Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL
May 6 to 12

Skies are a deeper blue and gardens explode with colour as tulips and other bulbs put on their spring show. Days relatively warm and misty in the south, with some possibility of thunder showers. Temperature range 30 - 75° F or higher in the south, but cooler in the mountains.

Mainly sunny and warm for the middle of the week, although some places will have local night showers or cold morning mists, even flurries for the Laurentians and the north. Lilac and choke cherries bloom in the south, as do wild plums and apples, and some sowing and planting may be undertaken, but next week would be preferable.

Let's discuss the RCAF

By Larry McInnis

This week let's talk about the RCAF, past, present and future.

The weekend saw 425 Alouette Squadron disbanded because the CF-100 fighters were out of date. This is a famous Canadian squadron with an illustrious record during World War II. It was disbanded after the war, but reformed in 1954 when it was equipped with CF-100s.

No doubt it will be re-formed again at some later date.

But it is important to note that this is about the first time the government has admitted that the CF-100 is not only becoming obsolete—it is obsolete.

The question now comes up: what are the authorities planning to do about the home fighter squadrons? If they have disbanded one, there is good reason to believe all will eventually be disbanded in Canada.

The European squadrons equipped with CF-100s will be re-equipped with CF-104s, but no provision has been made for home squadrons. Rumor had it that they would get F-101 Voodoos in a deal by which the U.S. would take Canadair CL-44s, but this has apparently fallen through once and for all. Latest word is that the Americans have been definitely, and publicly, advised not to consider the CL-44.

We suppose that eliminates the F-101 at the same time.

Now, back to the remaining CF-100 squadrons scattered throughout Air Defence Command!

I've been on duty at many of these stations while in the RCAF, and all these squadrons are at a high point of training and efficiency. In Europe, RCAF teams continually are top winners in NATO air exercises—the pilots and navigator, are among the best in the world, as RCAF pilots always have been.

But they are shackled with the old, shop-worn CFs.

It is doubtful if the CF-100 could catch a DC-8 if the latter didn't want to get caught. And so, we see, there is no place in the defence pattern anywhere for the CF-100s.

By 1939 the German ME-109 was the finest fighter in the world. Shortly thereafter, the Spitfire almost approached it, but the latter could never turn like a 109. The Luftwaffe made a mistake, however, by adding and adding to the craft until it was not much more than a lumbering box in the air. The Spit, though, went through many changes, but each change was for the better until nine models were in the skies, each one intended for a different purpose.

There are still those who will say that for performance—not speed, range, armament, altitude—but performance in the air, the Spitfire is still the best aircraft in the world. Of course, it is obvious that there is no place for it today because performance is not enough.

It's the same with the CF-100. It never was much, but it's old and tired now. Let's get a new one, but let's get it now! Give the RCAF the tools!

In Ottawa last weekend I noticed that the Rockcliffe Flying Club was back in operation at RCAF Station Rockcliffe. With pride I mention I helped it off the ground a few years ago. It later disappeared for a while. Glad to see it back again.

The Montreal Flying Club will hold its annual open house May 13 and 14. For those interested in seeing private flying in operation, the MFC is the place. Remember, it's the one on Bois Franc road west of Laurentian boulevard.

Westmount boy lost at sea

Chris Coristine, 18 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Coristine, 4345 Montrose avenue, is missing and presumed lost aboard a brigantine which sank in the Gulf of Mexico 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Chris, who had completed his senior matriculation and planned to study engineering at McGill in the fall, was attending the Ocean Academy. The square rigged vessel served as a floating classroom. Considered too young for university last fall, his parents gave him this year off.

Mr. Coristine said Thursday, "There is not much hope. It has been two days now. We are just waiting for official word from the U.S. Coast Guard. They are still searching. We won't make up our minds about any service until we get official word but I am afraid the worst has happened".

Unity Club Talent Parade performs here May 19, 20

By MAURICE MARIASINE

In preparation for the forthcoming International Talent Show at Lake Placid, New York on May 7, the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade conducted their final dress rehearsal at the club on Tuesday and the results achieved point to an outstanding performance for the 1,000 Rotarians from all over the world who will be in attendance.

The "Show" with a continental flavor, will consist of some 21 acts and in addition to Canada and the United States, the following countries will be included in the large repertoire of songs and dances: France, England, Italy, Spain, Germany, Ireland, Scotland, Hawaii and South America.

The group leaves Unity Headquarters on Sunday morning at 10 a.m. and will return on Monday afternoon. While at Lake Placid, they will be accommodated at the Marcy Hotel.

MORE SHOWS ON TAP

Members of our community will have an opportunity to see the Talent Parade in action at the Unity Boys' Club on Friday and Saturday, May 19 and 20. The Friday evening performance will be exclusively for adults while the Saturday afternoon show will be for the children. Tickets are available at the club or from members of the cast.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will hold their annual Food Sale and the Hobby Show Exhibition will also take place in conjunction with the Annual Variety Show.

TRACK AND FIELD

Entry forms for the Unity Boys' Club Track and Field Meet which takes place at the Westmount Athletic Grounds on Saturday, May 27, have been distributed to the following organizations: Rosemount Boys' Club, University Settlement, Negro Community Centre, Point St. Charles Boys' Club, East End Boys' Club, Lions Boys' Club of Montreal, Westmount YMCA, Dawson Boys' Club of Verdun, Victoria Town Boys' Club and the Holy Cross Boys' Club.

SPELLING "BEE"

The following club members have entered in the forthcoming Spelling Bee at the club. Bradley Syvret, Jimmy Hotton, Juvenal Fernandes, Billy Holden, Lawrence Crouch, Kevin O'Halloran, Roland Lebrasseur, Lawrence Arbie and Andrew Smith. Many more are expected to enter.

DRUM & BUGLE BAND

Rehearsals have been regularly held for Unity's Drum and Bugle Band. The following boys have been attending: Billy Standing, Arthur Driver, Don Taylor, Robert Vaux, Bobby Johnston, John Galley, Alan Jones, Gary Taylor, Brian Vaux, Truman Neilson, Leslie Johnston, Charlie McMahon.

Kevin O'Halloran and Harold Witham.

UNITY MAJORETTES

Every Wednesday evening, the Unity Majorettes under the direction of Carole Gill and Margaret Smythe, former Alouette Majorettes, are practicing baton twirling and marching. Those in attendance each week are: Enid Gillespie, Susan Fein, Patsy Dargavel, Susan Warren, Rosaleen Mullen, Anne Marie Williams, Lise Boulanger, Lucy Lefebvre, Jeanine Viau, Lise Pelletier, Ellen McManus, Cheryl Hogan, Shirley Painchaud, Sylvia McManus, Marlene Doherty, Linda Brown and Doris Clarke.

BASKETBALL HOUSE LEAGUE

Four teams have been formed and the players selected from the various age categories who played basketball during the winter season. Games are played every Monday evening and Saturday morning.

SOCCER

Two soccer teams have been entered in the Montreal leagues. The 12 and under group will be coached by Benedict Fernandes, Douglas Wright and Andrew Fernandes. The 14 years of age and under group will be handled by Douglas Gavin and Gregory Fernandes. Both teams have been working out in the gymnasium for the past several months and are eagerly awaiting the change over to the great outdoors.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL

Another group of boys waiting for the order to play ball on the baseball diamond is Unity's Little Leaguers, the Indians, who are looking for a stellar year in the

"HELP WANTED," a play, the best production of the Jewish Junior Welfare League, will be presented at Westmount Junior High in the Auditorium Tuesday, May 9, at 8 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Westmount High School Alumnae Association. It deals with a pertinent and most timely subject—the working mother, and family reaction to working wives and mothers. The public is invited to attend. Free of charge. The play was written by Margie F. Watson and Irving Brown. After the play, prizes will be awarded to winners of the Marathon Bridge, one of the projects carried out by the Association to raise money for a yearly scholarship for Westmount High graduates.

RUTH TOMLINSON WILSON, recently of 201 Metcalfe avenue, presently visiting England, has painted a portrait of a boy scout from Chelsea. She donated the picture to the Ninth Chelsea Scouts Troop, and Richard Gilman, 12, who sat for the portrait, gave his modelling fee. The painting is scheduled to hang in Baden Powell House, which will be opened in July by Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth.

YVES THERIAULT, author of award winning "AGAKUK" which goes into its tenth printing this week, is preparing to leave for Toronto where he will participate in the Conference of Arts program.

GILTA CAISERMAN, another Westmount artist, whose painting appears on MacLean's Magazine cover, says that it reminds her of her childhood years.

MORLEY CALVERT, will direct the Westmount High School Band during the early part of the evening, at the Annual Meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association to be held Tuesday, May 9, at 8.15 p.m.

U.S. sharing with Canada of the cost of paving the Alaska highway would not further endanger our national sovereignty. Canada and the U.S. have a mutual interest in paving and upgrading the highway as they have in the development of the Columbia River of St. Lawrence Seaway, and there have been few complaints on cost-sharing arrangements for these projects. — Grande Prairie (Alta.) SOLD to Selwyn House School: by the Westmount Protestant School Board the 26 year old granite building will change hands as soon as the official approval of the transaction has been obtained from the Quebec Department of Education.

Senior high sold to Selwyn, King's, Queen's up for sale

Sale of the Westmount senior high school building, Cote St. Antoine road, to Selwyn House School was disclosed Monday by John G. Bourne, 25 Ramezay road, chairman, Selwyn board of governors. Ratification of the sale by the Quebec Department of Education is expected.

The sale price will be announced later. The private day school for boys admits only that it paid more for the Westmount property than it got from sale of the school at 3458 Redpath street to McGill University.

Hugh Horsworthy, 575 Roslyn avenue, treasurer of Selwyn, says he "heard the old senior high school was up for sale three weeks and one day ago today. We commenced negotiations exactly three weeks ago."

Said Mr. Bourne, "We had been looking for some time for a building centrally located with all sports facilities available. The Westmount building is just right for us."

ICE RINK

"The only internal alterations we will make are to install a dining room and kitchen. Outside, we will build a full sized rink in the present parking space. We hope to put it in for next winter." "We will move in this summer and start our first school year in our new quarters next fall. We will have more room than we do now, two more rooms and all of them much larger than some we have now."

ADD GRADES 10, 11

"Right now we only go through the ninth grade. We plan to add grade 10 in 1962 and grade 11 in 1963. Eventually, we may add grade 12 but that is not at all definite."

