AWFUL MASSACRE ON RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP WHEN MUTINEERS ROSE IN REVOLT AND WREAKED VENGEANCE ON BRUTAL CAPTAIN AND OFFICERS

Commander's Cold-Blooded Murder of a Sailor Boy, Bearing a Petition From His Comrades, Asking for Better Treatment, Caused the Men to Rise in Instant Rebellion, and Frightful Scenes of Bloodshed Followed—Captain Made to Expiate His Crime in Short Order—On Arrival at Odessa Mutineers and Strikers Joined Forces and a Considerable Part of the Seaport Was Given to the Flames.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Odessa, June 29.—The mutiny on the Kniaz Potemkin was a sudden and a lightning bolt, although it had been brewing for months. The crew had held secret meetings in the fore-cabin and planned just what to do when the emergency arrived. The officers had no knowledge of this and were taken completely by surprise.

FED ON BOTTEN FOOD.

All this was due to the captain's greed. The mutineers knew the Government made generous allowances for their rations but on the Potemkin a on all Russian ships, the captain paid the amount furnished by the Government and the sum set for food went into the captain's pocket. The rations purchased for the crew were rotten and decayed meats, and these in small amounts. The men were half starved, and preferred death to the hands of the officers to life in the mercenary of the Potemkin.

They decided to make protest to their commander. Every man of the crew knew that the sailor elected to carry the complaint would probably meet death. A secret meeting was held in the fore-cabin, where the mutineers planned that to-day had placed the great battleship under the red flag.

SHOT THE BOY DEAD.

When he had finished he drew his revolver and shot the boy through the head as though he was merely aiming at an inanimate target. Then turning to a junior officer, he ordered the boy thrown overboard. The crew were stunned. Even then, however, there was no open revolt. Some of the men stepped aft with Christian ceremonies. The commander was merciless, and ordered the boy cast into the sea.

OUTBREAK OF REVOLT.

Then the entire crew went aft. As the officers picked up the body of the lad to carry out their captain's order, mutiny flamed into being. The deck of the vessel, which a moment before had been as calm and serene as that of a pleasure craft, then became the scene of bloody carnage. Officers, in blue and gold lace were at stations looking on in indifference and not read to warning in the faces of the men. The cry that rang through the ship was more fearful than a Russian battle-cry. The mutineers, with their feet and a cracking of rifles. There was the sharp command of officers, who saw too late that sudden death was upon them, and then another volley. Loaded rifles had appeared in the hands of the marines.

OFFICERS FELL DEAD.

All the regulations of the Russian navy provide that arms and ammunition should be kept in the secret rooms of the ship, and are only to be passed out in battle. But the men had obtained both rifles and cartridges, and they changed in a mob that nothing could check. After this volley the officers who had not fallen before it fled. Another volley, and several more fell. Marines and sailors as they passed them, fired scores of bullets into their prostrate bodies.

FATE OF THE CAPTAIN.

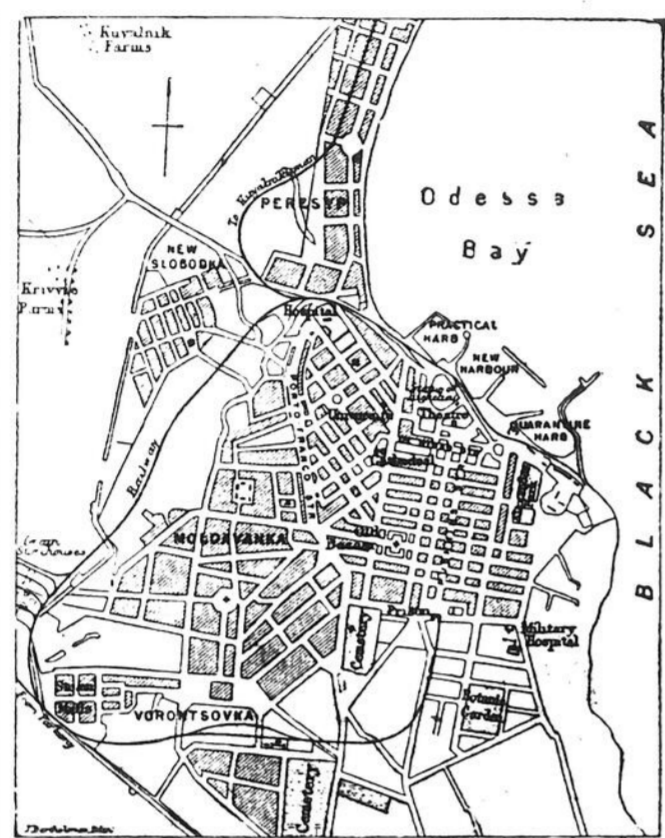

The captain ran for the conning tower, but was headed off. Pale and trembling, he turned and faced the men. He saw no mercy in their blood-shot eyes. He saw his staff officers dead or dying on bloody decks. He saw, too, the body of the boy he had shot down in cold blood. His ash-blips tried to frame some plea for mercy. But the words were never uttered. A volley from a hundred rifles gave his speech, and he fell dead to the deck, riddled with bullets, his uniform shot almost to ribbons.

THE RED FLAG HOISTED.

The gorgeous imperial flag was hauled down from the masthead by eager hands. When it fluttered in the breeze it was stamped upon, torn to ribbons, and thrown into the sea. Then, as if by magic, a great red flag appeared. That it was really the same flag is significant. It proved that the mutiny had been long planned, and leads to the belief that there are other red flags on other Russian ships. The red standard was hauled to the masthead in quick order while six hundred throats gave forth a wild shout. The Potemkin was kept on her course toward Odessa. The man at the wheel, who had taken no part in the excitement, was acting under instructions from his shipmates. A election was held and a new set of officers were chosen from among the mutineers.

ARRIVAL AT ODESSA.

The Potemkin sailed into Odessa by night. In the dim starlight the gory banner at her masthead was not distinguished, and it was not until morning that it was discovered. At daybreak two torpedo-boats destroyed the Potemkin. Then there in the open roadstead before Odessa the torpedo-boat destroyers joined the mutineers. The crews of the smaller vessels took command at once, and soon the red flag floated from these craft as well as from the battleship. All the officers of the torpedo-boat destroyers were killed by their crews, and their bodies thrown into the harbor. Lying under the guns of the huge battleship the officers were utterly helpless, and made but feeble resistance to the attacks by their men.

CITY AFLAME WITH REVOLT.

By this time the entire city of Odessa was aflame with revolt and jubilation over the coming of the pirate battleship and its crew of mutineers. For many days the town has been in the throes of a strike, which was in itself almost a revolution. Cossack charges had been made repeatedly and strikers had been cut down and shot in the open streets and behind the barricades had been erected. They had been utterly helpless in the face of the large garrison in Odessa. But they had not counted on the marine's from the battleship, who had accompanied the party ashore. There was a crack of rifles and the Cossacks were sent flying back to their quarters.

The Kniaz Potemkin Tavaitshesky is one of the newest and strongest battleships in any of the European navies. In 1900, she has a displacement of 12,480 tons and a speed of 17 knots, her normal complement being 636 men. Her main battery is composed of four 12-inch and sixteen 6-inch guns, with the usual number of secondary quick-firers and five torpedo tubes.

A HURRIED CONFERENCE.

Meanwhile, the battleship was rapidly coaling. The authorities held a hurried conference on how to act. The city was helpless before the big guns of the battleship. The Governor ordered that all work in the harbor cease, and directed that all shops and public places be closed. He telegraphed to St. Petersburg and Sebastopol asking the Government to send him a fleet of warships. The authorities realized their helplessness and knew that any attempt at force would result in mutineers carrying out their former actions.

COSSACKS SLAUGHTERED.

It was a strange situation such as no Government had ever been compelled to face. The captain and the mutineers ordered that the police and Cossacks keep their quarters and leave the strikers in full possession of the city. In order to enforce this proclamation, he sent a twelve-inch shell hurrying through flames that had been started on the water front, and it dropped in the centre of a detachment of Cossacks, who were charging the mob of strikers on the boulevard. The shock struck with precision. A score of mangled bodies in Cossack uniforms were picked up from the ground by their terrified fellows. Of these four were strikers, who were so badly injured that there is no hope.

The Cossacks fled to their quarters. Meanwhile the strikers, made bold by the backing of the mutineers, fired all buildings and quays around the harbor. The firemen who attempted to extinguish the flames were beaten off. The troops, terrorized, were afraid to approach within range of the Potemkin's guns.

SHIPPING FIRED.

Food was supplied mutineers on warships by strikers on shore, who pillaged maritime warehouses. The shipping in the harbor was fired, and all the foreign vessels in the harbor are prepared to slip their moorings in case of need. As darkness fell the ship moved closer to the breakwater, with her guns still trained on the city. Her searchlight was constantly flashing. Ten torpedo boats maintained a patrol.

MUTINEERS ARE DEFIANT.

The Black Sea fleet, under command of Admiral Kruger, is expected at any time. It has been delayed. The mutineers are not alarmed. To-day it is certain that 50,000 mutineers, aided by six hundred sailors and marines of the Potemkin, will attack the military headquarters and capture the town as the Potemkin's crew captured the battleship. The mob ashore and the mutineers in the harbor are constantly acting in concert, and the red flag of revolt will be planted throughout Southern Russia within a few days if their plans are carried out. There is most serious apprehension that the mutineers in the Black Sea fleet will be the scene of mutiny.

