Four die in ET accidents

ROCK FOREST (RM) — The drownings of two young girls in the Magog River near Rock Forest Sunday lead the list of fatalities occurring during the first days of the St-Jean Baptiste holidays. Joan Talon, 10, and her nine-year-old sister, Gina, were playing on a plastic "aquaplane" when it apparently flipped over, sending the two to their deaths. Rock Forest police, Sherbrooke firemen and ambulance drivers combed the river bed until the bodies of the girls were found. They were pronounced dead on arrival at the Hotel-Dieu Hospital in Sherbrooke. Also at Rock Forest, Stephan Paradis was sent to hospital Friday afternoon after he was hit by a car while riding his bicycle. He died yesterday afternoon. Police attempts to retrieve the body of Daniel Garneau, who drowned in Bowker Lake Saturday morning were fruitless. Garneau, 20, was from Granby.

Escapees charged with murder

COWANSVILLE (JM) — Coroner Paul Emil Roy did not hesitate to suggest that Benoit Roy, no relation, and Dennis Pearson, both of the Montreal area, should be arraigned on charges of non-capital murder following a coroner's inquest here Friday. Dr. Roy did not hold the two self-avowed escapees from the Cowansville institution criminally responsible in the death of Jean Maurice Tringle in the Township of Dunham June 6, however, decided there was sufficient circumstantial evidence to allow the Crown to proceed on charges of non-capital murder.

and found the dome light of Mr. Tringle's taxi in three to four feet of water approximately 30 feet from the shore. They told me they had thrown the dome light in the water. "On June 12 still accompanied by the two accused I found various personal papers, the shoes of the victim and their prison-issued pants in a wooded area near St. Bruno." Mr. Lapierre concluded his testimony by stating he had found other prison type clothing in a hen house near the home of Duncan Marshall, St. Joseph's Road, Dunham, the day after the discovery of Mr. Tringle's body.

Dr. Roy did not hold the two self-avowed escapees from the Cowansville institution criminally responsible in the death of Jean Maurice Tringle in the Township of Dunham June 6, however, decided there was sufficient circumstantial evidence to allow the Crown to proceed on charges of non-capital murder.

Constable Jean Lapierre, Homicide Squad, Montreal, told the inquiry he found several items belonging to the victim through information given him by the co-accused. "On June 11 accompanied by Roy and Pearson I went to Piopolis near Lake Megantic

The body of Mr. Tringle, 47, a Farnham taxi driver, was discovered in a cottage of the St. Joseph Concession Road, Dunham, by Rosaire Berube, Cowansville detachment QPF, June 8 at approximately 1 p.m.

June 8 following a call from the Farnham Municipal Police. Autopsy reports indicate Mr. Tringle died June 6 as the result of having been beaten to death with a blunt instrument.

Dr. Roy, after hearing the autopsy report by Dr. Andre Brosseau, Montreal Medical Legal Institute, said it was evident the victim died as the result of one or more blows to the skull with a blunt instrument and the cause of death was a massive cerebral hemorrhage. "Mr. Tringle died a violent death and I have reason to believe Pearson and Roy were implicated in his death," he said.

The men who were represented by Jacques Rioux of Montreal are expected to be arraigned on charges of non-capital murder in Sweet'sburg Court later this week. They will also face charges of evading legal custody, two counts of breaking and entering, one of theft of over $200 and one of car theft.

The two former inmates of the Cowansville institution had been detained on a coroner's warrant since June 12. Two QPF officers provided Coroner Roy with the evidence he considered necessary to recommend Roy was serving four years on counts of possessing burglary tools, breaking and entering, attempted breaking and entering and complicity. Pearson was serving 42 months on a total of 70 counts related to fraudulent dealing. Both were admitted to Cowansville as first offenders within the past four months.

Morgentaler tells of jail ordeal

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Henry Morgentaler says in a letter that he has felt "humiliation, impotent rage, a sadness and often repeated surprise at the inhumanity of man to man" during his imprisonment for performing an abortion.

Que., rehabilitation centre, stripped and put in one of the small cells called "the hole" by prisoners. The letter was written Saturday and broadcast by CTV Sunday night. A text of the letter was available prior to the broadcast.

Services change for two holidays

SHERBROOKE (BP) — The Record will not be published on St. Jean Baptiste Day, June 24 or on Canada Day, July 1. The following list was compiled as a public service to let our readers know basically which services or businesses will be closed for the holidays.

In the letter Dr. Morgentaler says it took 50 minutes, "according to their calculations," between the time he told a guard of his anguish (heart) pains June 15 and when he was removed from "the hole" to be taken to hospital.

The city of Sherbrooke offices will be closed both today and Tuesday, as well as next Monday and Tuesday, June 30 and July 1. The municipal library will operate as usual on both Mondays, and will be open on June 24 and July 1 from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. Garbage in the city will not be collected on either Monday or Tuesday both weeks, and extra trucks will be used on the Wednesdays to facilitate the pick-up of the backlog.

Dr. Morgentaler says he was lying on his bed in his cell writing in his diary with his small night lamp on, which regulations permitted. Jean-Yves Desrochers, the jail's deputy director, "suddenly appeared out of nowhere" and told him to undress and get inside the bed-covers.

Sherbrooke Transit buses will follow Sunday hours on both Tuesdays. The Post Office will be open normally on Mondays, but no wicket

He says he was surprised at Mr. Desrochers's "menacing pose" and at the fact Desrochers was there. There was an exchange of words in which the doctor told Mr. Desrochers to "get off my back." Then "about eight guards" were called in. He says he protested, saying there was no need for strongarm tactics. While he was looking for his slippers two of the guards grabbed him by a leg and an arm and he was dragged out "like a sheep." "At one point I burst out

SHEER DETERMINATION, with a lot of facial expression, won this tug-of-war squad top prize at the Tombola Sunday afternoon. They pulled their opponents past the finish two straight times for the championship.

REACH FOR THE TOP was the name of the Jacob's Ladder contestants as they tried, mostly in vain, to climb the awkward contraption to its highest limits. The trick to mount the ladder, attached at top and bottom by one rope, was mastered by a handful of people, including the teenage female pictured above. (Records photos by Bruce Porter)

Fireworks cap off successful Tombola

LENNOXVILLE (BP) — Another successful Lennoxville Tombola ended last night with a dazzling (and rather noisy) fireworks display, capping off a hot, dry weekend for the annual event.

Accident victims remain hospitalized

SHERBROOKE (RH) — Three victims of last Wednesday's Capelton Rd. accident which claimed the life of one person, are still in hospital today. David Stoddard, 19, of Ayer's Cliff is at Hotel Dieu Hospital and hospital officials say he developed a fever over the weekend. Ronald Cote, also 19, was still listed in satisfactory condition at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. Joseph Drew, 81, while still in the intensive care section of St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, has been improving steadily, according to a hospital spokesperson. His condition was listed as stable. Beatrice Drew, 74, was killed Wednesday in the two-car collision.

The World in focus

Recession over

WASHINGTON (AP) — The recession, for all practical purposes, is over in the United States, Chairman Alan Greenspan of the president's Council of Economic Advisers said Sunday. Greenspan said in a television interview it is difficult to determine the exact time for the recession ending, but he feels that as of now it is "pretty much spent."

Vietnam reunified

HANOI (CP) — Vietnam will be totally reunified by the end of next year, an authoritative Vietnamese source has predicted. In an interview with this correspondent in Saigon, the high-ranking source said: "Unless there is a setback, particularly in the economic field, Vietnam should be able to form a single political, diplomatic and economic bloc during 1976 or at the latest, by the end of that year."

Mid-East talks

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Soviet and Palestinian leaders opened top-level talks Sunday, aimed at consolidating ties between the two countries, the Palestinian news agency WAFA said. The Palestine Liberation Organization was led by guerrilla chieftain Yasser Arafat and the Soviet Union team was headed by Boris Ponomarev, No. 2 man in the Soviet Communist party. No details were immediately available.

Ghandi appeals

NEW DELHI (AP) — Lawyers for Prime Minister Indira Gandhi went before Supreme Court Justice Krishna Iyer today to file her appeal against her conviction on a charge of illegal campaign practices and to ask him to allow her to continue in office until the full court decides the appeal.

Sutton Market opens summer season

By JOYCE HIBBERT

Saturday, June 7th, was general clean-up day and 25 members of Sutton Valley Council worked hard to get their new site and premises ready for the Sutton Market opening.

Then on June 14th hundreds of people took advantage of a warm sunny day to visit the new market building on Curley Street. The building had been erected during the past year by volunteers from the 200 member-strong S.V.C. The Council is the local organization responsible for the weekly market operation.

Twenty-two tables were rented in the building to vendors displaying a variety of handicrafts and antiques. Another 17 stall-holders plied their trade in the open air. All vendors are required to become members of the Sutton Valley Council at an annual fee of one dollar.

"We have never had to turn any prospective vendors away," said Diane Poulton, Market Director. "Today, there are 15 first-time stall-holders. On the other hand, several have reserved their tables for the entire season."

Music was a pleasant feature at the market, most of it due to the efforts of Mr. Snider of Beaconsfield. Next to the Snider family antiques table, he had installed a P.A. system. At intervals, he accompanied himself on guitar while singing well-known folk and pop songs. Recorded music was played but not blared. For a change of pace a young man entertained with flute solos. "Anyone wishing to provide entertainment is welcome to perform," informed Mrs. Poulton.

Mabel Boyce presided over the Flea Market. As usual, it was a popular hunting ground for bargains. Twenty per cent commission is charged on articles sold in this section whereas table rents are the only charges to vendors in the rest of the marketplace.

Three young women from Montreal were enjoying their first experience as vendors at Sutton. Corinne Beaudin, Lynn Fabié and Lorna Menzies had a fine display of etchings — copper, lino and collagraphs. They also had rag dolls for sale, dolls attractive and cuddly enough to delight any child.

The Lawrance family of Sutton had their own table. Jean Lawrance pointed out that she did the knitting and needlecraft while her daughter was responsible for the leatherwork. Her son had made the rugs and helped her with candle-making.

Another Sutton resident, 12-year-old Louise Paquette, was selling raffia hats of different shapes, colors and sizes. The headgear had been crafted by her grandmother, Annette Boyer.

