Guerrillas free last 6 hostages

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — held in Jordan Tuesday to the International Red Cross. All said they were in good health.

Provides open-end support

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $19,900 million defence bill, including authority for open-end arms sales to Israel "to restore and maintain military balance in the Middle East," passed the House of Representatives 341 to 11 Tuesday and went to the Senate.

L. Mendel Rivers, (Dem. S.C.) said Israel is "standing alone against communism" in the Middle East and if she falls to the Arabs the Soviets will control oil to the Western world.

Rivers is chairman of the House armed services committee.

The provision declaring Congress' "grave concern with the deepening involvement of the Soviet Union in the Middle East" and authorizing unlimited arms sales on credit to Israel was attached to the annual authorization for procurement of missiles, ships, planes and other weapons for United States forces.

House Speaker John W. McCormack (Dem. Mass.) said the provision, including the rare specific reference to Soviet involvement, amounts to congressional policy and when President Nixon signs it will become administration policy.

Red Cross officials drove the hostages, all Americans, from north Jordan to Amman. They were expected to fly early today to Nicosia, Cyprus, and then to New York.

Thirty-two Americans, also held hostage since the series of airliner hijackings by guerrillas early this month, flew out Sunday.

Freeing of the final six will clear the way for release of seven Arab commandos held in Britain, Switzerland and West Germany.

One of the freed hostages, John Hollingsworth of Sacramento, Calif., said conditions were satisfactory during the three-week ordeal.

He said he did not know where they were held, but an Egyptian embassy official who acted as an intermediary between the guerrillas and the Red Cross said they were kept most of the time in north Jordan near Irbid, the nation's second-largest city.

American military aircraft poured supplies and medical aid Tuesday into battered Amman. Food and water were priorities. On some streets women carried water in pails and cans.

They seemed to be no firm information on the number of injured here. A spokesman for the Arab trade commission said he had heard of 1,500 to 2,000 casualties in the entire country. Other estimates were a vague "several thousand."

Concludes life possible on Mars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two space-agency biologists have concluded from evidence sent back by Mars spacecraft that in spite of an apparently harsh environment, life of some sort may exist there.

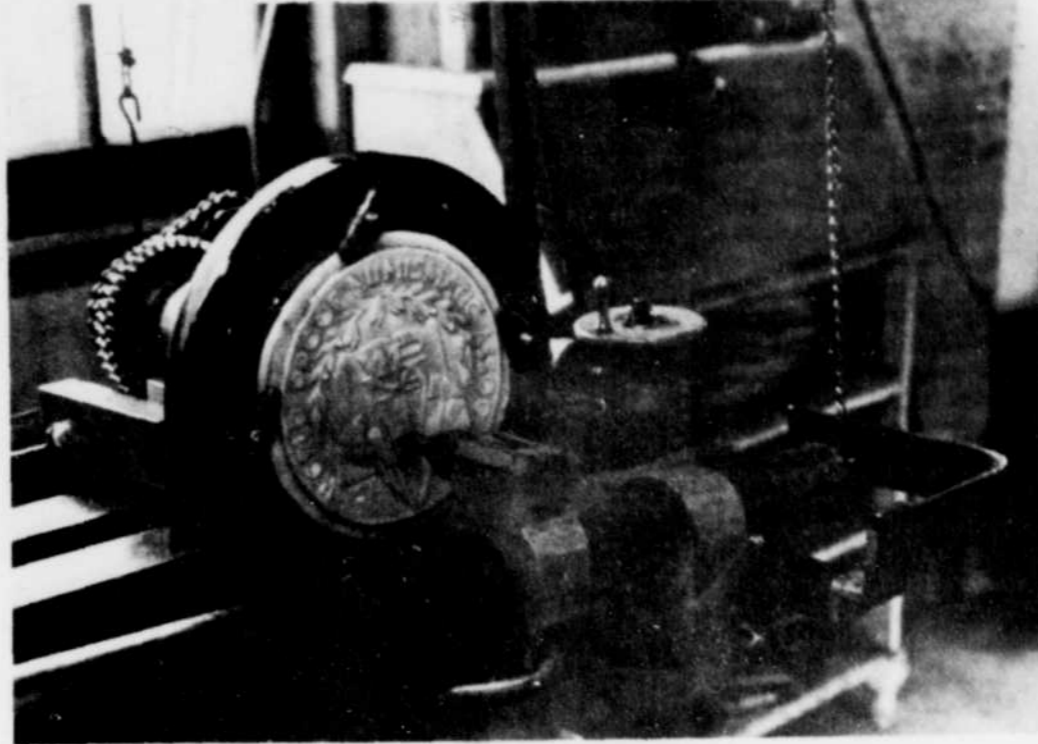

Some earthly organisms can survive under conditions almost as severe as those on Mars, the scientists say in the current issue of The Quarterly Review of Biology.

Dr. Cyril Ponnamperuma and Dr. Harold P. Klein of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Laboratory in Moffett Field, Calif., base their report on data from the 20 per cent of the Martian surface that has been photographed, and on which temperature, radiation level, atmospheric pressure and water content have been measured.

They say the atmosphere on the planet is extremely thin compared with that of the earth and the pressure is considerably lower on Mars. But "considerable variation in atmospheric composition and density can be tolerated by terrestrial organisms," and micro-organisms can grow or survive at pressures much lower than those on earth.

Although the atmosphere of Mars lacks oxygen and nitrogen, "most organisms do not require atmospheric nitrogen and even oxygen is not necessary for some," the article says.

It adds that although the surface of Mars appears to be lacking, or almost lacking, in the liquid water that appears to be a requirement for life, water may exist beneath the surface as permafrost or ice.

Pantograph reduces plastic cast to coin size

At Lombardo Mint

Coining, casts and false tooth plastic

By GERRY FLAHERTY
SHERBROOKE — In July, 1969, American astronauts Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin Aldrin, Jr., amazed the world with man's first moonwalk.

Since then, Sherbrooke's Lombardo Mint has amazed the numismatic world with its Apollo XI commemorative medal, with more than 150,000 having been sold to date in North America and Europe.

"We even received a letter from a senior NASA official complimenting us on the excellence of our work," promotion manager Ed Jones, 26, told The Record recently.

"And that's not all," Jones added hastily, "after we minted the Robert F. Kennedy medal, a letter arrived from one of Bobby's longtime friends - Andy Williams. You should have seen the girls in the office drool over that one."

commemorative piece. "It's not just the talent of our staff which makes this all possible," Mr. Lombardo said, "we're investing in the best coining machinery possible." The firm has just taken delivery of a press which produces 350 coins per minute at 160 tons of pressure.

Manufactured by Taylor & Challen Ltd., Birmingham, England, it is valued at more than $70,000. It is newer than any models which the U.S. and Royal Canadian Mints have at the moment, making it the largest capacity coining press in North America, Mr. Lombardo explained.

"Coining is just a series of casts," Mr. Jones said as he described the entire process. To start, the sculptor fashions, the design into clay, taking casts in plaster and plastic in sequence. The art work at this time is about eight inches in diameter.

Putting final touches on a steel die work, Mr. Lombardo said. They are chief sculptor A. Marchetti and head engraver Maurice Royer.

The nationally syndicated coin column Money Clips by Mort Reed, distributed by the Newspaper Enterprise Assn. recently praised Marchetti's peace medal design.

"... but the peace medal may be his best effort. Sculptured by A. Marchetti, the obverse is a montage of 21 figures whose faces reflect the anguish and frustration brought on by worldwide conflict... the centerpiece symbolizes the earth superimposed with the scales of justice and held by the hand of God," Mr. Reed explained.

"We've received some hate mail from Americans who take exception to our minting peace medals," Mr. Jones said, "but we answer saying it symbolizes the wearer's intent, and not that of our firm."

But right now, most of the minting business is derived from private industry, especially the oil companies. Shell Canada Ltd. is currently test-marketing a series of coins depicting the exploits of Canadian explorers such as Jacques Cartier. Lombardo Mint is manufacturing almost 1 1/4 million coins for the test, and is operating 24 hours per day thanks to this and other orders.

About one-half of the firm's total sales, estimated at $500,000 per annum, are made in the United States. "While everyone else complains about the state of affairs, we just go ahead and do our share to offset the balance of payments deficit with the States," Mr. Jones said.

"Oh, you make a Nixon medal too?" the liberal-minded Record staffers asked as the tour of the mint neared completion. "You must have a heck of a time unloading those," he ventured.

They aren't selling as well as others, Mr. Jones admitted, but perhaps it's because he's stepping on too many toes.

"Take President Eisenhower, for example," Jones said, "his medallions sold like hotcakes - insinuating he accomplished very little as a political leader."