In Praise of Western Canada.

Mr. Richard Lloyd, of Collier's Weekly, voiced the sentiments of the party of Washington correspondents who are now in Manitoba, when he said to-day of the Canadian West: "The western half of Canada is the world's granary. The industrial empire that is building over these vast prairies is doing a great world's work, both of a socialistic and commercial significance. It is offering a life of prosperity and independence to the thrifty and industrious people, who, under the relentless competition of the more congested parts of the world, have been fighting a losing game, and it is making the food product that goes to all parts of the world. For more than a century the American slogan has been 'westward the course of empire takes its way,' but now the American frontier has been closed in and its lands are occupied from sea to sea. It has remained for Canada to prove, as she has, that the great time of emigration growing out of Europe's discontent may yet find ample room and opportunity on the North American continent, and that the trail of fortune leads northward. The farms, the barns, the stocks and fields, as seen near Crystal City and its vicinity, are a match for the highest agricultural exhibits of such wealth-producing states as Iowa and South Dakota, or the Lancaster country of Pennsylvania. Indeed, some of these farms in their completeness are not excelled even by the most agricultural experiment stations, which are the pet of every American commonwealth. No country in the history of the world has developed as fast as Western Canada. It is dramatically prophetic, and because of its unparalleled rapid growth, the great corn belt of the States, and the great wheat belt north of the international line, must of necessity develop a closer commercial intimacy between the two nations, and go forward united by the great continental purposes of creating peace and plenty among the peoples of the earth."

Found Guilty of Attempted Suicide.

Henry Felton was tried before Judge Scott yesterday afternoon on a charge of attempting suicide. Felton is the man who jumped overboard from the steamship Cervona, and then said that he simply intended to swim ashore. He was found guilty and sentenced to a fine of $25 or two months in gaol.

Accused of Stealing a Clock.

A young woman, who gives her name as Helen St. Lawrence, was arrested to-day, charged with stealing a clock from a St. Catherine street photographic establishment in 1901. She pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Lafontaine, and she was admitted to bail pending the enquete.

Pure Bedding.

If everybody could afford to pay $15 for an Ostermoor Mattress, there would be no other kinds made. The manufacturers of this Mattress make three grades of cheap mattresses which sell in the stores at $3, $4 and $5. For the protection of buyers who like to know that their bedding is pure, they have registered the word "HEALTH," which appears in a red cross on a label sewed into the end band of each Mattress, and is a guarantee that it is made in a modern, clean factory, by healthy, well-paid workmen, and filled with only sanitary materials. They are durable, and very comfortable to sleep on.

Togo Bannon Twice Falls Before the Able Enemy

Our Local Performers Gave a Most Dismal Exhibition of the Fine Art of Hitting the Ball Safe.

Mr. Bannon's arm hands dropped two games with such neatness yesterday that the persons who decorated the bleachers and grand stand were lost in admiration.

It isn't often that our performers do anything real well, but they put a polish on this job by counteracting aggression could initiate without spraining itself.

Our old friend the punk hit was with us looking as large as life. "Dutch" Hartman came up in the fourth inning of the first game and lammed the ball over the left field fence, and there was nothing doing in the hitting line before or after that enjoyable act.

In the second spasm of the double-headed tragedy, the graceful Mr. Raub got a scratch single, the grand aggregate of the local efforts to commit assault and battery upon the serpentine flings of Mr. Milligan.

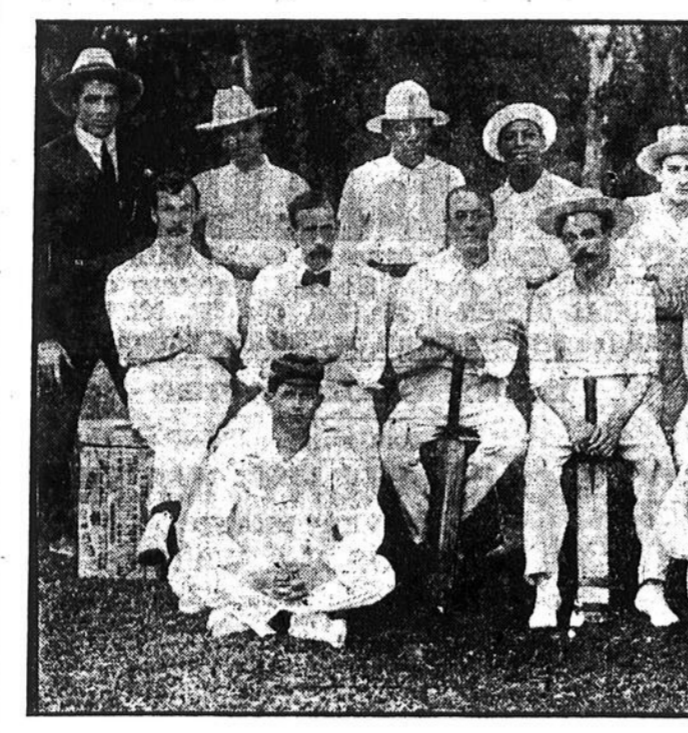

And mix up this foresaid exhibition of blind asylum stick-work with picturesque errors by Mr. Dyer and associates, and you have a vivid idea of the double calamity that swept the multi-dimmed June 28th and 29th.

Scores of the games were 0 to 2 and 6 to zero. A faithful record of the proceedings must necessarily include the information that representatives of the Knock-out Association were present in large numbers.

There was much vocal work done, particularly by the keen critics in the first base bleachers. The local judges of the labor situation expressed the unbiased view that Mr. Bannon should be carrying milk in a factory, where Mr. Dyer they thought, in view of the strike in the building trades, should be mixing mortar at 3 cents an hour under the union.

Other valuable suggestions of a similar character were thrown out free of charge, and on the whole, the gentlemen who had their hammer on had a fine, busy afternoon's sport.

of dissatisfaction which he has given to the local fans, and Captain Bannon let him go last night. Oh for a hit. Any old kind of a hit. That was the prayer of many on the grand stand. Miller got back into the game yes-given first to Cornell, although Syracuse came in first, of course. The hesitation over the decision was due to two facts, first, that some of those on the judges' bench were in doubt as to the identity of the leading crews as they passed the finish rack; second, that at the outset of the race, Syracuse was declared to have passed out of her course in front of Columbia, and there was a claim of a disqualifying foul against her. great ease. One of the members of the McGill team played a steady uphill game, which was, however, marred by his unorthodox remarks about the final decision of the West Indian umpire. Copies of the above photo can be obtained from E. Wallace, 224 University street.

LACROSSE STARRS OF OTTAWA, OUT. He Will Play With the Capitals on Saturday Next. Ottawa, June 29.—"Roller" Starrs, running mate for Johnny Currie in many a Shamrock-Capital game of the past, will be on the Capital team against the champions here on Saturday. This was practically decided by the executive this afternoon, as the result of a practice game against the Nationals of the city league, played on the Varsity Oval. Starrs has been training actively with them all season, with the result that although he jumps into the game at a late date, he is in just as good shape as the men who already have a couple of games under their belt. The work out to day was by long odds the most encouraging of the season. The men worked a full hour in the hot sun. He turned out to see the practice yesterday and suddenly took a notion to strip, and surprised the hundred or so people present by his condition. Just what man will be dropped to make room for Starrs, the executive would not say as yet, but in all probability Broderick is the man.

How Chippewas Won. Toronto, June 29.—The unexpected happened at Rosedale when the tail-end Chippewas won from the Torontos in a senior C. L. A. game on the score of 6 to 4. Over confidence was responsible for the disaster. Referee Waghorn was strict, and his decision did not please some of the crowd. Parks was off twice, and Lambe, Grayson and Bond once each. The teams and officials were: Toronto—Goal, Brown; point, Hanley; cover, Francis; defence, Her, Lambe, Rowntree, centre, Nealey; home, Parks, Kirkwood, Carmichael; outside, Powers; inside, Henry. Chippewas—Goal, Wilson; point, Pitcher; cover, Grayson; defence, Hamburg, Roche, Bond; centre, Ross; home, Taylor, Kearns, Donaldson; outside, O'Connor; inside, Yeaman. Referee, F. Waghorn; umpire, Messrs. J. D. Bailey and N. Hamby; timekeepers, Messrs. F. Walsh and P. Fushon.

CRICKET Ottawa to Play Here Again. The eleven of the Ottawa Cricket Club will play two matches in Montreal on Friday and Saturday of this week. The first on Friday will be with the Montreal Club, and the second on Saturday will be with the McGill eleven. Both will be all day matches. It is understood that the Montreal team will be considerably strengthened for Friday, and as the McGill eleven has been playing in excellent form both matches ought to prove interesting.

Association Football. In anticipation of the game to be played with Gait, on July 1st, all senior Westmount men are requested to be at the gymnasium this evening at 8 o'clock to receive final instructions as to place of meeting. The team, with friends, will travel over the Grand Trunk Railway route, leaving Bonaventure Station soon after 10 p.m. The team will consist of the following players: C. J. Clopp, H. G. Woodburn (Capt.), H. Payne, R. Crabb, W. Neville, G. Deane, J. Hayes, J. Toomey, F. Whiteside, W. Deans, J. Nairn and apares. The president, Mr. James Wilson, and honorary secretary, will accompany the team, and the latter gentleman would be pleased to hear from any other friends wishing to join the party.

