ULTIMATUM SERVED ON AACHEN GARRISON

Canadian Forces Which Landed On South Shore Of Estuary Advancing

Canadians Now Threaten to Cut Off Escape of Germans to Islands in Estuary Where an Estimated 11,000 to 15,000 Nazis Are Holed Up—Web of Machine-Gun Fire Closes Aachen Pincers—British Second Army Beats Off Sharp Counter-Attack.

By DON WHITEHEAD, Associated Press War Correspondent.
Outside Aachen, Oct. 10.—(10:05 a.m.)—(P)—The American commander of forces outside Aachen issued an ultimatum today to the Nazi garrison to surrender the city unconditionally within twenty-four hours or "American army ground and air forces will proceed ruthlessly by air and artillery bombardment to reduce it to submission."

By JAMES M. LONG, Associated Press War Correspondent.
London, Oct. 10.—(P)—American 1st Army infantry closed the Aachen pincers with a web of machine-gun fire today and built up pressure on a 25-mile front from six to ten miles inside Germany for a break-through into the industrial Rhineland.

On the seaward flank of the Allied line, the 1st Canadian Army's amphibious forces which landed early yesterday on the south shore of the Schelde Estuary were reported making "good progress," following an all-day build-up.

A front dispatch said Canadian forces had advanced two and a half miles and cut the Nieuwlanischolen-Biervliet railway. The landing forces were behind some 5,000 Germans on the south bank of the Schelde river who had been attacking Canadian positions along the Leopold Canal.

The amphibious force now threatens to cut off the escape of the Germans to the islands in the Schelde Estuary, where an estimated 11,000 to 15,000 Nazis are holed up and are in sore straits themselves.

The primary purpose of the operation was to clear the enemy from positions between Antwerp and the sea, thus opening that great Belgian port to Allied shipping.

East of the Schelde pocket and fifteen miles north of Antwerp other Canadian units had cut the causeway by which Germans on Walcheren and Beveland islands might have escaped.

The British 2nd Army beat off a sharp counter-attack on the Netherlands salient west of Arnhem between the Waal and Neder Rhine, but elsewhere on its front little activity was reported.

The jaws of the U. S. 1st Army pincers on the German frontier city of Aachen could be considered closed, Associated Press War Correspondent Don Whitehead reported, as it would be impossible for the Germans to escape in large numbers through direct fire of American gunners.

The retreat corridor was narrowed to a mile, another field report said, and Whitehead wrote that American machine-guns were on both tips of the gap, which also could be raked with mortar fire.

The bottling of Aachen's "fight to the death" defenders came as the U. S. 3rd Army snapped a German bulge in the Nancy-Metz sector back into a straight line.

Elimination of this pocket was reported by Associated Press War Correspondent Edward D. Ball, who said 3rd Army troops had moved up into new positions extending from Fresnes en Saules, fifteen miles

Planning To Make Quebec Free Port

Quebec, Oct. 10.—(P)—Mayor Lucien Borne, outlining a plan to make Quebec City a free port, said today in an address to the Quebec Federation of Junior Chambers of Commerce, that "without the development of St. Lawrence river ports and shipbuilding, it seems that industrial and commercial expansion of Quebec Province will be impossible."

It would be unfortunate if the city and province could not benefit from the publicity which resulted from the two international conferences held here. Two things were necessary so that Quebec might benefit from this publicity: The proper importance must be restored to St. Lawrence ports and necessary steps must be taken to maintain the shipbuilding industry.

At this time when our whole foreign trade will have to be completely re-organized, we should unite to obtain a policy favoring the development of our Quebec ports and establish the St. Lawrence river as the main artery for our exports to Europe and Latin-American countries.

He asked the delegates to support the idea of a free port at Quebec and said "the prosperity of the greatest European ports was due to the fact that these were free."

GARAKAYO ISLE IS INVADED BY INFANTRY UNITS

Object of Assault Upon Islet Apparently to Eliminate Shore Batteries Menacing American Forces on Peleliu.

Pearl Harbor, Oct. 10.—(P)—Invasion of Garakayo Islet, tenth of the Palau group of island stepping-stones to the Philippines brought under fire of American guns, was announced last night by Pacific commanders, who also reported the first big neutralizing raid on Zamboanga, important southern Philippines coast city.

Infantry landed Sunday on Garakayo and quickly secured a beachhead. They drove forward against light opposition.

Garakayo is 2 1/2 miles north of Peleliu, where American forces have been fighting since September 14 and are wiping out the last resistance. Object of the Garakayo invasion apparently was to eliminate shore batteries that may have shelled Americans on Peleliu.

Babelthau, largest of the Palaus, was attacked early by Marine planes which bombed fuel dumps and warehouses.

Of the nine Palau islands in addition to Garakayo where landings were made, all are securely in American hands although mop-up fighting continues.

The Zamboanga raid was described in a Tuesday communique which said more than 25 Liberators, escorted by fighters on the long overwater flight, set huge fires along the city's waterfront and around "other targets."

Combined British And Greek Forces Occupy Corinth Without Opposition

Rome, Oct. 10.—(P)—British and Greek forces have occupied Corinth, it was announced today.

British forward units entered Corinth without opposition. Two hundred and fifty members of the collaborating Greek "security battalions" surrendered there yesterday morning. No Germans were met in the city, which is at the south end of the Isthmus linking the Peloponnese and the Greek mainland.

Meanwhile, the Allied land forces on the Adriatic began attacking Sarande, the little southern Albanian port which is a supply base for the enemy garrison on the island of Corfu.

The attack started at 4 a.m. yesterday and Allied troops quickly penetrated to the western outskirts of the town after overcoming opposition.

Another unit silenced an enemy battery and took the central defenses. Then a parachute company landed and captured a second battery.

With the capture of Corinth, the Allied command announced, land forces of the Adriatic now are in control of many communications in the Peloponnese. A communique added that "operations continue," presumably a drive on from Corinth by British troops. Athens and Piraeus (Piræne), its port, are only 40 miles distant.

STALIN TOLD OF VIEWS ENDORSED AT QUEBEC TALKS

Churchill Holds Three-Hour Interview With Russian Premier and Confers With British Diplomatic and Military Staff Before Second Meeting.

Moscow, Oct. 10.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill talked with Marshal Stalin for three hours in the Kremlin last night and conferred today with the British diplomatic and military staff before starting a second meeting with the Russian Premier.

W. Averell Harriman, United States Ambassador, was kept fully informed by the British delegation, although he was not present at the Kremlin last night.

Mr. Churchill was understood to be presenting his views on questions in Europe and elsewhere—views which were said to have been fully endorsed before he left the Quebec Conference with President Roosevelt.

The latest indications were that his visit would last throughout this week.

His presence in Moscow coincided with two important statements in the Russian press. One expressed flat opposition to altering the principal of a unanimous vote by the four major Allied powers on the International Security Council, in case of aggression. The other stated that a Russian plan for developing oil resources in the northern part of Iran.

London, Oct. 10.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill was disclosed today to have plunged immediately into talks with Premier Stalin at Moscow which advisers from the Russian capital indicated might continue for a full week.

A communique broadcast by the Moscow Radio said Mr. Churchill and Mr. Stalin had met for their first conference yesterday only a short time after the Prime Minister stepped from the plane which brought him from London.

Present were Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, Foreign Secretary Eden and Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr. Later Mr. Eden and Mr. Molotov conferred at a separate meeting attended by Soviet Deputy Foreign Commissar A. Y. Vishinsky.

The Moscow bulletin gave no inkling of the nature of the initial conversations. Press dispatches from the Soviet capital said it was believed the talks would deal with the organization of the final military blows against Germany and a multitude of European political questions.

