"It Will Work Wonders With this Generation of Men."

A Startling Advance in Medical Science is fully explained in a little book called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

An earnest man who had suffered, hesitated, then put it to the test, writes thus:
"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them that my old self had died yesterday and new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"
The man was not made whole by magic in a day—no man is—but in a moment he saw—KNEW—how he would be in a little while—he "saw the light" before he had finished the first chapter.
Every man who would know the grand truth, the plain facts, the new discoveries of medical science—who would atone for past follies and avoid future pitfalls, should secure this book.
To simple "curiosity seekers," to those whose physical condition is perfect—to those who need no aid—to boys—we say emphatically this book is useless and uninteresting. It is purely medical and scientific, published to make known a system of treatment of incalculable value to men who need it.
If you are looking for something sentimental, frivolous, improper, don't waste your time and ours by writing. This is not for you.
If you want advice, wisdom, warning, help, noble manhood—if you want to escape snares, traps, quackery—get this book now.
Write to the Erie Medical Co., 64 Niagara st., Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for copy "Complete Manhood." They will send it sealed in plain envelope entirely free, for a short time. 9ztf

TURKISH REFORMS.

Announced That France, Britain and Russia are Agreed.

THE STATEMENT MADE BY SIR W. V. HARCOURT.

Horrible Tales of Death in the Bosphorus.

London, October 13.—(Special.) — A letter written by Sir William Vernon Harcourt to a personal friend declares that the Armenian question is finally settled.

This means that a working agreement has been reached between Russia, France and England, the probability being that to France will be entrusted the task of imposing on the Sultan the necessity of the agreed course of action.

The Daily Graphic publishes a despatch from Sebastopol saying that Russia is continuing her preparations for an emergency. The local military and naval forces at Sebastopol, Odessa and Batoum have been mobilized.

A company has been picked, who have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to immediately embark upon a gunboat. This gunboat is already loaded with mines, shells and torpedoes. The interior garrisons in Poland, Taurida and the Caucasus have received orders to be in readiness at a moment's notice to board special trains for ports on the Euxine.

Berlin, October 13.—It is understood that the Czar will shortly give an audience to Gen. Grumbkoff, the German officer in the Ottoman service, who is the bearer of an autograph letter from the Sultan to the Kaiser. Gen. Grumbkoff is accompanied by the Sultan's Ambassador, Ghalib Bey, who will also be received by the Kaiser.

The mission of Gen. Grumbkoff, according to the semi-official Berlin Post, is one of great political importance. In the meantime an interview with Gen. Grumbkoff appears in a Berlin paper, in which the Turkish commissioner vigorously defends the action of the Sultan and the leading Turkish officials, contending that no man occupying the Turkish throne would fulfil the demands of the powers unconditionally. The Sultan of Turkey, he maintains, must always take into consideration the probable effect of the fulfilment of such demands upon the Mohammedan populace, otherwise there would be great danger of an outbreak of Moslem fanaticism, leading to the total annihilation of the Christians within the empire. "Abdul Hamid," the general says, "is a wise man, and in all his actions he invariably looks carefully forward to the probable or possible results. If the Sultan could follow his own desires, Turkey would be a happy country, but his most excellent aspirations are fettered by empty public coffers. The true reform which is needed in Turkey is financial assistance, perhaps administered under a control similar to the administration of Egypt, but as there is no money there can be no reform."

The Lokal Anzieger has a despatch from Constantinople saying that the anti-Sultan movement among the Softas (theological students) is growing. They have circulated another revolutionary proclamation. Nehemet Pasha, an Imperial aide, was shot at the Yildiz Palace, on suspicion that he was implicated in the Young Turkey agitation.

Persistent stories are in circulation to the effect that carts loaded with corpses emerge at night from the Central prison and hurry off in the direction of the Bosphorous. These victims are supposed to be Young Turks. French divers are refusing to work in the Bosphorous owing to the horrible collection of corpses that they meet while pursuing their labors under water.

H. M. S. TALBOT.

Her Great Speed—Reinforcing the North American Squadron.

Halifax, N. S., October 13.—There now floats off the dockyard the strongest fleet of modern warships ever in this port. They are fighting cruisers. The latest addition is H. M. S. Talbot, which develops the extraordinary speed of 23 knots. She has a more powerful armament than the flagship Crescent, and her hull is highly protected. A destructive and new feature on the Talbot is the revival of the obsolete fighting tops for cruisers.

In a few days more the warships Buzzard, Mohawk and Cordelia will arrive from Newfoundland and make a fine assemblage of warships here. The further audition of the battle ship Renown to the North Atlantic squadron will undoubtedly raise it to the designed level of size and strength to offset the power of the American White Squadron and the expected strengthening of the French fleet in our waters next year.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES.

(Special to the Star.)

Smith's Falls, October 13.—The annual convention of the Montreal branch of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held here on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday last week. Mrs. Ross, of Montreal, the president, presided at the meetings. All other business being disposed of, the election of officers was proceeded with and resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Ross, Montreal; first vice-president, Mrs. McRossie, Kingston; second vice-president, Mrs. Bigelow, Cornwall; third vice-president, Mrs. Hughes, Ottawa; recording secretary, Mrs. Knox, Montreal; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Williams, Sherbrooke; treasurer, Mrs. Sparks, Ottawa.

NEW COTTON MILL.

(Special to the Star.)

Toronto, Ont., October 13.—Ottawa is to be the location for a new cotton mill, if the negotiations which are being carried on by C. T. Grantham are successful. This gentleman was the manager of the Yarmouth, N. S., Duck and Yarn Company, and since severing his connection with that corporation, he has been engaged in organizing a new company to carry on the same business. He spent several days in this city last week and yesterday went to Buffalo to examine machinery for the mill which, it is understood, he has ordered. The capital stock of the new company is to be one million, half of which has been subscribed by an Ottawa capitalist.

FORTUNES FOR MISSION WORK.

$110,000 Subscribed at One Time in New York.

New York, October 13.— At the missionary meeting in Carnegie Hall on Sunday morning, $110,000 in jewellery, securities and cash were contributed by those present to carry on the work of spreading the Gospel. It was the occasion of the sermon and offering in connection with the thirteenth annual convention of the Christian Missionary Alliance, the climax of two weeks of meetings.

The Rev. A. B. Simpson, president and founder of the Alliance, delivered the missionary sermon. It was a simple address, describing the missionary endeavors of Philip, Peter, Paul and Barnabas. The point that he impressed on the audience was that the missionary was not a hero. He simply was paying his debts to God. Mr. Simpson's plea had its effect. Women in all parts of the house were wiping their eyes. Men were growing fidgety. Mr. Simpson continued, telling of missionaries who laid down their lives in their work and of marvellous sacrifices to help them. Afterwards ushers passed through the audience issuing pledge cards. It was impossible to count the money as fast as it went in, but at the afternoon meeting it was announced that the morning collection had netted $110,000, more than $80,000 being in cash and stocks, the rest in pledges.

KITCHENER AT CAIRO.

Arrived There with His Staff Early this Morning.

Cairo, October 13.—General Sir H. H. Kitchener, the commander of the English-Egyptian expedition into the Soudan, with his staff, arrived here early this morning from Dongola. General Kitchener and his companions were received at the station by Lord Cromer, the British diplomatic agent, and the Egyptian Ministers of State.

A large crowd of people also gathered at the station, and the reception of the officers was most enthusiastic.

The English soldiers in the Soudan have given up their tents to shelter the Dervish wounded.

THEY BROUGHT GOLD.

Yukon Miners Selling it to the Seattle Banks.

Seattle, Wash., October 13.—One hundred and fifty people came in on the steamer Lackme from Yukon, Alaska, Sunday night, and with them $200,000 in placer gold. Up to noon local banks and other purchasers had bought something like $50,000 of gold. Two of the returned prospectors are sisters of the Good Shepherd. They came down with the rest of the miners and handed over their dust and took the money. They did not tell how they got the dust, but some of the miners probably donated it.

EXCLUSION OF MEAT.

Germany's Action Stirs Up the National Live Stock Exchange.

Forth Worth, Texas, October 13.—(Special.)—The National Live Stock Exchange having heard a rumor that Germany has decided to exclude American canned beef, will declare itself strongly along the line of reciprocity, prohibition of Canadian cattle, exportation through the United States and retaliation against all foreign governments seek ng to discriminate against the meat product of the United States.

REFUSES TYNAN'S EXTRADITION.

Paris, October 13.—The Figaro says the Council of State has decided to refuse the extradition of P. J. Tynan, the alleged dynamite conspirator, from Boulogne to England.

London, October 13.—(Special.) — The failure of the extradition proceedings in the case of Tynan (No. 1) had been predicted in these despatches, and the reason may as well now be divulged. The fact is that the authorities here never intended that Tynan should set foot in England. His freedom was one of the prices paid for discovery of the plot. Ivory is likely to be made the scapegoat of the whole affair.

HUNTER SHOT HIMSELF.

(Special to the Star.)

Bedford, Que., October 13.—T. Myers, a barber, residing here, was the victim of a terrible accident yesterday. While engaged in hunting foxes in Farnham woods, some eight miles from Bedford, his gun exploded, blowing one of his eyes out, and injuring one side of his face in a terrible manner. He lay unconscious in the woods for four hours, but finally managed to secure assistance, and is now lying in the hospital at Farnham.

WILL NOT SUPPORT SAID.

London, October 13.—(Special.)—The Berlin correspondent of the Times reports that a semi-official note issued there states that should Said Khalid, the deposed Sultan of Zanzibar, who was taken on a German warship, intrigue to obtain the throne of Zanzibar, Germany will expel him from her territory.

A "LONDON" SURVIVOR DEAD.

Halifax, October 13.—Ex-Ald. James E. Wilson, one of the best-known citizens of this place, died suddenly this morning. He was one of the last of the eighteen survivors of the steamship London, which foundered in the Bay of Biscay in 1866, when 260 lives were lost.

HARCOURT, TOO,

Is to Follow Rosebery Into Retirement.

TELLS MR. GLADSTONE HIS REASONS THEREFOR.

The Liberal Leader of the British Commons.

London, October 13.—The St. James's Gazette says Sir William Vernon Harcourt has addressed a letter to the Liberal whips resigning the leadership of the Liberal party in the House of Commons. He also intimates a desire on his part to retire from Parliament altogether.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the St. James's Gazette says, has also written a letter to Mr. Gladstone, in which he says he is about to withdraw from Parliament, regarding such action as the best course he could pursue in order to show that no ignoble ambition has guided his actions.

The announcement of Sir William's voluntary retirement may have the effect to rally to his side many politicians, who have hitherto refrained from taking part in the agitation in regard to the leadership of the Liberal party in succession to Lord Rosebery.

London, October 13.—(Special)—It is suggested that Sir W. V. Harcourt, whose views on the Turkish question are similar to those of Lord Rosebery, has resigned in consequence of Mr. Gladstone's Liverpool speech, which lays down a line of conduct the leader of the Liberals in the Commons may not care to subscribe to. Harcourt's step is regarded as one of a manly character, and will do a great deal towards ultimately placing him at the head of the Liberal party.

Sir William Harcourt has been before the public eye for twenty-eight years. His first constituency was Oxford, which he represented from 1868 to 1880, when Mr. Hall turned him out, and Mr. Plimsoll retired from Derby to make room for him. Since then he has represented Derby in Parliament. When announcing the resignation of the Rosebery Ministry to Parliament Sir William Harcourt declared that it had always been his ambition to stand well with the House of Commons. It is an ambition in which he has amply succeeded, for his reputation is decidedly a House of Commons reputation. To enter the House of Commons he gave up what promised to be a great legal future. He was a Q. C. at the Parliamentary bar. Etiquette does not permit a member to practice before a Parliamentary committee in private bill cases, and thus it was necessary to make a choice between a forensic or a political career. It has been aptly said that Sir William's distinguished characteristic is his cleverness. His platform speeches are not only rattling and rollicking, but are generally brimful of witty and happy phrases. He has a great gift of lucid exposition, and on the rare occasions when he condescends to be serious, commands a flexible and sinuous prose. His most remarkable legislative achievement was the Finance Act of 1894, which included a reform of what was known as the death duties. Sir William Harcourt is sixty-eight years old. He is a clergyman's son, of ancient English lineage, and claims descent from the Plantagenet line of kings. He was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge, where he took a first class in the classical tripos. In 1869 he became professor of international law in the university. He was Solicitor-General 1873-74, Home Secretary 1880-85, and Chancellor of the Exchequer 1885-86, and again in the Rosebery Cabinet. He was a great friend of Lord Beaconsfield. The present Lady Harcourt, his second wife, is a daughter of Motley, the historian.

PRIEST ON ANGLICAN ORDERS

Father Doyle's View of the Effect of the Pope's Letter on the Episcopal Church.

New York, October 13.—From the pulpit of the Paulist Fathers' church at Sixtieth street and Columbus avenue, Sunday, Father Alexander P. Doyle, C. S. P., discussed the recent letter of the Pope, which declares the orders in the English church to be invalid. He said in part:

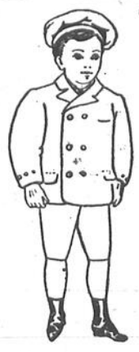

The decision comes in an opportune time, and its finality leaves no hope of appeal. It is the ritualistic wrong of the Episcopal Church that is manifesting signs of the deepest activity. There is a reaching out among them for the living presence of Christ on the altar, and the consolations, as well as the certainty of the forgiveness of sin, in sacramental absolution. They have realized that all this has depended on the presence of the priestly power. But now that it has been finally decided that Anglican orders are null and void, these deeply religious folks are face to face with stern duty. Either they must listen to the voice of Peter or reject the whole scheme of church authority and government, or take on that spirit of sixteenth century protestation which they themselves so much deplore and condemn.

If the Pope were the time-saving politician, as Gladstone thought he was when he asked him in his now famous letter not to condemn to nullity the orders of the English clergy, he might easily have annexed a large portion of the Anglicans, but the vicar of Christ can never yield one iota of the truth nor condone one vital principle, even when by so doing he could bring all England into the Church. England was lost to the Church because the Church would not compromise in matter of marriage morals, and if the divines before and after the Elizabethan era thought as do the ritualists of to-day, there would not have been any Anglican Church. The stand taken by the Holy Father on the platform of the truth that never can make compromise with error will undoubtedly attract many sincere lovers of the truth to her.

A KINGSTON FAILURE.

Kingston, Ont., October 13.— (Special.) —A meeting of the creditors of E. B. Loucks, hardware merchant, was held last night. Messrs. R. V. Rogers, R. J. Carson and W. B. Dalton were elected inspectors of the estate. An offer of twenty-five cents on the dollar, half of which would be secured, submitted by Mr. Louck's solicitor, will be considered at a future meeting. The heaviest creditors are in Montreal and Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hebert left to-day for a pleasure trip to New York, Boston and other cities.

UNION SERVICES

Begun in Centenary Methodist Church Last Night.

Union evangelistic services were begun in Centenary Methodist Church last night, the uniting churches as St. Matthews, Presbyterian, the Congregational and Centenary Methodist. The meetings are to be under the leadership of Evangelist Gale. The first meeting was held last night, and with Mr. Gale on the platform were the pastors of the respective churches, Rev. Messrs. Cruickshank, Hamilton and Sanderson. The evangelist mapped out the plan of the campaign, and indicated the lines on which the battle was to be fought. At the close of the meeting the united committee met and discussed the plans of work. A union choir has been organized, and the singing will be a prominent feature of the services. All indications are pointing to a very gracious revival of the work of God.

FOR THE MISSION FIELD.

Among the passengers by the SS. Parisian, which left port on Saturday, was Miss Jean M. Leyden, of Almonte, Ont., who is about to enter upon missionary work in Central India. Before leaving Almonte a designation service was held in St. John's Church, at which she re-referred to the resolve to give herself to mission work, as the result of a sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. McDonald, of Dundee, formerly of Carleton Place.

In his letter from London, upholding Palmer and Buckner, the American Ambassador, Thomas F. Bayard, states such a course must be expected from him, in view of his past record. He scouts the idea that a Democrat shall subscribe to the doctrine of fiat money—a proposition to destroy the institution of property. That alone is ground for a Democrat to repudiate the Chicago platform. On the other hand, Mr. Bayard says the Republicans have created the conditions that now threaten the country, in increasing the powers of public taxation and prohibiting commerce with its fiscal system, thereby necessarily increasing such taxation. This system has created inequality before the law, and subjects the industrious citizen to competition with the government. Their own money is drawn from them by taxation and applied for the private profit of allied classes who have established themselves as co-partners with the government in the exercise of the inexorable powers of taxation over the entire population. Therefore, true Democrats should support neither McKinley and Hobart, nor Bryan and Sewall; but Palmer and Buckner, whose personal records are as clear as are the principles (to Mr. Bayard) they profess.

THE SHERIFF'S SIGNATURE,

Which Was Illegible, Led to an Error in a Writ.

In the case of C. A. Chenevert against the Baie des Chaleurs Railway Company, an action for the recovery of a note of $342, an exception to the form was filed on behalf of the company on the ground that the Hon. J. R. Thibaudeau had been named in the writ as "Rosaire Thibaudeau" simply, the "J" being omitted. Mr. Justice Curran dismissed the exception. The error had arisen from the illegibility of the Hon. Mr. Thibaudeau's signature on the note, for which illegibility Mr. Chenevert was not responsible. Mr. Chenevert was ordered to serve another copy of the writ on Mr. Thibaudeau, in amended form, and the exception was dismissed, without costs.

The annual meeting of the Montreal Microscopical Society was held in the lecture hall of the Natural History Society's Museum last evening. An address was delivered by Dr. J. W. Stirling, the president, on "The Evolution of the Microscope," after which the election of officers took place, resulting as follows: President, Dr. J. W. Stirling; vice-president, Mr. Albert Holden; treasurer, Mr. James Shearer; joint secretaries, Messrs. C. T. Williams, and J. B. Pickett; council, Messrs. J. Stevenson Brown, Dr. Girdwood and Fred Richards. It was proposed to make four of the winter meetings open to the public, and it is possible that the lantern microscope will be used at them.

AMSUEMENTS THIS WEEK.

ATTRACTION AT THE CITY THEATRES.

Melodrama at the Queen's---Comedy at the Theatre Royal---Continuous Performance at the Theatre Francais.

"Saved from the Sea" is the title of the highly sensational melodrama holding the boards at the Queen's Theatre this week, and although the play is one which does not call for any extraordinary display of histrionic ability, still, there are certain commendable features about it which had the power of calling forth the unstinted applause of a well-filled house at the initial performance last evening. The plot, or, speaking more correctly, the succession of plots, are gruesome in their details, and were it not for a humorous vein which runs through the entire play and reveals itself at appropriate intervals, the production would be of an ultra-blood curdling character. The acting of the principals throughout was very fair, but the support was weak. The scenery was excellent, and the mechanical effects were much above the average to be seen in plays of this description. Certain features of the plot might be eliminated with advantage — the play would be better and would also run smoother without them. "Saved from the Sea" will run the entire week, with matinees on Thursday and Saturday.

Theatre Royal.

"The Tornado," with its sensational scenic effects, is again at the Theatre Royal. The house was crowded to the doors yesterday afternoon, while last evening the management had not a single seat after a quarter to eight o'clock. The different roles were well portrayed, with the exception of that of Ellen Wallace, to which Miss Isis Maynard is not at all suited. The tornado, the storm at sea, and the Chicago harbor were all staged in a very creditable manner, and elicited the applause of the entire audience. The acting of Messrs. Franck Holland, as the hero, M. J. von Mitzel, the villain, and W. H. Evarts, the Irishman, was very good, while Miss Millie Simms and Miss Walker acted their parts in a most pleasing style.

Theatre Francais.

"My Geraldine," by the late Bartley Campbell, was produced yesterday at the Theatre Francais. The play has been seen here several times and is an old favorite. The drama treats of Irish incidents and is far superior to the usual Irish melodrama. Miss May Milloy, of the city, appeared in the title role and received quite an ovation. At the end of the fourth act Miss Milloy received a handsome bouquet of roses. Mr. Frank Drumier appeared to advantage as "Phillip Carroll." Mr. Gaden made a very realistic villain. Miss Hope is unable to appear this week and her place in the cast was taken by Miss Allen, who filled her role very satisfactorily. The vaudeville bill this week is a very good one. Mr. Abbott Davidson, the manager, has found a singer with a good voice and he was well received. Jack and Rosa Burke, in their boxing comedy, were obliged to respond several times.

Grand Opera.

