PREMIER LESAGE

Vote Liberal - Lesage

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage stepped into the federal election campaign Thursday, suggesting that Quebecers vote Liberal. But he probably won't be seen on hustings between now and April 8.

"He went as far as he will go," a provincial Liberal source said, referring to Mr. Lesage's statement made in the legislative assembly to thunderous applause from Liberal benches.

Mr. Lesage said: "There is only one thing one can do if one is a good Quebecer who wants to assure the economic future of the province. That is to vote for the only party that can supply a stable government in Ottawa—the Liberal party."

In his statement, Mr. Lesage indicated he feels he will be too involved with the provincial administration to consider returning to Ottawa in the near future.

The premier was northern affairs minister in the government of former prime minister Louis St. Laurent.

Mr. Lesage is believed to have been under heavy pressure from the federal Liberals to make a stand in their favor. He remained uncommitted officially last June when Social Credit took 26 of Quebec's 75 seats.

Dixville Home to close its school

DIXVILLE—(Staff) — The Dixville Home for Retarded Children here is to close down its Protestant school in town and discharge four members of the Home's staff this weekend in an effort to cut costs following a provincial government decision to temporarily cut the home's daily grant from $3 a day a child to $2.50, the home says.

Gerrit Vander Mark, assistant-superintendent at the Dixville Home told The Record in a telephone interview this morning that he received a letter Thursday morning from the director of the Quebec Department of Family and Social Welfare, Gerard Nepveu, stating that the home will be paid $2.50 a day a child beginning April 1 and until such time as a definite rate for such homes has been set by a special study committee and approved by the ministry.

The letter did not state when a decision might be reached by the ministry said Mr. Vander Mark.

At present a special social welfare committee is making a study of the needs of homes in the Province of Quebec which care for children who are physically or mentally handicapped.

The letter said the Home would continue to receive the daily rate of $3 a day a child until April 1. It also stated that the Home would be able to claim the difference between the $2.50 a day a child and the rate finally set by the ministry after a definite decision has been reached.

"In the meantime, this amount is not enough to cover our needs," said Mr. Vander Mark, speaking for superintendent John Visser who is in Montreal. "The 50-cent cut per day constitutes a loss of $6,880 a month for us," he said.

Because of the grant cut Mr. Vander Mark said the Home's school in town — opened only a few months ago — will be closed this weekend until the Home receives a definite grant rate. The school has eight students, all children from the Home. "We are also forced to discharge four members of our staff as well as our carpenter," he said. Staff members are paid $210 per month. The home has a staff of 20 including Mr. Vander Mark and Mr. Visser.

Mr. Vander Mark said he expected a decision would be reached within three or four weeks.

ANNUAL REVIEW

Tomorrow, with the regular edition, The Record presents its 66th annual review of the Eastern Townships. Its theme is the people, history and resources of the Townships area — a panorama in words and in pictures of this section of Canada.

Total of 30 in area are seeking election

By CUTHBERT JONES (Record staff writer)

Candidates seeking election April 8 in the eight Eastern Townships constituencies were brought to 30 with the announcement by Dr. Gilles Bisson, 43-year-old Sweetsburg surgeon that he would represent the New Democratic Party in Brome-Missisquoi.

Dr. Bisson made his announcement at a gathering of party supporters in Cowansville. Several days ago his name had been proposed as NDP candidate but he declined to enter the race for personal reasons. But last night he announced a change of heart, largely because of his opposition to the adoption of nuclear arms by Canada.

"I feel very strongly," he said, "that Canada should not get into a suicidal rat race."

He also urged that the Government spend more on the promotion of peace than it does on armaments.

With the entry of Dr. Bisson, the NDP has nominated candidates in six of the ET ridings, no selection having been made as yet for Megantic and Stanstead.

Progressive Conservatives, Liberals and Socreds have completed their slates in this district.

With election day slightly more than two weeks away, there has been a slight increase in political activity in this district, but for the most part the campaigns continue in low gear.

Candidates are confining their activities to personal solicitation and have very few public meetings or TV appearances scheduled.

Roger Perreault, Progressive Conservative, became the first candidate to file his nominations papers in Sherbrooke

County, visiting Returning Officer Nestor Boucher Thursday afternoon with his completed papers accompanied by the required $200 deposit.

Heward Graffey, PC candidate in Brome-Missisquoi and parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Finance in the last Parliament, launches his campaign with a meeting at the Sutton Town Hall tonight.

Mrs. Estelle Gobeil, PC candidate in Compton-Frontenac who hopes to become the first French-Canadian woman to be elected to the House of Commons, made her first public appearance since the nominating convention at a meeting at the Plamondon Hall in East Angus last night.

She made a special appeal for support by the women electors who represent 52 per cent of the vote in Compton-Frontenac.

She also stressed the importance of volunteer help in the present campaign. Only $1,000 had been allocated for the electoral fund in Compton-Frontenac, she said, which would barely cover travelling expenses.

Rene Letourneau, former MP and PC candidate in Stanstead, who was scheduled as special speaker, was prevented from attending the meeting.

Area police alerted

Provincial police in Sherbrooke have been alerted that four of eight men who broke out of police custody Thursday night in Montreal are still free. All are convicted rapists.

Sergeant Ralph Allan said today that there was nothing to indicate that they were in the area. "It was a general alert throughout the province on the police radio."

DENPASAR, Bali (AP) — The deluge of lava from sacred Agung volcano was reported to have stopped today after five days of eruption. The governor of Bali said at least 1,100 islanders have died.

"We have 75,000 homeless people to feed at this point, and we need help from everybody," said Governor Anak Agung Sutedia.

He said another 200,000 may have lost their livelihood. Thousands of acres of once-fertile rice land lay beneath tons of lava and ash that blanketed Bali's north-east coast.

An estimated 100,000 Balinese were fleeing the stricken area. Riding and afoot, they carried what possessions they could as they tried to get away from the 10,308-foot volcano which erupted briefly in February after years of quiet, then went into violent action Sunday.

Reports from the disaster area said a heavy column of smoke still billowed from the crater.

FEAR MORE BLASTS

A civil defence spokesman in Jakarta, the Indonesian capital, said earlier that more violent eruptions were feared, and authorities were trying to clear about 250,000 persons from a radius of 20 miles around the volcano.

A mushroom-shaped cloud of smoke could be seen from aircraft flying into Denpasar, but no ash was visible in this capital, about 70 miles southwest of Agung.

Many foreign tourists were on the island, but all were believed safe. Most of them are staying in Denpasar.

Agung awoke with a roar last month. Its first eruption killed 17 people.

Last Sunday a second explosion pushed lava down its slopes and buried hundreds of people under a deadly umbrella of searing ash. The governor said most people were killed by the ash cloud. He said the temperature of the ash was 230 degrees.

The governor said hundreds were roasted alive in three villages just south of the mountain as they knelt in prayer.

Travellers returning from the area in Bali's northeast reported many priests and their disciples refused to leave despite the danger.

GODS ANGRY

The deeply religious Balinese—whose life centres on devotion to a mixture of Hinduism and Buddhism—believe that Agung is the seat of the gods. To many of them the eruption was a signal the deities were angry.

Floods in the eastern part of Bali near the mountain made rescue work more difficult. The governor said two bridges were washed out on the main road to Karangasem Thursday night, isolating the town.

Bali noted for its beauty

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bali is noted the world over for tropic beauty, pretty postcard girls, exotic dancing, gentle ways, and ancient Hindu customs in a vast island nation that is mainly Moslem. Now it is in the grip of a natural disaster from the misty, mountain heights of its god—and the gentle people blame themselves.

The idyllic island between the Java Sea and the Indian Ocean sets great store by its slim women, fat pigs, talking birds, butterflies, and the respect held for the gods on Agung, the destructively erupting volcano.

They believe Agung's god got angry because they failed to ask permission for the festival held every 100 years to purify the island from roaming souls.

Bali covers an area 90 miles long and roughly 55 miles wide. A ridge of high mountains stretches along the island, sending streams to the fertile and populous southern plains. Lakes have formed in several old craters of volcanic peaks.

KEEP OLD CUSTOMS

The 2,000,000 Balinese are easy-going people who cling to old customs. Until the turn of the century they believed it was their right to plunder any foreign ship that went ashore on the island or fell in distress in Bali waters.

Favored by a mild climate, the islanders wear little clothing at any time. The soil is fertile, rainfall plentiful. Crops and plants flourish.

The Balinese are of mingled East Indian and Javanese origin and mostly Hindu in religion.

Denpasar, the island capital 70 miles from the volcano, is a city known for its markets, temples, dances and elaborate native funerals. Its population is about 17,000.

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy says he is "haunted by the feeling" that unless a nuclear test ban treaty is signed the number of countries with nuclear weapons may rise to 15 or 20 by 1975, enlarging the danger of human contamination from testing and death through nuclear war.

Douglas promises stepped-up federal aid for universities

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tommy Douglas Thursday night took the wraps off a New Democratic Party policy for stepped-up federal financial aid to universities.

The NDP leader thus provided the only major new election campaign promise of the last week, which has seen the party leaders hustling for electoral support mainly by sharpening old themes.

Mr. Douglas, speaking in the Vancouver area where his party held six of 10 seats in the last Parliament, said the NDP plan would be related to "actual operating costs" of the universities. Present federal grants made up 15 per cent of these costs.

He said there is no alternative to the federal government taking a bigger hand in financing the universities. At the same time, he stressed the need for university autonomy and freedom from outside pressures, "governmental or otherwise."

In Halifax, Liberal Leader Pearson encountered hecklers in his audience of 2,000 as he charged that Prime Minister Diefenbaker is using "tactics of desperation and deception" in his campaign. Mr. Pearson added:

"He's saying: 'Vote for me, vote for my party because everybody's against me.' It's a kind of manufactured martyrdom."

Today, the prime minister, while stopping through southern Saskatchewan and Alberta, Mr. Pearson will be in Saint John, N.B., today and St. John's, Nfld., for a night rally. He is travelling by air. Mr. Douglas remains in the Vancouver area for a meeting in North Burnaby tonight. Mr. Thompson will fly from Edmonton to Winnipeg and then spend his day in Dauphin constituency.