Mentioned among the latter was the dispute between the Polish Government in London and the Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation, which has been brought to the fore recently by a new exchange of recriminations.

On the military side it was believed that plans for occupation of Germany and the possibility of Russia's eventual entry into the war against Japan might rank high on the agenda.

Proponents of the latter topic, the Daily Express printed today a special dispatch from Washington saying it was reported there that Premier Stalin had pledged Siberian bases to the United States as soon as the war in Europe ends. There was no confirmation of this.

While the United States is not represented by a special envoy at the current talks, it was said Washington.

Red Armies Hurl Their Full Weight Upon East Prussian City Of Tilsit

By DANIEL DE LUCE.
Moscow, Oct. 10.—(P)—A storm of Russian artillery fire broke today on besieged Memel, German-held port on the Baltic, while to the south two Soviet armies wheeled and hurled their full weight into a drive on the East Prussian fortress city of Tilsit.

The great Baltic offensive of Gen. Ivan C. Bagration and Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky, ripping apart the German coastal flank protecting the heart of East Prussia, matched in spectacular success the sweep of Gen. Rodion Malinovsky's forces into Northern Hungary.

There, after cutting the railway retreat routes behind the German and Hungarian forces in the Northern Transylvanian salient, the Russian spearhead thrust into the outskirts of the Magyar military training centre of Debrecen. General advances on the looping front put the Germans within 50 miles of Budapest.

Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's northward drive across flat country appeared aimed at the Ruthenian highlands, where a junction might be made with Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's 4th Ukrainian Army group on the Czechoslovak border.

Malinovsky's southern wing crossed the Tisza river on a wide front in Northern Yugoslavia and swung westward in an advance which outflanked Belgrade and endangered the third largest Yugoslav city of Subotica (pop. 100,000) on the main Belgrade-Budapest railroad.

Prospects were reported good for bottling up most of the enemy forces in Transylvania and the Carpathians, which Hungary took from Czechoslovakia. This would permit Malinovsky to strike at Budapest from three sides.

The Berlin radio declared today the Russians had launched a new offensive in the Vistula river bend south of Warsaw. Exact locale of the reported offensive was not specified, but the Russians have held a bridgehead across the stream for some time east of Kielce. There was no immediate confirmation of the drive from Moscow.

HITLER PLEDGES PROSECUTION OF WAR TO LIMIT

Fuehrer Promises to Wage Struggle with Ever-Greater Fanatical Zeal in Speech Praising Reich Youth Volunteering for Service.

London, Oct. 10.—(C.P. Reuter)—Hitler referred to "the hour of danger for our country," and stressed his determination to "wage this struggle with an ever-greater fanatical will" in a message quoted by the German Radio today.

The message was addressed to Reich Youth leader Axmann who was reported to have told Hitler that 80 per cent of the youth of Potsdam had volunteered for military service.

Hitler's message: "In the hour of danger for our country, created by our hateful opponents, you have given a shining example of your fanatical will to sacrifice."

"The youth at the front and at home has done what has been expected of them. Hitler youths have shown their unshakable will for

UNEMPLOYMENT FOLLOWING WAR BEING STUDIED

Selective Service Officials Concentrating on Demand for 173,000 Workers and Also Keeping Eye on Post-War Problems.

By JACK WILLIAMS

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Oct. 10.—(P)—National Selective Service now is operating on what its director, Arthur MacNamara describes as a "double-track basis." Faced with the job of meeting a current demand for 173,000 workers, it is at the same time paying the way for the time when it will have to switch into reverse and look for jobs instead of workers.

That time is not expected to come until after the defeat of Germany but conferences now are being held at frequent intervals between representatives of the armed forces, the Labor and Pensions Departments. Outcome of these discussions is expected to be detailed methods of facilitating the return of men from the armed forces to civilian jobs.

The field staff of some 7,000 Selective Service and unemployment insurance personnel will have a basic place in the programme and expectations are that it will have to be considerably enlarged. Steps are being taken to locate additional office space, particularly in larger centres. The rehabilitation of veterans is a three-phase programme.

The Army, Navy and Air Force give attention to men and women who are about to leave the services. Then the veteran has an opportunity for an interview with a Pensions Department official who outlines the plans the Government has made for veterans.

Finally, the Labor Department, through the unemployment insurance office, has made special arrangements for placing veterans in civilian jobs. Veterans' placement officers are being assigned to each region. These men will have an important place in the administration of the reinstatement in civil employment act which requires employers to take back workers who left their employ to enter the armed forces.

A recent survey of discharges showed that about 50 per cent of those leaving the forces are returning to their own jobs or are self-employed. Of the remainder, between 10 and 15 per cent require further medical treatment, leaving from 35 to 40 per cent that have to be placed.

RE-MUSTERING IN CANADIAN ARMY SAID NECESSARY

By ROSS MUNRO,

Canadian Press War Correspondent.
Brussels, France, Oct. 10.—(C.P. Reuter)—The Canadian Defence Minister, Col. J. L. Ralston, told Canadian War Correspondents last night there may have to be some re-mustering in the Canadian Army, which would be a question of taking men from one branch of the service and placing them in another where the need is more imperative.

On the question of reinforcements both for the Italian and European war theatres, however, Col. Ralston said that reinforcements and recruiting were satisfactory, according to his latest figures, and had been working out according to plan.

Premier George Drew of Ontario in a speech before the Canadian Corps Association in Toronto last week charged that insufficiently trained men were being used as reinforcements for the 1st Canadian Army. Similar statements were made previously by Maj. Conn Smythe, of Toronto, who was wounded in Normandy and invalided home.

The Defence Minister said that on his return to Canada he intended to go into the reinforcement question carefully.

Home leave for men with long service overseas was another question which will be carefully investigated, he said.

Col. Ralston was scheduled today to visit several sectors of the 1st Canadian Army front in the Low Countries.

During last night's interview, he cautioned against over-optimism and said the war was not over yet and there was much hard fighting ahead. He declined to say when he

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE,
Associated Press War Analyst.

There's only one thing which can make the Dumbarton Oaks programme for permanent peace effective, and that's the unselfish and two-fisted determination of the major powers to carry it out, come hell or high water.

Actually the task rests primarily at the outset on the big three—Great Britain, the United States and Russia. In their hands is a vast military strength which can compel peace — by force if necessary.

So long as these mighty powers stand together, there will be peace. The moment they fall out, there will be dark trouble—and nobody can stop it.

Prime Minister Churchill the other day declared that in his proposals for the organization of world peace he will act in accordance with the spirit and principles of the League of Nations, but "clothing those principles with necessary authority." That was in a letter congratulating Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, chief draftsman of the Covenant of the League and winner of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1927, on the latter's 80th birthday. Churchill said at one point:

"The war could easily have been prevented if the League of Nations had used courage and there had been loyalty by the Associated Nations."

That's a true bill. The League failed in part — because it lacked guts. Back at the commencement of Japan's aggression against China, which the League sidestepped, Lord Cecil told me that unless the members of that organization pulled up their socks it would come a cropper. They didn't pull up their socks.

I followed the course of the League from the days of the Versailles conference and studied it at close range for years after that.

One of the main reasons for failure was that some important nations used it for power politics. Blues of countries, serving self-interest, were pitted against one another. They were suspicious of one another—and with reason.

There were two outstanding reasons why the U. S. Senate refused to ratify the Covenant which President Wilson had sponsored. There was opposition to article 10, providing that "the members of the League undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league." There also were objections to the six votes of the British Empire, as against one vote for the United States.