Among the principals of the International Opera Company, which Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy have engaged to appear in grand opera at the Monument National next month, are Marie Senta, Myrta French and Marie Toulmin, prima donna sopranos; Belle Tomlins, Louise Engel and Annie Tremaine, prima donna contraltos; Thomas McQueen, T. E. Greene and Albert Geleng, tenors; Warwick Ganor and H. Wilfrid Goff, baritones, and Ethan Allen and Barton Wells, basos. Signor Morriale will be musical director and Signor Gnarro, musical conductor. All of the above mentioned artists have been principals, some with the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London, some with Carl Rosa Opera Company and some with Patti and Nordica Concert Companies. Miss French sang here last season at the McGill Glee Club concert.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

At a meeting of the Pleasant Sunday Afternoon Society, recently held, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John Taylor; vice-president, Dr. Charles Colby, of McGill; secretary, Wm. Darlington; treasurer H. Hounslow; and a committee composed of Professor Adams, Mr. Nevil Norton Evans, Rev. Mr. Tory and Messrs. D. Taylor, S. Mann, Wm. Scott, J. Whyte, T. White, Wm. Singleton, J. Gollan, G. Barrow, J. Hartley and E. Stevens, elected. A vote of thanks was passed to retiring officers, also to Mr. H. B. Ames for use of his lantern during last winter; also to those who so kindly contributed to the picnic funds and kind, held on Labor Day last.

The present season opens with the concerts, the first of which will be held on Saturday evening, October 17th, Miss Rielly providing the talent.

The Sunday afternoon meetings open on Sunday next in Fraternity Hall, the Rev. S. P. Rose, D. D., of St. James Methodist Church, delivering the opening address. 1Other ladies and gentlemen who have kindly consented to speak at these meetings during the winter are: Mrs. G. A. Drummond, Mrs. John McDougall, Mrs. Page-Thrower, Mrs. Sinclair, Principal Peterson, of McGill College; the Rev. Rabbi Isidore Myers, B.A., of the Synagogue McGill College avenue; Rev. Mr. Hopkins, G. W. Stephens, Esq., M. P. P.; George W. Stephes, Esq., jr.; M. J. F. Quinn, Q. C., M. P.; Dr. J. J. Guerin, M. P. P.; Mr. Goff Penny, M. P.; Mr. H. W. Hibbard, B. A.; James Harper, Esq.; Dr. Adams, Mr. W. T. Castle, Mr. Thos. Spurrier, Prof. Colby, Captain Adams, Mr. H. B. Ames. Dr. George Herron has been invited and is expected to accept an invitation to speak also at an early date. These meetings are open to the public free.

ON THE WAY TO PORT.

The steamship Avlona, of the Thomson Line, R. Reford & Co., agents, arrived in port to-day. She is from the Mediterranean ports of Patras, Denia, and Palermo, with a cargo of currants, raisins, etc. The Escalona, with a cargo of brandy and wine, is now on her way to this port, and is expected to arrive on Friday.

PREMIER FLYNN.

Premier Flynn returned to the city yesterday from St. Hugues, Bagot county, where he addressed a public meeting in company with Messrs. Chapais, M. Mcdonald, M.L.A., and A. A. Mondon. The meeting was attended by over a thousand electors from the counties of Bagot, Richelieu and St. Hyacinthe.

CITY NOISES.

To the Editor of the Star:

Sir,—In allowing the use of your valuable columns for the discussion of the subject in question you are entitled to the thanks of the community, and I trust that the result will be the abatement, if not the total suppression, of these nuisances. So far, however, I have not noticed any allusion to what is undoubtly the worst plague of all. I refer to the dog nuisance, for this scarcely ever ceases from daybreak until dark in all weather. Calm, lightning and in rain; Sunday and Saturday, far exceeding the din of ice carts, coal carts and the piping of the youthful vendor of Sunday papers.

In many localities, even the upper and more fashionable parts of the city, this is continually going on to the intense disgust and annoyance of the more quietly disposed citizens, who feel it very trying and aggravating, that even on a Sabbath day when a tired man would fain enjoy a little quiet, this reasonable indulgence is rendered an impossibility by the howling, barking and yelping of fancy curs whose owners seem perfectly oblivious to the fact that their canine pets are causing a most intolerable disturbance to the whole neighborhood. Can you suggest any remedy?

JOB.

REAL ESTATE.

September a Quiet Month.

September was a quiet month in real estate, says J. Cradock Simpson's Real Estate Record. A seasonable improvement, however, is expected for the autumn market. The St. Antoine Ward transfers made up over one-fourth of the city sales recorded, the largest ones being that of the house No. 213 Drummond street for $21,000, and a vacant lot on Drummond street, above Sherbrooke street, of 54 feet front by 130 feet deep at $2 per foot. In Montreal East the largest transfer recorded was the sheriff's sale of the property Nos. 154 to 160 Fullum street, St. Mary's Ward, for $10,150. Of the nineteen transfers in St. Denis Ward, fifteen of them were of cheap building lots. In Westmount the transfers were few but the prices appear to be well maintained.

There has been a fair amount of renting, and some selling, of houses for occupation this autumn, but mostly at reduced prices. The situation affords tempting opportunities to the investor and to the home seeker, who can probably do as well for themselves now as they will ever be able to do in Montreal.

The sales recorded in September at Maisonneuve, Mile End, Montreal Annex, Notre Dame de Grace, Cote des Neiges, St. Henry and St. Cunegonde, amount to about $60,000, to which St. Henry contributed $16,300 and St. Cunegonde $14,680.

There were 98 real estate transfers in the city wards and town of Westmount during September, amounting to $306,009.77.

St. Antoine Ward	$73,315 00
St. Ann's Ward	27,706 00
St. James Ward	24,179 92

Hochelaga Ward	11,031 00
St. Denis Ward	15,713 26

During the corresponding month of last year 89 transfers were recorded, amounting to $371,056.82.

TO HOLD AN ENTERTAINMENT.

Mr. Edward Halley, the delegate of the Young Irishmen's Literary and Benefit Association of Montreal at the recent Irish convention at Dublin, will be tendered a complimentary entertainment at the Windsor Hall on Monday evening, October 26, by his fellow-members. The programme will include vocal and instrumental items by well known artists, and Mr. Halley himself will present his illustrated views of Ireland, an admirable collection, which received many valuable additions during his recent visit to the Old Country.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

MONTREAL WHOLESALE MARKETS.

Star Office, 13th October, 1896.

Grain.—Oats are in brisk demand and fractionally higher. Peas are active and firm. Other grains are quiet but steady. We quote: Oats, No. 2 white, 26c to 26 1-4c; peas, per 60 lbs., in store, 52 1-2c to 53c; feed barley, 31c to 32c; buckwheat, 37 1-2c to 38c; rye, 41c to 41 1-2c.

Flour.—The market is moderately active and very firm. The demand is running chiefly upon spring wheat flour, but with the call for favorite brands of winter patents. Merchants representing Ontario millers express themselves as fairly well satisfied. We quote: Spring patents, $4.30 to $4.65; strong bakers, $4 to $4.25; winter patents, $4.25; straight rollers, $3.90 to $4.

Mill Feed.—As compared with yesterday there is no change, but the demand is no doubt better than it was a week ago. Prices, however, are the same, Manitoba bran, bags included, being offered freely at $11, and the best Ontario bran at $10 to $10.25. Shorts are held at the usual advance.

Oatmeal.—The market is quiet, but for car lots of rolled oats in wood prices are steady at $2.80 to $2.85.

Provisions.—To sell either pork or lard eloquence, patience and perseverance are required, but hams and bacon are easily disposed of. We quote: Canada short cut mess, new pack, $12 to $12.50; Canada short cut heavy mess pork, old, per bbl., $10 to $11; bacon, per lb., 8 1-2c to 10c; hams, per lb., 9 1-2c to 10 1-2c; lard, compound, per lb., 5c to 6 1-2c; lard, pure, per lb., 6 1-2c to 7c.

Cheese.—For cheese ranging in value from 8 3-4c to 9 1-2c there is a fair enquiry. Finest western are quiet, but bids of less than 10 1-2c would not probably be entertained. At Utica yesterday the sales were as follows: 405 boxes large and small at 9 1-2c, 860 boxes large and small at 9 5-8c, 3180 boxes large and small at 9 3-4c.

The shipments from this port last week were:

Liverpool	13,972
Glasgow	2390
London	94,261
	110,623

Butter.—The shippers are buying sparingly, and report that 19 1-2c is for them a prohibitory price. The factorymen are, notwithstanding, talking 20c. There was little if any wholesale put through today at over 19c. In New York yesterday the buying was quite active, and prices advanced to 19c for western extra creamery.

Eggs.—Business is a little on the quiet side to-day, the enquiry for wholesale lots being inclined to flag a little. Prices show no change, 13c to 13 1-2c being still the range for large quantities of candled stock, while for single cases of really new laid eggs grocers are willingly paying the jobbers 17c.

WORLD'S WHEAT HARVEST.

U. S. Consul-General Karel, at St. Petersburg, has supplied the State Department at Washington with exhaustive statistis of the world's wheat harvest of 1896. His figures, he explains, are in cases preliminary and approximate only, based in instances on last year's returns. They show that in general the harvest of 1896 decreased 185,485,542 bushels as compared with the harvest of 1895.

The harvests in the United States, Canada, Argentine, Uruguay, Chili, Australia and the East Indies showed a decrease of 165,392,959 bushels. Of the European producing countries Russia only shows a large decrease of 56,575,467 bushels. The countries of consumption harvested 37,205,123 bushels more than last year; only Spain and Portugal among them had a bad crop. France harvested nearly as much as last year, while an increase is observed only in Italy and Great Britain. The decrease is attributed to reduction in the wheat acreage, owing to the low price of the last three years. The rye harvest shows a still greater decrease proportionately, it being estimated at 154,765,714 bushels.

A decrease in oats and barley is also noticeable, but not to so great an extent. The exports of cereals from Russia during the first eight months of 1896 show a big decrease, compared with the preceding year, being 193,440,651 bushels, as against 241,254,578 bushels.

BACK IT UP.

That's What we do.

MANLEY'S CELERY - NERVE COMPOUND "re-backs" weak backs and the "re-backed" people "back" up our statements with their testimony. Here's a sample:

For a number of years I have been troubled with a lame back, which at times became so painful that I had to lay off work. Nine months ago I was lucky enough to be advised to try Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound, and after taking two or three bottles the pain entirely left me, and I feel certain that my cure is a permanent one, as I have had no return of the pain for eight months now.

VERY HIGH VALUES.

Recent Strike on the Red Mountain Proves a Record Breaker.

ASSAYS AVERAGE $85.00

The Ore Was Sampled at a Depth of Only Five Feet, and Runs Well in Silver and Copper as Well as Gold — Owned by a Strong Company.

The Red Mountain mine is an honor to the mountain from which it is named, and on which it holds such a conspicuous position. Last week the Miner called attention to a rich body of ore which had been opened on the north ledge for a distance of 100 feet. The clean ore at that time appeared to be but about ten inches wide. Since that it has widened to fully two and a half feet, while the ledge itself appears to be about five feet wide. A number of assays have been made since last week. Five made on Wednesday ran as follows: No. 1, 16.25 ounces of gold, 16.56 ounces silver, 12.1 per cent. copper, total value $357.69 per ton; No. 2, three ounces gold, 11.38 ounces silver, 8.97 per cent. copper, total value per ton $21.95; No. 3, .18 ounces gold, 6.88 ounces silver, 7.22 per cent. copper, total value per ton, $15.02; No. 4, .16 ounces gold 5.84 ounces silver, 4.64 per cent. copper, total value per ton, $11.43; No. 5, .52 ounces gold, 5.92 ounces silver, 7 per cent. copper, total value per ton $21.36. The total of the five assays is $427.44, and the average value per ton is $85. These assays were made from ore taken from a depth of five feet.

No. 1 is the highest assay in gold of any surface ore to which our attention has been called in this camp, and the average is also the highest for surface ore so far reported in these columns. Another noticeable feature is the considerable amount of silver shown in all the assays. No other Red Mountain ore carries so much silver, unless it be that from the Indiana Consolidated. The Cliff, just north of the Red Mountain mine, carries two or three ounces of silver in its best ore. The copper percentage is excellent. Indeed, this is a very fine ore, and the Red Mountain must now take a leading position in the camp.

Charles Sweeney, a large stockholder and the manager of the mine, is so well pleased he has put three eight-hour shifts in the tunnel and two ten-hour shifts in the shaft. The tunnel will have to be run 275 feet further to tap the vein, which it will do at a depth of 260 feet. The shaft will be sunk to connect with the tunnel, and in that way the mine will be placed in working shape. THE HIGH SCHOOL GAMES.

The Hunt Steeplechases.

SIR GEORGE NEWNESS' CHALLENGE FOR THE AMERICA CUP.

Latest London Betting on the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire Stakes—The Captain of Toronto Football Team Meets With a Serious Injury—Sporting Gossip.

A programme of faster events run off on time and without mishap is a pretty good record, and this the officials of the High School Athletic games entitled themselves to yesterday afternoon. It was a record that has never been beaten, and one that ought to be an example to the organizers of field days for grown up athletes and to these athletes themselves.

The weather was beautiful, competition strong and spirited, the events interesting and amusing and the enthusiasm on the grand stand great. At a cursory glance from the field the stand seemed not too well filled, but when towards the finish of some race the occupants stood up in a mass, it was proven conclusively that appearances as far as numbers present be concerned were deceptive. It must be borne in mind, however, that what the individuals, who composed the greater part of the body of spectators, lacked in size they made up in lung power, and there was a continual buzz of criticism and interesting remarks which at the proper moments rising to the occasion left nothing to be desired in the way of noisy appreciation. Spectators, as well as participants, were into the matter heart and soul.

The general showing made was excellent, and gave a glorious promise for the future, combined with the assurance that the present system of education, though more serious and complicated and more exacting than in the past, does not tend to develop the brain at the expense of the muscles. They appeared all to be sturdy little fellows, full of vigor, and they did their work with an earnestness that showed how anxious they were for the honors to be gained. Numerous papas and mamas and big and little sisters were present, and they seemed to enjoy the fun and the contests immensely. The boys had reason to be proud of the gentlemen outside of those connected with the school, who so kindly acted as officials, and in return these gentlemen as well as the school officials had reason to be proud of the boys. Following were the results:

TURF.

YESTERDAY'S STEEPLECHASES.

The members of the Montreal Hunt may be fairly satisfied with the result of their two days' steeplechasing, and the public may be more than satisfied with the sport which the Hunt Club provided. It left nothing to be desired, and the effect of the first day was shown in the attendance yesterday.

Weather and track were extremely favorable, and the crowd upon the stand were quite as enthusiastic as the occasion demanded. The Hunt Cup and the two miles farmers' race were a little disappointing, but it was always thus in betting. The programme was run off on time and without any delay or breaks of any kind, and if people went away toward the end it was palable that they did so because deceived by the warm-looking sun during the early afternoon they had failed to provide themselves with sufficient wraps. There were a number of small accidents consequent upon the runs, and the most serious was that of Jockey Power, who rode Mr. Brown's Quiz, and was thrown so heavily that he broke his collar bone. Following are the results:

LORD DUNRAVEN CANNOT WIN HIS OWN PRIZE.

London, October 13.—At the meeting of the Yacht Racing Association, held yesterday afternoon, the case of the Earl Dunraven's 20-rater Audrey, which won the Dunraven challenge cup in the races held at Calshot under the auspices of the Castle Yacht Club on August 10, and was disqualified by the Castle Club, on the ground that the yacht was not qualified to race for a prize offered by her owner, was taken up and disposed of. The association, to which the matter had been referred, upheld the ruling of the Castle Yacht Club, and awarded the cup to Howard Gould's yacht Niagara, which finished second in the race. The association also decided that centre-boards shall be measured in future with keel, and at their greatest depth. The rules for measuring boats over 36 feet in length were not altered, but the rules for the measurement of boats under that length were changed.

THE AMERICA'S CUP.

Julian Ralph cables to the New York Journal as follows from London:

Sir George Newnes is evidently extremely disappointed at the action of the Royal London Yacht Club in refusing to forward his challenge for the America Cup. I saw him at his office today and was convinced that he is in earnest and fully intended to send a yacht across the Atlantic had it not been for the unexpected decision of the committee of the club. "I have no doubt," he said, "they acted in what they believed to be the interests of yacht racing, but if I had not been given to understand by some of the officials that my challenge, with the alterations in the deed of gift I had stipulated for, would be favorably considered, I would not have challenged through them. Of course, I know that I can join some other yacht club which would send my challenge across, but I feel some delicacy in asking any committee to do that so soon after the decision of the Royal London Yacht Club."

"I suppose the deed of gift is not the only obstacle?"

"Well, of course," Sir George answered, "there is no denying the fact that the last race has left a sort of nasty taste in the mouth, and without attempting to say where the blame lies, one cannot be surprised that it is so. I did not want to be in the position to make such charges as Lord Dunraven made, and I did not want it to be possible for such charges to be made against me. That is the reason that I stipulated that two of my representatives should be on the American yacht, and two American representatives should be on mine. Then, if I had the good fortune to win the race, they would not be able to say that I used unfair means, and vice versa. I thought it would cover the objection so far as Lord Dunraven's charges were concerned, and as Lord Dunraven did not prove his charges I do not see why the fact that he made them should forever debar a race."

"Should you," he was asked, "make it an essential point of your challenge that the race should be sailed in foreign waters?"

"No, certainly not. All I am anxious for is to have a fair race, and I imagined that the proposal I made was in the interest of both yachts. You know you could not have a sprint race down Cheapside in the middle of the day, and it is equally unreasonable to expect to have a yacht race right up close to New York. Water is water, whether it is foreign or American, and if it is necessary in order to get a fair race, that we should go some distance away to get clear of the traffic, I do not know where the objection comes in."

"Yet, as the Americans are the holders of the cup, it is only reasonable that they should expect to keep the race in their own waters."

"Well, if I were fortunate enough to win the cup," said Sir George, "I would try and make a fair race, no matter where I had to go. Of course, I do not insist upon Halifax. I should, probably," he added, "or some place equally distant from New York, but that I was afraid of misinterpretation. I have no desire to keep away from New York except for the same reason as I would keep away from London. I mentioned the matter to one or two leading yachting authorities. We went thoroughly into the matter, and we thought that perhaps Halifax was the solution of the difficulty, but apart from the fact that I do not want to be crowded up, I do not care where the race takes place. Therefore, I think I shall wait until next year, and in the meantime I shall endeavor to ascertain something of the feeling of the committees of the leading yacht clubs.

The gossip of the clubs was that the real reason for the refusal of the Royal London to forward Sir George Newnes' challenge for the America Cup was the suspicion that Newnes' only desire was to advertise his publications in America. A moment's reflection will show that there cannot be any basis for such a suggestion, and, moreover, obviously, the time when a yacht club should scrutinize the motives of a possible challenger is when it admits him to membership.

CRICKET.

AN AMERICAN TEAM GOING TO ENGLAND.

Philadelphia, October 13.—Representatives of the Associated Cricket Clubs met in this city yesterday and decided to send a team of cricketers to England next spring. The tour will commence the latter part of May, and close about the middle of August. The team has not yet been selected, but it will probably be the same as that which played the Australians in their last two matches here. Matches will be arranged with the following teams: Cambridge University, Oxford University, Gentlemen of England, Marylebone C. C., Surrey, Yorkshire, Lancashire, Middlesex, Notts, Kent, Sussex, Somerset, Hampshire and Gloucestershire.

LACROSSE.

NATIONALS VS. SENIOR SHAMROCK.

The Nationals and Senior Shamrock teams will play on Saturday next on the National Grounds the longed talked of match, and some people there are who expect that, in consequence of the splendid form of the young Frenchmen the game will be a particularly interesting one. The Senior Shamrocks turned out for practice yesterday afternoon for the first time in several weeks, and they intend to keep at it until Thursday afternoon. The same team which faced the Capitals will appear against the Nationals. The latter are practising very steadily every day, and they seem to think that they will make it more lively for the big Seniors than many people expect. The Nationals are now putting up good lacrosse, and with the prospects of securing a big trophy and the additional prestige which would follow a victory, they will screw up their courage in a manner such as they never did at any stage in their career. If the weather is favorable there should be a large attendance, as the match will be a good one.

SUGAR REFINERY VS. CALEDONIA IRON WORKS.

Teams from the above works played a friendly match on Saturday on the Driving Park, the latter team winning by three straight goals, Dade scoring first and Andy Smith the next two in 1-2, 15 and 3 minutes respectively. For the Caledonias Jim Brown played the best game.

FOOTBALL.

OTTAWA COLLEGE EXPECT A HARD MATCH WITH MONTREAL.

(Special to the Star.)

