WATERLOO—A populous and increasing village in the township and county of Waterloo. It contains three foundries, two mills, a distillery, and two breweries.
The village is in the centre of a fine agricultural section of the country. Its proximity to Berlin, and having the advantage of good water power privileges, has proved of great benefit to this township. The limits of Waterloo adjoins those of Berlin, and it is thought that these two flourishing places will eventually become one large town. Montreal Telegraph Co. has an office here. Distant from Berlin, a station of the Grand Trunk railway, 2 miles, fare 15c.; from Guelph 16 miles, from Stratford 24 miles, from Toronto 67 miles.
Mail daily. Population about 2000.

* WESTMINSTER—This is a township in the county of Middlesex. Its close proximity to the city of London, (being only separated from it by the narrow but beautiful river Thames), and its healthy and picturesque situation have induced many of the leading citizens of London to have their private residences here. These are chiefly erected on the banks of the river, and some of them are large and handsome structures. The Wellington, Westminster and Victoria bridges afford excellent communication between London and this suburban district. Distant from the London post office 1 mile. Population about 600.

WOODSTOCK—The chief town of the county of Oxford, between the north and south ridings, and forming one of the municipalities of the latter, in the township of Blandford. It is a port of entry. Its location is very healthy, being on the high land of the Western peninsula, and surrounded by an exceedingly fertile country, renowned for wheat growing, cattle raising, cheese and butter. The River Thames skirts the northern limits, and Cedar Creek passes through the southern part of the town, furnishing considerable water power. The principal business is various manufactures and commerce especially the forwarding of wheat, &c. The principal buildings are of brick. There are 3 first-class hotels, 9 churches, 2 spacious schoolhouses, a county grammar school and the Canadian Institute, situated at the east end of the town, estimated cost of erection $35,000, a substantial market place and town hall, and a branch of Canadian Bank of Commerce, and the Royal Canadian bank. There are 3 magnificent five-storey steam grist and oatmeal mills, celebrated in the New York market for their superior brands of flour and oatmeal. Montreal Telegraph Co. has an office here. On the south side is a chief station of the Great Western railway, 5 passenger trains passing east, and 4 west daily. Distant from Paris 19 miles, from London 28 miles, from Hamilton 48 miles, from Niagara Suspension Bridge 91 miles, from Chatham 92 miles, from Windsor 138 miles. Mail daily. Population about 5000.

SAULT STE MARIE—A village in the district of Algoma, on the north shore of St Mary's river, at the foot of the rapids which obstruct the navigation between Lake Huron and Lake Superior, now overcome by a canal on the United States side of the river. During the recent expedition to the Red River our troops constructed a portage from Sault Ste Marie to Lake Superior for the transport of war material on the Canadian shore, the United States authorities refusing to allow boats thus laden to pass through the canal. These boats discharged their heavy guns, ammunition, &c., at this point and thus lightened the arrival of their freight at the Lake Superior end of the portage. The inhabitants are mostly French Canadians and half breeds, and are principally employed as fishermen and voyageurs. There is a post of the Hudson's Bay Co. a short distance from the village. Steamers from Collingwood call here weekly, via Owen Sound, and the Georgian Bay past the great Manitoulin Island, where is some of the finest scenery on the continent, calling at the Bruce mines, thence, through the narrow passage at St Joseph's Island, which contains the great raspberry Jam factory of Mr Church, to Sault Ste Marie, where they enter the canal for Lake Superior. Distant from Collingwood, the terminus of the Northern railway, about 300 miles, from Toronto 400 miles. Mail weekly in summer per steamer from Collingwood but irregularly during winter, being carried by Indian couriers from Penetanguishene via the north shore of the Georgian Bay. Population about 400.
