World News In Brief

Vienna, Nov. 24.—(AP)—American authorities yesterday said six United States fighter planes, probably lost in a heavy fog, flew over the Soviet-zone city of Amstettin last Tuesday. Corrective action has been taken to prevent a recurrence, army headquarters said in reply to a Soviet message on the subject.

Bucksport, Me., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Two small children perished in a fire that razed their 2½-story rural home last night.

Donald, six, and Ralph, two, who died, were trapped in upstairs bedroom. Their mother and sister, Gloria, 13, suffered burns trying to rescue the boys.

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The National Research Council today announced it will sponsor approximately 40 post-doctorate fellowships at its laboratories in 1949-50, including six in atomic energy research in the laboratories of the atomic energy project at Chalk River, Ont.

Approximately 20 awards will be made in chemistry and 15 in physics, tenable in the N.R.C. laboratories here.

Paris, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A Soviet-bloc delegate said today that British-American oil and military interests wrecked the United Nations' partition plan for Palestine.

Andre A. Galagan of the Soviet Ukraine told the General Assembly's No. 1 political committee that it should order troops from the neighboring Arab states of Egypt, Trans-Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Iraq out of Palestine.

Berlin, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Russians posted guards today to prevent city government officials from removing any records from the central city hall.

The move was interpreted in some quarters as a Soviet preparation for setting up their separate city government.

Berlin, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Seven of every 10 Germans in the United States occupation zone favor establishment of a provisional government for western Germany, an American military government survey says. Main purpose of the survey was to find out if Germans in the zone share the concern of many German politicians over calling the proposed new authority a government.

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The international wheat agreement, settled last year by the United States, may be revived almost at once, an informed source told The Canadian Press yesterday.

He said the United States government is about to make a long-awaited announcement calling the 11-country wheat preparatory committee into session.

Negotiations In East Coast Shipping Strike Deadlocked

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Negotiations in the 15-day-old American east coast shipping tie-up have reached a new impasse.

The organized stevedore employers say they are "unanimously resolved" not to make any further offers to the 65,000 striking dock workers.

And the International Longshoremen's Association (A.F.L.) is standing pat on 11 demands, including one for a pay increase.

Joint negotiations were scheduled to re-open today, however.

The employers' position was announced last night in a lengthy written statement issued by John V. Lyon, chairman of the New York Shipping Association.

Although it has nothing new to offer, the employers' negotiating committee said it would remain "subject to call" by the United States mediation and conciliation service which is attempting to settle the strike.

The employer group also said it would attend a joint session today with the strikers' committee.

The employers' statement, which apparently left the door open for considering further union proposals, contained a full account of the employers' present position and

King George May Use A Wheel Chair

London, Nov. 24.—The King today continued to carry out his normal routine of state business at Buckingham Palace despite a circulatory ailment.

His Majesty's condition was described by the Press Association as an "affection of the arteries themselves which impeded circulation of the blood."

It was first disclosed in an announcement from Buckingham Palace early yesterday which said the ailment forced cancellation of the Royal tour of Australia and New Zealand which was to have begun in January.

While the King continued to carry out his normal duties, Sir William Gilliat, gynaecologist, and Sir John Weir, the King's physician, called today at the Palace.

In future the King may use a wheel chair to rest his legs it was made known informally yesterday.

The official announcement about the King's condition was signed by the five attending physicians.

The ailment was discovered two weeks ago when His Majesty noticed a numbness in his right foot.

On the basis of the doctor's announcement, some medical authorities expressed belief the King's ailment might be hardening of the arteries—a fairly common complaint in the men of his age. He will be 53 Dec. 14.

There is no doubt about the King's general health, which continues to be good. However, the necessary curtailment of some of the King's activities is expected to mean that other members of the Royal Family will assume an extra burden of public duties. Princess Elizabeth in particular is expected to step forward as soon as she recovers from the birth of her son.

Cloutier Trial Gets Underway

Montreal, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Four eye-witnesses of the Sept. 23 bank holdup in which two policemen were slain told their stories in King's Bench Court yesterday but none could identify the bandits.

The four testified at the trial of Noel Cloutier, one of three men charged with the murder of Constables Nelson Paquin and Paul Emile Duranaka.

When, one after the other, the witnesses said could not identify the slayers because of handkerchief masks, Cloutier was seen to smile and nudge the police guard to whom he was handcuffed.

The four witnesses were: Isa-

Improvement in Water Situation After Ten Days of Heavy Rain Enables Civic Authorities to Lift Power Restrictions.

After four weeks on Daylight Saving Time, introduced November 1 as a power conservation measure, Sherbrooke citizens will return to Standard Time on Sunday night (Monday morning). Mayor Alphonse Trudeau announced this morning.

Increased power deliveries from the municipal electric generating plants, especially those situated on the Magog river, resulting from the continued rains of the past ten days have relieved the power shortage which afflicted Sherbrooke in common with other parts of Eastern Canada and have permitted the elimination of all restrictions against the use of electricity.

Toward the end of October, the electricity situation became acute following a summer-long drought. The storage lakes, Lake Aylmer and Lake St. Francis at the headwaters of the St. Francis and Lake Memphremagog, the source of the Magog river, became depleted and the river flow was reduced to a trickle, cutting down the production of the City's own plants. Delay in delivery of transformers, on order for two years, prevented the purchase of enough additional power from outside sources to make up for reduced production.

To prevent dislocation of industry, sweeping restrictions were placed in effect November 1. In addition to adoption of Daylight Saving Time, the lighting of store windows and outdoor signs and of parks, etc., was forbidden while street lighting was curtailed. Water conditions so improved later in the month, however, that starting last Friday the restrictions were progressively removed until only Daylight Saving Time remained.

Yesterday afternoon, Gaston Masse, superintendent of the Electric Department, recommended the ending of Daylight Saving Time and a proclamation to this effect was issued this morning by Mayor Trudeau.

Other power companies serving the Eastern Townships report a similar improvement in the water situation. Lakes have risen to normal levels and with continued rainfall promised, it is expected that water reserves will be substantially above average before winter sets in.

The heavy rainfall is also welcomed by the farmers, who feared that they would be compelled to dispose of their livestock owing to the drying up of their wells.

Indicating the effect of the summer-long drought on river flow, the Dominion Water Power Bureau places the average flow of twenty-one representative Canadian rivers at 74 per cent of normal, despite the fact that western rivers were above their usual levels. In Quebec, the St. Francis was 14 per cent of normal for October, the St. Maurice 33 per cent, the Harricana 39 per cent and the Outardes 86 per cent.

Improved conditions in Northern Quebec reflected in the Toronto announcement that deliveries by Quebec producing companies to the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission will be increased today by 800,000 kilowatt hours daily, permitting the ending of the evening power cut-offs in Toronto and other cities, while all local systems will have their quotas increased by 2½ per cent. The Quebec companies indicate that if the rains continue, deliveries will be boosted by the week-end. The drought forced a reduction in deliveries from an agreed rate of 6,000,000 kilowatts daily to slightly under 2,800,000.

Atomic Talks To Be Deferred

Paris, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada said today in an interview that high-level talks of atomic energy control likely will be deferred until the United Nations Security Council returns to its Lake Success, N. Y., headquarters.

McNaughton, Canada's permanent delegate to the United Nations, said he had talked with "many persons" on the subject. The consensus has been that the current United Nations Assembly has too many other problems on hand now to permit useful discussions of an atomic energy control formula.

McNaughton said earlier that such discussions would be on the level of foreign ministers and perhaps heads of states.

Six Neutrals Renew Berlin Issue Study

Paris, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Six "neutral" members of the United Nations Security Council took up again today their task of trying to break through the east-west deadlock in Berlin.

The neutrals, including Canada, will sift through British, United States, French and Russian answers to a questionnaire on Berlin's currency problems in an effort to find a clue to a means of halting the cold war.

Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, president of the Security Council for November, submitted the questionnaires to the four powers and then turned the replies over to the other six members for study. The other neutrals are Argentina, Belgium, China, Colombia and Syria.

Because currency is one of the chief causes of friction between the western powers and Russia in Berlin, Bramuglia is seeking to get at the root of the discord by solving the money problem.

Britain, the United States and France introduced their western-German currency in the western sectors of Berlin last spring. Soon afterward, in June, Russia began its blockade of the capital city by halting all transportation except air traffic between Berlin and the western occupation zones.

Russia has refused to lift the blockade until the western powers accept Soviet-zone currency as the only medium of exchange in all four sectors of the city. The western powers, on the other hand, have refused to negotiate the currency question until the blockade is lifted.

Despite the neutrals' vigorous new approach to the Berlin dispute, western sources predicted gloomily that this latest effort would collapse.

A French official said east-west tension in Berlin probably would continue to mount for the next two weeks. Municipal elections scheduled in the western sectors for Dec. 5 probably would make things worse than they are now.

Communists are boycotting the Berlin elections and there is no voting scheduled in the Soviet sector of the city.

The contents of the four powers' replies to Bramuglia's questionnaire remained undisclosed.

If High Costs Get You Down Move To Iceland Or Portugal

By WILLIAM WILSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Except for the lucky people who live in Iceland and Portugal, it still costs everyone else more and more to live during the first half of this year.

The Portuguese and Icelanders were the exceptions in a general upward trend in cost of living indices reported last night by the Bureau of Statistics survey of world prices during the first six months of 1948.

Wholesale prices presented about the same picture. Again there were only two exceptions in the general upward movement. In this case, however, the countries where wholesale prices declined were Spain and Italy.

The increases in cost of living indices throughout the world were generally from one to 10 per cent and on the whole the trend upwards was slower than in the last half of 1948.

The increases ranged from fractional advances in Switzerland, Spain and Egypt to a staggering 672-point jump in the index for Shanghai. The next highest was a 222-point jump in an index maintained for 28 Japanese cities.

On the basis that 1935-39 costs equal 100, Canada's index jumped from 135.9 in July 1947, to 146 in December and 154.3 in June, 1948.

Open Verdict Is Given In Pohl Slaying

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Still unanswered today was the question of who killed Mrs. Emma Pohl, 37-year-old Kitchener housewife.

The verdict a coroner's inquest jury returned last night attached no blame to anyone. But it established that the woman died of strangulation on a swampy road near Ayr, Ont., at the point where her partly-nude body was found six weeks after her disappearance Sept. 13.

The jury found that the blonde woman met death at the hands of "a person or persons unknown."

The jurors earlier heard William Stuart, 30, of Kitchener, Ont., now awaiting trial on a public mischief charge, say that he had sexual intercourse with Mrs. Pohl the day she disappeared. He said that on the same day he paid her $500 he owed her and had her sign a receipt he had written out. He said he last saw her on a Kitchener street earlier in the afternoon of Sept. 13.

Asked about his relationship with Mrs. Pohl, Stuart said he kept company with her before her marriage to Pohl and saw her on several occasions afterward.

On the day Mrs. Pohl disappeared, "there were sexual relations between us," Stuart said. "How often did that happen?" he was asked.

"Every time I went to see her," he answered.

Stuart's mother, Mrs. John Stuart of Galt, said Mrs. Pohl told her of leading Stuart $500. She said she herself hurried from a visit to England after she learned her son had been arrested on the public mischief charge.

William Pohl, 37, husband of the slain woman, said he knew William Stuart had been keeping company with his wife before he (Pohl) married her.

In the United States the rise was from 158.4 to 167 and then to 171.7 for the three dates.