Ottawa, Ont., October 13.—The College men expect a hard game with Montreal on Saturday next, and they will practise every day this week under the direction of Father Fallon. The anticipations are a hard game against Montreal next Saturday, and a couple of hundred College rooters at least will take advantage of the cheap trip to Montreal to see the match. The College have a slight advantage in the game in that they all saw the Ottawa-Montreal match here, and have many of the moves of the Montrealers down fine. The opinion here is that the College should win, but that Montreal can give them a harder fight than the Ottawas did. James and Jack McDougall will probably be seen on the College wing.

The Ottawas anticipate a match on Saturday next with the "Varsity" team of Toronto, and this, should it take place, will give a line on the strength of the eastern and western teams.

The executive of the Ottawa Football Club has decided not to protest the College game on account of Lafleur playing, but in self-protection to notify the Quebec Rugby Union.

CAPTAIN GILMOUR OF TORONTO BROKE A BONE IN HIS ANKLE.

(Special to the Star.)

Toronto, Ont., October 13. — Captain Jack Gilmour, of the Toronto Athletic Club football team, broke a bone in his ankle in the second half of the game at Hamilton on Saturday, and in all probability will be unable to play any more this season. Gilmour did not realize how serious his injury was, and played the game out.

WHEEL.

TO DECIDE THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Chicago, October 13.—Edward "Cannon" Bald and Tommy "Monarch" Cooper will battle for the championship of the year 1896 in a series of three races, best two in three, at the mile distance, probably with single pacing. The races will be run, probably one at Lousville, the second at New Orleans, and the third to be decided after the result of these, if necessary. The arrangements are now being made. The time has not yet been decided.

THE WANDERERS BICYCLE CLUB.

The prizes won in the recent road race will be presented to the winners on Officers' Night, Tuesday, 20th October, at Harvey's, Lachine. This evening a ride will start from the club room at eight o'clock. On next Tuesday evening the Officers' Night will take place.

GOLF.

KINGSTON GOLFERS WON.

Kingston, Ont., October 13.—The annual autumn match between the Ottawa and Kingston Golf Clubs was played here on Saturday. The weather was perfect. The home team won an interesting match by a majority of 16 holes. Score:

GOSSIP.

Manager Groom, of the National Athletic Club, of San Francisco, has agreed to deposit $10,000 in the hands of the referee who may be selected for the finish fight between Corbett and Sharkey, for which they signed articles on June 20, and has set December 3 as the day for said fight. Dan Lynch, on behalf of Sharkey, has accepted the proposition, and awaits word from Corbett.

The turf amateurs of Quebec tried to revive the cross country hunting which used formerly to be in vogue, by holding a race last Saturday. However, the trial did not prove to be a success, as only four or five out of some fifteen horses in the city entered the field. Lieut. Ogilvie's polo pony showed itself a good jumper, and Dr. Elliott's Linger Longer Loo was no lingerer at the fences. The two had quite a brush at the finish. Dr. Deschêne's Mapsie also was good at the fences.

Longfellow's Handwriting.

Mr. W. D. Howells has been publishing in Harper's Magazine some interesting reminiscences of Longfellow, in the course of which he describes his handwriting as "smooth, regular, and scrupulously perfect." It was "quite vertical and rounded, with a slope neither to the right nor left, and at the time I knew him first he was fond of using a soft pencil on printing paper, though commonly he wrote with a quill. Each letter was distinct in shape, and between the verses was always the exact space of half-an-inch." Those acquainted with the so-called "vertical" writing, which is rapidly coming into vogue now, will notice that the above description exactly applies to it. Longfellow's manuscript, according to Howells, was quite perfect, but he admits that the poems he has in his possession were probably not first drafts.

RISKS OF MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Agassiz Used to Shudder in Recalling His Experience on the Alps.

Since the year 1860 nearly 200 fatal accidents have occurred upon the Swiss Alps alone. Of these how many were occasioned by maladroit, feeble or timid climbers? The safety of every mountaineering party demands in advance that each member of it should be a practised and steady climber; that no serious ascent should be undertaken by any man who cannot rely upon his own nerve and capabilities, his power of braving fatigue and standing cold; and, finally, that the party should be accompanied by a sufficient number of professional guides, says the London Telegraph. Mr. Leslie Stephen lays it down as a rule that the loftiest mountain may be scaled with safety by trained mountaineers, provided that fine weather, good guides and favorable conditions of rock and snow have first been secured. "On the other hand," he adds, "there is no mountain which may not be excessively dangerous if the weather be bad, the guides incompetent, the climbers inexperienced, the conditions of rock or snow unfavorable." Who, for instance, can say with confidence until he has been tried that he has nerve enough to stand the crucial test which Prof. Agassiz confesses was almost more than he could bear when, in 1841, he was one of a party of twelve who ascended the Jungfrau, half of them being professional guides, with the celebrated Jacob Lenthold, who died soon afterward of consumption, at their head?

"We started," wrote Agassiz, "from the Grimsel hospice at 4 a. m., on August 27, 1841, sleeping the first night at the chalets of Meril, and completing the ascent of the Jungfrau next day. Our difficulties were not a little increased by heavy mists and intense cold. At last the ascent became more and more steep, and every step had to be cut in the ice. Lenthold kept us close to the edge of the ridge of frozen snow, because the ice yielded there more easily to the ax. It was, however, so trying to our nerves that I, for one, should not like to repeat the experience. The awful precipice beneath us was constantly in view, and we could drive our alpenstocks through the rim of frozen snow, and gaze sheer down through the hole into a vast amphitheatre which seemed yawning to swallow us thousands and thousands of yards below. The apex of the Jungfrau is so small that only one person can stand upon it. At 4 p.m. we started upon our downward path, turning our faces to the icy slope and feeling with the foot for each step below, these steps being more than 700 in all. At 11.30 p.m. we reached the chalets of Meril, which we had left that morning at the earliest dawn of day." The least imaginative mind can readily realize what one false step made upon a surface so steep and slippery that it is impossible to think of it without a shudder would have involved. In the worst accident that ever happened on the Matterhorn—that which befell Lord Francis Douglas and his three hapless companions—it is notorious that one false step, made by an inexperienced climber, and followed by the breaking of a rope, was the sole cause of that terrible tragedy.

The Rothschild Family.

The foundation of the Rothschild fortune was an accident of war. In 1806 Maier Amschel Rothschild was a small broker doing business as a changer and lender of money on the street known as the Judengasse, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, where he had been born half a century before. He was a strictly honest man and used his little capital so judiciously that he attracted the friendly notice of the Landgrave of Hesse, who, on the approach of the French army under Napoleon, loaded his treasure bags into his carriage and took them by night to the care of the trusty money-changer, giving him freedom to use the money as he thought best, provided that it was kept safely till the return of peace. The Landgrave's gold pieces were kept in Maier Amschel's safe until that thrifty money-changer saw a chance to invest them in Austrian securities and in small loans to his fellow citizens. Money was a valuable article in Europe of those days and whoever obtained financial accommodations from Maier Amschel paid well for them. As time went on Austrian securities rose in value, and when in 1812 death came upon the banker he left to his sons a well established bank with large resources and unblemished credit. When in 1813 the Landgrave returned from Bohemia and received from the sons the entire sum he had left with their father, with the interest added, he was so pleased that he set about modifying and repealing the restrictions against Jews and loaded the young bankers with honors. The Austrian monarch was no less grateful to the banker who had invested in his securities in the dark days of war, and after peace had been restored he raised three of the sons to nobility. Thus ennobled and encouraged, the young men decided to extend their facilities and take a hand in political finances. The elder son, Anselm Mayer von Rothschild, ramained as head of the Frankfort bank and died in 1855, childless. Solomon Rothschild, the second son, was sent to Vienna, where he established a bank. Nathan, the third son, went to England and founded the Rothschilds' bank in Manchester, which was afterwards moved to London. The fourth son, Freiherr Mayer von Rothschild, was sent to establish a branch in Naples, and the fifth, Jacob, founded the house in Paris. Anslem Mayer von Rothschild, the brother who remained at Frankfort, being childless, the bank then descended at his death in 1855 to two sons of Karl, the banker of Naples, who also died in 1855. The bank in Naples was then closed and Freiherr Mayer Karl and Wilhelm Karl Rothschild conducted the Frankfort bank until the death of the elder in 1886. The younger brother still lives and the families of these two brothers make up the present generation of Rothschilds in Frankfort.

Cured of Kidney Trouble of Years' Standing With One Bottle of Munyon's Kidney Cure.

Mr. John Traynor, living at 18 1-2 Plateau, says: "I have been troubled for years with an affection of the kidneys and bladder; the doctors could give me no relief. I had severe pains down the back and loins, and frequent micturation, especially at night. Three doses of Munyon's Kidney Cure relieved me, I am completely cured after using one bottle."

For Eight Months Could Not Write His Signature—Cured in Two Weeks With Munyon's Rheumatism Cure.

Mr. E. Horner, aged 58, who resides at 610 City Hall avenue, tells of his most wonderful cure as follows: "I have been suffering with rheumatism in the right hand for the past eight months; so badly swollen was it that it was impossible for me to sign my name; the pain was intense. I tried several doctors and various so-called cures, but obtained no relief until I used Munyon's Rheumatic Cure. I was at once relieved, and now, after two weeks' treatment, am completely cured. Munyon's Remedies are truly wonderful."

Dyspepsia, Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism Cured in Two Weeks—A Marvellous Cure, Indeed.

Mrs. Stewart, who lives at 427 St. Lawrence street, this city, tells of a most wonderful cure in her case. In brief, she says: "For years I have been troubled with rheumatism, kidney trouble resulting therefrom, and dyspepsia; the pains in my back and legs were terrible; I could get no rest at night nor during damp weather; to such an extent were my kidneys affected that my face became swollen, and dark circles formed around my eyes, and severe headache. I also suffered untold agony from dyspepsia; I could eat nothing that did not give me extreme distress and would often vomit; I tried doctor after doctor, and patent medicines galore, but got no relief. I was persuaded by a friend to try Munyon, and did so, and am now one of the happiest women in the world, for all my troubles have gone, and in two weeks' time, too. You can use my name as often as you please."

More Evidence That Munyon Positively Cures all Forms of Dyspepsia.

Mr. Donald MacDonald, residing at 74 Emeli street, tells his experience with Munyon as follows: "For years I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia; my bowels were constipated; I could eat nothing that did not give me severe distress; I was continually sick at my stomach, and morning would often vomit; my appetite failed, and I lost considerable weight; I tried many doctors and various remedies, but found no relief. As a last resort I concluded to give Munyon's remedies a trial, with the result that in two weeks I felt perfectly well; my appetite is good, and I can eat anything without giving me any trouble whatever. Munyon's Remedies have done wonders for me."

You are weak, "run-down," health is frail, strength gone. Doctors call your case anæmia—there is a fat-famine in your blood. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is the best food-means of getting your strength back—your doctor will tell you that.

He knows also that when the digestion is weak it is better to break up cod-liver oil out of the body than to burden your tired digestion with it. Scott's Emulsion does that.

THE CONDUIT CASE.

It is a good thing that the Montreal tax payers are rich and good natured.

Otherwise they might get vexed at the blundering bungling stupidity with which the City Council has mis-managed the underground conduit affair.

For years Montreal has been damaged, disfigured and endangered by the thousands of poles and wires with which its streets are encumbered. In the early days when the poles were first erected the aldermen used to talk threateningly about compelling the companies to put their wires underground. Now when a company proposes to put its wires underground it is met with the most persistent obstruction at the hands of the Council. The action of the aldermen is all the more blameworthy in that the company has an undoubted legal right under its charter to place its wires underground; the Superior Court has so decided the Court of Appeals has confirmed its decision, the city attorneys have advised against appealing to the Privy Council and Mr. N. W. Trenholme as counsel for the city concurs in their opinion. In spite of all this the City Council yesterday decided to appeal to England and the tax payers of Montreal have another nice little bill of costs to look forward to.

Fortunately as we have already said, the tax-payers of Montreal are rich, they love their aldermen and like to encourage their lawyers.

But why are the aldermen so desperately opposed to the Standard Light and Power Company placing its wires underground? Every citizen who is not an alderman would like to see every wire underground, and there are and have been for weeks past hundreds of citizens hungry for food and longing for the work of putting the wires underground. It cannot be that the Council objects to the Standard Company's method of putting the wires underground, because the city was repeatedly asked to prescribe in what method the conduits should be constructed. This invitation was an abundant recognition of the city's rights, and gave the aldermen every opportunity to protect the interests of the public. Should the city ultimately be successful in this litigation, which is not to be expected, it would be a public calamity. The next step would be a scheme for the city itself to construct conduits. Such a scheme would afford scope for the most colossal boodling and jobbery, and would cost the tax-payers millions of dollars.

Fortunately for the tax-payers of Montreal—but they are not rich enough for that.

THE CONTROL OF THE NEW SENATE.

It is said that Mark Hanna, McKinley's manager, begins to feel like an understudy of Alexander the Great; and, in the course of looking for more worlds to conquer, has decided to have a "try" at the silver-plated Senate. This state of feeling is, of course, caused by his confidence that he has already won the Presidential and lower "House" elections. But it will seem likely that he will find enough to keep him busy in the gentle task of capturing the Senate. With every chair occupied, the Senate would number ninety members. These are at present divided as follows: Republicans, 46; Democrats, 39; Populists, 4; vacancy in Delaware, 1; total, 90. But eight of the Republicans are free silver men, which divides the Senate on the silver question into 38 "antis" and 51 "pros." Now, the following twenty-nine Senators retire on the fourth of March next:

To this list must be added the Delaware vacancy, which ought to be filled by that time. It will be noted that nine sound money Republicans (counting Cameron as such) retire with this group, which reduces the straight Republican strength in the Senate to twenty-nine. To control the incoming Senate they must have forty-six ready to answer the roll-call, however, which means that Mr. Hanna must carry seventeen out of the thirty seats about to become vacant. Can he do so? The Republicans have already captured two Democratic Senatorships—those of Ohio and Maryland. That leaves fifteen to win from the remainder. Suppose them to get Iowa, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Vermont and even Connecticut, and Illinois and Delaware; and still they will be eight short of the winning figure. Of the states still remaining, Utah, Louisiana, Florida, Idaho, the Carolinas, Arkansas, Alabama, Nevada, Washington and Colorado, can surely be conceded either to the Democracy or to silver. This leaves Kentucky, the Dakotas, New York, Oregon, Kansas, California, Missouri, Wisconsin and Indiana, out of which they must collect their eight; and the chances are decidedly against them in a majority of these States. Mark Hanna has a hill to climb before he can plant his flag on this third member of the legislative trio. The silver men claim that the new Senate will stand 36 Republicans to 54 Silverites; but they are calculated upon a basis which concedes Bryan's election.

The importance of controlling the Senate is that no tariff bill can become law to which the Senate does not agree; and no better arrangement for issuing gold bonds can be made without its consent.

The English-speaking, or alleged English-speaking section of the City Council is broken up on new lines. Some of the aldermen pronounce the word conduit "kondwee," and some "kondweet." This last is no more English than it is French, but an invention of the evil one. Conduit is a good English word, and the proper pronunciation thereof for an Englishman is "kundit." A United Statesman is allowed to say "kondit" if he wants to assert his nationality, but a Montreal alderman who says "kondweet" when he means "boodle" ought to be disqualified.

THE IMPERIAL OPPOSITION.

The position into which the British Liberals have manoeuvred themselves must be exceedingly pleasing to the leaders of the Unionist alliance. They are without a leader, without a formidable contingent in either House, and almost without an enthusiastic policy. If ever a party needed a little time in Opposition to get ready to fight and to find out what they want to fight for, it is the Liberal party of Great Britain. After Lord Rosebery's speech, it is difficult to believe that the intervention of Mr. Gladstone in the Armenian question is entirely responsible for his retirement. His references to disaffection within the party were too plain to be misunderstood, and no man can lead a party that derides his authority and is not altogether unwilling to come to its knees that he may be flung from the saddle.

But it is now a question whether they can replace him with more satisfaction even to themselves. He has, at all events, brought things frankly down to bed-rock. Did his elevation to the leadership partake of the character of a "forced march" and a "night surprise?" Well, if so, he has atoned for all that, and is now on a level with his rivals, and the party is free to choose between them. If he goes back again, it must be because the Liberals ask him to lead them, and there will be no flavor of usurpation in his primacy to spoil the loyalty of the rank and file. Yet, should he go back, it apparently must mean the continuance of the insipid negative policy which has seemed to characterize the Liberals since the withdrawal of Gladstone. He is not a dashing apostle of innovation, such as the Radicals love to follow; and it is highly probably that any policy he would shape would look very like watered Conservatism. Now if the people of the United Kingdom want Conservatism, they are going to take it pure. Thus a return to Rosebery may not seem to the impetuous members of the party to be very promising. But if not to Rosebery, to whom? And to what? That is the problem. The Liberal party want a leader and a cry. Home Rule will do for Ireland when the Irish parties re-unite; but what is required is a policy to stem the tide of Conservatism in Great Britain.

UNSPOKEN.

Ah, never doubt my love is true,
That not in speech it flows,
For, dear, I cannot tell it you,
My heart no language knows,
And still can only yearn and ache
In silence, though it break.

But not by any speech is known
The hidden lore of deep and height;
The sea has nothing but a moan,
The dark is silent, and the light;
The grandest music needs no Word
To make its meaning heard.

You dwell amidst my daily strife,
A thing apart, divine,
And all that's noblest in my life
Is incense at your shrine,
For every worthy deed I do
Is done for love of you.
—A. St. John Adcock, in Chambers' Journal.

THE STANDARD CONDUIT CASE

To Go Before the Privy Council.

ALDERMEN DECIDE ON THIS STEP

Against the Advice of the City Attorneys.

At a meeting of the City Council held yesterday afternoon it was decided by a vote of twenty-two to four to carry the Standard Light and Power Company's case to the Privy Council, "just to see," as Ald. McBride put it, "whether the aldermen of the city of Montreal really have anything to do with its streets. Can we or can we not give anyone permission to tear them up or issue instructions to have them kept in order without the legislature of Quebec coming along and reversing our decision. It seems, according to the decision of the courts, that it would be better for us to give up the holding of a City Council at all."

The matter was thoroughly discussed, Ald. Prefontaine, Sadler, Beausoleil, Stevenson, Rainville, Jacques, Renault and others taking part, and when the motion of Ald. Rainville asking that the case be taken before the Privy Council was put, the result was:

Ayes—Ald. Wilson, Charpentier, Harper, Dupuis, Connaughton, Dupre, Turner, Grothe, Reneault, McBride, Savignac, Beausoleil, Brunet, Ouimet, Jacques, Prenoveau, Prevost, Marsolais, Stevenson, Lefebvre, Rainville—20.

Nays.—Ald. Sadler, Penny, Costigan and Prefontaine.

Ald. Prefontaine had the strongest kind of objection to the step, and went on to say that, in view of the fact that the city attorneys and Mr. N. W. Trenholme had sent in a written report stating that the case was a poor one for the city, it would be folly to go before the Privy Council— a useless expenditure of six or eight thousand dollars. The highest court in the Province had maintained the judgment, and it was not at all likely that the Privy Council would reverse the decision of the highest provincial court on a provincial statute.

This idea was not that of Ald. Stevenson. He was sure they would reverse the judgment, no matter what courts had dealt with the case. There the city would get justice, and it was justice they wanted.

The letter of Messrs. Roy, Ethier and Trenholme, after referring to the subject in general, says:

"We have now to express an opinion on the question as to what our chances would be before the Privy Council, and whether we can reasonably expect to obtain the reversals of the decisions pronounced by the Superior Court and the Court of Queen's Bench, unanimously. Although some doubt may be entertained on the interpretation of acts of the said company, we hesitate to induce the city to run the risk of carrying on, to a finality, proceedings which, in case of non-success, would entail upon the city a large amount of costs, say $6000 or $8000, and we may be allowed in this connection to point out the difficulty arising from the fact that the provincial tribunals were unanimous in declaring what was the meaning of local statutes.

"Your Worship further desires to know what means we would suggest to obtain redress. Under the present circumstances, with the exception of an appeal to the Privy Council, on which we have as above given our views, the Legislature is the only power that could modify the privileges it vested in the company, or else an effort might be made to obtain the entering into a compromise between the city and the company."

There were a large number of communications read during the meeting, among which was one from the Central Trades and Labor Council strongly protesting against the recent action of the Council in allowing city policemen to go to Sudbury during the late strike among the C.P.R. telegraphers.

Ald. Lefebvre said he understood that the Mayor had given the necessary permission to send the men out of the city, and he could probably explain why he did so.

The Mayor—"I do not think it necessary. The usual permission was applied for, and unless a member of the Council asks it, I will not go into details."