Well we don't understand either, but this minting business seems very fascinating, especially when Sherbrooke's Lombardo Mint is a leader in the North American field.

Founder Lombardo displays Canadian Explorer coins

Yes, Sherbrooke is home to one of the three mints located in Canada. It was started in 1959 by O.N. Lombardo, 42, who emigrated from his native Italy in 1950. The firm is incorporated under the name Canadian Artistic Dies.

Its Wellington Street South plant was completed in 1967, and Lombardo Mint has grown to an operation with 30 employees and an annual payroll of about $120,000, Mr. Lombardo said.

His formal education took place at Milan's Fine Arts of Brera, where he studied the arts and engraving.

"Mr. Lombardo gradually learned every aspect of the minting process on his own, and now he could do everything himself if he had to," Mr. Jones said.

He must know what he is doing, for over the years the firm has minted everything from the Trans-Canada Highway medal in 1959 to Sherbrooke Transit and Champlain Bridge tokens and the celebrated Dwight D. Eisenhower

Of interest is the fact that the plastic used is the same as is used in the manufacture of false teeth.

The plastic cast is then converted by a pantograph machine, which reduces the cast down to coin size. Lombardo Mint's pantograph machine was designed and constructed by the firm's founder.

"They used to do the sculpturing right onto the steel in the old days," Mr. Jones said, "but you can imagine just how long that took - the demand for mass production resulted in the current process without any loss in quality."

Once the cast has been reduced the resultant positive die is engraved by artistic hands and eyes to ensure perfection. This is then sunk into steel to create the final impression of coining die. It is this die which permits the Taylor & Challen press to mint coins.

Two mint employees have been singled out repeatedly in the North American numismatic industry for their exceptional

Up by 50 per cent Approve gas export hike

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has approved an increase of more than 50 per cent in exports of natural gas to the United States in the next 20 years while saying in effect that if the U.S. wants more it should buy more Canadian oil.

A long-delayed cabinet decision, announced Tuesday, approved an increase in export commitments by 6.3 trillion cubic feet of gas to 18.3 trillion feet through four pipeline companies.

Energy Minister J.J. Greene said a bigger U.S. market for Canadian oil would stimulate development of petroleum resources, resulting in more gas for export.

Five companies had sought total additional exports of 8.9 trillion feet of gas in hearings before the National Energy Board between last November and March.

One, Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb., was turned down outright in a bid to tap Canadian resources for the first time through its subsidiary, Consolidated Natural Gas Co. of Calgary.

The other four companies, all present exporters, had sought total additional commitments of 7.4 trillion feet on top of existing export rights to about 12 trillion cubic feet over terms of up to 25 years.

REDUCE LENGTH

In general, the government and the energy board gave the four successful companies the additional amounts they wanted on a daily and annual basis, but cut down the duration of the export licences to 15 or 20 years from the 20 to 25 sought.

In addition, the cabinet announced new regulations requiring the energy board to recommend revision of the export prices of the gas should market prices in the United States for competing forms of fuel rise significantly during the terms of export contracts.

The shorter duration of the export licences and the provision for price review are in line with new policy to avoid longterm, fixed-price export commitments in energy resources.

At the same time, however, the energy board announced it had adopted a more free-handed method of calculating Canadian gas surplus available for export.

In tallying available reserves of gas, it has started counting in half the reserves now considered beyond economic recovery by reason of remoteness or difficulty of access - an accounting method recommended by western Canadian producers.

The board will also count some of the so-called deferred reserves previously regarded as unobtainable for conservation reasons.

INCREASES RESERVE

The upshot, of complicated calculations for the present export decision, was to increase estimated available Canadian gas reserves by about per cent to 54 trillion cubic feet.

Canadian requirements for the next quarter century, for which calculation methods are unchanged, are estimated at 35.6 trillion cubic feet.

That leaves a surplus available for export of 18.4 trillion cubic feet - 100 billion feet more than total commitments for exports.

Mr. Greene, treading a delicate political path between western Canadian demands for more sales and eastern fears of a sellout of resources to the United States, stressed the substantial cash benefits of the additional sales while underlining new provisions designed to safeguard Canadian interests.

He said the new gas exports add up to the biggest single increase since exports began in the late 1950s.

Mr. Greene said the approved additional exports were worth about $2 billion and accompanying pipeline facilities would involve about $200 million in construction, 80 per cent of it Canadian content.

By way of assurance to consumers east of Alberta, who opposed substantial exports that might raise Canadian prices and leave Canada short, Mr. Greene said the newly-authorized exports constituted an amount that would be discovered in less than two years if current discovery rates continue.

OIL QUOTAS INCREASED

In the context of Canada's efforts to persuade the United States to match Canada's provision of more gas by lowering trade barriers against oil, gas products and petrochemicals, Mr. Greene drew attention to a Washington announcement Tuesday that would effectively open the way to about 10 per cent more Canadian crude oil imports east of the Rockies.

In considering gas exports, the minister said, the government proceeded in the expectation that the United States would provide satisfactory access for Canadian oil.

He said he is confident that current negotiations with the United States will lead to increased access for oil, gas by-products and petrochemicals.

While demand for natural gas in the United States is very strong, Canadian exports now amount to only slightly more than three per cent of total U.S. requirements.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield, however, said Canada should have insisted on fair share of the U.S. oil market before granting the gas exports.

T.C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, predicted the export ruling would raise the price of natural gas in Canada and leave the country without adequate supplies for future domestic demand.

QUEBEC IN FOCUS

MUC unveils Metro plan

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Urban Community council Tuesday unveiled a three-phase plan to extend Montreal Island's subway system by more than 30 miles at a cost of about $400 million.

The plan would be completed in 10 years. Lucien Saulnier, executive committee chairman, said the completed subway system will have about 40 miles of tunnels and will be tied in with the 1976 Summer Olympic Games, to be held in Montreal.

Ask trusteeship for school

MONTREAL (CP) — Parents and teachers associations at the suburban Lignery regional school Tuesday asked the education department to place their strike-bound school under trusteeship.

Jean Tetreault, president of the school's parents association, asked the department to suspend the school's administrators, to appoint a new interim administrator, and to appoint an official one-man inquiry with powers to recommend new financial and teaching structures.

The school has been closed down since maintenance and clerical staff walked out for higher pay earlier this month, forcing about 3,600 students to stay home.

Quebec on its way

STE. JULIE, Que. (CP) — Quebec is on its way to becoming involved in the North American technological revolution, Premier Robert Bourassa said Tuesday.

Speaking at the opening of a new Hydro-Quebec research institute near this community 20 miles southeast of Montreal, the premier said such facilities will help stimulate the Quebec economy and provide badly-needed new jobs.

Eel fishing ban imposed

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government has put a ban on all commercial eel fishing on the St. Lawrence River following a federal health department report that mercury pollution has exceeded the safe level, it was learned Tuesday.

The safe level for mercury pollution is 0.5 parts per million and the St. Lawrence shows a reading exceeding this limit.

The Quebec government closed the St. Lawrence above Trois-Rivieres to commercial fishing early last week because of a similar high pollutant count.

About 300 fishermen have been put out of work by the closing of the river but the Quebec government has offered to give them interest-free loans up to the value of last year's catch.

Bakers threatened by chains

QUEBEC (CP) — Independent bakers in Quebec province face a serious threat from large chain groceries who sell their baked goods at a loss to attract shoppers to their other products, the Association of Professional Bakers of Quebec said Tuesday.

The statement came in a release by association members to their executive at an annual conference in suburban Beauport.

The bakers asked that a provincial corporation be formed which could draw up a code of ethics. This code, they say, might prevent the price-reduction tactics used by the big chain stores.

Association president Marius Larochelle told the conference only 300 independent bakers exist in Quebec this year compared with 905 in 1960. The baking industry currently employs about 13,300 persons.

Discuss working language

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Robert Bourassa met Tuesday with 140 personnel directors from Quebec's largest companies to discuss the use of French as the working language in their enterprises.

Also participating in the daylong meeting were Labor Minister Pierre Laporte, Cultural Affairs Minister Francois Cloutier and Claude Simard, minister without portfolio with responsibilities for trade, industry and commerce.

Mr. Bourassa reiterated the government's aim of making French the working language of Quebec.

He has already held similar meetings with the directors of the 50 largest enterprises in Quebec and with leaders of the province's largest labor organizations.

