

Ah . . .

Children throughout the city had their share of excitement and wonder on Monday night when Victoria Day celebrations in the form of fireworks displays took place in many parks, including King George Park, more familiarly known to residents as Murray Park. The chilly weather didn't deter the young onlookers, who turned out in slacks, coats and kerchiefs.

It's worth waiting all year for . . .

Modification of harbor bridge discussed by R. E. Chamberlain

During the seven months, from January to August, 1957, when modification were being made on the Jacques Cartier Bridge for the St. Lawrence Seaway, traffic detours built handled some 7,000,000 vehicles, and not one accident of a serious nature occurred, according to Ross E. Chamberlain, MEIC, of the Dominion Bridge Company.

Chamberlain, who was addressing members of Westmount Rotary Club Wednesday explained that the bridge had to be modified to give 120 feet of vertical clearance required for the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"This necessitated an increase of 83 feet in the original clearance," he stated, "with a minimum of interference to bridge traffic and absolute safety to the public crossing the bridge to the extent of some 35,000 vehicles per day.

"One of the first operations to maintain a traffic flow while constructing the new south abutment, building the 65 foot span, increasing the height of the old abutment and placing the fill, was the provision of suitable detours, erected at both sides of the main bridge at the south end.

"Since 1955, the bridge traffic has been travelling over a four-lane highway. With this in mind, it was decided to use four separate Bailey bridge lanes for the diversion, two on the upstream side for southbound traf-

Elizabeth and Philip visit West End twice; local residents are active in celebration

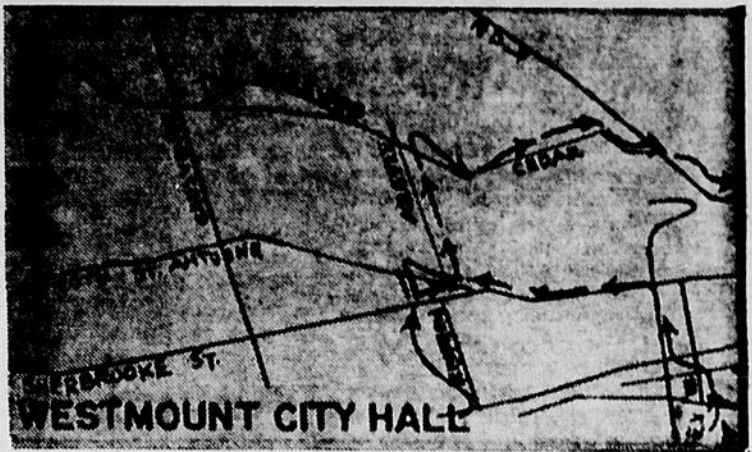

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, in their one-day tour of the city, will swing closest to the Great West End at two points June 26.

At approximately half an hour past noon — if the tour is on schedule — the Royal Couple will proceed south on Cote des Neiges Road, after visiting St. Justine Hospital, and continue south on Cote des Neiges to Remembrance Road, and then over the mountain and down the Camlien Houde road.

The second occasion will be the swing of the Royal procession into Westmount, when it is expected that the Queen and the Prince will arrive at Westmount City Hall a 3:26 p.m. and spend five minutes meeting the civic officials. Westmount is presenting a gift to Her Majesty on this occasion.

The Queen has personally expressed the wish that she have an opportunity to meet "people of all professions" during her visit here in connection with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and many West End residents will be among those at the eight functions that are included in the schedule.

The eight functions include: a presentation ceremony on Champ de Mars; an open air ceremony at the Baseball Stadium; an open air presentation ceremony at Outremont City Hall; an open air presentation ceremony at St. Justine Hospital; presentation of guests at a luncheon at the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel; a presentation ceremony at Montreal Children's Hospital; an open air presentation ceremony at Westmount City Hall and finally the civic dinner at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Many local residents, as well, will select their own favorite spot to get a glimpse of the Royal Couple, at Laurier Pier, or Champ-de-Mars, at the Baseball Stadium or at either the Sheraton-Mount

City to lease WAG grounds for 5 months

The city will rent the Westmount Athletic Grounds clubhouse for the summer months, plus the land which was sold to the Westmount School Commission on April 30. The five-month leave period will end September 30.

The motion, which was approved in Council Tuesday evening, was decided upon as the cheapest and simplest way to carry on those services which are located in the WAG building and grounds, assistant city manager Norman Dawe stated.

This rental will make available the clubhouse and grounds to the various schools and sporting associations which have used the track and field during spring, summer and early fall during past years. Construction of the new school will not start before the fall, leaving the grounds otherwise unused during the outdoor sport season.

The school commission agreed to rent the clubhouse to the city to make dressing rooms available. The costs of operating the grounds will be borne by tenants, as the

Four youths fined $100 for loitering

Judge A. Stalker fined four youths $20 and costs (a total of $100) or 10 days in jail at a session of the Westmount Municipal Court Wednesday. The youths had been arrested at 11:58 p.m. the previous evening on charges of loitering at the corner of Westmount and Roslyva avenues. The fines were paid.

Charged were Dennis Lenchbury, 18, of Toronto; Jimmy Timchuck, 21, of Vita, Manitoba; Raymond Fournier, 18, of Rouen, Que.; and Jacques Richer, 18, of St. Hubert, Que.

They spent the night in jail after being arrested by Westmount police constables G. Payne and B. Whiteford, and Lt. E. Jamieson, who were on plain clothes duty at the time.

Before sentencing the youths, Judge Stalker pointed out that if they were merely "looking for something to do," downtown St. Catherine street would have been a more likely place, and that loitering in such a quiet area "certainly seemed suspicious." He did not impose the maximum penalty for the offence.

city has agreed to operate only if there is no expense to the municipality.

Following an experimental Dutch Elm disease spraying program, council approved the purchase of necessary spraying equipment at a cost of $2,640 so that this program could be carried out by the municipal parks department.

Council also approved funds for the purchase of an auto for the Public Works and Recreation Departments to replace obsolete vehicles.

Council approves 2 new apartments

Demolition on existing structures has begun for construction of two apartment buildings, to be located on Kensington and Metcalfe avenues, above St. Catherine street west.

Permission was granted for the erection of the two buildings at a meeting of the Westmount City Council on Tuesday evening.

The two apartment buildings will be separated from a present building which runs between Kensington and Metcalfe avenues facing St. Catherine street by an east-west lane, and will be separated from each other by a north-south lane.

City engineer Gordon Nourse stated that although not identical, the two buildings are designed to complement each other. A penthouse on the Kensington edifice will be centred; that on the Metcalfe avenue building will be against the south wall.

Both buildings are to be seven storeys high, not including penthouses.