A few remarks were made, and finally Ald. Sadler asked how many men were sent.

His Worship replied that he understood about sixty or seventy. They were not missed. It was at a time when the Chief could get along without them.

Ald. Sadler wanted to know how it was the city had sixty more men than they required, and the Mayor explained that in case of anything happening the superintendent could swear in specials.

The matter was allowed to drop, and a batch of correspondence between the city and the Street Railway re the Guy street and Cote des Neiges routes was submitted, and after the usual discussion passed over, the next matter of importance being the erasure of the homologated line of Burnside street, as ordered by the Legislature in the event of the street not being opened by October 1. Ald. Pretontaine's fear was that this would bring suits for damages from proprietors and the Street Railway Co., and he moved that the City Attorney be asked what damages might be incurred by erasing the lines, if any, and what would be the cost of going on with the improvement at once.

Several members of the Council were in favor of going ahead and opening up the street. Ald. Sadler said that it was the missing link in a street which ran from one end of the Island to the other. It would certainly have to be done some day, and it would only cost double the money.

Ald. McBride—"Who are the people that send in this petition? I don't believe they are electors at all, but the Street Railway Company."

A number of others also wished a little light as to who were behind the matter. As there was a representative of the Street Railway present they put the question, but no answer was given. The Mayor sent for the papers, but while they were waiting the amendment moved by Ald. Rainville, seconded by Ald. McBride, that the City Attorney be instructed to take the necessary steps for the erasure was put and carried by the following vote:

Ayes—Ald. Wilson, Charpentier, Dupuis, Grothe, Reneault, McBride, Savignac, Beausoleil, Brunet, Jacques, Prenoveau, Penny, Prevost, Marsolais, Lefebvre, Rainville—16.

Nays—Ald. Sadler, Harper, Kinsella, Connaughton, Dupre, Turner, Costigan, Stevenson, Prefontaine—9.

The report of the Board of Chairmen on the Charter Amendments came in for considerable talk also. The principal amendments to be asked for are one to increase the borrowing power and another to increase the revenue. It is urged that permanent improvements must be made, and as they must be done with borrowed money, it is necessary to get the power to borrow more money. It is also asked for power to institute a system of personal taxes, and a clause providing for a tax on all incomes and salaries over $500 a year.

Ald. Stevenson added a clause to tax the land on all property exempted, but not the buildings.

The Council then instructed the City Clerk to attend all sessions of the Legislature in future in the interest of the city, after which the meeting closed.

ONTARIO CONSERVATIVES.

Plans for a Convention in Connection with the Caucus.

(Special to the Star.)

Toronto, Ont., October 13.—A motion, favoring the calling of a convention of the Young Conservatives of the Province at an early date, came up at last night's meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Club, and evoked some warm discussion.

All of the speakers favored the idea of the convention, and recognized the benefits of such a gathering to the party, in preparing for the coming provincial elections. But it was thought wise to let the matter stand until after the coming caucus of the Conservative party. Accordingly, the mover of the motion in question, modified it to read as follows: "That a committee, consisting of the president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and mover be appointed, for the purpose of considering the advisability of calling a convention of Young Conservatives of the Province of Ontario, the committee to report to the club."

This motion carried unanimously.

The coming caucus of the party was then discussed, the result being a decision to apply for representation on that occasion. It was decided also to offer the use of the Club's premises for the caucus.

THE GEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

Ottawa, October 13.—(Special.) — The summary report of the Geological Department, shortly to be issued, will record the regrettable fact that, owing to lack of funds, very little progress was made this season in the oil boring operations at Athabasca Landing, in the North-West Territories. Mr. W. A. Fraser, the Toronto expert, is still on the ground, and proposes to continue the drilling two hundred feet further, giving a total depth of 1930 feet. The well will be steel tubed for the entire depth, and if oil is not then reached, drilling operations will be transferred to some other locality.

Mr. W. B. MacInnis, of the Geological Survey Department, has returned from his summer's exploration in the Lake of the Woods district. He investigated the Eagle, English and Seine river sections, and reports considerable development of the gold fields there. Mr. MacInn's regards the outlook for gold mining in the Lake of the Woods country as most promising.

PRESEYTERIAN MISSIONS

The Convener and Treasurer were empowered to borrow a sufficient sum to pay in full all claims for the half year just ended.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ASSOCIATION

Toronto, Ont., October 13.—(Special.)—The biennial convention of the International Epworth League Association will meet in Toronto in 1897 for four days, July 15, 16, 17, 18. Over 20,000 delegates are expected to visit he city and attend the convention. A number of distinguished ministers from the United States will meet in Toronto on November 23, to prepare the programme for the convention. It is proposed to have sermons preached by the visiting clergymen on Sunday in the various Methodist Churches of the city, and on Monday evening to have a grand rally in the Metropolitan Church.

A MINE SOLD.

Toronto, Ont., October 13.—(Special.)—A Toronto syndicate, represented by J. Lorne Campbell, has purchased the Gold Star mine near Rossland, from Volney D. Williamson, the original owner, and present manager of the Crown Point. The Gold Star was reported some time ago to have been sold to an English syndicate for £18,000.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

(Special to the Star.)

Ottawa, October 13.—The Council has decided to accede to the petition of the Montreal Board of Trade and proclaim Thanksgiving Day for Thursday, November 26.

MATHEWSON'S WILD RIDE

Carried Safely Over a Dangerous Road by Runaway Horses.

In May, 1857, John Mathewson, a pioneer in hydraulic mining, to whom belongs the credit of building the first water derrick in California, had both legs broken while erecting a derrick at Washington, on the North fork of the Yuba River, twenty-five miles north of Nevada City, says a writer in the Overland Monthly. He was taken out from the ruins of his derrick and word sent to Nevada City for an ambulance.

O. S. Olin was the driver of the daily stage between Washington and Nevada City, and he at once placed a bed in the Concord coach and drove over from Nevada City. Next morning the injured man was tenderly placed in the coach and made as comfortable as possible.

At the Cold Spring House, six miles from town, Olin pulled up to water his horses, winding the ribbons around the brake before leaving the box.

A dog ran a drove of hogs under the horses' feet, and in a flash the spirited animals were tearing down the ridge.

Some one at Nevada City happened to be scanning the road through a field-glass and suddenly shouted, "The stage is coming hell bent for 'lection, an' Olin ain't on the box."

The news spread through the town like wild-fire, and in an incredibly short time the whole town turned out, and all who had field-glasses were anxiously watching the swaying stage in its mad career along the ridge towards the steep grade leading into town. It was still some four miles distant.

What would happen at the grade? Men blanched at the thought of the certain death to the passenger within the coach.

The excitement was intense. Every one knew that Mathewson, helpless and weak, lay inside, at the mercy of the four blooded animals. The wheelers especially were a splendid pair of mettlesome stallions and the leaders carefully selected. No power on earth could have stopped them on that ridge. Down the grade they plunged. The speed was terrific. Strong men turned away in horror, expecting from moment to moment that the stage would go crashing into the canon below.

Half the distance towards town had been accomplished in safety, when a hoarse cry broke from the watching multitude. "The stump! the bowlder!" Three miles from town the stage road led between a stump on the lower side and a bowlder on the upper side of the grade.

With long plunging strides the animals approached this danger point.

The crowd was too horrified to shout. Only a stifled groan, more eloquent than words, could have been heard.

"A few rods more and God help poor Mathewson," reverently murmured a grizzled miner, as the tears flowed down his wrinkled face. Many a hard-looking but tender-hearted man near him murmured "Amen."

Gaining increased momentum at every bound, the stage ran into a cloud of dust just before reaching the stump and bowlder. Awed, pallid, upturned faces gazes with fascinated intentness at that little cloud of dust.

"They've done it," whispered a man in front, with eyes still glued to his glass.

With only fourteen inches to spare on either side of the stage, it had passed through in safety, but the danger was not yet over. The steepest and roughest part of the road was yet to come.

As the stage reached town the people gave way on either side, none dreaming of trying to stop the foam-covered stallions in their wild run.

Along Coyote street they whirled, then making a flatiron turn entered Main; still on they dashed, wheeling into Commercial, then up into Pine and still at full speed to Broad, heading for the destination of the stage in front of the National or Pierson's Hotel in the middle of the block.

Arthur Hagadorn, the owner of the stage line, was standing, pale with excitement, close to where the stage usually reined in. None can ever know how it came about, but at the sight of the familiar figure the four intelligent animals slowed up and came to a stop within a foot of where they would have been driven, had Olin been on the box.

Stepping up to the leading horse Hagadorn stroked his wet neck and said, "Noble fellow, you've done your last day's work."

Mathewson was unhurt and feebly thanked friends and acquaintances who crowded around the stage to congratulate him on his miraculous escape from death.

Such is the record of one of the wildest stage rides ever taken by man.

CITIZENSHIP.

A citizen has no more right to be neglectful of the interests of the civic whole in which he is a member than a parent or child has to be neglectful of the interests of the domestic whole in which he is a member. There is the same quality of un-Christian disregard involved in both cases, and whether a man lets his state or city shift for itself, or whether he lets his family shift for itself, in the one instance, as well as in the other, he is false to his corporate duty and is a despicable shirk.

The doctrine just enunciated needs to be preached and pushed. A great deal of our political misery is due to the fact that men, who are fairly faithful in most of the relations in which they are placed, do not hesitate, and are not ashamed to be drones or renegades in their relation to the town or nation that they belong to. They would consider themselves reprobates were they to allow a neighbor to suffer abuse without an attempt at intervention, but would see their entire city with all its machinery of government go to the dogs and the harpies without one definite effort at rescue or one distinct thought that such inaction was wicked and inhuman. Nothing will correct this evil but the creation of a sentiment so energetic and pervasive that decent people will not have the cowardly audacity to neglect the primary duties that pertain to them in their civic capacity. Citizens will attend the primaries, register and vote when the prevalent sentiment of attachment to our institutions is so pronounced, and compelling, that failure to discharge the functions of a citizen will be branded as contemptible.

Patriotism has come rather generally to be interpreted as a willingness to fight and die for one's country and its institutions. That answers very well for a definition of patriotism during times of war, but is generally deficient in that it allows no room for patriotism in times of peace. We should consider that a very cheap specimen of conjugal fidelity which put a man upon caring for his wife and devoting himself to her necessities only on occasions when she was threatened by ruffians. A husbands' love has its sphere of service at all times and in all situations. So has patriotism. Shooting our national enemies is only a small and accidental part of the matter. What our country needs most is men who will love her and—not die for her, but live for her while there is no shooting going on.—Dr. Parkhurst in the Ladies' Home Journal.

Weakened Nerves and Nervous Diseases Are Cutting off Thousands

Paine's Celery Compound Makes Nervous People Well and Strong.

Health is the first and most important thing in this life of ours. Health is a blessing far beyond our computation; it is vastly more important than wealth or great social distinction.

One of the most dreaded troubles of the present day is nervousness. It is generally acknowledged that nervous diseases are growing alarmingly prevalent in our midst.

The causes that lead to Neurasthenia, or weakness of the nerves, are many. Business cares, feverish haste after riches, social and household worries, sexual and alcoholic excesses all contribute to the breaking down and physical ruin of thousands of men and women.

In words of truth and soberness we set before the sick and afflicted the claims of Paine's Celery Compound as a quick relief and certain cure for all forms of nervous diseases. It is a perfect restorer of nerve force and power to the weakened and debilitated system. Prominent men and women all over the country have renewed their lives and kept their places in business and in society by using Paine's Celery Compound. In all large cities, where nervous diseases are most frequently seen, the best physicians prescribe Paine's Celery Compound with immense success.

The following letter from Mrs. Alfred Perry, Port Maitland, N. S., proves that Paine's Celery Compound has no equal for the cure of nervous diseases in whatever form they may present themselves:

"For two years my system was all run down, and I suffered more than I can describe from nervous prostration and insomnia; at times I almost lost my reason from severe pain at base of the brain. My husband advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound, which I did, and the effects were wonderful. I soon began to sleep well, the pain left my head, my whole system was strengthened, and I am now enjoying very good health.

"I would cheerfully recommend Paine's Celery Compound to any one suffering from like troubles. You have my best wishes for the future success of your excellent remedy." 242 s

Five hundred dollars will be paid by the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation, Limited, 40, 42 and 44 Moorgate street, London, England, to the person whom the Editor of the Montreal Daily Star decides to be the nearest relative of any one who is killed in a railway accident in the Dominion of Canada, or the United States, whilst being a passenger, provided a copy of the Montreal Daily Star (as indicated hereafter) is found upon the deceased at the time of the catastrophe, or if it is proved that he or she is a subscriber through a news agent, or through the publishers. This sum will not be paid in the event of an accident to railway train men while on duty, nor of a suicide. In cases where the accident seems to the Editor to be due to carelessness on the part of the insured, no payment will be made. No claim will be paid in the case of the death of a child under ten years of age. The Editor reserves to himself the right to pay the money in accordance with the provisions of any will left by the deceased.

In regard to residents of Montreal, claims may be established by their having a Star of the day of issue, or the day previous, or by proof of their being regular subscribers, direct or through news agents. Persons living outside of Montreal will have claims established if possessed of a paper of date within three days previous to date of accident, or by proof of their being regular subscribers in the same way.

It must be distinctly understood by all subscribers to the Star that the decision as to the payment of the insurance money is left to the opinion of the Editor; and his decision is final. All copies of the Star are published subject to this condition.

THE ROAD COMMITTEE.

REPORT ON THE EAST END STATION PRESENTED.

Accommodation for Passengers Will be Less than in the Present Station, According to the City Surveyor—

At a meeting of the Road Committee held yesterday afternoon Ald. Jacques, chairman of the Parks and Ferries Committee, asked that the Road Committee give employment during the winter on the river roads to the men employed on St. Helen's Island during the summer.

It was decided in engaging new men for work on the ice roads to give the men of the St. Helen's Island summer staff the preference.

Ald. Dupre brought up the case of Messrs. Corbeil and Larue, two pavers of the department. Up to this spring they had received $3 a day each, but when the cut in Road Department wages was made they were reduced to $2.50 a day. Ald. Dupre, backed up by Ald. Brunet, urged that now that the other workmen of the department had had their wages restored to the old rate these men should have their salaries raised again.

Mr. St. George, however, pointed out that he had specially told these men that they would only receive $2.50 a day and he considered it quite enough.

It was decided to restore the wages to the old rate of $3 a day.

While this question was being discussed at wearisome length a scene occurred. A rather seedy individual, who had invaded the sacred precincts of the committee room in some mysterious way after a few preliminary poses began solemnly and eloquently to address the committee on the labor question in general and the wage question in particular.

As he refused to be suppressed by either the blandishments or warnings of the chairman, the services of a couple of stalwart constables were secured, and the noisy intruder was forcibly ejected.

Mr. St. George, the City Surveyor, submitted his report on the plans of the new East End C. P. R. Station. He estimated that the building would cost $309,574 according to the plans, which did not provide for the fire proof floors called for by the agreement with the city. The report in full was as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Road Committee:

Gentlemen,—I beg to report upon the plans submitted by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for the East End Station. I beg to inform you that the said building by estimate will cost $309,574 as per list of the building attached herewith. I notice that the floors are not fireproof, and I have roughly estimated that it would cost $16,000 to make them so.

The passenger accommodation in the said building, that is, the general waiting room and the ladies' waiting room, has an area of 2816 feet. In the old East End Station the accommodation for passengers is 4124 feet.

I would suggest that, if found necessary to increase the passenger accommodation, that it might be advantageous to bring the general waiting room out underneath the front corridor, which I think would improve the lighting, and also give more space.

I attach all plans and specifications.

Yours truly,

PERCIVAL W. ST. GEORGE,
City Surveyor.

The report was laid on the table, and will be considered at a meeting of the Committee on Monday next at 11 o'clock.

Before the meeting adjourned it was decided to purchase 50,000 feet of lumber for sidewalks.

THE CORN EXCHANGE.

The Corn Exchange Committee of Management held a special meeting yesterday afternoon, at which Mr. Edgar Judge presided. The others present were Messrs. W. A. Hastings, R. M. Esdaile, Alex. McFee, Robert Peddie, D. Robertson and L. J. Smith.

It was referred to a committee composed of Messrs. R. Peddie, R. M. Esdaile, and Alex. McFee, who will consult with the shipping interests in Montreal.

INDUSTRIAL CLASSES.

The Course of Lectures Inaugurated Last Evening.

The course of public lectures in connection with the industrial classes under the auspices of the St. Jean Baptiste Society were opened last evening in the Monument National in presence of a large audience. Judge Loranger occupied the chair, and among others present were Premier Flynn, Hon. Louis Beaubien, Hon. A. W. Atwater, Rev. Abbes Colin and Bedard, Rev. Fathers Hudon and Cadot, M. Kleczkowski, Consul-General of France; Mr. Justice Curran, Judge Desnoyers, Hon. Joseph Royal, Rev. Abbe Bourassa, Dr. S. Lachapelle, Ald. Penny, M.P., F. X. Martineau, M.L.A., J. X. Perrault, Louis Frechette, L. J. Boivin, L. D. Rolland, D. Parizeau, M. L. A., L. E. Morin and others. Mr. Justice Loranger explained that the object the society had in view was to educate the laboring classes. He presented an address of welcome to the Premier, expressing the hope that the province would assist in the creation of a museum for genealogy. Mr. Flynn, in replying, said the Government had granted $2500 per annum to encourage a series of public lectures, provided that the lectures be for the working classes; that the lectures be approved by the Council of Arts and Manufactures, as well as by the Council of Public Instruction. He congratulated the officers of the society, and wished them all the success they deserve to achieve in their undertaking. Every professor then explained their programme. Rev. Mr. Colin said a few words, which concluded the proceedings.

DIRECTORS ELECTED

At the Annual Meeting of Molsons Bank Yesterday Afternoon.

At the meeting of the shareholders of the Molsons Bank yesterday afternoon the report of the directors, as published in yesterday's Star, was adopted on the motion of President Molson, seconded by Vice-President Ewing.

Those who attended the meeting were: The president, Mr. J. H. R. Molson, occupying the chair; Messrs. S. H. Ewing, J. P. Cleghorn, Samuel Finley, John Crawford, A. F. Gault, Daniel Wilson, W. M. Macpherson (Quebec), H. Barbeau, James Wilson, J. Try-Davies, Sir Joseph Hickson, David Crawford, H. Archbald, W. M. Ramsay, John W. Molson, R. R. Watson and S. W. Ewing.

The old Board of Directors were re-elected. They are: Messrs. Henry Archbald, J. P. Cleghorn, S. H. Ewing, S. Finley, J. H. R. Molson, W. M. Macpherson (Quebec), and W. M. Ramsay. At a subsequent meeting of the directors Mr. J. H. R. Molson was re-elected president, and Mr. S. H. Ewing, vice-president.

PREMIER FLYNN.

To the Editor of the Star:

Sir,—Premier Flynn at St. Hyacinthe is reported to have said: "My opinion is that the first thing the public should exact is that we should govern according to fixed principles and constitutional usages. This is what we intend to do; for, while giving the largest measure of liberty, we desire to respect the constitution, and no man, be he Liberal or Conservative, will ever be able to say that he was denied British fair play by those who administer the Government of the Province of Quebec." With what irony must these words sound to the electors of the Counties of Hochelaga, Jacques Cartier, Chambly and Quebec, whom Mr. Flynn intends to disfranchise at the coming session of the legislature, because he is afraid to meet the verdict of the people, notwithstanding that three of them had elected supporters of the Government in 1892. I will use Mr. Flynn's own words, and say "that the people should enact that he govern according to fixed principles and constitutional usages," and I defy Mr. Flynn to cite a case or precedent under constitutional government where four constituencies were left unrepresented for months and then a session of Parliament held without there being represented.

I have no hesitation in saying that it is a violation of the spirit of our constitution, and I argue with Mr. Flynn that the people should see that the constitution is carried out, for what is happening to these counties to-day may happen to any other county to-morrow. Will Mr. Flynn explain why he held a bye-election in Montmorency County, which was opened long after the Counties of Jacques Cartier and Hochelaga, and at the same time as Chambly and Quebec, and not in the others? In case Mr. Flynn does not care to explain his reasons, I will do so. Mr. Flynn hoped, with the prestige of an ex-Attorney-General, who had represented the county up to that time, and who was a candidate for the House of Commons, that he might elect his candidate it he made the election on the same day. Let us hope, Mr. Editor, that Mr. Flynn and his colleagues will reconsider their decision, and not allow their pusillanimity to violate the constitution, which we all love and respect so much.

Grain Standards Adjustment — Preacher Breaks His Leg — The Farmers are Getting Big Prices for Their Grain Now.

