Russian Army, Jumping Two Water Barriers, Rapidly Nears Krakow

Latest Advance Brings Russian Cavalry Patrols to Within Thirty Miles of City, Last Stronghold of Silesia.

By DANIEL DE LUCE,
Associated Press War Correspondent
Moscow, Aug. 5.—(P)—The Red Army hurled two water barriers today in its smashing drive on Krakow, and advance Soviet cavalry patrols were barely thirty miles from the city—the last big Nazi stronghold barring invasion of German Silesia.

Russian forces surmounted the pair of obstacles presented by the Vistula tributaries, the Nida and Wistoka, and gained strong positions for further attacks from the Northeast and East on Krakow.

Fanning out along the Nida, Red Army troops were only seventy-five miles from German Silesia.

The left flank of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's 1st White Russian Army and the right flank of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Ukrainian command were linked up in the vicinity of Szczecin, on the Upper Vistula, for a concerted assault on the Southern anchor of Germany.

Tarnow, a junction of four rail lines forty-five miles East of Krakow, was outflanked seriously by the Russian advances.

The Germans, frantically determined to turn Krakow into a defensive hedgehog position, rushed reinforcements from garrisons in Czechoslovakia.

Military reports indicated the Russian advance through the valley of the Upper Vistula, which reached the dizzy pace of more than twenty miles a day this week, was bound to slow down at the outer defences of Krakow, but Red Army generals were expected to have the city under siege soon.

Rokossovsky's forces still pounded at the Eastern gates of Warsaw. It was believed in Moscow that his position there has bettered in the past twenty-four hours, despite stubborn German resistance and heavy counter-attacks with strong forces of tanks which struck from the North and Northeast.

No sensational advances were reported from points three miles from the East Prussia border, where the Russians were shelling the enemy on his own territory.

Marshal Ivan Cherniakhovsky apparently was spreading out over a

HOUSE HEARS OF TEN STEPS FOR WORLD ECONOMY

C. C. F. Leader Coldwell Says Expansion Steps Should Be Based on Social Justice and Dedicated to Lasting Peace.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—(P)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, speaking in the external affairs debate in the Commons, today outlined steps which he said would promote an expanding world economy, grounded on social justice and dedicated to lasting peace.

These steps included:
1. No parleys with the German Junker class generals but "we must treat with representatives of German reform trade unions, farm organizations and churches."

2. Provision of self-government for all peoples capable of ruling themselves and international supervision of backward peoples with a view to assisting them in their struggle for democratic self-determination.

3. Negotiations, under the auspices of the United Nations, for immediate settlement of the Indian problem.

4. Establishment of an international organization resting on a world-wide foundation of social and

Wheat Production To Be Above '43

Washington, Aug. 5.—(P)—The United States Agriculture Department reported today that latest prospects indicated world wheat production this year may be moderately above last year, with a large increase in North America more than offsetting prospective decreases in other areas.

Surpluses expected by the world's four major exporting countries—the United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina—will go a long way, the department said, toward meeting world import requirements, unless abnormally large shipments are required by Europe during the 1944-45 season.

The department said European production may be slightly below last year's crop, and below average. A Canadian crop of 450,000,000 bushels, the highest in the history of the country, was only 294,000,000 bushels. The United States crop has been forecast at 1,128,000,000 bushels, the largest of record.

Hitler Orders Ruthless Purge Of Army As Aftermath To Rebellion

London, Aug. 5.—(P)—Hitler last night ordered a "ruthless purge" of the German Army as an aftermath of the "Junker" general's revolt against his regime and in an opening move ousted twelve officers and marked them for early trial as "traitors" by the feared people's court, the death-dealing Nazi star chamber.

Official announcements broadcast by Berlin named a total of twenty-three officers as implicated in the revolt, more than half of whom had not been identified previously. They included four lieutenants and a captain—all of aristocratic names—suggesting that the revolt may have gone farther down through the ranks than previously indicated.

Twelve men listed as "under arrest," expelled from the army and slated for a people's court trial were headed by Field Marshal Erwin von Witzleben, German commander-in-chief in France until Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt took over in 1942 and later commander in Northern Italy. Austrian newspaper reaching London yesterday described him as the leader of the revolt and charged that he proclaimed himself German chief of state on the night of the attempt on Hitler's life "after establishing contact with captive German generals in Moscow."

The others included: Signal Corps General Felldorf, Lt.-Gen. von Haase, Maj.-Gen. Stieff, Maj.-Gen. von Treckow, Col. Hansen of the General

Staff, Lt.-Col. Bernardis, also of the General Staff, Maj. Hayessen, Capt. Klausinger, Lieut. Graf von der Schulenburg, Lieut. von Hagen and Lieut. Graf von Wartenburg.

Listed as already court-martialed and dead are Gen. Friedrich Olbricht, Col. Claus von Stauffenberg, Col. von Quirnheim and Lieut. von Hatten. The first two already had been named as leaders of the plot. In addition to Col.-Gen. Ludwig Beck, former chief of the General Staff, who was announced previously as having taken their own lives; Artillery General Wagner, Col. Freytag-Lorzing of the General Staff and Lt.-Col. Schrader.

REQUISITES FOR LASTING PEACE ARE PUT FORTH

Premier King Says Real Security Requires International Action and Organization in Many Fields.

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.
Ottawa, Aug. 5.—(P)—A preponderance of power in the hands of the United Nations coupled with concerted steps to improve the living conditions of peoples throughout the world were put forward yesterday in the Commons by Prime Minister Mackenzie King as primary requisites for the maintenance of a lasting peace.

A large superiority of power on the side of peace was not sufficient for the maintenance of that peace, Mr. King said in opening debate on Canada's external affairs.

"Security from war is indeed essential, but real security requires international action and organization in many other fields—in social welfare, in trade, in technical progress, in transportation and in economic development," he said.

"The general aim must be to lower the temperature of nationalism, while preserving its good features, and thus to diminish the national rivalries and reduce the importance of frontiers. This requires that there should be a wide and fruitful area of collaboration, including the continuance of part of the elaborate system of war-time co-operation which we have built up among the Allies under stress of danger."

Canada would have her part to play in a world organization established to maintain the peace, but what part that would be had not yet been decided.

LAST ORGANIZED RESISTANCE ON ISLAND CRUSHED

At Least 3,000 Japanese Troops of Crack "Singapore" Division Died in Futile Defence of Rail Terminus and Air Base.

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Aug. 5.—(P)—The Allied campaign to drive the Japanese from Northern Burma and establish a military supply highway from India to China approached fruition today as British, American and Chinese troops crushed the last organized enemy resistance in Myitkyina after a bloody siege that began May 17.

One of the Chinese commanders under Gen. Joseph T. Stilwell was given full credit for directing the climatic manoeuvre which ended the 80-day siege, his troops infiltrating the enemy's lines by night in preparation for the final two-day smash by Americans and Chinese.

Myitkyina, with a population of about 7,500, was officially described as "an important gate for the delivery of supplies to China." The most immediate benefit to the Allies lies in the town's big air fields on the famous "hump" route from India to China. The largest, an all-weather airfield, was captured in Stilwell's initial stroke May 17, when an American force swept out of the hills after a 20-day forced march over 112 miles of mountains and jungle.

Simultaneously with Myitkyina's fall, it was officially announced that the Japanese withdrawal from Manipur State in India now amounted to a full retreat, with the beaten enemy back-pedalling as fast as possible in the miserable weather conditions.

Devastating Raids Carried Out Against German Supply Systems

By JOHN A. MOROSO,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
London, Aug. 5.—(P)—A devastating moonlight attack by United States 9th Airforce Marauders on ammunition and fuel dumps in De Sille Forest, 30 miles east of Laval in France, left the depots in flames as Allied air forces began a new day of assault on the Nazis.

Aided by fine weather, Allied planes from scores of bases sought new and as yet unannounced targets by daylight while Allied ground forces fanned out over Brittany.

Escorted heavy bombers struck yesterday at targets throughout France and Germany. They smashed airfields at Lille and Achet; the railway bridge at Etaples; a coastal battery in the Pas-de-Calais, and oil depots at Pauillac and Bec D'Ambres near Bordeaux.

Medium bombers cascaded explosives on railway yards at Montfort and Bouvais, a railway embankment at Perno, and a concentration of troops south of Aunay. Light bombers blew up an ammunition train near Bordeaux and hit rail targets.