Mr. Harper served with the Inns of Court Regiment in England in World War I and with the Royal Canadian Artillery in World War II. He went overseas with the 86th Battery, later commanding the 31st Battery, from Toronto, with the rank of Major. He was subsequently appointed General Staff Officer Grade II, whilst acting as Chief Experimental Officer at Suffield, Alberta. Mr. Harper joined Northern Electric Company Limited in 1931. # Cancer Society Gives $40,320 to 7 hospitals

A total of $40,320 was awarded to seven hospitals and research centres by the Cancer Research Society, bringing the total amount distributed by the society in the Greater Montreal area to $570,515.

In making the grants, Mrs. Nathan Kozloff, president, speaking at the last general meeting of the season at the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel, emphasized the policy of the Cancer Research Society which now numbers some 10,000 members:

"The Society was the first in Montreal to fight cancer on all fronts," she said, "and has always supported basic and clinical research. Through the tumor and cytology clinics in many hospitals help is also provided for the indigent cancer patient."

Mrs. Kozloff pointed out that all grants given by the Society have been awarded on the recommendation of its accredited Medical Advisory Board.

Awards presented at the meeting and total awards were:

McGill-Montreal General Hospital Research Institute, $7,500 ($81,430); Montreal General Hospital, $6,500 ($89,163); Jewish General Hospital, $11,850 ($124,690); Royal Victoria Hospital, $4,500 ($63,134); Montreal Cancer Institute at Notre Dame Hospital, $4,095 ($99,395); Montreal Children's Hospital, $3,750 ($40,200) and the Reddy Memorial Hospital $2125 ($29,143).

The guest speaker at the meeting was Dr. Lloyd G. Stevenson, dean of the faculty of medicine at McGill University.

Guy S. Cunliffe newspaperman, 55, dies in hospital

Guy S. Cunliffe, of Prince Albert Avenue, for the past 18 years an editorial writer, financial editor and business editor of The Gazette, died yesterday morning at the Montreal General Hospital, following a short illness.

Son of the late Harry Cunliffe, a former advertising manager and assistant financial editor of the same paper, Guy, who was 55, was born in Montreal, educated at Upper Canada College, McGill University and Columbia.

He first married Helen Walker, who died some years ago, and then Marguerite Bieler who survives. A son of the first marriage, Pierre, is with the Bell Telephone Company here.

Both the Bantam and Midget Baseball teams continue to conduct regularly scheduled practices. The Little League Baseball team "The Indians" have completed their pre-season workouts and now are involved in regular league play. The Indians are playing in the American 'B' section.

A complete and detailed summer program will be issued shortly. Tours and visits to places of interest in and around Montreal are on the agenda — a day at Belmont Park is planned and bi-weekly trips to Mount Royal and St. Helen's Island is also expected during the two-month summer vacation period.

Square Dancing Techniques... Last week, the Club played host to an interesting demonstration of square dancing techniques — this with the possible view of introducing square dancing to the Club program. The project was sponsored by the Montreal Boys' Association and staff members from the four MBA Clubs took part.

Pressure lowered by rerouted main

Water pressure in The Boulevard area went down to 25 pounds from a normal 50 on Wednesday while workmen from the Montreal Waterworks Department rerouted a main which formerly crossed private property.

The property, located on the northeast corner of the Boulevard and Belvedere road, was rendered unfit for building by the main which crossed it, leading to the reservoir on Cote des Neiges road behind Westmount mountain.

A new main has been installed, running along the Boulevard and bypassing the old one, which is now cut off.

Independent campaigns harm welfare federation

The benefits of welfare federations in Montreal are gradually being made worthless by the growing number of independent campaigns, according to Clarence A. Wylie and Edward Barkoff.

Wylie and Barkoff were addressing a meeting of Westward Rotary and members of the Jewish Federation respectively.

Said Wylie, who is executive director of the Montreal Boys Association, "Consolidation is greater measure of city charitable appeals is bound to occur."

"Consolidation will come — not, perhaps, as fast as elsewhere — but in its own good time and when the city is ready for it," the director of the Red Feather agency said.

A move in this direction is the Board of Trade's campaign to get business firms to adopt employee-giving funds to serve as community chest within the firms for employee giving.

ONE CANVAS PER YEAR

"This means one canvas per year through payroll deductions and a committee of employees and management to distribute the proceeds of the federation and other organization," Wylie explained. Over 100 such plant chests now exist.

Barkoff, chairman of the executive committee of the Federation of Jewish Community Services of Montreal, stated that until such time as the community is ready to accept the welfare fund idea, there will be duplication and overlapping which has, to some extent been minimized by the creation of councils in the fields of health, group work and recreation and care of the aging.

"The object of the councils," he stated, "is to provide coordination, an opportunity for joint interchange of ideas and plans, and to avoid stepping on each others' toes."

"The drain on manpower, wasteful multiplication of campaign expenses and excessive strain on the giving public is a return to the pre-Federation era of a fund-raising jungle with a vengeance, and is a cause of grave concern to those who want Montreal to emerge as a

Hi-Fi and band park concerts set for summer

The general Committee of Council of the City of Westmount approved an application for the use of Westmount Park for weekly Hi-Fi concerts Tuesday.

Such concerts have taken place successfully in major Canadian cities and last year were held in Lafontaine Park.

The general committee also approved the annual summer band concerts given by the band of the Royal Montreal Regiment. An effort will be made to have some of the concerts take place in King George Park.

Assistant city manager Norman Dawe pointed out that attendance at the band concerts last year totalled a mere 900 people. As the city contributes towards the expense of these concerts, he foresaw that unless attendance rose this year, the Council might not be able to justify the expense in future years.

Information concerning the date and time of both weekly Hi-Fi Concerts and the traditional band concerts will be announced later.

Western avenue collision hurts 2

Two men were slightly injured in a collision which took place recently at the corner of Western and Wood avenues.

Pierre Ferrara, 28, of Laprairie, Que., stated that he was proceeding west on Western avenue, when, at the Wood avenue intersection he pulled to the left to avoid an auto travelling south on Wood. In doing so he struck a taxi travelling east on Western.

Driver of the taxi, J. Kouralzabou, 28, of 1047 Berri street, Montreal, told police he was proceeding east on Western avenue and approaching Wood avenue, when an auto travelling west on the same street pulled to the left and struck his vehicle, driving it back against the curb.

OVER THE BAR: ROBIN HILL Katie, CD, a standard poodle owned by Mrs. Alex Casgrain of 7 Hudson avenue, clears the bar as she practises for the upcoming Mountain City Obedience Club trials tomorrow and Sunday. Obedience crown to be contested by Westmounters

"Katie and Becky," owned by Mrs. Alex Chase Casgrain, 7 Hudson avenue, and "Cobber," owned by Mrs. R. H. Bryson, 447 Mt. Pleasant avenue, are three standard Poodle dogs who have been entered in the Mountain City Obedience Club annual Kouralzabou received bruises on his head and complained of a sore leg.