In both these cases the rise in the most recent period was smaller than in the preceding six months. In Britain, however, this was reversed. With 106 representing living costs in June, 1947, the increases were from 101 in July, 1947, to 104 in December and 110 in July, 1948.

The biggest jump in a national wholesale index was in France where it went up 38.9 per cent. Italy's decrease amounted to 6.9 per cent for the first half of the year. Spain's decline was an 1.3 reduction from an all-time peak which wholesale prices there reached in December of last year.

In the Canadian wholesale price index, unlike the cost of living index, 100 represents 1925 prices. In July, 1947, this index stood at 129.1. By December it had risen to 143.5 and by the following June had jumped again to 151.9.

The U.S. index stood at 105.6 in July, 1947, and then rose to 163.2 in December. It had reached 166.2 in June of this year. The British figures for the same date were 193.3, 212.1 and 222.1.

Federal officials point out that the national indices cannot be used to compare actual dollar prices between various countries since they have no common base.

Newfoundland and Canada Agree On Financial Terms

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—(AP)—After lengthy negotiations, Newfoundland and Canada have agreed on financial terms considerably different from tentative arrangements suggested a year ago when the island's entry into confederation was discussed.

A source in close touch with the union negotiations, under way here since Oct. 6, said that while the terms are different, the financial burden on Canada has not been increased. In the tentative arrangements of last year, it was estimated that the island's entry into confederation would cost an additional drain of $15,000,000 a year on the Federal treasury.

When those arrangements were presented to a delegation which came to Ottawa to sound out the government on possible terms of union, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, then Prime Minister, said: "I feel I must emphasize that as far as the financial aspects of the proposed arrangements for union are concerned, the government of Canada believes that the arrangements go as far as the government can under the circumstances."

When the negotiations were reopened last month, the Newfoundland delegation has been able to show that the Federal deficit will amount to little more than $7,000,000 a year.

In the original terms, it was estimated that, as a province, Newfoundland could raise $9,500,000 in revenue and would spend about $14,500,000 for provincial services, leaving a deficit of $4,000,000 annually.

In the current negotiations, Newfoundland presented budgets covering estimated revenues and expenditures for the first eight years of union. The budgets showed that the island as a province would pile up deficits at an average of $10,000,000 a year.

As a result of discussions, that average deficit now has been cut to $3,500,000 a year, and it is expected that Newfoundland will be able to fill this gap through the imposition of a provincial gasoline tax and possibly a sales tax.

The source said that both the Canadian and Newfoundland delegations are happy over the outcome of the negotiations. They have tentatively set Dec. 2 as the date for the formal signing of the union terms and it is believed that the Newfoundlanders will return home Dec. 3.

Representatives of both countries believe that consummation of union will be possible by March 31.

Stockholm, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Fourteen persons were believed to have been killed today when a bus crashed through the rail of a bridge and plunged into water 66 feet below. The bus sank into 74 feet of water in Essingen Sound.

As policy planners here see the picture, two points stand out:

MacArthur Denies Clemency For Tojo, Other Japanese

By FRANK L. WHITE
Tokyo, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur today denied clemency for Japan's 25 top war criminals and ordered the execution of Hideki Tojo and six others who dreamed of conquest and lost an empire.

As sole reviewing officer, he declined to use his power to lighten any of the sentences determined by the International Military Tribunal—seven to die on the gallows; 16 to spend the rest of their lives in prison; two to lesser prison terms.

The supreme commander called the task "utterly repugnant" to him. He closed his review of the war-guilt case with a plea to people of all creeds in Japan to pray on the execution day—yet to be made public—to help the world keep the peace, "lest the human race perish."

Counsel for five defendants planned to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, which has never yet intervened in international war-crimes cases.

MacArthur, in his statement, said he saw no reason for him to intervene. Whether the prisoners should have been prosecuted at all was not for him to say. But the two-year trial itself was a fair one; every safeguard was made to "evolve justice."

Those sentenced to death were: Tojo, army commander and premier at the outbreak of war; Gen. Kenji Doihara, known as the sly, ruthless "Lawrence of Manchuria"; Koki Hirota, former premier; Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, former war minister; Gen. Heitaro Kimura, Manchurian commander; Gen. Iwane Matsui, whose troops perpetrated the "rape of Nanking"; and Lt. Gen. Akira Muto, who fought in the Philippines.

Gen. Walton Walker, commander of the Eighth Army, said the execution date has not been set but the seven men will be given "a reasonable time" before they are hanged, presumably at Sugamo prison in Tokyo. Only official witnesses will be allowed, correspondents will be barred and no pictures will be taken.

Defense counsel have named only two of the five defendants seeking clemency through the Supreme Court. They are Marquis Koichi Kido, former Lord Privy Seal and close adviser of the Emperor, and Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, former navy chief of staff. Both got life imprisonment.

Walker told reporters that the bodies of the seven condemned men will not be given to their families. They will be cremated and "disposed of" at a place to be designated later.

In his review, MacArthur said it is inevitable that many will disagree with the verdict. Even the Tribunal justices, he pointed out, were not entirely in accord.

"But no mortal agency in the present imperfect evolution of civilized society seems more entitled to confidence in the integrity of its (the Tribunal's) solemn pronouncements," he said.

He observed, too, that "no duty I have ever been called upon to perform in a long public service requires more withal, lonely and forlorn assignments and responsibilities is so utterly repugnant to me as that of reviewing the sentences."

In interviewers asked Japanese at random what they thought. They were not surprised that MacArthur did not show leniency. If he had, they said, the judges would have lost face—and face is important in the Orient.

Linda's the other night, Sam motioned me over to his table and wiggled a waiter to bring another Jerrycan of Java.

"There was noble sentiments you expressed," said Grisman, "but you left out one important argument against censorship—that it sometimes backfires right in der censor's face."

"It's a point that crossed my mind," I said, "but I was trying to keep the discussion on a high, intellectual plane."

"You could have grounded the plane for a couple of paragraphs," said Sam, "and mentioned a couple of foreign films which are double-featured around the country—'Passionelle' and the great Swedish picture, 'Torment.' Just because the censors tried to put the spitch on the French flicker it rates top billing, while 'Torment,' a much better picture, gets a single line at the bottom of the ads—'On the same program.'"

"It works the same way in legit," I two-cented, "and Mae West and Eugene O'Neill will be glad to furnish examples."

"You don't have to bother Mae and Gene," said Grisman. "All you've got to do is ask me."

"Okay," I straight-manned, "I'm asking."

"Well," said Sam, "my favorite for instance is the play I produced fifteen years ago—'Tobacco Road.' Most of the New York critics gave it two weeks, but it ran seven and a half years because a few self-appointed censors opined that it was indecent."

"Did the cops ever try to close you up?" I asked.

"Not in New York," said Sam, "but we occasionally had trouble on the road. Especially in Utica. There, a finicky mayor put his size-elevens down and told us to peddle our turnips elsewhere."

"When informed of this, I hopped a train to Syracuse and got a New York State Supreme Court Judge to issue an injunction preventing the mayor from banning our show and, just to be on the safe side, I also got injunctions against the police, fire and building departments."

"When I got back to Utica late that evening, the final edition of the local papers were already on the stands and, since I had no way of getting word to the citizenry about the injunction, it looked as if there wouldn't be any customers. But when I got to the hotel where the troupe was stopping, I found the backfiring had already begun. The lobby was filled with high school kids who were all het up about censorship, civil liberties and so on, and all a klug if there was anything they could do to help."

"I was about to shoo them away when I got a bright idea. I picked out ten kids, hired ten rooms, tore the Utica phone directory into ten equal sections, and told my new assistants to phone everybody the show was going on as per schedule."

"At the theatre, as I expected, a dozen cops barred my way and informed me the building was unsafe. I waved my injunctions, but I might as well have waved the Afghan flag—I y smiled and said the building was still unsafe. Working fast, I located the smartest lawyer in town and told him my problem. He phoned the Supreme Court judge, told him his authority was being flouted, and that the police department was acting in contempt of court.

"Tell your client to open on schedule," said his Honor, "and leave the rest to me."

"Well at 8 o'clock, almost half of Utica was in front of the theatre, and the high school kids were on soap boxes delivering orations on the evils of censorship. At 8:15, there was a screeching of sirens, and a squadron of State Troopers pulled up in front of the theatre and ordered the local cops back to their pinochle games. For a moment it looked like war between Utica and the State of New York, but after a quick conference, the local cops decided to call it a day.

"Of course, with that buildup we couldn't miss selling out, but we were still in the woods—our scenery was in the alley and the actors weren't made up. But we kept selling tickets, and when the house was full I made a little speech and asked the audience whether it would like to see how a stage set was put together."

"Well, the audience ate it up, and as the backwoods cabin was assembled before their eyes, they applauded as if they were watching a performance by the great Houdini himself. May stagehands were a tough bunch of hombres, but that night they handled the flats with a flourish and took bows after screwing in each screw."

"We finally got the play going at 10, and when the curtain dropped at 11, the audience hollered for five minutes. And next day, thanks to our pal, the censor-mayor, we got enough publicity in the papers to sell out in the next ten towns."

"That's a cute yarn," I said, "and a fine example of the way a boom-crang works."

"Yes," said Sam, "and I guess it's the same in all art forms—a while back, you could rent a copy of Edmund Wilson's 'Memoirs of Hecate County' at any circulating library for two bits a week. Now that it's banned, the bookleggers are asking a buck a day."

MISS TEMPLE, GROWN-UP BABY, SETS HOLLYWOOD REMINISCING

Hollywood—Shirley Temple is back on the 20th Century-Fox lot for "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College" with Clifton Webb. The studio tossed her a cocktail party to celebrate her return to the studio where she became a star.

I reminisced with Shirley about the old days when they used to party with her with ice cream and cookies instead of dry martinis. Jane Withers, also a former kid star, walked in and Shirley looked at her in amazement.

"My, how time flies," Shirley said to Jane. "The last time I saw you, you were just a little girl. Cesar Romero kept looking at Shirley and sighing."

"To think I used to hold her on my knee. I wish I could do it now."

George Murphy was one of the first to leave. "When they start giving Shirley Temple cocktail parties," he said, "it's time I realized I'm an old man and went home to bed."

CANADIAN BABIES

BORN ON NOVEMBER 14th, 1948

Many proud parents were thrilled that the long-awaited birth in their family occurred on the birthday of an heir to the British throne.

In almost a thousand Canadian homes that day, was born a young person who, although not of royal lineage, will soon be ruling all hearts. "His Majesty—the baby" is a title fondly bestowed on every cuddlesome infant who assumes the divine right of demanding attention "fit for a king".

To insure the utmost care for these lucky November 14th babies, Heinz will send their mothers a gift of Heinz Baby Foods, a handsome Baby Calendar and a booklet on "Your Baby's Diet".

If your child first opened his eyes on the little heir's birthday, simply send his name and his mother's name and address to: H. J. Heinz Company of Canada Ltd., 420 Dupont Street, Toronto 4, Ontario.

Sherbrooke's Importance As Centre Of Industry Cited By CPR Officials

Pointing up Sherbrooke's importance as an industrial centre and as an important link in the Farnham to Megantic winter port traffic, a group of high officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway arrived here today on the noon local from Montreal to start the dieselization of yard switching here and to introduce a new traffic vice-president to this part of the Eastern Townships.

G. Allan MacNamara, who is making his first official visit here since his appointment as vice-president of traffic a year ago, spoke on arrival of the steady growth Sherbrooke has had and of the wide diversification of its industries.