Winnipeg, Man., October 13.—A delegation of farmers of South Dakota, to examine the prospects in Manitoba and the Canadian North-West, are back here on their way home. They were greatly impressed with what they saw and their reports will be the means of bringing in many South Dakota farmers.

It is now stated the Dominion Government has consented to leave the whole matter of changes in the grain standards to the Grain Standard Board, which meets here on October 21. If this be the case, it is certain that western men, who are in the majority, will reduce the number of grades and recommend the standards they fix upon be declared permanent standards.

CANADIANS IN BRAZIL.

Ottawa, October 13.—Sir Donald Smith, High Commissioner in London, sends the following cable to the Acting Minister of Interior:

London, October 12, 1896.

"Times' Rio telegram states arrival Canadian emigrants Santa Paula caused certain amount of scandal. Had been promised fictitious favors, such as year's gratuitous supplies and other advantages. Dissatisfaction exists among them regarding their treatment, no provision being made for receiving them. Are said to be now meeting better treatment at the hands of Government of Santa Paulo. Some families accepted plantation contracts. Many will settle on Dumont estates, which assures them better estates, which assures them good treatment under English managers.

THE TALBOT IN A GALE.

Halifax, October 13.—H. M. S. Talbot, which reached here yesterday, had fine weather after leaving Plymouth on Saturday week until Tuesday, when a fresh gale arose, which developed into a cyclone early Wednesday morning, and raged for twelve hours. The signalling semaphore, weighing 1300 pounds, fell to the deck. The sounding platform was washed away, and one cutter lost and the other stove in. She came into port with a spliced foremast. Captain Gamble can furnish no theory as to the origin of the story of the cruiser's foundering, except possibly that the cutter with the ship's name had been picked up.

DR. PARKIN AT LENNOXVILLE.

(Special to the Star.)

Lennoxville, Que., October 13. — The series of lectures for the boys of Bishops College School, Lennoxville, instituted for the ensuing session by the head master (H. J. H. Petry, Esq., M.A.) was commenced on Friday evening last, October 9th, the lecturer being G. R. Parkin, Esq., LL.D., Principal of Upper Canada College, Toronto. Dr. Parkin accepted the principalship of this well-known school in the summer of 1895. In 1894 Dr. Parkin was in Ottawa as the special correspondent of the London Times during the Intercolonial Conference, and in 1895 he was pressed to go to the Transvaal as the special commission of the Times, when before the Jameson raid, matters were beginning to look serious in that interesting region. Dr. Parkin, who is a Canadian by birth, and formerly was a schoolmaster in New Brunswick, preferred to educate boys in Toronto rather than educate the British public through the columns of the Times. He is remarkably apt in his handling of boys. At Lennoxville he obtained the immediate attention of the boys and retained it in a breathless degree to the end. The boys and the adults present were fascinated and inspired by the address delivered. The subject was "A Talk About the Empire." Dr. Parkin showed his well-known map and gave vivid descriptions of the integral portions of the Empire.

He dwelt on the necessity of the constructive unification of the Empire (1) from the point of view of the citizen of the Empire non-resident in the British Islands; he argued for the necessity of an Empire franchise for Imperial purposes, so that Canadians, Australians, Africans should have an equal share per capita in the government of the Empire; again, he said that as the non-British commerce of the Empire came to more than half of the total of the British part of the commerce of the Empire — that is more than one-third of the whole, it was only reasonable that the colonies should share in the expense of an Empire navy. At present the British Government pays thirty-nine fortieths of the cost. The distribution of coal, the arrangement of railways and telegraphs, the arteries and nerves of the Imperial body, were discussed most lucidly and suggestively. The lecture was listened to with the keenest interest.

The headmaster briefly thanked the lecturer, and Principal Adams added some sympathetic remarks, urging that to allow the members of the British Empire to drift apart would be the greatest blunder as well as the greatest crime in history.

The next lecture in the series will be "A Talk on Cambridge," by Principal Adams, whose views of Cambridge will be illustrated, for October 23 in Lennoxville and October 22, Thursday, in Sherbrooke.

Stopping an Execution.

At the time of which I am writing I was living in seclusion in a small town about 35 miles north of London. I was engaged in rather a large literary undertaking—in fact, I was writing a novel. So engossed was I with my task that I had no time to read even the newspaper, and was quite igorant of what was going on in the world. It was a little after 8 o'clock one evening in April that I finished the second volume of my work. I put on my hat and coat and started off for an evening stroll. I had no sooner stepped into the street than a boy accosted me with a bundle of papers under his arm, and the request: "Buy an evening paper, sir?" I bought one, put it in my pocket, and resumed my walk.

After my return I opened my paper leisurely—nay lazily. Presently my eye was caught with the following paragraph heading:

"IMPENDING EXECUTION OF THE CLINFOLD MURDERER."

There is a morbid fascination for most people in an execution, and so, yielding to this feeling, I proceeded to read the paragraph:

"The murderer of the unfortunate James Renfrew will be hanged to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock. The wretched man, whose name—Charles Fenthurst—is now in everybody's mouth, still persists in his plea of innocence."

Here I became deeply interested. The name of Fenthurst was most familiar to me. I had formed a deep friendship with a man of that name. He was a good 15 years my senior, and had died about two years previously. I knew he had a son named Charles, a young fellow who had emigrated to South Africa early in life, and who was generally supposed to be working at the Diamond mines. Could this be the same man? I read on.

"It will be remembered that at the trial the strongest circumstantial evidence was brought to bear upon Fenthurst. The murder took place in a house on the outskirts of the small town of Clinfold. It was proved that Fenthurst was in the habit of frequenting Renfrew's premises, and that apparently he was expected there on the evening in question. He was seen near the place soon after the crime was committed, and several other proofs of a strongly condemnatory character were also laid against him. He has persisted from the first, however, in maintaining that he was absent from Clinfold at the very time the murder took place. This was about 7 o'clock in the evening. At that hour, he says, he was returning from London, where he had been spending part of the day; only one witness, he says, could prove this, and that is an individual who travelled with him as far as P—— and entered into conversation with him. Advertisements have been inserted in all the papers by Fenthurst's legal advisers for the purpose of discovering the individual in question, but as no answer has been forthcoming it is generally believed that the whole story is a myth. At any rate, there seems but small chance of the alibi being proved at the last moment. The murder was committed on February 6. Since his condemnation the murderer has been confined in Silkminster gaol, where the execution will take place."

Astonishment and dismay confronted me as I laid the paper down. I was the missing witness they had so vainly sought. I distinctly remembered, early in February, running up to town rather late in the afternoon, spending just half an hour there, and returning by the first train I could catch. My landlady didn't even know but that I had been for rather a longer walk than usual. I had entered into conversation on the return journey with the only other occupant of my compartment, a young man with a small back bag, on which were painted the letters "C. F." I remembered all this distinctly. In order to make sure I snatched up my diary, and quickly turned to the date of the murder—February 6. There was the entry: "Ran up to town in afternoon. Inquired concerning material for chapter vii. Saw B—— for half hour. Returned by 6.42 train."

The horror of the situation now flashed upon me. A man's life—the life of my old friend's son—depended upon me. I looked at my watch. It was just 11 o'clock. Hurriedly I dragged on my boots, thinking the while what I should do. My first impulse was to rush to the telegraph office. Then, with dismay, I remembered that it was shut for the night after 8 o'clock, and that the Postmaster took the 8.30 train to the large town of F——, about five miles off, where he lived, leaving the office for the night in the charge of a caretaker, and returning by an early train next morning.

It was impossible to telegraph. Then I thought of going to the police (there were just two constables and a sergeant in our little town), but what could they do more than I? Country police are proverbial for the leisurely "routine" manner in which they set about an enquiry, and it would never do to trust to them. I was in despair.

Madly I threw on my hat and rushed out. I ran in a mechanical way to the Post-office. Of course, it was shut—and if I had aroused the caretaker, he couldn't have wired; besides, all our wires went first to F——, and, as I have said, all communication was shut off after 8 o'clock. Then I started for the railway station. This was about half a mile from the Post-office, and well outside the town. As I hurried along I thought with fresh dismay that this would also prove a fruitless errand, for the last train to Silkminster was the 8.30 p.m., by which I have mentioned the Postmaster always travelled. Silkminster, I must mention, was nearly 150 miles down the line.

Should I wait till the morning and telegraph? I remembered that the office did not open till 8 o'clock! I had by this time, reached the station. Of course, it was all shut up and all the lights were out, except those in the signal lamps for the night expresses. It was now past half-past 11. Was there no hope?

At this moment my eye caught a light in the signal-box, about a quarter of a mile up the line. I could see the signal-man in his box, the outline of his figure standing out against the light within. I looked at my watch; the down express from London was almost due. I would make a rush for that signal-box and compel the occupant to put the signal against it and stop it. It was a desperate game, but only get that train to stop for an instant and all would be right. By getting into it I could reach Silkminster in the early morning, and what cared I for any action the company might take if I saved my friend's son? If the signal-man refused to put back the levers the strength born of desperation would enable me to master him and then relax them myself. All this flashed across me in an instant, and I clambered over the railings on the side of the station, and found myself on the line.

Even as I reached the rails a semaphore signal that was near me let fall its arm and the red light changed into a brilliant green. The express was signalled! Would there be time! I dashed along over the rough sleepers towards the signal box. It was very dark, and I stumbled over and over again. I had cleared half the distance when I heard the ominous roar ahead, and in a few seconds could distinguish the distant glitter of the engine's head lamp, bearing towards me. The train was just over a mile from me, rushing on at express speed. With a groan I ejaculated: "Too late!"

At this instant my eye fell upon a ghastly looking structure by the side of the track, looming grimly through the darkness. It resembled a one-armed gallows with a man hanging from it!

For a moment I thought it must have been a fearful fancy conjured up by the thought of Fenthurst's dreadful fate, but immediately I remembered that this strange-looking apparition was none other than a mail-bag suspended from a post, in fact, part of the apparatus by which a train going at full speed picks up the mails.

The express train that was coming had a postal car attached to it. From the side of the car a strong rope net would be laid out, catching the bag I saw suspended before me.

A mad and desperate idea took possession of me. Fortunately I am a small man. The bag hung just over my head. I jumped at it, seized it, drew myself up, parallel with it, held it firmly at the top, where it swung by a hook, and drew my legs in so as to present as small a compass as possible. Then I waited. It was but a few seconds, but it seemed hours. I heard the roar of the approaching train. Then the engine dashed past me. There was a whir and a rush, and all was dark.

When I came to my senses I was lying on the floor of the postal van. Two men in their shirt sleeves were busily engaged in sorting letters at a rack. I felt bruised and still all over, and I found that my left arm was bound in a sling made of a handkerchief.

"Where are we?" I asked.

They turned around.

"Oh, you've come to have you?" said one of them. "Now, perhaps, you'll give an account of yourself. It's precious lucky you're here at all, let me tell you, for if you had been a taller man we would only have got part of you in the net. As it was, you got your collarbone broken. We've tied it up a bit.

I told them the motive that had prompted me to take the desperate step I had done. They piled a quantity of empty mail bags on the floor and made me a rough shake down.

A little after three o'clock we drew up at Silkminster Station. There was a policeman on the platform, and I at once told my story to him, the result being that we drove around to the gaol and insisted upon seeing the Governor. Of course he was deeply interested in what I had to tell them, and at once made arrangements to stop the execution. The Home Secretary was communicated with by means of special wire. Fortunately, he happened to be in town, and after a couple of hours of anxious suspense a reprieve was received from him.

"Well," said the Governor, "I don't know which I ought to congratulate most, Mr. Fenthurst or yourself, for you have both had a most narrow escape."

Little remains to be told. I soon identified the condemned man as the person whom I had met on the train. He also turned out to be the son of my old friend, as I fully expected. After the due formalities he was discharged. Suspicion having strongly attached itself to his name, however, he was very miserable, until about a fortnight afterwards the real murderer was discovered and captured.

Charles Fenthurst and myself became firm friends, and although I was fearfully shaken and upset for some weeks after this adventure, I never regretted the night on which I was picked up with the mails.—Strand Magazine.

A Gas Regulator.

Some of the gas companies in the United States have adopted the slot machine in regulating the supply of gas to kitchens for cooking. A twenty-five-cent piece is dropped into the machine attached to the meter. When twenty-five cents' worth of gas is used no more can be obtained from the meter until another twenty-five cents is dropped in. This insures prompt payment of bills, and prevents disputes as to gas bills. This method was adopted in London. The result has been to arouse public protests from the chimney-sweeps, the small dealers in coal and wood claim that their business is being destroyed. There are 37,000 gas-stoves connected with the slot-machine meters used in London.

Size and Speed of Waves.

Many different answers have been given to the question "How high are the greatest ocean waves?" M. Dibos, a marine engineer and laureate of the Institute of France, has lately made some personal observations on this subject. He describes waves encountered in the North Atlantic which had a height of at least 45 ft. Driven before a heavy wind, waves may advance at the rate of from 35 to 40 miles an hour, and such undulations of the ocean may travel more than 500 miles from the point where the wind created them, without being accompanied by any disturbance in the atmosphere.

THE MOLSON'S BANK.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHAREHOLDERS YESTERDAY.

Net Earnings $224,084 --- The President's Views on the Bonus System---The Services of the Directors Recognized.

The forty-first annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Molsons Bank was held in the Board Room at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The President, Mr. J. H. R. Molson, occupied the chair, and among those present were: Messrs. S. H. Ewing, J. P. Cleghorn, Samuel Finley, John Crawford, A. F. Gault, Daniel Wilson, W. M. Macpherson (Quebec), H. Barbeau, James Wilson, J. Try-Davies, Sir Joseph Hickson, David Crawford, H. Archbald, W. M. Ramsay, John W. Molson, R. R. Watson and S. W. Ewing.

The President, having called the meeting to order, requested Mr. James Elliott, the Local Manager, to act as secretary, and named Messrs. David Crawford and J. Try-Davies to act as scrutineers, after which the Secretary read the advertisement convening the meeting.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS.

The General Manager, Mr. F. Wolferstan Thomas, then read the annual report of the Directors, as follows:

"Gentlemen,—The Directors of the Molsons Bank beg to submit to the Shareholders the forty-first annual report of the Bank for the year ending 30th September.

"After making ample provision for bad and doubtful debts, the net earnings for the year amount to $224,084.55, which have been distributed by two semi-annual dividends of 4 per cent., making in all $180,000.

"From the surplus left, amounting to $44,084.55, and balance of $43,567.62, carried over from last year, amounting in all to $87,652.17, the sum of $25,000 has been transferred to the Rest, making that account $1,400,000, leaving a credit of Profit and Loss account of $62,652.17.

"The branches of the Bank have all been inspected once or oftener during the past year, and we are able to report that the different members of the staff continue to perform their duties with the utmost loyalty to the Bank and to our entire satisfaction.

"JOHN H. R. MOLSON,
"President."

THE DISCUSSION.

The President having intimated that the Directors were prepared to answer any questions and give any information which the shareholders might desire, Mr. John Crawford congratulated the Directors on the statement they had submitted to the meeting, and said that, under all the circumstances, he considered that a profit of $224,000 on a capital of $2,000,000 was entirely satisfactory. Now that the Rest Account had reached $1,400,000, he was of opinion that the time had arrived when there should be taken into consideration the propriety of changing from the bonus system to that of regular dividends. He would like to know what the policy of the Bank was likely to be in this direction. He asked a number of questions regarding items in the general statement, which were replied to by the President and the General-Manager, and then went on to speak of the fast Atlantic service, maintaining that the day for subsiding steamers was passed. The system had answered very well in the past; but now was the time for husbanding the resources of the Dominion for other pressing enterprises, instead of those we had been coaching along for so many years. He considered that the best subsidy for the fast Atlantic service would be the bringing, properly and liberally, to the different ports of the Dominion, of the products of the field and the mine.

In replying to Mr. Crawford, the President said: Mr. Crawford proposes that, instead of paying a bonus, a dividend should be given. On this, I think the Directors entirely disagree with him. A dividend should not be based upon the largest earnings of any particular year. A dividend should be regular. If good times comes, then a bonus may be given. When a bonus is earned it will be paid. A bonus is always safe: you can give it when earned, and withhold it when not earned. As to parallel columns in the financial statements, their introduction is uncalled for and would be of no benefit. Mr. Crawford characterizes the general statement as a bald one; but I think that it is as full, or probably fuller, than that made by any other bank in the Dominion, and when a shareholder comes here he can get any further information he desires. With regard to directors of banks retiring at the end of three years, I don't see why a director, at the end of that period, should be no longer fit to take part in the management of a banking institution. If such a rule had applied, we should have lost the services of our late President, Mr. Workman, who was our President for ten years, and I don't think that anybody in particular thought that it would have been desirable to replace him from any such cause as Mr. Crawford suggests would make such a change desirable. Mr. Crawford also got talking about steamship subsidies and other matters with which I don't consider we have anything to do. He says that the Directors are apt to be guided by the President; but I don't think that it is so. Of course, naturally the President is expected to give more time and attention to the affairs of the Bank, and to be in more frequent communication with the cashier and other officers than the general body of the Directors. We have our meetings twice a week; our Directors are punctual in their attendance, and no information is withheld from them. I think it is a mistake to imagine that the President rules everything. There may be a Bank here and there where he has a little more deference shown to him, but I don't think it is the rule. Our business has been conducted for a great many years, and I am proud to say that it has been successfully carried on. Since the establishment of the Bank, forty-one years ago, as a joint stock bank, we have paid an average dividend of 7 8-10 per cent., which, I think, is very satisfactory, and speaks well for the general management of the institution.

Mr. Crawford asked what the policy of the Bank was going to be. It has no settled policy; it has to be guided by circumstances. The Directors get the best information they can as to what is going on, and use their own judgment as best they can. We endeavor that the Bank shall be better than we represent it, and I may say that such is the case. We want the Bank to be better than we show it, and I think that when I and others are gone, it will be found that this is so. I do not say this boastingly, but it has been drawn out by the nature of Mr. Crawford's remarks. I would move the adoption of the report.

The motion was seconded by Mr. S. H. Ewing and agreed to unanimously.

THE DIRECTORS THANKED.

Mr. A. F. Gault then moved:

"That the thanks of the shareholders are due, and are hereby tendered, to the President, Vice-President and Directors of the Bank for their attention to its interests during the year just closed."

In making the motion, Mr. Gault said that, having been at one time a Director of the Bank, he could speak of the manner in which the Directors gave their attention to the affairs of the institution. Every minutiae was gone into, and the shareholders could feel that any business coming before the Bank was attended to in a thoroughly business-like way. He considered that the financial statement which had been submitted with a satisfactory guarantee that the interests of the Bank had been well looked after. There were very few institutions that could show a better result than had been shown that day.

The motion was heartily seconded by Mr. H. Barbeau.

The President briefly expressed the thanks of himself and his co-directors, and expressed the opinion that the name of the General Manager, Mr. F. Wolferstan Thomas, should be included in the motion. He spoke highly of the industry and ability which Mr. Thomas had always displayed in the interests of the bank during the twenty-seven years that he had been connected with it.

Mr. John Crawford also eulogized the services of the General Manager, who requested that his name be in no way mentioned in the resolution. It had always been his desire that votes of thanks should not be presented to himself and colleagues, who were paid for their services to the Bank. He spoke very highly of the staff connected with the institution, and mentioned that Mr. Elliott had been there, in one capacity or another, since the inception of the Bank; Mr. Durnford, the Inspector, had been there for sixteen or seventeen years; Mr. Mark Molson had been there for seventeen years, and many others had been a very long time. He thought that the staff might be termed a very well satisfied, zealous and efficient one.

The motion was agreed to unanimously.

The scrutineers then reported that the old Board of Directors had been re-elected, viz., Messrs. Henry Archbald, J. P. Cleghorn, S. H. Ewing, S. Finley, J. H. R. Molson, W. M. Macpherson (Quebec), and W. M. Ramsay.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. J. H. R. Molson was re-elected President, and Mr. S. H. Ewing, Vice-President.

ST. SIMON'S CHURCH.

This edifice was transformed on Sunday into a veritable flower garden, that being the day appointed for the annual harvest thanksgiving service. Appropriate sermons were preached morning and evening, and the choir rendered very efficient service.

THE LATE MR. DAVIDSON

The funeral of the late Mr. W. B. Davidson is to take place at 2.30 p.m. to-morrow from his late residence, Cote St. Paul.