Granny's Goodies read the notice and behind the table sat Barbara Westwater of Pointe Claire and Heather McElroy of Valleyfield. They were offering crocheted and knitted items for sale, plus a variety of decoupage plaques and paperweights. The Friendly Society of Trinity Anglican Church in Cowansville was raising funds by selling home-baked goods. The women of the long-established Society mentioned that their bread, doughnuts and rolls were in great demand. And their pies had all disappeared shortly after going on sale. The group had sold everything and left long before the 4:30 p.m. closing time.

An unusual Sutton Market story unfolded as Ivy Moreton of Cowansville spoke of her reasons for being at the market. She and her friend, Lillias Watt, work hard during winter on handicrafts. All sale proceeds are donated to the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Mrs. Moreton explained that she became interested in the Foundation when her little granddaughter, Missy, was born with the disease. Two-year-old Missy must take 30 capsules each day and twice daily her mother must give her a treatment known as postural drainage. The little girl must also be taken to the Montreal Children's Hospital for regular checks.

"We shall be at the market for four Saturdays only," said Ivy Moreton. "Lillias Watt and I make everything ourselves and we are unable to produce enough handicrafts to come every week. With support from our friends we are planning a bazaar to aid the Foundation with its research. It will be held in Cowansville at the United Church Hall on October 25th."

Mary Gocher of Sutton was leaving the market carrying her purchases. What did she think of the enterprise? "I think it's a wonderful thing. It gets people together and it's a showcase for talent." British-born Mrs. Gocher, who is a member of the Sutton Valley Council, expressed her fondness for the Eastern Townships of Quebec. "I've lived in England and other parts of Canada but after settling here I have no wish to move anywhere else."

Mary Thomas, a native of Foster, now living in Drummondville was another visitor. "I especially enjoy the atmosphere and find that I'm meeting a lot of ET people that I haven't seen for years," she remarked.

Market management welcomes comments from the public and a yellow suggestion box has been mounted on a post to receive brickbats, bouquets, etc.

The Sutton Market will operate from 1:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. each Saturday until August 23rd. A Fall Market will be held on Saturday, September 13th from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in taking part in Sutton Market activities can obtain information by telephoning directors Diane Poulton at 243-6263 or Crystal King at 243-6353.

ON EXHIBIT at The Mill in North Hatley are a series of pencil drawings and acrylic paintings on paper by Lennoxville resident David Morgan. The exhibition continues until July 6.

Mill at North Hatley displaying art exhibit

By ANN JAMES

The Eastern Townships of Quebec have long been the home of creative people. The last 10 to 15 years have seen the artists of the area becoming more apparent as space for exhibiting has become available.

One of the newest spaces is the Old Mill Coffee House in North Hatley and the artist presently exhibiting there, David Morgan, while not new to the area, is new to the local exhibition scene. Mr. Morgan recalls that he spent several happy years working in North Hatley in the late fifties and early sixties. After returning to Montreal to pursue his career in 1963 at the Montreal Museum School of Art and Design as both student and teacher, the lure of the Townships once again exerted itself in 1969. Mr. Morgan has been here ever since first residing in Way's Mills and lately in Lennoxville.

Presently on exhibit at the gallery are a series of pencil drawings and acrylic paintings on paper. While it is difficult to deny the technical ability behind these works, the use to which it has been put is not quite so obvious. The images are all easily identifiable: bowls of fruit, figures, jugs, etc. but their juxtaposition is somehow out of context. It is perhaps this, but I think more than this that gives the drawings a feeling that the objects represented are not part of the everyday world. The drawings, however, do convey a powerful expression of their own, a quality I think essential to any work of art.

It will be interesting to see what direction Mr. Morgan's work takes from this point; the beginnings are certainly very promising.

Several acrylic paintings on display show a slightly different approach, perhaps dictated by the medium. They display a quality of loose sureness which demonstrates that the artist is not afraid to let the medium have its rein to a certain extent. The same feeling is evident in the paintings as in the drawings but the viewer is overcome by the strong and confident handling of color and shape. One has the feeling Mr. Morgan has done much more work in this medium and consequently the paintings are a much freer expression of his own attitudes and sensitivities. These works are sheer pleasure to look at, especially an extremely fine painting of a kneeling female nude.

The exhibition will be on until July 6, and is without doubt worth a trip. I hope we will have the opportunity to see more of this artist's work in the future.

VENDORS — Two young vendors at the Sutton Market are seen with their displays on opening day June 14. The market is open each Saturday throughout the summer.

SUTTON MARKET held its opening at a new site on Curley Street recently. Hundreds took part in the weekly event sponsored by the Sutton Valley Council.

English theatre season planned in Quebec City

QUEBEC CITY — 1975 is a season of change for the Quebec City Summer Stock Theatre: new producers, new directors, new company and a greater emphasis on production values are among the things to look for this year.

Producing this season are Walter Cavalieri and Warren Hartman. Cavalieri was Regional Artistic Director for Hair in Toronto, Production Manager for Festival Lennoxville for two seasons, and has taught acting at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute in Toronto and Bishop's University in Lennoxville.

The acting company this year is comprised of 13 members selected through intensive auditions in eastern Canada. Some are still students — at Bishop's and Brock Universities, the National Theatre School and Ryerson Polytechnical Institute — and some are working professionals. All save one of the acting company are new to the Quebec City Summer Stock Theatre.

On July 1 a double bill of British comedies, After Magritte and The Real Inspector Hound, both by Tom Stoppard, will open under the direction of Ken Livingston. Well known as one of Canada's most innovative directors, Livingston makes his home in London, Ontario, where he has been directing for Theatre London, the Gallery Theatre and University of Western Ontario. For the past several years, he has had as well his own theatre company, called New Space.

The third play, The Collected Works of Billy the Kid, which opens on July 29, will be directed by Warren Hartman who is also designing all the productions this season.

Six more performances will be given this year than were given last year. Sunday performances have been added in July, and the season is a day longer at each end.

The Stoppard and Guare plays will each receive 22 performances, while the Ondaatje will receive 11.

Sweetsburg Court

SWEETSBURG WARD (JM) — Denis Conrad Brochu, Montreal, was found guilty of charges of breaking, entering and theft of butter valued at $700 in Granby, January 24, 1974, and to charges of breaking, entering and theft from Cowansville Building Supplies, the same evening. Judge Bernard Legare quoted from parts of his written judgment before ordering Brochu detained pending sentencing June 19.

Crown prosecutor Claude Noiseux indicated he would call for a heavy prison term and said: "His record is a portrait of eloquence."

Brochu's lawyer Claude Leveille said his client had not committed any crimes in the past three years.

Jean Paul Lafleur, who was earlier found guilty of theft of a stereo system valued at over $200, was given a suspended sentence and placed on one year's probation with an order to report to probation officers every 60 days.

His lawyer, Louis Jolin, told the court his client had a very favorable probation report, he was employed and had no further brushes with the law since the crime was committed in 1973.

Mr. Noiseux said he had nothing special to add.

Bernard Bourassa, Granby, a first offender who pleaded guilty to a count of breaking, entering and theft, was placed on a suspended sentence for one year. He is to report to the probation office within 48 hours and every 60 days until the expiration of the term.

Defence counsel Jean Marquis pointed out it was his first infraction, he was employed and the probation report was very favorable.

Mr. Noiseux agreed with the remarks of the defence, however, added had the crime been committed in a dwelling he would have had no alternative but to ask for a prison term.

Judge Legare continued sentence in the case of Raymond Gladu to September 22. Gladu, of Alma, formerly of Granby, had pleaded guilty to a count of possession of a restricted weapon and attempted armed robbery in Granby during 1974.

His lawyer, Yvon Robichaud, told the court his client had served three months prior to being released on parole for continuation of sentence, and had been gainfully employed in the Lake St. John area since his release.

Judge Legare told the young man to contact his probation officer and have his report brought up to date before returning in September.

Jean Marquis told Judge Legare his clients, Narcisse Dupere and Claude Robichaud, had both pleaded guilty to a technically serious charge, to wit qualified robbery. He suggested they were under the influence of drugs and alcohol when they robbed an elderly man of $12 in Granby during 1974. He cited the presentence reports as indicating the men be placed on probation.

Crown attorney Claude Noiseux then entered the fray. "I received 10 probation reports this morning, and after reading them I wonder why I ever lay charges. This leads me to query the accuracy of these reports, if ever they do suggest a period of imprisonment it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to understand the wording." "They are charged with qualified robbery and although they have no prior record they cannot go unpunished."

Judge Legare agreed with Mr. Noiseux' remarks concerning the probation reports. He then determined both men were working and sentenced them to five days imprisonment to be served during their summer vacations. They were then placed on two years' probation. Both men were warned if they failed to appear on the scheduled dates they would be considered illegally at large and would have to face those consequences.

Judge Legare continued sentence in the case of Bertrand Robichaud to December 1, for the form. Robichaud, of Granby, earlier pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft of $3,782 at the Less Harvey Store, Granby, January 8, 1975, and to a count of willful property damage at the same store.

His lawyer, Louis Grignon, said he queried the amount of the items stolen and said his client had no personal gain as he had cut his hand severely on the plate glass window and had gone to the Shefford General Hospital for treatment. Mr. Grignon said his client had been dragged in the crime through Bruno Ashby and was on a mixture of drugs and alcohol when the crime occurred.

Sentence was postponed at the suggestion of Crown attorney Noiseux.

Ronald Poliquin, 18, of Montreal, will spend his two week summer vacation in the Sweetsburg jail. He pleaded guilty to a count of breaking and entering into a dwelling in Bromont early in 1975.

His lawyer, Monique Senay, said it was a first offence and the report suggested he be placed on a long probation. Her remarks drew the ire of Mr. Noiseux who said it was up to the judge to determine sentences, not probation officers.

He then told the court Poliquin and an accomplice, Jean Guy Murray, drove from Montreal to commit the crime. "There was definite premeditation. I demand a jail sentence. However, whether it is continued or discontinued is of little consequence."

Judge Legare sentenced Poliquin to 14 days beginning July 28, and placed him on two years' probation. A bench warrant was issued for Murray who failed to appear for sentencing.

Larry Anderson, Waterloo, pleaded guilty to a count of neglect in the operation of a motor vehicle in the Town of Bromelake, April 30. Crown prosecutor Noiseux told Judge Legare it was fortunate the passengers in Anderson's car were only injured. He suggested a heavy fine and one year's prohibition to drive.