Obedience Trials to be held tomorrow and Sunday on the estate of Cmdr. and Mrs. F. W. R. Angus in Senneville, Que.

Judges from Vancouver, New York and Massachusetts will preside over the three open air rings, rating the dogs entered according to their proficiency in walking at heel, sitting and lying down on command, carrying and relinquishing objects, high and broad jumps on direction and etc.

Successful entrants qualify for the CKC titles of "Companion Dog," CD or "Companion Dog Excellent," and "Utility Dog" UD. To earn these titles, the dogs must qualify with scores of 170 or better before three different judges.

WE SAY

Make Westmount best on tour

WESTMOUNT city officials are planning a gala occasion for the visit of Her Majesty and Prince Philip.

Those who remember the occasion on which King George VI and his Queen visited this city will recall with pride the splendid event.

Officially, Westmount can be counted upon to put its best foot forward, and there is an opportunity for each and every householder to play a part in this celebration by flying as many flags and rigging up as many yards of bunting as we can manage.

This city, with its fine homes, stately trees and green laws affords the perfect setting for this type of decoration.

The Queen and the Prince will be visiting many cities on their tour — here is an opportunity to deck Westmount in such a way that the Royal couple will take back with them a memory of Westmount as the gayest, brightest spot on their entire trip.

Mayor Cushing lauds Metro

MAYOR J. C. Cushing, reporting to the annual meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association on the 'state of the city' had a good word to say for Metro.

The organization, he said, "is a milestone in the history of Westmount, Montreal and Quebec".

The mayor pointed to the large number of man-hours that have been spent in working out the details that have finally brought the suburban municipalities together around one table, in an atmosphere where they can work things out to their mutual advantage.

Later in the week, Mayor Cushing was one of a group of Metro mem-

Young correspondent makes noble gesture

Dear Sir:-

I would like to acknowledge with sincere appreciation your $10 gift certificate.

I enjoyed very much working as St. Leo's Sports correspondent on the Westmount Examiner and I am grateful to you and my coach Mr. Andy McGillis for the assistance given to make the column possible and readable.

This column created more enthusiasm and general interest in sports at St. Leo's and I think also made the Westmount Examiner just that much more popular with the large number of sport participants and their parents and friends.

Since I had a fine year in sports both playing and working out my column, I find it only fitting as a tribute to all who made these things possible, to pass along this $10 gift certificate to the School of Handicapped Children in the hope they may buy some worthwhile toys for boys who are less fortunate than I am. Again thanking you for making this gift possible.

Sincerely in sports,

Peter Johnson

Asks more service on putting green

Sir:

Well, the holiday has come and gone — baseball, cricket, football players were looked after by the Westmount Park staff — but what about the "putters"?

Several "old" putters turned up for their exercise, but only half of the putting green had been trimmed and was being used as a general playground!

How about a sign on the big tree such as "Putting only — no through way" — when play is called?

NO PUT.

bers that visited the eastern end of the new Metropolitan boulevard — from Pointe Aux Trembles to Basile Routhier street.

Many local residents, who seldom get east of St. Lawrence boulevard, would do well to drive down and take a look at this stretch of highway, much of it overhead. It is magnificent undertaking and points the way out of many of our traffic problems.

Examiner profile:

A man to watch in education

By CYNTHIA JONES

Newly-elected president of the Quebec Federation of Protestant Home and School Associations is 42-year-old Frederick William Price of the Bell Telephone Company, a former teacher and armored-tank officer who entertains some fine aspirations for his Federation and possesses the drive to carry them through.

Mr. Price is a pleasant-voiced, powerfully built man of six feet two and one half inches, weighing 200 pounds, with a handsome Nordic face (his ancestry is Anglo-Saxon) white hair and vivid blue eyes.

On arriving at the Price apartment on King Edward avenue, we found Mr. Price helping his 10 year-old daughter Holly with her history homework. "At the elementary level particularly I think every parent should take an interest in a child's homework," he said. "I don't mean that the parent should do the homework, but one should supervise it, make sure the child has it done, has got it right and knows the work."

Mr. Price said there is some tendency amongst West End youngsters to be almost rebellious about learning French. "A lot of parents encourage their children to learn French and the teachers are good," he said. "We've found that speaking French at the dinner table helps out. The trick, I guess, is to use the play method."

The Federation and Mr. Price are facing, head-on, one major problem. "We are deeply concerned about the rising scale of university fees and the fact that scholarships and bursaries aren't keeping up with the advancing costs of university education," he said. "It seems that university is becoming increasingly an opportunity of the well-to-do and that's not right. A good, bright child from a modest income family has the cards stacked against him. A family on a salary under $6,000 a year finds it awfully hard to send its children to university. A few years ago there were plenty of summer jobs for university students but not today. Our own company, for instance, is not taking on as many this summer."

Mr. Price reckoned that a university student today needs $1,000 a year for tuition, books, student fees and other things while in his time (he graduated from McGill University in Arts in 1937 and got his Master's Degree in education while teaching, at the age of 20, history, French and English, to grades 8 and 9 in Montreal High School) he got by on $300.

"In my student summers I earned $20 to $22 a week for 12 weeks splicing on the sight-seeing buses around town," he said. "After I started teaching for a few summers I conducted summer tours up the Saguenay from Philadelphia and Chicago."

Seek bursaries

Mr. Price said that his Federation would go on "hammering away" for increasing loans and bursaries and indications are that new legislation in that direction will be introduced in the not too distant future. "We are also working toward the elimination of school fees throughout the province," he said. "We feel that a public school system should be free of school or tuition fees. We'll have to get back to right after the war when there were no school fees or text book charges".

Education facilities for the mentally and physically handicapped is a weak feature of the educational system. "The facilities in Montreal are improving nicely but we have a long way to go," he said. "We are more concerned with areas outside Montreal which haven't got the same financial resources and need support from other directions. "The number of handicapped children is increasing rapidly and our problem here is sizeable."

It is Mr. Price's private opinion that there is too much emphasis on vocational training in the schools. "I think most companies prefer boys and girls to have a good general education rather than a special vocational course," he said. "Many businesses are equipped to train youngsters for their own particular needs."

Quebec teachers, administrators and parents have a staunch supporter in Mr. Price. "The Home and School Associations are very proud of our Protestant educational system in Quebec," he said. "We feel our teachers and administrators are second to none in the country. Parents on the whole have a very good attitude to schools and an interest in their children in the schools."

Mr. Price joined the Quebec Home and School Association in 1947. Soon he was appointed to the Federation's board of directors and acted as secretary for six years. He was vice-president last year. In 1957 he was elected president of Willingdon Home and School and in the same year treasurer of the Canadian Home and School Parent-Teachers Federation, a post he still holds.

Membership of the Quebec Association now totals 27,000 representing 184 associations covering more than 700 Protestant schools. In the last 10 years membership has doubled.

