NAZI RESISTANCE STEPPENS IN KHARKOV AREA

Russians Claim Divisions Still Hold Initiative

Shock Troops of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko Reported Fighting from Newly-Fortified Positions Before Kharkov as Russian Reports Indicate that Germans Are Having Alternate Successes in Seesaw Battle.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Moscow, May 23.—(AP)—Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's shock troops are reported fighting from newly-fortified positions before Kharkov today and a Red Star dispatch said the Germans are "having alternate successes" in flanking counter-attacks to the South despite a loss of 15,000 killed there in three days.

One Soviet gain was reported officially in the Kharkov sector.

"Our units dislodged the enemy from a powerfully-fortified position," the Information Bureau said. "In retreating, the Germans abandoned five field guns, twelve machine guns, a mine dump and a radio station."

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, reported a see-saw battle in the Izyum-Barvenkova sector, a Ukrainian region South of Kharkov in which the Germans concentrated huge forces to attack several points simultaneously. Russian defenses, however, were described in this first press report from that front, as solid.

The Germans hurled three groups of tanks into a narrow sector in an effort to drive a wedge into the Russian lines, the dispatch said, but Soviet troops destroyed thirty-nine tanks and then drove the invaders back several miles with a counter-attack.

"During the night of May 22-23 our troops in the Kharkov direction consolidated their positions and engaged the enemy in offensive battles," a mid-day communique reported.

The Soviet Information Bureau announced a digging-in process of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's (logical procedure as a backdrop in any slowing battle) and again it made no announcement of a general advance.

(Quoting a Moscow broadcast, the BBC said masses of German airborne troops—paratroopers and plane-transported infantry—were used in stubborn counter-attacks, but they "are being wiped out as fast as they land.")

The midnight communique said "Our troops fortified their positions and carried out offensive operations" yesterday in the area of Kharkov, Germany's major Southern base.

"In the Izyum-Barvenkova direction (eighty miles South of Kharkov) our troops repelled enemy attacks and inflicted large losses upon him," it said. "During three days of battles on this sector of the front alone over 15,000 German soldiers and officers were killed."

A single division was said to have repelled eleven Nazi attacks and

QUEBEC DONATIONS TO RED CROSS SIXTY PER CENT OF QUOTA

Montreal, May 23.—(AP)—Quebec headquarters announced today that Quebec had subscribed $1,273,631 of its $2,000,000 objective in the Canadian Red Cross campaign, raising $9,000,000 throughout the Dominion. The campaign began May 11 and will end next Wednesday.

Mexican House Called For Formal Declaration Of War

Sinking of Second Mexican Tanker So Arouses Popular Indignation that Government May Be Forced to Call Congress Session Monday or Tuesday Instead of Waiting Ten Days Under Constitution.

Mexico City, May 23.—(AP)—Mexico lacked only the formality of apparently certain Congressional approval today to become a full-fledged ally in the war against the Axis.

Her decision was made rapidly last night as a wave of public fury swept the country over the news that Axis submarines had sunk the second Mexican merchant ship within eight days.

Even while awaiting President Manuel Avila Camacho's formal proclamation of war, the first in Mexico's history, the Republic put precautionary measures against Axis attacks quickly into force and took its first military steps.

A special session of the full Cabinet announced after three hours' deliberation that Congress would be called in special session "to authorize the President to declare the existence of a state of war."

Congress must be convened within ten days, but next Thursday was set tentatively for the session and there are indications the aroused public might insist on a meeting still earlier, possibly next Monday or Tuesday.

The Government's statement clearly defined the reasons that swept Mexico toward war—the Axis sinking of the Mexican tanker Potrero del Llano off Florida, its refusal to accept a protest of that sinking and then its sinking Wednesday of the tanker Faja de Oro, all within eight days.

Survivors from the ships still had not reached the capital when the war decision was made last night, but a great patriotic demonstration was

Empire Representatives Discuss Extension Of Air Training Plan

Ottawa, May 23.—(AP)—Delegates of Canada and three other British Commonwealth powers attending the Ottawa Air Training Conference were at work today on the second phase of their discussions—extension of operation of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

The main international training conference which brought delegates of fourteen members of the United Nations to the Dominion Capital was ended and delegates from most of the countries concerned were preparing reports to their Governments of the conference findings.

But representatives of Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand remained to confer with Canadian officials on extension of the Commonwealth Training Plan.

Satisfaction with the outcome of the conference and the increased co-operation made possible by the talks has been publicly expressed by Maj. C. G. Power, Canadian Air Minister and Chairman of the Conference, and other high officials who joined in the discussions.

It was revealed yesterday that the first concrete results of the talks

TEN HOSTAGES EXECUTED FOR PARIS ATTACK

German Commander of Greater Paris District Promises Like Punishment for More if Attacker Escapes.

Vichy, May 23.—(AP)—The Germans announced today that ten hostages have been executed in Océanied France in reprisal for an attack against a German soldier May 19 and that ten others will be shot if the attackers are not found within eight days.

"An attack was committed May 19 in Paris against a member of the German army. The young man responsible for the attack escaped. As reprisal, ten persons, Communists and Jews and persons closely linked with criminal circles, were immediately shot."

"In case the authors of the attack are not found within eight days following publication of the present notice, an equal number of persons will be shot. In addition, a number of persons closely associated with the criminal circle will be transferred to a labor camp."

OLD WOUNDS OF LABOR UNIONS STILL PAINFUL

Latest Peace Offer of American Federation of Labor Meets Cool Reception from C.I.O. Leaders.

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—The A.F.L. today held out a new offer to its offshoot, the C.I.O., asking the rival labor organization to come back home again "because of the war."

Old wounds in the side of labor immediately were apparent in the response of Philip Murray, C.I.O. President, who said that obstacles to reunion were perhaps the same the organization "had to meet back in 1935."

It was then that John L. Lewis, towering figure in the United Mine Workers, led a dozen unions away from the parent A.F.L. in the unended controversy over the craft versus the industrial union organization.

William Green, A.F.L. President, announced at the end of the organization's Executive Council meeting yesterday the Council had instructed him to advise C.I.O. representatives that "the peace committee of the A.F.L. stands ready to meet with them for the purpose of negotiating peace and unity."

"Such action is necessary first because of the war," Green said. "There ought to be unity and solidarity which would help to win the war. The meetings should be started immediately for the purpose of seeking a basis of accommodation."

In Cleveland, Murray cautiously explained the proposal would have to be submitted to the C.I.O. Executive Board.

A "fixed welding" of the organizations, he said, would face obstacles. He expressed an unwillingness "to accept the kind of unity that is calculated to bring about the destruction of these huge mechanisms that have been created within the C.I.O. during the past six years."

SETS POST-WAR SHIPPING GOAL

Boston, May 23.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, United States Maritime Commission Chairman, has set a post-war goal of American ships handling "at least one-half of the maritime traffic affecting our nation." He told a gathering of Boston port organizations last night that American shippers now are adding two ships a day to the country's fleet and that they "will be delivering three a day by fall."

Vast British Squadrons Make New Sweep Over German Areas

London, May 23.—(AP)—Vast squadrons of the Royal Air Force swept to the offensive across the English Channel in daylight today after another night attack on the Nazi submarine nest at St. Nazaire.

Observers at Folkestone said the fliers sped out at such height their only visible signs were vapor trails high in the sky. These were joined by others in intricate, winding patterns which meant, the watchers said, that German fighters were offering resistance.

The night attacks, which included mine-laying operations in enemy waters, were announced by the Air Ministry. It said all the raiders returned safely.

Gloomy Speech Of Goering Gives Opportunity To British Writers

By POSTER BARCLAY.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
London, May 23.—(AP Cable)—British cartoonists, editorial writers and columnists, ever alert for some sign of German weakness, have seized upon Goering's recent gloomy speech about the weather and the final situation of tanks have been captured. Another great Nazi victory!

The obese and bemuddled Nazi air chief always has been the chief rival of his boss, Hitler, and Italy's Mussolini for the place of honor among the cartoonists. Goering's latest outburst, that this is Germany's hardest war, brought out some of the best sardonic efforts in some time.

Editorial writers and columnists as well went "all out." Summing up the News Chronicle's diplomatic correspondent termed the speech the "climax... of the propaganda campaign by the Nazi leaders to steel the nerves of the German people against the greatest test in German history."

The writer did not agree with some persons inclining to place the speech in the same category of Prime Minister Churchill's famous "Blood, Sweat and Tears" speech. "Two years ago Mr. Churchill was calling upon a people still fresh and still energetic," he said. "Goering was calling upon a people who had been drained of energy and enthusiasm by two years of intensive effort which have brought victories but not victory."

Closing with a note of warning, he said: "Hitler's supreme effort from the Germans which Goering has called in his speech can be mastered and overcome it may be the United Nations who are lost." An accompanying cartoon pictured Goering and Hitler, both stripped to their undershirts, stoking a blazing fire named "Russian Inferno."

The outspoken tabloid Daily Mirror in a cartoon entitled "The Out of Harmony Boys" showed Goering and Goebbels standing before microphones, the former telling the nation "Der situation is grave... Der Fuehrer demands greater sacrifices" and the oily-voiced Propaganda Minister reading a news bulletin—"Billions of Russians have been wiped out. The seas of tanks have been captured. Another great Nazi victory!"

Editorially the Mirror said Britons who regarded the speech as "oratorical tripe intended to mislead the Allied Nations into the belief Germany was weakening" were being "over-cautious."

The Express published an appropriate cartoon in connection with Goering's reference to poor crops and the need of moisture.

"Raid? Look at the planes coming up behind you," read the legend under a cartoon of the Nazi air chief standing in a parched field, glaring at a cloudless sky while there were plenty of clouds behind him. From them bombs carried by the R. A. F. fell into closely packed munitions factories.

Commenting on the speech, Charles Foley, the Express foreign editor, wrote: "The whole new tone of the Nazi propaganda emphasizing the possibility of defeat and the consequences of defeat is scientifically designed to give the German people a false stimulation—the fear that defeats fear."

Cartoons dealing with the Russian offensive included one drawn by J. C. Walker in the Western Mail of Cardiff. It was entitled "For Home Consumption." The cartoon depicted Hitler as a school-boy-fisherman standing on a river bank with a tree branch as a rod and holding a glass jar containing a small perch named "Kerch." As a chubby man representing the German nation stooped to take a glimpse at the fish Hitler was looking goggle-eyed at the other bank where Stalin, equipped with modern fishing tackle was reeling in a well-fed trout named "Kharkov."

A SWEET PROBLEM
Buffalo, N.Y., May 23.—(AP)—The Erie County Rationing Board is weighing the application of a woman for sugar ration books for nineteen "kids." The sugar is needed to sweeten evaporated milk, with which she feeds young goats, she explained, adding, she sold the Nanny goat's milk.