Y. M. C. A. TEAM MATCH. The Y. M. C. A. will have a practice this evening, at which the senior players will play against the intermediate, and therefore each team will need all its supporters to help it win out. The intermediate will play the return match against Outremont on Tuesday next, July 4, at 6.30 p.m., at the Baseball Park. Westmount Intermediates defeated Y. M. C. A. Intermediates on Tuesday evening, which leaves them at the top of their division, having played five games and winning them all, and thus securing ten points out of a possible ten, scoring 24 goals against 3.

THE TOURIST AND HIS ACCOMMODATION. Travel From United States Is Beginning to Come. AMERICAN VISITOR IS HERE.

Hotels Report Better Business Than Last Year Up to This Time. The tourist season is commencing. The days of the harvest of the local hotels and transportation companies are close at hand and already the genius tourist, big, little, old and young are commencing to bring hitherward on every train and steamer bound to Montreal.

There is no mistaking the business man on his holiday. He wears even his children may conceal the fact, but the business man never. In the first place he looks uncomfortable in the suit of clothes he is wearing. Not that they are new, he often wears new clothes but two to one, his wife or his tailor or some unfortunate but well-meaning friend has called him into purchasing an "outfit suit." No one is so conscious of the fact as the unucky wearer of the article.

He strides around the rotunda of the hotel, very conscious of his bulky trousers which he has pulled up and trying to look as if he would just as soon not be back in Hoboken or Boston, or Squeelunk or wherever he hails from.

He only feels thoroughly at home when he meets an old friend, or even a chance acquaintance of some one who knows somebody else who knows him. Then he and the friend disappear and return, talking animatedly to meet the other side of the street.

He is usually accompanied by a grown-up daughter who has almost missed the "tally-ho" or the train for somewhere or other, through his absence.

FROM THE "U.S.A." His daughter carries a camera and his son wears his school cap on the very tall hair of his head, and they generally talk loudly of the "U.S.A."

Those same three letters figure prominently after his name in the register, rarely is omitted, and he bears one name aggressively with him everywhere, like a chip upon his shoulder.

According to the local hotels the season has started somewhat sooner than last year. There has been, however, a lamentable shortage in June brides. The travel will be a general one until about July 10th. By that time the children's school is closed for the summer, the Fourth of July celebration will be over and the hot weather will be making itself felt.

It was stated at the Canadian Pacific Railway offices that the general season is somewhat larger than that at the same time last year. It is not thought that the Lewis and Clarke Expedition in the west will have much effect on the tourist traffic here.

At the Windsor Hotel it was stated that the season had opened with a swing and that the traffic was directly heavy.

The Queen's Hotel report heaver business than for the same weeks of last year, though it is not expected that the next heavy season will begin until next year. The same was reported at the Richelieu Hotel.

The Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company report a very successful season, indeed, and the general season is somewhat larger than that at the same time last year. It is not thought that the Lewis and Clarke Expedition in the west will have much effect on the tourist traffic here.

Establishing Colonies in the West. The Rev. J. A. Hodgkinson, an Anglican clergyman, who has been instrumental in establishing a colony at Lloydminster, near Edmonton, arrived in the city yesterday.

He stated that it is the intention of the three people who have been invited to the work to establish another colony at Lloydminster and Edmonton. Since February last over 600 people have arrived in this country, and another party is expected to arrive under the same auspices on the Lake Manitoba in a few days.

The settlers are all from agricultural communities in the old land and take kindly to the life of the farmer here.

After conducting the next party to the West Mr. Hodgkinson will return to England where he is connected with the Anglican Church at Westminster.

A GREATER MONTREAL—NOT A "GRAFTED" MONTREAL.

That the ring of municipalities which surround Montreal will eventually join with the city in establishing a central government for the whole area cannot be doubted. Even the detached municipalities about London have come under the control of the London County Council.

But this union of the various municipalities in touch with each other on Montreal Island should be reached on a mutually fair basis. It is not justice—it is not even the best way to make progress—to ask the people living in one community to undertake heavier burdens for the common good than the people living in another.

A wide-gauge scheme for the annexation of all the neighboring municipalities is one thing; while a proposal which puts a premium upon "frenzied finance" in the smaller municipalities, with a view to booming local real estate and then unloading the obligations on the "wealthy city of Montreal" is a horse of a totally different color.

THE RED FLAG IN THE BLACK SEA.

British publicists have frequently credited the superior growth of freedom in Britain to the fact that a great army was never required for the protection of the State. The Island Kingdom could be guarded with a navy; and a navy, it was said, could not be employed for purposes of oppression.

REAL SIMPLICITY. The simplicity of those who advocate it is perhaps the most striking thing about the Simple Life.—The Sketch.

GERMAN PREDICTIONS. The breaking-away from the Motherland of all the existing English possessions in South Africa is only a question of time.—Deutsche Volksstimme.

APPEAL TO JAPAN. We, who have been and are enthusiastic admirers of Japan, hope that she has surprised the world with her energy, she will now surprise us still more by her moderation.—Tribune.

GOSPEL OF THE SATIRISTS. Our doctrine which is common to all satirists of society is that the age they write in is the worst of all known ages, the lowest point of degeneration yet reached.—Oxford Notes.

THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS. Germany will not give any inch to Russia. Much less would she urge the Czar to submit to the conditions of the victor. Neither will Germany take part in any international agreement which does not conform with Russia's desire.—Der Grenzboten, Berlin.

THE SIXTH SENSE. The new sixth sense, which has always existed in England, only in a latent form, was born in France only some ten years ago—namely, "tourism". After the miracles of steam-land and sea came the world's first and only automobile.—La Revue, Paris.

MEN'S IMAGININGS. The very first thing in woman that seems to attract the average man is the beauty of complexion. Her hair is to him an extraordinary value. If he were to examine his own thoughts on the subject, he would find that he associates a clear skin with the idea of purity of mind, and a soft, tinted, childlike complexion with innocence.—The Hour.

ALPINE CLIMBERS IN INDIA. By J. P. Moffat. Alpine guides do not come from home with a staff. They go to some exploring and climbing in the Himalayas, has considerable Alpine experience, and the result of his Himalayan tour should be interesting, as so few but the Himalayan surveys and an occasional sportsman know the details of the high mountains.—Civil and Military Gazette, Lahore.

MR. HALL CAINE'S PARALLELS. Charles Kingsley wrote best before he had reached his majority. Smollett wrote "Richardson" at 26. Dickens produced "Oliver Twist" at the same age. At 25 Goethe had already written "The Sorrows of Werther" and Lord Lytton his first novel, and so it goes. As for myself, I have just got to the half-century mark. I had Hall Caine in Evening Lamp, Chicago.

AN EASTERN CHARACTER. The Shaan Baba is common in nearly all North India towns. This follower of the prophet of Arabia goes about the streets with a book in his hand. He calls out to the passer-by: "Bhai, booka paika."—Brother, have a smoke. The Hindu who smokes a pipe takes a pull or two from the snake of the pipe. Occasionally he gets a copper or two from those who buy his pipe. He blesses the giver with the words: "Bhago, khus raho."—Prosper in this world, be happy.—Pioneer, Allahabad.

FLASHES OF THOUGHT. Meanwhile there is always room at the top for the large strawberry.—Toronto Star.

THE population of Chicago now numbers more than 2,000,000, largely struck by the influenza epidemic.

Rev. Mr. Trefz has abandoned the pulpit to enter the life insurance business.—Great missionary fund, brother.—New York Herald.

Canadians will await with interest the report of the commission on the observance of business methods in the civil service.—Ottawa Citizen.

We have had a deplorable record of drowning accidents in Canada this year. The repetition of the same mistakes has had even less than usual effect.—Toronto Globe.

Scientists say the ice caps around the Poles are slowly disappearing. Any new ice indicates the lessening of the ice supply is unwelcome just now.—Ottawa Free Press.

The arrests of Philadelphia city officials are becoming almost as commonplace as the arrests of the prospective settlements of the Chicago strike.—Indianapolis News.

Hal Donley, of the Simcoe Reformer, is down on criminals, for he says: "The slow motion of the law is a great misapprehension. Criminals wouldn't interfere with the shirt waist."—Hamilton Spectator.

THIS DATE 30 YEARS AGO. It will be remembered that we drew the attention of the chief of police to the fact that the chief of police was a respectable constable in arresting a respectable constable in the presence of a respectable constable.

THE late Mr. Fred Penton was the then chief of police, and an excellent one he made. He was a thorough disciplinarian, and a man of sense and integrity. He was appointed in 1875 and died in the eighties, and was succeeded by his deputy, the late Mr. Paradis, who died a few months ago in New Jersey, U.S.A.

It is stated that it will take fully seven years to construct the tunnel under the English channel between Dover, England, and Calais, France.

THE late Mr. Paradis was promptly abandoned, as there was formidable opposition to it from naval and military experts. Lord Salisbury took the lead in opposing the movement. It being in his opinion most dangerous to Great Britain. His leadership was endorsed by the prominent members of the cabinet, and the project was quickly turned down. Recently the scheme has been revived by French capitalists and engineers, but the English press will not listen to the arguments set forth in favor of it.