Born here

Mr. Price is a native Montrealer, the only child of Mrs. Mary Price, of Harvard avenue, and the late Frederick S. Price, who worked with Standard Brands and who died in 1951. He attended Earl Grey School in the north end of the city, Montreal High School and McGill where he was sports editor on the college daily.

Four years after graduating from the High School, he was back teaching there along with Jack Perrie who is two months younger, became Willingdon principal and is now education officer with the Greater Montreal Protestant School Board.

In 1942 Mr. Price joined the army as a trooper in the Canadian Armored Corps. Commissioned in 1942, he went overseas as a lieutenant at the beginning of 1943. Three weeks after D-Day he went into Normandy with the Third Division headquarters fighting at Caen, the Falaise gap, up to the Seige of Boulogne. He was transferred to the Canadian staff of 21st Army Group under General Montgomery at Brussels. Eight months later he went to Holland to Canadian Army Headquarters, winding up at Copenhagen as officer in charge of the leave centre.

While in Copenhagen from August to December he initiated one-week courses at the University there for army and air force personnel. "These courses were very popular with the troops and about 100 went through every week," he said. "I had attended a couple at Oxford and Edinburgh. We also had a four-week agricultural course going at Hamlet's Elsinore Castle."

Major Price came home at Christmas, 1945, and taught at the high school for a few months but the war had proved unsettling and he thought he'd take a fling at business. In the summer of 1946 he joined the Bell as staff assistant in the engineering department, and concerned himself with personnel work for four years. Then he became a supervisor in the commercial department doing various staff and administrative jobs.

Although he enjoyed teaching very much and was a popular teacher with his all-male classes, Mr. Price does not regret his switch to the business world perhaps because he has kept up his interest in education in an extra-curricular way.

An elder of Queen Mary Road United Church, Mr. Price is a Sunday School superintendent with 100 children under his jurisdiction. He teaches a group of 10 and 11-year-olds.

He likes to walk, drive and go on short week-end tours around the countryside and down into New England with his wife, the former Nan Roycroft, who graduated in social work from McGill University to become a well-known social worker in Family Welfare, and his daughter, Holly.

A newly-elected member of the National Council of the Canadian Association for Adult Education, Mr. Price is a man to watch in Canadian educational circles.

Junior philatelists praise Canada's stamps

The urge to collect and trade colored pieces of paper not more than two inches square may be difficult to explain, but to the young philatelists of the Westmount Junior Stamp Club who meet every Thursday evening at Victoria Hall, no explanations are necessary.

"Perhaps it's because you know you never can collect all the stamps in the world," hazarded past president John Richardson, 18, of 5430 Clanranald avenue. People have been collecting stamps ever since the first issue of the famous Penny Black of 1840 by Great Britain.

Men and boys seem to be more interested in the hobby, if the representation in this club is any indication. Out of the six members present, one was female.

Margaret Ward, 18, of 4910 Walkley avenue first got interested in stamps when she received her father's collection. Now a McGill student, she is most interested in getting British and Canadian stamps.

Canadian stamps have just as much value as collector's items as those of other countries, said St. Leo's student Steve Kelleher, 12, of 314 Lansdowne avenue. "Although I have a selection of French stamps which I prize very much," he continued.

Collections go through periods when they are very keen about a certain type of stamp, Kelleher pointed out. "With me it was Roumania first, then Hungary."

Newly elected president Bill Cochrane, 14, of 365 Lansdowne avenue, is currently collecting United Nations' stamps. "They're nicely designed, although some are hard to get," says the young philatelist.

Hugh Clarke, 13, of Westmount Junior High, has added an interesting angle to his collecting. He looks for stamps with imperfections — It takes sharp eyes, as many imperfections are very small. His samples include a set of four of the Canadian wild life series, on which a loon is pictured. On one of the stamps, a tiny dot at the loon's neck marks the imperfection.

This Week IN WESTMOUNT by Valentina Rahr

"A good clubwoman isn't a scintillating dynamo, but a good conductor" explains Mrs. J. Beaudoin Handfield, Aberdeen avenue, "Leadership isn't doing dramatic things, but leaving an echo in the wall behind. People are like flowers, — if you handle them roughly they wither, but if you take the time to care for them and understand them, they blossom." Mrs. Handfield who is noted for leading in nearly all of the important fields of "doers" in Montreal, has a list of titles that reads like a volunteer work directory. The price she pays, like any other volunteer, is leisure time.

One of the oldest members and now also a member of the senior Westmount Stamp Club is Wayne Bungay, who writes a periodical column on stamps for The Examiner. Wayne is convener for the coming reunion banquet.

"There's no more dissension in women's groups than in men's, but the men know how to keep their mouths closed," she maintains in reply to criticisms about clubwomen. "Women's clubs are big business now. A few may be badly organized, but most young people nowadays know how to run a definitely balanced program."

At 46, Mrs. Florence Handfield still finds new things to learn about living. "I used to be an absolute perfectionist in my home until about three years ago." Then after she had a serious operation she has taken it easier. "My house used to be immaculate, but it wasn't as much fun as now. That's something I wish I'd known twenty years ago." And she still makes time for her staggering string of charities.

New Canadian radio station

A story of particular interest to the new Canadians was recently published in the Montreal papers about the project of opening a multi-language broadcasting station in this city, that would operate in 19 different languages.

Recently a group of Canadian businessmen, headed by Kazimierz Stanczykowski of King Edward Avenue, applied before the board of broadcast governors in Ottawa to operate such a station. The proposed station would be of 10,000 watts at 1410 on the dial.

Claude Nolin, council for the applicant said that the station, broadcasting at least half the time in foreign languages would help the new Canadians to become better citizens. The rest of the time, the station would operate in French and English.

Three West Enders get opportunity for entertainment careers via TV

One, and perhaps two West Enders may be launched on a television career tomorrow night as a result of performances on CBC's "Talent Caravan" which originated from Victoria Hall last week.

Out of 400 acts which auditioned for the show, only five made the grade, including Erlana Fraser, 12, 2166 Wilson avenue, and Pat Mumford, 12, 2034 Oxford, a tap dance team; and singer Evelyn Maxwell, 4830 Plamondon avenue. The winner will be announced tomorrow night.

"The girls have been rehearsing with the band since 1.30 p.m.," said Pat and Erlana's trainer, Danny Smith, 2215 Wilson avenue, half an hour before showtime. Known as "The Starliters", the two youngsters, who both have blond hair and pony-tails, are in their third year of show business, and have appeared on television nine times.

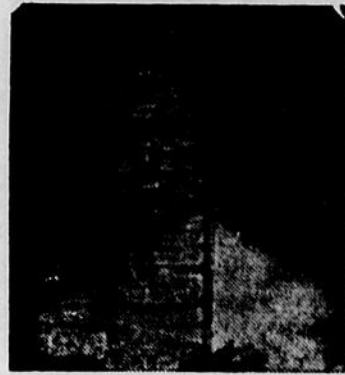

By JANE BARTLETT

"This is their first network show," remarked Smith. Before Friday's coast to coast appearance, they had appeared in Burlington, Plattsburgh, and on Montreal's Channel 2. The duo are scheduled to appear June 6 in final competition for a talent show originating from Plattsburgh.