Municipal election

Party fills out roster

By CUTHBERT JONES
 SHERBROOKE — Both major parties seeking to control the next Sherbrooke City Council have completed their slate of candidates for the Nov. 1 municipal elections with the announcement last night that Andre Fournier, operator of a dry cleaning establishment, would be the Sherbrooke Party candidate for a Centre ward seat. The announcement was made at a press conference by Marcel Savard, CA, party president and candidate for the mayoralty in opposition to Marc Bureau, present mayor and leader of the Civic Action group which now controls the municipal administration. In addition to the candidate and Mr. Savard, speakers at the meeting included Lise Dube, candidate in the East Ward and the only woman so far nominated for a Council seat, and Michel Cloutier, dean of the faculty of Business Administration at the University of Sherbrooke, who is seeking the second seat in the Centre ward.

On campus at BISHOP'S

By Paul Trollope

Outlines drama program

Professor David Rittenhouse, acting director of drama, recommended to the students' executive council Monday night that the present concert committee, consisting of Profs. Brown and Gustafson and Mr. Allison, the librarian, be adapted to include three students and to be responsible for all concerts (not only those involving classical music) held in the Centennial Theatre.

With an overall year's program co-ordinated by one group, he explained, the committee can play their budget to account for losses, which invariably occur at some Bishop's concerts.

A rather startling point made by Prof. Rittenhouse was that $1500 of the theatre's budget for last year is completely unaccounted for, in his own words, "it just disappeared".

Prof. Rittenhouse also proposed an extensive publicity program for the theatre and its performances, which would be designed to extend far beyond the campus and the town of Lennoxville, and to attract audiences from a fairly wide radius in the Townships.

Faculty appointees

Elections were held by the faculty of arts recently for the faculty positions on the curriculum, policy and budget committee and the student affairs committee.

Unfortunately, over half the members of the faculty withdrew their names from the slate, indicating that they did not wish to run and would not serve if elected.

The curriculum, policy and budget committee will consist of:

The dean of arts, ex officio, Professors Barnett, Duval, Engelbretsen, Harper, Matson, Myhul, Patridge, Rittenhouse and Schwartz, and four students to be chosen from among the student representatives on the faculty.

The student affairs committee will consist of:

The dean of arts, ex officio, Professors Abrahams, Denis, Judson and Siddiqui, and two students to be chosen from among the student representatives on the faculty.

Stanstead hosts Hudson

Stanstead College and Hudson High school, Montreal, had a football game here on Saturday. Score was Stanstead 15 and Hudson 0.

In the first quarter Mike Allard of Stanstead made a four yard run for a TD on a kick from Bob Cohoon. In the second quarter Allard scored on a rouge from Cohoon's punt, third quarter was scoreless and in the last quarter Allard and Cohoon did it again, Allard scored on a kick from Cohoon.

Our Varsity football and JV soccer teams will be playing Ashbury College at Ottawa, this Saturday, Oct. 3, while we will be hosting Ashbury's Varsity soccer team here for a game.

The Spectrum year book meeting is this week and the officers will be named. Two members of staff will meet with Harry Macfarlane at BCS, Lennoxville, to plan interschool debates and tentatively to plan membership in the National Association of Debating.

Last year our school established its own Geography course, this was approved for credits by McGill University and is beneficial for University entrance. Last year seven students took advantage of this, this year there is a class of ten. One of the functions of the course is an airplane flight from the Newport airport, crossing the Border and covering as far as Magog, the lake and areas.

Bell takes steps against vandals

By BILL TREXLER
 SHERBROOKE — The Bell Telephone Co. is about to begin an all-out war against vandals who annually destroy hundreds of coin telephones, according to a press release from the Montreal offices of the company.

The vandalism is usually a result of efforts to remove coin boxes, a task which Bell engineers make more difficult every year, according to Edgar Seguin, head of security in the Montreal area.

The press release said that total thefts are on the decline, from over an annual 2000 ten years ago to a present rate of 200 incidents yearly in Quebec and Ontario.

Despite the decrease, new security measures are being implemented to further reduce losses. Company officials are reluctant to discuss new devices being designed to aid security, but the press release did mention a new scanning alarm system which could monitor up to 100 telephone pay-stations from a central point. If an act of vandalism occurred, the alarm would enable company personnel to alert local police and hopefully be quick enough to catch the suspect in the act.

Mr. B. J. Murray, Sherbrooke area manager for the company, was equally reluctant to discuss the new devices, but confirmed that tightened security measures are being considered.

Techniques used by would-be thieves are often of a violent nature, according to Mr. Seguin, who said that vandals used everything from "dynamite to black powder and even guns" to get at Bell's coin boxes.

"In the end, it is the subscriber who must foot the bill," the press release said. Although the amount of money usually contained in a coin box is not often great, the largest losses are caused by damage to the machinery itself.

The courts are no longer considering telephone thefts lightly, explained Mr. Seguin, and said that in one case he remembered the court considered theft from a telephone the same as theft from a safe and sentenced the defendant to four years in prison on a charge of burglary.

Author praises federalism, warns commercial empires

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, noted French economist and author, said Tuesday a federal Europe and a federal Canada should be obvious partners in facing the economic challenge of the 1970s.

"Federalism is progress," he told the first national conference of Canadian bankers, a two-day meeting organized by the Institute of Canadian Bankers.

"Our old continent, at least that part of it which lies to the west, no longer aspires to the dream of world empire," he said. "It has learned from bitter experience that military conquest brings no rewards.

"Canada has known this for a long time. We are becoming Canadians, so to speak, in many ways."

A major task was the construction of a federal Europe — "one which is larger, more self-sufficient, socially more just and democratically more compatible."

"In this, Canada can definitely help us."

Mr. Servan-Schreiber said the United States is engulfed in its own power and therefore cannot be a good judge in the economic development of Europe.

"We have little time left" to build an industrial power in Europe, he said, adding that this is a "great undertaking, a desperate one."

He said private industry must be allowed to perform to the full its function as a factor of material progress and that economic and political power must be separated.

He warned, however, that the multinational corporations are in a position to create a new jungle because of the worldwide empires they are building.

"Widely spread out in their component parts and commanded from geographically remote bases, they account to no single political authority.

50TH ANNIVERSARY — The Our Lady of Good Counsel branch of the Catholic Women's League is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. To mark the event, there was an open house celebration at St. Patrick's Church last Saturday. Among the attendants were from the left, front row: Mrs. F. G. Doherty and Miss Marian McCormick, life members, standing from left to right: Mrs. Conrad Fortier, parish council president, Mrs. Maura McKenna, diocesan president and Mrs. E. G. Wolfe, life member. National membership to the C.W.L. now stands at 121,000.

Our column

by Mary Jean Bean

One parent complains: There's no discipline in the schools any more. The kids are allowed to run wild.

Another says: The teacher is too strict. Billy is scared stiff of her.

There's little doubt that the problem of discipline is a bugbear for the majority of parents and teachers today. Each of us has his or her own idea of what constitutes good discipline, depending on our own life-style.

Frequently there is a difference of opinion between the two parents in one home and they find themselves in a ridiculous tug-of-war situation like a team of horses pulling in opposite directions. Similarly, there may exist many varying concepts of discipline among the teaching staff of any one school.

Just as there is a natural tendency to teach as one has been taught, there is also a tendency to try to discipline as one has been disciplined.

A person brought up under the authoritarian type of discipline of former generations who clung to the tenet: "Spare the rod, spoil the child", now finding himself "top dog" so to speak, tends to attempt to impose the same sort of discipline on his children or pupils. Or, recognizing the destructive inhibitions caused by such treatment, he may react completely, taking an opposite tactic, that of allowing those in his charge to do exactly as they please.

It is unfortunate that, in all too many cases, our attitudes concerning discipline seem to have polarized at these two extremes. Their effects on the young create our greatest problems. Children subjected to overly strict discipline in the home or in one classroom, tend to run wild when given a little rein. We often hear it said, "give them an inch and they'll take a mile."

On the other hand, children who are allowed to run wild at home or in one class, find it very difficult to adapt to the slightest hint of imposed discipline elsewhere.

We adults all give at least lip service to our mutual belief in the principle of freedom. We certainly value our own rights and privileges. Do we attach equal importance to the responsibilities that freedom presupposes? Do we employ practices that are conducive to the development of self-discipline in the young?

The past offers us few examples of the ideal in human relations. Throughout our history, every form of social organization yet devised, from family life through government levels, seems to have been plagued by various forms of tyranny or chaos.

Concepts of discipline have been translated in terms of suppression and oppression on one hand, or laissez faire and license on the other with almost equally disastrous results. A few bright lights, men of profound insight, have appeared from time to time, only to have their conception of the ideal distorted and misinterpreted by their disciples.

For centuries, the field of human relations remained almost virgin territory. Recognition of the fact that it must be explored and known intimately if the human race is to survive, is probably the 20th century's greatest achievement.

Certainly the current rush of research into the many areas of the humanities such as sociology, anthropology, philosophy, psychology and psychiatry is encouraging. At least it provides evidence that man's search for the ideal is continuing in more realistic terms than ever before.