Hon. Mr. Geoffrion and the Hon. J. G. Robitson are in town this morning and are guests at the Hall.

BOTH statesmen have since paid the debt of nature. Mr. Geoffrion was Minister of Public Works in the Mackenzie Cabinet from 1874 to 1876, when he resigned. Mr. Robitson was first appointed Provincial Treasurer in 1889, and held the office for five years, when he retired from the cabinet over the "land swap" scandal. He took the Treasuryship again in the De Boucherville government, and resigned with the colleagues in 1876. He was Treasurer in 1892 up to 1894. Subsequently he retired from public life to accept the postmastership of the city of Sherbrooke, Que.

Chicago people in Europe who miss the excitement of their home town can get a fairly good brand at either Lods or Warsaw.

We don't know about the prospects in Montreal, but it wouldn't surprise us to see a new mayor in Vladivostok very shortly.

THE PASSING HOUR

Anyway, it is gratifying to look back and consider the fact that Montreal has financed the June wedding present without hindrance on a crisis in the money market.

The Montreal carpenters in looking for more money shouldn't run away with the idea that they are the only ones indulging in that enjoyable pastime.

Lord Kitchener thinks Russia is going to fight England. Let your imagination play on the newspaper head lines of the future: ROJESTVENSKY SINKS WHOLE CHANNEL FLEET. Gen. Kuropatkin Has London Completely Surrounded, and Liverpool Captured by the Russian Army.

COSSACKS ARE FEARLESS. In this Montreal agitation to muzzle dogs during the summer months, why not include a few politicians while we are about it?

Those circus employees who fired at a man and hit him, have at least shown conclusively that they were not trained in the Russian army.

If there is going to be much more rain in this enlightened section of the map, the back-yard agriculturalists of Westmont will be obliged to harvest their crops in rowboats.

Always the Chestnut. The new arrival knocked at the gate. "Who are you?" asked St. Peter. "I'm a humorist," answered the party on the outside. "I used to write jokes for the comic papers."

"Well, I'll have to investigate your case," said the keeper of the keys. "In the meantime go over and sit down in the shade of that chestnut tree and make yourself at home."

The Russian rebellion is all over. * * * Russia.

The Kaiser went to church, preached a sermon and lost a yacht race last Sunday. That doesn't leave Mr. Roosevelt much margin to win the Strenuity Stakes.

One of these days some Liberal will gain undying fame by not having his name mentioned as a candidate for St. Lawrence division.

In the Greater Montreal scheme, Montreal will not be greater, but the debt will be that way.

After due reflection, we notice that the riot at Mr. Mackay's circus happened on Tuesday.

GETTING THE FACTS. Mr. Subbuba, tell us truly. How does your garden grow? Oh, the weeds spring up unduly; This all I have to show. Thistle, Jimson, dock and nettle, Faster than I can hoe. But for seed I'll never sattle, Seed I've no time to sow.

Mr. Subbuba, tell us plainly. How does your garden grow? Old tin cans and bricks, mainly. Life in my bed the neighbors' crow; Scratch as they cluck and crows; All the yard look like the docks; Gardening's work and woe.

Mr. Subbuba, still be candid; Didn't you brag and blow? How your friends as never-man did— Say you would make it go. Aye, indeed, in January; Simply, I didn't know; Just your usual and contrary Suburban gardens grow.

Another big scandal is brewing in Milwaukee. But think of the beer brewing there, too.

He Should Get More Salary. (Chicago News). In London Ambassador Reid had an ornate motor car. Austin read at him, and still there are those who think the London Embassy is a sinecure.

OUR OLD MISSING BOOM. Some mining stocks are coming to the front again. "Which recalls the halcyon days five years ago, when a man with a wide-brimmed western hat could drift into Montreal from the boomer of a C.P.R. slow freight, and separate local capitalists from about $2,000,000 of hard-earned money."

Kuropatkin should have copyrighted his printing tactics, so that Linneivich would have to do something original.

Scenery Was Old. The Leading Lady (not young): "Ah, how dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood." The Comedian (sotto voce): "I knew this scenery was old, but I didn't think it dated back that far."

The Prince of Wales creases his trousers on the sides. Major Maude is a patient, long-suffering fashion expert, but we doubt if he can stand for that.

Now that the new directory is completed, the city, with masterly skill, has succeeded in changing the numbers along the streets.

BOTH statesmen have since paid the debt of nature. Mr. Geoffrion was Minister of Public Works in the Mackenzie Cabinet from 1874 to 1876, when he resigned. Mr. Robitson was first appointed Provincial Treasurer in 1889, and held the office for five years, when he retired from the cabinet over the "land swap" scandal. He took the Treasuryship again in the De Boucherville government, and resigned with the colleagues in 1876. He was Treasurer in 1892 up to 1894. Subsequently he retired from public life to accept the postmastership of the city of Sherbrooke, Que.

YESTERDAY'S MATCHES IN TOURNEY FOR GOLF CUP

Special Staff Correspondence of the Montreal Star. Toronto, June 28.—The very best weather possible for the hand for the morning of the qualifying round at Toronto on Wednesday, and the scoring was correspondingly good.

The play started at nine o'clock and couple after couple went off until well on in the morning, when all the contestants had started.

Lyon played in his old style, and kept up to the very best expectations concerning him, bringing in a 76, which was the best score returned, in fact, the only score under 80.

The highest score to qualify was 88, which was taken by two players, J. O'Flaherty of Montreal and A. H. Campbell of Toronto.

J. P. Taylor, who was expected from Montreal this morning, did not turn up, so that none of the leaders from the Dixie links were competitors.

Mr. Jim Hill, of Victoria, rather surprised by not qualifying in the first 16, in fact, he tore up his card at the ninth hole, thinking there was no chance for him to qualify, but later when it was found that an 88 qualified his opponent thought that his score might have been good enough after all if he had handed it in.

THE SCORES HANDED IN. There were 43 players to start, and following is the list with scores.

Table listing golf scores for various players including J. E. Bette, F. Southern, F. Martin, etc.

THE FIRST 16 WHO QUALIFIED, WITH THEIR COMPLETE SCORES, ARE AS FOLLOWS:

Table listing the top 16 golfers and their scores, including J. E. Bette, F. Southern, etc.

The second best sixteen scores were drawn to play for a Consolation Cup, while the remainder formed still another class and play off for a third cup.

In the draws for opponents amongst the first sixteen it was rather unfortunate that some of the best players were to play one another, so that some of the favorites were sure to be out at once, thus of the four, Martin, Lees, Cassels and Lyon, the first two and last two drew one another.

LEES VS. MARTIN. The match between Lees and Martin was by far the most interesting game of the day, and probably there will not be such a close one for the rest of the tourney.

As the "graveyard" of the Atlantic could be reached, it was the station there is not completed. It is expected that the next station to be erected at Cape Sable.

consider of the tourney, so that if Martin wins in the end, as many expect him to, Lees will have the satisfaction of having given the champion a close run, though he was put out in the first round.

It took 15 holes to decide this match. Lees was rather weak going out and Martin had a lead of two at the turn, but coming in, Lees played remarkably good golf and he was one up at the 15th. Most of the night he had a putt of a few inches to even the score for that hole and so win the match. He gave his ball a quick tap and after this, three more holes had to be played to decide the match. Lees did the three in bogie but Martin was one better in the last and so won. Following is the score:

Score table for Lees vs. Martin match, showing strokes and holes.

THE SIXTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The eighth is a hole of 265 yards, but about 150 yards from the green is the edge of the ravine and the green from the near side looks about as big as a teeing ground on the opposite side with hopeless trouble all around it.

THE TENTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. It is a short hole of 100 yards, but the drive is blind, and fearfully narrow, also the green resembles a table at the edge of the ravine. Its sides fall away almost perpendicularly on every side except the approach. It is a hole that calls for careful play.

THE ELEVENTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The eleventh is a famous "punch-bowl," is a very fine hole. The ground is built out over the ravine and the green is further down and at least 20 feet below the level of the edge of the green facing you the ground falls very steeply for about 40 feet to the bottom of the ravine. It falls away also on the other sides, but not so far. It is rather a tempting shot to face, but the distance is only 105 yards and a straight, clean mallet shot will bring at least a three every time.

THE FIFTEENTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The fifteenth is not a very interesting hole. It is 220 yards long, and no trouble except for a close boundary line on the left.

THE SIXTEENTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The sixteenth is an easy hole, 120 yards. The green is guarded by a bunker but is clear on the further side. The seventeenth is a good drive of 120 yards over the ravine again, and the eighteenth is much the same, but a little longer, 210 yards, with no trouble except a root immediately in front of the tee.

THE NINETEENTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The nineteenth hole has a very sprightly drive, over the ravine and a small groove of trees. If one plays a little to the left it is fairly safe, but the hole is only 215 yards long, so that long drive straight for the hole is well rewarded.

THE TWENTIETH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The twentieth is not a very interesting hole. It is 220 yards long, and no trouble except for a close boundary line on the left.

THE TWENTY-FIRST HOLE OF THE COURSE. The twenty-first hole is an easy hole, 120 yards. The green is guarded by a bunker but is clear on the further side.