He headed a group of freight and passenger officials, system and regional, who will be meeting shippers from here and from Lennoxville, East Angus, Beebe, Rock Island and Stanstead today and will be in Thetford Mines tomorrow.

The traffic group, along with leading citizens, are to be guests this afternoon of Guy N. Curley, general manager of the C.P.R.'s eastern region, who is here from Toronto to put into service the first of two railroad yard diesel switchers for this city.

Mr. Curley revealed that delivery of the smokeless and efficient yard unit had been timed to come just ahead of the swing from the St. Lawrence route to West Saint John, N.B., in port traffic.

"It won't be long," he said, "until the cars rolling over this division from Farnham to Megantic on their way to tidewater will be sharply increased."

He said Sherbrooke yard has a capacity of 600 cars and the new diesel engines will have plenty of work switching for local industries. They will go on three shifts a day and their use here will release steam power for other points not dieselized.

"This is an important railroad centre," Mr. Curley said, in explaining the move to dieselization at this early stage in the C.P.R.'s over-all program. "The Canadian Pacific and the Quebec Central employ nearly 400 people here, and the roads leave more than $800,000 here in wages annually."

The open fall so far has spared the road snow fighting headaches which sometimes have come as early as this, but any day now winter operating conditions can be expected.

Mr. MacNamara, who will be introduced to industrial and business leaders here at a reception in the St. George's Club this afternoon and at the City of Sherbrooke dinner in the Club Royale tonight, had his own side of the port traffic to talk about from a traffic standpoint.

While pointing out that the nine ships of the present Atlantic fleet had moved 19,977 passengers and 516,555 tons of freight into and out of Montreal up until now, he said that they would be joined early in 1950 by the Empress of Scotland—largest ship of the company, fleet to escape the enemy in World War II. She is a 26,000-tonner.

"The Scotland has now been moved up to Fairfields yards at Glasgow and her refueling should be done by then," he said. "She was a Pacific ship but until trade offers there she will go into Atlantic service, sailing between Liverpool and Quebec City."

Of his department's newest assignment to develop traffic for the over-ocean routes granted Canadian Pacific Airlines to the Orient and to Australia-New Zealand, Mr. MacNamara said the summer of 1949 would be the earliest for this service.

In domestic operations the air lines develop its own traffic but for this international service the traffic facilities of the parent com-

Bernard Buzzell Will Address Kiwanis Club

Recently returned from the island of Madagascar, Bernard Buzzell, of Magog, a member of the teaching profession for several years, will address the Kiwanis Club of Sherbrooke tonight at 6:15 o'clock at the New Sherbrooke Hotel. His topic will be "Out of the Mists," discussing his impressions of Europe, and life on Madagascar in particular.

Long associated with the peoples of this little-known island off the south coast of Africa, Mr. Buzzell's talk should be unusually interesting, inasmuch as he also at one time undertook gold mining in South Africa, and he will relate many of his personal experiences in this, and his contacts with the natives.

Democracy Only Doctrine Needed For Political Salvation, Blanchette Says

"We have had for more than a thousand years the knowledge of freedom that other peoples are just gaining—we have sometimes forgotten democracy, but democracy has never betrayed us and we need no other doctrine of political salvation," J. A. Blanchette, Federal member for Compton county, told Sherbrooke Rotarians last night, speaking to them on "Canadian Democracy."

During the war, he said, democracy meant to the allied nations, anti-fascism, anti-nazism and anti-authoritarianism, and since the cessation of hostilities, it has become necessary for us to explain what we mean by democracy, and what others mean. He said he believes that the true definition is found in Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg address—"Let us here, highly resolve that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, so that government of the people, for the people, by the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Mr. Blanchette declared that four cornerstones make up our democracy as we know it: 1—respect for the individual, his property, his person and his soul; 2—democracy enables an individual to take part in his government, to choose representatives and to share in the control—from this characteristic is developed the theory of cabinet responsibility to Parliament, and elections by free choice; 3—freedom for all under the law, with its corollaries, freedom of religion, freedom of the press, freedom of association, and lastly, a Christian philosophy—all subject to the law of the land, as well as those personal freedoms based on Magna Carta.

In his opinion there can be no democracy without discipline and he said that this discipline—when it is exercised—must always be fair and just. Mr. Blanchette also maintained that the power of democracy is unlimited and that there is nothing that needs to be done for the good of the people, which cannot be done, whether it is in Britain, Canada or the United States. In support of his contention, he cited several examples in the history of the country.

"If we need a revolution under British democracy," he continued, "we can have one, but—and it is a very great but—those people who try to make us believe that we can change for the better can come, without blood and fire and violence, of all kinds, are profoundly ignorant of our democracy, and of the unlimited power of those who fight with votes."

He pointed out that, pertinent to Canada's national pattern of development, is the continuing survival and growth of two cultures, French and English, and he said that particularly in this region of the Eastern Townships is the co-operation of the two great races evident.

"This union of French and English-speaking peoples within a common Canadian framework of government, economy, educational and religious institutions has stood the test," Mr. Blanchette added. "The two elements of our nationality have each determined to survive, to resist absorption. Through this union, each element has achieved its purpose and helped, at the same time, to give Canada its peculiar type of nationhood."

Through the development of this spirit of co-operation between the two races, Canada is making progress and establishing a strong hold which will stand them in good stead, he said, when they meet the larger more serious problem of world co-operation, so necessary, "if all we hold dear, is to survive, if we are to know international prosperity and peace."

In conclusion, he said he could think of no greater destiny for any nation, than that of contributing towards the peace, prosperity and well-being of its fellowmen, both at home and abroad.

Mr. Blanchette was introduced by President B. N. Holtham and thanked in French by Rotarian A. Clark.

President E. W. Gibeau was in the chair, and welcomed several guests, including the speaker's two sons, Guy and Pierre Blanchette.

Seated at the head table, with President Gibeau and the speaker, were Bill Richardson, Nestor Gendron, Guy Blanchette, Past President Holtham, H. A. Clark, I. Langevin, Past President A. C. Skinner, H. V. Haight and Frank Norcross.

Here the young singers had ample scope for their acting ability and, together with their accompanist, brought a novel interpretation and a quality of carefree "joie de vivre" to most of the selections, evoking many a chuckle from the audience.

Numbers from "The Student Prince," "Dorcy and Bess," "Sweethearts" and "The Chocolate Soldier" received much applause and all three of the artists were most generous in their encores.

A word must be said for Henry Jackson, who is certainly an artist himself, and whose accompaniments left nothing to be desired.

More familiar to the average listener was the last part of the program, as the artists interpreted some of the most popular compositions of Johann Strauss, George Gershwin, Sigmund Romberg, Oscar Straus and Victor Herbert.

Ideal Home---Thrift House---Will Be Opened For Inspection By I.O.D.E.

At a meeting Monday between merchants and I.O.D.E. committee executives, plans were completed for the opening next week of Thrift House at 89 Kingston Street.

Thrift House, is designed and furnished within the means of the average young Canadian couple. It is primarily planned for the housewife who does not intend to have domestic help, and it is especially built for the comfort and consideration of children.

Merchants in the city of Sherbrooke are co-operating with the I.O.D.E. by furnishing the house, taking into consideration the features sought. Proceeds from the small admission fee to inspect the House will be in aid of I.O.D.E. House.

I.O.D.E. committee executives attending Monday's meeting were Mrs. A. A. Munster, Regent of the Municipal Chapter, Mrs. Rene Duberger, vice-regent of the Municipal Chapter, and Mrs. A. Wark, vice-regent of the Aldershot Chapter. Other members of the executive committee in charge of the house-furnishings are Mrs. Russell McCabe, Mrs. Roger Genest, Mrs. R. L. Loughheed, and Miss May Mitchell.

Thrift House will be officially opened for public inspection from Dec. 3 to Dec. 12. Daily visiting hours will be from 2:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon and from 7 to 10 in the evenings.

This modern brick and white-shingled combination home offers an attractive foreground. The spacious landscaped grounds afford an attractive play-ground for the children.

There are two distinct side entrances one leading to the basement and one through the porch to the dining room. The main entrance at the front, opens into a small entrance hall. The most practical of these entrances is the one through the basement. Children can come in, covered with snow and, at the top of the stairs to the first floor there is a small hall with pegs for hanging coats. The wall and floors are covered with linoleum so that wet clothes do not harm the walls. A heater is placed in a convenient spot for drying wet garments. A clothes-cupboard for the older people is placed at a distance from this. The living room has a modern brick fire-place with heater. Both the living room and the dining room contain large picture windows.

The modern compact kitchen is planned for convenience and with the thought of lessening the tasks of the busy housewife. For its size, the amount of storage space is unbelievable. Convenient towel-dryers keep the wet towels out of sight. There is adequate breakfast space for quick meals, and the kitchen contains both modern range and electric refrigerator. Upstairs, there are three bedrooms.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

HERE'S LOWDOWN ON LOCO POWER

When you hear a train whistle, you picture a powerful locomotive gliding over the rails at high speed. But did you know that the tremendous power behind its driving wheels is sealed into the locomotive with Asbestos?

Today, Johns-Manville asbestos products help many railroad control power. In the form of insulations, they keep heat on the job—help maintain the speed and efficiency of modern trains. As packings and gaskets, they conserve engine horsepower. And behind the scenes J-M friction materials help control the tremendous power of breakdown and repair hoists, cranes, winches, etc.

For over 85 years, Johns-Manville has served Canadian railroads. Today, J-M asbestos products are helping the railroads write a splendid new chapter in transportation history.

2—If in spite of American help or without it—all China falls to the Communists, the task of rebuilding Japan and providing it with a stable economy will be much more costly. That is because Japan would find trade relations with Communist China more difficult.

In addition, if a Communist China should prove actively hostile to the west in the cold war, military leaders might consider it essential to strengthen American defenses in the western Pacific. That, however, is no more than a speculative possibility at the moment.

These factors, as well as the impact of a Communist victory in China on the whole anti-Communist struggle, are believed to be rooms—the master bedroom, one general bedroom and a nursery. The bathroom is especially constructed so as to hold the baby's bath. The whole bathroom is built around the baby with space allotted to him in the linen cupboard for hanging his bathrobe and night clothes.

In the upstairs hall, there are two cupboards—one for linens and the other for out-of-season clothes. The house is unique in the amount of cupboard space, of which every homeowner never has enough. Cupboards are both numerous and spacious.

Off the general bedroom is a porch, which is ideal for the shaking of mops and other cleaning utensils. This can also be used for sleeping and for sitting out in the afternoon.

The house is heated with an oil burner, and there is an automatic hot water supply.

Part of the basement is used as a playroom while the other part is the laundry. The latter contains set-tube with hot and cold mixing faucets, all adding up to the convenience of the housewife. There is an abundance of cupboards in the basement for the storage of preserves and vegetables, also for wood and for double windows and screens. Another practical installation is a shower for the use of the children after they have completed a game of ping-pong, or for the man of the house, after having executed some manual labor.

Throughout the model home, the purse of the average salaryed man is taken into consideration, and although there is a driveway and adequate space for a garage, no garage has been built as it is believed that the average man considers a car a luxury.

Sherbrooke's

fort-engineered seats, similar to the ones now operating on the locals and the through Saint John trains to and from here, had been provided by next March.

"An industrial community like Sherbrooke understands why it is necessary to give freight equipment priority over passenger cars," he said. "I am told that no other community has the family payrolls of Sherbrooke. Everybody is busy."