MONTREAL AND ABERDEEN

Another steamer is to be added to the service of the Aberdeen Atlantic Shipping Company, trading between the port of Montreal and Aberdeen. This latest acquisition is the steamship Lord Gough, which the Company have recently purchased at Liverpool. The vessel was built several years ago by Messrs. Laird Bros., Glasgow, and is somewhat larger than the Company's other steamer the State of Georgia. She is 382 feet long and of 3655 gross tons. It is stated that, with the alterations which have been made on the Lord Gough that she will cost the Company about $50,000. The Lord Gough sailed from Liverpool for Montreal on October 4 and is expected in port on the 16th. The new vessel will sail in conjunction with the State of Georgia, and the service will consist of one steamer for Montreal every three weeks.

THE LONDON G. T. R. SHOPS.

GRAND TRUNK'S LONDON SHOPS

WHERE BETWEEN 500 AND 600 MEN WILL BE EMPLOYED.

Modern in Every Particular, They Will be Equipped With the Latest Tools and Machinery and Many Labor-Saving Devices.

The new car shops of the Grand Trunk Railway System, foundations for which have already been made at London, Ont., the plans for which were drawn up in the offices here, will not only be a great benefit to the inhabitants of the Forest City, but the buildings and their equipment of the latest and most improved tools and machines, will be a credit to the Dominion. The collection of buildings comprises the following shops: Passenger car shop, 238 feet by 80 feet; paint and varnish shop, 238 feet by 80 feet; cabinet shop, 60 feet by 80 feet; wood working shop, 275 feet by 80 feet; freight car truck shop, 536 feet by 80 feet; blacksmith's, iron, machine and wheel shop, 237 feet by 80 feet; tinsmith's shop, 125 feet by 32 feet 6 inches; upholsterer's, 125 feet by 32 feet 6 inches; oil and paint shop, 115 feet by 32 feet 6 inches; dry lumber house, 300 feet by 50 feet; fire engine house, 30 feet by 32 feet 6 inches. In addition to these buildings, scrap sheds, dry kilns, stores and offices will be erected, the whole have a total floor area of 165,600 superficial feet.

The walls will be built of light colored brick, and the roofs will be of slate. A special feature has been made of the arrangements for light and ventilation, with the result that the buildings will not be surpassed in these respects by any car shops on the continent. Continuous sky-lights along the apex of the roofs and at intervals along the sides, in addition to the extra large windows, will provide an abundance of light to every part of the buildings. The latest systems of ventilation have been adopted, and the shops will be heated throughout by steam. The arrangements for handling material in the shops are as nearly perfect as circumstances will permit.

For instance, in the wood machine shop, which is to be equipped with the most modern machinery, the rough material will be unloaded from the cars at the door, and passed on from one machine to another, until, when the article is finished, it will be turned out at the entrance to the erecting shops, without unnecessary handling. A system of overhead track has been arranged, by means of which one man will be able to transfer the heaviest timbers to any part of the shop. The shavings, etc., will be drawn direct from the machines by an exhaust fan, and delivered through an iron tube into the boiler room.

The wheel shop will be equipped with three wheel-borers, two axle lathes two hydraulic wheel presses, and two wheel lathes for turning tires of wheels up to 43 inches diameter. The iron machine shop will be fitted with all the appliances and machinery necessary to turn out all the iron work required at the shops and out-stations of the Midland and Northern divisions. A complete service of narrow gauge tracks for small push-cars, with switches and turntables, will be laid throughout the shops to facilitate the economical handling of material, etc.

Every precaution has been taken to provide against fire, and a complete system of hydrants will be arranged both outside and inside the buildings, and connected to the city water mains. The doors in the fire-walls are to be sliding and fire-proof, and so fixed that in the event of fire they will close automatically. Every encouragement will be given to the men, who will doubtless organize one of the usual G. T. R. fire brigades as soon as the shops are opened.

The comfort of the employees will be considered in a number of ways; lavatories and other conveniences will be erected in each separate shop, and, in addition, a general dining-room 32 feet by 30 feet will be provided for the exclusive use of the men.

The number of hands engaged in this modern freight and passenger car construction and repair shop will be between five and six hundred.

DR. RODDICK'S ELECTION.

The application, on behalf of Dr. Roddick to stay all proceedings in the St. Antoine Division contested election case, pending the Supreme Court's decision on the appeal from the judgment dismissing the preliminary objections, and the petitioner's counter application to fix a day for the hearing of the case upon its merits, also to examine Dr. Roddick and to order the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery to produce all documents and papers in the case, were to have been heard this morning; but, by arrangement between the parties, it was decided to continue until to-morrow morning.

AN OLD MAN'S FALL

An old man fell down the stairs leading to the platform at Dalhousie square station this morning. He was badly shaken up and was taken to the Notre Dame Hospital for treatment. The old man told a fellow-passenger that he had just arrived from the United States and was going to Joliette to see his daughter before he died.

For the week ending October 10 the shipment of apples from Montreal to the various ports of Great Britain amounted to 75,479 barrels, and were divided as follows: To Liverpool, 28,924; to Glasgow, 24,023; and to London, 22,523 barrels. Besides this number, some 660 barrels were shipped to various other ports.

Adelard Giroux, a carpenter, who resides at 30 Dufferin street, fell from the roof of a shed in the course of construction at Dalhousie square station last evening and was severely bruised and shaken up. He was taken to Notre Dame Hospital, where his injuries were attended to.

THE MEMNON IN PORT

The steamship Memnon, fresh from the hands of the repairers at Quebec, arrived in port last evening. This is the vessel which had her rudder injured by a collision with the tug Dauntless in Princess Louise Basin some days ago.

SUIT FOR LOST BAGGAGE.

Mrs. R. A. Taschereau has taken an action for $178 against the Richelieu and Ontario Company, claiming the amount as the value of baggage lost by her when travelling upon one of the company's steamers.

OTTAWA NEWS NOTES.

Behring Sea Commission — Personal Notes.

(Special to the Star.)

Ottawa, October 13.—The Behring Sea seizures commission which meets in Victoria, B.C., next month will be composed of Mr. Justice King, of the Supreme Court of Canada, as Canadian commission, and Mr. Justice Putnam, of the United States Supreme Court, as American Commission. The Canadian Counsel are: Hon. T. Peters, and Mr. C. L. Beique, Q.C., and the American Counsel are: Mr. D. M. Dickenson, and Robert Lansing, of New York. Sir C. Hibbert Tupper has been engaged for several claims, amounting to $210,096.

The claims Sir C. Hibbert Tupper is retained for are those of the Carolina, Thornton, W. P. Sayward, Anna Beck and Dolphin. Hon. L. H. Davies will watch the proceedings as far as other claims on his time, as Minister of Marine and Fisheries will permit.

Mr. R. N. Venning, Chief Clerk of Fisheries, who had departmental charge of the Behring Sea matter, under Sir C. Hibert Tupper, Hon. John Costigan and Hon. L. H. Davies, will also be members of the Canadian advisory staff.

Hon. A. G. Blair will leave here as soon as he can possibly arrange to be away from his office. When he accepted office he had no time to make arrangements about his own large private law practice, and this, including several important cases will necessitate his returning to New Brunswick as soon as possible.

Hon. Dr. Borden, L. H. Davies, and W. S. Fielding attend the funeral of the late Mr. Lewis Cartwright, son of Sir Richard Cartwright, K.C.M.G., at Kingston to-day.

Hon. W. Laurier, Dr. Borden, L. H. Davies, W. S. Fielding, R. R. Dobell and A. G. Blair have all accepted the invitation to lunch on board the Canada, on Wednesday. Hon. A. G. Blair, and R. R. Dobell will also make an inspection of the Lachine Canal.

It is rumored that Warden Ouimet, of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary will shortly be superannuated, and Dr. Guay, M.P., is mentioned as his probable successor.

The Department of Fisheries has received word by wire that illegal lobster fishery is being carried on at Grand Entry, Magdalen Islands. A cruiser will be sent at once to stop the depredations.

NEW POST OFFICE STOKERS

(Special to the Star.)

Toronto, Ont., October 13.— Hon. J. I. Tarte's "decapitator" has commenced operations in the city. The first to come under the axe are three firemen in the post office, who have been employed in this capacity for several years. It appears that during the summer these men are engaged as porters, to relieve those who go off on holidays, etc., and in the winter return to their work as stokers. The chief has been notified by the department to get three new men this year. The names of the men who are suitable for the positions have been forwarded. One of them is a French Canadian.

RICH ORE FOUND.

Vancouver, October 13.— (Special.)— The mining excitement in this city at present is intense. Of the discoveries of ore bodies around Vancouver the one most talked of is the Golden Cache group of Cayoos. The ore in places averages $500 in free milling gold to the ton.

PRINCE BISMARCK'S HEALTH.

Berlin, October 13.—The Hamburger Nachrichten, the personal organ of Prince Bismarck, says that although the ex-Chancellor is suffering from neuralgia in the face, which is especially troublesome, there is no change in his general health.

SICK SPANISH SOLDIERS.

Madrid, October 13.—A despatch from Havana says: The sick and wounded among the Spanish soldiers on the Island of Cuba number 4200.

Machines that Count, Wrap and Tie Bundles.

Two of the most wonderful automata now working within the limits of the United States, remarks the Argosy, are those used by the Government for counting and tying postal cards into small bundles. These machines are made in Connecticut, and the two are capable of counting the prodigious number of 500,000 such cards in ten hours, and wrapping and tying the same in packages of twenty-five each. In this operation the paper is pulled off a drum by two long fingers which come up from below, and another finger dips into a vat of mucilage and applies itself to the wrapping paper in exactly the right spot. Other parts of the machine twine the paper around the pack of cards, a thumb presses over the mucilage spot and the package is thrown upon a carry belt ready for delivery.

Water Cycles.

There seems to be a probability that cycles may become as popular on the rivers as they are on the roads. At Kingston-on-Thames, Eng., a machine of this kind has this season been attracting much attention both on account of the high rate of speed which it attains and the ease with which it can be propelled, costing no more strain on the muscles, it is said, than an ordinary bicycle. It is propelled by three men, who manipulate it with the greatest ease; it makes no appreciable "wash," and seems to be perfectly safe in use.

Democratic Greece.

Greece is undoubtedly the most democratic nation in Europe—perhaps in the world, says a writer in the Fortnightly Review. In Southeastern Europe, the rule of the Turk obliterated all social distinctions and swept away every vestige of feudalism. Roumania alone, which was never so completely under the Turkish yoke, retains an aristocratic class; but Servia, Bulgaria and Greece are democratic to the core. In Servia and Bulgaria, however, the Slavonic instinct of obedience exists, the value of which is nowhere better shown than in the admirably disciplined Bulgarian Army. In Greece every man is, in his own opinion, as good as his fellow—not only socially, but morally and intellectually; wealth, ability, and high character, of course, count for something; but they are only regarded as accidental to the individual. There is little respect for dignities—so little, indeed, that it has been said that every soldier in the army is a general, and every sailor in the navy an admiral.

A Cabinet Minister, seeking re-election to the Chamber, throws open his drawing room to his constituents. Men of every rank and class of society—lawyers, doctors, students, cabmen, laborers—troop in wearing their hats and smoking cigarettes. Not that they mean any disrespect, far from it; but they see no reason for making any alteration in their usual habits. They come to express their views on the topics of the day; they interrogate the candidate at length and warmly grasp his hand; they ask any little favor they may want, and go their way.

TYNAN TO BE RELEASED.

French Minister of Justice Says Nothing Has Been Proved Against Him.

Paris, October 13.—(Special.) — The Minister of Justice, M. Darlan, at a cabinet council to-day, submitted reasons for refusing the extradition of P. J. Tynan, the alleged Irish-American dynamiter, now in custody at Boulogne-Sur-Mer. He said that the evidence to show that Tynan is the so-called "Number One" does not prove him to be that individual, and even were it so, there is not sufficient proof that Tynan was one of the parties connected with the Phoenix Park murders. Thirdly, said Mr. Darlan, the case is covered by the ten years' limit. Consequently, Tynan will be released as soon as these decisions are submitted to the officials at the British Embassy.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

A story of crime and mystery which would furnish materials for a writer of romance has just been ended in dramatic fashion in Lower California. Over a year ago a gold bar worth $10,000, belonging to the Ibarra Mining Company, was stolen from the safe of M. Rivaroll, a broker at Ensenada who was held responsible for it. Suspicion settled on two clerks named Garratt and Pratt, but little legal evidence could be secured against them. However, Garratt was convicted, and sentenced to gaol for sixteen months. He was released about a month ago and came to San Francisco, where he met Pratt. Meanwhile Rivaroll had been ruined by the loss of the gold brick, but he and his son had Garratt shadowed, as they were convinced that he knew where the treasure was hidden. Garratt soon appeared again in Ensenada, with several companions. He chartered a vessel and sailed for Todos Santos Island, just across the bay. Young Rivaroll, the Governor, and several police officers followed. They landed on the island, and from the shelter of the heavy forest watched Garratt and his friends prepare to dig up the missing brick. Then, at a signal, they all rushed out and ordered the treasure hunters to surrender. Garratt, who saw the gold for which he had suffered so much about to be snatched from him, fell down as one dead. He was revived, and forced to show the officers where the gold was hidden, and it was unearthed and restored to its owners. As Garratt had been punished once for the offence, he could not be tried again, hence he was released. He will in all probability be heard from, however, as he demonstrated to the officers that he had a genius for opening safes. With a few minutes' study he opened safes in Ensenada that were furnished with elaborate combination locks.

Machinery has made another important step forward, a means having at last been found for using it in future in the construction of levees. They have been building levees in Louisiana for 180 years, and have expended something over $80,000,000 and more human muscle and lives on them than can be estimated. Up to this year no other way of levee construction had been found than by manual labor. Besides the convicts, nearly all of whom are employed in levee construction, there are thousands of free laborers who work in the "levee camps," and the moral and sanitary conditions prevailing there are by no means good. For some months past experiments have been made in levee-building by means of dredges and pumps. These worked well from the start, and the only question was to cut down the cost to that of human labor which was very cheap for this rough kind of work. The necessary cheapening has been accomplished, and now the levee-building machines have gone to work in Bayou La Fourche, and will construct most of the State levees needed on that stream. With a couple of engineers and firemen at work, the levees will go up as rapidly as several hundred men could erect them, and the overseer can lean back in an easy chair and "boss the job." It will mean a great many men out of employment, but the people along the Mississippi will not be sorry to see the disappearance of the levee camps, which were the head centres for tramps and idlers. Another important result will be to leave the convicts in the Louisiana penitentiary without anything to do, and the State will have to find some new employment for them.

A woman in Iowa is the possessor of a strangely pneumatic farm. Whenever a driven well is sunk to the depth of between one hundred and twenty and one hundred and thirty feet, the underlying air cushion is punctured, and the heavy tools are blown toward the sky. She has applied to the State geologist for information as to how, in bicycle parlance, her farm came to be thus "pumped up," and what she can do about it.

The Supreme Court of Arizona has upheld the constitutionality of the law inflicting the death penalty for train robbery.

Holland's Little Queen.

At the close of her sixteenth year, he says, Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland is a robust, broad-chested girl, of medium stature, symmetrical figure and fair complexion, with the ruddy hue of perfect health glowing in her smooth, plump cheeks. The "dear little lady," as she is affectionately described by her subjects of the middle and lower classes, is passionately fond of horses and dogs; an excellent whip, she drives a pony four-in-hand with unerring judgment and in capital style. Moreover, she is an expert and fearless horsewoman, riding with a light hand, and what is called an "English seat."

Fell in Love With a Portrait.

There is a curious and romantic history of one of the earliest exhibits of Mr. G. F. Watts, R. A. The picture was a portrait of Miss Virginia Pattle, the lovely daughter of one of the directors of the old East India Company, and it attracted great attention at Burlington House. Among those who were struck with its beauty was Earl Somers, at that time Viscount Eastnor. He is reported to have exclaimed aloud in the gallery, "I must know that woman!" By the merest accident the two met on the following day, and a few months later were married. One of their daughters is Lady Henry Somerset.

A CLAN GATHERING

The first of a series of entertainments arranged for by Clans Maclennan and Gordon, of the Order of Scottish Clans, came off very successfully last evening in the Masonic Hall, Place d'Armes square, the headquarters of the Gordons. Mr. Charles Robertson, Chief of Clan Gordon, presided and opened the proceedings with a brief and pointed address, concerning the clan societies and their work. Royal Deputy Duncan Stewart occupied a seat on the platform and also delivered a short address during the course of the evening. The programme was as follows: Piano selections, bu Professor Costen; song, "When I'm big I'll be a soldier," by Miss Wiltshire; recitation, "Down by the Rio Grande," by Clansman S. J. MacArthur; song, "I'm a Scot," by Clansman G. H. McLeod, Chief of the Montreal Highland Society; banjo selections, by Mr. W. Miller; song, "Caller Herrin," by Miss Irene Hyde-Clarke; recitation, "The Battle of Inkermann," by Clansman Jas. Kelly; song, "Yeoman's wedding day," by Mr. J. Ritchie Bell; bag-pipe selections by Piper William Cromb. After refreshments had been served, dancing was begun and long kept up. The next entertainment of the series will be held on November 13, in the hall of Clan Maclennan, Richmond street.

A NEW SECRETARY.

Mr. Stonewall Jackson, who has been Secretary-Treasurer of the Victoria Skating Club for some time, has resigned his position owing to business engagements. At a meeting of the Club Mr. F. Percy Smith was appointed to Mr. Jackson's position.

FIRE AT THE GAS WORKS

A sensation was caused in the East End by a fire last night in the Gas Company's works. The flames were discovered in one of the outbuildings and the firemen, who were summoned by a still alarm, succeeded in preventing their spread to the works proper. The loss will be only a few hundred dollars.

LI'S MEDALS.

(Vancouver Paper.)

There is trouble among the Chinese of Vancouver over fourteen silver medals that Li Hung Chang is said to have left behind him to be distributed among his countrymen in commemoration of his visit. The Chinese claim that the medals have not been distributed according to the desire of the Viceroy, and in consequence the disappointed merchants who had hoped to adorn their breasts with the Viceroy's gifts decline to pay for their share of the reception unless the offender treats them to wine all round and pays $60 as a peace offering. The Victoria Chinese were much more amicable in their division of the honors. Li Hung Chang handed over to the Benevolent Association four medals, two going to the officers of the society and the other two being raffled for. The medals raffled brought in nearly a hundred dollars each, the successful men being quite the envy of their less fortunate companions.

In pursuance of the plan of quickening the mail service in Philadelphia, determined upon by the post-office some time ago, arrangements are now under way for the placing in service of fourteen trolley cars, especially built for the purpose, and equipped with the necessary apparatus for sorting and arranging mail matter while in transit. Mail, for some time, has been conveyed between the substations and the central office by means of trolley cars on two of the lines, but the new system will inaugurate a change in the manner of exchanging and distributing letters, papers and parcels, both to city addresses and places out of town. The carriers who gather mail from the various boxes will bring together their collections at stated points, where the latter will be taken on board the trolley cars and assorted properly. Such mail as is intended for a distant point within the city will be transferred to the first mail car going in that direction which is met with, while such matter as is to go out of town will be placed in pouches ready to be put immediately upon the railroad mail car. Electric apparatus for cancelling the stamps is a feature of the proposed plan.

In a speech at Ottumwa, Iowa, Judge Kerr asserted that the condition of the poor in American cities was far more pitiable than in foreign cities. Incidentally referring to eastern millionaires, he declared that they manufactured pauperism, and said, "If these dirty whelps could see the rifles of a thousand Iowa farmers, they would tumble into their yachts and put water between the outraged people and their cowardly selves."

ACCIDENT TO H. M. S. BLAKE.

ONE OF HER BOILERS EXPLODED RECENTLY.

Two Engineers Dismissed the Ship for Carelessness—More Ships of the Type of the Talbot to be Constructed.

London, October 13.—A court-martial for the trial of Fleet Engineer Burner and Engineer Crichton, of H. M. S. Blake, at Devonport, lasted five days. Mr. Burner regretting that after twenty-nine years' service he was called upon to answer charges of negligence. The defence dispensed with a number of their witnesses, and the case ended unexpectedly. The prisoners' certificates, which were both excellent, were read.

The Court found that the first charges dealing with negligent supervision of replacement of gauge glasses partly proved and the second charge of negligent supervision over the working of the water gauge of the ship not proved. They adjudged the prisoners to be severely reprimanded and dismissed them from the Blake.

The Blake has been in dockyard hands for three months undergoing extensive machinery repairs necessitated by an explosion of one of her boilers. She underwent a full-speed trial in the Channel on October 1 with highly satisfactory results, realizing a speed of nineteen knots. She has left for Portsmouth to rejoin the Channel Squadron.