Naturally we are not all equipped to probe into the more complex intricacies of human behaviour, but we can do more than passively admire and appreciate, or belligerently damn the work being done by those who are.

We can examine traditional practices in the light of their obvious results. We can train ourselves to approach new ideas with an open mind. We can discuss both old and new frankly from the point of view of daily living.

And in order to keep our discussions from disintegrating into a mere sharing of incoherent thoughts within our own locale, we can glean information from every possible resource, from books, television, radio, newspapers, and knowledgeable persons. In this way each of us can play his own small part in the quest.

As our educational workshops and parent-teacher meetings resume their talks and planning sessions, we will inevitably be concerned with the subject of discipline. Our discussions may be enhanced by considering what some modern writers have to say.

Sylvia Ashton-Warner, whose work I mentioned last week, believes that motivation of children to learn does not become a problem unless their natural motivation has been stifled, and she agrees with Dr. Burrow's statement that "the secret of our collective ills is to be traced to the suppression of creative ability".

This, she declares, is a matter of international importance, therefore all the work of young children should be through the "creative vent" in order that they shall not come to idealize aggression and destruction as has happened in the past.

A.S. Neill, author of Summerhill and Freedom - Not License, urges parents and teachers to renounce traditional practices that warp the child's personality or stiffen its body by wrong interference. His "radical approach to child rearing" is based on the theory that freedom means freedom to do what you like as long as you do not trespass on the freedom of others.

Such freedom, he says, can give homes and schools the same kind of team spirit as exists in an orchestra, instead of the army-type atmosphere of discipline and hate. Neill's ideas have stirred up considerable controversy, some of which is recorded in Summerhill: For And Against (Hart Publishing Company).

Grim void in Middle East

The sudden death of Gamal Abdel Nasser leaves a gaping uncertainty at a time of deep peril in the Middle East.

Despite his rhetorical violence, Mr. Nasser was a powerful force for moderation in that troubled area. While his hopes for Arab unity were only partially fulfilled, he was the only leader with the qualities required to bring the feuding factions together and his death opens up the possibility of new convulsions in a region that has been at war or on the verge of war for more than 20 years.

His last accomplishment was bringing about an armistice in the Jordan civil war and with his passing from the scene it is possible the guerrillas and King Hussein will return to their bloody conflict.

Another great danger is that there might be a bloody struggle for leadership in Egypt and the Arab world. Certainly nobody regards his interim successor as having the capabilities for continuing the tenuous co-operation which has existed among the Arab powers in recent years.

There is reason to fear that radical revolutionary leaders in neighboring states may seek to seize control of the Arab movement, leading to the isolation of the kingdoms of Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

And there is little hope that serious negotiations can be carried on between Israel and the Arab states with the powerful leadership of Nasser lacking and the expanded deployment of Russian missiles along the Suez Canal can increase the danger of Soviet-American confrontation.

Both the United States and Russia regarded Nasser as the indispensable, pivotal force in a Middle East settlement and there appears little chance of a new leader emerging with sufficient authority to negotiate before the present limit of the Middle East truce runs out November 5.

If Nasser's death leads to a new upsurge of Arab militancy on Israel's borders, there would be a risk of an Israeli pre-emptive strike, perhaps leading to serious involvement by Washington and Moscow.

No sauce for the gander

Kent State University trustees have approved changes in the school's code of student conduct, including provision for interim suspension of students in certain cases.

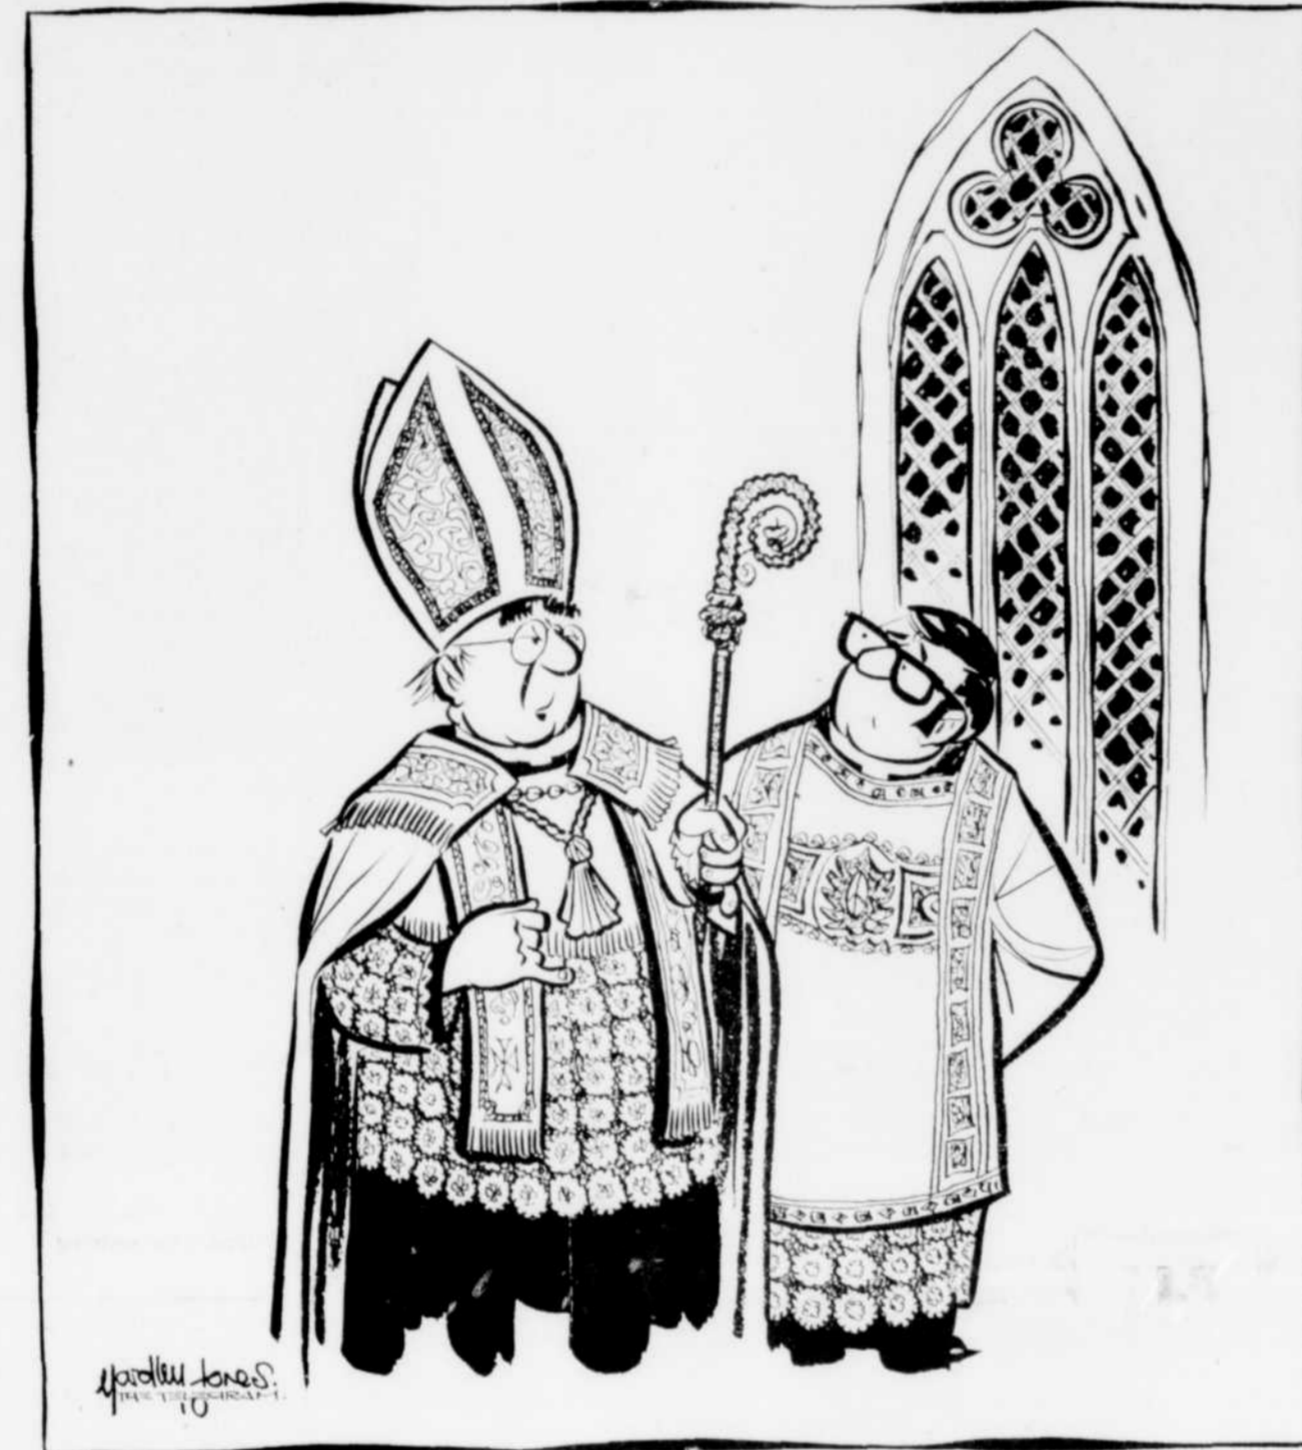

"The interim suspension will be used with restraints, such as in cases of gross violence or of continuing danger to university order," President Robert J. White told the Ohio institution trustees. "If used, an effort will be made to hold a practically simultaneous hearing."