He had a special interest in another dieselization program projected on C.P.R. lines in nearby Vermont, as a traffic man. Mr. MacNamara said the 170 miles from Montreal to Wells River, next up for dieselization as the first main-line operation to be so changed, is an important link in gateway traffic from the American Midwest to New England by way of Windsor, then over C.P.R. lines through Ontario, Quebec and Vermont to Wells River, which is the gateway at the other end.

This gateway traffic, Mr. MacNamara said, was of particular interest to the asbestos country of the Townships which ships a lot of its products to the American market.

The only reference to freight rate questions, now before the Transport Board, made by both officers was to quote two figures—$61,000,000 as what their road and the Canadian National got from the freight rate boost last Spring; and $75,000,000 as what the two roads have to add to their wage bills because of the wage increase authorized last July at the time of the threatened rail strike. That, and the continuing spiral of material costs is why they hold their request for an additional increase is completely justified.

Local officers who met the visitors today include J. N. Fraine, general manager of Quebec Central Railway; G. A. Pouliot, general agent for the C.P.R., who will be hosts at the St. George's Club this afternoon; J. T. Hawkins, general freight and passenger agent, Q.C.R.; J. A. Lemieux, Quebec City, district freight agent, and J. A. Metivier, city passenger agent from the C.P.R.

Accompanying Mr. MacNamara are G. Ham, freight traffic manager (sales and service); J. Fullerton, assistant freight traffic manager; N. Cowie, division freight agent; P. E. Gingras, passenger traffic commissioner; and F. Fortier, district passenger agent, all from Montreal.

With Mr. Curley are O. R. Barfoot, Toronto, superintendent of motive power and car department, eastern region; F. A. Pouliot, Montreal, general superintendent of the Quebec district and former general manager of the Quebec Central here; L. R. Bangs, superintendent at Farnham; and L. N. Winslade, district master mechanic at Montreal.

PROPRIETORS

Why you should vote FOR By-law No. 694, authorizing a loan of $440,000 for necessary improvements to the Electricity and Gas Department.

- 1—The increased demand for electrical energy during the last few years has overloaded the City's transmission and distribution plants to such an extent that the security of our supply is seriously threatened.
- 2—The capacity of transmission lines and transformers must be increased immediately.
- 3—The necessary equipment for maintenance must also be improved and increased to take care of present and future demands.

All these improvements are urgent and necessary. The Municipal Council urges that proprietors approve them by

Forsey Seeks To Repudiate Marx Label

Osgoode, Ont., Nov. 24.—Eugene Forsey, C.C.F. candidate in the federal by-election of Carleton, said Monday night he was never a "Marxist," and had "no sympathy with Communists or Communism."

In an address before a C.C.F. house meeting here, he referred to a speech made Saturday by George Drew, National Progressive Conservative leader.

Mr. Drew stated that on one occasion Mr. Forsey had declared: "Until Christians learn to understand and apply the lessons of Marxism, they cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven."

Mr. Forsey said the quotation attributed to him was written 12 years ago. Since then he had changed his mind.

"Mr. Drew is badly out of date. If he had pursued his researches a little farther he would have dug up evidence that my change of mind took place a considerable time ago."

Mr. Forsey said he had no use for Communists or "for their shameless lying and unprincipled opportunism, nor for the Soviet dictatorship whose mouthpieces they are."

"I fought for two years to prevent them from wrecking the fellowship for a Christian social order, which had published the book Mr. Drew quotes from."

"Actually, I never was a Marxist."

Miss Cora Cruickshank returned to Sherbrooke with them.

The Doctor Says

CHRONIC COUGH CAN BE A SIGN OF SOMETHING
SERIOUSLY WRONG

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

A cough which lasts for several weeks may be considered "chronic." In some cases it can be a sign of something seriously wrong and should not be neglected or subjected to self-treatment.

Jordan

Some of the books list 10 or 30 possible causes which may have to be considered. One of the most serious, of course, is tuberculosis and indeed a cough may be the first symptom of this dangerous disease. Valuable time may be lost if a cough caused by tuberculosis is ignored.

Other Possibilities

There are many other possibilities to consider. Chronic sinus infection or infection in the nose may cause small amounts of mucus or pus to drop down the back of the throat, producing an irritation, and hacking cough. An inflammation of the bronchial tubes, called bronchitis is frequently at fault. A long-lasting cough can come because of an irritation in the larynx, or voice box. Cough can persist for a long time after apparent recovery from pneumonia or other acute infections of the lungs.

These are only a few of the many possible causes for a chronic cough. Even if the cause of the cough itself is not important and does not require treatment, a severe cough over a long period of time may cause the small air tubes running to the lungs to be dilated and filled with mucus and pus, producing the disease called bronchiectasis. Bronchiectasis is difficult to treat and may itself cause the cough to persist.

If a cough seems to be lasting too long and especially if other symptoms such as loss of weight or slight fever are present, it is advisable to consult a physician and attempt to get at the cause.

Q—Is there a cure for the skin disease called vitiligo, which causes white spots on the skin?

A—Many treatments have been tried for this condition but none have proved successful in all cases. Usually staining or covering the skin so that it will look like the surrounding area is the preferred method of handling the condition.

SCOTSTOWN

Under the auspices of the Scots-town Branch, No. 210, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., an impressive Remembrance Day service was held at the cenotaph, on the High School grounds, and was largely attended by local citizens, representatives from the Scots-town and Bury branches, Canadian Legion, Ladies' Auxiliary, Girl Guides and school children, who assembled to pay tribute to the memory of those who laid down their lives in World War I and World War II. The chairman, Mr. Murdo E. Morrison, gave the call to Remembrance, and prayer was offered by Rev. E. C. Ward. Inspiring addresses were given by Rev. Father Belval, Mayor A. M. MacKenzie, J. A. Blanchette, M.P., and Mr. C. M. MacRae. These speakers paid fitting tribute to the valiant heroes of both World Wars, who had the courage, and faith to lay down their lives for freedom, for a lasting peace and future security, emphasizing that peace comes by sacrifice, which men and women must be ever ready to make. In Christ, alone, is hope for the peace that cannot be broken. The hymns sung were "Abide With Me," and "O Valiant Hearts." The names of the fallen were read by Mr. W. A. Ladd, and wreaths were placed at the foot of the monument by Mayor A. M. MacKenzie, for the town;

MARRIAGES

WAGEMANN-BELL

Fulford, Nov. 24.—At one o'clock, October 27, 1948, in the Seventh Day Adventist Church, South Stukely, the wedding was solemnized by Sylvia E. Bell, youngest daughter of Mrs. Amanda Bell, recently of Sidney, B.C., and the late Horace E. Bell, to Mr. Edward Wagemann, youngest son of Mrs. Catherine Wagemann and the late Peter Wagemann, of Edmonton, Alberta. Elder P. C. Long, of Ottawa, officiated, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. H. D. Wells. Mrs. E. Hillock sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. The church was effectively decorated with evergreens, ferns, white carnations and sweet peas, while the guest pews were marked with bows and sweet peas.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Grant Bell, of Verdun, wore a floor-length gown of white satin, styled on fitted lines with a sweetheart neckline. The long sleeves tapered to points over the hands and the full skirt fell into a train. Her full length veil of tulle illusion was caught in place with a cluster of white roses and she carried a bouquet of pink roses tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Arnold Simcock, her sister's matron of honor, wore a floor-length gown of pink moire taffeta with short puffed sleeves, a matching bonnet trimmed with a bow at the back, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and yellow 'mums tied with pink ribbon.

The junior bridesmaids, Betty and June Fessenden, young nieces of the bride, wore floor-length gowns of blue and yellow moire taffeta with short puffed sleeves. They wore hair bows that matched their dresses, and carried colonial bouquets the same as the matron of honor.

Mr. Arnold Simcock acted as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Emmerson Hillock and Eben Fessenden.

Mrs. Amanda Bell, mother of the bride, was attired in a street-length dress of grey satin, a grey hat and black accessories and she wore a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Owing to ill health Mrs. Wagemann, the groom's mother, was unable to attend.

The reception was held at "Roseledge Farm," Fulford, where lunch was served to over thirty guests. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, pink and white streamers being used for decorations.

Mr. Hillock acted as master of ceremonies for the program which followed: Two vocal solos, the first, "Tell Me Do You Love Me," was sung by Mrs. C. Long, and "Love's Old Sweet Song," by Mrs. P. Dow. A piano solo, "March of the Flower Girls," was played by Mrs. E. Hillock. A toast to the bride was proposed and responded to by the groom.

For travelling the bride wore a green taffeta dress with black accessories under a fur coat, and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagemann will reside in Oshawa, Ont.

This wedding occurred on the fiftieth anniversary of the bride's mother and in the same church. Out-of-town guests were Elder and Mrs. P. C. Long and children, Dennis and Sylvia, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Grant Bell and sons, Horace and Billy, of Verdun; Mr. and Mrs. W. Reid, of Sutton; Mr. and Mrs. George Rickard, of Beebe; Mr. and Mrs. Murray McMoran, of Windsor Mills; Miss Marion Chilton, of Melbourne; Mrs. Walter Bockus and son, Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. S. Marshall and son, Dennis, all of South Stukely; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Simcock, of North Hatley; Mr. and Mrs. E. Hillock, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Wells, Mrs. Susan Young, Mrs. Clara Chamberlin, Miss Mary Chamberlin and Miss Pauline Dow, all of Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chamberlin and Mrs. Lucia

Sale Of Seals Is Underway In Richmond To Fight Tuberculosis-- Campaign This Year Seeks $1,200

This week, under the auspices of the Junior Board of Trade of Richmond, the third annual Christmas Seal campaign gets under way as a pre-holiday effort of the citizens in an effort to fight tuberculosis, co-operating in the 22nd annual national campaign of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association. The Richmond district Sale of Seals is under the supervision of the Richmond and Melbourne Christmas Seal Committee, comprising a group of local citizens headed by Dr. A. Derome as president.

This year's objective is set at $1,200, two hundred dollars more than last year, when the campaign went over the top in a most successful manner, thanks to the wholehearted support of the citizens and business houses whose contributions were generously given to aid in the great fight against this dread disease.

As a result of last year's Sale of Seals, the committee financed the X-ray of employees of local manufacturing and business firms, some 293 persons thus being afforded the benefit of such help, and out of this number 4 cases were found doubtful. The proceeds of the annual Christmas Seal campaign helps to further the work of the all-out fight against tuberculosis, and promotes better community health standards.

Citizens are quick to realize that every dollar contributed for the colorful little seals will be spent in Richmond and district to promote better health. More than half of last year's funds were devoted to Stressing the importance of fighting tuberculosis, Dr. Albert Derome points out in his letter to the citizens of Richmond and Melbourne that an unknown tubercular person contaminates an average of nine persons with whom he or she might come in contact, and that the program for next year, financed by the Sale of Seals, will be to provide vaccination against this enemy of society.

Black Watch Pipe Band To Head Gala 100th Anniversary Parade Of St. Andrew's Society Saturday

To the skirl of the pipes and the swirl of the kilts of members of the famous Black Watch Pipe and Drum Band from Montreal, St. Andrew's Society of Richmond County is preparing a gala celebration of the 100th anniversary of their founding as they observe St. Andrew's Day this Saturday with a parade, divine service, supper and concert.

