The death of Angus McDonald, which occurred on the 2nd inst, removed one of Lingwick's pioneers in his 78th year. He was of a very generous disposition, a devoted Christian, who worshipped God with his heart and not with his lips. He believed in the truths of the Presbyterian Church. A Gaelic poet, by nature, he nobly upheld the poets office. He will be missed by a large circle of friends.

Rev. E. Smiley will hold his regular service on Sunday at 3 o'clock. Sunday School will meet at 1:30.

The teams all seem to be busy hauling either lumber or wood up this terrible hill. It is affirmed by good authority that a rise in the grade of one foot in ten, doubles the draught of the load. We think we may safely say that the first half of this hill would average three or four feet in a distance of ten; but many of the loads go quietly along without any trouble.

The people are beginning to learn that the cannot afford to overload, and—that no one ever gets rich by over working themselves or their teams, and when they all learn that cruelty is costly, as well as wasteful and wicked, it will probably stop. We hope so at least.

NORTH HATLEY.

A very enjoyable gathering took place Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jackson, in honor of Miss Mabel White, who came here last spring on account of the sickness of her mother, Mrs. A. J. Gordon. Miss White during her brief stay, became a general favorite, and has made herself especially useful with the Y. P. C. U., the Sunday School, and in social affairs. The entertainment consisted of readings, music, games and a fortune tell. During an interval Rev. E. Smiley requested the attention of the party, and on behalf of the Union presented Miss White with a Y. P. C. U. gold senior pin, to which she responded gracefully and feelingly. It was a surprise to her but she realized that it was an acknowledgment of the love and esteem which the young people cherished towards her.

Last Saturday evening the Misses Mabel and Helen White gave a party to their young friends.

Last Monday Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. David Jackson, Mrs. and Mr. Charles Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Addie LeBaron spent a very pleasant day with Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Bean.

Dr. and Mrs. Edgar, with friends from Capleton, attended the musical festival at Newport on Tuesday.

Dr. Edgar is expected to give a paper or a talk next Sunday evening at the Y. P. C. U. on the subject, "What can we do to improve our town in beauty, health and education?" The meeting commences at 7 o'clock.

LOWELL, MASS.

On February 3rd a cylinder head of one of the large engines at the Tremont and Suffolk Mills was blown out. The force of steam knocked down two men who were near at the time. One man was hurt and the other was so dazed that he ran through the mills shouting danger. One girl who was at work when she heard the explosion fainted.

About thirty persons were received into connection, with the Wesley Church last Sunday, the result of a series of meetings conducted by the pastor and evangelists Ross (father and son) assisted by Miss Mattie Currie. Other churches are now holding revival services.

them in their sorrow. The funeral service was held on Thursday, Feb. 9th.

MEGANTIC AND AGNES.

Quite a number in this vicinity are sick with la grippe or scarlet fever. One case of diphtheria is reported.

Mr. Kingsbury, who has been confined to his room with la grippe, is now convalescent.

Eddie Moore, age eight years, son of Mr. Edward Moore, of Lake Megantic, died on February 2nd, from scarlet fever, after an illness of three weeks. Orissa F. Moore, age three years, youngest child of Mr. Moore, died on February 7th and will be buried to-day (Friday). A funeral sermon will be preached by the Methodist minister. They Reach The Kidneys.

Mr. Conrad Beyer's opinion OF DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

No one can be healthy with the kidneys in a diseased or disordered state. The poisonous Acid which it is their duty to filter out of the blood, is carried into the system and produces Rheumatism, Headaches, Backaches and hundreds of ills and ailments.

Any one who has the slightest suspicion that the kidneys are not acting right should take Doan's Kidney Pills. They are the most effective kidney remedy known.

Mr. Conrad Beyer, at E. K. Snyder's Shoe Store, Berlin, Ont., bears this out when he says: "Anyone suffering with kidney troubles cannot do better than take Doan's Kidney Pills, for they cured my wife, who has been afflicted with pain in the back and other kidney troubles for a long time. They have helped a great many of my acquaintances in this town, and I must say they are the medicine that reach the kidneys with the best effects."

My nerves are strong, all the heart troubles are completely removed, the shortness of breath has vanished, and the constant tired out, all gone feeling is a thing of the past. It is needless to say that I esteem this remedy the best in the world for heart and nerve troubles."