Another party leader made a significant entry to the campaign Thursday.

BACKS LIBERALS

Quebec Premier Lesage, prompted into a legislature statement by Union Nationale Leader Daniel Johnson, called on Quebecers to vote Liberal in the April 8 federal election. It was the first time he had given this advice and it followed reports he is considering taking part in the campaign—a rare step for a Quebec premier.

Mr. Lesage praised Mr. Pearson as "the man most qualified to give Canada stability, expansion and the economic progress that our country needs." And he took a thinly-veiled poke at Carnation Company Ltd. has announced that its "decision to establish a condenser in the Maritimes" will be determined by Quebec milk prices.

A bill now before the Quebec legislature would reconstitute the Quebec Farm Marketing Board, a seven-member body to administer a wide range of sales from farmers to processors. The bill also reaffirms the existence of farmer groupings like the Quebec Carnation Company Milk Producers' Board, which negotiates prices with the firm.

Carnation recently won a court suspension of the plan under which the Producers' Board members sell it milk.

The company has also made representations to the private bills committee in Quebec opposing sections of the new marketing legislation.

"Carnation Company's decision to establish a condenser in the Maritimes," says plant superintendent Arthur Hall in a prepared statement, "will be determined by the trend in paying price for milk used in evaporated milk manufacture in Quebec."

If city abandons bridge plan Will give water project priority

If the Montreal-Terrill Street bridge plans are put aside this year, the project to improve the water supply will get top priority in Sherbrooke.

Alderman Jean Marcel Jeanson said Thursday night that although the city council was willing to set aside the water project in favor of building the Montreal-Terrill Street bridge, council will doubtless give its approval to the water plan if the bridge plans are scrapped. Commenting on the suggestion that was made by the Groundwater Development Corporation to the effect that the city should study their offer of purifying water by pumping it through a granular deposit called "ac quifer" via pipeline into the city, Alderman Jeanson said that the process had previously been suggested, but was not given too much consideration because the city feared that they might again waste money on testing.

Alderman Jeanson said that the test necessary for such a project would amount to approximately $8,000.

When asked why there was such a disparity in the price of the two systems under study by the city, and the one suggested by the Montreal firm, Mr. Jeanson said that "they are very different," but did not elaborate.

Other water schemes the city has studied include the building of a pipeline to Lake Memphremagog and the construction of a filtration plant to purify the present water supply from the Magog River.

The Waterworks chairman added that the city council had met Thursday, and decided that they would consult city authorities in Chateaugay in order to determine the effectiveness of the system.

Chateaugay has the "ac quifer" system installed in their city.

Mr. Jeanson also said that if the Sherbrooke civic authorities decide that this system might be best, he said that the tests would be carried out.

If the Montreal-Terrill Street bridge is scrapped he added there is no reason why the water purification system cannot be installed in the fall, and thus derive the benefits that are available from the federal and provincial governments under the winter works program.

Discussion on the matter will be taken up at the next regular meeting of the Sherbrooke council, March 25.

At Public Market

Propose rental fee hike for 'outsiders'

If the City of Sherbrooke needs money for any purpose whatsoever concerned with the Public Market then it should gather this by increasing the rental fee on the tables in the establishment occupied by "outsiders" who do business there only during the summer months.

Past president of the Gardeners, Florists, and Nurserymen Association, Armand Desbiens, said Thursday, this resolution was taken at a meeting of the organization held March 15, and a letter outlining the Association's views will be mailed in the near future to the Sherbrooke city officials.

Mr. Desbiens said that if the people who rent tables at the public market during the summertime (they are mostly from outside of Sherbrooke and some are not from the county), were to be charged an extra $2 per week for their tables that the city would never be lacking in funds for any projected improvements at the market.

Mr. Desbiens said that it was the belief of the members of the organization that these outsiders come into the city and do business only during the season when the profits are at a peak and then return to their home town.

The problem of maintaining the clientele at the market throughout the winter is left to those who keep tables the year round, including the winter time he said when the profits are somewhat lean.

There are about 30 of these part time businessmen according to Mr. Desbiens.

If the city needs money for the operating costs of the building or for improvements to it such as the addition of an air conditioning system or the building of a parking lot then let it raise its money in this manner, said Mr. Desbiens.

At the same meeting of the Gardeners, Florists, and Nurserymen Association also flatly rejected the city's offer to install the air conditioning unit in the building at the cost of an additional $2 per table, added Mr. Desbiens.

Elected to presidency of the organization at the March 15 gathering was Ovide Auger, Mr. Auger replaces Ovide Tardif who died a short while ago.

Simard ordered phone changes

MAGOG — (Special) — Town council was told Thursday evening that the Bell Telephone Company changed the telephone connections in the police and fire departments December 31 at the request of Mayor Ernest Simard.

Independent connections to the two departments were installed after the mayor wrote the company on December 27. Under the previous system, a resident who telephoned the fire department at VI 3-3333 and found the line busy, the call was automatically rerouted to the police department's number, VI 3-3334.

Guy Perreault, Sherbrooke district manager for the Bell Telephone, who appeared before council said the old system was ideal for a community the size of Magog.

Simard said that he had placed a written order in an effort to prevent the firemen and policemen from using the telephones for personal reasons. He said that abuse was obvious by the telephone bills. Mr. Perreault showed proof that the charges were not for the fire department's line but the police department's line.

Mr. Perreault said it would not cost the city any more to have the police telephone connected to the VI 3-3333 exchange, and by maintaining this arrangement as before, the community was given a larger degree of fire protection. As the system stands, if a person calling in an emergency finds the line busy, there is no other way of getting help, without dialing again for the police department.

Wood executed

OSNING, N.Y. (AP)—Fredrick Wood died in Sing Sing's electric chair Thursday night, his wish to "ride the lightning" to oblivion fulfilled. Wood, a 51-year-old derelict whose lust for death led him to kill five persons and to seek his own extinction with a macabre determination, died at 10:05 p.m.

For quick-thinking Student, driver given awards

A Lennoxville High School student and a school bus driver were presented with certificates Thursday praising their quick-thinking and bravery.

Driver Gordon Robinson and Douglas Gillam, 16, the student, were given certificates of the Royal Canadian Humane Association in recognition for their parts in averting disaster April 10 when a school bus crashed with 25 or more students on board.

Howard Woollerton, representing chairman Bruce Clarke of the Lennoxville Protestant School Board, presented the certificates during a Home and School Association meeting Thursday night.

Mr. Robinson was driving the school bus down the Belvidere

Road hill the morning of April 10 when the brakes failed. Rather than allow the bus to run down the hill, he tried to swerve into a driveway. The bus scraped a telephone pole, went through an iron railing, and ended up smashing the porch of a house belonging to Bruce Clarke, the school board chairman.

Douglas Gillam was a passenger on the bus and was credited with saving at least one student from serious injury.

He had been sitting beside Sharon Fleming and when the driver alerted the students to the trouble, he shielded the girl with his coat.

Following the crash he helped her out of the bus. He returned to get out his younger brother Allen who was unconscious.

Seventeen students were taken to hospital and three were detained. These were later released.

Presenting the certificates Thursday, Mr. Woollerton said, "The parents and the school board, in conjunction with the school officers, approached the Royal Canadian Humane Association with the view in mind of obtaining official public recognition for the part played by Mr. Robinson and by Douglas Gillam, who showed exceptional courage in the protection of the students, averting what might have been much more serious injuries to them."

Club member may win cribbage championship

Sherbrooke's hopes for the Dominion-wide cribbage championship for the blind at present rest with a member of the local Oasis Club.

Awaiting the final cross-country count which will determine the victor are the members of Sherbrooke's Oasis group and their top point maker in the tourney Antonio Bolduc of 613 King Street East.

Having amassed a total of 2,395 points out of a possible 2,420 in the cribbage tourney, Mr. Bolduc is anxiously awaiting the announcement that should, according to club officials, be made shortly.

An indication of the good possibility that Mr. Bolduc has of copping the crown for this year is the fact that the winner in the 1962 contest finished the tournament with 2,400 points.

This only 5 points more than Mr. Bolduc.

At the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke Oasis Club held at the MacKinnon Memorial building on Montreal Street election results of the new officers were as follows.

The club's new president for the coming year is Yves Nadeau, and elected to the post of vice-president was Edouard St. Germain. Secretary for the coming year is again Maureen Mills.

Motorists are fined $10 a splash

The first of the joys of spring is being felt in Sherbrooke.

Captain Armand Genest of the municipal police said Friday that several motorists had been fined this week for splashing pedestrians.

A bylaw provides a fine of up to $40 for this offence, he said.

He explained, however, that motorists convicted of splashing are usually instructed by the judge to pay for cleaning the clothes of the pedestrian. The amount of the fine is decided after a cleaning receipt is produced.

Usually it is $10 plus costs, he said.

Captain Genest said police are "keeping their eyes open" for motorists who splash pedestrians.

"There is another thing for drivers to remember," he said. "People who get splashed and report it generally have the licence number, the color, the make and the year of the car that did it."

CMA president at meeting

Devalued dollar 'very helpful' to exports

The devalued Canadian dollar has been "very helpful" to Canadian exporting, the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said Thursday.

Carl A. Pollock even suggested at one point in his speech to the CMA's Sherbrooke branch at the New Sherbrooke Hotel that it would be better if Canadian currency went by a different name, to eliminate the notion that it should always be at par with American.

Mr. Pollock heads an Ontario high-ti and television firm which exports to the United States, and he was exhorting businesses represented at the $5-a-plate dinner to "Ship south, young company, ship south."

Policies of the 1950s had assumed that Canada could prosper forever by shipping out its raw materials and resources. "Thank goodness this idea is now dying," the CMS head said.

Perpetuation of the idea would have left Canada a "Siberia," he said. Fortunately a gradual trend to processing raw materials at home was underway. Fewer people were now employed in mining and forestry than in 1950, but 301,000 more were employed in secondary manufacturing.

"Still the country's deficit of imports over exports was of such proportions that Mr. Pollock preferred to quote it as "10 thousand million" because that sounded more than "a billion."

And still many Canadian firms were timid about expanding into export markets. The CMA president warned them that in today's trading world, small companies which do not expand do not survive.