Providing the proper Scottish atmosphere to the celebration on Saturday, officials of the local Society have again procured the famous Black Watch Kilts to lead the parade which will get things underway bright and early Saturday afternoon, continuing right through until the wee sma' hours Saturday night. Further Scottish flavor to "The Big Day" for all Scotsmen in Richmond County will be provided at the concert in the evening, when noted singers and musicians will be present from Montreal, highlighted by the Scotch dance, Highland Fling and Sword Dance, etc., by little Miss Audrey Gordon, of Montreal, in authentic costume.

Members of the Pipe Band will arrive at noon from Montreal, and will include Corporal J. Laurie, in charge, with Pipers Hannah and Mitchell, and Drummers McKee, MacAuley. They will lead off the gala parade leaving Memorial Hall at 2:30 p.m. proceeding via Main Street to Chalmers' United Church for divine service at 3 p.m., where the Rev. W. C. Coleman, of the Town of Mount Royal, will be the special speaker.

St. Andrew's supper will be served at the Memorial Hall at 5 p.m., following the business meeting and election of officers held after the service at Chalmers Church.

At 8:15 p.m., the annual St. Andrew's concert will be held at the parish hall, of Holy Family Church, with a very special program arranged in honor of the 100th anniversary of the Society.

In Richmond, Montreal artists participating in the program, in addition to little Miss Gordon in her Scottish dances, will be Mrs. L. T. Shields, contralto; Miss Ann Watson, soprano; Miss Ann Watson, baritone and Mr. Keville Doherty, tenor. Accompanist will be Mrs. St. Andrew's.

Many children who are thus given eyeight examinations would have been handicapped in later life if they had not received the timely examination conducted by Mr. Brouillette, and given the chance to correct any deficiency at an early stage. They are thus afforded the chance to get glasses if they require them, and so avoid any handicap in their studies which might result if they had not been examined. Parents are free to get glasses for their children if they require them, from any optician, and they are under no obligation to Mr. Brouillette.

Judge Surveyer And Abbe M. O'Bready Gave Fine Papers on "Craig's Road"

Richmond, Nov. 24.—The regular monthly meeting of the Richmond and Melbourne Board of Trade was held on Monday evening November 15, under the chairmanship of Mr. J. O. L. Michaud. There was a splendid attendance at the supper held in the Richmond Hotel, some one hundred and twenty-five sitting down at the tables. The special out of town guests were Judge Fabre Surveyor, of Montreal, Canon J. N. Codere and the Abbe M. O'Bready, Messrs. A. C. Skinner and Ashton Tobin, K.C., of Sherbrooke, Monseigneur J. E. M. Vincent, Father Colteux, Rev. George Harrington, and Rev. Dr. Kerr also graced the head table with their presence, together with Mayor Gerard Desmarais and several other distinguished guests.

After the excellent repast and usual formalities, Canon Codere, President of the Historical Society, was asked to introduce Judge Surveyor, who is the Quebec representative of the National Historic Sites and Monuments Commission, and who gave an interesting discourse on the historical significance of Craig's Road.

This road, running from St. Giles near Quebec to Richmond, in Shipton Township, was built in 1810, by military labor through primitive highway to connect this section of the Province overland with Quebec, and naturally was of great economic advantage to the early settlers. The speaker stated that the Commission had in mind the erection of a suitable monument or cairn at Richmond in the near future to commemorate this historical event.

Judge Surveyor was followed by Abbe Maurice O'Bready, who is the very able and active secretary of the Historical Society, and had prepared a most interesting and comprehensive report on the construction of the road and anecdotes of early travel thereon and the life of the settlers in those days. This address, delivered in the most elegant French, as well as that of Judge Surveyor, who spoke in English, were both very well received, and Monseigneur Vincent, in expressing the thanks of the audience, which he did in his usual gracious way, referred to the profit and pleasure all had experienced in being privileged to hear these distinguished speakers on such an interesting subject.

The business meeting which followed, with president Michaud in the chair and O. C. Blair, the secretary, the usual committee reports were heard and discussed. The president's report and the treasurer's annual statement were then given and received with much interest, revealing a busy year of work and a satisfactory financial position as well.

Two interesting and worthwhile industrial visits were made during the year in conjunction with the Chambre de Commerce des Jeunes, with whom the senior board enjoys the very best of fraternal relations. One of these was to the Canada Paper Company's mills, at Windsor Mills, last spring, and the other more recently to the mine and plants of the Canadian Johns Manville Company, Ltd., at Asbestos.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, H. P. Stone; vice-president, Wilfrid Lupien; secretary-treasurer, O. C. Blair, re-elected; Committees: Industrial, J. L. Burns, A. E. Dyson, R. A. Marcotte, G. W. Ewing; mercantile, J. P. Brouillette, B. W. Armatage, E. S. Cogan, and A. Healy; civic, Gaston Desmarais, C. W. Armstrong, R. N. Quinn, F. J. Newell; publicity, Fernand Gariepy and K. G. Nourse; membership, Dr. M. Laughran, H. H. Nowlan, J. A. Ross, J. O. Michaud, and Gordon Smith; attendance, B. G. Husk; entertainment and speakers, G. H. Brouillette, G. W. Ewing and K. G. Nourse; national affairs, C. L. Spence, Gaston Desmarais, C. W. Dickson and Rev. George Harrington.

Mr. Michaud vacated the chair in favor of the incoming president, H. P. Stone. A resolution of thanks to the retiring officers, and especially to the very energetic president J. O. Michaud, was passed unanimously and enthusiastically.

President Stone in his remarks stated that his objectives for the year, in addition of course to the general welfare of the town and vicinity in an industrial, mercantile and civic way, were the establishment of a public market, where farmers could more easily sell their produce and a bathing beach or enclosure properly supervised in close proximity to town, where the younger element could bathe safely. He hoped that these matters would be thoroughly discussed by the members and if found feasible might be brought into being by the proper authorities without undue delay. He also hoped to establish a forum or debating society amongst the members, which would promote interest in public affairs and stimulate thought along these lines.

It was decided after some discussion to increase the membership fee of the Board to $10, this to include tickets to at least eight monthly dinners without further charge.

A donation of $15 was made to the St. Francis Valley Boy Scouts Association, to aid in their campaign for funds for a suitable permanent camp site and other objectives of value to boyhood. The meeting then adjourned on motion of Mr. Michaud.

Lloyd MacPherson Elected President Of International Community School

By G. EARL HEATH
Derby Line, Nov. 24. — Lloyd MacPherson, of the Stanstead College staff, was elected president of the International Community School for 1949, at the special closing meeting of the school which featured a report by the retiring president, Rev. C. R. Stetson, reports from the various interest groups presented in dramatic form, a short talk by Prof. H. R. C.

Avison of Macdonald College, and an address by "Prof. Arthur L. Phelps of the English department of McGill University."

The retiring president's report was given in a humorous and rhythmic manner by Rev. Stetson, reviewing the meetings of the executive committee, the problems faced during the year, and the good fellowship and willingness of all members to undertake the tasks assigned to them.

The various group leaders and their helpers were singled out for special thanks. Mr. Jean Goulet for his fine work in conducting the French conversation group, Mr. W. H. Tupper and his assistants for their work in the music group, Rev. McK. Rose for his leadership of the education for democracy class, and Rev. Armand Fortin for his work in the Minding Your Own Business class, as well as for the special speakers. Mrs. Carroll Aldrich was thanked for her grand job of making the popular health class so valuable, and Philip Dustin of Derby Line was especially thanked for his assistance and co-operation with the wood-working class of the hobby group.

The various interest groups presented their "advances-in-learning" in dramatic form, and there was a hobby parade that showed the results of the work in wood-working, painting and caning chairs.

The financial report showed the school to be in excellent condition, with a balance of $202 on hand, and only a few bills outstanding. The various speakers who had appeared were thanked for their part in this year's sessions of the school, and the recreation committee received congratulations for the great job they had done in providing fun for all the members.

PROF. AVISON REPORTS

Prof. H. R. C. Avison was introduced to those present by the newly elected president, Lloyd MacPherson, as an old friend of the school, and Mr. Avison said that this was one of the groups that was pointed to with special pride by the extension department of Macdonald College, as it had gone on for eight years, growing and developing during the whole time. The speaker said that he hoped this school, and others like it, would continue to go ahead and by their efforts make better citizens of all the members. He urged the group to seek to increase the membership, to bring in more and more people, and above all to show them that such schools were actually a lot of fun as well as a real assistance to the many who were not mentally able to understand many of the difficulties of the day.

FINE TALK BY PROF. PHELPS

Professor Arthur L. Phelps of the English department of McGill University, was introduced by Lloyd MacPherson, and proceeded to give one of the finest talks ever heard at the school. Taking as his topic, "Facing Our Own Times," Mr. Phelps proceeded to outline to troubles of the day and to suggest possible conclusions.

The speaker said that no one can live today in isolation. "We are all in the mess together. Certainly the world does not appear to be a decent place to live, but what can we do about it?"

"Well we can accept war as inevitable and good; as the normal thing; as a benefit to us. After all, it does stimulate business, it arouses everybody to a height of patriotism and fervor; nearly everyone is working and making a good living; business-men are making real profits—and it is at least a possibility that we may win. Of course, we might be defeated, but war is impossible to stop, and at least we could have a good time as we were destroyed."

"As an alternative to this philosophy there is the one that says, 'Everything is going to be all right; there is really nothing to worry about; and we may just as well forget the whole thing.'"

"Neither of these ideas appeal to me. I believe that the only basis that will give a decent result, the only basis on which an intelligent person can even exist, is to face the world and to refuse to accept either defeatism or just don't worry."

"There is a universal pool of common sense. Possibly we can establish contact with this pool and by doing find an answer to our problems. Perhaps a liberal application of common sense, an understanding that everyone in the world has the same problems that we have, that no one wants war, and that there is a solution of our troubles—perhaps out of these facts we may be able to go ahead to that better world we were promised during the war."

"There is a demand by all people for an economic equity in the world. Everyone seeks the security that they feel they are entitled to. There cannot exist in the same world a group of haves and a group of have-nots. We cannot all be equal, but we can strive for the qualities of equality we all have in common. There may be upheavals, there certainly will be changes, but there is no need, no necessity of wars—wars are not inevitable. We, you and I, can prevent them. I believe that we have the power of adaption to the new atomic age, but we must let our leaders know our ideas, our beliefs, our wants, and insist that things be made as fair to all as is possible. We can get along with any country in the world. We cannot get along without any country in the world. It is up to us, in the final analysis, to make our own world, and the whole future of the earth depends upon the actions, beliefs, knowledge and ideas of each and every one of us."

Prof. Phelps was thanked for his thought-provoking talk by Rev. C. R. Stetson, and the session ended with community singing by those present.

The complete slate of officers for 1949, elected at the meeting, includes the following: Past President, Rev. C. R. Stetson, Derby Line; President, Lloyd MacPherson, Stanstead; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Carroll Aldrich, Derby Line; secretary, Miss Gertrude Keckham, Rock Island; treasurer, Miss Madeline Poisson, Rock Island; Registrar, Miss Aline Ricard, Rock Island; Assistant-Registrars,

RAMBLING ROUND THE BORDER

The Main Street of Derby Line was partially blocked on Monday in front of the U.C. Customs because of the work necessitated by the extension of the sewage system. This required digging completely across the road under the cement highway, and to prevent the possibility of an accident the road was blocked on Monday. The job has now been completed, and road is once again in use.