Robert Speirs, headmaster since 1945 of the 53 year old school, said, "Yes, we think it will be a good thing for the school and a good thing for Westmount too to have us there. I would judge 50% of our enrollment is of Westmount boys."

QUEEN'S, KING'S FOR SALE

The students of Westmount senior high school will join Westmount junior high school students in the new Westmount high school at St. Catherine and Hallowell streets in the fall. The old junior high school on Academy road will be closed for the school year 1961-62 while undergoing alteration for use as an elementary school.

The students of Queen's and King's elementary schools will go to the converted junior high school in the fall of 1962. Queen's and King's are up for sale now, subject to occupancy during the next school year.

Scooter slams Caddy

A collision between a motor scooter and a Cadillac occurred Tuesday morning when McGill student Terry Rosenbaum, 19, 60 Aberdeen avenue, was unable to stop his scooter in time to avoid striking the right front door of a car driven by Mrs. Leonora Vocisano, 498 Mount Pleasant avenue.

According to the police reports, Terry said he was proceeding south on Argyle avenue on his motor scooter when the accident happened, that he "sounded his horn and applied his brakes but I could not stop in time to avoid hitting the Vocisano car crossing the intersection of Argyle and Montrose avenues."

WMA elects officers at May 11 meeting

Election of officers will take place at the annual general meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association next Tuesday, 8.15 p.m., in the Concert Room, Victoria Hall.

The nominating committee consisting of retiring president, H. G. Merrill, immediate past presidents, J. G. Harper and F. W. Gross, executive committee members, R. W. Coristine, and A. S. Keater, and Association members, A. I. Matheson, J. Corbett, H. W. Hingston and G. Meunier recommends the following for office:

President — J. Murray Savage, 657 Murray Hill. Vice-president — Mrs. J. A. Hodgson, 18 Edgehill road. Vice-president — R. W. Coristine.

Executive committee members for re-election:—

Served four terms — P. Edgell, W. P. Gall, G. H. Kohl and J. H. Richer.

Served three terms — J. C. Barry, Mrs. J. Birks, Crosby Lewis, Dr. L. Branton, Mrs. J. S. Howlett and Mrs. J. Porteus.

Served two terms — R. M. Eversson, R. L. Hunter, B. A. Janelle, Mrs. B. T. Job, A. M. Minnion, J. Stairs and Mrs. T. R. Meighen.

Served one term — C. Aspler, P. T. M. Barrett, H. C. Barritt, D. M. Chenoweth, M. D. Collier, W. A. Eversfield, J. B. Francis, B. S. Russell, J. W. Sharp, F. A. Tees, A. P. Wickham, A. L. Williams, Dr. M. Winspear, A. Usher, Mrs. C. J. Malloy, Mrs. J. A. D. Falkner and Mrs. H. E. Reusing.

Proposed new executive committee members — John Corbett, Peter Kerrigan, Leeds Nelson, Peter Gregory, Gustave Meunier, Dr. J. B. Conroy, Reverend K. B. Keele, Thomas Arnold, O. R. Macklen, C. S. Alexander, John Pepper, Reuben Spector, Clement Keyes, Mrs. M. A. Peterson and Mrs. J. M. Fairbairn.

Following installation of the incoming officers election will take place of two members from the Association at large to serve on the Civic Nominating Committee.

Members of the City Council will be present to answer questions on the state of the City in the absence of the Mayor who is presently in England.

New business before the Association will then be taken up followed by adjournment and refreshments.

PTA meeting Monday to feature panel

The last meeting until fall of the Congregation Shaar Hashomayim PTA will take place Monday, May 8, at 8.15 p.m. in the Community Hall.

It will take the form of a party highlighted by a panel quiz entitled "What's My Secret?" Participating will be both parents and teachers.

Moderator of the panel is Mrs. Ted Levine. Panelists include Mrs. M. Abrams, Mrs. R. Goldbloom, J. A. Lyone Heppner, and Lewis Manolson.

The panel will try to discover the "secrets" of the teacher guest challengers.

In charge of program arrangement is Mrs. S. Kaplan. Refreshments will be served.

WE SAY

WMA's activities designed for you

PARTICIPATION in the activities of the Westmount Municipal Association by every Westmouter is the ideal. Of course, like most ideals it is not likely to be realized 100 per cent.

If you have been intending to join but just haven't got around to it, put this paper down right now and write out a check for Two Dollars, put it in an envelope and then take it out and mail it to Mrs. E. W. Scroggie, 7085 Fielding avenue, Montreal.

Now, that done, reserve Tuesday night for the annual meeting of the Association at Victoria Hall. Go to the meeting and if anything is puzzling you, speak up. Offer your services. Write letters. If you see anything that needs doing, do it.

We believe most firmly in people exercising their rights as citizens by meeting their responsibilities as citizens. The people you will meet will be all kinds but mostly they will be individuals who have discovered it is both fun and interesting to do their share as Westmouters.

If you like the way things are run here, participate to be sure Westmount will stay that way. If you don't, participate and let your voice be heard.

Don't rely on someone else carrying the burden for you.

Individuals and the gang

SCHOOL's in the home stretch.

Less than two months from now, the last exam will be written and all the gang will be on vacation.

What's this mean?

It means work, now.

This is the time when John and Mary are snapping right out of it and saying to themselves: if I'm going to succeed, not just in school but in life itself, I've got to get cracking. I've got to get working. I've got to pass those June exams. I've got to do better than just pass.

Sad thing is that other Johns and Marys are not snapping out of it. Some think it the respectable thing

YOU SAY

Editorial comments 'uncalled for'

Sir: I must say, I think your editorial comments about the way the Westmount City Council operates the affairs of the city are just a trifle uncalled for. For your information, we have a council-city manager type of government. Much of the complex matters necessarily involved in the running of our city are carried on by city employees during working hours. Ideal as such situation must appear to the Examiner the entire business of the running of the city cannot be subjected to the scrutiny of the press or the people. There are discretionary matters also which are better not aired in public.

We like the way our government is run. Like democracy, we don't necessarily know what is good about it that makes it operate so much better than the governments of many of the other island municipalities but whatever it is, I think we had better just leave things the way they are. If we change one little thing we may just be pulling out the keystone that holds the whole structure in its present state.

We have been fortunate in having available a constant supply of public-spirited, honest and extremely capable men who are willing to give their time and knowledge to the community in which they live. Please stop throwing sour grapes at them. All you succeed in doing is irk those whom you should be supporting.

to be one of the common gang who, at best, muddle through or even get such disgracefully low grades, despite adequate mental equipment, that they actually fail.

The sad Johns and Marys are a product of the gang or "herd" instinct.

They also are products of homes where nothing is done to discourage this herd instinct by giving them the self-importance of individuals; of parents who somehow are content, even proud, to see their children part of the gang.

The "gang," of course, is simply the end product of a lot of indifferent homes and indifferent parents, of which there are far too many in the Great West End.

The choice is still the youngsters', even if it has to be despite the gang, the home and the parents.

Vic Hall copes with tractors, dishes and kids, says Dutton

Victoria Hall, in Westmount is just two years older than its 61 year old manager, Clarence Dutton, and already it is an institution known around the world. Named for Queen Victoria, the original building was built during the 60th year of her reign.

"We are always getting people here just off the boat who were told by some friend to go to the dances in Victoria Hall in Westmount when they get to Montreal," says Clarence Dutton.

The genial smooth faced manager has more than just his position as a claim to local fame. He was born in Westmount "went to every public school in Westmount, Roslyn, Queens, Kings, Argyle and Westmount Junior and Senior high schools" and "was the first kid in the swim tank of the YMCA in 1911 when it opened. They had a special membership in the fall of 1911 of $1 so I joined first."

"My family lived up on Grosvenor avenue at 348 until I was 18 when they moved to N.D.G. right next to Farmer Decarie's melon patch. I worked for the Bank of Toronto for a year before going to work in the Treasurer's office in City Hall when I was 18. Back in those days City Hall was up in the same building where the Police Station is now."

"I was paymaster from 1918 until 1939. First I worked under Arthur L. Bell, secretary-treasurer of the town, and then under C. W. Houston, who held the same office. Then I came over to Victoria Hall as manager."

"Probably everything you want to know is right here. Let me show you. I'm keeping a scrapbook on Westmount and hope to write a book someday. The first Victoria Hall was built in 1898 as a community hall for the use of Westmount citizens. It was a red brick building which was destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon, March 8, 1924. Nobody knows what caused the fire."

"On June 4, 1925 the new building, which is the one we are in now, was formally opened by Governor-General and Lady Byng. The Mayor and Aldermen sent out formal invitations to the ceremony and the reception held that evening in the Hall." He showed me a yellowed invitation. "There probably aren't too many of these still around."

"In the early days Victoria Hall used to be quite the meeting place for the young fellows of Westmount. In the first building, the one that was burned down, there was a swimming pool, bowling alleys, which were later converted into a shooting range, a billiard room and a gymnasium besides all of the accommodations which we have in the present building."

"In its earlier days, Victoria Hall was the home of the Westmount Athletic Association and the home of the Westmount Highland Cadets. Some of the boys who spent their spare time in the old Vic Hall have well known names. A few of them were Art Ross, whose son manages the Bruins just as his father did before him, Lester Patrick, who is a wheel with the New York Rangers, and Cooper Smeaton, a chief referee with the National Hockey League."

"We keep pretty busy. We average 1,300 events a year and during the war years ranged as high as 1,600 events a year. We wash a lot of dishes here, sometimes as many pieces in one day as a busy restaurant will in a week."

"There are a lot of clubs that meet here regularly. The Westmount Stamp Club meets here every week. So does the Westmount Rotary Club. It has met here every week since May of 1930. Then there are the Westmount Women's Club, the Dickens Society, St. David's Society, The Caledonian Society, St. John's Ambulance and the Masonic Order of the Eastern Star and Chapters."

"All that noise you hear right now are the kids who are participating in the Quebec Musical festival which is going on right now."

"We get a lot of commercial rentals, sales meetings, exhibitions, things of that nature. Everybody pays except Westmount municipal bodies."

"No, it does not pay for itself. Everyone seems to think it is a gold mine but it isn't. The rentals we charge defray current expenses but that is all."

"Our parking is ample for most purposes. Yes, we get a lot of complaints about parking because people park here who shouldn't but there is lots of parking around here up on the side streets."