His own firm intended to wipe out its trade deficit next year with a program of distribution in the "industrial heartland" of the United States, the northeastern states near Ontario.

Federal trade missions helped, but Canadian manufacturers had to have a product with something that U.S. ones didn't have. Another help was the now "more correctly valued" Canadian dollar, at 92½ cents of the American.

Mr. Pollock said he did not consider the U.S. a foreign market, though, because it spoke the same language as Canada, and had the same tastes.

He spoke of a recent CMA tour of Japan. He had found the girls who work in Japanese television plants "efficient" and "dedicated" but no more expert than Canadian TV workers. "They do work for much lower wages, and that contributes a great deal to Japanese industry's success. Japan has also protected her markets and industries as we in Canada haven't."

The speaker described the Canadian trade department and its minister "energetic" and said the fact that 62.3 per cent of Quebec production was in secondary manufacturing showed that provincial departments were as active.

He closed with a reference to Canadian subsidiaries of American firms. They could play an important part in expanding Canadian manufacturing if their parent firms let them, he said.

Cash lack may popularize elections

One of the disquieting features of Canadian elections in recent years has been the lack of rank-and-file participation in the campaigns.

Invariably at the nominating convention which generally marks the opening of his campaign, the selected candidate makes an appeal for every supporter of the party to get behind the band wagon and push. Victory, he says, can be achieved only when every believer in the doctrines of the party campaigns actively in support of his ideals.

But the big question is: How seriously do the candidates and their organizers take these invocations?

Judging by the actions of most party chiefs, especially at the local level, they are none too anxious to have the support of volunteer workers, willing to work for no other reward than the satisfaction of victory for the cause. More reliance apparently is placed in a small group of professional campaign workers than in the efforts of a substantial number of volunteers.

Too often a would-be worker visiting the committee room to offer his services is made to understand that everything is in the hands of the old reliables and that newcomers, unless highly recommended are unwelcome.

One inevitable result is that the ordinary individual takes less and less interest in the workings of the party. Sooner or later he reaches the point where he may not bother to vote.

Perhaps the acute lack of election funds which appears to be plaguing all parties in the current campaign may impress upon party organizers the need for maintaining some sort of a permanent county organization which make adequate use of volunteer help and reduce the dependence upon the select few whose main interest is in the benefits to be received from their work.

When a youngster gets out of the pantry, all the pathways to it are likely to be jammed.

Danville residents want clock fixed

At one time you could tell a community's prosperity by the size of its town clock.

In wealthier centres, the clock would probably be a four-sided affair housed in a domed penthouse atop the town hall. And where the capacity of the municipal treasury matched the pride of its residents, council was sometimes persuaded to set up chimes or bells which rang out the hours in the style of London's Big Ben.

These ornate time pieces became more than just a monument to the wealth of the citizenry. The tide of prosperity which washed over many a small town 50 years ago often receded leaving vestiges of a once more leisurely way of life. But in most centres, the people's pride in their town clock is something which is not touched by economic ups and downs.

Its copper dome mellowed to a rich green by the rain, snow and sun of many seasons, the town clock merged into the familiar scenery of main street. Merchants could install as many of those cold, impersonal-looking electric clocks with their bright, efficient hands and their glowing faces, as they wanted, but anybody going by the town clock can't resist checking the time.

Danville has one of these memorable time pieces, given to the town in 1914 by the McLay family. Since last December, the McLay clock which is located on a bank building has not been operating. It is the second time in eight years this has happened.

The upkeep of the old clock has been something of a chore. Like most works of its vintage, it has to be wound up at least once a week and this means climbing to the three-storey roof to do the job. The council has joined the controversy and it plans to discuss the matter at its April meeting.

To most of Danville's residents, the unwound clock is like an old friend temporarily disabled. And, of course, they miss it.

Don't worry about your hands getting cold these days. Prices will keep them deep in your pockets.

Mr. Caouette's political quackery

Real Caouette has never shown much respect in his political speeches for some of the realities of life, but his rhetoric in Donnacona, Quebec Wednesday night reached new heights (or depths) of fantasy and the ridiculous.

According to press reports, he told his audience that Liberal Party supporters are planning to send him to hospital before the April 8 election by "arranging" a traffic "accident." The claim is that a automobile collision would be staged in which the car carrying Mr. Caouette around the hustings would be involved.

Doubtless encouraged by being able to get out this incredible flight of fancy, Mr. Caouette then went on to accuse Eric Kieran, president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, of being a paid agent of the Liberal party.

Mr. Caouette said the 1929 stock market crash had been "organized" by financiers and "speculators" like Mr. Kieran.

It is typical of Mr. Caouette's campaign tactics that when stung, he makes personal attacks on those who have offended him, indulging in some of the wildest gibberish ever heard in this province (and that's going some) instead of refuting the arguments arrayed against him.

Mr. Caouette says you don't have to understand Social Credit theory to vote for his party, but the fact is, Mr. Caouette's political quackery is all too obvious. What is hard to understand is how anyone who possesses any thought processes at all can believe him.

Other papers say:

Some political slogans for the UK

Before long the British parties will be getting down to a serious study of American newspaper cuttings in search of slogans for the next election. Herbert Hoover's in 1928 is beginning to have relevance: "A chicken in every pot, two cars in every garage." "Garage" needs its American pronunciation to have an easy scanion, but this should not be beyond us. "You never had it so good" is of later vintage. Before it made its spontaneous appearance in a speech by Mr. Macmillan at the Bedford football ground on July 21, 1957, it had done service for the Democrats in the midwestern congressional election of 1946. The Conservatives certainly used it to better advantage. In the America of 1946 there were returning soldiers without homes, a meat shortage, labour troubles; resentment over the remaining wartime controls. The Republicans countered with "Had enough?"; they clobbered the Administration and took the Senate by a majority of two and the House by a majority of twenty-eight. "Had enough?" might commend itself to Mr. Wilson.

The Liberals are doing well with "Get Britain moving again," which is a crib from Kennedy. But they could look farther back. If their current problem is to convince the electorate that they are the authors of the policies the others now espouse they could take a leaf from Harry Truman's book in 1948. He accused the Republicans of "Me-tooism," and against predictions he was returned with a landslide. Truman's supporters were taught to shout "Give 'em hell, Harry." "Give them hell, Harold," on the other hand, might sound a little laboured.

What else was there? Another Hooverism ("Let's keep what we've got; prosperity didn't just happen") lends itself to misquotation by the Left as "Prosperity just didn't happen." "I like Ike" was possibly the best slogan ever invented. How would that translate? "I back Mac? If Mac is no longer there to be backed 'I'm madly for Adlai" can be adapted to "I rave for Reggie" or "I'm tied to Ted." To which the reply is surely "Time for a change" (Republican, 1952; "Manchester Guardian," 1951).

TWENTY YEARS AGO

(From the Record of Monday, March 22, 1943)
The World Day of Prayer service sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society in the Knox Church hall, Lake Megantic, was held by Mrs. H. R. Big, Mrs. J. G. Fletcher, Miss F. Bailey and Mrs. J. A. McLeod, with Mrs. L. E. Clark as organist. Prayers were offered by Mrs. John Boyle, Mrs. J. B. Lavalliere, and Mrs. J. A. McLeod. The offering was received by Miss Grace Boyle.

Five hundred thousand dollar damage caused by week-end flood as 18 houses are swept away. Bulldozers today smashed paths through debris and ice littered streets of Bromptonville in the wake of a disastrous flood, that caused one man's death and brought damage to the municipality estimated at more than $500,000.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room

Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. (Ephesians 4:32.)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, may the Holy Spirit bring to our remembrance that we are sinners saved by grace through faith. Grant us the desire and power to "live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world." In Jesus's name. Amen.

The first use of a self-contained explosive agent against a ship occurred during the siege of Antwerp in 1585 when the Dutch used small boats filled with gunpowder set off by a clockwork device to dispose of several hundred Spaniards.

In spite of look of prosperity

Coal crisis hits bustling Ruhr

BOCHUM, Germany (AP) — They are talking crisis in the Ruhr, the industrial heart of Europe.

To the casual visitor, the mighty Ruhr valley may seem just like one sprawling city with a great many fields, parks and trees.

Taking the train from Oberhausen to Hamm, you stop at seven towns in 80 minutes and you have crossed the length of the Ruhr.

Pitheads, pastures, a towering refinery, an old farmhouse, a busy shopping street, a herd of cows, a steel mill and above all clouds of dust, gas fumes and smoke mark the area where more than 5,000,000 people live. Fifty per cent of all coal and 30 per cent of all steel produced in the European Common Market come from here. Germany's largest oil refinery, the continent's largest zinc plant and Europe's largest inland river port—Duisburg—are all in the Ruhr area. Over-all industrial output is worth more than $10,000,000,000 a year.

And yet, there is an air of crisis. They call it the coal crisis.

The basic facts are told quickly: While consumption of Ruhr coal has remained at the same level for the last eight years, use of fuel oil has increased more than 10 times, despite heavy taxes.

Imported coal, mostly from the United States, sells cheaper in the Ruhr than the domestic product despite the additional freight costs. A ceiling has been put on such imports to protect the German product.

Twenty-four pits have been abandoned as unprofitable during the last few years. In 1963, at least six more will close down. Many of the hundreds

$275 million a year

Big spenders today are teenagers

Who are the big spenders today? Teen-agers, says William H. Torgis, publisher of Canadian High News, and one of this continent's leading market experts on spending habits of youth.

Having established Mailbag, a direct mail advertising service in Canada, he is now spreading his operation to the United States.

How much do high school teen-agers (some 700,000 in Canada, 13 to 17 years of age) have to spend?

About $275 million a year, all expendable income. And another $144 million in savings which is potent spending power for the near future.

SPEND AND SAVE

What do teen-agers spend their money on?

Says Mr. Torgis, who has with his partner, Joseph W. Duffin, probably the most exhaustive research data anywhere on the teen age market:

"Everything from cosmetics to gum." Food, entertainment, clothing are main expenditures here as in the U.S.

And what are they saving for?

It varies. For instance, only 2.9 per cent of the boys save for trips compared to 10.8 per cent of the girls.