TOO REALISTIC
Van Nuys, Calif., May 23.—(AP)—Earl Steinmetz, 27-year-old actor, was injured fatally last night when he was struck by an airplane during the filming of a motion picture. Portraying an air-raid warden, Steinmetz ran onto a runway to meet the plane. A wingtip knocked him to the ground and fractured his skull. He died in a hospital shortly afterward.

BOSTON STILL CONSERVATIVE
Boston, May 23.—(AP)—City street commissioners contend the horse and carriage days haven't returned yet despite gasoline rationing. They rejected a petition by an hotel to erect a waiting post near the hotel's front door. "No need for it under existing conditions," they ruled.

WAR BULLETINS

London — Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters today announced the arrival in the United Kingdom of a new batch of airmen to swell the ranks of Canada's Overseas strength. The new movement is described as small.

Berlin, (from German broadcasts) — The German high command claimed today that the Russian mass attacks on Kharkov had collapsed completely and military quarters added that German troops have shifted to the offensive in the gigantic battle for the Russian city.

Mexico City — Mexican Government has blocked Axis cash reserves in Mexico as preliminary to declaration of war.

SOMETHING NEW IS PROMISE OF SUB COMMANDER

Mysterious Announcer Tells People of Cuba that Girls on Bathing Beaches Will Receive Surprise.

Havana, Cuba, May 23.—(AP)—A mysterious announcer, who identified himself as the commander of a German submarine lying only one and a half miles off the Havana waterfront, promised the Cuban people last night they were in for "a surprise." Havana newspapers reported today.

"This is the second time we have visited Havana and very soon we will give you a surprise," he was quoted as saying in perfect Spanish after giving his identity and the location of his vessel.

"It isn't fair," he added, "that while the German people are suffering the consequences of the British blockade with the support of the United States, American girls should be enjoying themselves on the beaches."

"Our submarines will take care of that."

The announcer was said to have gone off the air after making this threat.

Demands Private Companies Develop Natural Resources

Either Open Up Properties Now Under Lease or Give Up Rights to Enterprises, C.C.F. House Leader Demands During Parliament Debate on Development of Petroleum Resources of Dominion.

By JAMES MCCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, May 23.—(AP)—A suggestion by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. House Leader, that private companies should not be permitted to stand in the way of development of Canadian natural resources such as oil, was open for consideration of House of Commons members today.

Mr. Coldwell said in the House at Friday's abbreviated sitting that the Dominion should have the right to deal with companies which are holding valuable resources, including petroleum, without allowing the country to reap any benefit from them.

Oil development possibilities have been frequently discussed in the week's sittings. The C.C.F. Leader's suggestion came during debate on a reading of a bill to repeal the Petroleum and Naphtha Inspection Act. Revenue Minister Gibson said this Act had been superseded by other Dominion and provincial statutes dealing with the handling and storage of gasoline and similar products, and was put down for third reading at the next sitting of the House.

The House spent Friday's sitting debating five bills. It gave third reading to a bill empowering the Toronto Harbor Commissioners to refund outstanding debentures with a new issue. A bill re-appointing Canadian National Railway's auditors was given third reading.

A bill providing for an agreement with the City of Ottawa whereby the Dominion pays $100,000 annually for the use of the city's water.

LIFE PRISONER HAS REMEDY TO GAS SHORTAGE
Albany, N.Y., May 23.—(AP)—A life prisoner-inventor at Sing Sing whose death sentence was commuted seven years ago may help the United States armed forces to solve the problem of gasoline power more cheaply.

Identify of Lovell Landers, thirty-nine, Nashville, Tenn., negro, as the originator of a combustion engine which he claims burns gasoline it breaks down from ordinary fuel oil was disclosed last night when Governor Herbert Lehman signed a bill intended to let the Federal Government negotiate with Landers, hitherto considered legally dead.

The army and navy expressed interest in Landers' invention, which he says would reduce gasoline cost from twenty-two to three cents a gallon.

So the new statute was passed. It authorizes the court in a judicial

Japanese Invasion Unit Sustains Heavy Losses In Fukien Area Attack

More Than Half of Japanese Invasion Force Which Gained Foothold on Chuanshih Island Has Been Wiped Out and Survivors Have Fled to Ships, Chinese Report—Japs Suffer Further Losses in Australian Area.

(By The Associated Press)

THOUSANDS DRIVEN FROM HOMES IN PENNSYLVANIA FLOOD

Mauch Chunk, Pa., May 23.—(AP)—Flood waters swept through Eastern Pennsylvania today, driving hundreds of families from their homes and paralyzing rail and highway transportation over wide areas. Reports from the anthracite counties, particularly hard hit, indicated property damage would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

An unidentified woman died of a heart attack at Montoursville, Lycoming County, after her house was surrounded by water.

More than half the Japanese invasion force which gained a foothold Wednesday on Chuanshih Island at the mouth of the Min River in Fukien Province has been wiped out, and the survivors have fled to their ships, abandoning large quantities of equipment, the Chinese announced today at Chungking.

This announcement followed swiftly a communique reporting the Japanese also had been repulsed in an attempt to land under the guns of warships on the North bank of the Min, East of Foochow, capital and chief seaport of Fukien.

While the Chinese did not say the threat to Foochow had been smashed, they indicated the invaders had suffered a heavy setback.

There was no official statement on the strength of the drive against Foochow, but some Chinese reports said the Japanese had Australia 25,000 men into it and the frustrated landing effort was said to have been backed by the guns of ten warships.

Allied bombers have knocked two more Japanese ships out of the enemy's potential invasion forces off the North of Australia and have pared his air strength by another thirteen planes, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia declared.

Both ships were in the principal Japanese invasion bases among the islands North of Australia—a large transport at Rabaul, New Britain, and a tanker at Lae, New Guinea, was "severely damaged."

The communique said "all our planes returned safely."

The Australian Government, meanwhile, moved to step up this Continent's defenses by approving plans to treble the Corps of Volunteer Observers who now keep watch twenty-four hours a day for the appearance of enemy planes.

Air Minister Arthur Drakeford said the Corps would function in close liaison with the United States Army Air Force and would absorb a large number of Australian Air Force officers to maintain contact with the vast network of observers.

Urges Mustering Of All Empire Forces For Vital Two-Fold Task

Ottawa, May 23.—(AP)—Complete unity of purpose and action in winning the war and an objective for a peace based on justice, liberty and truth were urged on all parts of the British Commonwealth of Nations in an Empire Day message from London by Viscount Bledisloe, President of the Empire Day movement and former Governor-General of New Zealand.

Lord Bledisloe also made a special appeal to the boys and girls of the Empire to show themselves worthy of citizenship in the Commonwealth by thought, word and deed.

The text of the message follows: "It's the Empire calling!"—calling aloud on this Empire Day to all true sons and daughters of the great British Commonwealth of Nations to strain every nerve to win both the War and the Peace. There are no subjects of the King, whatever be their age, color or sex, who cannot make some contribution to the execution of this vital two-fold task. Upon its successful achievement rests the future happiness, safety and ordered progress of the whole world. Flagrant wickedness is now stalking the earth, and only righteousness, courage and endurance can permanently overcome it.

We salute with intense pride and thankfulness the heroism and skill displayed during the past year by sailors, soldiers and airmen alike, drawn from every part of the British Commonwealth, as well as the fortitude and steadfastness of the men, women and children, whose homes have been wrecked by the enemy. After more than two-and-a-half years of war the Empire still stands as a solid rock, unshaken and unshakable, amid the tempests of world-wide violence and distress. A year ago it stood alone in face of its cruel and ruthless foes. Today we acclaim as our allies and comrades the peoples of the United States, America, Russia, China and the Netherlands, as well as numerous other countries, representing over three-quarters of the whole human race. They, like ourselves, are battling for human freedom, and throwing their all into this stupendous conflict.

Our most urgent need today, (apart from strenuous and honest work) is complete unity of purpose and of action in winning the war, and afterwards a peace that shall be firmly based upon justice, liberty and truth. It is the absence of a

FIFTY PER CENT DROP SEEN IN TOURIST TRADE

American tourists coming to Sherbrooke have shown a decrease of fifty per cent over the same period last year, it was announced today by Jean Jones, Director of the Sherbrooke Tourist Bureau of Information.

He attributed the decline due to the gas and tire restrictions imposed not only in Canada, but in the United States. "From the information I have been able to get, I have learned that the majority of American tourists fear other severe restrictions and therefore do not care to come to Canada this summer."

Mr. Jones announced that all roads in the Eastern Townships are now open for light and heavy traffic, although he termed the condition of many of the roads as "only passable."

He said that roads in the Lake St. John district, Gaspé area, and in the Laurentian Park sector still are closed to heavy traffic.

In the Montreal recruiting office, F.O. Simpson was married in England in October, 1941.

During the week Munitions Minister Howe had assured House members that inquiry was being made into the development of the sands of Northern Alberta, that oil shale deposits in the Maritimes were being examined and drilling programmes in promising oil areas in Western Canada were being encouraged.

Mr. Coldwell yesterday read a resolution passed by Indians of Manitoulin Island on petroleum leases and capped wells located there. The Indians said the records of the leases were lost, while oil seepage caused them to believe good oil wells could be developed.

Mr. Coldwell asked: "Why should companies be able to cap wells and keep them capped, sometimes for many years, as in this particular case, while the Government apparently has no power either to transfer the leases to somebody else or to compel certain work to be done?"

This and similar cases should be investigated and "it is about time we revised our laws regarding leases and the right of companies to prevent the use of resources which properly belong to all the people and which are of vital importance to the nation."

A lasting peace can only be secured if, in pursuance of the Atlantic Charter, the Allied Nations are united in their determination that social justice and the true freedom which flows from it shall hereafter govern human and international relations.

It is very especially the God-given duty and privilege of the whole British Commonwealth and the United States of America to point the way to a better world. wiped out more than 3,000 of the invaders in a day.

The Russians have never announced a German gain in this effort of Field Marshal Fedor von Bock to turn their left flank and divert Red army manpower from the big Kharkov push. The 15,000-man toll exceeds by 3,000 the number of Germans killed from May 13 to 17 in the first phases of the battle of Kharkov.

Moreover, Russian resistance again was declared continuing on the Karach peninsula against German-Rumanian forces which need that Easternmost section of the Crimean for any serious thrust at the oil-rich Caucasus.

Russian airmen were credited officially with destroying or damaging eighty-five German tanks in the operations Thursday.

MANY BICYCLE THEFTS BEING INVESTIGATED

With thefts of bicycles continuing to mount steadily this month in Sherbrooke, a widespread investigation was launched today under the supervision of Cpl. Detective Pierre Arcand, Acting Head of the Municipal Police Investigation Bureau.

Police said that the number of bicycles being stolen shows alarming proportions now that gasoline and tires have curtailed the use of automobiles.

Of the sixteen wheels stolen last month, eleven have been recovered by authorities. A methodical system is being employed by police who stop bikes without licences and check the serial number of the machine.