Residents of the Boundary Communities were sorry to learn that it had been necessary to remove Edwin Earle, of Derby Line, to the Neurological Hospital in Montreal, because of his illness. It was believed that he was making a good but slow recovery from his last operation, but the recovery was not as good as was necessary, and he has had to return to Montreal for further treatments.

The children of the Boundary Communities will have the chance to look up their school work in a brand new edition of the World Book Encyclopedia in the Rotary Children's Room of the Haskell Library in the very near future. This 19 volume set has just been added to the stock in the room by purchase of the Rotary Club, of the Boundary, and will be available for use very soon. Rated as one of the best helps for school work, the encyclopedia is arranged alphabetically, and is complete up to date with many illustrations in colors, as well as thousands in black and white.

Those who wish further information on almost any subject will find it readily available in an interesting and instructive manner in this new set of books. While the volumes will not let out of the building, boys and girls are free to use the books during regular library hours. This is just part of the effort to make this room more useful as well as more attractive to all the young people.

Library open hours are Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, 1 to 5 p.m. Thursday and Saturday, 6 to 9 p.m.

Recent additions to the regular shelves of the Haskell Library include a number of new books, all worth the attention of the public. Anyone who hasn't visited this important local asset lately has missed a real treat. There are many new books, there are always plenty of good magazines in the reading room, and the stock of reference volumes makes this a most important place to call when seeking information of plain pleasure.

The hot lunch program at the Derby Line Graded School is in full swing, and the quality of the food is far ahead of the low price of 20c per meal. Thanks to the work of the Parent-Teachers Club, of Derby Line, the boys and girls are able to get a meal that is appetizing, filling and of first class quality for a very low price.

Miss Denise Langlois, Rock Island, and Lloyd Selby, Derby Line. The naming of a 2nd vice-president was left to the Executive Committee for decision at a later meeting.

Members of the Executive named for 1949 are as follows: Errol Amaron, Stanstead; Mrs. A. Arkin, Newport, Vt.; Miss Madeline Bessette, Stanstead; Raymond Curtis, Stanstead; Edwin Earle, Derby Line; Rev. Armand Fortin, Derby Line; Jean Goulet, Stanstead; G. Earl Heath, Derby Line; Lee Miller, Westfield, Vt.; Miss Edna M. Moore, Derby Line; Miss Rita Poisson, Rock Island; Rev. A. McK. Rose, Stanstead; Miss Laura Stone, Newport, Vt.

While many local residents have been hunting, the number of deer they have secured is decidedly small. Rain and bad weather generally has hampered the hunting; without it, however, the woods would have doubtless been closed.

Mr. Charles Waller, of Lennoxville, has purchased the business operated by Mr. Leo McCaffrey and known as McCaffrey's Meatery, in the McCaffrey Building at the foot of the so-called Plain Hill, in Rock Island. The market has enjoyed wide popularity, and finds particular favor with American customers who cross the Boundary Line to purchase their meat supplies at the much lower Canadian prices. Mr. Waller intends to inaugurate a twice-daily delivery service, and put other changes in effect in this up-to-date, and very well-equipped meat market. Mr. McCaffrey's plans for the future have not yet been announced, but he intends to remain at the Boundary, where he owns considerable property. Possibly he will venture into another business, entirely different from his market.

Tomorrow, American Thanksgiving Day, will be widely celebrated in Derby Line, and also in the closely-allied community of Rock Island, where many will enjoy special Thanksgiving dinners at the Del Monty Hotel, The Governor Prouty Inn, in Newport, will also be the mecca of discriminating public relations officer of Northern Electric Co., of Montreal. Mr. Richardson is a sparkling speaker, brimming with wit and humor, and at the same time, delivering a message that is certain to penetrate.

Mr. S. Richardson Talks To Kiwanians On Canada's "Symbol Of Freedom"

Waterloo, Nov. 24.—A rare treat was presented to the guests and members at the weekly meeting of the Waterloo Kiwanis Club, when they had as their speaker, Mr. Stuart Richardson.

His topic was the "Symbols of Freedom," and he took as his main theme, the Canadian Coat of Arms containing the Thistle, the Shamrock, the Rose and Fleur de Lis.

Taking the thistle first, Mr. Richardson humorously related historic events in the lives of the Scots, where they were connected with our heritage and to them, the speaker stated, the Canadian owes his fortitude and his undaunted courage.

To the Shamrock, and the Irish people, the Canadian owes culture and music. The musical element of the Irish has been transplanted into our way of life, until we take it for granted as we do all of our blessings.

The rose, which represented the English people, we owe our strength, our determined way of life and our ruggedness.

The French, who were here many years before us, beautified our tongue, gave us virtually our language. These four virtues are by far the most important people in our lives. To them we owe our heritage, Mr. Richardson stressed. We have lived together in Canada, two separate races, for many long years with no major internal strife. We have learned to love our neighbor.

We ourselves did not clear the woods out of Canada in order to make our first home. We did not discover the many lakes, river or mountains. This was all done for us by our ancestors, it is now our responsibility.

In spring, where can one find more loveliness than in Canada? During the warm summers, we can swim, fish hike, motor to our hearts content in the beautiful countryside. In autumn we reap our abundant harvest, and have enough left over for other people in the world besides Canadians. One sees the many beautiful hues adorn the trees and flowers. We see the trees go to sleep for the long winter months, during which we enjoy the many sports that are ours for the asking. One might get tired of the cold biting winds, the deep snow, the icy sidewalks, but before long one catches the softness in the breeze, sees the melting snow, and catch sight of the first bud on the tree, and once again spring, beautiful spring, is here. This, too, is our heritage. The most perfect weather in the world. The most beautiful colors in any country, the most diversified sports are offered us. This is Canada. "There are so many big things to keep us together," the speaker stated, "that we should let the little things go."

"In Ontario, they complain about Quebec, in Quebec they have their peculiar and particular beefs. Winnipeg rides Vancouver, Regina and Calgary are at logger heads, in a general everybody else. But when it is all over, what is the score? We are Canadian, bound together by the four symbols of freedom, fused into one Canadian Coat of Arms, the Maple Leaf. This is our Canada, let us be proud of it, let us accept our responsibility toward it."

Kiwanian Hubert Wells introduced the guest speaker, who was in turn thanked by President Ben Marchessault.

A large number of members were in attendance as well as several guests, among whom were Mr. C. J. Gagnon, inspector of French Schools; Mr. Norman Slack, of Ottawa, and Mr. C. Charlis, of the Northern Electric Co., of Ottawa, and Mr. C. Charlis, of the Northern Electric Co., of Quebec.

ST. HILDA'S GUILD

St. Hilda's Guild met one evening at the home of Mrs. Stanley Copping. The president, Miss Marjorie McKenna, opened the meeting and conducted the business.

The final plans were made for the Christmas tea and sale of fancy work to be held on December 3, in St. Luke's Church Hall. A most successful sale was anticipated as articles already are being turned in at a rapid pace, and these in turn were priced for sale.

Following a social hour, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Copping, Mrs. William Hackwell, and Mrs. R. Quebec.

on hand to enjoy the proceedings. Each person brought a bag of pennies amounting to the number of years of their age, and a sizable sum of money was realized.

Mrs. F. W. Bockus presided over the short business meeting, when the Christmas sale of food and fancy work was planned to be held on the afternoon and evening of November 25, in the Southern Canada Power building. This sale will be continued on Saturday if the stock of supplies warrant it.

It was decided to hold an open meeting on the evening of December 3, at which time the male members of the congregation will be their special guests. A Christmas tree will be erected. The purpose being that each member of the Association is asked to furnish one small inexpensive gift that will be exchanged with that of another. The refreshments will be cafeteria style at this meeting, and a large crowd is desired.

The entire evening's entertainment was under the charge of Miss Lucia Knawien, beginning with the regular auction of the "Variety Table," which was well patronized as usual. Each person present was guided by her particular birthday table, after which the horoscopes were read. This provided much hilarity and started the evening off on the right foot. Camp-fire songs, provided by the C.G.I.T. under their leader, Miss Owen Stapleton, were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Peter Gunter sang a solo "Still as the Night" followed by a duet sung by Mrs. Gunter and Mrs. Orval Lewis. "Whispering Hope," with Mrs. Colwill at the piano.

A door prize, donated by Mrs. M. D. Smith was won by Mrs. Dunsmore. A birthday cake, donated by Mrs. Bockus, went to the table having the most number of pennies in the bags. This cake was cut by Mrs. C. Wilkinson, the oldest member of the Association.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Asa Malbouef, Mrs. O. L. Lewis, Mrs. Joseph Rydzik and Mrs. Russell Bockus.

This program proved to be one of the most successful yet staged by the ladies and an encore is expected in the future.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET

The annual C.G.I.T. "Mother and Daughter banquet" took place on Friday, November 12.

The decorations were in keeping with Remembrance day and the colors were of the autumn-harvest.

The invitations, sent out to all the guests and the place cards were red poppies. The windows and the posts were very tastefully decorated in red, yellow and green.

Some one hundred and twenty-five guests and members sat down to the banquet, which was prepared and served by the girls. The president, Joyce Maynes, gave the address of welcome to the guests and acted as toast mistress for the occasion. The C.G.I.T. pledge was repeated, and the grace was sung by the girls. The toast to the King was proposed and the National Anthem was sung, followed by the toast to the guests, given by Gwen Hughes, and responded to by their past leader, Mrs. Kendall Norris.

Barbara Quilliams made the toast to the mothers, which was answered by her mother, Mrs. Orval Quilliams. The toast to the seniors was presented by Miriam Campbell and was responded to by Sally Stoddard. The toast to the intermediates was given by Donna Gay Pearsley and was responded to by Lorraine Langevin.

The guest speaker, Mrs. William Hackwell was then introduced by Buddy Smith. Speaking on the subject of "Youth," Mrs. Hackwell stressed the value of life as we know it, comparing the youth of Germany before and during the early years of the war, and the youth of Russia today, with what we have to offer. "The C.G.I.T.," stated, "is a very well worth while organization and speaking from her own past experiences," she said that she could vouch for its usefulness. "It cannot take the place of the church or school, but it does serve as a very useful auxiliary to both of these institutions. A girl of the C.G.I.T. is pledged to cherish health, seek truth, know God and to serve others. Truly a hard pledge to live up to, and yet in striving to do so, a girl better herself, learns the value of living and the art of loving your neighbor and living in harmony with all."

Mrs. Hackwell was thanked by Joan Russell, and this was followed by a sing-song. The concluding item was a skit written by Mary MacIntosh and Jane M. Spencer, and acted by the girls of the organization.

The entire evening reflected credit on the leaders, Miss Gen Stapleton, Miss Buddy Smith, Miss Betty Rendshaw and Miss Audrey Tibbitts.

President Roosevelt's Charm Wins Him Many Friends In North Africa

(Editor's Note: This is the 21st instalment of Kay Summersby's story, "Eisenhower Was My Boss").

By KAY SUMMERSBY

Shortly afterward, the President reappeared. They lifted him into the car with a quick efficiency which made the gesture seem wholly natural. His difficulty was ignored by common consent. It simply didn't exist.

"I'd like to go over and inspect Elliott's outfit," he told me. "It's quite near, I understand."

We drove to La Marsa, a short 10 minutes away, where he transferred to a jeep and rode along the lines of surprised and proud soldiers of Elliott's photo reconnaissance unit. We were back at Amilear before sundown.