Perhaps if the world of that day had experienced the Nazi attempt to enslave it, there would have been a different attitude towards the League. Maybe mankind has needed this second cruel lesson to drive home the value of peace.

Anyway, folk generally seem to be viewing the situation as does the famous Lord Cecil. When I saw him in London two years ago he was anxious to help create a new and better organization. He would use the great marble palace in Geneva to house a fresh venture rather than as a mausoleum for dead hopes.

Finns Pressing Toward Tervola

Stockholm, Oct. 10.—(P)—A Finnish communique announced today that the Finns were pressing against the Germans in the direction of Tervola on the road from Kemi to Rovaniemi.

Six miles north of Tornearvi, the Finns captured Alavajakkala and "are still advancing," the bulletin said.

The harbor, a railway station and airport at Kemi, at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia, were ruined by the Germans before they retreated, a Helsinki correspondent reported. Buildings in the district of Karhaara were reported burned, leaving 1,500 homeless. The dispatch said the Germans also destroyed their supply warehouses outside Kemi, and dumped locomotives, airplane motors, ammunition, radio apparatus and cables into the harbor.

German bombers attacked the Oulu railway area Sunday, the Finnish communique said.

MAGOG SOLDIER IS JAILED FOR RUNNING AMOK

Pte. William Hamilton, 25, of Magog and formerly of Stanstead, was sentenced today to twenty-six months in jail as a result of running amok Saturday, armed with a 16-inch knife.

Appearing at a Special Sessions Court under Justices of the Peace Edgar Kingsland and George Rolfe, Hamilton was sentenced to the maximum term for violating Sec. 123 of the Criminal Code (carrying a dangerous weapon and threatening bodily harm), the sentence being six months. He was also given twenty months for violation of Sec. 236-C of the Criminal Code (resisting arrest and aggravated assault upon a police officer).

In court, Hamilton made no defence, having returned from four years' service Overseas, he was doing general work in the camps, awaiting discharge from the army.

When asked whether he would like to ask his commanding officer for a recommendation in an effort to obtain the court's clemency, the prisoner said that it would be of no use.

After fifteen minutes' deliberation, sentence was imposed by Justice of the Peace Kingsland. After the sentence had been handed down, Hamilton fainted.

Another case, that of a Sherbrooke man who had created a disturbance at a dance hall in the vicinity, appeared before Justice of the Peace Edgar Kingsland. The prisoner was fined $5 and costs.

Another man, Orville Reid, of Georgeville, scheduled to appear on a charge of disturbing the peace, forfeited a $25 deposit when he failed to appear in court.

Airfields in the Athens area of Greece were bombed by the Mediterranean Air Force last night, while light bombers and fighter-bombers attacked Adriatic shipping and gave support to mired ground forces in Italy. Five Allied planes were missing from approximately 300 sorties.

Increasing resistance was encountered by American units along the German defence line south of Bologna and Imola, where Kesselring has committed fresh and refitted troops to the fight to hold the Po Valley. Strong hill positions held by the enemy protect Bologna, although the Americans are within 10 miles of the city and have moved within heavy artillery range of its network of railways and highways.

Permanent School Memorial For Old Boys On Active Service To Be Established At B.C.S.

"Before very long, I hope to be able to announce the plans for a permanent school memorial of a fitting nature for all the old boys who have fallen in the present war," declared Col. C. G. M. Grier, in his Headmaster's Thanksgiving address before 500 people at the annual prize-giving at Bishop's College School yesterday afternoon.

In outlining the events of the 107th year of the school's existence, Col. Grier touched on all phases of school activities, and mentioned in particular the excellent scholastic achievements of A. R. C. Dobell, of Quebec, a member of the class of '44, and a present student at McGill University. In addition to his scholarly achievements, Dobell distinguished himself at the school by winning his place on the first teams at football, hockey and cricket.

"The conclusion of the fifth year of the war has brought it closer than ever to the school. The casualty lists, in particular, have since the beginning of the advance in Italy last spring, and since the landing in Normandy, been hard to read. I do not wish to mention how many of our boys have gone to war, nor how many are missing, or how many are prisoners, or how many will not come back. But I must tell you that they are a goodly number, and that if ever this old school had reason to be proud of its old boys, it has reason now. Since last prize-day, we have had news of the death in action of Edward A. Parker of the Royal Marines, Ronald Bennett, of the Black Watch, and his brother, Harrison, of the Cameron Highlanders; Edward Boothroyd, of the 14th Hussars, Harry Donnelly, and Bob Duncan, of the R.C.A.F.; Lindsay Foss, of the Royal Engineers; Derek Gibson, of a Canadian Reconnaissance Unit; Brian Lynn, of the North Staffordshire Regiment; Bob Mackay and Alan Robinson, of the Black Watch; George Stark, of the Victoria Rifles; John Wallace, of the 12th Canadian Armoured Regiment; Gerry Hanson, of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment; Hugh Mackenzie and Gilbert Stairs, of the 22nd Armoured Regiment.

"It has been good to hear that Ian MacLean, Gordon Powis and Jim Kenney, who were for a time reported missing, have turned up. There is still no news of Warren Hale, Bob Kenny and Owen Lewis, and it would appear that Malcolm Grant, missing since the sinking of the Algonquin, has probably lost his life.

"Honors and distinctions earned by our Old Boys for their war service have been numerous. Among them I might draw your attention to the winning, in the past twelve months, of the Distinguished Flying Cross by Forest Lord, Richard Peck, Hugh Nansworthy, and Richard Fallon, to their promotion to the rank of Brigadier of Kingston Black and Robert Moncel—the latter a Sixth Form Boy so short a time ago as 1933, and finally to the promotion, on retirement, to the rank of full General of the leading architect of Canadian military striking power, Andrew MacNaughton.

Col. Grier announced that the School commenced its 107th year with the largest enrolment on record—166 boys and thanked the staff and prefects for their assistance in keeping the School "on an even keel." William Price was Head Prefect, John Fuller, Hugh Hallward, Peter Satterthwaite, Robert Stevenson, Robert McBoyle, Anthony Dobell and Peter Aird, were Prefects, and they in turn were assisted by Graham, Hodgson, Jarrett, MacKay, Flintoft, Cadenhead, Phelps, Smith, Struthers, Taylor, I. Taylor II, Tyler and Hooper, Head Boys.

The announced appointment of Mr. Pattison as Assistant Headmaster, and the addition to the staff of P. S. Howard, B. A., from King's College School, N. S., and the regret of the passing of the School physician, Dr. Winder, of Lennoxville.

With Col. Grier on the platform in the auditorium were the Rev. Dr. A. H. McGreer, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of the University of Bishop's College; Jackson Dodds, Montreal; Hon. Brig. the Rev. C. G. Hepburn, Principal Protestant Chaplain to the Canadian Forces; Mr. Justice G. Gordon MacKinnon; Brig. Victor Whitehead; F. R. Pattison, Major W. W. Olgivy, and William Price, Head Prefect.

BRIG. HEPBURN IS PREACHER AT B.C.S. SERVICE

"It's not what we possess, but what possesses us, that is the important thing," declared Hon. Brig. the Rev. C. G. Hepburn, Principal Protestant Chaplain to the Canadian Forces, at the Thanksgiving service in St. Mark's Chapel for the parents, students and old boys of Bishop's College School on Sunday.

The service opened the annual Thanksgiving prize-giving ceremony at the school. The chapel was crowded to hear the guest preacher, who is an old boy of the school. Prayers were offered by Rev. S. Childs, School Chaplain, and Col. C. G. M. Grier, Headmaster of the school. The school choir sang the anthem, "Holy City."