When those who had their bicycles stolen complained to police, authorities reminded many of the owners that the thefts were due to their own carelessness.

Messenger boys also have been the target for thieves upon delivering orders, and in some sections of the city deliveries have been hampered.

Police have not as yet discounted the theory that a bicycle gang is operating, employing small boys to commit the thefts. One wheel stolen in Lennoxville has been reported to local police, as was another one which was stolen in Magog.

Many factory workers reporting the theft of their bicycles were those forced to lay up their automobiles due to tire and gasoline rationing.

More than eleven hundred bicycle tags have been issued by the Licensing Bureau at City Hall, which also has issued plates for more than last year. Approximately nine hundred tags for wheels were issued in 1941.

City Hall officials said that there is a strong possibility that about fifteen hundred tags will be applied for before the end of the year, attributing the increase to the gas and tire rationing.

Montreal: Miss Mary Atkins, Georgeville; Miss Jessie Morrison, Mansonville; Miss Lola Jackson, Canaan, Vt.; Miss Patricia Wiggitt, Sherbrooke; Miss Ruth Denovan, Asbestos; Miss Iris Fearnley, East Angus.

Dr. E. A. Tomkins was entrusted the honor of presenting the prizes as representing the Medical Board, his informal remarks to each recipient adding much to their pride and joy at winning these much-coveted honors.

Miss Jackson: Prize to the student who has shown the most loyalty to the hospital and the greatest interest in upholding the standard of the hospital and training school.

Miss Plangley: Hon. Justice C. G. MacKinnon's prize to the student who has shown the greatest executive ability in the graduating class.

Miss Atkins: Dr. Lynch's prize to the student in the graduating class who has done the best work in surgery (annual).

Miss Morrison: Dr. Bayne's prize for the student who has done the best practical work in the wards (annual).

Miss Wiggitt: Dr. Winder's prize for the student in graduating class obtaining the highest marks of the year (annual).

Miss Fearnley: Dr. Marcus' prize to the student in the graduating class showing the greatest improvement during her training.

Miss Atkins: Dr. Hill's prize to the student in the graduating class who has done the best work in surgery (annual).

Miss Rowse: Dorothy Severight's prize for general proficiency (graduating class).

Miss Molson and Miss Denovan: Prize to student obtaining highest marks in ear, eye, nose and throat examination.

The address to the graduates is ever an important and pleasing feature of the Graduating Exercises, and Dr. Gordon B. Loomis to whom this honor was entrusted, most capably upheld the reputation of the Board which he so ably represented.

After expressing his pleasure at being invited to address the graduates, Dr. Loomis warmly congratulated the class and praised them for having persevered until they had reached the goal of their heart's desire in their graduation.

He also exhorted them to ever maintain the high standard set by the Sherbrooke Hospital and to keep in mind not only the physical but also the mental requirements of their patients, who often confide in their nurses, in whom they place every confidence and trust.

It was indeed a pleasure to Mrs. Leonard Akhurst's many friends in Sherbrooke, her former home, and to her classmates among the graduate nurses from the Hospital who attended the exercises yesterday, to have her once again as vocal soloist. Her two songs, "It's Morning" and "The Lilac Tree" were delightful.

Mrs. Robert Bell, who acted as accompanist, also played marches during the entrance of the graduates, and after Colonel Munster had extended gracious thanks to all those who had assisted in making the graduating exercises for 1942 so very successful, the President extended a cordial invitation to everyone to go to the Nurses' Residence for tea, and then requested Mrs. Bell to play "God Save the King."

organized to greet their arrival today as the wheels started turning to bring Congress back from its recess.

Mexico's entry into the war would place on the side of the Allies a nation of 20,000,000, the most populous in Latin-America except for Brazil. Mexico has a standing army of 70,000, 400,000 more semi-trained men ready to be called and a navy of fifteen ships already active on patrol in the Pacific.

INJURED WHEN BIKE COLLIDES WITH VEHICLE

Marie-Ange Rougeau, eighteen years old, of R.R. No. 3, Sherbrooke, suffered severe left arm and right knee injuries yesterday when the bicycle she was riding collided with an auto at the corner of King Street East and St. Francis Street. The wheel was damaged considerably.

Following the accident, Miss Rougeau was taken in a taxi driven by Gerald Marceau, to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, where she was treated by Dr. Belsile.

Arthur Leroux, of South Han, Wolfe County, was the driver of the machine, according to police. He was proceeding West on King Street, and the cyclist was turning North onto St. Francis Street from King Street West.

Condition of the injured girl was reported as "satisfactory" today. Minor damage resulted to two cars in an accident at the corner of King Street West and Big Forks Street yesterday.

Drivers of the machines figuring in the collision were Romeo Bedard, 30 Tenth Avenue, and Mrs. A. Rivard, 57 First Avenue. Police said that the latter car is the property of Mrs. Ludger Gingras, of the same address.

Both cars were turning North onto Big Forks Street from King Street when the mishap occurred.

and an English-speaking member of the Squadron.

The Squadron made an impressive showing in the march past and in various Squadron manoeuvres, following which the boys on the waiting list, who were in civilian clothes, staged a demonstration of physical training.

Thorough training and smartness was displayed by a picket flight of thirty-nine cadets under the command of Acting Air Cadet Flight Sergeant R. Stewart, who went through a series of drill movements with precision and confidence. The demonstration was for the Air Commodore Walsh Drill Proficiency Shield, with the flight competing against similar units from Squadrons in Montreal and district.

First aid teams under the leadership of J. W. Blake and Sergeant Joffe L'Heureux gave demonstrations, as did a group of signallers instructed by John Buckell, of the Windsor Mills Flying Training School staff. Models of various kinds made by the cadets were displayed.

Model planes made by the cadets were inspected, and the following prizes were awarded: Flying scale models, Air Cadet McKendry, "D" Flight; solid models, Air Cadet B. Fortier, "D" Flight; best progress, Air Cadet Waldman, "B" Flight.

Prizes were also awarded the following for keeping the best note books of lectures on aeronautical subjects: 1 Air Cadet George Fuller, "A" Flight; 2 Air Cadet MacIntyre, "A" Flight; 3 Air Cadet Levesque, "D" Flight.

Officers of the Squadron under Air Cadet Pilot Officer Adair were: Adjutant, Air Cadet Pilot Officer Newman Hunter; Flight Commanders, Air Cadet Pilot Officers A. McKendry, "A" Flight; P. D. Mathias, "B" Flight; Norrey Huntling, "C" Flight; and Leon Barbeau, "D" Flight. Equipment Officer Arthur Kerridge had charge of the boys on the waiting list, who formed a fifth flight. Others taking part in the handling of the boys were disciplinary Peter Gray and Assistant Disciplinary Flight Sergeant Roy Jones, R.C.A.F., Windsor Mills. Lectures had been given by the Squadron during the year by instructors John Buckell, Jack Langan and Leo Haber, of the Windsor Mills School, and also by J. J. Tenhope, who was formerly Chief Ground Instructor.

In all there were about 105 boys in uniform last night, and more than fifty more in the Fifth Flight who are still on the waiting list. Organization of four more flights, two of English-speaking boys and two of French-speaking youngsters, is to be proceeded with immediately.

Prior to the inspection the visiting officers were entertained at dinner at the Social Club by J. A. Archambault, Secretary, and Emilien Gingras, of the Rotary Club's Air Cadet Committee, and later at St. George's Club by A. A. Munster. B. N. Holtham is Chairman of the Air Cadet Committee, and Mr. Munster and Bert Williams are also members.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 24th.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 42:11. "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord." (II Corinthians 5:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If we are sensibly with the body and regard omnipotence as a corporeal, material person, whose ear we would gain, we are not 'absent from the body' and 'present with the Lord' in the demonstration of Spirit. We cannot serve two masters. To be 'present with the Lord' is to have, not mere emotional ecstasy or faith, but the actual demonstration and understanding of Life as revealed in Christian Science." Sherbrooke Hospital School For Nurses Graduated Large Class Of Twenty-One Pupils Impressive Graduation Ceremonies Held Yesterday Afternoon at City Hall Under Chairmanship of A. A. Munster—Dr. E. A. Tomkins Distributed Prizes and Address to Graduates Was Made by Dr. Gordon Loomis.

Twenty-one "Victories" in one single day is indeed a great achievement, not alone for the members of the 1942 Graduating Class from the Sherbrooke Hospital School for Nurses, who yesterday won their crowns after three long years of "battle-in-training," but for their Alma Mater, teachers, parents and the Medical Board.

Colonel A. A. Munster, President of the Board of Governors, who presided at the Graduating Exercises in the Council Chamber at the City Hall yesterday afternoon, paid eloquent tribute to the graduates for having attained their ambition, and voiced on behalf of the Board, its gratification and pride in Miss Verna K. Beane, Superintendent, who had the honor of presenting the largest class that has ever graduated from the Sherbrooke Hospital.

The Council Chamber, decorated with a profusion of spring flowers, purple lilacs and golden tulips emphasizing the Hospital School colors, formed an ideal setting for the graduating exercises and furnished ample space for the large number of parents and guests who attended.

WILLIE DUSSAULT SAYS:

The years come and go and the world is ever changing. On Empire Day last year we were all preparing to say farewell to our laddies in the Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment. Twelve months have rolled around, the boys have gone to their duty in far-off places, whilst in Sherbrooke another regiment of Fusiliers is in the making. Nothing long remains unchanged — except love and loyalty. With these in our hearts we go ever forward, with the conviction that the Union Jack will live to fly unfurled on yet another thousand Empire Days — yes, a thousand times a thousand!

TAKE BIKES WITHOUT PERMISSION

Two brothers, thirteen and fifteen years of age, decided that they wanted to go riding last night and took two bicycles without permission of the owners.

No sooner had the owners missed their wheels than police were notified of the theft.

Employment Of Blind Persons In War Industries Urged At Institute For Blind Session

Blind Man Recently Placed in Industry at Verdun to Impress Department of Munitions and Supplies with What Sightless Person Can Do—J. W. Gregoire Re-elected President of Local Institute.

With Dr. J. A. MacDonald, Montreal, Superintendent of the Quebec Division of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind as principal speaker, re-election of J. W. Gregoire as President, other officers and members of the board and the approval of the reports of Neil Tracy, Field Secretary, and B. N. Holtham, Treasurer, the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships branch of the Institute for the Blind was held in the New Wellington Hotel last night.

Dr. MacDonald urged the employment of blind persons in war plants in order that the sightless can do their share in the war effort. He disclosed that only this week a blind man had been placed in a war industry at Verdun to impress the Department of Munitions and Supplies with what a sightless person could do.

The speaker said that if this works out satisfactorily, a move will be made by the Quebec Division of the blind institute to have other blind persons relieve workers at war plants.