Also under attack were an oil

Suburbs Of Florence Completely Occupied By Famous Eighth Army

By NOLAN NORGARD,
Associated Press War Correspondent.
Rome, Aug. 5.—(P)—British 8th Army troops have completed occupation of the suburbs of Florence South of the Arno river and, bearing down along a twenty mile seiche, are pressing the enemy back against the stream on both sides of the city, Allied headquarters said today.

General Alexander's command announced "although the enemy proclaimed that he regards Florence as an open city, he has seen fit to use it for his military traffic, and when outflanked South of the city has blown up all the bridges except the historic Ponte Vecchio. His paratroops, however, are posted along the Northern bank of the Arno within the city limits."

There were no reports today indicating actual fighting within the portions of Florence reached by 8th army units, but an Allied spokesman said "it is clear that the enemy intends to oppose the crossing of the Arno on both sides of the city which remain in No Man's Land."

All along the South side of the Arno, British, Indian, New Zealand and South African forces crushed the Nazis back and threatened to cut the weakening defenders into small formations.

A front dispatch from Doug How, Canadian Press war correspondent, said last night that there were few signs of destruction in the city, but—in contrast to the Allied entrance into Rome—little civilian rejoicing at liberation, probably because skirmishing was going on nearby.

He said the walls of Florence were liberally marked with "Vivas" for Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Gen. Alexander.

Two and a half miles East of Florence, a British division punched through Borgo a Ripoli to within 1,000 yards of the Arno's banks while enemy still held high ground to the East.

Advance elements pressing down into Florence were reported engaging the enemy in a brief delaying action, reminiscent of the fury of fighting on the outskirts of Rome, which the Nazis found necessary in order to gain time to extricate their main forces from the city.

It was suggested that the Germans possibly spared Ponte Vecchio because it is unsuitable for wheeled traffic. It resembles the old London Bridge, with shops built on either

WAR WORKERS ARE URGED TO MAN MACHINES

War Agencies Authorized to Use Powers Never Before Employed for Manpower Purposes.

By C. R. BLACKBURN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.
Washington, Aug. 5.—(P)—To gain the last ounce of production needed to finish an enemy whose "knees are buckling," James F. Byrnes, War Mobilization Director, has ordered rigid employment ceilings on civilian plants in 181 labor scarcity areas.

Byrnes appealed to the press and the radio to help the government stop an exodus from war plants which threatens to aggravate a small but critical shortage in certain lines of essential production. He called correspondents to a special conference and announced a new directive to keep war workers on the job and fill up the shortages.

Aim of the new move was twofold: To free excess workers for war jobs, and to dry up civilian job openings for workers now tending to drift away from war industry.

Local groups, the manpower priority committees which exist in all shortage areas, will fix the ceilings for individual plants.

To insure compliance, Mr. Byrnes directed that the war agencies use war powers before employed for manpower purposes—the choking-off of materials, equipment, fuel, power or transportation from an employer who exceeds his labor quota.

And in a drastic move to prevent any increase of civilian production which would hurt vital production, he gave the war manpower commission a flat veto over any reconversion action by the War Production Board which in the W.M.C.'s estimation would divert workers from war plants.

SAYS PLAN FOR INTERNATIONAL BANK FEASIBLE

Noted British Economist Declares Step Would Be Major and Significant Contribution to Resettlement After War.

By FRANK FLAHERTY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.
Ottawa, Aug. 5.—(P)—The plan for an international bank for reconstruction and development drawn up at the Bretton Woods, N.H., Monetary Conference is a "very major and significant contribution to resettlement after the war," Lord Keynes, noted British economist and head of the British delegation at the Conference, said in an interview here today.

He said he believed the importance of the bank plan was not yet fully realized in most countries although there was a fairly wide appreciation of the importance of the currency stabilization fund plan, also agreed upon at the Conference.

In the evolution of both, he said, Canada played "a very distinguished and dignified part." The Canadian delegation approached the Conference from the point of view of the importance of further world trade after the war.

The reconstruction bank, he said, will fill a gap between the activities of U.N.R.R.A. which is concerned only with immediate relief of liberated countries and of the Currency Stabilization Fund which has long range objectives.

Countries devastated by war would lack capital for reconstruction. Private capital would be weary of making loans to governments on the basis of past experience. The only source of capital was creditor countries, such as the United States and possibly Canada.

The setup of the proposed bank provided a means by which all countries, creditors and debtors alike could share the risks of financing reconstruction loans.

The subscriptions to the bank aggregated more than $9,000,000,000 with Canada's share placed at $325,000,000. Up to 20 per cent of the subscriptions may be called up at the start to make possible direct loans by the bank.

In the main, however, the business of the bank will be conducted either by selling securities in markets in which money is available and lending the proceeds or by selling the securities of borrowing countries with its own guarantee, he said.

FAMILY BILL DETAILS COME UP FOR DEBATE

Measure Sent to Banking and Commerce Committee After Opposition to Provision for Reduction of Allowances to Large Families Heard.

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—(P)—The Senate yesterday referred the Government's Family Allowances Bill to its Banking and Commerce Committee after hearing opposition to the provision for reduction of allowances to large families.

Speakers who took part in the debate expressed general support for the principle of the measure, but Senator Ivor Ballis (P.C., Ontario) said he considered it was presented with "undue haste" and should be referred to a Dominion-Provincial conference before it was passed.

Other speakers included Senator John T. Haig, Acting Progressive Conservative Leader; Sir Thomas Chapais (Lib., Quebec); Senator Cyrille Vaillancourt (Lib., Quebec); Senator J. J. Duffus (Lib., Ontario) and Senator J. H. G. Lacasse (Lib., Ontario).

The Upper House passed the bill providing for a floor on fishery products and a bill amending the customs tariff. It will meet again Monday.

Senator Haig said administration of the allowances should be handled by the provinces.

"I favor the principle of this bill, but that's all that can be said in its favor," he said.

Australia-India Airline Operates

Sydney, Aug. 4.—(C.P. Cable)—Hudson Fysh, Managing Director of Qantas Empire Airways, today revealed that Australia has for more than a year been operating a regular air service from Northern Australia to Ceylon, providing the only air link between the Commonwealth and India.

Mr. Fysh said the route is over 3,500 miles of Indian Ocean and is "a vital part of the Allied war transport system." The service was inaugurated at the British Government's wish to reunite Australia with the Empire Air Service from England to India.

The regular Australia-India service was cut off following the shooting down by Japanese planes of the flying boat Corio near Koeperang, Dutch East Indies, on February 4th, 1942.

Catalina flying boats have thus far carried out the service, Mr. Fysh said, but they were now being augmented by larger, faster, land-type aircraft.

Exclusion Of Japanese Immigration Provided In King's Post-War Plans

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—(P)—British Columbia's long-standing Japanese problem became a national problem as Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced in the Commons the Government's post-war plan for dealing with Canadians of Japanese origin.

The plan involves:
1.—Exclusion of Japanese immigration.

2.—An investigation to determine which persons of Japanese origin now in Canada are loyal and which are disloyal.

3.—Transportation to Japan of all found to be disloyal and any others who wish to leave.

4.—Dispersal of those who are loyal and wish to remain throughout Canada with safeguards against their concentration in any one area.

Mr. King said the policy to be followed was a "continental policy" and would have regard to what was being done in the United States although the policies in the two countries need not necessarily be identical.

Major German Retreat For Seventy Miles To Seine River Probable

Villers Bocage and Esquay and Two Important Hills Captured in Forward Sweep of British Second Army Forces.

By GLADWIN HILL,
Associated Press War Correspondent.
London, Aug. 5.—(P)—British 2nd Army forces, knocking loose the keystones of German defences West of the Orne river after battering at them for six days, have advanced several miles on their eight-mile front and swarmed into evacuated Villers Bocage and captured Esquay, Evrecy and Hills 112 and 113—all points that Germans have defended fiercely for weeks.

As the British success—which includes capture of at least fifteen towns and villages—sent the Germans into general withdrawal from the whole Orne-Ordon valley Southwest of Caen, American troops swarmed over half the Breton peninsula today, thrusting nearly to the port of Nantes at its base and advancing to within eighty-five miles of Brest at its extremity.

The thrust by the 2nd Army was bringing closer a possible major German retreat to the Seine river seventy miles to the East and the opening of the way to Paris.

Giving up fifty square miles of territory in a five-mile retreat, the Germans South of the Canadian sector East of the Orne were defeated in a fierce battle to be moving the forces back and forth in great confusion. A Canadian officer at the front said: "The enemy is now extremely windy. He is trying desperately to provide some kind of a bolt hole for himself. These are moves of desperation."