Judge Legare fined Anderson $300 and costs, in default 60 days, and forbade him to drive in Canada for one year. He was allowed 60 days to acquit the fine and costs.

Arraignment in the case of Henri Rock Gagnon, Granby, was remanded to June 19 pending preparation of a psychiatric report. Gagnon, of Granby, is accused of two counts of indecent assault on a female under 16 years of age. He was represented by Louis Grignon.

Museum opens at the Border

BOUNDARY (IH) — The Beebe Museum of the Stanstead Historical Society was officially opened Sunday, June 15 for the season. The Barn Museum will open the end of June or early July.

A large number of visitors attended the June 15 opening coming from both sides of the Border. All were greeted by members of the executive acting as hosts, hostesses and guides.

The special feature was the dedication of the E.J. Struthers Memorial Room. This is the military section in the museum basement which makes a very attractive room.

Dr. J.S. McCannel, Rock Island, a retired Brigadier General, has worked unceasingly many months to create this to perfection. It has been quite a task for many medals, insignias and items pertaining to wars over the past years have been arranged and identified. Injured in a fall in March, 1973 much of this has been done from his bed and wheel chair. Mrs. McCannel, a retired Canadian Army nurse, has been his "right hand" in doing this museum work. Following the death of E.J. Struthers, who was a noted person in many fields and a veteran of WWI, a corner of the military room was named the E.J. Struthers Corner. Many photos, pictures, books and items of the late Mr. Struthers are on display.

Upstairs, on the ground floor is the Mr. and Mrs. Austin Foster Memorial Library, the Colby Room with its early furnishings, and the Textile Room with its constantly changing display. Another room features early lighting.

MUSEUM OPENS — The E.J. Struthers Corner in the Stanstead Historical Military room of the Beebe Museum opened on June 15 to the public. At left is Dr. J.S.

McCannel who has worked months to make it one of the best military exhibits around.

Derby Lions Club meets

DERBY (IH) — The Derby Lions Club June meeting took place recently at the National Bank Branch, Derby, with a charcoal barbecue supper preceding the business meeting.

Russell Simpson, First Soccer coach in Vermont, was special guest and spoke to the Lions about the August 2 New Hampshire - Vermont All Star soccer game to be played on the field at Middlebury College.

This game is a benefit for the Lions of New Hampshire and Vermont Districts for eye care in these two states, one of the major projects of Lions.

Mr. Simpson gave a historical background that led up to this August game. The teams will be made up of 22 senior students graduating from this 1975 class who have come from all over each state. Two young men, Jim Ledue of Newport and Paul Bradley of Derby, both graduates of North Country High, will be in the Vermont team. Mr. Simpson has just completed his 12th year of coaching at North Country and in 1975, his boys won the Vermont championship.

The game will be played on a field 62 to 65 yards wide by 110 yards long. There is a seating capacity of 3,300. Charles Kramer of Derby Line. Tickets are available from Mr. Kramer and George Fuller at Derby, Vt.

King Lion George Fuller conducted the business meeting. He and the other Lions welcomed Elliott Greenblatt as a new member.

He also spoke words of appreciation to John Barker, a Lion member and a dedicated worker in all aspects of the many Lions projects. He will be much missed when he leaves this summer for another part of the state. Mr. Barker was invited to return to the September meeting to be presented with a plaque in recognition of his years of service in the club and community.

It was agreed to sponsor a princess for the Miss North Country Pageant on July 4. The club is also entering a float in the July 4 parade at Derby.

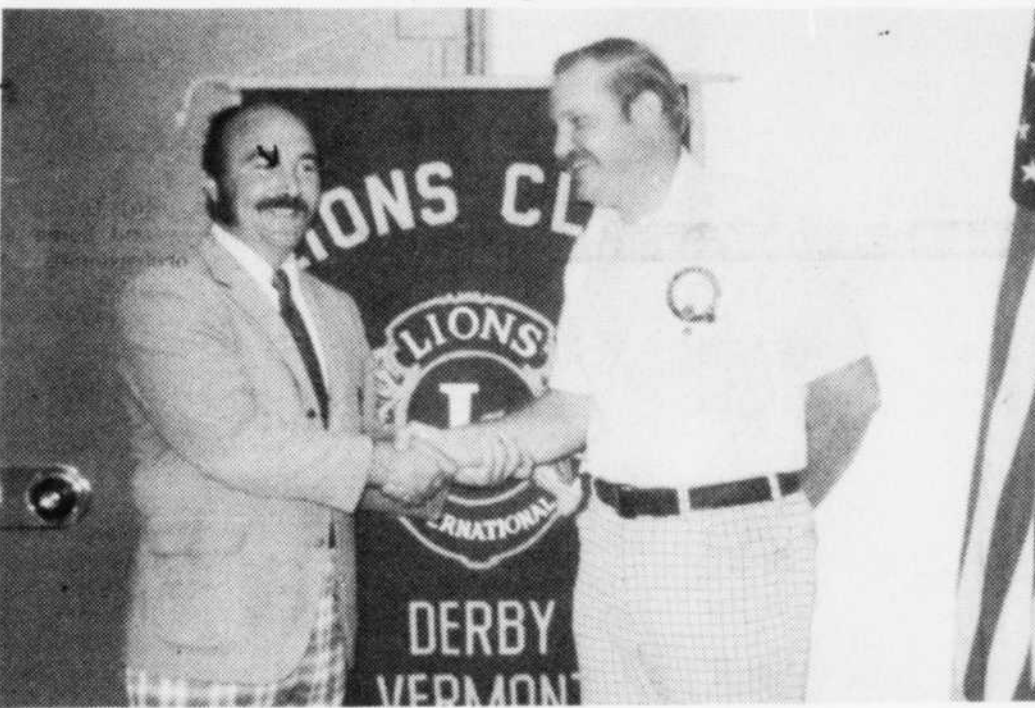

Mr. Fuller spoke on the highlights of the State convention held recently. The Derby Club placed sixth in the travelling Lion contest, and won a plaque for third place in the scrapbook competition.

It was voted to become a sustaining member of the Girl Scout Council through a cash donation. Terrence Walsh reported on the dance held June 7 at the Elks Club in Derby that added a satisfactory sum to the treasury, and the June 14 auction added a good amount to funds to enable the Lions to carry on their many worthy projects.

Clayton Dumas and Terrence Walsh reported on the Salem Beach action. A clean-up meeting had accomplished a great deal and a young couple has been hired to care for the beach.

Mr. Fuller named his committees for the year and for the Labor day celebration to be held at Baxter Park in Derby Line. It was voted to have an antique car show for this celebration. This year, he has arranged for kiddy rides, flea market, games, moonwalk and other events.

The next meeting will be in August.

Chimney sweep frauds ripping off residents

SHERBROOKE (BP) — Chimney sweeping time is on us again, but this year, a new twist has been added. Crooks posing as chimney sweeps are ripping off city residents.

The Sherbrooke Fire Department fire prevention section has received around a dozen calls in the last three weeks about paying exorbitant prices for work they considered half-done (if that much).

The fire department would like to inform the public that only two men have obtained licences to operate within the city limits for chimney sweeping. They are Gerard Jalbert and Lionel Bergeron.

Only these two men and their employees are permitted to clean chimneys in Sherbrooke. They carry with them the city permit and other documents showing their authenticity and will show them upon request. Both are equipped with well-lettered trucks to distinguish them from those who do not work for the city.

The city passed a by-law two years ago establishing rates for the various types of buildings possible. Basic prices range from $3 for one chimney with one flue with an additional $1 per story to $10 for a chimney of 20 feet in a factory, church, hospital or other similar establishment. Rates vary for the number of chimneys and flues per house.

NOT OBLIGATORY

The fire department also makes it clear that chimney sweeping is not necessary unless the resident wishes it to be done. One religious establishment paid out $90 last week to have one chimney cleaned by the so-called sweepers. They later telephoned to inquire about the city's rates and found they had been 'taken'.

Residents are asked to be on the lookout for the so-called chimney sweepers and should call the fire department or police, who would like very much to catch the impostors. Any other information about the crooks, who have been driving a red vehicle without lettering on the side, would be appreciated by the local authorities.

Lost cat found again

MANSONVILLE (MB) — It pays to advertise!

Missing since April 3rd, the Siamese cat, Chow, belonging to Mrs. C. Young of West Brom, was found in the field near Edmond Ethier's home near Mansonville, on June 13, by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Roland Ethier.

Senior citizen, Edmond took the weakened cat in and fed it warm milk to slowly bring it back to good health. In mentioning the incident over the phone to a relative, Mrs. Rosanna Lamoureux, she said she had seen an ad for a lost Siamese cat some time ago.

She called Miss Annie MacDonald to look through recent Sherbrooke Record newspapers. Miss MacDonald gave her the advertised phone number which was, in turn, given to Mr. Ethier.

A phone call to Mrs. Young resulted in the return of her prized cat.

From the Sinner's Pulpit

If weekend reports out of Ottawa, anticipating what will be in Finance Minister John Turner's June 23 budget, are at all accurate, Canadians will be hard put to see any sense in the government's financial and economic policies for the coming year. Anticipating what will be in a budget is always risky — budget secrets are among those most carefully kept. But the reports, which predict that yet another budget will be brought down which contains no price or income controls, sound quite believable in light of the government's dismal record of containing or slowing inflation.

It is difficult to reconcile a budget with no mandatory controls with Mr. Turner's continued and consistent warnings about the dangers Canada faces. Only last Friday at Montebello, Que., he was warning that labor disputes and huge wage demands could seriously damage this country's position as an exporting nation, and that this could lead to heavy unemployment. It was essential, he said, to "restore a reasonable degree of cost and price stability" which is the prerequisite for achieving "all our other major economic goals as a nation — increasing output and the standard of living." Mr. Turner's views are not shared by all his cabinet colleagues. Labor Minister John Munro has been most outspoken in contradicting Mr. Turner, claiming that the argument that wage increases in Canada far outstrip those in the U.S. is "a myth" — a statement Mr. Turner flatly denied.