Using an average, nearly 24 per cent of the teenagers save for education, more than 16 per cent for gifts, about 12 per cent for autos and 11 per cent for clothing.

About 20 per cent of the boys and only four per cent of the girls save for automobiles.

MAILBAG

Mr. Torgis is now laughing into the U.S. his direct-mail advertising, Mailbag, a free packet mailed to high school students, university students and teachers here.

Mailbag was created in Canada eight years ago, an outgrowth of Canadian High News, the largest teenage weekly here.

A new firm has been formed, Mailbag International Inc., jointly owned by Mailbag International of Canada Ltd. and O. E. McIntyre Inc., a leading U.S. mail marketing firm. Mr. Torgis is chairman, and Joseph Duffin, vice-president.

AIM FOR 10 MILLION

Mailbag has an initial direct mail market in the U.S. of 1,000,000 high school teenagers. The potential market it's aiming for is about 10 million.

However, the total teen age market (13 to 19 age group) in the U.S. is closer to 20 million teen-agers, personally spending an average of $550-plus each year, over $10 billion total annually (more than the total sales volume of General Motors.)

$10 A WEEK

During the last 15 years, the average weekly pocket money of all teen-agers has increased 400 per cent in the U.S.—from $2.50 to $10. It would be roughly the same in Canada.

More boys work for their income (summer or annual part-time) than do girls. Consequently, they earn more than girls. Girls are more likely to get an allowance, however.

Teen-agers buy by brand, and they develop strong opinions about companies which greatly influence their purchase of these companies' products.

The $10 billion annual purchasing power of teenagers in the U.S. can be roughly broken down into the following general categories:

- Transportation, grooming, books, magazines and school supplies, $33.8 billion.
- Food, $2.2 billion.
- Entertainment, $1.6 billion.
- Clothing, $1.5 billion.
- Sports equipment, $0.9 billion.

EDUCATION GOAL

More than 70 per cent. save money with education, as in Canada, being the most common goal.

Teen age girls spend an estimated $300 a year on clothes; boys an estimated $163 a year. Their new styles and fads often spread to the adult market.

In the U.S. these girls in 1959 spent $9 million on home permanents, $20 million lipstick and $25 million on deodorants more than one-fifth of total deodorant sales.

Of girls under 20—99.4 per cent use lipstick; 92.6 nail polish; 8.15 perfume and toilet water; 72.9 eye makeup, and 71.1 face powder.

Ten age boys, although not so appearance-conscious as girls, still spend plenty on grooming. For instance, 33 per cent use a medicated skin product for blemishes and/or acne; 33 per cent buy their own hair tonic.

BUY USED CARS

"It won't be long," says Mr. Torgis, "that the entire used car market will be absorbed by teen-agers."

He noted that in the U.S. a year ago there were six million licensed teen age drivers of which 18.3 per cent own automobiles. A survey of high school senior boys showed that 32.7 per cent own automobiles.

Teen age girls start building their hope chests as young as 15 years of age. Thirty-three per cent of all 18 and 19-year-old girls are already married and forming family purchasing habits. (TNS).

At Poly-Tek

Workers' salaries have tripled

The Lions Club of Sherbrooke was host on Monday at its weekly dinner meeting to the management and staff of the Poly-Tek workshop for the handicapped.

For the occasion, the Lions held their meeting and supper at the Poly-Tek shop.

The object of this visit was to make Lions members more aware of the existence of Poly-Tek and its varied skills.

The meeting was presided over by Lions president Neil Tracy and was largely attended.

The guest speaker was W. F. (Bill) Clifford, Mr. Clifford is president of Poly-Tek as well as president of a committee working in East Angus on behalf of the National Institute for the Blind.

Mr. Clifford gave a brief outline of the history of the Poly-Tek workshop from its beginning in the summer of 1961 up to the end of 1962. It was reported that in the first year of operation work was provided for some thirty handicapped persons and that this figure grew to more than fifty in 1962.

Salaries paid to these people grew from nearly $3,000 in the first year to $10,600 in 1962.

The greater part of the revenue of Poly-Tek derives from the repairing and binding of books of all kinds but principally school books sent in by different school commissions of the district. Last year more than 20,000 books were handled.

At this particular time of the year the shop is busily engaged in the hand making of fishing flies as well as the repairing of fishing rods and reels of all sorts and sizes. In order to accommodate those sportsmen who find it inconvenient to get to the shop during weekdays President Clifford announced at the meeting that the shop would be open Friday evenings from 7 until 9 until further notice.

For full details just drop in to the shop at 973 Galt St. West or phone the manager Maurice DeLottinville at LO-7-6664.

SLAITHWAITE, England (Reuters)—The ruling Conservative party took a fresh buffeting today as labor held its Parliament seat while the Liberal party swept the government candidate from second place in a byelection here Thursday.

Results of the Colne Valley byelection in Yorkshire gave Prime Minister Macmillan's supporters no encouragement that their party's 18-month-long slump with the British voters—aggravated by severe regional unemployment—was easing.

Results of the voting were: Patrick Duffy, Labor, 18,033 votes; Richard Wainwright, Liberal, 15,994; Andrew Alexander, Conservative, 6,238; and Arthur Fox, independent, 266.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—The Progressive Conservative government of Premier Walter Shaw is to launch an investigation into a Liberal opposition claim that three provincial election ballots were picked up off the streets of Charlottetown.

The premier promised the investigation Thursday after Liberal Leader Alex Matheson produced the ballots in the legislature and charged it was dangerous for them to be out of the hands of election officials.

HALIFAX (CP)—A scheme of crop insurance, increased aid to school boards and a system of voluntary economic planning were among the major pieces of legislation approved during the 1963 sitting of the Nova Scotia legislature which prorogued Thursday.

Lieutenant-Governor H. P. MacKeen in one of his first official acts since becoming lieutenant-governor Feb. 28, gave royal assent to 103 bills ranging from human rights to the Halifax city charter.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Rabies tests on a dog which bit a Killam, Alta., boy several weeks ago have proved negative, an official of the local animal disease research institute said Thursday. Anti-rabies vaccine was airlifted last week to the boy, four-year-old Andrew McLeod, who was aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth.

Herb plot is handy

By MARGARET DOVE

A sunny corner of the vegetable plot or flower garden will supply enough herbs for the ordinary family needs. Only a small amount of either green or dried herb is required to give the necessary taste sensation.

In order to obtain higher grades of flavor the soil should not be over-fertilized. In fact if the garden soil is in a fair state of fertility no extra fertilizer need be applied.

Very often the poorer the soil the better the flower.

COOKING HERBS

Following is a basic list of culinary herbs with the number of plants required to give adequate yield for a family of three.

Sweet basil (an annual), six plants. Green or dried this spicy fragrance blends with tomatoes, fish, meat, stews, poultry, Burnett (biennial), two plants — self-seeds freely, resents transplanting, likes dry, poor, sandy soil. A salad herb with a distinctive cucumber flavor. Young leaves are used green, do not retain flavor when dried.

SECOND CROP

Chervil (annual), 12 plants. Sow where it is to grow; does best in semi-shade.

Plants usually die down by July but if a few seed heads are allowed to form it will reseed itself and produce a new crop by early fall. The leaves have a light anise flavor.

It is used either green or dried in salads, soups, egg dishes and sauces.

Dill (annual), six plants. Use fresh green tops in salads.

The Record's Farm Report

ARDA Now Moving On New Projects

Progress on the ARDA program was reported recently by Agriculture minister Hamilton. He announced the approval of eight new projects, of these, two projects were in New Brunswick one to provide assistance to farmers wishing to improve the productivity of their land and one to assist in moving 15 isolated families to areas offering better job and income opportunities. In Quebec a pilot study is to be carried out in Rimouski county to obtain basic information from farmers that will help to evaluate factors in rural development programs. In this project a group of farmers have been recruited to visit 100 farms and complete an extensive questionnaire. A study now nearing completion, in Quebec's Montmagny county will show the economic potential of farm woodlots and other land capabilities.

Five projects were approved for Saskatchewan. Three will provide community pastures to accommodate expanding beef production in that province. Two other projects are for the acquisition of 2,500 acres for public recreational use.

Beet Support Unchanged For 1963

Support for 1963 sugar beet crop will be at the same level as last year. The stabilization board set the support price again at $13.72 per standard ton of beets (250 pounds of sugar). The present world shortage of sugar indicates that the price of imported raw sugar will not likely fall below the prescribed price of $4.29 per hundred weight. This producer's returns will be determined by the import price of raw sugar and the contracts which they negotiate with processors, rather than the support program.

Ottawa Shares Crop Aid To Maritimes
Agriculture minister Hamilton last week announced plans to assist Nova Scotia farmers who lost grain crops last fall due to bad weather.

Farmers with 5 acres or more seeded to grain will receive $16 for each acre unharvested. Payments will be limited to $600 maximum to one farmer. Total cost of the assistance program

Home and School hears address on alcoholism
THETFORD MINES — On March 12, the Home and School Association met in the auditorium of the A.S.J.M. High School with a good attendance of members. President, D. C. McCann, chaired the meeting, the highlight of which was an interesting talk given by A. C. Sinclair on Alateans, regarding alcoholism amongst teenagers. The guest speaker was introduced and thanked by Mr. McCann.

Mrs. Rodney Macdonald read the minutes in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Art Underwood.

Mrs. W. R. Callan reported that $30 had been realized from the Teen Age Dance, which is to be turned over to the fund to assist Queen Scout Robert Coleman to attend the World Scout Jamboree being held in Athens, Greece, in August.

The president read a letter concerning the United Nations' Bilingual Seminar to be held at Macdonald College, August 26 - 30. It was moved that a qualified student be sent from High School to attend this seminar, the expenses to be paid by the Home and School Association.

Don Maxwell reported having attended a recent district council meeting. He advised of a meeting to be held March 27, in the Lennoxville High School, when Douglas Walkington will address the gathering. The theme to be, The Home and School Across Canada, which that incoming executive as well as members of the Home and School are urged to attend.

is estimated at $120,000 and will be shared equally by the Nova Scotia and federal governments. It will be administered by Nova Scotia's department of agriculture.