"We don't let the place get run down. We are always doing maintenance work. We spent a lot of money here last year, around $120,000."

"The big item was the new heating unit. We changed from steam heat to hot water with each room on separate thermostatic control. The Oak and Green Rooms have been fully air-conditioned. New ventilating systems have been installed in all the other rooms."

"Other items of expense include new vinyl asbestos floors laid in the Oak Room, the Green Room and the banquet hall."

"Every year we paint about one third of the building. This year we had the banquet hall walls done in this new plastic multi-color plastic surfacing that is shot from a gun on to the walls. It covers up all the defects much better than ordinary paint."

"We are proud of Victoria Hall. There is no other hall that has all its advantages. It is well located. The Oak Room, Green Room, Banquet Hall and Club Room each have their own kitchens and checkrooms so that people attending one affair won't get in the way of the people at another."

"When you total the capacity of those rooms with the capacities of the Concert Hall and the Lodge Room, we can handle 1,500 people seated at one time. We have six pianos, one in each room."

"We can handle quite a few different situations. Once we brought five farm tractors in here from the street and put one of them on a turntable up on the stage. Another time, we had brought in three four-ton switch controls for use in powerhouses. The movers were here all day on that one with big winches and cranes. I guess you gather our floors can stand a lot of weight."

"We run the place with 13 permanent employees plus the ladies in the checkrooms who bring it to about 18 employees on deck at all time. We get extra help from time to time but that is on special occasions."

"We have someone here 24 hours a day policing the place though it is only open for rentals from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. That is so things can be left here all night. In the summer during July and August if nothing is in the building we close it up at night. We have no dances here in the summer as it would be too noisy with the windows open."

"Let me see. The Children's Theatre puts on plays here three or four times a year."

"The Westmount Municipal Association, which meets here too, placed the World War II honor rolls in the Hall."

"I think I've told you just about everything."

A cup of tea with cream and three lumps of sugar concluded the interview.

'Deficit spending ended' Mayor

The city reserve fund was reduced to $194,000 Monday night when Council approved a charge of $51,568 against the fund, representing the excess of expenditure over revenue for last year.

Mayor Cushing remarked upon the motion by Alderman Frank B. Common, 157 Edgehill road, for adoption of the financial statements for 1960 and the charge against the reserve under By-law 436 prior to its adoption, pointing out that the statements have been in the hands of Councilors for the last two or three weeks.

He went on, "This deficit will reduce the reserve fund to just under $200,000, about $194,000. There have been successive reductions in the amount of the reserve for the past two or three years. However, we hope to end 1961 with a surplus instead of a deficit."

Snow melting plant bid accepted, ready in July

City Council Monday night, upon the motion of Alderman P. A. Oimet, accepted a $43,370 tender by Louis Donolo, Inc. for construction of a snow melting plant at Glen road and committed $65,875 from the Light and Power Department Depreciation Reserve to the project. The Donolo bid was the lowest of 11 received.

The Council's commitment includes a $4,555 contingency fund, $2,180 for a design change requested by the Montreal Water Department after the call for tenders and $15,770 for work to be done by city work forces.

Robert Day, City Engineer, estimated the total cost of the snow melting pond when completed at $130,000. Earlier, the Council committed itself to the purchase of the heating plant to be installed.

Construction by Louis Donolo, Inc. will be finished in July. The Engineering Department will then proceed with testing its capacity and performance.

Said Robert Day, "This is the initial stage. After July we should be able to melt 50% of the snow removed from the streets of Westmount. If all goes well we will proceed with further construction so that after 18 months we hope we can process all of the snow."

"This pond is unique in that it is the first of its size and capacity. Also, it incorporates in its design equipment for removing sand and sludge. These features have been tried and tested but the pond is certainly the first of its kind."

He explained the design change requested by the Montreal Water Department as one "to have additional valves put on to prevent snow water backing up into the drinking water".

Work to be done by the city work forces includes grading, paving, fencing and lighting of the area and provision for a sound absorber for a 200 h. p. turbo-compressor. Mr. Day assured Council, purchase of the sound absorber will be finalized only upon completion of testing by the city engineering staff.

Norman Dawe, City Manager, advised Council of decisions obtained from the federal and provincial governments that the project does not fall within their definitions of winter works which would entitle the city to subsidies.

Civic affairs studied at first hand by high school current events group Westmount high school Current Events Club visited City Council meeting Monday night. The group, headed by Cecelia Leslie, 509 Clarke avenue, president, and Philip Isenman, 21 Gordon Crescent, vice-president, arrived in time for the meeting at 8 p.m. and remained to the end at 3:50.

Following confirmation of the April minutes, Mayor Cushing welcomed the 20 boys and girls. After asking Cecelia to stand up, he remarked, "She looks like her mother".

The Mayor went on to say that, "What the students were about to see was a fairly representative council meeting". He complimented the young people on their interest in government, particularly in municipal affairs.

Then Alderman Ouimet moved the approval of redvisions of the properties known as 53 and 55 Belvedere road into single lots. Mayor Cushing explained this was a fairly routine matter done at the request of property owners. The motion carried without discussion.

Alderman Drury asked for a commitment of $960 to cover the cost of office furniture to equip the two additional civilian employees in the Police Department with desks, chairs, typewriters and filing cabinet. The motion passed without discussion after Mayor Cushing explained, "These employees are the ones hired last month to relieve police officers for active police duties."

Next, Alderman Common moved confirmation of payment of $25 to Jonathan D. Mosby, Roselle, Illinois, for damage to his car December 29, 1960 while parked in front of 27 Chesterfield avenue. He explained this was the only claim during 1960 paid by the General Manager without prior approval by the Council. Some years ago the Manager was authorized to settle motor vehicle claims against the City up to $25 and obtain confirmation thereof after the end of the year.

Alderman Ouimet moved payment from the insurance reserve of $123.50 to the Light and Power Department to pay for damages to a light standard struck by the chute of a snow blower operating during a storm. Mayor Cushing explained, "It is really just a transfer of a charge from one department to another". The motion carried without further discussion.

Alderman Common submitted a list of accounts for March, 1961 which was approved without discussion.

Then, Alderman Ouimet moved the commitment of $180 to provide lunch facilities for male members of the City Hall Staff.

This was approved without discussion.

Alderman Drury moved the commitment of $400 for highway-type traffic signals at the intersection of Cedar and Mount Pleasant avenues. He explained the type of lights now at this intersection are confused by motorists northbound on Mount Pleasant with the lights visible at The Boulevard. The motion carried.

Alderman Drury also moved for commitment of $515 to cover the cost of a traffic controller with limited time delay left turn to be installed at the intersection of Westmount and Grosvenor avenues. He explained in answer to questions, "There is a very real problem from the point of view of safety patrolling." The Variety is claimed to be the spice of life, and it is a lot more than that to a stamp collector. A variety, even a minute one, is what the collector is constantly on the lookout for. Modern printing methods have eliminated the possibility of varieties to a great extent, though once in a while it happens. You have to go back to the old days of engraved plates, so easily damaged, to find a really fertile field. Even then, you have a job of work to do.

Take your Scott's catalogue and turn to the Danish West Indies. From 1873 to 1896 they issued what are known as the bi-colored cents; take a look at the varieties listed and there are quite a few varieties NOT listed. In the 3c there is a plate flaw. It occurs on one stamp, the 78th, on most sheets of 100. You will find broken letters. You will find dented frames. You can look for differences in figures — thin nines — narrow fives — fives with large top or with a long straight top. You will have no difficulty in finding the word cents with a dot or period between the T. and S. on the 10c stamp. In the surcharges from 1887 to 1902, you can look for double surcharges — broken figures etc.

You can look for the error of 1895 when a one cent stamp was surcharged 10c instead of a 50c stamp being surcharged 10c. Apparently only one sheet was overprinted of the error. Scott's do not list this item; in fact they have been pretty lax in their cataloguing of the Danish West Indies. Considering that the Danish West Indies were sold to the United States in 1917 and that the remainders of the early issues were purposely destroyed by fire, I am of the opinion that these stamps are grossly under-catalogued. There just cannot be as many around as the catalogue prices would indicate.

Collectors of the Danish West Indies should remember that from 1866 to 1877 British stamps were used at St. Thomas, the Capital. These can easily be recognized by the special cancellation which consisted of the number C.51 in either a vertical or horizontal oval.

Taking everything into consideration, I would say that for the collector who wants real pleasure and relaxation, no country offers more than the Danish West Indies. Moreover, it must be obvious that the investment value of such a collection has vast potentialities. If you are already collecting Danish West Indies, examine very carefully your copies of Scott's No. 13 — the 50 cent dull purple. You may come across one with a damaged 'E' in the word cents. The middle bar is missing and the lower bar is broken off about half way. So far, I know of only one with this variety but there could be others. Will you let me know if you find one — it may be most valuable?

Home and School conference held today, tomorrow

Representing Westmount on the board of the Quebec Federation of Protestant Home and School Associations, meeting today and tomorrow at McGill University, is Mrs. J. B. Fisher, 637 Victoria avenue. The 17th annual conference of the Federation is being held in the McConnell Engineering Building.

Mrs. Fisher is also vice-president of the Roslyn elementary school Home and School Association.

Roslyn Home and School delegates to the conference are B. B. Hodgson, 599 Roslyn avenue, president, D. Y. Novinger, 560 Clarke avenue, vice-president, and Mrs. Shirley Kossman, 426 Mount Stephen avenue, secretary.

Recently elected president of the new Westmount High School Home and School Association, John Linnell, Willow avenue, and Mrs. Don Matheson, 369 Clarke avenue, newly elected president of Queen's Home and School Association, will attend the conference.

Mrs. J. Churcher, 12 Ingleside avenue, of King's, chairman of the Federation publications committee, will be there as will Mrs. Pamela Reddall, Roslyn, who continues as Federation executive secretary.

Principal named for high school

The Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal announced last week the transfer of Norman W. Wood, principal, Westmount Senior High School, to principal of the new Westmount High School.

J. D. Lawley, vice-principal of the senior high school, and D. N. McRae, vice-principal of the junior high school, are transferred to vice-principals of the new high school.

D. Trenholme, principal of Westmount Junior High School is transferred to principal of Sir Winston Churchill High School.