Brig. Hepburn urged all to realize that righteousness, even in these dark days, "exalteth a nation." A person cannot live without recognition of a great force. The world wasn't just brought about, a poem of Shakespeare's just didn't happen, a symphony of Beethoven just didn't occur. They show the love and power of God, the power of the unseen world.

"In years to come, people will realize that our darkest hour was our brightest hour. It was a glorious hour. Our heroes faced all without fear. They were Christians. You cannot kill truth, goodness and honor. That's why try it on the road to defeat."

Brig. Hepburn asserted in referring to the national day of Thanksgiving, that without the divine qualities, there would be no harvest. But ten per cent or less of a harvest is due to the skill of man, and any man who thinks must thank God for this fact.

"Worship to a Christ is the highest act of the conscious being," he declared in conclusion, and it is only man with his self-conscious personality who can praise Him.

Comb West Shore Of Memphremagog For Trace Of Mansonville Robbers

Mansonville, Oct. 10.—A posse of police and civilians today were combing the west shore of Lake Memphremagog for three bold bandits, who escaped with $2,700 after a hold-up at the Canadian Bank of Commerce here on Saturday. The stick-up was committed at the stroke of eleven o'clock.

Two masked men entered the bank and helped J. Binnette, a teller, at the point of revolvers. There were two customers, one of whom was a woman, at the time. The woman escaped and notified the Manager, D. Harvey, who was out of the bank getting the mail.

Manager Harvey attempted to enter the building, but was unable to do so. He ran nearby and secured a shot gun from a friend's car. Meanwhile, he saw the get-away car parked across the street from the bank, facing South Bolton. The driver of the machine was a woman.

Manager Harvey tried to shoot the tires of the car used by the bandits. The robbers fired back at him, barely missing his head, and for a while there was a wild gun battle in progress. Some of the bullets, police said, went through a plate glass window in the Mansonville House.

No one was injured.

Police authorities here telephoned to South Bolton to block the road, which was accomplished, resulting in the bandit car going onto the road leading to Sugar Loaf Pond, a small community near South Bolton.

Police investigators said today that the robbers abandoned their car and the bandits are believed by authorities to be hiding in the woods. It was learned that the police know the identities of the trio, who are believed to have slept at nearby Vale Perkins on Sunday night and threatened to shoot a farmer who heard them talking in the early hours yesterday morning.

According to police, Richard Jones, a Vale Perkins farmer, stumbled on the bandits' sleeping quarters yesterday when he was in his barn to get some hay. When Jones started up a ladder to investigate after hearing voices, he was forced to retreat because he was threatened with being shot.

He lost no time in notifying the police, and when he returned several minutes later with help, the criminals had left the hideout. As a result of this report, police have thrown a large drag net about Vale Perkins in an effort to thwart the bandits crossing the lake, which would take the fugitive trio from this Brome County into Stanstead County.

Police indicated that the capture of the trio was almost certain, inasmuch as they are in a wooded and hilly area of about twenty-four square miles in which to move.

As a precautionary measure, police around Lake Memphremagog, are keeping a constant watch and officers in the nearby United States towns remained on the alert if the trio attempts to get across the border.

AUTO FATALITY IS PROBED BY CORONER'S JURY

A coroner's jury, at an inquest held on Saturday by Armand Nadeau, Coroner for the District of St. Francis, at the bedside of Napoleon Lehoux, 47, survivor of an auto mishap last Friday afternoon which cost the life of 21-year-old Albert "Tom" Lebonville, of Stratford, returned a verdict of accidental death in the case, death having resulted from a fractured skull and a broken jaw.

Testimony offered at the inquest, which was conducted in the vicinity of the accident, revealed that the victim, accompanied by Napoleon Lehoux, was descending Maskinonge Hill when he lost control of his car and the left front wheel struck a stone, causing it to swerve into a ditch where it continued for about twenty feet before overturning and striking and breaking a telephone pole. The impact threw Lehoux from the wreckage, and Lebonville, who was buried under the debris, was instantly killed.

C. F. Mathieu, of Magog, East, arriving on the scene with his truck, summoned Dr. Albini Menard, of Garthby. The driver was pronounced dead by the doctor upon arrival, and the remains were removed to the home of the victim's mother in Stratford Parish, Lehoux, suffering from a fractured shoulder blade, internal injuries and shock was also removed to his nearby home, pending admittance to a local hospital.

Highway Patrolman Arcandine Habel, of the Weedon Provincial Police, who was one of the first to appear at the scene of the accident, investigated the case.

END OF SLAVERY

General Eisenhower has issued two "emancipation proclamations" since our armies entered Germany. One was his appeal to the impressed foreign workers in the Reich to begin their fight against the Nazis. The other was his statement of the conditions of military government in conquered German territory.

Both of these proclaim a release from slavery. And both give promise of a slow and painful fulfillment. For the slave labor seized and transported from occupied nations, General Eisenhower's summons bring the prospect of suffering and death to many. But suffering and death are not new to these unhappy victims of war.

Now these sacrifices will be for the sake of an open blow, if not a strong one. Before their weapons were the slowdown and sabotage. Now liberation is at least close enough for them to rise up, and to harass and divert the Gestapo. After all, there are an estimated eleven million foreign workers in Germany. Their very number, and the scores they have to settle, must strike fear to many Nazi hearts.

The general's other proclamation offers freedom to a nation of apparently willing slaves. It is a severe document, as it should be. It offers stern justice and swift action against any infringements of military regulations. It demands discipline and prompt obedience.

It remains to be seen whether the occupation will invite spying and sabotage, and whether the enforcement of this proclamation will effectively prevent it. After all, we are not liberating France now, but conquering Germany.

A guess, based on past performance and made far from the scene, is that there will be no such resistance from the German population as the Nazis encountered in the occupied lands. If the ordinary German had a fierce will to defend his way of life under Hitler, the Eisenhower proclamation would only make him more cautiously determined. But it is doubtful that the Fuehrer's way of life looks as inviting as it did even a year ago.

So it may be that these rules of military occupation will turn out to be less a defensive weapon than a psychological one. Strict regulations, hard discipline, swift punishment, these are things that the acquiescent Germans have been used to.

Only this time their dictated behavior is a preliminary to responsible self-government, a circumscribed, carefully watched government, but their responsibility nevertheless. The days of disastrous paternalism are ending.

And there must be some Germans who are exhilarated at the prospect. If General Eisenhower can find and trust them, the first step toward the future Germany may perhaps be taken.

A WELCOME WITH RESERVATIONS

Press writers accompanying the Allied armies in their invasion of Germany proper tell of mixed receptions being accorded the troops as they take possession of German towns. In some the townspeople are said to be distinctly hostile and regard the forces as conquerors while in others there is a warmer surface feeling apparent.

Of the two attitudes, the former is the more logical and one which it is only reasonable to expect will greet an invading army. Like the people of the Allied nations, the Germans have a strong love of their homeland and it is only reasonable to assume that they will have little or no love to waste upon an invading force whom they have been taught to look upon as conquerors.

The "welcome" which has been accorded the Allies in certain regions may be explained by one of two reasons. First these villages may be the home of real anti-Nazis who sincerely wish to see their country cleared from the Hitler yoke. But the more probable reason is that they have been told to give a surface welcome to the invaders and fraternize as far as possible with the Allied forces as the first step in an organized sympathy campaign and to gain information on possible Allied military movements.

The welcome and fraternizing may be an effort to lay the groundwork for an easy peace campaign, but if this is so, the recent announcement of General Eisenhower should to a great extent disillusion the Germans. The preliminary orders of the occupation authorities make no effort to paint the Allied forces as liberators. The United Nations are driving into Germany for one avowed purpose. They intend to conquer the country and handle it in the future as a conquered nation. If this fact does not cause a stiffening in the German attitude it is obvious that the fawning is part of a widespread espionage plot which hopes to obtain as much military information as possible through civilian organization.