A similar scheme recently arranged between the federal and Prince Edward Island governments will give assistance to about 1,000 P.E.I. grain growers.

U.S. price drop sends pork north, cuts hog price.

Hog prices have continued weak in spite of relatively light marketings. Gradings two weeks ago at 125 thousand were eight thousand below the previous week and 26 thousand under the corresponding week a year earlier. But the price for Grade A hogs in Toronto at $27 were down more than a dollar from the week before and Prairie markets showed even sharper declines.

New factor in this price weakness has been the price of hogs in the U.S. Number one and two butcher hogs were selling in Chicago last week at $14.25 to $15.00 ($19-$20 dressed equivalent). As a result there was considerable movement of U.S. pork into Canada.

Prospects are that marketings will be heavy in the U.S. in the next two months. Prices are expected to reach a low in May slightly under present prices and then to increase seasonally by $2 to $3 by August.

With increased competition from beef, Canadian hog prices will follow the U.S. pattern until late summer. Fall prices will depend on whether the expected rise in the spring pig crop is realized as well as on the U.S. price situation.

US Rejects Hike In Wool Tariff
The U.S. administration has again shown its determination to maintain trade as free as possible. Christian A. Herter, the president's special trade assistant turned down demands of the U.S. textile industry for international controls or other forms of protection on wool.

Mr. Herter indicated that other major wool producing countries were strongly opposed to such controls.

The action shows the concern of the Kennedy administration about any moves which would weaken prospects for freer trade in general negotiations on tariffs next year, Canada exports a substantial part of her wool clip to the U.S.

Hill Named Federal Dairy Advisor
Mr. Gordon Hill, ex-Ontario farm union president, has been named by Agriculture minister Hamilton as federal representative on the new Canadian dairy advisory committee. Mr. Hill, now a member of the advisory committee to the agricultural stabilization board will provide liaison between these two committees.

Cancer Society work shown in film at Granby
GRANBY — Members of the Canadian Cancer Society in the Granby area were invited to attend the monthly meeting of the Home Economics Circle of the St. Eugene Parish.

Educational films were shown and instructive counsel was given showing the efforts of the Society in the fight against cancer.

The question and answer period proved to be most interesting. Dr. Lavigne was in charge of answering the many questions on different aspects of the disease.

It is planned to hold a similar meeting in the near future. Among those present were: Mrs. Ernest Lacroix, president of the education committee of the Society, Mrs. J. A. Poirier, secretary of the Cancer Society; Mrs. Roger Gemme, vice-president of the H.E.C. of St. Eugene; Dr. Bernard Lavigne, medical counsellor of the Society; and Bernard Beaudry, vice-president of the Granby area.

western Ontario they would either have to accept lower prices or processors would be forced to move into the growing of tomatoes. If imports of tomato products (mainly from U.S. and Italy) were replaced by Canadian domestic production, tomato acreage could be expanded by 6,500 acres, a third of the acreage in Ontario. But Canadian processors could not compete at present costs of the raw product. Average cost of tomatoes to Ontario processors last year was $36 per ton compared to $25 to California processors. Mr. Clark suggested three alternatives: 1) lower negotiated prices, 2) growers to contract part of their crop at negotiated prices and grow the balance on a rental arrangement with processors, or 3) processors would grow their own product.

Canada-US Clash Again On Grain Sales
A proposed deal for the U.S. to supply 30,000 tons of wheat to the Dominican Republic on five to ten years credit, has caused further strain on Canada-U.S. relations. Last year Canada supplied 5 per cent of the Dominicans' wheat and flour imports, over $3 million worth. Newly-elected Dominican president Juan Bosch hoped Canada would facilitate the deal, in spite of the Canada-U.S. agreement not to interfere with each others' grain sales. But Ottawa has made it known to Washington that Canada does not intend to relinquish its customers so easily.

Lessen Friction
The purpose of lubrication is to lessen friction between moving parts. But the wrong lubricant or too much lubrication can be as bad as none at all.

Do-it-yourself Keep house gear running smoothly

By MR. FIX

It isn't only your automobile that needs a regular lubrication job. Every home needs a lube job, too.

Lubrication should be part of every homeowner's program of preventive maintenance.

An old oil can filled with some undetermined grade of oil isn't quite good enough to do a thorough job. There is an almost endless variety of lubricants available, each designed to fill a particular need.

Lessen Friction

KNOW LUBRICANTS AND JOBS THEY DO
LIGHTWEIGHT OIL KEEPS FANS, APPLIANCES AND POWER TOOLS RUNNING.
POWDERED GRAPHITE KEEPS LOCKS WORKING.
PENETRATING OIL LOOSENS FROZEN NUTS AND BOLTS.
STICK LUBRICANTS UNSTICK DRAWERS AND WINDOWS.

Keep one handy when putting up screens or storm windows. They'll be easier to take down next time. Hold a stick lubricant against a moving fan belt and it will stop squeaking. Friction catches on kitchen cupboards will work better if touched with a stick lubricant now and then.

Penetrating oil is a special lubricant used for loosening rusted or so-called "frozen" nuts and bolts and other fittings. Apply and allow to soak in. A can of penetrating oil is especially valuable when removing old license plates.

How often should you lubricate? Follow manufacturer's instruction wherever possible. Twice a year is generally enough, although fan and other motors sometimes require lubrication three or four times a year. Items used outdoors should be lubricated before storing away.

Stick lubricants are another convenient form for special jobs. Crayon-like in appearance, they can be applied to sticking drawers and windows without mess. Use them for sticking zippers, too.

Farm Forum Activities
CREEK
The regular meeting of the Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Heman Salisbury and Howard Salisbury with twenty-six members and visitors present.

The subject of the evening was The Co-operative Idea. Stanley Quilliams acted as discussion leader. The following findings were reported No. 1. (a) Yes, the Rockdale principals are still valid and useful. All co-ops should follow this idea. (b) They all apply. (c) They should be left as they are, but credit should be limited.

2. Yes, it definitely contributes to a better society and should apply in other areas besides the business world.

(b) The main contributions are we feel that it creates competition, better service and lower prices. The Co-op should not try to control prices for profit however, but should give people the opportunity to get together to iron out their problems.

Several members of the Waterloo Kiwanis Club attended, also Mr. Laflamme manager of the Waterloo Co-operative and Mr. Morin who is to be the new manager on April 1.

At the close of the evening, lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by the ladies present.

Sherbrooke Daily Record HOUSE PLAN OF THE WEEK

Illustrated Publications, Inc. Design No. Y-5097

DESIGN Y-5097. — The exterior look is of a ranch house, but the interior plan is the attractive and practical split level, with the bedroom level raised six steps above the living level and a recreation room utilizing the lower level space under the bedrooms, six steps down from the entry level. The storage room and lavatory on this level are most convenient. Living, dining and kitchen areas are shown at the front of the house. A low decorative wall separates kitchen and dining areas. The living room is graced by the balcony at the back, with a wrought iron rail and stairs up giving it a feeling of extra space. The three bedrooms are at a back, sharing closet walls and a large tiled bathroom. Living area is 1,104 square feet. For further information on Design Y-5097 write to Illustrated Publications, 117 West 48th Street, New York 36, N.Y.

Proper humidification is best preventative of colds

TORONTO (CP)—Proper humidification is one of the best ways to prevent colds and other respiratory infections, says a Toronto pediatric specialist.

The doctor usually checks "the child and the furnace" when he makes a house call in such ailments.

The human body, he says, can fight off naturally the common cold virus, which is constantly present in noses and throats, if there is sufficient humidity. Humidity helps breathing passages remain open and clean. But if the air is dry, viruses and bacteria have a chance to grow.

Nature's second defence against infection—the lymphoid tissue of the tonsils and adenoids which traps germs and destroys them with antibodies and chemicals—can also become infected and require treatment if repeatedly infected due to dry air.

BREATHE WITH NOSE
And mouth breathing, necessitated when infected adenoids block nasal passages, is potentially harmful because over a long period it might result in an underdeveloped nose and changed facial configuration, the doctor explained.

When a virus infection such as a cold does develop, it can usually be handled by nature in most people, the doctor said.

"It is useless to give an antibiotic early in a cold." But nature can be helped along by increasing humidity almost to the saturation point and by avoiding frequent changes in temperature and humidity.

The latter is especially difficult in the spring and fall months.

Optimum relative humidity is considered to be about 40-45 per cent. "And to maintain this when the temperature outside is 20 degrees and inside is 70 degrees requires about one gallon of water a room a day."

SIMPLE METHODS
There are many simple ways of raising the humidity in a home—boiling water in a kettle, opening more windows, draping towels with their ends in pails of water over the radiators and registers, and keeping wet plants in the house.

Temperatures should be kept at about 70 degrees or even lower, especially at night.

"Wear sweaters if you're cold," said the doctor, explaining that generally as the air is humidified, a person is more comfortable at a lower temperature.

In homes heated by hot air, many different types of humidifiers—water-evaporating or moisture-spraying units—can be installed in a furnace.

"But these should be checked frequently to make sure they are working properly."

Even with sufficient humidity, colds are more difficult to avoid if body resistance is low during convalescence or due to fatigue, drinking and smoking, dust and smog, the doctor said.

Advice given to women electors

TORONTO (CP)—Know what you're talking about, take a stand and stick with it—this is the advice the Association of Women Electors of Toronto is giving women in other cities who want to know the key to its success.

In 25 years, this small non-partisan group has earned the respect of city council and municipal officials and of the voting public, for its informed opinions on civic issues. It has received inquiries from Ottawa, Galt and Regina, where women are interested in forming similar groups.

A group of women in Victoria recently adopted the Toronto group's constitution.

"Our success is not due to numbers but rather a small core of hard workers," says immediate past president Mrs. G. S. Vickers, explaining why the association never promotes membership with great drive.

"Now we have about 350 women — we are so busy we don't even have time to take accurate count."

Their working technique is observing and reporting. A member attends all metropolitan and city council meetings, board of control and executive meetings, standing board and committee meetings.

Detailed reports — including which councillors are absent or late (even if only five minutes), and the attentiveness of those who are present — are given at the association's monthly meeting and made available to anyone for $2 a year.