Parted by Fate

By LAURA JEAN LIBBEY Author of "Parted at the Altar," "Lovely Maiden," "Florabel's Lover," "Ione," Etc., Etc.

There were three others who read that tragic story with intense emotion. Mark Sefton and his wife, and Verlie. "May Heaven forgive me for my wicked thoughts toward poor Uldene," she sobbed, "now that she is dead."

Perhaps something like this occurred to Nella Sefton, when, a few days later she bade Verlie write to Rutledge Chester, expressing their sorrow at his great loss.

It was long months before the letter reached Rutledge, forwarded, as it had been, from place to place where he had been stopping.

He answered it gratefully, thanking them for their kindly sympathy; but no second letter came to him.

Two weeks later he was again in Washington. Society received handsome Rutledge Chester with open arms. He had always been a prime favorite with the young ladies, and they had not forgotten him, it seemed, judging from the cards he received.

He went to bed early that night, and his friends were select and few. He did not care much for balls, and seldom went to them; but he was induced one evening to attend the ball given by Mrs. Renwick, at her villa in the suburbs of the gay capital.

Again Rutledge laughed at his friend's enthusiasm. "What is she like?" he asked, more to please his friend than for any special interest he felt in the subject.

"Why not?" asked Rutledge. "If I were a poet I might find words in which to describe her. As I am not, I do not know how to begin," replied the young captain. "She is simply the loveliest girl in the world. I only know that her hair seems to have caught the glory of the sunlight. It is gold, with a beautiful, natural ripple. Her eyes are like twin blue-bells, soft and velvety, dark blue. I can imagine that any man looking into such eyes would be lost, and forget everything else."

"Have you looked into them?" asked Rutledge, smiling. "No," was the fervent response. "I wish I had never yet been able to win a glance from her."

"I take very little interest in such paragon," said Rutledge, indifferently; and this reply rather pleased the captain.

CHAPTER XXVI. THE RIVAL LOVERS. The grand ball-room was crowded when Rutledge and his friend reached the villa. Mrs. Renwick had often visited the senator's handsome son to the villa, but he had never yet accepted an invitation. When she saw him enter the ball-room with Captain Lansing she was delighted. She received him with the greatest expression, and he could not help feeling just a little flattered.

Let us go to the ball. The lights are done, when he thought she cried for a moment, but he looked at her and said, "I shall not make the same mistake again."

Verlie's avoidance of him was a strange puzzle to Rutledge. There were times when he thought she cared for him; and then again, when he was most hopeful, her apparent coldness would drive him to despair.

At length the mad love in his heart broke to delay. The fierce rivalry between Captain Lansing and himself must come to an end, he told himself. Verlie's visit was drawing to a close. On the following week she was to return to Richmond, and each determined on the evening week to learn his fate.

Rutledge's master declared he should win her or die; the captain vowed the same thing.

CHAPTER XXVII. EVERY HEART FEELS ITS TRUETH SOME TIME IN LIFE. The round of festivities of the season was to end in a lawn fête at the villa, and on this occasion Rutledge told him that he had intended to ask.

"I have just one wish left," said Verlie smiling. "I shall be pleased to give it to you." And that smile quite disturbed Rutledge Chester.

Both gentlemen gazed for one instant into that bewitching girlish face, and they looked at each other sharply. The captain bowed and turned away, and Rutledge followed his hostess from the spot.

"Verlie," said Rutledge, when he found himself alone with her, "when you come to the conservatory? I have so much to say to you—so much to talk to you about."

She placed her little hand on his arm, but he did not notice how that little gloved hand trembled. He did not know the valiant effort she made to still the loud throbbing of her heart.

Verlie had told herself long since that she had forgotten him; that the love that once filled her heart for him had died out; but now, as she stood face to face with him again, she realized that her love for him was still warm in her heart, and the knowledge made poor Verlie doubly shy with him.

As they stood among the flowers in the conservatory, listening to the splash of the perfumed water of the fountain, they talked of Uldene. It was a great surprise to Rutledge to hear that Verlie had never ceased writing each week to Uldene's old address, but the letters had never been answered.