Three student representatives attending the meeting objected to the changes.

"Students will view this as another phase of a repressive society," said one, warning that it could lead to "increased polarization" that could possibly result in violence.

"Before any student is punished there should be a hearing to determine whether he is guilty."

By the same token, no police officer should ever be given an interim suspension pending investigation of charges of brutality or excessive use of force or other unbecoming conduct during, say, a campus disturbance.

"Regardless of the more democratic structure endorsed by the World Congress on the Future of the Church — you will desist in referring to me as the Reverend Shop Steward . . ."

Sharp should shut up on Mid-East situation

by Douglas Fisher

OTTAWA — There's an apt and old proverb I heard in the Middle East: "Peace is the dream of the wise, war is the history of man."

You can hardly move 10 miles anywhere in the region without a guide pointing to a hill, or a pass or a village, as the site of some battle or massacre in the long parade of recorded wars from early biblical times to the present. And a Canadian seeking to understand the present conflict tends to thank providence we're far from it and free from responsibility for it.

Then he comes home to hear External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp has warned the United Nations Assembly that the crisis must be solved or the world organization is undone. Can there be anywhere in the world a country so high-minded and moral as ours in addressing the great problems of our time? Piety bids us shine with a pure, clear light like a little candle burning in the night.

The Sharp sermon sent me running to the six foreign policy pamphlets flourished so proudly a few months ago by the Trudeau Government. In the six of them there are only a couple of oblique references to the Middle East. Then I recalled the briefings I'd heard these past few weeks from three of our ambassadors in the Middle East. A synopsis of their analysis goes like this:

The Canadian Government has small diplomatic and commercial interests in the region. In effect, the dearth of references to it reflects this and our attitude that we should keep a long arm's length from it. Mr. Sharp did tour the Arab countries and Israel a few months ago. He has said that Canada would be willing to put a share into any peace-keeping or truce-keeping force the U.N. might develop. But he was very careful and discreet and neutral about it all.

Our ambassadors are then, rather enlightened, detached observers of it all. They see the operative role as peacemakers going to the two great powers. They are mildly optimistic that the clients of each can be restrained and forced toward peace because it is in the present interests of both the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. to defuse the explosive components in both the Israeli and the Arab camps.

When they elaborate, it turns out that Canada's position isn't quite so simple. The issue blocking the gut of the body politic in the Middle East is the fate of the Palestinians. Some 2.5 million of them fester in a rim around Israel in the Arab countries, brood in hatred under Israeli military government in the occupied territories, or live as second-class citizens in Israel proper. They're the semi-usurpers in Jordan, the goad in Syria, the disturbance in the delicate balance of Lebanon's sectarian politics. Where does Canada stand on the Palestinians' demand for a redress of their unjust dilemma, these people either dispossessed of their land or non-functioning political people in it?

We've never really taken a position, say the ambassadors. Oh, we make a contribution to the United Nations Relief and Works Agency which feeds the refugees. We support the U.N. resolution on the Middle East which has a sentence in it about just treatment of the refugees. Why don't we take a stronger line, offer some leadership, say on the refugee problem by an offer of massive immigration or by a well-subsidized program of resettlement of the refugees?

It seems we're not really that neutral and certainly not that bold. "Why," said one ambassador, "no nation's representative in Ottawa sees the minister as often and regularly as Israel's." Another mentioned that Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Sharp happened to represent two of the three constituencies in Canada in which there was a substantial concentration of Jewish voters. Most of these people have a keen, natural favor for Israel's security and progress. Did this mean that our Government is at heart so pro-Israeli that it cannot consider advocacy of measures to succor the Palestinians?

It's understandable that diplomats bend from such questions. One of them put it nicely: "Our duty as advisers is to present all factors in a situation. You would find, I think, in the U.S. where a special bond exists between the Government and Israel that it is very much a situation determined by the politicians, not by the regulars of the State Department. It's probable that our advice and analysis may be somewhat different from what you may see or sense in Canadian policy in the Middle East."

To put it crudely then, the cruel dilemma of the Palestinians finds no sympathetic echoes from the Canadian Government because the leading politicians and the populace as a whole (as these politicians see it) are sympathetic to the dilemma of the other side, the Arab challenged to formal, recognized and continued existence of Israel; and beyond this, the time-honored Canadian penchant is therefore to walk very softly in nasty situations, particularly where our giant neighbours have a leading and clear role.

It was trite and far from original that I found in the Arab countries and among the Palestinians a hatred for Israel that is deep, obsessive and vengeful. The same bitterness is not so evident among the Israelis; rather there's a tough-minded resolution to survive and continue development which is admirable enough in itself so long as one ignores the most hapless victims of it all, the landless or the inferior citizens of Palestine.

Mr. Sharp, indeed none of our major political figures, have ever spotlighted the Palestinian case in their so decent willingness to aid in solving the Middle East crises. It's a kind of nobility without charity, a bone of concern without any marrow or positive acts. Typically Canadian, perhaps, and why I shiver after seeing the grim lot of the Palestinians is that it does seem to be a safe way to handle a distant problem. But better for the conscience, Mr. Sharp should shut up entirely on the subject.

"Tell me the truth, now — did you, or didn't you, start the latest rumor about an Onassis-Jackie rift?"

Hopes dim for peace in Mideast

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's death has dimmed hopes for peace in the Middle East and created a potentially explosive vacuum in this volatile part of the world.

"It's a vacuum too horrible to contemplate," a Western-educated Arab said Tuesday. "I can see only chaos ahead."

"I have been pretty pessimistic all along," a diplomat commented. "Now I'm really blue. Who can bring the Arab world together now?"

Despite his revolutionary role in modern Arab history and his anti-American public posture, Nasser exerted a moderating influence on Arab extremists.

His country is easily the strongest and most powerful in the Arab world, and his seniority among Arab heads of state enabled him to provide a meeting ground for both leftist and right-wing regimes in the area.

STRUGGLE APPARENT
In Egypt itself, a power struggle appears inevitable.

And the Arab world, deprived of Egypt's dominating influence, faces a period of doubt, confusion, turmoil and probably violence.

Mobs took to the streets of Beirut, smashing windows and burning cars, within minutes of the announcement of Nasser's death Monday.

Arab extremists—the Palestinian guerrillas and the leftist Syrian and Iraqi regimes—can be expected to try to fill the void left by Nasser.

But they are bitterly divided among themselves, and their struggle for supremacy carries risks of further bloodshed among Arab brothers.

Nasser died a few hours after he had brought Arab leaders together to patch up an agreement to end the civil war in Jordan.

Nasser and Jordan's king Hussein were the only Arab leaders to accept the United States Middle East peace initiative. Palestinian guerrilla opposition to a negotiated peace with Israel precipitated the fighting in Jordan.

HUSSEIN ALONE
Hussein now must face the guerrillas alone. If the guerrillas rise again—and this seems to be a matter of time—Hussein will have the bitter choice of unleashing his Bedouin armies against them or suing for peace with Israel, a step which could be suicidal.

No Arab leader seems of sufficient stature to pursue the American peace initiative. Hatred of Israel—and, by association, the United States—has been whipped up among the masses since their humiliating defeat by Israel in the war of 1967.

Thus it is doubtful the Arab leaders currently in power could afford to adopt a conciliatory attitude toward Israel or the United States.

Whatever government takes over in Egypt there is little likelihood it will have the power base necessary to take any strong position, for peace or war.

It could be a military junta, but the military leadership in Egypt is conservative and would be concerned primarily with solidifying its own position.

SOVIETS HAVE STAKE
The Russians have a multi-million-dollar military and political stake in Egypt and the Kremlin says it will continue its economic and military aid.

But the Russians are not popular in Egypt, among the leadership or the people.