But how does Mr. Turner hope to attain a "reasonable degree of cost and price stability"? No one knows for sure, but it looks as if the government intends to have yet another fling at a policy that has failed abysmally not once but two or three times in recent years — voluntary restraint and moderation all round. When Ottawa, in the past, has made such an appeal, business has been cool insofar as restraint applied to profits, and organized labor has been downright antagonistic insofar as wages were concerned. What on earth makes Mr. Turner think that yet another appeal to common sense is going to be more effective than in the past?

Nor will it help matters if, as predicted, the main thrust of the budget is toward reducing government expenditures, so setting an example for the rest of the country to follow. Canadians know, as surely as it snows in winter, that this budget will not reduce federal spending. The government will spend more. The budget may make it look as if the increase in spending in the coming year is less than the increase in the previous year (although as a result of massive supplementary expenditures Canadians have come to disbelieve any such promises) but spending will be up, not reduced. Furthermore, the recent 33 per cent increase in MPs' pay is much too fresh in taxpayers' memories for them to believe that suddenly restraint is the order of the day in Parliament. The government has been confusing and double-talking the public for so long now that Canadians are only too ready to believe the worse of the next budget — that it will preach restraint but that the government will not practise it; and that, in the absence of a price and wage control program, it will fail as miserably in its aims as its predecessors.

Not long ago, Prime Minister Trudeau said: "It has become increasingly clear to everyone that the vicious circle we have created is self-defeating; that even the strong are suffering; that the plight of the weak and unorganized is getting worse; that there must be a better way." Unless the government is planning to reverse its opposition to controls and use them in some form — and this now appears most unlikely — then the better way is only the latest sermon from the sinner's pulpit — and there have been more than enough already.

Opinion from the French-language press

Sherbrooke La Tribune: It is probably too soon to use the expression "decline of the United States."

There already are signs that the economy of the United States will be getting back on its feet, that the dollar, which now is at its lowest point, will bounce back, etc. Nevertheless, the decision taken by the oil-producing countries no longer to peg the price to the American dollar but to a composite of 15 currencies poses serious questions.

It is difficult to know what the intentions of the oil-producing countries are. In the immediate future this measure permits them to increase without pain the price of oil and to penalize the United States. Changing from the American dollar to the composite index as a base is changing from a weak currency to a strong combined index. This constitutes, in reality, a devaluation of the dollar at least in terms of buying oil.

On the other hand the oil-producing countries are cutting a tie of dependence on the United States. In effect, the price of oil being linked to the dollar, the repercussions from the American economy were felt by the oil-producing countries. And it is well known that the first affected by the policies of the oil-producing countries is the United States, a main consumer, a main producer of cars which use a great deal of gasoline, a producer and a consumer of many products coming from petroleum, including plastic, etc.

The decision of the oil-producing countries, which gives them the impression of being strong enough to ask once more for a meeting with the consuming countries, represents thus an important move. It seems to me to point in the same direction as many other factors: a progressive fall in the prestige and real power of the United States and the search for or the establishment of a new imperialism. Andre Bedard (June 11)

Ottawa Le Droit: The Canadian government is trying by all known methods to enlarge the circle of its trading partners. In the course of the last few months, Prime Minister Trudeau travelled to Europe to show interest of the highest degree in privileged relations which could be established with the European Common Market at a time when the latter was beginning a positive evolutionary phase, thanks to the Paris-Bonn axis. Now a number of Canadian federal ministers are going to Japan in order to explore the possibilities of intensifying commercial relations. These two examples—we could find several others—indicate that the federal government is conscious of the danger which menaces the country. Too dependent on the United States, it could suffer serious mishap if the U.S. continues to let its problems grow and to export them.

the obstinacy of the American policy to want to confront at all cost the producers of raw materials, beginning with oil, as well as the apparent impossibility for the Washington thinkers to see in the poor and developing nations anything else except reservoirs of raw materials or cheap labor or best places to give charity to implant the use of refrigeration to make consumers; all these elements make our neighbors to the south prone to growing hostilities.

In the interactions of nations, Canada evidently lacks the desired weight to force its neighbors to the south to readjust their views on modern contemporary society. Happily, Canada possesses enough natural resources and enough leadership to be able to try and be less dependent in the years to come on a neighbor. Jean C. Levesque (June 13)

Trois Rivières Le Nouvelliste: The federal Liberals in Quebec province have decided to launch a popular fund-raising campaign in the 74 federal ridings which they hope will raise about $1 million.

This news was announced by Marc Lalonde, the new leader of the Quebec wing of the Liberal Party of Canada, on leaving a meeting of the party's Quebec general council held in a Quebec City suburb.

This campaign will be held within the bounds of the new electoral law.

The objective of the Liberal Party of Canada is to collect in each riding annually, the amount that the law permits to be spent as election expenses, less the amount to be paid out of federal government funds.

This new policy will mean that the party will no longer be obliged to resort to a secret campaign fund with all the connections that result.

Precisely because of the system of campaign funds well-replenished by the large companies, the parties in power have their hands tied.

This system of financing naturally favored the party in power to the detriment of those in opposition who were incapable of assuring tangible recognition to those who could help them financially.

The day when political parties are entirely financed by the population in general, on an equal footing, the governments will then be able to administer and legislate the needs of the population and not for the interests of the large companies, the multinationals.

Popular financing could also result in greater political involvement of the population. The population could demand an accounting more easily from the government. Sylvio Saint-Amant (June 12)

Group aims for regional energy inter-dependence

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (AP) — Frustration with the Canadian and United States federal bureaucracies held the spotlight this week as the New England governors and Eastern Canadian premiers looked for ways to cut through red tape in Washington and Ottawa.

Before the state and provincial leaders completed their two-day conference here Tuesday, they created a group to try for regional energy inter-dependence.

Vermont Governor Thomas Salmon, chairman of the governors' delegation, said the group would be working with "subjects that are relatively safe for pursuit in the near future as comprehensive national energy policies are formed up" in the two countries.

The conference directed that one governor and a premier head the group and take the fight for policy changes and assistance to their respective federal governments, if necessary.

Without representation from the region's top elected officials, "we're not likely to get the attention from our respective governments that the project is worthy of," Salmon said.

BEING IGNORED
The governors and premiers feel their states and provinces are being ignored at the national level, because Ottawa and Washington won't concede to the region's special needs and problems, especially in the energy area.

Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island told the conference the "vitality of our region" as a leading industrial area has diminished over the years.

Where New England and the Atlantic provinces once played key roles in sowing the initial seeds of progress and growth for their struggling countries, they now fight for attention on the federal level.

The governors and premiers hoped to attract the two top energy policy makers from their respective countries to the conference. But, Frank Zarb, the U.S. Federal Energy Administration director, and Canadian Energy Minister Donald MacDonald sent subordinates instead.

Despite their frustrations with Washington and Ottawa, the governors and premiers plan to continue, and upgrade, their efforts at tackling regional problems on the state and provincial level, rather than leaving them to international foreign policy.

CIA crimes: Whom to punish?

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department now faces the ticklish task of determining who should be prosecuted for the crimes that the Central Intelligence Agency committed.

Under CIA auspices, murders were plotted, offices were burglarized, letters were opened, telephones were tapped, defectors were abused and unsuspecting victims were doctored with LSD.

Our sources swear that the Justice Department will prosecute the federal violations and will turn over to the states evidence of local violations.

But the dilemma that already is dividing the Justice Department is whether to go after the top leaders who ordered the illegal acts or the agents who carried them out.

Government agents seldom have been prosecuted for criminal conduct if they were acting under orders. Yet there is even a stronger tendency on the part of the big brass to protect one another.

After the My Lai massacre, the generals in charge of the operation were never indicted. And the Watergate burglars, together with their ringleaders G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt, spent more time in the slammer than did their superiors who got early paroles.

Our Justice Department sources say many legal questions must be resolved before it is decided which cases will be pushed. But the prosecutors will do their best, our sources say, to prove that top CIA officials were fully aware they were operating outside the law and, therefore, should be brought before the bar of justice.

Dangerous Drinking Water: The Environmental Protection Agency's new drinking water standards, it is alleged, do nothing to filter cancer-causing substances from the nation's tap water.

The Environmental Defense Fund charges in an unpublished report that the latest government standards are a "travesty." They are so low, claims the report, that 92.1 per cent of the country's communities already meet them. Indeed, the standards are no better than the 1962 Public Health recommendations for water purity, the report states.

Jack Anderson's

At the eleventh hour, EPA allegedly increased the "safe" levels for fluoridation by 100 per cent. It also encouraged use of chlorine to disinfect the water supplies instead of advocating safer filtration methods, the report charges.

An EPA spokesman told us that the cancer-causing traces, cited by the Environmental Defense Fund, are only "suspects" and not proven killers in the drinking water. The spokesman denied that EPA's water standards threaten public health.

Capitol Crime: Two months ago, we reported the mysterious disappearance of 14 rare aluminum pennies from congressional custody. They were pilfered, apparently, by light-fingered legislators who may be able to sell them some day for up to $1.4 million.

The missing coins were prototypes for a possible new issue of aluminum pennies, which the U.S. Mint considered minting during the 1973 copper shortage.

Mint Director Mary Brooks passed out 16 prototypes to the Senate and House Banking committees, so the members could see what the proposed pennies would look like. Only two of the samples were returned.

It appears as if a serious crime has been committed by some distinguished thieves on Capitol Hill. This puts poor Mrs. Brooks in a delicate spot. If she asks the Secret Service to investigate the congressional caper, she will antagonize the powerful banking committees that oversee her operations.

So she maintains the myth that the pennies are still in the custody of the two committees and, therefore, aren't officially missing. This makes it unnecessary for her to call in the Secret Service, which isn't about to investigate high congressional muck-a-mucks without an official request.

A spokesman for the Mint insisted, meanwhile, that if the pilfered pennies show up in anyone's rare coin collections, they will be seized forthwith, and both the buyer and seller will be dumped in the pokey.

We polled top experts from coast to coast who agreed, with one exception, that they would be afraid to touch the pennies now. The single exception said he would be willing to buy the coins on the black market for $10,000 apiece.

All the experts agreed that the value will soar as the years pass. They pointed out that a 1913 Liberty-head nickel, which also was never put into circulation, recently sold for $100,000. Only five are known to be in existence.

If the coins should ever become available for sale, the experts believe they will bring as high as $100,000 each. The lowest estimate was $5,000 each if all 14 coins went on the market at the same time. The average evaluation was $35,000.