Caddy door hit by bus at Argyle

Another Cadillac got hit in Westmount on Tuesday when Donald Massed, 330 Hautrive street, St. Jovite, opened the door of his 1960 convertible parked in front of 4328 Sherbrooke street just as an autobus passed close by.

Mr. Massed told the police, according to their report, that when he was opening the door to get out "I noticed an autobus coming alongside me. I tried to close the door but was unable to do so in time."

Montreal Transportation Commission bus driver Francois Dion, 4598 de Lanavie street, stated, in police reports, "I was proceeding east on Sherbrooke street. When I arrived at Argyle avenue the auto in front of me stopped to make a left turn. I then pulled right and when I was alongside this car the driver opened the door and I struck it."

Laxton boy, 8, scared by taxi

Christopher Laxton, 8, 551 Grosvenor avenue, connected up with a Veteran's Taxi on The Boulevard last Friday afternoon around 5:30, but suffered no serious after-effects.

Larry Forgacs, 3270 Barclay avenue, told police he was proceeding east on The Boulevard, and that when he was passing the Roslyn avenue intersection a boy crossed The Boulevard in front of a MTC bus and ran into the side of his cab.

Christopher is reported by police as saying he was struck by the taxi. He was taken to Montreal Children's Hospital.

The swollen left ankle reported by Christopher to Westmount Police has subsided, and according to his father, A. L. Laxton, Christopher's most serious complaint is of having been frightened.

Car's rear fender strikes cab front

A U-turn on Sherbrooke street at 4:24 Monday afternoon turned out to be an expensive proposition for cab driver, Albert Joseph Parsons, 1911 St. Catherine street west, and Triumph driver Jean Schaeffer, 331 Clarke avenue. Points of impact were the front of the taxi and the left rear fender of the Triumph.

Parsons, according to police reports, said, "I was driving west on Sherbrooke street. Then I started to make a U-turn at Melville avenue. A car travelling east on Sherbrooke stopped for me. I proceeded with my U-turn and another car going east passed on the right side of the stopped car and struck the front of my car."

Schaeffer is reported by the police to have said, "I was travelling east on Sherbrooke street on the inside lane of traffic when a car travelling west on Sherbrooke attempted to make a U-turn. But on doing so he struck the left rear fender of my car."

Stone wall hit

Mrs. John Feher, 5309 Lucy avenue, reported to police on Saturday evening that at 7:15 p.m., "I was proceeding south on Belvedere road when between Civic number 51 and 49 I lost control of my auto and struck a stone wall".

The wall is on the property owned by G. D. Russel, 51 Belvedere road.

Let's play chess

Correspondence chess in Canada

By M. MOSS

A timely letter has been received from J. F. Cleeve, secretary of the Canadian Correspondence Chess Association. Mr. Cleeve points out that in these busy times, more chess players than ever before are continuing to enjoy the game through correspondence play, which in many ways is to be preferred to over-the-board play. Some of the advantages are:

- Calibre of play is better, as the participants have more time to consider their moves.
- They become familiar with different openings, since they may study them at leisure.
- Within certain limits, they play more or less when they feel like doing so, without having to wait for someone else to find the necessary free time for a game.
- They meet other players of varying strength, which affords them the pleasure of playing against someone much stronger than themselves.

- They participate in all sorts of tournaments.
- Cost of participation is very low indeed.
- Results appear in current rating lists.

The program of the Canadian Correspondence Chess Association is an ambitious one and includes, among other things:

- (a) Canadian Correspondence Chess Championship
- (b) Rating tournaments
- (c) Class tournaments
- (d) Restricted opening tournaments
- (e) Odds tournaments
- (f) Open tournaments
- (g) Individual private matches
- (h) Junior tournaments
- (i) Knock-out tournaments
- (j) Best games competitions
- (k) Matches with other National Associations.

Furthermore, the CCCA publishes a bulletin each month and this is sent free of charge to all members. The bulletin contains:

- (a) Current Rating Lists
- (b) Results of all completed games
- (c) Selected annotated games
- (d) Opening analysis
- (e) News of interest to members.

Annual membership fee is only $3. However, in order to entice new members, these will be accepted upon paying a reduced fee of $1.50! Tournament fee are normally only $1 per tournament.

For further information about the CCCA and for a free sample of their bulletin, write to:

Problem 17

(From Last Week's Monitor)

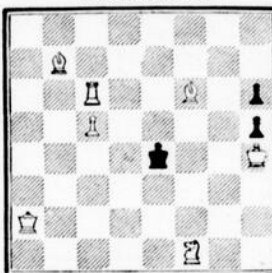

Mate in Two

The Black King, surrounded by so many White pieces, is checkmated on the second move after the key, 1. Q-R3. The variations follow:

- If Black tries KxR, then 2. Q-R2 mate;
- If PxR, then 2. Q-R8 mate;
- If P-K3, then 2. N-Q3 mate;
- If P-Q5, then 2. R-B5 mate;
- If N-any, then 2. QxP mate.

PROBLEM 18

MATE IN TWO

As the last problem was one with the King encircled by the White men, here is a position where the White pieces are somewhat more distant, yet nevertheless manage to mate in two. What is the key move?

Solution will appear in next week's column.

The West Hill High School intermediate band, under the direction of Boris Brott, won the Henry Morgan Trophy and took first place in the intermediate category at the Ottawa Competitive Music Festival last Saturday.

Westmount Senior High Band, under the direction of Morley Calvert, came second in the Senior section and the intermediate band, second in the Intermediate category.

The senior band at West Hill under J. A. Etienne, placed fourth in the Senior section.

In the Junior category, West Hill placed second, Monklands was in third place and Montreal West came fourth.

Platter Matter

Angel: Mattia Battistini, Opera Recital. COLH 116.

Part of a remarkable series of discs devoted to great artists of the past, under the caption 'Great Recordings of the Century,' this one presents Mattia Battistini the most celebrated Italian baritone of his day. Battistini's popularity was confined to Continental Europe as he crossed only once to the U.S., however he was the idol of Italy, Austria, Spain, Poland and Russia with his handsome bearing and rich, fluid baritone.

Possessing a strong voice with an unusually high range, Battistini could still give an outstanding account of himself even at the age of 68 as preserved on the last band of this disc. The recordings cover the span of 1903 to 1924 and include selections by Rossini, Rubenstein, Tchaikovsky, Verdi, Bellini, and Donizetti, supplemented by an excellent biography and program notes in booklet form. An interesting collector's item.

Angel: Mozart Horn Concertos. Dennis Brain with the Philharmonia Orchestra conducted by Herbert Von Karajan. 35092. The late Dennis Brain, member of a distinguished musical family, was the recognized exponent of that most difficult of instruments, the French horn, and to answer a request, it is a pleasure to recommend this instrumental disc for its superb virtuosity and the delight to be found in the composer's writing for this music. Like most Mozart, it is full of cheerful, delicate phrasing, in addition to intricate leaps and bounds, trills and runs, (set to hunting horn themes) to test the ability of the soloist. The golden tone and remarkable control of the performer in these four short concertos, makes this an honored disc for the symphonic collection.

Columbia: Two discs of popular classics featuring the renowned French pianist Robert Casadesus are recommended for their superb keyboard technique and general musical appeal.

On ML 5233 we hear Beethoven Sonatas No. 14 in C-sharp Minor, op. 27 No. 2 (Moonlight), No. 26 in E-flat Major, op. 81a (Les Adieux), No. 24 in F-sharp Major, Op. 78 (A Therese) and No. 23 in F-minor, Op. 57 (Appassionata) with Mr. Casadesus at the piano; and on ML 5594 with George Szell conducting the Columbia Symphony in Mozart Concertos Nos. 22 and 23 for Piano and Orchestra. Performance and recording are excellent.

Thespian emergency

Precautions taken by children's tutors of 'Little Princess'

The show must go on — and it does — with the Children's Theatre, even in the face of such catastrophes as measles or mumps.

The way to accomplish this leger-de-main is to rehearse three different casts for a production, and let the actors take turns in three performances held on separate days.

Then, if the leading actor or actress or even a bit player has the misfortune to catch chicken-pox on the crucial day, there's an eager understudy ready to jump in and fill the gap.

And it happened this week with the Children's Theatre production of "The Little Princess", when nine-year-old Carol Steinfeld, 5800 Westluxe road, stepped in to play "Becky the Maid" in the absence of the scheduled performer who was inopportunely stricken with measles.

Rehearsing three casts is no easy task, according to Children's Theatre directors, Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, but they feel it is worth the effort as more potential actors have a chance to prove their mettle on stage.

"The Little Princess", by Frances Hodgson Burnett, as presented by the children's theatre group, has been attracting hundreds of youthful spectators to Victoria Hall, Westmount, where the last show will be presented this Saturday at 2.30 p.m.

Pathetic story of poverty

A tale of wealth and sudden undeserved poverty, but all with a happy ending in store, the play concerns a little girl, "Sarah Carewe", whose mother has died, and whose wealthy father places her in an expensive boarding school where she is treated like a princess.

Lawyers come with bad tidings of Sarah's father's death, leaving her a penniless outcast. She is thereupon cast into a garret in the school to live like a scullery maid. How her true friends help Others in the cast are: Donna Kofman, Sheila Eskanzie, Julia Davis, Nancy Pollock, Harriet Eisenkraft, Louis Ostroff, Anita Pedvis, David Levine, Marvin Austin, Marlene and Sandra Schwartz, Paula Broder, and Frances and Esther Ravinsky.

THE QUEBEC MUSIC FESTIVAL

Last Saturday evening the final sessions of the Third Quebec Music Festival took place in the Concert Auditorium in Victoria Hall, Westmount after a week's contests in five halls held simultaneously in the building.

I do not think anyone will disagree with me when I say that Montreal never had a festival in which such celebrities were the adjudicators. Any contestant who entered should be proud to say that they were privileged to play or sing before such judges. Congratulations to the committee who were responsible for the selection.