The Allies have received little benefit from their enthusiastic welcomes in Italian centres and it is unreasonable to assume they will gain as much in Germany where the long-term attitude of the people is entirely different from Italy.

CANON MCGEE TO RETIRE

The retirement of Rev. Canon J. C. McGee as Rector of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Sherbrooke, will be learned with sincere regret by Canon McGee's many friends and admirers.

Canon McGee came to St. Patrick's in July 1933, as successor to the late Rev. Canon Fissette. He was the second Rector of the only English-speaking Roman Catholic Church in the Eastern Townships.

During his pastorate in Sherbrooke, Canon McGee has faithfully served his congregation and has made many friends both inside and outside of his church.

A native of Melbourne, Canon McGee was Parish Priest at Sutton prior to coming to Sherbrooke. At Sutton also he enjoyed the respect of the entire community and was equally as popular with the non-Catholics as he was with members of his own faith.

The people of St. Patrick's will regret his departure but will wish him many years of happy retirement coupled with good health and the companionship of his friends, a wish in which the population of Sherbrooke at large will heartily join.

CANADA'S POPULATION CHANGES

One of the inevitable secondary results of the increased industrial activity brought about by war is a rapid shift in population from one section of the Dominion to another. Expanded production of some older industries and the establishment of new and specialized munitions plants attract workers from cities and towns where the industries do not enjoy the war time boom. Some interesting figures in this respect are garnered by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics from the study of the number of ration books issued throughout the country.

Three Provinces—British Columbia, Ontario and Nova Scotia—have gained substantially, while all others show a reduction. The Pacific Coast province led the gain with an addition of ninety thousand. In Ontario the gain was fifty-eight thousand and in Nova Scotia the expansion is eight thousand. Saskatchewan suffered the largest decline with eighty-six thousand and Prince Edward Island had the smallest loss of seven thousand. The Province of Quebec has lost eleven thousand persons since the start of rationing, with the vast majority believed to have moved to the Windsor district in Ontario.

Although the Bureau does not divide up its figures between rural and urban population, it is safe to assume that the flow has been from the farm to the city despite the intensification of agricultural production. This shift in residence is liable to prove a distinct embarrassment to many politicians and the new lines of demarcation between parties is undoubtedly the result of so many newcomers being registered in city ridings. Perhaps the Gallup Poll or some other similar survey may indicate how these people will vote on the issues in the next election but it is certain that ward organizers will not be able to mark their lists with any accuracy before election day.

This will mark a great change from the time—say forty years ago—when it was known fairly well in advance how just about everybody in the neighborhood voted or would vote. Those days seem gone for ever and elections in the future will be decided by the running tide of public opinion and master minds and strategists will have their work out to direct or influence the course.

Furthermore the work of the candidate or the political aspirant will be greatly increased, especially in the multi-constituency cities where the population will tend to drift from one riding to another every moving day. In former years one of the strongest assets for any would-be candidate was the personal strength which he held through knowing and being friendly with every voter in the division. But with the drifting of the voters from one district to another, the time spent in building up these contacts may be largely wasted.

Another interesting question which arises is: How many who are now city dwellers will return to rural life and occupation? The standard of living will be the chief determining factor in the answer to that question, while the national effort to make farm life more lucrative and attractive will play its part. The probabilities are, however, that cities which have gained population in the last four years will not lose their gains, but probably a percentage. The law of supply and demand for labor, the employment opportunities and the ability of special war plants to be converted to peace-time uses will also be factors.

HAVEN'T YOU OVERLOOKED SOMETHING, GENERAL?

PRESS COMMENTS

WHY HESITATE ABOUT APPLYING GERMAN PLAN TO GERMANY?

Cleveland Plain Dealer.
Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's plan for the destruction of German industry and the reduction of the Reich to an agricultural state is based on observation and a comprehension of the real nature of the German problem. It avoids, in the only practical way possible, the pitfalls which inevitably occur when Germany is viewed and treated as other nations. The value of the Secretary's proposal lies in its recognition that Germany is a special case and must be handled accordingly.

The difficulty of persuading even informed men to judge Germany on a factual instead of a theoretical basis is seen in the fact that Morgenthau's ideas have split the President's Cabinet Committee which was appointed to study the problem and which is composed, in addition to the Treasury head, of Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Secretary of War Stimson.

No one could remotely accuse either Hull or Stimson of partiality toward the Germans. Their blind spot, for that is what their opposition amounts to, consists in believing that if Germany is allowed to continue as before, but under controls, it will become a sane and ordered member of the family of nations.

Their plan would treat the symptoms, Morgenthau's probes for a cure has found a thorough-going cure and a disinclination to believe that if another blood bath for Teutonic world domination is to be avoided.

The trouble with the "soft" treatment advocated by Hull and Stimson is that the best devised system of controls sooner or later breaks down. The Germans, experts in progress and a disinclination to believe that if another blood bath for Teutonic world domination is to be avoided.

Morgenthau's proposal cures the German disease at once. Devastated countries would be entitled—in reparation for the loot removed from them under German occupation—to take whatever industrial machinery they need from Germany to restart their own factories. German mines would be closed down. The Saar and Western German industrial areas would be ceded to France and Russia could take what she wanted in the east. Large German land holdings would be broken up and the national economy placed on an agricultural basis.

Before the "humanitarian" chorus starts to bay at Morgenthau's sound sense, one historic fact should be kept in mind. The German plan called for the reorganization of Europe with Germany as the industrial centre and all other European nations made the sources of foodstuffs, raw materials and slave labor. Great strides toward realizing this new empire were made even under the stress of conflict. In a few years after a German victory it would have been completed.

Why, then, should there be any hesitancy about applying a German plan to Germany? European economy would be upset for a time. But the displacement necessary would not be any means be as great as the shattering economic effect on another war. The rest of continental Europe would develop its industry more than ever before, thus becoming less dependent on Germany. At the same time this would decrease the danger of the Third Reich used the economic weapon ruthlessly in gaining political control in adjacent countries. Allied control would be reduced to a minimum. The Germans would not be able to set the other nations against each other.

There is no element of vengeance in this plan. It is one of practical sound sense. It goes to the root of the matter. Its adoption by the Allies would remove one of the great barriers existing between the eastern and western Allies—the Russian fear that Germany again will be left off easily by London and Washington.

NEGRO PROBLEM IN THE NORTH, TOO

New York Daily News
A good many Southern Negroes have moved North in recent years, especially since the war started, to find more money and a freer life. It is not likely they have found much more freedom. They do not have to obey Jim Crow laws in public conveyances and that may comfort them, but, all in all, they probably have found life in the North no better than in the South.

They are confined to segregated districts where rents are high and living conditions unhealthy. Their chances for employment are limited to service jobs and generally menial positions. Their educational privileges may be better, but they soon find that education isn't much help to them. Many a college-trained Negro is a Pullman porter or an elevator operator because he has found that white men will not give him a job for which he is qualified.

In extreme youth the Negro child may not be aware of the situation that his dark skin places him in, but as he moves into adolescence, he sees that he's different, and that life is going to be hard for him. This, we think, is the reason why there are muggers and gangs of hoodlums in Harlem and elsewhere—the youngsters are turned bitter at an early age when they see that the chances are against them.

Before we commit ourselves to join any world organization to preserve the status quo of a peace treaty, we should know whether Russia or England or any other of our Allies intends to seize territories of countries now recognized by the United States.—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D) of Montana.