How was he to know that beautiful, guileless Uldene had always torn these letters up, that the Seftons might lose all trace of her?

remembrance of this walk which you had promised me that brought me back. Verlie gave one timid glance at Rutledge's face from under her golden lashes, and saw that it had grown more blue, and the eyes that met hers were gleaming with the jealousy he had predicted. She hesitated, and the captain asked, reproachfully:

"Have I done anything, Verlie—Miss Sefton—to cause you to refuse?" "I have not refused," she answered. "If I make a promise, I am quite willing to keep it."

"You see I cannot help it," she said, as Rutledge turned away, and would not understand that silent message; any of his handsome rival he avoided Verlie for the next hour. Yet his gloomy eye haunted her wherever she went.

"If he is really to be as jealous a fellow, what am I to do?" thought Verlie in dismay. "I was quite alone, and she certainly thought Rutledge would seize the opportunity of coming to her; but he did not. She would have given him the world to have gone up to him and said, 'You need not fear Rutledge, my love. I do not care for the captain. I love you—only you, dear, I have loved you longer and better than you ever knew from the first moment we met.'"

It was his place to come to her. She could not go to him. Rutledge was not without so much as glancing in his direction, she could not resist calling out, softly:

"Rutledge!" He turned hastily at the sound of the sweet voice, as though he was astonished to find her there. He had intended to turn around and walk straight back to her and take a seat by her side if she did not call him when he passed. He raised his eyes in apparent surprise.

"Do you speak, Miss Verlie?" he asked, stily. "Yes, Rutledge," responded Verlie, smiling. "What you come here? I— I would like to talk to you."

"I thought you preferred talking to Captain Lansing," he answered. "You certainly seem to prefer dancing with him. I fear I may be de trop again."

"You know that is not the truth, Rutledge," she said. "I cared to dance with you, but I had given my promise. I was obliged to keep it, you know. I do not care to dance with you."

"I could not help it," he answered, flushing hotly. "You must forgive me, Verlie. I hate myself for being such a jealous simpleton. But, oh, I love you so well, Verlie, and somehow, I am troubled with the narrow thought that grows into a foreboding, almost that I may lose you. I shall never feel absolutely sure of you until we stand at the altar together. I have felt so ever since I have known you," he whispered. "I can feel the killing myself, or doing something quite as desperate and reckless. I could never endure such an evening of torture again. When you know that it pains me to see you kind to Captain Lansing, will you permit it in my dancing?"

The lovely blue eyes were raised so peacefully to Rutledge's flushed face, that she said, "Ah! it is only my knowledge of your case, but I do not know why I should never realize how deeply you love me to the flowers, the light of day to the earth. With him her life would be perfect. Without him it would be a painful blank."

On this eventful evening a slim figure wearing a long dark traveling cloak, her face concealed by a thick veil, had stepped off the southern express that had steamed into the gay capital. It was beautiful, hapless Uldene. "I am glad to come here," she murmured brokenly, under her sobbing breath. "But I must see him! I must look upon his face again, or die!"

"It is two years since that fatal fall accident occurred in which my beloved I had lost my miserable life. Ah, would I had never seen him! I would have loved I to Heaven that I had!"

LEGS ENTIRELY RAW

From his feet to his body, and ran a blood tinged, irritating water.

Mrs. A. Keirstead, Snider Mt., N.B., tells how her little boy suffered, and how B.B.B. cured him permanently.

There is not a mother in this land who has a child suffering from skin disease in any form but will thank Mrs. Keirstead, of Snider Mt., N.B., for telling of the remarkable manner in which her boy, Freddy, was cured of one of the severest and most torturing of skin diseases by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters; and not only relieved and cured for the time being, but mark you, after eight years the disease has shown no signs of returning. The following is Mrs. Keirstead's letter:—

"With gratitude I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of Burdock Blood Bitters." Eight years ago our little son, Freddy, was afflicted with a skin disease in a dreadful condition. His legs, from the soles of his feet to his body, were entirely raw, and ran a bloody water, which appeared 40 burn and itch until he was often in great agony.

"After trying several remedies, we resolved to give B.B.B. a trial. You can imagine with what delight and gratitude we saw our boy entirely cured after using one bottle and part of the second. We gave him the remainder of the second bottle, and from that time till the present he has never had a sign of skin rheum or a sick day. You need not wonder that I think there is no other medicine can equal Burdock Blood Bitters to purify the blood and build up the health and strength."