The fall of Villers-Bocage left the Nazis with the choice of either pulling out or running the risk of having their forces trapped in a V-shaped wedge between the Ordon and Orne rivers extending from Evrecy Northeastward toward Caen.

The Supreme headquarters communiqué confirmed that the unslacking American 1st Army tank-infantry force driving West on the Breton peninsula had reached Loudac, 85 miles from the great port of Brest at the Penzance end.

(The Germans told of a penetration to Pontivy, ten miles further.) The American columns driving South of Rennes on two roughly parallel roads to Nantes reached Derval and Chateaubriant, 30 and 33 miles above Nantes respectively.

These American troops also threatened the U-boat base of St. Nazaire, West of Nantes, from near Derval and Chateaubriant, thirty-eight and forty miles away.

The American thrust through Brittany—opposed so far only by ineffectual isolated German garrisons—

PARLIAMENT LIKELY TO ADJOURN AUG. 12

Ottawa, Aug. 5.—(P)—It seemed to be the almost unanimous opinion on Parliament Hill last night that Parliament would adjourn Aug. 12. In fact some members were expressing the view that the Government would call for adjournment on that date whether the business was concluded or not.

There are three principal debates yet to be launched, one on housing, one on mustering out allowances to members of the Armed Forces when demobilization comes and the committee report on the amendments to the Bank Act which extends the charters of the commercial banks.

There is a great bulk of estimates yet to be passed, but few are contentious.

Dewey Predicts On Own Election

St. Louis, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, calling the "problem of friction between local and federal governments" solved so far as the Republican Party is concerned, predicted last night his own election to the Presidency in November "regardless of the war news."

Winding up a series of political conferences after a two-day meeting with the other Republican Governors, the Republican nominee told a news conference a complete unity of thinking had been achieved as between 20 points of views represented by the heads of the state governments who were present.

"My experience has shown that if you render an important service in government, the people respond," Mr. Dewey said. "This has been a precedent-making event in the service of this country."

nations she should fulfil the role for which she was best suited—that of leader of lesser nations.

"Whether intentionally or not the fact is that the foreign policy of the present Government is leading in the direction of making Canada a small nation," Mr. Green said.

Mr. Caldwell said any thoughts of maintaining the peace in a "big-power world" should be laid aside.

Mr. King announced that Canada has received no authoritative invitation to join the Pan-American union. The Government was considering membership in the union, but no action in that regard would be taken until after the war.

Mr. King said Britain, the United States, Russia and China had proposed the establishment of a world council to act as the central agency for watching over the peace of the world and initiating action to remove threats of war and other causes of serious disagreement or dissension.

The four great powers would have permanent representation on the council, and it was suggested that "by a process of election or selection yet to be worked out, a number of representatives of other states have temporary membership on the council."

His forces captured 300 localities yesterday West of Kaunas on both sides of the highway leading to Königsberg, East Prussian capital, and Southwest of Mirampole. Capture of Nova Wies put one column within four miles of Suwalki and within sixteen miles of East Prussia.

The Moscow communique announced the capture of Goryslawice, thirty-seven miles Northeast of Kaunas, and Nowy Korczyn, on the Vistula, seven miles Southeast of Goryslawice. The intermediate towns of Sponica and Pacanow were captured in a total bag of 100 localities.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." (John 4:24).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit, God, has created all in and of Himself. Spirit never created matter. There is nothing in Spirit out of which matter could be made, for, as the Bible declares, without the Logos, the Aeon or Word of God, 'was not anything made that was made.' "Every time we try to get out the C.C.F. we give another argument to them," said Senator Haig.

Senator Haig said he was opposed to reducing the allowance in families with more than four children and he thought the allowances should be continued beyond the age of 16.

OPTIMISTIC ON POLISH ISSUE

Moscow, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Foreign missions regarded the Polish diplomatic situation with reserved optimism today after the Premier of the Polish Government in London held a long conference with Premier Marshal Stalin, who had severed relations with the administration fifteen months ago.

Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, who came here from London, was preparing for discussions with the rival and Soviet-supported Polish Committee of National Liberation as the next logical step following his conversation with Stalin.

For two and one-half hours the two leaders talked in the Kremlin.

While there was no official announcement, persons close to Mikolajczyk said he was impressed by the way he was received by Stalin and by the open frankness of the discussion.

The fact that the Polish Premier will meet with the Polish Committee was hailed as a good sign by foreign diplomats who hope to see the Polish question solved.

Mikolajczyk was keeping in close touch with W. Averell Harriman, U. S. Ambassador, and with the British Ambassador Sir Archibald Kerr.

riest forces—brought invasion troops for the first time into territory of strong Maquis resistance, where front line co-operation with French forces of the interior is possible.

In the Department of Morbihan bordering the Bay of Biscay in Southern Brittany, French patriots for months have been blasting German communications and skirmishing with the Nazis. In these battles some 1,400 Germans have been reported killed against a loss of 200 members of the Maquis.

South of the area of the British triumph in the Bocage country the Germans still had a salient several miles wide and several miles long jutting up into Allied territory between the contested city of Vire and the Orne River, but this is being rapidly battered in by several parallel Allied spearheads shoving East from the Avranches area.

The Americans were driving East from Brittany as well as up the peninsula. They captured and passed Fougères, 30 miles Northeast of Rennes, and farther Northeast struck to within little more than a mile of Barentan, 24 miles East of Avranches.

TO THE ELECTORS

STANSTEAD COUNTY:

Someone has published that there is a row in the Liberal camp, in Stanstead County.

The Liberals of Stanstead County had a regular Convention at which both Mr. Fregeau, the outgoing member, and Mr. Maurice Theroux were present and put up their candidature. I was there as the Liberal Minister of the Eastern Townships and told the electors, they were perfectly free to choose a candidate of their choice. The vote of the delegates was taken and Mr. Theroux won. Mr. Fregeau then rose from his seat, addressed the delegates, accepted the choice of Mr. Theroux and said he would support him.

Later Mr. Fregeau decided to come out as an independent Liberal and I am told that on Tuesday, he met a group of friends and agreed to withdraw; but again changed his mind, and he is now coming as an independent Liberal, against the choice of the Convention.

The Godbout Government has but one candidate in Stanstead County and I would ask all the electors not to be deceived and to give their whole-hearted support to Mr. Theroux, who, on Tuesday next, with your support, will be elected in Stanstead County.

"Keep Knitting" Is The Motto Of Many Women Active On Home Front

BERTHA WESTON PRICE

There are many and varied activities connected with wartime work which go on day after day, year after year, with little comment, except that pertaining to routine. From the beginning women have served in every capacity possible and now in the fourth year there is no release.

Many women in the home, some of them aged and growing feeble, give nobly of their talent and strength, with little notice taken of the results of their labor; due in part to the fact that their work is sent away with no loss of time and the workers go on and on. Knitting is one of the big industries in which women are kept on duty as wartime workers, just as surely as those who are making shells and driving motor cars. The demand over exceeds the supply and so they keep knitting.

Occasionally we read about, or hear of women whose record in this kind of work is outstanding, while there are many of whom we know little. Yet it is stimulating to learn that aged women are keeping the pace. A few instances may be cited where records of work done give credit where it is due and pay a simple compliment to those faithful workers, many of whom served in the late war.

Mrs. Eleanor Beattie, who resides with her son and family at Willowdale Farm, while in her eighties, is a constant knitter, and has a good record of work done since war work began. Mrs. Beattie specializes in soldiers' socks and, in her modest way, she can knit a sock a day, that making three pairs a week, already running into the hundreds, and, if war knitting continues, may bring her socks into four figures. A sock a day earns honorable mention and is an example of skill and patience. God bless her in her faithful work.

Mrs. Emma Moir, aged resident of Beebe, has passed her century milestone on the highway of life, and is still knitting. Her record for last year was one hundred pairs of socks.

Rflm. Mills And Sgt. Stoddard, E.T. Boys In Japan, Write Home

Two more letters have been received by Eastern Townships families from relative prisoners of war in Japanese prison camps with the arrival of one letter from Rifleman Alfred Mills, of Melbourne, which was addressed to his mother, Mrs. Walter Aborne, and the second received by Miss Sally Ann Stoddard, of Waterloo, from her father, Sergeant Selden G. Stoddard.

Both these men were taken prisoner at the time of the fall of Hong Kong to the Japanese, and in both cases the letters provide the first word of them heard since their capture.