Just digest this list! Vladimir Padwa, former accompanist to Mischa Elman and a member of the celebrated First Piano Quartet; Boris Roubakine, European concert pianist, head of the Piano Department of the Royal Conservatory in Toronto, who formerly accompanied violinist Bronislaw Huberman on his world tours, Boris Berlin, nationally known educator, lecturer, composer and pianist (Mr. Berlin adjudicated in the other four cities only); Pierre Souvairan, French concert pianist, who tours regularly in Europe and on this continent and also teaches in Toronto; Rose Bampton, famous world-known dramatic soprano, who has sung in Montreal countless times; Robert Austin Boudreau, founder-director of the American Wind Symphony Orchestra, who was here from New York to judge the wind instruments and Dr. Irving Cheyette teacher, arranger, composer and conductor, professor of musical education at the University of Buffalo. This noted man, who also judged the string section for the Quebec Festival last year, is the author of 32 text books for orchestras, school bands, choral groups, methods for teaching bands, basic piano and basic theory.

Dr. Cheyette has composed many original works for band, orchestra and chorus. His articles on music have appeared in leading music and other magazines.

The composition entries were judged by three prominent local men, Dr. Claude Champagne, Maurice Blackburn and Claremont Pepin.

The directors of this gigantic festival enlarged it this year by adding four more cities in the province: Thetford Mines, Rimouski, Chicoutimi and Quebec City, and a great deal of musical talent has been uncovered.

In the syllabus (184 pages) one can see how few English-speaking people entered and although it is considerably increased from last year's entry, it will come as a surprise there are about half and half winners in the final results. At the time of writing this article, I have not seen the complete results but have been told this information by Mr. James Stevens of the Festival Committee.

I attended the final session in Victoria Hall Saturday evening, which started at 8:15. At 11:30 when I left it was still going strong and I was told that it ended around 1 a.m.

What I heard on this occasion was a splendid display of young people with an abundance of talent. One after the other they mounted the stage as they were called... first three choirs followed by piano soloists. Each pupil who performed (some were the winners from the other four cities who came to compete with the local people) was a talented child or teenager and although it may seem that there were a great many, it is not a large number considering the size of our city.

Two young ladies, finalists in an operatic duo, had really beautiful voices and sang with professional quality. The only item of the evening that was poor was a string ensemble from Westmount High School, a septet, six girls and a boy (the cellist). They were the only ones stopped by the judges. Perhaps there was not time to hear them previously or else they would not have been on the program. Pupils of stringed instruments should not play publicly unless they play in tune.

In the several Montreal Festivals this year one notices many of the same students entered in each festival. It shows that they are interested and let us hope that next year more English-speaking pupils will participate.

The committee did a very nice gesture by putting up all the local French and English press notices on the entrance doors of the concert auditorium for everyone to see. Pictures of winners, adjudicators and articles from the other four cities were also pasted on the doors. Two local children that were in a picture that appeared in La Presse last Thursday with seven other winners and adjudicator Pierre Sourairan are Barbara Burrows and Paul Berkowitz.

The final concert, when scholarships will be awarded, is to take place in June. Certificates are given to all first and second places and in one category five were so good (The Bach Invention

"I Killed the Count" at St. Matthias soon

An experienced cast of actors, making up the St. Matthias Players, will present a three-act comedy-thriller "I Killed the Count" May 10, 11 and 12 at the St. Matthias Church Hall, 10 Church Hill. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The play, written by English author Alec Coppel, concerns the attempts of Inspector Davidson and his assistant, Detective Raines, to solve the mysterious murder of a Count. Much to their surprise, they find their case centering on the question of who did not kill the count.

Duncan Shaddick, who is directing the play, had wide experience with various local and university drama groups in England before coming to Canada in 1952. In Montreal, he has appeared with the Montreal Repertory Theatre, the Montreal Festivals, Grosvenor Productions and Trinity Players, in leading roles. He won the best actor award in the Eastern Quebec region of the Dominion Drama Festival in 1956, and he has also acted with the CBC and the National Film Board.

Playing the lead role of Inspector Davidson is Kenneth Fowler, who worked with a number of Royal Navy drama groups prior to coming to Canada. Since arriving here in 1957, he has worked mainly with the MRT.

Keith Price, who plays Detective Raines, worked with the Leatherhead Repertory Company in England. He appeared recently in "Campbell of Kilmohr" for the St. Matthias Players.

Alexander Keenan, another recent arrival from the United Kingdom, plays the role of Martin. He acted with the Ovada Society, Belfast and the Harpenden Drama League.

One of the three female parts in the play is interpreted by Katherine d'Ombain, who studied at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London and who was on the executive of the Players' Club at McGill University.

Other members of the cast include Fred Farha, who has appeared with the MRT, Trinity Players and other groups; Richard Seal, who has worked with the British Drama League and the Questors in London; Jocelyn Kinsman, who has had roles with the MRT and the McGill Players' Club; Giovanna Reade and Rolf Johansen, who have appeared before with St. Matthias Players.

How new cars get character

A truck backed up on the 1961 Anglia driven by Mrs. Herbert Muller, 118 Arlington avenue, McGill research worker and wife of Dr. Herbert Muller on Tuesday afternoon at 5:12 and pushed in the left front bumper of her car.

Mrs. Muller told police, according to the report, "I was going west on Montrose avenue and was about to make a stop at Mountain avenue when I noticed a truck backing up toward me. I honked my horn but the driver did not hear me".

Truck driver Rene Lecuyer, 3695 Henri Julien, told police, according to the report, "I was looking for an address on Montrose avenue. I knew I had just passed it. I started to back up slowly when I hit an oncoming car".

All seven of the children injured by the careening car the week before at St. Catherine and Hollowell were on the road to recovery.

Dr. C. S. Fosberry was expected to attend 2 plays and a dance by Lower Canada College at Vic Hall that night in his last attendance in his official capacity as headmaster of LCC.

NEW PROGRAMS ON CKVL-FM

In the May schedule we have reverted to a fixed daily routine, instead of the alternating one which, we are told, some listeners found a little hard to follow. No major changes were made. The policy of lighter music during the day, with the evening hours reserved for the "heavier" type of musical fare, is being maintained. Our Baroque Festival met with favour and is being continued, and Classics By Request expanded to twice a week, Sundays at 7 p.m. and Wednesdays at 11 p.m., following New Classical Releases.

Four nights a week at 11:30 we feature Chamber Music, and a new series of programs that we are rather proud of is Meet The Artist. In these programs, distinguished composers, conductors and soloists, both vocal and instrumental, will be heard in the presentation of their own recordings. We believe this series is unique and should prove of great interest to our listeners.

NEW RECORDINGS

OFFENBACH — Tales of Hoffmann (excerpts)—Deutsche Grammophon 19230 (M).

The German cast headed by Rita Streich perform this famous evergreen in French, and are accompanied by the Berlin Radio Symphony Orchestra led by Richard Kraus. The performance is warm and gay, and the technical side is up to DG's usual meticulous standards.

MAHLER — Kindertotenlieder/Jennie Tourel, Mezzo, with N.Y. Phil., cond. Leonard Bernstein/Columbia ML 5597.

The poignant beauty of this song cycle is brought out by the artistry of Tourel, with the sympathetic support of the New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein. Side two of the record is filled out with 4 songs for voice and orchestra, also by Mahler.

* * *

Symphonic Marches/The Cleveland Pops Orchestra-Louis Lane/Epic LC 3763—BC 1121 (S).

Here is a varied program of rousing music performed with verve and capturing all the exciting overtones of martial melody. Most items included in the program are quite familiar, and Mr. Lane is to be congratulated on including the excellent march from Hindemith.

OVERTURE! — Leonard Bernstein and the N.Y. Philharmonic/Columbia ML 5623.

Five of the best from the pens of five great composers: Beethoven (Leonore 3), Rossini (Semiramide), Weber (Oberon), Mendelssohn (Ruy Blas), and Berlioz (Benvenuto Cellini). Bernstein's imagination is reflected by the choice of program, and his magnificent orchestra plays to perfection.

BEETHOVEN — Symphony # 5 and King Stephen Overture/The Philharmonia Orch. — Otto Klemperer/Angel 35843.

This is the second time around for Klemperer and the "fifth" on Angel, done no doubt to add a stereo version to the library. The reading is a noble and lofty one. Tempi are unhurried and dignified, and the resulting performance is one filled with grandeur, captured in the well engineered pressing. This time the filler is the rarely performed "King Stephen" overture. The lilting tune of this short piece could very easily become anyone's favourite.

* * *

BRAHMS: Double concerto in A minor for violin, 'cello and orch. Z. Francescatti, vln./P. Fournier, 'cel./Columbia Symphony Orch. — Bruno Walter/Columbia ML 5493 (M), MS 6158 (S).

This recording should be nominated for the record of the year award. The unique combination of these wonderful artists, great masterpiece and excellent recording job make this album unbeatable. There is a bonus "Tragic" overture, too.

The Blue Danube — Waltzes by Strauss Sr. and Jr./The Philadelphia Orchestra — Eugene Ormandy/Columbia ML 5617, —MS 6217 (S).

Another winner from Columbia, in what seems to these ears to be the definitive version of these waltz masterpieces. The Philadelphia has been hailed as the world's "Greatest Orchestra", and certainly Mr. Ormandy can coax beautiful sounds from his orchestra. His sincere feeling for Viennese music and the broad expanse of sound captured in the grooves add up to a treat that would delight even the most jaded of palates.

If you're planning a gamble

SOME RULES TO HELP YOU HANG ON TO YOUR SHIRT

GAMBLING is the national weakness of the sobersided Canadian. What with football pools, charity raffles and bingo, horse racing, school-room ponton and barrackroom brag — we most of us do it in one way or another.

And now that the gaming laws have been sorted out a bit — though they are still confusing enough — the shops fill up with gambling equipment and the gaming party gets a popularity it has not known since the 18th century.

Henry VIII foresaw it all and tried to stop it with his Act for Mayntenance of Artyllarie and debarring of unlawful Games.

"... many subtil and inventatye and craftye psons," he rapped, "have founde and dayle fynde many and sondrie newe and craftye games..."

The subtil and craftye psons are still with us and a good number of them sit down to bridge tables every week.

Bridge remains the most respectable and popular of all gambling games. Many local clubs play for up to $3 a hundred and think themselves moderate, and $20 a hundred is not uncommon in the capital gains belt. Bridge can be an expensive game.

Still, the basic equipment could hardly be cheaper. Two packs of cards and you are away.

I saw some superb linen-finish cards this week for $2 a double pack and for a little extra you can have them initialled in gold.

Bridge wins new converts weekly. So does poker. Poker, in fact, is the game that has benefitted most from a new TV show.

It now takes its honorable place in club card rooms and private poker schools spring up almost as you watch.