The association was not set up for reform but rather to encourage people to become informed about and take an active interest in their civic government, says Mrs. Vickers.

Lipstick gives new swing to 'youth'

If you are under 21, you'll be happy to know that you are right in style. The official word has come from Paris, where fashion editors originate, that the youthful look will be stronger than ever this spring.

Enhancing the young feeling of many new fashion designs is the trend to softer, lighter colors in cosmetics. Pink, for example, will be tops on the list. And, for you under voting age, it is ideal.

The new lipstick shades are tailored for the peaches and cream set, but they can enhance mother and, quite possibly, grandmother, too.

One lipstick, with complementary foundation and powder in pressed form, is designed with a creamy base to protect young lips. Just as important is the fact that it stays "true" under any lighting.

You will come to appreciate this as you experiment with various shades to find those that work to advantage, with your skin coloring as well as the many colors in your wardrobe.

You probably have discovered by now that your lip line isn't perfect. Don't fret. You can slim too-full lips, make droopy ones smile and fill out narrow ones with some patient application.

The important first step is to start with your lips powder-dry. If you use foundation, extend it slightly over your lip line as a base and to eliminate any color gap.

To build up thin lips, apply lipstick with a brush slightly outside your lip line, but do not change the natural pattern of your lips or extend the lipstick too far outside it.

If your mouth needs slimming, outline slightly within your lip line. Foundation will cover your natural line.

The best way to correct a droopy look is with a smile. But, lipstick does help. Apply your lipstick in straight lines from center to corners of the lower lip. This helps cut the downward curves.

Incidentally, most of us tend to apply our lipstick looking straight into the mirror. You can create a better lip profile if you use a mirror to study the side view, too.

We can do without 'em

Some people most people could get along very well without:

• The person who promises to call right back on a matter important to you—and who doesn't call back at all.

• The person whose first reaction to one of your new possessions is, "I hope you use it more than we used ours," or, "If I had known you were going to buy one, I would have given ours to you. I never use it at all."

• The person who hasn't seen you for a while and whose greeting is, "Haven't you put on weight?" Or "What have you done to your hair?" Or "Have you been ill?"

• The person who says, "It's too bad you missed the party. It was the best one of the year."

• The person who visits you in the hospital and tells you, "Well, now's your chance to get a good rest."

• The person who listens to your tale of woe and dismisses it with, "Don't worry; it could be worse."

• The person who arouses your curiosity and then says, "Someday, maybe, I'll tell you all about it."

• The person who looks over the room you have just had redecorated and says, "Oh, it looked so pretty the way it was."

• The person who never remembers that he met you a half-dozen times before.

• The person who says, "I know so-and-so is a good friend of yours, but..."

• The person who tells the story you told him and gets a big laugh, instead of asking YOU to tell it.

Canadian pianist plays in renowned Paris orchestras

PARIS (CP) — A Canadian who plays both harp and piano is recognized today in Paris as an accomplished performer on both instruments.

Cecile Prefontaine, who first came to Paris in 1954 as a student on a Quebec government bursary, now in her early 20s plays with some of the most renowned Paris orchestras and has earned praise from critics.

At some recitals she plays the harp; at others, the piano. Here she has performed with the orchestra of the Paris musical conservatory, at the Ecole Normale and the Salle Gaveau.

In Canada she has played with the symphony orchestras of both Quebec and Montreal. Three years ago she performed with the CBC symphony.

PIANO WAS FIRST
Miss Prefontaine's career began with study of piano while she was a schoolgirl at the Ursuline Convent in Quebec City. Her work with the harp began only when she was "about 20 years old."

It was during the intermission of a concert in Quebec that composer Claude Champagne, now the Quebec provincial music conservatory's assistant director, suggested she take the harp course.

"From then on," she says, "I was not discouraged despite the fact the harp is an expensive instrument, and that I could not practise more than an hour each day."

She bought her first harp shortly afterwards—at a cost of $2,500.

In 1954 she received the government bursary which enabled her to come to Paris to study the harp with Mme. Lily Laskine.

Now she devotes four hours each morning to the piano, three hours in the afternoon to the harp—and returns to the piano for a period in the evening.

"But I don't advise anyone to take up two instruments at the same time," she says.

SAUSAGES AND SHEPHERD'S PIE — A perfect solution for a hearty one-dish family meal that's kind to both the digestion and budget.

Two top favorites

Sausages and shepherds pie are unbeatable

An amateur gourmet cook once remarked wryly that the first gourmets must have been shepherds, judging by the number of excellent recipes for "Shepherd's Pie" that are top favorites today. It's certainly true that sufficient versions of this popular dish exist to allow nearly every shepherd to have had his very own recipe! Tasty, satisfying and economical, these pies can include almost any ingredient that suits the cook's personal taste (and many a left-over, too), facts which probably account in large measure for their longstanding popularity!

Rivalling them over the years have been sausages . . . those spicy and succulent bits of pork which are so easy to prepare and so economical, because they have no waste whatever. When sausages are teamed with Shepherd's Pie, it's an almost unbeatable combination, and the perfect solution for a hearty one-dish family meal that's kind to both the digestion and the budget. Here's a recipe for

SAUSAGE SHEPHERD'S PIE

1 lb. sausage, 2 cups mashed potatoes, 2 tbsps. onion, cut fine, 4 tbsps. flour, 2 cups broth, or water, 1 tsp. salt, 1 dash pepper, Paprika. Bread crumbs, Small dabs of butter.

Brown sausages in skillet over low heat. Reserve five or six sausages or slice the rest into one-inch pieces. Keep warm, Saute onion in remaining sausage fat . . . but do not brown. Add flour and stir until brown. Pour in water or broth gradually. Stir until thick. Add salt and pepper. Grease casserole dish. Then, using half of the mashed potato mixture, cover bottom of casserole. Add one-inch pieces of sausages and onion gravy. Cover with rest of mashed potatoes, and garnish with cooked sausages or thinly-sliced ones, and sprinkle with bread crumbs, paprika and small dabs of butter.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes or until crust is brown on top.

Furniture painting ideal for talentless painter

The tag end of winter may be a bit early to start a major house painting project, but it's the perfect time to repaint odd pieces of furniture that don't quite fit into the decor of your home. Once re-finished, they will give the whole room—and your spirits—a lift. For nothing quite matches the satisfaction of transforming a faded, dull eyecore into something you'll be proud to display.

Even for an amateur the work isn't difficult. It is chiefly a matter of using the right products and carefully following a few simple instructions. Best of all, the materials you need are as close as your paint dealer.

It's no secret that your work will be easier and the results more satisfactory if you choose top quality paint, so when you choose, make sure it is made by a reputable company which stands behind its product. Time and energy are too precious to risk on cheap paint.

For a professional looking job, there are a few basic rules to follow. For instance, it's important to start with a clean, dry surface. So old wax or furniture polish should be washed off with a cloth saturated with turpentine or paint thinner, then wiped dry.

The next step is a thorough rubbing with fine sandpaper, followed by a quick once-over with a cloth dampened with turpentine to remove any dust from the snow-smooth surface. It's time now to take paint brush in hand.

A new or absolutely clean, soft-bristle brush will give the best results, and the technique for using it is easy. Just dip the brush into the paint and pull it lightly over the edge of the can to remove any excess paint. First, brush across . . . then with . . . the grain, until the old surface is completely covered.

Most old, enameled surfaces require but one new coat, particularly if a first-class paint enamel is used. Of course, two coats will provide a firmer, longer-wearing surface. On the other hand, unfinished wood, or wood from which the old finish has been completely removed, will need a coat of undercoat before the enamel. In either case, once the top coat of enamel is dry, your job is finished.

No one denies that a good paint job requires patience and care. But everyone agrees that few household jobs pay such high dividends in satisfaction. Chances are you will be looking around for something else to refinish while the last brushful of paint is still wet.

The store has more than 75 employees. To speed up service, Woolworth's has established "semi-self-service," which allows the customer to collect articles around the store in a basket, and later have them wrapped at the cashier's counters.

A wide variety of dishes are offered at the new lunch counter, both light and full meals included. An innovation is the store's pastry counter. Pastries are cooked in its modern kitchen.

Miss Blanche Dion, who worked in the Sherbrooke Woolworth's store for many years, is now a superintendent of lunch counters for Quebec district, the first French-Canadian woman to attain the post.

Everything is on sale at Woolworth's, always at low prices.

There is candy, packaged and by the pound. There are socks for babies, men and women in well-known brands.

One department offers women's nylons in spring tints, another hats and handkerchiefs, baby clothes and blouses.

Costume jewellery is available, as are hair care articles and cosmetics.

A household goods section has rugs, drapes, cleaning goods, utensils and flower arrangements. Toys for the youngsters are varied.

Manager of the local store is Georges Lacaille, a Montreal native who has been in the company for 36 years, four in Sherbrooke. He invites customers to share in the re-opening celebrations.

Prescott-Kemptville Combines add beefed-up forward line and extra defenseman for tonight's fixture

MONCTON (CP) — With a beefed-up forward line and an extra defenceman, Prescott-Kemptville Combines will be out for revenge tonight in the second game of the Allan Cup eastern playoffs against Moncton Hawks.

The Combines, who lost the first game 5-3 on a third-period scoring spree by the Maritime senior hockey champions, have added veteran centre Bill Watson and defenceman Pat Brophy.

Watson, who will likely play on a line with Doug Casselman and Red Graham, comes from Ottawa Montagnards, the team Combines beat in the St. Lawrence Senior Hockey League final. The Ottawa district champions picked up Brophy from Pembroke.

Hawks plan no lineup changes in the second game of the best-of-five series.

Combines coach Ralph Hurley says of Wednesday's opener: "The bumping didn't affect us that much, we just ran out of spirit. We weren't tired."

REJECTS THEORY

He was contradicting suggestions that Moncton softened his club with hefty checks. Hawks were down 1-0 after the first period and 3-1 early in the third before coming up with four goals late in the game.

Speculation is combines will be hitting harder and more often tonight.

An early-morning $5,000-dollar fire in the Moncton Stadium, where all games are being played, threatened to force shifting of the remaining games to either Amherst or Saint John, N.B. The fire, two hours after the opening game ended, destroyed the canteen and part of the bleachers. Repairs are expected to be completed by 9 p.m. tonight, game time.