Rflm. Mills told of his every-day life in the camp comprising the repairing shoes while his evenings are spent at games with his fellow-prisoners. He states that he is in good health, and has received letters from his mother.

His letter was received bearing no postmarks or date but the address of "Hong Kong, Camp S," was on the envelope.

Relief that Sgt. Stoddard had written his letter during last fall was brought out in a statement he made saying that he hoped his daughter had enjoyed her summer holidays on the farm. He also stated that he was in good health, and had high hopes of seeing his family soon. He closed by saying that he had received a snapshot of his children.

Likewise Sgt. Stoddard's letter bore no date or postmarks.

148 Cases Before Police Recorder In July Highest Number Since 1937

Recorder Raoul Gagne aired 148 cases in City Police Court, the largest number of any one month since 1937, according to the July report of the Sherbrooke Police and Fire Department issued today by Director Percy Donahue.

There were 108 persons who paid fines totaling $833.40, with this amount establishing a new high in several years. Eight went to jail, four received suspended sentences, one case was dismissed, seven cases are pending, seven others were granted time to pay their fines, two cases were sent to the Magistrate's Court, and one person was given time in jail.

Twenty-one persons were picked up for vagrancy last month, making the highest number of arrests in a month on this charge in two years. Drunkenness was on the upswing in July with 42 counts being preferred, while twenty-seven others were charged with being drunk and disorderly. Five faced charges of violating the various municipal by-laws, one, breaking entering and theft; two, common assault, and one, non support.

That police are continuing their drive against careless motorists is indicated in the number of 238 traffic tickets issued last month and the decline in car accidents. Auto mishaps dropped from seven in June to three in July, although one child was killed and two persons injured. Thirty-five drivers were charged under the Motor Act and fourteen others violated municipal traffic by-laws.

Fire calls, twenty-three in number, were the lowest of the year last month, while police calls totalled 410. The latter was a drop of eleven calls over June.

Nine persons were injured in eight other mishaps in the city. Other statistics compiled by Secretary Majella Vigneault disclosed that police received five dangerous places, picked-up or destroyed twenty-three animals, restored seventeen lost children to their parents, offered protection fourteen times and ordered repairs to seventy-six street lights.

Fewer Vendors And Buyers Evident On Lansdowne But Trading Steady

Fewer traders appeared on Lansdowne Market yesterday as farmers were apparently taking advantage of the fine haying weather and were gathering in their hay crops, while buyers were also present in smaller numbers, the sweltering temperatures apparently accounting for their absence.

Steady sales were reported from all stalls with the meat market apparently capturing the largest amount of business. Cooked meats were in best demand, while roasts of veal and pork were also selling well.

Few changes were noted on the vegetable market while trading remained steady, although dropping off towards the afternoon. The vegetables were selling in most cases according to size, such as cauliflowers, with prices varying between 15 and 25 cents each, cabbages between 5 and 10 cents each and cucumbers between 5 and 25 cents each. Green beans were in good demand at 10 and 15 cents per pound, depending on quality and size. Hothouse tomatoes were selling at 10 cents per pound, while new potatoes were down to 40 cents per peck.

A good day was experienced on the dairy market, with cheese selling well while eggs held a fairly steady demand. No changes in prices were evident in either branches of the dairy market while supplies were being received in sufficient good number to cover the demands.

No changes were noted in the fruit market as prices remained the same and supplies were steady. The season's raspberry crop is beginning to come in much better and larger quantities of raspberries were offered for sale on the market. A quart basket was selling for 40 cents.

TIGHTENING OF REGULATIONS BY PRICES BOARD

The new order on manufacture of women's, misses' and children's dresses is not a relaxation of former restrictions, but is a tightening of regulations to make them more enforceable, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced today. The statement was issued to clear up public misunderstanding of the amending order.

There will be no increase in the amount of material used in individual models as a result of the changes, it was explained. Manpower re-

HEAT WAVE AT NEW HIGH IN OVER 20 YEARS

For the second time this year, citizens of Sherbrooke and surrounding vicinities are suffering from an intense heat wave which has prevailed over most of the week, with temperatures ranging between a low maximum of 87, and on Wednesday reaching its second highest peak since 1921 as the mercury rose to 91 degrees.

Setting a record as one of the hottest summers experienced in this sector over a period of many years, two heat waves have struck the district during the last month and a half, first setting a new temperature high of 93 one day during the June heat wave, a figure that has only been reached on one other occasion during the past twenty-three years, and on Wednesday rising to within two degrees of this record once again.

Nearly all plants and business concerns showed full attendance records as most employees had taken advantage of the first heat wave to visit lakes and summer resorts on their holidays, while those who are fortunate enough to be at beach-sides are enjoying the best of weather.

In the offices electric fans have once again attained a prominent position on stenographic desks, while water coolers are pouring out a steady stream of ice water to thirty employees. Soda fountains once again face the problem of refreshing shortages as clients crowd the counters and fill the 'ables to seating capacity.

Out in the country farmers are rejoicing over the change of weather from last week's rainstorms. Hay crops have dried out and are being gathered in as quickly as possible to avoid a further drenching from expected rains, while the best is proving ideal for grain and corn. Crop conditions are slightly below last year's results at this time of the year, but no shortage of foodstuffs is expected as a result.

In a statement released from the Experimental Farm in Lennoxville this morning, it was said that the heat is quickly drying up ground on the farms, which had up until last Tuesday been quite wet, but a few more days of the heat would do more good to the crops than farm as no signs of drought are evident.

Many Mishaps Could Be Avoided If Caution Exercised, Says Director

While a reduction in the number of accidents in the last month is noted over the preceding one, there are many mishaps which could be avoided, in the opinion of Director Percy Donahue of the Sherbrooke Police and Fire Department.

He stated this morning that probably fifty per cent of the accidents reported could be averted if proper care and caution were observed. Many pedestrians in accidents, he said, were careless and the mishaps resulting were their own fault. He noted that motorists have to be careful, much more so than pedestrians, with the exception of some few drivers.

Elderly people, Director Donahue continued, oftentimes take too much for granted in crossing streets, regarding the driver of every oncoming car as a cautious, careful operator, while as a matter of fact they may be taking a chance on the odd young driver with a reckless disregard for the slowness of those unable to jump quickly out of the way at the blowing of a horn.

Motorists and elderly people and children particularly are requested to exercise the greatest care and not rush across intersections against traffic lights or dash across streets to catch a bus, especially in the downtown area.

At the same time Director Donahue stated that bicycle accidents have become numerous recently and offered safety hints or cyclists, which, he said, should be observed.

"Cyclists must ride alone on a one-seater bicycle, never carry passengers and never forget that races of any kind are strictly forbidden; make a complete stop at all stop signs, boulevard, and main highway and railway level crossings.

"If his bicycle has been stolen, he should report to the police department immediately; if traffic is very heavy, get off the bicycle and walk; be especially cautious when the road is slippery, because of rain, sleet or ice.

"A delivery boy should never overload his bike, and should make sure that it is equipped with a standard box or basket; when travelling with other cyclists, ride single file; never stand on the roadway to repair a bicycle; avoid all stunts and 'horsey' while riding; make sure that handlebars, grips, saddle, pedals, chains, wheels, tires and other parts are in perfect order."

CITIZENS ASKED TO SAVE THEIR USED MAGAZINES

Officials of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club in charge of the campaign in collecting reading material for Canadians serving in the various theatres of war today asked local and Eastern Townships residents not to forget to save used magazines and books.

Magazines collected are sent to a magazine and book exchange in Montreal, which agency has distributed millions of magazines to men in the navies and merchant marines of the United Nations and to the Canadian Army Overseas.

Current issues of magazines are preferred. So much time is unavoidably lost in the distribution and circulation of the magazines once they get to the magazine exchange that the issues are old enough as it is when the boys get them.

As soon as donors are through with their magazines and other reading matter, they are requested to hold them for the Rotary Club collection. "It would be much appreciated," said one of the members of the Book and Magazine Committee.

O God, Who art the author of peace humble servants in all assaults of our enemies.

THE RACE IN BRITANNY

The fast-moving drive into Brittany seems to be developing into a race to determine whether American armored columns can overrun the peninsula with its magnificent ports before the weakened Germans can bring up reinforcements. Thus far the Americans have not encountered any organized Nazi front, and resistance has been comparatively light. This has been due in considerable degree to the fact that the Germans have had to pull many troops out of Brittany to defend their tottering Normandy Line.