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL

(From our Special Correspondent.) OMAHA, Feb. 6th.—An incident of the last parliamentary session which is likely to come up again when the House meets, was a refusal of the Senate to pass the bill sent up from the Commons granting $300,000 of the Manitoba School Fund to the Provincial Government for present use.

RIGHT AND REASON IN THE DEMAND. The monies belong to the province and are simply held in trust by the Dominion. This fact cannot be questioned for it is distinctly set forth in the Dominion Lands Act, and is further proved by the fact that the Federal treasury is paying the Province interest thereon.

A LARGE CREAMERY. Three years ago a small creamery was started at Richmond by a young lady who had received scientific training in butter making. The output at first was little more than fifty pounds a week.

LIGHT IS BREAKING IN UPON THEM. It is an unusual experience to find Opposition papers giving prominence to news items that intimated in any way prosperity and progress in the country.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE. There is every indication that this is but the commencement of a remarkable turn in the direction of emigration from the Mother Country, within the next few years, thanks to the systematic efforts put forward by the Government.

WHERE THE REFORM COMES IN. Concise, but comprehensive, was the description given by the Hon. Clifford Sifton at Waterloo, Quebec, the other day, of the Liberal tariff, when he remarked that the fundamental differences between the principles of the two political parties was that protection was the basis of the Conservative party.

ALL QUIET AT MANILA. Manila, February 8.—The situation today is practically unchanged. The American line has not been generally extended and the troops are appreciably taking much needed rest.

THE AMERICAN LOSS. Washington, February 9.—The following cablegram was received from General Otis, dated Manila, February 9: "Total casualties resulting from all engagements since February 4th, aggregate 268, as follows:—Killed, 23 officers, 195 enlisted men; wounded, 8 officers, 199 enlisted men; missing, 2 enlisted men."

Rear Admiral Douglas of the British India's Squadron sailed for Muscat to uphold the protest lodged by Great Britain against the Sultan of Oman, of which Muscat is the capital, in leasing a coaling station to France on the coast of Oman.

IT IS OUR COUNTRY'S LOSS. What a national misfortune it appears to be that the interest of Canada and the

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL

Empire, in the negotiations now in progress at Washington are not in the hands of the editorial sages of the Montreal Gazette, the Toronto Mail and a few others of that ilk. Not a day passes but they inform their readers of the frightful blunders the British Commissioners are making; that Canada's dearest interests are being remorselessly sacrificed, and that this might easily be otherwise—the Yankee whippersnapper and brought to his knees in humble supplication—if only their advice was taken and their policy pursued.

COURT HOUSE SITE. To the Editor of the Examiner. M. A. EDITOR.—Might I suggest that the writers in your daily contemporary anent the removal of the Court House from its present excellent site sign their names to their letters, which would undoubtedly carry more weight with their arguments.

SKATING CARNIVAL. WAS A GREAT SUCCESS. The skating carnival held last night under the auspices of the M. A. A. C., was a very successful affair. The attendance of skaters was a good deal in excess of that of last year.

THE COLD SNAP.

The snow and wind storm which struck this section last evening was the worst experienced of the season. The light snow which fell all day was blown into great drifts by the high wind which in the outlying districts has brought vehicular traffic to a stand still. The glass has been several degrees below zero for the past twenty-four hours and the weather probabilities tell of a continuation of the cold spell.

So far none of the railways running into Sherbrooke have been blocked although most of the trains were from an hour to an hour and a half late in the morning the G. T. R. express came in on time at 11.24 a. m.

A COUPLE OF RUNS.

The fire brigade had a couple of runs, and both were for fires occasioned by badly constructed chimneys. The first call was about one o'clock yesterday afternoon at the corner of Goodhue and King Streets. The fire was got under and only a slight damage was the result. At 7.07 p. m. box 58 corner Grove and King Streets was rung in. On the arrival of the brigade it was found to have originated from a badly constructed chimney. This is the second call to the same chimney the brigade have had in two weeks. The Chief drew Mr. Darce's attention to the fact and they will be rectified.

HOCKEY.

PROTESTED MATCH—COKSHIRE VS. LENNOXVILLE.