Others officers re-elected, besides President Gregoire, were Mr. Justice Hector Verret, Honorary Presidents: Mrs. J. C. Crochetiere, Mrs. C. B. Howard, Rev. Father Ira Boucassa and Bert Williams, Vice-Presidents: B. N. Holtham, Treasurer, and Neil Tracy, Secretary. Board members, also re-elected, are Dr. Lionel Darche, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cedere, Mrs. Arthur Edwards, Mrs. L. R. Boissvert, Mrs. W. C. Marchant, Gerald Wiggett, Rev. F. A. C. Dosses, Leo Foley, Philippe Juneau, H. H. Parent and Dr. G. A. Bowen, of Magog.

The re-elected officers and members of the board will serve for the 1942-43 term. Those serving on two committees for another year are: Prevention committee: Mrs. H. Parent, Mrs. W. C. Marchant, Philippe Juneau and Dr. L. Darche; Social Service Committee: Mrs. L. R. Boissvert and Mrs. Arthur Ellis.

Statement of Treasurer Holtham read at the meeting by Dr. MacDonald, showed expenditures amounting to $4,040.15 for the Sherbrooke and District Advisory Committee from April 1, 1941, to March 31, 1942. Expenditure statement was itemized as follows: Office and administration, $420.29; field work and registration, $1,356.12; prevention, $301.88; placement, $1,047.17; home teaching, $506.87; and relief and miscellaneous services, $117.82.

Dr. MacDonald thanked Cecil Dunn and Albert Charpentier, joint-chairmen of the annual local drive for the Institute, for the manner in which the campaign was successfully conducted to over-subscribe the objective and raise $3,800. He also thanked President Gregoire and all those who worked with them, especially Mrs. Crochetiere and Mrs. Marchant, as well as those who contributed.

In accepting the re-election, President Gregoire voiced his appreciation for the support given him by the officials and the members of the committee.

Calling the year the most successful since the local branch was organized, Field Secretary Tracy in table-ing his report said that during the summer months he visited more than two hundred blind folk and covered three thousand miles on a survey through the district.

He said that several new cases of blindness were located and steps were taken to secure registration, thereby making the many services of the Institute available to them, such as library, sales room and free radio license. Besides these regular services, he stated that he obtained the co-operation of the Montreal office in securing free radios for cases of unusual isolation. He added that a number of the more pathetic cases in the district were remembered with Christmas cheer.

Touching on the prevention work undertaken, Mr. Tracy pointed out that in this district last year more than $500 was spent on prevention alone, largely on the children attending Sherbrooke schools.

For the first time, he disclosed that prevention services had spread beyond the borders of Sherbrooke County to a notable degree, mentioning that considerable work in this field was done in Compton and Stanstead Counties.

In his report, Mr. Tracy thanked the several Sherbrooke oculists who had given so generously of their time, also the Rotary Club and especially the Lions Club, which had given the local branch much sympathy and support.

Extension of the prevention connections now include the Child Welfare Clinic, the Bien Etre l'Enfance, and the heads of the various schools, according to Mr. Tracy.

A special vote of thanks was given Mr. Tracy by those attending the meeting on behalf of the local committee for the outstanding work he has accomplished in this field of endeavor.

Marriage Of Miss Andrea Hawkins To Mr. J. S. Morse Solemnized Today

The marriage of Mary Andrea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hawkins, 56 Moore Street, to Mr. James Stanley Morse, of Windsor, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Morse, of Chatham, Ont., was solemnized in St. Patrick's Church at half past ten o'clock this morning, the Reverend Michael Hawkins, S.J., cousin of the bride, officiating, the Nuptial Mass being sung by the Reverend Canon Napoleon Codere.

Calla lilies, white lilies and snapdragons adorned the altar and tall standards and baskets of the same flowers were used to decorate the Sanctuary and to mark the guest pews.

Mrs. Glenn S. Sampson presided at the organ, playing the wedding marches and continuing a soft accompaniment throughout the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a lovely white gown, the bodice of which was embroidered with the long, full skirt of soufflé fabric. Her finger-tip veil of voile illusion fell from a Juliet cap bordered with white flowers, and she carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias, white sweet peas and baby's breath.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Patricia Morse, of Chatham, Ont., a sister of the groom, and the bride's only attendant, was wearing a graceful frock of dusty rose mouseline de soie with a Juliet cap of the same material, the crown fashioned of rose and mauve sweet peas, and was carrying a bouquet of matching sweet peas.

Mrs. J. T. Hawkins, the bride's mother, wore a Neva Blanche model of Elizabeth blue crepe, a matching hat and a corsage of orchids and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. S. A. Morse, mother of the groom, was gowned in pearl grey crepe with which she wore a matching grey hat and a corsage of orchids.

Mr. Oliver D. Wing, of Gananoque, acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. George B. Murphy and Mr. John M. Hawkins.

The reception was held at Mrs. C. C. Goodhue's, 138 Quebec Street, the bridal party receiving at the far end of the spacious living room which was banked with white lilies.

They stood in front of a large metal screen embellished with the letters M.-H. in blue forget-me-nots, while on either side were tall brass standards each holding five lighted ivory candles, two white standards filled with deep pink snapdragons, white carnations, white lilies and baby's breath completing the charming reception alcove.

The color scheme was continued throughout, the same flowers arranged in a low basket decorating the mantel above the fireplace where a bright fire was burning.

The wedding breakfast was served in the dining room where the decorations were especially lovely, a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with natural lily-of-the-valley, was on a central mirror surrounded with bows of Sweetheart roses and baby's breath and small silver bowls of Rapture roses and baby's breath, while suspended from the overhead light was a large wedding bell of baby's breath.

Later the bride and groom left to spend their honeymoon at the Seignior Club, Montebello, Que., the bride travelling in a navy and boise-rose printed dress, a Neva Blanche model hat of navy Milan straw, navy accessories and a top coat of Churchill blue boucle with a natural Arctic fox collar.

Mr. and Mrs. Morse will reside in Windsor, Ontario.

The guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Morse, the Misses Patricia, Janet and Harriet Morse, Chatham, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Oliver D. Wing, Gananoque, Ont., the Rev. Michael Hawkins, S.J., Spanish, Ont., Miss Ave Walsh, Miss Irene Cathcart, Mr. Harry Mulvena and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. In this attractive building which had been their foster-home throughout their years of training, the graduates received with Miss Verna K. Beane, Superintendent of the Sherbrooke Hospital. Each member of the class was carrying a dainty bouquet of lavender sweet peas and golden double buttercups tied with gold chiffon ribbon. They also carried their diplomas which were bound in white suede and lettered in gold and lavender. Tea was served in the living room which, with its adjacent sun porch, overlooks the beautiful St. Francis Valley. Mrs. A. A. Munster, wife of the President of the Board of Governors, and Mrs. Gordon MacKay, President of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, did the honors at the lovely tea table which was lighted with four tall tapers in crystal holders and centered with a charming arrangement of small spring flowers in a large low crystal bowl.

The floral decorations throughout the Nurses' Residence featured the School colors of lavender and gold. Members of the Hospital staff, nurses-in-training and probationers assisted in serving the huge throng of guests, many of whom had come from a distance to be present at the graduation of their daughters, and who, together with representative citizens, so much enjoyed the hospitality extended by the Sherbrooke Hospital on Graduation Day.

Among the many delightful events planned in honor of the 1942 Graduating Class from the Sherbrooke Hospital School for Nurses, was the largely attended dinner party given by the Alumnae Association last evening at the Chateau Frontenac.

Dinner was served in the main dining room the table decorations very attractively carrying out the School colors of lavender and gold, with sweet peas, daffodils and baby's breath, and a large arrangement of candles to complete the charming effect. Mrs. Howard Leslie, President of the Alumnae, acted very gracefully as official hostess and after her toast to "The King" had been heard, she extended in a delightful little address the warmest of welcomes to the twenty-one members of the 1942 Graduating Class. The toast to the latter was ably proposed by Miss Kay Vaughan, Miss Kathleen Gorham responding in a happy manner for her classmates. The annual dinner party was an outstanding success and at its close the members of the Graduating Class went on to the Nurses' Residence, where they and friends were cordially received by Miss Beane. The jolly informal dance which followed made quite complete the entertainment planned for the members of the 1942 Graduating Class on their "day of days" which was so happily concluded within the walls of their beloved Alma Mater.

A campaign for immunization of the children of Sweetburg against diphtheria is underway and all parents are urged to take their children to the doctor for injection of vaccine, which is a very simple matter, the process being neither painful nor dangerous and the immunity produced is comparatively permanent. This disease, so seriously dangerous in its effects upon children, particularly between the ages of nine months and six years, can and really should be prevented through immunization which is effective. Every child should be immunized previous to school age because it is between the above-mentioned ages that children are most likely to contract diphtheria and it is at this time of life that an attack of the disease is most severe. The organs of the body most frequently affected are the heart, the kidneys and the nervous system. The child who recovers may have some paralysis for several weeks. If a child has not been immunized when young he should be given this protection as soon as possible as diphtheria is a constant menace. Mayor F. H. Pichel M.D., is in charge of this work in Sweetburg.

ACCORD HONOR TO MEMBER OF WARDEN GROUP

Charter Member of Institute, Mrs. Ashton, Has Not Missed Meeting in Five Years—Hear Report on Red Cross Work.

Warden, May 23.—A well-attended meeting of the Warden Women's Institute was entertained by Mrs. Curtis at the home of Mrs. Bridge in Waterloo, with about twenty friends and members present.

Miss Alice Ashton, Convener of Red Cross Work, gave her monthly report of the number of scarves, sweaters, toe-caps, mittens and body belts completed and sent in to the Waterloo Red Cross rooms. Many quilts tops had been pieced and are now ready for the numerous quilting bees which are to be held during the summer.

The programme consisted of a paper read by Mrs. Booth on things which are not rationed. The roll call, "Are Women As Capable of Managing a Farm As Men?" brought out many decidedly original ideas.

MINSTREL SHOW PRESENTED AT AYER'S CLIFF

Thirty Young People Trained by Albert Blier for Event in Aid of Senior Women's Association.

Ayer's Cliff, May 25.—The Minstrel Show presented in the United Church Hall by about thirty of the young people under the able direction and training of Albert Blier, of Waterville, for the benefit of the Senior Women's Association was a decided success in both entertainment and financially.

Mr. Blier acted as interloper, Master of Ceremonies and pianist. The opening chorus was "Way Down on the Swanne River," by the Misses Faylis Sherman, Marion Pierce, Irene Lavers, Helen Crook, Jean Brown, Barbara Brown, Lillian Call, Audrey Keeler and Beverly Tyler, and John Lavers, Allen Brewer and Arnold Brewer.

Following the opening medley the "end men" were introduced, "Samuel" depicted by Winston Keeler, "Rastus" by George Asbury, "Bones" by Jimmie Day and "Sample" by John Rousseau. Impersonating negro comedians, they brought many laughs from the large gathering by their stories, jokes and riddles, which were interspersed throughout the programme. Not only were the end men capable of telling stories, etc., but they also sang songs and their first was after they were presented, when they sang, "How Do You Do, Everyone," doing many verses each one as solos and all joining in the chorus.