If anyone cries on my shoulder over London's always say that for every $1,000,000 we gave them we saved 100,000 soldiers' lives. Even if we never get any of it back it will be money well spent.—Harry S. Truman.

HAVE A SMILE

A "Save-Your-Waste-Paper" campaign reminds one of the story of the four men who died on the same day. One was an author. He left $5. The second was a bookseller. He left $50. The third was a publisher. He left $500. It pays to save "paper."

Marriage resembles a pair of shears, so joined that they cannot be separated; often moving in opposite directions, yet always punishing anyone who comes between them.

"Auntie, were you ever proposed to?"
"Once, dear, a gentleman asked me to marry him over the telephone, but he had the wrong number."

He: "I am surprised that our wedding is not mentioned in this calendar."
She: "Why should it be?"
He: "It gives the dates of all the great disasters."

A chipper young lieutenant with an eye to the future approached a notoriously grouchy brigadier-general at his club in London one day.
"Good morning, General," he saluted ingratiatingly.
"Garumppff," responded the general.
"Lovely day, isn't it?"
"Garumppff."

"General, I trust you will pardon me for speaking of such a personal matter, but I read in the papers that you buried your wife yesterday, and I want to extend my sympathy."
The general adjusted his monocle and stared at the young man for a moment. "Oh, yes—yes," he replied. "I buried my wife . . . Had to—dead, y'know."

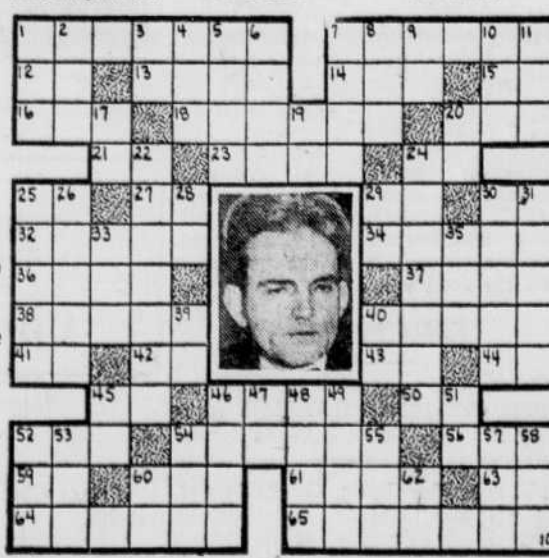

She was anxious to learn the latest news about her neighbor's accident, and turning toward her husband, who was immersed in the evening paper, she said:
"Henry, can you see anything in the paper about Mr. Jones running over his mother-in-law?"
"Not yet," replied Mr. Peck. "I haven't come to the sporting news."

AGREE ON TRUMPS BEFORE BIDDING SLAM

Bob Hawk of "Thanks to the Yanks" radio fame is certainly a rabid bridge fan. He kibitzed a few hands at the national tournament recently. After the hand shown today had been played he remarked, "When South opened the bidding, why didn't North just bid four no trump Blackwood? Then they would get to seven no trump fast." I could not argue much because he was not right; but I did suggest the advisability of trying to agree on a trump suit and passing a little information back and forth before using the Blackwood convention.

With Hawk's suggested bidding, North would bid four no trump over one spade. When South bid five hearts, showing two aces, North would bid five no trump. Now South would bid six hearts, showing two kings. As North could then count at least 18 tricks, he would bid seven no trump. As Hawk said, this is certainly the right answer in this case, as the combined hands have all the tricks.

PUT LIFE INTO SUN-DRIED HAIR

BY ALICIA HART

"What do you do," asks a reader, "when you meet yourself in the mirror after a summer of salt water and sun and your hair looks like something that ought to be buried?"

If that's your end-of-summer cry, grab a brush and start stroking. Bristles that polish hair will also whip up a better circulation to the scalp, if you'll brush, lying with your head dangling over the edge of a bed, and will tackle one panel of hair at a time; will stroke it several times on one side and then the other before going on to the next.

Shampoo your hair often, and the night before sop your scalp with hot oil—olive or plain castor. Tie drippy hair up in a moisture proof cap and keep confined overnight. Next morning wash your hair with a liquid fatty soap. Use a vinegar rinse to strip the last bit of oil from your hair.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Situation: You wish to leave your seat in a crowded lounge car and would like to find it when you come back.

Wrong Way: Ask the person sitting next to you to hold it for you.

Right Way: Realize that you have no right to try to hold a seat you aren't occupying, and that you put the other person in an embarrassing position when you ask him to say to a stranger, "I'm sorry, but this seat is taken." It is a different situation, if course, if you were sold a seat in the lounge car—as is sometimes done on crowded trains.

Utility Beef Demands Flavoring

Utility beef is flavored with horseradish and sour cream.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

If you have a copper-clad stainless steel skillet or saucpan, your problem of making utility beef into tender and welcome dishes, is easier. Marian Tracy, author of cookbooks, has one and invented these recipes exclusively for this column.

Beef With Horseradish and Sour Cream (Serves 4)

One and one-half pounds lean utility round steak, cut in 1½ inch squares, 1 pint sour cream, 1 large onion, sliced thin, 1 tablespoon freshly grated horseradish, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon powdered ginger, salt, pepper. Cook the meat, onion and spices in a deep pot (preferably a copper-clad stainless steel one if you are lucky enough to have one), in 1½ cups water for about ¾ hour over a very low fire. Add the sour cream, horseradish, salt and pepper. Heat through but do not let come to a boil after the sour cream has been added. It will curdle if you do.

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, ready-to-eat wheat cereal, French toast, syrup or marmalade, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Split pea soup with croutons, mixed left-over and raw vegetable salad with French dressing, enriched rolls, cottage cheese spread, peanut cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Utility beef with horseradish and sour cream, mashed potatoes, buttered broccoli, rye bread, buttered, baked cinnamon apples, coffee, milk.

Sweet and Sour Beef (Serves 4)

One and one-half pounds utility round, cut in hunks, 1 onion, sliced very thin, 1 lemon, also sliced thin with the peel left on, 3 tablespoons sugar, ¼ cup raisins, 1 teaspoon cinnamon or a piece of stick cinnamon.

mon, 8 whole cloves, salt, pepper. Simmer all the ingredients except the salt and pepper in a stew pan with 1½ cups water very gently for 1 hour. Add salt and pepper, check the seasoning and add more sugar, lemon or spices for a spicy, sweet and sour taste. The lemon helps tenderize the meat.

most outstanding S.H.S. players. Ross Hunting was the only lad on his side whose ball-carrying was equal to that of the backfieldmen on the other team. He worked harder than any other player on the field, time and again tearing through the entire Bishop's team only to be pulled down by Price playing safety. Price hit Hunting often and hard but only after the latter's flashy broken-field running had brought his side an appreciable gain.

Sherbrooke High started out well at the beginning of the contest, bucking their own twenty at the kick-off up to centre field. Then in kick formation on a third down the ball was snapped far over Bascom's head and by the time he recovered it Sherbrooke had been shoved fifteen yards back into their own territory. B.C.S. called for a forward pass on their first down and then it was Price to Wallace and over for a touch to draw first blood for Bishop's after only five minutes of play. Price booted a lovely convert to make it six point for B.C.S.

Wallace took the S.H.S. kick-off on his own ten and exhibited a bit of fancy reverse running of the ball, slipping it to Gault who ran to the left while he faked to the right. This smart bit of ball-handling was good for thirty yards. Bishop's then started a plunging parade of their own which brought them into position on Sherbrooke's 30-yard line for another smooth Price-to-Wallace forward that earned them their second major, the convert making it 12-0. After this the High School lads tightened up somewhat, trading the rival team blow for blow and giving good support to their hard-hitting backfieldmen, Hunting and Waldie.