The protested match between Cookshire and Lennoxville took place on Wednesday evening at the Minto Rink, Lennoxville. The visitors again suffered defeat at the hands of the Lennoxville team. This is the third time they have gone under, this time with a score of 6 to 1. The first half was a very even one, the Cookshire defence doing excellent work. The whistle blew with the score at 1 to 0 in favor of Lennoxville.

Immediately on resuming the second half the home team put on a lively game and piled on game after game. The visitors were only successful in scoring one goal. The game resulted in a score of 6 to 1 in favor of the home team.

THE REASON WHY.

Advertisers who desire to reach the great mass of the people use the columns of the EXAMINER—why? Because of its wide circulation—greater by several hundred than that of any other journal published in the Eastern Townships—and because it goes into the homes of the best people, those who read intelligently and purchase at those places where they are invited through the paper. Just stop and think—over three thousand families (actual bona fide yearly subscribers) aggregating 15,000 persons, receive the EXAMINER regularly every other day.

SHERBROOKE SNOW SHOE CLUB.

THE VISIT TO QUEBEC.

The above Club entertained the Tugue Rouge Club at the Club House on Wednesday night. There was a full muster of the Sherbrooke Club members, and at eight o'clock they marched to the Continental Hotel, where they were joined by the guests of the evening. On arrival at the Club House a splendid time was enjoyed. The inner mar was also well looked after, and the President, Mr. T. J. Maguire, welcomed their guests in a neat and pleasing manner. Dr. Dussault, president of the visiting Club, replied.

The Sherbrooke Club expect to have a large muster this evening on the occasion of the visit to Quebec to partake of the well-known hospitality of the "Old Black and Red." It is a number of years since the Club has visited Quebec, and every member who can possibly be on hand should take the train for the Old Rock City this evening.

The programme is as follows:—Leave Sherbrooke by Q. C. R., at 11 p. m. Friday, 10th February, arrive in Quebec 7 a. m., Saturday, 11th February.

He Obeys Orders.

Years ago, when Clemenceau was the mayor of Martre and at the same time a deputy, he opened a dispensary in the quarter, where advice was given free, for Clemenceau is a specialist in skin disease. One day he noticed that he had just one hour in which to get his luncheon and go down to the chamber, where he had to interpellate the government. He called his assistant and said, "How many more patients are there waiting?"

"Six," replied the man.

One after the other had his case diagnosed, and Clemenceau, after another glance at his watch, said, "Tell the other two to undress at once, as I have only two more minutes to wait." One entered, and Clemenceau wrote out a prescription in the twinkling of an eye. The last man came in as asked as the day when he was born. Clemenceau eyed him for a minute and then said "You are suffering from no skin disease. What have you come here to worry me for?"

The man looked at him aghast for a minute and replied: "Skin disease? I never said I had a skin disease. Your man came in and told me to undress, M. le Depute, and I did so. All I wanted to ask you was to use your influence to get my sister a place in the post-office in Algeria."

Clemenceau smiled, took his name and did use his influence.—Today.

Makes People Well.

Paine's Celery Compound

the Chosen Medicine of all Classes in our Dominion

The reputation of Paine's Celery Compound extends from day to day. Those who stand in need of the healing and recuperative powers of nature's health restorer are advised to use it by those who have been made well and strong. In the house, on the street, and where people congregate, Paine's Celery Compound is ever recommended and kindly words spoken in its favour. In this way the popularity of the great medicine is most enduring, and its immense sales stir the envy of the ordinary patent medicine proprietor and the jealous minded doctor.

The wealthiest families of the land, the best and most observant people in our cities and towns, and the common sense people in our agricultural districts, place Paine's Celery Compound far above all other known remedies.

The past and present history of Paine's Celery Compound is one grand continued story of sick people made well—of fathers, mothers, sons and daughters restored to perfect health.

Competent medical authorities declare that Paine's Celery Compound is the one great medicine for rheumatism and physically weak people. When the vital forces are low and the nervous organism shattered, then it is that the marvelous medicine manifests its wondrous healing virtues. Weakness, depression, tired feelings, languor, digestive troubles, headache, rheumatism and neuritis are quickly banished owing to the nourishment that Paine's Celery Compound imparts to brain nerves and tissue. It is the great everyday home medicine for all classes of our population.