Fashionable

Backgammon has always been played in country houses, where beautiful old backgammon boards have been passed on from generation to generation.

You can pay more than $250 for such a board — if you can find one for sale.

Now, quite suddenly, backgammon is fashionable again. Leatherette boards with leather shakers, doubling dice and ordinary dice are selling well at $15 and you can buy a cheap cardboard one for only $5.

It is a good game, calling for considerable skill, and I should warn you that a beginner has no chance at all against an experienced man. You can lose a packet — so don't get out of your class.

Chemin de fer and roulette each have a glamor of their own.

Roulette suggests beautiful women, palm trees under the moonlight and grand dukes shooting themselves twice nightly.

Chemmy suggests mysterious invitations, secret assemblies, silent dispersals with champagne and caviar in between.

In fact, both chemmy and roulette are played quite casually in many an "upper class" drawing room after dinner. No drama. No fuss. No sense of sin. Just a pleasant way to spend an evening.

Among the rich the stakes are usually high — sometimes very high, indeed. A player can lose $3,000 in an evening without causing a sensation.

But nowadays chemmy and roulette are not played exclusively by the rich.

Many people play it for quarters not dollars — and enjoy it as much.

In fact, unless you can afford it, it is madness and misery to play high.

People tend to equate high stakes with courage and sexual virility.

More shirts are lost that way, many the virile gambler who walks home in the rain.

Montreal offers you a wide range of roulette wheels. There is a superb French wheel, hand-turned, inlaid (Continued on page 11)

Resurrection

by

The Venerable

R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.

Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

There have always been people who do not believe in the Resurrection of Jesus or in the resurrection in general. The clause in the Creed: "I believe in the Resurrection of the body", has no meaning for them. Paul found it impossible to convince the clever philosophers in Athens that Jesus had risen from the dead.
Nevertheless, he continued to proclaim the same message that "He died for our sins and rose again for our justification" when he went to Corinth. They accepted the teaching as long as Paul was there to deliver it with his blazing faith; but when he left them, and when some of their number died, their faith wavered, and some asked: "But with what body do they come?" They could not imagine a real resurrection.Paul answered their objections by a double argument. First he called the witnesses, those who had seen Jesus after His Resurrection, the Twelve, the women, some 500 believers at one time,
most of whom were still living.
Witness meant a great deal to Paul, and it means a great deal to us. We cannot call the same witnesses as Paul but there is the witness of some six different accounts of the empty Tomb and of the Appearances to the disciples. The accounts do not agree in detail but they do agree in the essential facts and, like Paul, weappeal to them as evidence.
There is another form of evidence also, and that is the change that took place in the disciples.
That must be explained and the only adequate explanation is that they had seen the Lord; they believed that He had risen from the dead and their belief was strong enough to transform them from cowards to heroes.Paul, however, uses a second argument. He is answering those who do not question so much the Resurrection of Jesus as resurrection in general. "How say some among you that there is no resurrection?" But Christ is man, and if man does not rise from the dead then the man Jesus has not risen from the dead; "if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised; and if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain;
ye are yet in your sins."To Paul then everything depends on our belief in the Resurrection, and belief depends on the fact of the Resurrection. If the Resurrection of Jesus was not true, we have no assurance of the goodness of God; for it would mean that Death and Sin had won a final victory over the only perfect Example of goodness that the world has seen.
If the Resurrection is not a fact,
then our vision and expectation are confined to this world and this world becomes only a place for the short-lived joys and sorrows of men.All religions in Montreal wood exquisite balance — $70.

But you will do very nicely on English plastic.

The chips

You need a cloth for roulette. A large double one costs little and you can get good single cloths for less.

You need chips, too. A case containing 200 comes at $1, and for $5 you can get a case of 500 in various shapes, sizes and colors.

You can also get them engraved with mysterious gambling symbols like $1 or $10 or even 10 cents if that's what you like to play for.

In town this week I saw a beautiful little roulette set with a wheel, chips, cloth and collapsible rake for $25. It folded up into the most discreet document case.

And for the really compulsive gambler, who must play even on buses, there is a travelling games kit for $20 — a leather case containing a tiny roulette wheel, chips, telescopic rake, poker dice and ordinary dice.

The cheapest chemmy shoe I saw cost $15. You can play chemmy with six packs of ordinary cards as long as their backs are the same, but there are special chemmy cards on the market, made in U.S. at 25 cents a pack.

If you would like to know where to find this equipment I'll send you the names of the shops. And if you have never given a gaming party before, you will find some advice useful.

Two views

For this I went to two of the most collapsible rakes I know. Each drew up a set of rules. They come to you now with absolutely no money back guarantees of any kind.

Shindig A (or How to keep your friends, your shirt and your temper):

1—Go easy on the hard liquor. Beer is better. Coffee best. If one of your friends loses heavily while he is drunk, he'll blame you. Tough, but that's the way of it.

2—Try to fix the stakes so that the average win or loss is not too much more than what your friends would spend anyway on a good evening out.

3—Don't allow anyone to push up the stakes late in the evening. Someone is bound to try. Stop him. It is your job to protect your less well-heeled guests.

4—Fix the time that the party will end. Midnight is a good time for most people.

As the evening wears on time and money both tend to become unreal. So when people urge another hour's play, resist.

Otherwise you will end up hours later with everyone tired and depressed.

And, to make things even worse, YOU will have to cook them breakfast.

5—Remember that civilized people gamble for a pleasant evening's entertainment. They don't do it to make a fortune.

Shindig A has been tried, tested and is strongly recommended. Then there is...

Shindig B:

1—Serve only rye and bourbon.

2—Always play for three times what you can afford.

3—Make sure there are at least two burly men with hooded eyes and sharp suits present to add excitement. They can be hired from theatrical agencies.

4—Play until five in the morning, especially if your guests have to be up at seven.

5—Never have any cash on you but encourage your friends to bring lots.

Remember...

If you are taken to gamble somewhere else there are three more rules you should remember.

Don't play high unless you are among friends or KNOW the game is straight.

If you are among strangers, sit and watch for 20 minutes or so and make sure you understand how the game is operating.

If you suspect cheating, fold your cards, cash your chips and go home.

For though we may all be subtil and crafty psons in the eyes of Henry VIII, some are more crafty than others.

Three-car crunch on Atwater Monday

Three cars were involved in an accident Monday evening, 6:30 p.m., when Pascal Yasconi, 2561 Quesnel street, who is employed by the City of Westmount in the Corporation Yards, set off a chain-reaction.

Mr. Yasconi told police, according to the accident report, "I was going north on Atwater. When I applied the brakes my foot slipped off the pedal. Then I hit the car ahead of me and it hit the next one."

The car struck by the one driven by Mr. Yasconi was driven by Saul Kirshner, 5192 Borden avenue. The car struck by Mr. Kirshner's car was operated by Howard Weller, 4899 Montclair avenue.

Montreal NOMA Chapter gives spelling prizes

Eight students from West End schools were awarded Spelling Proficiency Certificates and nine received Spelling Certificates last night at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel from the National Office Management Association, who sponsor Spelling programs in the larger centres of Canada and the United States.

This year the contest, sponsored locally by the Montreal Chapter of NOMA, was extended, with the co-operation of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal and the Catholic School Commission, to include two English and one French school in Montreal.

The Program includes two tests, each of which requires the study of 300 selected words in current usage. To obtain a Spelling Certificate the student must spell correctly 100 selected words in either test. A Spelling Proficiency Certificate is awarded to the Students who obtain perfect scores in both tests.

By placing emphasis on spelling, NOMA hopes that commercial graduates from high schools will be better prepared to enter the business establishments of the city.

Students who received the Spelling Proficiency Certificates, signifying a perfect score in both tests were: Monklands High School, Esther Goldberg and Susan Koropatnicki; West Hill School, Diane Brown; Westmount Senior High School, Cheryl Dargavel, Maureen Fryer, Alice Gibson, Gitta Schroeder and Claire Vezeau.

'Forum' explains Catholic beliefs

The Catholic Inquiry Forum will begin its final series of lectures on Roman Catholicism Monday, May 1, at 5:30 p.m., at its auxiliary quarters, 1444 Drummond street.

The aim of these talks — to be held on Mondays and Thursdays at the same time until June 22, inclusive — is to explain simply and clearly what Roman Catholics believe and what the Church expects of its members. The explanations are non-controversial in nature but questions are invited at the conclusion of each lecture.

Conducting the series will be Rev. Irene Beaubien, S.J., founder and director of the Inquiry Forum, and Rev. George Thoms, parish priest of St. Gabriel's Church.

Both the Drummond street office and the Catholic Inquiry Forum headquarters at 1182 Bleury street have an information desk and a reading room. They are open daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and on Saturdays from noon to 6 p.m. There is no charge or obligation for any of the services.

Not bread alone...

For those in trouble, The Salvation Army keeps an open door. In its hostels, havens, homes and hospitals, workers who understand the human heart know that bread alone is not enough.

While the body is cared for, the spirit is healed and uplifted by the message of hope. Men, women and children are "made whole", and shown the way to loving service of God and man.

In this work of mercy you can share. Your contribution will bring the glow of happiness to your heart.

Miss Susan Louise Pepall weds Mr. Robert Allen Ross

The marriage of Susan Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Pepall, of 432 Clarke avenue, Westmount, to Mr. Robert Allen Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen Ross, of Town of Mount Royal, took place on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the Sacred Heart Chapel of Notre Dame Church, the Rev. Francis T. Moyle of the Annunciation of Our Lady, officiating. Mrs. Faust was the organist, Mr. James D. Ross was ring bearer and the church was decorated with standards of snapdragons, lilies and carnations.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a gown of candlelight silk faille, having a bodice fashioned with a bateau neckline, three quarter length sleeves and a straight skirt with fullness in the back and falling into a chapel train. Her chapel length veil of candlelight French tulle illusion was held by a small bandeau of matching material and she carried a cascade bouquet of calla lilies.

Miss Patricia Pepall, a sister of the bride, as maid of honor and Miss Anne Hunt as bridesmaid, wore short dresses of dark turquoise faille with bateau neckline, three quarter length sleeves and full skirt, and carried modified crescent bouquets of coral castanet roses and matching circlet headdress.

Mr. George Weir Ross, acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Rolf T. Haehle, Mr. Denis F. Dwyer, Mr. Douglas H. Allan, Mr. Allan C. Webster and Mr. Peter N. Quinlan.

