During the summer the mothers' best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. ARE YOU AFRAID OF YOUR MEALS?

Proof That the Stomach is Weak and Needs Toning Up

Are you one of the many sufferers who dread meal time? Hungry, and yet afraid to eat, because of the pains and discomforts that follow. When the stomach is out of order the whole system suffers, and as the blood becomes thin and watery it becomes increasingly difficult to correct the digestive disorder. There is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for the whole body; thus a blood-building tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, not only relieves indigestion, but adds to the general strength. Mr. D. J. Shaw, Selkirk Road, P.E.I., has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a severe case of indigestion and relates his experience for the benefit of other sufferers. He says:—"I suffered from indigestion for a number of years. My case was so bad that words fail to describe it. My appetite was gone, constipation was present, and my nerves were all on edge. I could not sleep well at night, and the world was a dark spot for me. I tried a number of remedies, but without any benefit. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended, but without much faith, after so many failures, I decided to try them. After taking three boxes I noticed a change for the better. Then I got three boxes more and found I had a genuine remedy. I continued the treatment, took moderate exercise, could take plain food without suffering as formerly, and proved that these pills make good blood, and that this good blood will restore the stomach and nerves. Anyone suffering from stomach or nerve troubles will make no mistake in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Write today for a copy of the free booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat."

The children of the French Protestant Home, under the supervision of Miss Johnson and Miss Jones, who have been spending the summer holidays on Tibbits' Hill, will soon be leaving for the city. These children, comprising a family of about eighteen, are accustomed to spend the summer months in Knowlton, and this season, probably more even than formerly, good times were furnished them by interested friends, and especially through the kind thoughtfulness of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnes, who have all along shown a great interest in the welfare of the children and in their summer pleasure. A Sunday school was started for them this year early in the season and ably conducted by Mrs. Captain Scott and Miss Johnson with an average attendance of twenty-five. In this respect Mrs. Barnes proved an invaluable ally by providing for the school's accommodation and the needed supplies as well as conducting the opening exercises. On Sunday, August 29th, Mr. Simpson, of Montreal, conducted the school and gave an interesting and helpful talk on the lesson. On Wednesday, August 18th, Rev. Mr. Capel invited the children, with Miss Johnson and Miss Jones to the conference for dinner, and the event proved to be one of the most happy and enjoyable occasions in which the children ever participated. The afternoon was spent in playing games for which prizes were given. Through the kindness of Mr. Stevens candy and soft drinks were served before the happy crowd left for home.

On Thursday, September 2, they were all taken to Salis Pond for a picnic. Two large hay wagons, liberally supplied with an abundance of new mown hay, and driven by Mr. Frank Barnes and Mr. Forest Eldridge, conveyed the happy youngsters and their guardians to the pretty inland lake about five miles above Knowlton, about thirty-five in all, and here, on a most glorious summer day, amid the splendors of the Pass, a most enjoyable time was spent in games, paddling and amusements, in addition to a luncheon that was amazing in its variety and sumptuousness, the provision of kind friends of the children, topping off with ice cream galore, making the day ideal and one to be looked back upon with real delight. The following received prizes in the various games held: Vera Ashby, Simone Bevan, Lydia Rahall, Margaret Bevan, Grace Bertram, Willie Ashby, Henry Barnes, Harry Snair, Darcy Aldridge. Towards evening the happy family were driven homeward, tired, but with a most pleasant memory of a day spent amid beautiful surroundings and making the drive merry with happy songs and cheerful peals of laughter.

On Tuesday afternoon, September 14th, Mrs. E. C. James, a returned missionary from Japan, will address the pupils of the High School at 1:30 and at 3:30 will speak to all interested ladies at the parsonage of the United Church. This meeting is under the auspices of the W.M.S. of the congregation, but all ladies who are interested are welcome and it is hoped there will be a large attendance of members and friends. Mrs. James was for years a W.M.S. missionary in Japan and is one of the ablest and most helpful speakers on missionary themes to be found anywhere and her address will prove most illuminating. She will appear in costume, with an array of exhibits of domestic household goods and no one interested in the work of missions can afford to miss this opportunity of hearing her.

PERMANENT WAVE AT THE HANDS OF AN ARTIST

Skilfully, and with infinite care each lock of hair is adjusted to the machine. The result—a permanent wave that conforms to your own chosen style of hair bobbing, that is most wisely adapted to your facial contours and which brings out the best features of your individual face. THE OLD WORLD MINGLES WITH THE NEW

Narrow, stone-paved streets, fronted by sturdy buildings that speak of the days when strength and security were more essential than mere architectural beauty, with a sprinkling of modern edifices, all seemingly dominated by the battlements and cannon of the Citadel and the towers of the famous hostelry situated far above on the crest of the abrupt cliff, make Quebec one of the outstanding cities of entire America.
Few places compare with Canada's ancient capital in quaintness and historical interest, yet providing every convenience and comfort demanded by the most exacting taste. And comfort and convenience begin even before the famous city is reached. Quebec Central trains, with their standard all-steel sleeping and parlor cars, coaches and dining cars, running through to Palais Terminal, by way of the Quebec Bridge, offer the best in modern railway travel. TODAY IS ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH OF LAURA SECORD. One hundred and fifty-one years ago today, at Great Barrington, Mass., a baby girl was born who destined to become one of the heroines of Canada, whose name was to go down in history and whose heroic deed was to keep alive her name forever afterwards. This child later bore the name of Laura Ingersoll Secord, today known over the entire world and in history as Laura Secord.