The question of handling the wires and gas, water and drainage pipes in great cities, and even in towns, is becoming with each year one of greater importance. A prize was offered to the engineers of the United States by The Cosmopolitan Magazine for the ablest article suggesting a scientific, economical solution of this problem. The paper of Henry F. Bryant has been selected by the committee as the one most likely meeting the conditions. It appears in the February Cosmopolitan. "Some Hays and Their Actors—Without Prejudice," is a new department in The Cosmopolitan. The names of the contributors are not given, but in the staff are embraced the majority of the leading critics of the country, including David Belasco. It is interesting to note that in these days of competition in the magazine field the editors of The Cosmopolitan have gone from three hundred thousand for February, 1898, to three hundred and fifty thousand in February of this year.

Sleepless and Restless Nights.

One of the most distressing and perhaps the most annoying forms of cough is that experienced by many when they retire to bed. The trouble referred to usually arises from a tickling sensation in the bronchial tubes; sometimes from an irritated and inflamed condition of the throat. Harvard Bronchial Syrup at all times gives the surest relief and cure. This famed cough banisher acts on the throat and its organs in the same way as oil does on the jarring parts of a steam engine. The action of Harvard's Bronchial Syrup soothes irritation, gives strength to every cord and organ and maintains them in perfect condition. No restless and sleepless nights when Harvard Bronchial Syrup is used. A twenty-five cent bottle will give you the best possible results.

A Decidedly Novel Claim.

A claim once made on the explorer, Cameron, in the neighborhood of Gaboon, Africa, shows the peculiar workings of the native African's mind. Some of Cameron's possessions proved unduly attractive to a native, and he determined on transferring the ownership to himself. He accordingly paid another native $200 to procure for him the coveted goods.

The assistant took the money and did his best to earn it, but Mr. Cameron had perversely looked up the very articles that the fellow's employer had set his heart upon. The man could not carry out his bargain, and neither did he feel that he could part with the money. Therefore he ran off with it. What more logical than that the man who was the loser by $200 should expect the explorer to make the loss good? This he assuredly did expect.

He went to Mr. Cameron and told him the story, demanding in the first place the $200 which he, Cameron, by locking up his goods, had compelled the complainant to lose, and, secondly, the actual price of the goods themselves, which, but for these arbitrary measures, would now have been in his possession. It is not stated that his expectations were realized.—Watchman.

The Transval Government has remitted to Amsterdam £800,000 since 1894. The Times correspondent at Pretoria hears, on good authority, that only about £20,000 remains of the sum, and the rumor is that the balance has been spent in endeavoring to bribe officials, the press, and others in Europe in order to prevent the grant of a lease of Delagoa Bay to England.

On the average in Russia there is only one village school for 12,000 persons.

Advice to Consumptives

There are three great remedies that every person with weak lungs, or with consumption itself, should understand. These remedies will cure about every case in its first stages; and many of those more advanced. It is only the most advanced that are hopeless. Even these are wonderfully relieved and life itself greatly prolonged.

What are these remedies? Fresh air, proper food and Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Be afraid of draughts but not of fresh air. Eat nutritious food and drink plenty of milk. Do not forget that Scott's Emulsion is the oldest, the most thoroughly tested and the highest endorsed of all remedies for weak throats, weak lungs and consumption in all its stages.

In Operation.

"That motor you are interested in never worked, did it?"

"Of course it worked," was the indignant reply. "It never pulled any cars or moved any machinery, but it made money for its owners, and that's more than most inventions do."—Washington Star.

First Lawyer—I thought you were retained to defend Gary Dick, the wife murderer.

Second Lawyer—I was asked to, but my conscience wouldn't let me. It was such a brutal crime. And, besides that, he has no money.—Harlem Life.

THE PROVINCIAL PREMIERSHIP. UNFOUNDED RUMOURS

Quebec, Feb. 8.—The Hon. Mr. Tarte paid a flying visit to Quebec on Monday night. He arrived at eleven and left again at ten yesterday morning, and the Blue papers are circulating a report that in the interval between his arrival and his departure, or, to be more precise, between eleven and twelve on Monday night, he was closeted at the Chateau Frontenac with the premier, it being hinted that his object was to press Mr. Marchand to accept Mr. Dancereau's succession as postmaster of Montreal. It may be stated at once that all these reports are set in circulation for the express purpose of creating the impression in the public mind that there is a desire to shelve Mr. Marchand in some way, or that he is open to an offer to be shelled out of the provincial premiership. The simple fact is simply father to the thought, and those who are circulating these lying reports, Mr. Marchand is at Quebec to remain. His high character and spotless reputation are a tower of strength to his party in the provincial arena, as well as in the province at large. His followers know this and are not hankering therefore after any change in their present leadership.