The song "The White Cliffs of Dover" was rendered by John Lavers and John Rousseau, stepping out of the role of endmen. They also sang, "O Suzanna," ending with a tap dance.

The highlight of the evening was when the entire group sang, "The Easter Parade," thirteen of the Ayer's Cliff girls gracefully paraded on the platform with Helen Martin as a bride, gowning in white satin, and the others in white and blue.

Next was her attendant, Margaret Bell, who looked just as sweet in a rose ankle length dress. All the others appeared in street clothes, suits, party dresses and play clothes, even the little tot, Kathleen Kezer. The others in the group were Marion Bell, Rheta Richardson, Dorothy Dezan, Billie Moir, Jean Chadsey, Barbara Vancour, Elaine Beamish, Barbara Hirst, June Frappard and Dorothy McNeill.

Winston Keeler sang an old-time song, "Three Black Crows," which was much enjoyed and the songs, "Smile Awhile," "I Was Seem," "Nellie Home," and "Shoulder to Shoulder," were sung by the entire group, including the fashion paraders.

Miss Beryl Rexford was much appreciated in two piano solos, which provided variety, as did the accordion solos by George Asbury.

Dale Lammerton depicted the strongest boy in the world and proved his strength by lifting stunts, which he cleverly performed. Robert Tyler, impersonating "Hitler," was captured by Paul Rousseau, and brought to the stage, where he was punished by having his head cut off.

Before the finale, Mr. Blier thanked the young people for their co-operation in working with him.

Rev. Mr. Sanderson on behalf of the Association heartily thanked Mr. Blier for training the young people, who had given such a fine performance.

Mr. Blier was assisted by Mrs. William Moir, Mrs. M. Dunsmore and Mrs. Emberley.

The evening closed with a chorus by the cast and the singing of the National Anthem.

SHOWER AND BIRTHDAY PARTY

The gifts were presented by little Miss Tiny Libby from a gaily decorated basket, which she drew out of a miniature wagon. After opening and admiring the gifts, Miss Libby expressed her sincere thanks to her friends.

The evening was spent with music and community singing with Miss Beryl Rexford, at the piano.

Here Is the Solution to Your Problem

Install a VOLCANO Automatic Coal Stoker. Do it NOW! At present we have a LIMITED supply of stokers for homes and factories — but there can be no guarantee how long they will be available under wartime conditions.

The VOLCANO system is the most economical system of heating yet devised. It works automatically and thermostatically. It burns the cheapest grades of coal in such a scientific way that the ash residue is at an absolute minimum. It feeds itself with constant exactitude, thus maintaining an always even house temperature under thermostatic control. It reduces the fuel cost from 30% to 50%.

Next winter let the VOLCANO do your stoking. No shortage of coal is anticipated but it is advisable to put in your supply without delay. So — get in your coal and install your VOLCANO and you'll have your heating problem "licked to a cinder."

Big Array Of Flowers Found Ready Sale On Local Market

Making their first appearance in abundance, the biggest array of flowers and potted plants in many years were featured at the Lansdowne Market yesterday. Big outside stalls were filled with gorgeous blooms—rose hyacinths, pink, yellow and red tulips, carnations, lily-of-the-valley, white and purple lilies, white broom, yellow primula, white daffodils, purple iris, Calla lilies, bleeding hearts and pansies. Nearly everyone who left the mart carried an armful.

Brisk trading took place at the market in general. Stands were packed with produce and spring vegetables were piled high on farmers' stalls and found ready sale.

In the meat section all supplies were snapped up again the same as last week, as prices remained unchanged. Beef was more plentiful, however, than last week and dealers reported having enough to meet the demand.

Due to a threatened shortage of butter, the price of this commodity was advanced two cents over last week, selling at thirty-five cents a pound for the dairy grade. Price of creamery butter was the same at thirty-eight cents a pound.

Egg prices of two grades increased two cents a dozen. Grade-A large was selling at thirty-five cents and Grade-A medium at thirty-two cents a dozen.

W.I. OF COUNTY IN SESSION AT SOUTH BOLTON

Sutton, Abercorn and Austin
Delegates Welcomed—Mrs.
George Lahue Replaces
Mrs. Arthur Dufresne as President.

South Bolton, May 23.—The County meeting of the Women's Institute was entertained by the local branch very successfully in the Parish Hall, and Sutton, Abercorn and Austin were well represented by their delegates.

The short forenoon session was called to order by the County President, Mrs. Arthur Dufresne, of Austin, by the opening Ode, after which some of the conveners' reports were given, showing much good work done by all the different branches in each department, particularly for the benefit of the Red Cross Society.

The usual delegates from Foster were absent on this occasion, much to the regret of all.

A splendid paper on National Events was given by the Convent, Mrs. D. H. Taylor, and heartily applauded. At the noon-hour a delicious and substantial lunch was enjoyed.

Spring flowers helped make the tables look very attractive, and lovely potted plants and the Union Jack furnished decorations for the hall.

After dinner the meeting was resumed by a salute to the flag, led by the President, Mrs. Dufresne, and the singing of "God Save the King."

An address of welcome to all present, with the appreciation of the visitors for the chance to enjoy the hospitality extended them while meeting old friends, was given by the Second Vice-President, Mrs. Gordon Harvey, of Mansville (who represented the Sutton Branch), in her usual pleasing manner, and the reply to the above was pleasantly and fittingly made by Mrs. Corbett, of Montreal and Austin, who said she particularly wanted to stress the need for the saving of salvage for the benefit of the Red Cross by the people. She also spoke about the quilt pieces which the branches of the Red Cross could secure by applying to headquarters in the city, where garments were cut and distributed.

A full and detailed account of the last County meeting in Austin, and the semi-annual in Abercorn, was given by the Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Cowan, of Abercorn, who has been in office since 1935, and was again re-elected for the coming year.

Mrs. Dufresne then read a splendid report of the meeting at the MacDonald College, at which she represented the county last year, as well as one from the semi-annual in Montreal, which had been sent on to her and also other notes here and there on different subjects during the afternoon.

Miss Roberta Scott, Provincial W.I. demonstrator, who holds the rank of B.H.S. from Macdonald College, pleased every one by her friendly manner and the interest she takes in her work. She also conveyed greetings to old friends from Mrs. MacRae, nee Miss Edna Rette, and promised to take up some matters of business from this branch with the proper authorities in the near future.

Near the end of the afternoon's session, Mr. Arthur Haas and Miss Aileen D. Ross arrived from Sherbrooke, accompanied by Miss Madeleine Frances, from France. Mr. Haas spoke of the benefit of the Farm Radio Forum programmes to all farmers.

Miss Ross then took up the matter of "Community Schools" held in different centres in the Eastern Townships, where singing, health, cooking, sewing and other subjects were taught for the benefit of attending. Literature about the schools was given out, and more interest in future is hoped for.

After thanking every one for their hearty co-operation with her during the past two years, Mrs. Dufresne called on Miss Scott to occupy the chair for the election of officers, when Mrs. Harvey, as Chairman of the Nominating Committee, handed in the following slate of officers for 1942: Mrs. George Lahue, President; Mrs. G. Harvey, First Vice-President; Mrs. C. Juby, Second Vice-President, and Mrs. Cowan, Secretary-Treasurer.

The following are Conveners: Agriculture, Mrs. Lloyd Ingalls; Welfare and Health, Social Service and Red Cross, Mrs. N. Wedge; National and International Relations, Mrs. B. Perkins; Education, Mrs. A. Dufresne; Publicity, Mrs. O. O. Schoolcraft; Home Economics and Canadian Industries, Mrs. T. Vincent.

A silver collection to benefit the county funds during the meeting amounted to three dollars and fifteen cents. The new President, Mrs. Lahue, moved a sincere vote of thanks to the retiring President, Mrs. Dufresne, for her faithful and untiring interest in the W.I., which was seconded and carried by all present.

Mrs. O. O. Schoolcraft, President of the local W.I. invited every one back this fall for the semi-annual meeting, which was gladly accepted. "O Canada" was sung, after which tea was served and a successful meeting finished, which all had enjoyed and found helpful.

King's Chef Saves Sugar in Recipes

TO further aid in conserving sugar, J. P. Morgan, Chef Instructor, Canadian National Railways, who was chef to Their Majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth during their North American tour, has prepared a number of sugarless recipes substituting maple sugar, corn syrup, molasses. The new recipes, already introduced to dining car patrons on the Canadian National, include muffins, maple butter, gingerbread, cup custard, cake and cake fillings. Here are some of Morgan's favorite new "sugarless" suggestions:

Chef Morgan

Golden Corn Cake
1/2 cup butter 1 cup flour
1/2 cup molasses 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg 2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1 cup corn meal

Cream the butter, add molasses and egg yolks. Gradually add milk alternating with dry ingredients mixed and sifted. Beat thoroughly. Fold in whites of eggs beaten stiff. Bake in buttered cake pan 20 minutes at 350° F. Makes 2 1/2-inch layers.

Maple-Fruit Filling
Boil one-half pint maple syrup with beaten yolks of 4 eggs in double boiler until mixture thickens. Stir constantly. Remove from fire, add 1 tablespoon butter and beat until cool. Stir in 1 cup citron, currants and chopped nut meats which have been flavored with 1 tablespoon sherry and 1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg. Spread between layers of cake and ice with maple frosting.

Soft Molasses Gingerbread
1 cup molasses 1 egg
1/2 cup butter 2 cups flour
1/2 cup sour milk 1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup butter and molasses in saucepan and cook until boiling point is reached. Remove from fire, add soda and beat vigorously. Then add milk, egg well beaten and remaining ingredients mixed and sifted. Bake 15 minutes in small tin having pan two-thirds filled with mixture.

Chef Morgan will gladly furnish other choice sugar-saving recipes. He may be reached in care of Canadian National Railways, 3501 McGill St., Montreal, Canada.

AT THE LOCAL THEATRES

Lou Costello and Bud Abbott in "Rio Rita," beginning today at the Granada Theatre.

Scene from "I Killed That Man," starring Ricardo Cortez and Joan Woodbury, which begins tomorrow at the New Premier Theatre.

At The Granada

Combining mirth, music and romance, "Rio Rita" opens at the Granada Theatre today with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello cavorting into the twelfth year of their amazing partnership as comedians.

When it is considered that they were relatively unknown only five years ago, their rise is phenomenal. Now popular on stage, screen and radio, they reach the apex of their climb in the new picture.

Kathryn Grayson and John Carroll offer romance and melody as the background for the antics of the comedians. Miss Grayson in a duet with Carroll sings "The Ranger's Song" and "Long Before You Came Along." Carroll sings the theme song, "Rio Rita," and Miss Grayson solos with "The Shadow Song" from Dinorah.