Of course, we do not know how strongly the ports of Brest, St. Nazaire and Lorient—the chief objectives—may be garrisoned. However we got some measure of the enemy's weakness in the walk-over at the Breton capital of Rennes. This is a pivotal rail and highway centre and the Nazis would defend it to the best of their ability. If the Germans are not already holding the ports strongly, their prospects are slim. By capturing Rennes the Americans have severed the main railroad into the Peninsula and one column is thrusting swiftly across the base of the big triangle towards St. Nazaire while another heads for Brest at the apex.

Although the Southern two-thirds of the base is still open, the Allied air armada is rendering communications devilishly precarious. The air force is a major factor in this battle of lightning movement which may teach Hitler something about the blitz warfare which he instituted in 1939 with so much bombast.

The Breton peninsula is a pearl of great price. Not only will its fine ports greatly increase our capacity to pour troops into France, but—and this is of great importance—Hitler's U-boats have been using Brest, Lorient and St. Nazaire as prime bases from which to raid Allied shipping.

Berlin now admits that Marshal Rommel, field commander on the invasion front, suffered concussion of the brain, although he is said to be doing well. One wonders how much the Nazis have felt the loss of his undoubted skill. They likely wish now he could have remained on the job, to settle the argument with his old antagonist, Montgomery, even if general belief holds Monty as the better man by a long way.

Allied progress in the Battle of France is indeed gratifying. As General Montgomery says "We are hitting the Hun a good crack." So are the Russian armies and the Allies in Italy. Still we should not let this good fortune blind us to the fact that this is the moment when the Allies are expending their greatest volume of material at the flaming fronts. We must not slacken the essential production for a minute or we shall lose our chance for an early knockout. While the Allies may have a good supply of some types of equipments fighting men are expending other material in such vast quantities that we cannot keep up with it unless we go out all the time.

A WASTED APPEAL

Within the past few days, that group of twenty-eight North American clergymen and writers who petition the British and United States Governments to halt the bombing of German and German-occupied cities has issued an appeal to Germany "not to engage in the wanton cruelty of robot bombing and other methods of civilian massacre." The first appeal was made despite the fact that Germany started the idea of wanton civilian bombing four years ago with the attack on Coventry and by ignoring the fact that the Allies could never give up the bombing of German war industries.

From recent reports of the atrocities of the Germans, not only against prisoners of war and people of occupied lands, but against their own countrymen, these men must be guillible indeed if they think that by asking Hitler and his aides to conduct war in as humane a manner as possible, the Huns will complacently comply. Rather the Germans will continue to use robot bombs and if they can make bigger ones and more of them they will do so. In fact the British Home Secretary, Herbert Morrison, indicated in the House of Commons on Monday that the Government hears that bigger ones are in prospect.

This is something that the peacemakers will have to take into consideration. It will be easy to place a limit on the size of German and Japanese armies, navies and air forces but robot bombs of gigantic size, power and destructive effect could be made in the remote parts of the country, and thousands of them launched in a single night, not only against London but against the faraway cities. Engineers have stated that such things are possible. Robot bombs offer an appalling picture of the wars of the future, especially if one nation has a jump on another unsuspecting nation.

This is a problem of the peace table and drastic steps will have to be taken to control the menace if the wildest dreams of Jules Verne and the creator of Superman are not to be translated into grim reality.

TURKEY'S TROUBLES

Perhaps one of the reasons why Turkey has been rather reluctant until the past few weeks to throw its lot wholeheartedly into the United Nations camp is revealed in the series of political trials now taking place in the Turkish courts. But these trials also show that a serious attempt is being made to clear up a serious political scandal.

A well-organized Turkish fifth column, with Istanbul as its centre and with its branches throughout the whole country, including the most remote places of Eastern Anatolia, had been working systematically for Hitler. And this probably accounts for the continued presence of the arch Nazi conspirator, Franz von Papen, in Turkey long after his welcome had worn out. The slogans of this organization were Pan-Turanism and Pan-Islam; they were also chauvinistic, anti-foreign and anti-Jewish.

Its aim was a Fascist coup d'etat. Right under the noses of the Turkish political police this organization was able not only to form itself but also to work and agitate undisturbed for almost four years, and keep closest contact with the Mohammedan S. S. whose leader is the notorious mufti of Jerusalem.

RESTOCKING EUROPE'S LIBRARIES

The British Council of Libraries is working out a plan for restocking European libraries after the war, as these institutions have been the heaviest sufferers from the vandalism of their conquerors and the effects of bombing attacks. Of course the priceless volumes that have been destroyed can never be restored but reprints of them may become available. Likewise, considerable effort will be required to repossess those volumes which have been stolen and sold by their plunderers to individuals and institutions throughout the world. But a committee will be appointed as soon as possible after the hostilities cease to bring the war-damaged libraries of Europe up to something approaching their 1939 strength.

The Inter-Allied Book Centre already has received promises for something more than a million and a half volumes. It will be impossible to say yet how these books will be allocated or what proportion will remain to restock the blitzed British libraries.

Books on technical subjects are particularly desired as the coverage of these matters is less thorough than the interest in them. The Centre is also building of a store of new books, but British publishers have not been able to make definite post-war plans for supplying the European market because of the present paper shortages. The home front demand for books will have to be satisfied before new books for the continent can be produced in quantity.

AID TO ENEMY

St. Catharines Standard
A high officer in the command of General Eisenhower, has delivered some remarks to which attention should be paid. Invidious comparisons as to the extent of advances made in Normandy by the American and the equipment of British and American troops are nothing but aid to the enemy, if they are continued. This officer declared that the success of an operation was not gauged by the extent of the advance but was sized up on the strategic value gained from it. Hitler has spent half a million lives by his crazy insistence and orders to German troops never to give up an inch of ground, but this Allied officer said the Allies would not fight that way, but were glad that Hitler did.

There are no lives in the British, Canadian and American armies which are not expendable for value received, but dissipation of the lives of brave men for something not worthwhile will never be justified in the Anglo-Saxon concept of war.

TEACHING PRISONERS

Manchester Guardian
Illiteracy among the 80,000 Italian prisoners of war in this country when they arrived was as high as 25 per cent. Today, according to the Y. M. C. A., which has organized many reading and writing classes, it has been reduced to five per cent. Thus about 18,000 Italians have learned the three R's in this country and will go home no longer dependent on the local village scribe when they want to write a letter.

In all we hold over 350,000 Italian prisoners of war in the Commonwealth and North Africa. If the percentage of illiterate ones is as high as among those in England, some 90,000 Italians must have been illiterate. Much less fortunate in this respect is the lot of those Italian prisoners of war who now wear the chocolate-colored uniform of the Italian Pioneer Companies recruited from former prisoners of war. Many of these men have only just arrived in England. Their new status removes them from the special amenities offered to prisoners of war. Thus, according to a British officer attached to one of these pioneer companies, he cannot get the books or the musical instruments which he used to procure easily in the real prisoner camps.

The newspapers grow smaller. Advertising space is cut down. News stories are told more tersely. We are told to conserve paper—all sorts of paper. Old files have been cleaned out and the paper given to the salvage drive. Children are commended for gathering up paper that might otherwise go to waste. But in all this excellent programme there is one class of people, a very large class at that, who apparently have never heard of the need to save paper. These are the news agents, otherwise on their various levels known as publicists, public-relations experts, information bureaus and drum-beaters.

EVERY PERSON SHOULD VOTE
To the Editor of the Record.

Dear Sir:—In spite of the seeming confusion and doubts as to whom to vote for, it is the duty of everyone who has a vote to register it. And to the doubtful, one might suggest they can't go far wrong if they attack the matter alphabetically. For instance, whose candidate shall we vote for? Duplessis, Godbout, or Laurendeau, etc. You pick out the Duplessis candidate, mark your "X" and that's all there is to it insofar as this election is concerned; or to reduce it to local conditions, Bourque, Gingras or Rouleau, you mark your "X" at Bourque, hand in your ticket and walk out. The business of voting is thus practically automatic.

What is the Duplessis policy? If one may indulge in a paraphrase, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," (in which Caesar is the Province of Quebec as Duplessis sees it) and unto Mackenzie King no more than you have to. M. K. is the fellow to whom Godbout is camp follower. There you have both attitudes in a nut-shell. The Bloc policy? I'm sunk. Every time I see the word I think of a chunk of wood. I suppose it's like tomatoes you have to acquire a taste.

Cast your vote for J. S. Bourque, you people of Sherbrooke County, you gave him the Provincial mandate and he has given every reason for you to let him retain it. If we let the other man in, I for one will believe that Barnum was right, when he said that a sucker is born every minute.