THE TWENTY-SECOND HOLE OF THE COURSE. The twenty-second hole is a good drive of 120 yards over the ravine again, and the eighteenth is much the same, but a little longer, 210 yards, with no trouble except a root immediately in front of the tee.

THE TWENTY-THIRD HOLE OF THE COURSE. The twenty-third hole has a very sprightly drive, over the ravine and a small groove of trees. If one plays a little to the left it is fairly safe, but the hole is only 215 yards long, so that long drive straight for the hole is well rewarded.

THE TWENTY-FOURTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The twenty-fourth hole is not a very interesting hole. It is 220 yards long, and no trouble except for a close boundary line on the left.

THE TWENTY-FIFTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The twenty-fifth hole is an easy hole, 120 yards. The green is guarded by a bunker but is clear on the further side.

THE TWENTY-SIXTH HOLE OF THE COURSE. The twenty-sixth hole is a good drive of 120 yards over the ravine again, and the eighteenth is much the same, but a little longer, 210 yards, with no trouble except a root immediately in front of the tee.

as the "graveyard" of the Atlantic could be reached, it was the station there is not completed. It is expected that the next station to be erected at Cape Sable.

SENATE BANKING COMMITTEE. The Provident Financial Association Bill Amended. Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., June 28.—The Senate Committee on Banking and Commerce met on Wednesday, Sir George Lacombe in the chair.

The bill to incorporate the Provident Financial Association, Limited, capital $25,000, was taken up.

Hon. Mr. Kerr, Toronto, asked if it was intended to limit the operations of the company.

Hon. W. McSweeney asked whether it was not a rule in Quebec that such a company could not be incorporated with a capital of less than $250,000.

Mr. Beaubien said no, a rule had been made by the companies, but this possessed very few of the powers of a trust company.

Hon. Mr. McMillen said the bill was a very wide one, and established a legalized bank shop with Dominion standing.

Mr. Mackenzie-Bowell said they had to protect the depositors who were not to obtain control. He drew attention to the borrowing powers granted, which he thought dangerous.

Hon. Mr. Kerr said that he granted the powers in the bill.

Hon. Mr. McSweeney asked what the "deal in stocks" meant.

Hon. Mr. Sullivan—"Gamble." Hon. Mr. Kerr, Toronto, thought it was a question of policy whether they should grant a company unlimited powers.

The first power of share-broking could be obtained by letters of advice from the bank.

Mr. Mackenzie-Bowell moved that the preamble be not proven.

Mr. Beaubien said that the capital be increased to $100,000 with power to increase it to $250,000. These amendments were made and the bill, as amended, reported.

He will learn that the "net premium" that must be paid for insurance is calculated directly from these tables; that this "net premium" is the amount that must be paid on the average to meet 100 claims, entirely without regard to expenses of conducting the business, and that if these net premiums are not saved up penny for penny for exclusive use in paying death losses the company is bound straight for bankruptcy.

THE RIOTING AT ODESSA AND THE TROOPS WERE ATTACKED BY AN INFURIED MOB, AND DESPERATE FIGHT ENDED IN THE STREETS OF THE CITY—WAREHOUSES, QUAYS AND SHIPPING ARE BURNING.

(Continued from page one.) Special to The Montreal Star. Odesa, June 29.—Troops called out today to quell the flames in the port area were met by a mob of thousands, who threw stones and hurled stones at the troops. Soldiers fired into the mob, killing hundreds and wounding many more. Martial law has been proclaimed. The flames are visible in all directions.

BRITISH COLONY SAFE. London, June 29.—A private telegram from Odesa to Lloyd's says: "Serious riots here, hundreds shot, port fully burned, martial law declared, now quiet, all well."

TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER. Odesa, Russia, June 29.—Hundreds of rioters were shot and many killed by troops during last night's outbreak. Martial law has been proclaimed. Fires were started by rioters at night, but there was a lull in the disorders at that time.

ENTIRE HARBOR GUTTED. Odesa, June 29.—Practically the entire harbor was gutted by the fires started by rioters. All the warehouses with large quantities of merchandise as well as four or five Russian steamers were burned.

BRITISH STEAMERS SAFE. London, June 29.—Telegrams received from Odesa by shipowners in London and Liverpool confirm the reports of the state of anarchy prevailing in the Russian city. British steamers add that the situation is quiet today. No British steamers were damaged as far as known, no British subjects were injured during the rioting. All business at Odesa is at a standstill.

ANARCHIC AT ST. PETERSBURG. St. Petersburg, June 29.—A panic-stricken mob is in a state of anarchy in the city. The mob is attacking the government buildings and the houses of the nobles. The situation is very serious.

GENERAL KARKHANO, commander of the military district of Odesa, is empowered to declare martial law and to take such measures as may be necessary to maintain order in the city.

MUTINY MAY SPREAD. Rumors are rife in this city, however, that the officers on board the ships belonging to the squadron of Vice-Admiral Karkhano, which left Sevastopol for Odesa Tuesday, according to one report, and for a practice cruise, according to another, have shared the fate of the mutineers at the battle ship Kozlovskiy, and have been murdered by the mutineers. It is added that the mutineers are in possession of the city and are attacking the government buildings.

STORIES OF SEDITION. St. Petersburg, in view of the developments at Odesa, is filled with stories of sedition and rebellion. The government is taking steps to prevent the spread of these rumors.

COMPLETE ANARCHY REIGNS. St. Petersburg, June 29, 4.50 p.m.—A complete anarchy reigns at St. Petersburg. The government buildings are being attacked and the streets are filled with rioters.

SCENES OF BLOODSHED. In the darkness the mob was beginning the work of pillage and plunder. The rioters were attacking the government buildings and the houses of the nobles.

ITS POPULATION. The population is rapidly increasing. In 1871, twenty years after its foundation, it had 25,000 inhabitants. This figure steadily grew in the succeeding years.

THE ALLIAN Steamship Line, from Halifax and Philadelphia, arrived at St. John's at 7 p.m. yesterday.

THE STRUCK ON THE ROCKS DEATH OF PIONEER DR. MARTIN DENNISON

The Steamer Restigouche Grounds on Newfoundland Coast. GOT OFF AND REACHED LAND Her Bulkheads Proved All Right and Saved the Boat—Now in Dock.

Several explosions occurred in the port during the night and fierce collisions took place between troops and rioters. MOBILIZATION ORDERS. Washington, June 29.—The State Department has a cablegram from the American Ambassador to St. Petersburg, saying that extensive mobilization orders have been issued in the districts of Kiev, St. Petersburg, Warsaw and Moscow, because of the necessity of immediately increasing the forces in the East.

REPORTED ASSASSINATION. Berlin, June 29.—According to the Morgen Post, Gen. Marmoussin, commander of troops at Lodz, Poland, has been assassinated. He was shot by a General while driving through the city. After dragging him from a carriage they stabbed him in the heart.

SAILED LIBAVIA. Libava, Russia, June 29.—The Russian sailors here mutinied last night, attacked the Government stores, seized the arms and fired into the officers' quarters. The mutineers were driven back by the police and the result is not known.

THE CITY OF ODESSA. A Busy Seaport With Many Handsome Public Buildings. Odesa is a seaport of Russia, in the Government of Kherson, on the Black Sea, about 300 miles north of Constantinople.

RUSSIA AND THE INDIAN FRONTIER

Capt. Forsyth, Once Stationed at Peshawur, on Situation.

PLACE ALIVE WITH SPIES He Endorses Lord Kitchener's Contention That the Present System is Bad.

There are few men in Canada today who are so well qualified to speak of the crisis in India at the present moment as Captain Forsyth, late of the 7th Queen's Own Hussars, and now a Montrealer.

Chanting with a Star reporter this morning the Captain said: "I still take a keen interest in the question of a Russian invasion in India. The country is permeated with Russian spies and secret agents, and long ago was quartered at Peshawur, the principal British garrison on the north-west frontier, some of their methods came under my personal observation."

"The steady advance of Russia is not only a menace to British India, but also to Persia and Turkey, and inasmuch as I have not yet heard the details of Lord Kitchener's plan for the defence of India and the reorganization of the Indian army, I will refrain from venturing an opinion further than to say that I positively endorse his statement that the present system is rotten."

"Moreover, I believe that the present commander-in-chief has the courage of his convictions, and the red tapists may, while soldiers of all ranks who love their profession hail it as the courage of a common sense."

"Referring more especially to the native Indian Imperial army, I may mention a few points which are of vital interest at the present juncture. As is well known, many of the officers are first-class men, but it is the system that is complained of. To begin with, the number of officers to a regiment is too few, and again they are, as a rule, not permanently attached to their regiments, and are looking upon their men merely as birds of passage."

"Strange to say, the present system is open to many of the same objections that were made on the old East India company's army before the mutiny of 1857 by the celebrated Colonel Hodgson, of Hodgson's Horse, one of their best officers. Colonel Hodgson wrote as follows: 'The European subaltern officer of the native army too generally looks upon the performance of his regimental duties as a task, irksome if not unambitious to acquire the character of a good soldier, and a good officer. He has scarcely joined the corps when his every effort is strained to quit it, so as to escape from what he is apt to pronounce 'drudgery and tedium.' In those days officers of the native army knew but little of their men, still less of what was going on around them in the lines of their respective regiments, and that bond of union which marked in former times the almost clan-like intercourse subsisting between the Sepoy and his British officer had nearly disappeared. The reason officers wished to leave their regiments was an immediate craving for staff employ, both civil and military. A wide chasm separates the European officer from his native comrade, and in which the dearest interests of the army may be embroiled, unless a radical change of relations between the parties is introduced."