The struggle for power will probably polarize between Aly Sabry, pro-Soviet head of the Arab Socialist Union, and Zakariah Mohieddin, Nasser's former intelligence brains who is generally regarded as pro-Western.

Anwar Sadat, the vice-president who took over as provisional president, could end up a compromise president between the two opposing forces.

In any of these three eventualities, the Egyptians will probably be too preoccupied with their own problems to carry any weight in the rest of the Arab world. And the loudest and most militant voices in this world are the land-hungry Palestinians and the revolutionary forces of Syria and Iraq.

Turkey orders Canadian wheat

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will supply Turkey with about 100,000 tons of wheat valued at $7 million under the Canadian assistance plan to the Asian country.

Ihsan Sabri Caglayangil, Turkish minister of foreign affairs, made the announcement at a news conference Tuesday following a three-hour meeting with External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp.

It was the first time a Turkish government representative has made an official visit to Canada.

Mr. Caglayangil said Turkey, with a population of about 35 million, needs roughly 900,000 tons of wheat annually. The United States supplies about 500,000 tons per year while the Common Market countries supply about 150,000 tons.

The Turkish official gave no details on delivery arrangements.

Alouettes cut winning streak

By SCOTT ABBOTT

SHERBROOKE—Sherbrooke Beavers' budding winning streak was halted at two games last night when the local side dropped a 3-2 decision to St. Jerome Alouettes in Montreal in Quebec Junior "A" Hockey League exhibition action.

Scoring for the Beavers were Gaston Boulanger and Gilbert Smith, but two goals by Maurice Desfosse and one by Jacques Locas were enough to give the Alouettes the victory.

point production from last year when he had 19 goals and 35 assists in 52 games.

A product of the Sherbrooke Minor Hockey Association, Dube is proving hockey and studies are compatible by attending the University of Sherbrooke at the same time he furthers his education on the ice lanes.

DISCIPLINARY ACTION FORESEEN

The details of the brawl-marred encounters between the Beavers and both the Drummondville Rangers and St. Jerome Alouettes are coming under the scrutiny of QJHL president Bob Lebel.

"We realize that the style of play in the Quebec Junior 'A' is rough, but we won't allow any players to become involved in brutality on the ice," says the league head.

"There will very probably be disciplinary measures imposed on some players and coaches. The coaches have been advised that they are to be held responsible for the conduct of their players and that at no time are the players to leave the team bench or the penalty box to join a fight."

SEASON TICKETS

Season ticket holders have until Thursday evening when the Beavers play away against Sorel Hawks to renew their subscriptions. The box office will be open for that purpose through Thursday evening. Those who do not avail themselves of this opportunity by that time have no guarantee of retaining the same seats they held last year.

NORMAND DUBE

Meanwhile, in other preparation for the coming season, the Beavers have signed 19-year-old forward Normand Dube, a versatile and valuable performer who will be playing his last season in Junior hockey. The 5'10", 160-pounder is being looked to for an increase in his

Chiefs humiliate Colts

By Gordon Beard

BALTIMORE (CP)—Baltimore Colts had suffered worse defeats, but none seemed quite so humiliating. Even the rabid Baltimore fans were streaming out of Memorial Stadium long before the world champion Kansas City Chiefs administered a 44-24 pasting Monday night.

The first half of the National Football League game ended with the Chiefs on top 31-7 and they increased the bulge to 41-10 before Baltimore added two meaningless fourth-quarter touchdowns.

The Colts were stomped 70-27 back in 1950, but that was their inaugural season in the National Football League. Even a 57-0 loss to Chicago Bears in 1962 didn't seem to carry the same sting as the walloping by the Chiefs.

TIME WAS RIPE

The time was ripe for a good showing by Baltimore. After posting the best record in the NFL during the last 12 years, 112-48-4, the Colts were one of three old-guard teams shifted to the American Conference under the realignment.

In their first home game against a team from the old American Football League, the Colts were taking on the Super Bowl champs. The Chiefs had lost their 1970 opener to Minnesota Vikings the week before, and Baltimore had beaten them in an exhibition 17-3.

The Chiefs exploded. They were tricky, elusive and back kicks. They were explosive on offence and running devastating on defence.

Still hope for playoff

LENNOXVILLE (SA)—If the Shell-Rolling Hills and North Hatley teams ever do get to play the third game of their best-of-five Lennoxville Softball League final series, they'll probably have to refer to the program to identify even their respective teammates.

Originally scheduled a week ago last Monday, the game has been set back time after time due to inclement weather or wet field conditions. Washed out last night, the contest is now set for tomorrow evening at 6.30 at the Lennoxville Optimist Community Park.

Shell-Rolling Hills holds a 2-0 lead in the series and can wrap up the title with a win.

CEGEP football

FARNHAM (SA)—Local football fans will be treated to a game tonight at Farnham Stadium when the CEGEP St. Jean Giants take on St. Therese at 8.00.

The Giant lineup includes such former members of the defunct Farnham Frontenacs as Daniel Lafleur, Andre Morin, Pierre Paradis and Fernand and Richard Archambault.

The Giants will be looking to produce another outstanding offensive display such as those which saw them run up 53-34 and 53-27 victories in their first two games this season.

Farnham minor hockey

FARNHAM (SA)—Aspiring minor hockey players can register with Yvon Dion any day this week at the Sports Palace between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The hockey program this season will comprise six teams in the Atom division, four in the Mosquito, six in the Pee-Wee, six in the Bantam and eight in the Juvenile.

Expos take Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Bateman drove in four runs with a double and homer and pitcher Steve Renko knocked in a pair with a double as Montreal Expos routed Philadelphia Phillies 10-3 Tuesday night.

Bateman capped a three-run Expos third inning with a two-run double and added a two-run homer in the ninth. Renko, 13-11, ripped his run-scoring hit in the second. Bob Bailey also homered for the Expos.

Pitching key to series win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates are both known for their offensive weapons. But when the National League playoff opens this weekend at Three Rivers Stadium, pitching should be the key.

Pittsburgh's pitching has suddenly blossomed after mid-season injuries hit the staff.

During the last 17 games, Pirate pitchers have allowed only 40 runs, 35 earned for an earned-run average of 2.30. The opposition has been held to one or fewer runs in six games, but have not had one complete game.

Gary Nolan, 18-7, recently the steadiest pitcher for the Reds, will start against the Pirates' Dock Ellis, 13-10, who won Sunday's game against New York Mets that clinched the title for Pittsburgh.

Jim Merritt of the Reds, who was hit on the elbow three weeks ago and had been side-lined, pitched three innings last week. If he is healthy he is expected to start the second game against Luke Walker.

JIM MERRITT

FIRST SINCE 1925
Merritt, with a 20-12 record, is the first 20-game winner Cincinnati has had since 1925.

The Reds are a better slugging club than the Pirates but the two teams are nearly even in batting percentage. The Pirates are hitting .269, the Reds .271.

Red catcher Johnny Bench is batting .294, has a league-leading 45 home runs and 147 runs batted in, also tops in the league.

Pete Rose leads the Reds in batting with a .318 average and Tony Perez is hitting .316 with 40 home runs and 129 RBIs.

Roberto Clemente, who will miss the St. Louis series back treatment in Pittsburgh, should be ready for the playoffs. He's not eligible for the batting title this year because he has too few times at bat-but his average is .350.

If ordinary NYLON will do—Save on Turnpike STANDARD or DELUXE

Turnpike Standard is similar to construction to original equipment tires when new cars come with these sizes. Except these tires were made with Turnpike Nylon to make with Dupont Nylon — a much superior cord — found for road contact than steel. See this Nylon's Best Price as we give the owner greatest quality risk and road sound (See catalogue).

Turnpike De Luxe, like the racing wheel, is made for speed. All muscle — no fat. Put it through the price floor after four — it stays soft, keeps going over the roughest mile taking in so many of today's high-mileage tires. Turnpike, The Low, comes with a 24-month No-Wearback Guarantee. Also, a separate, separate Mileage Limit Road Hazard Insurance. (See catalogue).

25 years of service for the association

This year, 1970, makes us realize that we have been working for 25 years. Yes, the Association forestiere des

LUCIEN BEDARD

Cantons de l'Est" has been established on a permanent basis on November 9th, 1945. Which were the hopes and ambitions of the 1945 pioneers — many are still with us — when founding this organism? Their goal was to wake up the population to the problems pertaining to the forest and to create a positive desire of its conservation. Have they succeeded? Has their dream come true? We sincerely believe — and we could easily give lots of examples — that the Association has made a tremendous fight against the indifference which, in 1945-1946, was prevailing in our population.

In the sector of reforestation, only 40,000 trees were planted in 1945 by private interest against nine million after 25 years.