Laura Secord lived during that troubled period when Canada and the United States found themselves at war, and it was through her heroic and successful attempt in warning the young Irish officer, Fitzgibbon, of a contemplated advance of the Americans that her name has become immortal.

Queenstown has the honor of claiming Laura Secord, as it was in a little old house there that Laura Secord lived and brought up her children, and it was from this same house that she started on her journey to warn Fitzgibbon.

The story of her journey is well known and fondly cherished by all Canadians.

"AMBITION" WAS TITLE OF INTERESTING ADDRESS. Wonderful promise lies in Sherbrooke Hi-Y Club if the numbers and enthusiasm of last night can be carried out throughout the year. The guest and speaker for the evening was Dr. W. S. Lennon, who chose as his subject, "Ambition".

He pointed out that ambition was worth while, the price that is to be paid for the realization of ambition and the wonderful results that come in the train of ambition. "Everything we have today has come through the channel of ambition, and if we only knew the inner history of our text books, dry as dust, there would be revealed to us mystery and all the other factors that go to make life what it is", said Dr. Lennon.

One of the chief factors stressed by Dr. Lennon was the ambition to be worth while in your outlook and endeavor, and to be a factor in the making of things new for the world and those who are in it.

The address, based on Longfellow's "Excelsior", was most thought inspiring and the president at the close, in thanking Dr. Lennon, expressed the appreciation of the Club for the wonderful message given, and stated that everyone present must have been inspired by the message of the evening.

Reference was then made to the Older Boys' Conference to be held from October 8th to 10th, when the Hi-Y movement will be discussed and emphasized. Mr. L. A. Buckley, who is really the founder of the Hi-Y movement, will be the leader and outstanding speaker. Mr. Buckley has just returned from Helsingfors, where he attended one of the most wonderful gatherings of recent days, when representatives of all lands across the world met to discuss "Youth's Problems". The Helsingfors World Conference will take up much of the time of the boys gathering from all parts of the Eastern Townships, and last night the hope was expressed that every member of Sherbrooke Hi-Y Club would be present at the Conference.

The President of the Club made an interesting reference to one of the objectives of the Sherbrooke Club for this year, namely, to strive to have every member of the Club a non-smoker, with each member doing all that he could to discourage the smoking habit in the schools. To clinch the things he had said, the President referred to an incident of last season when Sherbrooke High School played one of their rugby games in Montreal. One of the fellows should have made a touch and failed only because he and two of the others supporting him, were unable at the last second to stand the grind, and Sherbrooke had to accept defeat.

Next week the evening will be spent in initiation of new members, when it is expected that from ten to twenty new members will be put through, and big a time is contemplated.

To Those who are Married-

Mother is Absorbed in caring for the children. Keeping house, with its manifold duties—washing—mending—nursing and cooking, is a full time job. Budgeting the family income to keep expenditure within bounds requires planning and saving. The children's pleasures, nevertheless, are her delight, and what matters so long as they grow up a credit to their parents.

Back of it all mother and dad are growing old. The bald spot on father's head plus the grey hairs above mother's temples show plainly that only a few years of activity remain to plan and save for the sunset of life. In a short time the children will be grown up and passing through similar experiences. It would be embarrassing to be compelled to turn to them for support.

The events depicted above are an every day occurrence. Thousands have solved the problem with a Manufacturers Life Long Term Endowment. This policy would provide funds to enable mother to carry on and keep the home together should the inevitable happen. If, however, both live until sixty-five, the insurance would become payable for the remainder of life in the form of a monthly income, if desired. What could be finer? What could be more practical? Let us tell you more about it.

THE ONTARIO BATTLE GROUND.

The two party leaders, Premier Meighen and Hon. Mackenzie King are concentrating their final efforts on Ontario.

To quote from a news despatch:

Rapidly travelling by automobile, Premier Meighen and Mr. King today played tag through almost half a dozen Ontario constituencies. Although they did not actually meet, they crossed each other's trail again and again. Sometimes one was ahead, sometimes the other—the two of them separated now and again by only a few minutes. At Mitchell the band was just playing the National Anthem for Mr. Meighen's meeting when Mr. King arrived on the scene. Behind his schedule, Mr. Meighen had had to curtail his speech, and an astonished crowd, gathered to hear Mr. Meighen, found itself listening to and unexpected speech from Mr. Mackenzie King. So rapidly, indeed, had the two leaders succeeded each other that a number of newspapers following Mr. Meighen arrived just in time to hear Mr. Mackenzie King.

Reports from the sister province all tell of the fight being made there, the Conservatives seeking to hold and increase their lead and the Liberals to redeem some of the seats lost in the last election. The contest in Ontario, also, extends outside the old line parties for in addition to 82 Conservative and 61 Liberal candidates, there are 11 Progressives, 8 Liberal Progressives, 10 Independents and 4 Labor candidates seeking election.

One of the keenest and most interesting fights is in Southeast Grey where Miss Agnes MacPhail, Progressive, who was elected in the last election, is being opposed by Mr. R. T. Edwards, Conservative. Southeast Grey will be watched by the whole country on election night. It is safe to say that there are two men in Canada who will be particularly glad when the campaign is over. Their names are "Meighen" and "King". Their efforts have been strenuous and continuous and in their journeyings they have visited every section of the country.

