double-hitched method of driving dogs, and Grantland Rice—a namesake of the United States sports writer—of The Pas who publicized the Northland.

It was to be taken permanently by the first man to win it three times—and that is the cause of the controversy. The "legs" or plaques on the base show no one has won more than twice.

Earl Brydges, now prospecting out of Flin Flon, won in 1930 and 1931. Emile St. Goddard, claimant of the world's title as far as dog racing is concerned, won in 1925 and 1929 but the former year he was driving dogs belonging to J. B. Bacon and under the rules of the cup, the victory is credited to Bacon. St. Goddard still lives in The Pas but Bacon has retired from racing.

William (Shorty) Russick, the 1924 winner who is trading out of Flin Flon, is the other winner and the only one still owning dogs.

So, there's just a chance that the race, widely-publicized and filmed in its heyday, may be revived. Otherwise, the cup will stay in Vickery's shop as a relic of other days.

ELESCO EARNS THREE STRINGS IN "Y" LEAGUE

M. Bourdeau starred with the high single of 249 and R. Boisse the high triple of 659 as Elesco made a clean sweep of three straight strings from Brakeshoe in a fixture played in the Y.M.C.A. Five Pin Bowling League. Sturdy Chain had to come from behind to beat B'nai B'rith Reds two strings to one, and Y's Men fared similarly against West Ward.

M. Farrell, with the high string of 312, and W. Johnson, with the the high three of 710, topped the Sturdy Chain scoring against B'nai B'rith Reds. Marcel Dion was handy Andy to the Y's Men. His high single of 281 and high three of 692 helped Y's Men repel West Ward in a rather close game. He was the only bowler of those on the six teams who achieved both these scores in one game.

CHAMPION BREEDER ONCE HATED CATTLE

Craven, Sask., Nov. 13.—(CP)—When Kenneth Holt left Coventry, England, for Canada in 1912, he decided that he would return when he amassed £100 ($400) but he has stayed to make at least 130 times that amount with the aid of animals he previously had no use for—Aberdeen-Angus cattle.

The 51-year-old farmer recently shipped his herd—rated among the best in the world—down to Regina, 25 miles southeast of here, and the 130 "black beauties" were knocked down by an auctioneer's gavel for a cool $52,000.

Only 15 years ago Mr. Holt started in the cattle business when a neighbor gave him two Aberdeen-Angus heifers in payment for a pasturing debt.

Previously he had worked as a farm-hand then rented a farm and finally bought it in 1919 and almost forgot about his desire to return to England.

From then until 1929 he grew grain and specialized in hay. That was when he learned to hate cattle, for his neighbors' animals would wreck his stacks by foraging in them.

But when the two heifers were forced on him his attitude changed. He became fond of the animals with the shiny black coats and within three years he bought a grand champion bull and a pure-bred cow and sold the first calf for $800.

Soon he bought another champion bull and more cows, the grandson of one selling for $3,000.

The championship bug bit Mr. Holt and he started the round of fairs with his animals switching from beef cattle to all pure-bred stock. In the last 10 years his animals have won a dozen grand championships and more than 200 first prizes.

But it was not all fun. At the Montana state fair at Grand Falls several years ago, he arrived with the temperature touching 110 degrees and worked all night preparing his animals for the show. They won four first, eight seconds and three thirds.

But with the shortage of labor in the war years the work was telling on Mr. and Mrs. Holt and they decided to sell out.

They leave for England on the Queen Elizabeth early in December. One of the first things Mr. Holt intends to do is visit the home of the Aberdeen-Angus in Scotland.

Racing Returns to Tokyo

Some 30,000 racing enthusiasts paid more than 7,570,000 yen for pari-mutuel tickets when the sport was revived at the Fuchu horse racing stadium in Tokyo, for the first time since it was banned there in the fall of 1943. Horses are shown parading in open air paddock behind the grandstand.

SUPERHEATER LOOP IS LED BY UNIT SHOP

A three-string win over Storeroom in a Superheater Bowling League tilt played at New Wellington alleys lifted Unit Shop into first place in the League standing. A similar job by Pattern Shop on Coremakers put the winners in second place right behind Unit Shop. Moulders earned a tie with Storeroom for fourth place by beating Machine Shop two strings to one.

Individual high scores in the matches were won in pairs. Captain R. Boisse, of Unit Shop, turned in scores that topped bowlers in all three events. His high single was 208, and his high three string 515. N. Davey was the high scorer in the Moulders-Machine Shop clash with the high string, 148, and the high three, 354. ## WORLD'S HIGHEST Mauna Kea, in Hawaii, is the world's highest mountain, if we measure it from its actual base on the ocean floor, from which it rises to a height of about 31,750 feet.

London, Nov. 13.—The London Passenger Transport Board is wondering whether it would make or lose money if it installed "honesty boxes" on buses for the benefit of hurried passengers.

Some other English cities have such boxes near the bus exits so that passengers who hop on a busy bus for a short run may deposit their fares if the conductor hasn't had time to get around to them.

But London Transport is dubious.

"They might encourage more dishonesty than honesty," said one official, "for it would be easy for unscrupulous passengers to say they had already placed their money in the box when the conductor came around to collect their fares."