The Government's programme of naval construction for next year, says the Central News, will include three cruisers of an improved Talbot type, which are to be built at Devonport, Portsmouth and Chatham respectively. The new vessels will be about 360 feet in length (10 feet longer than the Talbot), 54 feet in breadth, and will have a displacement of about 6000 tons. In the design of these vessels the aim will be to give a greater coal-carrying capacity, greater speed, and a more extensive armament than can be claimed for the Talbot. The new vessels will be fitted with the Belleville type of water tube boilers, and will be capable of developing 10,000 indicated horsepower. It is expected that they will attain a speed of twenty knots an hour. The cost of each vessel will be from £250,000 to £270,000, according to the shipbuilding facilities of the various dockyards.

FIRE AT GREAT BARRINGTON.

The Major Part of the Business Portion of the Town Destroyed.

Great Barrington, Mass., October 13.—(Special.)—This town was visited, last night, by the greatest conflagration in its history. The fire destroyed the major part of the business section of the town. It started in the Kennedy Hotel Annex, and spread rapidly to the adjoining buildings. The fire department responded promptly, but the fire had gained such headway, and the heat was so intense that they were driven from the street and could only fight the flames from the rear. The buildings were veritable fire traps and the wind was blowing a gale. The fire gained tremendous headway and worked westward toward the depot. Aid was summoned from Housatonic, Stockbridge and Lee, and the firemen from these places quickly responded. The flames spread in all directions.

At 12.30 this morning all telephone and telegraphic connection were burned away. The fire had been driven by the terrific northern gale across to Castle street and the residence portion. The fire was considered under control at 2.43 a. m. Conservative estimates place the present loss at $200,000; well insured. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Epping, N. Y., October 13.—The business portion of this town suffered severely last night by destruction by fire of several large blocks in the centre of the business thoroughfare leading to the depot. The loss is estimated at $35,000. The insurance on the entire property is $32,000. It was the largest conflagration Epping has ever experienced.

MARSH'S BIG DEFALCATION.

Gloucester, October 13.— A detailed estimate has been made of the losses suffered by the different estates of which G. J. Marsh, cashier of the savings bank, who committed suicide here last week, had charge, either as trustee or financial adviser. The estimate is as follows: Miss Lucy B. Rogers, $70,000; Miss Sarah M. Johnson, $20,000; Gilbert estate, $43,000; Hildreth estate, $20,000; Mrs. Lucy Davis, $20,000; note indorsed by Mrs. Rogers, $15,000; notes held by various banks and private parties, $62,000; total, $250,000. Marsh's estate is insolvent, and the Rogers and Johnson estates are left in bad shape. The Gilbert estate would probaly have suffered with the others but for the vigilance of one of the other trustees. Business at the Cape Ann Savings Bank is being conducted in regular course.

ARCHBISHOP BENSON'S BODY.

London, October 13.— The body of the Most Reverend Ward White Benson, Archbishop of Canterbury, who was stricken with apoplexy in Hawarden Church on Sunday, and died almost immediately afterwards, was placed in a coffin and conveyed to the Hawarden Church, where services for the dead were held this morning. The body will be taken to the Cathedral at Canterbury to-morrow.

SIR WILLIAM SEES SIFTON.

Winnipeg, Man., October 13.—(Special.)—Sir William Van Horne spent two hours yesterday morning in consultation with Mr. Sifton, the prospective Minister of the Interior. What they discussed is the subject of considerable speculation. Sir William proceeded west in the afternoon. In an interview he spoke of the necessity of the fast Atlantic line of steamers, and also of the necessity of governmental and C. P. R. co-operation with reference to immigration for the North-West.

THE AMERICAN CAMPAIGN.

Hot Political Talk—Claims of the Republicans.

New York, October 13. — (Special.)—Speaking at the closing meeting of the Christian Missionary Alliance, at Carnegie Hall, Rev. Dwight L. Moody said:

"Never since the time of the war has this country so needed the earnest support of all Christians to pray for peace. The trouble that is springing up between the two political parties cannot be seen so easily here in the East, but out in the West, where I have been twice during the past month, it is assuming a very alarming aspect."

Edward Lauterbach, chairman of the Republican County Committee, in a speech delivered before the Union Republican Club at the Club rooms late Saturday night, characterized the men who formulated and are supporting the Democratic National platform as "devils and anarchists" and described the platform itself as "infamous, communistic and socialistic."

Then, in a vehement peroration, he threatened revolution and declared that if Mr. Bryan were by any chance elected and the provision of the Chicago platform endorsed by the people at the polls, the Republicans of New York "would not abide by that decision."

"You are fighting to-day," said Mr. Lauterbach, "for just as important a principle as did those brave men in 1861. But it is a bloodless fight. No blood will be shed—at least not yet, but if they attempt to subvert your supreme court, if they should succeed, by any chance, in foisting upon you these horrible doctrines—anarchistic, socialistic, communistic, whatever that platform, adopted by this populistic brood, contains, we will not abide by that decision."

The following statement was given out at National Republican headquarters after a conference of the entire Executive Committee:

"The election of McKinley and Hobart is an accomplished and assured fact. They will receive 270 electoral votes. Bryan will receive 110, and there are six States, having 67 electoral votes, which are doubtful, but the probabilities all point to the fact that these 67 votes will go into the Republican column and be added to the 270 now assured for McKinley and Hobart. This is the status to-day. We have the election and will hold it. Our present effort in the West is to this end only. The opposition have abandoned the East.

"(Signed) M. S. QUAY."

Indianapolis, Ind., October 13. — W. D. Bynum, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, takes a far more easy view of the political situation than he did a week ago. The sound money Democratic organization, he says, is the only source of correct information, which led him to announce that Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa can be placed in the McKinley column. "Republicans are claiming Michigan and Indiana by 5000," he said, "but I should place the pluralities of these two States at 10,000. Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin are undoubtedly safe for McKinley. I consider Kansas and Nebraska still doubtful, but the indications point to a victory in both for McKinley. Kentucky I consider beyond all question as going for McKinley. The Palmer and Buckner ticket will poll its largest vote in Kentucky."

ARCHBISHOP FOR M'KINLEY.

Mgr. Ireland Condemns the Chicago Platform.

St. Paul, Minn., October 13.—In reply to a letter of the business men of Catholic churches of this city, Archbishop Ireland last night gave out a letter in which he gives his reasons why he is opposed to the Chicago platform. The letter of his constituents appealed for light upon the duties of the hour. In his reply the Archbishop in part, says:

"I stand by the platform and the candidate of the Republican convention. I am opposed to the platform and presidential candidate of the Democratic convention at Chicago. The days of civil war excepted, at no time did so great a peril threaten the country as that which is involved in the political campaign of to-day. The question of free and unlimited coinage of silver is put in the foreground. The question has its importance; but it is of a minor importance in the presence of other questions, which are brought into the movement which had its expression in the Chicago platform. This movement is in its right logical effects revolution against the United States; it is the secession of 1861. The declaration in the Chicago platform denouncing arbitrary interference by federal authorities in local affairs can have no other meaning. The words point to the act of Grover Cleveland, sending United States troops to protect national property and enforce national laws during the Chicago riots in 1894. In those words there is the old secession doctrine that States are independent of the National Government. There is notice served upon the flag of America that outside the District of Columbia it is without power of self-assertion or self-defence.

"The platform threatens the country with destruction of social order, with lawlessness and anarchy. The personification of law and of social order in America is in our courts, and the promise of safety to our free institutions is the prompt obedience to these courts, and now the courts are to be shorn of their power in favor of mobs, bent on rioting and the destruction of property. The palladium of American liberties is the United States Supreme Court. The platform intimates the intention to constitute the court by the popular election of the judges, by the shortening of their term of office, or otherwise, so as to make it insensible to the stern voice of law and responsive to the passing whims of political parties. Worse, to my mind, than all this is the spirit of socialism that permeates the whole movement which has just issued from the convention at Chicago. It is the 'international' of Europe now taking body in America. The war of class upon class is upon us, the war of the proletariat against the property holder. Class hatred and angry passion never led to aught but general misery and suffering. The people of America must guard against misleading war cries, avoid giving any countenance to socialistic or anarchistic tendencies, and know that the first condition of prosperity to all classes is a peaceful commonwealth and assured social order."

The archbishop then makes an argument against free coinage of silver.

KILLED BY ROCK FALL.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., October 13.—(Special)—Three men were instantly killed, yesterday, by a fall of rock in the Laflin mine. They were opening the gangway at the foot of the shaft and after firing a blast had gone back and found a large piece of rock loose, but still hanging to the roof. While trying to force it from such a dangerous position the rock suddenly fell and crushed them beneath. Their bodies were badly disfigured.

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION.

Vienna, October 13.—The lower house of the Reichsrath has referred to a committee a resolution that the government should make overtures to the powers for the establishment of an international arbitration court.

THE DAMAGE BY STORM.

ALL ALONG THE NEW JERSEY COAST WASHED.

Railways and Houses, Churches and Pavilions Tottering to the Gale, with Foundations Washed From Under Them.

New York, October 13.—(Special.)—At one o'clock this morning communication with Sandy Hook by wire, which had been interrupted since last Sunday night, owing to the fierce gale, had not been restored.

At last reports from the the Quarantine station, the wind was blowing a fresh gale from the north-west, with weather cloudy.

New York is on the western edge of the hurricane. The storm is now in the track of outgoing and incoming ocean liners.

Off the coast the wind was exceedingly violent as far south as the coast of Virginia. The centre of the storm was some distance out to sea, but at Block Island the gale rose to the real height of a hurricane. It blew sixty-eight miles an hour there and forty-five here. A despatch received here says that an unknown schooner is ashore on Hereford Bar, on the New Jersey coast, about ten miles north-east of Cape May.

Atlantic City, N. J., October 13.—Last night the city was cut off from the outside world, both the Reading and Pennsylvania Railroad Companies posting notices that trains could not be run in or out of the city because of the damage done to their roadbeds. The high tide had washed away the roadbeds in many places. The storm continued all night, and still there is no sign of its abating.

The steamboat wharf, 300 feet in length, was washed away, and a frame building adjoining the ill-fated Casino, where the Elk disaster happened two years ago, was torn down by the waves, and two sections of the old board-walk in Chelsea are gone.

About Sea Isle city the meadows were all covered with water, and travel on the South Jersey and West Jersey Railways was greatly interfered with. Many of the streets in the lower part of Asbury Park were flooded and the railway at Ocean City has been washed out.

Werner's Wonderland building collapsed this afternoon and the exhibits and building are a total loss. Richard's bath houses, at Vontnot, have been destroyed and the steamboat pier on Brighton Beach 300 feet in length is gone, sections of it having been carried out to sea. Commodore Harry Turner of the Cricket fleet, in company with Charles Jefferies and William Hayday, left on a fishing trip on Friday up the bay and have not been heard from since. Their friends in this city are much alarmed.

At Coney Island the old iron pier was cut in two. The Ocean House, which is an old building, is endangered to such an extent that its collapse appears to be but a matter of a few hours. It is entirely surrounded by water, and the occupants are moving out their belongings. Manhattan Beach shared the disaster with other sections of the island. Much of the ornamentation on the grounds in front of the Manhattan Beach Hotel was swept away, and the lawn in front of the Oriental Hotel was ruined.

At Sea Isle, N. J., the sea tore away sections of the walk and demolished fences and verandahs of many cottages on the front. The water undermined the Hotel Brunswick, which is located on the beach and in a few minutes it collapsed. In falling the building carried with it the house of Mrs. German, of Philadelphia, which is a complete wreck.

The railways are badly washed out. The storm shows no signs of abating. Reports come that several houses have been ruined by the inroads of the sea at Holly Beach. The Philip J. Walsh Seaside Home for Catholic orphans is also damaged. All the roads are badly washed out.

At Atlantic Highlands, N.J., the damage by the storm was considerable, private shore property and bulkheads being destroyed.

St. Peter's Chapel at Cape May Point has lost part of its support and may drop on the strand at any moment. East Cape May beach was swept by the sea and the trolley roadbed washed out. The board walk in front of this city was damaged, portions of it being washed away. The damage to the shore line from Cape May Point to Sewell's Point is estimated at $10,000.

Boston, Mass., October 13. — Shipping operations are practically suspended on account of the gale.

MUTINY IN THE STORM.

Norfolk, Va., October 13.—(Special.)—Trouble arose yesterday on the barque Tilley Vandeer Hudson, which had put into Hampton Roads for shelter, and Captain Wilson shot one of the crew, S. A. Wilkins, of Chester, Penn. the ball striking about eight or nine inches below the navel. Wilkins then assisted by two other seamen, James Beckham and George Baker, took three revolvers from the captain. A signal of mutiny brought up a tug, which carried the news to the United States battleship Massachusetts. An officer and force of sailors then boarded the Hudson and arrested the men who were put in gaol at Norfolk.

THE STRANDED STEAMER.

Cape May, N. J., October 13.—(Special)—It is the steamer Spartan, of the Windsor line, from Boston for Philadelphia, that is ashore on Hereford Bar, a few miles above this city. She lies easy. The sea is heavy, and the life-saving crew will board her as soon as possible. The steamer was due in Philadelphia Monday morning, and she probably was detained by the heavy weather.

SHERIFF M'INTYRE'S OBSEQUIES.

(Special to the Star.)

Cornwall, October 13.— The funeral of the late Sheriff McIntyre took place here this morning at 9.30, from his late residence on Second street, to the family burial ground, at Williamstown, where the Sheriff first settled when he came to Canada. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. MacNish. The funeral was a large one. The flags of the Court House and other public buildings are flying at half-mast out of respect for deceased. A number of distinguished gentlemen attended the funeral, amongst whom were a number of old Scotch associates of the late Sheriff, while he was connected with the Glengarry militia during the rebellion of 1837.

MUTINOUS MAN-OF-WARSMEN.

Madrid, October 13.—A despatch from Ferrol says a mutiny has occurred on board the Spanish war ship Alfonso XIII, lying at that port. Forty gunners rebelled and attempted to seize the boats and go ashore. A fight between the mutineers and the marines and others of those on board ship ensued with the result that the revolt was suppressed and the mutineers put in irons.

MR. GOULD AND HIS YACHT

London, October 13.—(Special.) — The Pall Mall Gazette, this afternoon, referring to the letter of the Yacht Racing Association, in reply to the protest of Mr. Howard Gould against the examination of his yacht Niagara, without his knowledge or consent, says: "The point is, that after the scandals in connection with the America's Cup, the Yacht Racing Association should have taken every care to avoid the slightest semblance of friction and they might have served Mr. Gould with a handsome apology."

A NEW YACHT COURSE

Being Laid Out at Newport, R. I., for the New York Yacht Club.

Newport, R. I., October 13.—A short time ago Lieut. Bull, U. S. N., was here engaged in laying out a course for yacht races by request of the New York Yacht Club. From good authority it is learned that the course has been laid out with a view to future international races and the overcoming of the objections raised against the hundreds of steamboats which infest the New York course. It is understood that the course is laid out at this time that it may be approved by some of the Englishmen who have expressed themselves in favor of such a course, provided they should challenge again.

AGAINST THE BUCKET SHOPS.

Chicago, October 13.— Master-in-Chancery Booth has filed a report before Judge Crosscup, of the Federal Court, holding that the Postmaster-General has ample authority to cause the return of mail addressed to bucket shops. The decision was rendered in the case of Lansing & Co., who applied for an injunction to restrain Postmaster Hesing from carrying out the order of the Postmaster-General. The Master's conclusion says that the law includes all fraudulent schemes.

HEROISM IN WEST AFRICA.

The Royal Mail steamship Bonny arrived at Liverpool from West Africa on October 1, having among her passengers Captain Bower, the British Resident at Ibadan, who was so seriously injured some time ago by the explosion of a rocket. On arrival at Liverpool Captain Bower was still in a serious state, and had to be removed in an ambulance from the steamer. He had, however, wonderfully improved on the voyage, considering that his condition on embarkation at Lagos was very critical. The story of the accident, as related by Dr. Dwyer, who attended at the request of the Lagos Government, shows that Captain Bower had displayed remarkable bravery and probably saved the colony from a descent by the warlike Ilorins. On the day previous to the accident, one of the Nausa troops through carelessly using a light, set fire to the men's quarters. These were covered with dried grasses and were soon enveloped in flames. Seeing that the magazine was in danger, Captain Bower climbed on to the top of the houses and began to tear off the roofs in order to prevent the flames from spreading. He was, however, unsuccessful, and in a very few minutes there was a general stampede the frightened blacks and troops running as far as they could from the magazine. Captain Bower at this critical moment dashed into the magazine and brought out shells rockets, cartridges and powder, and succeeded even in saving the only Maxim gun which was in the place. One other house, which was used as a prison, contained at the time, one prisoner, who had been tied to the wall of the building, which was quite open. Captain Bower rushed in to try and save him. He had, however, no knife and could not cut the ropes which bound him.

Twice the officer went in to try and save the man, at the same time calling out to the people at a distance to bring him a knife. They were too scared, however, to venture near, and the burning roof falling in the man was burned to death. Only a few miles off an army of Ilorins was encamped, and fearing that they might attack the British at Ogbomoso if they thought the fire had destroyed the ammunition, Capt. Bower next day set about testing the cartridges, shells, rockets, etc., which he had recovered from the magazine. He had almost finished the task when one the rockets exploded. He was struck on the knee, the bone of which was laid bare, while two of his fingers were left hanging by the skin. His clothing in front was also torn away, and a superficial wound was inflicted across his stomach. Dr. Dwyer was at Odo Ofin, distant a few days' ordinary journey, but a messenger on horseback was dispatched for him with relays of horses, and Dr. Dwyer reached Ogbomoso in fifteen hours. He found the British Resident in a terrible condition. Captain Bower's splendid physique and the most assiduous medical attention enabled him to reach Liverpool alive. Captain Bower has done excellent work in the Hinterland of Lagos. His reputation among the natives was such that the Ilorin army, several thousand strong, dared not attack the British territory while he was in charge. He had as far as possible abolished slavery in the country and broken down the rule of the fetish priests, which was equivalent in many cases to the sacrifice of human beings.

RECORDER AND EARLY CLOSING.

CONDEMNS A NUMBER OF MERCHANTS,

But His Honor Characterizes the By-Law as Foolish and Unjust --Expresses the Hope that the Defendants Will Appeal.

This morning the Recorder's Court was crowded, even all the standing room being taken up almost entirely by merchants, clerks, etc., who had come to witness the early closing cases which were set for a hearing. His Honor Recorder de Montigny was on the bench and after the usual routine had been gone through, called the cases. Mr. F. X. Dupuis appeared for the defendants and argued that in view of the fact that the Recorder had already declared the law illegal he did not see that he could in justice to his clients find them guilty of any offense. Even taking the judgment of the Superior Court into consideration there was the question of a number who had already been acquitted. If judgment were given against them he would appeal.

Mr. Globensky, who appeared for the prosecution, on the other hand maintained that the Recorder was compelled to abide by the decision of the higher Court.

After considering the arguments submitted by the attorneys for the defence, His Honor said: "In these different cases here is the position in which I find myself. In the case of Mme. Lagarde I was forced to come to the conclusion that the by-law was constitutional because the Legislature had authorized the Council to pass the law, but on examining the by-law I found that the scope was not wide enough, and I considered that it intruded on the natural rights of citizens.

"It is true that we can intrude on the rights of an individual in expropriating in the public interest, but this by-law was not sufficiently in the public interest to warrant this intrusion, so I consequently felt forced to quash it. Afterwards I was disappointed to find that the plaintiff could not appeal, only the defendant having that right.

"As I wished to have the opinion of a judge of the Superior Court, so I then interested myself to a certain extent in securing such. If the Superior Court recognized the legality either directly or indirectly I would submit myself as I wished a judgment. I submit not my judgment or reason, as I would never bow to an unjust law. There is not a tribunal in the world which would force me to do so.

"To-day it is again my opinion that the by-law is unjust, and I have not altered my opinion that it is not framed as it should be. A by-law could have been framed which would reach all merchants with the exception of druggists, etc., who are absolutely necessary. The groceries were closed, where was sold tea and coffee, while the worst holes in the city were given full swing.

"It is still my opinion that it is unjust, but I must submit to the opinion of the higher court just as the Government did in the matter of the School Question to the Privy Council. The plaintiffs not having the opportunity of appeal I will render judgment in conformity with that of Judge Charland that I must apply the law, illegal as it may be. I therefore declare the merchants guilty of having contravened the by-law, with the exception of Octave Chabot, who proved he was a fruit dealer owing to his sign bearing the words "fruit merchant," although he did sell general groceries. The gentlemen of the City Council in their wisdom declared that he could keep open, though at the same time he deals in groceries, as long as he is a "fruit merchant." We will now swallow the entire consequences of the foolish by-law in spite of the fact that it is not in my opinion legal.