Mrs. Pepall, the bride's mother, wore a Marty of Switzerland gown of midnight blue chiffon trimmed with peau de soie, with a flowered hat, and a camellia on her handbag.

Mrs. Ross, mother of the bridegroom, was in an emerald green gown with matching coat of ottoman and black accessories, and she carried a spray of lilies of the valley on her purse.

The reception was held at the Montreal Badminton and Squash Club, where the tables were decorated with white sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Ross left for Antigua, W.I.F., the bride travelling in a biscuit colored suit of shantung with black accessories and a corsage bouquet of cymbidium orchids.

Out-of-town guests included: from Toronto, Mrs. William E. Pepall, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bell, Dr. and Mrs. Cecil R. Baggs, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Baggs, Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Westmount Club re-elects Mrs. Russell T. Stackhouse

The annual meeting of the Westmount Women's Club was held in Victoria Hall on Friday, April 21.

The president, Mrs. Russell T. Stackhouse reported a very successful year and interesting reports were given by the other officers of the board.

Donations to the amount of $975 were made. To the Reddy Memorial Hospital $500 for two pieces of equipment. Other substantial amounts were sent to the Friendly Home, School for Crippled Children, Old Brewery Mission and the Multiple Sclerosis Society. The Montreal Association For The Blind received a grant of $65 raised by the Mar-thon Bridge Group. The scholarship of $200 was again awarded to a girl of the Westmount High School.

The following slate of officers was elected for the year 1961-1962: honorary president, Mrs. R. B. Bremmer; president, Mrs. Russell T. Stackhouse; 1st vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Smith; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. D. J. Steves, 3456 Melrose avenue; recording secretary, Mrs. T. D. Robertson; treasurer, Mrs. H. M. Soden, 7045 Fielding avenue; membership secretary, Mrs. H. F. Child psychologist to address Montreal Nursery School Assn.

Dr. William Emet Blatz, well known Child Psychologist will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Montreal Nursery School Association, Claremont avenue, to be held on Thursday, May 18 at 8:15 p.m. at Moyse Hall, McGill University. His topic will be "Why Nursery Schools?"

Dr. Blatz has recently retired as Director of the Institute of Child Study, Toronto, after thirty four years of service in that position, but he continues as Professor of Psychology at the University of Toronto. Born in Hamilton, Ontario, Dr. Blatz received his education at the Universities of Toronto and Chicago. During World War I he worked in the medical re-education centre at Hamilton and in World War II trained hundreds of women in England to care for evacuated children in nurseries.

In the early days of the Institute, Dr. Blatz experienced opposition and even some ridicule, but he had confidence in his ideas and persisted in advocating Nursery Schools and in speaking against the use of corporal punishment. He claims that competition in the classroom should be abolished and that parents need training to bring up their children properly. He has lived to see many of his ideas justified.

His contributions to educational theory and practice, to child rearing and family life, to parent education and to an understanding of human development have had a profound influence on the life of this country and have extended beyond its boundaries to other parts of the world.

He has written numerous articles, scientific journal articles, and books on Nursery School practices such as "Parents and the Pre-school Child," "Nursery Education: Theory and Practice" and "Understanding the Young Child", and many, many more.

Provincial Chapter IODE has many local officers

The thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter of Quebec, IODE, was held in Montreal on April 20 and 21. Mrs. J. R. Beveridge, president, presided at all sessions.

Mrs. A. E. Roodhouse, treasurer, reported the primary chapters raised $77,225.09 and spent $80,150.45.

An outstanding report, that of Mrs. H. T. Gilmore, Services at Home and Abroad secretary, depicted the vast amount of work accomplished by chapters, not only in their own communities, but by their interest and support of the Orders' projects abroad. This year $34,440. was spent on services, an increase of $4,210. over last year.

Members of the Montreal area alone gave approximately 4500 hours of service to institutions. — Red Cross Blood Donor and Well Baby Clinics were staffed, as well as hospital coffee shops and free lending libraries. Dressings were made for cancer clinics, veterans in hospitals visited and treats provided. A few of the items donated to institutions included — 12 cartons of new clothing to Verdun Protestant Hospital, TV sets to Ste. Anne's DVA Hospital, auto-stairs for the Red Cross, inhalator to Lachine Hospital, a patient lifter to the Moore Home, portable autoclave for a Diabetic Camp, a stove, records and radios.

Several thousand gifts of clothing and bedding including layettes, knitted and sewn articles and ready made children's clothing, such as windbreakers, dressess and lined slacks were sent to hospitals, Homes for children and to needy families.

To Korea was shipped children's clothing, quilts and afghans, valued at $2,292.95. To the Save the Children Fund in England ten cases of clothing for babies, children and adults valued at $3,243, and to the Soldiers', Sailors' and Airmen's Families Association in England, 5320 articles valued at $5,672.

MRS. DONALD MACRAE

57 food parcels were sent to aged pensioners, Canadian veterans and their dependents in England. Food hampers were distributed to needy families and lunches provided for underprivileged school children.

Chapters continue to give their full support to three Golden Age Clubs. Three others, originally sponsored by IODE Chapters are now on their own. Refreshments are provided, transportation to meetings, treats, gifts, care and garden parties as well as bus trips.

Chapters sponsor nine destitute children through the Save the Children Fund, whose homes are in Korea, Lebanon, Austria, Malta and Germany.

Cartons of used clothing were sent to the Salvation Army, old nylons to the Grenfell Mission for rug making, wool to Korea so children could learn to knit and old sheets to cancer dressing groups.

The report of the educational secretary, Mrs. G. A. Winters, revealed keen interest shown in all phases of educational work, by chapters throughout the province. A total of $25,479.65 was spent in this department alone.

Students have received bursaries, had school fees paid and transportation expenses defrayed. Schools have been provided with books, magazine subscriptions, a classroom work table, prizes of many kinds, and the manual training department of a High School in Gaspé received a 14 inch bench saw and motor. An Arts and Letters Festival was sponsored by one chapter continues to celebrate Victoria Day by sponsoring a bus trip to Quebec City for grade 9 pupils.

Public and school libraries, both English and French were supported. One chapter contributed $100. for additional films for a school film library. The chapters continue their interest in the McLennan Travelling Library.

Melmac tableware, educational toys, and other supplies were given to schools for retarded children. Braille and talking books were presented to the Montreal School for the Blind.

Schools have been adopted in the West Indies, British Honduras, as well as in our own province.

Mrs. Foley, organizing secretary, reported 65 primary chapters and four junior chapters with a total of 1978 members, a slight increase over last year. Two new chapters were formed — Palmer Cox, a Primary in Granby and Royal Oak Tree, a Junior, in Sherbrooke.

Immortality

Though the trees are still budless and bare,
Cold winds and dark clouds overhead,
I see at my feet, a little blue flower,
Life's promise, — when all had seemed dead.

After winter's long silence and sleep,
Nature wakens, and waves her bright wand,
Thrilling still, as in centuries gone,
As she paints, in bright colors the land.

Local women convene Christ Church 'Fair'

The women of Christ Church Cathedral are currently engaged in planning a gala Spring Fair to be held on the Cathedral grounds in downtown Montreal, rain or shine, on Wednesday, May 17, from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The main purposes of this event are (a) to provide an opportunity for all Cathedral women to work together in a cooperative effort to assist the various organizations in attaining their financial requirements — and (b) by so doing, to bring the individual members of the congregation into a closer fellowship and more active participation in the work of the Cathedral Parish.

The "Spring Fair" will have something for everyone. Items for sale will range from "baby's" wear to gourmet treats, articles for the "small fry", the "teenagers", for the "bride" and the "man of the house". There will also be a "sacrifice table" and an auction of "genuine antiques", also sketches and portraits by Audrey MacDermot.

Tea will be served in the afternoon and a delectable buffet supper in the early evening. The men of the congregation are actively participating in the preparations and will be on hand in large numbers for the event, especially supper.

It is the desire of the Planning Committee to extend an invitation to all friends of the Cathedral from all parts of the community to attend the Fair and join with members of the Parish in enjoying this gala event. This is an invitation to all.

Table convenors are: Mrs. P. H. S. Armstrong, Mrs. H. G. Thornton, Mrs. P. N. MacDermot, Mrs. H. S. Thornhill, Mrs. J. H. Jarrett, Mrs. P. H. Goldsmith, Mrs. H. Forbes, Mrs. E. B. Nicholls, Mrs. B. St. Ann's Clinic elects officers

The 45th annual meeting of the St. Ann's Baby Clinic Associates was held on April 17 at the Windsor Hotel.

The retiring president, Mrs. John P. Du Bois, reported a highly successful year during which seventy-seven (77) complete layettes were donated to needy mothers for their newborn infants, together with cod liver oil to supplement their diets. Serviceable used clothing was distributed to pre-school children. During the Christmas season a shower was held at Chandler Center for 153 children and in the Spring, First Communion outfits were provided for others.

Volunteers from the membership attended bi-weekly Well Baby Clinics and assisted the nurses.

Newly-elected officers for the ensuing term are: Miss Florence Hackett, president; Mrs. H. G. Cook, vice-president; Miss Jacqueline Du Bois, secretary; Mrs. John Buell, 4937 Westmore avenue, treasurer.

Civic affairs . . .

that Grosvenor residents are satisfied.

Following discussions of the motions regarding the snow melting pond and 1960 financial statements, Alderman Common moved for appointment of Riddell, Stead, Graham & Hutchison, Chartered Accountants, as auditors of Westmount for 1961. He pointed out they have been auditors for Westmount for a great many years and there is no reason why they should not continue. The motion was passed without discussion.

Next, Alderman Tucker moved that Alderman L. W. Bevaud be appointed acting Mayor for May, June and July. Mayor Cushing explained it was customary to appoint an acting mayor according to a roster so no councillor is acting mayor more than one three month period out of 18 months. The motion carried without discussion.

Alderman Backler moved (1) the commitment of $44,200 to cover the cost of conversion of a 2 1/4 KV distribution system to 4.16 KV, (2) the commitment of $3,500 to pay for installation of a conduit on Western avenue, (3) the commitment of $19,700 to pay for distribution transformers, (4) commitment of $763 for tools and instruments needed, (5) commitment of $1,570 for radio equipment, (6) $90 for a filing cabinet and (7) $285 for a portable pump. Mayor Cushing explained this motion was pursuant to a program instituted by the Council in 1953, involving changeover to a new distribution system.