BAG BIG DEER IN MEGANTIC BUSH COUNTRY

Montreal, Nov. 12.—Two of the largest deer bagged yet this season in the Province of Quebec were shot recently in the rugged bush country of Megantic County by a group of five Montreal sportsmen. The largest weighed 230 pounds, and the other tipped the scales at 220.

Ernest Shepard, publisher of the magazine Hunting and Fishing in Canada and a member of the party, thinking of a possible record officially checked the weights on the Canadian Pacific Express Company's scales before the deer were shipped to Montreal. No optimistic guess for him.

The two big fellows were shot just east of the town of Megantic, about six miles north of the Maine boundary in what Mr. Shepard thinks is almost as good deer country as can be found.

Others in the party were Loran Shepard, Brian Mathews, Brien Gulline and Walter Veary.

EVACUATED BY NAZIS NORWEGIANS RETURN

London, Nov. 13.—Former residents are steadily returning to the provinces of Finnmark and North Troms in northern Norway from which they were evacuated in 1944 by the Germans, who then destroyed nearly all buildings, the Norwegian Information Service said in a report of reconstruction debates in the Norwegian parliament.

Peder Holt, minister of reconstruction, said that by the end of this year about 80 per cent of the population of Finnmark will have returned and almost 100 per cent of the population of North Troms, which meant jobs and houses would have been found for 65,000.

He said 1,500 provisional homes had been built last year, against a program of 1,000, and this year it was hoped to complete 3,400. Quays, warehouses and other buildings also had to be rebuilt. Apart from Finnmark and North Troms, the Norwegian government planned to build 13,000 new homes and 2,000 damaged ones during 1946.

ASHLAR LODGE HELD MEETING AT COATICOOK

Coaticoook, Nov. 13.—The last regular meeting of Ashlar Lodge will be long remembered by those present as Worthy Brother Alfred J. Avery, was presented with his fifty-year medal.

The presentation was made by Right Worthy Brother A. O. Mosher, grand junior warden of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, A.F. and A.M., who congratulated Worthy Brother Avery on his long and useful membership in Ashlar Lodge and on behalf of the Grand Lodge pinned the medal on him.

The master of the lodge, Worthy Brother S. A. Riley, on behalf of the local lodge, also congratulated Worthy Brother Avery and said that it fell to few men to serve as Worthy Brother Avery had served for fifty years in his home lodge, serving either as an officer of the lodge or on one of its committees for practically the whole fifty years.

A number of brothers from out-of-town were present and all joined in wishing Worthy Brother Avery continued good health and a long period of service to Ashlar Lodge and the fraternity as a whole.

During the evening two brothers received their third degree. After the meeting refreshments were served in the ante-room.

SOUTH AFRICANS SENDING FRUIT TO U.K. MARKET

Capetown, Nov. 13.—(CP)—The South African Deciduous Fruit Board has announced ratification of arrangements for the resumption of exports of grapes, pears, plums and peaches to the United Kingdom in the 1946-47 season. Total cubic tonnage exported will represent little more than half of South Africa's pre-war exports.

The arrangements for the resumption of fruit exports came as the result of negotiations between the chairman and general manager of the board with the British food ministry.

The board's statement announced that the arrangements called for the export of approximately 1,500,000 boxes of grapes, 320,000 cases of pears, 400,000 double-layer cases of plums and 200,000 single-layer trays of peaches—a total of 53,000 cubic tons in all.

A deputation headed by Rev. William Nico, moderator of the Dutch Reformed Church, and Dr. A. J. Stals, M.P., sought permission from Acting Prime Minister J. J. Hofmeyr to allow a number of orphaned children from European countries to enter the Union.

Mr. Hofmeyr told the deputation that the requests had been considered by Premier Smuts before he left South Africa to attend the United Nations General Assembly and that he would consult Mr. Smuts again on his return. An application to the interior department by the same deputation earlier this year was refused.

A port Elizabeth businessman has estimated that it will take until 1950 for the world's soap supply to be restored to the 1938 level. Supplies of bar soap in the eastern part of Cape Province now are down to 25 per cent of the pre-war figure and allocations of washing soap have been reduced to 30 per cent.

THE THINGS THAT MONEY CAN'T BUY

HEALTH; A HAPPY HOME; opportunity for your children; your own peace of mind—these are priceless gifts. You can't buy them with money.

But reasonable financial security, based on a planned programme of personal saving, can help to guard and guarantee them.

Take your Victory Bonds, for example. Pretty reassuring to have them tucked away as a financial reserve, always "on tap" in time of opportunity or need. Pretty convincing proof, too, that you really can save when there's a real saving job to be done.

Perhaps today's rising costs or other factors are making it hard for you to carry on your savings programme. By the time you have met all your expenses, perhaps there's mighty little left for that all-important item marked "Savings".

Try putting savings first, not last, on your budget list. Owe yourself a definite amount each month, and make sure you collect it. It means careful budgeting, and putting off buying a good many things you'd like to have. But never forget—this is your share of what you earn. This is the part of your income which will help to assure for yourself and your family all the things that money can't buy.

PERHAPS YOU are already one of the hundreds of thousands of thrifty Canadians who have a savings account with the Royal Bank. If not, we invite you to come in and open one. Perhaps your first deposit will have to be small; don't let that worry you. The important thing is to start. It will be a pleasure to serve you.