"I am submissive to the decision of the Superior Court. So now may be open the low fruit stores, oyster dives, etc., as the Council has decided, they are more useful than the other. I am obliged to condemn the defendants to one dollar or eight days, with the hope that they will appeal."

Those condemned were L. W. Moreau, 366 Seigneurs street; Gaspard Lariault, 66 Ottawa street; Stanislas Cardinal, 230 Notre Dame street; Onesime Pelletier 218 Craig street; Wm. Rourke, 224 St. Catherine street; Richard Walsh, 812 Dorchester street; Moses Lesser, 625 Craig street; Joseph Desautels, 270 Craig street; Mathias Leduc, 40 St. Urbain street; T. S. Spendlo, 2081 Notre Dame street; Placide Daoust, 1830 St. Catherine street; Joseph Bruchesi 2135 Notre Dame street; Andrew Ewan, 376 St. Antoine street; David Sack, 736 St. Catherine street; G. H. Matthews, 50 St. Alexander street; Joseph Hagerty, 63 St. Charles Borromee street; J. S. Guillet, 418 Lagauchetiere street; J. H. Lefebvre, 196 Dorchester street; Elise Rodier, 173 Dorchester street; E. Robert, 176 Dorchester street; H. Belisle, 159 St. Paul street; L. Layallee, 63 St. Dominique street; M. A. Flood, 103 Bleury street; Joseph Morton, 112 St. Elizabeth street, and J. L. Crevier, 809 St. James street.

$50 FOR SLANDER

In the case of Giles Bernard against J. Arthur Huot, Judge Loranger condemned the latter this morning to pay Mr. Bernard $50 damages. It had been proved that in June, 1895, Mr. Huot had, without provocation and without any reason, said to one Loyseau that all the Bernards were robbers and that he (Loyseau) lived with the chief of the band (referring to Mr. Giles Bernard, the plaintiff).

FATALITY AT LAPRAIRIE.

A young man named Paquette died at Laprairie on Saturday under peculiar circumstances. He was going for a horse, and while approaching the stable fell or knocked against some obstruction. A small bottle which was in one of the pockets of his trousers was broken, and several pieces of glass entered his leg, cutting it severely. Medical assistance was summoned, but the young man died a few minutes later. The body was interred in the cemetery at Laprairie. To-day Coroner McMahon was acquainted with the circumstances of the affair, and immediately ordered the body to be exhumed. To-morrow morning he will go to Laprairie and hold an inquest on Paquette's body.

The Monthly Meeting Held This Morning—Cripples on the Streets Discussed Again.

The regular monthly meeting of the Society for the Protection of Women and Children was held this morning in the House of Industry, the following members being present: Messrs. Carsley, Grafton, Hague, Drake, Marshall, Alexander, Smith and the Rev. Messrs. McManus, Patterson and Veld.

The first business to be discussed was a proposal of Mr. Carsley's that the society should co-operate with the ladies in charge of the Home for Friendless Women in the direction of converting the Home into a reformatory for girls. Mr. Carsley explained that at a meeting of the Board of Management of the Home, held last evening, the latter had decided to either amalgamate the institution with the Montreal Maternity Hospital or convert it into a reformatory, where young girls might be taken after being sentenced by the Magistrate.

After some discussion, it was arranged that a committee of the Society should meet, if possible, the ladies in charge of the Home to-morrow afternoon at five o'clock, when the subject will be further discussed, and a definite decision arrived at.

The question of petitioning the Legislature in favor of the passage of an act prohibiting cripples from begging on the public streets was the next item on the docket to be considered.

Finally, on the motion of Rabbi Veld the Society decided to continue its co-operation with the Police Committee, with the object of securing the removal of all deformed cripples from the streets.

The monthly report was then read by Mr. Marshall, at the conclusion of which the meeting adjourned.

Synchronious with the formal opening will be held the annual meeting of the alumnae of the College, the business sessions of which body will be held on Tuesday, October 20.

KILLED BY A LIVE WIRE.

Omer Lepitre, a lineman in the employ of the Citizens' Light and Power Company, was killed early this morning in the company's power house on the canal bank at St. Henri. Some wires broke in the building, and Lepitre went to repair them. It appears that he caught hold of a wire leading to a dynamo and at the same time grasped a ground wire. The dynamo wire was a live one, and Lepitre received the full strength of the current. He was instantly killed, and his hands and feet began to burn and sizzle. Several fellow employees ran to his assistance, and after the current was cut off Lepitre's body was removed, but he was dead. The police of St. Henri were communicated with, and deceased's body was removed to his home. He lived on St. James street with his parents, and was about seventeen years old. Coroner McMahon was informed of the fatality, and will hold an inquest at deceased's late residence to-morrow night.

JUDGMENTS IN SUPREME COURT.

Fisheries Reference Favorable to Provinces.

THEY MAY EXTEND THE RIGHT OF FISHING.

Dominion Government Can Only Exercise General Supervision.

(Special to the Star.)

Ottawa, October 13.—The Supreme Court of Canada met to-day for the delivery of judgments.

The list of cases for judgment was short, containing only three cases, viz.: 1, the Fisheries Reference; 2, Sheets vs. Tait; 3, Cooper vs. Molsons Bank.

In consequence of the announcement by the Chief Justice that the Court would pronounce judgment in the reference re the provincial fisheries legislation, there was unusual interest manifested in the Supreme Court this morning.

Amongst the spectators were the Hon. Richard Harcourt, Provincial Treasurer of Ontario; Hon. Aemilius Irving, Q. C.; Prof. Prince, of the Fisheries Department, and Mr. Williams, private secretary to the Hon. L. H. Davies.

Sir Henry Strong, Chief Justice, very briefly explained that in the fisheries reference the judges were generally agreed, himself and Justices King, Taschereau and Girouard agreeing. The question were not framed in such a manner as to allow of categorical answers Yes or No.

He then handed the judgment to the official reporter. The judgment of the majority of judges is in favor of the provinces in as much as it sustains the decision in the case of the Queen vs. Robertson, in respect of non-navigable waters, and extends the same rule of law to all navigable rivers and great lakes, the beds of which are wholly in the province.

The right of fishing therein is declared a public common right, subject to provincial legislation. The Dominion is confined to powers of conservancy and regulation of fishing, and the Dominion has power to enact the imposition of a general license upon all persons fishing, but such license cannot be restricted to any particular locality.

The Dominion power is general, and cannot grant licenses for any particular lake, river or other body of water. In public harbors, the judgment of the Supreme Court in Holman v. Greene is recognized; the lands thereof belong to the Dominion, and, as a consequence, the right of fishing therein belongs to the Dominion. The Dominion also has control of waters within Indian reserves. The Dominion has no power to grant a lease for fishing in any one part of the Dominion.

In tidal waters, neither the Dominion nor the Province has any power to restrict the public right of fishing. The Ontario Fisheries Act is declared legal except where it may interfere with Dominion conservancy of fishing power, but the Ontario act will be good unless the Dominion has legislated in that particular. The Fishery Act of the Dominion is declared almost wholly ultra vires.

Mr. Justice Taschereau gave a separate written judgment.

In answer to question one he says the question is bound by Holman vs. Greene, which declares the beds of public harbors belong to the Dominion, else he would decide that they belong to the province.

To question 2 he answers yes; question 3, not answered; question 4 is answered by the answer to question 1; questions 5, 12 and 17, no answer; questions 6 and 8, no; questions 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, yes.

Mr. Justice Girouard agreed with the Chief Justice in answer 1; to questions 2, 3, 5, 14, 15, 16 and 17 be answered yes, and questions 4, 6, 7, 8 and 11, no.

To question 9 he answered: "The Dominion has no such jurisdiction."

To question 10: "Section 4 of Fisheries Act is ultra vires, the other provisions are intra vires."

To question 12: "The jurisdiction of the Dominion is limited to such general laws."

To question 13: "Clause 47 of the R. S. chap. 4, is intra vires."

Practically, as the Chief Justice pointed out himself, Justices Taschereau, Girouard and King agree. Mr. Justice Sedgewick excused himself, having been connected with the matter before ascending the bench. Mr. Justice King did not deliver a written judgment.

The case in point arose over the right of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to lease a portion of the Miramichi River, N.B., for the purpose of fishing.

The Fisheries Reference was made to the Court by an order in council dated February 23, 1894, when fifteen questions on the matter of provincial fisheries jurisdiction were submitted to the Court. The points referred to the Court were:

1. Did the beds of all lakes, rivers, public harbors and other waters, or any, and which of them, situate within the territorial rights of the several provinces, and not granted before Confederation, become under the British North America Act the property of the Dominion? Or the property of the province in which the same respectively are situate? And is there in that respect any, and what distinction between the various classes of waters, whether salt waters or fresh waters, tidal or non-tidal, navigable or non-navigable, or between the so-called great lakes, such as Lakes Superior, Huron, Erie, etc., and other lakes, or the so-called great rivers, such as the St. Lawrence, the Richelieu, the Ottawa, etc., and other rivers, or between waters directly and immediately connected with the sea coast, and waters not so connected, or between other waters, and waters separating (and so far as they do separate) two or more provinces of the Dominion from one another, or between other waters, and waters separating (and so far as they do separate) the Dominion from the territory of a foreign nation.

2. Is the Act of the Dominion Parliament, Revised Statutes of Canada, chapter 92, intituled "An Act respecting certain works constructed in or over navigable waters," an Act which the Dominion Parliament had jurisdiction to pass either in whole or in part?

3. If not, in case the bed and banks of a lake or navigable river belong to a province, and the province makes a grant of land extending into the lake or river for the purpose of there being built thereon a wharf, warehouse or the like, has the grantee a right to build thereon accordingly, subject to the work, not interfering with the navigation of the lake or river?

4. In case the bed of a public harbor, or any portion of the bed of a public harbor at the time of Confederation, had not been granted by the Crown, has the province a like jurisdiction in regard to the making a grant as and for the purpose in preceding paragraph stated, subject to not thereby interfering with navigation, or other full use of the harbor as a harbor and subject to any Dominion legislation within the competence of the Dominion Parliament?

5. Had riparian proprietors before Confederation an exclusive right of fishing in non-navigable lakes, rivers, streams, and waters, the beds of which had been granted to them by the Crown?

6. Has the Dominion Parliament jurisdiction to authorize the giving by lease, license or otherwise to lessees, licensees or other grantees, the rights of fishing in such waters as mentioned in the last question, or any and which of them?

7. Has the Dominion Parliament exclusive jurisdiction to authorize the giving, by lease, license, or otherwise, to lessees, licensees or other grantees, the rights of fishing in such waters as mentioned in the last question, or any and which of them?

8. Has the Dominion Parliament such jurisdiction as regards navigable or non-navigable waters, the beds and banks of which are assigned to the Provinces, respectively, under the British North American Act, if any such are so assigned?

9. If the Dominion has such jurisdiction as mentioned in the preceding three questions, has a Provincial Legislature jurisdiction for the purpose of provincial revenue or otherwise to require the Dominion lessee, licensee or other grantee to take out a provincial license also?

10. Has the Dominion Parliament jurisdiction to pass section 4 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, chapter 95, entitled, "An Act Respecting Fisheries and Fishing," or any other provisions of the said Act, or any, and which of such several sections, or any and what parts thereof, respectively?

Section 4, above mentioned, is as follows: 4—The Minister of Marine and Fisheries may, whenever the exclusive right of fishing does not already exist by law, issue or authorize to be issued fishing leases and licenses for fisheries and fishing wheresoever situated or carried on; but leases or licenses for any term exceeding nine years shall be issued only under authority of the Governor in Council.

11. Had the Dominion Parliament jurisdiction to pass Sec. 4 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, chapter 95, intitled: "An act respecting fisheries and fishing, or any other of the provisions of the said act, so far as these respectively relate to fishing on waters, the beds of which do not belong to the Dominion, and are not Indian lands."

12. If not, has the Dominion Parliament any jurisdiction in respect to fisheries except to pass general laws not derogating from the property in the lands constituting the beds of such waters as aforesaid, or from the rights incident to the ownership by the provinces and others, but (subject to such property and rights) providing in the interests of the owners and the public for the regulation, protection, improvement and reservation of the fisheries, as, for example, by forbidding fish to be taken at improper seasons, preventing the undue destruction of fish by taking them in an improper manner, or with improper engines, prohibiting obstructions in ascending rivers, and the like?

13. Had the Legislature of Ontario jurisdiction to enact the 47th section of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, chapter 24, intituled, "An act respecting the sale and management of Public Lands," and Sections 5 to 13, both inclusive, and sections 19 and 21, both inclusive, of the Ontario Act of 1892, intituled, "An act for the protection of the Provincial Fisheries," or any, and which of such several sections, or any, and what parts thereof respectively? (The 47th section referred to reads: "But not so as to interfere with the use of any harbor as a harbor, or with the navigation of any harbor, river, or other navigable water.")

14. Had the Legislature of Quebec jurisdiction to enact Sections 1375 to 1378 inclusive, of the Revised Statutes of Quebec, or any, and which of the said sections, or any, and what parts thereof?

15. Has a province jurisdiction to legislate in regard to providing fish ways in dams, slides and other constructions and otherwise to regulate and protect fisheries within the province, subject to and so far as may consist with any laws passed by the Dominion Parliament within its constitutional competence?

16. Has the Dominion power to declare what shall be deemed an interference with navigation or a filling up of navigable waters?

17. Had riparian proprietors before Confederation any exclusive rights of fishing in non-navigable waters?

In the matter of Sheets vs. Tait, the appeal was dismissed with costs.

Sheets vs. Tait affects the title to lands. In June, 1874, certain lands were expropriated for the use of the Cornwall canal, and the appellants in this appeal Sheets and Snettsinger, with the respondent Tait, and with the Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, all claimed a title in the lands expropriated. The Exchequer Court decided that the value of the land was $1400, of which it awarded $24.15 to the Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, for interest merely, and the balance, $1375.85, to the respondent Tait. The appellants Sheets and Snettsinger appealed against this decision.

Cooper vs. Molsons Bank stood over until the first day of the Ontario list.

Cooper v. Molsons Bank. In this case the bank sought to recover the amount of certain promissory notes, amounting to $50,000. The defendants claimed that they had deposited collateral security. The court below found for the bank, and this decision was appealed.

The case of Sensac vs. Vermont Central Railway was then taken up. In this case appellants seek to recover the value of buildings and contents at Stanbridge, Que., destroyed by fire alleged to have been caused by sparks from respondents' engine. The action was maintained by Lynch, J., in the Superior Court, and reversed in Queen's Bench by a unanimous judgment.

Geoffrion, Q.C., for appellant; Greenshields, Q.C., and Lafleur for respondents.

Mr. Edward Guerin, of Montreal, is here to attend the Supreme Court sittings.

MANITOBA SCHOOL CONFERENCE

First Meeting at Ottawa To-day.

WHAT THE MANITOBANS WANT TO DO.

Messrs. Laurier, Scott, Mowat and Blair the Sub-Committee.

(Special to the Star.)

Ottawa, October 13. — Hon. Robert Watson, and Hon. D. H. McMillan, of the Manitoba Cabinet, arrived here together yesterday afternoon, and saw the Premier, being joined afterwards at the Russell House, by Hon. J. D. Cameron, the Manitoban Provincial Secretary.

Mr. Watson was seen later by a Star correspondent and shown the Winnipeg despatch, stating that he had said before leaving that the basis of agreement had practically been settled.

He said: "The despatch goes a little too far. I did not state quite so much as that. I have seen Premier Laurier, and we are to have an interview to-morrow, Tuesday. At present I prefer to say nothing as to the terms."

"Are you commissioned to settle the school negotiations at once?"

"If they are settled on our basis, we are prepared to state certain terms. If they are accepted, well and good. I expect it will take a day or two before there is any definite announcement. The Ministers may want to consult together."

That was all Mr. Watson would say except that the Manitoba Ministers were not here for private business.

"It is the school question that has brought us here," he said.

Three o'clock this afternoon has been set for the first meeting between the Manitoba Ministers and the sub-committee of the Privy Council appointed yesterday to meet them.

The sub-committee consists of Hon. W. Laurier, Hon. R. W. Scott, Hon. Sir Oliver Mowat and Hon. A. G. Blair. It is understood that the delegates from Manitoba will adhere as strictly as possible to the terms which the Manitoba Government submitted to Messrs. Dickey, Smith and Desjardins in March last. The Dominion Government hope to be able to make better terms. No other questions will be discussed between the respective committees until the school question is disposed of.

STREET SENTIMENT CHEERFUL.

Prices, Therefore, Recovered From 1 to 3 Points.

(Special to the Star.)

New York, October 13.—There was a quick recovery in the stock market today, prices advancing from 1 to 3 points. The ostensible cause was Senator Quay's prediction that McKinley will get 270 votes in the electoral college at the least. It was noted yesterday, however, that the selling pressure had stopped, and a reaction was expected to-day. News of a further engagement of $800,000 gold for import also stimulated purchases for both accounts. London gave the cue with higher prices before the opening here, but the foreign level was very quickly passed. The dealings were not on a large scale, but they were fairly active. Toward two o'clock there was a period of dulness, during which slight recessions occurred. Tobacco was again the bull leader; Manhattan was very erratic, and Sugar, though bought largely, was not much advanced. The street sentiment was decidedly more cheerful than it has been.

London, October 13.—Included in the withdrawals from the Bank of England to-day was £160,000 for shipment to the United States.

TROUBLE IN MADAGASCAR.

Marseilles, October 13.—Mail advices received here from Tamatave, Madagascar, say that the rebellion is general throughout the island. Some of the French settlers have been killed on the open roads, and Antalasa, near Diego Saurez, have been wiped out, all the whites being killed. Trade between the interior and the coast is suspended.

A RALLY OF CONSERVATIVES.

Sir Charles Tupper, came down from Ottawa to-day on his way to Quebec and Halifax to attend the Conservative convention to be held there on Thursday. Sir Charles was met by Sir A. P. Caron and during the day was waited upon by Premier Flynn and a number of Conservatives. An informal discussion took place as to the holding of a gathering of all the leading Conservatives of the Province, at a later date to reorganize the party. A similar meeting is to be held to-morrow at Quebec after which Sir Charles will be joined by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper and both will proceed to Halifax.

THE HOSPITAL FAIR

The Montreal General Hospital Fair was brought to a successful conclusion last evening, the receipts for the week having fulfilled the most sanguine wishes of those who had the bazaar in charge. It is now tolerably certain that the Fair has netted a sum exceeding $10,000, yesterday's receipts amounting to over $1,800. The gross receipts represent a sum of nearly $12,000, from which, however, has to be deducted certain expenditure incidental to the undertaking. Yesterday a large number of the fancy articles were auctioned off, and the prices realized were exceedingly good.

PRINCIPAL HENDERSON

The condition of the Rev. Principal Henderson was reported to be slightly improved this afternoon.

THE REV. DR. SMYTH

The Rev. Dr. Smyth's condition is most critical this afternoon, and it is feared that the end is fast approaching. The reverend gentleman has been unconscious since an early hour last evening, and the tide of life is plainly on the ebb.

PASSENGERS RESCUED

(See also Page 7.)

Cape May, N.J., October 13.—The life-saving crew this morning brought ashore three passengers from the steamer Spartan, which ran aground last night on Hereford Bar, Anglesea. The crew is staying by the ship, hoping to get her afloat at high water. The Spartan is owned by the Boston and Philadelphia Steamship Company.

After pirouetting along the coast for several days, causing devastation and terror wherever its force was felt, the West Indian hurricane has finally this afternoon been lost track of in mid-ocean, and the weather observers predict clearing skies and fair weather by this evening.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Business at the forenoon session of the local Stock Exchange was quiet, but the small volume of trading was not accompanied by any unsatisfactory indications. Cable, indeed, on which the interest centred, recovered the loss in price sustained yesterday, while of Montreal and Toronto Street Railways sales were made at steady figures.

Wall Street still seems disposed to put its house in order before the elections, but the small volume of transactions and narrow fluctuations prove that there is no serious pressure from liquidation.

The London market for American securities was this morning more active and a shade firmer.

Morning Sales—2 Merchants at 167 1-4; 37 Commerce at 125 1-4; 3 Montreal Telegraph at 162 1-4; 43 Cable at 143 1-2, 25 at 143 3-4, 60 at 144, 50 at 143 3-4, 50 at 144 1-4, 25 at 144 1-2, 25 at 144 3-4; 37 Loan & Mortgage Co., at 130; 4 Electric at 109 3-4; 25 Toronto Railway at 68 1-2, 25 at 68 3-4, 16 at 68 3-8; 74 Street Railway at 218.

Afternoon Sales.—25 Toronto Railway at 69; 30 Commerce at 125 1-4; 50 Cable at 144 3-4; 25 Pacific at 57.