As the President went inside, for a rest in General Eisenhower's bedroom, I started to leave for mess. Franklin came dashing out, however. "Just a minute, Kay," he grinned. "General Eisenhower says he's ready to leave—and, incidentally, you're invited to dinner here tonight."

Outrunk from his own quarters and far from a mood for office work, the General asked me to drive him over to another nearby villa for a visit with Harry Hopkins. The latter and Butch immediately proposed a few rubbers of bridge, a welcome suggestion to ease the day's tension. When serving as dummy, I spent the time staring at Harry Hopkins, wondering just how he remained alive; clothes hung on his tall, frail frame as though it were a mere clothes hanger. General Ike and I won.

We were a trifle late for dinner, but the occasion couldn't have been more informal. The absence of General Marshall, Admiral King, even Butch, emphasized this was a dinner, not a dinner party. President Roosevelt and his sons joked and talked as easily and naturally as fathers and sons anywhere in the world. Ruth Briggs, an Admiral's daughter, and I comprised the female guests. "Pa," Watson, the presidential aide, was a delightful companion, fatherly and gently chiding about my initial clash with Mike Reilly.

Sitting only one place away from Mr. Roosevelt, who naturally headed the table, I was exposed to the fabled F. D. R. charm. But I had to admit it was just that, pure charm; he had it on full, with all stops out.

After discussing plans for a battlefield tour upon which the President insisted as part of his visit before proceeding to Cairo, the party broke up. It was only 10:30 but the honor guest obviously was fatigued by the long day, which had begun aboard a battleship in Oran, continued through a plane flight to Tunisia, included a troop inspection and a shop talk with General Ike, and concluded with a lengthy dinner. He needed rest. Bidding the others good night, he turned to me and spoke in a tone I hadn't heard since childhood: "See you tomorrow, Child."

Elliott and Franklin stepped up as I moved away to drive General Eisenhower back to the Hopkins villa. "Come on back, Kay," Franklin whispered. Elliott nodded. "We're having a little party tonight and it might take your mind off things."

By the time I returned to the White House, leaving the General to a session with the indefatigable Hopkins, that party was in full swing. The President must be a very sound sleeper as well as a very tolerant father, I thought, stepping into a room as noisy, Operatic Trio Well Received At Newport, Vt.

By G. EARL HEATH

Derby Line, Nov. 24.—If anyone had any doubt as to the quality of the music to be offered by the International Community Concerts they were effectively and pleasantly dispelled by the concert Sunday at the Burns Theatre, Newport, when The Columbia Operatic Trio proved to have three voices of really exceptional quality, plus a pianist who was one of those rare persons who was able to subdue his own personality to the requirements of accompaniment.

The trio consisted of Miss Agnes Davis, soprano; Elwood Gary, tenor; and Carlos Sherman, baritone; with Henry Jackson at the piano.

The first part of the concert consisted of operatic numbers rendered in a style and quality that has seldom been equalled anywhere in this vicinity. Each of the artists was at the top of their form, and their own quite evident enjoyment of their numbers added to the pleasure of the audience. It would be both difficult and unfair to report on favorite numbers; all of them were excellent, and the artists were sufficiently good at acting to put across the meaning of the number to those few who were not familiar with them.

The second half of the program was devoted to numbers of more popular appeal, and showed off the beauty of the voices as well as a grand sense of values. The audience was enthusiastic, and the artists were completely responsive; each number being loudly applauded, and the trio quite plainly pleased at the pleasure they were giving.

Miss Davis has a voice of charm, range, and high quality, which showed fine training and beauty; her numbers were very well selected and all effective and fine. Mr. Gary not only possessed an unusually beautiful tenor voice but also a most engaging personality that made everyone wonder just how good he would be in a show that gave him full opportunity for humor as well as for voice. Mr. Sherman possessed one of those rare baritone voices that both please and thrill an audience, and his work was truly fine; one could easily believe that he would be a great success in opera or radio.

Agnes Davis was born in Colorado, and achieved her first fame as a winner of the Atwater Kent Radio contest. She has appeared with many symphony orchestras, has sung over the radio on numerous programs, and has made recordings with Stokowski. She possesses a voice of true soprano quality without any of the screeching so often heard. She is truly a fine artist with undoubted ability.

Elwood Gary is from Bridgeton, N.J., and began his career with the Baltimore Civic Opera Company. He is in constant demand for radio and concert work, and couples a beautiful tenor voice with an especially charming personality. It is safe to say that this young man will indeed go far.

Carlos Sherman, of New York, has sung with the San Carlo Opera Company and also in many New York Shows. He has a beautiful deep and satisfying baritone voice of wide range and great effectiveness. The quality of his work is apparent in solos, duets and trios, and is decidedly pleasing to his listeners.

This was the first concert of the season for the International Community Concert Association, and was patronized by all members of the group. It was indeed an auspicious beginning for the season, and if the two remaining concerts anywhere nearly equal the quality of the first there is no question but what there will be many additional members for 1950.

The next concert in the series will be held April 10th and will be the Columbia Concert Trio, consisting of a violin, piano and violin-cello. The concerts are, as always, open to members only.

GUY LECLERC TURNS IN SENSATIONAL GAME TO DOWN LOCALS

"Sport Shots and Pot Shots"

BY LEN. O'DONNELL

After reading Lloyd "Montreal Star" McGowan's report in Monday's paper it would seem to me to be just a matter of running through the schedule for the Royals, with another championship in sight, and also it would give you the impression that the Aces are the only team they fear in the Senior Group and I quote, "Clan Carlin is 'deep' everywhere this trip. Unless they hit Quebec in the playoffs, they should take it all, with something to spare."

This sounds like somebody is going off the deep end predicting an easy win, especially the way things are going in the loop at the present time. We know that the Royals have a good team, but Mr. McGowan don't forget that Ottawa is still around, with Valleyfield and our local Saints, and judging from past happenings, it would seem to me that anything could happen, and anybody who counts the Royals in at this stage of the game is going a little far. Phil Watson's youthful Royals are not to be counted out either, and my guess is that they will cause many an upset before playoff time rolls around.

As for the Royals being well stocked this year, that is quite true, and why shouldn't they when a man like Frank Selke is doing the picking and choosing. If any other team in the circuit had those connections they would be in the same position and quite capable of loaning players to Boston or any other team. It would be a terrible shame if the Royals did beat out this year, especially with such a large mixture of stars that Coach Carlin has at his beck and call. Wonder what the Montreal sportsmen would dig up then for an excuse?

Ottawa Rough Riders came through with flying colors by taking Frankie Filchuck and company to the tune of 19-0 for the Eastern Football title.

They now tackle Calgary Stampede Saturday for the Canadian crown and the outcome, well, your guess is as good as anybody's. The Stampede are an unknown aggregation and the boys on the inside, who lay the dough, are just picking without giving any points on the game.

With a dry field it should be a wide open battle, as both clubs have some good chukkers and receivers. For my money I will take the Rough Riders. Perhaps I am wrong, but if so, there will be lots of others to keep me company. The Riders have a powerful club as was proven in the playoffs and it will take a pretty good team to knock them off, and the fans from the

ARENA
TONIGHT
(NO SKATING THIS SAT. NIGHT)

Capital City can well be proud of them.

Some fifty-two aspiring whistle blowers attended the Referee's Board test held Sunday at the Arena and wrote the exams after. From the looks of this there should be plenty of boys around to lay down the law this winter, and the leagues should not suffer too much from lack of officials.

It was the first time that some of the boys were on skates this year, as the leagues around these parts have not got in operation as yet, and the exhibition of skating was something to be desired, but perhaps the officials will take this into consideration.

Anyway good luck to the beginners and here's hoping you have a good season; there is a lot more to refereeing than putting on a white sweater and blowing a whistle and knowing the rules. The main thing is putting them in force and take it from me, that is what counts.

The Sherbrooke Industrial Hockey League will open their schedule Friday, November 26, as the six teams swing into action.

The initial game is slated for 7 o'clock with the other two coming off at 8:00 and 9:00. This may not be the biggest loop in the country, but I am sure that the employees of the different firms will have a swell time trying to get around the Arena. So, see you Friday evening at the Arena.

The Eastern Townships Junior Hockey League held a meeting Monday evening at the New Sherbrooke Hotel and so far all three teams, Nationales, Windsor Mills and Asbestos, have filed entries for the coming season.

This seems a shame, Magog, St. Charles and St. Pat's have decided not to operate this year, but throughout the district it is sure there must be some organization that will sponsor a junior team in the league, and there must be plenty of kids, with only a junior age limit, who would be only too pleased to play. This would be a worthy cause and at the same time it would help the youngsters.

The next meeting is slated for December 8 in Windsor Mills at 8 o'clock and anybody interested in entering a club is asked to attend.

St. Pat's Sports Committee are getting all set for the hockey season and have named their coaches for the year.

Pat Murphy, who handled the green and white junior squads for the past three years when they won the E.L. championship, will look after the juvenile outfit, while Roger Ginguet will again guide the midgets. Ginguet, who played defense for the Juniors during the past two years, was in charge of the midgets last year and they reached the Provincial finals. Rev. Brother Anthony will be in charge of the bantams, and is no newcomer in minor hockey circles having handled teams in Montreal and Sherbrooke. With these coaches in charge of the youngsters things should hum in their respective leagues.

A practice for the bantams and midgets has been booked for Saturday morning at the Arena at 9 o'clock and all the kids trying out for the teams are asked to be on hand.

HERE AND YONDER. . . SHERBROOKE still having trouble with a fellow by the name of GUY LECLERC, who works for Gerry Philbin's Braves. Last night he was the best man on the ice, on both teams, and you can say he had a lot to do with downing the Saints. The last Braves' marker is still a doubtful one and from where we sat, right over the net, Cote did not fall behind the goal line, but Sibby Munday ruled it that way, all in the game, they say. . . Two more fighters landed in the hospital last night. Wonder when the American boxing commissions are going to wake up and do something about these fighters who are in no condition to enter the ring. . . See where ANNIS STURUS rates the Calgary Stampede a good chance of winning the Canadian title, and he should know. . . The doctors claim that FRANK FILCHUCK broke a bone in his hand in the opening quarter in Saturday's game against the Riders. Well, for a man who had a broken bone he sure played a wonderful game. There is no question that the outcome would have been different if this had not happened. . . Wonder just what is the real story behind ROCKY GRAZIANO's sudden decision not to fight FRED APOSTOLLI. Claims he is mentally mixed up, since when do fighters get "MENTALLY MIXED UP." . . Just what did OSSIE CARVEGIE tell the sport writers in Boston to have them nick name him "SATCHEL PAIGE" of the hockey world. How about it Ossie, give us the lowdown. . . JOE LE-PINE goes to Buffalo Bisons on a three-game loan to help Toe Blake's injury-hampered club. . . Reports have it that MARIUS GROLEAU, of Quebec Citadels, is over age. What a mix-up if this is true. Frank Byrne's club has won 15 of 16 games played. What will the J.A.H.A. do now?

Sacramento, Calif.—Maxie Dousen, 133, New Orleans, outpointed Benny Walker, 134, Oakland, Calif. (10).

Detroit—Ted Bussey, 149, Detroit, stopped Wild Bill Cassidy, 146, Huntington, W.Va. (2).

Clem Kenalty To Coach Optimist Bantam Club

The Optimist Club has added another project to its boys' work program and will this year sponsor a team in the Bantam Hockey League.

The age bracket is from 12 to 14 years of age and will give the local youngsters a chance to develop into top-notch hockey players.