Yours truly,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

IDENTICAL HAND IS DEALT TO FOUR

The chance of any foursome of bridge players getting identical hands, suit for suit and spot for spot, is roughly one in 635,200,000,000. The chance of any player getting two hands exactly alike is one in 157,800,000,000 or thereabouts. Yet Mrs. Myrtis Glenn, who conducts duplicate games at the Stratmore Vanderbilt Country Club at Manhasset, L.I., writes me that the first of these improbabilities occurred at a recent game of hers. To prove it she sends in the hand, with the verifying signatures of the 12 ladies who played in the game.

High score was made by a matron who opened with three no trumps as dealer, and when her partner bid four, she stretched a bit to six. South won and again entered dummy with a diamond to take a spade finesse. East covered the seven with the eight and the ten won. South twelfth trick.

Victorian Order of Nurses Notes and Jottings

In a recent issue of the Record there appeared in the column "From The Record File of Thirty Years Ago," the following item of interest to very many of its readers:

"At a meeting in the Art Hall the decision was reached to establish a Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Sherbrooke. The provisional committee comprised Mrs. A. N. Worthington, Mrs. George Hume, Mrs. T. M. Craig, Mrs. H. H. Odell and Mrs. J. Rosenbloom.

The item was of particular interest to those who were responsible three years ago for carrying on the work of the organization and will doubtless remind those who are in the vanguard of the beginning by the establishment of a unit in Sherbrooke and Lennoxville with a faith and courage that are well worth emulating today.

The first annual reports for the six months of the branch's activities showed that 33 patients had been cared for and 1,150 visits made by the nurses in charge numbered 360. Of these patients 26 paid for services given and the others received free treatment.

This must have seemed a small beginning to some of the members of the Executive, and in all probability, to more of the general public. Was there any need of this service?

Following years have given an emphatic affirmative answer to the question. The next year, the first full year of service, the number of patients cared for had risen to 163, with a total of 1,310 visits.

The steady progress made by the V.O.N. in Sherbrooke and vicinity has been ample justification for the decision made by that group of public-minded women to establish here a branch of the first public nursing service in Canada, and which was inaugurated by Royal Charter in 1897 as a national memorial to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

The present staff of the local V.O.N. numbers four. Last year, 1943, V.O.N. nurses cared for 1,150 patients and made 8,712 visits. In addition, they attended 44 Child Welfare clinics and made 37 visits to public schools, both of which services are of great importance in the interests of public health. The inclusion of Collinsville and other areas within the city limits has enlarged the area of the district served by our nurses. Two automobiles are maintained by the Branch for the use of the staff.

The aims of the Victorian Order have been set forth briefly and comprehensively in the following statement:

1.—To supply a visit nursing service for the use of men, women or child in Canada, irrespective of color, race or creed.

2.—To meet the special requirements of the many patients whose cases do not demand the full-time services of a nurse, of those who have neither the means to pay for the full-time services of a nurse, nor household accommodation to offer her, as well as for those who for various reasons cannot, or need not, go into hospital.

3.—To assist in establishing and maintaining the highest possible standard of efficiency for all nursing services.

These aims should appeal to all who are interested in the care of the sick, which most of us are at some time in our experience, and also in the promotion of public health and welfare. The V.O.N. is a tried friend in the time of individual and community emergencies, as we shall see in next week's article.

AN OPEN LETTER to the LADIES OF SHERBROOKE from the Hon. MAURICE GINGUES

Dear Madam:

On Tuesday next, August 8th, it will be your privilege, for the first time, to vote in a Provincial election.

This privilege carries with it a very real personal responsibility which you cannot evade.

If you do not vote at all, you simply deduct one vote from the responsible candidate you would naturally choose, and actually add one vote to the irresponsible party whose future acts would adversely affect your happiness and prosperity.

You have the choice of three candidates in Sherbrooke.

The "Bloc Populaire," a group of men, inexperienced in the administration of public affairs, who have fanatical ideas of isolation and complete domination.

The "Union Nationale," which more than doubled the Provincial debt and seriously jeopardized the credit of this Province during three years of riotous spending and unwise administration.

The Liberal party, under Premier Adelard Godbout, which has administered this Province during the past five difficult years — granted votes to women — provided free education for children — abolished tolls on bridges — granted large sums to schools, universities and hospitals — improved roads, made a reduction of over twenty million dollars in the Provincial debt and completely restored the fine financial standing of our Province, with complete fairness to all classes and creeds.

You are earnestly requested to make your choice and record your vote EARLY on Tuesday next, August 8th.

Respectfully yours,

MAURICE GINGUES,
Liberal Candidate.

"Two Girls And A Sailor" Opens As Main Picture At Granada

Jose Iturbi watches Gracie Allen rehearse her celebrated One Finger Piano Concerto for her triumphant rendition of the composition in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new musical, "Two Girls and a Sailor," coming tomorrow to the Granada Theatre. Iturbi, Van Johnson, June Allyson, Gloria De Haven and Jimmy Durante all have leading roles in the film.

"Two Girls and a Sailor," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musical which opens tomorrow at the Granada, is one of those rare films about which a reviewer need not hesitate to use all the superlatives in the dictionary.

It's one of the best musicals of this or any other season. Half-a-dozen stars bring it to exciting screen life under the superb direction of Richard Thorpe and the just as superb production by Joseph Pasternak.

Here are Van Johnson, June Allyson and Gloria De Haven, fast on their way to stardom, as the sailor and the two girls he mysteriously befriends by setting up an entire servicemen's canteen for them and, what is more, falling in love first with one and then with the other. The picture brings Jimmy Durante back to the screen, and that is great news indeed! Jimmy, the "Schnozz" himself, is in rare form as he portrays a retired, ex-vaudevillean who has lost confidence in himself and fears to attempt a comeback. Jimmy, who's "never been away," as the saying goes, really puts on a show, including his celebrated "Inka Dinka Doo."

Then there are Lena Horne, one of the top singers of the day; Gracie Allen, whose One Finger Piano Concerto will bring howls of delight; Virginia O'Brien, the dead-pan singer; Jose Iturbi, who plays a mean piano; and Harry James and Xavier Cugat and their orchestras — "nufft said!"

You'll love the songs, including "In a Moment of Madness," "Sweet and Lovely," "Granada," "Take It Easy," "Young Man With a Horn" and "A Love Like Ours," among many others.

Special mention must be made of the beautiful dream sequence in which Van Johnson is seen as an admiral and Jimmy Durante in various guises befitting his versatility and rare talents.

"Two Girls and a Sailor" is recommended for everyone big and little, young and old. It is entertainment with a capital "E" from start to finish. Put "Two Girls and a Sailor" on your "must" list.

A MESSAGE TO THE
ELECTORS
OF BROME COUNTY

JONATHAN ROBINSON

I come before you for the third time to ask for your support. My programme is not a spectacular one, but one which I think you will approve of and one in which I believe.

1. I will continue my efforts towards obtaining good roads throughout the County with the particular aim of having the main highways in the County hard-surfaced.

2. I will continue working for a proper educational system.

3. I will continue in my endeavours to have the people in the County of Brome receive the help to which they are entitled, regardless of race, creed or party.

4. I will put forth every effort towards improving the lot of the returned soldiers, both now and after the war.

5. I will put forth every effort towards making Brome County as attractive for tourists in winter as it is in summer.

I make no political promises whatsoever, nor do I offer you any assurance that I will be able to carry out my ideas. I simply place myself before you on my past record of eight years as your Deputy, and I feel sure that those of you who vote for me on August 8th will not have misplaced their confidence.

Yours sincerely,

JONATHAN ROBINSON.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS AT MT. PLEASANT

Sixty-Eight Entries Received, Sixteen Matches This Week-End

The annual Mount Pleasant Tennis Tournament will get underway this afternoon on the Club courts as four men's singles and two ladies' singles matches will start the ball rolling at two o'clock, followed by one match in the men's doubles class under the arid lights tonight.

With sixty-eight of the club's members entered in the competition, the tournament promises to provide some of the best tennis to be witnessed in this vicinity. Two present champions will defend their titles in the singles tournaments, Marcel Darche winner of the men's crown last year, and Therese Boisvert will have her ladies' singles championship at stake as she steps into the courts, while Ivan Boivert and Marcel Darche will fight together to retain their men's doubles crown, as will Therese Boisvert and Ida Goyette defend their title in the ladies' doubles.