The Mint's own confidential estimate was that the pennies, if they should ever become legally saleable, would be worth at least $25,000 apiece.

This may explain why the sticky-fingered solons, despite discreet requests on Capitol Hill for the return of the rare coins, are hanging on to them.

Record Yester Years
50 YEARS AGO TODAY

CHICAGO — Drastic action against gunmen and robbers was considered by the police today as they investigated the slaying yesterday of Patrolman Patrick McGovern, by three men who escaped with $5,000, carried by a messenger McGovern was escorting. He was the sixth policeman to fall in two weeks.

George Haney, the messenger, was technically held after a search of his home revealed letters from men with police records.

The police recalled that he was kidnapped in November and robbed of $6,000 and two years ago $15,000 was stolen from a safe in the theatre which employs him.

The killing of McGovern climaxed a day of robberies and shootings. Four men robbed a downtown jewelry firm of gems valued at $11,000. Three robbers and four policemen exchanged shots in a fight in which the robbers escaped.

Meanwhile, Prosecutor Crowe planned the immediate indictment of Walter Krauser, 19, who fatally wounded Bernard Grant, his accomplice in the killing of a policeman. Grant, sentenced to hang in August, was attacked by Krauser in the county jail.

SHERBROOKE — By-law 460, calling for an expenditure of $20,000 to equip the new fire and police headquarters, met with the disapproval of the ratepayers yesterday when brought before them. The by-law was defeated by a majority of twelve votes, although approved by a valuation of $38,025. The number turning out to cast votes was extremely small, in all 258 votes being cast out of a total of 2,116 eligible. The total valuation of the city is $16,330,336, and the results of the voting shows the valuation voting to be $3,412,599. The by-law was approved of by the ratepayers of the north and west wards, but was disapproved by the residents of the other wards.

The largest number of votes cast was in the north ward, where eighty-seven ratepayers went to the polls. Of this number, fifty-two voted in favor of the by-law and thirty-five against it. The voting in the north ward, it is understood, somewhat surprised several interested in the law. The west ward residents also showed that they favored the by-law, when out of a total of forty-eight votes cast, twenty-eight were for the adoption of the by-law and twenty against.

Miscellaneous Shower

ULVERTON — Miss Heather Norris was guest of honour at a miscellaneous bridal shower held at the Ulverton Church Hall on Wednesday evening, June 11. The hall was decorated with white and pink streamers and white bells.

The bride-to-be was presented with a corsage, as also were her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Norris and Mrs. Gribbon. Miss Audrey Millar of Melbourne played Here Comes The Bride on the piano.

Heather was assisted in unwrapping her many useful gifts by her mother, Mrs. L. Norris and Mrs. Gribbon, for which she expressed thanks and invited those present to visit her. A buffet lunch was served which included a shower cake made by Mrs. J.L. Macey and decorated by Mrs. W. Potts.

The hostesses were Mrs. U.C. Massey, Mrs. W. Patrick, Mrs. A. Dunn, Mrs. J.L. Macey and Mrs. W. Potts, assisted by Mrs. D. Smith.

Friends and relatives attended from Drummondville, South Durham, Richmond, Melbourne and surrounding area.

Bridal Shower

BEEBE — A bridal shower was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Stratton honoring the approaching marriage of Miss Jane Muir of Montpelier, Vt., who had arrived here to spend the weekend. Arrangements of summer flowers were used throughout the house.

Arriving at the Stratton home on the pretense of seeing the Stratton's recently acquired home, the bride-to-be was greeted by 20 relatives and friends.

She was presented with a corsage of kitchen gadgets by her aunt, Mrs. Margaret Searles, Derby Line, Vt., who also escorted the honored guest to a chair, decorated in green and yellow, by a table piled high with many prettily wrapped and ribboned packages.

The bride-elect was assisted in opening these packages by her aunts, Mrs. M. Searles and Mrs. Rowan Bean with whom Jane has made her home for several years.

The bows were made into a chapeau by Miss Standish and worn by Miss Muir for pictures.

The gifts which consisted of table linen, china, cookware and many other useful items for the new home, were passed around to be admired.

In a few well chosen words Jane expressed her thanks to all for the lovely gifts and pleasant evening held in her behalf.

As entertainment two quizzes were conducted with the winners being Mrs. O. Reeves and Mrs. A. Slade, the tongue twister, which caused much merriment was repeated perfectly by Mrs. Dorcas Pocock, while Mrs. Reeves took the door prize.

Mrs. Stratton was assisted at the lunch hour by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Janet Standish, niece Miss Janie Standish and Miss Donna McCutcheon, a very close friend.

The shower cake was made and decorated by Mrs. A. Young, in white with green and yellow decorations, topped with a doll in a yellow satin dress.

The mother of the prospective groom was unable to attend due to distance. Guests attended from Lennoxville, Derby Line, Vt., Newport, Vt. and Beebe.

Miss Muir and Mr. Roger Ledoux will be married on July 12 at St. Edward's Church, in Derby Line, Vt.

Bridal Shower

SCOTSTOWN — Mrs. Real Couture was guest of honor at a pink and blue shower in St. Alban's Anglican Church Hall given by the members of the Anglican Church Women on Thursday afternoon, June 12.

Mrs. Couture and her mother, Mrs. Glen Coleman were met at the hall door by Mrs. Susie Wonnacott who pinned on her a beautiful corsage of flowers. They were seated at a table at the end of the hall laden with gaily wrapped gifts.

Mrs. Coleman and Nancy's cousin Gail, Mrs. Ron MacDonald, assisted her in opening the gifts, which were passed around for all to admire.

Nancy thanked the ladies for the lovely and useful gifts, to all for coming and the ladies for giving her the shower.

It was a complete surprise as she and her mother had been asked to bring lunch for the ladies who were supposed to be quilting a quilt.

There were thirty-five present and others who could not be there sent their gift. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. John D. MacDonald, Misses Lorraine MacLeod and Mary Lou MacDonald.

Those from out of town attending were Mrs. Kay Coates, Mrs. Wendell Beattie, Mrs. Ron MacDonald and Mary Lou, Mrs. Archie Cairns, Mrs. Blair Donachie, all of Lennoxville and Mrs. Earl Coleman and Mrs. John Coleman of Canterbury.

More to watermelon than you think

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

There's more to the garden variety watermelon than meets the eye or the palate. It is difficult to conceive but the watermelon was prized by ancient Egyptians and even has been traced to prehistoric times. In arid countries it is prized for its life-sustaining liquid. In some parts of Asia the seeds are roasted for eating and Americans love their watermelon rind pickled. Watermelon also makes a delightful and refreshing ice cream and fruit ice for popsicles the children will gobble up.

WATERMELON ICE CREAM
4 cups watermelon juice, divided
5 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 cups sugar
5 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
5 cups heavy cream

To prepare watermelon juice, cut watermelon in cubes and rub through strainer to remove seeds. (1 1/2 of medium watermelon yields about 4 cups juice). In large saucepan mix together flour, salt and sugar.

Ever thought of making watermelon ice cream and popsicles?

Stir in eggs and 2 cups watermelon juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens enough to coat a metal spoon. Remove from heat. Cool. Stir in remaining 2 cups watermelon juice, lemon juice and heavy cream. Pour into can of 6-quart ice cream freezer. Insert dasher. Place can in freezer container. Layer crushed ice and rock salt in freezer around container according to directions for freezer. Follow manufacturer's directions for freezing ice cream. Ripen ice cream in freezer, or turn into plastic containers or bowl, cover and freeze 2 hours. Makes 4 quarts.

Note: If freezer is not large enough for 4 quarts, freeze ice cream in 2 batches.

WATERMELON POPICLES
3 cups watermelon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice

To prepare watermelon juice, cut watermelon into cubes and rub through a strainer to remove seeds. In small saucepan mix together sugar and water. Simmer 3 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in watermelon juice and lemon juice. Turn into 2 ice trays. Freeze until very mushy and insert a popsicle stick in each cube. Freeze solid. Makes About 36 small popsicles.

Try a spicy carrot, mushroom dish

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

A fresh vegetable dish brings its own special flavor to a summer meal. A blend of carrots and mushrooms, heightened by a touch of tarragon makes a difference in two vegetable standbys. Serve the dish hot as a departure from the too-often quick and cold foods people tend to eat during hot weather.

FRESH CARROTS AND MUSHROOMS TARRAGON
8 to 10 medium carrots (1 pound)
1 cup water
1 teaspoon dried leaf tarragon

1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced

Pare carrots and cut into 1/4-inch crosswise slices. Place in medium saucepan. Add water, tarragon and salt. Cover and cook over medium heat 20 to 30 minutes, until tender. While carrots are cooking, heat butter in a small skillet. Add mushrooms and cook until tender. If there is much water left in the pan with the carrots, drain the carrots. Add mushrooms to carrots and mix lightly. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Ann Landers Not all politicians crooked

Dear Ann Landers: My father is the person I love most in all the world. I respect him above all other men. I know he is honest and works long hours for a very unglamorous salary. He is a state senator.

Throughout my high school education (I'm a 16-year-old girl) I have had drummed into my head that politics is a dirty business and people in government are all corrupt and dishonest. Every time I hear one of my friends, or worse yet, a teacher make this ignorant accusation, I cringe.

Most people don't have the faintest idea of the hard work people in politics do. Just because a few dozen characters in Washington went wrong it doesn't mean politics is dirty and ALL politicians are crooked. Please tell them there are still plenty of decent, respectable men in office. Open their eyes, Ann. Sign me — Of The People

Dear Friend: I know several extremely fine people in politics in both parties — at every level — city, state and national. I, too, resent the implication that all politicians are crooked. Furthermore, I seriously doubt that there are more rotten eggs in politics than in other fields — medicine, law, business, labor unions, farming, etc. Politicians receive more publicity because what they do makes news.

We mustn't lose sight of the fact that politicians are elected by US — the people. If we put crooks and liars in high places it's our fault. When things get lousier, people get the kind of government they deserve.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sure you'll think this is silly compared with the serious letters that cross your desk every day, but I need to know if blushing is a physical problem or an emotional problem.

Can you tell me if there is anything a person can do to overcome blushing? Thanks for your help. — Little Pinky In Fort Wayne

Dear Pinky: Blushing is the physical manifestation of an emotional problem. When something occurs that causes discomfort (guilt or embarrassment — feelings of inadequacy or frustration), the blood supply mechanism goes into action and the result can be a red face.