FORD OPERATES THE HERFORD.

The Hereford Railway has received much more prominence in death than it ever did in life. In regions affected, it has been about the most prominent topic of discussion on the hustings.

It is interesting to note that there is a very good prospect of it being taken over as a part of the C. N. R. system.

And yet, though passenger service has been suspended for nearly a year, the rails have received some polishing. Lumber interests, faced with the necessity of getting out products, have utilized the road for some months in an ingenious manner. A Ford car with flange wheels in the place of tires and a tractor similarly equipped have been used as motive power to haul lumber and pulpwood since the early summer and with success.

With the publicity the Hereford Railway has received, when revived, it should enjoy a popularity and patronage not previously experienced.

EXPOSURE OF KITCHENER MYSTERY PLOT.

Encouraged by the reception of his book on the Kitchener mystery and the silence of the government, the publisher, Power, overstepped when he sought to round out the yarn by the return of Kitchener's body.

The final exposure of the whole scheme to bluff the public has come with an official statement in which the government declares: The story of the whole affair as arranged and set forth by Frank Power, British newspaperman, is absolutely without foundation. The investigation proved, according to the Home Office, that Power purchased the coffin in which Kitchener's body was supposed to repose when it reached England early in 1926, and that the coffin never left British shores, but was stored at Newcastle until Power removed it to London. Every transference of the coffin in the interval is accounted for. Further, Power never applied for the necessary permit to open a grave in Norway, where Power asserted he found Kitchener's body, and nothing is known of any such opening although Power arranged for a mock funeral at Stavanger with an empty coffin, which was put aboard a steamer. This was later returned to the local undertaker from whom it was hired, after film pictures were taken.

Millions of people had begun to believe that there was a Kitchener mystery. The mis-step of the fakir has, happily, resulted in the complete exposure of the whole plot.

THE BASIS OF MARRIAGE.

(By Dr. Frank Crane)

Mrs. Mary Borden, alias Mrs. Sears, an American novelist, in a lecture on international psychology in London some time ago, deplored sentiment as the sole basis of marriage. She pointed out that in America love making and sentiment were the usual precedents of marriage, and the consequence was much after marriage estrangement.

With the French, on the contrary, and the European generally, happy marriages were more common than in America because economic well being was considered the proper basis of married life.

It is all too true that sentiment alone should not dominate in marriage. But then, on the other hand, neither should economic considerations dominate.

The best system seems perhaps to be a blending of two. There should be enough sentiment to render the contract agreeable and tolerable, but it should be recognized that this sentiment is useless without a sound economic basis.

Among Americans the matter is attended to by the young people themselves almost entirely, while in France, for instance, the parents have much to do with the case.

There is no reason why a girl or boy about to be married should not take the advice of the parents. They are older and wiser and their experience ought to mean something. That the parents should entirely control the matter is contrary to American convictions. But that the young people themselves should manage the whole business does not seem to be reasonable.

A little more tractability on both sides perhaps would be advantageous. Parents should consider the feelings and preferences of the child, while on the other hand the child should consider the advice of the parents. If the two points of view in the case were properly co-ordinated the insurance of a happy marriage would be greater.

Many a marriage which is undertaken purely from sentimental reasons has speedily gone upon the rocks. Where one's individuality is so pronounced that he decides the whole matter for himself, that individuality may later lead him to go his own way after marriage without consulting the feelings of his wife, and a divorce of separation may ensue.

The best way is to take all the elements in the case into consideration. Sentiment is to be reckoned with, since the basis of our happiness is always sentimental to a degree, while on the other hand economic reasons should not be disregarded, for much of our well being depends upon our means.—Cpt. 1926.

PRESS COMMENT

IN DEFENSE OF MISSIONARIES.

In Current History of July, Thomas Jesse Jones speaks up in commendation of missionaries. The significance of his article lies in the fact that instead of offering a conventional apology for missions, he replies directly to the criticisms which today are constantly directed against the missionary enterprise. One of the most common lines of attack is to point out that missionaries aid and abet economic imperialism. This accusation, Mr. Jones points out, should be compared with another charge, an indictment brought by business men, who attack the missionaries for encouraging natives to resist economic injustices. Also Mr. Jones notes that many missionaries have supported movements towards independence and self-government. These counter-arguments offered by Mr. Jones obviously possess at least as much truth as the statements they are intended to answer, and they are strikingly confirmed by an impartial observer, Lewis Gannett, who has recently been writing a series of articles about China in the Nation. The precise relationship between missionary activity and what is euphemistically called the spread of Anglo-Saxon civilization is obscured by innumerable complications, but there are plenty of missionaries who have not hesitated to distinguish between Christian and the pagan elements in our own culture. Naturally enough it has been these same missionaries who have been most appreciative of valuable elements in the countries where they are at work. On such men and women as these the future of Christian missions depends.

PLACE FOR CO-OPERATION.

In 1885 France, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland formed the Latin monetary union in order to unify their currency laws and to promote the freer circulation of their moneys. The abandonment of the gold standard during the war created a new situation in which the currency of each of these countries bore little relation to that of the others.

In theory, however, the monetary union still exists. When it is possible for France, Belgium and Italy to return to the gold standard, the presumption is that it will be on the basis of a uniform unit, Switzerland, of course, having maintained the gold standard all these years can no longer be counted as a member unless her currency system is reorganized also.