Marcel Darche will be participating in the defence of another title as he teams up with his last year's championship partner, Marcel Boisvert, and together they will defend their title of mixed doubles champions.

Applications for entry into the competition were accepted up until last night at six o'clock when the entry list was closed off with a total of sixty-eight names. Plans for the drawing of opponents have been completed by officials of the Mount Pleasant Club and all participants will be advised of the choices made.

The trophies for which the participants will be competing have been on display in the show windows at Codere Ltd. for the past two weeks and certainly provide attractions well worth the good competition and expert racket handling that will be necessary before the trophies will be carried off.

In a statement released last night following a meeting of the organizers of the tournament, it was announced that with favorable weather prevailing the matches should be completed over a period of about two weeks, but in the case of rain-out games they will be re-entered on the schedule with a view to losing as little time as possible in arriving at the final decisions and the crowning of the champions.

The matches promise to be very closely contested and lots of excitement can be expected even before the final stages, as not only have last year's champions to meet resistance from their old rivals, but a good deal of new talent has been entered into this year's tournament, and to defend a title against some of the entries is liable to prove a trying proposition.

All competitors in these tournaments are to be congratulated upon their good response in submitting their applications into the matches, and may rest well-assured, that after showing such enthusiasm will not be hindered by inefficient arrangements or management on the part of the organizers. The large number of entries is appreciated by the club, and in return all will be done to make the contests as interesting as possible from the choosing of opponents right the way down to the final decisions of champions.

The following are the matches to be played over the week-end on the two courts:

Saturday:
2 p.m.: Doug. Lillie vs. Robert Person; Bert Gagnon vs. Robert Dupuis.
3 p.m.: Gaston Blais vs. George Vincent; Leonard Proulx vs. Roger Gagnon.
4 p.m.: Marthe Tanguay vs. Mrs. Gaston Marcoux; Helen Fitzgerald vs. Lucille Cadorette.

Sunday:
2 p.m.: Marthe Robert vs. Celine Gagnon; Jean Levesque vs. Marcel Dupuis.
3 p.m.: Fernand Robert vs. Gerard Proulx; Louise Trigane vs. Pauline Joyal.
4 p.m.: Jack Dauncey vs. Gaston Marcoux; Lise Robert vs. Josephine Crochetiere.

REDS-SENATORS SPLIT DOUBLE, WHITE SOX WIN

Boston, Aug. 5.—(P)—Boston Red Sox opened a 21-game home stand yesterday by splitting an American League doubleheader with Washington Senators. Emmett O'Neill, Red Sox hurler, shut out the Senators with a two-hit, 4-0 victory in the nightcap after Washington took the opener, 7-5.

O'Neill's fast ball was clicking yesterday in the second game and between the second and eighth inning he retired 19 batters in a row. Only three Senators reached first base and George Case was O'Neill's only problem, reaching third base in the first inning and second base in the ninth.

With Case on third, Stan Spence, fled out to Leon Culberson, whose bullet thrown from centerfield doubled Case at the plate, the nearest Washington came to scoring.

Batters To Demand Inspection Of Potter's Spitball Throws

By HARRY GRAYSON

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Being ejected for throwing the spitball makes Nelson Potter of the Browns a marked man. Batters from now on will demand that the umpire look at the ball practically every time Potter puts anything on it.

The rule against using a foreign substance on the ball, passed at the winter meetings of 1920, was designed to eliminate all trick deliveries with the spitball, but some of the boys have cheated here and there ever since.

The ball darted every which way when Dave Danforth scuffed it. Umpire George Moriarty tossed out 20 or 30 balls one afternoon while Southpaw Danforth was fashioning a four-hit game for the Browns.

Those who depended entirely upon doctoring the ball were in a bad way when the umpire started to call them. An emery ball pitcher of unusual speed, Hod Eller of the Reds established World Series records by striking out six White Sox in a row and a total of 10 in thephony show of 1919. Eller's emery ball broke in and out and down—and up when he threw a slider. But Eller quickly disappeared from the scene when denied the use of emery.

Two swipes on his trouser leg and Eddy Cicotte of unhappy Black Sox memory had one side of the sphere shined like a ballroom slipper. Forging with Poat, an overhead pitcher with perfect control, the ball broke in and out and down, depending on how it was held.

Cicotte either never revealed his secret or no other pitcher could master the knack. Cicotte professed to show Frank Shellenback the trick when the current Red Sox coach was a youngster with the White Sox.

"I'd hold and throw the ball precisely the same way, but nothing would happen," relates Shellenback. "The pitch would be as straight as a string. Then Eddie would demonstrate, and the batter could not have hit the ball with a telegraph pole."

In Cicotte's day, pitchers used the seam of the ball with their thumbs and belt buckles—even carried nails for the purpose of giving the pellet the works. They roughened the sphere with sandpaper, emery and fingernails. Loading the seam with mud made it dart in unexpected directions.

Howard Ehmke of the Athletics actually stuck a wad of gum on the ball in the first game of the 1929 set at Wrigley Field, when he broke Hod Eller's record for strikeouts in a World Series game by sending 13 Cubs back to the dugout talking to themselves.

Pitchers with unusually strong grips loosened the cover, and tossed a "bunk" ball.

They discolored the ball with tobacco juice, mud, licorice, coffee and whatnot. They shined one side and blackened the other, or even greased black and white effect. One time around the infield and a new ball looked like one just retrieved from a tar vat.

It was a famous fluttering cuff of Dazzy Vance that brought about the rule proscribing pitchers from working with grease on slit sleeves which have the effect of confusing the batter. Johnny Allen, then of the Indians, was the last to run afoul of this rule. Joe Vance, who had trials with the White Sox and Yankees, wore a shiny ring on his pitching hand.

Booming bats have made pitchers devise many ways of self-protection.

Locals Have Chance To Wrest League Lead From Acton Vale

Sherbrooke's entry in the Provincial Baseball League, the Notre Dame nine, will make two trips tomorrow, playing in Acton Vale in the afternoon and proceeding on to Three Rivers in the evening, looking forward to two victories which will put them at the top of the league standing once again.

At the present time Sherbrooke trails Acton Vale by only .004 points, having won 13 and lost 6, compared to Acton Vale's 11 wins against 5 losses. In order to gain the lead, Sherbrooke would have to defeat both Acton Vale and Three Rivers, or would still move ahead of the league providing Acton Vale dropped both of their week-end tussles, one with Drummondville on Saturday afternoon and the second with Sherbrooke on Sunday.

The only other game scheduled to take place over the week-end will see the Drummondville squad travel to Victoriaville to tackle the occupants of the Provincial cellar on Sunday.

Much better performances have been witnessed on all diamonds throughout the league in recent games as the play-offs loom ahead and the race for highest standings among the five teams increases in intensity with every game. At the start of the year all clubs were a little loose in the outfield and infield performance showed up a little rusty on numerous occasions, but today's league boasts a much better brand of baseball displayed by greatly improved teams.

Among the main points gained in occupying choice berths in the league when the play-offs roll around is the ruling that such teams as will occupy these main berths will play the greater number of games in the semi-finals and finals on their own home grounds which is a well-known advantage for the team, which not only plays under more familiar conditions on its own diamond but also receives a stronger moral support from the audience.

The winner decided by the final play downs will rate championship honors in the St. Francis District and will play-off with the Yamaska, Quebec and Montreal League winners, with the championship of the entire Province of Quebec at stake.

For the local nine the week-end will be of great importance and will undoubtedly provide some highly interesting moments. Thus far in the season the Notre Dame lads have had comparatively little trouble in tackling the Three Rivers' nine,

Toronto, Aug. 5.—(P)—Ogopogo, the Reluctant Dragon of the Okanagan Valley, is back in the news again. The elusive reptile of the deep, the purported fire-breathing monster that frightens tourists, craned their necks to spot during tours of the famed Okanagan Valley, may be induced to appear as the special feature attraction at the Aquatic Carnival in Kelowna, B. C.

Ogopogo is credited with creating considerable interest in drawing many of the curious to witness the swimming and diving events at the regatta. Even if they didn't see him, the visitors always had the hope they might spot the dripping, weed-clothing head of the legendary critter poking above the dimpled lake waters.

That's rather important for the good burghers of Kelowna too, because they are hoping some day to stage the Canadian Swimming Championships in the sheltered inland waters.

So it's up to Ogopogo, if he has any community spirit in his clammy veins, to do his stuff and show himself to the visitors so the Kelowna notch events on the continent.