You can do nothing about blushing because it's not in the realm of "controllable impulses."

Dear Ann Landers: Our 19-

year-old daughter ran off and married a bum last year. We tried to tell her he was a rotter but she wouldn't listen. Six months ago he knocked her hat off in a public restaurant and threw a piece of chocolate pie in her face. She left the place in tears and came to our house and spent the night.

The following day when she went home she discovered her husband had left and taken most of the furniture with him. (Must have rented a van during the night.)

The girl is pregnant and due to deliver next month. Her father insists on taking her to the hospital when the time comes. She doesn't want him there. She's afraid the bum might show up and there would be a terrible fight in the hospital. Maybe you can get through to him, Ann. He thinks you are a smart woman. — Brainless Wife

Dear Wife: Your daughter's doctor should speak to your husband. If she doesn't want him in the hospital he should stay away. (Often a man thinks a woman is smart until she disagrees with him. Then all of a sudden she's just another dummy — like his wife.)

+++ There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Dedication Service

BEEBE — A very impressive service was conducted by Rev. Gary Stokes at Wesley United Church, when the plaque and Miss V. Carillon system, recently installed, was dedicated.

Through the efforts of many members and contributions, this Carillon system was purchased and installed before June 10th, which was the official date of Union of the three churches.

Congregationalist, Presbyterian and Methodist, in 1925. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Harold Taylor and Miss V. Moranville, organist, rendered a most appropriate anthem, "My Creed."

On behalf of the congregation and those unable to attend, Mrs. Gordon Laberee, presented the plaque and Carillon for dedication.

Birthday Party

BEEBE — Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Warner entertained 23 family members and close relatives to help their son Douglas celebrate his 21st birthday on June 11th.

The afternoon was spent playing outdoor and indoor games, while others enjoyed visiting.

At the supper hour, a buffet lunch was served, including many goodies. A birthday cake in an oblong shape was decorated with wild life scenes, as Douglas is an ardent outdoor person. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Horace Doyon of Stanstead.

The guest of honor was presented with gifts and currency for which he expressed his thanks.

Several pictures were taken during the afternoon to be kept as souvenirs of the pleasant event.

Guests attended from North Troy and Derby, Vt., Montreal, Rock Island, Stanstead and Beebe.

Martin-Green wed

The marriage of Dorothy Hyatt Green, widow of the late Fred Green, daughter of Mrs. Charlie Hyatt of Lennoxville and the late Mr. Hyatt, to Mr. Lloyd Martin of Buckingham, Quebec, took place on May 7 at St. Bartholomew Church in Ottawa, Ont. Archdeacon Christie officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride's daughter, Mrs. Brendan Larrabee played the organ music. As the procession took place up the aisle, she played Arioso by Bach. During the signing of the register, she played No Other Love and Etude in E. Major by Chopin. For the processional she played Trumpet Voluntary by Purcell.

The church is opposite the residence of the Governor General of Canada and when a wedding is taking place in the church it is the custom for the Governor General to supply the flowers. Yellow and white poms were used for this wedding.

The bride was escorted down the aisle on the arm of her elder son, Richard Green. They were preceded by the granddaughters of the bride and groom who were wearing pastel toned polyester cotton gowns in multicolors, each carrying a long stemmed toning rose.

They were Misses Nicki and Dena Larrabee, Natalie Green, Tammy Morrison, Christina Green, Diane Martin, and Angela Desnoyers.

Brendan Larrabee, son-in-law of the bride was groomsmen.

The bride was in a gown of wedgewood blue polyester crepe having long sleeves and a V neckline accented with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses, a strand of pearls and matching pearl earrings.

After the four o'clock ceremony the wedding party was escorted to 20th floor of the Skyline Hotel in Ottawa. The happy couple received the congratulations and best wishes of all. As their grandchildren passed through the receiving line, they each presented their grandparents with a china rose in several pastel colors. A champagne toast was proposed by the best man, Mr. Larrabee, who, with his wife was host for this part of the reception.

Later, everyone retired to a private dining room where a dinner was served by the management. Then, everyone returned to the 20th floor suite and a social evening was enjoyed.

Seated with the bride and groom and attendants at the head table for the banquet were Mrs. Charlie Hyatt of Lennoxville and Edward Hyatt, brother of Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Hyatt.

During the evening the fruited wedding cake, made and decorated by a daughter, Mrs. Lyle Morrison, was cut and served. The cake was decorated in white with turquoise trim and topped with wedding bells.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin spent their honeymoon at places of interest in Ontario before taking up residence in Buckingham, Quebec.

Among the family attending the wedding were Mrs. Charlie Hyatt, Lennoxville, Mr. and Mrs. Brendan Larrabee, Terrence, Nicki and Dena of Mississauga, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Green, Douglas and Natalie of Greenfield Park, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Morrison, Gregory and Tammy of Burlington, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Green, Christina and Jason of Nelson, B.C., Mrs. Robert Smart and Clinton of Vancouver, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Martin and Diana, of Navan, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Desnoyers and Angela of Buckingham, Que., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hyatt, Stanstead.

Friday evening, after the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Desnoyers, son-in-law and daughter of the groom, entertained with a wine and cheese party for the family.

WINDSOR

Mrs. Lorina Watson and Mrs. Evelyn Proulx spent a few days in Lebel-sur-Quevillon where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Watson and their families. Friends here will be sorry to hear that Mrs. Nelson Watson is not at all well and extend best wishes to her.

Miss Debbie Watson spent a week in Montreal with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Watson and family.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wheeler and Miss Kathleen Wheeler were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cotterell Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pink, all of Magog, and Mrs. Lillian Robinson, Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Huxtable, Granby, were guests on the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCourt and family.

Mr. Frank Brock has returned from Manchester,

N.H., where he spent several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Champagne and Robert. While there young Robert had the misfortune to have an accident with his bicycle and was hospitalized for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Morrill of Asbestos spent an afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Paterson. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bumps and Miss Betsy Bumps, of Derby, Vermont were dinner guests at the Paterson home and were accompanied back by Mrs. Gertie Samson.

Other callers at the same home have been Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Samson, Portland, Maine and Mrs. Rivers and Mrs. Samson, Derby, Vt.

Mrs. F. Upton of Chateaugay has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Farquhar.

KNOWLTON

Stephen Morson 243-5870

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. M. Doucet on the occasion of her 89th birthday. Mrs. Doucet, whose son Tom owns the Friendly Metro Store in Knowlton, makes her home in Brome at the Senior Citizens Rest Home.

Mrs. Rose Gorham and her daughter Kathy, have recently returned from a vacation in England, where they were visiting the members of their family, and visiting the childhood and school-day places of Mrs. Gorham's youth.

Mark Cousens has recently spent a happy week at the Cedar Lodge Camp, Georgeville where he was in camp in company with some hundred other children from his school grades in company with children of the same age from Waterloo Elementary School.

Members of the Anglican community will be interested to know that their former Bishop, Kenneth Maguire will be replacing Rev. David Stanway for the regular services at St. Paul's Church on Sunday July 6.

The guest preacher at St. Paul's Church on Sunday, June 22 at the 11:00 a.m. service was Father Kohner, Director of Parish and Diocesan Services, Diocese of Montreal.

Thought for the week from St. Paul's Church... one reason that a dog has so many friends is that he wags his tail and not his tongue!!! After many inactive years it is a pleasant surprise to learn that the clock on the tower of St. Paul's Church is once again in keeping with the time.

Congratulations to the few and scattered small winners of the recent million dollar draw who surfaced in and around Knowlton, for the rest of us, "better luck next time."

The congregation of St. Paul's Church, Mansonville, were kind and gracious in their appreciative gesture by giving a luncheon on Sunday noon June 15 in honor of the Parish Lay Readers who have been helping the rector, Rev. David Stanway during the past winter. The Parish of Knowlton-Mansonville have six churches all of which are active and hold regular services. The parish covers a large area and winter travel has not been an easy task. In spite of this, there was never once a Sunday service cancelled because of winter and/or road conditions. Mr. Arlen Bonner, Mrs. Stella Collier and Mrs. Brenda Louson all have been recently licensed and commissioned as Parochial Lay Readers, keeping company with Stephen Morson who has been a Lay Reader since September 1960.

Morgan Horse Show to be held in Richmond on Sunday June 29th

The Quebec Morgan Horse Show Association will be staging their first Eastern Canada All-Morgan Horse Show on Sunday, June 29, at the Richmond Fair Grounds. It will commence at 9:00 a.m. and admission is free.

The Show committee is proud to announce that Mrs. Anna Ela of Bolton, Mass., will be officiating as judge for the event. Mrs. Ela is well known in Morgan circles.

The club is a member of the Canadian Horse Show Association and is governed by the rules of the National Equestrian Federation of Canada. All officials are members of the parent body.

The growing popularity of the Morgan breed in Canada and the United States is due to the versatility as a family horse, pleasure horse and a show horse. Because of this popularity a movie was made by the late Walt Disney called the "Friend of Animals." The story of Justin Morgan was seen on TV by millions of spectators across the States and Canada.

The Show will consist of 23 classes for pure-bred and part-bred Morgans. They include classes for In-hand, English, Western Pleasure, Park under saddle, Pleasure and Park Driving and Trail. There will be classes for juniors.

All pure-bred and part bred Morgan owners are invited to participate in the Show. It is the first time such an event has ever been staged in the Eastern Townships.

Those desiring more information can contact Denis Kirouac, general chairman, or his assistant Normand Lalumiere, both of Sherbrooke.

John Kindred wins Quebec Open 12-under for $3,800

LUCERNE, Que. (CP) — John Kindred said Sunday he had to get angry at himself to win the Quebec open golf championship and $3,800 top money prize.

A former junior hockey player from Peterborough, Ont., Kindred caught fire after learning that Moe Norman of Gifford, Ont., "was running away with the tourney."

Kindred finished with a sizzling 66, six under par, and a 54-hole total 204, 12 under.

Norman faded in the back stretch and David Wren of Capetown, South Africa, came on with a 69 for a tourney score of 206.

Stan Homeniuk of Dauphin, Man., also scored 66 Sunday for a final score of 207 and third-place money.

Norman finished the tourney with 208 strokes, tying with Montreal amateur Robbie Jackson. Jackson got a special prize for being top amateur.