Between France and Italy, in spite of their traditional solidarity in monetary affairs, recriminations are passing freely as a result of the recent violent declines in their currencies. France maintains that Italy has supported the lira by dealings in francs, and French financiers are advocating measures of retaliation. The use of French Government funds for dealings in lire, if not yet actually resorted to, appears inevitable, unless Italian dealings in francs are discontinued.

Co-operation in monetary affairs between these Latin union countries is more imperative today than it was when their organization was formed three-quarters of a century ago. The stabilization of one continental currency at the expense of another will not lead to the kind of financial reconstruction in Europe which is essential to permanent economic rehabilitation. The monetary union ought to be restored and the currencies of France, Belgium and Italy stabilized on the same basis, and as part of a common programme of currency reform.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ADVOCATES HAVING MEMORIAL SERVICE EARLIER

Dear Sir:—Last Sunday I attended the memorial service in memory of the soldiers who gave their lives for their country in Cookshire. It was a splendid service. Their war memorial, which is situated in a beautiful park, was surrounded with flowers. Hundreds of people were present, the addresses were all given by returned officers in the presence of returned men and people from afar, the service was bright and to the point. Colonel Worthington, Major Buckland's and Colonel Francis' addresses will never be forgotten by me. Now, Sir, why can we not have these services in our towns and villages every summer when the flowers are plentiful, and not wait until later in November. Cookshire has set a good example, let's follow it.

The Entrance Hall

By W. S. Limbery.

If you were to make a call at your own house, what impressions would the entrance hall give you? Would you not hope to find it inviting and hospitable, and expressing the home life and tastes of the occupants?

First impressions are always important, and it is necessary that the entrance hall, being the first part of the house seen upon entering, should be indicative of what to expect in the rest of the house.

As regards the plan of the entrance hall, the type most frequently used for the moderate size house is that in which the hall is in the centre of the house, the rooms opening off on either side. On entering the front door all the living rooms on the main floor are open to view, and the stairs are often so near to the entrance that one feels as if invited to go upstairs and into the sleeping quarters.

Such a disregard of privacy should be guarded against, and some endeavor made in planning to show a decent reticence in regard to that which concerns only ourselves and our family life.

The dining room door should not be as close to the entrance door as one often sees it, and the stairs should be set well back in the hall in order to give free access to the rooms first used by the visitor.

The hall must be well lighted, and not made to depend solely on the light coming in through the glass panel of the front door. There should be one window at least giving direct light; if it cannot be in the main hall, it may be located on the stair landing where it will give light to the hall on both of the floors.

The stairs being the main feature of the hall, have a great influence in determining its character, and care should be taken to allow ample space for them, so that an easy rise and open head room may be provided, as well as to permit of effective design.

The decorating of the entrance hall should receive the same careful consideration as the plan. As a rule too little thought is given to this important question, the rooms absorbing all of our care, and consequently most of our money.

The entrance hall walls can be rough plastered and painted in oil or water paints, or covered with a fine grained canvas and then painted; or they may be papered.

The wall tone depends upon the amount of light, the size of the hall and the color of the nearby rooms. Tan or buff are always safe colors to use, but either pale grey or putty color will give a more dignified and formal effect; some shades of rose may be used with good results. But only neutral colors should be used in the entrance hall. If the hall is dark, use warm ivory, and if too light, grey or tan can be used.

The most suitable papers for the walls are grass-cloths, the vellum finishes, and the stipple tones. Dull gold or silver grass-cloths may be used with good effect, if it is decided to paint the woodwork in a decided color.

The hall wall should be in one tone reaching from the base to the ceiling, unbroken by bands or borders. In order to make a finish at the top of the wall, a small moulding should be placed on the wall close to the ceiling and painted the same tone as the wall.

The ceilings should be finished a lighter shade of the wall tone. The woodwork, as a rule, should be painted the same tint as the walls, but slightly darker, and dull finish whether paint or enamel. White or ivory always looks well for the woodwork, and adds great charm and dignity to the hall.

Colors such as soft apple green, dull blue or greenish buff may also be used for the woodwork, giving more originality of effect, but care must be taken to see that the wall colors harmonize with the color chosen. — Copyright 1926, MacLean Building Reports, Limited.

—Question: My cellar is too low to be drained by the storm sewer. There is no difficulty excepting in the spring, when I have an annual flood. Water backs in through the pipes and comes through the walls. What shall I do?

Install a valve at the sewer line so that when water backs up in the sewer the line may be closed. Then waterproof your foundation floors by applying two coats of hot tar with felt between. Run this up the walls as well. Cover floor and wall with three inches of concrete.

About forty friends of Miss Lila Woodard met at the home of Postmaster T. V. Reed on Thursday evening to give her a miscellaneous shower in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. A. C. Adams. The gifts were many and varied and included many pieces of fine linen, china and other articles useful and ornamental. They were brought into the drawing room by Misses Barbara and Betty Woodard, nieces of the bride-to-be. Miss Woodard expressed her appreciation and thanks for the gifts. After partaking of refreshments the guests departed, with many good wishes for the guest of honor, who has been a popular assistant at the post office for the past six years, where she made many friends.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

A NEW WAY OF FISHING

It always seems to me that wishing is rather more than half of fishing.