THE SECOND DETACHMENT OF DUKHOBORS.

WILL LEAVE QUARANTINE FEBRUARY 17.

Ottawa Feb. 8.—A telegram was received at the Interior Department today from Dr. Montzambert stating that the second detachment of Dukhobors, detained at Halifax on account of a suspected case of smallpox, will be allowed to leave quarantine on February 17. The immigrants will proceed to St. John, where they will go on board the special trains which will carry them to Manitoba. Mr. H. P. Archer, the representative of the British Committee, which has charge of the movement of the Dukhobors, arrived today from Halifax, and will shortly proceed to Manitoba where he will remain as long as he can be useful in assisting the settlement of the immigrants.

Quebec Legislature.

THE TREASURER'S ANNUAL STATEMENT.

Quebec, Feb. 7.—Premier Marchand delivered his annual budget speech in the Legislative Assembly this afternoon, speaking for several hours. The treasurer renewed his statement of last year that no railway subsidies will be granted until he has attained an equilibrium in the provincial finances. The treasurer claims that the liabilities of the province have not been increased during the year, but that the deficit of $10,000 of 1897 has been reduced to one of $187,000 in 1898. The treasurer estimates the ordinary receipts for the coming year 1899-1900 at $4,204,899, and the ordinary expenditure at $4,177,785, but there will be in addition a capital expenditure of $446,812. Mr. Marchand dwells on the crippling effect of the debt upon the province and urges all to join in economical administration of the province until the heavy burden of interest is removed.

Pig Feeding Experiments.

Mr. G. E. Day, agriculturist at the Ontario Agricultural college, for the past two years has been conducting a very valuable line of experiments in pig feeding. The object of these experiments is to ascertain the effect of exercise and non-exercise on the quality of the bacon produced, the effect of feeding corn and rape as compared with mixed grains, the effect of feeding whey and to ascertain the influence which are the most conducive to firmness in the quality of the bacon. In the 1898 series, which is about concluded, 25 pure bred hogs, comprising six different breeds and 24 grades, are being treated. These hogs when the experiment began weighed about 100 pounds each and were divided into lots containing four hogs each. When the experiment is concluded, the hogs will be killed, cooled and salted under Mr. Day's supervision and the quality of the products of the various lots carefully reported upon. The data to be gathered from this will be very valuable indeed, and we will give full details as soon as the results are known. The experiments conducted in 1897 seem to indicate that a certain amount of exercise has a tendency to produce a better quality of bacon than non-exercise.

The Manitoba Hotel, Winnipeg, was destroyed by fire on Thursday morning. The loss on building and contents is estimated at about $700,000.

"With Dewey at Manila" is the title of a war article of rare interest in the February issue of Harper's Magazine. Joseph L. Stickney was an Admiral Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, and was in a position that enables him to give the most vivid and readable account of the historic battle in Manila Bay that has yet been published.

Professor C. A. Young discusses "The Astronomical Outlook," and C. G. Abbott contributes a beautiful nature study under the title "Facing the North Star."

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION. Makes Weak Women Strong. And Sick Women Well. It is made from a formula of Dr. R. V. Pierce, the celebrated specialist in diseases of women at Buffalo, N. Y. It is a strictly temperance medicine, containing neither alcohol, opium or other narcotic poison. Its protracted use does not create a craving for intoxicating stimulants or deadly narcotics. It cures irregularities, displacements, drains, ulcerations, inflammation, headache, backache and nervousness. It prepares the way for almost painless delivery, and insures robustness to the newborn. It cures women at home, and does away with obnoxious questioning and local examinations. Some medicine dealers offer substitutes when you ask for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. They imitate this medicine in appearance as nearly as the law will allow, but they cannot imitate its record of thirty years of cures. Mrs. Mattie Venghaus, of Toga, Hancock Co., Ill., writes: "I had been sick for seven years, sat in bed, but just dragging myself around. I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of Golden Medical Discovery, and it is impossible to describe how good the best of these medicines did me. Neither the 'Discovery' nor the 'Favorite Prescription' contains any alcohol, opium or other narcotic."