While Smith was talking, the final run-through of the show began, the Starliters leading off. The increasing tension as showtime neared was evident as the floor manager shouted instructions to stage hands and performers, and three cameramen mounted on platforms nearly nine feet high checked last minute details.

Dark-haired lyric soprano Evelyn Maxwell had a smile for her husband in the studio audience, and her five-year-old son Robert, watching at home. This was her first television appearance.

Born in Yugoslavia, Mrs. Maxwell came to Canada in 1949, after living in England for 10 years.

HOUSEWIFE SOPRANO: Evelyn Maxwell, of Plamondon avenue, lyric soprano, was one of five acts chosen for CBC's "Talent Caravan," out of 400 applicants.

Local ballet artists appear at Russian Culture Festival

The Montreal public was given an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the musical, choreographic and artistic traditions of Russian culture through the last century at the first festival of Russian Culture which was held at Plateau Hall recently.

Among the performing artists were: Svetlana Rajevsky, a regular singing star of the CBC concerts; Andre Turp, Canadian tenor, whose reputation is established in the United States and Canada as an interpreter of Russian operas; popular Montreal pianist William Stevens, who gave selections of Rachmaninoff and Prokofieff; and choreographic art was illustrated by the expert group of ballet of Mme. Seda Zare, Melville avenue.

Extracts from Tchaikovsky's ballet Swan Lake were performed by ballerina Irina Apine and the lead dancer Jury Gotsalks, who is currently appearing on television ballet programs.

A second public performance of the students of Mme. Seda Zare is scheduled to take place at a Festival to be held at the Capitol in Three Rivers on May 30. The leads Irina Apine and Jury Gotsalks will be the same.

The supporting ballet numbers will be repeated. Kati Kenner, Jeanine Lavarte and Franceska Pilotte, are featured with Lise Gagnier, Helen Kergow and Judy Yardley.

A summer school of ballet held at St. Sauveur des Monts is a yearly program for Seda Zare. She will also instruct at the Mountain Playhouse under the sponsorship of the Quebec Dance and Teachers Association, from June 29 to July 12. Pupils will be children from nine years of age and older.

Europe leads in coal production. It accounts for approximately 45 per cent of the world's output.

The Experience of God

By

The Venerable R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

On Sunday we observe the greatest fact in our knowledge of God — the fact that God is known to us in Three Persons, Father, Son and Holy Spirit. It is sometimes assumed that we hold this truth because it is the result of some great thinker's deep philosophic groping. There could not be a greater error. The doctrine of the Trinity — that there are Three Persons in One God — grew out of men's experience of God.

The Unity of God is the teaching of the Bible as a whole — Old Testament and New. It took the Hebrew people a thousand years to learn the truth of their own Creed — "Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God is one." It seems an obvious truth, but the ancient world did not find it obvious at all. But by the close of the Old Dispensation no Jew would have questioned the truth.

Then came the experiences of the New Testament; first the contact of men with Jesus of Nazareth, which drew from the Apostle the confession "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God." That was not deep theology; it was intuition based on experience. It was deepened when Peter made his further statement on the day of Pentecost: "God hath made that same Jesus . . . both Lord and Christ." Later days and further experience, still within the first century, made the belief more explicit.

The disciples, however, felt that they had been helped to this understanding by a Power or a Person who had taken possession of them, a Person who had taken of the things of Christ and had shown them to the Church. Although the word "Spirit" in Greek was neuter yet they referred to the Spirit as a Person — He rather than it. There is no formal statement of the Trinity, but there are clear indications of it, as in St. Paul's final word to the Corinthians: "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all." Their experience led them perhaps unconsciously to use such language. One must speak out of one's experience, and the early Church found that its experience of God was such that they knew Him as Father, Son and Holy Spirit. There is no greater fact known to us.

given annually to that man of Brotherhood who has distinguished himself in its cause. Dr. Stern expressed deep appreciation to the outgoing president, Irvin Gertsman, for his outstanding leadership of the Men's Club for the past two years.

Sisterhood marks outstanding year: At the closing dinner meeting of Temple Emanu-El Sisterhood held recently the following Officers and Board Members were elected: president, Mrs. David H. Lisser (re-elected); hon. president, Mrs. Alfred N. Miller; immediate past president, Mrs. Irvin Gertsman; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Samuel Schwartz; additional vice-presidents, Mrs. Arthur Pascal, Mrs. Paul Levee, Mrs. Mark Stein; recording secretary, Mrs. Peter Zinman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Benjamin Alexander; social secretary, Mrs. William Gross; financial secretary, Mrs. Gaston Albright; treasurer, Mrs. Gerald Caplan.

Honorary directors are Mesdames Alfred Bieber, Gustave G. Gray, George Hollinger, Hugo Rubinovitch, Hershell H. Lewis, W. N. Carin, Hyman Grover,

BAHA' I WORLD FAITH Teachings on PEACE

" . . . One hundred years ago Baha'u'llah wrote that there must be a league of nations to establish universal peace. He worked his idea out on practical lines, too. He said every nation must choose representatives, approved by the senate, the cabinet and the ruler of the country. They were to meet to found a universal peace congress to be forever a world court of arbitration."

THE WESTMOUNT BAHAI COMMUNITY

The ordinance of Baptism by immersion will be administered at the morning service. The Minister will speak on "Living Letters," the only writing that Christ ever left.

At the evening service a modern adaptation of the Story of Job by Archibald MacLeish will form the basis of a sermon entitled "J. B. Job."

Following the Annual Meeting, Gordon Eastwood was appointed Chairman of the Deacons' Board, Fred Johnson, Chairman of the Trustees, and Mrs. C. Whitman, head of the Deaconesses.

First Baptist Church

The BYPU of the First Baptist Church is undertaking a house-to-house visiting program of some 2,000 families in the church area. The visiting program is to acquaint our neighbors with our church program and to invite them, particularly the young people, to participate in our church's life.

Miss Daisy MacNeill, Director of Christian Education, and Neill Steeves of the Boys Work Committee of our church originated this idea of visiting in the community and approached the BYPU of our church to form a nucleus of canvassers. Warren Higginson has arranged the actual visiting program which is to be completed by June 1. Your prayers and active support are asked for these visiting young people.

The women of the church are having a church party this coming Thursday evening, May 21, at 8 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall. This will be an evening of games, music and happy fellowship, providing an opportunity for old and new members of the church to get acquainted. The Wednesday Fellowship Hour is from 8:00 - 9:00 p.m. each week. The Springtime Theme is: "Our Church in the World Around us."