A capable supporting cast includes Patricia Dane, Tom Conway, Arthur Space, Peter Whitney and Dick Rich. They form a band of spies who are intent on eliminating Abbott and Costello, but their efforts are futile, of course.

The comedians first appear as stowaways in the rear deck compartment of Carroll's roadster as he arrives in a fiesta town in search of his boyhood sweetheart, Rio Rita. The stowaways discover a basket of what they believe are apples. The round red objects, however, are radios destined for the spies, and Abbott and Costello are immediately marked for whatever fate spies mete out to their victims.

The added attraction is "Paris Calling" starring Randolph Scott.

STANBURY

Mr. Ovila Coupal has had his house finished with imitation brick covering.

Mrs. Harvey Black spent two days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Karl Westcott, in Stanbridge East.

A large company gathered at the cemetery here, on May 10, for the burial of Miss J. I. Kemp, of Claremont, N.H.

The Rev. T. Barbour, of Farnham, officiated at the burial service.

The Rev. C. G. Rollitt, of Stanbridge East, held the first service of the season in the Anglican Church here, on Sunday afternoon, May 17.

At The New Premier

"I Killed That Man," starring Ricardo Cortez, with Joan Woodbury, Iris Adrian, Vince Barnett and George Pembroke, which begins at the New Premier Theatre tomorrow, is based upon one Ross, who is about to confess the murder of a newspaperman, and is himself killed in the state penitentiary death house.

Among those suspected is the notorious King, an underworld leader, who manages to get off free, only to find himself trailed by alert newspaper woman, Geri. From that point King plots the death of the girl and the attorney.

The story by Leonard Fields and David Silverstein was written into screenplay form by Henry Bancroft, and was directed by capable Phil Rosen who exhibits a keen sense of dramatic timing and characterization. Nor is his sense of humor incident to be overlooked in the handling of those sequences in which Vince Barnett scores so hilariously.

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

Stern, Noble and Steadfast

WALL, you young 'uns have it easy," grumbled Grandfather Parsons, who was apt to be a little fussy before breakfast. "Everybody almost with a automobile. When I was a young feller we used to trek on foot to the cemetery. Only women and old folks rode behind the mare."

"I wouldn't mind that," said young Paul. "I don't think a thing of walking to the cemetery! Why, I walked that far for beechnuts when I was only six, didn't I, father?"

"I reckon you did," replied his father. "You were always a spry little feller."

Grandfather Parsons' disposition was not soothed by his grandson's account of his spryness. He nodded his head silently as if there were arguments he could bring forth if he cared to. His son, Paul's father, saw that the old man was feeling cross, so he said cheerily:

"Dad, the roads weren't like they are now, were they? A feller had to be a bit of a woodsman to find his way about, eh, sir?"

"Roads," exclaimed Grandfather. "Why the Boston Post Road winded over the brow of the hills and was nothin' but a trail! The shortest way to the cemetery was direct through the forest over what's Turner's farm now, across Sycamore Creek and up apiece on Green Mountain and down the valley. That's the way the boys that be laying their in the ground used to go when they visited their mothers' graves. Nowadays if you had to walk all that way, that wouldn't be many to drop a tear on the soldiers' graves."

"I wouldn't think a thing of a walk like that!" protested Paul. Indignantly, but his father kicked him under the table.

Grandfather Parsons suddenly got to his feet. "Looky-here, whippersnapper," he cried, shaking his long bony finger under the grandson's short freckled nose. "If you're so smart why don't ye walk over today, eh? That's a different story, ain't it? We'd have room for Mrs. Green in the car if you was to walk."

"Grandpa dear?" broke in a gentle voice, Paul's mother was speaking. "Paul has been working hard and there's still so many chores for him, beside his school work. I don't think he should try to walk so far. It is going to be a very hot day too. He isn't so very strong, you know, but he has enough nerve for two. I've decided to leave Jimmy and Edith home today and take Mrs. Green to the cemetery. The children are too young to understand the speeches and exercises anyhow, and Mrs. Green had men folk in the army. She would enjoy going."

Jimmy and Edith exchanged looks, but they did not put. Jimmy was a round-faced tow-headed little fellow of seven and his sister

Edith was a slender, pale little girl of eight.

"We'll have some adventures," whispered Edith to Jimmy.

Mrs. Parsons usually left the children with plenty of advice and instructions, but today being Memorial Day and so many things to think about and Grandfather feeling blue and cranky which was natural when you think that most of his friends and loved ones were asleep under marble slabs in the cemetery, poor Mother Parsons had her hands full.

"Paul," she cautioned her eldest son, "don't rile your Grandfather. Give him kind words and flowers today, don't wait till he's lying in his grave."

So Paul became most loving and considerate to the old gentleman and let him talk all he wanted to about the brave old days when boys were not the flabby, spoiled sissies of today.

After the little car had dashed away with the wreaths and bouquets and older people, Edith and Jimmy began to talk about adventures.

"I know!" Jimmy cried. "Paul said he walked to the cemetery when he was only six, and he was always a spindling kid. I'm seven and stout and so are you. Let's take the short cut Grandfather was telling about, and surprise them at the cemetery. Mom didn't say we couldn't go."

"Then you go put up a little lunch and I'll see that everything's all right to leave," said Jimmy.

Both children flew to their tasks and soon they were on their way carrying a pasteboard box with their lunch inside.

Grandfather Parsons was right in a way, Jimmy and Edith had not been toughened in the old school which he had attended. Their thoughtful mother had saved their young strength in many ways, their father always took them to school and brought them back in the car. Grandfather Parsons had had to rise at four every morning, work until school time, walk six miles to school, walk home and get right to work at his chores.

So after walking about three miles, Jimmy and Edith felt quite tired and sat down under a big tree and ate their lunch.

Jimmy had brought a little book along with pictures and stories about heroes, so they read and ate and talked of past heroes and of those of the present great war.

"We ought to be moving along," said Edith at last. "I think it must be about two o'clock."

It was really only about ten, but Edith had no watch. They trudged on bravely, but Jimmy told his sister several times that he hadn't ever suspected the cemetery was so far away. They decided to pick some flowers to decorate the graves. This took a long time but they found a deserted farmhouse with a lovely bouquet.

"We'll really have to get on the road," said Edith at last. "I think we'd soon find the cemetery from the road. I'm sure we're almost there."

The minute they reached the road, sure enough they saw a gleaming white stone.

"There we are!" cried Jimmy. "But it's not the cemetery. I'm sure, said Edith. 'It was on that side of the road, not this side, and it looked different. This is only one grave.'"

"I know," said Jimmy. "I remember going there to pick blueberries last year. But there's more'n one cemetery, I guess."

"I'll see who's buried here," said Edith.

The stone was scarred and dimmed with age but Edith made out the names, Stern, Noble and Edith.

Jimmy: "Then am I grafting when you place me over your knee in a position to get it?"

Jimmy: "What is graft, Dad?"

Dad: "It is getting something when you are in a position to get it."

Jimmy: "Then am I grafting when you place me over your knee in a position to get it?"

A DAY FOR SAILING!

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL LETTERS use that color.)

ALL aboard!" cries BROWN-haired Teddy, pushing his new RED sail boat, with a BROWN stick across the BLUE waters of the pond. "All aboard for Tim-buctoo and points north and south, east and west!"

"Oh captain Teddy, sir!" cries YELLOW-haired Susie May. "My dolly and I, if there's room, would like to take passage for a trip once around the moon!"

"All aboard!" shouts Teddy. "The trip around the moon doesn't go until the moon comes up high enough in the sky to show its face in the pond!"

"Well, sir, my dolly wants to take that short trip, sir, just once around," says Susie May. "I'll wait to go on the trip around the moon!"

Teddy is dressed in a White sailor suit with BLUE collar and cuffs. The tape on his collar and cuffs is White and his necktie is BLACK silk. He wears BLACK shoes too.

Steadfast.

"Three soldiers," she said, "Noble must have been some kin to Ben Noble."

"Well, let's celebrate here and go home," said Jimmy. "I'm tired, aren't you?"

Edith read from the Hero book and Jimmy decorated the grave. It looked very pretty when they got through and just as they turned around to go home, they heard horses' hoofs and who should show up in a neat buggy but Ben Noble himself. Ben was a happy-go-lucky young fellow. He reined in and asked the children what they were doing.

"We were putting flowers on your grandfather's grave," said Edith.

"My what?" replied Ben.

"Wasn't one of these people your grandfather?" asked Jimmy pointing to the inscription on the stone.

Ben looked thoughtful. He had been shiftless and lazy of late. He read the gravestone on the stone.

"This is just a stone to mark the site of the old schoolhouse," he said at last. "It says it was put up in memory of our forefathers who were stern, noble and steadfast."

He stared awhile longer, then shook his head. "Stern, noble and steadfast," he muttered. "That isn't me, but from now on I gotta be!" Then he looked at the children and said, "Want to go on to the cemetery?"

They did, so after all, they got there and surprised their parents just finishing their speeches and lunch.

Jimmy: "What is graft, Dad?"

Dad: "It is getting something when you are in a position to get it."

Jimmy: "Then am I grafting when you place me over your knee in a position to get it?"

Jimmy: "What is graft, Dad?"

Dad: "It is getting something when you are in a position to get it."

Jimmy: "Then am I grafting when you place me over your knee in a position to get it?"

The Story of a House Fly Told by Itself

THE first thing I remember was when the egg laid by my mother was hatched out into a little white grub, and there I was wriggling about in a pile of trash in the corner of a horse stable. While I was a grub I could get all I needed to eat in the trash where I lived. After while I quit being a grub and became a baby fly with six little legs and a pair of tiny wings, and the most wonderful eyes. When I found I could fly instead of crawl, I was very happy, and I just flew and did not care where I went or where I landed.

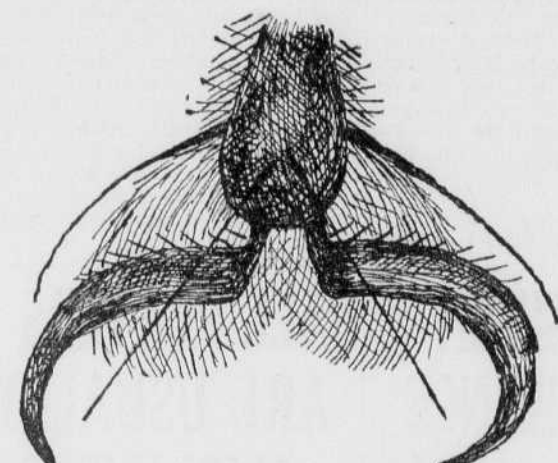

They told me that I was a house fly, so I left the stable and looked about for a house, though then, I did not know exactly what a house was. After flying a long, long way I at last found what I knew must be a house, but I couldn't get in as there seemed to be something wrong with the windows and doors.