Phil Giroux of Montreal took a special purse for finishing tops among Quebec pros. He finished the 54 holes in 210.

Kindred had some good news for players continuing the Canadian tour which now goes to Truro, N.S. for the Atlantic Open.

"I've got to get back to work," said Kindred who is general manager of a private golf club for men only in Sarasota, Fla. But he plans to be full time on the Canadian tour next year.

Kindred said he was determined to win and to do so he had to throw off the attitude that because he was a club professional with a steady income, he knew he was going to eat steak for supper regardless.

His mother came to the Rivermead course to watch Sunday's final round.

Runner-up Wren said he joined the Canadian tour because the British economy troubles has cut off some tournaments there.

Even before Sunday's play he figured he had met expenses but adding the $2,850 second-place money put icing on the cake for him.

A lot of attention at the tourney has centred on Ken Trowbridge, the Toronto golfer who lost the sight of his left eye in a freak golfing accident.

Trowbridge, trying his skills for the first time in a major competition, put together rounds of 72, 73 and 70 for 215 to rank among the top 35 competitors.

Sports Briefs

ALOUETTES SIGN TWO MONTREAL (CP) —

Defensive backs Pat Price and Ward Smith have signed new contracts with Montreal Alouettes, the Canadian Football League club announced during the weekend. Price signed a three-year deal while Smith agreed to a two-year contract. Other details were not disclosed.

TIED IN WATER POLO BUDVA, Yugoslavia (AP) —

The United States and Italy battled to a 4-4 draw Sunday and placed third over-all after the finals of an international water polo meet. The six-team competition served as a warmup for next month's world championships in Cali, Colombia, July 18-27. The Soviet Union was ranked No. 1 in the final standings, followed by Yugoslavia. Other teams were from the U.S., Cuba, Italy and Hungary.

PADRES GET COACH SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego Padres of baseball's National League announced the signing Sunday of veteran major league manager Bill Rigney as a coach and advance scout. Rigney, 56, had a career batting average of .259 with New York Giants of the National League from 1946 to 1953. His 17-year career as a major league manager ended in 1972.

FOREGO SCRATCHED NEW YORK (AP) — Forego, United States thoroughbred racing's horse of the year in 1974 who was scheduled to make his first start on grass at Belmont race track Wednesday, was scratched because overnight rain had made the turf course soft.

Quebec-Ontario tie, Ayr United here

Coach R. Horrocks. Standing, same order, G. Adams, Provincial coach, G. Gow, J. Nainubel, J. Kelly, D. McFarlan, T. Lettieri, W. Smith, B. McClements, M. Plouffe, A. Onorato, C. Harrocks, and Coach D. Knopp. Missing is T. Maccaro. C. Beauchemin of Sherbrooke is in the inset.

SHERBROOKE (BP) — Quebec Selects' James Corsi scored his second goal of the game with less than 10 seconds remaining in his team's match against Ontario Saturday afternoon to bring about a 4-4 tie in exhibition soccer action.

Richard Knopp and Cecil Alfred also scored for the provincial squad during the contest played at the Amedee Roy Stadium. David Wright with two, Mike Burke and Allan Jones were the Ontario marksmen.

Ontario held the lead in the game for the greater part of the time, but Quebec never gave up and their persistence paid off before the final whistle blew.

FROT UPSET

Roger Frot, president of the Olympic Organizing Committee in Sherbrooke, was upset to say the least after Saturday's match. He expressed his anger, as did many of the crowd, when Quebec coach Graham Adams didn't play the only two players of French-Canadian nationality, Montrealer Michel Plouffe and Sherbrooke's Christian Beauchemin, at all in the second half of the game.

Frot lashed out verbally against Adams after the game, saying he believed Adams was anti-French-Canadian.

Tomorrow, a combined Quebec-Ontario squad will play against Ayr United, the Scottish professional club, beginning at 4:15 p.m. at the Amedee Roy Stadium. Tuesday's tilt should have more in store for the local soccer fans than did Saturday's contest, as an all-star team has been formed from the Quebec and Ontario contingents.

Of the 16-man team,

Ontario players make up 10 while Quebec has six players on the lineup. Certain people to look for will be goalie Jack Brand from Ontario and Quebec's defenceman Richard Knopp, who both played very well Saturday. Cecil Alfred, Mike Burke and others will also add life to the game from the Quebec-Ontario team.

Christian Beauchemin will return to action in front of his hometown spectators tomorrow, and it is expected that he will have another good game, as he did in the first half of Saturday's match.

US Open ends in tie, playoff today

MEDINAH, Ill. (AP) — A pair of longshots, Lou Graham and John Mahaffey, met in an 18-hole playoff today for the $40,000 prize in the United States open golf championship.

Graham, a tour veteran of 35, was the only person among the 25,145 on the Medinah Club premises Sunday who didn't know he had a chance to win outright by paring the final hole.

He dumped his approach shot into a trap and took a bogey.

Mahaffey, 27, had finished 45 minutes earlier and had rushed to the club house to buy a candy bar and check on the airline reservations out of town.

He had to be searched out and informed that his 287 score, three over par, had tied the late-finishing Graham for first place and that he should be on the first tee today promptly at 1:30 p.m. CDT (12:30 p.m. EDT). It's the first Open playoff since Lee Trevino beat Jack Nicklaus at Merion in Ardmore, Pa., in 1971.

Mahaffey shot a final-round 71 that he thought might get him about 10th money and Graham had a 73. Defending champion Hale Irwin rallied for a 70 and tied at 288 with Frank Beard, Ben Crenshaw and Bob Murphy. Jack Nicklaus, bogeying the last three holes, tied with England's Peter Oosterhuis at 289. Arnold Palmer was at 290 with young Pat Fitzsimons and Tom Watson.

LEFT WONDERING All of them were wondering how they managed to let this Open slip from their hands.

"There will be 20 guys leaving here who will say, 'If I had played halfway decently I would have won,'" Nicklaus said. Irwin acknowledged that the tournament left him completely dumbfounded. "This was the easiest open to win I've ever seen," the 1974 Open winner said. "Everybody was just throwing it away. It's unbelievable."

"We tend to choke in the Open, but it was a horrendous experience for most of us," said Irwin. "The greens were getting brown and dying from suffocation. Some fairways were mowed, others weren't. The noise was terrible and the gallery at times seemed completely disinterested."

"I think everybody—because of the bad early weather and conditions—went into the tournament with a bad frame of mind."

One of the most shocked competitors must have been Frank Beard, the 36-year-old former leading money winner, who had just snapped his game out of a prolonged slump to forge into a three-stroke lead after three rounds.

HIT SLUMP He saw his game flounder to a 78 after firing a 67 on Saturday. He failed to make a single birdie. He took consecutive bogeys at the sixth, seventh and eighth holes and saw his hopes die with bogeys at the 16th and 17th.

Beard was the only man under par—three under at 210—when the final round began over the 7,032-yard, par-71 Medinah course, battered by early week thundershowers.

Watson, the halfway leader, and Fitzsimons were at par 213, followed by Crenshaw, Oosterhuis and Graham at 214.

The winner was expected to come from these leaders. Mahaffey was six back at 216, as was Trevino. Nicklaus trailed by seven at 217, but Weiskopf, at 220, and Miller, at 223, had shot themselves out of it.

As Beard's fortunes deteriorated and no one rushed to seize the advantage, the cry went up from the pushing and shoving gallery:

"Here comes Nicklaus."

Nicklaus turned in 34, two under par, and found himself just one shot off the lead as he moved to the 11th hole. At that stage, Beard, Crenshaw, Graham and Fitzsimons shared first at one over.

HIT THREE BOGEYS Nicklaus parred through until the 16th when he ran into consecutive bogeys on the last three holes. That was the end of the grand slam bid for the reigning Masters champion.

"The 16th killed Jack," Palmer, who played with his long-time rival, said afterward. "Until that point, I thought Jack was going to win it."

No. 17 was also the nemesis for Graham. He took a double bogey where a par would have won him the tournament.

With Beard collapsing on the closing holes, Graham's task was to beat Mahaffey's 287, which was already on the board.

As Beard's fortunes deteriorated and no one rushed to seize the advantage, the cry went up

Card of Thanks

SARRASIN — I wish to thank my relatives and friends for the lovely flowers, gifts and cards and also the many who visited me while I was a patient at the Sherbrooke Hospital. A special thanks to Dr. Klineck, Dr. Snow, Dr. Smart and Dr. Rancourt, the nurses and aides on 2nd floor. Also a special thanks to Jimmy & Jo Ann Blake, Brian McComb and Shelley Moore for their thoughtfulness.

MRS. PETER SARRASIN

has lived among the James Bay area, Cree Indians for the past two years.

He gave the audience an outline of his interesting new life in the north, its climate, wildlife and showed slides of the Indian Reserve, the Cree Indian homes and bush camps, the Indian people and their feasts, celebrations, weddings etc.

Told about the Indians way of life on the Reserve, in the bush and about his bush plane flights into winter camps to take supplies to the Indians on their winter trap lines. His slides included many scenes of beautiful northern sunsets, brilliant colors because of unpolluted air.

He also had a display of Indian handicrafts that he had brought home for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dewing, such as beaded necklaces, headbands, moccasins, mink trimmed mitts and a special moosehide beaded handbag that an Indian lady had made for his mother.

He also had an Indian Bead Loom set up to show any of the ladies interested how to do beading.

Murray was thanked and presented with a gift of appreciation by Edna Smith. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Annie Reid.

Fergis Jenkins was tough but lost on unearned run against California, A's sweeps double

A Sunday afternoon matchup with veteran Fergis Jenkins turned out to be just as tough for Ed Figueroa as he figured it would be.

"When I found out last night that Fergie Jenkins would be pitching for Texas, I told my wife that it would be a tough game," said the California right-hander.

Not that Jenkins pitched a bad game, losing a nine-hit shutout on an unearned California run.

But Figueroa was seven hits and one run better than his veteran opponent, and that meant a 1-0 Angels triumph over the Rangers in an American League baseball game.

In Sunday's other American League games, Oakland A's swept a doubleheader from Kansas City Royals 7-6 and 8-1. Baltimore Orioles beat Boston Red Sox 3-0 then dropped the nightcap 5-1. Chicago White Sox swept Minnesota Twins 6-5 and 9-2. New York Yankees trimmed Detroit Tigers 5-3, and Cleveland Indians edged Milwaukee Brewers 3-2.