There will be the regular services of worship next Sunday morning and evening. Rev. R. S. Dunn, the minister will be the preacher at both services.

Dalse Welfare Club busy working without kudos

The citizens of Notre Dame de Grace, and the West End of the City generally, are well acquainted with the name Dalse, not only for the number of NDG'ers on its membership roll, but for the amount of welfare work it does in the area — quietly, diligently and without fanfare.

A few weeks ago, a few curious spectators watched as two men got out of a car in one of the less-modern sections of Decarie boulevard, saw them unload a motion picture projector and screen, and go up the stairs to the side of an obscure building.

What probably wasn't known to these spectators, was that this was a Dalse Welfare Club shut-in team which, as part of the organization's shut-in program, visits the ill of all ages who haven't been out of their homes for long periods, bringing comfort in the form of conversation and entertainment by a full-length motion picture.

The need for the Dalse Welfare Club's work is pointed up sharply by the $25,000 campaign in which the organization is currently engaged.

As part of this campaign, there will be a dinner sponsored by the club on June 3 at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel where the heads of organizations assisted by Dalse will be the guests of honor.

Another campaign activity will be the marking on the first Sunday in June of National Shut-in Day. The Dalse Club is the local representative of the national organization which once each year brings to public attention the need for providing aid and comfort for those who are "shut in" for reasons of illness.

The main function of the Dalse Welfare Club is to operate in such areas where the regular welfare agencies cannot function.

It is also significant that the club extends its assistance with no consideration of race, creed or religion, and most interesting is the fact that the assistance is not always confined to indigents since, taking the shut-in activity as an example, there are many persons who do not come under the category of requiring public assistance, that still need the comfort of a shut-in visit.

Dalse activities in the past have included donations of:

Multiple hearing aids to the Mackay Institute for the Deaf; a cardiograph machine to the outpatients clinic of the Jewish General Hospital; a bursary for needy students at Baron Byng High School; a movie screen and toys to the Montreal Children's Hospital; material and equipment to the therapy room of the Rehabilitation Centre on Hudson road; clothing to the Institute for the Blind, the Royal Edward Sanatorium and the Cecil Memorial Institute for Retarded Children; outdoor equipment to the School for Retarded Children on Cote St Luc road; and equipment to the Dleppne House for epileptics at St. Hilaire.

The Dalse program also includes visits to the Verdun Protestant Hospital and other organizations to provide refreshment and entertainment, teaching blind children to swim, and sponsorship of two children on a continuous basis under the auspices of the Save a Child Fund.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Dr. Stern paid tribute to Arthur Lang, honorary president of the Home and School, for his devotion to Temple. Mr. Lang is about to move with his family to Toronto. A special recognition went to Simpson Lightstone as chairman of program for a fine year of activities under the leadership of Seymour Issenman, president.

Nursing profession highly honored Speaker tells JGH graduating class

The nursing profession is more highly honored than any other field open to women, Dean David L. Thomson, vice-principal of McGill University, told graduates of the Jewish General Hospital's School of Nursing at Sixth Annual graduation ceremonies last Thursday night.

Delivering the highlight address of the evening, Dr. Thomson acknowledged that such honor was due in part to the uniform of the nurse, which "automatically wins you respect and trust from most patients". Nevertheless, he declared it required more than a uniform to prove oneself worthy of the profession.

"You must remember that a great responsibility is now officially yours," he said. "If you value human life—and I have no doubt that you do—you must surely realize that yours is a great privilege to be able to care for those who suffer."

Walker, Mrs. Earle Comstock, Mrs. J. M. Harrington, Mrs. Alton I. Schwerdfeger, Mrs. G. M. Dallyn and Mrs. H. M. Rae.

Dr. Thomson, who is Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research at McGill, noted that the field of nursing is proving less frustrating with the advance of medical science. In his own generation of some 40 years ago, he recalled, nurses could not be sure of the value of medicants that were then in existence.

"That must have been a trying time for most nurses. Today, at least, you can look forward to a future in which the drugs administered by you may well be expected to work."

PRIZES AWARDED

Eleven candidates received their diplomas and pins in a brief ceremony which included awarding of prizes to four of the graduates and two undergraduates. The two students were: Marlene Nathan, winner of the Tina Hirschberg Memorial Prize for general proficiency in the intermediate year, and Norma Wexler, who received the Canadian Nurse Journal Award for highest first-year standings in theory and practice.

Presentations were made by Mrs. Mary Samson, acting director of nursing, and by Miss Mary Barrett, director of Nursing education. Chairman of the evening was Philip Garfinkle, president of the Jewish General Hospital.

Culminating event in the week-long series of graduation activities was a dance on Saturday night, given by the hospital's board of administration.

Woman hurt at Claremont

A collision occurred early Tuesday morning at the corner of Claremont and Sherbrooke street west when a Montreal Tramways Commission bus and an auto collided. Mrs. J. Couillard, 28, wife of the driver of the auto, received slight injuries, and was taken to the Queen Elizabeth Hospital.

Paul Couillard, 30, of 305 St. Philippe street, Montreal, told Westmount police that he was proceeding north on Claremont avenue. As he approached the Sherbrooke intersection the traffic lights were green, he stated; he started through the intersection when a bus proceeding east on Sherbrooke street came through a red light and struck the front of his automobile.

Driver of the autobus, Roger Joly, 42, of 1975 De Villiers stated that he was proceeding east on Sherbrooke when he approached the Claremont intersection and stopped to let passengers in. He then started to cross the intersection on a green light, he continued; the traffic lights turned amber as he got half way through the intersection, when an auto proceeding north on Claremont struck the front of his bus.

The MTC vehicle was slightly damaged, according to police reports, and the front door would not close. The hood, grill and front bumper of Couillard's vehicle were badly damaged, the report concluded, with light damage to the right and left front fenders.

New RCMP Commissioner avid sports follower

By NAT BERNSTEIN

Wilson MacKenzie Brady is a tall, faintly red-headed, easy-going Irishman.

He is also the newly-appointed assistant Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police stationed on St. Catherine street in Westmount.

Born in Montreal — he returns to N.D.G. shortly — Brady graduated from St. Anne's High School, an avid sports fan. "I played hockey, baseball, tennis and tried my luck at skiing," he said.

After graduation, he worked at a variety of jobs in Montreal and in 1924 joined the Militia — the 15th Battalion of the Black Watch — where he served for six years.

I joined the RCMP from the Preventive Service when I was 23 with the rank of constable and in my 28 years with the force, I've been to many different cities and countries and seen a variety of duties," he disclosed.

He started his service in Montreal and served in Joliette until his commission as sub-inspector in May, 1942, which was followed by a transfer to Toronto for two years.

"In 1944 I returned to Montreal as inspector where I served five years and in 1949 I was given command of the Criminal Investigation Bureau," he stated.