I suspect that Reddy is right about that. However, Reddy isn't much of a fisherman. There are some fishermen who do very little wishing. Billy Mink, for instance, Little Joe Otter is another. So is Barker the Seal at the seashore. When they want fish, they just go get them. They don't waste any time wishing.

Reddy Fox, Jimmy Skunk and Graywing the Gull watched the queer creature swimming in the water just a little way from where they were. Presently he stopped swimming and lay quietly on the sand. He was so nearly the color of the sand that, had they not seen him stop right there they very likely would not have seen him at all. It was Graywing's sharp eyes that discovered a little school of small fish swimming that way.

"Watch now, and see what will happen," said he. The little fish came darting along through the water until they were directly over that queer thing on the sand. Then one of those long arms shot up and touched one of those little fish. Struggle as it would, that little fish couldn't get away. Another arm came up and fastened to it; and another; then they drew it down to the beak-like mouth, and a piece was bitten out of the back of the neck.

"Well, I never!" exclaimed Jimmy Skunk. "Why couldn't that fish get away? What made it stick to that arm that first touched it?"

"Suckers," replied Graywing. "Little suckers. Those arms, or feet, or whatever you want to call them, are covered with little suckers on the under side. Once they touch anything, they certainly do get hold of it. That little fish didn't have a chance in the world."

"I guess it is a good thing that thing isn't any bigger than it is," said Jimmy Skunk.

"Well," replied Graywing, "there are some so big that if it ever wrapped one of those arms around you, you wouldn't have a chance in the world. But none of those big ones live around here. Why, if one of them should get hold of you, it could pull you into the water just as easily as that fellow down there caught that fish."

Reddy stared down into the water. "I don't like the looks of him," said he. "I don't like those wriggly arms. And I don't like the way he stares. And I don't like the way he swims backward instead of swimming forward like an honest person."

At that Graywing laughed right out. "What difference does that make to you, Reddy?" he cried.

"It doesn't make any difference, but I don't like it just the same," replied Reddy. "And I don't like his looks of him, because he doesn't look as if he had any bones or any shell."

"Well, he has," replied Graywing. "He has a sort of shell inside instead of outside."

"If it's inside, it must be bone," exclaimed Reddy.

"There's no must about it," retorted Graywing. "It isn't bone; it is a sort of shell. He doesn't look it, but he belongs to the mollusks. You know the clams and the snails and the scallops and the oysters are all mollusks. So that fellow down there is related to them in a way."

"Huh! He doesn't look it," exclaimed Reddy, staring down into the water. (Copyright, 1926, T. W. Burgess) The next story: "The Ink Maker."

UNCLE JIM'S LETTER

Dear Corner Children:

I think it is time we had another contest, don't you? This one is going to be a little different from those we have had before. I am going to give prizes for the two most interesting letters I receive between now and the end of September. The prizes will be books. Some of the letters will be published each Saturday and the prize winners will be announced in the Record of October 2nd. You may choose your own subjects. You must have had many interesting experiences during your vacation and you might use them as the subject of your letter. But this is only a suggestion and if you would rather write about other things do so.

I want very much to make the Cozy Corner interesting to you this fall. How would you like to have a "Young Authors' Column"? In this would be printed short compositions and stories which you would write. Each of you would have a chance to contribute to this column. If you think it is a good idea and if you would be interested in such a column, let me know. Perhaps you would prefer a column on books or games or on the important events of the day. Write me just what you think about this, for this page is your page and your opinion is very important. If you are writing about it and do not wish your letter entered in the contest write, "not for contest" at the end of your letter and it will be kept separate from the others.

The history pictures tell of the Jesuit priests who came to Canada from France and amongst many hardships endeavored to convert the Indians. Their influence was very great and they did much to bring education and Christianity into the lives of the Indians.

Love, UNCLE JIM.

The Wonderful Story of the Whippet

How the Vision of One Man revolutionized the entire trend of Motor Car Design

JUST two months ago the Whippet—combining the most advanced European and American engineering thought—made its first appearance on the streets and highways of Canada. Its instantaneous success—and the remarkable interest shown in the new engineering era it forecasts—is the greatest single tribute ever paid to the vision of any one man in automobile history.

The international ovation given the Whippet marks the climaxing achievement of a modern engineering program laid out by John N. Willys in 1922.

An Engineering Triumph In one complete line of cars, covering the buying needs of every family, he has now incorporated the most advanced principles of European design—the highest standard of quality—the final word in modern efficiency.

The New Trend He saw that the absence of mass production, coupled with a highly developed apprenticeship system, made possible constant experiment and constant improvement. He saw that the high cost of gasoline and high taxes were forcing European development along lines of intense economy, while American manufacturers were struggling with huge volume of standardized models whose design has been little changed since the war.

Four years ago he set out with a definite plan to revolutionize Willys-Overland automobiles along these modern lines.

And now the introduction of the Whippet is a matter of history.

Spurred on by its great success other manufacturers will doubtless attempt to come out with Whippet-type cars.

But remember this one important fact we pointed out to you in our first announcement 2 months ago.

It took the Willys-Overland engineers, in Europe and America, four years to design and build the Whippet.

A big car with little wheels is still a big car. It lacks those things which make the Whippet the most economical of all cars to own—the safest and by far the most thrilling of all light cars to drive.

So do not expect Whippet advantages in any other light car.