On their first down in the second quarter S.H.S. attempted a pass. Fidler doing the tossing, Foss of Bishop's intercepted and ran the pigskin up ten yards to his own 40 where Martin nailed him. Not to be outdone at their own game, B.C.S. retaliated with a forward pass that was a beauty. Price threw to Fraser on end for a gain of 25 yards. In all Price threw ten passes, five of which were completed, three for touchdowns. S.H.S. attempted only one—Fidler's unsuccessful try.

Towards the end of the second quarter the High School squad after breaking up a serious Bishop's threat on their own 10-yard line, started a powerful march up the field which brought them on successive downs to the B.C.S. three-yard line. However, the boys from Lennoxville "held that line" and with only two minutes to go to half-time recovered the ball and were able to pull themselves out of the danger zone.

The Sherbrooke High team put on the pressure in the second half and on successive downs earned by Hunter, Fidler, Waldie and Bascom brought the pigskin up to the Bishop's 15. Bascom kicked and Waldie was in fast to tackle the B.C.S. ball-carrier behind his own goal line for a rouse and Sherbrooke's only point of the game. The High School grid-ders kept the offensive for the rest of the quarter and several times B.C.S. had to kick out of their own zone to relieve the pressure. Hunting and Waldie sparked most of Sherbrooke's plays in this quarter.

In the final quarter play saw-sawed back and forth from one end of the field to the other. With only two minutes left of the game Bishop's held Sherbrooke on the S.H.S. 25 to gain possession of the leather. This was the moment for that sneak play and Wallace, showing that he knew what a quarterback was there for, called and quickly pulled the play that caught Sherbrooke off guard and put Gault in an easy position to receive the throw from Price and waltz over the line all by himself. The kick to convert the point just managed to wobble over the pole giving Price a perfectly clean slate for the day. Kicking 100 per cent successfully on converts and completing 50 per cent of attempted passes is pretty good football in any language and Price deserves any credit he gets, but the line in front of him should be given a hand for the way he held off opposing players, giving him plenty of time to use his gifted boot and arm.

We can't wish to draw comparison but we can safely say that given the opportunity to learn a few passing plays and encouraged to use the two and three-man end runs which they employed so successfully last year, the Sherbrooke High lads would be more than a match for their Bishop's rivals or for any other High School team in the district.

Stan Musial had a field day as he poked out a homer, a double and a single.

The Cards went ahead 2-0 in the first frame when Musial homered to bring home Johnny Hopp who had singled. In the third, the Cards went out front 4-0 when Litwhiler started a drive with one out. Hopp struck out but Musial beat out an infield with Litwhiler reaching second. Walker Cooper singled Litwhiler home and Musial then came in when Gutteridge let Sanders' grounder go past him.

The final marker for the Cardinals came in the sixth when Sanders led off with a clean single over second. Marty Marion's double drove him home.

VALEMEN DOWN FARNHAM SQUAD BY 9-4 SCORE

Acton Vale went one up on Farnham in the Provincial Baseball League finals when they took a 9-4 triumph over their opponents on Sunday at Acton Vale in the first game of the provincial classic.

Combining Tarte, the Farnham hurler, for ten blows, including three doubles, the Valenmen uncorked an assault which left their rivals bewildered.

Julien Lamothe, handling the pitching chores for the Acton Vale crew, kept seven hits pretty well scattered to rack up his first triumph of the final series.

Getting away to a fast start, the Valenmen jumped on Tarte in the first inning and grabbed a commanding 4-0 lead. In the third frame, the Valenmen again put on a spurt and added another run to bring their lead to 5-0.

Apparently not satisfied with this, they went all out again in the fourth and pushed across three runs to jump into an 8-0 lead.

Farnham started to wake up only in the fifth frame when they pushed a single run across the plate. They showed up a little better in the seventh, bunching their hits to score three runs bringing the score to 8-4.

In the eighth, however, the Valenmen regained their stride and scored once more to bring the count to 9-4 in their favor. Farnham, in their bats in the ninth, were unable to score further and they went down to a 9-4 defeat.

Each squad left eight men stranded on the bases while Acton Vale committed five errors to one by Farnham.

Tarte struck out five men and walked seven while Lamothe fanned five and walked two.

Roland Meunier led the Acton Vale hitters with two doubles while his brother, Gaby Meunier, came in for two singles in three at bats. Huge Malfara, with two for three, drove home four Acton Vale runs.

Tarte was the hitting star for Farnham as he collected a double and two singles in four at bats, as well as driving in two runs.

The next game of their series for the provincial crown will be played at Farnham on Sunday, October 15.

The Road to Victory

...are you helping pave the way?

IT'S A ROAD that must be trod to the end—this road which leads to victory and the return of our loved ones.

There are milestones along the way—such immortal names as Dieppe, El Alamein, Tunis, Sicily, Ortona, Rome, the Normandy beachheads, Caen, Paris, Brussels, Le Havre, Boulogne—each one a decisive step forward along the road whose twin destinations are Berlin and Tokio.

These victories have been won by the courage and devotion of the dauntless fighting men of Canada and her allies—compared with whose sacrifices ours are but small indeed. Now on the battlefields our men are being urged to even greater efforts to bring victory quickly and decisively. At home we, too, are being urged to an even greater effort—Canada's borrowing needs have been increased by $320,000,000. Only you can raise this extra sum—every cent of which is needed to back our fighting men with a steady stream of weapons and supplies.

The struggle has reached a crucial stage—our leaders ask for a maximum and total effort. The objective in the 7th Loan is greater—our share must be greater. If we bought all the bonds we could last time—let's do the same again and then buy one more!

Keep right on to the end of the road!

"I'm a much more determined character than I look: You see, I have an inborn sense of responsibility. That's why, in addition to devoting our machine-shop exclusively to armament specialties, I accepted the challenge of wartime shortages and went all-out to maintain the quality of my product, Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs and Congoleum by-the-yard. "I Saw Tortures And Cruelties Unbelievable Not Once, But Many Times"

Major Rene Chauvin writes, not as an observer, but as one who has personally been in the thick of the fight against the Nazis in France. He is now organizing his battalion in preparation for service at the front. His men are equipped with both heavy and light weapons stolen from the Germans. Here Major Chauvin tells his own eye-witness story of atrocities he saw while a prisoner of the Nazis.

By MAJOR RENE CHAUVIN
Commander, Battalion of Fort de Romainville (Paris)

Fort de Romainville, Paris, Oct. 10.—I am writing this story because I want Canadians to know German bestiality for what it is. The story which I am going to tell is not an unusual story of extraordinary savagery and torture by the Germans. It is a very ordinary story, one which was repeated many times every day during the occupation, accounting for the lives of perhaps 200,000 French men and women.

It is because this is the story of everyday bestiality that I want it told. Everything which I have written here I have seen myself.

I will take two separate episodes. The first concerns the life of a prisoner. Before the Armistice I was a lieutenant. I had been an engineer in civilian life I went into the resistance movement in 1942. In March, 1943, I was arrested on suspicion of "trying to reorganize a dissolved political party"—whatever that meant.

For four days I was kept at the Special Brigade of the Prefecture of Police. I was lucky. Personally I was only questioned, without torture, for hours on end. At the end of four days I was let go.

Not So Lucky

The others in my cell were not so lucky. There were about 25 of us—men and women—in one room about 30 by 12 feet. To watch us there were more than 25 policemen. Our food was a quarter of a pound of bread a day and as much water as we wanted. For sleeping, we had a total of four small benches.