The association has just reached a respectable age. Its past is known to all of you. And you can see its achievements everyday. You are amazed by the thousands of plantations in our region, or by our maple bushes and our woodlots. This proves that the population has understood our words in the past 25 years.

In this 25th year of existence, we want to thank our contributors and members, our subscribers and our advertisers; we want to thank also those who helped us in any way and all those who took part of our executive committees and boards of directors. We are happy to recognize their merits and celebrate their 25th anniversary of very good work.

Many difficulties have arisen sometimes on our way, but the results of our efforts are extremely encouraging. In these 25 years, we have worked, like we have already said, to change the mentality, to bring the population to the love and care of the trees. With its many contacts, with manifestations of all kind, your Association has succeeded in imposing itself and helping those who consider the tree, not only for its economic value, but also for its beauty and its role in attracting tourists to our region. This is one of our rewards after 25 years.

Women's groups in the news

The Sherbrooke Hospital Alumnae Association held its first fall meeting Tuesday evening, Sept. 15th, at the Norton Residence.

The president, Mrs. Burroughs, opened the meeting there being 14 members in attendance.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and those of an executive meeting held in June.

Mrs. Burroughs welcomed Mrs. Lorna LeBrun back to the alumnae after her long absence.

Frances Whittle presented a letter written by Mrs. Jolliffe which is to be sent to all the nursing graduates of the Sherbrooke Hospital informing them of a grand reunion which is to be held at the time of the last graduation exercises in 1972. Miss Whittle in charge of this event is commencing to form committees for the various aspects pertaining to the reunion.

Due to the fact that next year marks the 75th anniversary of the school of nursing and the 50th anniversary of the alumnae association, it was decided that we have a smaller reunion, to take place next spring. Plans for this reunion are being developed and will be reported upon at the next meeting.

Mrs. Burroughs noted that the annual Newsletter had been sent and extra copies were available to anyone who did not receive one.

Items from the alumnae cupboard were on display for those who were interested.

Being no further business, Mrs. E. Watson moved the meeting be adjourned. Miss Whittle then introduced Mrs. R. Carruthers, a graduate of the Groote Schuur Hospital, Capetown South Africa, who is now a resident of Lennoxville.

Mrs. Carruthers displayed a new brand of cosmetics and using Miss H. Litovsky as a model, showed the best way to use the cosmetics. The members were given a number of beauty hints along with the display. Mrs. Burroughs thanked Mrs. Carruthers on behalf of those present. Refreshments were then served by the hostesses Miss Beverly Harrison, Mrs. Lucy Blair, and Mrs. Charles Smith. The doorprize was won by Miss Whittle.

The first meeting of the Sherbrooke Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E. following the Summer recess was held recently at I.O.D.E. House, Moore Street. The Municipal Regent, Mrs. R. Wheeler, presided and the meeting was opened with the Prayer of The Order.

After answering the Roll call members heard the minutes of the last meeting read by the Treasurer, Mrs. F. T. Page. Mrs. R. M. Loughheed gave the financial report showing all the summer bills had been paid. House committee chairman Mrs. A. A. Munster reported on the renovations made to I.O.D.E. House during the summer.

Education Secretary Mrs. Ralph Hough was pleased to inform members that the 1971 calendars were on sale.

Services at Home & Abroad Secretary Mrs. R. M.

Loughheed, reported that 10 boxes of used clothing had been distributed to needy families in the area. Numerous food parcels had also been given out. There was a sharp increase in calls from needy families this summer, most probably due to the increasing unemployment in the area. It was suggested that members answer the Roll call in future with a can of non-perishable foodstuffs. This would enable Mrs. Loughheed to distribute an additional food parcel each month.

It was with regret that the members agreed to go ahead with the disbandment of the junior Royal OAK TREE chapter, due to lack of support.

The Regent reminded members of the semi-annual Provincial meeting which will be held in Shawinigan, Quebec, on October 14th to 15th. Several members expressed a wish to attend.

Future events include — A social evening on September 24th by the 53rd Regiment. — A fashion show on October 7th by the Admiral Sir Dudley Pound chapter. — A bazaar and tea on October 31st by the Duke of Wellington chapter.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the Duke of Wellington chapter. The next Municipal meeting will be held on October 20th.

SHERBROOKE — St. Paul's Ladies Guild held their regular meeting in the church hall.

Dates were planned for dessert card parties, the first to be held on Oct. 1. Please contact Mrs. J. Drew, 562-8325 or any of the members. Other dates will be Oct. 15, Nov. 5, and Nov. 19, all at 1:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

A country style turkey supper will be held on Nov. 28, beginning at 5 p.m.

A tea and pre-Christmas sale will be held on Dec. 5. There will be a rummage sale on Oct. 7, at 1:30 p.m., followed by the regular Guild meeting.

The Border Christmas Club was entertained by Mrs. Victor Federico at her home with the members welcoming a guest, Mrs. Albert Parent. The group, after a short business meeting, played 500 cards.

Melbourne U.C.W. makes 177 Wales Home visits

RICHMOND — The Melbourne Unit of the U.C.W. of the Richmond and Melbourne United Church met for the September meeting at the home of the leader, Mrs. Arnold Mallette, on Sept. 15.

Mrs. Mallette welcomed the 21 members and two visitors, Miss Sutherland of Winnipeg and Mrs. A. Gray.

Two minutes silence were observed in memory of two members, Mrs. H. Smith and Mrs. C. Coote, who had passed away.

A devotional period was conducted by T. Mills, who took as her theme the 23rd Psalm in union and a prayer of gratitude for God's word, Strength and Refuge, which was followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. B. Rodgers, Mrs. D. J. Stevens, A. Stevens and Mrs. E. Wentworth visited the Wales Home during the summer when 177 Wales Home calls and 53 local calls were reported.

Mrs. W. Moreland, the treasurer gave a report.

The correspondence consisted of five letters, one in regards a new foster child as the former had moved away, a letter concerning aid to Peru and thank you notes for sympathy cards.

As to the Peruvian Aid, good woolen clothing is needed very badly and one can get in touch with Marion Kerr.

Mrs. Mallette then thanked the members for helping with a 50th wedding anniversary, for looking after flowers for the church, communion glasses and kitchen duties.

M. Kerr, social convener, solicited food for the fall rally to be held in the church.

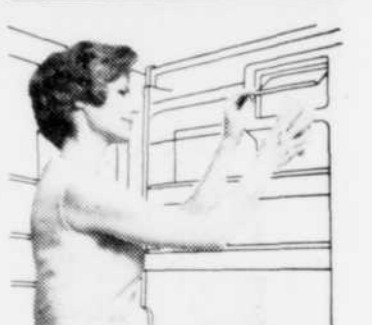

It was with regret that the leader announced that Mrs. E. Hutchings could not continue as program convener.

Donations of money were solicited to replace the fall supper. A card was then signed by the members to send Mrs. E. H. Stimson in the hospital.

Cindy Leroux is tops at Danville school fair

DANVILLE — The School Fair sponsored jointly by the Shipton Women's Institute and the A.D.S. School was held on Sept. 17 and 18.

As usual, there was much activity on Sept. 17 as the competitors brought in their entries, and those faced with the task of arranging them in their proper classes had a very busy morning.

The judges completed their tasks early Thursday afternoon, and all enjoyed the hospitality of a coffee break before leaving.

The gym was open to the public on Thursday evening, and, of course, the youthful competitors were eager to seek the results of the judging, and to ascertain whether they were in the money or not.

This year the cup for the most points was won by Cindy LeRoux, with Kelly Andrews in second place.

These exhibitions are excellent training for the children — teaching them the proper procedure of entering their exhibits, the necessity of following the rules of requirements, the glory of winning and the bitterness of defeat.

The latter can be a very valuable lesson, so that the forthcoming year may make those who had not won prizes this year among the winners the next time.

Remembering that they are all at a very impressive age — fair play is stressed and the judges are chosen from among those who do not have any of their family as exhibitors.

As at the large fairs, the exhibitors are known by number only, so that no judge may be accused of partiality.

In Miss Reid's Kindergarten, Elaine Mallory won top money, with Angela Davidson and Paul Foley tying for second place.

Charlene LeDrew was the biggest winner in Mrs. Barrett's room with Robert Mann coming second. Mrs. Hook's class had several pupils entering in many of the classes with Peggy Stalker leading and Bonnie LeRoux a fairly close second.

France Lavigne won the most in Mrs. Barlow's room, quite a gain over Debbie Taylor.

Top money went to Cindy LeRoux with the highest of the whole fair, second place going to Kelly Andrews, thus giving Mrs. Wright the honor of the two biggest exhibitors for the fair.

Jolene Stalker, of the same room, was another one with 13 winning exhibits. Doreen Mastine and Timmy George were first and second in Miss Gemmel's room, while Beverly Mosher was first in Mrs. Smith's room with Ann Rick obtaining second place. Eleanor Morton won top money in Mr. Taylor's class.