Today the Whippet—and the Whippet alone—offers you these unique engineering attainments

35 miles on a gallon of gasoline—55 miles an hour. Acceleration, 5 to 30 miles in 15 seconds. Four-wheel brakes (for the first time national standard equipment on any light car)—stops in 2 car lengths from 25 miles an hour.

Easiest of all cars to park—turns in a 34 foot circle. Only 5 feet 8 inches high—lower gravity centre—greater safety.

European-type body—smaller external dimensions with more leg room than any other Four-Cylinder light car.

Complete symmetry of design has been achieved with compact external dimensions.

Compared with contemporary, big, bulky cars the Overland Whippet appears smarter and much more graceful. That's because height and length are in true artistic proportion.

A Notable Difference

In the Overland Whippet you have the feeling of riding closer to the ground—with the resultant sense of solidity and absence of that sideway so noticeable in the conventional type of car. That high-up-in-the-air feeling is gone—here is a new kind of riding comfort. Step into this car and you will be surprised to find so much spacious room.

In every respect it is entirely different from all other light cars being built to-day.

In Europe, people are accustomed to paying $1,500 to $1,800 for a car of this size and quality. Yet today, because of the tremendous manufacturing facilities of Willys-Overland, it sells in Canada for practically half this price. The Whippet is available in Coach, Coupe, and Touring Models.

You owe it to yourself to see this amazing, new-type car before buying an automobile today.

Indeed, there has never been an equal period in Dodge Brothers history when so many refinements of a popular and fundamental nature have been made.

The public is registering its appreciation of this progressive industrial service by purchasing every motor car Dodge Brothers can build—in spite of the fact that Dodge Brothers production, during these months, has broken all previous records by an impressive margin.

Facts the Electors Cannot Ignore

ON SEPTEMBER 14th, the electors of Canada will be asked to choose which one of two parties will be entrusted with the administration of the affairs of this Country, and in making this choice these facts cannot be ignored.

☐ Facts are facts and not all the talk of Mr. Meighen and Mr. Patenaude can alter the fact that although financial ruin was staring Canada in the face in 1921 as a result of the Meighen Government, the King Administration has saved the Country from such a fate.

☐ Following the disastrous administration of the Meighen regime, which squandered this Country's revenues and piled enormous debts upon the Canadian people, the Liberal Government, by wise and careful administration, were able in four and a half years, to entirely change such conditions and to bring to Canada an era of prosperity and progress unparalleled in the history of this Country.

The extent to which this has been accomplished is indisputably proven by these facts:

☐ In 1921 Mr. Meighen collected $368,000,000.00 in taxes, yet had a deficit of $92,000,000.00 while in 1926 the King Government collected the sum of $327,000,000.00 in taxes and had a surplus of $25,900,000.00.

☐ In 1921 Canada had an adverse trade balance amounting to $30,000,000.00, while today, after four and a half years of Liberal Administration, Canada has a favourable trade balance (excess of exports over imports) of $401,000,000.00.

☐ For the first time in history Canada's exports of manufactured goods in 1926 exceeded her imports by the sum of over $15,000,000.00. Surely this proves most conclusively that the manufacturing industry has progressed under King Government.

☐ In 1921 under Meighen there were 450,000 persons employed in our manufacturing industries, while today there is over 850,000. Yet Mr. Meighen would have you believe that manufacturing industries had been ruined and workingmen driven from the Country.

☐ In the operation of our railways there was during the fiscal year of 1925-26 a surplus of $34,000,000.00 while during 1920 and 1921, there was a deficit of $43,000,000.00.

☐ Not only did the King Government reduce the Public Debt and reduce Federal Expenses, but it has reduced taxation this year alone by $26,000,000.00.

☐ Facts are facts and it is these facts that every elector should carefully consider when polling his vote on September 14th. Do not be misled by the words of Mr. Meighen, Mr. Patenaude and their followers, judge them by their actions and compare their past performances with the four and a half year record of the King Administration—an administration not content with mere promises, but one which by their actions has brought greater benefits to all Canada than any previous Government in the history of this Country.

In the face of these facts Mr. Meighen, as head of the most reckless, most extravagant and the most disastrous administration this Country has ever known, is now trying, assisted by Mr. Patenaude, to persuade the people to once more entrust him with the administration of the affairs of this Country.

☐ And remember the Liberal Party today, as in the days of Laurier and before, is the one party upon which all Canadian people can rely for a fair, wise and careful administration of their affairs—for the promotion of Canadian unity—for the development and expansion of Canadian trade and industry—for a continued reduction in the burden of taxation and for keeping at heart at all times the best interests of all Canadian people regardless of class, sect or creed. The history of Canada proves this—a proof which Mr. Meighen cannot destroy, even in his great desire to stay in power, in order that he may legislate this Country as he always has in the past, in the interests of a certain class.

☐ All true Canadians who have at heart the best interests of Canada as a whole—who want to see Canada grow, progress and prosper, and occupy a fitting place among other nations of the world will, on September 14th, place the destinies of this Country in the hands of a Liberal Government.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

ASBESTOS SCOUTS HELD GOOD CAMP

ASBESTOS, Que., Sept. 11.—The 1st Asbestos Troop and Wolf Cub Pack held a good camp from September 1st to 4th inclusive.

Although somewhat late in the camping season, the 10 Scouts and 2 Cubs started out from the Hotel Iroquois on Wednesday at 7 a.m., determined to have a good time.