Brady was then transferred to the Winnipeg Bureau for five years. From there he was sent to Edmonton in 1954, until 1958.

"For the past nine months," he disclosed, I have been stationed at the National Defence College in Kingston."

Brady is a very lonesome family man. "I've been away from my family for only a short time, they're in Kingston, and I can't wait till they arrive here," he explained.

"My daughter," he said, "Sheila, is married and living in Edmonton; and my boy David — he's 14 — is a fine lad," he said wistfully. Suffice to say, he is very fond of his wife.

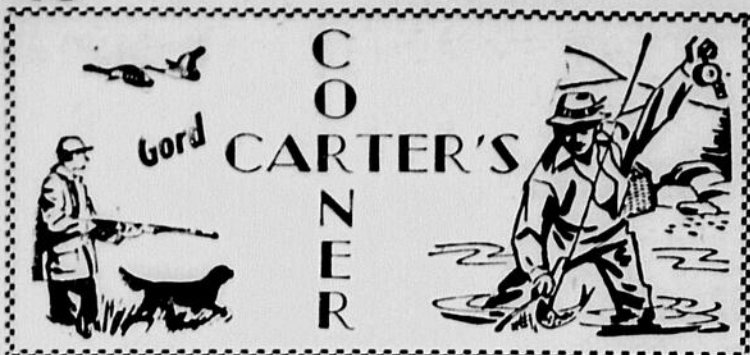

It is hard to believe that so mild-mannered a person mixed

Alumni to hear
Progress reports

Class agents and decade managers of the Alumni section of the Loyola Development Program will meet in the College COTC Mess tonight at 8 p.m.

Alex J. Grant, chairman of the Alumni section, said reports would be heard from the various workers on progress in the current drive to raise $2,000,000 for a new Science Building on the Loyola Campus. Construction of the building is slated to start July 15 of this year and be ready for occupancy in September, 1960.

Present science facilities will be renovated into additional space for the Arts and Commerce faculties. Loyola has experienced a 500 per cent in its enrollment in the last 20 years to 900 students today.

Fishing is now in full swing, and it now seems to be the time to tell you a little about my pet lure. Most fishermen have a pet lure, whether or not they like to admit it, and when it fails them, as it sometimes will, they always have a reason for it.

This lure never fails; it's called the Mooselook. It is the one I favor at present. It comes in a variety of colors and weights so that it is always successful. There's one for every climate and condition. Sizes are obtainable in junior, which is approximately 2 1/2 inches long and weighs 1/4 of an ounce. Small is 3 1/2 inches and weighs 1/4 of an ounce. For larger fish there is the one measuring 4 1/2 inches and weighing 3/4 of an ounce.

Colors mean a lot in the success or failure of a lure. The Mooselook once again excels with a large variety of same. There is brass, copper and silver, the three mainstays, fluorescent orange, spotted green with yellow, orange with black and white with red, to mention only a few.

The lure is adaptable for spinning and trolling. When spinning you need a 1/4 ounce keel and then a gut leader measuring

Some fishermen use their equipment tougher than most and more often than the average. Usually, such a person knows the value of regular inspection of his equipment, and does it, remembering like everything else of value, your fishing tackle needs a regular check-up. A few minutes in periodic care will pay you dividends through enjoyable fishing.

from 18 to 20 inches. No swivel or snap is required as you attach the lure directly to the leader.

For the fisherman who prefers trolling, it must be used without a keel but with 25 to 30 feet of leader. In order to obtain best results and while trolling you must troll at a faster pace, by adjusting the motor to the speed required. Then you must watch the rod tip closely and when a satisfactory amount of action is evident, (which must be quite rapid), set the motor and always troll at the same speed.

No fisherman's tale is necessary when you come back from a trip if you've taken along a Mooselook, time and time again it has proven itself when all else has failed. They are used by the majority who fish Lake Memphremagog and last year were responsible for more than one whopper of a catch.

Pros, press in golf meet

The professionals who play the game and the men who write about it tangle in the second annual "Pro-Press" golf tournament, Monday May 25, at the Beaconsfield Golf Club, Pointe Claire.

Organized by the O'Keefe Brewing Company Limited, the tournament is held to enable the professional golfers and members of the press, radio and television corps to know each other better. The tourney is the only one of its kind in Canada.

More than 200 invitations have been sent to all Quebec pros, French and English language sportswriters, and radio television commentators in the districts where O'Keefe Tournaments will be held this year.

"Long interested in the development of golf in Quebec, we feel that this event — which was so successful last year — does much to maintain and improve relations between Quebec golf pros and the sports reporting fraternity", said O'Keefe Vice-President R. S. S. Grier.

At the dinner following the tournament, the Company's golf program for this summer will be officially announced.

TOM MALTBY, ye olde Monitor 'super' and former softballer of note takes umbrage with George Cochrane's column in last week's Monitor. Mr. Cochrane in discussing Snowdon League managers of an era gone by and the present said that Linton Crook once managed the Steinberg's intermediate softball club.

"T'aint so," says Maltby. "I managed the Steinberg's club when they played intermediate and we had a darn good ball club. Linton was business manager for the Steinberg's seniors and signed me but he never ran the club."

Maltby backs his argument with old copies of The Monitor. The Steinberg's club of that year won the league championship but lost the city playoff against St. Ambrose of the East End League.

The previous year Maltby managed the Orfuns in the same league and Steinberg's was managed by Jim McWilliams, not Crook. The Orfuns' star hurler of that year was 17-year-old Gilles Legare, now Dow's top sling-shot artist.

Legare pitched and lost his first game. Then the club proceeded to take over the league race and won its last 25 games, before bowing out in city finals. And Legare was on the mound for all 25 wins.

Catching for Legare was Harry Wolfe, with the late big Jim Ambrose of West Hill and Alouette fame at first base. Donnie McDonald was at second, Bob Gibbs played shortstop and Maltby himself at third. The outfield consisted of Cam McFadden, Hal Forrester and Ted Jackson. The 10th man was Bob Iredale.

The following year Maltby got the call from Steinberg's and took over moving their junior entry into intermediate ranks. By this time Legare had joined the senior ranks and Willie Graham became Maltby's one and only hurler.

"We had a good young club," Maltby claims, "but Linton still wasn't running it, I was. Don 'Junior' Smith was the only guy who could catch Graham as he was wild as a coot in those days. Laird McLennan played first, Jimmy Forsythe who is making a comeback with Steinberg's this year was at second, Jackie Victor played short and I stuck at third base.

"Hal Forrester, Howie Williamson, Butch MacKay and Des Kelly were in the outfield," Maltby adds. "We won the district title and lost in the city finals again. That was my last managing job."

Maltby then switched to St.

Wanderers gained a 6-0 lead in the opening half when John Davis kicked a penalty goal and Jim Geoghehan connected on a pass from Ken Gordon.