Moncton has a 10-game winning streak going into playoff competition.

Leon Bouchard paces attack with two goals, third game here Sunday, tickets on sale tomorrow afternoon

Rallying for four goals in the third period the Sherbrooke Beavers rolled up a convincing 7-3 victory over the Lachine Braves to move into a 2-0 lead in the Allan Cup playdowns. The third tilt is slated here Sunday afternoon and the Beavers are favored to wrap up the series.

A crowd of 2,123 fans was on hand to witness the fixture. Omer Giguere will be on hand tomorrow afternoon at the Arena to accommodate fans who wish to secure tickets for Sunday's game. Al Caplan, chairman of tickets, wishes to advise that all tickets must be picked up before 2:00 p.m. Sunday or otherwise they will be sold. Last night tickets were put aside but the fans failed to pick them up.

The Beavers held the upper hand in the tilt last night and it was only Jack Laforest's outstanding work in the nets which held the score down. The locals were in on him but the agile Lachine netminder came up with the big saves.

Joe Lacoursiere didn't have too much work during the evening and for several minutes at a time he stood in the nets. When he did get some work he was cold and this didn't help things.

There was no scoring in the first frame. In the second period Leon Bouchard opened the scoring when he finished off a play with Roger Picard. Hyduk got tagged for tripping and during his absence Claude Cardin made it 2-0. A minute later it was the Braves' chance when Michel Ducharme got tagged for charging and McHugh potted Lachine's first tally.

Fern Gemus was on the right spot when he snared a loose puck to lift it into the meshings for Sherbrooke's third goal and a 3-1 lead. Eddie Hyduk came up with two goals to tie the score 3-3 before the frame ended.

The first tally was a two-man break when the Braves were short handed. They caught Sherbrooke flat-footed and capitalized on it. His second was a nice piece of stick-handling when he deked the defense to lift it in the net.

In the third period Larry Drouin broke the deadlock and from then in the Beavers held the upper hand. Roger Picard extended the lead and Leon Bouchard made it 6-3 when he picked a low corner to bat it in.

Bouchard was the man who set up the final tally. When he put a nice pass Andre Vallieres' stick the young winger rifled it between Laforest's legs. At this point the Braves seemed to lose their pep and Jack Laforest was a busy man in the nets trying to turn the Braves aside.

Rejean Hamelin failed to hit the scoring parade last night as he was having tough luck around the nets. On three different occasions when in alone his drive nicked the goal post. He just couldn't get rolling.

Little League to hold clinic Sunday at Maisonneuve Sports Centre opening at 1 p.m.

MONTREAL — The Little League Baseball organization of the Province of Quebec will conduct a baseball clinic at the Maisonneuve Sports Centre, located at Via Avenue just South of Sherbrooke St. on Sunday, March 24 from 1:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Jim Wilson, Provincial Little League Director, has secured services of Arthur Dede, scout and coach of Rookies for New York Yankees will lead the clinic.

Dede, who was well known in Montreal, when he visited the Stadium regularly when the Royals were operating at Delormier Park, has a background of more than 40 years in major league baseball. He broke into major baseball with Brooklyn Dodgers in 1917, and was a member of the first Dodge team to win a National League pennant. His manager with the Dodgers was the fabled Wilbert Robinson. His roommate in those dashy days was the colorful and unpredictable Casey Stengel.

Dede was a scout and coach of rookies for the Dodgers from the early forties until their departure for Los Angeles. He then switched his allegiance to the Yankees.

This baseball clinic is being held for the benefit of Little League managers and coaches from the entire Province of Quebec and the Ottawa Valley District. Larente and Aime Constantin who are well known on local baseball scenes will translate Coach Dede's remarks into French.

The Maisonneuve Sports Centre was made available through the kind co-operation of Montreal Department of Parks and Playgrounds.

President Clarence Campbell denies NHL clubs are exploiting youngsters, can't sign until 18

TORONTO (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, denied Thursday recent criticism that youngsters are being exploited by professional hockey clubs.

"No player can sign any obligation of any kind that is made before he has attained his 18th birthday," said Campbell. He said this rule has been in effect since May 20, 1950.

Kenneth Bryden, New Democratic Party member for Toronto-Woodbine in the Ontario legislature, said this week young players are induced to sign contracts binding them to one club and are plucked from their homes by that club.

Speaking to the Empire Club of Canada here, Campbell denied accusations that the NHL is trying to dominate and control hockey in all classifications. "That is not our wish at all," he said, adding that professional teams are forced to invest money to produce players.

He said NHL clubs spend more than $500,000 a year on 50 sponsored clubs. "A large amount of that is on living expenses, tuition, books and other expenses of boys going to school."

He said there are 123 active members of sponsored teams in Canada who are attending colleges in the United States or Canada. "They never would have made it except for the sponsorship provided by pro clubs."

Campbell admitted that Toronto Maple Leafs paid $10,000 each for Rod Seiling, 18, and Wayne Carleton, 16, now playing junior hockey, but said the agreement was with their families and neither player received any money.

Abbie Pearson, despite his size, is dangerous man at plate, belts three hits to set down Dodgers

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Albie Pearson, the littlest Angel of them all, looks as if he's over-matched every time he picks up a baseball bat. The way he's been swinging lately, the bat must feel like a baton.

Pearson, who stands just over 5-foot-5½ and weighs in at 141 pounds after eating, whipped the bat around at the Los Angeles camp again Thursday, leading the Angels to their seventh consecutive exhibition victory, 5-3 over San Francisco.

He stroked three hits—one a triple—as the Angels handed the National League champions their fifth straight setback. Pearson also stole two bases.

The world champion New York Yankees and Washington Senators played to a 7-7, 17-inning tie in a four-hour, 25-minute marathon at Pompano Beach, Fla.

In two other extra inning affairs, Pittsburgh handed Minnesota its fifth loss in a row, 5-4 in 10 innings at Fort Myers, and New York Mets used Charlie Neal's sacrifice fly in the 10th for a 2-1 triumph over Milwaukee at West Palm Beach.

KALINE CLOUTS TWO
Elsewhere, Al Kaline hit two homers as Detroit crushed Baltimore 11-1 at Lakeland, Cincinnati's Tommy Harper hit a pair in the Reds 7-6 squeaker over Chicago White Sox at Sarasota. St. Louis whipped Kansas City 6-1 at St. Petersburg, Cleveland beat Chicago Cubs 7-2 at Mesa, Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 8-7 at Clearwater and Boston edged Houston 4-3 at Scottsdale.

Elston Howard homered for the Yankees in the second inning and Don Lock connected for a three-run homer in the eighth for the Senators. Yankee shortstop Phil Linz kept Washington from ending it in the 17th with a leaping stab of Jim Piersall's liner with two men on.

A walk to Bob Skinner and singles by Donn Clendenon and Gene Alley won for the Pirates over the Twins. Warren Spahn went seven innings and allowed only three hits for the Braves, but the Mets scored the clincher in the 10th on a single by Al Moran, two intentional walks and Neal's long fly.

Kalene led a 12-hit Tiger attack that included a homer, triple and double by Norm Cash and a homer by Jake Wood as the Orioles lost their second in a row after winning their first

Ted Greene tallies his first goal of year to give Bruins 2-2 tie with Rangers, Gendron tossed out

New York and Boston, two teams who missed their chance to make the National Hockey League playoffs a long while ago, played two games this week that couldn't help anybody except the few in the running for individual scoring honors.

As it turned out, the games didn't even help the stars much. Two lesser lights came to the fore as New York won 5-1 Wednesday and settled for a 2-2 tie Thursday.

Rangers won the first game on a three-goal performance by young Vic Hadfield, who had netted only two goals in the 33 previous games.

Thursday it was defenceman Ted Greene who earned Bruins the draw, scoring his first goal of the season at 13:03 of the final period.

John Bucyk got Bruins off to a 1-0 lead in the second period, netting his 27th goal on a spectacular play from Wayne Hicks and Bob Leiter. The goal gave Bucyk a four-point cushion as seventh-ranked scorer in the league. But with 66 points, he is 17 behind pace - setter Gord Howe of Detroit and has only one game left to play.

HENRY SCORES AGAIN
Rangers bounced back and took the lead on third - period goals by Camille Henry and former Bruin Don McKenney.

Andy Bathgate, who picked up an assist on McKenney's goal, is four points behind Howe with a game to go.

Guy Gendron of Boston was thrown out of the game after playing only 1½ minutes when he became so incensed over a penalty call that he hit referee Vera Buffey.

26,142 watch as three defending champs lose titles

Davey Moore in serious condition following bout, suffers contusion, chances very slim, says doctor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former champion Davey Moore was in a coma suffering from "a serious head injury" and his chances of living are poor, a hospital physician said early today after the boxer lost his featherweight title to Sugar Ramos in one of three championship fights here Thursday night.

Dr. Philip Vogel reported Moore was in a deep coma. "His chances are extremely poor," Dr. Vogel said. He added that Moore had suffered general injury to the mid-brain area and said that Moore's fate probably will be known within the next 12 hours.

No brain operation was contemplated, although a tracheotomy was performed to make breathing easier.

All three titles had new owners after a pair of spectacular knockouts and a controversial decision in the extravaganza.

COLLAPSES AFTER BOUT

A crowd of 26,142 watched as Ramos won the featherweight title in the middle bout by kayoing Moore—who was taken by ambulance to a hospital about an hour after the fight. He was unconscious and x-rays were taken.

In the opener at Dodger Stadium, Luis Rodriguez took the welterweight championship away from Emile Griffith on a decision—unanimous but subject to argument. In the windup, Roberto Cruz had knocked out Battling Torres in the first round and won the vacant junior welterweight title.

The doctor described Moore's injury as a contusion, more serious than a brain concussion.

Dr. Robert Roche, the physician for the California Athletic Commission, said the injury apparently was at the area of the brain which controls vital functions such as heartbeat and breathing.

Moore's manager, Willie Ketchum, and trainer Teddy Bentham, kept vigil at White Memorial Hospital.