"These prophetic words were written by Hodgson before the mutiny, and seemed as if they were a warning to England; but even after the terrible experience of that awful rising the system is, if anything, worse."

"One of the principal causes which led to the Indian Mutiny of 1857, and indeed which made such a thing possible, was undoubtedly the want of reciprocal knowledge of character between the British officer and the native soldier. The young English officer, when appointed to a native regiment, should be taught to consider the regiment as his home, and not merely to look upon it as a stepping stone to staff employ, and he should, as a condition of his appointment, be required to rise to the command of the corps which he first joined, and have a thorough personal knowledge of his men."

DAMMING LAKE ERIE. Preparing for the International Waterways' Commission.

At the conference in the Board of Trade yesterday of those interested in the problem of damming Lake Erie, which will come up before the International Waterways' Commission in Montreal, on July 11, it was decided to appoint a special committee to collect information and statistics regarding the trade of the St. Lawrence route, the cost of canals, deepening of the channel, and in fact all information which would likely be of interest to the commission.

The various commercial and governing bodies of the city were reassembled at yesterday's meeting, including the Montreal Board of Trade, at whose instance the meeting was called, the City Council, the Chambre de Commerce, the Shipping Federation, and the Harbor Board. A committee was appointed on motion of Mayor Laporte, and seconded by Mr. R. M. Ballantyne, and is composed as follows: Messrs. W. I. Gear, H. A. Brault, Hugh A. Allan, John Kennedy, and the Mayor.

It being understood that the secretary of the commission would presently forward a plan of the proposed dam, Messrs. John Kennedy and J. R. Barlow were asked to examine the same, and report thereon.

The representatives of the different bodies present at yesterday's meeting were: City Council, Mayor Laporte, Alds. Larivière, Sauthier, Vallières and City Surveyor Barlow; Harbor Board, Mr. John Kennedy, chief engineer; La Chambre de Commerce, Messrs. H. A. Allan, H. C. Blinling, G. Garand, C. H. Cattell and Joseph Haynes (secretary); Shipping Federation, Messrs. Hugh A. Allan (chairman), R. V. Raymond, J. R. Barlow, J. B. Beart of Trade, Messrs. W. I. Gear (president), who was chairman of the meeting; F. H. Mathewson (first vice-president); M. Ballantyne (second vice-president); James Thom (treasurer).

PHRE RATE.—The special general meeting of the Board of Trade regarding the insurance rates, which had been arranged for Wednesday next, has been postponed until a later date.

THE MONTREAL DAILY STAR

BY STEWART EDWARD WHITE

A dim trail led from the water to a sheltered knoll. There stood the framework of a pointed tepee, the long poles spread like fingers above their crossing point. A little pile of gnawed white skulls of various sizes represented at least a portion of the season's catch. Dick turned them over with his foot, identifying them idly. From the sheltered branches of a near-by spruce hung four pairs of snow-shoes cached there until the next winter. Sam gave his first attention to these.

"A man, a woman, and two well-grown children," he pronounced. He ran his hand over the bulging raquette with the long tail and the slightly up-curved end. "Offway pattern," he concluded. "Dick, we're in the first hunting district. Here's where we get down to business."

He went over the ground twice carefully, examining the state of the owl, the indications of the last fire. "They've been gone about six weeks," he surmised. "If they ain't gone visiting, they must be down-stream somewhere. These fellows don't get in to trade their fur 'till along about August."

Two days subsequent, late in the afternoon, Dick pointed out what looked to be a dark streak beneath a boulder that lay some distance from the banks on a shale bar.

"Can't make her out?" said Bolton, after inspection. "Ninny-moosh," said the Indian girl, indifferently. It was the first word she had spoken since her talk with the older man.

"It's a dog, all right," conceded Sam. "She's sharp eyes." The animal roared and began to bark. Two more crashed toward him through the bushes. A thin stream of smoke disengaged itself from the tops of the forest trees. As they swept

BATHING SUIT, $9.25—FOR THE BALT SEA DIP. —Design by May Manton.

The up-to-date bathing suit is a costume at once tasteful, becoming and smart. Shown is one of the best of the season's models that is eminently simple and eminently comfortable at the same time that it fulfills all the requirements of style. In the illustration the material is dark blue Stielian beaded with black and the shield and collar are not worn, but where it is desirable to protect the throat these can be added and there are a number of materials that are quite as appropriate as the Stielian, although mohair has the one great advantage of shedding the water and consequently means the least possible weight. Taffeta is liked by many people and serge also is seen, while color can be chosen to suit the individual. The suit consists of blouse and knickerbockers, which are made in one, and the separate skirt which is gored and attached to a belt. Sleeves can be long or short as liked. For the medium size will be required 5 yards of material 27 or 5-8-4 yards 44 inches wide.

A May Mantion pattern, No. 3825, sizes 32 to 42, will be mailed to any address outside the city by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. City patrons must call at the Star Branch office, corner Peel and St. Catherine streets.

CUNEGONDE AND ANNEXATION

The Views of the Councilors and Other Citizens.

WILLING BUT NOT ANXIOUS

Town is in a Vigorous and Prosperous Condition and Can Take Care of Itself.

The people of Ste. Cunegonde do not appear over anxious for annexation to the city. The members of the City Council themselves, while very reticent about the matter, simply say they will meet the Annexation Committee of Montreal and discuss the matter with that body. Then it will be time for the council to discuss the matter.

Mayor Fabien, when seen last evening, said: "I do not think it would be proper for me to express an opinion at the moment. The council of Ste. Cunegonde has been invited to meet the Annexation Committee of the Montreal City Council. This meeting is to be fixed by the city's committee and we will attend. After that we will discuss the matter here, in council."

Alfred Arthur Gendreau spoke more plainly. "I have lived in Ste. Cunegonde all my life, and I know the people of the town. I do not believe in twenty would vote for a by-law to annex Ste. Cunegonde to the city, unless some special provisions were made to secure the advantages which the citizens now enjoy. Of course, there are advantages for both the City of Montreal and Ste. Cunegonde if the annexation is made. I am not at all opposed to the idea personally, but the conditions will have to be favorable. We are in a good position financially, all our streets are paved, and cost little to keep in order, and to clean. Licenses for the different trades are lower, and we have no real poverty."

The other members of the city council of the town expressed similar views. While not opposed to the idea of annexation, as they recognize it is bound to come sooner or later, they want to see what conditions will be offered to them to come in with the city. Among the people gathered last night at the town hall of Ste. Cunegonde to witness the proceedings of the council the majority said they had not heard of the annexation of Ste. Cunegonde except from the papers. "We have nothing to gain for the present," said one man, and his views were approved by most of those in attendance. "Our streets are better than those of Montreal, and we keep them in order at a cheap rate. Montreal cannot take care of the streets it has now in hand, and if our streets are added they will soon get into the same state as St. James street near the Bonaventure station, where there are holes in the street that render it almost impassable."

of a little over $20,000 in arrears of taxes is due by taxpayers, and bears six per cent interest. The deficit of the town last year was about $3,000, but the taxes due greatly surpass that amount. Besides, the deficit was caused by extraordinary causes, not likely to recur again for many years.

THE TOWN'S REAL ESTATE.

In January last, the real estate owned by the city amounted to $15,300. Since that date, however, the new City Hall, costing over $30,000, has been erected. The Post Office is situated in this building, and the revenue from that source is an important aid to the cost of its management.

The town contains 125 acres in super-perfect, and has ten streets running from east to west, and four streets north and south. Notre Dame street, from Parfitt to Atwater, is 2,642 feet in length. The distance between the same streets on St. James is 1,300 feet, while the length on St. Antoine, from Dominion street to Atwater, is only 643 feet. There are three streets below Notre Dame, one between Notre Dame and St. James, and two between St. James and St. Antoine.

The Montreal Light Heat and Power Company has a hold on the lighting of the town for thirty-six years to come, and the Montreal Street Railway company has a franchise for the same period. This is the result of the arrangement adopted by a previous council with Mr. Robert Blackeridge, now member of Parliament for St. Lawrence division. He secured, on December 18th, 1891, franchise rights to all developments of electricity for fifty years. This contract was handed over by him to the Montreal electric companies which became amalgamated as the Light Heat and Power Company, and the Montreal Street Railway secured the contract for electric railways in the town.

The Montreal Water and Power Company has the contract for the water supply of the town. This contract will last until September 1st, 1916, or eleven years more. At that date the city has the option of buying the plant.

Besides the new city hall, the St. Cunegonde council has within the last few months secured $13,000 worth of fire apparatus and the furnishing of a new city hall has all been done away in the town.

PERSONALS.

Mr. James Hore gave his sister away, and the groom's brother, Mr. Harold Baker, acted as best man. The bride was attended by Miss Laura Chrysler, in a gown of bisque voile over taffeta and carrying pink roses. The bride's dress of cream voile was trimmed with a berthe of Duchesse lace. She wore a picture hat with a long white plume and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marriot, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Miss Sly, of Montreal; Mr. Edwin Baker, of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, Chicago.