Those among us who were suspected of being franc-tireurs (snipers) were chained to the wall, hands and feet tied so they could not move. Every day several people were taken away for a few hours for a concentration camp for political torture. I saw with my own eyes one man who was tortured for three hours every day for the four days I was there.

One and a half to two years after the defeat of Germany is considered the absolute minimum (for Japan's defeat).—OWI report.

The tortures? I saw one man who was black from the base of his skull to his ankles from being whipped with a bull whip. He had over 50 open wounds on his back.

Sometimes it was a mass beating up, as many as 15 men mutilating a single man. Sometimes the torture was more "refined". For instance, a man's arms were chained behind his back, his feet chained together and to the chain on his arms behind his back. An ordinary chair was turned upside down so that its four feet stuck up in the air. Then the chained man was thrown up and over again until he passed out. Then water was thrown on his face until he could be revived for further torture.

The only medication we had to give him when he was returned to our cell was water. Nothing more. Women fared worse. They received not only these tortures but others so disgusting and so savage that I cannot write about them here. The burning of women's breasts with cigarettes was only the beginning.

So much for those who lived. Somehow, miraculously, many persons thus tortured did live—many of them crippled for life. As for those who died, let me tell you the story which we found when we took the Fort de Romainville on August

I won't go into the general conditions of the camp. The filth, squalor, overcrowding, under-nourishment, and general bestial conditions of German concentration camps are too well known to bear repetition here. I will only say this was no exception.

We found 11 bodies—10 men and a woman—horribly mangled, heaped together and not even buried. All the bodies showed signs of beating before being shot. Most of the feet were bound together with barbed wire. The Germans had used explosive bullets to mow these human beings down. As a result there was nothing left of what had been the heads and chests where these bullets had entered and exploded. We could see that the men and the woman had been shot while on their knees, their arms around each other's necks.

We don't have to guess about these things. Like the 50 people kept in confinement in a small, lightless dungeon in the fort and then moved down, en masse, by machine guns. But my story concerns only things which I myself have seen. Tortures and acts of cruelty which seem unbelievable—until you have seen them—were not once, but many times, Canada must believe them, too.

French Salute For Captured Nazi

Seized in the drive towards the Nazi frontier and back to Toulon for imprisonment, Nazi prisoners get a hot reception from the newly liberated French. While Allied soldiers protect the Germans from any actual harm, they have found it impossible to prevent expressions of hatred by the recently oppressed victims of Germany. This woman gives a running Nazi a harmless, but doubtless soul-satisfying, kick with her light sandals.

Sweet Caps called "MARVELLOUS" in Mother of Parliaments

According to the British Hansard—which chronicles the daily doings of the British House of Commons—a member, on November 30, 1943, referred to Sweet Caporals as "... THOSE MARVELLOUS SWEET CAPORAL CIGARETTES WHICH ARE SUPPLIED TO THE CANADIAN FORCES." Sweet Caps go everywhere our forces go in this global war—and everywhere Canadians are envied for them. Sweet Caps are popular with Canadians over here, over there, everywhere.

SWEET CAPORAL CIGARETTES

"The purest form in which tobacco can be smoked"

It's always the first question

People always ask the same question when a man dies—

"How did he leave his family fixed?"

Unless there is life insurance or other special provision, the death of the breadwinner cuts off the family income leaving a string of sad consequences.

Most people want to do the right thing by their dependents. Evidence of this is found in the fact that in the past year 85,000 Canadians bought 125 million dollars of life insurance from this Company.

There is tremendous satisfaction in knowing that your family is assured of financial security. Ask a London Life representative to outline such a program for you.

FROM THE PEN OF E. T. WRITERS

THE HONOR ROLL

Girded for war these gallant men
Arose, and armed for battle when
The call went forth that Freedom's cause
Her tranquil bounds, abiding laws,
Were threatened by an envious breed
Who with loud mouthings hid their greed
And sought to make of liberty
A shackled thing of slavery.

All honor to our fighting men!
The fends of war who ride again
Find them between us and the foe,
Their breast the shield that takes the blow;
Their morn of life, their youthful might,
Encompassed by the hellish night
Of battle, where with ev'ry breath
They keep a rendezvous with death.

All honor to our missing men!
The men who'll not come home again;
How gauge the height, the breadth, the price
In measure of their sacrifice?
May kindly heaven guard their fame —
And keep inscribed each deathless name;
Their Father's hand crown tenderly
Each brow with immortality!

Lost for awhile the gallant band
Held captive in each foreign land,
Wherein despite the Captor's frown
Their valiant spirit carries on —
Down marching ranks of nationhood
Their muted call is understood;
Ah, well we know how truly great
Are they who languish there and wait.

From land and sea and air they came,
To sign our golden book of fame
And wave in passing cheerily
Greetings old friend! Remember me?
They've fallen in as oft before —
Rallied their shattered ranks once more
And bravely at attention stand
A Guard of Honor in the land.

Then scan with pride the Honor Roll
And pledge beneath that silent scroll
More eloquent than any voice,
Our faith, our aid, — with them rejoice, —
And as they march to Victory
Pray that the God of battles may
Reward the "blood, the tears, the sweat"
Remembering; lest we forget.

Sherbrooke.

“Everything the Canadian troops have done
...they have done magnificently”

“MONTY!”

The name strikes a chord of admiration in the heart of every man and woman in the British Empire : : in all United Nations. It spells defeat and disaster for the German people.

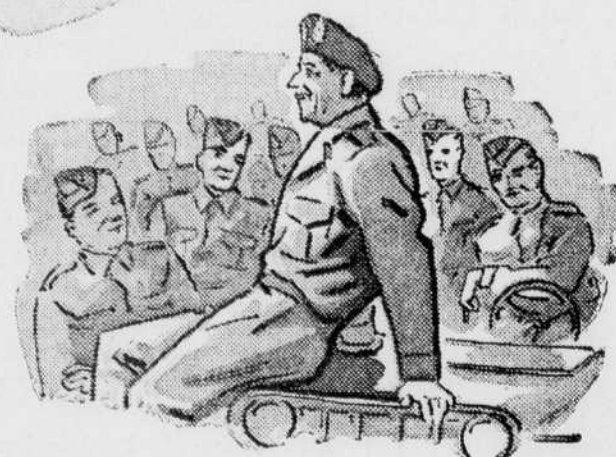

For Monty knows how to win—if he has enough good men, enough good planes, guns and tanks and shells.

“Today,” Monty has said, “a battle must be won before it is fought.” And in the pages of history, the term, “Monty Barrage” will be used to describe his essential preliminary to attack : : thousands of guns pouring destruction on the enemy. And if our Allied Commanders are to keep mounting a succession of offensives, supplies of planes, tanks, guns and shells must never slacken.

Canada's Victory Loans are essential to provide the money to build these weapons. The 7th Victory Loan will soon commence. To make it a success, every Canadian must play a part on the home front worthy of the heroic efforts of the men and women bearing the brunt of battle.

Buy One More Bond Than Before

By doing this you will create a nest-egg of savings for the future. And remember, now that Compulsory Savings have been relinquished : : an additional 70 million dollars must be raised in Canada through Voluntary Savings in Victory Bonds. Since the war is now in its most intensive stage, Canada's over-all borrowing must increase by some 320 million dollars. Plan now to buy at least one more bond than before.

Field Marshal
Sir Bernard Law Montgomery,
C.B., D.S.O.

The idol of his troops is this keen-eyed man in the black beret whom all the world knows as “Monty.” “A good general must never lose,” he says. That is why he never launches a campaign until he is certain of victory. Then it's attack, attack, attack! Re-form and attack again. “But don't forget!” warns Monty in characteristic language, “supplies must come up... up... up!”