Through the kindness of Mr. Ovide Beislie, the Scouts were transported to the Nicolet lakes by auto truck, in which the fun caused by going over the bumps, etc., was much appreciated by the boys.

On arrival at the lakes, the boys were welcomed by the advance party who had left the previous evening to get the cottage in order. These were: A. S. M. Fred Molson, T. L. R. W. Shoemaker, and P. L. H. Gale.

The Scouts then were each given their billets and proceeded to unpack their kit and also the Camp grub, after which they "dug" in to the programme.

The weather was ideal and permitted plenty of fishing, boating, swimming, badge work, and hikes.

The evenings were taken up with a camp fire and its usual amount of singing, with some visitors each night, who enjoyed the roasting of marsh mallows with the boys.

Those visiting the camp were Mrs. C. H. Shoemaker, president, mothers auxiliary; Mrs. Denevon, Mrs. Gale, Mrs. G. H. Burns and Mrs. Reakes, Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Denevon, secretary, Troop Committee; Mr. Gale, Mr. A. R. Johnson and Mr. A. R. Gaudreau.

The troop wishes to thank the mothers who donated, food to the camp in the way of cakes, ham, and ice-cream.

The following tests were passed at camp; 1st class badge, tree felling, P. L. H. Gale, A. P. L. Harold Burns; 2nd class badge, firelighting, J. Kyle, P. L. John Brown, V. Weys; compass, V. 2nd Sher. Wolf Cub Pack Met Monday

A regular meeting of the 2nd Sherbrooke Wolf Cub Pack was held on September 6th. The attendance was somewhat below the average, as the boys had put in long hours during the previous week at the exhibition grand stand, and when it is realized that these boys, of eight to twelve years, received no wages for the work personally, the remuneration going to the troop fund, it will be noticed that they are endeavoring to live up to their motto "do our best" to "do a good turn every day."

The next meeting will be held on Monday evening next at the William Street Armory at 7.15 p.m., and every Cub who intends to carry on during the coming season should be on hand for instruction work at the next few meetings.

On Monday evening, September 20th, the Cubmasters intend to hold an open meeting with the parents of the boys. The amount of interest shown by the attendance and co-operation of the parents at this meeting will be the deciding factor as to whether the Cubmasters will be able to carry out their intended programme during the coming months.

During the past season the Cubmasters have been shouldering the threefold task of giving instructional work to the boys, providing suitable rendezvous for the meetings, and financing many little incidentals necessary to the successful operation of the pack. The membership has increased, the spare time of each Cubmaster is limited, and the winter months necessitating suitable quarters are not far off, and for these reasons a brief business meeting must be held at once. A pack committee to take care of the latter two duties mentioned will be formed, leaving the Cubmasters' time confined to instructional and programme work. Any parent who will be out of town, or is indisposed, on this evening should notify and leave his or her phone number with one of the following: Clarence Price, C.M., Tel. 757, Newman Hunter, A.C.M., Tel. 1414F, Thomas Redmond, A.C.M., Tel. 413.

Should any change in the date of this meeting be found necessary, notice of same will be made through this column, and in the meantime parents are requested to keep a ring open for this meeting with the Cubmasters, who have been devoting one and often two or three evenings each week to carry on with this work, which should provide an important element in the life of each boy at this age.

MRS. ALBERT B. MURRAY, MONTREAL. BEDFORD, Que., Sept. 11.—The death occurred in Montreal on Saturday, at the Western Hospital, of Mrs. Albert B. Murray, wife of the professional of the Beaconsfield Golf Club.

Mrs. Murray had been in ill health since last May, and on Thursday last took a sudden turn for the worse. She was removed from her home at Beaconsfield to the Western Hospital, where the operation was performed. After the operation she rallied but suffered a relapse on Saturday and death followed.

Mrs. Murray was before her marriage Glenna Mae Coons, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Coons, of Richmond, Vt. She had resided in Montreal for the past thirteen years, chiefly at St. Lambert, during the period that her husband was professional at the Country Club of Montreal, which post he relinquished last spring to take up his duties at the Beaconsfield Club.

Besides her husband, two small sons survive, Mrs. R. S. O'Hara, of Farnham, and Mrs. J. Wilson, of Montreal, are sisters. Two brothers, Messrs. Edward and Walter Coons, of Richmond, Vt., also survive.

The late Mrs. Murray was in her thirty-fourth year.

BOSTON BRAVES HANDED CARDS A TRIMMING

St. Louis' Lead Was Reduced Yesterday to Two and a Half Games.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The ruthless Boston Braves, who knocked New York Giants out of the National League pennant in the closing stages of the 1925 baseball season, threaten to treat St. Louis likewise in the present scramble. The Cards lead today is but two and a half games, with Cincinnati still second and Pittsburgh third, three points behind.

The Braves, languishing at the tail end of the circuit, were directly responsible for the Cards' halt game loss to the Cincinnati Reds and the Pirates, who spent the day in a futile effort to solve the second place problem decisively. The Braves snote St. Louis lustily, by 11 to 3, while Cincinnati and Pittsburgh won games from each other by the same score, 5 to 2.