Healthy, Happy Girls. often, from no apparent cause, become languid and despondent in the early days of their womanhood. They drag along, always tired, never hungry, breathless and with a palpitating heart after slight exercise, so that merely to walk up stairs is exhausting. Sometimes a short, dry cough leads to the fear that they are "going into consumption." They are anæmic, doctors tell them, which means they have too little blood. Are you like that? Have you too little blood? More anæmic people have been made bright, strong and energetic by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than by any other means. They are the best tonic in the world. A SEVERE CASE OF ANEMIA CURED. Miss Mabel J. Taylor, living at 1334 City Hall avenue, Montreal, writes: "I write to give you the honest testimonial of a girl who believes her life was saved by the use of your Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In November 1897, I was suddenly stricken with loss of voice, and for eight months could only speak in a whisper. At the time I was completely run down. I had no appetite, no energy; suffered from headaches, palpitation of the heart, and shortness of breath. I was not able to walk up or down stairs. I was given up by the best doctors, and the different remedies I took did me no good. While in this condition I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had taken four boxes my voice was restored, and after the use of eight boxes I am feeling perfectly well. I cannot find words to express my thanks for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, and you are at liberty to publish this letter, in the hope that it may be of benefit to some other sufferer."

CAUTION. If a dealer tells you he has something "just the same," or "just as good" as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, he is unreliable. Insist on having the genuine. Sold only in packages with full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." At all druggists or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont., at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50.

A Saturday Night Carousal.

ENDS IN THE COURT.

In the Magistrate's Court, Thursday, the case against Rivaud and stabbing Akhurst Lucas, on the evening of the 28th of January last, at the Paton Mill corner in Upper Town, was brought to a close. The accused were represented by their respective attorneys, Messrs John Leonard and J. A. Camirand, while Sub-Chief Justice of the Police Department, conducted the case for the prosecution. Although this was the Sub-Chief's initial appearance as a prosecutor, he acquitted himself with credit, and what he may have lacked in legal acumen he made up in the terror with which he inspired some of the witnesses by questions put to them in stentorian tones. A number of witnesses were examined on both sides, and the evidence went to show that the accused and Lucas, with other boon companions, on the night in question, were at the old, old game of endeavoring to paint the town crimson here by loading up on "whiskey blanc" at the various "coffee houses" of which the city is so justly proud. How far they succeeded Lucas' face is in evidence. It appears he got "lost in the shuffle," and whether he had been attacked by a band of wild cats, or had entered the ring for a finish fight with a buzzard and come out an easy loser. Anyway his face was an appetizer for anyone who enjoyed a good fresh beefsteak, "his nose was broken, his eyes filled with blood, molars loosened and his visage jabbed in various places as if with a knife."

The physician's story was that a knife or some other sharp instrument had been used on poor Lucas, but the proof did not sustain his case. L'Honorable was bound to have acted the part of the "blessed peacemaker" throughout the trouble, and was consequently discharged by the Court. The "good Samaritan" also appeared on the scene in the person of A. M. Hopkinson, who found Lucas by the wayside and conducted him safely to his home. Evidently "chick-on" characters were numerous that night. Rivaud, however, the other defendant did not fare so well at the hands of the witnesses, and His Honor, after listening patiently to their various stories, felt convinced that he was the "villain in the play." $5 and costs was the ultimatum, or 30 days at Granite Beach at hard labor.

Lucas was heard to remark on leaving the Court House, "Whiskey 'you'r the devil." A FLAT CONTRADICTION. SETTLERS WILL NOT BE DISTURBED. Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Mr. Smart has given a flat contradiction to the statement that settlers have been ordered by the Interior Department to leave the sections reserved for the Dukhobors in the Swan River district. In the contract between the Government and the Dukhobors it is specifically provided that settlers in the district shall not be disturbed. The department will not only leave the settlers in possession of their locations, but all the applications for land received up to the time of the Dukhobor settlement will be dealt with on their merits. If any Dominion land agents have said or done anything to the contrary they have misunderstood the arrangement.