Some kind of stiff cloth was stretched over every one, and the little holes in it were all too small for me to get through. But finally I found a door that some one had

I got up I did not forget to wipe my feet again—that is something we flies never forget to do, no matter where we are or what we are doing.

I think the next nicest thing to eating sugar is to crawl over the soft, pink lips of a dear little baby when it has just finished its bottle, and lick up the sugary milk that clings to its lips. And then it is great fun to crawl over its face, and tickle its nose and make it screw up its face, and shut its eyes. But some mothers are so particular that they put a piece of thin cloth over the baby's face, so we can't get to it. I think that is treating us pretty mean, as we would not hurt the little thing for anything.

Before people got that fool notion in their heads about screening windows, we could go where we pleased, and stay as long as we pleased, and none thought anything of it. And if we wanted to have a meeting on the syrup pitcher, or hold a convention on the jam, it was perfectly all right, but things are different now. All food left partly open, and I squeezed through the crack, and found myself in the most wonderful place I had ever seen, packed full of all kinds of things that looked as if they might be good to eat. But as I had never eaten any of them, I had to taste them all. On a table was a big bowl of something as white as snow, and I heard somebody say it was milk, so I crawled to the edge and took a sip—and the more I sipped the more I wanted.

While I was enjoying myself, one of my feet slipped, and in I went, head over heels, and I thought I surely was going to drown, but by working my feet and flapping my wings, I managed to scramble out. I was soaked to the skin, and my feet had the first know of washing they had ever known. Of course all the dirt, germs people call it, that had stuck to my feet came off in the milk, and I felt so clean and light that I could not keep from dancing.

Then I sailed over to a shelf where a kind hearted lady had just put a square lump of beautiful yellow stuff that she said was butter. So I tasted that and found it as good or better than the milk; and besides being good to eat, it made a splendid place to skate on, as it was as smooth as ice, and I found that was an easy way to wipe my feet. You know, when we flies get anything on our feet, we never feel quite right until we can wipe it off on something.

While flying about, I drifted into the pantry, and I ran up on something there that was the best thing I had ever tasted. It was in a china vessel, and it was marked SUGAR. There was a pointed top on the bowl, but some thoughtful person had left it crushed a little to one side so I crawled in, and for a while, had the time of my life. I had heard of sugar and how sweet it was, but I had no idea that anything could possibly be as sweet as the white, grainy stuff was!

I sat right down in it, and ate and ate until I thought I must surely pop—but I didn't, and when is kept covered up, there are wire screens over windows and doors, and wherever we turn, we run up on some one with a swatter—and I want to say right here that a swatter is the hardest thing to dodge that I have ever come across. People used to be so much more friendly towards us than they are now.

Just so we got off a slice of bread before they put it in their mouth, was all they cared about, but now if we so much as step on the bread, they won't eat it at all. People are queer, and they print all kinds of foolishness in the school books about our being more dangerous than lions, and tigers and snakes, and the children believe it.

They say if a person is sick with typhus, for instance, we can get the germs on our feet, and carry them to well people who will get sick and die. And the doctors say that all of that, and more too, is true, so what are we to do about it? There is no one to take our part and every human being is an enemy. If I knew where to go, I would pick up and leave, but that would not do any good, as everywhere people are acting the same way. I think the world has gone crazy—that's what I think!

I have had an enlarged photograph made of my feet to give you an idea how easy it is for things to stick to them and why I am always wiping them on things to eat.

The HANDY BOY AT HOME

BY CHARLES A. KING,
STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, PLYMOUTH, N.H.

CELLOPHANE SPECTACLES

THIS is a project "Handy Boy" can easily make and while doing it have lots of fun and when the spectacles are finished the fun has just begun. A piece of light gray or white Bristol board may be shaped about as shown; a piece about 2" x 12" or 13" will be a good size. Measure the distance between the pupils of the eyes if the 2 1/2" shown do not feel right, and make the lenses 1 1/2" or 1 3/4" in diameter; be sure and place the centers correctly. With black ink make the circles around the openings as suggested and draw the lines indicating the bows. Make a 1/4" hole near the ends of the cellophane and through them reeve one or two light rubber bands which will give enough pressure to hold the spectacles in place. Cut two circles of cellophane 2" in diameter and paste one over the inside of each hole. Transparent cellophane will allow one to see everything about as it is and will protect the eyes from dust. If colored cellophane is used, red, green or blue in their various shades or tints, surprising results may be noted. Making one lens of one color and the other lens something else, often certain details may seem entirely shut out, certain parts of the view obscured and other parts emphasized. By some interesting experiments one may discover unexpected things about the behavior of various colors in different combinations.

FRUIT GELATINE
Measure the juice from a can of fruit—peaches, pears or apricots are best.

Add enough water to make 1 pint in all. (Two cupsful.) Bring to a boil.

Dissolve in this 1 package of lemon gelatine.

When cool, add two cupsful of fruit, sliced into small pieces. For this use any favored canned fruit. Bananas or oranges may also be used but in general the canned fruit, having been cooked, make the best gelatine.

Dip a jelly mould in cold water, drain and pour in the gelatine. Set in a cool place for several hours.

Serve plain with whipped cream for a dessert.

TWO BIG LEAGUE RELIEF FUND GAMES TODAY

Many Attractions On Card For Boston And Washington Fixtures

Bob Feller to Pitch for Navy Against Army in Curtain-Raiser to Red Sox-Athletics Tilt at Beantown—Giants Bump Dodgers 5-1, Handing Ed Head First Loss After Five Triumphs—Braves Whip Phils 10-7.

Almost anything can happen in the seven major league baseball games scheduled today, but a sure winner in two of them is the United States Army-Navy Relief Fund.

Proceeds from games in Washington where New York Yankees meet Washington Senators, and at Boston, where the Red Sox take on Philadelphia Athletics, will go to help care for the families of those who fall on the fighting fronts.

The two contests are part of a series of sixteen scheduled in the two leagues for the fund.

An added attraction at Boston will be a curtain-raiser between service teams, with Sailor Bob Feller pitching for the Navy, and soldier Hugh Mulcahy opposing him for the Army squad. Army and Navy bands will be on hand, and senior officers of the services in the Boston area have been invited.

At Washington, there will be bands and parades and possibly speech or two. And everyone who enters the park will buy a ticket.

Only six teams saw action yesterday in an abbreviated programme, shortened further by the weather.

In the lone afternoon game, moved up to daylight by New York's night baseball, the Giants bumped Brooklyn's National League leaders, 5-1, handing the Dodgers their second straight defeat and Pitcher Ed Head his first loss after five triumphs.

Head lasted only four innings and was tagged for five hits, including

Manager Mel Ott's seventh home run of the season, with a man on base in the first inning, and a circuit blow by Hank Leiber in the fourth.

The second-place Boston Braves chopped another half-game off Brooklyn's margin and reduced the Dodgers lead to five lengths by whipping Philadelphia Phils, 10-7. Ernie Lombardi of the Braves poked a home run and four singles in five trips to the plate.

At Chicago, the White Sox downed Detroit Tigers 7-4 in the only American League game, hanging up their eighth victory in ten starts.

Wally Moses and Bob Kennedy led a 15-hit attack on Virgil Trucks and Johnny Gorsica, Moses getting two doubles and Kennedy three singles. Johnny Humphries was credited with the victory, although he yielded nine of the eleven Detroit hits, including a homer by Dixie Parsons.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Ernie Lombardi and Clyde Klutts, Braves—Lombardi had perfect night with home run and four singles in five times at bat and Klutts' pinch single with bases loaded, topped ninth-inning rally that beat Phils.

Wally Moses and Bob Kennedy, White Sox—Former hit two doubles and latter three singles in 15-hit attack which defeated Tigers.

Mel Ott, Giants—Led his team to victory over Dodgers with two-run homer.

ROYALS GIVEN GOOD CHANCE IN I.L. SCRAP

Kehn, Chipman and Dapper, Sent Down from Brooklyn, Should Prove Big Help to Sukeforth Squad.

Montreal, May 23.—Ability of the Royals to win a majority of their games at home despite the absence of Jack Graham from the lineup, plus the fact the team has come from behind in many of these games, in the eighth or ninth inning, to go on to victory, has caused Montreal baseball fans to realize Clyde Sukeforth's club has a real chance of winning the 1942 International League pennant.

Graham returned to the lineup Monday. Then, replacing Herman Franks and Joe Hatten, both of whom went into the United States navy, the Royals persuaded the Brooklyn Dodgers to send them two pitchers—Chet Kehn and Bob Chipman—and a catcher, Cliff Dapper.

Kehn won sixteen games for the Royals in 1941. Chipman, a young southpaw, won 17 for Atlanta, and took one more while pitching for the Dodgers last autumn. Dapper is one of the finest young catchers in the business.

Thus the Royals who boasted of the greatest catching staff in Double-A baseball when Franks and Hatten were here, now lay claim to the same honors with Howell and Dapper sharing the backstop duties. These three players came to the Royals on the understanding that Dapper may be recalled by the Dodgers on instant notice, and that in consideration for the two pitchers, Brooklyn may take any burden on the Montreal staff without advance notice. These deals were made in this manner because of the uncertain conditions existing in major league baseball with so many players going into the military forces.

Real battles should be the order of the day at the Stadium this weekend. The Royals wind up their series with the Rochester Red Wings with a single game Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, and then tackle the Buffalo Bisons in successive doubleheaders Sunday and Monday, both twin bills starting at two o'clock. Monday will be the celebration of Dominion Day. After Monday's double bill the Royals will not be seen at the Stadium again until Sunday, June 14.

The Bisons, by defeating Rochester Tuesday night, ran their record to eleven victories, out of their last twelve games. They are one of the hottest clubs in the league. Royals, meanwhile, had taken ten out of fourteen games played at home. "Shovels" Kobesky, slugging outfielder, is the sensation of the Bisons, having nine home runs to his credit. Other stars with the Bisons include Dutch Meyer, Jim Levey, Mickey Rocco, Floyd Giebell and Bob Garbark.

BALL PLAYERS ARE USUALLY ALIBI EXPERTS

Brooklyn Catcher Mickey Owen Proved Exception by Admitting Responsibility for World Series Miscue.

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
New York, May 23.—No other class of athletes bobs up with alibis as readily as baseball players.

That is what made Mickey Owen so unusual when Hugh Casey's inside pitch, which would have given Brooklyn a second victory in the World Series, sizzled off the bat of his glove. It was an epic of the diamond when the catcher said, simply: "I missed the ball."

Once when a ball went between Smead Jolley's legs as the White Sox outfielder squinted into the sun, he explained that he lost it in the glare, added that he never could play the sun field.

Many a fine ball player offers excuses when there is no need for them.

Sam Rice the grand Washington outfielder of years back, was this type. Once Rice forgot to close the gate, as the ball players say, and a well-hit ball to right field got through him with the tying run on second and the winning run on first.

Bucky Harris, then playing second base, fished into short right field and shouted: "To the plate! To the plate!"