In Knox Church, Toronto, yesterday, the marriage took place of Miss Mary Victoria Laidlaw, daughter of Rev. Canon Dunlop, to Rev. J. S. Laidlaw, B.A., pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Belleville. The bride, who entered the church with her father, wore cream silk collared over cream satin trimmed with Brussels lace, and carried a bouquet of cream roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Veronica Ball, Miss Bessie Fulton and Miss Ghita Dunlop. Dr. Laidlaw, of Rat Portage, was best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. T. McMullen, pastor of Knox Church, of which Mr. Laidlaw was the assistant pastor until a year ago. A reception at the home of the bride's parents, Light street, followed the ceremony.

In St. Peter's Church, Coburg, yesterday afternoon, in the presence of many guests, Miss Edith Myra Kerr, second daughter of Senator Wm. Kerr, K.C., was married to Mr. Donald Macdonald, son of Mr. Donald Macdonald, Edmonston, and grandson of Captain Archibald Macdonald. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Savage, M.A. rector, the church being most beautifully decorated with flowers. The bride was attended by a maid of honor, Miss Mabel Kerr, her sister, four bridesmaids, among whom was Miss Lillian Jacques of Montreal, and by two tiny flower girls and two pages. The groom's cousin, Mr. Herbert Ketchum, of Toronto, was best man. The ceremony was followed by a reception at "The Maples," Senator Kerr's residence, which was largely attended. The bride and groom left on the evening train for Muskoka. They will return to Coburg for a visit before going to their future home in Edmonston.

Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Mrs. A. W. Childs, of Montreal, are guests of their sister, Mrs. G. A. Gilnes, at Oakdale camp, Armstrong's Point, for the summer.

Master William F. Muir, son of Mr. W. E. Muir, 55 Aberdeen avenue, Westmount, who was quite seriously injured in a street car accident last week, is slowly recovering.

A quiet house wedding took place last evening at St. Lambert when Miss Elizabeth Walker was married to Mr. Charles Edwin McGregor, by Rev. Rural Dean Dart, M. A. rector. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Argyle avenue. The bride was the recipient of a great many handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. McGregor will reside at St. Lambert.

THE NEW CITY HALL.

One of the points on which the Ste. Cunegonde Council will likely insist in any case is that the present City Hall—just about completed at a cost of somewhat over $50,000—will be taken over by the city and kept open as a branch city hall for the collection of taxes and payment of water rates for the western section of the city.

Mr. T. A. Gibe, the City Clerk of Ste. Cunegonde, furnished the following figures as indicating the financial condition of the city at the present time:

The total valuation of property in the town is $3,656,665. Of this $283,457 is exempt by law from taxation. There are no exemptions by the city council except in the case of the Montreal Rolling Mills and the Tans Davidson Manufacturing Company. The Council has agreed not to increase for twenty-five years the valuation upon the property now placed on the land it present occupied by these companies. They may, therefore, improve their present buildings without any increased taxation.

The bonded debt of the municipality is $776,000, while the fixed charges amount to $34,200. As the revenue is about $56,000, this leaves about $22,800 for ordinary administration. A sum of $100,000 is set aside for the purpose of providing for the future of the town. The Council will likely insist in any case is that the present City Hall—just about completed at a cost of somewhat over $50,000—will be taken over by the city and kept open as a branch city hall for the collection of taxes and payment of water rates for the western section of the city.

THE INSPECTION OF MARKET SALES

Complaints That Some Dealers Swindle Purchasers at Bonsecours.

TO WATCH WILY HUSBANDMAN

It is Proposed to Appoint an Inspector to Protect Purchasers Against Wholesale Imposition.

Ald. Paquin, at the meeting of the Market Committee yesterday afternoon, made a strong complaint against the various dishonest practices of some of the dealers at Bonsecours market.

He took up the case of farmers, butchers, and many others, who had to go to the market in question, once a week, to purchase large quantities of produce.

It was the opinion of Chairman Levy that it would be difficult even for an inspector to thoroughly watch what was going on, and when a farmer was found cheating, he could be arrested.

A CASE AGAINST S.S. CO.

The Action is Dismissed by Court of Review.

The Court of Review, Tuesday, rendered its judgment in the case of Frank Trauzzi vs. the Glasgow Navigation Company, owners of the steamship Tiverton.

The general opinion of the committee was in favor of better inspection, to satisfy the grocers, but it was also felt that it was not desirable to have a man going to any store or shop, where a customer was supposed to use his judgment and know what he was buying.

As to the alleged shortage over the side of the ship, of which some proof was made, the court reserved plaintiff's right to sue therefor.

East End Manufacturers' Club.

The manufacturers of the east end of the city held a meeting at the Windsor Hotel Tuesday night, the object being to organize a club in the east end, to be called, in the probable future, the Manufacturers' Club.

The general plan was discussed, and a committee was appointed to prepare a membership list. It is expected that some two hundred manufacturers in that section will join.

When examined at the Notre Dame hospital, it was found that the boy was burned all over the body, but still conscious. It was, however, apparent that he could only live a short time.

Mr. von Metzke is taking advantage of the holiday given him by the bank authorities and is on his way to Europe to recuperate from the effects of the murderous attack made by the burglars, which he is enabled to do through the generosity of the bank which recognized his valuable services in a substantial manner.

OUR LONDON LETTER

Bitterness is Becoming Daily More Pronounced in Politics.

NEXT COLONIAL CONFERENCE

Balfour and Chamberlain are in Accord on This as on All Other Important Points.

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star (London.)

London, June 22.—It is a very long time since there was so largely mixed with British politics as it is at the present moment. Members of the House of Commons are now in the habit of speaking at certain periods, hardly speak to each other, and the parliamentary life is new and dignified and personal courtesy which is not to be seen in the ordinary life of a politician.

The Royal College Institute has been calling down upon itself a little amused criticism this week. A prominent Anglo-Canadian was shocked upon Empire Day to note that the Imperial Institute, despite its imperialist and its ardent avowal of colonial claims, did not think it necessary to have a special day for the Empire Day emblem.

It is necessary, therefore, to repeat the suggestion that the Institute should expend the necessary 25s. to provide itself with a Dominion flag, and to have a display on an occasion such as Empire Day and Dominion Day if the autocratic settlers of the Royal Colonial Institute do not know that the Ontario flag is not the Dominion flag, and cannot take its place in the Imperial Institute.

South Africa PREVAILS. The Evening Standard and St. James's Gazette in this suggestive comment on the figures: "They show satisfactorily enough that the Empire is a grander and more united than it has ever been before."

THE EXACT POSITION. Bringing down the heated discussions of this week to essentials it is seen that the difference between those who are now fixedly pursuing the same end, and those who are now fixedly pursuing the same end, is practically the same road. There never was a more united Empire than at the present time.

peal cases from a minority of the commissioners to them a "ditch" as a coat. They were, however, the same as the lads by £21,500, an uncollected £134,194 of arrears of rent. As to 1894 they donna work much, but it is plain that the work would be as heavy as the sheriffs could do it, especially when they are coatin' the country some £5,000 a year.

"NERVES" A COMMON COMPLAINT OF HOT WEATHER.

Tired and Nervous, Aching and Trembling, Sleepless and Restless.

PE-RU-NA CURES

By Removing the Cause.

MISS MARY L. WHALEY, 1320 Jackson street, North Topika, Kan., writes: "About a year ago I was all run down and my nervous system was completely shattered."

"Then I began to use Peruna and I found it just the medicine I needed to restore my health. I used it for nearly three months, but the reward was worth it, as at the end of that time I was like another woman."

How to Maintain Strong Nerves. Shattered nerves is a very common complaint during the summer months. The ozone of the winter air, which the nerves have been sustained during the cold weather is missed.

This results in nervousness, and sometimes complete nervous prostration. Especially so with people who are bloodless or in an overworked condition.

Peruna is not a nerve medicine, but it does strengthen the nervous system by assisting in the proper digestion of food.

It frees the mucous membranes of all catarrhal taints, leaving the whole digestive track in a sound healthy condition.

Ocean - Sorting Scheme for Irish Mail Not a Success.

He Led Two Hundred Fellow Workers in Safety Across a Life Wire.

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star.

Dublin, June 22.—The new ocean-sorting scheme for the homeward American mail got its initial trial on board the White Star liner, "The Celtic," which arrived at Queenstown from New York on Thursday last.

The Irish portion of the mail was sorted on board the Celtic, and was sent on to Dublin by the "The Celtic" on Friday morning.

The Islanders of Dursey Island, near Berahoven, which has been made notorious by the wholesale evictions which have been going on there lately, have been turning good for evil, and a small force of police were left to garrison the island.

Quebec's Travellers' Tax. Canadian Associated Press. London, June 28.—The Globe says: "We have commented on the favor shown by the Ottawa Parliament to foreign emigrants, but the Quebec Legislature has gone much further in the demonstration of weakening friendship by imposing an annual tax of sixty pounds per head on commercial travellers employed by firms having no place of business in the Dominion. It strikes a direct and heavy blow at British trade, as the number of British commercial travellers is by far the largest. MERRY-MAKING. The spirit of merry-making is abroad, and all will agree that it is easier to be happy if suitably gowned. Many have come to the conclusion that the dry goods store of Messrs. Jas. A. Their announcement on page 11 of this issue of the Star, gives an unprecedented holiday list.