Vida Blue hopes death threats are all bluffs

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland A's pitcher Vida Blue says he hopes death threats against him and outfielder Reggie Jackson are just from cranks.

The fourth death threat involving the A's in three years was received Friday in the form of two letters, one addressed jointly to Jackson and Blue and one to Monte Moore, announcer for the American League baseball team.

Moore said the letter signed by "Xavier, World Liberation Movement," said: "Reggie Jackson and Vida Blue will be assassinated on of these days: June 20, 21, 22."

A source told The Tribune that both letters said the players would be "executed during a home game because you're a disgrace to your race for working for a man like Charles O. Finley."

A beefed-up security force of Oakland police was on hand at the Oakland Coliseum for the weekend series with the Kansas City Royals.

The FBI said it has an "ongoing investigation" into the threats against the A's players, but it refused further comment. A separate investigation is being conducted by Henry Fitzgibbon, head of security for baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

On Saturday, Frank Tanana struck out 17 batters as he pitched California to a 4-2 win over Texas in the first game of a doubleheader. The Rangers were 6-5 winners in the nightcap.

In other Saturday games, Baltimore blanked Boston 3-0, Minnesota topped Chicago 8-3, New York dropped Detroit 4-1, Kansas City stopped Oakland 4-1 and Milwaukee outslugged Cleveland 11-9.

Figueroa was shaken in the ninth inning when a mistake nearly meant trouble. Roy Smalley led off with a single, and two outs later, Figueroa had walked the bases loaded.

His 3-2 pitch to Jeff Burroughs was launched towards the alley in left-center field, where Morris Nettles was playing.

"I just said to myself, 'Mo, get going,'" said Figueroa, who watched Nettles speed over and make the catch for the final out.

The Angels—and Texas third baseman Smalley—gave Figueroa all the help he needed in the fourth. Smalley made a two-base throwing error on Bruce Bochte's infield hit, allowing Bochte to reach third. Joe Lahoud singled Bochte home for the game's only run.

BANDO SPARKS A'S
Sal Bando sparked Oakland's first-game triumph, hitting a solo home run in the eighth and doubling in the game-winning runs in the 12th inning. Kansas City had tied the game 5-5 with three runs in the ninth and had pulled in front 6-5 in the top of the 12th, but Bando's hit started Oakland to its sweep.

Billy Williams hit a three-run homer in the nightcap for the A's, who picked up their seventh win in eight outings.

Expos split double with Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "It wasn't one of our better days but maybe it's out of our system now," Philadelphia manager Danny Ozark said of some shoddy baseball the Phillies played Sunday while splitting a doubleheader with Montreal Expos.

The Expos won the first game 4-0 behind Steve Rogers' seven-hit pitching, but the Phils rallied for a 4-3 win in the nightcap.

Ozark said he was "angry and frustrated" during the second game as he watched the Expos take advantage of mental and physical errors by the Phils to break a 1-1 tie and take a 3-1 lead.

But Jay Johnstone's pinch homer in the eighth and Greg Luzinski's 16th homer leading off the ninth tied it up and set the stage for pinch hitter Tony Taylor. After Tommy Hutton singled and was sacrificed to second, Taylor won the game with a long double to deep centre.

"I was looking for a pitch I could handle," said Taylor.

whose errors at third base Saturday led to a 5-1 Montreal victory.

"When you play as long as I have (19 years), you learn that you have bad and good days. I left it at the ballpark Saturday and when I came up in the ninth, I wasn't thinking of those errors, only a hit," said Taylor.

TIES SCORE
By the bottom of the sixth, the Phils had gone 22 innings without a run. Two walks and a single by Mike Schmidt off shortstop Tim Lincecum tied it and set the stage for the comical seventh.

Right fielder Mike Anderson dropped Barry Foote's fly for a two-base error and pinch-runner Tony Scott went to third when he was hit in the back by pitcher Wayne Twitchell's attempted pickoff. Fol singled home one run and eventually came around on a sacrifice fly.

The main reason the Phils were shut out so long was Rogers, who helped win his fifth consecutive decision with two singles and a pair of runs batted in.

Rogers was at his luckiest in the fourth when Bob Boone's hit with the bases loaded was turned into an inning-ending double play by third baseman Pat Scanlon.

Gilbreath, a pinch hitter for Atlanta Braves, with two outs in the eighth inning Sunday ruined San Francisco Giant rookie Pete Falcone's bid for a no-hitter. But it was Montanez' antics with his glove at first base which ruined Falcone's concentration. And that's what ruined the no-hitter.

So with that out of the way, the Giants settled down to beat the Braves 5-2 and salvage a split of their National League baseball doubleheader Sunday.

Atlanta took the opener 8-2 on the strength of a seven-run first inning.

In other National League action Sunday, St. Louis Cardinals defeated Chicago Cubs 7-2, Pittsburgh Pirates beat New York Mets 2-0, Los Angeles Dodgers edged San Diego Padres 3-2 and Houston Astros beat Cincinnati Reds 8-4.

Saturday, the Expos beat Philadelphia 5-1, Pittsburgh defeated New York 7-3, San Francisco edged Atlanta 4-3, Chicago beat St. Louis 6-1, the Dodgers edged San Diego 4-3 and Cincinnati beat Houston 7-6.

Falcone, a 21-year-old left-hander, had just walked Vic Correll and was facing Gilbreath when the fracas erupted.

CORRELL OBJECTED
Montanez has a habit of tapping opposing players on their heads with his glove. Most players don't seem to mind. Correll did.

"I was tapping the runner like I always do," said Montanez. "He turned around and he told me if I did it again he would drop me. I did it again."

Vic didn't deck Willie, but he tried. He threw a punch. Suddenly both benches were emptying.

SAM ABBOTT FETED — Sam Abbott, centre, who retired as Physical Director of Bishop's College School after 25 years, is seen with some of his former sporting pals who attended a special gathering. On the left is Graham Patriquin, also retired from BCS, Glen Brown, M.N.A. who coached Sam Abbott while in the Navy. Henry Crochetiere, past-president of the QAHA, and Len O'Donnell, former coach of Sherbrooke High School football teams, who battled with Abbott's squads for years.

Connors favored at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — If Jimmy Connors doesn't win the men's singles title at Wimbledon again, who will?

The 22-year-old left-hander from Belleville, Ill., the favorite to retain the most coveted tennis title in the world, hinted at some possible successors to the title as the tournament opened today at the All-England Club.

"There's Stan Smith," Connors said. "With his big powerful serve, he is always difficult to play against on grass."

"And there's Ilie Nastase of Romania. He can do many things with a tennis ball you don't even think about."

"And Arthur Ashe, Brian Gottfried and Raul Ramirez— all these guys have more than an equal chance to win Wimbledon."

The bookies rate Connors a 3-to-2 favorite to win again. But Connors' halo has slipped a little in the last two weeks. He came to England in advance to get some practice on grass courts before Wimbledon, and he was beaten twice.

Bernie Mitton of South Africa toppled him at Chichester and Roscoe Tanner of the United States upset him in the John Player tournament at Nottingham.

Connors fingered Ashe as a possible Wimbledon winner just as his lawyers were filing a $5 million suit against Ashe. They allege that Ashe, president of the

One of the traditions of Wimbledon is that the reigning champion opens the tournament on the centre court. Connors was due to face British Davis Cup player John Lloyd today, with a sellout crowd of 17,000 assured.

The women's singles competition begins Tuesday.

UCW meeting

WAY'S MILLS — The Way's Mills U.C.W. took advantage of Mrs. Pedersen's hospitality and of the fine weather on the afternoon of June 11 to meet at the Pedersen chalet, where following the meeting, a picnic lunch was enjoyed under the beautiful trees.

The theme of the worship service was "Faith and a Poem." The Knowledge of the Lord was read from the Living Message. The chapters from the mission study were entitled "Toward the Fully Human."

Mrs. Pedersen reported that work has begun on the Union hall where the kitchen is being enlarged and other improvements made before the annual tea which will be on July 9.

It was also decided that all monthly meetings will, in future, be held at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Two dozen silver tea spoons, commemorative of the United Church of Canada's 50th anniversary, have been purchased and will be on sale at the July tea.

The next regular meeting will be August 13 at the home of Mrs. Lottie Drew.

ACW-Guild meets

STANSTEAD — About 30 members of Christ Church ACW - Guild assembled at Kelley's dining room, Derby Line, on Wednesday evening, June 11 for the annual closing of the season banquet.

The management served a delicious buffet of many good things to eat. The members were seated at two candle lighted tables.

Afterward, all gathered in the Church Hall in Stanstead for the final meeting until September. Mrs. Nellie Kezar, president of the month of June presided and the meeting opened with prayers. Reports were heard.

Mrs. Kezar welcomed the guests and voiced appreciation to Mrs. R.J. Wells and Mrs. Tommy Hospes for making the banquet arrangements.

The correspondence included several thank-you notes. Mrs. Norman Chamberlain, Sr., gave the card report noting several persons remembered.

Mrs. Edward Hyatt, Social Service secretary, made an appeal for items for Quebec Lodge, also a sum of money was voted towards this appeal. Another appeal was for clothing and other things for the Douglas Hospital Auxiliary in Verdun. It was noted three boxes of good used clothing had been given a family who lost their home by fire.

Other reports were given by Mrs. R.J. Wells, Flowers; Family Life, Mrs. Leo Perrault; Forgotten Patients, Mrs. Lindsay Smith.

The remainder of the meeting was taken up planning the annual Lawn supper and sale at the Parish hall property on July 3. (This was, at the meeting, scheduled for July 2, then changed).

Mrs. Edward Hyatt heads the planning committee but several offered to work where needed, making posters, at the food, the crafts and white elephant tables, in the kitchen and to serve.

Rev. Owen Merriman, pastor, was present and spoke to the group about the appointment of a Church Building committee composed of the Rector, Mr. Merriman; two Wardens, Alfred Middleton and Edward Wintle; chairman, Howard Andrews, also Douglas Cass and Malcolm Molony with Mrs. E.J. Barnes named as representative on the Board from the ACW-Guild.

A paint chart was circulated and a choice of color made to paint the stone church trim.

The meeting was then adjourned.