Those working at the fair enjoyed their meals in the cafeteria, and at the coffee breaks, which were served by Mrs. Gladys Wood.

Looking back over the years, school fairs have been held for some 35 years with the Shipton Women's Institute as the main stay in them. Possibly Danville has one of the older of these projects in the province.

Exciting autumn pilgrimage for Stanstead Historical Society

By IVY HATCH

STANSTEAD — The annual autumn pilgrimage of the Stanstead Historical Society took place on Saturday, September 26. About 85 members and friends motored to Stanbridge East where they were guests of the Missisquoi Society. The pilgrimage left Stanstead village at 9:30 a.m. with routes from points of the County joining en route.

The pilgrimage travelled along route 55 and the Eastern Townships Autoroute, passing the historic Moulton cemetery where Jason Lee, born at Stanstead on June 28, 1803 and who died at Stanstead on March 12, 1845, was buried. Later his remains were removed to Salem, Oregon, for he was one of the Founders of that State.

We travelled, using the itinerary prepared by E.J. Struthers of Stanstead, director of the pilgrimage, and learned a great deal of historic and knowledge about Ayer's Cliff, Lake Orford, Eastman and Farnham. We made our exit at No. 30 and went to Farnham, a former railroad center, then continued to Mystic and Bedford then to Stanbridge where we arrived about 11.30 a.m.

The Missisquoi museum was in days of old a grist mill built in 1830 on the banks of the Pike River. It is three stories high and was built by the Cornells. Generations of the Cornell's operated the mill until 1947. After 1947 it was purchased by the Missisquoi Society who have made renovations to meet their requirements and where the furnishings, clothing and so forth of past years are on excellent display. With the assistance of a grant they are now in the process of building a three story addition.

The group were warmly welcomed by the members of our neighbouring County society and refreshed with a drink of apple cider. A tour of the museum was much enjoyed.

Later, all the members assembled in their large reception room where William Taylor, president of the Missisquoi Society officially welcomed us and Historical Society guests from other visiting E.T. Historical Societies.

Special mention was given Lt. I. B. Corey, of Beebe, Que., who had attended the hosting Historical Society 10:30 a.m. tour. Mr. Corey had joined the W.W.I. Airforce in 1914 from Stanbridge East. He was decorated for bravery with the Distinguished Flying Cross and his name is on a plaque in the museum. Several descendants of the Fenian battle Home Guards were present, wearing medals, and they too were given recognition.

Mr. Struthers gave a paper on the Fenian raids at Eccles Hill, which is being commemorated this year by the Missisquoi Society. To bring it even more realistic a narrated sound track film was shown continuously in the museum reading room for close to two hours to give all an opportunity to see it.

Picnic tables were on the museum lawns and as one large family of historians, ate their picnic lunch. Mrs. R. Moore, an official of the Missisquoi museum had made fresh percolated coffee which was served the guests and their members totaling over 200 people.

About 1:30 p.m. we all travelled to Eccles Hill, a cavalcade of many cars with Mr. Taylor's in the lead. The trip was some seven miles South of Stanbridge East.

En route, Mary Ann Bockus, a young historian, showed us a monument erected to the memory of Margaret Vincent. She was the only victim of the Fenian raid in Missisquoi. A deaf old lady she had been mistaken by the British soldiers for a Fenian. At Eccles Hill we saw their monument of stone erected through the efforts of the Missisquoi Society to commemorate the battle of May 24, 1870. At this same site there is also a cannon. A youthful historian, of four years old, informed some of the visitors that "this is the cannon used by the Fenians to blast the Canadians". The young lad was wearing a Fenian war medal.

From this point, some of the Stanstead group left for home, but others continued across the Border to Franklin, Vt. We travelled on a narrow country road from Canada into the United States and as we crossed the Border line we were checked by U.S. Immigration officer, W. J. Swift, a very courteous officer who wished us a pleasant visit in the village of Franklin.

After all had parked their cars, we viewed with interest a large monument with plaques names with "Boys from here who served in the Civil war of 1861-65". Then we all assembled in the Congregational church, we were informed this had been built in 1821. We were now guests of the Franklin Village Historical Society. Mr. Taylor introduced the Vermont Society president, Mrs. May Gates.

Mrs. Gates welcomed everyone in a very charming manner and gave a brief history of their Society which started in 1959. She said their museum is a log cabin brought to its present location from the woods, about two miles from the church. Some of the visitors visited this museum.

Mr. Dunham, a member of the Vermont Legislature and a Village official said a few words of Welcome. We were told Franklin Village has about 800 inhabitants.

Albert Richards, who lives there on a farm which was his great-grandfather's gave a paper on the Eccles Hill battle. There was considerable humour in the story. The battle took place on May 24, 1870, between the red sashes of the Canadian Army and the Fenians of Vermont. The Fenians entered Canada at Eccles Hill and were defeated.

Mr. Richards said that in his opinion the Confederation of Canada in 1867 had led to a much better understanding between the Canadians and Americans along the Frontier. For the past 100 years this Frontier has the reputation of being the longest undefended Border Line in the world.

The Richards homestead played a part in the Fenian battle. The speaker recalled a few of the legends and stories which were told as true.

J. D. Ferguson, President of the Historical Society from Stanstead, on behalf of the group, voiced appreciation to the Missisquoi and the Franklin Societies for their wonderful hospitality and congratulated them on the museum achievements.

Before leaving the guests were served punch and cookies on the church lawn by the Franklin Society. Several left to attend a turkey supper in Bedford with the Stanstead people returning to attend a turkey supper in the Anglican church at Stanstead.

It was a delightful trip from beginning to end. The day was perfect, the autumn foliage added to the scenic drive. It was as if the pages of history had been turned back 100 years for although we rode in comfortable cars and on fine highways we did travel the same roads in parts of Missisquoi County which were travelled by pioneers who had much to do with the settling of the Townships. The trip made it a vivid lesson in our history. What a privilege to live in Boundary areas.

Recognition service held for Scotstown minister

SCOTSTOWN — The presbytery of Quebec of the Presbyterian Church of Canada met in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Sept. 17, with a good attendance. At the close of the meeting the ladies of the church served them dinner.

Rev. J. VanderWal, moderator conducted the service assisted by Robert Beverley from Gaspe who read the New Testament reading. After Rev. VanderWal read the congregational confession of faith, he inducted the new minister, Rev. Ross Davidson and Mrs. Davidson. Rev. VanderWal read the declaration of adherence to the ordination vows.

The congregation stood during the ceremony of recognition after which all members of the court and visiting ministers extended the right hand to Rev. and Mrs. Davidson.

At the close of the recognition service Rev. D. Campbell of Sherbrooke gave a very inspiring address to the minister and congregation. Rev. Davidson closed the meeting with the benediction.

Following the service all enjoyed a social hour in the church hall, where all welcomed Rev. and Mrs. Davidson to the community. The ladies of the church served refreshments.

Prices effective Sept. 30th to Oct. 3rd.

Stanstead County holds a successful annual school fair

AYER'S CLIFF — The 54 annual Stanstead County School fair was held on Saturday, September 19 at the Fair Grounds, this is sponsored by the Stanstead County Women's Institute who are financially assisted by School Board and County Council and is under the direction of the Quebec Department of Agriculture.

In the springtime seeds were given to school students who planted and harvested their crop. Nancy Whitcomb of Hatley won the trophy for girls highest aggregate, and Henry Murphy, of Stanstead, won the boys highest aggregate trophy.

While the judging of the exhibits was taking place, the children and young people presented a talent show in the jam packed main building. Mrs. R. Knight was in charge of this assisted by other W.I. members.

Arthur Langevin of Beebe was announcer. The show was of excellent quality with songs, music, recitations, dances, all depicting many budding artists.

In the primary group, Glenn Goode of Ayer's Cliff placed first with his recorder solo and in second place was Bryant Smith who sang a delightful solo.

In the second group, Debby Wintle placed first with her vocal solo, in second place were Beverly Wintle and Lynn Dawn who sang a duet.

Sheila Bolton placed first with a vocal solo in the third group, and Lynn Dawn who played a piano solo, placed second.

A quartet, Tricia, David, Daniel and Glenn Goode, placed in a special for their delightful song.

At noon time a chicken pie dinner was served by the Ayer's Cliff W.I. Branch in the Beulah United church hall and was well attended, for the people always look forward to this home cooked dinner each year. The Ayer's Cliff W.I. also operated a snack booth on the fair grounds and did a sell out business.

The afternoon program was racing in front of the grandstand, and was followed by square dancing. Ayer's Cliff and Sunnyside school teams tied.