WEATHER

Summer returned to-day. After the slight lapse of the earlier days of the week, yesterday's day was clear, but clear, weather was followed by the prophesied increased heat. With the barometer rising, the mercury showed an increase of 3 degrees at an early hour this morning over the warmest instant of yesterday, when it registered 72 degrees. The coldest moment of the night, that just before dawn, the glass showed 56 degrees. Clear weather with just the hint of a breeze made the shade very pleasant, though the full glare of the sun was a trifle too warm.

More heat promised to-morrow.

CITY LOSES BOTH CASES.
The Writs of Prohibition in Pare Cases Sustained.

Mr. Justice Curran yesterday maintained the writ of prohibition which was granted some time ago by Mr. J. A. Drouin, K.C., acting for J. B. Pare, licentiate, accused of infractions of the liquor laws. The case first taken was called before Mr. Recorder Porter, when the sensation with regard to the charges against the defendant was sprung. The police committee called for an investigation, but no charges were made before the committee, and the captain was discharged. In the meantime another charge was laid before the Recorder against Pare.
His counsel then applied to the Superior Court for writs of prohibition to prevent the Recorder from hearing such cases, on account of alleged irregularities in the procedure of the Recorder's Court. The two writs have been maintained and the Recorder's Court enjoined from hearing such cases, with costs against the city of Montreal on both petitions.

Murderous Mutineers of Russian Battleship Hoist Red Flag of Anarchy and Hold City of Odessa at Their Mercy

Great Russian Seaport Terrorized by Rebellious Sailors and Striking Workmen, With Its Quays and Shipping in Flames and Its Authorities in a State of Panic—Sailors Inflamed by Summary Shooting of One of Their Number, Butchered Their Officers and Flung Their Bodies Into the Sea—Other Warships Are Hurried to the Scene.

Odessa, June 29.—The red flag of revolution is hoisted on the masts of the Kniaz Potemkin, a Russian naval vessel, which is in the harbor here in the hands of mutineers.
The captain and most of the officers of the battleship, which is a member of the Black Sea Fleet, were murdered and thrown overboard in the open sea, and the ship is completely in the possession of the crew and a few officers who have thrown in their lots with the mutineers.

THE BLACK SEA FLEET.
The battleships of the Black Sea fleet which, under Admiral Kruger are now on their way to Odessa to sink or recapture the Kniaz Potemkin are as follows:
CATHERINE II., launched in 1889, a battleship of 10,180 tons displacement and 15.5 knots speed. She carries a 12-inch and 6 1/2-inch guns in her main battery, but is deficient in quick-firing guns.
DZENISAZ APSTOLOFF, launched in 1892, of 8,075 tons displacement. Her speed is 16 knots and she carries a 12-inch and 6 1/2-inch guns.
GEORGI POBEDONOSETZ, of 10,250 tons and 16.5 knots speed. She carries a 12-inch and 6 1/2-inch guns.
ROSTISLAV, of 8,850 tons and 16 knots, was launched in 1899 and carries a 12-inch and 6 1/2-inch guns.
T'HESSIE, of 10,320 tons and 15 knots, was launched in 1898 and carries a 12-inch and 6 1/2-inch guns.
TRIA SVIATITELIA, of 12,480 tons and 17 knots, was launched in 1893 and carries a 12-inch and 4 1/2-inch guns.

WHEN NIGHT CAME ON.
The position grew worse as night came on. During the evening the battleship of the mutineers moved nearer to the city. Her heavy guns are still trained on the city. This caused renewed excitement among the rioters, whose numbers were augmented during the day, partly by the compulsion exerted by the strikers and partly by the encouragement derived by the presence of the mutinous warship.

THE TORCH APPLIED.
A huge mob, following revolutionary cries and waving red flags, burst through the troops guarding two customs warehouses, which were looted. Then spreading to all parts of the harbor, they set fire to warehouses, stores, offices and shipping, which are now blazing, lighting up the whole front of the city. All foreign ships are preparing to slip their moorings, but the Kniaz Potemkin is playing her searchlight in every direction, and it is doubted whether she will allow any foreign ship to burrow the view at this moment.

PANIC AT THE CAPITAL.
St. Petersburg, June 29.—More serious in its possible effects than all the defeats in Manchuria or the destruction of Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet was the news which reached St. Petersburg, that the standard of open rebellion was hoisted on board one of the Emperor's battleships in the harbor of Odessa, and that with shotguns, the mutinous crew, headed by eight officers, were holding the ship against all comers.

ARRIVAL OF THE BATTLESHIP.
Late on Tuesday night the battleship, accompanied by a torpedo boat, both flying the red flag, arrived in the bay from Sevastopol, instead of the imperial and royal standards. They ignored the signals from shore, and when the port authorities sent a launch to communicate with them, the boat was threatened by the torpedo boat, which threatened all night if the order was not obeyed. All night the boat patrolled around the flagship, which lay anchored off the town.

CITY IN AN UPROAR.
When morning came, it was a tumult before the people realized what had happened, the numerous rumors being ascribed to the malevolent strikers, who throughout the day had kept the city in a ferment. The rumors, however, quickly found their way into fact, when the torpedo boat, her guns leveled at the harbor, and seized the Russian collier Esperanza, with a cargo of iron ore, and took her to the battleship.

DEAD SAILOR'S BODY LANDED.
At about the same time an armed phinix which had been launched by the battleship, steamed to the quay, where it put on open coffin containing the body of a seaman, to whose uniform a written paper was attached. This paper stated that the man's name was Ometchug, and that he had been shot dead by the chief officer for complaining about the bad quality of the soup served the crew. It was added that Ometchug had been murdered for telling the truth, and that the whole crew had avenged his death by killing all the officers. As the news spread, the police, consisting mainly of riotous strikers and their followers, flocked to the quay and passed with fared heads, respectfully saluting the revolutionary agents, and later he directed that all the shops and public places should be closed. He had meanwhile telegraphed to St. Petersburg and Sevastopol, asking the authorities at the latter place to send a fleet.

AROUND THE COFFIN.
The body was visited by thousands of persons, many of whom placed coins in a basket at the head of the body towards a fund to defray the cost of the funeral, which the authors propose to make a great demonstration.

STRIKERS GET BOLD.
Any attempt at force would have undoubtedly led to a realization of the mutineers' threat to bombard the city. Moreover, there is reason to believe they distrust the loyalty of the troops, who apart from their national sympathy with their comrades of the navy in the circumstances producing the mutiny, have long been plied by the revolutionary agents' arguments in behalf of a social uprising. The boldness of the strikers was markedly increased by the presence of the mutineers, who were reckoned as allies and whom the strikers helped by sending men to assist in coaling the battleship.

PANIC SEIZED THE CROWD.
Therefore, beyond posting strong guards at the Government offices, banks and other public buildings, the officials could do little to protect the town or allay the panic which seized a large proportion of the inhabitants. A crowd of many thousands of orderly residents thronged the elevated Nicholas Boulevard, whence they could view the harbor and the battleship, watching the latter with mingled curiosity and fear.

SHIP FIRED A SHELL.
London, June 29.—The Odessa correspondent of the Standard says that the ship's 12-inch gun fired a shell during the night at a Cossack picket stationed at the Richelieu Monument and wounding twenty, killing four.

SUPPLIED WITH FOOD.
St. Petersburg, June 29.—It is stated that sympathizers in Odessa are supplying the crew of the Kniaz Potemkin with food. The Mayor of Odessa has gone to Moscow. He has telegraphed to the citizens begging them to be calm and refrain from disorders, and to help in the delivery of the WORK OF MOBILIZATION BEGINS.

RIDDEN DOWN BY COSSACKS.
St. Petersburg, June 29.—An excitement arising from the events at Lodz, Warsaw and Odessa, has spread to the cities in the Jewish Pale in all the old Polish provinces along the western border of Russian Poland. At Minsk and Kovno pogroms have been attacked in the streets, and at the latter place a jail delivery occurred. At Kieff about 200 Jews, making a demonstration and carrying a red flag, were ridden down by gentlemen and Cossacks. Many arrests were made.

MINERS GO ON STRIKE.
Warsaw, June 29.—A strike has been declared at the coal and iron mines, in the district of the Katowice and Sosnowice.

SENTENCED FOR MUTINY.
Sebastopol, Russia, June 29.—Eight workmen in the Karpoft mine have gone out on strike.

A Few Specialties For TO-DAY

There is always a few pieces of furniture missing in the furnishing of a city or country house. Here is an excellent opportunity to complete furnishing a house at exceptional bargains.

Note The Prices:
Parlor Suites, from - $16.50 to $150.00
Bedroom Suites, from - $11.50 to $200.00
Sideboards, from - $8.75 to $175.00
Extension Tables, from - $4.65 to $60.00
Dining Room Chairs, from 60c to $10.00

All other goods reduced in same proportion. While the price of some of the items mentioned may be so low as to seem hardly possible, yet you can depend on finding every one just as advertised. We do not bring you down on a "wild goose chase," or tell you after you're in the store "all sold out" of this or that line of goods, expecting you to buy something else. One of the penalties of doing a large business is that frequent accumulation of stock is inevitable, as you know, and, of course, that means at this time of year it has to go at any sacrifice. Best choice to those that will come early.