Also at the hospital was Moore's wife, Geraldine, who never watches her husband in the ring, but was given permission to see him at the hospital. She wept as she left his room.

ASKED FOR HALT

Ramos, who lost the early rounds, smashed Moore down in the 10th round and had him draped over a rope and helpless as the round ended. Ketchum asked that the fight be halted.

In his dressing room, Moore, 29, was conscious and said "I'd like to fight him again." Some time after, he was taken by ambulance to the hospital.

Flayton Frye, California Athletic Commission secretary, said Moore had been talking to Ketchum and other handlers and "apparently lapsed into unconsciousness."

Ramos, who fled from Cuba and now makes Mexico City his home, remained undefeated.

winning his 41st fight. The two boxers each weighed 125½ pounds.

Griffith, ironically, was involved in a fatal title fight almost exactly one year ago. He regained the welterweight crown last March 24 at New York's Madison Square Garden by stopping Benny (Kid) Paret, who died of brain injuries suffered in the bout 10 days later.

DECISION UNANIMOUS

Rodriguez, an ex-Cuban who now calls Miami, Fla., home, boxed his way to the unanimous verdict over the harder-hitting Griffith.

"I can't understand it," Griffith moaned. "He didn't hurt me once and I hurt him several times. Rodriguez wouldn't stay in there and fight. He kept running."

The new 147-pound champion who weighed 146 to 145½ for Griffith, explained, "I planned to keep moving around and use the left jab and hit him in the stomach. The plan worked perfectly. Griffith never hurt me any time."

Referee Tommy Hart scored the bout 9-5. Judge Lee Grossman 8-5 and Judge John Thomas 8-6, all for Rodriguez.

Cruz, 21, had betting odds of 2½ to 1 against him. But hardly had the crowd settled down after hearing the national anthem of Mexico and the fight was over.

The Filipino said he knocked Torres down first with a right and then twice more with left hooks. Cruz weighed 138½ to 140, the junior welter limit, for Torres.

Under California rules, the Ramos victory also was by knockout—recorded in the 10th round because the halt was called before the bell started the 11th.

The role of the Prime Minister must be one of decisive leadership in a unified, majority government.

That is the opinion of hundreds of thousands of thinking Canadians . . . and the number is growing daily . . . because Canada has had enough of indecisive, wait-and-see government. We need a majority government under unified leadership. At its helm we need a prime minister capable of making realistic, positive decisions and of standing firmly behind them.

The nation's leading newspapers leave little doubt that the Liberal Party and Mr. Pearson are the answer. Editors applauded the Liberal Leader's forthrightness in his opening speech in Montreal. From Toronto, for example: "Lester Bowles Pearson . . . didn't hedge, he didn't mince words or torture logic." From the Prairies: "The Liberal Leader's firm stand . . . appears to mark an important new trend in Canadian politics . . . towards decisiveness, a virtue which many feel has been almost completely lacking among Canadian political leaders for too many years."

Perhaps the best way to sum up the growing feeling among Canadians who want a stable government, is this statement published in Montreal: "The Liberals . . . are the only possible government. The course of wisdom, therefore, is to make it clear both at home and abroad that Mr. Pearson will be Prime Minister . . . and that Canadians will give him all the support necessary to put our mismanaged affairs in order."

Why don't you take the course of wisdom? Vote for the Liberal Candidate in your riding.

VOTE LIBERAL — and you vote for unified effort to

- Re-establish a sound national economy
- Expand employment opportunities and personal security
- Assure Equal Partnership within Confederation
- Restore Canadian prestige at home and abroad.

(Liberal Party of Canada)

Ken Watson's CURLING The quiet toss vs. rock buster

It should be considered a breach of the criminal code for a skip to insist on using his own two precious granites to let fly at a houseful of enemy stones. This is the time and place for him to remember that he has been granted the sacred trust rather than as a divine right.

By tradition, a skip has been a draw man de luxe and the greater his name on the record books the oftener he has demonstrated his ability to find the four-foot right when necessity demands.

With today's fresh crop of youthful skips in provincial as well as the Canadian curling limelight, there is a growing tendency to avoid the quieter, subtler shots even when simple common sense and mathematical probability dictate no other course.

Time To Think

Granted that winning strategy today demands a more aggressive striking game to be played by the lead, second and third, yet when the skip persists in this suicidal use of his own stones when a bad-looking end shapes up then it is time for his mates to say: "Whoa! Control your impulses! What about a draw!"

An excellent example of defensive thinking of this kind was perpetrated by both skips in a television clash between the Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island champions. Playing the seventh end, the score was 6-3 in favor of P.E.I. Geo. Giannou, the Newfy skip, had last rock and lay four shots when young Art Burke, the P.E.I. prey, played his last stone. (See diagram below).

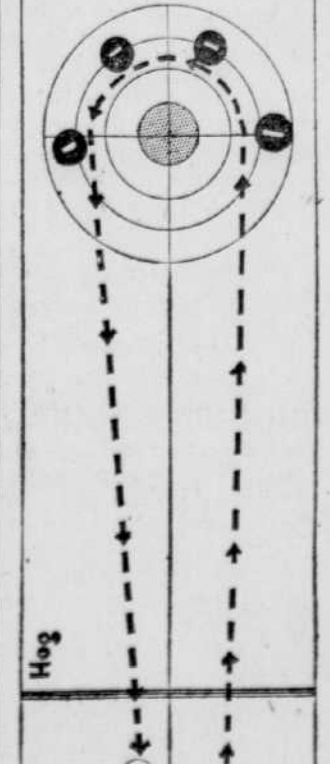

With all stones back of the tee-line, Burke tried to hit No. 1 and roll in front of Nos. 2 and 3. He hooked his in-turn shot a little wide and slid by.

Newfoundland drew for 5 points. A well-placed draw or freeze to No. 1 or No. 2 could well have saved the end for the P.E.I. lads.

As luck would have it, Giannou returned the favor on the next end when he tried to kill an opposing rock and missed. Art Burke tries quiet take-out and roll on No. 1 with his last shot—hooks in-turn wide and misses. Giannou draws for five.

Score 6-3 in favor of P.E.I. at this juncture.

In this case, a good draw to the four-foot circle might have

P.E.I. vs. NEWFOUNDLAND 7th end—Nfld. last rock.

Must find a new formula, says Father Bauer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rev. David Bauer, who scouted the world hockey championship in Stockholm, says any team he takes to Innsbruck, Austria, next February will have "only an outside chance of winning."

Father Bauer, coach of Canada's 1964 Olympic hockey team, said his sceptical attitude is not an admission of defeat, but rather a facing of reality. Canadian hockey officials, he said, must "find a new formula."

The Roman Catholic priest-sportsman is basing his Olympic entry at University of British Columbia. He said Canada should "sit down and get some points very clear before participating in world tourneys."

"For instance, we should be taking a look at any European player who pays annual income tax on $60,000," he said.

He said some penalties are "utterly ridiculous" and that Canada is sending teams against a hostile European press, against teams with different rules, different standards of amateurism and "extremely poor refereeing."

OBITUARIES

ROY E. FORTIN, OF BEDFORD, Formerly of Stanbridge East

STANBRIDGE EAST — On Feb. 24, 1963, the sudden death of Roy E. Fortin, a highly-esteemed citizen, occurred here at the home of his sister, Mrs. Burt Laycock, to which he had been called, due to illness. The deceased, who had appeared to be in his usual health, succumbed to a heart attack on returning from the morning church service.

Mr. Fortin was born at Riceburg on Oct. 11, 1900, son of Joseph Fortin and his wife, Emma Russell. He had been a resident of this district all his life. He received his education at the Stanbridge East Academy and, in his younger days, he was an ardent sportsman, participating in baseball, hockey and tennis, in which he continued his interest.

On Oct. 15, 1923, he married Bertha Galbraith, of South Roxton. They had one daughter, Joyce, Mrs. Robert Blakeslee, residing here.

He entered the employ of the Sadler Belting Co., and remained with them until the plant was transferred to Montreal in 1931. He then moved to Sweetsburg, where, in partnership with Hubert Stevenson, he carried on a store for a brief time. Returning to Stanbridge East, he was appointed post-master, then filled the position of secretary-treasurer of the town. He took a keen interest in all public affairs.

In the fall of 1939, Mr. Fortin secured employment in the Torrington Needle Works at Bedford, where he labored for 24 years and was due to retire in 1965.

He had taken a seat periodically on the Town Council, served one year as pro-mayor for the late E. C. Knight and was elected as mayor for two years. He was a valued member of Stanbridge East Masonic Lodge, A.F. and A.M., and of Maple Leaf Chapter, No. 2, Order of the Eastern Star.

Mr. Fortin was a staunch supporter of the Stanbridge East United Church, where he served as an elder and on the board of stewards. Possessed of a fine voice, his work with the choir was outstanding and he was a faithful and regular attendant at all church functions.

He is survived by his widow, the former Bertha Galbraith; his daughter, Joyce; three granddaughters; a sister, Maude and husband, as well as many other relatives in both Canada and the United States.

The remains rested at the Dion Funeral Home, at Bedford, and the funeral service was held at the United Church here on Feb. 26, where he had worshipped all his life. The church, and its hall, were filled by friends and relatives from far and near.

The service was conducted by Rev. Herbert Hatt, who spoke words of comfort. Mrs. Charlotte Wescott played a medley of favorite hymns on the pipe organ throughout the service.

The bearers were Tom Shepard, Keith Sornberger, Stanley Soules, Leslie Lackey, Vernon Boomhower and Robert Aylesworth. The remains were placed in the vault in the Stanbridge Ridge Cemetery, for interment in the spring.

Among those from out of town attending the funeral were: Mrs. Royce Smith, Mrs. Belle Fairfield, Mrs. J. Van Antwerp, son, Norton, and daughter, Mrs. Lolliselle, all from Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Hodge, of Greenfield Park; Rev. and Mrs. Temple Hill, St. Johns; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harris, Bedford; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fortin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fortin, of Enosburg Falls, Vt.; Mrs. Ruth Kidd, St. Armand, Mr. Cedric Henry, Cowansville, and Mr. Calno Soule, Freilighsburg. All surrounding communities were represented.