When Alderman Ouimet moved commitment of $285 from the Depreciation Reserve to pay for a gasoline pump to be used in the Public Works Department. One of the aldermen recalled a purchase of a pump by the Power Department and wanted to know if this was the same pump.

Alderman Ouimet said, "Public Works and Power both got pumps three and a half years ago. Coincidentally, they both wore out at the same time and now they are both getting new ones. The Public Works pump is the pump that is used to pump out flooded manholes, basements and excavations."

The motion carried.

As the children filed out, the Aldermen distributed Westmount Residents' Handbooks to them and the Mayor shook hands.

Overheard in the hall were, "Are there only six aldermen?" "Who was that man facing Mr. Dawe? I don't mean the Mayor. I mean the man sitting in front of him with his back to him." "It didn't take long, did it?" "I liked it. It was interesting."

Nurses beaten on Sherbrooke

Two nurses returning from duty at the Montreal General Hospital at 2:40 Sunday morning were attacked and beaten by three thugs at the corner of Sherbrooke street and Prince Albert avenue.

The women were walking along Sherbrooke street on their way home from the garage in which they keep their car when a passing automobile carrying the youths suddenly stopped. The women put up a fight and fought off their assailants. They immediately reported the incident and the license number of the automobile to Westmount Police.

Montreal police noted the excited expressions on the faces of three men in a car on Decarie boulevard and followed the vehicle. When it was learned that the license number of the car tallied with the number given by the women to the Westmount police, the men were charged and taken before the Montreal courts. One was a juvenile.

Facing preliminary hearing May 9 are Davie Hilton, 22, and Joseph Ronald, 19. Hilton is reported to be a featherweight boxer who has won 72 matches to date with no losses.

Day or Night, Keep To The Right!

The Quebec Highway Code clearly specifies that motor vehicles must travel on the right-hand side of the road. This means that a vehicle must use the extreme right-hand side at all times, except when passing another vehicle. This golden rule is today stressed by "Prudentia" the Provincial Highway Safety Committee, who point out that failure to observe such rules of elementary safety, is responsible for a good many accidents. Moreover, when meeting other oncoming traffic, it is essential to use the extreme right of the highway.

NOT FOR GOPHERS

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—Two little girls examining the sidewalks here were heard to exclaim with wonder: "Look, Daddy, gopher holes made of steel." It was explained that the holes, spaced regularly, are used for the standards of decorative flags set out on holidays.

18 Westmount Examiner, Friday, May 5, 1961 Caledonia event set for Monday

The curling season isn't over. Caledonia Curling Club announces that a Last Chance bonspiel will be held for the Hillside Trophy May 8-18.

At present the St. George Spring Bonspiel is the only curling event under way. It will be followed by the Caledonia event.

The competition will be a straight knockout with a consolation event.

Close to 50 rinks have entered the season closing competition. Entries should be sent or phoned to George Alexander, Caledonia Curling Club, WE. 4-1897.

The first night game at Yankee Stadium was held May 29, 1946, between the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators.

St. Leo's Academy need not take a back seat in sports to any district school and here are six good reasons. The athletes were honored at the annual award night. Left to right: Freddy Fisher, Most Improved Player;

Connie Nucci, Best Senior Athlete; Bill Dubue, Sportsmanship; Jimmy Fennell, MVP, bantam; Pete Johnson, MVP, junior and Peter Rassenti, Best Junior Athlete.

St. Leo's honor top athletes of the year

St. Leo's top athletes during the 1960-61 hockey season were honored at Victoria Hall. It was a gala event with students, parents and friends mingling together to make it a real family social event.

The attendance of parents was especially encouraging and if this is taken as any criterion of the Academy Sports Program, then coach Andy McGillis must have derived a lot of satisfaction at the large representation of parents. Among the guests were Mr.

and Mrs. John Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Fennell, Mrs. Alfred Capper, Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nucci, Mr. and Mrs. Tyrrell, Mr. and Mrs. James Erly, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Rassenti, Mr. and Mrs. dePooter and Mr. Brenden Guilfoyle.

Also in attendance were Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Lapointe, PP, and Father McKenna. Msgr. Lapointe spoke briefly at the end of the presentations and his well chosen words received a fine ovation.

The presentation ceremony itself, was a brisk sort of an affair. Coach McGillis complimented all individual winners and gave a sincere vote of thanks to all those who supported the hockey activities during the past season.

Briefs: Doug Muncey and Miss Doreen Dunne made a big hit with the crowd by winning the elimination dance prizes. . . . Lloyd MacKinnon, John Kubacki, Frank and Jimmy McMahon put their St. Leo's scout training to good use, by handling the refreshment end in fine fashion. . . . The only disappointment of the night was the failure of the entertainment committee to function at the last moment.

Some of the oldsters in attendance ventured out on the dance floor but were no match for the teen agers at rock and roll. . . .

Co-captains of the junior hockey club, made suitable presentation to team manager John dePooter. . . . Coach McGillis hopes to ice a senior and bantam hockey team for the 1961-62 hockey campaign. . . . St. Leo's spring program will include softball, track events and tennis.

Mother beats daughter in fencing event

Heidi Jack who has been out of competition for two years, returned to the fencing scene to win the Provincial foil championship.

Runner-up was another girl who has been absent from tournament bouts for some time, Jeanne Gilbert.

Mrs. Jack won all her bouts with the exception of one. She lost her first encounter to her daughter Barbara who placed fourth in the over-all standing in this class A tournament.

Third place was earned by Fleurette Campeau. Mrs. Gilbert and Miss Campeau fence for Palestre Nationale. The Jack's both fence for Westmount YMCA.

St. Augustine's pin awards May 6

George Wills, publicity director of the St. Augustine's Mixed Bowling League announced that the annual presentation of awards will take place at Victoria Hall, Westmount, Saturday, May 6, starting at 6.30 p.m.

Special rugger game scheduled for May 20

The Quebec Rugger Union will promote their annual Seven-A-Side competition at the Town of Mount Royal Recreation Centre, Saturday, May 20.

Out of town clubs entered include New York, Toronto Scottish and Toronto Nomads. Invitations have been extended to Camp Gagetown, N.B., Dartmouth, Harvard, M.I.T. and the Boston Club. From humble beginnings in the Scottish border country the Seven-A-Side competition, a spectacular knock-out tournament, caught the imagination of the rugger public and has rapidly advanced as a rugger show-piece.

The 15-man rugger team is shaved to seven players and the game is played on a regulation rugger field but the duration of the game is shortened from 40 minutes each way to seven minutes per half.

Undesirable features such as the spoiling forward game are eliminated and the three-quarter backs are free to indulge in tricky passing moves that delight the crowd.

The English Rugby Union are lining up strong opposition for the All Canada squad set to invade Britain in the fall of 1962. The Barbarians, Oxford U, Cambridge U, Combined Services and Queens of Belfast all bright stars in the rugger firmament appear on the fixture list. One game will be played at Twickenham Stadium.

Tom Reid the Irish international forward who rose to great heights touring South Africa with the British Lions in 1955 will captain the McGill rugger squad this year. He is studying pharmacy.

Reid came to Canada as a playing member of the sensational Barbarians in 1957, liked what he saw and stayed. During the past four years he has been a regular choice for the provincial all star squad and his presence on the Town of Mt. Royal team inspired a new spirit that drove the Townies to their triple crown in 1960.

Seagram's Ageing Process Makes Extra Dry Martinis

MONTREAL—A special House of Seagram ageing process is responsible for the Extra Dryness found in Seagram's Gin. This special process is the careful ageing in special oak casks to the exact golden moment of perfection.

The noticeable result of this valuable, time-consuming process is the natural golden colour and superb quality of Seagram's Gin. With this fine gin your drink starts drier and stays drier for pleasure that never gets lost in a drink. Its delicious quality gives your drink a unique crispness you get from no other gin.

An exclusive feature of Seagram's Gin is the ingenious Martini-Master in which it is sold. The Martini-Master simplifies the technique of making perfect martinis. And several of them can be used for storing a supply of cocktails when a large group is being entertained. Made from antique glass with a gold-plated cap and easily-removed label, the Martini-Master is a handsome bar accessory. Next time, ask for Seagram's Gin and enjoy its extra quality.

IT SEEMS TO BE the same question but never a good answer, always "it's pretty hard" or "the player is bat shy or something." The question is does the boy get his share of playing baseball. For that fact it is now a very important item for football groups that every boy get some time on the field. This question was brought up at a Verdun Little League meeting which we attended, with some 50 coaches, managers and executives on hand to give some discussion to the question which has worried parents slightly and executives, for they are ones that hear from the parents.

RULES DIFFER but for the most part, all associations or leagues would like managers or coaches to see that every boy manages to play. There have been stories, even from football, where the team only plays once a week, and some players sit on the bench and get no time in or very little. In Little League ball, there are rules, such as a pitcher working so many innings; not working more than two games a week and etc. That's okay for the pitcher but what of the other positions? These boys can be lost while the manager or coach wants to win so badly.

Some coaches have had the experience that the boy is 'bat shy' and in most cases will never become any kind of a player. Of course dealing with Little League players, especially during their first year, all of them can't be naturals and coaches and managers have to take the good with the bad.

It's the same in other sports, hockey, football and what have you. The objective to win is a strong one indeed and it is only natural, even if you have not been a manager of a sport club, that the player who is a little slow is going to be a bench sitter in his initial season.

It generally has a way of righting itself for the next season for that same bench sitter, or the boy who saw little action is the one that will see action as other boys, too old to play in that age division have moved up. Here again the coach finds out that last year's bench sitter is one of his strong players. Short-handed, in a tight fix on the diamond, the little fellow has come into his own.

We don't want you to believe that we are in favor of boys not seeing action or very little, but like education, the player who is just starting out is in first grade. It's not like playing school in the backyard for fun, nor is it like playing a friendly game on the local field, but this is his first time in competition. The boy who is just starting out can get too. Again it depends on the coach or manager to be a good judge of his rookies. He can tell that in his weekly drills.

Start them easy, give them confidence for they are afraid that they will make a mistake. Many a time, when a rookie or a first year player pulls a boner, a veteran of the team or maybe two of them will treat the rookie who made the mistake a little rough.

Here again the coach and manager must take hold of the mistake and treat it lightly, and calm