Sympathy of the sports world, paddling in particular, is extended to Leo Bossy of the Cartierville club on the loss of his young twin son Kevin.

Talking about paddling it's good to see the Radisson club back in the Eastern division of the C.C.A. With Jimmy Frost at the helm the Trifluvians once again should become a dominant factor in local paddling regattas.

Dore restocking program completed successfully

The restocking of lakes and rivers with dore from Missisquoi Bay has been completed this year without the loss of a fish. Richmond Pelletier, Director of Molson's Fishing Club reports.

This program is sponsored by the Quebec Department of Fish and Game, which supervises the netting of the dore by commercial fishermen. Molson's Fishing Club transports the dore free for the clubs and associations. The total number of dore requested by clubs and associations this year was slightly less than last year, and it was possible to fill all requests.

The Molson's Fishing Club trucks, equipped with special tanks, travelled 12,879 miles and delivered 15,733 dore to 22 different lakes and rivers without the loss of a fish.

An increasing number of anglers have shown their interest in the Molson's Fishing Tournament and to date 91 clubs and associations have registered in the contest.

Several of these organizations are planning one or two-day derbies as part of their summer activities.

68th Baptist YPU convention draws 700 to Westmount Park

By JANE BARTLETT

Seven hundred men and women, between the ages of 18 and 25, gathered in Westmount Park Sunday afternoon, despite the intermittent showers, to hear the Rev. William P. Oliver, of Cornwallis street Baptist Church, Halifax.

The young men and women were delegates to the 68th Annual Convention of Baptist Young People's Unions of Ontario and Quebec. Mr. Oliver, a colored minister, is an authority on racial relations and adult education in this field in Nova Scotia.

Among the delegates attending the conference were Miss Mona Ajram, of Ville Emard, president of the Westmount Baptist YPU, and John Hawker, of Montreal West, president of the First Baptist Church YPU.

The previous evening delegates had heard Dr. J. A. Johnston, former minister of the Westmount Baptist Church, at a dinner in the Windsor Hotel.

CRITICIZES SUBSTITUTIONS

In an interview after his appearance at Westmount Park, Mr. Oliver, who was the key speaker of the conference, put forward the theory that many people today are making dangerous substitutions for real values.

Most important of these, he said, is the substitution of passive tolerance for active love.

"That's why foreign students in this country sometimes get all in a dither," he said. "They are confused by mere toleration." Saying "hi" and giving a friendly smile is not enough, he maintains. The difference between love and toleration in such an instance, as he sees it, is whether a home-town student will invite a foreign student to his home, and back up the friendly gestures which cost him nothing.

"Also," continued Mr. Oliver, "there is a tendency today to substitute a false sophistication for the graciousness of life." People are apt to mix their values, especially on the North American continent, he feels, and adopt a superficial attitude in place of basic values of honesty and integrity.

"People would rather have social approval than strong characters," he says. "They are more afraid of the censure of the Jones's than of their inner selves."

Substitution of flattery for genuine praise only reveals the insincerity of human relations, he maintains. "To me, praise is a thing of great sincerity."

What hope is there for such a seemingly two-faced world? Mr. Oliver was asked.

"I think that young people are critical of the 'swops' and general dilution of principle that they sometimes see in the older generation. If they were left alone to follow the dictates of their own spirit things would be better.

"I meet so many young people who feel frustrated in their attempts to understand the world. It is we who are older who create the problems for them. Our tradition and convention causes us to say one thing, practice another."

CLASS DIFFERENCES

Mr. Oliver spoke of class distinctions in this country which occur even within churches. "The paradox exists of cleavages within the Christian faith, and within denominations," he said, prescribing as a remedy the full understanding and acceptance of Christ's teachings.

"It is because we are not prepared to fully accept Christ's teachings, such as active, brotherly love, that we make substitutions," he stated.

What about war? Mr. Oliver was asked. "Do you condone it?"

"Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," was his classic response. "We have a duty to God, but also to our country, and if it is necessary to fight to defend our country for freedom, we must do it." Mr. Oliver was a chaplain during World War II.

The Rev. Oliver has been chairman of the adult education committee of NSAACP, the Nova Scotian colored people's association for 13 years. A member of the African Baptist Association, and the Baptist Federation of Canada, he is one of 15,000 colored people in that province. There are 27,000 colored people in Canada.

COLORED SITUATION

The large concentration of people of Negro descent in Nova Scotia is a result of two major migrations, Mr. Oliver pointed out. The first large group arrived as slaves with their Loyalist masters in 1812, and later the underground railway (an escape route for slaves before the American Civil War) and migrations after the war, swelled the ranks of colored people there.

And, of course, some West End citizens will be fortunate enough to attend the Royal Ball which is to climax the gala day of June 26.

West End citizens, in fact, play several important roles in the ceremony, beginning, of course, with Mayor Sarto Fournier, himself a resident of N.D.G.

Postmaster General William Hamilton will present the Mayor and Madame Fournier to Her Majesty as she embarks from The Britannia at Laurier Pier, at 10 a.m.

Less than a half hour later, local city councillors and their wives will meet the Royal Couple on Cham-de-Mars and in the same party, to be presented, will be Lucien Hetu, city director of services and Mrs. Hetu, also residents of N.D.G.

In the afternoon, at Montreal Children's Hospital, S. M. Findlayson, president of the hospital, and Mrs. Findlayson will be presented to the Queen and the Prince. The Findlaysons are residents of Hampstead.

And at Westmount, of course, Mayor J. C. Cushing and Mrs. Cushing and the aldermen of Westmount and their wives will be presented to Her Majesty and Prince Philip.

Mr. Oliver, who visits Montreal periodically, and meets many old friends from Halifax here, says that Quebec has the reputation of having no colored problem at all.

co-ordinated, integrated, well-organized community."

BOTH AGREE

Both men agreed that in many large cities, including Toronto, such unity was achieved by the creation of almost all-inclusive United Funds, and that Montreal can and must do something about it.

Said Wylie: "An argument for a single united appeal which carries great weight is that such an appeal makes for better budgeting and wiser use of the community's contributions.

"In a huge city with hundreds of agencies," he concluded, "it is not possible for the individual citizen to spend his money properly. Consequently, he is oversold on some agencies with

He explained that the general design of the detour layout was governed by the fact that the traffic had to be returned to the main bridge after alterations to the south end were completed, and before the roadway elevations at the turnout could be altered.

"To avoid inconvenience to the travelling public," continued Chamberlain, "all preliminary jacking was done between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m., Tuesdays to Fridays inclusive."

By means of color slides, Chamberlain explained to the complicated jacking process to Rotarians, pointing out the different steps, stages, complications — such as telephone and electric poles — and the dangers and care involved.

The speaker, who was introduced by Bev Bailey, was thanked by Phil Abbott for an extremely enlightening and interesting discourse.