Rice picked up the ball, whirled and threw as Harris turned and squatted to watch the play at the plate. The ball struck Harris on the back of the head.

"Why," Harris asked Rice, after he had cooled off in the clubhouse, "didn't you throw that ball to the plate?"

"I did throw it to the plate," Rice said.

"Then, tell me," came back Harris, "if you intended that ball for the plate, how come it nearly knocked my head off?"

"It was this way, Bucky," explained Rice. "Those fans in the right field bleachers spit. When I got hold of the ball it was covered with spit. And the spitter broke!"

Bucky Harris fell of his stool. They still talk of George Selkirk telling Joe McCarthy that he picked up a stiff neck standing in front of a fan at a bar in St. Louis.

Ball players, to hear them tell it, generally leave an air-cooled Pullman car with colds in their arms, shoulders and necks.

Phil Rizzuto is the latest Yankee to frankly state that his cold was his own fault, traceable to his sitting while on the Yankee Stadium grass while perspiring.

But Mickey Owen, Twink Selkirk and Little Scooter Rizzuto are exceptions.

The great majority of ball players, regardless of how much ability they possess, don't believe in taking the blame for anything that may happen to them.

WINGS FINALLY REGISTER WIN IN I.L. CLASH

Rochester Shades Montreal 2-1, Dropping Royals Three-and-a-Half Games Behind Leading Newark Bears.

Manager Tony Kaufmann slept a little easier last night after his Rochester Red Wings finally won a ball game.

The Wings, in last place in the International League, had lost eight straight games, but yesterday Ed Wissmann out-hurled Max Macon to give the Birds a 2-1 win over Montreal Royals. The defeat dropped the Royals 3½ games behind the pace-setting Newark Bears, who defeated Syracuse Chiefs 6-4.

Montreal led 1-0 going into the sixth inning. George Fallon doubled and with two out, Ervin Dusk hit a home run inside the park.

The game was marked by six double plays with Rochester making four and it was the first defeat of the year for Macon who previously had won four.

For the third straight day the Baltimore-Jersey City game was postponed. The Buffalo-Toronto contest also was called off.

Ewell Blackwell, making his first start for Syracuse Chiefs since coming from Cincinnati Reds, allowed Newark only four hits but lost because of loose support by his mates who committed five errors.

Apparently not everybody was satisfied with the decision to call off operations of the City Softball League this summer, and moreover, it appears that the lack of interest shown with regard to the fate of the Industrial circuit is also causing annoyance in some sections.

According to Horie Blouin, of the Canadian Silks team, an effort is being made to form a temporary or independent circuit of some kind to carry on during the year or until conditions are considered favorable to the operation of the City League against some time in the future.

Anyone interested in this set-up is invited to attend a meeting which will be held on Monday night at the Magog House at eight o'clock.

While war-time conditions have had their effect in cutting down the number of boys who will compete in the meet at Stanstead today, Principal Errol Amaron, of the College, feels that plans to go through with the event were well worth while and that the competitions will be run off successfully. Through a very wise decision, the Southern Canada Power team trophy was withdrawn from competition, so that small teams from points far away from Stanstead would not have the handicap of competing against large squads from nearer districts.

The meet, the eighteenth annual, got under way at ten-thirty o'clock sharp, in keeping with the Stanstead tradition—the meet will be held rain or shine and will begin at the scheduled hour.

Sherbrooke Country Club golfers swing off the marks today in the annual President vs. Vice-President match which will officially inaugurate the competitions of the season.

Captain Derek Pearce, the captain this year, will give the men a couple of weeks in which to brush up their strokes after today's engagement.

In all probability, this match will take longer to play than it has for many years, because all the players will be displaying the characteristics of the canny Scot and ploughing through the rough until they find their balls should they slice or hook them off the beaten path, which is likely to be the case on frequent occasions.

The days are gone, let's hope not forever, when a lost ball is just forgotten.

Members of an R.C.A.F. Lockheed Hudson squadron of Coastal Command Overseas took advantage of a recent spring-like day to challenge a Royal Canadian Navy detachment stationed nearby to a game of softball; but the challenge ended in discomfiture for the airmen, as the sailors beat them by 10-6.

Germ of the idea came from Pilot Officer Mervyn "Red" Laury, chubby, flaming-haired air gunner from Annapolis, Ont., who managed the R.C.A.F. team. Red, who is by no means downhearted by this initial setback and who is planning a return engagement at an early date, explains that the airmen were all over the sailors in all but one of the innings. Up to the fifth, the R.C.A.F. led 1-0, but in the fifth something went wrong with the works and the navy took nine runs. Even after that, the squadron was right back fighting, and scored five more runs to the navy's one, but they couldn't just score enough.

PO Russell Majeau, of Edmonton, Alta., (since reported missing), PO Laury, PO William Armstrong (pitcher), Kinburn, Ont., Flight-Sgt. D. A. Brown, Macklin, Sask., LAC, G. H. Hutton, Timmins, Ont., A.C.I. G. C. Haney, Cabri, Sask., Sgt. A. R. Farley, Ottawa, Ont., LAC, F. Holcroft, Edmonton, Alta., made up the R.C.A.F. team.

Red Laury is now determined to keep up the squadron's softball skill throughout the summer and says he is planning a squadron softball league, in which he hopes to have five or six teams competing. In this league air crew will be pitted against ground crew and flight against flight. "We're really going to have softball in this outfit by the time we get through," declares Red.

Invitations have been extended to Mayor A. C. Ross, Maurice Gingues, M.P., Col. Johnny Bourque, M.L.A., Lt.-Col. J. Eugene Nantel, V.D., the Lord Sherbrooke Training Centre, and the Aldermen to attend the curtain-raiser at the Stadium.

Verdict Surprising to Ring-Side Sports Writers Although Highly Popular with 11,327 Fans.

New York, May 23.—Much to the surprise of boxing writers at the ringside and to veteran fight observers, Tami Mauriello was given a ten-round draw with Bob Pastor here last night, knocking a dent in Mike Jacobs' carefully-laid plans for a Louis-Pastor title scrap early this summer.

It was a welcome verdict for the highly-partisan crowd of 11,327 fans, who cheered the announcement to the echo after yelling their lungs out during the fast and furious ninth and tenth rounds. Pastor, weighing 183 1/2, had an advantage of about six pounds in weight.

After taking the best of Mauriello's Sunday shots through the first three rounds, in one of which he was staggered by a shot on the jaw, Pastor turned on the gas and gave Tami quite a boxing lesson most of the way home, until the ninth and tenth rounds. Then the two stood toe to toe and slugged it out to the final bell.

The Associated Press score card had Pastor well out in front at the finish, giving him every round from the third through the eighth and voting it six beats for Pastor, two for the young Fordham flailer and two even.

Each of the three officials came up with a different verdict. Refereeand three even.

Westerners Bitter At Being Ineligible To Bid For King's Plate

Eighty-Three-Year-Old Woodbine Park Race Restricted to Three-Year-Olds Foaled in Ontario—R. J. Speers, of Winnipeg, Started $5,000 Added Canadian Derby Last Year to Give Western Horse Owners Chance.

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Toronto, May 23.—(C)—This is King's Plate Day, making it a better time than most to discuss the merits and demerits of Canada's richest racing event.

Eastern Canada has accepted the Plate for 83 years with only minor mutterings against its limitations, greatest of which is this: It is restricted to three-year-olds foaled in Ontario. But the attitude taken by Western horsemen and breeders is considerably more militant. Criticism of the Plate is as easy to find as gobblers in the West.

Westerners naturally are bitter at not getting a crack at the Plate's $8,000-added purse. They call the Plate by a great many names. Among them: House League. That fits as well as most.

That is one reason why R. J. Speers, of Winnipeg, started the $5,000 added Canadian Derby last year. Speers was under heavy pressure from some other horsemen who wanted to make his Canadian Derby an event for Westerners only, shut out the East as the West is blanketed by the Plate. But Speers took off the pressure and wrote into the Derby's condition book: "For three-year-olds foaled in Canada."

He made it the most important three-year-old event in the country, although not the richest. It probably will become wealthier than the Plate, too, but that will take many years.

Here is the only defence, somewhat feeble, of the Plate's condition book: Eighty-three years ago when the Plate was established (as the Queen's Plate) there was no thoroughbred breeding in the West. The angle that in keeping the race Canadian, it was made Provincial, probably did not occur to the founders. Of course, there has been plenty of time to change the rules since then.

The generosity in Speers' action in opening the Canadian Derby to all Canadian-foaled three-year-olds was considerable. One of Canada's foremost breeders, he often has had horses of Plate calibre. He could have been reasonably quite bitter about missing a chance at all that green stuff.

But he threw the Derby wide open, reducing by at least fifty per cent the chances that the $5,000 added purse would be won by one of his Western friends and colleagues. Harry Hatch's Budpath—Plate winner also—won the 1941 Derby, took the winner's share back to Toronto. If Speers was trying to set an example of nationalism in sport, he succeeded the hard way. It may happen again this year—an Ontario-bred winning the Derby—but meanwhile there is not even a rumor of change in the Plate conditions. It's a cruel world.

Just as well keep this piece all Plate, and clear the air. This bureau is slightly sceptical of all the hullabaloo about "Harry Giddings' Ten to Ace. Most of his support has come from people who say he'll be so far out in front after six furlongs that he won't be caught, and that is backward thinking.

Ten to Ace may be the greatest Ontario-bred ever dropped, but he has yet to prove he can go a distance and finish strong. After weeks of research I have decided to bet on either Bill's Gift or Northwest. The final deduction in my secret selection system will be made a few hours before race time, when I see them both. Then I'm going to slap a deuce right on the face of the one with the biggest feet.

George Walsh scored it five heats for each and called it even. Judge Marty Monroe had five rounds for Pastor, four for the up-town belter and one even. The third judge, Charley Draycott, turned in a surprising card of seven rounds for Mauriello and three even.

Blackout regulations: During a Sally League ball game at Jacksonville, Fla., recently the umpire mistook the flagpole in left field for the foul-line marker and gave a Columbia played credit for a home run on a hit everyone in the park figured was a foul.

When the customers finally subsided, there wasn't a pop bottle left in the stands. . . . The next night Crowther Boyd, Secretary of the Jacksonville club, had a red lantern run up the flagpole so there wouldn't be another mistake.

Playing golf in a friendly four-some at Chattanooga, Tenn., the other Sunday, Harry Odom and his partner were one down at the last tee. Both their rivals made good tee shots for easy birdies on the short hole and one of them kidded: "Well, boys, nothing but a hole in one will save you."

The challenge couldn't be resisted: Odom whacked his shot right into the cup.

George Walsh scored it five heats for each and called it even. Judge Marty Monroe had five rounds for Pastor, four for the up-town belter and one even. The third judge, Charley Draycott, turned in a surprising card of seven rounds for Mauriello and three even.