Still Flying High

Johnny Learing, Champ Canadian hurdler and contestant in '35 Olympic, stole the show at a recent track meet at the Nery Training Station in St. Hyacinthe. Although he hadn't raced competitively since early 1943, Johnny captured three firsts and one second to win a brace of cups for his team. Johnny, a Lieutenant-Commander, is head of the Radio School at the station.

Another well-known athlete at the station is Lt.-Cmdr. Alf Hurley of Windsor, Ont., former captain and quarterback of University of Western Ontario Mustangs when they captured the Senior Intercollegiate Football title in 1939. Alf is head of the Radio Artillery Branch.

Incidentally:

There's one youngster in Ontario Bantam Class Baseball who will be closely watched from now on by scouts of senior teams and probably the pro loops. Stan Stack, 15-year-old Sarnia hurler, tossed a 15-inning one-hitter against London, Ont., the other night—and fanned 38 men in the process. In eight of the 15 innings, he retired the side by himself, his teammates just giving him moral support.

GUNDER HAEGG COVERS 2-MILE RUN IN 8:42.8

Stockholm, Aug. 5.—(P)—Gunder Haegg clipped 3 six-tenths seconds off his own world record for the two-mile run last night at Stockholm Stadium when he covered the distance in 8:42.8.

The Swedish flier finished 100 metres ahead of his nearest competitor in what probably was the greatest race of his career.

Arne Anderson ran the 1,000-metre event in the fast time of 2:21.9, only four tenths of a second over the world record of 2:21.5 held by the German runner, Rudolf Harbig.

E. Elmsater bettered the world record time for the 3,000-metre steeplechase when he was clocked in 8:59.6. The official record is 9:03.4.

DEAD SEA ALIVE IN WEALTH

Acton Vale's Malfara Heads Provincial Batters With .463

Hugo Malfara, ace Acton Vale catcher, is well away in the Provincial Baseball batting loop with an average of .463 in fifty-four appearances at the plate, nearly 100 points ahead of his closest rival, DeLottinville, fielder-catcher for the Drummondville club.

One average splits the difference between Malfara's .463 and DeLottinville's .385 on the batting average list with Cliff Couillard, new addition to the Acton Vale lineup appearing with an average of .462. The only drawback here is that Couillard has only made thirteen appearances compared to Malfara's fifty-four, so the slugging catcher may be considered well ahead in the batting list, with a very good chance of remaining there for the duration of the season.

The averages take a considerable drop after viewing the first two league leaders' scores, landing on DeLottinville's total 78 points further down the list, and then drop another ten points to where Drummondville's Couture takes fourth place with a .375 average. From there on down the totals follow in rapid succession with only a few points meaning advancement or retirements along the list after every game.

Drummondville seems to have the best slugging group in the league according to the present standing with five of their lineup occupying spots in the eight lines of the list. The local representatives in the Provincial League seem to be having considerable difficulty with their batting and have only one man figuring in the first thirteen places, this being Edgar Charland holding down a solid position sixth name down from the top of the list. Charland also comes in for a little credit as he tops the list of two-base hitters with a total of seven, followed closely behind by Blais, of Drummondville, who has connected with six so far this season.

A total of eight batters have been batted out of the park by Provincial batsmen so far this season, Sherbrooke's Couture being in a tie with Valieres, of Victoriaville, for first place, both having connection for two round-trippers each. The remaining four homers are split up evenly between Drummondville and Three Rivers, with Blais and Doucet rapping them out for Drummondville, and Moore and Fine, connecting for Three Rivers' two four-baggers.

In the pitching circle there is a three-way tie for first place with Sherbrooke's Gerard Dube and Leandre Couture tied with Three Rivers' Lavolette, all having 100 point averages. Dube has a slight edge over the other two, however, having pitched six games against the Couture's four and Lavolette's three, and also in the strikeout list have retired a total of 27.

Windsor Station (upper) headquarters of the Canadian Pacific Railway's wide flange travel system.

Day by day, travellers by the score and citizens of Montreal watch the progress of the war on huge wall maps in the Concourse of Windsor Station (upper right).

A few of the 2,500 employees of the C.P.R., whose offices are contained in Windsor Station are shown (lower).

ASSAULT ON THE WEST

RUIN OF THE WEST

HISTORIC Windsor Station in Montreal, nerve centre of the vast Canadian Pacific Railway system, is much more these wartime days than merely a place to get on or get off trains. Under the impetus of war and in keeping with C.P.R. traditions of service, many new features for the use of the general public have been added.

Not the least can be viewed in the flag-bedecked Concourse, where four huge wall maps have been installed depicting the Pacific Theatre, the Italian Front, the fighting in France and the Russian Front. Each day brightly colored thumbtacks are re-arranged to show the very latest gains as announced by the army headquarters in each theatre of war. Not only the travelling public, but many hundreds of Montrealers take advantage of this service by means of which they can secure a vivid, up-to-the-minute picture of all the world's battlefronts. The Concourse itself is decorated with all the flags of the United Nations, each one named.

Over 2,500 officers and employees of the C.P.R. are stationed in Windsor Station, which first opened its doors in 1889. Each day between six and eight thousand telephone calls are made over the company's switchboard there, as well as many long distance business calls over the company's own wires which stretch from Halifax to Vancouver.

Kings and queens, lords and ladies, diplomats, dowagers, immigrants seeking a new life of freedom, young servicemen starting for the far corners of the earth—all these have passed through Windsor Station's lofty portals not only during this war, but in the days of other wars and the years of peace between. Windsor Station is a worthy monument to the world's greatest travel system and the country it so faithfully serves.

A MATTER OF FACTS

True Facts About Duplessis Financial Administration:

1.—Increased revenue under Duplessis
1937	$42,300,000
1938	$53,300,000
1939	$60,800,000

Without additional taxation, such increase being entirely due to sound administration and improvement of business.

2.—Public indebtedness under Duplessis

Increase, from June 30th, 1936, to June 30th, 1939—$97 millions, according to Public Accounts of Quebec for 1939, page 14, and, according to statement by Hon. J. A. Mathewson, in 1940.

Why such increase?

a) Payment of short term debts by Taschereau Administration $45,948,858;

b) Rural credit: $35 millions, all being reimbursed gradually;

c) Unemployment relief, in cooperation with Ottawa and municipalities: $30,774,564;

d) Public works for employment: $43,609,992, which is an investment for the province. Amongst many others—highway systems, Montreal-Quebec, Mont-Laurier-Senneterre, Laurentian Mountains, Charlemagne Bridge, Boulevard Pius the Ninth Bridge, Botanical Garden, Ste. Helene Island, as well as numerous public works in all the centres of the province, from Gaspe to Hull and from the Eastern Townships to Abitibi.

The difference between the capital or extraordinary expenditures and the increase of indebtedness, approximately $66 millions, was paid out of ordinary revenue; this situation having been made possible by strict economy in administration and increase of revenue.

3.—Credit of Province under Duplessis:

a) Average rate of interest paid on the indirect debt:

a) Dominion of Canada 3.63%

Alberta 4.85%

Ontario 4.20%

New Brunswick 4.11%

Quebec 3.19%

b) Statement by Dominion Securities Corporation, in 1940, immediately after Duplessis Administration:

"The average rate of interest that the province of Quebec pays on the money it borrows for consolidated debt purposes is less high than that of all the provinces of the Dominion, and, in fact, less high than the Dominion itself."

4.—Indebtedness under Godbout:

On June 30th, 1939 $346,658,000

On March 30th, 1943 $416,439,000

Increase $ 69,781,000

According to prospectus published by L. G. Beaubien & Company, with the authorization of Honorable J. A. Mathewson.

5.—Godbout's shameless camouflage

According to official declarations, the Godbout Administration bought $15 millions of the first five Victory Bond Issues.

According to undeniable statement by Mr. Paul Beaulieu in the House, in 1944, the Government of Quebec has not in its possession a single one of these bonds.

A MATTER OF OPINION

On Duplessis

"We know that Hon. Mr. Duplessis has been widely censured as anti-British, but this criticism raises but a smile of amusement amongst his English fellow-citizens of Three Rivers who have known him since boyhood and who have no difficulty in collecting very definite proof that "Maurice" is no bigot."

On National Union Party

"Independently minded voters of all races and creeds who are fed-up with acts of political pettiness that are accompanied by professions of broad-mindedness, should certainly feel free to vote for Union Nationale candidates of outstanding merit, despite all the bogeymen that have been raised by interested parties to dissuade them."