The threat the Braves offer to the three contenders can hardly be minimized, as all three leaders must meet them shortly. Boston has a habit of taking copious feasts in their foreign tours, only to turn upon invaders of their home park with fire results to permanent aspirations. The Cards have three more games with the Hubman, Cincinnati two and the Pirates three. In home games played against this trio this season, just half, or twelve out of twenty-four battles, have gone the Boston way.

It was the same Boston team that proved hardest for Pittsburgh to defeat last season when the world champions were cruising pennantward. Philadelphia emulated Boston, rising to smite the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 4, and break Guy Bush's record of eight straight victories. The defeat pushed the Bruins three games below third place.

Heavy silence shrouded the leaders of the American League with St. Louis halting the six game winning streak of the Chicago White Sox by 5 to 4 in the only game played.

MAGOG TRIMMED LYNDONVILLE

MAGOG, Que., Sept. 11.—Magog defeated Lyndonville last Sunday in a seven inning game by 9 to 1, the game being abbreviated due to rain. Meek pitched a wonderful game for Magog, holding Lyndonville in check, while Kinney was hit hard in the pinches and received ragged support at critical moments. Previous to the start of the game a delegation of baseball fans, about forty in number, from Hudson, Mass., led by Mr. W. E. Donnell, presented to the Magog ball team a huge silver loving cup, twenty-two inches in height and suitably inscribed, as a token of the esteem in which the Magog team and fans are held by the fans of Hudson, Mass., and as a memorial to the late Leo "Mike" McGrath, one of the best pitchers to wear a Magog uniform.

DEMPSEY GIVES HIS VIEWS OF BOXING GAME

Says Confidence and Ring Generalship Are Prime Requisites of a Pugilistic Champion.

(Associated Press Despatch) ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 11.—Self-confidence and ring generalship are the prime requisites of a pugilistic champion, in the opinion of Jack Dempsey. Punching strength and physical condition are, of course, necessities, but mastery of mind over an opponent wins many battles that mere punches and shiftiness of foot would lose.

The champion delivered himself of this opinion after his workout yesterday in reply to questioning as to what method of battle he would employ against Gene Tunney, in his title fight in Philadelphia on September 23rd. Then the champion made a strating statement, "I always fight the other fellow's way," he said. "I figure if I'm chamion I ought to be good enough to match any style of fighting that is put before me. If I fought in the same manner in each fight some clever fellow would be able to fathom the weak points in that style and beat me. And there are, of course, weak points in any manner of fighting. Therefore, I always let the other fellow start something and I try my best to finish it like he started it."

Last night Dempsey, in a moment of gentleness, sent in care of a New York sporting writer, a message of good will to Tunney, in this message the champion said he hoped Tunney was training well and would be in excellent condition for the fight, assured the challenger of his friendship—outside the ring—and stated he didn't believe all the boasting statements attributed to Tunney about how he would knock out the champion in a round or less and such.

TUNNEY'S BOXING PROGRAMME REDUCED

(Associated Press Despatch) STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 11.—Gene Tunney's boxing programme was ordered reduced to four rounds today, the plan for reducing the work of the challenger to guard against the possibility of too fine an edge being drawn thus early in the game of conditioning. He has been going six rounds each alternate afternoon and much of the time in Speculator, N.Y., he boxed eight rounds.

Tunney himself is satisfied with his condition at the moment. Lou Fink, his trainer, and Billy Gibson, his manager, share his satisfaction. All agree that he could not be better. To keep him so is the object of the trio from now on.

The best equipment Tunney boasts now is his mental condition. He is absolutely confident that he will win the world's heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia September 23. Satisfied that he will be at his best the night of the fight, his announced conclusions are that if such is the case he will win. Tunney does not believe that Dempsey's sledge hammer blows can hurt him for he has convinced himself that, in the parlance of the ring, he can "take it." He also believes that he can hit hard enough to knock Dempsey out. The challenger expects to win and by a knockout.

REASON FOR DEMPSEY'S SPLIT WITH KEARNS

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Jack Dempsey was quoted yesterday as having split with Jack Kearns because the heavyweight champion's wife, the former Estelle Taylor, could not get along with his erstwhile manager.

In an affidavit filed by counsel for Kearns in the latter's suit for a third of a million dollars against Dempsey, Dan McKettrick, well known boxing promoter, declared the champion told him the break was necessary "to keep peace in my family."

ELECTION POLL CLERKS TO AID NEWSPAPERS

Requested by Chief Electoral Officer to Furnish as Early as Possible Accurate Statements of Vote.

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—In reply to a request that he should assist the Canadian Press in securing as promptly as possible complete and accurate returns of the vote on election day, O. M. Biggar, K.C., the chief electoral officer, said: "The returns do not reach me till long after polling day and even returning officers only receive them by mails. They may not have them for several days after the poll. Every election officer, and particularly every deputy returning officer and poll clerk should, however, do whatever he can to furnish as early in the evening as possible to Canadian Press agencies, newspapers, and their accredited representatives, accurate statements of the result of the vote at every polling station.

"On the completion of the count at a polling station, the deputy is required to make several statements of the result. One of these is transmitted to the returning officer in the ballot box and constitutes the primary official record of the vote at the poll in question, but the deputy retains a duplicate in his own possession. Similar statements are at the same time furnished to each of the candidates personally. Immediately upon these statements being completed, the information they contain is public property, and every deputy and poll clerk, as well as every candidate's agent, should do what lies in his power to notify the figures to the press and to the candidates' organization with the least possible delay."