Clem Kenalty, a local hockey player, who performed last year with St. Pat's, will coach the youthful aggregation.

The youngsters will have their first workout on Saturday morning from 9 till 10.

It is hoped that the youthful puck-chasers will turn out en masse for the practice. Henry Crochetiere will manage the squad.

Billy Fox Seriously Injured In Fight

Buffalo, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Billy Fox, 22-year-old boxer from Philadelphia, was unconscious in hospital today after absorbing a terrific beating last night in Memorial Auditorium.

He apparently suffered a head injury, a physician said. The hospital said his condition was not critical.

After losing a ten-round split decision to Ted Lowry of New Bedford, Mass., Fox left the ring under his own power. In the dressing room, he suddenly complained of being ill and lapsed into unconsciousness.

Fox, whose impressive knockout record twice earned him title bouts with the light-heavyweight champion, Gus Lesnevich, was not knocked down during the bruising battle, but received a heavy pounding for most of the fight.

Lowry weighed 176 1-4 and Fox 169 1-4. They battled to a draw here last month.

Joe Lepine Goes To Buffalo On Lease-Lend

Montreal, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Joe Lepine, defenceman with Montreal Royals in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, left yesterday for Buffalo on a three-game, lend-lease agreement to help the injury-riddled Bisons of the American League.

The agreement under which Lepine goes to Buffalo permits a player to play three games with a professional team and still retain his amateur standing.

Braves' Agile Net Guardian Shines As Saints Drop 5-3 Decision; Penalties Costly To Sherbrooke

Guy Leclerc, the Braves' agile net guardian, once again proved a stumbling block to the local's gangling attacks as he kicked out forty-two shots that the Saints drove at him, from all angles during a fast, wide open contest last night as Gerry Philbin's Valleyfield Braves took the count of the locals 5-3 in a regular fixture of the Senior Group.

Raising to great heights the long-legged net minder, with a sure pair of hands, turned in another grand performance to almost defeat the Saints single handed, as rubber rained at him from all possible corners of the Arena. In the first period he had eleven shots to handle while the local twine guardian had twelve. In the middle frame the Braves' net boy had eight while his name sake had nine, but in the final frame was when he rose to great heights and handled twenty-three shots compared to three by Paul Leclerc. He was everywhere at the right time, he flopped, rolled all over the place, but still he always came up with the rubber to keep the Saints off the score sheet.

The whole Sherbrooke club drove all the way but could only register three goals while the Braves tallied five times. Penalties played a big part in the counting as the Braves scored three times and the Saints once. The locals were playing without George Roy and Phil Metcalfe, both who are injured, but Roland Forget, granted permission by the Q.A.H.A. Executive Committee, prior to game time played with the local club, and he turned in a good performance, but lacks conditioning, once he gets in shape should be a great help to the locals.

At the start of the game both coaches started again to shift their lines back and forth, until referee Sibby Munday ordered them to leave their lines on and settle down to play hockey. Armand Bourdon received a boarding penalty and while he was off Conny Brown notched the first goal when he latted in the puck on Joannette's drive from just inside the blueline.

With both sides at full strength the boys started to play hockey and the Saints were right in time after time, but could not dent Leclerc's armour. Eddie Cyr received a penalty for shadowing Tony Demers too close and with him sitting in the cooler Adj Cote banged the disc into the meshing on a passout from Herbie Carnegie. The Saints were driving all out and Red Goupille saved on a break away when he stepped out of the box on a change to foil the Braves.

Larry Kwong put Valleyfield out in front when he slipped the disc under Paul Leclerc as he was being covered by Red Goupille. It was a back hand shot on which the Saints' twine minder had no chance.

At the start of the middle session Herbie Carnegie and his mates were boring right in but failed to click. Burnett and his wings took over but could not get anywhere. Roland Forget missed as he was put in the clear, but the boys came right back and Kel Burnett tallied the goal to knot the score on a pass from Bourdon.

Herbie Carnegie was again right in on Guy Leclerc's doorstep but could not score. Conny Brown broke away but Paul Leclerc came up with a good save to ease the situation. Burnett and Forget were in again but Johnny Dutchak fell on the disc save.

COUPLIE GETS TWO PENALTIES
Red Goupille then got the thumb for interfering with Larry Kwong, and got a second penalty called on him for high-sticking, and was forced to sit out four minutes. Kel Burnett missed a wonderful opportunity when he broke away from a Braves' gangling play. Bill Heindl then got the nod for a tripping penalty to leave the locals two men short.

Playing three men to the Braves full team H.C. Leclerc, Adj Cote and Gilles Dube kept the fort clear for a good minute or so and the Braves could not score, although they scored a goal but a Brave was standing in the goal crease. Ossie Carnegie, Dube, Demers, Sube, Burnett, H. Carnegie, Vinet, O. Carnegie, McIntyre, Gordon, Forget, Robidas, Bourdon.

Officials: Leo Murray and Sibby Munday.

Cote
Kel Burnett and Adj Cote took over and things were kept under control. Just before Bill Heindl came back Larry Kwong got his second goal of the evening. Big Red Goupille stepped out of the penalty box and picked a red line pass to ace in, but Dutchak came back to hold him and prevent him from getting his shot away. He got a penalty.

With the one man advantage the locals went to town but could not do anything, although Gilles Dube was right in on Leclerc at point blank range but failed to shot and missed his good chance.

In the final frame the locals started off with the pressure right from the start and Guy Leclerc had his busiest time of the evening while Paul Leclerc had open session at the other end of the rink.

Every line on the local squad had their chances but Roland Forget was the only local man to get the rubber behind Guy Leclerc.

The Saints had the disc in the Braves end for the better part of the period, but regardless from where they shot from they could not get the tying goal as time was running out. The Braves were fighting every inch of the way to protect their slim lead, and Conny Brown broke from a gangling play to pass the disc over to Raymond Leclerc, who drove the rubber through Leclerc's legs to put the Braves out in front 4-2.

Coach Dugre then put on four forwards and Forget came through with his goal to reduce the Braves' margin. The Saints were all over Leclerc but could not score. Guy Leclerc got clipped on the face when he went down to save but he came back after a few minutes rest to finish the game. Coach Dugre then yanked his goalie for the man advantage as Dutchak got a penalty but even with this could not tally. Jean Paul Bisailon broke away and drove the rubber at Adj Cote in the nets and referee Munday ruled it a goal as he claimed that the local player fell over the goal line as he saved the shot. The bell sounded with the Saints on the attack.

Riders Open Training For Grey Cup Tussle

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Coach Wally Masters has unbuckled his training whip and unleashed his dogs of war.

For the first time since the Ottawa Rough Riders walloped Hamilton Tigers for the Eastern Canada Football Championship, they were out on a wet, muddy field yesterday in a heavy kicking and passing session.

Even those who will be unable to participate in the Grey Cup classic Saturday turned up at the long workout in Ottawa's Lansdowne Park.

George Hall, inside wing, hurt Saturday, appeared with his left leg in a cast and using a crutch. Pete Finlay, outside wing, out with a broken bone in his left hand, also put in an appearance, sitting on the bench and consoling with Hall.

Meanwhile, what might have turned into one of the wildest scrambles for tickets in Ottawa's history was nipped in the bud. Rough Rider Football Club officials announced at the eleventh hour last night that a general sale of pastebards has been cancelled.

The sale of some 4,000 duceats was scheduled to be opened today at a downtown music store. Hundreds of Ottawans were preparing to stand there all night, if need be, to get their hands on a pastebard.

But, says Manager Jimmy McCaffrey, "every ticket we could get from the C.R.U. has been spoken for."

The Riders leave here Thursday night by train for Toronto.

13 games, Irvin said he thought the Rockett had been playing "very well," although at the moment his plays, "just aren't clicking."

News from Boston was that veteran defenceman Johnny Crawford of the Bruins won't see action when the Hub squad hooks up with the Red Wings in the all-important battle in Detroit tonight. Crawford suffered a badly bruised ankle in a game against New York Sunday night when struck by one of Wally Sawowski's shots, so was left at home when the Bruins entrained for Detroit.

Ottawa Riders Go Into Canadian Football Final Saturday With Six All-Star Players In Lineup

Toronto, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The stars will be out in force when Ottawa Rough Riders meet Calgary Stampede for the Dominion Football title at Toronto's Varsity Stadium Saturday.

The Riders placed six players on the 1948 Eastern Canada All-Star team, announced last night. Seven Calgary Stampede players previously were voted positions on the Western Canada League's dream team so that means a total of 13 all-stars may be on the field at once.

Football writers and coaches in eight cities, who selected the All-Eastern squad for The Canadian Press, also chose a second team and awarded one more Rough Rider—quarterback Bob Paffrath—a berth on it.

For the first time, they practically chose the Big Four All-Star team intact. The only change was to replace Paffrath with the Ontario Union's Frankie Filchuck, ace playing coach of Hamilton Tigers. Besides the six positions awarded Ottawa, they picked four Montreal Alouettes and one Toronto Argonaut—Joe Krol.

Here are the teams:

First team:
Tony Golab, Riders, Flying Wing; Virgil Wagner, Alouettes, Howie Turner, Riders, Half; Joe Krol, Argos, Half (secondary); Frank Filchuck, Tigers, Quarter; Don Loney, Riders, Snap; Eddie Michaels, Riders, Lloyd Reese, Alouettes, Inside; John Wagoner, Riders, Herb Travlich, Middle; Ralph Tenbey, Alouettes, Bert Haigh, Riders, Outside.

Second team:

Rocklands To Meet Cobourg For Title

Montreal, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Montreal Rocklands, Quebec intermediate football champions, will travel to Cobourg Saturday to meet the Galloping Ghosts, Ontario title-holders, in a Quebec-Ontario sudden-death playoff, Norm Gillespie, secretary of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, announced last night.

"The Cobourg team boasted their original guarantee to make it possible for Rocklands to make the trip," said Gillespie, "and Rockland club officials now are well satisfied with the financial arrangements."

Rocklands, who defeated Lakeshore Flyers for the Quebec title last Saturday, will leave for Cobourg Friday afternoon.

Wilson, N.L. Home-Run Record Holder, Dies

Baltimore, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Lewis R. (Hack) Wilson, who held the National League home-run record, died in City Hospital yesterday.

He was taken to the hospital late Monday when he became ill and doctors said he died of internal hemorrhages complicated by a condition similar to pneumonia.

Wilson, 48, was hurt in a fall at his home last month and was in bed about a week.

Hack broke into the majors with Chicago Cubs in 1924 and reached his peak in 1930, when he smacked out 56 home runs and drove in 190 runs.

St. Louis — Del Flanagan, 133, St. Paul outpointed Charles Baxter, 133½, Cincinnati (8). (Top regular bout on Joe Louis—Kid Riviera exhibition card).

Battle For First Place In N.H.L. Resumes Tonight With Three Clubs In Action For Top Spot In Loop

When the smoke of battle clears on the National Hockey League front tonight, either Detroit, Boston or Montreal may be leading the pack, or all three could be deadlocked for the top spot. The head-hot race is the close.

The latter possibility could come about if Montreal Canadiens knock off the Leafs in Toronto while Boston and Detroit play to a tie in the Motor City. This would leave a three-way tie.

Dick Irvin's flying Frenchmen invaded Toronto yesterday all set for the opener of their double-date with the floundering Leafs. The teams move to Montreal where they clash again tomorrow night.
